MILITARY INSTITUTE IS CREDIT TO SCHOOL SYSTEM

Cadets Drill Like Regular Soldiers and Must Be Proficient in Their Studies as at West Point.

DRESS PARADE PLEASED GOVERNOR CURRY GREATLY

Told Boys When They Wanted to Enter Army Service of Country He Would Aid Them in Every Way—Little Chaps Handle Big Guns With Ease.

One of the best institutions in the country and one of which New Mexico has more than ordinary cause to be proud, is the New Mexico Military Institute, located near Roswell, where a battalion of young men are now undergoing a training which should make them fitted for an occupation in life.

On his trip to the Pecos valley, Governor Curry, whose son is a member of the cadet corps, reviewed the young soldiers and he was enthusiastic in his praise of the manner in which they executed the difficult ceremony of dress parade. And the boys deserved it every word, as did their officers and instructors, a picked corps of men who have put their whole hearts into the task of making bright, healthy men out of all sorts of boys of conditions and temperaments.

Make Splendid Appearance.
There is a difficult task and it is greatly to their credit that the boys at the Military Institute are one of the best looking corps of students to be found in the southwest both from a military and a business standpoint. The boys besides making steady progress with their studies in all branches execute the most difficult tactics with the precision and dignity of regular soldiers in the standing army.

No prettier sight could have been presented than the dress parade given by the cadets on the bright crisp morning that the governor and his party reviewed the battalion. The boys were taken unawares; they did not know that they were to parade before the governor until a bugle call assembled them post haste on the parade grounds of their officers. They were ordered by their officers to drop studies, break for quarters and reappear instantly if not sooner, with clean collars, clean faces a commander officer led the band. There were boys in the cadet ranks—little shavers—who did not look as though they could "shoulder arms" with the big regulation rifles of the government service.

Are Born Soldiers.

But as the companies came into line the little fellows brought down their guns with a cadence that would have made a regular soldier proud. "How do those little fellows handle those big guns?" asked a spectator. "Those little chaps have muscles like iron," said one of the officers. "They can swing those guns around all day and won't seem to get tired. Within an hour after we get them, they are hardened to the Pacific islands if they desired to live a military life. The boys gave three rousing cheers for the governor as they marched off the parade ground. Governor Curry then shook hands with the officers and spoke a few words to each. The institute is growing. At the beginning of the present school year nearly a hundred applicants were turned away because the facilities of work and develop more than the leader was absent from the post and older boys.

After dress parade, the boys returned in a short time in flannel shirts and trousers to go through some of the drills which give them the brawn as well as the brain. Then the spectators learned how it was that the little shavers did not mind the big guns.

The governor and his party were escorted through the mess hall, the quarters and the study buildings. Everywhere the same uniform neatness and cleanliness prevailed.

The boys are taught to keep everything in order and to keep their effects where they belong. When an officer spoke to one of the boys, he received a prompt and courteous salute and the young soldier stood at attention. A visitor addressing a cadet received the same courtesy.

There is no distinction. The governor's son, when the father spoke to him, came to attention and saluted just as did the other members of the corps. Like Their Superiors.
The boys were asked about their instructors. They like Col. James W. Willson, their commandant. Every boy had a good word for him. They liked their drill masters, their instructors and athletic coaches. The boys, while under the strictest discipline, have learned to know that those above them observe just as religiously the same code, and they fall into it just as naturally as though they had been at it all their

the school were not sufficient to care for them.

More Buildings Needed.
After dress parade, more ground should be secured as soon as possible, and in fact the school should be doubled in every respect. The military school of this territory is a miniature West Point and the people cannot expend money to a better purpose than to build up this institution, which means so much for the young men of each generation.

As Col. Willson said, the youngster takes to military life like a duck takes to water, and when such an inclination is directed carefully by a corps of instructors and tacticians such as has charge of the New Mexico Military Institute, the school becomes the greatest factor for good among the students of any institution in the educational line. While it trains the mind, it adds physical strength, grace and above all a manly self reliance coupled with obedience to orders, which is the type of American this country needs in days of peace and in days of war.

The institute is surrounded by fine drives, a beautiful little park and a wide, well kept parade ground. It is the ideal place for the boy of the southwest and the next legislature should make provisions ample to cover its needs.

Those in Charge.
The officers and instructors of the school who have so successfully directed the cadets are as follows:

NO CHARGES AGAINST GOVERNOR CURRY

His Appointment Will Be Confirmed Not Later Than January 7—Governor Receives Official Dispatch.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25. (Special.) Governor Curry of New Mexico will be confirmed by congress January 6 and positively not later than January 7. It is officially stated here that there are no charges against the governor in the senate or any where else. It is understood an attempt was made to reflect on the governor in some quarters but without effect. The governor meets with the approval of congress as does his administration of New Mexico affairs. It is understood telegrams have been sent from here to the governor to that effect.

ROSWELL WANTS HIGH LICENSE FOR ITS SALOONS

Roswell, N. M., Dec. 25.—The majority of the city council, which at its last meeting lowered the saloon license from $2,000 to $1,000 a year is in disfavor with a majority of the people of the city. The big mass meeting held Sunday afternoon adopted resolutions asking the council to rescind its action. On refusal, the ministers of the city and the prohibition party, say they will at once begin a total prohibition campaign.

HENEY MIXING IN WASHINGTON MATTERS

Washington, Dec. 25.—It was authoritatively announced at the White House today that Francis J. Heney, special attorney for the government under the department of justice has not, as alleged, recommended to the president the renomination of Chas. W. C. Bristol as United States attorney for Oregon. "The fact is" it was stated, "Heney acquiesced in the removal of Bristol and said Bristol's conduct left no other alternative."

COLORADO SWEEP BY A HURRICANE

ERIE RAILROAD WILL FIGHT NEW YORK CENTRAL

February Rate Sheet Will Reduce Fare From Chicago to Gotham.

DISASTROUS RATE WAR PROMISED

Chicago, Dec. 25.—The eastern railroads are on a verge of what promises to be a disastrous passenger rate war.

Yesterday the Erie gave notice of the cancellation of all its eastbound passenger tariffs shown in its Chicago rate sheet.

Notice was also given that on February 1st it would no longer abide by the differential arbitration award of President Louis Tuttle of the Boston & Maine, whereby the New York Central was accorded a rate of $19 between Chicago and New York.

It is expected that when the independent Erie tariff is made public, the first class rates to New York and all points east of Chicago, will be materially reduced.

SECOND THAW TRIAL WILL ECLIPSE FIRST FOR SENSATIONS

A Yonkers Private Detective Declares That White Endeavored to Badger His Rival.

PLOTTED TO BLACKMAIL; HIMSELF THE VICTIM

Sleuth Declares Architect Once Employed An Actress to Decoy Pittsburger to a Beating—Detectives Are Said to Have Kept Alive Hatred.

New York, Dec. 25.—The second trial of Harry Thaw for the killing of Stanford White, which will be begun on January 6, should there be no further delays, will give the public a more thorough understanding of the relations which existed between the two suitors of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw.

How great was the bitterness between Stanford White and Harry Thaw, who is now awaiting his second trial for the killing of the famous architect, was revealed yesterday by Frederick S. Drew Hughes, a private detective Yonkers. Hughes' story is in the possession of Thaw's counsel prior to the beginning of the first trial, but because witnesses necessary to the defense court had left the state it was not possible to get it in evidence.

Stanford White, according to Hughes and the affidavits in the hands of the young millionaire's counsel, planned among one of the last moves he made against Thaw to discredit him through the means of a badger game. White at the time was nearly frantically jealous of Thaw's agents and by reports of watchers in his employ that the Pittsburger was working in conjunction with the district attorney, of fee and Anthony Comstock, of the Society for the Suppression of Vice.

"My motive in making this matter public," said Hughes, "is to see a cleansing of the city of New York of this state. Both White and Thaw were the victims of leeches, who, for the sole purpose of gain, stirred between the two men the hatred which ended in the fatal deed. I am of the opinion, however, that if Thaw had not killed White that White in the end would have been driven by his emotions to slay Thaw."

Planned Badger Game.

"To show to what ends Thaw was driven to offset Thaw I will tell the facts of a planned badger game. In February, 1905, White employed a couple of detectives to shadow and do guard work for him. These two men were the ones who, a little while later were to propose the badger game; the enticing of Thaw to meet a woman, who at the proper time would stand aside to reveal an irate husband or lover, who would pummel him and discredit him with Florence Evelyn Nesbit.

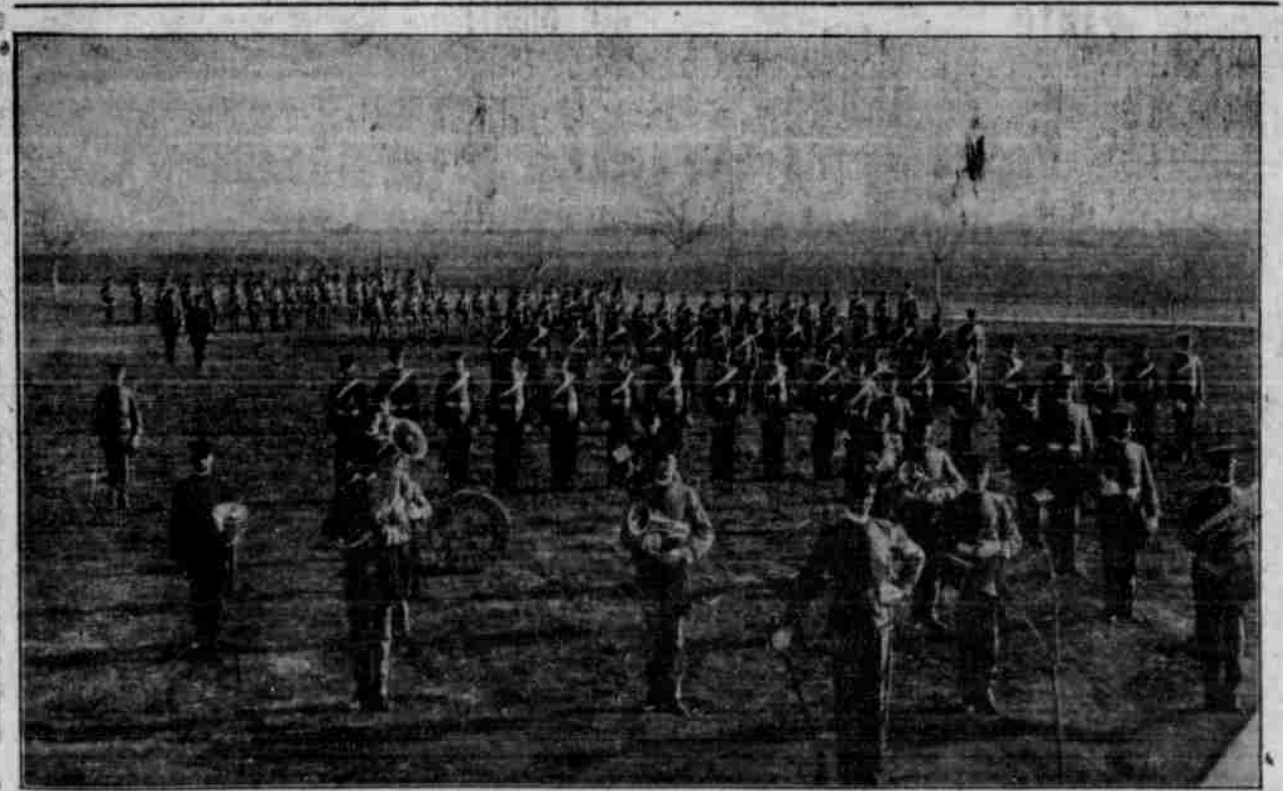

"There is an affidavit in the hands of Thaw's counsel in which one of these men, who, all the time he was in White's employ was betraying him to Thaw, makes this statement: 'White said to me, I don't like to get mixed up in any dirty work, but some friends of mine have warned me that a certain fellow (Thaw) has been circulating some stories about my private life and I am going to take steps to shut his mouth and make him swallow his lies. He is a young cad with more money than brains and, of course, his money is just as good as mine. He is known as a reckless fellow and is jealous of my friendship for a certain lady I was once permitted to help in a professional way.'

"A man in my position must meet lots of opposition of this kind, for I know all the principal theatrical people in the profession, but this is the only case where I ever had any serious trouble threaten me. I can't afford to fight this fellow openly, for it would ruin me and my family. Now, personally, I want you fellows to do this thing up right yourself."

"I am not a rich man, but I would give $10,000 to know this thing would never come to light, and the only way I know is to have him shadowed, and when you get him in the right place have him exposed publicly in such a way that his stock will drop so low that he could not blacken my name and a decent woman would not look him in the face."

Woman Tool Is Found.
At this conversation between White and the two sleuths one of them suggested that he would get a woman to decoy Thaw; some well actress with a lover or jealous husband in the background. When White heard this he said he would think the matter over. A month later March 19, an actress had been found who was willing to lead Thaw into a trap. She was in need of money, and she got her price—$200. He full dress uniforms and arms.

Fire Salute to Gov. Curry.
As the big automobiles entered the grounds of the institute, a field piece was wheeled out to the parade ground, unlimbered quickly and one by one, thirteen guns boomed a salute to the chief executive.

With military promptness the companies formed and with the cadet band in the lead, the ceremony of dress parade was begun. The boys obeyed the commands of their officers with the precision of soldiers hardened by campaign.

Every difficult maneuver was executed in a soldierly fashion and not a single error was observed by the critical eye of the governor, whose reputation was gained in military service.

So suddenly had come the summons to dress parade that the band lives. The little fellows take great pride in trying to out-drill the larger boys, and this rivalry is encouraged by the officers. It is for the "good of the service."

Governor Curry in addressing the boys said that he would do everything he could to aid them in securing army or Philippine constabulary commissions upon their graduations, if they wanted to continue in military life.

Nearly all of the boys speak Spanish fluently, and there are a number of native boys in the corps. The governor pointed out to them the great advantage of being able to use the Spanish language in conjunction with their military knowledge, and he said they all had a great opportunity to elevate themselves to high positions in the army service in the

COL. AINSWORTH LOSES BEST SUIT

A Valuable Prize Dog Also Destroyed by Fire at Seligman.

Friday morning the house occupied by M. C. Jolly and Gui Nall in Seligman, caught on fire and was burned to the ground with its entire contents, including Mr. Jolly's prize dog "Dick," three revolvers, two shotguns, a rifle and a suit case containing Judge G. A. Ainsworth's suit of clothes, besides many valuable articles of furniture in the building, says the Prescott Journal Miner. The cause of the fire is unknown. The fire appears to have started from a defective fuse. The loss is estimated at $1,500. It was not learned whether there was any insurance on the building.

The place caught on fire after the occupants of the building left for their daily employment about 9 o'clock in the morning. When the alarm sounded the volunteer fire department rushed to the place, but the fire had gained such headway that all efforts to stay its progress were futile.

Mr. Ainsworth arrived in the early morning from his gardens on Walnut creek with a load of choice vegetables. He intended to attend a social function that night and left his suit case in the building in the care of the occupants, who are his personal friends. The suit case contained his society suit as well as many toilet articles of value, the loss of which he now mourns. Mr. Jolly's faithful dog was also left on the inside by mistake when the doors were closed. He too, perished in the flames before aid arrived.

Because it's the evidence of an Albuquerque citizen. Testimony easily investigated. The strongest endorsement of merit.

The best proof. Read it: J. M. Parker, living at 317 South Fourth street, Albuquerque, N. M., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are entitled to the strongest praise I can give them. I never placed much faith in patent medicines, but I saw I have derived more good from Doan's Kidney Pills than I supposed it would be possible for me to get from any kind of medicine or treatment. Several years ago I began to notice indications of kidney complaint. A year ago my condition reached the state where I was an almost constant sufferer from pain in my back and trouble of an alarming nature existed with the kidney secretions. On one occasion the kidney secretions stopped altogether and I had to have a physician draw it from me. At that time I was employed as a locomotive engineer and had to give up this work, as the jar of the engine made the pain in my back beyond endurance. I suffered from pain across my hips and in both sides over my hips that I would have to sit down in a chair and lean my back against something to support it. At night after I would retire I would not sleep any more than an hour before the pain would wake me; then I would have to sit up in bed and bend over in order to get relief. The kidney secretions were very profuse, and what added to my misery was a burning, scalding sensation which accompanied the secretions. About three months ago I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a supply. In a short time every difficulty was corrected and I have no trouble at all with my back and kidneys now. I am as well and strong as ever and am certain that I could take up the work that I had to give up, and could do it without any trouble. On occasions without number I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills, and whatever I can say for them will always afford me pleasure."

PULLMAN DEFIES THE FEDERAL COURTS

Denies That Government Has
Right to Enquire into 20
Per Cent Dividends.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 25.—Because of the unreasonable rates charged and the abnormal revenue resulting, the Pullman company is so powerful that it now controls the sleeping car business of the United States, and is so arrogant that it denies the right and power of the government to inquire into its earnings and regulate its business.

The foregoing statement is embodied in an amendment to the complaint which James Manahan, attorney for George S. Loftus, is about to file with the Interstate Commerce commission against the Pullman company, in the case which was heard here yesterday by Examiner Marble for the Interstate Commerce commission. Mr. Loftus has decided to make the case against the Pullman company broad enough to cover its rates all over the country. The complaint states that Pullman company increased its capital stock in forty years from $1,000,000 to $100,000,000. This was secured, it is alleged from the earnings of the company, which are declared illegal, unfair, extortionate, unreasonable, unjust and exorbitant.

In the last ten years, according to the complaint, the company has declared an average annual dividend of 20 per cent on an actual investment of $28,800,000. The annual statement of the company to the stockholders in 1906 shows that it owned 1650 sleeping cars, valued including equipment and franchise, at $24,248,793.22, or less than $15,000 per car. These cars, old and new, idle and in operation, earned that year in the aggregate, as shown by this statement, $8,761,234.98 or $5280.20 per car. During that year 5,282,323 passengers were carried, at an average of $1.56 each. The last annual statement of the company shows that during the year ending July 21, 1907, the company carried 18,020,397 passengers. The total revenue was $32,186,018, being a fraction over $1.78 per passenger.

HARRIMAN LINES ARE GETTING TOGETHER

Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 25.—It is reported that the several railroad lines in Arizona and Mexico, owned by the Southern Pacific company, but now operated as separate properties, are to be consolidated under one management and that the headquarters for the merged system will be located at Nogales. Col. Epes Randolph is nominally the directing head of these several properties at this time, but their active operation is in the hands of superintendents.

The roads involved in the proposed merger are the Phoenix and Eastern, which runs between Tempe and Winkelman, a distance of 96 miles; the Maricopa and Phoenix, including the branch to Mesa, a total length of 42 miles; the Gila Valley, Globe and Northern, between Bowie and Globe, 125 miles; the Arizona and Colorado, between Pearce and Cactus, 19 miles; the Sonora, line between Nogales and Guaymas, Mexico, 255 miles, and the Cananea, Yaqui River and Pacific, which is being built south from Guaymas to Guadalajara, a distance of about 800 miles, and with branch lines to Naco and from Naco to Nogales.

The Southwestern railroad is defendant in a damage suit for $34,500 filed this morning in the district court. The plaintiffs are Wm. Elchel and Adam Weikel, contractors, doing business in Indiana, who assert that a contract for making ballast for the railroad in New Mexico was broken.

The Play That Drew Lincoln to His Death Revived at the Capital

E. H. SOTHERN, THE YOUNGER.

Washington, Dec. 25.—Those of the older generation of Washington residents have had the old days brought back with striking effect by the revival of "Our American Cousin," the play which was running at the old Ford theater when President Lincoln was shot. Until this revival it had not been reproduced since the night of the assassination.

Singularly enough, it was revived on the spot where a similar attempt was made on the life of Secretary Seward. The Belasco theater, in which the play is staged, is built on the site of the old Seward mansion, facing Lafayette square.

The character of Lord Dundreary, the humorous lord, made the elder Sothern famous, and the son is scoring a complete success in the role, although the graybeards tell their children they "ought to have seen the elder Sothern in Lord Dundreary."

President Roosevelt was a notable figure in an exceptionally brilliant audience the opening night. It was particularly an occasion for an outpouring of official Washington.

HE DID SERVICE WITH KIT CARSON

Captain Smith A. Simpson,
Oldest of Living Indian
Scouts of New Mexico.

Of the surviving scouts and Indian fighters few are more widely renowned than Captain Smith A. Simpson, of Cimarron, the friend and associate of Kit Carson and Aloys Scheurich. Capt. Simpson was born in New York City in 1833 and came over to New Mexico in 1862, when 29 years of age and settled in Taos county when that county embraced what is now Colfax county and very much more. He served through the Ute and Apache wars, spent a year as government express rider, went to old Mexico and mixed up in many revolutions, and then returned to the United States to fight the Apaches. As captain in the American army, he was the main agent in the taming of the Apaches in Arizona where he came in close contact with King Wolsley of Prescott, an unsung hero of the border who did more than any other individual to prevent the entire extermination of the whites in Arizona in the 60's. One of the memorable Indian fights that Simpson recalls occurred in 1864 on the very ground where the thriving mining camp of Globe now stands. King Wolsley with about eighty miners and mountaineers, had run into several times their number of Apache Indians. Finding the savages too strong he sent to Capt. Simpson, 160 miles away, for help. Wolsley managed to keep off the savages until Simpson's arrival with the much needed aid. Then the two combined their forces and went in to win. After a hard fight the Indians were routed, leaving many dead and two braves and one squaw prisoners. The position of the Indians had been admirable from a defensive standpoint—almost inaccessible and well supplied with water, although there was no other water within thirty miles. It was plain that this would always be a retreat and lurking place for the savages, unless something was done to keep them away. It is a well known fact that the Apaches will never make their camp in a place where any of their number have been hanged. Being an army officer, Simpson could not openly countenance the hanging of prisoners. So he turned them over to Wolsley, and hastened away. Wolsley turned the squaw loose and hanged the braves to the nearest tree. It was "good business" as the Apaches ever after shunned the spot. Capt. Simpson was the friend and associate of Kit Carson and L. B. Maxwell when they lived in Cimarron. They all three used to go fishing and hunting together, and the fact, were boon companions. Cpt. Simpson resigned from the army in 1876 and returned to Taos where he has continued to reside, excepting for occasional expeditions as long as there was any demand for services of that kind. He can now and then be seen riding through Cimarron in going to and from other parts of the territory. He is well preserved at 74 years of age for one who has seen so much of the rough side of life; still strong and vigorous and it is pleasing to his many friends to see that he is able to pass the evening of life so delightful among his children and grandchildren.

"BUSTER BROWN"

Of "Buster Brown," which will hold the stage of the Elks theater next Monday night Dec. 30 it is said that its charm lies in its bright lines, catchy songs, clever dances and the complete absence of anything approaching the coarse or vulgar. For these reasons it has commended itself to the theater-going public which has been most kind and generous in its support. To retain this and if possible add to it, the managers of "Buster Brown" have been most lavish in their outlay of money in an effort to make it even more attractive than it has been in the past. Unusual care has been exercised in the selection of this season's company both as to principals and chorus with the result that the critics of other cities have written that the performance of "Buster Brown" as now being given is the best that it has ever received. The company includes Master Rice whose inimitable portrayal of "Buster" has won for him a host of admirers, large and small. Nellie V. Nichols who has been prominently associated with a number of the higher class musical comedies, will be seen as "Susie Sweet." Dainty Lella Cantina in the cast are Beatrice Flint, Mamie Goodrich, Lizzie Goode, E. Golt, Albertson, Percy Walling, Roger Gray and George Yeoman in addition to which there is a chorus of forty singers and dancers of the specialties that are introduced the leading one is the Hughes Musical Trio, vaudeville headliners.

"THE BURGOMASTER"

Our local amusement managers are quite busy at present arranging their "menu" for the season of 1907-08. Of all the first class attractions scheduled to appear at the Elks' opera house none will be welcomed more generously than "The Burgomaster," with those sterling favorite originals, Gus Weinburg in the title role and Ruth White as Willie Van Astorblit. Pixley and Luder have written many musical successes, namely, "Prince of Posen," "King Dodo," "Woodland" and "Grand Mogul," but it was in the greatest of all these, "The Burgomaster," that they scored their first great and everlasting triumph. The present season's offering is the new edition of this musical masterpiece, and Manager Wm. P. Cullen has given it a sumptuous mounting.

"A ROYAL SLAVE"

There is something in the character of a newspaper correspondent as he is shown on the stage that is irresistibly attractive. He is always breezy, humorous, Bohemian, ready for fun, work or any old thing that comes along. In Clarence Bennett's correspondent who not only gets "A Royal Slave," which will be seen at the Elks' opera house there is a lot of trouble and then other people in trouble and finally gets the dainty dancing girl as well. Coming January 4.

"RED FEATHER"

Now for a real comic opera with a score of superior worth artists who can sing, and a conductor to bring out the beauties of the composition. For libretto, a story that is tangible and meriting consideration has been supplied by the author. It is "Red Feather," the gorgeous Ziegfeld opera company production of Reginald DeKoven and Charles Klein's romantic comic opera that will be the attraction at the Elks' opera house New Year's night.

The company that Manager Jos. M. Gaites has organized with Cheri-dah Simpson at the head, numbers seventy-five people. The production is said to be most lavish and the costumes sumptuous. The countess Hilda von Draga, the story goes, is engaged in a plot to place a pretender upon the throne of Romania. The pretender needs funds and the lady to aid him takes to the road in male attire and becomes the redoubtable highwayman, Red Feather. The captain of the Royal Guards, who is Hilda's lover, is compelled by the crown prince, also in love with the countess, to attempt the capture of Red Feather, not knowing the connection between the bandit and his sweetheart. In the end the captain captures Red Feather and answers for the future good behavior of the masquerader by wedding the countess. At the same time the pretender wins the throne, the crown prince who is the villain of the tale, is foiled and all ends happily. A feature of the local engagement will be an augmented orchestra.

Christmas

Today is Christmas. The spirit of the occasion is all around; you hear it on every side "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

In many homes there are new born babes—babes not yet a year old. In many cemeteries there are new made graves—graves upon which the grass of a year has not yet grown.

There have been the same joys, the same sorrows, the same blessings, the same sins and the same old monotonies of human existence this year as last.

And today is a mighty good day to look back over it all regardless of whether or not you believe the Scriptures or whether you believe with Confucius, Mohammed, Ingersoll or don't believe with any one at all.

Christmas—when every one greets you with a smile and a handshake with greetings of friendship and forgiveness—is a time of "Peace on Earth to men of good will."

Those words carry a whole lot with them. They have become sacred in every time and among millions of people. Today choirs sing them, ministers preach them, and some of us—at least—out of the fullness of our hearts feel in them all they say.

The old world has changed a lot since the helpless infant savior was born in the manger at Bethlehem. The simplicity of those days has given way to our complex civilization, to our complex beliefs and our strenuous lives. But today even if we seldom go to church at all, most of us will be found there and most of us after our fashion, bow down our heads to a higher being.

Many hungry are fed today by charitable hands, many sad to say, face the gladsome Christmas tide in dire need. But take it all in all, if the old world is ever better, it is upon Christmas day.

Every minister who speaks today puts his heart into his words if ever he does. Every one who kneels to pray today, prays from the heart if ever he does. Every one who does a kindly act today, does it from the heart and with real good will, if ever he does.

And so the Christmas season—Christmas day—is with us once more and though the past year has left with us its joys or sorrows, its blessings or its sins, we all do the conventional thing and say "Merry Christmas."

But conventional though it is, it comes from the heart and makes the day brighter and better for thousands and thousands of us all over the great big round globe. To its many readers The Citizen extends the greetings of the season.

It's a Good Move

The meeting called for Friday night by local business men for the purpose of conducting a trade excursion into the country adjoining the Belen cut-off and the Pecos valley, is a move in the right direction.

It should be carried through to completion in as short a time as possible. Other cities and towns are already in the field and we must hustle if we want to keep up with the procession.

There is no richer trade field in the southwest than the one just opened up by the Santa Fe's new line and every dollar expended by our local business men to bring that trade to this city will come back an hundred fold and better. One who has not yet made the trip over the cut-off can not realize that there are now thousands of prosperous farmers all along the line raising crops on what was considered range a few years ago.

These men are progressive Americans and they are here to stay. It is past the time now when we can doubt the success of dry farming in a country where the average rainfall is over twenty inches. The farmers of Roosevelt and Quay counties are already established and within a few years the land they have homesteaded will be worth forty and fifty dollars an acre. Some of it can not be bought for that today. The men in that district are not paupers seeking a living. They are well-equipped farmers, who sold good lands in Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma to come to New Mexico and farm on a larger scale.

Their trade amounts to as much as we now receive from the Rio Grande valley and when we consider that from Texico north, Albuquerque is the logical place for them to trade, it is apparent that we ought to make every effort in our power to induce them to come here.

It is to be hoped that the business men at the meeting Friday night will evolve plans to go up this trade and the friendship of the men who are going to make themselves felt in New Mexico affairs from this day on.

Governor Curry, if an attempt is made to hold up his confirmation by New Mexicans bringing up stories of his frontier days, ought to go to Washington and take along a few samples of his opponents for congress to see. They would be mighty poor arguments for statehood, but they would be most interesting specimens as mere exhibits of human trouble makers, which is all the good they do New Mexico.

After his failure in the book publishing line Mark Twain said the right principle in business is to put all your eggs in one basket and watch the basket. Now he is in trouble about an investment in a breakfast food. Mr. Twain forgot to stick to eggs, the maternal sheet anchor.

It is said that since Weston made his famous walk, there are all sorts of Weston clubs being organized in Chicago and elsewhere which is hurting street car traffic. The only recourse the street car companies have, is to organize the ancient order of strap hangers in Chicago.

King Alfonso of Spain has refused to allow one of his generals to marry an American girl because she did not have rank, title or money. After all, some American girls are just born lucky.

They say that while Funston couldn't swim a river at Goldfield, there being none, the attitude of the president on the troop business made his head swim.

Theoretically, the democratic party claims to be opposed to the one-man power. At the Denver convention it will show that it is absolutely dominated by one man and is unable to offer resistance to anything he proposes.

The imports and exports for the fiscal year broke all records, according to the bureau of statistics. It can't be proven, but no doubt Albuquerque broke the record on imported eggs.

Among the latest gold arrivals is $1,950,000 from Montevideo. The total stands at over $107,000,000, with more coming, and record exports reaching for it. The currency vacuum is in its last stages.

The New York branch of the Salvation Army will feed 120,000 people today. This is a pretty good army record—better than 120,000 killed on the battlefield.

The Grand Trunk railroad will pension all its employees. Now the only question is whether or not they can live long enough to be pensioned.

While you are speaking of Christmas—just call your eastern friend's attention to the fact that Albuquerque has perfect fall weather and no snow.

Pennsylvania reports a surplus of $12,000,000 and, luckily, is not in need of another imitation mahogany table at the capital.

Mrs. Longworth is well enough to go home after an operation for appendicitis. Merry Christmas Alice.

Talk about Christmas presents. Triplets were born yesterday to a Kansas City family.

A California doctor is dying on cactus. That ought to make him sharp.

LOOKING FOR A GOOD TIME?

There are about as many conceptions as to what constitutes a "good time" as there are individuals, but there is one place in New Mexico, not very far from Albuquerque, where 99 out of every 100 people find what they are looking for. That place is the Valley Ranch, at Pecos, New Mexico. Fresh country, produce in abundance, horses to ride or drive, dogs, guns, traps, tackle, all at your disposal. The finest hunting and fishing in the territory. You can live in a house, a cabin or a tent, and come and go as you please.

You'll find plenty of company there, agreeable and refined, if you are sociably inclined, a favorite resort for ladies. Conditions ideal for recuperating, reading, hunting or loafing.

You CAN'T SPEND MORE THAN NINE DOLLARS A WEEK ANY WAY YOU FIX IT. Inquire at The Citizen Office for further particulars, or address The Valley Ranch.

No other food deteriorates so rapidly as the Oyster. Its habitat is the ocean. It requires coolness and absolute freedom from exposure to the air in order to retain its delicate flavor and its wholesomeness. SEALSHIP OYSTERS are brought direct to us from the choicest beds of America. They are shucked into porcelain cases, sealed and packed in ice, which never comes in contact with the oysters. The use of the Sealship carrier is the secret of their superiority.

George E. Brewer, the insurance adjuster of this city, has been in Santa Fe to settle the losses sustained in the Laughlin block, and a settlement satisfactory to all parties has been made. The total damage has been adjusted by the payment of the several fire insurance companies interested of a trifling loss than $8,000. Edward Ehle, proprietor of the Ehle's haberdashery, settled the loss sustained by him at $4,500. The United States Bank & Trust company settled $1,800 for the loss on its fixtures, and Judge N. B. Laughlin at $1,600 for the damage to the building itself. The damage to the building was appraised by John A. Laughlin, of Trinidad, Colo., the contractor who built the business block.

THE CUB'S CORNER

The Christmas Eve Story.

Every year on nearly all large city newspapers it falls to the lot of some reporter to write the Christmas Eve story. He takes his notebook and goes out along the crowded streets, past the gayly lighted windows, mingling with the throngs of Christmas shoppers. He notes the dashing damage to the building itself. The damage to the building was appraised by John A. Laughlin, of Trinidad, Colo., the contractor who built the business block.

With smiles and eyes lighted with anticipation of Christmas cheer.

Occasionally he pauses before the window of a toy shop absorbed in watching the grimy little hands and the pinched faces pressed against the glass—that cruel glass that separates those mean starved little lives from the wonders of "toyland—joyland." And then, being a reporter, with the improvidence of his kind, the chances are he will slip his last quarter into one of the grimy little hands, and borrow from the editor again for his lunch.

He notes carefully the abashed young man vainly endeavoring to choose the first gift for his new fiance, and the thoughtful papa buying the first rattle for Baby Edgar. Envy him both, he turns away to watch a fat lady struggling through a list of ten children, a care-worn husband in tow, vainly trying to compass all bundles.

Being an imaginative young man, he will turn out a column redolent with Christmas cheer that old and young will read with pleasure, glad that they are part of the army of good St. Nics, and silently blessing the cheerful young man whose trenchant pen has epitomized for them the spirit of the modern Christmas.

For this year's modest little Christmas Eve story the reporter would turn to his last year's note book—for two little pictures of Christmas time that have remained through the twelve months.

It was an Christmas morning in the lavish bachelor apartments of an acquaintance. Around the room were stacked a profusion of the season's remembrances, many costly, and all evidencing thoughtful regard for some loved one. But the young man seemed in unusually low spirits. Unhappiness was written on his face.

"What's the matter," the reporter asked, "are you sick?"

"Yes," he answered, "sick of all this," sweeping his arm around the room. "God! Man, I never sent a single thing."

The other scene was laid in a little tent in the Highlands. A party had dropped in to cheer up the health-seeker who lay there, knowing he would be lonely away from his wife and children at Christmas time. But the sympathy was not needed. A cheerful little man welcomed them and then spent the hour agreeably, forgetting they had called on a missionary errand. When the party rose to leave the reporter remained behind.

"Don't mean to be personal," he began, "but you seem mighty cheerful for a man who is away from his wife and children at the one time of the year when most of us like to be at home."

The little man laughed softly. "I have been thinking all day what a good time my kids are having. I had been dreading this Christmas all along. I'm pretty hard up, and I couldn't afford to send the children much, and it worried me. Then I happened to think I knew how to whittle out a lot of toys, and I have been working for a month, and sent them the biggest lot of toys they ever had. I had to pinch a little on my allowance, and it made me pretty tired some night, but just think what a time those kids of mine are having today."

It is not to attempt a "heart interest" story, or emphasize the pathetic side of the unfortunate, that these little incidents are cited, but because they seem to typify the extremes one meets everywhere at Christmas time. It is easy enough to pass the day off as a children's holiday, and a time for feasting and cheer, but down in our hearts we know that it means more than that. We know that Christmas is the one time of the year when we must unbutton, when we must slip out of the shell and drop the mask, and we must lay aside our selfishness and open our hearts—or be miserable. It's the one season when the best time comes only with giving a good time to others, when "it is better to give than to receive." It isn't hard to understand why the young bachelor was miserable—he hadn't even remembered his mother at Christmas time! And it isn't hard to understand why the little man in the tent was happy—the kids back east were having a bully time.

Christmas today will be for you what you make it—for someone else.

WHAT SANTA CLAUS BROUGHT COLONEL HOPEWELL

Six Albuquerque Merchants Add $500 Each to Congress Fund.

Col. W. S. Hopewell, chairman of the board of control of the irrigation congress, hung up his sock before retiring last night expecting that Santa Claus had some handsome gift for the big national irrigation congress. And Santa did. Six of the leading merchants of Albuquerque assured Col. Hopewell that each would contribute $500 toward defraying the expenses of the next irrigation congress. That means $3,000 more toward the congress fund.

"I am not at liberty to make the names public just yet," said Col. Hopewell. "I understand more are going to join the business men and bring the contribution up to something like $5,000, something to be proud of. I will tell who they are then."

CHRISTMAS AT THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

A Christmas day matinee dance is being given by the Commercial club in the club rooms at Gold avenue and Fourth street this afternoon. The rooms are prettily decorated in holly in true Christmas style. The dance began at 3 o'clock.

The committee in charge of the matinee dance is as follows: Leon Hertzog, chairman, Roy Stamm, William White and Dr. Alger.

The club will give a New Year's eve ball Tuesday night and among the guests will be the professors and instructors of the University of New Mexico and the delegates to the meeting of the Geological Society of America.

POST OFFICE CRUSH CAUSES FLOOR TO SINK

Santa Claus Received Very Light Mail—Albuquerque Kids Too Wise.

"No philanthropist asked for Santa Claus mail this year," said Postmaster Hopkins this morning. "But Santa Claus' mail was not heavy; not more than a half dozen letters were received at the Albuquerque postoffice addressed to him and any benevolently inclined person would not have found it hard to act as St. Nicholas' agent in looking after his correspondence."

Postmaster General Myers recently issued an order to postmasters to let people know through the newspapers that mail addressed to Santa Claus would be delivered to any responsible persons who would undertake to act as Santa Claus' agents. Heretofore the department refused requests for the delivery of such letters to philanthropic societies and others.

But the suggestion of Postmaster General Myers did not bear fruit in Albuquerque and the youngsters' requests by mail will go unheeded.

"Young America, especially in Albuquerque, is getting wise," said the postmaster. "Judging from the small number of letters addressed to him this year, I remember a few years ago when Santa Claus letters ran into the hundreds."

People crowded into the back room of the postoffice in such large numbers this morning about 10 o'clock waiting for the distribution of the carrier mail that the floor started to give way under the strain, but the room quickly cleared, avoiding an accident. After that only a few were permitted in the room at a time to get their mail.

The postoffice was open from 10 to 11 this morning and was crowded the whole hour. The force of clerks and letter carriers handled the heavy holiday mail with dispatch and the last of the Christmas parcels will be delivered tomorrow.

sides White was informed that she had no use for 'Florence' and would be happy on that score to do Thaw an injury. Besides the money which White paid her, the woman's wardrobe and jewelry, she had made the arrangements with the actress, was a married man and had children. White did not know this, and so he acquiesced in the proposition that the detective and the woman make themselves conspicuous in public places, so that they would be talked about and let it be established that they were connected.

"Going back to the affidavit of the detective from which I have quoted," White said we were to go slow and sure and when Thaw was in town he would let me follow him and I was to hire another man who could take care of himself in a fight. The fighter who was suggested was an Englishman, who had been under arrest in his own country and who had a reputation as a fighter in Texas. This fighter was employed. He went abroad on the same steamer with White, and later the detective who was planning the badger game with the actress showed the sleuth with whom he was supposed to be working two letters from White. One of these letters mentioned the name 'Florence.' One day in exhibiting one of these letters the affidavit says that this fellow said: 'This is worth $10,000 to me and Bobby White must have been drunk when he wrote it.' 'Bobby' is the actress who was employed to decoy Thaw. About this time he began to wear diamonds and was wont to refer to the gems as 'pure white stones.'

Blackmail Their Employer. "White was abroad two months. He returned early in September, and the detective who makes the affidavit after him for money. White told him he was sick of the whole thing; that he wished to drop it; that the other detectives and the actress whom he had trusted were after him, threatening to go to Thaw and expose the badger scheme. "It was blackmail pure and simple. A little while later the fellow and the woman picked up and went to California. They broke after a time. She turned over a new leaf, and it was reported that she was going to marry a well-to-do Californian. The fellow, who was blackmailing White, wrote to him from San Francisco and got money.

"In the spring of 1906, White had changed greatly. He seemed much older and was very nervous. He expressed the wish to have the whole matter dropped. He went to Canada and did not return until June 10 or 12. But the matter was not dropped. White was informed that it was planned to send a couple of detectives to Pittsburgh to get friendly with Thaw. The affidavit quotes White as saying:

"Be sure of our man this time and get him right if it takes a month. Show the skunk that I can hit when the time is right. I wouldn't sort my hands with the skunk. It is too bad I have to take the law in my own hands. How many men will you need to do him up or lay him out? I have two society friends in Pittsburgh and they tell me they have three good Philadelphia men who will deliver the goods at the right time and you can work the rest."

"All of this was reported to Thaw and colored to suit the purposes of those who told him. The Pittsburgh matter was postponed. Jerome's process servers tried to get the man who made the affidavit. All the time they were looking for him he was working on Long Island. This man swore that when White was informed that Thaw had been to Jerome's office and to see Constock, he exclaimed: 'That fellow ought to be killed for that.' He also claims that White carried a revolver at this time because he saw him take it from his pocket once and put it in a drawer. He regrets the part he played in stirring the hatred between Thaw and White.

He remarks that Thaw ought to be killed was carried to him and he put more detectives to work. They followed him on bicycles, in cars or on foot. They claimed to use cabs,

ALBUQUERQUE TEACHERS GOING AFTER NEXT CONVENTION

Bernalillo County Will Have Largest Representation at Santa Fe Meeting.

About eighty teachers will represent Bernalillo county at the annual meeting of the New Mexico Educational association at Santa Fe, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The teachers will leave tomorrow morning in a body for the territorial capital.

Forty teachers from the Albuquerque schools, more than twenty from the county schools and the rest from the University of New Mexico will make up the party that will represent Bernalillo county, the largest delegation at the educational meeting from a single county in the territory.

The teachers will try to bring the next annual meeting of the association to Albuquerque, to be held the end of the week of the National irrigation congress and Territorial fair. The teachers feel confident of capturing the next convention for this city.

A. B. Stroup, superintendent of the county schools, and W. D. Sterling, superintendent of Albuquerque schools, will head the body of teachers from this city tomorrow morning. More than 250 instructors from over the territory are expected to attend the meeting.

Ten school districts of Bernalillo county are paying their teachers expenses and the school board of Albuquerque decided to continue their teachers' pay through the holidays in preference to paying the expenses of the teachers to the Santa Fe meeting. The holidays pay of the teachers will amount to more than $1,500 which will more than pay all the teachers' expenses.

Miss Alice Schrieber, a student in the high school, will represent this city in an oratorical contest.

The high school girls' glee club will leave for Santa Fe Friday morning to attend the meeting. The glee club is on the program for several selections. The club will return Saturday with the delegation of teachers from this city.

HOW CHRISTMAS IS BEING OBSERVED IN ALBUQUERQUE

Merchants Enjoyed Final Rush—Services at Churches—Society Busy.

Despite all good resolutions to "do it early," and fervent appeals from the Woman's club the churches and the newspapers, Mr. Average Christmas Shopper put off his Christmas buying until the last minute and then if his memory of foot ball scrimmages long ago on the college gridiron hadn't come to his aid, he never would have found his way to the toy counter.

It was the last chance and there was one last grand rush. The stores were crowded early and late last night and the sidewalks were full of belated Christmas shoppers. Messenger boys were kept on the jump and delivery wagons rattled over the streets, loaded to the top with Christmas things, until past midnight.

Most of the stores were cleaned out by the eleventh-hour Christmas buyers and when the rush came to a close, some resembled a piece of Kansas landscape after a cyclone. It was a busy time for the proprietors and their clerks.

Christmas buying has been heavy for a week or more and merchants did not anticipate such a rush, but nevertheless they prepared for it, and the belated shopper, after elbowing through a jam and trodding on other people's toes to get to a toy counter got what they came after.

Christmas day passed quietly in Albuquerque; the city having its usual Sunday appearance. All the stores were closed. Many of the people spent the day in the hills and most of them quietly in their homes. Christmas services in the city churches were largely attended.

Rev. Fletcher Cook, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, delivered a Christmas sermon at 10 o'clock to a large audience. Rev. E. Moser, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, spoke at 11 o'clock at the church on "Our Christmas Gifts to the Christmas Child."

The cantata, "In Winterland," was given at the Congregational church last night and there were Christmas trees and the Methodist Episcopal and Presbyterian churches.

High mass was celebrated at the immaculate Conception church last midnight by Father A. Mandalara. The church was filled to overflowing, many people standing outside through the two hours' service. The altars were decorated with cut flowers, electric lights and candles and a representation of the stables in Bethlehem on the night of the birth of Christ was given. A choir of thirty-two voices sang, accompanied by Di Mauro's orchestra.

although the boast of some of them was that they put in a bill for $72 without ever turning a wheel.

"I think by publicity of these facts that something may be done in the way of either reforming the private detective system in this state or wiping it out of existence. Things of this character are going on constantly and the decent and reputable men carrying on legitimate investigations must bear the brunt of others' wrong doing."

Thanking our friends for a Largely increased trade, we wish you all a

CHICAGO WHEAT PIT IN WILD FRENZY AGAIN

Chicago, Dec. 25.—J. Brandt Walker, prodigal plunger, who recently captured his own $8,000,000 fattest calf in the Wall street stock market and was eluded by his father when he brought his fortune home, is plunging again.

This time he is a central figure in the wild wheat market in Chicago. "Lucky Jim" Patten is said to have chased the fattest calf over into a corner and hewed off large, juicy steaks. According to board of trade reports Walker has been "stung" for about 2,000,000 bushels.

Although he has not previously figured in wheat to any extent, Walker is a "bear." Reports are that he sold short, and when Patten and others began to manipulate the market until wheat went up around $1.05, his brokers bought in his line.

"I believe that prices are going up to $1.25," Patten says. "This is chiefly due to the decrease in the visible supply."

At present the world's stock of wheat, afloat or in the warehouses of Europe and America, is said to be 137,000,000 bushels. This is 31,000,000 bushels less than last year.

Just how much these speculative holdings of breadstuffs have to do with the actual market can be readily seen by comparing a few of the board of trade's own figures. The visible supply of May wheat last year—that is, wheat obtainable for trading purposes—was 32,000,000 bushels. The actual production in the United States for that spring was 242,000,000. Yet, if any one dealer can buy up or control the 32,000,000, he has cornered the market and is able to dictate the prices to every bread eater.

Jas. A. Patten, who is said to be long 10,000,000 bushels, would, if he owned the actual wheat, have control of one-third approximately. Should two of his friends go long to an equal amount, they would have a corner between them.

How trivial a thing may influence the price of speculative wheat was shown in this case, when the bulls forced the prices of May to $1.05 on a report that heavy rains in Argentina had damaged the crop. A few minutes later, an official report came in denying the rains had injured the crop, and prices sagged again.

"The present bulge" said a broker, "has no relation to the supply and demand. It is merely an attempt of one crowd of operators to make the other crowd believe it is going to lose money."

Yet brokers work themselves into a frenzy over the game at the board of trade wheat pit. Coats are torn and hats smashed, toes tread upon and the great floor of the trading room roars from the time the gong sounds until it sounds again. But the farmer doesn't get these fabulous prices. Nor does the bread eater reap any great benefit when prices sag. The only man who gets anything is the broker, who reaps the difference between what he bet and what the other fellow wagered. Daniel C. Wright, an Illinois farmer knew this. He came to Chicago and for a long time gambled in margins. He "made his own trades" on the floor and lost $30,000. Then he testified in court a few days ago that his index were merely bets. That he had no intention of delivering the wheat. Yet Wright began his operations in 1898. He has now been accused by the board of trade directors of "bad faith in testifying that he was gambling," and expelled from the floor.

The Battleship Crews Will Be Served With Roast Turkey, Plum Pudding and Pumpkin Pie.

EACH MAN WILL GET AN APPETIZING "SNIFTER"

Men Dine at Noon and Officers at 6 O'Clock—All Officers of Fleet Will Be Guests of Admiral Evans—A Story By the Commander Himself.

Old Point Comfort, Dec. 25.—A few days before sailing on the trip to the Pacific, Rear Admiral Evans told the following story of how the American sailor spends Christmas:

"On Christmas morning, as I view with pride from my deck the grandeur of the ocean, I thank God that He made three times as much water as land.

"Every old seadog will join me in this. The sea is his home; he loves it as the farmer loves his broad acres. Apart from it he is restless and dissatisfied, but with a voyage of weeks ahead of him he is as happy as a clam at high tide.

"No true sailor would exchange his Christmas holidays at sea for one on shore. It would be like a Thanksgiving dinner without the turkey.

Bullets as Xmas Gifts.

"Of 25 Christmases spent at sea the one which rises before me most vividly is that of 1865, when the federal forces, assisted by the gunboat fleet, were trying to capture Port Fisher.

"That Christmas was a hummer. The only presents we received, and they came fast and furious, were solid shot and shell from the guns of the enemy. Even this didn't destroy our sense of humor.

"The boys would write on each solid shot or shell before placing them in the guns, 'presented by,' and add the name of whatever vessel they happened to be on. Mighty few shells burst at the fort that day lacked this Christmas greeting. All the gunners caught the spirit of the grim sea, for the fighting line is no place for dyspeptics with long faces.

"Despite the excitement of the fierce combat we managed to have the mastsheads of all the ships trimmed with Christmas greens, even though the sailors had to risk their lives in going ashore to get them, and you can not but feel the sentiment of the day was not lost.

Santa Follows Fleet.

"This year Santa Claus will follow the fleet. He will show up just as promptly, and be welcomed just as warmly if we are crossing the equator as he would be were we skirting the coast of Labrador.

"Santa Claus has anticipated our 12,000-mile trip this year and furnished in advance the pick of his best. On board the supply vessels when we sail from Hampton Roads will be thousands of packages containing every imaginable sort of Christmas gift from a whisky flask to a smoking jacket, each package labeled 'Don't open until Christmas.'

"Along with these gifts he is sending thousands of yards of green with which to decorate the mastsheads of the 18 battleships. It would be difficult to imagine a more beautiful and picturesque sight on Christmas morning than these ships lined up, with the sailors swarming the masts putting up the Christmas trimmings with as much zest as the small boys displays when he lights the candles on his Christmas tree.

For Those in Love.

"Then comes the opening of the Christmas packages. This is always a gala occasion. Not a man on board would dare ignore the instructions and open more than his share of globes. It has become an invariable custom through years of faithful observance. Always a bottle of wine is broken in Christmas time, and the loved ones at home.

"It's a popular saying that a sailor has a sweetheart at every port, and any man on board a vessel on Christmas day will confess that every sailor has, at some one port, some fair one who is the girl.

"It is rejuvenating to an old salt to watch these sentimental young officers fondling their dainty presents. But this is telling tales out of school, and if I hadn't been a lieutenant myself, I wouldn't dare give away official secrets. I might add though that the aids are about the only homesick men on board, but and notify members of our families or friends where to meet us.

"A rare experience this year during the holiday week will be the crossing of the equator, which is permissive of Neptune's antics of inflation. The young officer as well as the sailor is liable to get the contents of a tar bucket, or anything else that happens to be handy. It is the one time subordinates lose respect for rank.

"APACHE KID'S" SKULL IN YALE

Chicago Story of the Killing of One of New Mexico's Worst Outlaws.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 25.—Dramatic stories of the death of "Apache Kid," the most notorious outlaw in the southwest, a murderer, thief, horse thief, raider and the terror of Arizona and New Mexico for the last twenty years, who had a government price of $9,000 on his head, are told by Chicagoans.

Though "Apache Kid" was killed September, 1906, having been shot in a last-stand fight in the foothills of Sierra Madre mountains, his fate was kept secret until today. The bullet which ended his life was fired by one of the party of Chicagoans. For legal reasons the men who shot down the desperado never claimed the skull.

The skull of the outlaw will be presented by them to "Skull and Bones" society of Yale university. Each summer a number of board of trade men spend their vacation on a ranch in Sierra county, New Mexico owned by William Kent of Chicago. In the party that left Chicago last August were H. A. Posa, August J. White, head of the brokerage firm of A. J. White & Co., and Mr. Kent.

One night horses were stolen from the camp, and "Apache Kid," who had been making depredations in the neighborhood, was suspected. A party of men rode out from the ranch, and finally came up with the fugitive. They caught sight of him at dusk as he rode into a growth of pine forest. Under cover of night the Chicagoans surrounded the outlaw's camp and lay silently awaiting the first streak of dawn.

Two shots were fired at daybreak. One missed a Chicago member of the posse by an inch. The other ended the career of "Apache Kid." The body was covered and left where it fell.

Mr. Fox traversed the old trail last March, searched for the skull and found it, and shipped it to Dr. Samuel Walker. The skull will be ready for shipment to New Haven in a few days.

The history of "Apache Kid" is like the story in a "blood and thunder" novel. He was it is said a graduate of the Carlisle Indian school, but returned to the nomadic life of his people. Among the Apaches he was known as a "bad" Indian. Wherever he went he left a trail of blood.

A Methodist Minister recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home for seven years, and it has always proved to be a reliable remedy. We have found that it would do more than the manufacturers claim for it. It is especially good for croup and whooping cough.

Rev. James A. Lewis, Pastor Milaca, Minn., M. C. Church. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is sold by all druggists.

Our shirt and collar work is perfect. Our "DOMESTIC FINISH" is the proper thing. We lead—others follow. IMPERIAL LAUNDRY CO.

A Good Lintment. Trial Catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people—without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

AN $11,000 JAIL FOR EDDY COUNTY

Many Settlers Coming Into the Country—No Land for Speculators.

Carlsbad, N. M., Dec. 25.—The county commissioners have the course of construction a new county jail. The old structure had been repeatedly condemned by grand juries as unsanitary and insufficient for the needs of the county.

The building is being constructed in the rear of the court house and will be connected with that building by a bridge from the second story. A grand jury room, jailer's home and other conveniences will be provided under the same roof. The building will cost approximately $11,000.

Carlsbad is enjoying its first real share of the immense influx of colonists into the Pecos valley, for the past two years this part of the valley had not only suffered under the handicap of being deprived of water from the washing out of the old dam, but under the old plan of issuing passes to real estate agents who acted as colonizers, agents, the new comer rarely got down as far as the lower valley, being taken in tow by the agents of companies occupying the lands lying higher up the valley. Since the completion of the government irrigation dam here and the opening of the fine tracts of land lying as far as thirty miles below Carlsbad, the town has been coming into its own.

During this last excursion great numbers of homeseekers found their way to this section and fully twenty-five farms changed hands. One peculiar part of the situation here is that the land cannot be held by speculators but must be held only by bona fide residents or those who reside within a few miles of the property. The undesirable speculator is thus cut off and the homeseeker encouraged.

A Hand Debt to Pay. "I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark, of Westfield, Iowa, for my rescue from death, by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent, when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle used, and two more bottles made a complete cure. Nothing has ever equalled New Discovery for coughs, colds and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by all druggists, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

FOR CHRISTMAS

WE HAVE made it the inviolate rule of our business, and have laid it upon our honor, to offer for sale only such things as are unequivocally the best—in most cases, regardless of price. Many articles, such as table silver, fine hand-painted china, and cut glass, can be secured of us at about half what you pay dealers that carry it as a side line. Suggestive of what we have:

Fine Haviland China in sets or odd pieces, hand-painted China, semi-porcelain dinner sets, cut glass, vases, ornamental lamps, Roger Bros. table silver, carving sets, chafing dishes, after-dinner tea sets, fine shaving sets, cutlery, scissors, guns, revolvers, all kinds of mechanics' tools in sets.
