MANY IMPORTANT CASES ON SUPREME COURT DOCKET

Term of 1908-1909 Begins at Washington Today With Numerous Big Suits to Decide.

OIL COMPANY APPEAL WILL BE ARGUED

Waters-Pierce Controversy From Texas Involves Big Fine-Bank Guaranty Law to be Tested—Negro Soldier Asks Damages.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Beginning at noon today the call of the docket in the United States supreme court for the 1908-1909 term began. An important case near the head of the calendar is the Waters-Pierce Oil company of St. Louis. This is an appeal of the company from the decisions by the Texas courts ousting the company from the state and imposing a fine of over $1,600,000 against it on a charge of violating the anti-trust laws of that commonwealth.

The Waters-Pierce company is identified with Standard Oil and on account of that fact Senator Bailey has been charged with giving assistance to the company in its controversy suit which attracted much attention. A case recently docketed will test the validity of the bank guarantee law of Oklahoma and another was instituted by one of the negro soldiers discharged on account of the Brownsville riot, which will deal with the right of the president to summarily dismiss the enlisted man before the expiration of his term.

There are several cases dealing with alleged violations in Colorado of public lands laws, in connection with which a number of men of prominence are being criminally prosecuted. These cases were dismissed by Judge Lewis of the federal court in Colorado but the government appealed. Still another deals with the regularity of the proceedings of the New York courts against Albert T. Patrick, a lawyer now serving a life sentence on a charge of murdering William Marsh Rice, a millionaire of Texas.

WOOL MARKET SHOWS CONTINUED ACTIVITY

Heavy Sales and Rising Prices, With Good Demand Continuing.

Boston, Oct. 13.—The activity in the wool market shows no check with the good demand, heavy sales and rising prices. An increase in the values extends throughout the list of fine delaine fleeces quoted at 34 cents washed and 26 cents unwashed. Quarter blood fleeces command about 25 cents and three-eighths 25 to 26 cents. A large business in the territory wools has been on nearly the same scored basis as last week.

TAFT SPECIAL WRECKED.
Sterling, Ohio, Oct. 13.—The front truck of Taft's car on the special train went off the track just as the train came to a stop here at 10:20 this morning. The sliding was a new one and the rails spread. No damage was caused although the delay may disarrange the speaking schedule for the day.

KANSAS RESORT BURNS.
Kansas City, Oct. 13.—Half of the business portion of Bonner Springs, Kan., a summer resort 20 miles west of Kansas City, was destroyed by fire early today, causing a loss estimated at $100,000.

TAFT SPEAKS IN A TENT.
Cleveland, Oct. 13.—Taft will be in Cleveland this afternoon and will deliver an address in a tent. He left Akron early today and after a number of stops in northern Ohio arrived at Lorain early this afternoon.

REPUBLICAN CLUB MEETING TONIGHT

The Young Men's Republican club will hold a public meeting to which everyone is invited. Tuesday evening, at headquarters, 120 West Silver avenue. Leonard & Lindemann's boys' band will play and there will also be music by the colored mandolin club. The chief speakers of the evening will be John W. White of Macon, Mo., and Julius Staab of this city. The Young Men's Republican club extends an invitation to all who care to do so to attend the meeting.

A ROUSING RECEPTION FOR W. H. ANDREWS AT TUCUMCARI

Delegate Received by Business Men and Accorded Enthusiastic Greeting.

SANTA ROSA VOTE WILL BE UNANIMOUS

Republican Leaders Predict That Ticket Will Receive Largest Vote Ever Recorded There—Men, Women and Children Want Statehood.

Tucumcari, N. M., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Delegate Andrews and party arrived here yesterday and were met at the station by one hundred prominent business men. A daylight meeting in the court house at 1:30 brought out three hundred people who packed the room and the halls. Strong speeches were made by Delegate Andrews, Ralph Ely and G. W. Pritchard, and every mention of Andrews and statehood provoked prolonged cheering. On the platform with the delegate and party were Judge Mann, Harris Meechem and other distinguished citizens. It was the most enthusiastic political meeting ever held in Tucumcari and was attended by Democrats and Republicans, all anxious to help the cause of statehood. The delegate's party left this afternoon on a special train for Santa Rosa, accompanied by a large number of local business men.

Santa Rosa Unanimous.
Santa Rosa, N. M., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—All Santa Rosa turned out tonight to welcome Delegate Andrews and party who arrived on a special train this evening. At 6 o'clock the party had a triumphal march to the hotel where a public reception awaited them. The big court house was not large enough to hold the crowd which attended the meeting at 8 o'clock. Over one hundred were unable to get in. The national hymn was sung by a chorus of school children. Delegate Andrews' appearance was the occasion of an ovation. Men, women and children are working for Andrews and statehood. In this town the business men predict the vote for the Republican ticket will be almost unanimous. The party will leave early tomorrow morning for Vaughn and Clovis.

Andrews and Statehood.
Montoya, N. M., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The special train bearing Senator Andrews and party passed through here at 4 o'clock. During the stop of ten minutes rousing speeches were made from the rear platform to the large and enthusiastic crowd that had gathered to meet the delegate. Mayor Charles Kohn introduced Senator Andrews to the crowd. The sentiment here is strong for Andrews and statehood.

Cuervo Enthusiastic.
Cuervo, N. M., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—A cheering and enthusiastic crowd gathered at the station here to see Delegate Andrews. He arrived here at 4:50 and left at 5:10 o'clock. Speeches were made by Senator Andrews and members of the party. Great enthusiasm prevails here for Andrews and statehood.

OFFICIALS DISCUSS NEW TRAIN SERVICE

Plan to Put on Sleeper Over Southern Kansas and Pecos Valley Route.

A special dispatch to The Citizen is to the effect that the Santa Fe is planning to give Albuquerque another through train from Kansas City. Officials of the company are in Topeka now considering the new train. According to information received, the new train will leave Kansas City ahead of passenger train No. 5, the Denver train, and do all the local work between Kansas City and Newton that No. 5 has been doing. No. 5 at present has more work than it can do and maintain its present fast schedule. At Newton the new Albuquerque train will turn south over the Southern Kansas division, pass through Wellington, Kan., southern Kansas, Panhandle, Tex., and over the cut-off to this city, and carry a through sleeper, which will be greatly appreciated by Rio Grande and Pecos valley travel. The route the new train will travel is a few miles longer than the main line between here and Kansas City, but it will not enter Kansas City—Albuquerque travel. Its chief benefits will be in relieving No. 5 of local work between Kansas City and Newton, and give southern Kansas and eastern New Mexico sleeping car service to Albuquerque. It will also do the work that trains 11 and 12, the cut-off trains, are doing now.

INTERNATIONAL COURT SETTLE DISPUTES OF NATIONS

Armament and Arbitration Must Go Hand in Hand for the Present.

SOUTH CAROLINA PEACE CONGRESS OPENS

Greensboro, Oct. 13.—The North Carolina peace congress opened here last night with an address by James B. McCreary. A number of prominent men are scheduled to speak during the sessions of the congress and it is expected that resolutions looking toward disarmament of nations and the settling of disputes by arbitration will be adopted. In his address last night President McCreary said:

The movement for the purpose of preserving peace, promoting arbitration and encouraging reciprocal commercial relations between the United States, Mexico, Central and South Africa first took definite form in a bill which passed Congress May 24, 1883, authorizing the president to arrange for a conference in Washington of the nations interested. Eighteen nations were represented in what came to be known as the Pan-American conference in 1889. This conference, in session six months, led to the establishment of the Pan-American union, and has been followed by three conferences, one in the City of Mexico, one in Rio Janeiro, Brazil. The next to be in Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, in 1910.

One million dollars has already been contributed by twenty-one republics of the "Three Americas" for construction of the permanent building in Washington, at the laying of the cornerstone of which, last May, Andrew Carnegie said: "This work will, I believe, culminate in the banishment of war from the American continent and the federation of the Western hemisphere in international peace." Already, through the work of the International Bureau of American Republics, the interests of these republics have become more closely intertwined than they can ever be with the people of any other continent. The future will bring still stronger ties, and there must eventually come a transcontinental railway and a great interoceanic waterway changing many important sea routes.

Already arbitration has accomplished important results, notably between Argentina and Chile, who were led to lay aside arms, east a state of "The Prince of Peace" from parts of cannon, and set it up on their boundary line on the heights of the Andes, inscribed to peace. We cannot, however, jump to the blessings of perpetual peace through arbitration. The relation between armaments and arbitration is significant. Armaments increase with disputes and danger; arbitration increases with peace and security. The world is started by the new inventions for battle and the new machinery of war for the brutal butchery of men and reckless expenditure of money. Never has the ancient proverb, "Elaborate preparation for war constitutes the preparation for peace," been more applicable than at the present time. We should have for the present adequate armament and effective arbitration. In other words, adequate national armament for conditions as they now exist, and rapid and sane progress in perfecting a system of international arbitration wherein all nations may respect each other's vital interests and arbitrate all differences which cannot be settled by diplomacy.

What the civilized world needs to promote arbitration is judicial action by the establishment of a court of able judges who have no other occupation, no other interest and no other aspiration but to consider and decide international questions submitted to them with the fairness and ability which have made courts of justice in the civilized world the exponents of all that is pure and just in modern civilization. A bill is now pending in the United States Senate to secure by legislation representation for the United States at the Pan-American, The Hague and all international conferences, and providing that former presidents of the United States shall be ex-officio representatives for life at all the conferences where the United States participates, and that not exceeding four other persons be appointed by the president. I hope to see Congress, which annually appropriates millions of dollars for war, appropriate a few thousand dollars for peace.

GRAND JURY VOTE SHOWS ANDREWS STRONG

Perhaps Sentiment Among Jurors Represents That of the Territory.

While the territorial grand jury was in recess yesterday afternoon two of the jurors stated a political argument, one supporting the Republican and the other the Democratic ticket. The Republican stated as his belief that Delegate Andrews would be elected by a big majority, while the Democrat was equally insistent that Larrazolo would win. The rest of the jurors kept still but listened attentively to the argument, until the Democrat, in an effort to prove he was right, turned to the other jurors and said:

"Everybody that believes Larrazolo will be elected raise his right hand." One hand went into the air but was withdrawn quickly when his own right found himself the only one voting for the Democratic candidate. It is rumored that there is more than one Democrat on the jury.

UTAH RECORDS EARTHQUAKE SHOCK

Believed to Have Been Close to Salt Lake But No Damage Is Reported.

Salt Lake City, Oct. 13.—A rather severe earthquake shock was recorded by the instruments at the University of Utah last night. The first shock occurred at 10:22 p. m. and was violent, lasting twenty minutes. A second shock occurred an hour and a half later. From the fact that there were no preliminary waves the shock is believed to have been close at hand. No damage has been reported.

ST. LOUIS AERONAUT LOSTS BALLOON IN NORTH SEA

It Sank In Waters Last Night During Gordon Bennett Endurance Race at Berlin.

OTHER AIRSHIPS HAVE COME DOWN

Berlin, Oct. 13.—A wireless message today from Arnold, conductor of the St. Louis balloon in the Gordon Bennett cup race, says: "Lost everything in the North sea last night." Another dispatch received here says that the St. Louis sank in the North sea and that the occupants were rescued by a schooner. It is believed that the fog prevented Arnold and Hewitt, who accompanied him, from seeing the water, and that they were blown to sea without any knowledge of where they were going. The Belgian balloon, Utopia, landed last night near Cuxhaven, within 500 yards of the beach. The German Koelin landed at 4 o'clock this morning on the island Norstrand and the German Pignitz came down at dawn today 200 yards from the water near Bremerhaven. These airships left Berlin yesterday in an endurance contest. Half a dozen others have also come down close to the sea.

MOTORISTS MUST HAVE CARS NUMBERED

Auto Board Appointed by the Mayor to Issue Certificates.

M. W. Flournoy, E. C. Butler, Col. D. K. B. Sellers, L. H. Cox and Dr. James H. Wroth, have been appointed by Mayor Lester as members of the board of automobile license examiners under the new automobile regulation ordinance recently passed by the city council. By the new ordinance all drivers are required to have a license and a number, and certificates may be secured after examination by any two members of the board. The city clerk will upon presentation of the certificate, issue the number of the license. The fee for the chauffeur's license is $1.50 and for the number $2.00. A number of applications have already been presented, and there has been quite a demand for fresh numbers such as 23 or 13. Dr. M. K. Wylder, the first applicant, has the distinction of having Number 1.

JENKINS MILL BURNS

Blaine, Wash., Oct. 13.—The Jenkins Mill plant, one of the largest mills in the northwest, caught fire last night and was almost completely destroyed. The loss is estimated at $500,000.

KERN GOES TO NEW YORK

Indianapolis, Oct. 13.—Kern left this morning for New York to make a last speaking tour campaign outside of Indiana. He will speak tomorrow at Elizabeth, N. J., and close the tour at Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 15.

HASKELL TO FILE FOR LIBEL AGAINST HEARST

Oklahoma Governor at Kansas City to Consult With Attorneys Regarding the Case.

ISSUES STATEMENT FOR THE PRESIDENT

Will Insist That Osage Lease Be Cancelled or That Congress Make Better Provision for the Indians of That Tribe.

Kansas City, Oct. 13.—Governor Haskell arrived here this morning from Guthrie to consult his attorneys with reference to a suit he says he intends to bring against Hearst, charging libel. The governor stated, soon after registering at the hotel, that he had already placed the matter in the hands of his attorneys and that a petition would be filed by them whenever they saw fit. The case grows out of the publicity of the Standard Oil story, the controversy over which led to Haskell's resigning as treasurer of the Democratic national committee.

Governor Haskell gave the Associated Press a signed statement addressed to President Roosevelt today, thus contributing another chapter in the controversy arising over the leasing of $50,000 acres of Osage Indian oil lands. "I shall," says the governor in the course of the statement, "insist upon the cancellation of this lease in the interest of the citizens of our state, or that Congress take action to declare this improvident and unjust lease void, and secure for the Osage nation the just and reasonable compensation that other owners are receiving."

Haskell shows by comparison these leases are not paying the same royalties that others pay. He says the basis of the lease was fixed in 1896 under the Democratic administration for ten years. At that time it was not unjust, as great development work had to be done. Since the expiration of the original ten years' lease the basis was fixed by the present administration for a new lease, and the average amount received from the balance of the oil field, by land owners controlling their own property, is fully equivalent to a net loss of ten thousand dollars to each member of the Osage nation.

ARREST ARMY OFFICER FOR DESERTING WIFE

Colonel Tucker Taken Into Custody But Later Released.

Decatur, Oct. 13.—Col. William Tucker, of the United States army, was arrested here on a Watah train early this morning charged with deserting his wife, daughter of the late General John A. Logan. He was later released.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Colonel Tucker is chief paymaster of the department of lakes and has been granted a leave of absence from his duties on account of ill health. The domestic troubles of the Tuckers have been commented on for several years and last year were given prominence through a request to the war department from Mrs. John A. Logan, that a court martial be ordered for Colonel Tucker. An investigation of the allegations against the colonel was made by the department, and he was exonerated.

St. Louis, Oct. 13.—Colonel Tucker was at the Southern hotel today but refused to be interviewed, and sent down the word, "I am here with my sister and my valet." His attendants said that he was too ill to talk.

HETLING AND WOMAN ARE BOTH MISSING

Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 13.—Gus Hetling is missing from Raton and the woman who filed charges against him of attempted assault in a Pullman car at Lamy station cannot be found. She left Raton the day following the arrest, after telling her story to the officers. The statement has been made that the man has been turned over to the officers of Santa Fe county, but this is denied at Santa Fe.

The woman gave her name as Mrs. Rose Annett, of Salda, Colorado. She was returning home from San Diego, California. She said that Hetling had been drinking and that he knocked her porter down when the latter answered her call for aid.

CHICAGO WINS THE FOURTH GAME

Cubs Beat Tigers on Home Grounds In Presence of a Big Crowd by a Close Score.

CHANGE OF SEASONS BROUGHT NO RESULTS

Summers Went Out and Winters Went In for Detroit but the Chicagoans Slipped One Past the Plate With Two Men Out.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Chicago won the fourth game with Detroit in the world championship series here today, making three victories to the credit of the Cubs and one for Detroit. The game was played in the presence of an immense crowd, the fans turning out in force because of Detroit's victory at Chicago yesterday and the prospect it gave of the local club defeating the Nationals today. Ideal weather prevailed, in contrast to the heavy downpour of rain which marred a previous game here. When the two teams arrived here from Chicago today they found the local fans hugging to their hearts the possibility of a Detroit victory which would make the world's championship a tie, with two games to the credit of each team. The Chicago team and supporters found consolation in the triumph of last year, but the local enthusiasts gleefully contemplated yesterday's score and declared that Cobb, Crawford and Roseman have only just found their world's series stride. The defeat of the local team brought gloom to the fans, and as it gives Chicago a big lead, with only one more game to win to secure the championship, the outlook for Detroit is less hopeful.

The Game.
First inning—No runs.
Second inning—No runs.
Third inning—Chicago 2; Detroit 0.
With two out Schulte walked and stole second. Chance also walked. Steinfield singled, scoring Schulte. Hoffman singled, scoring Chance. Tinker out.
Fourth inning—No runs.
Fifth inning—No runs.
Sixth inning—No runs.
Seventh inning—No runs.
Eighth inning—No runs.
Ninth inning—Chicago 1; Detroit 3.
Summers retired and Winters went in to finish the game for Detroit. Evers singled and stole second after two men were out. Chance hit right and Evers scored. Schulte out at the plate. Final score: Chicago 3; Detroit 0.

MINE CONVENTION CLOSES.
Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 13.—The session of the West Virginia Coal Mining association at Charleston, which closed today with a trip over Deepwater Railroad to inspect the mines along the route, was attended by over 400 persons, among them being Capt. Desborough, inspector of explosives for Great Britain; Victor Watteyne, engineer in chief for the department of mines in Belgium, and Herr Karl Meissner, of the department of mines in Germany.

The government experts present included George Otis Smith, Dr. J. A. Holmes, and E. W. Parker, of Washington, and R. V. Williams, of Pittsburgh, who, as well as the foreign experts, made impromptu talks. B. F. Bush, receiver for the Western Maryland railroad, was unable to be present to read his paper on "The Relationship Between Capital and Labor in West Virginia Coal Mining," and it was read by the secretary.

STATEHOOD FOR NEW MEXICO

We favor the immediate admission of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona as separate states in the Union.—Republican National Platform.

They Can't Win

Never in the history of the Democratic party has a more earnest effort been made to elect Larrazola and defeat the Republican nominee, Mr. Andrews.

True, the effort has not been the work of united Democracy but it has been the undivided effort of a few leaders who have spent both time and money freely.

The result, however, has already shown them that they can not win and right now, at the time when the Republicans are really beginning to campaign in earnest, there is little doing in the Democratic camp. Larrazola is still keeping up the pretense by making solitary trips here and there, following the lines laid down for him by the campaigners at the opening of his fight some months ago and which have since been found to be entirely misplaced.

But the fact is apparent that the Democratic party is not in the present fight. A large percentage of Democratic voters are stating openly that they are for Mr. Andrews, the Republican nominee, and statehood, for which he stands in preference to Larrazola.

Take for instance the county of Bernalillo, where the Democratic territorial headquarters are maintained.

In that county, Mr. Andrews will probably receive over one-half of the Democratic votes in addition to a solid Republican majority. What can the Democratic campaigners expect, when they can not hold the Democratic votes in the very county from which they are directing their campaign?

The leaders realize very clearly that Larrazola has no chance and during the past few days, there has been a decided slump in Democratic enthusiasm.

On the other hand, the Republican campaigners are openly claiming the election of Mr. Andrews by a safe majority. In fact the only question is how large they can make the majority of their candidate.

As stated by Governor Curry, Chairman Bursum and others who are taking an active part in the Republican campaign, there is only one issue before the people at this time and it is Andrews and statehood.

Larrazola would not have made a strong race under any condition, but when confronted with the present situation he is absolutely incapable of offering any genuine reason why he should be elected. That he would be powerless to secure the admission to the union of New Mexico, is admitted by even some of his Democratic supporters, who, however, have fought under his banner simply out of party regularity and for no other reason.

The Democrats can not win and as the campaign progresses and their methods of procedure are noted, the impression is created that they are merely going through the form of campaigning, because it is a presidential year and not because they now have or have ever had any chance of electing their candidate.

Their strongest argument is to point to the race made by Mr. Andrews in his last campaign. When it is remembered, however, that the present territorial administration is a Republican administration and not a fake reform one, secretly plotting against its party candidate, then that argument sinks into insignificance.

Mr. Andrews will be elected easily and no one knows it better than the men who are supposed to be running the Larrazola campaign.

Bryan the Exterminator

William Jennings Bryan went into business as an exterminator in 1896 and has stuck to it ever since. He got after the "gold bugs" that year and announced that he would exterminate the whole pesky species by copious applications of his celebrated free silver powder. He announced his program in a speech in Albany, N. Y., August 25, 1896, in the following terms:

"The Democratic party has begun a war of extermination against the gold standard. We ask no quarter, we give no quarter. We shall prosecute our warfare until there is not an American citizen who dares to advocate the gold standard."

The "war of extermination" which followed that heroic utterance was the most gorgeous free amusement entertainment ever organized in America. In every town where the show appeared Mr. Bryan rode in the street parade and took part in two performances in the big tent every day. He exterminated several millions of "gold bugs" at each performance and speedily drove every other circus out of business. The show drew enormous crowds everywhere. The funny clowns delighted the children, the tight-rope acts of the daring artists "spectacularly" astonished all beholders and the owner of the show himself performed various antics on his famous trick mule "Democracy," which alone was considered well worth the price of admission.

The show ended its season in November after a severe frost, but with money in bank and hope still strong in its owner's heart. Then, after the big red band wagon, the gaudy trappings and the rest of the outfit had been carefully stored away in winter quarters, some inquisitive person away back east impatiently inquired: "But, after all, what did the Great Exterminator exterminate?" To which the ring-master replied: "Why, the Democratic party, of course."

Implements recently found in Europe are assigned—at a guess—an age of perhaps 100,000 years. In dealing with such enormous periods of time nobody can speak with assurance. But paleolithic remains have been discovered that are believed to date back 150,000 years. Other human traces may be of twice that age. At any rate, many millions were required to develop an animal Ray Lankester has put it, "with a relatively enormous brain case, a skillful hand, an inveterate tendency to throw stones and flourish sticks and to defend aggression and satisfy his natural appetites by the use of his wits rather than by strength alone." The earliest traces of man, where history takes up the story, are possibly 6,000 years old. An advanced civilization existed at that time; one that must have been the product of a development of hundreds of thousands of years. But all of human history up to 4,000 B. C. is a blank. The extent of this profound ignorance is hardly comprehended. Prof. J. H. Robinson of Columbia university suggests this comparison: "Suppose," he says, "that a history of the race for the 300,000 years that we know it to have existed were to be put in a volume of 300 pages. Suppose something worth a page of the record were known concerning each thousand years. Of the entire volume only the last half dozen pages would be devoted to the period with which the scholar of today has any acquaintance." Six pages out of 300! And yet men go about as if they were wise and knew the innermost secrets of the universe.

Carlsbad Argus: The whole of the Pecos valley has every reason to be proud of the record made at the irrigation congress, where its products entered into competition with those of the most favored agricultural sections of the west, but especially does Edley county rejoice that the showing made by it in this distinguished company should be declared without a peer—and that by a large margin. Its sister county of Chaves—a blood relation—being the closest competitor. That the youngest portion of the territory of New Mexico should thus show the way is a lesson to others of what irrigation and an intelligent application of water will do, for in the Pecos valley every obstacle usually met with in a semi-arid region has been successfully overcome, and the result is one of the most wonderful in the United States, for here, as was shown by the exhibits at Albuquerque, almost every product grown anywhere is produced in excellency and abundance.

Official figures show that more than 30,000 lbs. freight were put to work in the closing fortnight of September.

What labor wants is not legal hair-splitting but the opportunity to earn self-respecting wages.

BEFORE THE FLOOD

One of the Hottest of All Prehistoric Events, Without Doubt, was the Campaign Rally.

CHURCHES TO AID TUBERCULOSIS EXPERTS

Meeting of Clergy and Physicians at National Capital Discusses Work.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Right Rev. Bishop O'Connell, rector of the Catholic university, presided at a meeting of religious bodies in the assembly hall of the National Museum, which was held for the purpose of considering what could be done in a religious way to aid in the fight on tuberculosis.

Bishop O'Connell said he was pleased at the extraordinary success of the congress and of the progress shown in the fight to overcome a dire and common foe.

He said the gathering of so many eminent scientists and physicians from all parts of the world to formulate plans to eliminate the disease had instilled confidence in the general public—a confidence that was so strong that all were ready to enlist in their army and follow them in their great campaign.

"The co-operation of religion in the work is absolutely necessary," he continued, "and the ends of science and the ends of religion are the same. We, religion and science, have met before. We go hand in hand. Where there are hospitals, there are churches and physicians."

Bishop O'Connell told of the establishing of the first hospital by the Catholic church in the year 200, and of the work of the Sisters of Charity, an organization of Catholics. He said that when Christ said, "I am sick and you administered unto me," he established a hospital.

Bishop O'Connell closed the introductory address by saying he believed in the success of the crusade against tuberculosis, and that the learned men who gathered to discuss the plans of action against the foe demanded the co-operation of religion, and that if it was withheld it would be criminal.

Dr. Joseph Walsh of the Philadelphia Institute, Philadelphia, told his hearers how religion could aid science in the eradication of phthisis. He said that churches could aid in the work by forming classes of consumptives once a week or every two weeks, and these classes should have a physician as an instructor, who would teach the sufferers how to get well if their case were curable, and how to prevent the spread of the disease if they were incurable. He also said that trained nurses could aid in the work by visiting the patients in their homes and see that they lived according to the instructions of the physicians.

"Much aid can be rendered and a great amount of good can be accomplished by the church if they would see that many of the consumptives in the neighborhood of the church who were poor procured proper food and nourishment," he added.

"Classes of twenty-five persons suffering with tuberculosis could be formed by the various churches, proper food and living places procured for them at a maximum cost of $1 a day for each patient."

Dr. Walsh said that the disease was curable, as is shown by the decrease in mortality in the last fifteen years, which amounts to 15 per cent.

Bishop O'Connell said, upon introducing Dr. Charles Denison of Denver, Colo., that the members of the audience would better understand what proper treatment and nourishment is to a victim of tuberculosis if they heard it from a physician who came from the state sanatorium, and one who went there thirty-five years ago suffering with tuberculosis of the lungs. He introduced Dr. Denison.

Dr. Denison said that sunlight and fresh air was the secret for the prevention of tuberculosis. He selected for the text of his remarks, Genesis, 1:3: "Let there be light, and there was light."

He said that skilled carpentry had shut out the sunshine and light from humanity.

"Sunshine and light are to man as they are to vegetation—absolutely necessary for a healthy existence," he added.

"If man shuts out the sunlight and fresh air he becomes degenerate in health. The Almighty God gave man these things for his use, and it is wrong for him to shut them out of his life by housing himself up between walls of brick and wood."

"Sunshine and fresh air are more important to victims of the 'white plague' than anything else. Nourishment will do them no good if they do not get the light and air."

Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary general of the congress, made an address on the general resume of the work of the congress and the knowledge gained from the meetings and exhibits by the professional fighters of tuberculosis and the laity.

Dr. Fulton said that the section meetings and the exhibits showed conclusively that tuberculosis in any form, if treated when in an incipient stage, could be cured. It also showed, he added, that the whole population of a country or community must co-operate with one another to successfully combat the disease.

Intense interest continues to be manifested in the exhibition of the congress.

DAILY SHORT STORIES

AN ANTEILUVIAN LOVE.

By Abraham R. Groh.

Oroonogoo had courted the beautiful Wambua, daughter of Zephu, for twenty years—and then had lost her.

This was not such a long time as time was reckoned in the prehistoric days when these lovers lived. Oroonogoo was in his 130th year and Wambua a blushing maiden scarcely out of her teens, when she broke his heart by wedding Pexron, who had the advantages of worldly possessions.

Wambua was not only beautiful but of good family. Her father lived in the largest cave in all the country. He owned the forests for miles around. His flocks and herds were unnumbered.

After Wambua had married, Oroonogoo cared for no other, though there were many maidens who sought him with their charms. He cursed Pexron and expressed a wish that a mountain might fall upon him, a calamity that did not seem likely to occur.

But what surprises the future often brings. In less than 64 years after the wedding Pexron was drowned while on the hunt.

Wambua seemed inconsolable and for sixteen years did not come out from the cave of her father whither she retired when the body of Pexron had been safely stored in the top of a tree.

In all these years the love of Oroonogoo remained steadfast. He hid his time. When Wambua appeared to society after the period of her mourning she looked more lovely than ever in a black bearskin which she wore in token of mourning. Oroonogoo was wandering through the forest when he saw her. He thought at first that she was some wild animal and had already drawn back his stone axe to hurl it when he recognized her. His heart thumped wildly and he knew that the lapse of eighty years had not cooled the ardor of his young heart in the least. Moreover, Wambua in her widow's weeds looked to him seven times more beautiful than she had ever looked before.

He tossed about that night sleepless. His stone pillow had never seemed so hard. The air stifled him. He did not see her again for fourteen years. This time she did not run away at sight of him. He came quite near her.

"Beautiful Wambua, may I not pay court to you?" he said, and all the ardor of nearly a hundred years' longing was in his voice.

"So, soon after my husband's death?" she demanded with a touch of asperity.

"I know it is but thirty years since Pexron died," he said humbly, "but my love is mad for you."

She seemed rather pleased at this. "You may come to see me in four years and a half," she said with a fetching smile.

Oroonogoo was overjoyed. It seemed the intervening time would never pass. But it did and at the fashionable hour of 8:30 on the approaching evening he knocked at Wambua's cave and was promptly admitted.

Wambua looked more lovely than ever. She still wore the skin of the black bear, but this only heightened her beauty.

Oroonogoo had now waited nearly a hundred years and his ardor would brook no delay. He pressed his suit from that time on with the greatest ardor. But the widow of Pexron had wisdom and knew enough not to let herself be won too easily.

It was not long until Oroonogoo was calling at the home of Wambua four evenings a year and when his visits became bi-monthly the neighbors began to talk and exchange winks.

Nineteen years after the visits of Oroonogoo began he had won the promise of Wambua to marry him and eleven years later they were wedded, the ceremony being very quiet on account of the lateness of Pexron's death.

They lived happily ever after and raised a family of 159 children. Oroonogoo died when he was 964 years of age and Wambua followed him twenty-eight years later, evidently from a broken heart over his loss.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done for me more than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c at all dealers.

Would Mortgage the Farm. A farmer on Rural Route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by name, says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured the two worst sores I ever saw; one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 25c at all dealers.

EVIDENCES OF IMPROVEMENT IN EAST

Business Shows Better Tendency Throughout Entire Country—West Is Solid.

New York, Oct. 13.—Evidences of business improvement are multiplying in various directions. This is not only true of the west, where conditions are sound and promising, but also in the east, where the depression has been most severe. Railroad traffic is recovering, and the number of idle cars is steadily diminishing. Earnings of 37 roads reporting the third week of September showed decreases of less than 4 per cent, whereas in July and August the same roads were showing losses of 12 to 17 per cent. September's bank clearings showed an increase of 5 per cent over the same month last year, a fact which is surprising in view of the prevailing quietness of business; and while stock exchange activity probably accounted for much of the increase in clearings at New York, the gains reported from many cities in various parts of the country prove beyond question that business is surely though slowly reviving in spite of a political campaign. If other evidences of recovery are desired they can be easily found. Improved conditions in the money market have carried natural and much needed relief in various directions. Bankers, although in a discriminating mood, will now lend with greater freedom on all sound and legitimate enterprises. Real estate is feeling the advantage of this relief; property is changing hands more freely, and better class developments which were blocked by the panic are being carried out with more promise. Now that mortgages can be more readily placed, building operations are being resumed under more favorable auspices, encouraged by the lower prices for building materials and more settled labor conditions. In consequence there has been a better demand for constructive shapes in steel and iron; lumber is more active, and the various metals are stronger. According to the best statistical authorities, the new construction work contracted for in September in the leading cities was 7 per cent greater than a year ago, and in the city of New York alone the increase was 14 per cent; a much more gratifying exhibit than expected. Mills in different parts of the country, which have been shut down either owing to dull business or the drought, are starting up and many that have been running on short time are preparing to run full time. In many instances moderate concessions have been made in wages; and there is no doubt that if the elections prove satisfactory there will follow a widespread improvement in the volume of business.

The first question to be asked is how long will this improvement last in view of the fact that the country will shortly be precipitated into a sharp tariff agitation, both parties being pledged to revision. Tariff changes are always unsettling; the uncertainty as to what will be done usually being a more serious matter than the actual changes. Fortunately, the country is in some respects better able to stand tariff discussion than ever before. The tariff in many instances is so high that a moderate reduction would do little or no harm to home interests, and would increase the national revenue. In other cases our manufacturers would be positively benefited by a reduction of the tariff on their raw materials. The most likely point of attack is the steel tariff; but there is an ample margin here, and our steel industry is so well fortified by superior methods and low costs of production that its future will not be seriously endangered by any well considered reduction. Whether the campaign against corporations will be conducted as aggressively as heretofore, or not, is an open question. Already there has been a decided reaction in public opinion in this respect, and the feeling that the country needs a rest from this sort of agitation is steadily gaining ground. As soon as the presidential election is over, the anti-corporation policy will not be so much in demand as a political issue.

This week the market reflected the uneasiness felt in London and other European centers over the disturbances in the Balkan Peninsula. There is little prospect of war at present, because Turkey is in no position to carry on hostilities, and strong European pressure would be used to prevent. Besides several of these states have enjoyed practical autonomy ever since the Berlin treaty; control by Turkey having been merely formal. Perhaps the most significant feature is the necessity for calling a conference of the great powers; a proceeding that will bring about a readjustment of the terms of the Berlin treaty. There is more danger in the rivalry likely to develop at the conference between some of the great powers than in war between Turkey and the seceding states; and it must be remembered that the foreign financial markets are always peculiarly sensitive to diplomatic disturbances and that such movements are usually reflected here.

Activity on the stock market was considerably interrupted by the home politics. In other respects, also, the market is under conflicting influences. Improving business and more definite political conditions are of course favorable to securities. But security prices are still very high, and it is a question whether or not all the favorable features have not been fully discounted. It is generally recognized that recent high prices were largely the result of abnormally cheap money, due to the financial and industrial paralysis succeeding the panic. As business improves there will be a better demand for money; rates will gradually stiffen and approach the normal. It follows, therefore, that if interest rates advance, securities must decline in the long run unless better returns in the form of increased dividends are forthcoming, which just now is not probable. It is quite certain that gauged by money market prospects alone the majority of stocks are quite high enough. Just here, however, another factor interferes. The big insiders are still carrying large surplus loads of stocks which they wish to sell. They will certainly push prices to a higher level at the first favorably opportunity, if they can. So far the public has not been disposed to relieve them of their surplus holdings, and should any one of the leaders decide to let go the consequences would not be pleasant. The big men still have the stocks; they want to unload, but cannot. Will they succeed at a higher or at a lower level? The next few weeks should determine, and as soon as the political atmosphere clears we may look for a more active market. There is this much in favor of a better market: The west is sound and enjoys a prosperity unknown here, thanks to a good harvest and profitable prices for all agricultural products.

SAGE FORTUNE MAY BUILD FLEET

New York, Oct. 13.—What will be the next form in which Mrs. Russell Sage's generosity will appear?

She has passed 80 years in age and has a fund of upwards of $50,000,000 to distribute. Russell Sage left his entire fortune to his wife, and she is devoting the last years of her life to the gigantic task of expending it for the public good.

Knowledge of this fact has caused her to be beset by claimants for all sorts of enterprises, some of them good, but most of them of benefit only to a limited set of people. She has always been of a retiring disposition and the attack of this swarm of office seekers has caused her to draw almost entirely from the world. Few persons see her except those included in a circle of old friends. One of these is Helen Gould, with whom Mrs. Sage has been interested in several philanthropic enterprises.

"Real charity is disbursed without the blare of trumpets," was a favorite maxim of Russell Sage, and it is being observed by his widow. In no case have her intentions with regard to any gift become known until all the details were settled and she was ready to carry her plans into effect.

Mrs. Sage has been disposed to favor the government with her generosity. She gave $500,000 for an addition to the Naval Y. M. C. A. building, erected by Helen Gould in Brooklyn. Recently she presented Constitution Island to the government. The island is a historic plot of land in the Hudson river, opposite West Point. It was fortified at the time of the Revolution. Title to the island has long been coveted by officers in command at West Point and by other officials of the government, but Congress neglected to provide the money. Mrs. Sage bought the island for $175,000 and gave it to the government, an act of thoughtfulness and liberality that drew from President Roosevelt a cordial letter of thanks.

Suppose Mrs. Sage should decide to devote the remainder of her fortune to the nation. She could give a fleet that would almost match in strength the sixteen great battleships that are making a tour of the world. For defensive purposes she could give a swarm of submarine boats that would guard effectively every seaport in the country. She could equip an army. She could transform Washington into the most beautiful capital in history. Her money would be sufficient to add to the nation countless islands of the sea or an imperial domain in Africa or South America. All these and many more things she could do. A power greater than that of many rulers rests in the hands of a blue-eyed, frail-figured, gentle old woman.

MARRIED WOMEN

Every woman covets a shapely figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this liniment prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend makes the danger of child-birth less, and carries her safely through this critical period. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this remedy. Sold by druggists. Book mailed free to all expectant mothers. THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Chicago, Ill.

Means War Between Queen and This American Girl

Rome, Oct. 13.—When Miss Katherine Elkins of West Virginia, daughter of a United States senator and heiress to one of the greatest fortunes in America, becomes the Duchess D'Abruzzi, she will not find her pathway strewn with roses.

Determined opposition to the D'Abruzzi-Elkins wedding exists in the person of Dowager Queen Margherita, who has refused to give her consent to the wedding, despite the wishes of King Victor Emmanuel, who has granted the duke permission to wed.

As the Duchess D'Abruzzi, the bride will be one of the foremost women of Italy. Her husband is a member of the royal family and some day might become king, although that is a remote possibility.

Queen Margherita has a strong following among the old aristocrats, to whom the duke's wedding is almost a sacrilege, and although the attitude of the king will sway the majority of Italy's titled set, the beautiful American bride will find that all of her tact, will and finesse is necessary to overcome the prejudice instigated by the queen mother.

It will be interesting to watch the social war between the American duchess and the Italian queen. Blessed with plenty of the stern material of her father, it is safe to say that the youthful bride will at least hold her own.

In her opposition to the wedding, the queen has gone so far as to refuse to attend the ceremony, despite the fact that King Victor requested her to grace the event with her presence.

LOS ANGELES IS ORGANIZING MINERS

Association Is Being Formed For Closer Relations Throughout the West.

Los Angeles is to make a strong bid for closer relationship with the mining interests of Nevada, Arizona, Mexico, California, New Mexico, and, in fact, the entire west, and with that object in view is now forming a strong social club endorsed by the heaviest mining interests in the city.

Preliminary work shows a large field to draw from and it is expected that the institution will be able to throw its doors open within the next three months with a resident membership of at least 250 and a non-resident list of as many more. The president of the republic of Mexico and the governors of Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Nevada, Montana, New Mexico, Texas and Utah will be offered honorary membership, while such well known men as John Hays Hammond, F. August Heine, D. C. Jackson, Senator Nixon, George Wingfield, John H. MacKenzie, Samuel Newhouse, Spencer Penrose, John Finch, Chas. M. McNell, David Keith, A. Chester Beatty, Donald H. Gillies, Senator Guggenheim, Senator Kearns, Malcolm L. Macdonald and many others of the same class have been invited to become members.

In Los Angeles great interest is being taken in the project, the lead being taken by such men as Seelye W. Mudd, formerly with the Guggenheim; A. E. Montgomery, of the Montgomery Shoshone and Skidoo mines; J. L. Boyle, vice president of the Los Angeles-Nevada stock exchange; C. E. Finney, formerly connected with the American Smelting and Refining company; L. C. Millman of Copper River, Alaska; George Mitchell, of the Salt Lake railroad; Hulet C. Merrill, former associate of John D. Rockefeller in the Mexican Iron Range; Joseph L. Giroux, president of the Giroux Copper company; Clawson & Gillingham, mining engineers, for many years with the Copper Queen mine; Leurgans Lindsay, who made a fortune in Canada; John Singleton of the Yellow Aster; Lucian Eaves, Eaves Engineering company; A. D. Myers, "father of Goldfield," T. A. Johnson, R. A. Perez, R. S. Baverstock, William Warr, Carl P. Schader and many others.

Options have been secured on several quarters in the downtown section of Los Angeles and as soon as architects' estimates have been selected a selection will be made. A general meeting will be called, at which committees of all kinds will be appointed and a comprehensive name for the club selected. The favorite at this time appears to be the "Sierra Madre," and it is probable that this will be the final choice.

Sidney Norman, mining editor of the Los Angeles Times, is acting as temporary secretary and asks the co-operation of mining men. Applications for membership sent in now will be filed until such time as the amount of initiation fee and dues have been decided upon. The charter membership will be restricted to 250. Membership will be open to all mining and oil operators and those who are in sympathy with the fostering of the legitimate industry on broad lines.

FEWER JAPANESE ENTER THIS COUNTRY

Figures Compiled by Vice Consul at San Francisco Show Decrease.

San Francisco, Oct. 13.—With the purpose of allaying American uneasiness in regard to the volume of Japanese immigration to this country figures were given out yesterday by S. Takahashi, vice consul in charge of the Japanese consulate in this city, showing the movement of Japanese subjects to and from the United States and Hawaii during the eight months ending with August 31 last. The figures indicate a marked decrease of Japanese immigration, the number of Japanese returning to Japan in the last two months being almost twice as great as those coming here.

The reports show the movement of passengers as follows: For January, 1908—Japanese passengers from Japan to the United States, 413; Japanese passengers from the United States to Japan, 442. For February—To the United States, 463; from the United States, 528. For March—To the United States, 549; from the United States, 525. For April—To the United States, 627; from the United States, 426. For May—To the United States, 426; from the United States, 223. For June—To the United States, 216; from the United States, 288. For July—To the United States, 281; from the United States, 512. For August—To the United States, 163; from the United States, 537.

The figures for Hawaii show that during July and August last 282 Japanese entered Hawaii and 278 left Hawaii for Japan.

"These figures," said Takahashi, "should go far toward dispelling the uneasiness felt on the subject by a section of the American people. Strict control is now being exercised by the Japanese government over the departure of those persons who have hitherto given cause for complaint, and the marked decrease may be attributed to the rigid enforcement of restrictive measures voluntarily undertaken."

BAKERS VOTE DOWN SOCIALIST RESOLUTION

Although Members of That Party Were in Majority They Refused to Endorse Debs.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Excitement prevailed at the fourth session of the Bakers' convention when a resolution, introduced by the delegates from New Jersey, requesting that the members of the convention be advised to vote for the candidates of the Socialist party, Eugene V. Debs, and Benjamin Hanford, was voted down.

For nearly three hours there was hot discussion among the members of the convention, and Chairman John Uebelacker of Cleveland, referred to the rule passed the first day of the convention, to the effect that no partisan politics should be discussed during the convention.

The fact that the above resolution was not passed is of no importance, but when it is considered, as Editor Hohmann, of the Bakers' Journal, said later that a large percentage of the convention are members of the Socialist party, the situation takes on a different aspect.

When several of the delegates were asked which party they deemed the most progressive, they declined to answer, saying they were not permitted to commit themselves.

Part of the resolution read as follows: "Whereas, both the parties, Republican and Democratic, have not shown themselves as true friends of labor, and no matter which gets into power it always gives a hand to capitalists to keep the workingman down; therefore, be it

"Resolved, to advise the members of our organization to vote on next election day for the true friends of labor, for the candidates of the Socialist party, Eugene V. Debs and Benjamin Hanford."

When the resolution was voted down after three hours' wrangle, the members were advised to ally themselves with the most progressive forces.

A resolution was introduced protesting against the extradition of Jan Janof Poren, a Russian political fugitive, who was arrested in New York recently.

CORNER FIRST AND COPPER.FACTS ABOUT THE NEW TUNGSTEN LAMPThe new tungsten incandescent electric lamp, which has lately caused
so much attention in illuminating circles, is one of the greatest discoveries of this progressive age because it means a saving of millions of dollars to the users of electricity for illuminating purposes. Tungsten lamps have completely revolutionized incandescent lighting by consuming so little electrical current in proportion to the candle power that the cost of burning the common incandescent lamps is a wicked extravagance in comparison.In appearance the new tungsten lamps differ but slightly from the ordinary incandescent lamps. The glass bulb and base remain practically the same. It is in the little "hairpin" wound the musical change takes place.
The filament or "hairpin" in the ordinary lamp is made of carbon and looped but once; in the tungsten lamp
it is made of the rare "tungsten" and looped several times.The tungsten lamp will stand higher temperatures and "live" longer than any other lamp.It will give the customer three times as much light for the same money as he is paying for the common electric lamps or the same light for one-third the cost.It gives a pure white light instead of a slightly yellow light.Although the initial cost of the tungsten lamps is a trifle more, because of the rarity of the metal, the lamp will burn just as many hours as the common incandescent lamp and give much more light.The tungsten lamps can be safely made in such sizes that they can be used in "clusters" in place of the arc lamps and large gas lamps for lighting stores or large buildings. Already they are being utilized for street
lighting in small cities and villages,
at a wonderful economy over other lamps.Our skill and other work is perfect. Our "DOMESTIC FINISH" is the proper thing. We lead—others follow.

booth of the Orange Blossom Mining and Milling company, of which John Denair, the well-known Santa Fe official, is the president and principal stockholder, and in which a great many Santa Fe officials and men are interested, the list including such men as E. J. Gibson and R. H.
Tuttle, superintendents; F. J. Shepard, formerly general superintendent, and a number of others well known in this vicinity. In fact, out of a total of perhaps 700 shareholders, fully 90 per cent of the stock is held along the line of the Santa Fe where John Denair was an official for more than a quarter of a century. Late last night a telegram was received by Howard Elliott, the company's representative in the city, telling of a new and important strike on the property which is located nine miles north of Bagdad, San Bernardino county, California. The particulars were sent by mail and have not yet been received. The company has 3,000 feet of development work, and is working about 40 men. The ore is a gold-copper quartz, with gold largely predominating. Assays have been taken which went as high as $2,000
in gold, and it is estimated that there are a million tons of ore blocked out in sight, and on the dumps. A 20-stamp mill has just been completed,
and will be started before November first.The Orange Blossom district is destined to occupy an important place in the mining world, and capital will undoubtedly be attracted to the district. The Orange Blossom extension, an adjoining property, in which many Albuquerque people are also interested, has been running its four-stamp Nelson mill steadily for two months, and it is reported will have a brick on exhibition within the next few days, the result of their first cleanups. The Orange Blossom mine is another company
which is just making its appearance,
and they too are located on the Orange Blossom vein, with a splendid showing. The Orange Blossom mines do their hauling from Bagdad, at which point a daily freight and stage
line of the Orange Blossom company makes close connection with trains
of the Santa Fe in both directions.
A great many railroad men have signified their intention of visiting the district within the very near future.LESLIE STOCK COMPANY OPENS AN ENGAGEMENTClever Performers Played to Large Audience at Elks' Theater
Last Night.The Rosabele Leslie Co., which opened an engagement at the Elks'
theater last evening, proved a great surprise to the local patrons, as never before has Albuquerque been visited by a stock company of this caliber.
"Anita, The Singing Girl," which has been crudely presented upon the local stage before was given a production that was more in keeping with elaborate productions that are offered by the high-priced one-night stand attractions than that of the traveling stock companies that are accustomed to visit this territory. The acting, scenery, costumes, electrical effects and other stage accessories were among the most adequate and complete that have ever been seen here
at any price.Miss Leslie, as Anita, is a charming little actress, who has a happy faculty of blending comedy and emotion in a manner that is very captivating. She has a marvelously powerful voice of unusual flexibility, a graceful presence and a charm of manner that is sure to win favor on any stage. Mr. Miller, as Roscoe Baird; Mr. MacDowell, as John
Baird; Mr. Selman, as Ned Tremont;
Mr. Earle, Manuel Gomez and Mar-cella Hamilton as Vera Danvers, sustained their respective roles very effectively, while the entire supporting cast is much beyond the average.
Considering the merit of the attractions as well as the apparent expense of the productions, the company is worthy of a liberal patronage. There will be a change of bill tomorrow night, when "That Perkins Girl" will be given.PERRY EXPEDITION
MAY BE IN DANGERSeaman Arrives at New York With News of the Trip and Condition of the Sea.New York, Oct. 13.—Henry Johnson, able seaman of Perry's vessel,
the Roosevelt, has arrived in New York from Greenland, bringing the first oral news of the Arctic expedition that has been required since the North Pole was here left this city last June. While getting ice water from a glacier at Etah, where the Roosevelt was taken on stores and making repairs, Johnson was stricken with a chill in his knee and sank on the ice, unable to walk. He grew rose rapidly and to his bitter disappointment, he says, he was obliged to start south
to save his leg from amputation.
Johnson brings with him a letter from Perry to the Perry Arctic club of this city. A report of the progress of the expedition up to August 18 is said to be contained in this letter,
with photographs and interesting data. Mr. Perry is reported to have expressed in the letter his complete satisfaction with the results of the trip thus far.A condensed diary of the expedition was kept by Johnson. The diary states that a hurricane encountered
July 29, just off the coast of Green-Truth and Qualityappeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons
why it is the best of personal and family
laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs
on which it acts without any debilitating
after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup
Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.land, opened the seams of the Roosevelt at the bow to such an extent that several of the crew felt her to be practically unseaworthy for a rough voyage among crunching icebergs.
While the vessel was repaired party
at Etah before she steamed north.
Johnson says her leaky bow causes apprehension among some that she may not survive the perilous trip.

MORE MEN GET WORK.

Portsmouth, Va., Oct. 13.—Several hundred additional mechanics will soon be employed in the Norfolk
navy yard under the special order of Secretary Metcalf, just issued, permitting the employment of men at the yard within sixty days before the election, contrary to the general rules. On the order of President Roosevelt there will be four pay days
a month at the yard in future, instead of two. Employees have repeatedly asked for a weekly pay day.TOBACCO SANDWICH SOLVES THE LAWStatutes Forbid Sale of Tobacco but Sandwiches Are Not Prohibited.Portland, Ore., Oct. 13.—Blue laws
as enforced in this city permit the sale of tobacco as well as food in restaurants on Sunday, but put the cigar stores out of business. Rather a hard deal, the cigar men figured. Finally a genius among them, so bright that he could invent flying machines if he wanted to, hit upon a solution.
The sandwich was the beacon that led him out darkness. "What is a sandwich, anyway?" Something good to eat between two hunks of bread,
of course. Ham, cheese, caviar, beef,
eggs, all figure in the unassuming sandwich of commerce. Anything else? You bet.Walk into the tobacco emporium of the genius on a pleasant Sunday afternoon and call for an owl sandwich.
You get two slices of bread with a

HARMONIOUS AND BRIEF SESSION OF CITY COUNCIL

Last of $30,000 Is Spent and Other Business Attended
to With Dispatch.

The payment of quarterly bills amounting to many thousands of dollars was the chief business of the city council last night. The meeting was an hour and a quarter long, but may be considered short compared with the many midnight sessions the present council has held since its election last spring.

Another feature of the meeting was the appearance of a strange brotherly love that seemed to exist between the members. One reason for this may have been the relief felt because the board of control had lifted from the responsibility of the council the $30,000 secured by Delegate Andrews for the irrigation congress and placed in the care of the council for judicial expenditure. The last of the $30,000 was withdrawn last night by a warrant for $270.62, and in demonstration of thanksgiving for being relieved of all responsibilities occurring in connection with the three big shows, the council, on motion of Dr. Wroth, ordered the clerk to draw a warrant for $260 to be used in paying for the lighting of the city during the festivities.

Col. W. S. Hopewell, D. A. Macpherson and M. L. Stern, members of the board of control, were present. Some one asked where Mr. R. Spitz was but no one could answer the question. After these hardworking members of the board, which saw to the spending of the $30,000 and the successful administration of the three big shows, had seen the last of their drafts on the council ordered paid, Chairman Hopewell gracefully and graciously thanked every department of the city government separately for the assistance it had lent toward the success of the congress, exposition and fair.

And last night's meeting was peaceful. Only one small tilt occurred during the hour and a quarter the session lasted. After the bills had been ordered paid, President Neustadt, who was in the chair in the absence of Mayor Lester, cautioned the members of the council against contracting bills unless they gave vouchers with the orders. President Neustadt went further in saying that as chairman of the finance committee he would not O. K. any more bills unless they were accompanied by vouchers. This provoked Alderman Wroth to say that he did not feel much like fighting but that he refused to be jumped upon by any one. He said that he had not been provided with a book of blank vouchers and consequently could not give them in contracting bills. Clerk McManus said that he had sent Alderman Wroth a book of blank vouchers. The alderman said a second time that he had not received any vouchers.

An application for a retail liquor license at a house at 307 North Second street was read by the clerk. Alderman Auge inquired if the location was not in a neighborhood where a vote of the people of the neighborhood was to be taken into consideration. He was informed that it was not, and the application was referred to the police committee.

The sewer committee had no report to make.

M. W. Flournoy, D. K. B. Sellers, E. C. Butler, J. H. Cox and Dr. J. H. Wroth were appointed a board of examiners to examine persons desiring licenses to run automobiles in the city according to a new ordinance passed by the council.

The street committee was ordered to send a bill to the county commissioners for the use of the steam roller on county roads.

Reports of the city officers:

Park Commission.
The clerk read a financial statement from R. W. D. Bryan, treasurer for the park commission, for the six months ending October 1, 1908. This report showed a total receipt of $1,917.75 and expenditures of $1,140.35, leaving a balance on hand of $777.40. The maintenance of Robinson park cost during the six months $847.25, and of the Highland park nearly $150. Band concerts cost $150.

Board of Health.
The following report was received from the board of health by Alderman James H. Wroth:

Albuquerque, Oct. 12, 1908.
To the Honorable Mayor and City Council of Albuquerque.
Gentlemen: The matter of the cost

SHOT AT AUTOMOBILE; ESCAPED IN DARKNESS

Thrilling Experience of Motorists Results in Capture of Wagon and Team.

To show his contempt for the buzz wagon, a man from Texas fired three shots at the car of Harry McKinney, the well-known mining man, and Alton E. L. Medler, as they were speeding across the mesa at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, coming into the city from a spin up Tijeras canyon. None of the shots took effect; in fact, the occupants of the car did not know that they were fired upon until after they reached the city, when persons in an automobile just behind them came up and inquired if any one was hit.

After lunch, Mr. McKinney and Mr. Medler, accompanied by Police Officer Harry Cooper left the city in Mr. McKinney's car in search of the gun man. He was overtaken in Tijeras canyon just about sundown. When the car rounded a large bend, they discovered their man making camp for the night. At a glance they took in the situation. The man's gun was lying on the wagon seat. With no show of their real intentions, the three men approached the man and secured his gun before he knew that they had come to arrest him. They were then puzzled what to do with the captive. They could not bring the man and his wagon back to the city without considerable difficulty, as it was growing dark. It was finally decided that the wagon and team should be taken to the town of Tijeras, a short distance up the canyon, and left there, and the man brought back to the city in the auto. The man was left to drive his own rig, and was following along behind the car.

The occupants of the car had proceeded but a short distance, when they discovered that the wagon was not following. An investigation proved that the man had left his rig and disappeared in the darkness. The wagon and team was then driven to Tijeras, and left there with instruction that it be sent to the city to-day. The wagon was about half full of apples.

Mr. McKinney said this morning that he did not know what he would do with the outfit. If the man should come to claim it, he would certainly be prosecuted. He and Mr. Medler did nothing to cause him to shoot at them. It is true he said that they passed the man going at a high rate of speed, probably a mile a minute, but they were on another road, several feet from the road the man was traveling. They did nothing to provoke being shot at. They did not even know that they were shot at until after they were told so by persons in a car just behind them. Mr. Medler said he believed that the reason why they did not know they were shot at was because they were traveling too fast for the lead to catch them.

LIVING UP TO ITS REPUTATION

Union Central Life Insurance Company is Sustaining Its Reputation for Prompt Payment of Claims.

Mr. E. F. Parker, general agent for the Union Central Life Insurance company, returned yesterday from a business trip to Las Vegas. He reports a pleasant and profitable trip. Mr. Parker stated that his company had paid six death claims in this district during the past sixty days, three of them from violent deaths, the last of which was Mr. A. B. Stanton, who met his death by falling from a window at the Sisters' hospital in this city last Friday.

Mr. Parker's claim of prompt payment of claims for his company is certainly well substantiated by the above record. Another feature of the Union Central's business policy is the nature of its investments, they having at the present time more than a half million dollars invested in Peoria valley property, so that a large part of the policy holders' money is kept at home. The main advantages of carrying insurance with the Union Central is guaranteed lowest net cost and absolute security. The local office of the company is at room 15, Barnett building, where Mr. Parker will be pleased to explain the merits of his company to anyone looking for safe insurance at reasonable cost.

CAUGHT IN QUICKSAND WHILE CHASING HAT

Native Narrowly Escapes Death Try to Recover "Ten Cent Lid."

A ten cent straw hat came very nearly being the cause of the burial alive in the sandy bottom of the Rio Grande river of Alejandro Juarez yesterday morning. Juarez, accompanied by two of his comrades, was just making for his home in a wagon and had reached the center of the Barcelas bridge when a gust of wind carried the hat from the head of Juarez into the river bed below. The conveyance was immediately stopped and Juarez proceeded to climb down the side of the bridge. When near the bottom he accidentally lost his balance and lit on his feet in the quicksand below. For a short time it looked as though he was doomed and before aid could be sent him, he had sunk to his arms' pits in the sandy bottom of the river. Great excitement prevailed, and seeing their comrade slowly vanishing from their sight, the two men in the wagon hurriedly procured two large planks, one of which was placed on either side of the sinking man. So treacherous was the quicksand into which the victim had fallen that the two helpers encountered much difficulty in keeping from being immersed while in the act of aiding their companion. After considerable trouble, a rope was fastened under the arms of Juarez and he was pulled out of his dangerous position to the bridge above.

Friends Surprise Him and Spend the Evening in Social Way.

F. A. Hubbell was forty-six years old last night and began celebrating the event with exchanging true western hospitality with G. K. Neher, who started the same day as Mr. Hubbell and also passed the forty-sixth post yesterday.

It was 9:30 o'clock last night when Mr. Hubbell went home, to be congratulated by a large number of friends who had been invited in by Mrs. Hubbell for a little surprise for her husband. Mr. Hubbell was taken wholly unawares. Refreshments were served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dobson, Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Cairns, Mrs. J. F. Pearce and Arthur Shaw.

MEAT DEALER BUYS ANDERSON GROCERY

Arizona Man Associated With Local Capital in the Enterprise.

The grocery business of J. W. Anderson and Company, in the Occidental building, corner of Central avenue and Broadway, has been sold to J. W. Abbott, who formerly conducted the meat department of the store of Trotter & Hawkins, and W. T. Olney, formerly of Safford, Ariz. The deal was consummated several days ago but the new owners did not take possession until yesterday.

Mr. Abbott was owner of the meat business in the Trotter & Hawkins store until about a month ago, when he sold to the firm of Trotter & Hawkins. A meat department will be established in the Occidental building within two weeks. Mr. Olney has been in the general merchandise business in various parts of Arizona for several years. He was in Albuquerque last week but went to California to get married, and is expected to return to the city tonight, accompanied by his bride.

Mr. Anderson, who has been identified as one of the leading business men of Albuquerque for twenty years, said this morning that he had not decided what he would do in the future. He had several propositions under consideration. He may engage in the general merchandise business at Mesquite, N. M.

EXPECT SENSATION FROM GRAND JURY

It Is Believed That Indictments That May Cause Surprise Will Be Returned.

The week in district court may develop something of a very sensational character. Though the court officials will not say so, there is sufficient rumor in evidence to cause belief that some very sensational indictments will be returned before the end. District Attorney Clancy said this morning that the grand jury would be in session all of this week and probably part of next. He has summoned sufficient witnesses to keep it busy all of this week at least. The saloon men who kept their places open on Sunday during the territorial fair festivities, will undoubtedly be indicted, as it is believed that it is the intention of certain reformers to file information against them before the grand jury. This was the reason no action was brought against them in the lower courts.

One indictment was presented to Judge Abbott this morning but as the person indicted was not in custody, the information the paper contained was not given out. Sixteen indictments were returned before the jury took a recess in September.

The jury sitting in the case of Francisco Montragon versus Florencio Garcia, which was placed on trial yesterday, was given the case this morning and retired for deliberation and was still out at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when Judge Abbott began selecting a jury in the case of Farley against Neher. This promises to be a long drawn out and hard fought trial. Farley, a gambler by profession, lost considerable money at a faro game conducted in the White Elephant saloon, and alleges that he was cheated.

REPUBLICAN CLUB MEETING TONIGHT

Musical Program, Several Speeches and a Smoker Planned for the Evening.

The Young Men's Republican club will hold a meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the club rooms on West Silver avenue. The program as arranged consists of musical numbers, and speeches by several favorites. The evening will close with a smoker. During the congress and exposition the club discontinued its meetings, but will reopen this evening with renewed enthusiasm and spirit. A large crowd will attend. The club rooms are splendidly equipped, and daily papers, late magazines, and other political literature may be found there at any time.

The meeting tonight will be one of three important meetings to be held before election, and every voter and young Republican is extended a hearty and urgent invitation to attend.

Many Friends Assemble at Reception for Rev. Paetznick and Family.

The members and friends of the Evangelical Lutheran church entertained last evening at a social and reception at the church, in honor of their new pastor, Rev. Paetznick, and his family. During his short residence in the city Rev. Paetznick has established himself in the confidence and esteem of his people, and the affair last evening was a pleasant success. A large attendance was present, and was entertained with a short program, consisting of instrumental music, solos and recitations. At the conclusion of the program, the ladies of the church served delightful refreshments.

ITALIANS WANT TO HONOR COUNT

Man Who Threw Bomb at Louis Napoleon Now Lives
at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 13.—In a quiet cottage at 1839 New England street, this city, living his last days in peace, with the wife who fifty years ago saved him from a criminal's death, is a little old man whose name today is on thousands of tongues in Italy, to whom officials of his native land are writing daily, urging him to return that Italy may do him honor. A few days ago this man's name had been almost forgotten.

He is Conte Camillo de Rudlo, who, by telling the details of the historic attempt to assassinate Emperor Louis Napoleon and the empress in Paris in 1858, when ten persons were killed and 150 wounded, threw new light recently on one of the most remarkable events in European history.

Through the efforts of an Italian newspaper, which had received the political story back of the attempted assassination, Rudlo was traced to Los Angeles, where he told his story.

He told how he threw the bomb which destroyed the royal carriage and described in detail how the plot was arranged. He was arrested, condemned to death, reprieved through the efforts of the Englishwoman whom he married, was sent to Devil's Island, escaped and came to America. He fought under Generals Grant and Sherman in the Civil war and knew both generals personally. He left the army with the rank of major and gradually drifted westward until he arrived here, where he has lived quietly in retirement with his wife, who shared in the excitement of his most thrilling days.

Born of a noble family, de Rudlo became a "patriot" in his early youth and was associated with Police Orsini, the Italian leader of that day, who was executed for his part in the plot against Louis Napoleon.

"I am a member of the Italian Republican party," he said. "It was this party that made Italy what she is today. We realized that unless some decided stand was taken against Napoleon that he would eventually crush our native land in his iron grasp. You who live in a free country cannot understand our feelings. We risked our lives. We struck. We were successful."

"Suppose in this country, your mother went to the theater one night and wore a hat with green trimmings, and a red and white rose. When she got to the entrance of the theater she was seized by gendarmes and dragged to prison. Here she was given fifty lashes, because she was wearing red, white and green—the colors of Italy! What would you do? Would you sleep until you had killed the man or men who had perpetrated such a deed?"

"This is what was happening to our mothers and sisters in Italy. We killed!" and the old warrior rose from his chair and clenched his fist at the bitter memories.

"The Republican party has been quiet since it gave Italy her freedom. The monarchists are trying to take all the credit for Italy's present condition. Consequently when there was a Republican movement which took the form of the erection of a statue to Orsini, who died for the cause, the monarchists began to malign us. When I wrote a letter to be read at the dedication of the monument, a letter which expressed my admiration for Mazzini and his fellow patriots, the Corriere della Sera of Milan scored me. They searched for me that they might score me further."

Whether he will return to Italy de Rudlo will not say.

A Healthy Family.
"Our whole family has enjoyed good health since we began using Dr. King's New Life Pills, three years ago," says L. A. Bartlett, of Rural Route 1, Guilford, Maine. They cleanse and tone the system in a gentle way that does you good. 25c at all dealers.

Only One Way

Don't expect the stomach to do work it can't do. That is unreasonable. While you need help let Kodol do it for you. Kodol digests all the food and it's the only preparation that does

There is only one way. It must have help. Don't expect it to do work it can't do. That is unreasonable. Help restore its ability to act for itself. It soon puts it in condition to do its work unaided. When that condition is reached—

You don't need help.
You don't need digester.
You don't need Kodol.

But while you do need help let Kodol do it for you. Then note the physical improvement that only comes with perfect digestion. And perfect digestion supplies sufficient nourishment.

Kodol is not a cure—Nature alone cures. But Kodol assists the stomach by doing part of its work. Then nature completes its cure. A little help from Kodol makes the burden lighter and easier to bear.

There are tonic properties in Kodol that cause the stomach and whole system to respond. That is what you want. That's what you get in Kodol.

Lack of nourishment is not generally caused by lack of food. It is because you don't assimilate what you eat and because it doesn't digest.

Eat good food and all you want

Don't avoid this nor that because it doesn't agree with you. That only shows the stomach needs help. If your appetite craves certain things your system requires them.

Here is where Kodol benefits you.

It not only digests the food you have eaten, but tones up and puts the stomach back to a healthy and normal condition.

As long as part of the food remains undigested, the stomach is not at rest. All food must be digested. Only part means that the stomach must go on working at an impossible task.

Some things are a partial help and do part of the work. But that is not enough. The part they do is not the most essential part. Just what they fail to accomplish is what is most required by the body. Part way will not do. "Part way" will never take you to a journey's end. All or none should be the demand.

That is why Kodol is so successful.

It digests all food as quickly as a healthy stomach will do it.

If it fails it costs you nothing.

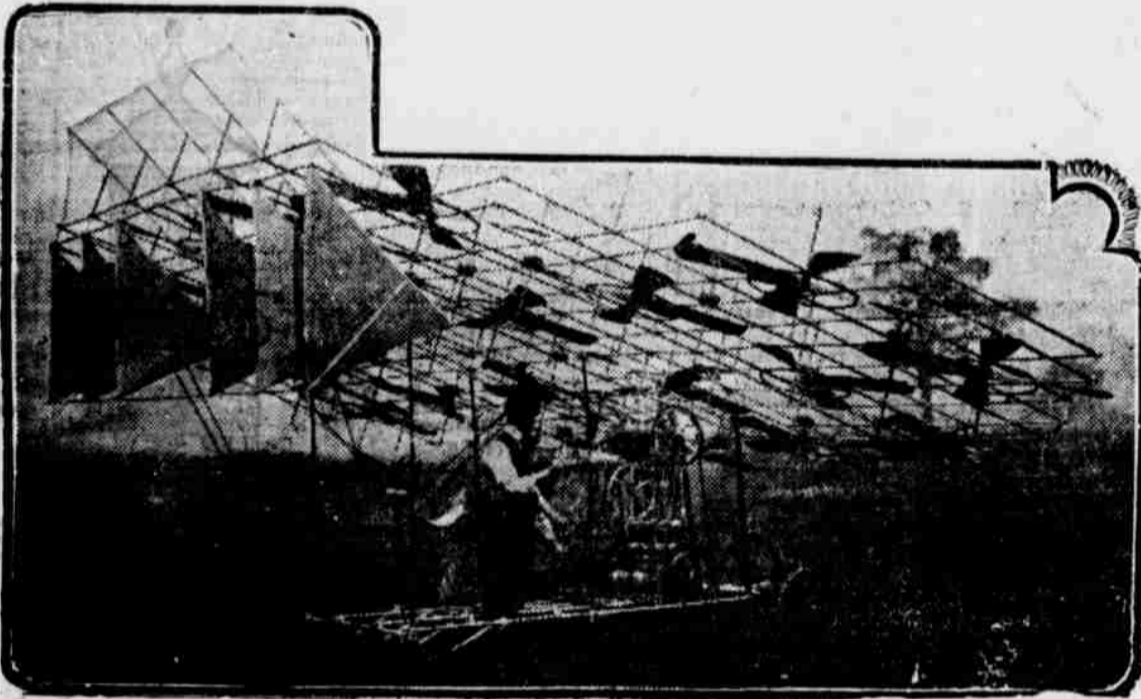

Fairness cannot go further.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say that it has not done you any good return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money. We will then repay the druggist. This offer applies to the large bottle and to but one in a family.

The dollar bottle contains 24 times as much as the fifty cent bottle. Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

KIMBALL'S "HELICOPTER" WILL SOON TRY TO FLY

W. R. KIMBALL AND HIS HELICOPTER.

New York, Oct. 13.—Next act on the aerial bill—Wilbur R. Kimball and his helicopter.

What's a helicopter? It's the type of airship which, according to Thomas A. Edison, is to conquer gravitation. If Kimball is right, an Edison is right, the helicopter is a more practical and more promising airship than the one invented by the Wright brothers.

Kimball has assembled his helicopter, which cost him $10,000 to build, at Morris park, and expects soon to make a flight which will open people's eyes.

The machine is little more than a light framework, in which are 24 small wooden propellers set in a horizontal plane and run by a single motor. The air is forced downward by them instead of upward. There is also a large rudder which steers the machine, and an inclined wing which varies the horizontal angle of it.

It is made chiefly of wood, aluminum and piano wire, and from a distance looks like a huge spider's web.

There are no planes and only one piece of canvas on the helicopter. The air strikes this canvas on top instead of underneath. It is merely to maintain equilibrium automatically.

Kimball says he gained his ideas for the helicopter while flying kites for Prof. Alexander Graham Bell.

"I became convinced then," said Kimball, "that it was only a question of mechanics and exact figuring to make aerial navigation a reality. Our aim then was to discover a kite that would make progress against the wind. We found they had lifting capacity and that all that would be necessary to assure aerial navigation would be to add motors and propellers."

"One of the helicopter's greatest features is that it will get off the ground at slower speed than the aeroplane. While it may not go straight up it will rise gradually, giving the operator a chance to see that everything is working properly before attaining a height. The Wright brothers' machines require a speed of 28 miles an hour before they will leave the ground."

The axis of the helicopter's propellers is not a vertical slope, but a slight angle, which tends to pull it forward. The operator after the start either throws his weight back a little or turns the rudder and the machine lifts.

"I am confident the helicopter will rise to any height desired and will make a speed equal to that of any aeroplane, but all I shall attempt at first will be short flights close to the ground."

The helicopter weighs without an operator 460 pounds; the Wright machines weigh 800. Farman's 1110 pounds. Kimball's machine has a 50-horse power, water-cooled motor, capable of 2200 revolutions a minute. This is the same horsepower as the Wright brothers' motors.

The helicopter is designed to carry only one person, but Kimball says he expects to build one that will carry two.

Then the other clubs became frightened, and all of them, big and little, have closed their buffets and bars.

WRIGHT WILL TRY FLIGHT OVER CHANNEL

Lemans, France, Oct. 13.—Ten thousand dollars and a gold cup worth $250 now await the first aviator who successfully crosses the English channel in an airship of any kind heavier than air. Part of the $10,000 is offered by the London Mail and part by a big French champagne firm. The Aeroplane society offers the cup. Now that Wilbur Wright, by carrying a passenger forty-two miles, and now again rising to a height of just over 100 feet in flight, has finally accomplished the last of Lazare Weiller's conditions, he says that probably he will soon try a flight over the channel by way of Dover and Calais.

Three other aeronauts, declares N. Pierotti, are ready for the same test. One is himself, one is Santos-Dumont, who emerges from obscurity now more with a monoplane capable of anything as soon as the motor works properly, and a third is another monoplane named Manzin. All will begin trials within a fortnight, though it is generally conceded that none has much chance against Wright.

WOOLWINE AFTER ALL LAW BREAKERS

Prosecutor of Los Angeles Closes Exclusive Clubs and Creates Sensation.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—"Go after the higher-ups first, and work down in enforcing the laws, instead of beginning on the little fellows and giving the higher-ups a chance to get from under."

This is the slogan of Thomas L. Woolwine, prosecuting attorney of Los Angeles, and because he is living up to it, the exclusive social clubs of Los Angeles are very dry.

Woolwine was appointed, a few months ago, by the city attorney, and announced that he proposed to see to it that ALL the laws and ordinances were enforced.

Little attention was paid to this announcement, but it was only a day or two later that the prosecutor clashed with the mayor and the police commissioners over the enforcement of the laws governing the red light district. There was a lively mix-up, but the result was that one police commissioner was forced to resign, and the lid was put on the district.

The enforcement of the city ordinance which says that every retail liquor dealer must pay a monthly license caused the next clash. Woolwine held that social clubs that maintained buffets were as much retail liquor dealers as were saloonists. The club members laughed at him, and Woolwine caused the arrest of the directors of the California club, the most exclusive club in southern California, which numbers Gen. Andra R. Chaffee, Henry E. Huntington and many millionaires among its members, on charges of selling liquor illegally.

The club engaged attorneys, and the case was carried directly to the superior court. As all the superior judges in Los Angeles county were members of some of the social clubs, it was necessary to call in a judge from an outside county to hear the case. He upheld Woolwine.

As soon as the decision was rendered Woolwine ordered all the clubs to take out licenses or close their buffets. Some of the smaller clubs complied, but the larger ones paid no attention. The California club announcing that it would appeal its case to the supreme court.

Then Woolwine, armed with a search warrant, and at the head of a squad of police invaded the sacred precincts of the California club, and raided its bar.

A roar followed. Club members declared Woolwine was seeking cheap notoriety by his spectacular methods. He was threatened with political assassination, and the city attorney, who appointed him was threatened with recall, but Woolwine stood pat.

PLACE YOUR ADS IN THE ALBUQUERQUE CITIZEN

Some Reasons Why

The C

Because The Citizen is a home paper. It is either delivered by carrier at the house or is carried home by the business man when his day's work is done and it STAYS THERE. A morning paper is usually carried down town by the head of the family and hurriedly read.

The Citizen is not read hurriedly, but thoroughly, so that all advertisements receive their share of attention. It presents the store news a little ahead, giving the prospective purchaser time to plan a shopping tour for the next morning.

Wise advertisers patronize The Citizen because they know their advertisements are seen and read at the homes in the evening, and if they are offering something worthy of attention, their ad has accomplished its mission.

The Citizen has never given premiums to subscribers, but is subscribed to and paid for on its news merits, showing that its subscribers have money with which to buy what they want from legitimate merchants. These are the people The Citizen invites to your store.

The Citizen employs a man whose business it is to look after your advertising wants. He will write your copy if you wish. If not, he will see that your ads are "set up" to look their best and he will attend to them from day to day.

Are you advertising in The Citizen? Your competitors are, and are profiting by it. Do you think conservative business men are spending money where they are not getting results? Get in the swim and watch your business grow.

Why Colds are Dangerous.
Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh
have their origin in a common cold.
Consumption is not caused by a cold
but the cold prepares the system for reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold.
You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The safest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation
have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by all druggists.

It is not what you pay for advertisement but what advertising costs.
That makes it valuable. Our rates are lowest for equal service.

NOTHING LIKE A GOOD SOUND
STOMACH

Get Some Diapepsin From
Your Druggist and Have
Stomach Trouble Ended
Forever.

When your stomach is weak or lacking in gastric juice, anything that you eat, no difference what it is,
will sour on your stomach, raise the bile and acids to cover your food like oil on water, causing indigestion, dyspepsia, Stomach nervousness and belching of sour poisons, which produce foul odors, nasty taste, bilious headache, heartburn, intestinal grip-ing and make you an object of misery. This is stomach trouble which can not be overcome with ordinary digestive medicines. It is caused by fermentation of your food, which will be remedied at once by Pape's Diapepsin, a preparation pleasant to take and as harmless as candy, though it will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat.

Indigestion is a result, not a cause of your trouble. If the stomach is sour and unhealthy, your food becomes tainted, and that's what is causing the indigestion and gas on stomach and other miseries. Pape's Diapepsin is an Antacid, most powerful digestive and thorough regulator
for weak stomachs. These Triangles will digest any kind of food you eat and will cleanse the stomach and intestines in a natural way, which makes you feel fine five minutes afterwards.

Any good Pharmacy here will supply you with a case of Pape's Diapepsin for fifty cents. Just reading about this remarkable stomach preparation will not help. You should get now and get a case. Put your stomach in full health and by tomorrow you will forget the misery of stomach trouble.
Your case is no different from many others. It isn't Stomach Nerves or Cattarrh of the Stomach, or Gastritis, or Dyspepsia. It is Food rotting—Food Fermentation—that's all—and takes about five minutes to overcome.

TAXICAB STRIKE
WORRIES NEW YORK
But Few Cars Are to Be Had and It
Is Dangerous to Use Them.

New York, Oct. 13.—The unique strike of the 500 chauffeurs of the New York Taxicab company has done more to fret the nervous souls at the clubs and high-priced restaurants
than anything that has happened
since the last blizzard.

In normal times the little autos
have swarmed around the resorts patronized by the heavy spenders, and have been a favorite means of transportation. Now they are mighty scarce and even when the dandies of Fifth avenue make use of the cabs available they run the risk of being annoyed. It's a serious thing to annoy these folks of leisure when they have fed and drunk to their hearts' content, and want a quiet ride home. At least, they say it is, and they are expressing their disgust in the strongest brand of reproving language to be had on the avenue.

Millionaires with complexions like shining copper and figures like a presidential candidate, have essayed voyages with the most startling results.
Showers of tomatoes and onions in-terpersed with cold storage eggs have had a disconcerting effect on these big game players. They have complained of the back panels of the taxicabs being split by bricks hurled by fists of the non-union chauffeurs.
Then, too, cabs have been held up by mobs and resulting shooting affrays have wrought upon the nerves of the grown-up children of luxury. No great inconvenience has been caused by the strike to pedestrians and devotees of the trolley car.

The strike had as its origin the demand of the men that the company furnish their gold and purple uniforms, employ others to keep the brass work of the taxicabs polished, discontinue the system of fines for trivial offenses, raise wages and recognize the union. On this last point officers of the company have said that if the men will break away from the United Teamsters of America, of which they are members, and will form a union of chauffeurs, it will be recognized by their employers.

"We are paid 20 per cent of our cabs' earnings," said one striker, "but
are subject to fines for trivial things.
We pay 15 cents a gallon for gasoline,
10 cents a day to have the brass work cleaned and 20 cents a day for our uniforms. If I take in $11.50, as I did the day before we struck, my straight 20 per cent would be $2.30,
but the assessments left me only $1.21. We are always in debt for uniforms. We want a straight salary of $2.50 a day."

"We have 1500 men waiting to go to work and the red cabs will be doing business as usual in a few days,"
said an officer of the company.

Pinkerton guards ride with all the chauffeurs now in service and the police have been busy protecting them from unruly crowds. Hundreds of old-line horse-drawn cabs have been reconstructed to fill the gap in the city's transportation facilities caused by the strike.

Thoughts for Shoe Buyers

SEVERAL DOLLARS are required to get a really good pair of shoes. If you pay too little you get trash and if you pay too much you are paying for a name or a fad.

At this store we steer a middle course. We do not sell shoes so cheap that they can not wear, nor do we ask fancy prices.

This is a popular, reliable shoe store. Come and see us.

Men's Street and Dress Shoes	$2.50 to $5.00
Men's Work Shoes	$2.00 to $3.50
Men's High Top Shoes	$3.50 to $5.00

The case of Ronald M. Parker, the young man charged with the stealing of merchandise from the store of the Golden Rule company, was heard in the court of Justice Craig this afternoon and after pleading guilty to the charges brought against him, he was bound over to the grand jury with a bond of $150 placed as the price for his liberty.

The case of Samuel Lawrence, a storekeeper of Los Grigios, and Luciano Griego, if the same place was aired before Justice Craig this morning in police court and as a result, both were placed under peace bonds of $100 each. It is contended by Lawrence that on the night of September 13, after a slight altercation in regard to the pasturing of the latter's horses in the pastures of Griego, he was fired upon by the latter, who fled into the darkness. Owing to the fact that the affair was witnessed by no one except the parties involved, the decision was rendered and after the furnishing of the bonds, both departed for their respective homes at Los Grigios.

BOARD MAY BUILD NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Discusses Present Crowded Condition of Schools and Ways to Remedy It.

A meeting of the board of education was held last evening and the proposition of a new high school building to be constructed within the next year submitted. The suggestion met with unanimous favor, and O. N. Marron of the finance committee was appointed to investigate and report at the next meeting as to the legal limit of school bonds which may be issued by the city for erecting school buildings.

The board contemplates the construction of a new high school and manual training school building, necessitated by the recent rapid growth of the city, lack of facilities in the present structure and inability to efficiently care for the large number of students now enrolled. The board is at present paying interest on bonds to the amount of $94,000, expended in the construction of the four ward buildings.

Superintendent Sterling was also authorized to employ a new teacher and lease an additional overflow building in the Fourth ward.

Superintendent Sterling was also authorized to have a cabinet made for the loving cup won by the local public schools for the best educational exhibit at the fair. Clerk T. J. Nay-fon reported a balance in the bank October 1 of $19,131.98.

The meeting last evening was attended by John Conley, George R. Craig, George Giegoldt, A. J. Malloy, O. N. Marron, Frank H. Moore and A. A. Trimble.
