GOOD NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

New Mexico's Prospects Growing More Luminous Every Day.

Special to the New Mexican.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The delegates are now making every minute count. Time in which to accomplish their purposes is getting short, and with this in view they put in full time to the best advantage.

Yesterday was a big day for them. They called on Sec. Rusk, Land Commissioner Groff, Secretary of the Navy Tracy and Minister Romero, of Mexico. In each and every instance they were given a most hearty reception, and were greeted with good words by every one for New Mexico.

Secy. Rusk told a good joke on Rev. Harwood. He said that this reverend gentleman and friend of New Mexico had remarked to an audience that he had been looking for grasses grown in New Mexico without the aid of irrigation.

The secretary of the navy wanted to know something about statehood for New Mexico and took a kindly interest in the matter.

Gen. Groff says he is with the delegates for anything they want. He had given New Mexico matters no little attention and felt that many radical changes could be made for the better.

Minister Romero, of Mexico, gave the delegates a royal greeting. He expressed himself in sympathy with their cause, and suggested the drafting of a resolution asking congress to call for the correspondence from the state department of his country over the failure of the United States to settle land grant titles.

Up to date the work is very satisfactory and New Mexico's prospects are growing more luminous every day.

Senator Beck's Funeral.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Under a drizzling sky the remains of the late Senator Beck were borne yesterday morning to the capitol, arriving at the east front of the senate wing. The casket was borne up the steps to the marble room, where it was visited by several hundred people before its removal into the senate chamber. After the formal opening of the senate a short recess was taken. About 1 o'clock the senate reconvened. The house, representatives of the supreme court, diplomatic corps, and the president and cabinet appeared and took their seats. Then the casket was borne out by a detail of capitol police, followed by the official bodies and the senate adjourned until tomorrow. The casket was followed by the funeral procession of the senate and house, the president, cabinet and mourners, and taken to the Baltimore & Potomac depot and put aboard a special train for convenience to Kentucky. The special train carrying the remains and those accompanying them started at 3 o'clock p. m. It is scheduled to reach Lexington in the morning. The funeral will be held Thursday.

A Great Walker.

DENVER, May 6.—A Laramie (Colo.) special to the Republican says: J. S. Harman, who is trying to walk from Washington, Ind., to San Francisco within sixty-five days on a wage of $10,000, arrived here at 7 o'clock this evening. He is now 1,498 miles from the starting point and 320 miles ahead of schedule time. This is the half way point and he is waiting for orders from his manager, who he left at Coolidge, Kan., to secure fresh horses. Accompanying him on horseback are Messrs. Drummond, Gehlert and McDonald. Fourteen horses have already played out, being unable to stand the strain. His route from here will be via La Junta and Trinidad. He is looking well and shows no appearance of fatigue, although he has lost twelve pounds of flesh since he started.

Army Matters.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—It is reasonably certain that the bill for the reorganization of the signal corps will become law this session. The commissioned force of the corps at the present time consists of the chief signal officer Gen. Greeley, and thirteen second lieutenants. In addition to the chief signal officer the pending bill provides for one major, four captains, mounted, and four first lieutenants, mounted. These places are to be filled by appointment from the army, including the signal corps, and preference is to be given to officers who have rendered long and efficient service in the signal service. It also provides that any of the 2d lieutenants now in the corps who may not be appointed in the organized field corps, shall be transferred to the line of the army with their present dates of commissions. It is expected that the majorship and the four captaincies will be filled by the selection of officers from other branches of the service, who have been detailed for duty in the signal service.

The names mentioned in connection with the majorship are those of Captains John P. Storey and R. P. Strong, 4th artillery, Capt. Robert Craig, of the quartermaster department. Capt. Storey is regarded as the most likely to be chosen. The captaincies will probably be filled by Capt. H. H. C. Dunwoody, 4th artillery; Capt. James Allen, 3rd cavalry; 1st Lieut. C. E. Kilbourne, 2d artillery, and 1st Lieut. James A. Buchanan, 14th infantry. At least three of the 1st lieutenants will undoubtedly go to the 2d lieutenants of the corps, Lieuts. William

A. Glasford, John P. Finley and Joseph E. Maxwell being regarded as the probable appointments. The remaining 1st lieutenancy may also go to the signal corps, but 1st Lieut. T. M. Woodruff, 5th infantry, and 1st Lieut. R. E. Thompson, 6th infantry, are spoken of for it.

The non-commissioned force of the corps is to be fifty sergeants, ten of them of the first class, with the pay and allowances of hospital stewards. The new corps will have charge of all the military telegraph lines now in operation, and officers and sergeants will be detailed to give instructions in signaling all kinds of telegraphy at the military school at West Point, Fortress Monroe, Fort Leavenworth and Fort Riley.

Returns from departmental examining boards in the cases of aspirants from the ranks for commissions in the army now being received at the war department show even fewer successful candidates than last year, when the number was unusually small. Only four have thus far been recommended for appointment. Sergeant James F. Dodge, 11th infantry; Corporal Henry J. Hunt, 1st infantry; Sergeant John R. Seyburn, 15th infantry, and Quartermaster Sergeant Jules C. Ord, of the department of Dakota is the only one yet to be heard from, and not more than one case is expected from there, so that the total number of 2d lieutenants promoted from the ranks this year will not exceed five.

WASHINGTON MATTERS.

FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Delegate Joseph, of New Mexico, today introduced a bill granting land to the territory of New Mexico for common school, university and other purposes. It provides for a very generous allotment of land to the territory. It grants four sections in every township numbered 8, 16, 24 and 32 for the support of the common schools, and grants 50 per cent of the proceeds from the sale of public lands for a permanent school fund, and grants 100,000 acres of land for each of these purposes: Public building, penitentiary, university, insane asylum, deaf and dumb institute, school of mines, normal and reform school, and grants 150,000 acres for the establishment of permanent water reservoirs.

CENSUS WORK.

In a month the actual work of taking the census will begin. The preparations are now well under way and the busiest place just now in connection with the census work is in the warehouse in this city where the population schedules are stored. There are some 24,000 of these schedules, and a force of men is hard at work packing them into boxes to be sent to the census supervisors to be distributed among the enumerators. They are packed in boxes, which weigh, when full, 237 pounds. There are to be 4,500 boxes in all, and by the end of the present week, it is expected that they will all be shipped. The boxes are sent by mail. They are perhaps the bulkiest pieces of mail matter that have yet been received in a postal car.

Destructive Cyclone.

NEW ORLEANS, May 7.—The Picayune's Granberry, Texas, special says: A destructive cyclone visited Salt Creek, in the eastern portion of Hood county, yesterday afternoon. The beginning of serious trouble was at the residence of Lee Rhodes, twelve miles east of that place. Miss Della Carmichael, aged 17, was instantly killed, also Mary Carmichael, aged 1, and a little baby of Mrs. Gibbs. Mrs. Rhodes and her 12 year old daughter, Mrs. Gibbs and her 10 year old daughter, Tillie, are seriously injured. Other children in the house were bruised.

At Fall Creek John Manley's house was wrecked and he was seriously injured. Charles Houston's house was demolished and Mrs. E. E. Ewing hurt. Many other houses were damaged and the inmates more or less severely hurt.

At Acton four people were killed and a number seriously injured. Many houses were demolished in that vicinity.

At Robin Creek, in Hood county, eight persons were killed, five of whom belonged to the family of Geo. Griffin. A heavy hail storm fell throughout that section and doing immense damage to crops.

News from Graham, in Young county, says: A heavy hail storm fell here yesterday. The hail completely ruined the vegetation. Wheat, oats and corn were completely beaten into the ground and the fruit of this section is all ruined.

U. S. Sub-Treasurer.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The term of office of the United States sub-treasurer at Chicago, expired yesterday and consequently the friends of the many applicants for the position have been very active for the past few days. All those seeking the office are very hopeful, it is supposed because the president up to the present has not intimated a preference for either one of them. The applicants who reside in Chicago are confident that one of their number will be selected, as they argue the president having gone to the southern part of Illinois to get a man to fill the pension office he can not afford the local organization by giving the sub-treasurership to a man who is not known to the party workers in the city. The matter will be disposed of at an early day, as the president feels that no matter whom he appoints he is bound to make enemies for himself in the city in which he was nominated.

Strike News.

CHICAGO, May 7.—The carpenters' strike was finally settled to-day, when representatives of the carpenters' council and the new Boss Carpenters' association signed the agreement reached by the arbitration committee yesterday. There now seems to be no prospect of a settlement of the coal miners' strike. According to the News, a general strike of 30,000 miners is imminent. About 12,000 now are out. The demand is for an increase 7 1/2 cents per ton.

AN AWFUL CALAMITY.

One Hundred and Twenty-five Persons Perish in the Flames.

MONTREAL, May 7.—The insane asylum at Longue Pointe, nine miles from here, caught fire at 11:30 yesterday morning, and at 2 o'clock was a mass of flames with no hope of saving the building from utter destruction. As near as can be calculated, there were from 100 to 150 inmates in the building with no chance of escape. The fire apparatus at the asylum is utterly inadequate and several machines have been forwarded from here on a special train. The sights in the grounds surrounding the institution are horrible beyond description. Hundreds of inmates, male and female, are grouped together, gibbering and in a frenzied condition. The nuns are making every effort to control them and allay their fears, and as rapidly as possible the poor creatures are being removed to a place of shelter in the neighborhood. At 2:10 a detachment of the Montreal fire department arrived on the scene. The excitement among the inmates in the grounds finally became so great that a detachment of the Montreal police force was ordered out to assist the guard. There were 1,300 people in the asylum when the fire broke out.

At 3 o'clock the firemen are still working and have succeeded in rescuing several, in many instances at the risk of their own lives. Thousands of persons are flocking to the scene from this city and surrounding country. Nuns, doctors and other attendants are besieged with anxious inquiries after friends or relatives. One doctor, connected with the institute, said this afternoon that there was very little commotion among the inmates when the alarm was given, and they for the most part walked out quickly. Some, however, refused to leave and had to be taken out by force. Those who perished were the inmates on the top floor. Efforts to learn the names so far prove futile, as those rescued are so scattered that no roll can be called. All the books and records were saved. Two firemen fell from a high ladder and were badly hurt.

Chicago, May 7.—A Montreal special says it is certainly known that at least 125 patients have perished in the flames. The scene during the fire was heart rending. The agonized patients fought and screamed as the flames walled them in. Some jumped from the windows and others from the roof. The building, which cost $1,000,000, is a complete wreck.

He Never Said It.

To the Editor of the New Mexican.

Santa Fe, N. M., May 7, 1890.—Referring to the alleged interview of the Chicago Tribune reporter with Gov. Prince, in which the latter was reported as having used the word "greasers" with reference to the Mexicans of this territory, I say I never believed, nor do I now believe that the governor ever used such language. It is not like him. He is too much of a gentleman and, to say the least, too clever a politician for that. I think this is the most malicious calumny ever heaped on a man who, appreciating our people, has always come to the front in the defense of our character whenever attacked. I have said, Yours, etc., PEDRO SANCHEZ.

Recruits for the Pen.

Sheriff D. C. Novak, of Lincoln county with two of his deputies, D. W. Roberts and Demetrius Perea, came in this morning in charge of five prisoners for the penitentiary.

The names of the convicts, together with their crimes and sentences, are as follows:

Antonio Valdez, stealing a gun, one year.

Francisco Armas, horse stealing, two years.

John Thomas, theft of a saddle, one year.

Claude Camp, larceny of jewelry, one year.

Avram Miller, stealing a mule, one year.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

J. D. C. Chavez has been appointed postmaster at Jaquez, N. M.

Is the poll tax in Santa Fe county being used for political purposes? Let us hear about it?

Is the little matter of collection of taxes in Santa Fe county being used for political purposes? Let us hear about that?

D. F. Carr, of Georgetown, is reported, will be a candidate for the legislature on the Republican ticket from Grant county.

Hon. Frank Springer, of Las Vegas, is mentioned for the nomination for congress. The Republicans could do no better.

Jack Young, a hard working and energetic Republican living at Arroyo Seco, will likely receive the nomination for one of the members of the house from Taos county.

W. S. Frazer, a young and well known business man of Roswell, is talked of for one of the nominations on the legislative ticket from Lincoln county on the Republican side.

The officers of the Republican territorial league must bestir themselves if they would make the coming meeting at Santa Fe a success. There is not much time ahead.

DESPERADOES AT LAMY.

Two Men Terrorize the Town and Hold up a Number of Prominent Citizens—Also Hold up Two Trains.

Wm. A. Sayle Accidentally Shoots Himself—The Robbers Supposed to be Lee White and Trujillo.

Last night just after the midnight hour the little town of Lamy was thrown into the wildest excitement over the fact that two men were robbing everybody they could find.

About 2 o'clock this morning two men on horseback rode up to Wm. A. Sayle's store, at the junction, called the proprietor out and demanded feed for their horses and themselves. They covered Mr. Sayle with guns and ordered him to be in a hurry, as they had no time to lose. Mr. Sayle told the men to help themselves, which they did. They fed their horses grain and then made a bunch of canned goods. After finishing lunch they took about two dozen boxes of cartridges and left the store. They returned in a few minutes and under cover of guns demanded Mr. Sayle to give up his money. The latter said he had just returned from Santa Fe, where he had deposited all his money and that they were welcome to all he had. The robbers accepted the statement and left the store.

About this time Conductor Getchell and a brakeman of the A. T. & S. F. saw a light in the store and went over to see what was going on. They were told about the robbers, who, in the meantime had gone over to the station, where they held up night Operator Tyler and John Richards, the baggage master. They relieved Tyler of a gold watch and chain and $5 in money and also took Richards' gold watch. Richards recognized one of the men as Lee White, whose reputation savors of midnight robbery and murder, and asked that his watch be returned. White asked him if he could not get along without it, and being answered in the negative, gave the watch up.

At this juncture Conductor Getchell and the brakeman entered the office and were compelled to submit to the fate of the operator and baggage master. Getchell being relieved of two gold watches and $42 in money.

The robbers then asked for the station agent, saying that they wanted to rob the safe and that they must have it opened by the agent. They were told that the agent was asleep in his room, when they left. The next place they brought up was the engine house. Here they found Engineer Boardman, a fireman and a coal heaver, whom they also held up. They got a gold watch and a pistol from the engineer, a watch from the fireman and also a watch from the coal heaver.

While this was going on the employees at the railroad office went over to Sayle's store, and after remaining a short time found that the robbers had fled, going in the direction of the charcoal camp, a short distance up the canon from Lamy. Mr. Sayle then hailed a train, intending to go to the camp in order to put his brother on his guard, and warn him of the impending danger. He took a double barreled shotgun, loaded with buckshot. He sat on the fireman's bench in the engine cab, and had only gone a little ways when the gun was accidentally discharged, its contents striking Mr. Sayle on the inside of the thigh, passing around the side of his head and lodged in the back of his neck.

The wounded man was taken back to the station, where his wounds were dressed, although without the aid of a physician.

He was brought to Santa Fe on the early morning train and placed in St. Vincent's hospital, where he is receiving medical attention. He was very weak from the loss of blood this morning, and has been unconscious most of the day. The attending physician thinks his recovery doubtful.

Mr. Sayle's little child and two brothers came in from Lamy on the noon train and are now with him. His wife was in Santa Fe visiting and met him when he came in this morning. She has been at his bedside all day and is almost heart-broken.

The last seen of the robbers they were going east and are supposed to be in hiding in the mountains.

A section foreman by the name of Hale, in describing the Mexican, said that he was a low, heavy set fellow, bearing a scar on his forehead, which is a good description of the notorious Trujillo.

Quintero, the coal heaver who was robbed, was formerly a guard at the penitentiary. He said that he was too much excited to notice either of the robbers.

The two men succeeded in holding up two trains at the junction, and robbing the conductors of their watches and a small amount of money. At Cerrillos Constable Bartholomew was called up and put on guard.

The readers of the New Mexican will remember that only a short time ago Lee White was captured and incarcerated in jail for holding up a man at Cerrillos, and that he was subsequently released on bond of $1,000 for his appearance at the next term of the district court.

The following are the names of persons whose signatures are attached to the bond which was accepted and approved by Sheriff Chavez: Cassie White, S. C. White and Richard Giffin. White is also under bond of $1,000 to appear before a justice of the peace at Cerrillos, to answer to the charge of horse stealing.

In response to a telegram from Hon. R. E. Twitchell, district attorney, John W. Richards, the baggage master, one of the party held up at Lamy came to Santa Fe this afternoon and made complaint against Lee White before Candelario Martinez, J. P. A warrant was issued for White's arrest and placed in the hands of the sheriff.

It has been arranged that the delegation shall appear before the senate committee on territories on Monday or Tuesday, and Senator Edmunds is to be waited upon about Wednesday. About Thursday the delegates will begin preparing for their return home, though some of them will remain possibly ten days longer.

On Monday night it is expected that final action will be had by the delegation to see if all differences on the statehood question can be settled. This has been delayed owing to Mr. Gildersleeve's absence in Boston.

At a meeting of the delegation Thursday night it was decided to incorporate in the bill prepared by Judge Hazledine and introduced by Mr. Baker, amendments asking for double the ordinary allotment of land for educational purposes; also $50,000 acres to aid in paying off the penitentiary debt, similar to Wyoming and Idaho's bill, and also $30,000 to reimburse New Mexico for the expenses of the constitutional convention. Judge Trimble voted nay on the last proposition, but as the other territories had been provided for in this respect, a majority of the delegates feel that New Mexico could at least make a similar demand.

As soon as all amendments proposed are added to the Baker bill a copy of the measure will be forwarded to the New Mexican.

The funeral of the late Hon. J. M. Perea took place this morning instead of yesterday, as stated in last evening's New Mexican. A number of prominent citizens of this city, among them Hon. Antonio Ortiz y Salazar, territorial treasurer, went down to be present at the last sad rites.

John Hampel, the popular tinner and who always does first class work in the roofing line, left this morning for San Juan, where he has a job of roofing several houses. He will be away eight days. He has more business than he can well attend to. Industry and reliable work are bound to tell.

Messila Grapes.

The Messila grape has long been noted for its size, juiciness and flavor, and claim has been made that Messila valley is the grape and fruit producing center of New Mexico. The Las Cruces Republican says: Grapes and fruit are shipped from this valley to Texas and to every point in New Mexico. There seems to be but one grape in the territory that makes any pretension of entering the market with the grapes of this section, and that is the Bernalillo grape, which is raised in a small district near Albuquerque. But the Messila valley is not only in much greater demand than the Bernalillo, but commands a much larger price, 4½ cents per pound finding a ready market in Albuquerque for the Messila valley grape, while but 3 cents per pound is obtained for the Bernalillo.
