SNOW ELEVEN FEET DEEP PARALYZES TRAFFIC

Furious Storm Rages in Northwest and Railroads Are Blocked by Slides and Accidents.

STRONG WIND PILES BIG DRIFTS ON TRACK

Explosion of Boiler of Rotary Plow on Great Northern Scalds Five Men; Two Will Probably Die.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Seattle, Wash., Dec. 30.—An explosion of the boiler of a rotary snow plow on the Great Northern and an avalanche that wrecked a stalled freight train laden with imports for the east on the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound railroad, complicated conditions today in the Cascade mountains, where the Northern transcontinental railroads are fighting one of the worst blizzards of the last twenty years. Five men were injured, two probably fatally, in the boiler explosion, and one man was severely hurt in the avalanche.

The Milwaukee line probably will be blocked for several days, but the Great Northern expects to get trains through tonight. The Northern Pacific opened its northern division for passenger traffic late today but reports from the mountains said there was danger of the line being blocked again before morning. The snow in the mountains is eleven feet on the level and a stiff wind is piling huge drifts across the tracks. The Northern Pacific got its transcontinental line open late today and trains which had been held for twelve to thirty hours east of the summit of the Cascades began arriving in Seattle. The Great Northern overland trains arrived today.

ST. PAUL TRAIN WRECKED BY MOUNTAIN AVALANCHE

Stensburg, Wash., Dec. 30.—The Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound eastbound fast freight, which became stalled in a drift one mile west of Lacona Saturday, was wrecked late today by an avalanche that swept down the mountain when the train was almost free from the first drift. Two locomotives were knocked off the track, twelve cars laden with oriental imports were smashed to splinters, and twenty-three other cars were buried under the snow, part of which went down fifteen feet. Roadmaster Hunt was caught in the slide and severely injured.

SNOW PLOW BOILER EXPLOSION INJURES FIVE

Everett, Wash., Dec. 30.—Five men, members of a Great Northern rotary snow plow crew, were seriously scalded today when the boiler of the rotary exploded two miles east of Cascade tunnel. Conductor W. R. Smith and Fireman R. Jensen probably will die.

BODY RESCUED FROM 30 FEET DEPTH OF DEBRIS

Wallace, Ida., Dec. 30.—After working all night, rescue gangs of miners recovered today the lifeless body of James Flaherty, a young miner, buried last night under thirty feet of debris by a snow slide at Mace, Idaho. No other bodies were found. Danger of further avalanches has been removed temporarily by cessation of heavy rains and snows and a marked fall in temperature.

STORM WRECKS MASONIC TEMPLE IN WYOMING

Cody, Wyo., Dec. 30.—The worst wind storm in Wyoming toppled over the $28,000 Masonic temple just completed, except for the roof, with a crash that resounded through the city today. Only a small portion of the foundation brick work was left standing. A workman leaving the building a moment before the crash narrowly escaped death from flying brick. The temple was to have been dedicated Thursday with much ceremony, delegates from the Wyoming lodges being invited to attend. Besides the overthrow of the temple, considerable general havoc was wrought by the wind.

INACCURATE WATCH SAVES EIGHT LIVES

Auburn, Cal., Dec. 30.—The inaccuracy of a watch saved the lives of eight men last night in a tunnel of the Mountain Quarries company, near here. Summoned off duty by the watchman a half hour ahead of the regular quitting time, they reached the surface just a moment before the flood gates burst and flooded the tunnel with water. It is the watchman's duty to flush the quitting time to the men in the tunnels and when they were summoned too soon last night, they rushed pell mell for the exit, fearing some accident had occurred. They were joking the watchman about his antiquated time piece, when the flood gates gave way.

SIX KILLED; SEVEN INJURED BY SLIDE

Ferne, B. C., Dec. 30.—Six men were killed and seven injured, two seriously, today, when a snow slide came down at the coal creek mines of the Crows Nest Coal Company and carried away a carpenter's shop which the men had just entered preparatory to their day's work. All of the victims lived in this vicinity.

IRISH HOME RULE IS UP FOR DISCUSSION

London, Dec. 30.—The Irish home rule bill reached the report stage in the house of commons this afternoon. Premier Asquith announced that seven days would be given for the discussion of this stage of the measure. There was much criticism of the government method of gutting the debate, but the premier refused to produce the time. Sir Edward Carson, on behalf of the Unionists, notified the government that he intended to move an amendment excluding the province of Ulster from the operations of the bill.

Three Men Fight for Life in Blizzard

Breckenridge, Colo., Dec. 30.—Three men riding in a four-horse sleigh containing the body of W. L. Link, who died here Sunday, fought five hours against a terrific blizzard in their attempt to take the body to the hospital. One man had both hands and his right foot frozen and the others were in a semi-conscious condition when they returned to Breckenridge.

Cook Ends Life with Pistol Shot

Cody, Wyo., Dec. 30.—"Good-bye," said Herman Hauck, cook at a local restaurant, opening the door of his chum's bedroom tonight. Before the latter could answer, Hauck drew a revolver and sent a bullet through his own head. In his own room was found a postal addressed to his father in Germany, on which was written "God forgive me."

BONDS BOUGHT BY BALE SOLD AT PAR VALUE

Witness Tells in Federal Court How Orchard Company's Securities Were Hawked by Unscrupulous Dealers.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Portland, Ore., Dec. 30.—How the bonds of the Columbia River Orchard and Packing Company were sold and resold throughout the Pacific northwest, was described today by C. L. Burton, a witness at the trial of A. J. Biehl, charged with having used the mails to defraud. Burton said he became interested in the project of the company and bought some of its bonds. When he found that they were worthless, he "unloaded them as fast as he could."

Burton testified that other brokers bought and sold the bonds, in some cases paying a few cents on the dollar for them and afterward selling them for as much as par. At the time, he testified, when the bonds could be bought "by the bale" in Seattle for 50 cents on the $1,000, there were some "brokers and innocent purchasers trading in them for prices as high as $800 on the $1,000."

Following the testimony of Burton, there was an intimation from the federal district attorney's office that his evidence would be used as a basis for extensive prosecutions of brokers and bond dealers throughout the Pacific northwest.

MRS. ADAMS MUST REMAIN IN PRISON

Los Angeles, Dec. 30.—As far as J. A. Hodgins, a wealthy Chicago contractor, is concerned, his foster daughter, Mrs. Edna Louise Adams, may continue to cook "mulligans," wash dishes, sweep and make beds in the city jail. Mrs. Adams, who has been in jail a week because she is alleged to have passed worthless checks, expected her foster father to come to her relief with the amount of bail necessary to procure her release. Hodgins' refusal to do anything for her, came today in a message to Los Angeles police. He said he had been paying Mrs. Adams $200 a month ever since she came out here in a special car a year ago and that prior to her arrest by a private detective, he had published notices that he would not be liable for any of her debts.

TURKEY SHOWS ITS HAND; ALLIES TO PRESENT THEIR ULTIMATUM

Peace Negotiations at London Are Expected to Reach Crisis Tomorrow and May Then Be Abandoned.

EUROPEAN MEDIATION DESIRED BY OTTOMANS

However, Victors in Balkan War Are Bitterly Opposed to Any Such Settlement of the Bloody Struggle.

SERBIANS CAPTURE SCUTARI IN REPORT

London, Dec. 31.—The Times publishes the following dispatch from Belgrade: "It is reported that the ministry of war has received a telegram stating that Scutari has fallen before a Serbian attack."

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

London, Dec. 30.—After a fortnight of sparring and feinting, Turkey finally has shown her hand in the peace conference. Mediation by the great powers is the Ottoman scheme for emerging from the war. The Turkish delegates proposed this solution in guarded terms today. The meeting was brief and the Turkish delegates were not as confident as they had been. The delegation had received fresh instructions from the port, Rehad Pasha announced, but part of the telegram was indecipherable and must be repeated to Constantinople for translation. Then Rehad Pasha said he was able to state that most of the questions under discussion should be referred to the powers.

The boundary between Bulgaria and Turkey was an exception; that was a matter, he said, for direct settlement between the two governments. The Turkish delegates attempted to discuss the questions at issue informally, but the allies insisted that they should put their propositions in writing, which the Turks said they were not prepared to do.

The allies propose to bring affairs to a crisis Wednesday by a statement in the nature of an ultimatum. They express the determination not to waste more time in waiting for telegraphic consultation, real or pretended, between Constantinople and the Turkish delegates in London. Mediation has advantages from the Turkish viewpoint. The tendency of such an arrangement always is in the direction of a compromise. In the second place, mediation would save the eyes of government's making it appear that Turkey concedes the sacrifice that she must inevitably make to the pressure of all Europe instead of at the dictation of the Balkan states.

The first consideration, from the standpoint of the allies, is opposed to their interests. Such a solution as mediation offers would be of further disadvantage to them, in that certain powers—Austria and Italy—could not be considered as interested arbitrators. The Turkish design in presenting counter proposals, which left an enormous gulf between them and the allies' proposals, was to create a situation in which mediation would appear justifiable—even necessary. Their argument is that never has a mediator given a verdict entirely favorable to one side, without compensation to the other. And the certain argument remains that whatever Turkey would be forced to cede, her Muslem population, particularly the semi-barbarous tribes of Arabia and Anatolia, would swallow the bitter pill with fewer grumances, if convinced it was administered by a coalition of Europe. In the camp of the allies the proposal for mediation has been received with varying degrees of dissatisfaction.

All are agreed that mediation would be possible of acceptance only if the authority, entrusted to the mediators, were of such limits that it would be impossible to deprive the victors of rich spoils; that it must be mediation taking into account the present status of the belligerents, not the ante-bellum status and above all, that it must be mediation—not arbitration.

Arbitration, it is pointed out, was possible before the conflict, not afterwards, unless in questions of details, such as the delimitation of frontiers, now well defined by ethnographical landmarks. Serbia and Montenegro are most dissatisfied of all, in the belief that it will be impossible to secure impartial mediation by the powers, which include Austria, a nation which shows a threatening attitude against those states which are in the line of its interests. Austria, according to them, practically can be considered an interested party as she has proclaimed the inviolability of Albania, forcing the Serbians and Montenegrins to abandon the Adriatic coast and has declared the necessity of extending the frontiers of Albania, for the sole purpose of depriving Serbia and Montenegro of territories they have conquered. Conceding that Austria does not wish to renounce her traditional policy of expansion in the Balkans with the object of reaching the Aegean sea, she, the allies ask, be considered an impartial judge in a matter in which her vital interests may be furthered or endangered?

The allies fear Italian aspirations. Italy has protested the occupation by Greece of the island of Saseo, at the entrance to the strait of Athens. This attitude the administration at Athens has considered offensive, claiming that Saseo was included in the Ionian islands taken from France by Great Britain in 1809 and ceded to Greece in 1864. Can Italy also be trusted to give an impartial judgment, asks Greece.

Balkaria's attitude has not been determined. Dr. Danoff, chief of the Bulgarian plenipotentiaries, appeared tonight hopeful, but said nothing positive could be outlined until Turkey presented her demands in well-defined form. In Rehad Pasha's vague statement today, Dr. Danoff continued, Adriatic was not mentioned.

"What does that mean?" he asked. "Does Turkey wish to convey the impression that she is determined to keep Adriatic or does she mean to this point to be settled directly between herself and Bulgaria? The latter supposition is impossible. If Turkey admitted the possibility of losing Adriatic she would prefer intervention by Europe."

RUMANIA THREATENS WAR WITH BULGARIA

Cologne, Germany, Dec. 30.—Rumania's action, in case her demands for territory in Bulgaria are refused, may take the form of armed seizure of the districts desired. This is indicated in the Cologne Gazette's inspired Berlin dispatch. The dispatch says: "In case Bulgaria's answer, which is expected shortly, is not satisfactory, Rumania will take steps to assure herself of possession of the territory demanded."

AUSTRIA OFFERS TO STOP MOBILIZATION OF ARMY

Paris, Dec. 30.—The Petite Republique says the French foreign office has received information that the Austrian cabinet has made an offer to Russia to stop the mobilization of certain Austrian army corps on the withdrawal of Russian troops from the frontier and the acceptance of a formal agreement on the question of the Albanian frontier.

PARCELS POST TO SUPPLY FRESH EGGS DAILY

San Francisco Women Propose to Reduce Cost of Living by Utilizing Mail Service of Uncle Sam.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

San Francisco, Dec. 30.—The California branch of the Housewives' League, a national organization, announced today a plan to lower the cost of living. Taking advantage of the new parcels post system, which goes into effect January 1, the league would buy their eggs and garden truck from the farm, thus eliminating the profit of the middleman. Lists of farmers and gardeners in all parts of the state have been compiled and assurances received that they are willing to ship their products by parcels post. From the league's member the names and addresses of the co-operating producers in her district.

Dr. Caroline C. Coffin, president of the state organization, talked enthusiastically today about the plan. "By means of the parcels post," she said, "the housewife may receive many commodities fresh from the producer without paying the exorbitant commission charges of the middleman. Take eggs for example. At this season they are very high. It takes about nine five fresh eggs to weigh one pound. When eggs are selling in the retail stores here for sixty cents a dozen, the farmer is receiving only thirty or thirty-five cents. The middleman gets the difference. Our plan will be open to all housewives who wish to abstain themselves of the opportunity to obtain fresh produce at a small cost. The league will work with the State (Grange), and other organizations, looking toward the interests of the farmer and the consumer."

THIRTY-THREE OUT OF FORTY SENT TO LEAVENWORTH PRISON

Sentences of Convicted Labor Leaders Range from One Year to Seven Years at Hard Labor.

FIVE MEN SECURE JUDGE'S CLEMENCY

Special Train, Leaving at Time and Over Route Not Disclosed, Is to Carry Convicts to Penitentiary.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Indianapolis, Dec. 30.—Impressment in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., today, was increased by the arrival of thirty-three labor union officials convicted as conspirators and leaders in the McNamara plot for the destruction of property of the contractors by dynamite over an area stretching from Boston to Los Angeles. As the heads of the union, whose strike was given as the motive for promoting the dynamite plots, Frank M. Ryan was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment, the highest sentence of all. He is president of the Iron Workers' International union. Of the thirty-eight men convicted as conspirators and leaders in the McNamara dynamite schemes, eight other men, all affiliated with Ryan, each was given a prison term of six years. Two men, each, were given four years; twelve men, each, were given three years; four men were given two years each; six men one year and one day each, and five men, including Edward Clark, Cincinnati, a dynamite who pleaded guilty, were allowed their liberty on suspended sentences. The elimination of those who received suspended sentences left thirty-three who are to go to Leavenworth, where the shortest sentence will be one year and one day.

By the liberation of Hiram R. Kline, a former official of the Carpenters' union, and Chas. A. Teelmeier, San Francisco, remained as the only labor union official among the prisoners not related with the iron workers' union. Teelmeier was charged by the government with having conspired with Ryan and McNamara for the destruction of life and property on the Pacific coast. Teelmeier again and again was referred to by the government to the jury as a murderer who ought to be hanged. San Francisco, and the McNamara case, remained as the only labor union official among the prisoners not related with the iron workers' union. Teelmeier was charged by the government with having conspired with Ryan and McNamara for the destruction of life and property on the Pacific coast. Teelmeier again and again was referred to by the government to the jury as a murderer who ought to be hanged. San Francisco, and the McNamara case, remained as the only labor union official among the prisoners not related with the iron workers' union.

"The evidence shows some of these defendants to be guilty of murder," the court continued. "The evidence in this case will convince any impartial person that government by injunction is indefinitely to be preferred to government by dynamite."

The sentence of Herbert S. Hockin, termed the "kago" of the conspiracy, and the sentence of Teelmeier, was received by each without an expression. Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco, and J. E. Munsey, Salt Lake City, both of whom were charged with assisting in the escape of James B. McNamara from Los Angeles, also received their sentences in silence. When the court issued a general invitation to any of the men to state what they had, why sentences should not be pronounced, Ryan, too, remained silent.

Steps toward appeals in behalf of all the prisoners to the United States court of appeals already have been taken. Chester H. Krum, with other counsel, appeared before Judge Anderson late today to arrange for the filing of the writs of errors. This formalities may be done tomorrow. Meantime, Mr. Krum said there was no prospect of procuring liberty for any of the men through suspended bonds. All the prisoners are to go to Leavenworth. What time the special train is to carry them there United States Marshal Schmidt refused to state, as he has been instructed to keep in absolute secrecy the departure and route of the train. It was understood that no efforts were to be made to take the train before tomorrow. Less than twenty minutes was consumed in the work of actually imposing sentences, although for an hour and a half before that time, Judge Anderson, leaning over his desk, invited each prisoner to step up and talk with him as to his degree of guilt.

The prisoners had been assigned three rows deep. In front sat a dozen attorneys for the defense, whose motions for setting aside the verdicts and for arrests of judgment were overruled. Behind, in the rear shut off by a railing, were relatives of the prisoners. There were, perhaps, several hundred people in the room, but one voice was heard at a time. That was the judge's voice or the voice of the prisoner who had stepped forward to plead for mercy.

ward," said the judge. For a moment no one said anything or stepped forward. The offer was repeated. Finally six men arose and stepped forward one by one. The six men were: Patrick Farrell, James Cooney, James Campbell, William C. Bernhardt, Frank J. Murphy and Hiram Kline. All but Bernhardt procured liberty through suspended sentences.

Bernhardt in pleading his cause before the court said: "I hope God may strike me dead." But here the court interrupted. "Sit down, you know you are guilty."

Bernhardt's sentence later was one year and one day. "Do you think dynamite is right?" was asked of each prisoner who pleaded. The answer, invariably, was "No, your honor." Each prisoner disclaimed any knowledge of the dynamite plots. Just before passing sentence, Judge Anderson announced he wanted to read a statement. Before he had proceeded to the chair in the corridor began to cry and the judge paused long enough to order that the door be kept closed. It was a four-year-old George Bernhardt, son of the Cincinnati prisoner, who had been playing in the corridor with Christmas toys.

The court room was more crowded than usual. Among many women present was "Mrs. Bernhardt Harrison, widow of the former president. The sentences were read by the court from a slip of paper, the names and the terms of imprisonment being called off rapidly. A few minutes later the court room was cleared of all except the prisoners, who, with their families, were permitted to remain in the federal building until late in the afternoon. At 3:15 o'clock the prisoners, shackled to deputy marshals, stepped out of the federal building and on their march to the Marion county jail began to sing "On the Banks of the Shannon." The singing continued, with crying women and children following the procession, almost until the jail was reached. Every effort by officials to stop the demonstration caused louder singing.

As the line reached the prisoners' entrance to the jail, the deputies stepped aside, the handcuffs were removed and the prisoners were checked by Marshal Schmidt. The prisoners marched in alphabetical order, Anderson, of Cleveland, leading, and Young, of Boston, bring up the rear. Not one of the five whose sentences were suspended, accompanied the procession to the jail. The wives and friends of the convicted men had taken leave of them half an hour before.

MUCH AMMUNITION SMUGGLED INTO MEXICO

Four Thousand Rifles and Packages of Cartridges Containing from 5,000 to 50,000 Each, Sent to El Paso.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 30.—At least 4,000 rifles and uncountable quantities of ammunition in shipments of from 5,000 to 50,000 rounds each have been received here within the last three months, state officials figure. That the arms and cartridges are not sold for sporting purposes is self-evident. Nor is there any explanation offered for the use of the rebels operating below the border at this point. Some months ago, enforcement of neutrality was removed from department of justice secret agents along the border and turned over entirely to the war department. But no appropriation was made for the creation of a military intelligence bureau. At present practically no officials in civilian dress are on border duty with the special authority to make arrests or investigate arms smuggling cases. The only investigative service is the Mexican secret police, agents of which are stationed in all American border towns.

CENSOR OF PUBLIC MORALS DEFENDANT

Los Angeles, Dec. 30.—Guy Eddie, suspended city prosecutor and censor of public morals, on trial on a charge of having contributed to the delinquency of a minor woman, began his defense in the superior court today. Counsel for Eddie, in his opening statement, declared the defendant was the victim of a political conspiracy. Three deputy city prosecutors, under Eddie and two architects testified that the holes bored in the door of Eddie's office, through which detectives spied upon him prior to his arrest, were so located that watchers could not have seen what was occurring in the office. They assumed that the holes had been enlarged since Eddie's arrest.

MUNICIPAL CAR LINE MAKES BIG PROFIT

San Francisco, Dec. 30.—In the first day and one-half of its operation, of San Francisco's new municipal railroad line, returned to the city a profit of $632.75. The first car was sent out Saturday noon and the receipts for the half day were $748.75. Yesterday's receipts were $219, making a total of $1,658.75 for the day and a half. The estimated operating expenses of the road are $450 a day, and the fixed charges on the bonds, $234 a day.

PATRONAGE TO BE HANDLED BY THREE LEADERS

National Committeeman, State Chairman and Congressman to Act as Final Authority in Recommending Applicants.

MARTINEZ AND JONES GIVEN PARTY BACKING

State Executive Committee of Democratic Party Adopts Elaborate Scheme for Distributing Appointive Offices.

COMMITTEE AGREES ON STATED PROGRAM

The state executive committee of the democratic party yesterday recommended to President-elect Wilson and National Committeeman William F. McAdams the appointments of Felix Martinez as ambassador to Mexico, and of A. A. Jones as secretary of the interior. A. B. McGuffey was not named as member of the committee from this judicial district, succeeding the late Felix H. Lester, this matter being deferred, pending the election of a new chairman. Local democratic leaders and Chairman Hudspeeth first desired to consult with Mr. McGuffey, before making the selection, since it is not certain that he will accept the place on the executive committee. A formal plan for the recommendation of the appointment of various candidates for federal appointive offices through the state chairman and national committeeman and congressional program was outlined in the Morning Journal of yesterday, and was carried out.

An elaborate, but apparently practical plan of endorsing selected ones of the many applicants for appointment to federal office in the state, was yesterday adopted by the state executive committee of the democratic party in session here. Felix Martinez, of Colfax county, was endorsed for appointment as ambassador to Mexico, and A. A. Jones, of East Las Vegas, was endorsed for appointment as secretary of the interior. These endorsements were so made as to eventually place them before the president, if all goes as expected, in the light of strictly party measures.

The patronage distribution plan contemplates the endorsement of the different applications by the state chairman, the state member of the democratic national committee and the congressman.

To reach this trio of party leaders, however, each application must go through a series of hands. The first step in the plan is to get into consideration first, those offices primarily falling in that county; and second, offices not included in the first category. The state committee will have the right to make recommendations of his own and send them in with the rest. These recommendations will be made to the state central committee. The state central committee, without meeting to pass upon each application will pass on each application to the executive committee. The state executive committee will act on the application and will pass on to a committee of three such as obtain its endorsement. This committee of three will be composed of state Chairman A. B. Hudspeeth, of White Oaks; National Committeeman A. A. Jones, of East Las Vegas, and Congressman Harvey R. Ferguson, of Albuquerque. From the hands of this committee the applications will finally go to the president, bearing the approval of the party in this state. This method of having the central committee, through its member in each county, act on applications, was adopted because of the impracticability of having the central committee meet as a body to pass upon each individual application, or even each series of applications from a county.

It had the entire concurrence of the members who attended the meeting, and it is believed will solve the difficult problem to the satisfaction of the majority of the party, which, in good democratic circles, means the satisfaction of everyone.

For A. A. Jones for appointment, as secretary of the interior and of Felix Martinez as ambassador to Mexico, were passed by the committee. These resolutions set forth as reasons for the appointment of these gentlemen practically the same matters stated in the Morning Journal of yesterday as argument for that cause.

Both recommendations will travel the same route that do the others, with the exception, of course, that Mr. Jones and Mr. Martinez will take to part in the action of either the executive committee or the committee of three when they are named upon. After leaving the hands of the committee of three, they will be presented to President-elect Wilson direct and also to National Democratic chairman William F. McComb, for his endorsement.

The plan is to have the national democratic executive committee get squarely behind each of these recommendations and press them upon President Wilson for the reasons set forth and also as strict party measures. Should this plan be successful, as there is every reason to believe it will be, the recommendations cannot fail of being considered very gravely by the president.

McGAFHEY APPOINTMENT HELD IN ABSENCE

State Chairman Hudspeth yesterday did not announce the appointment of A. B. McGaffey, a local lumber magnate, as member of the state executive committee from the Second judicial district succeeding the late Felix H. Lester. While Mr. McGaffey has the unanimous endorsement of party leaders in this section and he is the only name mentioned for the committee vacancy, the matter was deferred until his return to the city from Los Angeles.

Those present at the session were as follows:

State Chairman Hudspeth, ex-defect A. L. Lawson, of Alamogordo; R. P. Donahoe, of Tucuman; Benigno Padilla, of Puerto de Luna; Sumner Burkhardt, of Albuquerque, appointed pro tem to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Lester and to this complete a quorum.

The meeting adjourned yesterday afternoon and several of the members returned to their homes last night.

INCREASED LUMBER RATES SUSPENDED

Washington, Dec. 30.—The interstate commerce commission today suspended proposed transcontinental freight tariff advancing rates on lumber from British Columbia and Alberta, Canada, and Oregon, Washington and other northwestern states, shipped through Colorado gateways to eastern destinations. The effect of the proposed tariffs would be to advance the rate from Portland, Ore., to Chicago from sixty-five cents to two pounds to eighty-nine cents; and from Portland to New York from eighty-five cents to $1.95. Rates between other points show a similar advance.

War Department's Great Army Depots

Washington, Dec. 30.—War department officials stated today that although a considerable quantity of military stores are being gathered at Ft. Paine, the department does not expect to make Ft. Paine one of the great depots of the army. Plans of the department contemplate the establishment of three such depots, at Philadelphia, St. Louis and San Francisco. Accumulating of ordnance material and other stores at these points has begun.

MORE DEMOCRATIC SENATORS NEEDED BY WILSON

President-Elect Holds Important Conferences at Which J. Hamilton Lewis Suggests Two from Illinois.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 30.—President-elect Wilson manifested today keen interest in the possibility that the present senate majority which the democrats are calculated to have in the United States senate might be comfortably increased when the legislature of a number of states meet next month. Mr. Wilson conferred during the day on the senatorial situation with J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, choice of the democratic primaries in Illinois for United States senator, and Senator Luke Lea, of Tennessee. Other visitors were Senators John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, and Chamberlain, of Oregon.

Mr. Lewis told Mr. Wilson there was a good chance of getting two democratic senators from Illinois, if forming him that while the progressives held the balance of power, he thought there were among them men of public-spirited enough to support the democratic choice on the theory that the state by popular vote had put itself on record for a Wilson administration.

Mr. Lewis suggested to the president-elect that it might even be openly understood that senators who would give him the support of the state by popular vote would be regarded as worthy of proper reward and recognition in the distribution of patronage.

The president-elect said tonight that he had absolutely no comment to make on this proposal. Senator Chamberlain said after his talk with the president-elect that he had urged the appointment of a westerner for secretary of the interior, Oregon, he said, favored Judge W. R. King, democratic national committeeman from that state, or Joseph H. Teal.

DIVORCED WIFE OF COPPER MAGNATE SEEKS TO SET DECREE ASIDE

Mrs. Grace Brown Guggenheim Goes Into Court to Have Order of Separation, Granted in 1909, Annulled.

$150,000 ALIMONY WAS PAID TO PLAINTIFF

Present Wife of Defendant Submits Statement to Court Which is "Impounded" at Request of Attorney.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Circuit Judge Heard today took up the hearing of the suit in which Mrs. Grace Brown Guggenheim seeks to have set aside the decree of divorce granted to her against William Guggenheim, wealthy mine owner, in 1909, by the Chicago courts. The complaint alleges that the court was imposed on in the original divorce hearing which was before Judge Dunne, now governor-elect of Illinois.

This check for $150,000 alimony, which Mrs. Guggenheim received following her divorce, was introduced in evidence by Attorney Untermyer, counsel for Mrs. Guggenheim, objected to the introduction of the check, but it was permitted to go in the record. A deposition of Edwin H. Johnson, of the Colonial Trust company of New York, was read to the effect that the check for $150,000 had been deposited in that bank.

A deposition, made by Almer Guggenheim, the present wife of Guggenheim, was handed to Judge Heard by Attorney Untermyer, counsel for William Guggenheim, and immediately asked that the document be impounded. The court granted the motion and the document went into the record without being made public.

Mrs. Guggenheim was called to the witness stand at the opening of the afternoon session of court. Mrs. Grace B. Guggenheim gave her residence as New York, and said she was born in Illinois, in 1869. She said she lived in the state when she was two or three years old and that she was never a resident of Illinois afterwards. She said she knew Mr. Guggenheim six months before she married him. The witness described a conference held in New York, in 1909, between Daniel Guggenheim, a brother of William Guggenheim, Louis Werner, her attorney, and William Guggenheim, at which it was suggested that she go to North Dakota and get a divorce there. She said this suggestion was made by Daniel Guggenheim. The witness said Daniel Guggenheim said he would not permit his brother, William, to live with her and that if she remained in New York they would send William to Europe.

"I returned to go to North Dakota for a divorce and asked why I could not stay in New York, and Daniel Guggenheim told me that if I stayed and said the family could not stand for the scandal," said the witness. Mrs. Guggenheim then related a conversation she had with Attorney Untermyer and Attorney Louis Werner, in which it was suggested she go to Chicago and get a divorce. They both said she was born in Illinois and you can get a divorce there," said Mrs. Guggenheim.

"Mr. Untermyer said I had better take a trunk with me and deposit $1,000 in a bank so as to make it appear that I lived in Chicago," said the witness. The witness then told of coming to Chicago and applying for a divorce. Before testifying in the divorce case the witness said she talked with Attorney Werner and he seemed nervous. The witness said she was afraid the judge would ask her where she lived and he told her to say she lived in Chicago. She said the judge did ask her where she lived and she said in Chicago.

Mrs. Guggenheim testified that she was an undivided acquisition to the Guggenheim family and that she was used to obtain the divorce by means of her attorney. She said that after she had obtained the divorce and had been handed a check for $150,000 alimony, she learned that her attorney, Louis Werner, had been paid by the Guggenheims.

"Why did you take the check for alimony?" demanded Mr. Untermyer. "It was handed to me. If it were handed to you I think you would take it," replied Mrs. Guggenheim with a smile.

Mrs. Guggenheim denied that she had demanded $250,000 to release her former husband. She also said she had no wish to re-enter the Guggenheim family, but wished her divorce reinstated.

She said that she took the name of Herbert, after her divorce, because she was asked by Daniel Guggenheim, by her former husband and by Mr. Untermyer.

COURT ENDS SUIT FOR PROPERTY VALUED UP IN MILLIONS

Chicago Trust Company Secures Judgment for $2,500,000 Against Penn-Wyoming Copper Company.

MANY STOCKHOLDERS INTERESTED IN RESULT

Litigation Extending Over Several Years Ended by Decision of Judge Ordering Sale of Assets for Plaintiff in Case.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Dec. 30.—In the case of Vivian E. Collins, et al., vs. the Penn-Wyoming Copper company, et al., which came up for hearing on cross bills of the Continental Trust & Savings bank, in the federal court here today $19,000,000 worth of property in Carbon county, Wyoming, is involved. The court ruled in favor of the Continental Trust & Savings bank of Chicago to the effect that certain frauds, alleged to have been committed in connection with the Penn-Wyoming company, did not invalidate the trust deed given to the Trust and Savings bank for $2,500,000 on the Penn-Wyoming property and its subsidiary corporations.

The court ordered the foreclosure proceedings under the trust deed. The property involved is now held by Isaac N. Penneck, receiver for the United Smelters Railroad and Copper company, a subsidiary to the Penn-Wyoming company. Under this foreclosure the property of the following companies will be sold at forced sale: Saratoga and Encampment Railroad company, Encampment Smelting company, Encampment Pipe Line and Ditch company, Encampment Electric Light company, Encampment Tramway company, Encampment Water Works company, Encampment Land and Town Lot company, Battle Lake Tunnel Site Mining company, Hagerly Copper Mining company, Carbonade Coal company, North American Mercantile company. These companies, subsidiary to the Penn-Wyoming company, are all Wyoming concerns. The properties involved are located in southern Carbon county and also include the territory of Encampment.

This decision of the court terminates protracted litigation alleging frauds perpetrated in the companies' transactions. The Continental bank, filling a cross bill to foreclose the mortgage held by that company which being decided in the bank's favor, will result in the termination of the litigation and the sale of the properties. The suit against the Penn-Wyoming Copper company was brought three years ago by stockholders in it and subsidiary companies. Pending settlement of the litigation, the company was allowed to transfer its interests, and that of its subsidiaries to the United Smelter Railroad & Copper Company, in whose possession all of the property is now.

The stockholders, several hundred of them, filed the suit because they believed frauds had been committed by the main company in issuing stock which netted the company several million dollars. The Continental and Commercial Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, had lent money to the company after its organization, $2,500,000, taking as mortgage for that amount which was secured by trust deeds on the property of the company and its subsidiaries. The original stockholders filed suit for accounting and the bank immediately filed motion to be made party plaintiff and entered cross bill demanding the foreclosure of the mortgage under the deeds of trust. The other plaintiffs, as well as the defendants, fought the cross bill on the grounds that the mortgage had become invalid because of the alleged fraudulent sale of stock. Judge Riner, however, held that such was not the case, and that the frauds, if they were committed, could not go to impair the rights and interests of the mortgagees. The court did not go into the affairs of the company other than in connection with the mortgage as all other matters had been settled prior to this time, when the company was taken over by the United Smelter Railroad & Copper company, which now must pay to the Chicago bankers, $2,500,000 with interest, being the value of the mortgage.

GIRL BEATS HER WAY
ON FREIGHT TRAINS

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Police officials are puzzled over the identity of a young woman, aged 21, who says she has "beaten her way" on freight trains to most of the large cities of the United States. She was arrested today as she was about to board a freight train. She gave the name of "Miss Hazel Johnson," but admitted that this was fictitious.

"I've been beating my way on freight trains all over the country," she said, "and I've just had the time of my life. Honestly, I'd rather ride in a box car than on a soft cushion in a first-class passenger car."

"I've beat my way to New York and back, and I've been to Ogden, Utah, Salt Lake City and all over the west." The young woman said that she was refused of a diamond ring valued at $200 by a switchman when she met in Portland, Ore.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Dec. 30.—Further reports of Dr. David Starr Jordan's book on "The Ideal Eugenics," soon to be published, show that in his exhaustive study of the origins of the American families, Dr. Jordan had found that all the descendants of royalty live in cities, rural districts being unrepresented. A dozen American cities are accorded descendants of kings and queens, many celebrated personages being included in the doctor's list. New York leads in the lists of individuals, having seven, while Chicago has only three, but when Dr. Jordan gets down to the southern cities, he had to enumerate the royal descendants by families. Charlemagne and Alfred the Great, as famous ancestors, appear to have the largest representation. Dr. Jordan assigns royalty to the various cities as follows, all those named being included in the much longer list of those "eugenically fit."

New York—Vincent Astor, descendant from Robert Bruce, of Scotland; Henry C. McKim, Mr. and Mrs. Asa G. Putnam, Charlemagne; Andrew Carnegie, Mary Queens of Scots; Mrs. Homer Hine Stuart, Hugh Capet, of France; Mrs. William E. Strong and Mrs. George Innes, Jr., Edward I, of England.

Chicago—Mrs. Annie I. W. Kerfoot, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Royal Woodward, Charlemagne; Boston—Miss Eleanor Sears, Philip Count of Emont; Baltimore—George Norbury, MacKenzie, Charlemagne; Mrs. Daniel A. Boone, Miss Ellen Howard Bayard, the Bayard and Carroll families, Conn. Goodrich, King of Ireland.

Denver—Mrs. Franklin R. Carpenter, Edward I, of England; Dubuque, Iowa—Mrs. Mary Newbury Adams, William the Conqueror; Berkeley, Cal.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Norton Ord, Edward I, of England; Los Angeles—Frederick Hastings Ringe, Alfred the Great.

San Francisco—Captain Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, Miss Mary E. Heard, Charlemagne; Henry Gordon Smith, the Solvay family; Washington, D. C.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Stone, Jr., Alfred the Great; Richmond, Va.—Mrs. Anna Fitzhugh Walker, Alfred the Great; Savannah, Ga.—Mrs. William Washington Gordon, Charlemagne; Bacon family of Georgia, Robert the Pious of France; Carter, Braxton Castleman and Harrison families, Henry III, of England.

Philadelphia—Mrs. William J. Holdrege, Edward I, of England; Cincinnati—Mrs. John Fick Winston, Alfred the Great.

COLORADO BEGINS PAYMENT OF OLD DEBT

Eight Hundred Thousand Dollars During Thirty Years Has Accumulated Over $1,300,000 in Interest.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Denver, Dec. 30.—The state today began to pay back the $800,000 which it has owed for more than thirty years, together with its accumulated interest of more than $1,300,000. The principal was borrowed by the seventh general assembly, commonly designated as "the robber seventh." The state has refused to pay the debt until the last assembly, when a constitutional amendment calling for its payment was passed. Immediately the constitutionality of the amendment was attacked in the courts and the state was ordered to pay the money. The debt was contracted by the assembly which made appropriations in excess of the state's income. The case was taken to the district court and the decision rendered was to the effect that the amendment was constitutional. The supreme court sustained the ruling and then the case was taken to the United States district court, Judge R. E. Lewis deciding that the federal court had no jurisdiction in the matter. An appeal was taken from his decision and the United States supreme court held that the United States district court had not erred in its decision. The first payment made today was of $321,700.

DETECTIVES TRY TO FIND ROCKEFELLER

New York, Dec. 30.—Private detectives, said to be in the employ of the Pajo committee investigating the alleged money trust, tonight began picketing on the sidewalks in front of the home of William Rockefeller, with the purpose of serving a subpoena. The pickets also include in the beats the nearby entrances to the homes of Marcellus Hartley Dodge, and Dr. Hunter McAlpine, sons-in-law of Rockefeller, and even Mr. Rockefeller's estate at Tarrytown. Eight men were stationed around the three houses in this city tonight and it was declared there was no way in which Mr. Rockefeller could get in or out of either of them without being seen.

SERVANS RESORT TO SLAUGHTERING MOSLEMS

Terrible Recital of Atrocities Committed in Turkish Territory Revealed by Newspaper Correspondent.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

London, Dec. 31.—A terrible recital of atrocities from information gathered from Austro-Hungarian authorities, is given in a Budapest dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, revealing, according to these official reports, a deliberate policy of extermination of Moslems adopted by Servian General Janovic on the march of his army through Albania to the sea coast. Between Kumanova and Uskup, 3,000 were slain. Near Pristina, 5,000, exclusively Armenians, were massacred under circumstances of the most horrible cruelty. Villages were burned and the fleeing inhabitants shot down. Helpless women were forced to watch their children hacked to pieces with bayonets. Executions were the daily diversion of the Servian soldiers. When ever persons were found in possession of arms they were shot or hanged.

The route of the troops on their march was lined with gallows on which the bodies of Albanians were left hanging.

The atrocities were not confined to Albania. The deeds committed in Pripath, Kosovo and Werschitz, exceeded anything the Albanians suffered under Turkish rule. At Verisovitch, the Servian commander invited the refugees to return and surrender their arms. Four hundred of them did so and immediately were cut down. In many cases the Servians killed their prisoners. Near Kratova, General Stephanovitch, placed hundreds of prisoners in two rows and shot them down with machine guns. General Zikovic ordered 250 Albanians and Turks killed because they had opposed his progress.

Colorado Solons Decide on Speaker. Denver, Dec. 30.—At a caucus of forty-four out of forty-eight members of the Nineteenth general assembly here tonight, Olin C. DAVE COMBS MAY BE THE THIRD MAN IN RING

for Him to Referee Chavez-
Ryan Bout Tomorrow; All is Ready for Big Fistic Card.

With the refereeship of the big bout tomorrow afternoon between Benny Chavez and Tommy Ryan undecided, the fans yesterday started a boom for Dave Combs to officiate as third man in the ring for the main event of the New Year's boxing card at Elks' theater.

The mention of Combs' name in connection with the selection of a referee met with instant approval in local fight circles and it is possible he may be induced today to act as third man in the ring.

"Mr. Combs is perfectly satisfactory to me," declared Director Mark Levy last night, "and I would be only too glad to have him officiate. He knows the boxing game thoroughly and what is better, he is physically big enough to keep the boys going at a fast clip."

However, in case Combs declines to act—which as yet he has not done—"Shorty" Marx, a veteran fight promoter and referee of Fort Smith, Ark., who is in the city, will act as referee. Director Levy yesterday conferred with Marx and he has promised to act, providing Combs does not accept the job.

The preliminaries, two six-round affairs, are to be taken care of by Dave Rollo, who has heretofore refereed most of the bouts of the New Mexico Athletic club.

The last strenuous work of Chavez and Ryan was finished yesterday and today the two boys will do only light training at the New Mexico A. C. gym. Both are in fine trim and Ryan, who must make 125 pounds five hours before he enters the ring, was within reaching distance of this weight yesterday, so there will be no hitch on this score. Big crowds as usual saw the boys work out yesterday.

The preliminary performers, Torres and Moran and Apodaca and Fellabaum, also wound up their conditioning stunts yesterday and will do just enough work today to keep them on edge.

The bell for the first bout tomorrow afternoon will ring promptly at 3 o'clock. Seats go on sale this morning at Matson's and a rush for reservations is expected by Director Levy.

CHICAGO NATIONALS WILL DO THEIR SPRING TRAINING AT TAMPA

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 30.—C. W. Murphy, president of the Chicago Nationals, arrived here today to select a site for the Chicago Cubs' spring training. He announced the spring schedule of games for the club, which includes:

Jacksonville, March 19; Chattanooga, March 20; Memphis, March 21; Nashville, March 22, 23, 24; Louisville, March 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31; Indianapolis, April 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6; Chicago, Northwestern university, University of Chicago, April 7, 8.

Mr. Murphy said the Chicago team would open the season at home with the St. Louis team, April 9.

The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger from pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all druggists.

WOLGAST WEALTHY BUT WANTS TO ADD TO PILE

Cadillac Fighter and Former Champion of Lightweight Division
Has Earned $240,000
During Career in Ring.

February 22, 1910, at Port Richmond, Cal. Ad Wolgast won the lightweight championship from Battling Nelson, and Thanksgiving day, 1912, lost the crown to Willie Ritchie, holding the title for a period of almost three years. During this time the defeated champion, in a statement just issued by his manager, Tom Jones, is credited with earning $240,000.

Half of his big fortune was made in purses for which Wolgast fought, and the remainder was accumulated in bets, theatrical engagements and investments. "The beauty of it, too," says Jones, "is that Ad has been thrifty enough to keep the major part of it. I venture to say that he is worth close to $200,000 today. He has property in Los Angeles valued at $161,000, and has his ranch in Michigan."

Wolgast is ambitious to continue his work in the ring, and like many others that have been forced out, believes that he can win back the title. It will be some time before he really comes back to the sport, but he is anticipating a new start, which he hopes will lead up to a return match with Ritchie.

There are three boxers in particular whom Wolgast is anxious to fight. They are Rivers, Mandot and Ritchie. If it can be arranged, Wolgast will take on Rivers in a 20-round bout February 22nd on the coast. If this contest is arranged Wolgast will be ready to tackle Mandot any time after February 22nd, and as Ritchie has said that he will return to his July 4th, with the best opponent procurable, this would about complete Wolgast's program.

With the above statement of the manager of the former champion as to his earnings, much interest now centers about the career of the new champion, Ritchie and his future. Ritchie's rise to the championship has been a rather speedy one. From an almost obscure boxer he fought and defeated the best contenders for the title until he finally was matched with the champion and won the honor.

He is a fine box and much liked in boxing circles, but as yet has not been recognized as a marvel in ring generalship. There are a couple of boys at 125 pounds and a brace of 135 pounders, any one of whom would make the going fast for him. The fighters referred to are Wolgast, Rivers, McFarland and Britton. The last two, of course, would be in the 135-pound class, and it is a question whether they could perform well at the prescribed weight at the ring-side.

Ritchie won the title on a foul, though he made a great fight. But the cloud of that disqualification will hang over him until he has demonstrated in coming bouts that he is the real kingpin of the class.

It is generally conceded that Wolgast is entitled to another try against Ritchie. Many were of the opinion that he was not in the best of condition when they fought, and that he will surely make a better showing in a return match. After winning the championship Wolgast received many setbacks. He broke his arm twice and went through an operation for appendicitis. Despite these setbacks he was willing, and fought every 125-pounder who could draw a gate, and then lost his title on a technicality, though perhaps beaten when the foul blow was landed.

Nolan, who is looking after the affairs of Ritchie, has nipped out an extensive theatrical trip on the coast, and later the pair will go east. How long Ritchie will linger before the spotlights of the stage depends upon circumstances, but the prospects are that the new champion will be able to take up the cudgels in defense of his title within the next six months.

Journal Will Receive Fight Returns Tomorrow

The Morning Journal will receive over its own special leased wire tomorrow the fight by rounds between Luther McCarty and Al Palzer at Vernon, Cal., for the white heavyweight championship.

In addition, the Journal also will receive the results of other important battles carded for that day.

The returns will be bulletined at the Elks theater, so that fans attending the Ryan-Chavez bout tomorrow afternoon can keep posted on the big event and other fistic events, while enjoying at the same time the local fistic carnival.

FOOTBALL RULES TO BE RETAINED INTACT

Chicago, Dec. 30.—The 1912 football rules will be retained intact by the national committee when it meets in New York next month, according to a prediction by Coach Stagg, of the University of Chicago, made today. Stagg is a member of the old committee now fused with the National Collegiate Athletic association. The 1912 rules committee will consist of delegates from Dartmouth, Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Harvard, Annapolis, Vanderbilt, Princeton, West Point, Oberlin, Iowa, Chicago, Minnesota and Cornell.

"In my opinion the game as it now stands is in the best shape it has been in," said Stagg. "It is highly scientific and is satisfactory to players and spectators alike. The main in safety is one of the most important features of the present game."

PIERSON MAY GRAB WELTERWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP

If Fighting Newsboy of Denver
Beats English New Year's,
He Will Meet the Winner of Ferns-Brewer Contest.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Kansas City, Dec. 30.—If Charley Pierson, Denver's fighting newsboy, defeats Clarence English in their New Year's day bout at St. Joseph, he will be matched with the winner of the Ferns-Brewer contest to be held the same day at Kansas City. Thus Pierson will be given a chance at the world's welterweight championship, now claimed by Ferns. Pierson and Ferns met once before and the Denver boy got a draw after one of the greatest fights ever staged in the middle west.

Pierson has been a fighter from childhood. Thanks to the Irish newsboy in New York, Pierson is now among the contenders for the welterweight championship. The Irish lad taught this boy how to fight and they did a good job of it.

It was sixteen years ago that Max Schwartz, a little black-headed Jewish lad, bought his first bundle of papers from a wagon on the streets of New York and started as a newspaper vendor. Schwartz soon learned the game from A to Z and this includes how to fight and fight to win.

After the "coopers" on the corners of Gay Gotham had had no little trouble with this little Hebrew because of the fact that he loved to "howl" over all the Irish "newsboys" he could meet, some one was tipped off that he might make a fighter, a real ringer. And it was just by chance that he got his start.

Schwartz used to hang around the boxing clubs as much as the proprietors allowed him to and one night, as is the case of many a fighter, his chance came. A boy by the name of Charley Pierson failed to show up for a bout. They wanted a volunteer. Schwartz jumped over the ropes and

FRANK FARRELL TO GO TO CALIFORNIA TO CONSULT CHANCE

New York, Dec. 30.—Unless meantime he should hear from Frank L. Chance, Frank Farrell, president of the New York Americans, probably will leave for California next week to consult with the former manager of the Chicago Nationals on the subject of Chance coming here to take charge of the Highlanders.

Mr. Farrell said today that he was greatly interested in Chance's letter of last week to Charles Williams, treasurer of the Chicago Nationals, in which he wanted "enough money to make it worth while" to manage the local Americans.

Mr. Farrell added that he knew the New York public would be greatly disappointed if he failed to get Chance and declared that he would do everything within reason to get the Californian in line for the managerial berth here. He added that the time for jockeying was nearly through and he desired to know where he stood in the matter.

CHARLES P. TAFT TO SELL INTEREST IN PITTSBURGH CLUB

Cincinnati, Dec. 29.—Following a conference with Charles P. Taft, here today, William Locke, secretary of the Pittsburgh baseball club, announced that he had paid a substantial amount of money for an option on the Philadelphia National league club as it stands today. The option expires January 13. Mr. Taft, who has held an interest in the Philadelphia club, expressed himself as pleased with the deal entered into by Mr. Locke.

SHORTSTOP WEAVER BATS LEFT-HANDED

Chicago, Dec. 30.—"Rock" Weaver, the Chicago American shortstop, while playing in the Pacific coast winter league, has changed himself from a right to a left handed batter. Weaver let Manager Callahan know today that he had accomplished the change and figured that it would increase his hitting value by at least 25 per cent. He will join the team at Paso Robles and demonstrate his ability.

Weaver has told Callahan that when strikers demands he can bat either right or left handed, changing between halves if necessary. Weaver says it took him two months, giving all his morning practice time to it, to overcome the awkwardness of looking at the pitcher over his right shoulder.

THIRTY-THREE OUT OF FORTY SENT TO LEAVENWORTH

fore. At the jail yard entrance five policemen held back the crowd. Deputies and prisoners marched through the yard to the entrance, while hundreds of spectators craned their necks and jostled each other to see how the prisoners bore up. As Anderson, of Cleveland, the first in line, passed a moving picture photographer he smiled and said to his guard:

"He's on the job." Some of the men puffed nervously on cigars, others were chewing toothpicks they used after luncheon in the federal building. Nine minutes after Anderson left the building the entire procession had reached the entrance of the jail. A few minutes later the handcuffs had been removed from the last prisoner and the jail door had locked behind them. When the prisoners were separated from relatives at the federal building, the wife and two daughters of Edward F. Phillips, of Syracuse, N. Y., were the first to leave the room. They were crying as the door closed. George Bernhard, the 4-year-old son of the prisoner brought a smile to the faces of many when he left the corridor with a noisy "good-bye" that elicited a cheery response from the most downcast of the prisoners. The boy won the friendship of the defendants and their families by the cheerful front he maintained throughout the trial.

When his father was sentenced the boy was playing in one of the corridors. The prisoners, at the request of Ed. Smythe, of Peoria, Ill., sang, "Oh, Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" shortly after the court room had been cleared of relatives. Hiram Kline, who was released on suspended sentence, mingled with the friends and families of the convicted men in the corridors. He was crying as he bid his associates good-bye. The convicted men left finally short of their effects and leaving arrangements of their business matters with relatives and friends. Murphy, of Detroit, one of those released under suspended sentence, said:

"Not because he let me go without punishment but because I think that it is due to him, I want to say that Anderson, I am absolutely innocent. What I say about Judge Anderson, I say from what I have observed throughout the trial. I wish all the judges of this country, from judges of the supreme court down to judges of the police court, were like Judge Anderson."

The following sentences were imposed:

Seven years—Frank M. Ryan, Chicago, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

Six years—Olaf A. Tveitmo, San Francisco, secretary of the California Building Trades Council; Herbert S. Hockin, former secretary of the Iron Workers union and former of Detroit; John T. Butler, Buffalo, vice president of the union; Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco; J. E. Mursey, Salt Lake City, Utah; Philip A. Cooley, New Orleans; Frank C. Webb, New York; Michael J. Young, Boston.

Four years—John H. Barry, St. Louis; Peter J. Smith, Cleveland. Three years—Charles N. Beum, Minneapolis; Henry W. Legleiter, Denver; Ernest G. W. Bassy, Indianapolis; Edward Smythe, Peoria, Ill.; William E. Reddin, Milwaukee; Murray L. Pennel, Springfield, Ill.; Paul J. Morris, St. Louis; William J. McCain, Kansas City, Mo.; Michael J. Hannon, Scranton, Pa.; George (Nipper) Anderson, Cleveland; Wilford Bert Brown, Kansas City, Mo.; Michael J. Cunnane, Philadelphia.

Two years—Frank J. Higgins, Boston; William K. Paine, Omaha; Fred Sherman, Indianapolis; Richard H. Houlahan, Chicago. One year and one day—William C. Bernhardt, Cincinnati; Charles Wachmeister, Detroit; William Shupe, Chicago; James E. Roy, Peoria, Ill.; Edward E. Phillips, Syracuse, N. Y.; Ward Mooney, Duluth, Minn.

Suspended sentences—Patrick F. Farrell, New York; James Conney, Chicago; Hiram K. Kline, Muncie, Ind., former organizer of the Carpenters' union in Detroit; James Coughlin, Chicago; Frank J. Murphy, Detroit; Edward Clark, Cincinnati, confessed dynamiter who testified for the government.

Any minimum which meant liberty through a suspended sentence to a maximum of thirty-nine and one-half years were the limitations of the amount of punishment within which the court had discretion.

Clark's suspension of punishment, after he had pleaded guilty, throws an interesting light on Orrie E. McManigal, another confessed dynamiter. Several days after the trial began and after District Attorney Miller had produced before the jury an ivory-handled umbrella upon which was inscribed the initials, "E. C." Clark pleaded guilty.

He said he had left the umbrella at the spot where he blew up a bridge at Dayton, O. He said Hockin had furnished him with the dynamite and President Ryan had pointed out jobs in Cincinnati to be blown up. McManigal already had pleaded guilty to the charges, but he was brought here as a prisoner of Los Angeles county where he also pleaded guilty. He is to be returned to Los Angeles, in connection with further investigations. The fact that Clark received a suspended sentence was regarded as significant in possible pressing leniency toward McManigal. McManigal, however, confessed personally to causing twenty-one explosions scattered from Boston to Los Angeles. All the men who received six-year sentences, except Munsey and Barry, of St. Louis, who received four years, and Barry, of Minneapolis, and Legleiter, of Denver, who each received three years, were present or former members of the Iron Workers' executive board. As such, they were accused of appropriating out of the union fund $1,000 a month for Secretary McNamara to carry on the dynamiting campaign. The testimony was that part of that money was used in sending James B. McNamara to the Pacific coast to blow up the Los Angeles Times building; that the money was paid to McNamara in checks signed by President Ryan and marked, "By order of the executive board," and that Leo M. Rappaport, an attorney for McNamara, after visiting the dynamiter at San Quentin prison, came back to Indianapolis, and at McNamara's direction, destroyed a small blue check book in which a record of the dynamiting expenses was kept. All the men who received suspended sentences were among those who testified in their own behalf.

Ryan also testified in his own behalf, but Tveitmo, Clancy, Webb, Hockin, Munsey, Young and Cooley did not. The court instructed the jury that the fact that these men did not take the stand was not to be considered against them.

Two little girls gave their chief testimony against Anderson and Smith, of Cleveland. They said they were walking along a country road near North Randall, O., when they saw Smith and Anderson carrying a box. It was the same box in which the government charged was carried the dynamite by which $45,000 damages was done at North Randall that night. One little girl testified she recognized Anderson "because he had a funny face."

In imposing sentences of one year and one day on six men, Judge Anderson at first said he would give them one year each, but instantly added another day.

other day. Under the regulations federal prisoners who receive one year or less may be confined in county jails. Of the thirty-eight men convicted, five were given their liberty on suspended sentences, thus leaving thirty-three men who are to go to Leavenworth.

JUDGE ANDERSON MAKES COMPREHENSIVE STATEMENT

Federal Judge Anderson's statement about the trial, in which he said that "the evidence shows some of these defendants to be guilty of murder," was read by him from the bench. The statement, in full, follows: "In 1905 there was a contest on between the American Bridge company, a concern engaged in the erection of structural iron, and the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, a craft which association, all but two of the defendants in this case were members, over the open and closed shop question, the bridge company having declared its purpose to conduct its affairs on the open shop basis. In August, 1905, the International association, declared a general strike against the bridge company through-out the United States and this latter was extended to all open shop concerns in any way connected or allied with or subsidiary to the bridge company.

"This strike never has been settled. In the early period of its existence the strike was attended with the usual incidents of picketing, shunning and rioting; but in 1906 a campaign by dynamite was inaugurated and beginning with explosions in the east and extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific, continuing until the arrest of the McNamara and McManigal in April, 1911. The evidence in this case shows that almost 100 explosions, damaging and destroying structures in process of erection by, and machinery of, open shop concerns took place, culminating on the first day of October, 1910, in the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building and the murder of twenty-one people.

"Every one of these explosions was upon the work of open shop concerns and no explosion is shown to have taken place upon any closed shop job. Since the arrest of the McNamara and McManigal, these explosions have ceased.

"This system of destruction was not carried on for revenge or in obedience to any other human action, but for the declared purpose, by a veritable reign of terror, to enforce compliance with the demands of the iron workers upon the open and closed shop question.

"For a number of years, the International has published an official journal known as the 'Bridgeman's Magazine.' The constitution of the International requires that the secretary-treasurer shall make monthly report of all monies received and expended and publish in the official journal. Early in the conspiracy, the defendant Ryan, president of the International, wrote a letter to J. J. McNamara, the secretary, advising that from that time until the strike was over, this provision of the constitution be not observed. McNamara, by letter, called the president's attention to the fact that this was in violation of the constitution, but that he would lay the matter before the legislative board.

"In February, 1906, the executive board resolved to omit the publication of expenditures and recapitulation until further instructions are given. The monthly report shall consist of the receipts alone.

"Notice of this official action was published in the 'Bridgeman's Magazine' each month down to the present time. Letters of the various defendants and records of the association and other proofs demonstrate beyond question that each member of the executive board was a party to this scheme or plan for violation of the constitution of the association and know the purpose and object of it.

"It is further shown by the indubitable proof of papers and records of the International association that the dynamite and nitro-glycerin, the batteries, clocks and caps out of which, with ingenious devices, the infernal machines were contrived, and the work of setting the explosions were all paid for out of the funds of the International association and that these funds were drawn from the association upon checks signed by the secretary-treasurer, John J. McNamara, and by the president, the defendant, Frank M. Ryan.

"Two of the defendants in this case, McManigal and Clark, have pleaded guilty and testified to their participation in and knowledge of the conspiracy and the execution of it. The principal of these is McManigal, whose story as testified to upon the witness stand was given in such manner as of itself to carry conviction of its truth. But in addition to this his testimony is contributed to by letters of various of the defendants, by the records of the International association, by the records of the banks, telegraph companies, express companies, telephone companies and of the United States postoffice, by hotel registers and other facts and circumstances which leave no doubt as to the truth of his testimony both in substance and detail.

"This state of campaign of dynamite was entered into and carried on throughout the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and necessarily involved the illegal transportation of dynamite and nitro-glycerin upon the vehicles and cars of common carriers carrying passengers from state to state. Many more than the twenty-five transportations charged in the indictment have been proved in this case.

"The attitude of mind of the defendants toward the law is illustrated by an incident that took place with the defendant, Hockin. The uncontested evidence shows that the defendant, Hockin, at one time during the life of the conspiracy sought to purchase nitro-glycerin from a certain witness for the government. This witness asked how he proposed to take it away. Hockin said in suit cases on the train. The witness asked him if he knew what the law was and its penalty, whereupon, Hockin replied: 'Damn the law.' The letters of many of these defendants and certain of the proceedings of the conventions of the International association breathe the same disregard for law.

"The evidence discloses an appalling list of crimes in addition to those charged in the indictments. These crimes were all committed in the name of organized labor. I will not believe that organized labor approves of such practices. Any organization that approves and adopts the methods of these defendants is an outlaw, and will meet the fate which outlaws have met since civilized society began.

"The evidence shows that in the early part of this struggle one court issued an injunction against violence. It is the one bright spot in the dark history of this conspiracy. In recent years we have heard much denunciation of government by injunction, but a consideration of the evidence in this case will convince any impartial person that government by injunction is infinitely to be preferred to government by organized violence.

"The evidence unquestionably establishes that the officers and persons occupying positions as members of the executive board of the International association from the time of the action of the board in directing the omission from the monthly publication of the detailed expense as stated above, up to the time of the arrest of the McNamara and McManigal, each knew of and aided in the purchase and unlawful transportation of dynamite and nitro-glycerin, as above stated. The only question has been how far the conspiracy extended and whether or not all of the defendants on trial were parties thereto. The evidence clearly establishes that each of the defendants found guilty by the verdict of the jury was a member of this conspiracy and in some measure aided and abetted in the unlawful transportation charged in the indictment. Upon this proposition, there can be no reasonable question. The only difficulty is that now devolving upon the court to determine, as near as possible, the degree of guilt of the other defendants and to apportion the punishment accordingly.

"In fixing the punishment to be meted out to the leaders in these crimes, the court must not forget that they can only be punished here for the offenses they have been guilty of committing against the United States. The appalling crimes growing out of this conspiracy were allowed to be shown in evidence because they tended to show the community of purpose, the concert of mind and action, which is an essential ingredient of the crimes charged and the effect of such evidence carefully was limited to this. In the court's instructions to the jury, the court must not now give it any other effect.

"The evidence shows some of these defendants to be guilty of murder but they are not charged here with that crime; this court cannot punish them for it, nor should it be influenced by such consideration in fixing the measure of punishment for the crimes charged.

"The certainty of punishment, not its severity, is the important consideration in the administration of criminal justice. Such punishment should be meted out as shall warn others that even if they desire to accomplish lawful ends, they must not violate the law in the attempt to realize them. Keeping these considerations in view, the court must represent that indignation which every law-abiding citizen naturally feels at the crimes which the evidence in this case discloses in addition to those others that even if they desire to accomplish lawful ends, they must not violate the law in the attempt to realize them.  ALBUQUERQUE NEW MEXICO

PASSING OF 1912.

The last day of the year 1912! Within a few hours bells will ring and whistles shriek and merry watchmen will welcome the coming and speed the parting guest.

The year 1912 is yet in the womb of the future; 1912 will soon be in the grave of the past—its records written, its books closed.

While "hope springs eternal in the human breast," and it is human nature to welcome change, we cannot but wonder whether the new year may have written twelve months hence a record showing a balance so favorable to mankind, in general, and to the American people, in particular, as makes up the balance sheet of the "gray old year" that is just ending.

The year 1912 has broken all records in the moral progress and the material prosperity it has brought to the people of this nation.

The horn of plenty has been turned upside down.

The greatest crops ever harvested have rewarded the efforts of the husbandman; the manufacturers and mines have been limited in production only where the supply of labor was inadequate; domestic and foreign consumers have required all the products of the country and have made contracts for mill capacity, extending into the last quarter of 1913.

Labor has been employed. Any man of normal capacity wanting work has had it at his door. His wages have been better than during any previous year of the world's history.

Philanthropic endeavor has been along lines of intelligence, aiding men and women to help themselves, rather than the distribution of unthinking, always humiliating and often harmful charity.

The churches, of all denominations, have engaged in more practical work and their efforts have been directed more largely toward bettering conditions on earth, while not neglecting necessary preparation for the world to come.

Schools have taken up that broader and better field of usefulness where, in the effort to prepare the student for the practical things of life without neglecting necessary culture. The old idea that practical education could not be attained except at the expense of culture has been relegated to the scrap heap, along with the old deductive philosophy of the schoolmen.

While Mexico has been rent by civil discord and the Balkan allies and Turkey have been engaged in horrid war, the United States, and all other great nations have been at peace. The Titanic disaster is the only great calamity that has befallen our people. We have been spared from plagues or devastating diseases.

No other nation has been so blessed.

HEATING A TOWN.

Mexico, Missouri, a city of about seven thousand population, has been trying an experiment in city heating that has worked so well that the authorities are being urged to extend its operations. Steam mains are laid under the streets. There are filled with steam from a power plant—steam that otherwise would go to waste. The power plant supplies gas, water and electric light, and is now providing heat.

All business buildings on the public square, and some residences are being thus heated. The plan was at first an experiment. Now it has about two miles of mains and is unable to lay them fast enough to supply the demand.

The result has been to cut the expense of heating to nearly one-third of the former cost. The heat has been far more uniform and satisfactory than when each business house or residence furnished its own heat. There is no problem of getting up early in the morning and cleaning out the furnace, carrying out the ashes and building a fire. There is no need to haul to the house. Not only has the saving in expense been enormous, saving in trouble has been great.

It has been done in the little town of Mexico, Mo. It may be done in Albuquerque, N. M., big enough to plant and with power enough to apply the legislation on the part of the states in a number of important matters. At the session recently held at Richmond, about all the public heard of the proceedings was of the unfortunate utterances of Governor Blease of South Carolina, who took that means of getting himself into the public eye—which he did, as a sort of eluder.

When the governors adjourned they were about as far away from their original project as they were before they held their first meeting. One of the first things the governors were to get at as originally announced, was a uniform divorce law. But if they were to agree on some uniform bill, there would remain section by both house and senate of forty-eight states, involving an agreement by from ten to twelve thousand legislators of varying views and intelligence.

Why not have the national congress make a fair average law, and have it all over with? It has the constitutional authority for so doing, and such law would be apt to be far more satisfactory than one that might possibly be passed by the legislatures of the different states.

Symptoms are not lacking that the next session of the New Mexico legislature may be a bit more strenuous than the preceding one. It seems that quite a number of stateholders have heard of the speech made by Judge Fall at Alamogordo, just before the close of the last campaign, in which he referred to Colonel Roosevelt as the greatest statesman that the world has ever seen and spoke of the president sneeringly as "Old Taft." Senator Catron's county showed up with its usual republican majority, but Otero county had hardly enough Taft votes to count.

If Colonel Bryan should accept the position of secretary of state and move the Commoner to Washington the Congressional Record will have real live competition. We may expect to see remarks like "our esteemed but loathed contemporary across the street."

There are all kinds of reformers. An eastern man is working on a plan to have landlords pay the rent, the tenants acting as collectors. This would make renting much more popular. But who is to pay the repair bills?

The state of New Mexico is less than a year old, but she can show her older sisters a superior order of men fit for a number of important positions under the Wilson administration.

Washington amateurs tried out a minstrel show at the government hospital for the insane. The inmates approved it.

INAUGURAL CROWDS TO BE PROTECTED FROM THIEVES

Chief of Police Sylvester of Washington Plans to Acquaint Public With Crooks Through Photographs.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) Washington, Dec. 30.—Chief of Police Sylvester is going to inaugurate a unique campaign of publicity to protect persons from being victims of robbers during the inaugural period. His idea is to acquaint the general public with the appearance of the thieves who have recently been arrested in different sections of the country, especially the pickpockets, and make their faces so familiar that they will be unable to remain on the streets many hours before they are identified.

The plan the chief has adopted includes the establishment of miniature rogues' galleries in hotel lobbies, railroad and steamboat stations and other public places, so that persons who interest themselves enough to study the faces of the crooks will be in a position to catch their arrest.

It is the intention of Major Sylvester to procure about 500 such pictures, have copies of them made, posted on cards and hung about the public places. He will place them in some of the larger business houses, and in all places where they will attract attention, and he thinks much good will be accomplished.

Chiefs of police of most of the larger cities already have been asked to assist in the work, and many pictures already have been received. As soon as the copies are made and the cards arranged, Major Sylvester says, they will be placed in public places.

CLAYTON RESIDENCE DAMAGED BY FIRE; LOSS TOTALS $750

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) Clayton, N. M., Dec. 30.—The residence of A. K. Atkin was partially destroyed by fire here Saturday night. The loss is estimated at $750. The fire was caused from a defective flue.

Since the destruction of the water works by fire some time ago, the city has been practically without fire protection. The pumping plant now in operation only supplies enough water for using purposes.

Work on the new building for an up to date pumping plant to take the place of the one destroyed is progressing nicely and it is hoped that in the near future Clayton will have as good fire protection as any city of its size in the west.

HOTEL McALPIN IS QUEER IMPRESSION WITHOUT RIVAL IN WORLD GATHERED ON TOUR THROUGH STATE

New York Boasts Hostelry Costing Thirteen and a Half Millions; Special Features Too Numerous to Mention.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) New York, Dec. 30.—Thirteen million, five hundred thousand dollars represents the total investment in the Hotel McAlpin, which has just thrown open its doors to the public. This newest of New York hotels is at the intersection of Broadway and Sixth avenue at Thirty-fourth street. It towers twenty-five stories above the street level and burrows into the earth sixty feet below the pavement.

When the hotel is running along in active shape, the population of a small city will be housed beneath its roof. There are fifteen hundred hotel employees, and there are accommodations for twenty-five hundred guests.

HOTEL McALPIN.

who will eat and sleep and have their being in this one monster inn.

The Hotel McAlpin represents the beginning of a new era in the life of New York hotels. Costly, luxurious and the last word in comfort, a moderate schedule of prices is to prevail, as it is the intention of the managers, Messrs. Merry and Boomer, to cater to the needs of business men and business establishments. The rates will range from $1.50 to $5.00 per day, and the restaurant charges will be in proportion. It is perhaps not too much to say that for $3 per day more sumptuous quarters can be had than in any other New York hotel.

There are a number of unique features in the Hotel McAlpin. Among them is an entire floor devoted exclusively to women. A separate desk and booking office for this floor is in charge of women clerks. All the help on the floor are women, and it will be possible for a lady to enter the hotel, register, ride in an elevator especially reserved for women, and go directly to the fourth floor without contact with other than women guests and women employees. There is a special restaurant in charge of women and a well appointed lounge room. There are forty bedrooms in this special women's section.

The twentieth floor has been set apart for the exclusive use of men. This floor is a veritable club house with valet service and all the appointments of a modern club. No maidens are allowed on this floor. All the service will be given by valets and bellhops. Special provisions have also been made for army and navy and national guard officers. A United Service club has been inaugurated for all officers who become ex-officio members, as well as friends introduced by them. Special room rates are given to club members. No membership fee is charged and cards will be issued to all officers of the army, navy, national guard and naval reserve.

Another feature of the Hotel McAlpin is the attention paid to the needs of the business man. "Sample Rooms" have been provided in the shape of miniature stores, into which the salesman can take his goods and display them upon the fixtures furnished. One of these rooms, for which a rental will be charged, is a practical and modern store with fixtures complete.

A list of the attractions in this hotel would require columns of space. There are eight ball rooms. A Herter tapestry room, Louis Seize room, Turkish and Russian baths, grill rooms, palm gardens, a roof garden and a floor called the "Sleepy Sixteenth," devoted entirely to night workers, where the silence of night is observed all day.

Nathan Franko, one of the most noted conductors of New York, has signed a two-year contract with the hotel to conduct its orchestra and take charge of all musical features. There will be forty pieces in the Hotel McAlpin's orchestra, divided among the grill room, restaurant and tea room.

"I had been troubled with constipation for two years and tried all of the best physicians in Bristol, Tenn., and they could do nothing for me," writes Thos. E. Williams, Middleboro, Ky. "Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me." For sale by all druggists.

Woman Writer in Abilene, Kan., Reflector Thinks Albuquerque is Fine But Does Not Like to Eat with Foreigners

Seeing ourselves as others see us is an interesting and sometimes unpleasant experience, but a woman correspondent of the Abilene Daily Reflector, sees New Mexicans so well and with such charity despite her prejudices that her observations are refreshing. This writer has evidently crossed New Mexico in an auto. Her descriptions of adobe houses, Indians singing and the "government roads" (save the marks) are delightful. The story is a remarkable example of misjudged and erroneous conception of New Mexican conditions. Were it not for the fact that it might be taken seriously by other people in the east it would be ridiculous. But it is a comedy. Were this that it is almost tragedy, for it is with such false and misleading stories that the people of the eastern states are made to believe that New Mexico is still a land of chaos and of lawless conditions and horse stealing. The whole yarn simply shows that what is expected is seen. If this sort of thing keeps up, New Mexicans will have to form a Society for the Prevention of the Circulation of False and Misleading Information. And that society will have plenty to do.

Her story printed December 24, is dated at Winslow, Ariz., and contains many queer and pointed observations. It follows:

"Well, how far have you traveled since I left you. I believe I left you in the alleys of Santa Fe." Well, come now, I am ready to travel on. We will leave Santa Fe and travel out past the government Indian school onto the government road. My but that is fine, especially after traveling over that crooked trail leading to Santa Fe. It is up and up over a lava strewn mesa, now we come to a steep lava cliff one-half mile high, but the government has built these roads and they have no steeper grade than 15 per cent. So to get down this almost perpendicular cliff we wind around back and forth almost two miles to get one-half mile. We met a Mexican at the foot of the hill who said that before the government fixed the road he pulled more than one car up the hill. That night we had for campmates two Indian men, a squaw and papoose, all dressed in blankets. They had been driving hard trying to make it home but they failed so they had nothing to eat. We gave them provisions for supper. The men hustled out and got a lot of wood and built a fire. They talked and sang until the moon came up about 2 o'clock, then they pulled out. I couldn't understand one word they said, but their song was about as musical as Charley Parker's old whistle.

All the way to Albuquerque we passed by the adobe houses of the Alamosa Indians. For fear we do not know what adobe houses are, I will say that they are mud houses. They are made many different ways. Some are made by patting mud in one's hand. Some build walls, filling in with rocks, but most of them are made in wooden molds. Troughs are made with division boards that make the blocks about 18x12x12 inches. The mud is rolled in a small cake, then rolled in straw, grass or weeds, then back in the mud until the block is as large as they want it. It is then pressed into the mold which makes the block square cornered. They are taken out and dried. The buildings are built in every shape imaginable, some are covered with shingle roofs, some are flat and covered with dirt. The outside are sometimes left just as they put them together. They are put up like brick buildings only the mortar is mud. Some buildings are plastered on the outside with mud, some are white washed, some are given a coat of cement and some are pebble dashed. Some buildings have just dirt floors. Some are built on a hillside and it is very much like cement floors. I like it better than cement as it isn't as noisy or as hard to walk over. I was in a house which was built about 30 years ago and the floor wasn't worn only at the door, which shows how hard it is. Some cover the floors with carpet, canvas, rugs and other floor coverings. Some have wood floors and are as nice as modern as any house. There was one thing I noticed in the strictly Mexican villages. The houses were built with porches. The building under the porch was white washed or plastered until within a foot or six inches of the ground. This was painted some other delicate color such as light blue, pale green or pink. The back yards were swept as clean as a broom could make them. The Mexicans have little furnaces outside to cook on so as not to smoke or heat up the houses and more than necessary.

"Albuquerque is a town that it pays well to visit. Here was our first introduction to a truly western town. We had hardly stopped our machine until we were surrounded by people, mostly business men, one offering his private garage for our use, another one this thing, another one that for our comfort and all free gratis. So it has been in every town since we left there. In some towns the business men provide regular camp houses for tourists, even furnishing fuel to heat the house. It is really to the business men's interest for who is going to let such a place go by and camp on the plains. Albuquerque is interesting in many respects. Here are business men with stiff silk hats, rubbing elbows with cowboys in leather boots and red neckties and Indians dressed in feathers and blankets and the new Mexican with his bow hat, together with other foreigners. One walking along the street hardly knows whether he is in America or not. I believe I could spend a week sitting on the street and listening to the different "gals" of the different people. This is one town where it is best to throw your prejudices to the wind and eat with foreigners. With the American we paid 20 cents for sausage, potatoes, bread, butter and coffee. For 25 cents we ate with an Indian and got beef steak, chicken on toast, potatoes, biscuit, bread, beans, sauce, beens, carrots and butter. There is a Chinese restaurant that they said beat this but we didn't visit him. There seemed to be so many new houses going up in Albuquerque, altogether it is a lively place. The Harvey house, the Hotel Alvarado is one of the most striking hotels I have ever seen. It is made of pebble dash with small paneled windows, tiled roof and large verandas. We intend to go to El Paso from Albuquerque. We sent a telegram to a party who used to live there but received no word at Albuquerque, so we ran south as far as Carthage, where we had received no word as yet and our California friends who we got in with before we reached Albuquerque begged that we go on with them. As it made it a great deal more pleasant to have the two cars together, we didn't raise much objection. Carthage is a mining town and like most mining towns they have a decided dislike for automobilists. They use the street as a dump pile, throwing their tin cans, nails, tacks, etc., into it. Here was our first real trouble. We ran into an eight penny ball and punctured our tires. It was a real trouble to have the two cars together, we didn't raise much objection. MORNING JOURNAL IS THANKED FOR BOOSTING BONDS

Francis E. Lester of Las Cruces Voices Gratitude on Behalf of Dona Ana County Good Roads Association.

That the valuable work of the Morning Journal during the past few months in spreading the gospel of good roads, and particularly in boosting for Dona Ana county road bond issue of $100,000, which was practically unanimously ratified at the special election held last Saturday, is evidenced by the following letter of thanks received yesterday from Francis E. Lester, president of the Dona Ana County Good Roads Association:

Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 29, 1912.
To the Editor of the Albuquerque Morning Journal, Albuquerque, N. M.

Dear Sir: On behalf of the Dona Ana County Good Roads Association and the many good roads enthusiasts in this county, I wish to thank the Albuquerque Morning Journal for the space you have given us in your columns in spreading the good roads gospel during the past few months.

The press of our state has done much to bring about that favorable sentiment which resulted in the approval of the half million dollar state road bond issue at the November election, and in the approval of the polls yesterday by the people of Dona Ana county of a $100,000 county road bond issue by the overwhelming majority of more than 50 to 1.

Only the lack of better highways has stood in the way of closer commercial and social acquaintanceship between the people of Dona Ana county and of the counties north of us. The way is now open for the early completion of the Camino Real whereby we shall be brought into far closer touch with the good people of Albuquerque than we have ever been heretofore. May that day be hastened when we shall know you as only one community can through the medium of better communicating highways. Very truly,
FRANCIS E. LESTER.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Alfred N. Soderberg, 32 years old, died yesterday morning at his home, 920 South Arno street. Mr. Soderberg had been a resident of Albuquerque for three years. The body is to be sent this afternoon on Santa Fe train No. 2, to Sioux City, Iowa, for burial.

Body of Boy Sent to Indiana.
The body of Albin Scheider, Jr., who died Sunday afternoon on the eastbound Santa Fe limited, was sent yesterday afternoon on train No. 2 to Jeffersonville, Ind. The father, Albin Scheider, Sr., who was with his son when he died, accompanied the body. Scheider died near Gallup. The body was taken from the train here by Strong Brothers and prepared for shipment.

Frank J. Paetz.
Frank J. Paetz, 1208 South Edith street, died at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning. He owned a barber shop here. Mr. Paetz had lived here for nine years. He is survived by a widow and children. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Body of Mr. Gladding Sent East.
The body of Daniel Gladding was sent yesterday afternoon on Santa Fe train No. 2 to Fall River, Mass., the family home for burial. Brief funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at French & Lawler's chapel.

M'NALLY IS NOT IN COURT; TO SERVE FORMER SENTENCE

Pat McNally did not appear in police court yesterday morning. The police are holding him until he serves the unexpired part of his sentence.

McNally was given ten days previously by Judge George B. Craig, but escaped from the street gang when he had served only one day. The police learned that he was at work and expected him to pay his fine. He started for the station Saturday with money but when he reached there he was under arrest and had only $1.25.

NEWLY-WEDS HERE TO SPEND THEIR HONEYMOON

Mr. and Mrs. Singleton R. Mitchell, of Agricultural College, Visiting in Albuquerque for Few Days.

Mr. and Mrs. Singleton R. Mitchell, of State College, are guests at the Alvarado. They are bride and groom, having come to Albuquerque to spend their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were married last Saturday at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna C. Anderson, at Mesilla Park.

The ceremony was performed at sunrise by Rev. Hunter Lewis, of St. James church, in the presence of a few friends and relatives of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell came to Albuquerque for a honeymoon trip and will return to State College during the early part of January to make their home.

Mr. Mitchell has for some years been occupying the position of assistant professor of chemistry in the college and experiment station. He is a prominent member of the alumni association and is active in many student and faculty organizations. His bride, who was Miss Sylvia Anderson, has been connected with the college for four years—the first two as a student and the last two as an assistant in the administrative department—and is a charming young woman.

Their marriage was the result of a romance growing out of a college acquaintance and friendship of four years.

ALBUQUERQUE WILL CELEBRATE NEW ERA TONIGHT

Band to Give Free Concert on Central Avenue From 10 Until 11 O'clock; Whistles to Announce Arrival of 1913.

Tonight is Albuquerque's night to howl, according to the mayor, and if any one has any doubt about her ability to set up a good sized racket and keep it up until a considerable time he will have his fears set at rest early in the evening. It is planned to have such a celebration that the noise of it will be heard all through the southwest and will let every one know that Albuquerque is entering upon her most prosperous year. The mayor planned this celebration to let people know over what a live town he presided, to impress upon all comers the fact that it was a prosperous place and that its prosperity was growing and to let every one know that the new Santa Fe shops are coming.

All these objects will be attained. Several thousand people are expected to participate in the carnival which will be the principal feature of the event, the only condition being that each person produce his or her own noise maker, a horn for choice. These horns are to be kept in a constant state of activity and agitation. From the time the celebration begins, which will be as soon as it gets dark, until 11 o'clock, when the band will begin its free concert on Central avenue, and on until 1 o'clock, when things will begin to break up, there will be no sleep for the wicked or any one else, for that matter, as the noise is expected to be deafening in volume and character.

At midnight the sound is to be at its highest, for then all the whistles in the city will crow a welcome to the year. They will be led by the municipal mocking bird whistle, usually used to announce a fire alarm. The engineer will give this whistle a few preliminaries before midnight, so as to be sure that it has recovered from its recent bronchitis and can speak above a whisper.

People all over the city have taken to the idea of a celebration with good grace and all the down town restaurants will be jammed with celebrants.
