SAYS FALL IS SLATED FOR JOB

Remarkable Career of Man who Has Just Resigned as Attorney General.

Judge Albert B. Fall, who has just resigned as attorney general of New Mexico to devote his entire time to the interests of Colonel W. G. Greene and give attention to some historical facts about New Mexico, which he is collecting, and who is sure to be one of the first United States senators from New Mexico when it comes into the union, is a remarkable man, says the Douglas, Ariz., International-American. Having risen in a few years from the humble station of a miner to that of attorney general of his adopted territory and being in a position to command one of the first senatorships from his adopted state when it is admitted into the union, is a career remarkable even in the west where such things are more frequent than in the east.

Kentuckian by Birth.

Judge Fall was born November 27, 1861, in the town of Frankfort, Ky., his father, W. R. Fall, at that time being a captain in the confederate army. The fall of the confederacy destroyed their plantation and impoverished Captain Fall, who, before the war, was in very comfortable circumstances. In the chaos of reconstruction young Fall, with the meager facilities at his hand, educated himself and at the age of 19 was teaching school. Giving up his school he entered a law office and prepared for the bar, but feeling the call of the west at the age of 21 he moved to northeastern Texas, and for a time clerked in a drug store at Clarksville, Texas, where he married Miss Emma Morgan.

He Drove Barrows.

From Clarksville he moved to the Red river country in Arkansas, and farmed for a while, coming later to New Mexico with his wife's brother, Joe Morgan. He first ran a pack train in the Mogollon mountains in the Indian days and he mined for a while in Sierra county, doing the menial labors of an underground drill man. He then cooked for a cow outfit. All this time young Fall was reading law whenever he could secure any legal books, and at last decided to enter the practice of law at Las Cruces. He soon became one of the leading attorneys of the southwest, and the most popular man in the territory. He was elected to the lower house and to the upper house of the legislature, running both up the republican and democratic tickets. He was district judge and one of the justices of the territorial supreme court, and was appointed attorney general of New Mexico during the Cleveland regime. Governor George Curry, in his desire to straighten out the political muddle in the territory, appointed Judge Fall attorney general last August and he has just resigned from this office.

When the Spanish-American war broke out Judge Fall went to the front as captain of the First territorial volunteer infantry. An interesting feature of Judge Fall's career is the personal friendship existing between him and Colonel W. C. Greene, the copper king. Judge Fall was a friend of Colonel Greene's long before the colonel had reached the height of his Mexican promotions and when the colonel was a cowpuncher. He met the colonel on his return from New York after trying to promote the Greene Consolidated company. The copper magnate was not, in those days, traveling in a private car; instead his single dress suit case had fifty-four pieces—a deck of cards and a pair of socks.

A Reliable Remedy for Croup. With the dry, cold weather of the early winter months, parents of croupy children should be on the alert for ominous symptoms. There is no cause for anxiety, however, when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is kept in the home. If this medicine is given as soon as child becomes hoarse or even after the croupy cough has appeared, the attack may be warded off. Mrs. S. Rosenthal, of Turner, Michigan, says: "We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for ourselves and children for several years and like it very much. I think it is the only remedy for croup and can highly recommend it." For sale by all druggists.

FISH SAYS HE HAS ALL THE VOTES HE NEEDS

Indications Are That He Will Continue to Control Illinois, Central.

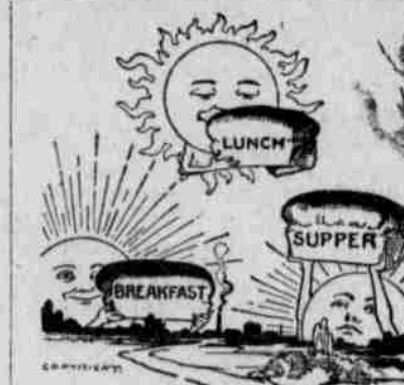

New York, Dec. 7.—Conversing with an intimate friend, Stuyvesant Fish made the positive statement that he has enough votes, even without those of the life insurance companies and the Railroad Securities company, to win over the Harriman-Marah group at the next Illinois Central election. He is very jubilant, as he said, there is no doubt that he will be able to oust the interests which are now in control of this property. Mr. Fish went into details with his associate. He showed the votes held by the Harriman-Marah combination, giving it its full strength, and then enumerated the proxies which he holds. He explained that he does not need the votes which have been contested for, as he is certain that he has enough to win without them.

The former president of the Illinois Central declared that the road's stockholders are convinced that the property will be an adjunct of the Harriman lines if the present controlling interests should retain their authority.

"The stockholders," he said, "thoroughly understand the motives which are actuating Harriman and his followers in making about personal charges against me, and the allegations have not misled them in the least. The stockholders desire to keep the Illinois Central independent as it was when I was president, and they gladly have given me their votes."

"It does not require an expert railroad man or financier to perceive the absurdity of the statement that the Illinois Central would ever become an ally of the Gould lines, should I have the controlling votes. A casual study of conditions would disclose to anybody that the Illinois Central and the Gould lines could not form close relations. The assertion that the Illinois Central and Gould lines would become allies is ridiculous."

appreciating why the Harriman combination is fighting me so hard now. The fact is that Harriman and his associates are frightened. And they have reason to be scared, as they know that I hold enough votes to win at the next election."

REPORTS SHOW MANY CASES HERE

Gives Recipe For Rheumatism
Which Anyone Can Easily Fix.

Thousands of men and women who have felt the sting and torture of this dread disease, which is no respecter of age, persons, sex, color or rank, will be interested to know that while for many years rheumatism was considered an incurable disease, now it is one of the easiest afflictions of the human body to conquer. Medical science has proven it not a distinct disease in itself, but a symptom caused by inactive kidneys. Rheumatism is uric acid in the blood and other waste products of the system which should be filtered and strained out in the form of urine. The function of the kidneys is to sift these poisons and acids out and keep the blood clean and pure. The kidneys, however, are of a fragile substance, the tubes or pores of which will sometimes, either from overwork, cold or exposure become clogged and inactive, and failing in their function of eliminating these poisons from the blood, they remain in the veins, decompose and setting about the joints and muscles, cause the untold suffering and pain of rheumatism and backache, often producing complications of bladder and urinary disease, weakness, etc.

The following simple prescription is said to relieve the worst cases of rheumatism because of its direct action upon the blood and kidneys, relieving, too, the most severe forms of bladder and urinary troubles: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. The ingredients can be had from any good prescription pharmacy, and are absolutely harmless and safe to use at any time.

Trial Catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people—without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

TERRITORIAL FAIR IS $3,000 AHEAD

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 7.—Public Examiner Foster has made an announcement to the effect that after all of the expenses of the recent fair have been defrayed, there will still be on hand a cash balance of about $3,000, which will be utilized next year. For some time past the commission has known that there would be a surplus on hand, but they did not know until Foster completed his report how much this would be. They were gratified to learn that it was approximately the same as one year ago.

The figures made public by Foster are as follows: Receipts from all sources, $19,250.20, of which $16,796.95 was obtained from admission fees. There is now a cash balance on hand of $6,210.32, out of which approximately $3,500 will have to be paid out, leaving very nearly $3,000 in the treasury.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

BILL TO HELP THE ARID WEST

Many Worthy Bills are Before Congress—Session Promises Interesting.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—A bill providing for an Inland Waterway commission has been introduced by Senator Newlands of Nevada. The measure provides for the improvement and development of inland waterways. It also appropriates $50,000,000 to an inland waterway fund, and provides that whenever the fund is reduced by expenditures below $20,000,000 the president may make up the deficiency by issue of bonds.

The commission is to co-ordinate with the Army Engineer Corps, the Reclamation and Forestry services, the bureau of Soils, of Corporations and other branches of the public service related to waterways.

For Irrigation of Lands.

After examination and determination of the feasibility of any project by the commission, it may contract for construction. It is provided that the projects may include collateral works for the irrigation of arid lands, conservation of forests and utilization of water power as deemed advisable in connection with the development of channels for navigation.

Senator Newlands is vice president of the Inland Waterways commission, of which Representative Burton is chairman. He states that the commission is not yet prepared to recommend a bill, but that he has presented this bill tentatively with a view to getting criticism and suggestion which will be useful to the commission in making its recommendation to the president.

Senator Bacon introduced a bill regarding the practicability of building a canal in connection with the navigable waters of Georgia. The canal project, he said, would be about 100 miles long and would connect the Mississippi river with the Atlantic Ocean.

Gallinger Has Shipping Bill.

A new shipping bill, very brief and drawn in accordance with the recommendation of the president's message, was introduced by Senator Gallinger in the senate, and will be presented by Representative Humphrey in the house. The bill amends the postmaster general to pay $4 a mile outward to sixteen-knot steamers on routes over 4,000 miles in length to South America and across the Pacific Ocean. This is the same rate now paid to the twenty-knot ships of the American line from

New York to Southampton, and it is believed it would result in new American lines to Brazil and Argentina, and would also strengthen the American lines now operating between the Pacific coast and China, Japan and the Philippines.

This new bill differs radically from that which passed the senate nearly two years ago, but it carries out, in effect, the recommendations of the merchant marine commission regarding regular ocean mail communication with South America and the Orient.

The president and the republican leaders in congress believe that a general ship subsidy bill could not pass at this session. It is believed by those who have the new bill in charge that it is politically the strongest proposition which can be presented just now for the upbuilding of the merchant marine.

Nearly Thousand New Bills.

Nearly a thousand bills were introduced in the senate, and all of them were referred to committees, where they will be taken for consideration after the new senators shall be given committee assignments. No other business of importance was transacted. Almost all of these bills were considered in the last congress, and most of them are private pension bills. The whole number introduced in the senate of the Fifty-ninth congress was 627, and before the Christmas holidays it is probable that at least half of them will again be introduced and referred to committees. Among the more important measures introduced today were the following:

By Senator Fulton: Amending the railroad rate law in such a manner that a change of tariff filed with the Interstate Commerce commission can not go into effect where objection is made until the commission has declared the rate fair.

By Senator Dick: The administration measure providing for an increase of pay for members of the army, navy and marine corps.

By Senator Burkett: Providing for the teaching of agriculture in normal schools; free postage on reading matter mailed to the blind, and prohibiting telegraph and express companies from transmitting returns pertaining to gambling.

By Senator Heyburn: Bills providing for the purchase of public building grounds in Washington; the establishment of land courts and appellate land courts; the establishment of a national board of corporations and a department of mines, and placing in the capitol building of each state a model of the naval vessel which has been named after that state.

By Senator Hansbrough: Repealing the timber and stone act and providing for the sale of timber on public lands; also a bill giving homestead entry men the right to be absent from their homesteads during four winter months.

By Senator La Follette: Requiring more railroad rates shall be fixed so as only to yield a fair return on the valuation of a road's property.

LOOKING FOR A GOOD TIME?

There are about as many conceptions as to what constitutes a "good time" as there are individuals, but there is one place in New Mexico, not very far from Albuquerque, where 99 out of every 100 people find what they are looking for. That place is the Valley Ranch, at Pecos, New Mexico. Fresh country produce in abundance, horses to ride or drive, dogs, guns, traps, tackle, all at your disposal. The finest hunting and fishing in the territory. You can live in a house, a cabin or a tent, and come and go as you please. You'll find plenty of company there, agreeable and refined, if you are sociably inclined, a favorite resort for ladies. Conditions ideal for recuperating, reading, hunting or loafing. You CAN'T SPEND MORE THAN NINE DOLLARS A WEEK ANY WAY YOU FIX IT. Inquire at The Citizen Office for further particulars, or address The Valley Ranch.

No other food deteriorates so rapidly as the Oyster. Its habitat is the ocean. It requires coolness and absolute freedom from exposure to the air in order to retain its delicate flavor and its wholesomeness. SEAL-SHIP OYSTERS are brought direct to us from the choicest beds of America. They are shucked into porcelain cases, sealed and packed in ice, which never comes in contact with the oysters. The use of the Sealship carrier is the secret of their superiority.

HUMAN BONES HAD BEEN UNCOVERED THERE BEFORE

Road Crosses Old Burying Ground—Skulls Are Probably Those of Soldiers.

Leonardo Hunick, road supervisor in precinct 14, in cutting down the grade of county road which runs north from the plaza in Old Albuquerque past San Felipe church yesterday unearthed human bones, which, judging from their appearance, had been buried a century probably.

The bones were placed in a dry goods box and buried under the direction of the fathers of San Felipe church.

The plowing up of the bones related to many of the old residents the existence of a cemetery west of San Felipe church, which Melquiades Chaves, of Old Albuquerque, says Major Albion P. Howe, post commander here, ordered abandoned in 1855.

Major Whiting, of Old Albuquerque, remembers when the ground was vacated by Catholics.

Major Whiting said: "It is no surprise to me that the deep plowing done on the street in question by the gang under Road Supervisor Hunick should have turned up these remains. When I was passing through Albuquerque in December, 1888, my attention was called to human bones partially embedded in clay on the east side of the street, and that at different times during the past forty years when work has been done on the street portions of skeletons have been found.

Up to a comparatively late date, there was no regular public road from the plaza north. Melquiades Chaves, who has resided in Albuquerque and vicinity during most of his long life, informs me that the burying ground extended over further west and into the property afterward known as that of Frantz and Charles Huning. Before the two-story building of the sisters on the east side of the street was erected, he says that there were two small rooms that were used for bodies before they were taken into the church for the burial services.

"A good many years ago, the superior of the Jesuits, Rev. Father M. Gasparri, had the remains of the dead that were buried in front of the cemetery at Santa Barbara. That was more than thirty years ago.

"Mr. Chaves states that he thinks the street was open northerly past the Baca residence by Major Albion P. Howe, the post commander of Albuquerque, and it was made, he says, through the burying ground, and that not only United States soldiers but citizens of Albuquerque worked upon it.

"The earliest settlers of Albuquerque will probably recall the tolling of the church bells. They were kept ringing all through every day the moving continued.

Major B. Ruppe says that when he was road supervisor in that precinct in 1882 he plowed up skeletons in the same street when he was reducing the grade.

INDIANS, 6; UNIVERSITY, 4. Oenay, of the Indians made the touchdown and goal that won the game for his school from the University second team on the Indians' gridiron this afternoon. The first half resulted in no scores the play being in the Indians' territory. In the second half the University prep scored two touchdowns and play was evenly divided.

The finest Coffee Substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute" says the doctor. "Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever produced. Not a grain of real Coffee in it either. Health Coffee is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert were he to unknowingly drink it for Coffee. Sold by all dealers.

Friends of Thomas J. Curran, who were shocked by the publication on Thursday afternoon of an Associated Press dispatch to the effect that he had been seriously injured in a railroad wreck just outside Pittsburg, Pa., will be glad to learn that Mr. Curran has arrived in New York City without hurt of any kind. Exchanges received at this office indicate that the telegram was widely circulated in some instances other names being mentioned in the list of injured.

However, an authoritative telegram from Mr. Curran's counsel in New York City having been received here this morning places the matter beyond all doubt, and the news that he has escaped injury and is now with his business associates will be welcomed wherever he is known.
