LA FOLLETTE RAPS POWERS OF COURTS

Senator Says Supreme Judges Should be Responsive to People

CINCINNATI, June 14.—Asserting that by a "process of gradual encroachments the federal courts of the country have wrested sovereignty from the people," Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin in address here today before the American Federation of Labor convention, proposed an amendment to the constitution and providing for the nullification of any such decision by the supreme court by re-enacting or amending it.

Citing the recent decision of the supreme court holding unconstitutional the child labor tax law as "typical of the conduct of the federal judiciary and particularly the supreme court whenever congress has sought to enact progressive and humane legislation which was offensive to great financial interests," Senator LaFollette declared the supreme tribunal of the country "is to-day the actual ruler of the American people."

"In fact, in what they say it is," the Wisconsin senator continued, "not what the people through congress enact. Even the constitution of the United States is not what its plain terms declare, but what these nine men construe it to be. In fact, five of these nine men are actually the supreme rulers, for by a bare majority the court has repeatedly over-ridden the will of the people."

The nine lawyers who constitute the supreme court are placed in positions of power for life not by the votes of the people but by presidential appointment. Ex-President Taft was made chief justice by President Harding, thus a man was invested with the enormous prestige and influence of chief justice by presidential appointment who had been repudiated by the voters of the United States on his record. No one will contend that he could have been elected chief justice by the people.

And the Chief Justice

now avails the opinion that annulled the child labor law; he wrote the opinion in the Coronado Coal company case. In making this observation I level no criticism at the personnel of the court. I am not concerned with personalities. I am dealing with fundamental principles.

Truth Pointed Out.

It cannot be denied that "we are ruled by a judicial oligarchy," the senator said, adding that while many of the minor federal judges, retaining the sovereign power of the supreme court, were "excellent and enlightened men, some of them, notably Judge Anderson of Indiana and Judge McClinton of West Virginia have, in my opinion shown themselves to be petty tyrants and arrogant despots."

In assuming to pass upon the constitutionality of many laws enacted by congress, the federal courts, Mr. LaFollette declared, now only those holding a power never conferred in the constitution but which the constitutional convention had, he said, four times sent on record as opposing to granting, when it was proposed that judges should have a veto upon federal legislation.

"Heretofore the people of the United States," Senator LaFollette said, "have met the difficult situations created by the federal existence on constitutional matters by dealing with the particular question upon which the court was at variance with the popular will. We have never faced the fundamental issue of judicial usurpation squarely. The time has now come when we must put the axe to the root of this dangerous growth within the body of our government. The usurped power of the federal courts must be taken away and the federal judges must be made responsive to the popular will."

Lillian Russell's Funeral

All Pittsburgh paid homage to Lillian Russell, famous stage star and for years known as "the most beautiful woman in America," as the funeral procession wound through the streets on the way to the cemetery. Lillian Russell was the wife of Alexander P. Moore, a Pittsburgh publisher. Many men nationally prominent were among the honorary pall bearers, including James J. Davis, secretary of labor; Senator Hiram Johnson, of California; Mayor W. A. Magee, of Pittsburgh; Howard Chandler Christy, artist, of New York, and A. F. Albee, president of the National Vaudeville Association, New York.

PROBE STARTED AFTER ALLEGED SLIGHT ON KAPLAN

HONOLULU MAN MADE POTENTATE OF SHRINE MEET

Indignity Reported to Have Been Suffered By Naval Graduate

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Characterizing the treatment of Leonard Kaplan of West Virginia, a member of this year's graduating class at the naval academy, in the class year book, "A low down, miserable trick," Rear Admiral Wilson, superintendent of the academy, announced here today that he had withdrawn a letter of commendation which had been addressed to J. L. O'meara, editor of the year book.

Theodore Roosevelt, acting secretary of the navy, was called upon in a message by Congressmen Louis C. Thomas, New York, to make a thorough investigation of the indignity alleged yesterday by Senator Sutherland to have been suffered by Kaplan, a member of the graduating class of the naval academy.

The slight was in the performance of the inner margin of the page in the academy's year book, "The Lucky Bag," which contained Kaplan's photograph and short sketch and the omission of his name from the page index. Senator Sutherland, who said Kaplan was of Jewish extraction, attributed the indignity to racial and religious prejudices.

Kaplan's telegram said Kaplan had been encouraged by his doing his time at the academy. When he had "overcome serious difficulties," he wrote.

JAMES FRANCISCO, June 14.—James S. McCandless, of Honolulu, was named today as imperial potente of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, in annual session here. McCandless' election was by acclamation and without opposition as he came into the room through the routine "moving up" of imperial council officers.

McCandless announced to the convention that, while it is the custom of imperial potentates to make their headquarters in their respective home towns, he would make his headquarters in San Francisco. He thanked the convention in behalf of his temple, Aloha, and himself, and complimented Islamic Temple of San Francisco on its hospitality.

Conrad V. Dykeman, Klamath Falls, Oregon, V. Y., was named to the post of imperial deputy potente; James Chandler, Ararat Temple, Kansas City, to the post of imperial chief rabbi, and James C. Burger, Elated Temple, Denver, to the post of imperial assistant rabbi.

"I make the opinion that he came out first in his examinations," he wrote.

"No finer specimen of American manhood and gentleman has ever been at the academy. I look to you to take exemplary action."

Mexico City Street Carmen on Strike; Bakers Quit Work

MEXICO CITY, June 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Mexico City is without street car service today, the bakers are not working and the suspension of the light, power and water supply services was expected momentarily this morning as a result of a strike initiated by the miners. ARREST OF 2 TRAIN BANDITS THOUGHT NEAR

Four of Six Alleged Hold-Ups Now in Custody of Officers

TUCSON, Ariz., June 14.—Arrest within twenty-four hours of the two missing members of the bandit party who are alleged to have held up the Golden State Inn near here a month ago was reported today by local authorities.

During the interval of a month since the hold-up, special railroad and express detectives have been operating with the Tucson and Pima county authorities in a search for the two men remaining at large. The confession of Frank Jiron, formerly of Beaumont, Texas, implicated all six alleged bandits, including himself. Four of those men involved by Jiron are in custody and two remain at large.

Since the arrest of the first four men, efforts of the authorities to locate the others have never ceased. It has been their belief that one man was in California and that the other had crossed the border into Mexico, 70 miles from Tucson.

Strategy has been resorted to previously in the long search for the two missing men and authorities here state that they have substantial reasons for the belief that they will be in the hands of the officers before another twenty-four hours has passed.

While conducting an energetic search for the men, the detectives declare they have been laying an excellent scheme of substantiation for the confession of Jiron, and have secured valuable evidence regarding the desert hold up.

The suit was filed by W. E. Isbell, one of the occupants of the car which was struck by the police auto, through his attorney, Espinoza and Espinoza, and asks for $2,000 damages from the city of Tucson.

In the complaint it is alleged that when the accident occurred, through alleged recklessness driving on the part of former policeman Horace Ball, Isbell was thrown from the car into the pavements, and suffered three fractured ribs, besides bruises to his shoulder and side. Later examination of the complainant states, has disclosed that one of his lungs was also affected.

The damages are asked on the basis of several days spent in the hospital, and several weeks additional in which Isbell was kept from work while his injuries were getting well.

At the last meeting of the city commission held Monday night, the five claimants of damages against the city as the result of the accident, were requested to file suits against the city, in order that the city would be bound to pay the amount of the damage, which would not be subject to being stopped by injunction proceedings. This method will also give the city the right to make a levy to cover the damages asked.

Two other damage suits against the city were filed this afternoon by Dennis Chaves for his clients, Leon George and Juan Gonzalez, who are of Juan Gonzalez, who were getting suit through his father.

Each of these suits ask $2,000 damages for injuries sustained in the accident and debris caused by it. In his suit, Leon Gonzalez asks $600 additional damages for damage to his automobile. These suits are also being brought to furnish a basis for a compromise.

Two incumbents succeeded themselves, William S. Brown, Syria Temple, Pittsburgh, Pa., as imperial treasurer, and Benjamin W. Rowell, Aleppo Temple, Boston, as imperial recorder.

David W. Gossard, of Atlanta, Georgia, was elected imperial high priest and prophet, and Clarence M. Dunbar, of Palestine Temple, Providence, R. I., imperial outside guard.

The rest of the officers who were elected without opposition were Frank C. Jones of Arabia Temple, Houston, Texas, imperial first ceremonial master; Len V. Youngworth, Al Malakiah Temple, Los Angeles, imperial general and commanding master; E. A. Fleischman, Damascus Temple, Rochester, N. Y., imperial marshal; Thomas J. Henton, McPhail Temple, Chicago, imperial captain of the guard.

RENETANGUISHENE, Ont., June 14.—Buried beneath the waters of the River Wye for more than a year, the lost treasure box of the Jesuit mission to Huron has been located at last by the needle of a magnetic divining rod.

It lies beneath 20 feet of water and mud and divers are starting to raise it. Just what the box will show when it is brought to light is a matter of conjecture, but the needle shows that it contains gold in small quantities.

This treasure is verified by records of the Society of Jesus which show that one of the seven big boxes brought into New France in the year 1620 and laboriously carried to Fort Sainte Marie by canoe was lost and never recovered.

EVILS OF 2 BAD PRECINCTS TOLD TO COUNTY BOARD

Sheriff's Office Has Its Day Before the Commissioners

The county commissioners met this morning, but the back bills for the years of 1919, 1920, and 1921 were not presented and paid, as it was intimated that they would be a motion passed at the meeting held on June 7.

In view of that, the sheriff's office had its day before the board, and the alleged "exceedingly bad and dangerous conditions" of Barcas and San Jose precincts were aired.

The discussion was started when Pedro Tarcaglia appeared before the board, and stated that he had a petition signed by 2 residents of the two precincts, asking that a good deputy sheriff be placed on duty in that section. He stated, however, that he had forgotten to bring it with him.

"We want a deputy to stop the shooting, brawling, and singing of bad songs which are occurring in those precincts every evening," Tarcaglia said. "At one o'clock last Sunday evening there were five shots fired down there, with a deputy standing within 150 yards of the place. Nothing was done."

Undersheriff Fred Fornoff explained that the sheriff's office is looking into the existing condition, promised Tarcaglia.

The deputies are not doing anything, he stated, because they are not getting paid. He did admit that San Jose and Barcas are having a good deal of trouble, stating that 25 brawlers have been arrested in Albuquerque.

M. F. Powers, of the chamber of commerce thanked the club members for turning out to give visiting Rotarians and Shriners a ride about the city, stating that the city had shown from 3,000 to 18,000 people the town during the two weeks. According to Mr. Fox, there will be 18 trains passing through here starting June 15 which will stop here from two to three hours.

Sidney M. West was introduced by his club members—this time as the owner of the Journal.

He said that the policy of the paper would be the same as the Kiwanis— "We smile."

Robinson to Convention

Herbert F. Robinson, supervisor of irrigation service and secretary of the local Kiwanis club, will leave Albuquerque tomorrow to attend as the accredited delegate of the local club, the International Kiwanis convention at Toronto, Canada. A. L. Martin, president of the club left a few days ago for the convention as the other accredited delegate of the local organization. Mr. Robinson, after attending the convention, will go to Washington, D. C., for a few days prior to his return to this city.

More than 1500 accredited delegates, representing approximately 300 Kiwanis clubs in this country and Canada and a total membership of nearly 10,000, will be in attendance at the International convention. The headquarters of the convention will be at the King Edward hotel in Toronto, Mr. Fornoff and Mr. Martin will stay at the Walker house, the hostelry assigned to the delegates from this section.

Canal Tolls Factor

Opposed to this argument is advanced the opinion that on account of the high freight rates to the intermountain territory in this section of which Albuquerque may be classed as a central point, the consumer pays an exorbitant price for his foodstuffs. To remedy this condition the opening of agricultural lands through the McNary reclamation project would afford after a few years of development an agricultural area in the southwest which would make this section practically self-sustaining, as far as its food supply would be concerned. The high freight rates necessitated justly in a great degree long haul and overhead charges on the western railroads will, if claimed by a reliable and competent authority, deter the industrial development of this section of the country unless lower living costs can be attained through the agricultural development of the southwest.

Objects to Appointment

Present at today's meeting were Chairman A. G. Stevens, and Commissioner Max Gutierrez, Stevens' son-in-law. When the county clerk was asked to present the bill of 1919, 1920 and 1921 bills which the county owns, which he had been instructed to prepare at the June 7 meeting of the board, he presented bills of the 1920 and 1921 bills, but not subdivided into the funds under which they belong. This was where he erred, as he was told that there are more than $21,000 worth of bills owed from 1921, while $7,000 worth are due from 1920. It was decided to have the bills properly separated into their proper amounts, ready for the next meeting of the commissioners.

Rotary Club

The sheriff's office stood its ground on two other propositions which it presented to the commissioners. The way in which many of the commissioners are conducted. The next session should be asked to put the dances under the control of the proper authorities so that they can be properly watched, he stated.

LOCAL RAILROAD SHOP EMPLOYEES FAVOR WALKOUT

Union Leaders Predict 99 Per Cent of Work- ers Want to Strike guard troops 1

Bald returns today from the local shop crafts employees of the Santa Fe railroad indicate a practically unanimous opinion in favor of a strike, according to predictions of union leaders, upon the tabulation of the first group of ballots, after a meeting last night of 600 employees at the Crystal opera-house.

Meanwhile, the mountain district and the southwest will become industrially stagnant, because of their complete dependence on the railroad freight rates and higher living charges.

To reduce the rates from the middle west to the Pacific coast on account of the water rates from seaboard territory to the Pacific coast is for the rail lines to benefit, but a reduction from the seaboard territory to intermountain territory to meet the existing rates from the middle west to intermountain territory would lengthen the haul on much traffic and accomplish nothing of benefit to the rail lines.

Holiday Rates Affect East

In a article in a recent issue of the American, published by the New York Times, it is shown by the writer that there is a primary or ruling market for basic staple commodities and in most cases the producer of the raw material bears the freight charge to the primary market.

The government's disregard of the prohibition law and its policy of inspiring editorial support of the exemption of one of business enterprises from the operation of the law on the one hand, and its feeble attempt to enforce it on the other hand appears to be most inconsistent.

WILL NOT BREAK ONE

WILL ENFORCE ONE

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Prohibition Commissioner Hayes declared today in a formal statement referring to the "prohibition affair" pamphlet issued by the Anheuser-Busch company that he would "act in a vigorous manner to enforce the law" as soon as the department of justice and the courts have determined whether the Volstead act applies to vessels sailing under the American flag.

Hayes' statement has been to point to the primary market, the consumer, on the other hand, at a distant point from the primary market, is obliged to absorb the freight charge in the guise of the purchase price. This is precisely the position of Albuquerque, and, unlike many communities to a great degree, this section has to bear a part at least of the freight charges in the purchase of necessities and raw materials on account of its distance from the primary markets of these products.

Freight Cut Anticipated

The reduction of railroad freight rates which will go into effect on July 1 will undoubtedly have a material effect on the living costs in the intermountain section, but the railroads in the west have already made a substantial reduction in their tariffs on agricultural products.

To sum up the conclusions which may be drawn from the analysis of the railroad rate conditions, it is absolutely against economic principles, according to the author, to expect this state and the other intermountain territory to develop consistently with the other sections of the country without an agricultural area which will be productive enough to afford almost entire self-sustaining in its food consumption.

The only panacea to quicken the progress of New Mexico is through the projects proposed in the McNary bill.

DEATHS

President Dedicates Memorial to Key

BALTIMORE, June 14.—The power of Francis Scott Key that history ever may be justified "when free men shall stand between their loved homes and the ravaging war's desolation" was reiterated by President Harding in dedicating here today a memorial to the author of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Standing at old Fort McHenry, which King penned the words which yet to music have become the nation's anthem, the president declared the prayer he had quoted had been granted.

A special car carrying officers and directors of the National Bill Posters' association will make an hour's stop in Albuquerque next Monday on arrival of the California limited.

The party is on its way to Los Angeles to attend the annual meeting of the national board of directors of the organization which comprises the bill posters of the entire United States and Canada, constituting one of the world's great advertising organizations.

President's drink and cigarette holder, Miss Leonida Chacon aged 26, died at her home in Peralta Tuesday night. She is survived by her father, Pedro Sanchez, a well known sheep and cattle rancher, two brothers, Manuel and Jesus, and a sister, Mrs. Demetria Jaromil of Peralta. She had been ill for several years. Crockett is in charge of the burial.

Large Female Lobo
Killed at Magdalena

Word has been received by the Biological Survey from the ranch of the Evans brothers, west of Magdalena, that Government Hunter, Albert Pickens, has killed the last of three wolves which have been committing great depredations among the stock on their range. He killed a female lobo wolf of large size. It was reported.

In 45 days, government hunters in that district have killed a large number of predatory animals, mainly lobo wolves, and, it is claimed, have cleaned the range of that vicinity of stock destroying animals.

The lobo wolf which Pickens killed had freed seven different wolves from the traps in which they had been caught and twice had been entrapped herself.

LETTER ENTERED IN CONTEST

"The Advantages of a Home on University Heights"

A home on the Heights? Why not? Homes are the cradles of nations and a nation's life is vigorous and secure as health and contentment become dominant factors in our home life.

Albuquerque, with its business push and railroad life, its own healthful climate, its educational advantages making it the Athens of an empire, a city of social and religious prominence, spells the secret of a University Heights proposition. Without Albuquerque at the foot of the mesa, with its tendency to ascend the grade, University Heights would still be a grazing ground. Albuquerque, the expanding, needs this mesa, the mountain top, on which her people may build with pride her overflow homes. The Heights needs all Albuquerque says her superlative mosquitoes.

They who dwell upon the upland:
Must expect to feel the breeze;
All the warring winds of nature;
Guns that melt and snows that freeze;
But how great the compensation
In the broader, fairer view;
In the clearer air surrounding;
In the bright expanse of blue.

Two men stood upon the levees overlooking New Orleans. The one said: "Find I the power, I would build levees of sufficient strength and height to forever eliminate all danger to this city." The other voiced a wise thought: "Had I the power, I would put my arms beneath the city and lift it to higher ground."

Men who have "heights" have caught a safe contagion. The advantages of the mountains of a wonderful state are just natural to man. His disadvantages are none of ours, save the interlocking of material and fraternal interests.

The Rio Grande may rage and wreck. Its flood water will never storm the Heights.

SALES DAY PLAN OF ADVERTISING BEING PUSHED

Convention Told That Railroads Are Adopting New Formula

MILWAUKEE, June 14.—The moment the merchants of a city get together in a mutual trade-building plan and come to know each other better, the trade of all will grow and each will find that the other is a good fellow, willing to compete fairly and share with his fellow merchants the profits that come from new customers brought into the community. Several important railroad systems of the country, it is disclosed here today, at the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Club, have adopted a plan for pushing the organization of small city advertising clubs and the use of what is known as the Golden Rule of Neosho Sales Day plan.

The plan gets its name from the fact it originated in Neosho, Mo., where it has been in successful operation for many years. G. H. Lowe of Neosho, who is known as the "daddy" of the plan, is now devoting all of his time, under the auspices of the advertising association, to the organization of the plan. The plan is devised not only to bring the business men together but to bring the business men and the farmer, his customer, to a better understanding of each other and thus to break down the wall of prejudices that often keep the merchant from trading with home

Town Must Render Service

The farmer is a hard-headed fellow. He works hard for his money. He insists on the right to spend it when and where he pleases. But he will spend it in the town nearby if the merchant will make it worth his while and tell him about it, through advertising.

L. D. Fuller of Jamestown, N.Y., chief agricultural agent of the Erie Railroad Co., told the advertising men that the plan had worked admirably in eighteen towns along the Erie.

In Jamestown, Pa., a town of 15,000, he said, one merchant sold forty-four suits of clothes on a special sales day, in addition to numerous collars, shirts, and other similar articles, while a merchant in Union City disposed of 140 barrels of flour in single day.

J. M. Mulroy, industrial agent for the Central of Georgia railroad, showed how the farmer not only was made to come to town to do his trading, but also how the business men of various cities in Georgia co-operated with him in providing better market outlets for the products of his farm—and it naturally follows that the merchant will trade at a town which offers him the best marketing service. He quoted a newspaper clipping describing the success of the Golden Rule plan in Sylacauga, one of the sixteen towns on the Central of Georgia to adopt the plan.

Markets for Farm Products

"The business men of Sylacauga are exerting every means possible to bring the people of the community into harmony with the needs of Sylacauga," said the newspaper report. "The Golden Rule Sales Day was our first step. It has proved a success from the start, and grows more and more attractive with each month."

The next step was to create a market for chickens and eggs. The merchants now will buy all that is brought to them on Sales Days.

The third step has been the establishment of a sweet potato mission, which has been organized and will be ready for business this fall.

The next step will be the establishment of a creamery or milk station to give the farmers a market for their dairy products."

The results obtained in this community, he said, are typical of those enjoyed by other towns.

To far as his railroad is concerned, he felt that the money and effort devoted to the plan had been remarkably well invested, for it had developed good will for the road while also materially increasing the business of the town which the railroad serves. Actual checkups have demonstrated that the operation increases the business of the railroad at the towns adopting the plan, as well as creating good will for the town.

Night News Summary

LONDON.—At the close of the final negotiations Colonial Secretary Churchill, being asked of the British signatures of the treaty, expressed complete satisfaction at the progress being made.

JACKSON, Mich.—Geo. Straub, ex-concubine confessed to the slaying of Miss Alice Mallott, welfare worker, was saved from a threatening crowd that surrounded the county jail when Sheriff Edwin Larimore, who had been the victim, removed him from the building by a rear entrance and whisked him out of the city in an automobile.

PEKING.—Wealthy Chinese with their families and vanities were fleeing from Nanking, Capital of Kiangsu province, as the army of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, the south China leader, advanced northward.

CLOVIS TO STAGE HUGE SONG FEST JUNE 24 AND 25

40 Counties to Send Delegates to Singing Convention

(Special to The Herald)

CLOVIS, N. M., June 14.—Forty counties of Eastern New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle will send representatives to Clovis June 24 and 25 to the greatest song "fest" that was ever staged in the Southwest. On those days the Plateau Singing convention will be held, and officers will be elected to the constitution and by-laws will be adopted.

John F. Taylor of Clovis, organizer of the Plateau singing convention has said, "There should be no less than five thousand people in Clovis Sunday, June 25. They will come not alone from Curry county but from about forty other counties in the Panhandle and Eastern New Mexico, and it will be the largest singing convention ever held in this section."

ROSWELL, N. M., June 14.—Plans are being made for the entertainment of the trade excursion of Amarillo's business men which will arrive in Roswell next Wednesday on a tour of the Pecos valley. The visitors will be taken on an hour's ride through the city and the surrounding farms and will be entertained at a smoker at the chamber of commerce later in the evening. Then the dance will be the guests of the Elks at their May day dance.

Those in charge of arrangements have already received communications indicating that hundreds will be here. Many will make the trip overland in cars, and upon arrival, form a tent city of campers at the new municipal camp grounds which is being put in condition to meet the need of the visitors.

The Elks' auditorium will be used for the majority of the meetings during the convention.

County Agent Issues Third Spray Notice

(Special to The Herald)

ROSWELL, N. M., June 14.—The third spray notice of the season has been issued to the Chaves county orchardists by the County Agent J. R. Smith, the application to be completed not later than June 18. It is the policy of the orchard men to keep the growing apple always covered with a coating of the spray from the time the apple tree forms until maturity.

(Special to The Herald)

COLUMBUS, N. M., June 14.—A celebration which it is planned will bring together all of the cattlemen of Luna county, is planned at Columbus for the three days July 2, 3 and 4. The big rodeo will be held just across the international line from Columbus, in Mexico. A barbecue will be held on the fourth.

Because He Passed
Truck, Driver Says
He Is Minus $8

G. Carmignani, driver of a truck between Albuquerque and Mountainair, is out $8 and he says unjustly so.

According to the story reaching here, Carmignani was driving into Zia Park and Natural Bridge when he attempted to drive his truck around a truck just ahead of him. As he started to turn out to one side he says, the woman in the front truck wheeled to the other side of the road. As she did so one wheel on the woman's truck broke.

Carmignani however says he did not know the woman's truck was damaged until he was confronted by an officer in Roswell. He was charged with crashing into the truck he says. He claims that he was placed under $250 bond and yesterday to prevent further trouble paid $8 for a new wheel for the woman's truck. He says he did not hit the truck as alleged.

JAP TO LECTURE IN U. S.

TOKIO, June 14.—Dr. Hikiraku Fujisawa is going to America in July to deliver a lecture on "Japan's Mission" at the annual summer lecture meeting at Williams College. Dr. Fujisawa will also touch on the peace movement in Japan in his series of lectures. After the close of the meeting at Williams town Dr. Fujisawa may visit Chicago and a few other places where he will deliver lectures on similar subjects. Dr. Fujisawa is an authority on mathematics and was formerly dean of the science college of the Tokio Imperial University. After finishing his studies in the Imperial University he went to Europe and presented his studies at the University College, London, and after at Berlin and Strasburg universities, graduating from the latter institution with the degree of doctor of physics in 1878. On his return he was appointed professor of mathematics in the Imperial University.

FATHER CHARGED WITH MURDER IS GIVEN 180 YEARS

Revenue Collector Claims Large Sum Due as Income Tax

(Special to The Herald)

SANTA FE, N. M., June 14.—Lewis E. Hawes, charged with the murder of his son Alvin Hawes and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alvin Hawes, in Roosevelt county several months ago, entered a plea of first degree murder last Saturday and received a sentence of 90 to 99 years in each case, one term to begin at the expiration of the other, which makes a total of 180 to 198 years in the State prison.

The plaintiff alleged Hawes levied on the property to collect this amount, which he alleged to be owing for 1916. The plaintiff denied he owed it.

AT THE THEATERS

"The Beauty Shop" is an attraction among comedy romances. It is full of fun, pretty girls, and other things to delight the eye. A reel of current events is the added attraction.

"Pencock Alley" is an unusual picture in which Mae Murray takes the part of famous French dancer, who also has a better side to her nature, which eventually comes to the surface.

Miss Helen Carrie, violinist, is both a talented artist and a winsome young woman. The entire combination is one that is especially interesting, for it includes violin, cello, trombone, cornet and drums in addition to other features.

"The Fighting Lover", with Frank Mayo, is the story of a red-blooded millionaire, who tackles a hard job, and a deep mystery. He starts by advertising "girls wanted", and picks three from the thousand who apply for the position.

"Pastime."

"Beyond the Rainbow" is a masterpiece of high social sets. The picture is well acted, having an unusually strong cast all the way through.

FLAG DAY MARKED BY SILENT RITE AT THE CITY HALL

Several Hundred People Witness Tribute To Stars and Stripes

Several hundred people witnessed the raising of the flag over the city hall this morning, in observance of Flag Day.

The ceremonies were short and impressive. A few veterans of the Civil, Spanish American, and Indian wars formed a line at the corner of Second street and Plaza, and shortly before nine o'clock the morning. When the whistles at the city water plant and the fire whistle blew, the flag was slowly raised.

With bared heads, those in the audience of the community stood and made a pause.

Hawes threw himself on the steps of the stage and made a speech. It is said that and the case came to trial, he would have received the extreme sentence, death, but the expense of the trial would have cost the taxpayers of the county several thousand dollars. It is further said that the town and county were invited to appear before the commission.

Head of the institutions have been invited to appear before the commission.

WILLARD WILLING TO MEET DEMPSEY

Former Champ Not Opposed to Battling For Ring Supremacy

LOS ANGELES, June 14.—Joe Willard is willing to meet Jack Dempsey in a return match for the world's heavyweight championship of the squared circle.

So the big Kansas rancher, oil magnate and ex-champion has come out in his home in the Hollywood district here.

"I would meet Dempsey if we could come to terms," he said, quoted Willard as saying. "Jack Kearns (Dempsey's manager) and I have talked over the terms of another match, but we haven't come to any definite understanding yet."

Willard said he probably would spend the greater part of the summer here, but would make a visit soon to look after his oil interests in Kansas during his stay in the east, he said he might make arrangements with his agent, the manager, and Kearns for a bout with Dempsey.

Willard intimated that the question of gate receipts of such a match would not stand as a barrier to his signing the articles.

It is generally reported here that Willard has been in training since his arrival from the east several weeks ago.

Semenoff Prepares To Return to Asia

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 14.—Rejected by Asia by petitions to contain the names of numbers of officers, General Gregorio Semenoff, chairman of the committee to return and who was one of the leaders of Asia to Russia, has returned.

Semenoff is returning somewhat buoyed up in hopes and expectations on account of information he gathered in the United States.

He voted no criticism of the United States government, though there were many individuals who were active in opposing him. He is unaccompanied by Mrs. Semenoff.

VARSEY WINS RACE

(By the Associated Press)—President Sterkoff who was deposed June 1 by the constituent assembly here, has resumed his place as head of the central government. Clement Dierichs, who had the support of the assembly and refused it, owing his influence to the aid of Sterkoff, Varsey was elected.

Varsey, by a vote of Martians, owned by F. Grotton, won the Royal Hunt club handicap run here today. Sterkoff was second and Grubman third. Twenty horses ran.

LEGATES TELL OF OPPOSITION TO CHILD LABOR

Speeches Made in Pro-

Court's Recent Decision

INCINNATI, June 14.—(By Associated Press)—Organized Labor again raised its voice at the convention of the American Federation of Labor here today against child labor, coupling this with an advance of flag day. The group, which has been working devoted to child labor, with reference to the supreme court's recent decision of two months ago, made a state child labor law unconstitutional.

The day's program was opened by the Central Labor Union of this presenting Sammon Gomberg, president of the federation, with an American flag.

Then the delegates turned to the grain of protest against child orlumped told the delegates it is far back as 1881 in the constitution adopted by the organization a declaration was incorporated for the enactment of laws prohibiting labor by children under 14 years old.

It referred to the first federal—that of 1916—being declared invalid by the supreme court's 5-to-4 opinion, and added that second law passed in 1919 was made with one dissenting vote the court's Labor's program he said, was to obtain adoption of a constitutional amendment making possible a federal

The resolution was introduced by Mr. Fitzgerald and others representing the Brotherhood of Teamsters and proposed that the National Federation of Labor do the necessary action toward uniting about the country's industry within the ranks of organization and that as a first step this should be done by calling into session of the national unions to enter into sessions for the purpose of agreeing to amalgamate all the units in the respective industries in single organizations, each of which shall cover any industry."

SOCIETY

REPUBLICAN WOMEN OF BERNALILLO COUNTY ORGANIZED

The Republican Women's association of Bernalillo county held its initial luncheon yesterday at the X. M. C. A., when an enthusiastic group of ladies were present to hear the address and to get acquainted. Miss Ethel Hickey, in an introductory address, expressed the prime objects of the association in very pleasing manner. She stated the two foremost objects are to form acquaintanceship with all republican women of the county and to unite all of the political affiliations into a body of workers.

Miss Hickey introduced Mrs. Wrightson Fowler, who had been appointed chairman pro tem. Mrs. Fowler spoke on the necessity of harmony and co-operation, later calling for the minutes of the previous meeting, which were read by Mrs. Tom Wilkerson, the secretary.

The temporary organization at this time was unanimously voted to be made a permanent association.

Mrs. Margaret Chadwick, who has been active in work for the republican party, spoke on "The Necessity of Organization," outlining briefly the importance of working together in order to accomplish more.

Mrs. Sammon Miller, who is here from Monticello, Ill., made a most interesting talk on organization. Mrs. Miller is a field officer of the League of Women Voters and active in organization work.

In her address Mrs. Miller stressed the idea of first selecting a party to affiliate with then working to see that party win. After the party selection is made, then the choosing of candidates must be made, and it is in the power of the women that the best material selected and elected she said. The whole tone of politics will be changed when the women are organized and co-operate for the betterment of the political affairs of the country, she further stated.

The by-laws of the association were read and adopted and provided for a president, two vice-presidents, treasurer and corresponding secretary, and an advisory board of five members.

The officers of the organization elected are as follows: president, Mrs. Wrightson Fowler; first vice-president, Miss Lida Armitage; second vice-president, Mrs. Iva Grimes.

You buy a motor car essentially for SERVICE.

New Mexico driving conditions impose a severe strain on any car. Yet one car stands head and shoulders above all others in New Mexico service.

That car is the Buick.

Here one out of every three cars IN SERVICE (other than Fords) is a Buick. Many Buick cars have made 100,000 mile records here.

Never has one completely worn out.

Take these facts into consideration before you buy your next car. Talk to the Buick owners you know.

They'll talk about the goodness of the CAR, and the excellence of the Buick SERVICE rendered here. They'll impress you with the importance of the authorized Buick service station operated by the Oden-Buick

They'll tell you that the efficient service rendered by this station, in conjunction with the factory branch at El Paso, has had much to do with the uninterrupted use of their investments.

FLAG DAY

YESTERDAY a small boy of three years dropped his toy flag on the sidewalk and ran his velocipede over it. His slightly larger brother, aged seven, one year launched in school, grabbed the three-year-old roughly by the arm. His voice shook with the intensity of his patriotic instruction as he told the little fellow:

"You mustn't ever let the American flag fall on the ground. You mustn't ever step on it or let it be run over."

The three-year-old learned a lesson in a fundamental of patriotism that he will never forget and that no amount of talk from father and mother could have made so impressive as it was when coming from his slightly larger brother.

The slightly larger brother learned his duty toward his country's flag in the Albuquerque public schools where he has been for one year.

That's fine school work.

The lad who learns in the primary grades at school a deep and abiding respect for his country's flag, the symbol of patriotism, will, when he grows up harbor an equally deep and abiding respect for his duty as a citizen—the spirit of true patriotism.

Thus Flag Day is a worth while day. There is no need to make it a national holiday and close up business and go on picnics, as is the usage with most of our too many national holidays. There is need that it be more fully and thoughtfully observed, that the flag, the symbol, be more generally and carefully and respectfully displayed, so that we grown ups, like the school boys, may be inspired to a deeper and more sincere regard for the essence, the spirit of the patriotism of which the Flag is the symbol.

The Elks are to be congratulated for their earnest effort to further the more general and thoughtful observance of Flag Day, as exemplified by the effort of the Albuquerque lodge today.

The Chamber of Commerce should make an immediate effort to raise the budget outlined at the beginning of the present year. You can no longer conduct community building without money than you can run an automobile without gasoline. The machine simply will not work without fuel. It would be a misfortune and an inexcusable negligence to permit Albuquerque to lose any of the momentum that has been gained. We are going ahead at a good rate of speed. Let's keep going.

"CROSS CROSSINGS CAUTIOUSLY"

THE above is the euphonious heading of a brightly colored poster that is being placed throughout the length and breadth of the United States by the American Railway Association. It is part of a new safety first campaign, such as was conducted for several years among railroad employees with an amazing result in reduction of the number of accidents due to carelessness.

The "Careful Crossing Campaign" is inspired by the increasing number of terrible accidents to automobiles at grade crossings. It is a meticulous campaign to which the railroads are moved both by consideration for the public welfare and by self protection. Grade crossing accidents almost always result in damage suits. Yet the railroads are seldom responsible. To eliminate grade crossings would cost hundreds of millions of dollars, if it were possible in all cases—which it is not. But it is possible for every driver of an automobile to take the time to cross carefully every grade crossing. Lost time is far less serious than lost life.

The Southern Pacific railroad has instituted another kind of safety crossing propaganda. It has begun to file suits against every automobile owner whose car hits a train or is hit by a train at a grade crossing. It proceeds on the theory that a railway crossing is private property, opened to the public for convenience. It holds that it is the obligation of users of the crossing to be careful. The logic is fairly sound.

Keep this in mind:

There is always danger at a railroad grade crossing. If you remember the fact of danger you are fairly sure to be free of accident, at railroad crossings—and elsewhere.

Did we read somewhere something about a street sprinkler that was going to be used on the streets of Albuquerque, or did we dream it, or was it as far back as a campaign promise?

BURYING MISTAKES

PICTURE a funeral passing your house with 38,000 hearses, each hearse containing an American business firm.

That gives you an accurate idea of the number of business failures since prices began to tumble in May, 1920.

But all is not gloom. Standing thoughtfully on the curbstones, watching their deceased brethren going to Dun & Bradstreet's cemetery, are nearly 2,000,000 business organizations that have weathered the storm without sinking.

In two years of very severe depression, only one business in each 53 has failed.

In a flash this illustrates the great underlying strength of our business organization, the Gibraltar that cannot be toppled by any storm.

As usual, of course, attention centers on the ships that sink. Ships that weather the storm are ignored. Thus the financial ocean, like the Seven Seas, gets a worse reputation than it really deserves.

In May, only 1960 failures. Many will snort and wonder why the "only."

If they turn back four months, they find 2723 failures in January.

Steadily the storm subsides. Observing this, young blood desires to put to sea—to try its hand. So, in May, 954 new companies were incorporated in the principal states, with capital of $100,000 or more apiece. Thousands of smaller ones also ventured forth. They are the rowboats.

How much did they fail for? That is the important question. Failures, during the depression that now is nearing its end, have had total liabilities or debts at a rate of about $600,000,000 a year.

Assets have averaged enough to pay about 50 cents on $1.

The total net loss, due to failures, has been running around $300,000,000 a year—or about $3 a year for each American. That, after all, is not such a big price to pay for getting out of the woods.

WHO'S A DUMB-BELL?

A "COMMISSION OF EXPERTS" investigates the inmates of the Ionia reformatory, Michigan. It applies the army psychology test and placidly announces that the percentage of inmates of average mentality is greater than that of drafted men who served in the American army during the world war.

This probably strikes you as ridiculous. It takes a report like this Ionia "finding" to show up the bunk of the average intelligence test.

You have seen such tests. They run like this: "If black is white, place a cross here—but if a cow has three horns underscore 'horns' and then state 'yes' or 'no' whether a circle is square," etc., etc.

While the above is a burlesque on the average mentality test, it is fully as sane and sensible as the real thing.

The trouble with the mentality tests is that they grade intellect according to mental agility and cunning.

Outside of geniuses, the highest grade of brain is slow-thinking. If you have ever consulted a white-haired philosopher, you know that the oracle hears your case, ponders it with deliberation, views it from all angles, then in a terse sentence utters the decision of wisdom.

The fast thinker arrives at wrong conclusions often than the slow thinker.

The fast thinker usually is a surface thinker. A large part of humanity's time is devoted to correcting the errors of judgment on the part of the "snap judgment" boys who glanced, instead of looking thoroughly, before leaping.

After all, what is intelligence? A hard question to answer, regardless of the expert who thinks that "everybody's out of step but me."

THE REFEREE
By Albert Apple

Raymond Pearl, professor at John Hopkins University, believes that our population has passed its most rapid period of growth.

From now on, he predicts, the increase will be slower and population 100 years hence will not be more than twice what it is now.

It is futile to attempt to forecast economic problems that will bother our descendants in the year 2022, for life then will differ from the present even more startlingly than 1922 differs from 1922.

With twice as many people, there probably will be twice as many problems.

TOBACCO

Anti-tobacco campaign, conducted by the blue-law faction, has started. The National Cigar Leaf Protection Association bears the flag from its president, George E. Miller, at its convention in Atlantic City.

The campaign against Lady Nicotine may be making a map, but it is not dead. Before long, we may be fighting something, or they haven't any jobs.

Whether we favor it or not, tobacco prohibition may come eventually, though it seems as improbable now as liquor prohibition seemed 50 years ago.

CHAPTER X BROADCASTING

"My Ruth—carried off—on the Sea Vamp!"

Nita Walden repeated her words hysterically over the telephone. Garrick knew that there was no time now to campaign his fears.

"I'll be out there with you—in a few minutes," he shouted.

Dick was still in a daze at the unexpectedness of the blow. Mechanically he followed Garrick and climbed into the car. As it started and turned down the road to Nonowantie, the cool of the damp evening air seemed to collect his faculties. He noticed for the first time where they were headed.

"Why this way, Guy? Why not to New York?"

"I want to see Nita Walden first, and reassure her, I promised her."

"But—it's Ruth first."

"Well, the Club isn't far."

"Yes—but the city—the police—"

"Wait, Dick. I know what I am doing."

Nita Walden was overwhelmed by her daughter's peril. Ruth's other escapades were nothing compared to this. Up and down the room she paced, choking back her sobs, waiting for Garrick's arrival. Some moments she would stand before Ruth's picture wondering what was happening to her. Others she would try to calm herself and relax in an easy chair in vain effort to concentrate on her task as if that might bring her back.

She was transfix when Garrick arrived.

"It's a ransom they want."

"Guy, I'm a dad. In my own home, too. Never thought of the Rock Lodge broadcasting station. Besides, from Rock Lodge I can alarm the police of the world. Every ship, every amateur station, on any wavelength—the wireless world is open to me here!"

"That's it," cried Glenn. "Let me go with you."

"No, Doctor, put him up where he can get over this quick. I'll need you, boy, tomorrow, need you badly. Get in shape."

Garrison obeyed with, for him, good grace and in a moment, with the full story, Garrick and Dick were racing to the police station. Garrick, by the police, for stolen cars—missing persons—all sorts of crimes—is getting to be a greater success every day," cried Garrick, trying to pump enthusiasm into the crushed Dick and with success.

"Guy, I'm a dad. In my own home, too. Never thought of the Rock Lodge broadcasting station. Of course, XYX can do it."

There were no formalities necessary at the Radio Central for a combination like Garrick and Dick, who was a constant frequenter of the place.

They soon found themselves in a small room, quite plain except for the decorations that were artistically arranged to hide the bare walls. There were a few plants and flowers about, also. At one end stood a beautiful piano of the latest model, with the best known artists had in reality played on it; all had played on it through the perforated paper rolls. There were phonographs of all the standard well-known makes and on the other side an automatic organ.

A small table with a silk-shaded lamp added a touch of hominess and there were a few, not many, deep easy chairs.

But the most important piece of furniture which interested Garrick more than anything else, as the attendant explained them in, was the cabinet containing the lamps and plenty of switches and wiring, comprising what is known as the modulating equipment. It was a wooden framework covered with copper screening to prevent the delicate apparatus from being disturbed by electrical and magnetic influences within the room itself.

They had agreed that the first thing to be done was to fix it so that the "Sea Vamp" could not be moved away and Ruth had insisted that she be driven over to disable the engines and make it impossible.

"But why?" asked Dick.

"Why don't you get it?" The "Sea Vamp" was really the floating greenhouse for a lot of wild goods we were dealing in for Georges and the rest. That was Brock's real job.

"I see," encouraged Garrick. And Ruth thought they might move the boat away. So she started to prevent that—and left me the note about it."

"Yes," nodded Glenn, adjusting the bandage more comfortably. "Well, when we got over there it was dark. There wasn't even the light on the boat. Ruth figured that Brock and everybody were away and it was a good time to do what she wanted. We got a canoe and paddled out. There wasn't a soul around. We climbed aboard and went down to the little dressing room. It was beastly dark. I was thinking about for the switch the next thing I knew I heard a scream from Ruth—then something or somebody must have left me off. I put his hand up carefully but did not touch the bandage back of his ear, and that's the last thing I knew until I came to in the water, half full of the harbor. Must have knocked me cold and overboard. I managed to get to the other shore and some people in a bungalow got the doc."

"What was it?" asked Dick.

"Not that one," said Ruth. "I had a vague feeling there were a couple at least back of me."

Dick stared at Garrick. "Vira—Vira," he uttered the name, suspiciously. "Wasn't it really a final adventure in the double triangle of Ruth, himself and Jack, Vira, Rae and Glenn?"

"No," Dick mumbled sarcastically with a side glance at Garrick. "Ruth knew very well what she was doing, eh?"

Garrison was too big to take offense. "Dick," he replied merely, "Ruth confided in me, that morning at the Union. She's really clever. You know it as well as I do."
