BODIES OF 120 COAL MINE VICTIMS ARE RECOVERED

Prospect This Morning Was That 400 Would be Recovered by Nightfall.

WERE VIRGINIA'S MODEL MINES

Investigation Being Made to Fix Blame For Disaster—Government Is Interested—Pennsylvania Has Had Four Horrors in Ten Months.

Monongah, W. Va., Dec. 10.—Considerable headway was made yesterday with the work of rescue of bodies from the coal mines of the Consolidation Coal company, which were wrecked on Friday by a terrific explosion. At 10 o'clock this morning 112 bodies had been brought to the surface and twenty-nine more had been located in the underground workings way back in the hill.

The work of rescue is being pushed as rapidly as the tired miners are able after the strenuous days that have passed since the explosion. Many of them have had but a few hours rest in three days. However, it is expected that most of the bodies will have been rescued by tonight.

Not a man who entered the mines Friday after Thursday's holiday—and there were 425 of them escaped. Every one fell a victim to carelessness of some one.

Who is guilty? Is a question newspaper men and others are asking. The only answer obtainable is the echo, "guilty."

It is a strange commentary that the greatest disaster in the history of American mining should occur in West Virginia's model mines. For the mines were the best equipped, according to the chief mine inspector, James W. Paul, in the district. (Theory follows theory regarding the cause.)

Leading Cause and Responsibility. A possible explanation which old miners give is that a string of coal cars, breaking loose, plunged down the tunnel and probably crashed into a lot of dynamite, which is taken into the mines in 50-pound lots.

This, it is thought, caused an explosion, which in turn caused the first collection of deadly coal dust, wrecking both mines.

Another story, and one that is given credence despite the fact that every effort to hatch it has been made, is that a connection was made between the two mines, and that the gases rushing together exploded. At the instance of Gov. Dawson the entire mine inspection bureau of the state is at work under the direction of Chief Paul, in an effort to locate the blame.

Fourth in Ten Months. This is West Virginia's fourth mine horror in ten months, and the governor has promised swift punishment if negligence has been shown.

There was patting enough in the scenes at the mines while the bodies were taken out to make a nation weep.

Mothers, wives, sisters and children gathered in the entrance of the mines until driven away by the company's police.

No man can write down in words the story of the pitiful grief and mental suffering that was witnessed during the hours I stood surrounded by those whose loved ones lay cold in death far beneath their feet in the workings of those wrecked mines.

Monongah is today a fatherless, husbandless village. In a moment the largest mining village in West Virginia was shorn of its bread-providing population as lint is swept by a white hot tongue of flame.

PETTIBONE CASE WAS BEGUN IN BOISE TODAY

Hawley Delivers Opening Address for the Prosecution, Recounting Tragedy.

COMMON LAW OF STATE OF IDAHO

Boise, Idaho, Dec. 10.—James H. Hawley, chief counsel for the state in the Pettibone case, outlined the grounds of the prosecution, when the trial was resumed today.

Immediately after the reading of the indictment, Hawley began his address, first reciting the facts concerning the killing of Steunenberg as a result of the explosion of a bomb the night of December 30, 1905.

He dwelt on the law of Idaho, which provides that anyone who is under common law an accessory before the fact, is equally guilty with the one who actually commits the crime.

The law of conspiracy was also explained to the jury.

HUGHES' CLASSMATES APPLAUD HIS NAME

New York, Dec. 10.—At the annual dinner of the Bible class presided over by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., last night, Rockefeller called attention to the fact that Governor Charles B. Hughes was once a member of that class and referred to him as a possible occupant of the white house.

This brought forth great applause from the members of the class. The principal speaker at the dinner was Frank A. Vanderlip, vice president of the National City bank who was spoken of in the recent financial flurry.

OKLAHOMA ELECTS TWO UNITED STATES SENATORS

Both Are Democrats and Men of Distinction in Many Respects.

ONE IS AN INDIAN THE OTHER IS BLIND

Guthrie, Okla., Dec. 10.—Robert Latham Owen and Thomas Pryor Gore were formally elected to the United States senate today by the legislature. Both are democrats.

Owen is of Scotch-Irish ancestry with a mixture of Cherokee Indian. His mother was the daughter of Chisholm, the last hereditary war chief of the Cherokee nation. His father was a distinguished Confederate soldier who later became president of the Virginia & Tennessee railroad.

Gore has the double distinction of being the first blind member of the United States senate and of being the youngest man in the body. He is only 37 years old. Both of the new senators are prominent lawyers.

The republicans cast their votes for Charles G. Jones, representative at large from Oklahoma, and Chas. B. Douglass, editor of the Muskogee Phoenix.

The vote in the senate stood Gore and Owen 39; Jones and Douglass 4.

The vote in the house stood Owen and Gore 49; Douglass and Jones 18. The votes were absent.

These votes show the relative strength of the two parties in the Oklahoma legislature.

The subject of the complaint was a so-called terminal charge of $2 a car imposed by the railroad for the delivery of live stock at the union stock yards in Chicago. The defendants are ordered to put in force before February 1, 1907, a terminal charge not exceeding $1 a car.

CABINET MEMBERS GET LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Chief Executive Warns Federal Officials to Leave Third Term Business Alone

OFFICERS PROMISE TO TAKE ACTION

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—After the cabinet session today a letter addressed by President Roosevelt to the members of the cabinet Nov. 10th, instructing them to inform federal office holders not to participate in any third term movement for President Roosevelt was made public at the White House.

It is understood that the cabinet officers will take action.

The letter follows: "I have been informed that certain officers in your department are preparing to go to the national convention as delegates in favor of the nomination of me for president, and are preparing to secure the endorsement of state conventions for my re-nomination."

"This must not be. I wish you to inform such officers as you may find it advisable or necessary to inform in order to carry out the spirit of this instruction, that such advocacy of my re-nomination or acceptance of election as delegate for that purpose will be regarded as a serious violation of official propriety and will be dealt with accordingly. Sincerely yours, (Signed), 'THEODORE ROOSEVELT.'"

KROONLAND PASSENGERS WILL BOARD MAJESTIC

The shooting followed a quarrel over a woman and during the fusillade two women narrowly escaped being shot. Both were unmarried men. Moran will be arrested should he recover, as he is said to have fired the first shot. Both men pulled their guns at about the same time but Moran was the quicker on the trigger.

COL. REYNOLDS SAYS ARIZONA GRAND JURY ALL IS QUIET AT GOLDFIELD RETURNS NINE TRUE BILLS

Troops Are In Camp and Miners Appear Peaceful.

TROUBLE EXPECTED WHEN MINES REOPEN

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—The adjutant general, received today the following telegram relative to the situation in Goldfield, Nev., from Col. Reynolds, commanding the troops now in the mining camp, under yesterday's date:

"On my arrival here I found the district orderly, except for those mines not in operation. Business and other conditions are normal. No disturbances have occurred since. The several authorities here have been consulted, and say that they have not been interfered with in their functions. I have not assumed control except to ask them to inform me frequently as to the state of affairs."

"A general feeling of confidence prevails from the presence of the troops. The differences between the operators and the miners have not been settled. The operators are going to open the mines this week, and when this occurs, I fear trouble."

FEAR OF RESENTMENT TO KILL EXCLUSION MEASURE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—No Japanese exclusion law will be passed by congress this session. People of the Pacific coast may as well abandon all hope.

The president did not mention Japanese immigration in his message to congress. Moreover, he has assured Congressman Hayes of California, leader of the anti-Japanese forces, that he will work to kill the bill.

There are two potent reasons, say interested diplomats, why a Japanese exclusion bill should not be passed.

The passage of such a measure would arouse Japanese indignation to a pitch that might precipitate war. The United States is so wholly unprepared for war that it would be a grave diplomatic error to take any action which would incite such instant hostility as might be expected to follow the passage of an exclusion measure.

When Secretary Taft visited Japan a move was made to impress that country with the alleged determination of the United States to keep out Japanese labor. "Japan will consider such a measure an insult to the Japanese people," was the Mikado's reply to the intimation.

Another reason why a Japanese exclusion bill is hopeless is the unfamiliarity of eastern lawmakers with the evils of the Japaneseization of the Pacific coast. Only one of 17 eastern congressmen, interviewed today, was familiar with the Japanese as immigrants.

"I didn't know there was a Japanese question," said a Pittsburgh congressman. "We are troubled in Pittsburgh with a horde of undesirable immigrants from southern Europe. I would like to have a law that would exclude this class of immigrants, but I have no objection to the Japanese and didn't know anyone else had."

Bonaparte, who is regarded as the president's official spokesman for the occasion, will tell fully the president's political views and his third term ideas.

TIDAL WAVE OF CRIME SWEEPS OVER CITY OF NEW YORK

$3,500,000 by Theft in Two Months—$16,000,000 Stolen During the Year of 1907.

GOTHAM'S POLICE FORCE ENTIRELY INADEQUATE

Police Are Suppressing Numerous Burglaries—Thieves Make Business of Ripping Up Mattresses and Carpets—Insurance Companies Pay Claims.

New York, Dec. 10.—The World says New York is being swept by a tidal wave of crime. There have been more burglaries, robberies and larcenies within two months than ever before during a like period of time. Burglary insurance experts estimate that the loss by theft in two months will amount to more than $3,500,000 and that the loss for the year 1907 will be $16,000,000.

The inadequacy of the police force is blamed for the present condition. An association of burglary insurance companies recently issued a circular calling attention to the crime wave, and stated that insurance rates would be raised unless something was done to check the increasing robberies.

It is generally believed that hard times and the banking situation are responsible for present conditions. The police have observed that the majority of burglars and sneak thieves arrested of late have been novices in the business and most of them were driven to crime by poverty.

While Commissioner Bingham denies that there has been an unusual number of burglaries and robberies in the last two months, he admits that the situation this year may be worse than in previous years because of the hard times. He explains the complaint of the insurance companies by saying many of their losses result from "fake" robberies, or robberies committed by the persons insured so that they may collect the insurance money.

Burglars Seek the Home Banks. A veteran detective at Police headquarters said yesterday to a World reporter that he did not remember a time when there were more robberies and larcenies than at present. He counted for them by saying the crooks were taking advantage of the fact that the people have drawn their money out of the banks and secreted it about their homes.

It is a fact that in nearly all of the robberies of recent date the thieves have ripped mattresses to pieces, torn up carpets, looked behind pictures and searched every possible place where money might be concealed.

The burglary insurance company managers declare that the only way to solve the problem is by publicity. They assert that the newspapers can do more to stop the crime wave than any other influence. The publication of the fact that the city is being swept by a crime wave makes the people aware of their danger and results in unusual activity on the part of the police and extra caution on the part of citizens.

More Publicity Is Needed. Norman R. Moray, manager of the American Bonding Company of Baltimore, when seen by a World reporter at his office, No. 34 Nassau street, yesterday, said:

"The great trouble with the police is that they suppress news about robberies and the people do not realize how serious this is, when if they would adopt a policy of publicity they would do more to check crime than in any other way."

"The police are unable to prevent the increase in crime with their present methods. It is like trying to bail the ocean with a thimble. If publicity were given to every robbery the people would learn to protect themselves and their property and would take precautions to keep burglars from setting into their houses."

"As the heads of an insurance company I, of course, hear of many burglaries, but just think of the number that are committed where the victims are not insured."

One in One Hundred Insured. One in one hundred robberies committed where the victim is insured there are probably a hundred where the victims are not insured. Now, for the year 1907 the burglary insurance companies here have paid out $248,312, and have received in premiums $684,348. These figures are taken from the Insurance Year Book. The loss is 41 1/2 per cent in money paid out, and as it costs the companies about 60 per cent to handle the business, pay commissions, etc., the profit is gone and the companies lose money. The police recover only about 1 1/2 per cent of the property stolen.

"This is only the case in New York and Chicago, however, for in other cities the police are not so many burglaries and thefts. Business is done at a fair profit outside of these two cities."

Similar statements were made by the heads of other insurance companies. Gerald E. Hart, manager of the Metropolitan Security company, No. 33 Park Row, said the condition was appalling and that something should be done. He believes in publicity. W. Lottimer, of the United Surety Company, No. 90 William street, and W. P. Learned, of the Fidelity and Casualty company, No. 21 Cedar street, expressed themselves as being in favor of publicity.

Police Keep Robberies Secret. It has long been a practice of the police to keep the news of robberies secret. He believes in publicity.

WHAT SANTA FE SAYS ABOUT MEETING

Scientists Will Be Here From Far and Wide—Advertising Being Done.

The Santa Fe has issued an elaborate four-page flyer for the annual meeting of the Geological Society of America, which meets in this city December 30 and January 1. The circular is of a fine grade of brilliantly yellow paper with printing in black. A full view picture of the Alvarado hotel, with the mountains in the distance, occupies the top of the poster. On the second page is a view of Central avenue. On page 3 is a cut of the Albuquerque Commercial club building and on page 4 are views of the Grand Canyon and the petrified forests of Arizona. The circular says:

Annual Meeting Geological Society of America, Albuquerque, N. M., December 30, 1907—January 1, 1908. To Members and Their Friends: The annual meeting of the Geological Society of America will be held at Albuquerque, N. M., December 30, 1907, to January 1, 1908, inclusive. The only way to get there is on the Santa Fe.

You are invited to be present. This invitation includes not only delegates and members generally, but also their friends. A very enjoyable trip in congenial company is assured. You cannot afford to stay away from the Albuquerque meeting. The program includes speakers of national reputation, who will discuss topics of vital interest. The first day, December 30, will be devoted to a business session and the reading of important papers. On the second day, December 31, there will be an excursion to the Grand Canyon by courtesy of the Albuquerque Commercial club. The third day will be devoted to the reading of papers.

Albuquerque and Vicinity. You will find at Albuquerque the best of accommodations, whether you stop at the luxurious Alvarado hotel, under management of Fred Harvey, or put up elsewhere. Albuquerque (15,000 population) is the chief city of New Mexico. Here, in the fertile Rio Grande valley, hemmed in by high mountain ranges, and a mile above the sea level, you will find the bustling American and the less strenuous Mexican with a sprinkling of Pueblo Indians and Navajos from nearby reservations. The white man is in the majority and his dominance is everywhere evident in large business blocks, expensive private residences, a commercial club, schools and colleges, fine churches, railroad shops and many factories. Yet, not far away, is "old town," where the adobe is supreme and soft-voiced senoritas glance at you from shaded doorways. This halfway house in the transcontinental journey (as Albuquerque has been called), is a place well worth a visit. The residents are hospitable, and justly proud of their enterprising city.

But what may most interest you is the Southwest Land of Enchantment, of which this is the center. Typical of it all ethnologically is the Harvey Indian museum, adjoining Hotel Alvarado. Here are displayed specimens of the Indian handicrafts together with curios from Old Mexico and Alaska. You will probably see a few Navajo blanket-weavers and silversmiths, likewise Indians from Isleta and Laguna. After the meeting is over you will have an opportunity to visit some of these Indian pueblos—of seeing the homes, centuries old, of a vanishing race. You likewise may see the historic ruins, over which broods the mystery of forgotten ages. There will be presented to you a volume of sermons in stone, called the Petrified Forest of Arizona. This forest covers many thousand acres, in five separate tracts. Here, as if laid bare for the research of the scientist, are the remains of petrified wood, including trees two hundred feet long, and colored like a rainbow.

The mightiest wonder of the world the Grand Canyon of Arizona, to you to read the handwriting of Time in the manifold strata of its mile-deep walls—where upheaval and erosion have done their titanic work. And California, too, bids you come to enjoy her genial sunshine and semi-tropic delights.

The Journey to Albuquerque. Regarding the trip itself—this much may be said: The superior quality of Santa Fe service appeals to the comfortable traveler. It is pleasant to know that our train will be safeguarded by the block-signal system, that the roadbed is practically dustless, and that the meals served, always an important item on a long trip, is managed by Fred Harvey, whose reputation as a caterer is international.

fornia can either buy regular round trip nine months' tickets from the east to Los Angeles or San Francisco allowing stop overs at Albuquerque, Adamantina (Petrified Forest), and Williams (for Grand Canyon); or buy such tickets after reaching Albuquerque.

Final Return Limit. Thirty days from date of sale.

Transit Limits. From the east, continuous passage in each direction, the going trip to commence date of sale; return passage must begin when ticket is executed at Albuquerque. From Pacific Coast points continuous passage going trip; stop overs on return within limit.

Side Trips After Meeting. After the Albuquerque meeting is over, many of the visitors will wish to see other sections of the southwest. For such it has been arranged to run an excursion to the Grand Canyon and return, stopping en route at Adamantina for the Petrified Forest. As now planned, the party will leave Albuquerque on Santa Fe train the evening of Wednesday, January 1, reaching Adamantina the morning of Thursday, January 2. The entire day will be given to riding through the most interesting sections of the Petrified Forest, leaving there for the Grand Canyon, which will be reached Friday, January 3. The party will spend Friday and Saturday at the canyon. Those who wish to do so may remain longer at the canyon, either returning east or (if ticketed to California) proceeding to the coast on regular trains.

Side ride tickets will be sold from Albuquerque to Grand Canyon and return on January 1, 2 and 3, 1908, at rate of one fare for round trip, $18.95. Such tickets will be good thirty days, and will permit stop overs in each direction.

The Grand Canyon of Arizona is the greatest scenic wonder of the world. It is fully described in our pamphlet. There is a magnificent new $250,000 hotel at the Grand Canyon, named El Tovar, and managed by Fred Harvey. The rates are $4 a day and upward on the American plan. Every modern convenience is provided, including electric lights and bath. Those wishing less expensive accommodations will find same at Bright Angel Camp, adjacent, also under Harvey management; lodging 75 cents a day, each person, and meals at lunch counter.

The stop at Grand Canyon allows ample time for carriage rides along the rim and the trail trip to the river.

The Hopi House (opposite El Tovar) is a unique stone-arched structure, occupied by Navajo and Hopi Indians.

SANTA FE'S PRESIDENT SEES NO TRAFFIC DECLINE. New York, Dec. 10.—President Edward P. Ripley, of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe, who came to New York to attend the meeting of the directors, when asked for his view regarding the outlook in the territory served by the Atchafalaya, expressed the opinion that, irrespective of any falling off in business, which now seems probable, the Atchafalaya will earn this year a substantial surplus over and above its dividend requirements.

Of the general situation this much is to be borne in mind, that the farmer, whose work produces the bulk of the country's wealth, is richer and in better position today than he has been for many years. He has less and has more money in bank. So far as the transportation business represents the hauling to market of the products of the soil and hauling back what the farmer consumes, there will be no let-up in traffic.

Changes on the Rock Island. The office of assistant general passenger agent of the Rock Island in St. Louis will be abolished at the close of the year. Hal S. Ray, who has held the position for two years past, will be transferred to Chicago headquarters in charge of the advertising department of the system. The following changes of the Rock Island will become effective January 1: T. H. Wilhelm is appointed commercial agent at Dallas, vice E. M. Gleason, assigned to other duties; R. O. McCormick is appointed commercial agent at San Antonio, vice T. H. Wilhelm, transferred to Dallas; C. E. Wynne, Jr., is appointed commercial agent at Fort Worth, vice H. C. Callahan, assigned to other duties.

The B. of R. T. of Needles, Cal., elected the following officers at their meeting of December 1: J. W. Means, president; H. E. Carmichael, manager; Ed. Minehan, vice manager; J. D. Warren, secretary; F. J. Pearce, treasurer. H. E. Carmichael is chairman of the grievance committee, A. E. Olson, secretary and J. W. Means, the third member. J. V. Lipitt was chosen legislative delegate and Dr. D. W. Rees, physician.

D. F. Martz, the Santa Fe conductor who was indicted some months ago for the burglary of a box car in his train and who afterwards pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny, was released Monday from the county jail at Needles, Cal.

V. L. Beane, recently of Santa Fe, has been made agent for the Santa Fe at Needles, Cal.

Indications Are That It Was Worked A Hundred Years Ago.

C. E. Wilbur, general manager of the D. & W. Mining company, of Copperfield, was in the city the first of the week and reports the discovery of ancient mine workings by a prospector named Harris, in the employ of Mr. Wilbur, says the Needles Eye. The discovery was made a few days ago by Mr. Harris while prospecting through the country. He told his story of the find in Copper Basin but was laughed at. The find was made about six miles westerly from the Colorado river and about eight miles from the location of the new bridge now being constructed across the river above the mouth of the Arizona & California railway. Entrance to the old workings is by an incline shaft. Mr. Harris explored what he estimated to be at least a quarter of a mile of drift from the shaft at various levels. He descended the shaft a distance of about 300 feet and there came to a cavern or room which had either been stopped out or else had been formed by nature. Mr. Harris endeavored to explore this but was unable to do so as he was without ropes. Rocks thrown in the cavern failed to return any sound of striking and he therefore concluded that the cavern must be of great size and depth. There were no tools to be found anywhere around the mine. There was no timbering, the supports to the roof of the tunnel where it was wide were made by the leaving of pillars of rock, and with rock wedges. There was no evidence that any of the ore taken from the workings had ever been taken away from the property. The ore, itself, at first sight, has the appearance of being almost pure copper, but on handling the hands become covered with a red oxide of copper. An assay proves, however, that it was not copper. Neither does it carry any perceptible value in gold or silver. It is almost pure mineral paint and the samples that were brought to Needles would need but be placed in barrels for shipment to the market. There is a great many conjectures as to who did the work and when it was done. There is nothing in the present mining history of that section of the country that accounts for the workings although mines were operated there as early as the 50's. The work itself indicates that it was done at some earlier date. Who did it cannot be answered, neither can it be said why the work was done for the product of the mine so far tested is of a character that would not be used in early days.

A Reliable Remedy for Croup. With the dry, cold weather of the early winter months, parents of croupy children should be on the alert for ominous symptoms. There is no cause for anxiety, however, when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is kept in the home. If this medicine is given as soon as child becomes hoarse or even after the croupy cough has appeared, the attack may be ward off. Mrs. S. Rosenthal, of Turner, Michigan, says: "We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for ourselves and children for several years and like it very much. I think it is the only remedy for croup and can highly recommend it." For sale by all druggists.

MAID JOURNEYS 4,000 MILES TO SEE BROTHER

City of Mexico, Dec. 10.—Miss May Mann, of Portland, Ore., journeyed all the way from her home to this city for the purpose of meeting a brother who she had not seen for seventeen years. She made the trip of nearly 4,000 miles alone and had planned to give her brother a complete surprise. The way things turned out she was surprised almost as much as he at the meeting, which was entirely unexpected. Her brother, A. C. Mann, is employed on the National Tehantepec railroad, with headquarters at Rincon. He is a single man, situated several hundred miles below this city.

Miss Mann last saw her brother before the recent meeting when she was but 3 years old. She says she still remembers the day he bade her good-by and started for South America to make his fortune. He spent many years in the South and Central American countries seeking the Goddess of Fortune. He came to Mexico a few years ago and his since held responsible positions with railroads. He could never find time to make his trip to his native home in Oregon. His sister finally determined to come to Mexico and visit him. She arrived here the day before Thanksgiving. It was her intention to spend the night here and continue her journey to Rincon. She went to a hotel, and as she was writing her name upon the register she changed to glance at the name above her own. It was: "A. C. Mann, Rincon, Arizona." She instantly knew it was that of her brother. She hurried a message to his room. She accompanied him back to Rincon, Arizona, to spend the winter with him. The day of the meeting was one of real thanksgiving for both of them.

LINGERING COLD. Withstood Other Treatment But Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and guaranteed it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

The reason we do so much ROUGH DRY work is because we do it right and at the price you cannot afford to have it done at home.

Judge W. W. Murray, an associate justice of the court of private land claims and therefore well remembered all over New Mexico, died a week ago at his home at Huntington, Tennessee. Judge Murray was a native of Georgia and eminent as a jurist as well as a political leader, having been one of the prominent republicans of Tennessee. He served in the union army during the Civil war. All those who knew him esteem him as a grand old man, a gentleman of the "old school."

E. J. Carlin, who has been in Albuquerque for the past three weeks in the interest of the Clovis Townsite company, left last night for his home town. While there Mr. Carlin will close with the Santa Fe Railroad company for an additional tract of 50 acres to be used for terminal purposes. The growth of Clovis is one of the remarkable things which are now taking place along the line of the new cut off and a number of Albuquerque people are only waiting the start of the first train to pay the town a visit. Mr. Carlin expects to return here next Saturday.

BANKRUPT BROKERS MAKE STATEMENT

Pittsburg, Dec. 10.—The creditors of Sidney and Stephenson, the stock brokers who filed a petition of bankruptcy against their firm Saturday, today secured from the court an order restricting all creditors who hold securities as collateral from disposing of the same until further order from the court.

The petition sets forth that the firm's liabilities are about $10,000,000 and that the assets consist of stock, bonds and other valuable securities, held as collateral. It is alleged that at the time the Pittsburg Exchange closed, these assets were worth $12,000,000. It is further alleged that the unsecured creditors hold claims to about $700,000 and that if the securities held as collateral are sold at a private sale the unsecured creditors will get nothing.

HYDE IS STILL SEEKING TO MAKE RESTITUTION TO EQUITABLE

He Would Sacrifice Money
Value of $7,000,000 If Only Those Suits Would be Called Off.

PAUL MORTON'S FIGURES MUCH TOO LOW

Exact Details of Proposition--Will Turn Over Stocks and Securities, Leases and Earnings and Real Estate and Mortgages Too.

New York, Dec. 9.—The exact details of the proposition made by James H. Hyde, erstwhile president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, to the directors of the new regime of the society for a settlement of the suits brought against him have been made public.

Instead of $1,000,000, the money value of the restitution offered by Mr. Hyde is estimated to be from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000, and the director places it as high as $7,000,000.

One item of Mr. Hyde's offer has been appraised by real estate experts as being worth $2,000,000 to the Equitable Life. President Paul Morton has cut down the figure of the experts he employed to $1,250,000, but many of the directors hold that Mr. Morton's figures are too low.

Puzzled by Jackson's Act.

Some of the directors of the Equitable do not comprehend the position taken by Attorney General Jackson, who makes an acceptance of Mr. Hyde's offer impossible by refusing to withdraw the state's suit against the young man. One director said: "I am quite sure Mr. Jackson has never yet read, in full the offer made by Mr. Hyde. I know that if the matter could be put to a vote every one of the fifty-two directors, the stockholders and the policy holders would vote for its acceptance."

The sub-committee, of which J. Edward Swansford is chairman, had no easy task in getting these terms from Mr. Hyde. They had to use an iron hand in their negotiations and the result will be of incalculable value to the policyholders unless the whole thing is nullified by the attorney general.

Terms Offered by Hyde.

These are the terms offered by Mr. Hyde:

To sell to the Equitable Life Insurance Co. the stock of the Mercantile Safe Deposit Company, which has a lease at a low rate of the ground on which the Equitable building stands.

This lease still has 193 years to run.

It was because of this lease that the Equitable could not take advantage of a recent offer of $16,000,000 for its building. The cancellation of this lease is part of the Hyde offer. He also binds himself to refund to the Equitable a portion of the immense profits earned by the Mercantile Safe Deposit company during the past thirty years as a result of the low rental it paid for its quarters. It was the cancellation of this lease which the real estate experts estimated to be worth at least $2,000,000.

Second. The stock of the Security Safe Deposit company, which is to be acquired by the Equitable Life on the basis of the result of a recent sale at auction of a few shares of the stock. This auction price was $50 a share below the price originally asked by Mr. Hyde when the restitution negotiations were begun fifteen months ago. The lease held by this company on the most valuable part of the Equitable's building in Boston is also to be cancelled.

In addition Mr. Hyde is to refund to the Equitable about 45 per cent of the money he received for his stock for the "unfair" price his company earned as a result of the lease it got from the Equitable. This lease is of the general character as that held by the Mercantile Safe Deposit company in the Equitable's Broadway building. As a result of it the Equitable's Boston building has yielded only about one and a half per cent on the investment.

Third. The 1,410 shares of Missouri Safe Deposit company stock which Hyde sold to the Equitable at $250 a share when he was in control of the society are to be repurchased by the Equitable appraisers, and Hyde is to refund to the company the difference between what he got and their value as fixed by the appraisers.

To Repay $700,000 Loan.

Fourth. The Turner loan, amounting to approximately $700,000, to be paid by the guarantors, Henry B. Hyde, father of James H. Hyde, one of the guarantors, and there has long been pending a claim against the Henry B. Hyde estate in consequence of the loan. The Turner loan was the original "Yellow Dog" fund of the Equitable. It was started in the Western National Bank, and when that institution was merged with the National Bank of Commerce it was transferred to the Mercantile Trust Company, an institution owned by the Equitable. For a long time there has been a dispute between the Mercantile Trust and the Equitable Life as to which should stand the $700,000 loss. This dispute started after Thomas F. Ryan purchased the Equitable Life. Acceptance of the Hyde restitution offer would not only end this dispute but would wipe out the loan.

Fifth. The surrender of all claims for pensions by the Hyde family. After the death of Henry B. Hyde his widow was given a pension of $25,000 a year for life. This pension, though she was enormously wealthy, Paul Morton stopped the pension payment to Mrs. Hyde, though the legality of his act was questioned.

Sixth. The payment to the Equitable by Mr. Hyde of $62,233.51, representing his profits on syndicate transactions while he was in control of the society.

Pierce Represented Mr. Hyde.

All of the negotiations with the sub-committee of three, which finally resulted in restitution being offered on the above terms, were made on behalf of Mr. Hyde by Winslow Pierce, and not by his regular coun-

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF AMERICA'S GREATEST BATTLESHIP ARMADA

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, from his latest and best portrait.

AS SUCCESSFUL EAST AS IN THE WEST

Cooper's Theories Are Being Rapidly
Accepted by Eastern People.

L. T. Cooper, whose theory that the human stomach is the cause of most ill health, and who created a furore in Chicago, St. Louis and other western cities, is meeting with the same remarkable success with his medicine throughout the east. Cooper has convinced an immense number of people that his theory is sound and his medicine will do what he claims.

Perhaps the most interesting features of the discussion this young man is causing are the statements made by responsible people who have taken his medicines and have become enthusiastic converts to his beliefs.

Among statements of this character the following, by Mr. August Wittmer, 1049 Rockwell Court, Chicago, is characteristic of the widespread faith in Cooper, which has grown up in a comparatively short time.

Mr. Wittmer says: "I wouldn't take $1,000 and be in the condition I was three weeks ago. I was practically an invalid for fourteen years and think I had about all of the diseases known. My stomach was weak, and at times I would have an enormous appetite, and then again none at all. Pie and cake made me sick, and I almost always had a sickening feeling in my stomach. I was nervous, and for weeks at a time could not sleep, and then again could sleep eighteen hours at a stretch. Sleep, however, seemed to do me no good, and I would awake tired and more exhausted than when I went to bed. I was constipated, had pains in my back, and flutterings and pains in my heart. I was unable to work with any regularity, and took no interest in anything. I tried all kinds of medicines and doctors, but none benefited me. I had no energy and no ambition, and had about concluded to give up when the Cooper medicine was recommended. Thanks to it, my health seems completely restored and I feel like a new man."

Cooper medicines have created the greatest sensation of anything of the kind ever before introduced. We sell them and will be glad to explain the nature of them to our callers.

A Word Picture That Hurts

The terrible mine disaster at Monongah is still fresh in our minds, and it will remain fresh for many days, for the parties of rescuers have scarcely begun to find the bodies of the victims of that catastrophe.

Every decade has had its horrors and every decade will have them until the end of time. It seems sometimes that the decades that have passed and gone were angelic compared to the present, but such is not the case. While the terrible mine disaster of last week, wiped out over five hundred lives, still disasters of years ago were just as severe, not only in mining, but at sea and in war and in pestilence and famine—things that modern civilization has to a great extent overcome.

So after all the days of today are not nearly so cruel as were the days that have gone and the mine of today does not hold for the miners, the horror of a mine of years ago.

Nevertheless, the accidents that do occur are terrible in the extreme and every precaution should be taken to prevent them and to see that they are investigated thoroughly to fix the responsibility when they do occur.

A New York correspondent, who was hurried to the scene of the recent big disaster by his paper, wrote a short description—a word picture of the plight of the women and children left to shift for themselves by the sudden taking off of their husbands and fathers and sons and brothers.

The men who died in the mine met a merciful fate as compared to the ones they left behind.

A flash and it was all over, so far as they were concerned. They were stricken down in nearly every instance without a minute's warning and with no time in which to suffer.

But up above, in the little mining town, were women and children whose sufferings will only be cured by time.

Writing of these—the ones who bore the real suffering, the New York correspondent in his paper said:

"The tragedy of the wives, the mothers, the sisters and sweethearts of the victims of this awful mine horror is the tragedy of the mine woman the world over.

"Her whole life is one of apprehension. And when at last the blow falls, her lot is to wait and suffer, to hope against hope, to meet the worst with such courage as God has given her, to take up the miserable battle of life again single handed, and to retain her faith in Omnipotence if she may.

"There is a gruesome sameness in these mine horrors which differ only in detail, the number of dead, the periods of heart wringing uncertainty, the waiting women must endure, the pitiable harvest of widows and orphans that is left. There is always the same agonizing despair, the same utter hopelessness.

"The surmounting pathos of it all centers about the newly made orphans who do not understand. They follow their mothers to the pit mouth, where the rope cordon keeps back the swaying crowd and upon the strange shifting scene of woe with inexplicable fearless wonder written in every line of their little faces. Perhaps it is their common fate in the years to come, but mercifully they do not know.

"For hours, long, agonizing, almost never-ending hours, the women weep and wait before the first return party of rescuers, smoke-blackened and dirt-begrimed, emerges from the yawning mouth of this subterranean hell. The first revolution of the throbbing engine starts a quiver of alternating hope and fear in every heart, there is the distracted babble of many tongues, but above and over and through it all the woman's cry of heart-break.

"Perhaps they bring only a comrade who has been overcome by the dread black damp in his heroic effort at rescue. Mayhap they bring a body, burned and blackened, the arms crooked over the scorched, coal-pitted face in a last pitiable effort at protection. Be it the one or the other, the first sight of the inanimate body opens the long pent-up floodgates of that awful terror which has held them in its thrall. Here is all the horror of the inferno itself, here seems the concentrated agony of the universe.

"And so it is until the bodies are all removed. Perhaps some are still missing after a week, but haunting the pit-mouth, even as the myriad tolling of bells tells its own mute story, are the women of the dead, faithful to the last, waiting and weeping and suffering as is their fate.

"And the real tragedy of it all is only begun. The woman has lived and obeyed and suffered. Now does her real trials begin. She has children, perhaps, boys big enough to be door-tenders and others, who to help her in her fight to keep the wolf from the door, must go into the pit where their father went down to death. If there be babies, only so much the worse."

LOOKING FOR A GOOD TIME?

There are about as many conceptions as to what constitutes a "good time" as there are individuals, but there is one place in New Mexico, not very far from Albuquerque, where 99 out of every 100 people find what they are looking for. That place is the Valley Ranch, at Pecos, New Mexico.

Fresh country produce in abundance, horses to ride or drive, dogs, guns, traps, tackle, all at your disposal. The finest hunting and fishing in the territory. You can live in a house, a cabin or a tent, and come and go as you please.

You'll find plenty of company there, agreeable and refined, if you are sociably inclined, a favorite resort for ladies. Conditions ideal for recuperating, reading, hunting or loafing.

You CAN'T SPEND MORE THAN NINE DOLLARS A WEEK ANY WAY YOU FIX IT.

Inquire at The Citizen Office for further particulars, or address The Valley Ranch.

No other food deteriorates so rapidly as the Oyster. Its habitat is the ocean. It requires coolness and absolute freedom from exposure to the air in order to retain its delicate flavor and its wholesomeness. SEAL-SHIP OYSTERS are brought direct to us from the choicest beds of America. They are shucked into porcelain cases, sealed and packed in ice, which never comes in contact with the oysters. The use of the Sealship carrier is the secret of their superiority.

From becoming public. Commissioner Bingham recently issued an order excluding reporters from the room in which prisoners are arraigned by detectives at police headquarters.

The railroads and express companies have been victimized to the amount of thousands of dollars within the last fortnight. The New York Central detectives captured a gang of robbers some weeks ago who had stolen over $25,000 worth of merchandise from trains, and it was estimated at the time that other railroad companies had lost $100,000 in less than two months.

Commissioner Bingham would not give his estimate of the loss of theft for the year 1907. He referred to the work of the department as shown in the last quarterly report. This showed that in three months there had been 2,559 arrests and 498 convictions. This was an increase of more than 1,000 arrests over the same three months in previous years.

"Does not that show that there is an increase in crime?" he was asked. "It shows that the police force is doing better work than it ever did before," he answered.

Commissioner Bingham then issued the following statement in answer to the criticism of the insurance company managers:

Gen. Bingham's Statement.
"The statement that more burglaries, larcenies and thefts of all kinds have been committed in New York in the last sixty days than in any period in its history is simply not true. If there are others who know more about these matters than the police, who are they, and why don't they help the police?"

"It is true that the police department does not give out for publication certain cases that are reported unless arrests are made. One of the chief reasons the police don't make public all the burglaries that occur is because of the pernicious activity of the solicitors of the burglar insurance companies. The minute a person is unfortunate enough to have his flat or house robbed and the victim's name is made public these solicitors get busy and make the victim's life miserable."

"As the cold weather comes on the kinds of crime that must be expected to increase are burglaries, robberies and larcenies. This happens every year, and undoubtedly will occur this year. Although, so far, there has been no unusual increase in either of these kinds of crimes."

"It may be that the situation this year may be worse than other years because there probably will be a larger number of men than usual out of employment. Lack of work is always an invitation to commit crime. The men arrested for this sort of crime during the past two months have been, as a rule, first offenders. or, at any rate, new men in the business."

"Does anybody suppose for a moment that the burglar insurance companies are doing business at a loss, which is what would seem to be implied by the article in question? It is wonderful to see what vast public knowledge the gentleman quoted in the article seems to have, and it is a pity that this vast knowledge cannot be utilized in the service of the city."

"The police are not unable to cope with the situation, but, on the contrary, are doing the best work that has ever been done in New York City. Moreover, there are other burglar insurance companies who claim that the whole tenor of the article in question is utterly untrue."

Many Burglary Reports False.
"Among the cases of robbery and burglary reported to the police department in the last few months such as have been done in New York City, it is wonderful to see what vast public knowledge the gentleman quoted in the article seems to have, and it is a pity that this vast knowledge cannot be utilized in the service of the city."

MRS. E. K. NORRIS
110 East Coal Avenue

Socorro and Socorro County

Socorro, N. M., Dec. 10.—Bishop Kendrick of El Paso and the Rev. Fletcher Cook, of Albuquerque, arrived in town this morning. They are being entertained by the Episcopal guild at the home of Mrs. James P. Berry. There will be services in the Episcopal church this evening when the Rev. Mr. Cook will preach. The church has been without a minister for some time, and it is expected that the Rev. Cook will come down from Albuquerque regularly and hold services. The bishop and Rev. Cook will return to Albuquerque in the morning, but the Rev. Cook will be down again on the 29th instant to hold services. Rev. Cook comes with a reputation as an excellent speaker and will no doubt be appreciated by the people of Socorro.

E. A. Clements, of Magdalena, arrived in town this morning from Albuquerque on his way home. Mr. Clements has been in Albuquerque for some time, and says that the growth of the town is very noticeable. He also compliments Socorro on the number of cement sidewalks which have been and are still being laid.

Zim Gibbons has completed the cement sidewalk in front of the property owned by Sheriff Abeytia, and occupied by P. N. Yunker as a saloon. The improvement is very noticeable.

Mrs. Lucia M. Harvey is spending a few days in town in the interest of the Auxiliary Educational League of Boston, Mass. Mrs. Harvey is taking subscriptions for a set of books which have been gotten up for home study, to be used in connection with the regular public school course. Mrs. Harvey says business is good, and the recent disturbance in the money market has not affected her business in the least. Mrs. Harvey comes from Chicago, but is entirely at ease over New Mexico, and as she is a contributor to several papers, we hope she will give us a boost.

Francis Schmidt, who recently moved in from his ranch and located in Socorro was admitted to the first rank of the Rio Grande lodge No. 3, K. of P., on Wednesday night last, Dec. 4th.

Take some reliable and safe digestant like KODOL for Dyspepsia. KODOL is the best remedy known today for heart burn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by J. H. O'Reilly.

AN ADEQUATE ARMORY CITY HAS A FOUNTAIN
WILL COST $12,000 BUT NO PLACE TO PUT IT
AT THE LEAST

Contractor Will be Guaranteed
the Money and Legislature
Asked to Pay.

A convention hall adequate to the needs of this city for the next quarter of a century, is what the committee appointed by Col. W. S. Hopewell to devise ways and means of securing a meeting place for the National Irrigation congress, favor without exception.

"We have been pretty safely assured that the territorial legislature will refund whatever extra outlay we may make on the armory," said one of the committee this morning, "and it is probable we will guarantee the contractor the extra sum and have a $12,000 armory erected."

The territorial appropriation for the Albuquerque armory amounts to $7,500 and the business men of the city gave the site, three lots at the corner of Fifth street and Silver avenue.

"I have no doubt that the territory would appropriate the extra $4,500," continued the committeeman, "because it is for the territorial good. Albuquerque is not asking for a large armory with any selfish motive in view, because what benefits this city benefits the territory and what benefits the territory benefits Albuquerque."

Members of the committee which held its first meeting at the Commercial club this afternoon have been discussing securing the lot adjoining the armory site, thereby increasing the dimensions of the proposed armory to 100x142 feet with a seating capacity of 3,500 people. With three lots the dimensions would be 75x142 feet.

Governor Curry, Adjutant General Tackling, Major B. B. Ruppel, territorial militia board, and the committee on a convention hall will pass on the plans for the new armory early next month and work will begin on the building at once.

The following are the members of the committee, three from the Commercial club, three from the board of control of the irrigation congress, and three from the territorial fair management:

Commercial Club—Mayor Frank McKee, R. H. Collier, W. S. Strickler.
Board of Control—N. Marron, Berthold Spitz, D. A. MacPherson.
Territorial Fair—M. L. Stern, J. H. O'Reilly, Felix H. Lester.

A LETTER FROM HAWLEY ON THE CORNER

There's no use talking, a "Kodak Record" is the most authentic record of places and events that you can keep. No matter if you have the gift of an Irving, your word picture will not measure up in fidelity to a kodak picture. And then think of the fun of it.

Some one, enthusiastic in his praise of the Eastman kodak, has said: "If it isn't an Eastman, it isn't a kodak." Now we have the finest lot of Eastman's in the city, and we suggest that you try one for a Christmas gift. The time has passed when a nicely padded edition of one of the poets—no matter which—or a gilt framed picture—no matter what—will satisfy your friend who wants a change, and don't blame him.

Try him, or her, on a kodak. Don't forget that we rent kodaks to those who do not possess them, and we will finish up and mount the pictures artistically after you have taken them. Call around and look us over—and the kodaks.

MYSTERIOUS ASSAULT ON SANTA FE EMPLOYEE PROSPEROUS AS CAN BE

Paul Pollock Is Struck From Behind by Unknown Man Fires Shot.

Roy Pollock, a line clerk working in the offices of the Santa Fe, is lying at his home 217 South Fourth street today a nervous wreck as a result of an experience he had with an unknown man at 3 o'clock this morning.

His eyes are burned with some fluid the man put on his eyes and his head is laid open from a blow dealt him by the man. The assault was committed within a few feet of the office in which Pollock worked and there were some of his fellow employees working there at the time within hearing of his cry had he called, but the assault was made in such a sudden and vicious manner that he can scarcely tell what happened, and he made a dash for his home, firing his pistol.

He remembers leaving the office and going out into the night, which was quite dark, the new moon having gone behind the western horizon hours before. He was walking along beside a string of cars when all of a sudden he felt a stinging sensation on the head.

He says that he remembers feeling like he was falling, then some one grabbed him from behind and placed his hands over his face. He smelled a peculiar odor and felt a burning sensation.

"I pulled my gun and wheeling around as quickly as I could, I pulled the trigger," said Pollock this morning in telling the police of his mysterious assault. "I thought that I pressed the gun to the man's breast and fired. I think that he fell, and then I fell and everything became dark. I can't remember any more."

Pollock Staggered Into Office.
The clerks in the office say that they remember hearing a shot a short time after Pollock left the office and a short time after Pollock came staggering through the door. He fell into a chair and told them in an incoherent manner that he had been hit and had shot some one.

They went to the place where Pollock said that he shot the man, but there was no blood there nor any signs of a struggle. The bullet from Pollock's pistol had undoubtedly missed its mark, or else the man had some comrades and they carried him away.

Motive For Assault Mystery.
Pollock was able to walk to his home, but feels very weak as a result of his extraordinary experience. He says that he cannot fathom the motive for the assault. It was not for robbery, or at least no attempt was made to go through his pockets. He believes that he was mistaken for some one else. Just what the fluid was the man pulled on his face is not known. He burnt his eyes some but the sight will not be injured to any great degree.

Pollock is 18 years old and lives with his parents at the above number. He works at night and sleeps during the day. He slept a very restless sleep all day.

The police are making an investigation of the case.

Has New Court House, New Jail, and Is Building $1,700 Bridge.

"McKinley county has done one thing which I don't believe any other county in New Mexico has accomplished," said J. A. Gordon, one of the commissioners of McKinley county at the court house today. "It has built a new court house and jail at an expense of $25,000 and a bridge costing $1,700 and didn't find it necessary to issue a bond."

County Commissioner Gordon and Sheriff Harry Coddington, of Gallup, McKinley county, are in the city on business. The new court house at Gallup was built by Contractor Wallace Hesselde, of Albuquerque, out of white sandstone taken from a quarry near Gallup. The bridge over the Rio Puerco, near Gallup, was constructed out of the same material.

"The county has also wiped out a debt to Bernadillo county amounting to over $7,000," continued Mr. Gordon. "Our county is in a prosperous condition and so are all the people living in it. The bank at Gallup did not find it necessary to issue scrip during the money stringency, and through the worst of the depression there seemed to be plenty of currency in circulation."

One thousand more miners are needed in the mines in McKinley county. Mine owners have advertised for them and are securing miners through employment agencies in the east and west. The shutting down of several copper camps gave us some miners, but we are in need of more now. Miners can find plenty of work in Gallup."

Plasterers are now at work in the new court house and jail and Contractor Hesselde promises to have the buildings ready for occupancy by January 1.

THE STORY IN FIGURES OF THE GREAT PACIFIC CRUISE.

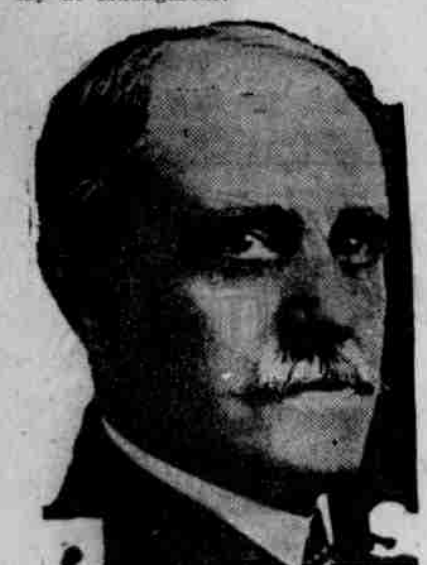

Modern battleships	16
Torpedo boat destroyers	6
Colliers	35
Their record-breaking voyage	14,160 miles
Fighting strength battleships	908 guns
Officers and men	14,000
Value of ammunition carried	$5,000,000
Coal they will burn	120,000 tons
Cost of coal and its transportation	$1,000,000

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—Sixteen battleships have gathered in Hampton Roads for the most remarkable voyage in modern naval history. As a single fleet they will steam entirely around South America, making a voyage of 14,160 miles. Never before has so large a fleet of modern battleships made a voyage of such length. Other American ships have sailed around the Horn, but never such a fleet as this. The largest American fleet to make

Capt. Wm. Hensley Emory, who will be second in command of the American armada.

This trip in recent times was the squadron of Rear Admiral Bancroft Gherardi, who, with his flag flying from the Baltimore, led three other fighting ships in 1892. Most thrilling was the voyage of the Oregon, which rushed from the Pacific to take a whack at Spain.

Rear Admiral C. S. Sperry, fourth in command under Admiral Evans on the great voyage to the western ocean.

Pacific Coast Protected.
If war should come within the next four months, Uncle Sam would have in the Pacific a naval force to make any enemy trouble. Those 16 ships carry 908 guns, of which 362 belong to the main batteries. There are 18 12-inch guns and 48 12-inch. But these 16 fighters are not all. The sister ships Tennessee and Washington started around the Horn in October, and when Admiral Evans' ships get into Pacific waters they will be joined by them and by the Maryland, Pennsylvania, Colorado, West Virginia, California and South Dakota. This will bring the total number of guns up to 1653. It will make the strength of the main batteries 576 guns.

Cruise a Recognition of West.
Even if there is no war, it is improbable that the people of the Atlantic seaboard will see the battleships for a long time. The extent of the preparations, so far as they have come to light, indicate that the voyage around the Horn is only the beginning. Quite possibly the greater part of this fleet will be left permanently in the Pacific. Perhaps it will go into Asiatic water and then complete its circumnavigation of the globe.

The one sure thing is that this great gathering of Uncle Sam's fighting ships constitutes a recognition of the importance of the Pacific. For once a president from the eastern part of the country has been big enough to see over the Alleghenies and he has beheld the great Pacific Coast, almost unprotected. He has seen, too, the ocean beyond, upon which will be fought battles, if Uncle Sam has to fight again. There, in the distant Philippines, in far-away Hawaii, are the points against which an enemy's first blows are sure to be delivered, and Theodore Roosevelt does not propose to leave those weak spots to take care of themselves. If the constitution follows the flag, so do the battleships according to Roosevelt's way of thinking.

When those 16 mighty battleships leave Hampton Roads, Dec. 16, it will be a big national event. President Roosevelt, on the deck of the Mayflower, will say "delighted" many many times, and the great guns will boom back "delighted" in tones of thunder.

The president will reach the fleet in Hampton Roads about 8 o'clock on the morning of Dec. 16, and as the Mayflower carries him within signaling distance, every ship will greet him with 21 guns—the national salute. Then the flag officers and captains will go aboard the Mayflower and extend their greetings, after which the fleet will get underway.

The Mayflower will lead the way until she reaches a point near the entrance of the Roads. Then she will veer off to one side, allowing the fleet to pass. The battleships will pass in review in single column. The jacks, many of whom have never had a whiff of salt water before, will "man the rail," as the navy officers say. That is, they will all stand on deck at attention, crowding close to the rail, where the president can see them.

As each battleship gets just beyond the Mayflower, it will thunder its farewell in 21 mighty peals to President Roosevelt and to the nation.

This photo of the battleship Connecticut, which will be Admiral Evans' flagship on the wonderful voyage to the Pacific, was taken a few days ago at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

MARKET MAKES GRATIFYING RECOVERY

So Says Henry Clews, the Wall Street Sage—Stocks
Up 10 Per Cent.

New York, Dec. 10.—Another week of gratifying recovery has been experienced, and since the panic security values show an advance of 10 points and over on the leading issues. In bonds, as well as stocks, there have been substantial gains, and the whole drift of the financial situation shows genuine recuperation. The premium on currency is gradually disappearing and call money is becoming more and more easy, having touched as low as 3 per cent during the week. Time money is scarce at 10 to 12 per cent for short dates; not so much in any deficiency in supply, as in the conservative attitude of the banks, which are still obliged to exercise caution in the granting of loans. Gradually, but surely, the money market is working back to normal conditions. The disposition to hoard is abating and bank reserves are rising, having been materially assisted by the engagement of about $100,000,000 of gold, the bulk of which has already arrived. Fortunately our interior banks are rapidly getting over their fright now that the situation in New York is improving, and within a few weeks money will probably be abundant, and much easier than at present. There is no lack of currency. The amount of circulation on November 30th was $2,876,000,000, an increase of nearly $132,000,000 within the month, and $139,000,000 within twelve months. This is a circulation per capita of $34.71 compared with $32.42 a year ago. Of the increase in circulation during November $68,000,000 was in gold coin and $65,000,000 in bank notes. November was thus a month of unusual expansion in currency. Considering the lessened volume of business and the lower prices at which it is being transacted, it is evident that the money market is rapidly running into a condition of monetary redundancy; a fact which has been wisely recognized by the government and is reflected in its decision to modify its emergency relief measures. It is now believed that Mr. Cortelyou will not issue more than $25,000,000 of Panama bonds, and that the issue of new certificates will not exceed $15,000,000, or a total of about $40,000,000 for both classes of securities, instead of $150,000,000 as originally intended. From all parts of the country there come reports of steady improvement in the money situation, and it is confidently believed that the complete resumption of specie payment is only a matter of comparatively short period.

Hopeful Feeling Manifested.
There has been a distinctly more hopeful feeling in stock exchange circles; although, following the rapid advance last week, more or less realizing is about due. Speculative operations are, of course, restricted and likely to be until interest rates decline to a more normal level. Thus far the revival has been quicker and more complete than was anticipated. Buying power is of necessity limited, and time will be necessary for further recuperation. Now that the disturbances have subsided in Wall Street, general business is also recovering from the shock administered last October. Mills temporarily shut down owing to the monetary stringency are restarting, and merchants are conducting their operations extending into the future with visibly greater confidence than a month ago. It is not to be expected that business will go back to the old scale of activity and profits. Nevertheless, business conditions are generally sound; and we now see no reasons for serious apprehension in this respect. Quite possibly further decline in the commodity markets will have to be experienced, and this will prove inconvenient to concerns already overextended; but no more complete than was anticipated. The assumption of the necessity of life seems probable, and the reaction will fall chiefly upon what may be classed as luxuries, which are largely obtained from abroad and already show a marked decline in importations. A shrinkage in imports, however, under present conditions will not be harmful, since it promises to be accompanied by free exports and will, therefore, assist us in retaining as much of the foreign gold recently imported as seems desirable. We have still as a backbone an unusual degree of prosperity amongst our farm classes. Corn, cotton, and nearly all agricultural products continue

"WAY DOWN EAST" FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

"Way Down East" is a descriptive story of New England farm life, exemplified in its quaint and homely characters, set out in bold relief against a background of rustic homeliness and simplicity. The play, although as familiar as any play possibly can be, from its having been before the public so many years is seemingly still as well anticipated as though comparatively a new vehicle.

Mr. Brady is sending one of the best quartets he has ever had in the show this season, and the good old-time songs that one hears only when "Way Down East" comes around will be rendered from the corner of the porch by the berry pickers after finishing the toll of the day. It is not difficult to account for the phenomenal popularity of "Way Down East." It is a story of plain people, telling an everyday tale, with the ingredients of sunshine and laughter clouds and so deftly dramatized and so splendidly acted that it is liable to be played for years to come to the same high appreciation that continues to mark its course in the greatest theaters in the country.

to bring good prices to the grower and this it should not be forgotten is a strong element of support. There is little doubt but that the strong financial condition of our agricultural sections resulting from a long series of profitable harvests, not only has much to do with the boom which has elapsed, but is now providing the end of from extreme effects of that collapse. Secretary Wilson estimates that our farmers produced crops this year valued at $7,412,200,000, an amount 10 per cent greater than the total for 1906; 17 per cent greater than 1905; 20 per cent greater than 1904, and 57 per cent above 1899. These records are, of course, in values and not quantities. Nevertheless, they show that the American farmer is in an exceptionally strong financial condition, and this has unquestionably greatly mitigated the effects of the panic.

Elastic Currency Advocated.
My preference is for a scientific and elastic currency system based upon bank assets, or something like the following to provide for periods of great money demands: Authorize national banks to increase their circulation to be called emergency circulation to the extent of say, 20 per cent of their paid up capital, but only upon approved savings bank certificates, to be deposited with the controller of the currency and to be taxed to such an extent as to compel the speedy return and cancellation of such notes when the business needs no longer exist for the additional currency. In the event of congress failing to provide an elastic quality to our currency system, as an alternative, I suggest the following:

The government to issue emergency notes, not to exceed $100,000,000 during periods of great panic, and to have as reserve, these emergency notes to draw two per cent interest and have six months to run, subject to renewal for an additional three to six months at the discretion of the secretary of treasury, by consent of the president. Such a measure of relief would work like the Bank of England's note issue. Such a bank will never be acceptable to the national banks now existing, as it would diminish all of them. The jealousy of bank officials would cause them to exert their influence against such a measure meeting with congressional favor.

CHAVES DECLINES PROFFERED POSITION

Says His Business Interests Will Prevent His Acceptance—Llewellyn's Resignation Has Not Been Accepted.

Attorney Amado Chaves, who was recently offered the position of surveyor general of New Mexico to succeed Morgan O. Llewellyn, today announced his decision not to accept. Mr. Chaves gives business as his reason for not accepting.

When seen this afternoon, Mr. Chaves said: "While I am greatly interested in various projects for the development of the valley of the Rio Grande and other portions of the territory, after consultation with my business associates I have decided that I cannot afford to abandon my private business for the purpose of taking any office that may be offered me. I have requested the secretary of the interior not to consider me as a candidate for the position. As a matter of fact, I am informed no vacancy exists, and it is not known that the present incumbent intends to resign."

Mr. Chaves' friends recommended him for the position in case Mr. Llewellyn's resignation should be accepted.

STATEHOOD BILL IS INTRODUCED IN SENATE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 10.—(Special)—Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, introduced House Resolution No. 4, the New Mexico statehood bill in the senate today.

A number of New Mexico people were present, among them Solomon Luna, of Los Lunas. The bill was accepted with noticeable interest and the indications are that it will receive as much if not more favorable attention than the joint statehood bill was given at the last session of congress. All the western senators have pledged themselves in favor of the passage of the bill with a few alterations.

OVERCOAT style is just as important as suit style; some say more important. You're seen in public in your overcoat.

Better have it right; we've the Hart Shaffner & Marx overcoats to show you, and if you care how you look in public, you'd better see them.

We show here the the box-back style; its dignified and very dressy. We have other styles for other tastes.

Plenty of H. S. & M. Suits too.
