WHAT STATEHOOD WILL MEAN TO PEOPLE OF NEW MEXICO

The Approaching Election as Viewed by Those Interested in the National Capital.

THE PRESENT BILL PROVIDES BIG SUM

Territory Is to Receive Five Millions in Cash and Land Worth Twenty to Forty Millions For Public Purposes Including Schools.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—Viewed from the national capital the approaching election in New Mexico is the most important for the people of the territory than any yet held for the reason that it involves more than ever the question of statehood.

By the statehood bill as introduced in the present Congress by Delegate Andrews, and which, after years of hard work, has the endorsement of the House and Senate committees on territories, New Mexico receives five millions in money for free, public schools. In addition it receives a large grant of land, which, it is estimated, will be worth, at an early day, from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000. These lands may be leased, and in some cases sold for public school benefits.

It gives 300 sections of land for erecting legislative, executive and judicial public buildings and for payment of bonds heretofore or hereafter issued therefor.

That ten percentum of the proceeds of all sales of public land shall be expended for the support of public schools. Oklahoma received only five per cent. For insane asylums 200,000 acres; penitentiaries, 200,000 acres; schools for the deaf, dumb and blind, 200,000 acres; miners hospitals for disabled miners, 100,000 acres; normal schools, 200,000 acres; state charitable, penal and reformatory institutions, 200,000 acres; the state university gets more than its average proportion; for agricultural and mechanical colleges, 300,000 acres, and the present national appropriation shall continue under the state; for school of mines, 200,000 acres; for military institute, 200,000 acres.

To pay the present railroad indebtedness of Santa Fe and Grant counties, 2,000,000 acres. A commission, composed of the governor, surveyor general and attorney general of the state shall select all lands.

The state will constitute one judicial district. A United States district attorney and marshal will be appointed, and clerks for the circuit and district courts, and grand and petit juries. Cases pending in the territorial courts will continue in the state courts.

A constitutional convention composed of 113 delegates shall be called by the governor. The delegates to be apportioned among the several counties in accordance with the vote cast for delegate in 1906. All legal voters may vote on the ratification or rejection of constitution. Delegates to the convention shall meet at Santa Fe, which shall be the capital of the state till 1920; form a constitution; republican in form; perfect toleration of religion shall be secured. The debts and liabilities of the territory shall be assumed by the state.

Until the next census the state shall have two representatives in Congress, and they and all state, county and precinct officers shall be elected at the time of voting on the constitution. If a majority favor the constitution, the governor shall certify the returns to the president, who shall issue his proclamation admitting New Mexico as a state in the union. At the election November 30, the most important question that has come before the people in 69 years will be presented for a decision. It should not be considered as a personal question as to whether Delegate Andrews or Larrazolo should be elected. It should be considered solely as a business proposition. Who can secure the greatest and quickest results for all the people of New Mexico?

"Always welcome Delegate Andrews. What can I do for New Mexico. I am always willing to do what I can for New Mexico; as half of my regiment came from that territory." This is not an infrequent greeting Delegate Andrews receives at the White House. It is well known that Delegate Andrews has the hearty and united support of the entire Pennsylvania delegation, which is the largest and most influential Republican delegation in Congress. Dalzell, of Pittsburgh; Sherman, chairman of Indian affairs, and candidate for vice president—who requested that Andrews be placed on his committee—with the speaker, compose the committee on rules, and Dalzell makes the report to the House. If there is

TWENTY-SEVEN PEOPLE PERISHED IN FIRE YESTERDAY

Forest Flames Destroy Many Homes and Burned Several Towns in the North.

THE PROPERTY LOSS MOUNTS INTO MILLIONS

Isolated Farms Completely Destroyed, While Flames Rage Unchecked Through Timber Lands in Many Counties.

Alpena, Mich., Oct. 17.—With twenty-seven people known to have perished yesterday in Presque Isle county and with forest fires still raging uncontrolled through the counties of Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Alpena and Alcona, as well as others in scattered districts of northern Michigan, a diligent search was begun today to determine the full extent of the holocaust.

It will take many days to reveal the tragedies that likely have occurred on isolated farms. The property loss will run into the millions. Whole villages have been wiped from the map and logging camps by the dozen have been destroyed with the season's output. In the vicinity of Millersburg alone the losses are estimated at half a million.

Other districts report bad forest fires and in Crawford county 4,000,000 trees planted by the state forestry commission were destroyed. In the Upper Peninsula threatening forest fires are reported around Sault Ste. Marie, Menominee, Escanaba, Calumet and Houghton. At Koss, near Menominee, 18 homes are reported destroyed, with many more threatened.

TAKES OWN LIFE WHILE CROWD WATCHES

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Arnold Luetgert, a brother of Adolph Luetgert, a Chicago sausagemaker, whose trial and conviction for the murder of his wife was one of the most sensational in the criminal annals of the country, committed suicide in a spectacular manner at Elgin, Ill., yesterday. His identity was not discovered until today.

Luetgert was visiting an amusement resort when he attracted the attention of the crowd by firing three shots into the air. With everybody staring at him, he sent the fourth bullet through his own head.

COURT DISMISSES DYE WILL CASE

Sustains Motion of Defense Because Plaintiff Is a Minor.

Judge Abbott this morning sustained the motion of the defense in the Dye will case, asking that the action be dismissed on the grounds that a minor, though married, could not bring action in New Mexico. Mrs. Meace, the complainant in the case, testified yesterday that she was not 21 years of age. The defense immediately moved to dismiss and this morning filed a written motion, which the court sustained. To contest the will now, the complainants will have to bring new action, which may be done through a next friend.

The jury in the case of D. L. Thompson, a train porter, against the Santa Fe, in which the plaintiff brings action to recover money alleged to be due him as salary held out by the company, because, it is alleged, he carried a passenger, and for damages resulting from being wrongfully discharged, was completed this morning and trial begun. A Thompson took the stand and testified that he began work for the company September 15. On October 1 he was discharged, and confronted with a person who, a special officer of the company said, had been carried by the plaintiff from this city to Winslow. The company, it was charged, held out from Thompson's wages, the fare for one person from Albuquerque to Winslow. Thompson testified that he asked the officials at Winslow for transportation back to Albuquerque but was refused. The defense put Trainmaster Higginson on the stand but he was able to furnish very little testimony on account of not having had any personal dealings with the plaintiff. The case went to the jury at 2:30.

The territorial grand jury returned a budget of seven indictments this morning, and was given a recess until Monday. The indications are that it will not be able to complete its labors before the latter part of next week.

SAY TAFT WILL CARRY NORTH CAROLINA TICKET

Republican Nominee for Governor Sees Hope of Victory With Candidate's Aid.

MAY POSSIBLY ELECT THREE CONGRESSMEN

Salisbury, N. C., Oct. 17.—Judge Taft is today campaigning through North Carolina and is being given a cordial reception by the people of the state and Republican leaders. He was joined here this morning by J. Ellwood Cox, nominee for governor on the Republican ticket, who will accompany him through the state.

"Your visit to North Carolina gives me the firm belief not only that you will carry the state, but that the state ticket will be elected," said Cox to Taft. "We are sure of electing two and there is a possibility of electing one more congressman," he added.

This information caused Taft to add an expression of satisfaction that he had taken the southern trip. He spoke briefly at Statesville and this place and during the day and evening will address meetings at High Point and Greensboro in this state and Danville and Richmond, Virginia.

PROBATE COURT HAS SHORT SESSION

Probate Judge Jesus Romero held a short session of probate court yesterday afternoon and transacted business as follows:

Anna Dziogiel was appointed guardian of Magdalena Mermion, a minor sister, to serve without bond. Candelaria G. de Munia was appointed guardian of Bernardina Muniz, a minor, to serve without bond. The will of the late Aaron Rosenwald was offered for probate and following the wishes of the deceased merchant, Mrs. Eliza Rosenwald, the widow was appointed administratrix to serve without bond. The Rosenwald estate is one of the largest in the territory. Otto Diekmann appeared for the heirs.

Witnesses were examined in the case in which R. G. Balcomb had a claim of $124 against the estate of the late William Hart. The court took the evidence under consideration yesterday and today rendered a decision in favor of Balcomb. The petition of Clarita Apodaca de Trujillo to sell certain land belonging to Anita Trujillo, a minor, was approved. Another short session of the court was held this afternoon.

TURKISH TROOPS KILL MANY HUNDRED ARMENIANS

Soldiers Sent to Quell Mutiny Make Wholesale Slaughter, and Sack a Town

BELIEVE THAT WAR MUST COME AT ONCE

Berlin, Oct. 17.—There has been a frightful massacre in Armenia by Turkish soldiers, according to the Constantinople correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt, who wires his paper of the wholesale murders today. The paper publishes the following dispatch from Constantinople:

"Armenians in Vran-Shehr have been massacred by Turkish troops who were sent to the town to quell the mutinous townspeople. Two-thirds of the residents were Armenians and as soon as the troops arrived they began a frightful slaughter. They are said to have completely overrun the city killing hundreds and burning some buildings, ransacking residences for loot."

WAR IS INEVITABLE

Paris, Oct. 17.—France has just received official confirmation of the mobilization of troops by Turkey, an answer to Bulgaria's refusal to accord compensation for the Oriental railroad. This, it is believed, makes war inevitable. It is expected that Bulgaria will immediately push troops across the Turkish frontier in order to secure an advantage before Turkey can begin general mobilization.

YALE BEATS ARMY IN FOOTBALL GAME

Takes First Big Contest of the Season by Close Score Today.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 17.—The Yale eleven defeated the Army in the first big football game of the year here this afternoon by scoring a touchdown. The Army was unable to push the ball over and the game ended with a 6 to 0 score.

The game this afternoon was of interest for two reasons. It was the first really game to be played this season and interest was intensified because of the 6 to 0 tie game of these teams last fall. Exceptional preparations were made by both teams for the game and of the two the Yale team was said to be in the best shape. The Yale team was believed to be slightly off form. Yale, however, showed surprising strength.

DEMOCRATS ADJOURN UNTIL THURSDAY NEXT WEEK

Put Off Nominating Candidates to Pick Men and See What Republicans Do.

NOT IN HURRY TO NAME COUNTY TICKET

The Democratic convention for Bernallillo county met this morning at 10 o'clock in the Elks' building. It was called to order by Summers Burkhardt, chairman of the county committee. There was a corporate guard of delegates present. A temporary organization was effected by the selection of E. V. Chaves as temporary chairman.

Mr. Chaves, who has been taking quite an interest in affairs political of late, made a speech of some length which was supposed to sound the keynote of the campaign, namely, harmony. Mr. Chaves made a strong plea for harmony and a united party and predicted all sorts of disasters to the Republican organization.

Judge W. W. McClellan was elected secretary. The convention then named committees on credentials, resolutions, rules and order of business and permanent organization. The convention then adjourned until 2 o'clock.

At 2 o'clock the delegates again assembled and Mr. Mandell provoked quite a number of bursts of oratory by a motion to the effect that when the convention was ready to adjourn, that it adjourn until next Thursday, which, by the way, is the day following the holding of the Republican convention, which shows that Mr. Mandell's political education has not been neglected.

There was some opposition to the motion. One delegate expressed the opinion that if the nomination of the ticket were postponed until next Thursday, the Democrats would be taunted with cowardice. Another delegate, however, said that it was not a question of courage but the question of selecting a ticket which could deliver the most votes, that was being considered by the convention. Dr. Wroth appeared on the floor of the convention at this stage of the game and made a vigorous speech in favor of Mr. Mandell's motion, declaring that a hastily nominated ticket would not appeal to the voters. The doctor said that due deliberation should be used in the selection of a ticket to secure as many votes as possible, especially for the delegate. After further debating, Mr. Mandell's motion prevailed. A motion to adjourn the convention, without effecting a permanent organization, was defeated.

THE GUNBOAT YANKTON IS MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING

It Was Sighted October 15 and Should Have Reached Yokohama Yesterday.

JAPAN PREPARES TO RECEIVE AMERICANS

Houses Are Decorated and the City Thronged With Thousands Anxious for a Glimpse of the Battleships and Sailors.

Tokio, Oct. 17.—The American gunboat Yankton had neither been sighted nor definitely located up to 8 o'clock tonight and there is some uneasiness here concerning her. She has no wireless system on board and so nothing can be learned until she puts in an appearance either here or along the coast.

The Yankton left Olongampo October 10 for Yokohama, where she is to join the battleship fleet. She was reported sighted at sea at 8 a. m. October 15, and was expected to come into the harbor at Yokohama during the morning of October 16.

The official reception committee, headed by Vice Admiral Saito, who is vice minister of the navy department, will leave early tomorrow morning for Yokohama and the party will assemble aboard the battleship Mikasa. Upon the arrival of the American fleet at 9 o'clock in the morning the committee will assemble on board the Connecticut and present an address of welcome to Admiral Sperry. After an exchange of official calls has been arranged the American officers will attend a garden party and a dinner.

The scene at Yokohama on the eve of the fleet's arrival is the liveliest the city has known. Thousands of Japanese and foreigners crowd the city and every house, however poor, is decorated in honor of the Americans, with crossed flags and lanterns.

Dispatches received yesterday from Tokio relate that the American battleship fleet encountered a very heavy storm off the north coast of Luzon October 12 and 13. This heavy weather may have delayed the Yankton.

HETLING SECURES RELEASE ON BOND

Ball Player Charged With Assault Brings Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 17.—Gus Hetling, the professional baseball player of Wichita, Kan., who was arrested several days ago on a charge of attempting to criminally assault Mrs. Rose Annett, a young married woman of Salida, Colo., on a Pullman sleeping car attached to an eastbound Santa Fe train, while the train was passing Lamy Junction, has instituted habeas corpus proceedings through his attorney, H. S. Clancy, for his release.

He was to have a hearing before Judge John B. McFie in the district court today, but owing to the absence of important witnesses the case was postponed until next Wednesday.

Hetling gave a $1,000 appearance bond and was released from the county jail, where he had been confined since his arrest. He stoutly denies his guilt and alleges that it is a case of attempted blackmail.

It is said that he will bring suit for damages against the Santa Fe railway for false imprisonment, he having been arrested by special officers of the railroad detective force.

NEWARK JUDGE SUICIDES

Newark, N. J., Oct. 17.—Judge Howell, of the criminal court of this city, shot himself in the head in one of the city parks today while his court was waiting for him to appear. He will probably not recover. Howell was criticized in the campaign and last night challenged his accusers to reply to questions which he asked them. Howell died in the hospital two hours later.

BIG CROWD HEARS BRYAN

Denver, Oct. 17.—One of the greatest crowds ever gathered in Denver turned out to greet Bryan last night. The candidate spoke to three overflow meetings and when he arose to address the throng at the Auditorium on the subject, "Let There Be Light," there was not standing room in that immense structure. As Bryan took the train to return to Lincoln he expressed his gratitude at the demonstration accorded him.

THREE HUNDRED KILLED

Amoy, China, Oct. 17.—Native reports received here from Changow say that over 300 lives were lost in that city as the result of a typhoon Thursday.

ELIDA AND WARE WELCOME ANDREWS

Business Is Suspended in Former Town and Train Held More Than a Half Hour

PORTALES MEETING THE BIGGEST EVER

Enthusiastic Reception for the Delegate by Big Crowd—Portales Has Adopted "Andrews and Statehood" Slogan.

Portales, N. M., Oct. 17.—There was a surprising demonstration at Elida yesterday morning when the train bearing Delegate Andrews and party reached that town. The party was scheduled to make a stop of three minutes but the crowd that assembled to greet the delegate would not permit him to leave and the train was held thirty minutes in order to permit the delegate to speak to the two hundred and fifty voters who had assembled. Two hundred school children were in line and sang songs and cheered Delegate Andrews.

During the time the train was held all business in the town was suspended and practically the entire town assembled at the station. Many citizens boarded the train and came with the delegate to Portales. Arriving here at noon today the party, consisting of Delegate Andrews, R. C. Ely, ex-Governor Otero, Hardy Hills and Jose Sena, was met by a big crowd and at 2 o'clock the biggest political meeting ever held here began. Several splendid speeches were made and the delegate was given an enthusiastic reception.

At 4 o'clock Delegate Andrews and party left for Clovis to attend a big meeting. "Andrews and statehood" has been adopted as the slogan for Portales now, and the delegate will be given a heavy vote in November. Cheers Five Minutes. Clovis, N. M., Oct. 17.—The opera house here was packed to the doors last night when Delegate Andrews and party arrived. W. A. Havener presided at the meeting, which was the largest held here for some time. The speech of Ralph Ely for Andrews and statehood was cheered five minutes and great enthusiasm was shown. More than a hundred business men, and many of them Democrats are out working for Delegate Andrews and statehood. Clovis royally entertained the party last night. The party left for Carlsbad this morning.

CAN A WIFE STEAL FROM HER HUSBAND?

Interesting Point Is Brought Up in Larceny Case Before Judge Craig.

Can a wife steal from her husband? On the other hand, can a husband owe his wife money?

These are two questions brought up for settlement in a case filed by Charles Mitchell against his wife, alleging larceny of property valued at $400 this morning. The case was adjourned until Monday morning at 10 o'clock to permit the attorneys to read up on cases involving these questions.

Yesterday Mrs. Mitchell filed suit for divorce and today her husband filed a suit alleging that she stole $400 from him, including a watch valued at $125, a fob and chain valued at $85, and a ring valued at $225. According to his story he came home one night and found his wife ready to leave. She told him she intended leaving for good and would sue for divorce, and then left the house. Later, he says, she returned, "crashed through a window and took the jewelry."

Mrs. Mitchell brings the counter charge that her husband owes her $300 and that she took the things as payment for the debt. Attorney Wilkerson brought up the point that a wife could not steal from her husband, and Attorney Madison, acting for Mitchell, retorted with the belief that her husband could not owe her money, both on the theory that a married couple are one and share equally in what each has. Now it's up to the court.

The Origin of Knitting—Knitting has been known for centuries and as early as the 15th century, good examples of knitted work were to be found especially in Italy, Spain and Germany. Among the first knitted stockings were those made of silk worn by Henry II. of France on the day of his sister's wedding to the Duke of Savoy in 1559.

Since then, silk has been more and more worn for stockings. The stocking itself has been improved also in many ways and now the latest development is the double tipped stocking made with the re-enforced so called garter top that will not wear out where the hose supporter clasp bites the fabric.

The music, refreshments and every appointment of the evening was informal, and the affair proved one of the social events of the week.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Rupert F. Asplund, Mr. and Mrs. Angel, Mr. and Mrs. Stephens, Dean and Mrs. Hodgkin, Prof. Gibbons, Miss Fleda Smith, Miss Frances Borders, Miss Jean Hubbs, Miss Vinta Hall, Miss Eileen McMillen, Miss McCain, Miss Mae McMullen, Miss Carrie McClurken, Miss Evelyn Everett, Miss Miriam Cook, Miss Reina Grunsfeld, Miss Grace Grimmer, Messrs. Bert Skinner, Fred Forbes, Robert Sewell, Robert Price, Jess Keleher, Elwood Albright, Louis Gambiner, Edmund Ross, William Wroth, Gillette Cornish, J. Benson Newell and Lawrence Lee.

Dainty Bits of Neckwear—There never has been a season when so many attractive things have been designed for women's neckwear. From the narrow silk tie, tied in a four in hand knot to the elaborate jabots designed to wear with coat suits, the range is endless. The combination of embroidery and white linen in collar and tab is particularly popular. One of the most attractive coat sets of collar and cuffs is made of Irish crochet, applied to hand made filet net.

Rebelling Against Dame Fashion—Women sometimes adopt a fashion, or a change of an existing fashion, often a detail of the costume, for no other apparent reason save that it is a change—something new. They have been comfortable for a period with a certain fashion. Then Paris dressmakers, because they must have new details to sell their gowns, issue an edict, changing the styles. American dressmakers and manufacturers of women's fine gowns fall in with the money making change and behold—we have a new fashion. Many times it isn't as comfortable or as practicable as the old one but it is new therefore the woman must have it.

Time was when she followed a new style blindly and retained it though she suffered inconveniences from it. But more recently she has asserted her independence and discarded styles which were not comfortable and gone back to the former more practicable ones.

An interesting recent example of this is the rebellion against the long sleeves. For several seasons the short sleeve was worn by women who found it comfortable, slightly and in every respect a desirable fashion. Paris says this year that the sleeves must be long, even to the back of the hand and must fit the arm tightly. The American makers of waist hailed this with delight. It meant something new. So did the American dressmakers. They advised long sleeves and made them very long. But already the indications are strong that the long sleeve is doomed. Women are finding it uncomfortable after the short sleeve, even for evening wear, and will undoubtedly revert in the early spring to the short sleeve.

which is unanimously conceded to be western drama, "The Rose of the as Rosy, a typical ranch girl. "The Rose of the Ranch" is considered one of the best plays in Miss Leslie's repertoire, and as it pervades by a purely western atmosphere, to which much careful study has been given, a performance of more than average interest is assured.

"The Devil," which was the offering last evening, proved the strongest drawing card of the engagement and the performance sustained every promise made by the management in advance. The play is one of the most interesting that has been seen here in years and in the hands of so capable a company scored a pronounced hit.

TO NEXT CONGRESSThose Not Competed for Here Will Be Distributed at Spokane.A meeting of the executive committee of the Sixteenth National Irrigation congress and Twenty-eighth Territorial fair was held last evening at the congress headquarters in the Commercial club building, and many accounts were audited. Other business of importance to the closing of the congress and fair books was transacted. Owing to the fact that many of the local merchants as well as others are slow in making settlements with the management, it is thought that several weeks will be required before the financial outcome of the past festivities will be known and made public. A committee is now canvassing the merchants who resented subordinated towards helping the cause, and judging from the results of their efforts in this direction many of the business men of this city are postponing their payments and thereby forming a drawback in the finishing up the affairs of the congress and fair.In addition to the financial part of the meeting the matter of the placing of the cup trophies left over on account of the lack of entries for them was thoroughly discussed and as some of the silver loving cups were for entries during congress week and others for awards during fair time, it was decided to forward the congress trophies to Spokane for distribution during the Seventeenth National Irrigation congress, while the exposition trophies will be kept in this city to be awarded during the Twenty-ninth annual territorial fair, which will be held in this city next fall. One handsome trophy, a large silver loving cup of excellent quality and elegant workmanship, and of great value, was forwarded to the Sixteenth National Irrigation congress by the Fifteenth congress, owing to the fact that it was not competed for, and this valuable prize will also be sent to the Seventeenth congress at Spokane to be disposed of at that time.For Chapped Skin.

earnest and sincere support of Senator Pecos, chairman of the very important committee on postoffices and post roads—no postmaster can be confirmed against his wish—and Senator Knox, late attorney general.
Scores of other senators and hundreds of representatives are his friends and have and will help him in anything he wants for New Mexico. A common expression is, "Andrews, just say what you want us to do and we will do it."He also stands on solid terms with the heads of all the bureaus. For over 20 years Delegate Andrews has associated with men high in political and business affairs, and they often have and will continue to help him in what he wants for New Mexico.Without saying anything derogatory to Mr. Larrasolo. It is well known that it takes a new man two or more sessions of Congress to learn the ropes and make friends so that he can accomplish anything. If it was intended to send a Democrat, Antonio Joseph, of Taos county, with ten years' experience, or H. B. Ferguson, of Bernalillo county, with two years' experience, would appear as better candidates, as they might, with less loss to the people, catch up with the work where they quit when in Congress.The president lately announced to Gov. Curry and Collector Bardshear that he would recommend in his message separate statehood for New Mexico and Arizona. Now it is absolutely necessary to win over Chairman Beveridge and other Republican members of the Senate committee on territories. They can be secured, if at all, by Delegate Andrews and Senator Larrasolo has voluntarily disqualified himself to secure even Chairman Beveridge, let alone the others.Senator Beveridge is almost as close to President Roosevelt as a brother; and with Larrasolo berating the president and placing him in the Ananias club, he would have about as much show to get Chairman Beveridge and other Republican members of the committee to favor statehood as the proverbial snow ball in that place considered so very hot.So all things being duly considered it would appear that the time had arrived for several thousand Democrats to lay aside their petty party prejudices and rise to the high standard of patriots and vote to elect Delegate Andrews, the man who has proven by his late record, that he can "do things" and can "get things" for all the people. The Democrats should not hesitate to do this at the present time, for the reason that if Delegate Andrews is returned by a good majority and secures statehood this coming December, he will not

THE STRUGGLES OF A YOUNG ACTOR

As Told by Farley, Temporarily Employed in a Laundry, Washing Shirts for Living.

(The following hard luck story was written by a member of a theatrical company which recently disbanded in Albuquerque. The writer characterizes it as "The Stage Struggles of a Struggling Actor, Still Struggling," and is intended by him to show that the theatrical business doesn't consist altogether of wearing good clothes and a pleasant smile on the stage.)

"Well, you see it's this way," said Farley the other morning. Farley was a young fellow, not thirty. "The stage has its difficulties. I can't say which I like best, that or the laundry business. The laundry business is all right, and it's a sure thing, but for a young fellow who likes to travel some, give me the stage when you're out with a real show. This season is bad and will be for a time yet. There is only two shows on the road now and neither one of them will be making any money till way along next spring. One is Taft and the other is Bryan. One show is bound to go broke before the season is over but the winning attraction will be pretty sure of a long run."

"It's pretty tough to be out with a show when it goes strand-d," I put in.

"Well," said Farley, "I have had more fun at ice cream socials down home."

"Was you ever broke before," I ventured.

"Before," he echoed. "I was once. I hardly dare ask further but the look on my face betrayed me and the Farley gave his characteristic grin, batted his head, and started to fill his pipe for a second drag before the boss came down and we all got busy."

"Broke," said I, had Humphy-dumpty skinned worse than I as he had been beat up for frosting on lemon pie. It all happened down at Norfolk at the Jamestown exposition and it was even worse. No roofs or floors to the buildings yet and all carpenters and laborers were taken off other buildings and put to work on the government building to get a roof over it for Friday in case it should rain. George Cohan wrote a song about Norfolk and in the chorus it said:

"In the city where the girls are pretty,
And the sun shines nearly all the time."

"I wasn't looking for luxuries and it rained every day I was there."

"Wednesday I started out again feeling light under the belt but determined to land a job. I applied everywhere and in every way. Along in the afternoon I learned of an employment agency that was taking men for the street car lines. Say, I wonder if I didn't hurry up to that office. When I was there I was positively informed that all applications were closed at 11 o'clock that morning and at that hour he had about three times as many as he could use and anyone making application must first pay one dollar down to the agency and also five dollars on deposit to secure cap and badges in case they got a job. Well boys, I bit my lips mighty hard; I felt a lump in my throat; I turned to get out quickly but the tears were too quick for me and the man saw them and called me back. 'Follows, don't think I'm any baby. I'm a man of thirty, but was you ever very hungry? Well, if you ever get as hungry as I was then, you'll know. I told him I had not eaten for nearly three days, and then the tears did come. No stage tears boys; those were the real things. In a few minutes I got control of myself again and the man wrote an order on a restaurant to give me a square meal. He said he wasn't rich either, but no man ever went out of his office like that. He gave me 'four bits' and said I should come to the office and he would try and have work for me. Those were the first kind words I had heard for a week, boys. Did you ever know they would stop hunger? Well, they will."

"I used the order just the same and the next morning I started out for that office long before it would be open. On the way down there I saw a sign in front of a restaurant: 'All You Can Eat for a Quarter.' That sign really looked good to me. I had the 'four bits' yet, but what looked even better than that was another sign in the window, 'Walter Wanted.' I had never been a waiter but I thought I could do it so I 'likes' in and strikes for the job. He asked me if I was an experienced waiter and I told him I was. He asked me where were my coat and apron. I have played quite a bit in stock and fortunately had a waiter's apron for waiter's part. In my wardrobe, I said I had an apron but no coat. He says, 'Well, if you've got an apron I suppose you must be a waiter all right,' and I got the job at six dollars a week and board. I was to work from six in the morning to about ten at night, whenever they closed up, with no hours off from two to four in the afternoon. I was glad enough to get it at that and on my way up to the transfer office where my trunk was being held for the price of the transfer I met my newly found friend, the employment agent. I told him of my good luck and he had nothing in sight for me yet he advised me to take it till something better turned up."

"I got my apron and went right to work. The restaurant, Gee, I hate to call it that. They catered entirely to the seamen on shore leave from the battleships and they never came in as ordinary people but in bunches of ten to twenty at a time. They were on shore to see the fair but as there was no fair yet they were doing the town. They came in in all sorts of intoxication and having had all they could drink they wanted 'all they could eat.' They were mostly foreigners—every nation was represented by one or more battleships—but we did have one man who came in nearly every day, sometimes nearly sober, and never failed to tell us that he was from Illinois and on the battleship Illinois."

"But you didn't go hungry any more," I put in.

"No, but maybe it was worse. You see, all 'come-backs' only went out again and what was finally left went in the soup. I couldn't stand for it and every time I got hungry I'd have the cook 'try two, straight up.' It was putting me out fast and by Saturday night I was sick. I asked the boss for a dollar but he said pay day was on Tuesdays. I had to quit the place anyway soon so I quit then and there and demanded my three days' pay. They said if I quit without giving three days' notice I forfeited all pay. I said, 'Is that so? Since when do you make U. S. law?' and on Monday I was there with the employment agent who was a notary public. I made my bluff and he backed it up with a better one but they only said, 'Go ahead and arrest, this man drew his pay every night.' I was broke and it costs money to bring on law suits and establish your claim, even for three dollars and thirty-five cents."

"Say fellows, I used to think it smart to 'ball a waiter out' if he set my coffee cup down with the handle turned from me or left the sugar a little out of my reach, but no more. I never make a kick even at cold potatoes and no ice water and sometimes when I'm out with a real show and 'dust,' I even come across with a tip."

"That Sunday morning I stood good chances of practicing mental science and saying I wasn't hungry anyway. But when the postoffice opened I had a letter from home. You see I never write about hard luck to mother; she's like other fellows' mothers and would worry a great deal; it would do no good and she wouldn't sleep a wink nights, but the Savannah telegram had put her wise that all wasn't well with me and in this letter she enclosed a dollar bill. She's not rich, you know, but how her letter did cheer me up."

"When I saw the employment agent the next morning he sent me out to see the street car superintendent and said I could get on a car but when I saw the superintendent he said he could not use me till Thursday but for me to report at 8 o'clock that morning. I thought I had a swell job then sure and the next four days I devoted to writing some of my professional friends who were in better luck, a cheerful letter home, and I sent my pal a couple that might have scorched Uncle Sam's mail sacks. Didn't I hand it to him. I talked about as plain English as any Yankee can and the ink almost turned red as I wrote it. If ever I get a letter like the one I sent I'll turn into a dwarf and join a freak show."

"I had to figure out some way of eating till Thursday so I told another restaurant man I was working extra runs on a street car and asked him to stake me to a week's board. He did so and I figured that by Thursday I really would be working and could 'make good.' Ever believe in lying? I do when you're up against it and it gets you something to eat."

"During these few days I got acquainted with the cashier of a big bank there. I used to work in a bank myself along with my brother, you know. That was before my lamps went on the bum and nearly went out. He was also trying to fix me up a job and staked me to a dollar every now and then."

"At last Thursday morning came and I reported, only to be told that there was nothing doing yet and for me to report again next Monday. That's the way some southerners do business, you know, and in fact, it seemed to me the way the whole exposition was run. I couldn't wait any longer and it was me to either get a job or jump off the dock. I went around where they were erecting a big building. I found the foreman and struck him for a job. He looked at me and smiled. 'I ain't hiring any clerks,' said the man. I told him I didn't care who he was hiring. I must have something and have it quick. He said he could only put me at heavy labor. I took it and hurried to my room for some old clothes and was back when the whistle blew at 12:30."

"Say, boys, do you know what it means to take that kind of a job down in that country? It means you carry lumber for the carpenters and hods of brick and mortar for the masons. It means you get down and lift heavy timbers with a gang of southern negroes to the tune of 'He-o-he.' It's not a funny song and it's hard to dance to in rain or boiling sun. It means the gang-boss will cuss you up and down regardless of your color, black or white, especially if you are a little lightweight and can't keep up your end. If you've ever had a good home and lots of friends you'll find how it hurts to come to that. Ever get swell headed, boys? I used to think I was IT. A little of that took it out of me as clean as we take dirt out of any shirt back in that laundry when the customer sent in a kick on the bundle he got the week before."

"The first afternoon on the job I ran a rusty nail through my shoe into my foot (it's worse than corns), but as soon as the 5 o'clock whistle blew I limped up to the bank, dirty and ragged as I was. I met the cashier in the doorway. He was going out to mail some letters and didn't know me. My heart sank and I wasn't sure as he was the man I'd looked at myself I couldn't have blamed him much. As he came back from the mail box I called him. He looked at me in blank astonishment and for fully a minute he couldn't make out who I was, then he said, 'What in heaven's name are you doing?' I told him and he slapped me on the back and said, 'By George, you have pluck.' He handed me a case and said for me to come again the next night at that hour and by that time he would have me a better job. I just looked down at my clothes but he caught the idea and said,

"That's all right, my boy, that doesn't matter in your case."

"The next day I worked the same on the job and when I saw him that night it was the same story. Yes, you'd have thought a fellow could have found a better job but when an employment agency and a bank cashier can't get them what's a stranger going to do? That's the way it went on for four long days. Four days may not seem long but some days are years. The fourth day I ran another nail in the other foot and then kept me guessing to know which to limp on."

"My week's board was now up at the restaurant but the cashier said for me to tell them that he would pay them the next day. I went down for my supper and told the manager what the cashier said. His reply was, 'No, sir, not another bite can you get here. You promised to pay a week; you have not done it and now there is the door.' Say fellows, when you've worked all day with that bunch and tried your best you have no idea how that hurts. I had to walk out hungry, though, and I went to my room, washed up, changed my clothes, and tried to look as much like a real fellow as I could and go up town and see what I could run across."

"I had written the tourist lady, giving her the names of several good hotels and when I reached my room a telegram was there from her asking me to meet her and the little girl at the depot, help them with their baggage, and show them the way to the hotel. Their train came in at 5:30 and it was then 7 o'clock. As quickly as I could I changed my clothes and hurried to the depot. I learned that the train had arrived on time so I went from one hotel to another hoping to find them. No one of their description had been seen at any of them and I commenced to wander about the streets in that crowded city, thinking by chance I might accidentally meet them. It got to be about 9 o'clock. My feet began to hurt me something terrible and Oh, how hungry I was. I had just twenty-one cents in my pocket and I decided I would not find them that night so I would go and spend fifteen cents for supper, save a nickel for coffee in the morning and try and go back to work. I did so and then started to my room. It was nearly a mile to walk and my feet hurt me so I had to sit down on the curb and rest two or three minutes each block. I was nearly home and going through a crowded street when I heard a voice behind me say, 'Why, there is Farley now.' Say, fellows, an angel's voice could not have sounded sweeter than that lady's did as I heard my own name called out in that crowd. I turned quickly but could see no familiar face. Finally I saw someone making toward me and it was them. They were just coming out of the swellest restaurant in town and had happened to see me."

"After the usual glad hand they asked me how I was doing. I said, 'Let us go where I can sit down and I'll tell you; it's a long story. They said, 'Well, you're looking fine.' (I had good clothes on) and we went to their hotel and I told them the whole story as I'm telling you fellows, from beginning to end."

"That was the only time I ever played the hero. They sat with their mouths wide open as I told them. When I finished she said, 'Well, you poor boy; I've read something like that in stories but I never dreamed that they really happened and thought the stories were much overdrawn. You want to work for a big thing from now on.' I knew that that terrible affair was ended the moment I heard my name called in the street and they wanted to take me right then and have another supper. It was getting late and I just wanted to go home then so I said, 'Good night' to them and was to see them the next day."

"The next morning I received a letter from a professional friend in New York. He is one of the best fellows that ever lived and last season started on the road. The letter said he, too, was broke then but the following week he would have money to send me and if I could come to New York before then I could play in the company he was in and open the following Monday. My feet were so badly swollen that morning I could not get my shoes on so I borrowed a pair of carpet slippers from my landlord and took this letter to the bank cashier. He went right down in his pocket and looked me enough money to pay the restaurant and get my ticket."

"He was a mighty good friend to me and out of New York that season I landed with the big ones again and soon paid him back, every cent. When I went down to pay up at the restaurant and the manager saw I was on the square, all he felt rather sorry for turning me down so hard the night before and told me he had just learned that morning where I could get a pretty good job driving a grocery wagon. I didn't want it then. He had known all along I was an actor and after I had paid my bills we were friends again and we got to chatting about theaters in Australia. Soon a man came up to pay his check and he butted into our conversation. As soon as this man learned I was an actor he began sizing me up. He was manager of The James Boys in Missouri out at the fair and wanted a man of about my style to play Bob Ford. I couldn't see it then for I was looking towards New York, friends, and Broadway. I went up to say good-bye to my friend at the employment agency and the moment I stuck my head in the door he threw up his hands and said, 'Just the fellow I want to see; was just going to send for you, I can get you on to the street car right this minute.'"

"Yes, fellows, that's the way jobs are. If you don't want them you can get all kinds."

"Well, Farley," I said, "Don't you try and discourage any young people from going on the stage."

"Oh, no, not a bit of it, because it's a mighty honorable profession if you want to make it so. Any business man in any profession has to bask some hard propositions sometimes. Why, even Dave Belasco, they say, used to know all the park benches and every cop on the night force and Mansfield had some tough times, too. Everybody says the reason Sol Smith

As a man is judged by the clothes he wears so a firm is judged by the printing it sends out. Do you realize the value of a neat, well printed letterhead or booklet?

Russell played 'A Poor Relation' so well because he had been there.

"No, I just tell them this, they may not have ability sticking out all over them and they may not have been the prize body and never outgrow the looks, but unless they are workers from the ground up, and stickers from their skylight down, they had better stay home."

HOW THEODORE, JR., EARNS HIS $5 A WEEK

President's Son Enters Carpet Factory as Common Clerk on Small Salary.

Thompsonville, Conn., Oct. 17.—Teddy Roosevelt, Jr., is on the pay roll at the carpet works. From a free and easy life he has passed to the ranks of the dinner plate brigade, a subject of the steam whistle that sounds the time for beginning work and the time for ending it. He is getting $5 a week. Soon he is to be transferred to another department with a raise to $8.

Teddy's father spoke a true word when he said recently that the young man would have a hard row to hoe. It's a hard work for a youth to take his place among skilled workers when his associates have no interest in him. To try to make good, however, when he is an object of curiosity to everybody in the mill, when he is under constant observation and the subject of endless gossip is embarrassing enough. Roosevelt is game, however, and gives promise of winning in short order. A smile covers his embarrassment and his unassuming manner has gained him the good will of his fellow workers and the town.

Teddy was installed in the office when he came to work. He was given a place in the clerical force, which is composed chiefly of young women. The office working hours are from 8 to 12 and 1 to 5. When he has givened there some ideas of the business, the first of which is that the man who works with his brain is tied to his task eight hours, and the man who labors with his hands 11, 12 and 14 hours. Teddy will be transferred to the sorting room which is a matter of dirt and overalls, real work and long hours. It is in this department that the wool is picked and assorted into grades. The working hours are from 6:45 to 12, and from 12:45 to 6:15, and are long enough to give the young man time to learn about the grades of wool that come to Thompsonville from all parts of the world. He will also find out the kinds of wool that go into Axminster, Brussels, THEO. ROOSEVELT, JR., FROM A NEW PHOTOGRAPH AND SCENE IN THOMPSONVILLE SHOWING THE CARPET WORKS.

Wilton and the other brands of carpets. He will pass from the wool room to other departments.

Just to make his experience good Teddy might live on his wages, but that is not likely to be the case. He has lived at the home of A. D. Higgins, president of the carpet company, pending the discovery of a desirable boarding house.

T. R., Jr.'s plunge into business has raised a question as to the careers of other sons of presidents. Robert T. Lincoln, son of President Lincoln, is a sleeping car magnate, being president of the Pullman company.

Why Colds are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold.
Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold.
You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The safest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For its value by all druggists.

It is not what you pay for advertising—but what advertising PAYS YOU, that makes it valuable. Our rates are lowest for equal service.

COLLEGE CLASS

IS JUDGING
STOCK
Agricultural School Institutes Practical Work—Notes of the College.

Agricultural College, Oct. 17.—Prof.
Simpson now has a class in stock judging that is giving some excellent drill to those who are interested in special breeds of cattle. This is one of the practical courses of the agricultural work and is doing a great deal of good for those enrolled and indirectly it will have a strong influence upon the cattle industry of the territory.

New Equipment for Dairy.
The Agricultural college has just received new equipment for the dairy laboratory. The equipment consists of a new boiler, churns, testing apparatus and other modern dairy equipment. This apparatus equips the department with the modern conveniences and will enable the instructors to do the best systematic work.

Manual Training.
A new class has been arranged in manual training at the Agricultural college so that more students may be accommodated. Prof. A. B. Sage has arranged the shop work so that a morning class can do this work and thus provide for a class of students that have been unable previously to get this kind of work. Manual training has many advantages and every student should have some manual work before finishing his preparatory or college work.

Kaffir Corn.
Last spring the irrigation and agricultural departments planted a tract of about three acres in Kaffir corn in order to test the mesa land. This corn is now being gathered and later the results of the experiment can be reported.

New Steam Engine.
The engineering department has lately received a new supply of electrical equipment and also a new cement testing machine. The boys in the shops have also just completed a small model steam engine. They have done all the work and produced it in complete form.

Professor B. P. Fleming, head of the department of irrigation, and his assistant, Jay B. Stoneking, have gone to Lumbia this week where they will conduct tests to determine the cost of irrigation by pumping in that section.
They will remain two or three weeks and will soon be able to make a report on the cost of equipping, maintaining and operating a pumping plant. This work is carried on by the New Mexico experiment station and is under the direction of the United States department of agriculture.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one cured case of Catarrh of the bladder. Catarrh of the bladder is able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in destroying its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that

WOMAN'S BREAST FOR CANCER.

Any Tumor, Lump or Sore on the Lip, Face or Anywhere Six Months Is Cancer.
$1000 offered by a Los Angeles Doctor for a failure to cure any cancer he treats before it poisons deep glands, is convincing. "Absolute guarantee." That man is the world renowned cancer specialist who cures without knife or pain and charges nothing until cured. Strictly reliable; no X-Ray or other swindle. Dr.
S. B. Chamley is the party. He has a national reputation of having cured more cancers in 35 years than any other Doctor living. He has published a book that proves that any lump in woman's breast is cancer. Honesty is his policy; he refuses those who have waited until past cure, though they frequently offer him thousands of dollars. The reader may save a life by sending this to some one with cancer. To get his 130-page book

DRINK PLENTY

OF GOOD PURE
WATER Valuable Prescription Which Any Can Prepare at Home.

"The people here do not drink enough water to keep healthy," exclaimed a well known authority. "The numerous cases of kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the drinking of water, nature's greatest medicine, has been neglected."

"Stop loading your system with medicines and cure-alls; but get on the water wagon. If you are really sick, why, of course, take the proper medicines—plain common vegetable treatment, which will not shutter the nerves or ruin the stomach."
To cure Rheumatism you must make the kidneys do their work; they are the filters of the blood. They must be made to strain out of the blood the waste matter and acids that cause rheumatism; the urine must be neutralized so it will no longer be a source of irritation to the bladder, and, most of all, you must keep these acids from forming in the stomach.
This is the cause of stomach trouble and poor digestion. For these conditions you can do no better than take the following prescription: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, but don't forget the water. Drink plenty and often.

This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in each household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, backache or urinary trouble, no matter how slight.

"A COWBOY'S GIRL"

Both the lovers of the artistic and the devotees of the realistic will find an opportunity to worship at their respective shrines next Thursday when Perce R. Horton's "A Cowboy's Girl," comes to the Elks' theater. This play has been before the public for the past five seasons and every effort has been made to keep it up to its high standard of excellence and purity. The original scenery, the wealth of mirth-provoking scenes and incidents, and, above all, its atmosphere of the plains, have been preserved in all their pleasing entirety.
A wave of popularity for things western seems to have struck the entire country. Even our greatest theatrical managers, the arbiters of our pleasures, have taken up the fad.
"The Round-up," "The Squaw Man" and "The Girl of the Golden West" are proofs positive of their good judgment. The latest and best of this style of popular plays is entitled "A Cowboy's Girl." Mr. Perce R. Horton, the well known promoter of things theatrical, has surrounded "A Cowboy's Girl" with every accessory known to stage craft, with the happy result of telling in the most entertaining way a new and beautiful story of the plains.

MEXICAN BAND GOES TO ARIZONA

Chihuahua Organization Will Play at Territorial Fair.

Phoenix, Oct. 17.—The Chihuahua military band, which made such a hit at the last territorial fair, may again be heard in this section of the country if the fair officials desire their services. The band has recently been playing in Albuquerque during the Territorial fair and legation congress, and while there Lieut. Nerva, leader of the organization, expressed a desire to again make a tour of the southwest.

The Chihuahua military band is second only to the great National band of Mexico, stationed at Mexico City, which is said to be the finest musical organization in the world. The Chihuahua band is the pride of the Mexican army, and it well may be for certainly it is one of the finest bands that ever visited this part of the country.

The band came here last year to play at the fair, and visited the city along the road. A stop-over was made in Tucson and two concerts given which were largely attended and greatly enjoyed. The citizens of the Old Pueblo are more than anxious to have the band return to that city and Phoenix would also welcome them with open arms.

If the fair officials have made no other arrangements, they should certainly make an effort to secure the services of the Chihuahua organization. Not only their music, which is really wonderful, but also the fact that the band is composed entirely of men from the Mexican army, will tend to attract people, and that they would make another big hit at the coming fair goes without saying.

nization and without the reports of any of the committees was made and the motion prevailed.

The fact that the Democratic convention did not nominate a ticket for the county offices today is explained in several ways by those who claim to keep tab on the political situation.

One explanation is that the Democrats intend to wait until after the Republican convention. Another explanation is that there are not enough Democrats willing to make the sacrifice of running for office and hence more time was needed to fill out the slate. Still a third explanation is that some prominent Democrats were not consulted prior to the present convention, which resulted in strained relations among several of the local bosses, thereby necessitating a delay in the nominations to restore harmony.

But at all events the convention will meet again next Thursday and the chances are that matters political in Bernalillo county will be in much more tangible shape by that time.

It is quite plain that the Democrats do not intend to overlook any bet which creates the impression that they have been hearing things.

Some of those who are being mentioned in connection with county and legislative offices are:

E. V. Chavez, for member of upper house of legislature; sheriff, Andrus Romero and M. O. Chadbourne; treasurer, John S. Beaven and George S. Campfield; superintendent of schools, D. B. Sampson and J. D. Emmons; assessor, B. A. Baker. These names were heard freely among the delegates today, together with others. However, it is impossible to forecast who will be nominated by the convention when it re-assembles next week, as it will be governed by the efforts of the leaders to get votes.
