GOMPERS MAKES REPLY TO PRESIDENTS' LETTER

WALTER WELLMAN SAYS TAFT'S VICTORY IS ASSURED

START OF WORLD'S MOST REMARKABLE BALLOON RACE

NEW YORK THE CENTER FOR BOTH PARTIES THIS WEEK

REPUBLICAN SUCCESS SHOWN BY COMPLETE CANVASS

Declares Roosevelt Is Angered at the Way Labor Intends to Vote.

LABOR DESIRES INJUNCTION RESTORED

Says That Roosevelt's Attack Is Only a Descent From the Dignity of the High Office the President Holds.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Replying to President Roosevelt's letter to Senator Knox in reference to the application of the writ of injunction in labor disputes, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement issued today severely arraigns the president for what he terms a change of position of at least apparent friendship to bitter, indefensible antagonism.

"The fact is," says Gompers, "that President Roosevelt, having made Judge Taft candidate of the Republican party for president, and seeing the labor vote, which so often has been corrupted, diverted and perverted by politicians, is now aroused and determined to deliver its own vote; that the toilers will not be cajoled, deceived or brow-beaten, has become desperate and angry, and in his anger, by the worst exhibition of demagogism, tries to instill into the employers and business men the fear that their property and business are in danger if the square deal implied by equality before the law and human freedom are accorded to the workers with all other citizens. It is an exhibition of impotent rage and disappointment and an awful descent from the dignity of the high office of president of the United States."

Gompers asserts that the "Pearce injunction bill which Roosevelt attacked has been before several Congresses without a word of criticism or comment from him," and scores the suggestion that Mitchell and other labor leaders are not in sympathy with him in his advocacy of the Pearce and Wilson injunction bills. Gompers declares that no one ever suggested the abolition of the injunction process and insists that labor desires only to have the injunction removed to "from which it has been ruthlessly diverted."

The letter concludes:

"It is purposed by the opponents of labor to vilify the labor movement through me, and Mr. Roosevelt now joins the chorus upon the pretext that I have attacked the federal courts as a man and as a citizen. I have nothing to retract. But I insist that despite great provocation I have always expressed my views and criticism perhaps in strong, yet respectful language."

Correspondent Gives Review of Political Conditions in Many of the States.

BUSINESS MEN HAVE MADE INQUIRIES

They Have Conducted Investigation with View to Future Operations, and Find That Republican Party Will Win.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Summing up a review of political conditions Walter Wellman, writing in the Record-Herald, says:

"The business men of the country, who have been inquiring into the political outlook, believe the election of Taft is now assured. These business men are of all political parties, and they have been making a special inquiry in a large, searching and non-partisan way.

"Their inquiries cover fourteen states, and in making up their judgment these thousands of business men have used not only their own observation and opinion, but have interviewed many thousands more, including other business men, farmers and the political leaders of both parties. In many instances they have secured what may be called 'inside' figures from one of the other, or both sides, such as the results of polls and the showing made in the reports of local committees of the two parties. For all of these reasons this inquiry has great value and significance.

"In articles already published, reviewing the investigations made by these thousands of business men, it was shown that, in their opinion, New York was for Taft by from 40,000 to 60,000 over Bryan, and that Ohio and Indiana were in doubt, with both, perhaps, showing a tendency toward Bryan.

"In the opinion of the men living in the remaining eleven states covered by the inquiry, Taft is to carry Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, the two Dakotas and Kansas; that Missouri is for Bryan, while Nebraska and Colorado are in doubt, with both tending toward the Democracy. Of the fourteen states, according to the business men who have made this extensive investigation, Taft is to carry nine, with a total of 135 electoral votes; Bryan is to carry one, with 18 electoral votes, while four states, with 51 electoral votes, are in doubt."

The other 32 states, the results conceded by all political prophets as certain, will make Taft's total electoral majority a large one.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—The accompanying picture is a graphic presentation of the scene at the start of the international balloon race for the James Gordon Bennett cup. A crowd of 50,000 people witnessed the ascent, which was from this city. There were twenty-three entries in the race and the countries represented were the United States, Germany, Great Britain, France, Switzerland, Italy, Belgium and Spain.

The two balloons shown most prominently in the picture are the St. Louis on the left and the Banshee next to it. The larger one, the St. Louis, an American, of course, fell into the North sea about thirty hours after the start. The pilot, A. H. Arnold and H. J. Hovatt, were rescued by the German steamer Langerood, which happened to be near when they struck the water. The men were sustained in the folds of the balloon and exhausted when they were taken into a boat sent out from the steamer.

The Banshee, an English balloon piloted by John Dunville, won the race, it landed in Denmark, about 300 miles from Berlin.

For the number of mishaps, thrilling escapes and extraordinary interest the race was the most remarkable in history. Two balloons exploded thousands of feet in the air and four of them fell into the sea. Their pilots were rescued. One of the balloons was not heard from and the men in charge of it were undoubtedly drowned.

Bryan and Taft and Several Hundred Speakers Invade Empire State Today.

MAKE FIGHT FOR INDIANA AND OHIO

Campaign Will End With a Flood of Oratory Throughout the East. With Two Presidential Nominees Speaking in Same State.

New York, Oct. 26.—Leaders of all the political parties started out today in a final effort in what is expected to be the sensational finish in the national campaign. New York is the real battleground, in the opinion of the campaign managers, and here today were gathered practically all the heavy artillery.

William J. Bryan and William H. Taft spent the night in this city and were astir early today to begin the week which will tax their endurance to the utmost. Bryan's schedule for today provides for speeches in a half dozen towns, the first being made at Paterson, N. J., and a formal address in Madison Square Garden tonight. Taft had a midday engagement at New Haven, but will return to New York this afternoon and deliver several addresses before midnight. He will devote the entire week to New York.

In addition to Bryan and Taft, several hundred speakers, including many men prominent in public life, will appeal to the voters of all classes throughout the state this week. Vice President Fairbanks and John W. Kern, the Democratic candidate for vice president, will be the leading speakers.

Bryan in the West.

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 26.—Ten thousand persons stood an hour in a pouring rain this morning waiting for the arrival of W. J. Bryan, who has been delayed through missing his train. With a slouch hat pulled over his brow he spoke twenty minutes in the rain and when he finished his clothing was saturated. The crowd was enthusiastic and cheered the candidate frequently.

Taft Scores Bryan.

New Haven, Oct. 26.—The only way that Bryan ever influenced a return to prosperity was by being beaten," said Taft to the crowd which greeted him at Stamford on his way to this city today, "and I hope the same method will be continued." The crowd shouted assurances that the real candidate would follow. The candidate made several speeches at stops en route.

He was met here by several Taft organizations and a big line of students escorted him to the armory, where he spoke again, repeating over and over the slogan, "Taft, Taft, big Bill Taft."

Kern Resumes Trip.

Indianapolis, Oct. 26.—John W. Kern, who was compelled to cancel his speaking engagements on account of the illness of his son, began a tour of southern Indiana this morning, the condition of his son having improved sufficiently to justify him doing so.

New York, Oct. 26.—William H. Taft will be elected, with votes to spare, according to the most thorough poll of all parts of the country, compiled by six big newspapers of different political creeds, by great mercantile houses through their traveling men and agents everywhere, and by the railroads, through their agents at every cross-road and hamlet in the United States, says the Herald of Sunday.

William H. Taft is reasonably sure of 280 votes in the electoral college, 38 more than he needs for election. William Jennings Bryan is quite certain to receive 156 electoral votes, 21 are doubtful, with Democratic leanings, while 26 are doubtful with Republican leanings.

If Mr. Bryan should succeed in carrying all of the doubtful states he would have 203 electoral votes, or 77 less than his Republican competitor.

The canvass shows that the Republicans probably will carry the national House of Representatives. From all indications, the Republicans are sure of electing 195 representatives, the Democrats 155 and 38 are in doubt, with the preponderance of doubtful seats largely in favor of the Republicans.

New York is one of the states that is classed for Taft. His majority ought to be quite large. It is also possible that Gov. Hughes will be elected, for Mr. Chanler has frittered away his opportunity, and is falling with the speed of a rocket stick from his big lead of three months ago.

A summary of the other eastern states shows that Taft's indicated plurality in New Jersey is 54,350. Republican apathy and dissatisfaction will cut in half the 500,000 Republican plurality in Pennsylvania.

Delaware presents a close fight, with the chances rather strongly in favor of Taft carrying it.

Maryland is extremely doubtful. The Herald's straw vote shows Taft slightly ahead, but conditions not touched by the straw vote indicate that the religious element in the campaign may give the state to Bryan.

New England stands like a rock for Republicanism.

The indicated Taft plurality in Maine is 25,000, perhaps 35,000.

The Taft plurality in Massachusetts will be 60,000.

New Hampshire is sure to the Republicans by 12,000.

Taft's plurality in Connecticut is placed at 20,000, while the fight on Representative Lilley for governor may reduce his plurality to 12,000.

Vermont is normal and Rhode Island is for Taft.

Crossing the Alleghenies into the middle west, where the early battle for the presidency was fought and apparently lost by Mr. Bryan, an interesting situation is presented. Early in the campaign it was believed by many that if the election were held Sept. 2, instead of Nov. 3, Bryan would have swept many of the more important states.

Ohio, until election even, will present a shade of doubt, but the indications are that Taft will carry it by 44,000 plurality. It is believed that Andrew L. Harris will be re-elected governor. The general assembly is in doubt, with a strong leaning for a Democratic majority, in which case

CASTRO FILES ANSWER TO NETHERLAND'S REQUEST

Declines to Revoke His Decree But Asks That He Be Sent for Conference.

Caracas, Oct. 26.—President Castro in answer to the second Netherlands note has declined to revoke his decree of May 14, prohibiting the transshipment of goods for Venezuelan ports at Caracas, which has been obnoxious to the people of that island. He asks the Netherlands to send an agent to Caracas to arrange terms for an amicable settlement of the differences between the two governments.

The preparations for the defense of La Guaira against naval remonstrations have been completed. Castro's health is still delicate.

RAIN INTERFERES IN WESTERN PART

Whitney, Oct. 26.—A heavy rain fell Sunday and is still falling, accompanied by a cold wind, making conditions the very worst possible in western Canada for polling votes today in the general election for members of the House of Commons. The contest has been very bitter, the liberal government having been attacked for granting timber limits and grazing leases in the west to favorites or to those with a "pull."

Interest is intense.

Montreal, Oct. 26.—The interest in Canadian general elections is intense as the bright weather brought the voters to the polls in Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia in large numbers.

ENGINEER RESCUED FROM ICY WATERS

While Duck Hunting Two Men Were Thrown Into Lake by Overturning of Boat.

Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 26.—For an hour and a half Harry V. Stonehill, one of the best known engineers on the Santa Fe system struggled in the icy waters of Kroen's lake and when hope was all but gone, he was saved through the bravery of Engineer I. H. Tack.

Stonehill was shooting ducks when the boat overturned. The icy water prevented his swimming to shore and an anchor held the boat fast. The only remaining boat would hold but one person and Tack was forced to tow the wrecked hunter to shore.

"Nigger Arkansas" held here for complicity in the French hold-up, has demanded a hearing, which will be given as soon as witnesses can be brought, which will be three or four days.

DR. BINGHAM DEAD.

Baltimore, Oct. 26.—Rev. Hiram Bingham, the noted Congregational missionary, who underwent a surgical operation last week, died yesterday. While acting as a missionary in the Gilbert Islands Dr. Bingham reduced the Gilbertese language to writing and wrote a number of books in that tongue.

GENERAL HASKELL DEAD.

San Diego, Oct. 26.—Brigadier General Harry Leland Haskell, retired, died here yesterday, aged 65. He was a veteran of the Civil war and the Spanish war, and has also seen service against the Apaches in Arizona.

AN ARCHBISHOP DEAD.

London, Oct. 26.—Cardinal Francis Desse, Mathieu, former archbishop of Toulouse, France, died today, aged 80 years.

RUSSIA PARDONS SIX CONDEMNED JAPANESE

St. Petersburg, Oct. 26.—In response to the requests of Japan, Emperor Nicholas has pardoned the six sailors who were condemned to death at Nikolayevsk for attacking the prison guards. The men under sentence were sailors on the Japanese schooner Miyu Maru which was captured by the Russians while seal poaching at the Commander Islands in Behring sea.

WEST NEVER KNEW WHAT PANIC MEANT

Ripley Says Santa Fe Is Doing Biggest Business and Conditions Are Favorable.

President E. P. Ripley attended the stockholders' meeting of the Santa Fe at Topeka last week and while there was interviewed by the State Journal. He said in part:

"As to the business outlook at the present time, the Santa Fe is improving. We are not having the volume of business that we did a year ago, but conditions are now much better than six months ago. Our loss in business is in the traffic usually handled from the east. Business in the west is as good as ever. The west scarcely knew what the recent panic was. The entire country, however, is gradually recovering.

"At the present time the railways are unable to secure funds to carry on new improvements on account of the shaken confidence in the money market. Bankers won't handle railway bonds. We are unable to borrow money as the bankers are afraid to lend it.

"As far as the Santa Fe is concerned we will attempt no new improvements during the coming year. We already have a large amount of new work under execution and we will carry these projects through. Our double-tracking and the numerous other big pieces of construction which we have started will be pushed to completion.

"We will have to feel our way carefully and keep operating expenses to a minimum. Where reductions can be made we are compelled to retrench, but we will not hesitate to make expenditures where needed. At any rate we will spare no expense in keeping the Santa Fe and its properties up to their present efficient standard."

MAKES CONNECTION WITH THE SANTA FE

Spur Will Join New Mexico Eastern to Trunk Line Here.

Connection arrangements have been made between the New Mexico Central and the Santa Fe. The details of the agreement were reached Saturday at La Junta, where A. L. Richmond of the Dominion Construction company went to meet General Manager Hurley of the Santa Fe.

Mr. Richmond returned to the city last night and lines for the connecting tracks will be made immediately. The switch will be located just north of Tijeras avenue, east of the Santa Fe main line. The New Mexico Central terminals cover all the ground east of the Santa Fe tracks and north of Tijeras avenue covered by the alfalfa field to be found there. The connecting switch will be a spur of track branching out toward the northeast. The New Mexico Central enters the city from that direction, passing a hundred yards east of the Southwestern brewery plant.

Mr. Richmond said this morning that he found Mr. Hurley accommodating in the extreme. Mr. Hurley said that he would be glad to give the new road connections.

J. R. Farwell, chief field engineer for the Central, is in the city organizing a surveying party to take up the location work in Tijeras canyon. The locating of a permanent line has been completed on the Hagan branch and cross-sectioning has been begun. Actual construction will be in progress before the end of the week.

When told this morning that the people of Albuquerque would be overjoyed at the news that connection arrangements had been made with the Santa Fe, assuring the building of the Albuquerque Eastern, Mr. Richmond said: "I will show them the road. Albuquerque will have another railroad before next July."

CAPTAIN HAINS PLEADS INSANITY

Army Officer and Brother Are in Court for Murder of Annis.

New York, Oct. 26.—Temporary insanity will be the defense of Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., U. S. A., who killed William E. Annis at the Bay side Yacht club landing last August. The plea of not guilty because insane was entered by him today. His brother, also pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder after the demurrer to the indictment had been overruled.

RAILROAD MAN SEES TAFT VICTORY

Kansas and Nebraska Can Be Counted in Republican Column, Says Koontz.

J. R. Koontz, general freight agent for the Santa Fe, with headquarters at Topeka, who is in the city interviewing local shippers, said this morning that Kansas and Nebraska could be counted in the Taft column, and that there was little doubt about the success of the Republican candidate.

Mr. Koontz was in Washington a few weeks ago, when there was a feeling of apprehension as to the possible result of the election. It looked then for a while as though Bryan might win, but since then the aspect has gradually changed until now there is no longer any doubt about Taft's election.

Mr. Koontz is accompanied here by F. B. Morse, his chief clerk, and W. R. Brown, general freight and passenger agent for the Santa Fe in the southwest.

EMBELLISHED BIG SUM

Pittsburg, Oct. 26.—William Montgomery, former cashier of the defunct Allegheny National bank, which failed for over a million dollars, was found guilty in the United States district court today of embezzling $149,000. He was immediately placed on trial on the third and last indictment, charging misapplication of $144,000 funds.

PLAN NEW STEAMERS.

New York, Oct. 26.—Plans for four immense new vessels for the service of the White Star line were announced yesterday at the office of the International Mercantile Marine company. Two of them are to have a gross tonnage of 44,000, which is larger than the steamships Mauretania and Lusitania of the Cunard line.

IND ANCESTRAL SKELETON.

Great Falls, Oct. 26.—The remains of a prehistoric animal, forty feet long and twenty-two feet in height have been found in the Bad Lands south of Glasgow, Mont., by Barnum Brown of New York, connected with the American Museum of Natural History. The relic has been shipped to New York. It took sixteen teams to haul the fossil to the railroad. The skull alone weighs 4,000 pounds. Brown classifies the fossil as a tyrannosaurus rex, or "king of lizards."

STATEHOOD FOR NEW MEXICO

We favor the immediate admission of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona as separate states in the Union.—Republican National Platform.

Do You Want Statehood?

It is only a few days now until election. At that time, the most important matter to be decided in this territory is whether the people favor statehood by voting for the man who can secure their admission to the union.

The present campaign which is rapidly being drawn to a close has narrowed down the only issue which existed in the beginning. Despite the efforts of the Democrats to inject other issues into the campaign in an effort to turn the attention of the voters from the real one, the fact has remained prominently before the people that Andrews and statehood formed the only important issue and that a vote against Andrews is a vote against statehood.

It is well known now that Mr. Andrews possesses the influence and the ability to give New Mexico more representation in Congress than is enjoyed by many of the states. It is equally well known that Mr. Andrews secured more appropriations for New Mexico during the last session of Congress than all the delegates this territory ever had.

In view of the record made by the delegate, it is safe to say that he is the one man best fitted to work for statehood and that to turn him down at this time and send a Democrat to a Republican Congress, would undoubtedly mean the defeat of statehood.

Mr. Andrews has a large experience in public life and legislative work. He is equipped with the knowledge and friends necessary to give him success.

Larrasolo not only has no experience but he is entirely unknown in the national capital and would be powerless to secure anything at the hands of Congress.

The campaign simply resolves itself into the question of whether or not the people want statehood. If they do, they will elect to Congress the best delegate the territory ever had.

When you vote remember that a vote against Andrews is a vote against statehood.

Do you want statehood?

King Peter and Powder

The Washington Herald takes quite a moral from the recent predicament of King Peter of Serbia, who refused to go to war because he had no powder for his army. The Herald thinks the king showed great wisdom in his decision, although the average person undoubtedly entertains the belief that any fool would have had sense enough to do the same thing under such conditions. But the Washington Herald looks at it as follows:

King Peter of Serbia, a monarch over whom we have not been disposed to go into raptures in the past, has won our admiration in one respect, at least. Despite the clamor of the rabble—often mistaken for the voice of the people—he declined to make war on Austria. Not that King Peter wouldn't like to hit that country a few licks, or that he has any fraction of love for it, but because—and the reason is all sufficient—he has no powder with which to hurl real, damage-inflicting projectiles against the enemy.

"Thrice is he armed that hath his quarrel just, And he but naked, though locked in steel. Whose conscience with injustice is corrupted!"

says Shakespeare. "And hopeless, indeed, is he who goes forth to battle minus powder," well might this royal Karageorgevitch add. It is the truth, but so many people in this world fail to realize it until it is too late, and victory perches on the banner of the other party to the contest.

The man without powder must win his way along without a gun. King Peter's country—a nationlet, so to speak—must win respectability and standing among other nations by other means than shooting just now, and on other fields than that so grandiloquently called "the crimson field of glory" by his putty-headed son. If Serbia sallied forth to fight without powder, Serbia would furnish all the crimson incident to the collision with Austria, for Austria has powder in abundance. And when the end had been reached, it is altogether probable there wouldn't be any Serbia left to tell the tale.

They tell a story of an old Confederate who said in the early 60's, "We can whip the d—n Yankees with cornstalks." When twitted about this in later years, the old fellow pugnaciously held his ground, but explained by saying that the "Yankees" were too cussed mean to fight with cornstalks." Peter would find that the Austrians wouldn't fight without powder—and it is a realization of this that held the old fellow to conservatism and possible existence.

Peter's lesson may profitably be taken to heart by many of us. Never try to fight with weapons admittedly vastly inferior to those of your adversary. If everybody would recognize the extreme wisdom of this, what a blessing it would be, and how much trouble and embarrassment it would avoid.

An Efficient Navy

The St. Louis Times calls attention to the efficiency of the American navy in the following manner:

While we have been making all of this fuss about Admiral Sperry's fleet, which is just now about half way round the world, let us not forget the performance of two battleships that left Hampton Roads Dec. 16, in company with "Fighting Bob" Evans. When the big fleet was in San Francisco last summer, the Alabama and Maine were detached as a special service squadron. In other words, these two vessels, both first class battleships, were sent on ahead to touch at Honolulu, Guam, the Philippines, Suez and Gibraltar, seeing what they could do in the matter of speed and high performance generally.

These vessels have reached New York, having made the way entirely around the world by way of Cape Horn in 308 days. They reached New York in surprisingly good condition. The boilers of one of the vessels were a bit overworked and the bottom of the other was exceedingly foul. At the end, however, each was ready for a fight or a frolic, as Admiral Evans said, with small indication that they had been for nearly a year "skyshooting through the brine."

The performance of this special service squadron is significant. It helps to prove that the American navy is ready for any emergency. It proves battleship speed and battleship expediency in a wide radius of action. The fitness of the 16 ships that reached Yokohama the other day, after weathering storms in many seas, is another indication that is not lacking in significance.

China's new constitution makes an effort to take good care that the descendants of the reigning emperor shall continue to be at the head of the government. Its first provision is to the effect that the emperor and those in his family who come after him shall rule supreme over the empire for no less than one thousand generations in succession and be held in honor forever. Provision for the time after that is not made. This shows considerable carelessness on the part of the framers of the document.

Probably there are several prominent men in the country who are worrying considerably today because they have held written communication in times past on diverse interesting subjects with the high officials of the Standard Oil company. Mr. Hearst promises to make public on Saturday some more sensational letters. Chet Thomas' advice concerning writing letters appears to still hold good.

"I am a follower of Satan," says Emma Goldman. This looks pretty dangerous for the poor old devil.

Mr. Chinin says he could carry Georgia with $1,000. However, the $1,000 is not in evidence.

DAILY SHORT STORIES

THE WHIRL OF THE WHEEL.

By Robert Duncan

Stuyvesant, standing by the vessel's rail, had finished his second cigar. He had been alternately watching the long white line of water left in the moonlight by the ship, and the close-huddled passengers in the storage. Only the throb of the machinery broke the stillness.

One swarthy foreigner in the steerage was going wonderful tricks with a lottery wheel. In his listless watching Stuyvesant had failed to hear a woman come from behind the pilot house and stand near him. Her voice startled him when she spoke:

"Do they interest you, monsieur?" she asked. There was a slight French accent in her voice.

Stuyvesant bowed. "Yes, madam; I was watching the Italian there with the game. He seems to know every whirl of the wheel."

"Did you ever play, monsieur?" "Yes, once," Stuyvesant replied. "I lost—I played for happiness," he added, laughing shortly. The laugh had bitterness in it.

The woman went and stood nearer by him. "Did you love her much, monsieur—did she know you cared?"

Stuyvesant's voice was low when he spoke again. "Yes, I loved her—I always thought I cared for her. I knew afterward that I loved her. I have tried these ten years to forget her." His voice was hardly more audible than a whisper, but the woman heard every word.

"Monsieur, did the woman know you loved her? Did she care?" The last sentence was spoken low.

"Did she know I loved her?" Stuyvesant repeated the question. "Yes, she knew I loved her, madam," he finally said. "Did she care for my love," he went on—"as much as the ship does for the water we are leaving there toward France. She was proud in a way of my love—although it was more of a pastime than a pleasure." He spoke bitterly.

"How do you know, monsieur?" the woman asked the question softly. "She sent me away," answered Stuyvesant.

"She married soon after I left the old place—an Italian count they told me. She and husband left for France. I never saw her again. She wrote me once asking me to wish her happiness. She begged that she might keep a little garnet ring I had given her as a keepsake. I gave up everything and tried to forget. I went to Africa and to the ends of the world. It has been 10 years since I left America. I would not have had the time shorter."

Stuyvesant waited for the woman to speak. Some one called down the promenade deck. The woman turned quickly to Stuyvesant, laying her jeweled hands lightly upon his sleeves. They were looking up into his face.

"Monsieur," she said with a quick breath, "if I ever saw her again, have you nothing I could say to her for you?"

Stuyvesant's face was quiet. The woman's fingers pressed lightly on his sleeve as the footsteps came nearer. Stuyvesant glanced down on his sleeve where her hands lay. His eyes fell on a little garnet stone among the rings.

The woman leaned still closer. "Quick, monsieur, have you nothing I could tell her?"

Stuyvesant looked hard into her face.

"Nothing," he said.

Hours later Stuyvesant stood by the rail watching the long line of whitecaps that lay in the wake of the steamer.

FINISH CARLSBAD PROJECT JANUARY 1

Government Will Spend About $60,000 to Complete the Work.

Carlsbad, N. M., Oct. 26.—The reconstruction of the last construction of Carlsbad service is now at work in earnest on the last construction of the Carlsbad project. The diversion reservoir and canal were completed last year, and the project declared open March 1, 1908. There remained at that time the completion of the large storage reservoir, known as McMillan, eighteen miles north of Carlsbad.

At this place modern headgates are going in. They are built as a rock cut at the east end of the dam. On the west side a large new embankment is being built and proper spillways provided. On the east side of the reservoir embankments are being put in to increase the capacity of the reservoir. The government will spend about $50,000 in completing this work that they expect to have finished by January 1. The irrigating season closes November 1st, and the storage of water for next season will then begin.

OUR INLAND CITIES SHOULD BE SEAPORTS

(John L. Matthews, in "Success Magazine.")

We are spending hundreds of millions of dollars upon Panama, partly as a military measure, partly to enable our few ships to give two transfers and a few miles of rail-haul in carrying between the east and west coasts, partly in a spirit of idealism—desiring to give a great free roadway to the world. If we spent an equal sum or even less upon our inland waters, under a systematic plan of conservation, we would make virtual seaports of Sioux City, Omaha, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, St. Louis and Chicago; would save all the transfers an overland rail-haul which now burden the grain of the north-west and the iron of Pittsburgh; would make it possible for gunboats of considerable size to hasten to points nearly everywhere in the interior of the country, and to defend with equal force the shores of the Great Lakes and those of the gulf, and in the end we would have, not from tolls, but from the by-products of our industry, a net return of more than the original capital every year to nation, state and individual. All this from the proper consideration of a floating squall.

The Mississippi is not merely a lot of water flowing by the grace of Providence in a shifting bed. It is a quantity of water precipitated by natural conditions upon one million, two hundred and forty-four thousand square miles of land, of which a certain fairly fixed percentage must find its way to the Gulf of Mexico by the river channel. We know from long and careful observation at what times that water will fall—a vast amount in spring and very little in autumn and winter. Our task is so to conduct it to and through the Mississippi that there shall be at all times a fairly standard amount in the river; that it shall do, in passing to the sea, all the good it is capable of to agriculture, forestry, commerce, and in the development of power; and that it shall be prevented from doing any damage by soil-wash, by flood, or by any other means.

RATON TO HAVE A DAILY PAPER

The Times Will Make Its First Appearance This Afternoon.

The Raton Daily Times is the latest venture in the newspaper field in New Mexico, and according to the announcement of Leroy Kennedy, editor and business manager, it will appear today. The announcement says:

We take this method of announcing to the public that the first issue of The Raton Daily Times will make its appearance Monday afternoon, October 26, 1908. We are not sure that The Daily Times is destined to fill any long-felt want or displace any existing void, but we are confident that the people of this section will support a real live newspaper. We propose to give you a daily paper, a chuck full of the latest local news, as well as the latest news of the world by telegraph, and expect the public to support it in accordance with its merits. We will not ask for patronage on any home-ride or patriotic plea, but expect to give you a paper worth more than the price asked, and devote our energies to giving you as near all the legitimate news as we can gather and to a general boosting of the business interests of Raton and northern New Mexico rather than to a futile attempt to reform the world. No one interested in the financial affairs of The Daily Times has any rich patrimony to exhaust in the effort to give the people something for nothing and when the public demonstrates by its lack of patronage that it does not need The Daily Times it will quietly cease to exist.

In politics The Times will be independent and endeavor not to degenerate—the position of an organ for any party or organization, political or financial, and will therefore be in a position to give the public all legitimate news from an unbiased, honest viewpoint.

The Raton Daily Times will make its appearance as a four-page, six-column paper, and will be issued every afternoon except Sunday. In the very near future the Saturday paper will be from eight to twelve pages and the size of the daily issue will be increased if the business received justifies the expense.

WOMEN WILL REVOLT, SAYS SUFFRAGE LEADER

They Owe No Loyalty to United States Government, She Says.

Buffalo, Oct. 26.—That women will revolt against the United States government is the statement of a delegate to the suffrage convention here, who says:

Each year in the United States women are discovering by the tens of thousands that in a monarchy the dividing lines are not sex, but rank—that the disfranchisement of woman, as woman, is a democratic novelty—and that a monarchy in order to endure as such must confer recognition, honors, power upon a large number of women. And this appeals to their pride of sex and wins their loyalty. So soon as they see this, they discover that a republic may endure as a political institution to the end of time without conferring recognition, honors or power upon even one woman. And this gives mortal offense to their pride of sex.

In the United States each year tens of thousands of other women are discovering that socialism promises its women equality with men in all things. This appeals to their pride of sex and wins their loyalty. And they immediately see that a republic can endure as a political institution to the end of time as a strictly masculine oligarchy, and this gives mortal offense to their pride of sex.

There are still other tens of thousands of women who have begun to ask themselves: "Why should we be loyal to this United States government? It has not been loyal to our sex—it excludes woman on account of her sex from its highest glories and distinctions and it has opposed to the full extent of its power every effort ever made to ameliorate the condition of womanhood. And thus through women republicanism itself is imperiled; through women republicanism per se is at stake.

And I tell you if an amendment be not added to the Constitution, giving women the power to vote, within the living generation this republic will find that the prophecy, "Woman is the rock upon which our ship of State will founder," will be fulfilled.

$100—Reward—$100
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known for the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for free testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Some Reasons Why

The C

Because The Citizen is a home paper. It is either delivered by carrier at the house or is carried home by the business man when his day's work is done and it STAYS THERE. A morning paper is usually carried down town by the hand of the family and hurriedly read.

The Citizen is not read hurriedly, but thoroughly, so that all advertisements receive their share of attention. It presents the store news a little ahead, giving the prospective purchaser time to plan a shopping tour for the next morning.

Wise advertisers patronize The Citizen because they know their advertisements are seen and read at the homes in the evening, and if they are offering something worthy of attention, their ad has accomplished its mission.

The Citizen has never given premiums to subscribers, but is subscribed to and paid for on the news motive, knowing that its subscribers have money with which to buy what they want from legitimate merchants. These are the people The Citizen invites to your store.

The Citizen employs a man whose business it is to look after your advertising wants. He will write your copy if you wish. If not, he will see that your ads are "set up" to look their best and he will attend to them from day to day.

Are you advertising in The Citizen? Your competitors are, and are profiting by it. Do you think conservative business men are spending money where they are not getting results? Get in the swim and watch your business grow.

MONEY MARKET HAS FIRMER TONE

Passing of War Cloud and Election Gives Strength to Financial Dealings.

Two factors have kept our stock market in an uneasy condition for some time past: Our own political campaign and a disturbed foreign situation. The former difficulty will soon be out of the way, and within a few days perhaps the market will show whether it has or has not fully recovered the results. Of the two influences, therefore, the foreign outlook is perhaps the most important in the long run, for while its effects here may be less noticeable than our own election the consequences are more far reaching. European markets are always much more sensitive to international complications than is fully realized here. At the slightest sign of international friction the foreign houses always tremble, and American stocks are often among the first sold, simply for the purpose of protecting home issues. Thus it happens that anywhere between 20 to 30 millions of American stocks have been sold abroad recently, the bulk of which was necessarily taken by this market. That this new load was assumed so easily is good evidence of the strong support which is being accorded here. But the tearing up of so important a document as the Berlin Treaty, which is what Austria has virtually done, is certainly an event inviting awkward if not difficult complications. War will now probably be escaped, or at least be confined to a struggle between some of the smaller states; but that very delicate condition of affairs known as the "balance of power" having been disturbed, there is sure to follow a period of uneasiness lasting until diplomacy succeeds in adjusting the problems which will confront the new conference. Already the great powers are realigning—Great Britain, France and Russia on one side, Germany, Austria and possibly Italy on the other. As events progress the confusion of issue and the growing rivalry between Great Britain and Germany become more and more pronounced and threaten to be among the chief difficulties in shaping a new agreement. No one can possibly see any present chance of a struggle between Great Britain and Germany; yet the conflict of interests between these great nations becomes more acute each year; and it is not only without special significance that each is watching the other's naval progress with exceptional closeness, that Germany is outstripping England in the building of Dreadnaughts and that neither could now be brought to an agreement restricting their armament solely because of rapidly growing mutual distrust. This, as just said, may not mean war, but it does mean that the great nations of Europe will be compelled to keep up their costly armaments and oppressive forms of taxation at the time when the people of Europe are groaning under these burdens and seeking relief. Perhaps the time is coming when the mere cost of war will prove its greatest prevention. Certainly Americans can congratulate themselves upon their immunity from such costly protection against jealous neighbors.

A firmer tone has been developing in the money market. This was partly ly due to declining bank reserves, to shipments of currency to the interior, to slightly increased activity in business, to purchases of American stocks sold by foreigners, and preparations for new security issues. The latter movement is likely to play a more important part than of late, as there are still a number of large corporations in the market whose demands were postponed as a result of the panic. One important issue was announced this week, and others will follow during the next three months. In addition there are several refunding propositions of some importance that may make temporary demands upon the money market. As to the interior movement, that is again proving larger than expected. The growing financial independence of the west always creates the expectations that this interior efflux will be light; yet the fact that interior banks leave their surplus funds on deposit here and draw upon them during crop and trade activity keeps the to and fro movement alive longer than many anticipate. There has been some talk of gold exports, largely because of the scarcity of bills, and the recent buying of our stocks abroad. The foreign exchange situation is, however, much mixed at present; and the shipment of a few millions at this time would probably have no further effect than to slightly stiffen interest rates. Paris is making preparations for a $300,000,000 Russian loan to come out probably in November; and the best advice is that this will have little effect abroad, since all arrangements are well advanced if not completed. Considerations such as these are having their effect upon interest rates in all parts of the world; and, as previously intimated in these articles, we have turned the corner as regards cheap money. The accumulation of idle funds following the panic has reached its culmination, and the stimulating effect of low rates of interest is being widely felt in reviving trade and a renewed demand for money. Our own bank statement reflects this tendency in a striking manner. Reserves of the associated banks have fallen from $63,800,000 on August 22, the high water mark, to $34,700,000 on October 19, a drop of $29,100,000 in seven weeks. It is also worth noting that loans stood at the record figure of $1,324,000,000, last week, compared with $1,083,000,000 a year ago, an increase of $241,000,000, or nearly 25 per cent. It is well to pause and consider what has been the cause of this extraordinary expansion of loans in a time of acute business depression, and when all legitimate demands for money were at a minimum.

The tendency of business conditions is still towards slow improvement. In the farming districts of the west there is much more optimism than elsewhere, owing to the unprecedented prosperity of farmers, many of whom are getting 60 cents and over for their corn and securing profits 50 to 100 per cent better than before. Farmers who raise cattle and hogs are also making handsome returns; hence, automobiles, pianos, telephones, etc., are in good demand in the grain belt. This state of affairs will be an important aid to business revival, especially in the west. In the south contentment and prosperity are not so prevalent, for cotton has declined considerably and growers are making strenuous efforts to sustain prices. As we approach industrial centers and the great business cities more sober views are encountered. There the depression has been keenest, and there the recovery is slowest. Still conditions are bettering; railroad traffic shows distinct improvement, and managers are in vastly better spirits than three months ago. There are dull spots here and there; also quiet spells in the markets which disappoint those who expect much. Such, however, are conditions improving, and that it is better that progress be slow and sure than rapid and reactionary. Contrasting the situation with a year ago, the recovery already established has been remarkable.

Technical conditions have the market in a somewhat unsettled state. Stocks are strongly supported because the big holders have not sufficiently lightened their load. The fact remains that many stocks are high in view of general conditions, and that rising interest rates will tend to diminish rather than increase their value. How long the powerful forces who now rule the market will be able to defy natural influences no one can say. It is quite possible that they may be able to push prices to a still higher level and create a temporary speculative furor, especially should the results of the election be satisfactory. But until artificial regulation of the market disappears stocks would be bought with discrimination, at least until the danger of political disappointment is passed.

Why Colds are Dangerous.
Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by all druggists.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS

SEPTEMBER WEATHER DRIEST ON RECORD

Weather Bureau Report Shows the Month Was Also Colder Than Usual.

The report issued by the United States weather bureau shows the month of September to have been unusually dry and cool. The report says: The month was drier than any other September covered by the section records. In 1895, 1898 and 1902, September was remarkably dry, but there was not the general deficiency in precipitation that there was in 1908. The mean temperature was abnormally low, but there have been numerous other years in which the temperature average for the month was lower; however, September, 1908, was very noteworthy from a temperature standpoint, inasmuch as it had one period that was unprecedentedly cold in all of the territory except the extreme southwest portion.

In the northern counties there were a few scattered stations that had a mean temperature for the month that was somewhat higher than is customary in September; with these few exceptions the temperature deficiency was general and marked. The month opened cool, but on the 3d the temperature began to rise slowly, and on the 4th, 5th and 6th the weather was moderately warm. From the 7th to the 21st, inclusive, the thermometer readings were uniform and slightly below the normal; the 22d, 23d, and 24th formed another period that was rather warm, but on the 25th the temperature began to fall, and on the 26th it fell quite rapidly. On the early morning of the 27th the minimum thermometer readings fell below the freezing point in all of the territory except the southern tier of counties and over that portion of the eastern border lying to the south of the valley of the Canadian river. These readings were not only the lowest of the month, but were lower than any recorded during any other September, and the records at some of the stations cover a period of more than 25 years. On the 28th the wave of cold reached the southern and southeastern counties, where the low temperature record for September was also broken, except in some localities in the southwest; the temperature, of course, was not so low as in the remainder of the territory, and frost was not general, but it formed in numerous localities. As the freezing temperature and the frost came at an unprecedentedly early date, vegetation suffered considerably.

There was but one station (Fort Wingate) with an excess in precipitation; at all of the others there was a deficiency that was moderate in the eastern counties, in west-central Texas, southwestern Colorado, and northern Grant, but was great in the remainder of the territory. From the 1st to the 3d, inclusive, fairly general showers occurred; they were, as a rule, the heaviest of the month, and were heavier in the southeastern quarter of the territory than elsewhere. On the 13th, 14th, 15th, 20th, 21st, 25th and 26th there was some precipitation, but it was light, and was not general. In the northern counties there was some snow on the 26th; it was very light, except at high altitudes.

Temperature.
The mean temperature for the territory, determined from the records of 68 stations having a mean altitude of 5,000 feet, was 64.1 degrees, or 1.3 degree below the normal, and 1.9 degree lower than the mean for September, 1907. The highest local monthly mean was 73.8 degrees at Lordsburg, and the highest temperature recorded was 98 degrees at Cliff on the 19th and at Tularosa on the 9th. The lowest local monthly mean was 49.0 degrees at Elizabethtown; the lowest temperature recorded was 12 degrees at Winsor on the 27th. The greatest local range of temperature for the month was 75 degrees at Luna, and the least was 44 degrees at Lordsburg; the greatest daily range was 61 degrees at Luna on the 25th.

Precipitation.
The average precipitation for the territory, determined from the records of 69 stations, was 0.55 inch, or 1.19 inches below the normal, and 0.48 inch less than for September, 1907. The greatest monthly amount was 1.83 inches at Mimbres; at several stations in the southwestern counties there was no precipitation. The greatest amount that fell in any 24 consecutive hours was 1.29 inches at Mimbres on the 3d. The average number of days with 0.01 inch or more was three.

THE WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION FOR NOVEMBER

The November Jubilee issue of the Woman's Home Companion has a special interest, because it is the Seven Hundredth Number of the old-fashioned Living Woman's Magazine. This issue of 8 pages, illustrated by famous artists, contrasted with the little flimsy 8-page issue of the same magazine which appeared in 1815, is a vivid reminder of the great strides made in periodical publishing. That old issue, popular in its day, is a modest ancestor to the big, influential magazine of today.

This November issue, on which the publishers have spent special effort, because of its anniversary feature, contains, in addition to its regular departments for women, two articles to home dwellers and home renters. These articles, with facts and figures, show the advantage of owning a home.

Jack London, who is going around the world for Woman's Home Companion in his little boat the Shark, has in this November issue an account of travel adventure, rich with the spice of the South Seas.

A new novel by Florence Morse Kingsley, entitled "The Glass House," begins in this issue. There are also stories by Alice Brown, Juliet Wilbur Tompkins, Mary Heaton Vorse, and Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews.

A special article on Eyes by Dr. Woods Hutchinson is in that physician's usual crisp style. In addition to the usual household departments, and the enlarged fashion department, there are many novel suggestions for Christmas gifts, and some particularly timely advice regarding the buying of furs.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Albuquerque Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. Ida Johnson, living at 414 North Fourth street, Albuquerque, N. M., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills quickly and effectively relieved me of pain in the back, which had troubled me at intervals for some time. Any preparation which acts as fully up to the claims made for them as Doan's Kidney Pills deserves unqualified praise. As a genuine kidney medicine I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Would Mortgage the Farm.
A farmer on Rural Route 2, Empire Co., W. A. Floyd by name, says: "Buckley's Arnica Salve cured the two worst sores I ever saw; one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 35c at all dealers.

PEOPLE'S TICKET.

Delegate to Congress,
Council,
House,
DAVID METZGAR,
County Commissioner, 2nd Dist.
THOMAS R. DURAN,
County Commissioner, 3rd Dist.
SHERIFF,
FRANCISCO L. Y. MONTOYA,
Treasurer and Collector.
AMBROSIO CANDELARIA,
Assessor,
J. M. SANDOVAL,
Probate Judge,
Probate Clerk,
School Superintendent,
ATANACIO MONTOYA,
Surveyor.Ever since the Republicans nominated their ticket and ever since the Democrats made such a fizzle in trying to nominate theirs, there have been numerous and sundry rumors about a third and independent ticket which, it was said, was to be placed in the field to catch any dissatisfied element.That there was more than political gossip behind the rumors was shown today when "The People's Ticket," having for its emblem two men with clasped hands, was filed in the office of the probate clerk. It then became known that the ticket was nominated Saturday at a convention of which Col. D. K. B. Sellers was chairman, and A. Montoya, secretary.The ticket leaves blank the name of the delegate to Congress, the nominee for the legislative council, one nominee of the lower house, county commissioner from the third district, probate judge, probate clerk and surveyor.Just what effect the new ticket will have on the election soon to take place, is a matter of considerable conjecture and comment. However, it is conceded by all that it helps complicate political matters in Bernalillo county and they were not entirely free from complication before the third ticket was nominated.Nearly all of the men who accepted places on the People's ticket are well known in Bernalillo county politics. Francisco Lucero y Montoya, who is the candidate for sheriff, was elected to the legislative house on the good government independent ticket two years ago. Ambrosio Candelaria is one of the best known business men in the city and has always taken an interest in local politics. The other candidates are probably equally well known.The supporters of the third ticket say they have raised a campaign fund which will enable them to stay in the fight to the end. They make many extravagant claims as to what they will be able to do at the polls with the assistance of their friends.At 4 o'clock this afternoon the Democrats had not filed a ticket with the probate clerk. It seems that some of the candidates who were nominated by the Democratic convention last week could not see it that way after viewing the strength of the regular Republican ticket, and they withdrew their names.A caucus of the Democratic bosses was being held this afternoon in a downtown office and it was given out that before the sun went to sleep in the west a Democratic ticket would be filed with the probate clerk or something would "bust."With the filing of the Democratic ticket there will be three tickets in the field in this county this fall. The Republicans, however, are confident that they will carry the county bysafe majorities and that Mr. Andrews will receive a record breaking vote.
Just who are the real instigators of the third ticket is a matter of some doubt. The ticket will not materially affect the result so far as the Republicans are concerned, but it will severely cripple the already badly damaged Democratic ticket if it is placed in the field.

uardo Chavez, on trial in the district court, was given to the jury at 3 o'clock this afternoon. At 4 o'clock the criminal docket was called for the setting of cases for trial. While it had not been fully determined before-that the case of the territory against Jack Donahue, charged with murder, would be the first set for trial, and will probably be begun tomorrow

BY COMPLETE CANVASS

James E. Campbell will succeed Senator Joseph B. Foraker.Indiana has been the scene of a desperate political battle, which is still in progress. The Roosevelt plurality of 51,000 has almost disappeared, but not quite. Indications are that Taft will carry the state by 10, 000 and that Thomas H. Marshall, Democrat, will be elected, with the legislature in doubt.In Illinois the Record-Herald straw vote indicates a plurality for Taft ranging anywhere from 175,000 to 225,000, indicating great generalization. The fight there has been complicated by a Republican factional row over the governorship and the Democratic managers are claiming the state for Adlai E. Stevenson.In Iowa the Republicans will be satisfied with 50,000 plurality.
Kansas, after a vigorous campaign, almost certain for Bryan in September, is conceded to Taft by 25,000.
Michigan is regarded as sure for Taft, with the governorship in doubt. In Missouri a clean sweep for the Democrats is on the political cards, although President Roosevelt regards Taft as having a chance to carry the state. Nebraska has been in doubt ever since Gov. Hughes dissected Mr.
Bryan's bank deposit guaranty argument and trust regulation. The chances seem to favor Mr. Bryan in his own state.The northwestern group presents an almost solid front for Taft. Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota are for Taft, but by diminished plurities. Gov. Johnson will probably be re-elected in Minnesota. The Republicans are sure of a large majority in Wisconsin.Conditions are mixed in the mountain states. Colorado is probably Republican, although Bryan may carry it because of Republican factional dissatisfaction.Labor support for Bryan in Montana makes it doubtful, but the chances favor Taft.Wyoming will probably go for Taft, although both parties are hopeful of winning the Mormon vote.

Influences, will probably go for Taft, with the state ticket in Utah in doubt.The Pacific coast states are all for Taft.
The "solid south" is as solid as usual. Of the border states President Roosevelt is quite convinced that Kentucky is doubtful, but the chances appear to be strongly in favor of Bryan.West Virginia is almost surely Republican. The remainder of the south is solid for Bryan, with the exception of a small element of doubt in Tennessee.

its merit:A. M. Whitcomb, living at 325

from the statement I gave for Doan's Ointment some five years ago. What I then stated was to the effect that this preparation had cured me of a breaking out, which, if not eczema, closely resembled this trouble and was confined to a spot about the size of a silver dollar just below one of my knees. Off and on for ten years it had annoyed me, always being it worse when I was in bed or if I would sit near a fire. I consulted two of our leading physicians but what they gave me proved of no more avail than all the different kinds of salves and ointments that I tried. I had no faith in Doan's Ointment expecting that it would act similarly to the other remedies I had used, but I was surprised to find that the first application stopped the itching and a continuation of its use healed the place affected. The fact that I can say after this long interval that there has been no return of the trouble is pretty good reason for my willingness to confirm my original statement. I

GAS PIPE THUG ASSAULTS BARNETT

Struck Him Over the Head But Fled When Roomers Came to Assistance of Barnett.

With a deep gash in his forehead, showing where he had been struck by a piece of gas pipe in the hands of a bold hold-up man, Joe Barnett today is confined to his apartments in the postoffice building and the police are searching for the man who wielded the gas pipe.

The assault on Mr. Barnett took place about 2:30 this morning as he was climbing the stairway to his rooms. The first landing of the stairway is divided from the second by a glass door and a light is kept burning at the head of the stairway. As he started up the stairs early this morning Mr. Barnett noticed that this light had been extinguished.

It had evidently been done by the hold-up man for as Mr. Barnett pushed open the door which divides the stairway he was struck over the head. The blow dazed him but he did not lose consciousness and fought with his assailant, at the same time yelling for help.

The noise of the scuffle and Mr. Barnett's cries for help aroused the other roomers and they came to his aid. Hearing them coming the robber broke away, leaving his gas pipe in the hands of Mr. Barnett and fled. Mr. Barnett pursued him for a short distance but the man made his escape, leaving only his hat as a clue.

Mr. Barnett was assisted to his rooms and his wound dressed by Dr. Pearce. It required several stitches to close the wound, but it is not considered dangerous.

The hat left behind by the assailant is a black derby and printed on the sweat band is the name "Hastings, Nebraska." It is thought to belong to a young man who has been seen several times recently about the Palace pool rooms on Second street. Last night this young man was seen by several roomers in the postoffice building, loitering about on the second floor. In answer to a question he stated that he was looking for Ward Brooks, a Santa Fe brakeman, who has a room in the building. Brooks was out of town and failing to find him the young man left. After the assault a call boy told the officers that he saw a hatless man running through the Santa Fe railroad yards.

While searching for the thug the police found a hatless man and brought him in for identification. He proved to be merely drunk, however, and had lost his hat in a wild search for his rooming house. He was released.

PROTESTS AGAINST PARDON

MRS. CHAS. LINK.

Mrs. Chas. Link of Steamboat Rock, Des Moines, Oct. 26.—Efforts by to prevent the release of her father from the penitentiary by pardon or parole, has disclosed a remarkable case. She is the daughter of Frank Rainsbarger, who with his brother, Nathan Rainsbarger, has been in prison 22 years of a life sentence for the murder of Enoc Johnson, grandfather of the young woman on her mother's side. Her mother, daughter of Johnson, has also protested against the release of the murderers. Mrs. Link was only a few months old at the time of the murder.

The two Rainsbargers, with three of their brothers, formed a gang of outlaws in northern Iowa. Shortly after Frank and Nathan were arrested, two of their brothers were taken from jail and hanged by angry farmers, who had endured their lawlessness to the limit. The other brother has since lived a peaceful life. Murder, robbery, counterfeiting, barn burning and the stealing and killing of cattle were crimes credited to the gang. They became so bold that they would drive off stock in the presence of the owners.

They were finally arrested on the charge of having secured $16,500 insurance on the life of Frank Rainsbarger, and then putting him to death. The wife of the latter assisted in the prosecution of Frank and Nathan for the murder.

CHILD'S LEG CUT OFF UNDER SWITCH ENGINE

He Was Thrown From Mother's Arms When She Was Struck by the Engine.

One of the saddest accidents occurring in this city in months happened this morning at the Santa Fe station when a switch engine ran down Mrs. Louis Hakin, her sister-in-law and Mrs. Hakin's three-year-old son, whom she carried in her arms. The two women were thrown to the ground and both bruised, while the boy was thrown under the engine and his left leg so badly crushed under the wheels that it had to be amputated.

Mrs. Hakin, accompanied by her son and sister-in-law, are on their way from New York to Fresno for the benefit of the child's health. They alighted from their train here this morning and started for the dining room of the Alvarado for breakfast. The switch engine had been working about the yards and was backing up. Neither Mrs. Hakin nor her sister saw the engine and it struck both, knocking them to the ground. The boy rolled from his mother's arms and underneath the engine. The wheels passed over his left leg, crushing it above the knee.

All three were taken to St. Joseph's sanitarium and the boy's leg was amputated, the member being so hopelessly crushed that it could never be of use. It was feared at first that the shock of the accident, combined with the operation and the poor health of the boy, would result fatally, but at a late hour this afternoon it was reported that he was doing better than expected and would probably recover.

Mrs. Hakin and her sister are also at the hospital. Mrs. Hakin suffered numerous bruises while her sister's back was severely sprained. Both are under the care of a physician.

RAN OFF BRIDGE LANDED IN ACEQUIA

Hunting Party Badly Bruised; Two Buggies and a Gun Broken.

It is more than likely that the city will be the defendant in a damage suit as a result of an inadequate culvert over an acequia on Third street just north of Hazeldine avenue. Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock while returning from the Rio Grande Gun club lakes south of the city, George H. Campbell, candidate for treasurer on the Democratic ticket; Deputy United States Marshal J. Benson Newell and Mr. Bicker, manager for the Continental Casualty company, drove off one end of the bridge and suffered an accident that resulted in the partial destruction of two buggies, Mr. Campbell's shotgun and severe bruises to the three men. That one of them did not suffer a broken limb seems miraculous.

They were driving a double team, coming toward the city. It was dark and objects could not be seen at any great distance. Suddenly the front wheel of the buggy went down, throwing all three men with their guns in a heap in the bottom of the acequia, which, fortunately, was dry. Mr. Newell, who was sitting in front, driving, fell on the hips of the rear horse. The animal had fallen flat. The horses were up, however, before the men, and ran north on Third street, evidently with the intention of going to the Bell stable from which they had been hired. Turning on Central avenue, they collided with another rig, breaking a shaft and bending an axle. The tongue of the first buggy was broken. In falling, Mr. Campbell lit on his gun, breaking the stock and bending the barrels.

The place where the accident occurred is a menace to public safety and should be given immediate attention. The bridge is about half as wide as the street.

RESTORATION TO ENTRY OF LANDS IN NATIONAL FOREST.
Notice is hereby given that the lands described below, embracing 340 acres, within the Manzano National Forest, New Mexico, will be subject to settlement and entry under the provisions of the homestead laws of the United States and the act of June 11, 1906 (34 Stat., 233), at the United States land office at Santa Fe, New Mexico, on Jan. 5, 1909. Any settler who was actually and in good faith claiming any of said lands for agricultural purposes prior to January 1, 1906, and has not abandoned same, has a preference right to make a homestead entry for the lands actually occupied. Said lands were listed upon the applications of the persons mentioned below, who have a preference right subject to the prior right of any such settler, provided such settler or applicant is qualified to make homestead entry and the preference right is exercised prior to Jan. 5, 1909, on which date the lands will be subject to settlement and entry by any qualified person. The lands are as follows: The S. 4 of NW. 4 of SW. 4, Sec. 23, T. 10 N. R. 5 E. N. M. M. listed upon the application of Juan Anaya y Candalaria who alleges settlement in 1905. McKINLEY CO. G. O. P. NONINATES TICKET

Strong Ticket and Enthusiasm Promises Big Majority For the Party in That County.

Gallup, N. M., Oct. 26.—The following ticket was named by a large and enthusiastic convention of the Republicans of McKinley county in which all precincts were fully represented. The enthusiasm of the convention speaks well for the result of November 3rd for Delegate Andrews and the legislative and county ticket. This is one of the cleanest and strongest tickets ever placed before the voters of this county and there is no question as to the results as it is only a case of majority for the Republicans. The ticket follows:

PETER WESTWATER,
Commissioner 1st Dist.—Two years.
PALMER KETNER,
Commissioner 2nd Dist.—Four years.
J. H. CODDINGTON,
Commissioner 3rd Dist.—Two years.
T. F. TALLE,

J. L. PEREA BOOSTS GREAT SOUTHWEST

New Mexico Man Tells What Is Being Accomplished in the Territory.

J. L. Perea, of this city, who is in the east on a business trip, is doing some boosting that is worth while, according to the following from the Drovers Telegram, published at Kansas City:

"The great southwest country is being settled up very fast," said J. L. Perea, of Albuquerque, N. M. Mr. Perea was born and raised in that territory. He has held the offices of county treasurer and sheriff, and is familiar with the development of the territory. "I have shipped cattle to Kansas City many years. I remember when the city itself as well as the stock yards amounted to very little. And I remember when there was not a fence in the whole southwest country. The towns were far apart then. The valley of the Rio Grande was an open range. But now the valley around Albuquerque is cut up into small farms, all under irrigation. The small farmers are raising everything. Small grain and alfalfa, as well as vegetables and fruits, are shipped out. This seems strange to us old timers. And it is the filling up of our south-limb seems miraculous.

They were driving a double team, coming toward the city. It was dark and objects could not be seen at any great distance. Suddenly the front wheel of the buggy went down, throwing all three men with their guns in a heap in the bottom of the acequia, which, fortunately, was dry. west that is building up this market. The wonderful development is drawing on this city for supplies, and at the same time our farm and live stock products are being marketed here. Eastern New Mexico is being settled fast by farmers. They are in the experiment stage so far, but have been wonderfully successful. Dry farming has been started, and seems to be a success in most cases. Of course in the settling of any new country there are bound to be a good many failures and disappointments. Kansas had the same experience."

BIG LAMB SALES IN SUCORRO COUNTY

Fully 100,000 Will Be Shipped to Eastern Points Soon.

George H. Brown, general manager for the Ranch Supply company, a large mercantile establishment at Magdalena, who is in the city on business, said this morning that fully 100,000 lambs would be shipped from that point between now and Christmas. Close to 50,000 of them will be loaded within the next two weeks. Mr. Brown says that while the prices are not as good as the sheepmen anticipated, fairly good prices are being paid, and a large amount of money is being brought into the territory as a result of the sales. Most of the sheep go to Colorado and Kansas feeders, but a few will find their destination in Illinois.

All stock is in good condition in western Socorro county and ranchmen generally are prosperous.

BIG CROWD AT RINK RACES

Last night, before the largest audience ever seen at the rink, and amid the deafening applause of admiring friends, Curt Quickel, Albuquerque's champion roller skater, easily defeated Denver's champion, Harry Nelwonger, in the third and last of a series of three races, two of which have been won by Quickel, whose speed last night clearly demonstrated he has emerged from the amateur class and is eligible to join the ranks of professional skaters.

The rink management is arranging for a fine line of attractions during the next few weeks, announcement of which will be made from time to time; the high standard of moving pictures will be maintained, as well as the high class musical selection. The intention is to furnish an attractive place of healthful amusement, courteously conducted, where for a very little money one can spend a delightful evening.

The attractive bill of moving pictures shown last night will be repeated tonight and Mrs. C. A. Frank will sing two beautifully illustrated songs.

ONE ROUND GO IN RAILROAD YARDS

Yardmaster and Switchman Were Principals in Fast and Short Contest.

The chief topic of conversation among railroad men today is the one-round go Yardmaster Yoakum and Switchman Young put on in front of the station this morning a few minutes after 7 o'clock. The spectators awarded the belt to Young, who, without a doubt the heaviest lightweight on the Santa Fe system.

It happened something like this: Young brought the 2006 out of the roundhouse for the day's work and was holding the engine near the viaduct, waiting for a clear track. No. 10 was coming in, No. 11 was about to leave, and delayed No. 7 was occupying another track, so that there was no clear track for 2006.

"Why don't you get that engine out on time?" yelled the yardmaster to the switchman.

"The tracks are full; I can't," was the answer.
"Well, we'll get someone who can."
"All right; help yourself."
"That's what I'll do. You go to the office."

It is said that Yoakum, who is quite a large man, stooped over Young as he said this, and before he could get away the doughty 90-pound switchman gave him an uppercut. Two blows were struck. It is said and Yoakum went down for the count on the second one.

"What's going on around here?" was what he is alleged to have said when he awoke.

PETTUS WILL FIGHT LAS VEGAS PUG

Match Arranged Between Local Boxer and Mitchell, Who Defeated Graham.

According to the Las Vegas Optic Will Pettus, the well known Albuquerque colored baseball player and boxer, has matched a fight with Henry Wallace, a semi-professional fighter of that place, the go to be pulled off in the Meadow city the evening of the election. The terms of the fight are not known here. Wallace won a contest at Las Vegas a few weeks ago with a man named Graham from El Paso, and advertised to take on any fighter in the southwest for a purse. Pettus is probably the best boxer in Albuquerque. His go with a negro named Cat Eye. Albuquerque sports will remember, did not make a very big hit, however. Pettus seems to lack courage up until the last round, when he chased his adversary around the ring in rag time. A number of local fans will doubtless go to Las Vegas to witness the mill.

Case of Iron Molders' Union.
A year or so ago the editor of the paper specially devoted to the Iron Molders' union called upon me to say that a decree had been entered in the United States circuit court at Milwaukee in the summer of 1906, which he regarded as grossly unjust and improper and as practically fatal to trades unionism. The case was that of the Iron Molders' union against the Allis-Chalmers company of Milwaukee. The members of the union, having made certain demands for the betterment of their conditions of service, which were refused, went on a strike and an injunction suit followed in the United States circuit court. The late employees were enjoined from all alleged illegal interference. The final decree was of the most drastic and far-reaching character, and besides enjoining the late employees from doing acts which were clearly illegal, it also enjoined them from any form of picketing, from inducing employees to leave the service of the Allis-Chalmers company by persuasion or otherwise, and from any kind of interference with the company direct or indirect. So sweeping were the terms of this injunction that it practically degraded the union from making any Taft's Decision an Authority.

The two cases to which I have referred have a further importance when it is remembered that the president now to be chosen will probably himself choose a majority of the justices of the supreme court during the next four years. It would be a dreadful calamity to have these justices chosen by a man of less than Mr. Taft's high purpose, great knowledge of the needs of the people and firm resolution to do justice to every individual and every interest. This is one of the vital questions now before the American people.

We are all agreed that free play shall be permitted you long as it means fair play. posal of all citizens. We believe not merely in retaining but developing to the utmost possible extent individual initiative, but we are not to be frightened by any outcry of paternalism or socialism from going into any experiment which promises to benefit either farmers or wage-earners; for we regard a lawless and impracticable individualism as in itself quite as undesirable as the most deadening form of socialism.

If Mr. Taft is not elected, a period of industrial chaos and business bad times will ensue in which the workmen will suffer far more than any other class. They are the people who, more than any other, will pay the penalty. Because of their own material interests I believe that they should support Mr. Taft. But for other reasons, I believe that they should support him because he has by his actions over and over again proved himself to be a singularly fearless and effective champion of the rights of labor; and, above all, I feel that they should support him as good American citizens, because he embodies what is best and highest in our American citizenship. Immediately after that Mr. Hartmann took his daughter to Europe and friends of the family declare they are not likely to return for some time.
Mrs. Dannebaum's reply to her husband's allegations that she was cruel to him is filled with the outpourings of a woman's soul, although it is couched in legal terms. Dannebaum, when he filed his bill for divorce, set up a hundred and one acts of cruelty which had occurred during his married life.
Entirely without humor he declared that he had taught his wife how to box and fence until he had developed her into a feminine athlete whose prowess was as great as that she could handle an ordinary man with ease. Then Mr. Dannebaum's troubles began. He declared that his wife kicked, beat and pummeled him without mercy after she found how easy it was.
Mrs. Dannebaum denies being cruel to her husband and says that he is a Lotherio with a thousand conquests and that his conquest of Mildred Hartmann was the last straw which broke her patience.

Society Girl Kidnapped and Rushed Through Europe. Is Mixed up in Divorce Suit.
One Man Dead and Five Others Wandering About Honduras in Search of Wealth.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Kidnaped and flying through Europe from one brilliant Old World capital to another, Mildred Hartmann, beautiful young society girl, is being kept away from Chicago so that no breath of the scandal attending the Dannebaum divorce suit may reach her ears.

The young society girl, settlement and church worker, is being held by her millionaire father, Joseph S. Hartmann, who is detaining her, however, by the bonds of love and parental authority. She has been named by Mrs. Margaret Dannebaum as the "soul mate" of her husband in a detailed answer which Mrs. Dannebaum filed to her husband's divorce bill. The answer which the wife makes is filled with charges that Mildred Hartmann stole her husband's love and refused to give him up even when she was begged to do so by Mrs. Dannebaum. Love scenes and meetings at downtown hotels are mentioned repeatedly.

When attorneys for Dannebaum asked Joseph Hartmann to allow his daughter to testify in the case in refutation of the things Mrs. Dannebaum alleges against his daughter he replied proudly:

"My daughter needs no vindication. This divorce suit and tissue of lies are no concern of ours. My friends and my daughter's friends do not need to be told that these charges are false. She shall not take the stand for anyone."

Immediately after that Mr. Hartmann took his daughter to Europe and friends of the family declare they are not likely to return for some time.

Mrs. Dannebaum's reply to her husband's allegations that she was cruel to him is filled with the outpourings of a woman's soul, although it is couched in legal terms. Dannebaum, when he filed his bill for divorce, set up a hundred and one acts of cruelty which had occurred during his married life.

Entirely without humor he declared that he had taught his wife how to box and fence until he had developed her into a feminine athlete whose prowess was as great as that she could handle an ordinary man with ease. Then Mr. Dannebaum's troubles began. He declared that his wife kicked, beat and pummeled him without mercy after she found how easy it was.

Mrs. Dannebaum denies being cruel to her husband and says that he is a Lotherio with a thousand conquests and that his conquest of Mildred Hartmann was the last straw which broke her patience.

IMPURE BLOOD.

If you could see inside the stomachs of most people who suffer from impure blood you would wonder that they are not suffering worse. The undigested portion of food eaten days ago is still lying there, fermenting, decaying and clogging the intestines.

From this disgusting mass the blood must derive nourishment to carry to every organ of the body. Think of it. Is it any wonder their complexion is bad, their breath offensive, their bowels inactive and their health impaired in every way? Is it any wonder that they can get no relief from blood purifiers, purgatives when as fast as the blood is cleaned it is tainted again? Try a rational treatment. Take something to help the stomach rid itself of this stagnant mass and to keep it from accumulating. Then see if you don't improve. One bottle of Cooper's New Discovery will prove my words to you. I have seen hundreds of just such cases and here's one of them:

About a year ago my little son, who is nearly four years of age, suffered an attack of scarlet fever. Soon after he contracted what we thought was some form of eczema. Sores and blotches broke out on him and he became weak and peevish.

"We tried physicians and medicines but nothing seemed to help him until several weeks ago we started to give him Cooper's New Discovery and noticed an improvement almost immediately. After a few doses we noticed his appetite was better and gradually his little face assumed a brighter appearance. His skin is now cleared up and I want to thank you sincerely for what the medicine has done for him." Mrs. Herman Hahn, 823 Johnson St., Nashville, Tenn.

Ask us about Mr. Cooper's famous medicines. We are the agents.

More Than Enough Is Too Much.
To maintain the health of the body, a woman needs just enough food to repair waste and supply energy and body heat. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of stomach troubles, rheumatism and disorders of the kidneys. If troubled with indigestion, revise your diet, let reason and not appetite control and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will soon be all right again. Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 26.—One man dead, with the possibility that he committed suicide in the moment of disillusionment, and five others wandering somewhere in the wilds of Honduras, is the story brought back by D. E. Clough, the only one of the seven treasure-seekers who started out from Los Angeles two months ago in search of a Central American gold mine, which they had been told was richer than had ever been pictured in the imaginations of those who desire wealth.

Seeking details of the dark tale of death and disaster attending the efforts of seven men, A. J. Etter, of Oakland, Cal., has journeyed here to get Clough to give him the information. Clough returned to Los Angeles from Honduras last Monday.

Clough admits that Etter's brother, J. D. Etter, of Los Angeles, is dead in Honduras, at a point far in the interior. The other five Los Angeles men are somewhere in the wilds of Central America, but what has become of them Clough is unable to say.

The seven Los Angeles men were lured to Honduras, according to Clough, by the stories told by a mysterious man named Dupont, of the rich placer gold to be found at the Mucelago bar, on the Guayape river, in Honduras.

The Los Angeles men were divided into two parties. One, composed of four men, was under the guidance of Clough, and the other, composed of three men, was under A. C. Brown, a Los Angeles geologist.

In the Clough party were J. D. Etter, who was found dead in the woods with his head almost torn off by a gunshot wound on Section 23 a few days after the treasure-seekers reached the Guayape river; Guy L. Rockwell, son of Dr. L. A. Rockwell, of Compton, Cal.; Laramie Mayer, a Los Angeles mining man, who is said to have made considerable money in Seattle before coming here, and Clough.

In the Brown party were William Book, twenty-two years old, graduate of the University of Southern California and son of J. B. Book, of 2301 Ocean View avenue; William Youngblood, also a youth of twenty-two, and Brown.

Clough says that he was the only member of his party who ever saw the mysterious Mr. Dupont. He believes that some member of the Brown party saw Dupont, but does not know where or when.

Although Clough took his three companions into Honduras, he came out alone. Rockwell and Mayer, he said, he left upon the banks of the Guayape river at the camp which the treasure-seekers had made.

These two men were as discouraged and as eager to get back to Los Angeles as Clough and they were packing their baggage on the afternoon of September 29, when Clough rode away with the mules on his way out. Clough says that his companions intended to start out the next morning and that they would probably have been able to find other mules somewhere in the neighborhood. Just why he did not wait for them he was not able to clearly explain. Alone, with a native guide, Clough journeyed twelve days to the nearest railroad, avoiding the track by which he had entered the country and at Puerto Cortez, a point on the Caribbean sea, across Honduras from the Pacific coast port of Amopolis, where he had landed, he sailed for Mobile, Ala., on a fruit steamer, and then made his way back to Los Angeles by rail.

Clough says that he hurried from Honduras because he was sick and dispirited. He did not wait for the companions, he says, because it would be necessary for them to wait in some town in Honduras for funds with which to defray their expenses back to this country. They had sufficient money, he says, to get to a point at which money could reach them. To be sure that they would not suffer, he says, he offered to help them, although one of them was already indebted to him, but they refused his assistance.

A peculiar feature of the hunt for fortune is that Clough, the moving spirit of the expedition, secured his companions by inserting an advertisement in a newspaper in which he alleged that he had inside information concerning placer mines in Central America and offered to share the fruits of his search for treasure to persons who would contribute $800. Yet he admitted last night that all the information he ever possessed was obtained in a casual conversation with the man whom he calls Dupont, but concerning whom he knows absolutely nothing, and from reading books in the Los Angeles public library concerning Honduras.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Foster and child were slightly injured at 7 o'clock Saturday evening when a runaway horse collided with the rig in which they were riding. The runaway horse, belonging to a native, became frightened near the Coal avenue viaduct, and, running up Second street, collided with the Foster rig. The wheels interlocked, upsetting the latter and badly smashing the box of the buggy. bystanders succeeded in extricating Mr. and Mrs. Foster and beyond a bad shaking up no serious damage was done.

Friends of M. A. Dignoe, of 319 East Grand avenue will be glad to learn that on last Saturday evening he was stricken with paralysis which, though it left him able to be about, has affected his mind. The actions of Mr. Dignoe were noticed as being rather peculiar by his family while the evening meal was being eaten. Several questions were asked him to which he answered an entirely foreign subject. A short conversation ensued with him at the end of which the family physician was called in, who pronounced it a form of paralysis.

The paint store of A. Chauvin, at 114 South Third street, was entered some time last night, entrance being made through a window in the rear of the premises. Nothing in the store was taken or disturbed and the motive of the burglar cannot be imagined as even the cash drawer, which contained some money, was left unmolested. A hole cut in the panel of the side door, evidently done with a knife, shows where entrance was first attempted, but it is thought the robbers were scared away before the job was completed and the window on the opposite side of the building was then chosen as a means for obtaining entrance.

Paint from grieving over being separated from her friend, who was discharged from the hotel for drinking and had to be sent to her home in Pennsylvania after having been arrested by the police on several occasions, Cora Steen, a slight-built woman, working in the lunch counter at the Alvarado at night, fell on the floor of the lunch room this morning at the close of her watch, in a dead faint. Other girls in the room and the night watchman picked the prostrate girl up and were carrying her to the girls' quarters, when she threw a fit, frightening those around her.

THE FUNDAMENTAL ISSUE

There has always been in each Campaign a Paramount issue; and in this Campaign it is the two Candidates. There is another issue, and Dr. Lyman Abbott of "The Outlook" calls it the Fundamental issue—The question of Labor and Capital. There really should be no animosity between the two for the one could not exist without the other. Labor and Capital should have an affinity for each other. May we not look forward to the day when the Laborer will be the Capitalist, and when the evils of industrial wars will be known only as past history?

We are now making an advance sale on Christmas Toys. Also other goods. These Christmas Toys are made in Germany; in the people's homes. The makers of these toys have worked at the art all their lives. Their fathers and mothers and grandparents before them made toys. These poor toy makers earn about 30c a day. That would be small wages for an American laborer, wouldn't it? But you are benefited by this cheap labor to the extent of being able to buy handsome toys at a very low price. More than that our toys were bought at a discount this year and we are going to give our customers the advantage of our purchase. We have the very latest things in toys and by getting them now you have first choice and prices just as reasonable.

We bought some of other Holiday lines at even bigger bargains than we bought the toys, and in these lines, as well, we believe in giving our customers the benefit when we purchase a bargain.
