WATERWAY CONVENTION ELECTS OFFICERS AND ADJOURNS

All the Old Officers Were Re-elected With Exception of One of Governing Board.

OCKERSON DISCUSSES EUROPEAN METHODS

Tells What Is Being Done With Waterways by Old Countries—Shonts Talks About Future of River and Railway Transportation.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Business at the closing session of the fourth annual convention of the Lakes-to-Gulf Deep Waterways association was transacted today at a rapid rate. All the old officers, with the exception of D. R. Forgan of Chicago, as a member of the board of governors, were re-elected. Forgan retired in favor of E. J. Conway of Chicago. New Orleans had no opposition for the next convention and it will be held at that city.

The speakers of the day were Theodore P. Shonts of New York and John A. Ockerson of St. Louis. Shonts discussed "The Future of Rail and River Transportation," and Ockerson told "What Europe Is Doing With Its Waterways."

As stated by your chairman, I had the honor of appearing as an official delegate of the United States at the Eleventh International Congress of Navigation held at St. Petersburg last June.

The Mississippi river commission was particularly desirous of ascertaining what was being done in the way of construction and operation of dredging plants of great capacity, and particular attention was paid to this subject.

Nature has not done for European waterways what it has for us and yet they have been developed and improved until they have become most important factors in economical transportation.

One waterway visited, has been enlarged and deepened four times to keep pace with the increasing demands of commerce until now they have a depth of twenty-seven feet.

The Kaiser Wilhelm canal, but a few years old, has already been found inadequate and a project has been adopted to go to the width and increase the depth to forty feet at a cost of a million dollars per mile.

Berlin is ambitious to be a seaport and a project for a maritime canal from the Baltic sea is under way.

Brussels, Ghent and Bruges are engaged on similar projects.

Russia has an elaborate project in view for enlarging the waterway from the Baltic sea to the Caspian, a project not unlike our own from the lakes to the gulf.

Germany, France and Austria are devoting their energies to the construction of canals and the improvement of their streams.

Great Britain has a royal commission appointed for the purpose of ascertaining the feasibility of developing an elaborate system of waterways which will involve an expenditure larger than the total amount expended on our rivers and harbors up to date.

Throughout an extended tour of the Russian waterways from the Baltic sea to the Volga river, a continuous stream of traffic was encountered. In the river Lek and its connecting canal to Amsterdam, the traffic amounts to over sixty thousand vessels of all kinds per annum.

In a few hours ride on the Danube river, over a hundred separate craft were passed.

The Rhine and the Elbe have a large amount of traffic, the ports of Rotterdam and Hamburg are filled with hundreds of river craft exchanging their cargoes for return loads from distant ports.

In the face of such facts can it be doubted there is an active demand for this sort of transportation and that it meets an actual want.

We are told that the traffic from the lakes to the gulf would practically move in one direction only, and boats must needs return without a cargo, hence it would not become a satisfactory freight carrier. That is also essentially true of railways and steamships as well. However desirable it might be to move full loads in both directions, the opposite condition is almost universal and does not apply with any special force to this project.

Experience in the past and the practice on other streams shows that we have little to fear on this score. On the Colorado river the great bulk of the traffic moves against the current and a very considerable amount on other European rivers is similarly moved. Some of the European streams have such steep slopes and rapid currents that chain haulage is resorted to with good results.

The Manchester ship canal has been cited as a waterway failure. It is true that the shareholders have received no dividends on their stock, but they have large business interests in the city of Manchester and these have been so materially benefited that the money expended in the construction of the canal is generally regarded as a good investment.

The greatest rivers in France, Germany and the adjacent countries are small when compared with the Mississippi, yet they have done wonders in their development.

Here we have the Mississippi supplemented by the Great Lakes constituting a reservoir of such vast proportions that the money diverted to the Gulf for purposes of navigation can not lower their surface to an appreciable extent. With such decided advantage we would fall far short of our duty did we not project a waterway of such great proportions that it would fully meet all requirements for many years to come.

The work of developing an adequate channel will be a grand one, but the benefits to accrue will also be great.

It is a great work worthy of the earnest consideration of a great nation and you may feel sure that the American engineer will not fall behind his European brothers, but will carry to successful completion such project for a deep waterway as Congress may adopt.

The resolutions adopted declare that the opening of a deep waterway channel connecting the Great Lakes with the Gulf of Mexico is the imperative duty of the general government and that this work should be immediately begun and completed as speedily as possible. The resolutions also endorse the recent movement for the conservation of natural resources of the country.

PEARLSTINE WILL LECTURE FOR WOODMEN

Former Albuquerquean, Now of Cheyenne, Is Appointed to Lodge Position.

The appointment of S. S. Pearlstine, formerly of this city and now of Cheyenne, Wyo., to the position of lecturer of the Modern Woodmen of the division of Wyoming will be received by the many friends of the former Albuquerquean in this city with much pleasure.

Mr. Pearlstine for several years was engaged in the stenographic business with offices in the Rotherberg-Schloss cigar store on Central avenue, and though a law graduate of the University of Virginia, '04, poor health was the cause of his not pursuing his chosen profession. However, his health having greatly improved in the last year, he moved to Cheyenne, where he proceeded to open a law office, where, through his untiring efforts and excellent ability in his line, he has succeeded in building up a most profitable law business.

His most excellent likeness of Mr. Pearlstine is displayed in a Cheyenne paper of a very recent edition, and that paper has the following to say in regard to the young man's new appointment.

Neighbor S. S. Pearlstine of the Modern Woodmen of America and Royal Neighbors of America, whose picture appears herewith, has received the appointment of state lecturer for Wyoming from Head Consul A. E. Talbot, and from the recommendations sent in there is no doubt that Neighbor Pearlstine is fully able and will do justice to that important office. He was born at Branchville, S. C., and graduated from the Charleston high school in 1899, with the fifth honor for his class. During 1899-1900, he attended the famous McCab's University school at Richmond, Va., where he entered the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va., in the law department, from which he graduated in 1904. After a short stay in Albuquerque and Denver, Neighbor Pearlstine settled in Cheyenne, where his hard work is building up a good practice in his chosen profession. He is also a member of six other prominent societies.

The article further states that the field work of this organization for which Mr. Pearlstine has been appointed lecturer for the Wyoming division, in New Mexico is starting off with a rush and that large camps are being organized in Roswell, Albuquerque, Raton and other points throughout the territory. New Mexico has several thousand old members, all of whom are taking an active interest in seeing the banner of their favorite order planted in every town and city in this territory. With such leaders as State Deputy Dwyer in the lead, Eubank, Greiner and others in the field in New Mexico, success of this order is assured.

RESOLUTIONS CAUSE A BITTER FIGHT IN CONGRESS

Session at San Francisco Today Has Big Work In Adopting Report of Committee.

WESTERN MAN FOR SECRETARY OF INTERIOR

Congress Will Urge That the Next President Appoint Someone From the West to That Department—Officers Installed Today.

San Francisco, Oct. 9.—The installation of the newly elected officers occupied the opening hours of the fourth day's session of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress, today, followed by the presentation of the report of the committee on resolutions.

This committee has been busily engaged ever since its appointment during the first day's session, sifting the great mass of proposed resolutions presented by the delegates. Several sharp battles have occurred, particularly over the parcels post resolution, which was adversely reported by the sub-committee to which it was referred. A fight having for its object the carrying of the resolution despite the committee's veto is expected when the report is brought before the congress.

Another resolution which will be presented and in which a great interest is being taken is the one urging the next president of the United States to appoint a western man as secretary of the interior. The Kansas delegation is straining every nerve to have the congress endorse J. B. Case of Abilene, former president of the congress, for this position, and it appears to have considerable strength with the other delegations.

San Francisco, Oct. 9.—The installation of the newly elected officers occupied the opening hours of the fourth day's session of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress, today, followed by the presentation of the report of the committee on resolutions.

TRYING TO ARRANGE CONFERENCE OF POWERS

Russian Minister Goes to Paris and London to Arrange for Meeting to Consider Action of Bulgaria and Austria Hungary.

Belgrade, Serbia, Oct. 9.—The immediate danger point in the Balkan situation is calming down today and in this direction it was yesterday. The powers, notably Great Britain and France, have warned the Serbian king to control his people and sane counsel prevails in Belgrade, where it is beginning to be realized that a war with Austria-Hungary would mean national suicide. Austria-Hungary shows no apprehension over the Serbian ebullience.

Great Britain has dispatched a fleet to the Turkish island of Lemnos, probably at the request of Turkey. The presence of the fleet in the Aegean sea will exert a calming influence.

Turkey has protested to the powers against the annexation of the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria-Hungary and the Turkish imperial commissioner at Sofia has been instructed to continue the discharge of his duties as neither the porte nor the powers recognize the independence of Bulgaria. This may lead to some overt act against the imperial commissioner.

M. Lwowiski, Russian minister of foreign affairs, has left Paris for London to continue his efforts for calling an international conference. France is convinced that if any acceptable program can be decided on an outbreak may be avoided by diplomacy.

No credence is given the rumor that the forts at Constantinople fired on a Bulgarian vessel. The report originated with the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger and is without confirmation from any source.

Servians Less Excited.

Vienna, Oct. 9.—Official advice received here this morning declares that the situation at Belgrade, Serbia, is improving and the general excitement among the Servians is calming down. In Vienna fears of a war with Serbia are noticeably less. The morning papers, however, warn Serbia not to play with fire, as Austria will not stand any nonsense.

Is Not Recognized.

Constantinople, Oct. 9.—The porte has instructed the imperial Ottoman commissioner resident at Sofia to continue his functions as neither Turkey nor the powers have recognized the Bulgarian independence.

British Ships Going.

Valetta, Island of Malta, Oct. 9.—Several British warships here have been instructed to sail under sealed orders. The destination is believed to be the Turkish island of Lemnos. The fleet includes two battleships and two cruisers.

Affects the Markets.

London, Oct. 9.—Trading on the stock exchange opened weak and unsettled owing to the political situation, especially on the departure of the British warships from Malta. Market business developed at noon when Paris, Vienna and Berlin started selling. Consols slumped and American securities shared in the general depression. Later, however, Americans showed a tendency to revive and consols recovered on better news from Vienna.

New York, Oct. 9.—International securities suffered a violent decline at the opening of the stock exchange today, the occasion being the increased tension in the eastern European situation. Active American securities also receded. Selling was largely for continental account. The market steadied after the opening but the undertone continued feverish and uncertain.

CLEVER EXHIBITION AT SOLDIER'S SMOKER

Mainly Art of Self Defense Demonstrated in Several Bouts—Good Program Given.

The infantry and cavalry were jointly entertained with a very pleasant smoker at Convention hall last evening. The boys were the guests of honor and occupied seats on the lower floor while spectators were admitted to the gallery, for which a small charge was made, the proceeds going to the soldier boys. Dressed in their best uniforms, the representatives of Uncle Sam's fighting forces made a good showing and beyond a doubt all enjoyed the evening's entertainment to a very marked degree.

The evening's amusement was started with several selections by the infantry band. The club composed of five gifted soldier musicians. The boys played exceptionally well and their efforts were highly appreciated as was plainly visible by the amount of applause accorded their efforts. They were forced to respond with an encore after which the announcement was made that a three-round bout would be fought between Sergeant Waite of Company C and Private Madden of Company A. A ring had been formed with chairs, through the backs of which a thick rope was drawn and the improvised arena did very well. The two infantry pugilists were evenly matched, and as the bout was merely for exhibition purposes, showing the manly art of self defense, no damage was done.

The second bout was participated in by Private Hunt of Company D, and Kid Levine, a young fellow of pugilistic aspirations from San Francisco. The latter seemed to be outclassed.

The boxing event of the evening was the six-round exhibition bout between two local comers, George Cook, a local colored boy known in the ring as "Wildcat," and Kid Kamer. In this event, the spectators were given a little exhibit of the art of self defense as it should be applied and much applause was accorded each boxer.

The last bout was quite interesting although it was the general opinion of the spectators that the two men were unevenly matched, as to size, weight and reach. The two participating in this go were Sergeant Quinn of Company C, and Bob Walker, a Chicago pugilist, who is in the city. The go was a fast one and quite a little science was exhibited by both men, although much of the true account of the difference in reach and height of the two opponents, Quinn being much the larger man. The first three bouts were refereed by Mr. Walker while the last was refereed by one of the army boys who filled the bill most admirably.

Corporal Sharpe gave a clever exhibition of back and wing kicking, being accompanied by the Twenty-first Infantry Glee club who also sang several selections.

Trinidad won from Barleas this afternoon by the score of 6 to 4 in a ten-innings game at Traction park. The batteries were: Trinidad, Nichols, Galgano and Brierly; Barleas, Spear and Pettus.

By winning today Trinidad clinched first place in the tournament and is entitled to the first prize. Trinidad and Clifton play tomorrow.

HAMILTON FISH RESIGNS.

New York, Oct. 9.—Hamilton Fish, after being nominated for Congress, has resigned his position as assistant treasurer of the United States in this city. He sent his resignation to Washington the day after his nomination without being asked, simply because he thought this the proper course to pursue. President Roosevelt appointed him in 1903. The salary of the assistant treasurer is $3,000 a year. Fish's resignation goes into effect October 31, so he may have time to get the sub-treasury in shape to turn it over to his successor.

THEY CANNOT SMOKE.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Nearly one thousand of our very best citizens and several tourists from adjoining cities were today jostled off the South Side boulevards by sundry large, thick policemen and forced to do their speeding over ordinary streets. This was due to the discovery of a forgotten ordinance which forbids any vehicle on the boulevards which emits smoke or any "stinking odor."

PROGRAM FOR TONIGHT.

Montezuma hall at the Alva. Benefit concert by Mexican band, Convention hall. Fireworks at the exposition grounds.

SATURDAY, OCT. 10.

9 a. m. Exposition grounds open for admission. 10:30 a. m. Carnival attractions on the Camino Real. Band concert on Central avenue. 2 p. m. Horse racing at exposition grounds. 3:30 p. m. Baseball, Clifton. 4:30 p. m. Military drills, Indian races, cowboy races, Indian games, etc. 7:30 p. m. Grand carnival and parade. Parade will form at corner of Fifth street and Silver avenue. All military and other organizations attending the exposition will take part in the final grand demonstration. Five bands. Grand carnival ball at Convention hall. Music by the Mexican National band. Tickets $1. Ladies free in mask. Admission tickets to balcony for on-lookers, $1. Ladies accompanied by escorts free. Grand carnival and confetti battles.

Taft and Bryan.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 9.—Taft had a quiet day, occupying himself this morning with his correspondence.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 9.—Bryan left here today for Joliet and a trip through Illinois. After a short speech tour of this state, he will enter Missouri, where he makes a number of addresses.

For the best Rambouillet ram under one year, first prize of four dollars to Edgar T. Smith, of Seligman, Arizona; second prize to Edgar T. Smith, of Seligman, Arizona.

The Quilitch Implement & Vehicle company prize of a spring wagon for the best exhibit of wool was won by Mr. Edgar T. Smith, of Seligman, Arizona.

ANGUS MCGILLIVRAY, GEO. ARNOT, VICTOR SALS, Judges.

Respectfully submitted, CHAS. CHADWICK, SOLOMON LUNA, HARRY LEE, Committee in Charge of Sheep Exhibit.

DELIRIOUS MAN JUMPS FROM WINDOW

E. Stanton of Roy N. M. Sustains Fractured Skull From Fall and May Die.

After escaping from two sisters, a nurse and man attendant, who vainly strove to hold him, E. B. Stanton, 23 years old, a well-to-do merchant of Roy, N. M., sprang from a window in St. Joseph's hospital this morning and suffered a fracture of the skull which will undoubtedly result in his death. Mr. Stanton was delirious with the result of a severe attack of typhoid pneumonia. His temperature was 105. Besides being a powerful man, the fever gave him a frantic strength, which rendered the attendants powerless to hold him. Because of his delirious condition, the sisters and nurses had to hold him closely and a nurse could not get to them for the unfortunate accident, which they were powerless to prevent.

Mrs. Stanton, who came here from Roy with her husband was at the hospital at the time of the accident. She had just left her husband's room to summon his brother to the hospital by telephone a short time before the accident occurred.

The nurses had just bathed the patient and left the room, one of the sisters remaining at the bedside. According to the sister, Mr. Stanton suddenly sprang from the bed, gave her a violent shove with both fists, knocking her down, and started for the window. The sister seized the delirious patient by the night gown which he was wearing, and also pushed the electric button, sounding a general alarm for help in the corridor outside.

Another sister and a nurse were passing the room, and they went to the rescue. They struggled with the patient about the room but could not hold him. The window was opened but it was protected by a heavy wire screen. The patient sprang through the screen, with the three women struggling to hold him. They succeeded in keeping him from plunging out of the window but they could not drag him back into the room. He fought them frantically, almost dragging one of the sisters out of the window.

A man working in the yard below saw the struggle. He seized a ladder and, placing it under the window, climbed to the rescue. He was not able, however, to shove the patient back through the window. Another sister seized a mattress and was in the act of throwing it from a window above to the ground beneath the window where the patient was struggling, when he succeeded in freeing himself and fell. Witnesses of the arduous feat downward when he broke away from the nurses at the window. He struck the ground, however, head foremost and fractured his skull at the forehead. He struggled slightly and lay still. One of the nurses collapsed as a result of the fierce struggle. The sisters and attendants hurriedly carried the patient back into the hospital and a surgeon was summoned.

It is agreed by the donors of the William McIntosh cash prize and the Solomon Luna cash prize and all persons having made entries for said prizes both for wool and sheep, that said prizes be combined and that sixty per cent should go to the best exhibit of rams and forty per cent to the second best exhibit of rams.

PANAMA INQUIRY RESULTS IN ROW

Brothers, Who Brought Charges, Accused of Witness of Perjury.

New York, Oct. 9.—The inquiry into Panama canal discrimination charges was temporarily interrupted in a sensational manner today when W. A. Brothers, who brought the charges, publicly accused Spencer Miller, representative of the Laidgewood company, of perjury.

Brigadier General Garlington, who is conducting the inquiry, rapped repeatedly for order but there was such a commotion that for quite a while he could not make himself heard.

"There is only one side of this thing being heard anyway," shouted Brothers, above the din. "There is no use in my talking. You don't want to hear the truth. I will withdraw."

With that Brothers left the room and as Garlington was unable to restore order a temporary adjournment of the inquiry was ordered.

The results of the sheep exhibit at the International Industrial exposition show that New Mexico growers will be the winner of the prize. The prize will be taken all the honors. This became evident yesterday afternoon, when Angus McGillivray, George Arnot and Victor Sals, all well known sheep experts, awarded the prizes and gave most of them to growers from the sister territory.

Following is the report of the sheep exhibit, including the decisions of the judges: Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 8, 1908.

To Mr. W. S. Hopewell, President, Industrial Exposition and Twenty-eighth Annual New Mexico Fair. Sir: There were no entries for the silver cup offered by the American Livestock association for the best carload of range feeding lambs and the American National Livestock association therefore requested that its cup be offered for the best yearling ram offered for exhibition purposes.

There were no entries for the H. C. Abbott cash prize and therefore said prize should be returned to the donor.

It is agreed by the donors of the William McIntosh cash prize and the Solomon Luna cash prize and all persons having made entries for said prizes both for wool and sheep, that said prizes be combined and that sixty per cent should go to the best exhibit of rams and forty per cent to the second best exhibit of rams.

Roosevelt and Bryan

The effort of the Democratic press to couple the names of President Roosevelt and Wm. J. Bryan is about as successful as that of a few years ago to couple Mr. Bryan's name with that of Abraham Lincoln by Senator Ben Tillman. Mr. Bryan encourages this effort by complimenting President Roosevelt and asserting that the president stands for the Democratic platform and policies. But there is no excuse for misunderstanding the position of either President Roosevelt or Mr. Bryan. They have both been very free in expressing their views on all public questions and their expressions are public property. On the tariff the president has expressed himself unqualifiedly as a protectionist, and said that the tariff should not be revised until revision would do more good than harm to the great interests of the country. It should then be revised in harmony with the protective principle.

Mr. Bryan, one of the most radical opponents of protection. He declares that protection is robbery and that the tariff should be for revenue only. There is no more harmony between Roosevelt and Bryan on the tariff than there is between Speaker Cannon and John Sharpe Williams, or then there was between Wm. McKinley and Wm. D. Wilson, who was an open advocate of free trade.

There is the same radical disagreement between President Roosevelt and Mr. Bryan on the money question. The president is just as staunch an advocate of the gold standard as was President McKinley, and Mr. Bryan still believes that he was right in 1896 when he made his memorable campaign for free silver. They are as wide apart on this question as are the poles of the earth. These two recognized leaders of the two great political parties have no views in common on any of the old issues, nor have they anything in common in their views on the Philippines. And on the latest issue of Mr. Bryan's they are just as far apart as was Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis back in 1861.

President Roosevelt believes in government control of railroads, just as he believes in government regulation of the great corporations which ignore the Sherman anti-trust law. In fact, the president is in complete harmony with the Republican record on these questions as that record is written in the Interstate commerce act and the Sherman anti-trust law. He believes in enforcing the law and he has the courage of his belief.

Mr. Bryan does not believe in government regulation—he believes in and demands governmental ownership. He has elaborated his views on this question in a score of speeches in different parts of the country. He has declared government regulation a failure. We might as well try to recognize the doctrine of the church with the views of the infidel as to try to get President Roosevelt and Wm. J. Bryan on the same platform on any political question. One is a Republican and the other is a combination of Democrat, Populist and Socialist. One is a statesman and the other is an agitator.

The Philippine Army

Despite adverse conditions of climate and service, the army in the division of the Philippines is constantly maintained at a razor-edge of military preparedness, says Army and Navy Life. This condition is attained by a comprehensive system of field and garrison training which embraces the entire year, and which has for its culmination the annual military meet, instituted by Major General Leonard Wood. For this meet the competing organizations are selected by a system of regimental and departmental competitions, with the result that the troops, batteries, companies, and detachments which assemble in Manila represent the flower of the troops in the division.

For one week these organizations and detachments compete with each other in a series of events embracing every department of military instruction and training. This competition practically amounts to a searching examination of organizations and individuals by specially selected boards of judges. Some conception of the thoroughness and extent of this examination may be obtained from the following list of events prescribed for a company of infantry. Close order, extended order, discretionary drill to show training of men, practice march of twelve miles in heavy marching order with pony packs and packers, bridge building, making of obstacles, wall scaling, estimating distances, shooting at moving and disappearing targets, scouting and patrolling, outpost duty, the attack of a position, swimming with full field equipment, hasty intrenchment, tent pitching, signaling, first aid, bayonet fencing, obstacle and assembling piece races, and individual scouting.

In addition to the above events, each organization was judged and marked on the manner of its debarkation, movement, impalements and encampment, the arrangements and sanitation of its camp throughout the week, its discipline and soldierly conduct. In other words, each organization was subjected to the close scrutiny of some official or judge from the moment it arrived in Manila Bay until it sailed at the end of the week for its post in some one of the islands. The result was therefore an impressive exhibition of soldierly conduct as well as of perfect military training.

A Hopeful Sign

Readers of nearly all of the large daily papers in the country and many of the smaller ones, can not fail to be impressed with the fact that the last baseball news of the season has been given more prominence and more front page space during the last few days than the presidential campaign.

While the election of a president of the United States is undoubtedly of much more national consequence, than who won the baseball pennant, still it must be conceded that right at this stage, there is a great deal more popular interest in baseball than in what the presidential candidates are doing.

It is a hopeful sign. While every American citizen should take a personal interest in the selection of the right man for office, particularly the high office of president, still it is proof that the American is still a healthy, normal sort of a fellow when he demands that his newspaper tell him more about the wind-up of the baseball season than of the campaign. It is a hopeful sign that the average reader possesses such a healthy interest in such a healthy game as baseball at a time when in other nations, the selection of a president generally results in a revolution.

There is little doubt but that more baseball and less campaign would help the entire world and America in particular.

DAILY SHORT STORIES

A SENTIMENTAL SCIENTIST.

(By Stuart B. Stone.)

Lisbeth stood within the charmed circle of American freemen and basked to the marvelous story of the eminent Austrian scientist, who had toiled for fifty years in search of the Elixir of Life, and found it one day by accident in his laboratory wash bowl. Now the great secret had been confided to the long-coated, sombrero-adorned talking machine on the backboard, and he alone was entrusted with the mission of saving a world.

"This is the marvel, gentle-men, right here in the yellow bottle. Dr. Barnak's Bohemian Relief—positively cures, bunions, malaria, rheumatism, consumption, heart-ache, ear ache, deafness and that tired feeling. Makes you feel young—makes you see things. Only one dollar, and a beautiful colored picture of Washington crossing the Delaware with every bottle. Who's the first gentleman, now?"

The first gentleman was "Squire Raz Simpson, of Long Hollow, who could not hear thunder. The man with the red vest dropped a particle of the wonderful fluid in the ear of Uncle Raz and the miracle was performed. Uncle Raz heard the very whisperings of nature."

A leading citizen of Pikeville and the deacon of the Horntown church followed, finding relief from asthma and the rheumatic postmaster of Duff rejuvenated long-rusted joints. It was wonderful.

Lisbeth drank it all in. To the child, this breezy, immodest Yankee was a Moses sent to heal the people of Siwash county, and she wished that her Uncle Hiram could see. Here was a miracle, who could ease the old man's lumbering that forty-three nostrums and eighteen country doctors had failed to ease.

Then she thought of her own case. For Lisbeth had a "complaint," too. She had heard old Doctor Sibley mutter "The child has too big a heart for this world—she will never get on." It was when Lisbeth had stolen softly into the sick room of the Rankin "kids," whom the measles had kept out of meanness for the space of six weeks. Lisbeth had brought the very worst Rankin, the ten-month-old gingerbread man that she had received the previous Christmas—and the worst Rankin had a relapse from the eating.

Now, when lazy St Stanton had imbibed the Elixir and jumped almost over the wagon in his mad sprightliness, Lisbeth dropped her reserve and scrambled into the bed.

"I want some medicine to make me well," she said to the noisy philanthropist. "I have too big a heart. And my doll, Rag Man, has lost his stuffin'."

The medicine man did not understand at first, and he pushed Lisbeth away, while he made change for the pitcher.

But the child repeated her request and the fakir paused. Something in the solemn blue eyes seemed to catch and hold him.

"What—what is your name, child?"

"My God, it ain't Lucy?"

"My name's Lisbeth," said the child. "And my doll's Rag Man. See how bad he is?"

Rag Man's sawdust vitals had ebbed away. There was hardly enough filling left for a serious colic, but the man of medicine did not mind this. He was having twinges of recollection. Back on the barren Vermont acres of his own innocence, there had been just such a blue-eyed cherub and the sight of Lisbeth recalled things—the hired hand, the heifers, the swamin' hole and a grim, kind Puritan he had called mother. The hard, bluff-world face of the fakir relaxed; his come-on-good people tones softened to a semblance of those that had called the cows home in the early seventies. The county assessor called for a dozen bottles of the discovery, but the fakir headed them not.

"I wouldn't put any of this miserable fake on your big heart for all the gold in the country," he muttered. "And here's a dollar for a new doll with good insides. Your heart's all right."

Lisbeth slipped happily away and the medicine man stood in his jaunty buckboard and hesitated. "I've a mind to throw this kerosene-burned-sugar mess away and go into the missionary business." He was sorely perplexed.

Then the Hon. Augustus Henry Dobson offered to bet the Elixir couldn't stop his honorable tooth-ache. It was too good an opportunity, and the making of a first-class missionary stopped short.

"You just step right up here on the wagon," said the medicine man, "and I'll make you forget you ever had a tooth."

Over at the notion store on the corner, Lisbeth had a new doll with open-and-shut eyes and sure enough hair.

DRY FARMING CONGRESS IN FEBRUARY

Cheyenne Invites Everybody to Attend Sessions and Become Members at Once.

The Irrigation congress is over for this year and the efforts of agriculturists in the west are now in the direction of the Trans-Missouri Dry Farming congress, to be held at Cheyenne during the last of February. Invitations to the congress have been received at Albuquerque and are as follows:

"The people of Wyoming cordially invite you to attend the Trans-Missouri Dry Farming congress at the third annual meeting in the city of Cheyenne, during the closing week of February, 1909.

"The Industrial club of Cheyenne extends cordial greetings and earnestly urges every one who is interested in the development of the west to attend and take part in the proceedings of this congress."

Some of the objects and work of the dry farming congress are told in a paper by John T. Burns, assistant secretary, who says:

No greater movement in behalf of the economic development of the world has ever been brought into existence than is the Trans-Missouri Dry Farming congress, which held its first session in Denver, Colo., in January, 1907.

It has not yet assumed the importance of the National Irrigation congress it has no tangible results to show for its two years of life—but it is directly the answer to a demand for some organized movement to promote and maintain an intelligent propaganda in behalf of the development of the semi-arid states where irrigation is not possible and to stand between the so-called "dry farmer" and failure.

Prejudice is one of the most trying conditions possible to face in the up-building of a movement for the public good. The Dry Farming congress is not only obliged to organize to fight the battles of the farmer, but it is obliged at this time to overcome the bitter antagonism of men who are prejudiced against the movement and who openly attempt to prove that what they see before them does not actually exist. These very men forget that but a few years ago the National Irrigation congress was looked upon as a joke and irrigation as a theory that had no reasonable excuse for existence. It was prejudice which caused the attacks upon irrigation; it is both ignorance of facts and prejudice which cause irrigationists to attack so-called dry farming today.

The enemies of irrigation were won over to the side of dry farming methods will likewise be converted to dry farming under scientific conditions.

It is truly said that there is but one crop of land, and in that truism is found the very necessity and excuse for the dry farming congress. The United States government reclamation service is still hurrying to impound the waters of all mountain streams and to utilize every crystal drop in the production of more crops for this rapidly growing nation. It is a grand work, but it will soon reach the limit of human possibilities. When the last drop of free water has been captured and scattered over the land—then what?

Shall this great United States go forth to seek other lands upon which to place our increasing population, or shall she utilize her own broad acres and the intelligence which God has given her people, and, instead of abandoning her great rolling prairie lands to coyotes and cactus, fill this splendid west with prosperous men and women, producing more bread for the nations of the earth and labor for all who come?

The crop of land which can be covered with irrigation water is very limited when compared with the great area of unoccupied lands in the west. Men have dared to say that the limit of irrigation is not the limit of farm extension. They have worked out a system whereby the natural rainfall, instead of tearing great gulches upon the lower plains and producing flood and destruction in the rivers below, is allowed to water the earth as God intended it should do—and you all know that water and earth and proper seed are the basis of agricultural production.

Throughout the semi-arid states farmers have actually produced good profits from unirrigated farms for many years, and you can do the same—but the successful "dry farmer" takes no chances on rainfall and favorable season. He uses the necessary precaution, does the necessary amount of work, follows the advice of other men who have succeeded—and reaps the benefits in heavy yields and increased bank account.

Some farmers will fall on a so-called "dry farm;" some farmers fall utterly on irrigated land. Failure of a man, therefore, does not indicate failure of a system.

The Dry Farming congress is not organized to promote any particular system of land culture, but to encourage a close study of methods, conditions and results, and every man and woman in the west who is dependent upon results from dry land agriculture should be enrolled in this great congress in order that there can be maintained a complete and comprehensive educational movement by which no man need fall through ignorance of facts and experience.

It is the work of the Dry Farming congress to make possible such a general exchange of ideas and to sound the warning against carelessness in such a definite form that you farmers will learn not to depend upon abnormal precipitation for crops, but will use every known system and adopt every good suggestion which will put your land into productive condition and keep it so.

SAN MIGUEL COUNTY HAS GOOD EXHIBIT

Products of Dry Farming Are Shown to Good Advantage at Fair Grounds.

Illustrative of what can be done in the way of raising various sorts of produce by the dry farming method, the exhibit of San Miguel county ranks as one of the most notable of the many displays now on exhibition at the fair grounds.

The building erected by this county at the exposition grounds is situated directly east of the agricultural building and for novelty of design is unsurpassed by anything of the kind on the grounds. The exterior of the small structure is literally covered with some of the finest specimens of wheat and oats in stalks that can be seen anywhere on the grounds, while a small portion of the roof in front of the exhibition building is supported by three pillars also of grain stalks, forming a most pleasing effect.

What the Billboard Said One Windy Day

A large heap of lime rock is also exhibited on the exterior as is also a small grate fire place made of brick manufactured in Las Vegas. A large glass case in front of the building shows some of the wool grown in that locality, some of which is yet unwashed, while some is snowy white and seemingly of superior quality.

The walk leading to this exhibit is most picturesque, being lined on either side with the native amole plant of the giant variety and which adds much to the scene. On entering the building, which occupies a space of about 15 by 35 feet, one is greeted with a sight most pleasing in effect. Here may be seen specimens of spring wheat standing over five feet in height while oats measuring six feet are bunched most artistically throughout the interior. In addition to the beautiful display of grain different varieties of grasses grown in this county by dry farming are also shown and comprise alfalfa, red top hay, of which very little is grown in this vicinity, as well as many other species of grasses which are grown in abundance by this county. Some of the hay in this exhibit measures six feet in height and from all appearances, irrigation is entirely unnecessary.

A large variety of vegetables is also shown in this exhibit and includes the sugar beet which is extensively grown in that section of the country, as well as giant onions, beets, turnips, beans, potatoes, squash, rhubarb, cabbage, pumpkins, and cucumbers, all of which are of the largest varieties. A most interesting feature of the exhibit is a stinging bean vine measuring some 24 feet in length on which are beans measuring from 8 to 12 inches in length. This vegetable is raised in abundance in San Miguel county and the specimen is only a sample of what can be done in that section of the country without the aid of irrigation.

The lime stone industry is also a large one and some idea of the amount of lime consumed by the state of Colorado and furnished by the Canyon Lime company of Las Vegas may be imagined when it is known that in the year 1907 over 20,000 tons of lime was shipped to the various sugar beet factories throughout Colorado. On a well cultivated ranch in the near vicinity of Las Vegas, situated on the mesa where water is absolutely at a premium, an average of 25 bushels of wheat was raised to the acre in 1907 and this goes to show the fertility of the ground as well as the progress dry farming is making.

The exhibit of San Miguel county is altogether a most interesting one and a trip to their display building will more than repay the visitor who is at the grounds taking in the sights.

S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

No old sore can heal until the cause which produces it has been removed. External applications of salves, washes, lotions, etc., may reduce the inflammation and assist in keeping the place clean, but cannot cure the trouble because they do not reach its source. Old sores exist because the blood is infected with impurities and poisons which are constantly being discharged into the place. The nerves, tissues and fibres of the flesh are kept in a state of irritation and disease by being daily fed with the germ-laden matter through the circulation, making it impossible for the sore to heal. S. S. S. cures chronic sores by its purifying action on the blood. It goes down into the circulation, and removes the poison-producing germs, impurities and morbid matters which are responsible for the failure of the place to heal. S. S. S. makes the blood pure, fresh and healthy; then as new, rich blood is carried to the spot the healing process begins; the discharge ceases, the inflammation leaves, new tissue begins to form, the place fills in with firm, healthy flesh, and soon the sore is permanently cured. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, the safest and best blood purifier for young or old. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

SOME REGULATIONS FOR CONFETTI BATTLE

The Town Will Be Wide Open, but a Few Laws Must Be Obeyed.

The crowning event and the tapering off of the festivities which have wholly consumed Albuquerque for the past two weeks will take place tomorrow evening when the confetti battle begins, and the parade of masks forms in front of the Alvarado and marches to Convention hall for the masquerade ball. King Carnival will reign supreme, but according to his high majesty, the law, there will be a few regulations which have not been enforced at former confetti battles. Anyone caught gathering the fleecy, feathery paper from the street to throw again will be arrested. Another regulation is that women shall not enter saloons and men will raise their masks when they take a drink. No straw go, according to the official dictum.

The grand carnival march will start from the Alvarado promptly at 8 o'clock, and pass through the principal streets of the city to Convention hall. None but maskers will be allowed on the dancing floor. Spectators will take seats in the gallery.
There is space for at least 3,000 dancers, and the affair will be the biggest thing of the kind ever held in Albuquerque.

The program at Traction park tomorrow is as good as any of the week of sports. The baseball game will be for blood. Clifton and Trinidad will play and the winning or losing of the game means several hundred dollars to each aggregation.

The chief events tonight will be the Montezuma ball and the benefit concert for the Mexican National band. The Montezuma ball will be held at the Alvarado hotel and the concert will be held at Convention hall. Both affairs will be largely attended.

Another feature of the program of tonight will be a spectacular pyrotechnical display at Traction park.
Admission to this will be 25 cents with no charge for the grand stand.
This will be the last opportunity the people of New Mexico will get to see these fireworks and none should lose the advantage.

After the fair is over you will have leisure to think of your own comfort.
Very likely you will come to the conclusion that it is about time to change from wearing slippers and oxfords to using high shoes. We have at present a larger assortment of up-to-date fall styles than we ever handled and our prices are very reasonable. C. May's Shoe Store, 214 West

EXPECT HOT GAME
TOMORROW MORNING

Doctors and Lawyers Will Try to Defeat Officers of Twenty-First.

A team composed of the following doctors and lawyers will cross bats with a selected team made up of some of the best baseball talent of the Twenty-first infantry tomorrow morning at Traction park: Hickey, catcher; Scripture and Collins, pitchers; Haynes, first base; Smart, second base; Kaufman, third base; Newell, shortstop; Moore, left field; Van Sant, center field and Cornish right field. The following will be reserved on the bench and will be used in the event that any of the local players are overcome from the heat from running too many bases: Doctors Bronson, Rice, McLandress, Pearce and Wroth.

The game promises to be one of the most hotly contested ever played on the diamond and the games played by the National and American leagues will be made to look like thirty cents.
The diamond has been especially scorped so that base sliding will be merely a matter of a short run and a slide. A local furniture store has kindly donated the use of four extra size mattresses which will be used to denote about where the bases are.
Sweethearts of the soldier ball players are requested to be on hand early with a good supply of lace handkerchiefs, as the defeat of the soldiers promises to be a sad one and the shedding of tears by the lady friends of the boys is almost a certainty. The management also wishes to ask those attending to kindly omit flowers and vegetables which have outgrown their usefulness. J. H. O'Reilly will umpire.

STOCK RAISERS ELECT OFFICERS AND ADOPT CONSTITUTION

Permanent Organization of Cattlemen Effected at a Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

Cattlemen from throughout New Mexico and Arizona, who yesterday organized an association, completed the work of permanent organization yesterday afternoon by electing officers and adopting resolutions. The association has a fund of several hundred dollars to start with, as the members paid up their dues to start with, in order to give the association a fund with which to begin its work. The officers elected yesterday are:

George H. Webster, Jr., Cimarron, president; William Atkinson, Roswell, vice president; E. A. Clemens, Magdalena, secretary; Col. J. C. Carter, Silver City, treasurer.

The resolutions adopted are as follows:

Believing that the interests of those engaged in the business of raising cattle and horses can be better guarded, promoted and protected by thorough organization, the cattle and horse men of New Mexico, in convention assembled, on October 8, 1926, have organized the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' association. The objects of this association are to advance and promote in every possible and legitimate way the interests of the cattle and horse industry of this territory; to guard against any territorial or federal legislation inimical to our interests, and to secure such favorable legislation as may be deemed necessary; to pursue suitable methods toward bringing about an equitable and proper use and division of the public range, and to secure satisfactory administration of the forest reserves; to obtain fair transportation rates and facilities; to prevent the stealing of cattle and horses; and in general to so unify the livestock interests of this territory through the medium of the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' association that it may appropriately represent all the cattle and horse men of New Mexico in matters of common concern, to the end of securing the enjoyment of our just rights and privileges. As these objects should impress themselves forcibly upon every cattle and horse man in this territory, and as we need the support of every man engaged in that business, therefore,

Be it resolved, That we earnestly urge every cattle and horse man in the territory of New Mexico to join this association, and we request our officers to make a complete canvass of the territory for the purpose of enlisting as members all those who may be concerned in our industry.

Whereas, the creation of the ranger service has accomplished much good in preventing theft and in otherwise protecting our interests; and,

Whereas, we believe that the present force of rangers authorized by law is inadequate to properly police the different sections of the territory; therefore,

Be it resolved, that we cordially endorse the policy and work of this service and congratulate the rangers on the results they have accomplished, and we urge the legislature at its next session to provide for an extension of the service in order that it may accomplish greater benefits for the residents of this territory.

Resolved, that the members of the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' association, in convention assembled, heartily endorse and approve the work of the cattle sanitary board, and we thank the members thereof and its secretary for the intelligent and capable performance of their duties, and we especially thank them for the interest they have taken in the arrangements for this convention. We pledge the cattle sanitary board our sincere co-operation in all matters pertaining to its work.

Resolved, that we heartily approve of the policies and work of the American National Livestock association, and we direct our officers at the earliest possible moment to arrange for the membership of this organization in the American National Livestock association.

Resolved, that our officers be directed to co-operate with the livestock organizations in adjoining states and territories for mutual benefit and protection.

Resolved, that the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' association extend its sincere thanks to Governor George Curry for calling this convention, and to Col. W. S. Hopewell, and the other officers of the International Industrial exposition for the many courtesies they have shown.

Constitution.

The following constitution was adopted:

Article I.—Name: The name of this association shall be the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' association.

Article II.—Objects: The objects of this association are the protection and promotion of the interests of the cattle and horse growers in the territory of New Mexico.

Article III.—Members: Any reputable persons engaged in the raising or growing of cattle or horses in the territory of New Mexico shall be eligible for membership.

Article IV.—Officers: The officers of this association shall be a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, all of whom shall be elected at the annual convention for a term of one year. Immediately after his election the president shall appoint an executive committee of one member from each county in the territory, such appointments to be confirmed by the convention. All officers of the association shall be ex-officio members of the executive committee.

Article V.—Board of Control: The executive committee shall appoint a board of control of five members, of which the president and vice president shall be members. The executive committee is empowered to fill all vacancies that may occur in any of the offices of the association.

Article VI.—Annual Meetings: The annual meetings of this association shall be held at such time and place as may be designated by the association at its annual meetings.

Article VII.—Government: The deliberations of the conventions of this association shall be governed by Robert's Rules of Order. Any change in the constitution or by-laws may be made upon a two-thirds vote of the members present at any regular meeting.

MONTEZUMA BALL

THIS EVENING

All Arrangements Complete for Big Event of Fair Week.

The Twenty-first United States Infantry band composed of thirty pieces will furnish the music for the Montezuma ball, which will take place at the Alvarado this evening.

From 8:30 until 9:30 the band will play in the lobby of the hotel. At 9:30 it will move into the ball room to a raised platform located in the southwest corner, to play the grand march, which will be led by Governor George Curry and Mrs. W. S. Hopewell. There is no longer any doubt about the success of the affair. This morning's mail brought additional demand for tickets. A large number of out of town people arrived this morning for the express purpose of attending the ball. Santa Fe, Las Vegas and El Paso will contribute to the dancers. The officers of the cavalry and infantry troops attending the fair will be the honored guests of the evening.

The finishing touches were put on the decorations today. The Alvarado south of the lobby will be a profusion of flowers. The program will contain twenty regular dances and a sufficient number of extras to keep the guests until morning. Director Graves has in store for the guests a two-step of his own composition which is said to be one of the most thrilling compositions ever.

The guests will enter the hotel from the west entrance where attendants will be in waiting. Members of the reception committee will receive the guests in the west parlors of the hotel and direct them to the second floor to the dressing room. The hotel will be a crush of gentlemen and ladies in evening attire.

The judges counted the jump a foul and gave the race to Peerless Lass.

The $1,000 Glorietta free for all race was won by Black Walnut, though Halina Morgan was the favorite. It was plain from the start that Peerless Lass expected to win the race by taking the last three heats, but he miscalculated the quality of Black Walnut to keep the pace. Halina Morgan was permitted to trail the first two heats. When the third came Black Walnut still had too much speed, and with the rail as an advantage won from the Albuquerque horse in a hard drive. Halina Morgan, however, showed her quality by taking the last two heats.

Yesterday's Winners.

Free for all race, $1,000—Black Walnut, Craig and Connor, first; Halina Morgan, Joe Barnett, second; Dewey Dillon, W. R. Dye, third; Valo, M. F. Williams, fourth.

Five-eighths mile running, $100—Mattie D. D. C. Cattle, first; Caesar Augustus, C. Burke, second; Unmasked, W. J. Crater, third.

Six and one-half furlongs, $150—Beautiful Knight, J. Dean, first; Juno, James Wade, second; Ito, E. G. Winters, third.

One mile handicap, running, $200—Peerless Lass, C. E. King, first; Sweetheart, A. Miller, second; Queen Souvenir, J. Dean, third.

BLASPHEMER FINED IN THE POLICE COURT

Woman Testified That He Used Awful Language in Her Presence.

"Dope fiend," "thief," "liar," "blasphemer," were a few of the misnomers a select gathering of persons applied to each other in Judge Craig's court this morning.

Mrs. Mamie Schwan, proprietress of the Star restaurant, 315 South First street complained to the court that two young men giving the names of T. C. Franks and W. F. Thompson had blasphemed in her presence. She said that they came to her place and swore awfully, and two young men in her employ testified likewise.

The defendants said that they did not swear, but said that the woman was in the habit of using vile language, and Franks said that he had reason to believe that she was a dope fiend. Thompson said that he had been told that Mrs. Schwan had said that he had robbed her of some money, which he went to the restaurant to deny. Mrs. Schwan ordered them out of her place and called for an officer. The court sentenced Thompson to pay a fine of $10 and costs or serve fifteen days in jail. Franks was acquitted.

ANNUAL REPORT CHILDREN'S SOCIETY

Dr. Lukens Points Out Need For Laws to Make Possible More Efficient Work.

Following is the annual report of Dr. C. E. Lukens, superintendent of the Children's Home Society, made to the board of managers at their annual meeting held in this city Wednesday.

Annual report of Dr. C. E. Lukens, superintendent of the Children's Home Society to the board of managers, members and contributors and friends of the Children's Home Society.

The report submitted while it is designated the second annual report is in reality a report of the year's work, which has been begun as a definite work but six months before, for while the society was incorporated October 1906, yet the superintendent was unable to begin the work in an orderly way, giving his whole time to it, until April, 1907.

It is therefore to be seen that our society is yet but beginning its life of active, organized work for the salvage of the orphan and dependent children of this territory.

The superintendent desires in the first place to express his profound thanks to God for his smile of approval upon the work which we had considered one, the nearest of all to his heart, and to the splendid humanitarian spirit of the men and women of this territory, the spirit not only of deep sympathy for the pathetic objects of our care, but the spirit of true wisdom in recognizing that, this great work is in a true sense a work not only of moral but political economy, the saving of the children who come under our care meaning the saving of useful lives to the state, the family and the church.

The children who have come under our care have been not only those who have become dependent by reason of the death or desertion of parents, but children who have been held in immoral environment, and in some cases a condition of blackest shame. Twelve of the little ones whom we have thus rescued were saved from lives of degradation, through their rescue from places and homes, whose real character is not a subject for public address or the printed page. In every case, the children thus taken have proved bright, tractable and well worth the efforts of the society in the expenditure of labor of their rescue.

But the majority of our little ones have come to us from conditions, not of immorality but of deep poverty and the sorrowful state of orphanage, and the little ones have found open arms and tender hearts and most lovely homes ready for their reception, whenever the story of their need came to the attention of the executive officers of the society.

The call for children from childless homes has been greater than the supply of children, splendid homes are ever ready to give care to the homeless and we can but hope that this condition will ever remain, and that this will be true is shown by the fact that a neighbor state society had four hundred calls for one little boy, whose story of need had come to the ears of the public, we ourselves have had dozens of calls for each little child advertised for placement through our organ, The Home Evangelist.

It is a surprise to the friends of this society to know of the great need for this work in this new land of promise, we who have given our lives to the cause of the children, had expected that our work was to be for the present more of a laying of foundations for the future, but we have found our labors taxed to take care of the poor and needy now in our midst, since the beginning of our labors but a short eighteen months ago, we have had come under our care for placement or otherwise permanent relief one hundred children ranging in age from two days to fifteen years.

These children have been carefully placed in selected homes. In all cases the homes have been such as would be considered able to give proper moral and physical care to the child, and in some cases the children have been placed in homes of wealth.

The work of the office and field, the finding of the children and homes, the raising of funds to carry on the work and the editing of the Home Evangelist became too large for the superintendent to handle alone, and the first of March of this year the Rev. W. A. Nicholas was engaged as field worker of the society. The labor of Mr. Nicholas has been of great worth to the society, he is undoubtedly the right man in the right place and the cause of the homeless and the helpless will never suffer in his hands. His work calls him to travel practically all of his time, and he deserves the kindest consideration and warmest hospitality from the large constituency of our work in this territory.

The financial needs of the society have been met promptly by the benevolent spirit of our people. Some of the gifts have come from friends who could ill afford to give money from their meager store. The workers have been obliged to economize the society's money, oftentimes at the expense of their property. We have not been able to do needed printing and more money could have been wisely and economically used for the good of the children, but our policy has been to work within our income, and keep clear of debt, and the treasurer's report will show that this has been done.

The superintendent can not but feel that the time has come when we should have a building of our own. We have used our own home which with the use of a small building, rented of late as a dormitory, we have been able to accommodate the children as they have come to us, but sometimes the children have not been kept under training as long as they should be and necessity has driven us to place them in homes when it would have been far better had they been kept under the supervision of the receiving home a longer period. We sincerely hope that this convenience will be provided during this coming year.

The welfare of the children of this territory would be greatly enhanced if some greatly needed legislation could be obtained. It is the hope of the superintendent that such legislation may be granted us at the next session of the legislature. We need legislation which will give the state the control of children and allow the proper supervision of children who are kept under improper care of parents or guardians. A delinquent parent act and a compulsory school law would be of untold good in lifting the morals of our growing generation. We recommend that this society take steps through its multitude of influential members and friends and have such measures enacted as will best conserve the needs of the children and the larger welfare of the territory in this regard.

During the past three months a notable work has been accomplished in the city of Albuquerque through the efforts of the Albuquerque Auxiliary to the Children's Home Society. Through their efforts an appropriation was made by the city council and school board to jointly pay the salary of a special police whose whole duty would be to look after cases of delinquency and truancy among children. The Auxiliary to bear the expense of maintaining the home and other expenses connected with the work. This officer commenced work the first of September and already good has been accomplished by his efforts. We hope that during the year other auxiliary organizations may be perfected in other cities and counties whose work will be similar to this one at Albuquerque and which will lay the foundation for a future juvenile court law for the coming state.

Again the superintendent wishes to compliment the citizens of the territory for the splendid way in which they have sympathized with and supported this work, we can only promise in return that if you will let us know in cases where we can not discover the need ourselves, of any case of child need, we will guarantee to give that child, if dependent on the care and home that his condition calls for, we want the privilege of helping your cases of child need.

ROSABELE LESLIE CO

Plays that please, specialties that entertain, attractive scenery and mechanical effects, the very best stock actors obtainable, and an effort to stage each production as completely as if it were a dollar attraction, a review of the features that have made the Rosabele Leslie company that is announced as the next week's attraction at the Elks' theater, one of the foremost in its line. Miss Leslie, who heads the attraction, is an unpretentious little woman, who by diligent application to duty and an earnest effort to play whatever part falls to her lot to the very best of her ability, has attained no little fame in both the popular price and the stock field. Aside from possessing a voice of rare sweetness and purity, which reaches the innermost recesses of any auditorium, without any apparent effort on the part of its possessor, she is blessed with a charming stage presence, is at all times graceful, never lacking respect, and is capable of playing any role from Topsy to Camille. "Anita the Singing Girl," has been selected for the opening bill.

PUEBLO DELEGATION WAS WELL PLEASED

Letter Indicates No Soreness Because Colorado Lost Next Congress.

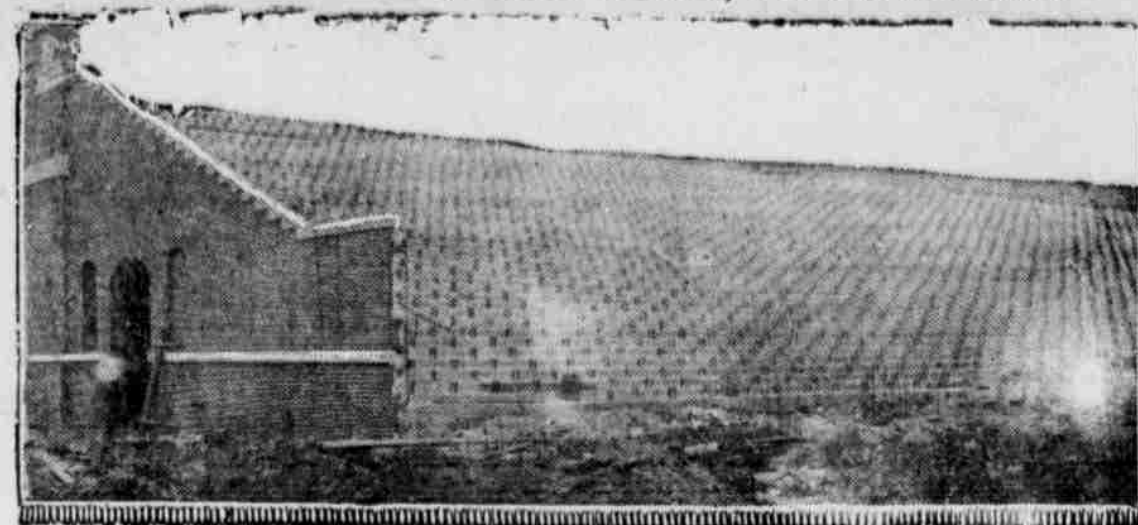

The following letter received by The Citizen, explains itself:

Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 7, 1908. The Citizen, Albuquerque, N. M. Gentlemen: I desire to again express my thanks to you for courtesies extended and liberal treatment of our cause while in your enterprising city. The Pueblo delegation is well pleased with the fair and candid manner in which your paper handled the matter of its endeavor to get the congress for 1909, and your parting words of encouragement.

Yours fraternally,
P. BYRNES.

Would Mortgage the Farm.

Biggest Ball Park; Finest Stands, For the Athletics

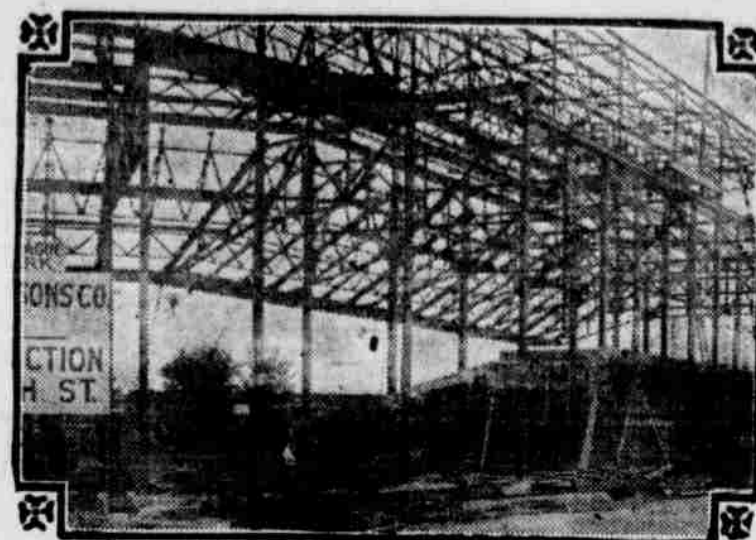

The biggest ball park in the country is being prepared for Connie Mack's Athletics, in Philadelphia. The lot measures 485 feet east and west and 520 north and south, containing 252,000 square feet, a greater area than is contained in any other ball park.

Work on the bleachers, both right field and left field, has been completed. In both these sections not a stick of lumber has been used. The footwalks between the seats, which are of solid concrete, are wide enough for two persons to pass abreast.

The seating capacity of the right field bleachers will be in the neighborhood of 8,000 and the left field about 9,000.

The massive grandstand, which is built upon the cantilever plan, will have a seating capacity of fully 15,000. The foundations for this stand have been completed and the framework of steel beams and joists are in place. It will have an iron roof and sides.

There is not a post in this great steel structure to obstruct the view of the fans. Exits have been so arranged both from the street side and the field way that the entire place can be emptied within five minutes.

even with a crowd of 50,000 persons present.

The seating capacity will be not less than 35,000, while with the immense dimensions of the field fully 15,000 more can be accommodated without the usual ground rules of two bases into the crowd.

IMMENSE WORK TO GATHER RETURNS

An Army of Men and a Fortune of Money Used in Compiling Election Figures.

New York, Oct. 9.—Will it occur to you as you stand at the bulletin boards on election night or read the paper what it costs to gather those figures and put them before you that you may go to bed or wake up satisfied that the "country has been saved?"

Will you wonder how many men worked Tuesday and Tuesday night under a pressure and strain of feverish excitement and intensity that you might not conceive of, that you might know a few hours after the polls close whether "Bill" Taft, the weighty secretary of war, or "Bill" Bryan, the "commoner" from the windy plains of Nebraska, has been elevated by "the sovereign power and will of the people" to be the head of this great nation for the next four years? To gather the returns of a national election from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Canada to the north to Key West on the south, to compute them and distribute the figures from Maine to Manila and Alaska to Porto Rico, all within a few hours, involves a gigantic task requiring splendid generalship and calling for tremendous energy.

An army of not less than 65,000 men, in which the press correspondent and the telegraph operator are the principal factors, will be employed in the work of collecting, computing and distributing the returns at a cost estimated at from $1,000,000 upwards.

The principal newspapers of the country, perhaps 3,000, are connected with a network of leased wire systems of the two great press associations—the United Press and the Associated Press—which aggregate a mileage of about 35,000 miles, employing hundreds of telegraph operators and many thousands of correspondents, editors and writers. This telegraphic spinal column of our country, exclusively used for news, runs from Boston to New York, to Washington, to Chicago, to St. Louis, to Kansas City, to Denver, to Salt Lake City, to San Francisco. Hundreds of smaller circuits radiate north and south from this main telegraphic artery.

The "last gun" in the campaign has been fired. Candidates and party managers have made a final reply to the various charges and sensational attacks that have been sprung at the last hour, with the intention of making breaches in the ranks of the other party. The correspondents send a "night before the battle story" with the final claims of the respective parties.

The count is on. By the time the polls close on the Pacific coast the count is already well under way in the New England and eastern states. By 6 o'clock the press and telegraph wires have been cleared for the returns. Scattering reports begin to be clicked off, like the first skirmish along the line of battle.

By 10 o'clock the telegraph begins to click off an endless stream of figures from all parts of the United States. It is like the rapid fire of a galling gun, and under the ceaseless bombardment many a fairy castle of cherished hopes is being shattered.

Bitter disappointment, plans that will never be carried out, hopes that will not be realized, time wasted and hard work of a campaign for naught; all this is the story that the telegraph tells as it reels off the figures.

In the New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, San Francisco and other big offices of the press associations scores of expert accountants from the banks are at work with adding machines. Men expert at percentages, with the figures of the last three or four elections before them, are figuring out the ratio and percentages for the candidates.

All eyes are on New York, where in one office more than 200 men are at work on the figures.

"As New York goes, so goes the election," is a saying that has held good many times. In the national Democrat and Republican headquarters thousands of telegrams are being exchanged with the headquarters of the various states. At his home Judge Taft is taking a keen interest in the figures that come over his private wire while the special wire that has been run to the Fairview farm of Mr. Bryan is plugging up the figures in a way that will soon tell him whether or not he will occupy the White House. It is not a new sensation for the "Commoner" to watch that clicking instrument with breathless suspense. Twice before he has seen these figures in parallel columns.

The telegraph offices in Chicago and New York, in each of which perhaps 2,000 telegraphers are at work, sending figures, figures, figures, never ending stream of numerals, are fairly swamped with returns and press matter. The noise is like the din of a great factory. Midnight is at hand. The experts in the general offices of the press associations, from the returns before them compared with the figures of previous elections have figured out the result.

For a second there is silence in the tremendous din as the hundreds of telegraph instruments pause as if for a breath and then with a crash they respond to the touch of the keys as the "dash" "is elected" goes forth on every wire and within a few seconds is known in every city and town.

The people have spoken. Their verdict has been declared.

ONLY ONE "BEST."

Albuquerque People Give Credit Where Credit Is Due.

People of Albuquerque who suffer with sick kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. The best is Doan's Kidney Pills, a medicine for the kidneys only, made from pure roots and herbs, and the only one that is backed by cures in Albuquerque. Here's Albuquerque testimony:

Wm. Sanguinette, living at 415 N. Sixth St., Albuquerque, N. M., says: "My wife suffered a great deal from pains in her back, which became severe when she brought even a slight strain on the muscles of the back. Some three years ago she was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box. They afforded her quick and genuine relief and from that time on she has appealed to them as occasion might require and always obtained the most satisfactory results. THE SHORTAGE OF CATTLE IS FELT Stockman Sees Mexico Coming to the Front as Range Country in Few Years.

Los Angeles, Oct. 9.—That the cattle shortage is beginning to be felt in a serious way is the declaration of F. J. Hagenbarth, a cattle raiser of Salt Lake City, who is a guest at the Hotel Lankershim.

"Texas which formerly was one of the largest cattle producers in the United States," said Mr. Hagenbarth, "practically has been cut up in little farms. Once where steers were raised, cotton, rice and corn are grown, and where once the people sold cattle to the north they are now buying for themselves."

"Oklahoma and the Indian Territory and parts of New Mexico, especially in the district about Roswell, once centers of the great cattle industry, now are occupied by the small farmer."

"The same is true in Nebraska, much of Colorado, almost all of Kansas, and both the Dakotas, all of which formerly produced thousands of carloads of steers annually, and now practically are out of the stock raising business."

"In Montana, Wyoming, Idaho and Oregon, the advent of settlers has so cut up the ranges that running large herds is impracticable."

"Another thing which has affected stock raising is that many of the men owning ranges have forsaken that industry for the raising of sheep."

"The present high price of beef is merely the reduction of the conditions mentioned."

"Where will we obtain the beef supply for the future? The small farmers will raise beef on high priced land and therefore they must have higher prices if the business is to be made profitable. It is likely, however, that the greatest supply of the beef of the future will come from Mexico, which is practically undeveloped in that line."

"With the era of the cheap range the cheap beef passed."

Mr. Hagenbarth is the vice-president and general manager of the Wood Livestock company which has headquarters in Salt Lake City and operates in Montana and Idaho. J. D. Wood, who organized the Salt Lake Amalgamated Oil company in Los Angeles is the president of the Wood Livestock company, which owns thousands of acres of land and many herds of cattle and sheep, one band of the latter numbering 150,000 head, and being at present in Montana, where it was necessary to purchase large tracts of land to continue the industry.

Mr. Hagenbarth is also the vice-president and general manager of the Wood-Hagenbarth Cattle company of Chihuahua, Mexico, where he is financially interested in more than 2,000,000 acres of land and more than 40,000 head of cattle.

He has been engaged in cattle raising for more than twenty years, for several of which he was the president of the National Livestock association, an office now held by H. A. Jastro, manager of the Kern County Land and Cattle company at Bakersfield, Cal. Mr. Hagenbarth says that association now is busy arranging details of the convention to be held in Los Angeles in January.

CHAMPIONS TO PLAY SERIES OF GAMES

Will Begin at Detroit Tomorrow Afternoon, Then Transferring to Chicago.

Cincinnati, Oct. 9.—Beginning at Detroit tomorrow afternoon the famous Tigers of the American League and the Chicago National League team will play a series of six games for the championship of the world. The series was arranged here last night by directors of the two leagues and according to the schedule one game will be played at Detroit tomorrow, two games at Chicago Sunday and Monday, two games at Detroit Tuesday and Wednesday and the sixth game at Chicago if necessary to play it.

There have been some additional rules adopted governing such contests, although in most respects the rules will be as at previous games.

The national baseball commission will be in charge, but the immediate control of the games is given to two umpires from each league. For the National League umpires O'Day and Klem were designated by President Pulliam, while President Johnson of the American League, named Sheridan and Connolly to represent his organization. The following details will govern the world's championship series:

The Certified Checks.

The certified checks of $10,000 will be deposited by each club with the secretary of the commission, not later than 11 o'clock of the first day of the schedule and shall be thereupon in bank to the credit of the national commission.

The Schedule.

Saturday, Oct. 10—Detroit.

Sunday, Oct. 11—Chicago.

Monday, Oct. 12—Chicago.

Tuesday, Oct. 13—Detroit.

Wednesday, Oct. 14—Detroit.

Thursday, Oct. 15—Chicago.

The schedule as adopted was determined by lot, as is provided for by the rules. If any of the games scheduled at any park is postponed on account of rain or any other cause, the teams will be required to play such postponed games on the first day available after such postponement and at the same park provided, however, that the game scheduled for the Chicago park on Sunday, Oct. 11, shall be played at that park.

In case it becomes necessary to play the seventh game, the city in which it is to be played will be determined by the commission as provided by supplemental rule number five.

The Players.

The following players will be eligible to participate in the game and none others:

Chicago, National League Club—Brown, Chance, Durbin, Evers, Fraser, Howard, Hoffman, Kling, Kroh, Lundgren, Marshall, Moran, Overall, Pfeister, Reubach, Sheppard, Single, Schulte, Steinfield, Tinker, Zimmermann.

Detroit, American League Club—Coughlin, Cobb, Crawford, Downs, Donovan, Jones, Jennings, Killian, Killefer, Mullin, O'Leary, Roseman, Schmidt, Summers, Suggs, Schaefer, Thomas, Willets, Winter, McIntyre.

Prices of Admission.

At Chicago—General admission, $1; grandstand (unreserved), $1.50; grandstand (reserved), $2.00; box seats, $2.50.

At Detroit—General admission, $1; pavilion, $1.50; grandstand, $2; box seats, $2.50.

Mrs. Bardshar, wife of H. P. Bardshar, internal revenue collector of New Mexico, arrived last evening from Santa Fe for a visit with friends.

Henry J. Lynch, of Chicago, who has been here the past few days attending the celebrations of the Knights of Columbus, left last evening for his home.

Lieut. Director Nieva and the Mexican National band honored P. A. Hubbell with a serenade at the latter's residence last night. Mr. Hubbell proved a generous host.

George Law, who is in New Mexico visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Law, of Santa Fe, arrived in the city last night, having for the novelty of the thing rode here from Santa Fe homeback. Mr. Law will attend the Montezuma ball tonight.

Albuquerque this morning is experiencing an overflooded banana market. The cause seems to be laid to the fact that the local fruit commission brokers, in anticipation of the large crowds expected to be in attendance for both the Territorial fair and irrigation congress, ordered large consignments which have far exceeded the demand for that article. A fruit company of this city ordered two cars of this luscious fruit to be shipped at two different times, five days elapsing between shipments. The last car was received yesterday and this morning the local grocery stores find themselves heavily stocked with prices at rock bottom.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Capen were in Albuquerque for a short visit yesterday en route for El Paso, from where they will make a trip into Old Mexico. Mr. Capen is general superintendent of the Postal Telegraph and Commercial Cable company, western division.

moned at once. The fracture was the only injury Mr. Stanton received. It was stated at the hospital this afternoon that the patient had practically no chance of recovery.

A reporter saw one of the sisters at the hospital this afternoon. "It is terrible," she said. "We did everything we could but the patient was simply too powerful for us. He is a big man and with the additional strength of delirium he simply tossed us about like we were infants. Three of us were unable to hold him even for an instant and when he got through the window he dragged one of the sisters out with him and she would have gone down had not one of the nurses seized her. While the patient was very ill and had a very high fever, he had not been violent before. However, he required constant attention and he was never left alone. The accident was simply one of these terribly unfortunate affairs which it seems can not be prevented."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
