JUDGE HOUGH DISMISSES CONSPIRACY COUNT AGAINST MORSE

Banker Faces Only Charge of Violating the National Banking Laws.

NO CRIMINALITY HAS BEEN SHOWN

Morse's Connection with $60,000 Note Shown to Have Been Legitimate—Will Be Tried For Speculating With Funds.

New York, Oct. 27.—The conspiracy count in the indictment upon which Charles W. Morse and Alfred H. Curtis are being tried in the United States court was dismissed by Judge Hough early today after an exhaustive argument by counsel for the defense and District Attorney Stimson. This leaves Morse and Curtis to face only the charges of having violated the national banking law.

Judge Hough also dismissed the counts relating to the charges of misappropriation in connection with a $60,000 note given in payment for stock purchased from Morse, on the ground that no criminality was shown. The part of the indictment which Judge Hough refuses to dismiss alleges false reports, misapplication, over certification and the use of funds of depositors for speculative purposes.

STOPPED HER SPEECH TO BECOME A BRIDE

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 27.—While Mrs. Davis R. Davis of Eau Claire was responding to an address at the state convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs, Ralph W. Burdick of the same city was seeking out some judge to secure a special dispensation to marry Mrs. Davis. She had not yet completed her address when he returned and hastily sent a messenger with a note to Mrs. Davis in the meeting.

Excusing herself for a few minutes, Mrs. Davis stepped outside and was whisked off to Calvary Presbyterian church, where Rev. W. E. Graham was waiting to officiate at the marriage. When the ceremony was completed Mrs. Burdick returned and finished her talk.

EMPLOYEES WILL BECOME PARTNERS

Shipbuilding Firm Threat of Confined Prison Makes Unique Proposal.

London, Oct. 27.—Delegates of the interested trade unions have decided, after a long conference, to recommend that the members accept experimentally for a year the partnership offer made by Sir Christopher Furness of the shipbuilding firm of Furness, Withy & Co. The men will vote on the question next week.

At a conference between Sir Christopher and the trade union held at West Hartlepool on October 7th Sir Christopher told the delegates it was impossible to carry on the business of the firm unless the incessant friction with the employees stopped. He said strikes must cease or the works would be closed. He suggested that if the trade unions thought they could carry on the business themselves the firm would sell out to them; if the unions would not buy, the firm would admit the workmen as partners on a profit-sharing basis. As an alternative he proposed that a council be formed to settle disputes or refer them to arbitration.

The Socialist members of the trade unions vigorously opposed the partnership offer. The scheme provides for the selling of 4 per cent shares to employees, 5 per cent to be deducted from their wages to pay for them.

SWEET WINE MAKERS APPEAL TO PRESIDENT

San Francisco, Oct. 27.—A telegram has been sent to President Roosevelt asking him to reverse the ruling of the commission of internal revenue, which forbids the use of American sweet wine as medicinal components. In the telegram was contained the resolution passed on this subject at the recent meeting of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress.

CRUISER CHESTER PROVES FAST

Newport, Oct. 27.—The cruiser Chester came in from sea today after two days of endurance test off the coast in very rough conditions. The cruiser exceeded her contract speed, made twenty-three knots an hour for twelve hours with the wind blowing more than forty miles an hour and twenty-six knots an hour for four hours under somewhat less severe conditions.

SPANISH DANCER WHO WEDDED A DUSKY INDIAN POTENATE

This is the Rance of Kapurthala. Before her marriage she was Lenorita Degado of Managa, famous both for her beauty and her dancing. She wedded the Maharajah of Kapurthala, an Indian monarch, the ceremony being one of much significance.

KAISER IS ATTENTIVE TO DAVID JAYNE HILL

Berlin, Oct. 27.—Emperor William has attracted the attention of the diplomatic corps by his recent attentions to David Jayne Hill, the American ambassador. It is probable that the purpose of his majesty has been to remove all doubts as to Mr. Hill's welcome at the German court. During the court festivities in connection with the royal wedding the emperor was particularly cordial to Mr. Hill, and at the gala opera performance last Wednesday night the emperor asked that Dr. Hill come to him, and he spoke to the ambassador for some time. The same evening Prince Henry sought out Dr. Hill and talked with him about their experience in America together.

MYSTERY IN MURDER

Chicago, Oct. 27.—What may prove a baffling mystery may be solved tonight night when the body of a woman found in the drainage canal near Summit, Ill., was identified as that of Mrs. Hannah Kaiser, 71 years old, a widow, who disappeared from her home October 19 with $1,500 in her possession.

The police obtained from Pedro Kistenmacher, a nephew of the victim, the information that Mrs. Kaiser recently sold property for $1,500. According to Kistenmacher, she had no faith in banks, and carried the money sewed up in her clothes. This was known generally among her neighbors.

ROOSEVELT HAS BIRTHDAY

Washington, Oct. 27.—Roosevelt became fifty years old today. He spent the day at his desk hard at work receiving such members of the cabinet as are in town at the regular semi-annual meeting and discussing with them matters relating to their departments. Congratulatory messages poured into the president's office and at the White House all day, many of them from foreign rulers.

STRENUOUS PROGRAM FOR PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

Bryan and Taft Are Assisted in New York by Speakers of National Reputation.

BRYAN IN RED FIRE MAKES EARLY SPEECH

Talks to Night Workers at 3 O'clock—Taft Puts in the Day in Small Towns While Bryan Remains in Greater New York.

New York, Oct. 27.—Today's political program is one of intense activity throughout New York City and state. Both presidential candidates are here, hurrying from point to point in the city and the nearby towns. Taft started for the outlying suburbs early in the day, going first to Yonkers and then to cities and towns along the Hudson river. Bryan, who arrived here today, devoted his day to Greater New York. Both the gubernatorial candidates devoted themselves to New York City. Attorney General Bonaparte is among the notable speakers scheduled to appear here tonight. Hearst is also expected to make another speech and Sherman will arrive in this city tonight after addressing meetings at Amsterdam and other upstate points during the day.

Taft left this morning for Troy, where he will arrive at 9:50 tonight. Meantime he will speak at Yonkers, Tarrytown, Peekskill, Fishkill Landing, Poughkeepsie, Hudson, Schenectady and Cohoes. His itinerary, which was arranged some time ago, will doubtless be extended to include a number of other stops. Taft left heavily of the city yesterday, but expressed himself as confident of being able to carry out the itinerary arranged for him for the rest of the campaign.

For the first time in his history at such an early hour the gray walls of the old city hall were lighted by red fire at 3 o'clock this morning when Bryan, bareheaded and smiling, was introduced from the steps of the building to a big crowd of night workers gathered to greet him and hear him speak. Before the cheers ceased the red fire died out and Bryan spoke in the darkness. The crowd was composed mostly of the employees of the big newspaper offices on Park Row, the telephone offices and the general postoffice just across the way. Bryan was accompanied by Chairman Mack, Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Mack. He eulogized the workmen of the country and spoke at some length on the issues of the campaign.

Bryan's program for the day was one of the busiest of the campaign. A comparatively brief rest followed his early morning meeting at the city hall and then Bryan was engaged with his friends and political advisers until 12 o'clock, when he appeared at a Broadway meeting. From that time until after midnight it will be one constant round of meetings, first in Brooklyn, then Long Island City, next a jump to Jersey City for three meetings, before returning to New York to address the college men's Democratic club at the Hoffman house. After dinner a hurried trip to Harlem, before the candidate goes to Brooklyn for the last three days of efforts in the strenuous day. His last address will be at Eckford hall, beginning at a quarter past twelve.

Kern on Tour

Indianapolis, Oct. 27.—John W. Kern started his second tour of Indiana today and is scheduled to make seven speeches before he reaches Detroit, where a night meeting will be held.

Kern makes charges.

Tipton, Ind., Oct. 27.—"I am reliably informed and make the specific charge that $100,000 in money, largely contributed by the trusts and combinations, was brought into Indiana last Sunday and passed through the hands of Hon. Fred Simms, secretary of the state board of commissioners."

Kern made the above statement before a good sized audience here today. Continuing he said he thought that everyone could see the necessity for the publication of campaign contributions before election and reviewed the action of the respective conventions of both parties with reference to publicity.

"If the people of Indiana knew the names of those contributors Bryan would carry the state by 100,000," he said.

After Kern's speech Fred Simms declared that the statement of Kern was absolutely false.

A Campaign Yarn

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Fred W. Upham, assistant treasurer of the Republican campaign fund, when shown Kern's charge that $100,000 collected largely from the trusts had been sent to Indiana, said:

"Not a dollar of anyone's money has been sent out of my office to In-

FIRST AMERICAN TO WIN VANDERBILT CUP RACE

GEO. ROBERTSON AND HIS MECHANIC. There was a great cheer from the 300,000 spectators when Geo. Robertson, in his 90-horse power Locomobile, crossed the finish line, winner of the Vanderbilt cup race. For the first time an American had won the event; for the first time an American-built car had triumphed. Robertson's average time for 203 miles was 69.7 miles per hour, on a track made slippery by a light rain. Not a fatality attended the race, in which seventeen cars participated.

LARRAZOLO A TAX DODGER SHOWN BY COUNTY RECORDS

Supporters of Larrazolo designate Delegate Andrews as a carpet bagger, who never owned any property in New Mexico and who has never helped in the rebuilding of the territory. They intentionally overlook the fact that Delegate Andrews owned a residence and other property in Sierra county, which he later sold, and that he succeeded in bringing into the territory more than $2,000,000 to be used in building the Santa Fe Central railroad and the development of coal and timber properties in connection with that road.

Larrazolo and his campaign managers have not been able to inform the voters of New Mexico what Larrazolo will do for the territory and its people, or what he has ever accomplished of benefit to anyone, other than himself. According to his statements Larrazolo is particularly anxious for an honest and economical administration of public affairs. Yet the following statement would indicate that if anyone followed his example a territorial government could not be maintained.

Voters of New Mexico will undoubtedly be interested in the following statement:

THE TAX ROLLS OF SAN MIGUEL COUNTY SHOW THAT MR. LARRAZOLO HAS BEEN ABLE TO ACCUMULATE A LITTLE PERSONAL PROPERTY DURING HIS RESIDENCE IN THAT COUNTY, BUT HE SEEMS TO BE EXTREMELY AVERSE TO THE PAYMENT OF TAXES FOR THE SUPPORT OF THE TERRITORIAL AND COUNTY GOVERNMENT AS INDICATED BY THE FACT THAT HIS TOTAL BACK TAXES AT THE PRESENT TIME AMOUNT TO ALMOST NINE HUNDRED ($900.00) DOLLARS. LOOK AT THE OFFICIAL RECORD!

The following is a statement in regard to the taxes on the Larrazolo property, taken from the tax rolls of the various years shown:

ANDREWS AND PARTY GET AN OVATION IN DONA ANA

Voters Turn Out in Crowds to Greet Party and Cheer For the Next Delegate.

ENTHUSIASTIC TALKS MADE BY LEADERS

Rousing Meeting Held at Las Cruces, Mesilla and in School House Are Attended by Big Crowds Who Cheer for Statehood.

Las Cruces, Oct. 27.—All of Dona Ana county forgot business yesterday and took up politics. Big crowds turned out to greet Delegate Andrews and party, who arrived from El Paso Sunday evening, and the party was given a rousing reception here.

The members of the party, accompanied by local leaders, went out to Dona Ana precinct in carriages and at 10 o'clock a rousing meeting was held in the school house. Every voter in the precinct was there and speeches for Andrews and statehood were cheered to the echo.

The party was joined here during the day by Judge E. H. Hall, T. H. Catron and W. E. Martin. H. Fleming Jones entertained Delegate Andrews, H. O. Bursum, Major Llewellyn, R. H. Sims, Major McBride and J. D. Sena at dinner at his beautiful home, and at 3 o'clock the party drove to Mesilla where the largest political meeting in the history of the town was held.

A large procession of citizens met the party and escorted it to the town hall, which was packed to the doors. Speeches were made by members of the party, and the mention of Andrews and statehood brought cheer after cheer.

Returning to Las Cruces in the evening the party held a big meeting. The large rink was not large enough to hold the crowd and it is estimated that 1,000 people were there. They crowded the doors and windows, clamoring for admittance, but the crowd inside already taxed the capacity of the hall and many were unable to get near enough to hear the speeches.

T. B. Catron made one of the greatest speeches ever heard in this county. His talk for Andrews and statehood influenced more thinking voters than any speech ever made here. He was followed by Judge Hall, who received an ovation when he arose to speak. He made a logical and strong appeal to the Democrats to vote for Andrews. W. E. Martin spoke in Spanish and was cheered. R. E. McBride spoke for twenty minutes and was followed by H. O. Bursum, who closed the meeting with an enthusiastic talk. He has become one of the really convincing speakers of the territory and his speech here was one of the best he has ever made.

Dona Ana county will give Andrews a big vote. The people of this county want statehood and want it badly. They have seen the futility of sending a Democratic delegate to Congress to get it for them and so will vote the election for the man who does things for the territory at large.

REPUBLICAN RALLY AT THE CLUB TONIGHT

Several Speeches Will Be Made and Music Will Be Furnished by Band and Quartet.

What promises to be a most enthusiastic assemblage of voters will be held at the headquarters of the Young Men's Republican club this evening. Speeches on the political situations of today will be heard from Prof. J. A. Miller, principal of the Central High school; Attorney J. W. Wilson and Attorney Frank Ackerman, all of which promise to be of a most entertaining as well as interesting nature. In addition to the oratorical program, music by the Leonard & Lindemann Boys' band and the colored quartet, both of which will render several selections. The meeting will be presided over by Vice President D. M. Ferguson and a rousing meeting is anticipated.

POWDER TRUST METHODS EXPOSED BY WITNESS

New York, Oct. 27.—R. S. Wadell, formerly sales agent for the so-called powder trust, in his testimony in the suit brought by the government, declared the defendant company controls between 95 and 98 per cent of the trade in gunpowder and nearly 90 per cent of the blasting powder business of the United States. He described the methods used to crush the competition of the Southern and Indiana powder companies, one of which was the "systematic" of railroad rates and cutting of prices to a point which compelled the rival concerns to go out of business.

Up to the Merchant

Wesley A. Stranger, editor of the Office Outfitter, Chicago, recently made an address before a body of retailers in which he called attention to the value of the local newspaper. He said in part:

"The local newspaper is the greatest thing the retailer has if he will use it right, but the majority, or at least a large proportion do not know how. They are too prone to believe that the editor will take care of their interests whether they look after his or not. This is dead wrong. If merchants as a class would only take advantage of the opportunities that the local newspapers afford them, they would reap rewards far beyond their fondest dreams. While self preservation is the first law of nature, it is a very noticeable fact that editors of local papers have a habit of letting self interests go to the very limit when it comes to a question of serving the community. For this they are entitled to recognition which they rarely receive. They have boosted the merchants individually and boosted them all in boosting the community. No doubt the retailers have encouraged them as far as sentimental encouragement goes. They have undoubtedly said that they approved of the editor's methods and called him 'good boy,' but in how many cases have they fallen short in the real encouragement that counts? How often have they neglected to use his columns, thinking that they were clever in it. In failing to patronize him they have too often killed the goose that laid the golden egg."

"Every retail merchant should make up his mind that he will not permit the great advantage that the local paper offers him to go by unused. YOU must get behind your local editor and push for all you are worth. He gives you two dollars back for every dollar you invest with him. He furnishes for you at his own expense one of the biggest assets you possess—the medium through which to let the people know what you have to sell. The editors of the country papers have done more than all other influences combined to win business back into normal channels and to reconvert the farmer to the logical belief in home trading. Has this been fully appreciated by the retailers? The editor prints your advertisements the way you want them, spreads them throughout the entire community and surrounding country and brings business to your store."

"What do you do?"
"Do not let it be said in your community that you have let your editor's work go unappreciated. Use his paper. Make him prosperous and yourself rich doing it. If you have foolish ideas about the nonproductiveness of newspaper advertising, throw them off and try it out. One try will prove nothing. If it is successful, so much the better, but the constant use of the paper in an intelligent manner will produce the results. If your advertisements do not pay it is because you do not provide the right kind of copy. In almost every case the newspaperman knows how to set your ad. in an attractive manner, but he is not to blame if you furnish him poor copy."

"The best friend any business man in the world has, next to his wife, is the local newspaper and if he doesn't get full value for this friendship it is his fault, not the editor's. The editor of the average so-called country paper has done more to uphold his town and the retailers in it than all other influences combined, and it also follows that as an almost unbroken rule he is the least appreciated person in his community."

"Cut loose from this narrow, selfish way of doing things. Look to your interests by helping the local newspaper. It is a veritable gold mine, all you have to do is to reach out for the nuggets. Remember that the editor has to eat and wear clothes the same as you do and what he sells is just as necessary to life and prosperity as your merchandise. See that he is the best cared for man in the town for the local newspapers are the greatest bulwark of American Liberty and American Prosperity. The editor does not ask charity. He stands ready to repay you 100 per cent, yes, 500 per cent on every dollar you spend with him, if you spend it right. If you spend it wrong, do not blame him. Line up your local editors, then line up your local banker. Retailers in combination with the bankers and newspaper men of the country will make an irresistible force that will bring about the greatest success in the world. There is no power like the power of the country press in America. Retailers seem to have been late in realizing this, but an intelligent use of the local newspaper assures success and prosperity. Get together with the man who runs the paper in your town. Treat it as it deserves. Give it half what it gives you, and together you will reach the gold you both seek. All honor to the local newspaper and the country editor."

The Twisted Prophet

William Jennings Bryan has exemplified more forcibly, perhaps, than any other man of modern times the soundness of the ancient rule: "Don't prophesy, unless ye know." Please consider this ominous sentence in a speech delivered by the Nebraska electionist in Washington, N. J., September 23, 1896.

The gold standard means half time in the factories and it means double time on the farms.

There was no qualification, no saving clause, not even the little safety device of an "if" in that prophecy, though Mr. Bryan knows as well as the next man that there is great virtue in an "if." He submitted it without compromise or reservation. In the vernacular, he "played it straight."

What has been the result? Measured by experience, the gold standard means, not half-time in the factories, but double time; work for an increased number of men, shorter hours of labor, and higher wages for all. For the farmer it means larger returns for all crops, more ease and a great increase in the value of his lands. Within a year after Mr. Bryan spoke he was expressing "fear" lest the increase which had already taken place in the price of wheat should "tempt" the farmer to ask higher prices for his other products. He was equally "afraid" that wages would rise! He was the apostle of cheapness as an aid to prosperity. He had supported free trade as a means of making cheap men, and free silver as a means of keeping them cheap. Finally, in 1897, he seriously proposed to reduce the purchasing power of the dollar in order to cut prices down and make times good!

Now, as in 1896, Mr. Bryan is a prophet badly twisted. He prophesies several different sorts of ruin which can be averted only by electing him to the presidency. He proposes to benefit the country by placing restraints upon production and by placing our great system of distribution under the control of the government. He would check productive enterprise by preventing any corporation from controlling more than 50 per cent of the total output of a given community, and he would stifle competition in transportation by creating a government monopoly of the carrying business.

Mr. Bryan is a temperate man, but he is now, as he was twelve years ago, intoxicated with the exuberance of his self-confidence. His own estimate of himself is that he is infallible, that he has never made a mistake in dealing with great public questions. The real danger of his candidacy is his sincere belief that his treatment of those questions has been always right, whereas events have proved it to have been always wrong.

An increase in wages of $100,000,000 every year under Republican administration is one substantial reason why the railway employees of the country are overwhelmingly for Taft and Sherman.

The farmers demonstrate at every railway crossing that they are for the candidate of Republican prosperity.

A free trade tariff appeals neither to the farmers nor to the factory wage-earners.

Organized labor is making it clear that its vote is in its own individual pockets.

Some boys know more at 20 than they can forget from that time until they are sixty.

BRYAN VICTORY WOULD PROVE DISASTROUS

Stock Market Bound to Take An Upward Trend When Taft Is Elected.

New York, Oct. 27.—Political developments over the last few weeks favor the election of Mr. Taft as president of the United States. A Republican victory means a permanent eclipse of Bryanism and will sound the death knell of his policies, which for twelve years have from time to time chilled the business and commercial pulse of this as well as other nations.

Politics have dominated the stock market for the last two or three months. Traders have been warned to move cautiously until positive assurance of Republican success were received. It is largely because of this that so little interest has been taken in the market by the public. Confidence is an element, without which there can be no commercial or industrial progress. While the fundamental conditions of the country are too sound to allow a Bryan victory to cause permanent business stagnation, the defeat of Mr. Taft would certainly prevent an immediate return of confidence, which is so essential to the elevation of our industries, from a 60 per cent to a 100 per cent operating basis.

Sound and conservative business men are unanimous in their belief that a Bryan victory would prove disastrous. Therefore his defeat would certainly help to influence activity from a stock market as well as a general business standpoint. Securities have enjoyed a fair advance since the October panic of last year, but such an important event as the election of Mr. Taft is not going to be passed by without some sort of a bull demonstration in Wall street.

Wall street will either discount Mr. Taft's election within the next week or so by an advance in securities, or wait until the votes are counted and then inject life into the market. But in forecasting the future course of the stock market the fact must not be lost sight of that since the first of the year the most powerful interests in the street, interested with unlimited capital at their command, have been responsible to a large extent for the pronounced recovery in stocks. The question is, have these interests been able to liquidate a large percentage of their holdings? Developments all point to the contrary. With this in view, an event of such consequence as the election of Mr. Taft will probably be taken advantage of by the large interests to shift part of their burden to other shoulders. The election of Mr. Taft, having spent its stock market force, a recession later on would not be surprising. It is held that the failure of his election to stimulate the stock market would do more than anything else to keep the public out of the market. This the large holders of stocks realize, and an upward trend of values over the next two or three weeks is altogether likely.

That the leading issues are bound to sell higher there is no question, but it is not to be expected that this movement will be carried forward without interruptions such as were experienced when Wall street was treated to a political scare in September. Over the last year or two the railroad and industrial corporations have put into practice economies which will be reflected in increased earnings when business conditions assume normal proportions. Earnings will establish new high records and dividend prospects will be even better than in the boom periods of 1906 and 1907.

The showing the Union and Southern Pacific companies have been making in the way of increased earnings over the last several months indicates higher prices for these issues. It can be stated on the best of authority that Union Pacific's statement for September will be even better than that of August and that October's returns will eclipse those of the preceding month. With record breaking earnings for the Pacific in view there seems to be some basis for recent statements that Union Pacific will sell above 200 and Southern Pacific above 125 before the close of next year. As E. H. Harriman is now the dominating factor in Erie, the shares of this road ought to move in sympathy with the Pacific.

The statement of the United States Steel corporation for the quarter ended September 30th will be issued today. The returns for that quarter will favor the country by placing restraints upon production and by placing our great system of distribution under the control of the government. He would check productive enterprise by preventing any corporation from controlling more than 50 per cent of the total output of a given community, and he would stifle competition in transportation by creating a government monopoly of the carrying business.

Mr. Bryan is a temperate man, but he is now, as he was twelve years ago, intoxicated with the exuberance of his self-confidence. His own estimate of himself is that he is infallible, that he has never made a mistake in dealing with great public questions. The real danger of his candidacy is his sincere belief that his treatment of those questions has been always right, whereas events have proved it to have been always wrong.

An increase in wages of $100,000,000 every year under Republican administration is one substantial reason why the railway employees of the country are overwhelmingly for Taft and Sherman.

The farmers demonstrate at every railway crossing that they are for the candidate of Republican prosperity.

Conditions favor higher prices for securities, but as aforesaid, possible liquidation on the part of the large interests on the strength of Mr. Taft's election is a factor that must not be lost sight of. A setback, however, is not expected until after the buying movement, influenced by a Republican victory, has spent its force.

HOW THE KING WAS SAVED.

By A. M. Perkerson.

The diplomat leaned forward from the deep embrasure of the window and looked through a rich curtain at the masqueraders, himself concealed.

Slowly his eyes went round the room and stopped at a knot in the center. A small figure was visible, dressed as a Jacobin monk, with cowl and a brown robe that descended to the heels. The diplomat's costume was identical, except the robe he wore was black.

A shepherdess moved from the knot and walked towards the window, throwing a bright glance over her shoulder at the small figure in the monk's dress. The diplomat watched her closely.

A tall man got up as Cardinal Richelieu appeared from one corner of the room and advanced toward the girl. They stopped at the window.

"The king is to meet me in the garden in fifteen minutes," the girl said rapidly. "Then is the time, we must start."

She moved quickly away and the man walked on. The diplomat threw himself further back in the window and leaned his head against a cushion. His gaze grew reflective.

Suddenly he glided from behind the curtain. Across the room he paused by the slight figure in the monk's dress.

"I must see you, sire," he whispered, "without delay."

The other shifted his position impatiently. "Hush, man, I don't want every one to know me. You'll have to wait. I have an engagement."

"It's imperative," the diplomat insisted.

"Stroll over to the window, then," the little king said.

The diplomat obeyed. The little king followed him. The diplomat sat down beside him and let the curtain put into practice economies which will be reflected in increased earnings when business conditions assume normal proportions. Earnings will establish new high records and dividend prospects will be even better than in the boom periods of 1906 and 1907.

"Sire, two years ago a woman held me up to ridicule in a fashion that hurt my vanity. It's still sore."

The little king smiled slightly, then gave a petulant frown. "But why take my time to tell me such a thing now? Wait until—"

"It was the Countess de Rostignac, sire."

The little king started.

"You are to meet her in the garden in a few minutes. I happened to hear her say so. Let me take your place."

He held up his hand when the little king opened his lips. "Give me your robe. I'll be taken for you, then can return ridicule for ridicule."

"What nonsense are you proposing?" the little king burst out. He rose suddenly from the window and caught the curtain. The diplomat grasped him by the shoulder and pulled him back.

"How dare you!" the little king burst out.

He started to rise again but one of the diplomat's hands closed over his mouth and the other held him fast.

The curtain was moved aside and a small figure, dressed as a monk and wearing a brown robe, emerged. It disappeared through a door into the garden.

The shepherdess stepped out from behind a clump of roses.

"You are two minutes late, sire."

BIG CROP STORY

Texico Man Who Raised 1,600 Bushels of Sweet Potatoes to the Acre, Proves His Story.

W. B. Mersfelder has reported a yield of 1,600 bushels of sweet potatoes to the acre. This is an amazing statement, but the figures are given to verify the crop. And it may be best to give the figures because while in the arid belt last week the writer told of this crop as a sample of what Texico dirt will do and he was immediately awarded the prize as the biggest prevaricator in the bunch; to say the least the rest all thought that was the limit, and changed the subject.

Anyway, Mersfelder's sweet potatoes are planted in rows three feet apart. The hills are eighteen inches apart. This gives exactly 9,000 hills to the acre. W. B. went into the field a few days ago to see how the crop was doing, and dug up several hills. On weighing the output of each hill he found the smallest hill to produce seven pounds of the sweet potatoes, another eight pounds, one twelve and one fourteen. Taking the lowest figures, and estimating that each hill will average between eight and nine pounds, the field holds at least 8,000 pounds of potatoes, or 1,600 bushels per acre.

You big crop men, come on with your better ones—Texico Trumpet.

OVER THOUSAND FOREST FIRES LAST YEAR

Records Show That Campers
and Locomotives Caused Greatest Number.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—What starts these forest fires? This question has been asked over and over again this summer by readers of the accounts of the destructive fires which have been raging in all parts of the country.

Campers and locomotives, is the usual answer. Many of the other things which start blazes in the forest are forgotten. It is true that perhaps one-half to three-fourths of the forest fires do begin as a result of the carelessness of some camper, or from sparks flying from locomotives, but there are a number of things which set the woods a-fire.

A complete report of forest fires on the private forests of the country and their causes is not kept by anyone. Uncle Sam, however, is most careful to account for the damage done by the blazes on his timberland under forest administration, aggregating about 168,000,000 acres, and each year the total area burned over, the timberland burned over, the amount of timber destroyed and its value, the cost of fighting fires, and the causes of fires are carefully checked up. These reports are made at the end of the calendar year, and the announcement of this year's losses will therefore not be known for more than two months.

Last year's figures, however, give a good idea of the things which cause fires in forests. Of the 1,355 fires discovered on the national forests last year, all of which were checked by the rangers before they had burned over fourteen hundredths of one per cent of the national forest area, campers caused $46, while railroads followed next with 272; lightning came next, with 178; donkey engines used in lumbering operations, fourth, with 65; careless brush burning by homesteaders clearing land, 34; fires caused by incendiaries and those set by herders and hunters, 30. For more than 400 of the fires the cause is not known. This is not strange when it is remembered that a fire may smolder for days, if the air is too thick to permit the smoke to be seen at a distance before it breaks out when fanned by a wind so as to reveal its presence to the watchful forest officer.

While campers caused more fires than locomotives last year, there are many seasons when the railroads hold undisputed claim to first place. Forest fires started by both are mostly unnecessary. If campers would exercise care in starting camp fires and be sure that they are extinguished before they are left, and if the railroad companies would use the most modern and efficient spark arresters, it is reasonable to think that the annual forest fire loss could be reduced more than one-half. Lightning ranks third among the causes of fires and of course, man has no greater responsibility in this case than to put the fire out as soon as possible after discovery. Careless brush burning by homesteaders and persons clearing land is said to be the cause of many of the fires which have started this year, particularly those which have swept over the Lake States.

The ranger force on many of the national forests has been kept busy fighting fires which, if left to run unchecked, would have done incalculable damage. By quickening communication between important points through the construction of telephone lines, and building roads and trails, the national forests have been made more accessible during the past two years and fire fighting has been greatly facilitated.

Wood Pulp and Saw Mill Waste.
To insure a pulp wood supply to meet adequately the future needs of the country seems one of the most important of the many forest problems of the United States. Statistics collected by government experts, however, show that there are possibilities in the field of invention for the relief of the drain on the country's remaining pulp wood forests by devising means of utilizing saw-mill waste.

It is estimated that there are 4 1/2 million cords of slabs destroyed in refuse burners of the lumber mills of the country each year. The wood used for pulp last year amounted to approximately 4 million cords, about a quarter of which had to be imported. The mill-waste estimate is based on a recent canvass of some of the larger mills of the country by the United States forest service, which established the interesting fact that mills having an aggregate cut of 5,440 million board feet had a final waste of 1,870,000 cords of slabs after the best had been used for lath. Assuming these mills to be representative, it is seen that there is still considerable waste in forest products at the mill even after the earnest efforts of lumbermen during the last ten years to bring about a closer utilization of the whole tree.

These figures make it look as if American inventors, who are performing wonderful feats in other fields, should get down to the consideration of methods to make these waste slabs available for the pulp makers. Work along this line would also be likely to show the way for utilization of thousands of tons of sawdust which are now wasted each year.

It is true that some utilization is being made of mill waste at present, but in most cases it is only the larger and more modern plants that are even making any attempts in this line. Then, as it is, the plants which use the waste slabs, after laths are made, often waste the sawdust, and those which use the sawdust waste the slabs. The slab residue from the lumber cut of the country is estimated to amount to about 14 million cords, of which about 6 million, with an average value of $1.40 a cord, is sold for fuel, 3 1/2 million burned by the mills for fuel, and 4 1/2 millions sent to the refuse burners. This last figure shows the enormous quantity of forest product that is pure waste. The iron furnace slag heaps have been seized upon by the brick maker, and the screening dump of the coal mines has become a valuable source of material for the briquette manufacturer. Experts say that it may prove possible to make just as good use of the waste heaps of the lumber mills if slabs and sawdust can be converted into pulp.

MISS ELKINS TO OUTSHINE ALL ROYALTY

Gowns Are Being Made For Her, Including Trousseau.
by New York
Firm.

New York, Oct. 27.—The first positive confirmation of the report that the marriage of Duc d'Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins is to take place without delay was obtained by the American today. It was learned that a well known Fifth avenue firm has nearly completed the bride's trousseau.

Included in this wonderful collection are a wedding gown of white satin, a court gown studded with pearls, a number of traveling dresses, and no fewer than twenty-two boudoir gowns of rare Italian lace. No little significance is attached to the fact that, while the Fifth avenue firm, Louise & Co., was originally instructed to take its time, orders came recently from the Elkins family to hurry everything along. So the entire trousseau is expected to be ready by the latter part of next week.

Plans for the trousseau, to be designed "suite a la empire," were begun more than three months ago. At that time an expert was sent abroad by Louise & Co., under instructions to search Europe for the most beautiful laces, especially Italian laces.

It is now a month since the expert arrived home in America. From the establishment it was learned today that the laces supplied for Miss Elkins were especially matched to suit the periods which her wonderful wardrobe represents. The empire and directoire styles and a revival of the famous "Eugenie lift" are the distinguishing characteristics of Miss Elkins' trousseau. The extensive preparations of the bridal suite, the fame of which has traveled abroad and is already calculated to arouse the envy of a princess, have been under way for months, even while denials and controversies about the betrothal have occupied columns in the daily papers. The purchasing of fabrics and planning of gowns was carried on quietly and secretly.

The result is that Miss Elkins will have the most costly and beautiful trousseau ever designed for a princess or a millionaire's daughter.

It will be a feature of the bridal suite that every stitch of the lingerie is trimmed with real lace. The design of every gown is a la empire, from the ivory satin court gown, fashioned after the style made famous by Empress Eugenie, to the twenty-two boudoir gowns not yet completed.

The Princess Margherita, who prides herself on her pearls, will marvel at the trimming of priceless seed pearls which, it is rumored, will adorn the court gown.

At Madame Louise's establishment today those who have been assigned to assist in bringing about a hurried completion of the trousseau spoke of its costly fabrics and jeweled trimming with bated breath.

The wedding gown, classic in its simplicity, will be made of old satin. The point lace is of Josephine design to be in keeping with the period which the costume represents.

The "Eugenie lift" is a fashion which is the result of a caprice of the famous French beauty. Eugene had every gown designed with a little train in front as well as in back, which occasioned the necessity of lifting the gown that whirled in eddying folds of silk about her feet as she walked.

Since the sudden decision to rush the trousseau in order that everything may be in readiness in case the anticipated dithyramb should be necessary sooner than had been expected, several other New York establishments have been listed and the thirty-three tailor-made traveling gowns are also well under way.

Directoire afternoon toilettes, morning robes, automobile coats and marvelously plain gowns, anticipating every possible social event, from the presentation at court to the smallest function of the year, are being completed.

These designs all have been carefully executed by the most noted modists both here and abroad. No expense has been spared.

As to the title, it is already bestowed upon Miss Elkins by the employees of Louise & Co., who speak of the trousseau as belonging to "Mme. La Princesse." The future bride of the Duc d'Abruzzi, in her pearls and laces, bids fair to outshine the Princess Margherita, who as the "Pearl of the Savoy" has the distinction of owning the rarest collection of laces and pearls in Europe.

NATIONAL GUARD TEAMS WANT SOME PRIZES

Changes Are to Be Made in Rules so Citizen Soldiers Can Win.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—Important changes in the program for the national rifle matches probably will be made at the next annual meeting of the national board for the promotion of rifle practice. A number of novel suggestions have been advanced, all being intended to relieve the situation incident to the winning of the first four places in the national team match by the teams representing the regular service.

The National guard teams feel that they are at a disadvantage under the present rules, as they are necessarily restricted, both as to time and ammunition, while the regular service teams are not. Again, the cavalry and infantry teams, which represent the army, are chosen from fifty or sixty men who are regularly instructed in marksmanship and whose pay is increased in proportion to their skill with the rifle.

Among the suggestions advanced is that two prizes shall be distributed to the National guard teams, all to shoot at the same time and place and under similar conditions. It is understood that this plan is followed in English matches where the volunteers are not expected to cope with the regulars, or the reserves with either the volunteers or regulars.

Another plan which meets with considerable favor provides for dividing the contestants into three divisions, the first two to consist of seventeen teams each and the third of the remainder. At Camp Perry, O., this year, there were fifty teams of twelve men each, entered in the national match, representing forty-five states and territories, the army, navy and marine corps and the naval academy.

Under the proposed scheme the first seventeen teams would be entered next summer in the first division, the next seventeen in the second division and the remaining sixteen, with all new entries, in the third division. Prizes would be offered in each division and there would be a constant struggle among the teams in each division and of the teams to get from the third into the second or the second into the first division.

The Guggenheim's son goes to the west.

He will locate in San Francisco to look after family's interests.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The Guggenheim interests are to be represented in San Francisco by a member of the family and resident director, Mr. Robert Guggenheim, who, with his wife, will leave New York for San Francisco early in November to make their home there. At present they are living at the St. Regis, and they will probably stay at some hotel in San Francisco until they decide what they will do regarding a permanent home.

This move was contemplated some years ago in view of the growing interests of the Guggenheims in Alaska and on the west coast, but it was delayed on account of the fire, and in the meantime young Guggenheim—his age is but 23—has been industriously studying the smelting business in various parts of the United States and Mexico.

Mr. Robert is one of the two sons of Daniel Guggenheim, head of the smelter trust, and being a director in the American Smelting and Refining company, his decision to locate in San Francisco is important. The other son of Daniel Guggenheim, Harry Frank, who is only 19, is studying smelting in Mexico.

All Business Seems to Have Been Transacted During the Summer.

Albuquerque's Democratic mayor and aldermen are losing the enthusiasm with which they began to administer to the city's welfare at the beginning of the terms of office last spring, when anything short of a midnight session was considered a show of unfaithfulness. For the second time within a month the council has adjourned before 10 o'clock, and then after a late start.

The city council has a winter and summer schedule just the same as the Santa Fe. In the summer, when the days are long, the councilmen are supposed to gather at 8 o'clock.
In the winter when the days are short, they are expected to gather at 7:30. The winter schedule is supposed to be on now. Aldermen Newstead, Auger and Connolly were there on time. The mayor arrived at 8:10.
In an hour and ten minutes all the business the mayor could think of had been transacted and the aldermen had been requested to try and think of something more.

There was a dead silence in the council chamber for some minutes, and then Alderman Wroth said that he would give it up. He could think of nothing more.

The chief subject of the session was gasoline. Two sections of the ordinance governing the storage of explosives in the city were changed for the protection of property against fire from exploding chemicals and dynamite. The city had an ordinance but it was not adequate. The recent accidents occurring in the city as a result of the use of gasoline gave rise to some discussion of a restriction along this line. Mayor Lester suggested that keepers of cleaning establishments should be prohibited from using gasoline, but no action was taken in the matter. Such an action would put almost every cleaning establishment in the city out of business.

Streets and electric lights were discussed, and the city attorney was instructed to notify the telephone and electric light companies to comply with the ordinance governing the location of poles.

Sanitary Officer Moran was instructed to make a canvass of the work being done by the parties having the contract to regrade the streets.
The contracting firm of Brown and Phillips was awarded a contract to build a roof over the pumps in the outlet of the sewer in the southern part of the city and build a wall two feet high around the vault at the outlet. The successful bid was $12,150.
Other bids were: A. W. Anson, $350,
and G. J. Mace, $250.

Alderman Wroth reported that Sewer Expert Gray would be ready to make a report on the city sewerage system next month.

The council was presented with a communication asking the city to assume damages incurred as a result of an accident resulting from a dangerous culvert on South Third street near Hazeldeine avenue. The communication follows:

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 26.
To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the Council of the City of Albuquerque, N. M.

Sirs: We, the undersigned, respectfully invite the attention of your honorable body to the unsafe and dangerous condition of that portion of South Third street immediately north of Hazeldeine avenue, through which an aqueduct runs from east to west. We also beg to call your attention to the fact that owing to the unsafe and dangerous condition of the woodwork covering a portion of the said aqueduct on the east side of Third street and the insufficient covering over same. And that owing to said condition of said aqueduct covering the undersigned were violently thrown from a buggy being driven along the right hand side of Third street coming north, the off horse of the team which was being driven running into the ditch, causing it to fall and throwing the three occupants of said buggy, that on account of the unlighted district where said aqueduct is located and on account of the insufficient provision of a crossing for a team and the unsafe condition of the public highway the undersigned have been damaged to the extent of the repairing of the buggy which they were driving and also the repairing of a delivery wagon into which the said team ran after throwing said occupants.

We respectfully request your honorable body to assume the indebtedness incurred by said accident, which includes the loss of a shot gun which was broken when the team ran off the aqueduct bridge, and the repair of both vehicles. We also respectfully request that proper action be taken to remedy the said highway.

We respectfully request the favorable consideration of this claim by your honorable body and request an investigation of same by your body.

J. BENSON NEWELL,
F. P. CANFIELD,
A. W. BIKKER, JR.

The matter was referred to the street committee and the city attorney, and an investigation of the bad condition of the thoroughfare at this point will be made at once.

Sanitary Inspector Thomas Morrill
made the following report:

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 19.
To the Honorable Mayor and City Council, City of Albuquerque, N. M.
Gentlemen: At the present time I am engaged in gathering sanitary information for the sewer department.
During the time of the irrigation congress and the Territorial fair the numerous booths had my attention given to them in order that everything in connection with them was kept in a sanitary condition and all rubbish and garbage properly disposed of.

Respectfully submitted,
THOS. F. MORRILL,
Sanitary Inspector.

WANT TO PLAY GAME ON NEUTRAL GROUNDS

Military Academy and Agricultural College May Come Here Thanksgiving.

Quite an animated fight is on between the football fans of this city and of El Paso as to who will have the opportunity of witnessing the football game between the Roswell Military Institute cadets and the farmers of the Agricultural college, scheduled to be played Thanksgiving day. The game is to be played on neutral ground and either Albuquerque or El Paso will get it.

The farmers favor El Paso, while the cadets want to come to Albuquerque. The farmers favor the Pass City because it is less expensive for them to go there. The cadets favor Albuquerque because it is easier for them to come here on account of train connections, and also because they believe that this city would be more neutral ground than El Paso, as the Pass City has quite taken the A-and M. students under their wing because of the trade thrown there by the school.

While no purse has been offered by either city for the game as yet, it is likely that there will be. The football players could not very well accept money from either city, but they could accept courtesies such as railroad fare or hospitality in the way of entertainment. This will be a very interesting contest, the teams representing the leading educational institutions of the territory, and it seems as though Albuquerque should make some effort to have the game played here.

CONSTRUCTION CAMPS IN TIJERAS CANYON

Richmond Starts Work on Railroad
Through the Canyon at Once.

Following the arrangement of switching connections between the New Mexico Central and the Santa Fe for the local terminals of the first named road, A. L. Richmond, of the Dominion Construction company, accompanied by Engineers H. E. Culbertson and J. R. Farwell, left this morning in his forty-horse power touring car for Tijeras canyon to select sites for camps to be used by construction outfits which are to be put to work on the canyon part of the Central.

An effort will be made to secure rights to establish one camp at Mrs.
Silva's place, the well known resort half way between Trimble's castle and Whitcomb Springs. The second camp will be established near the head of the canyon. Thirty-five teams will be put to work at each camp as soon as the permanent locations are completed. Work has begun on the Hagan branch, and with reasonably good luck the Central will be hauling coal out of the Hagan mines by Christmas time.

FOREST SERVICE UC- UPIES NEW OFFICES

Twenty-two Rooms in Luna-Strickler Building Taken by the Force
Here.

The new offices of the forestry service in the Luna-Strickler building are now being put into shape for occupancy and the local officers have installed their office fixtures. The forestry service will, in the very near future, occupy twenty-two rooms of the second floor of this building, only five being left unoccupied by them.
The twenty-two rooms will be utilized by a force of about fifty employees of the service, who will comprise officers, clerks, stenographers, etc., all of whom it is thought will be in this city and in active service by the first of January.

While not officially announced, it is understood that there will be twenty-six officers and twenty-four clerks, most of whom will be transferred to the local offices from Washington, where they are now filling similar positions. Two changes will be made in the officers, one of which will affect a local man. By the establishing of these offices the district inspection officers will be abandoned and the regular inspections will be made from Washington. By this change D. D. Bronson will be returned to Washington, where he will be given a promotion in the service.

Mr. Bronson now occupies the position of inspector for the territories of Arizona and New Mexico and in addition to his promotion Harvey Benedict, chief inspector for Utah and Nevada, will also be promoted to Washington, owing to the establishing of the local offices. While nearly all of the fifty employees who will occupy offices in the forestry service in this city will come from Washington, it is understood that many will be selected from the list of those who recently passed examinations in this city entitling them to positions in the service.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT PLANS TO RECEIVE THE FLEET

Big Sum Will be Spent to Entertain American Sailors When They Reach Amoy.

Amoy, Oct. 27.—When the Chinese government selected Amoy as the port to receive the second squadron of the American battleship fleet, it made a wise choice. The broad, well-protected harbor, the climate (from October to April) unsurpassed and the scenic beauty of the surrounding country all unite in justifying the selection.

The second squadron consists of the battleships Louisiana, Virginia, Ohio, Missouri, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kentucky and Kearsarge, under command of Rear Admiral William H. Emory, and according to the itinerary they are due here October 29 and will remain until November 4.

The Chinese government has set aside the sum of 400,000 taels (U. S. gold $250,000) to meet the expenses of entertaining the battleship squadron during its visit. The committee in charge of the arrangements has stated that the Peking government has signified its willingness to make an additional appropriation should the original appropriation prove inadequate.

The following officials have been designated by the Peking government to constitute a reception committee: An imperial prince, the vice president of the foreign board, Peking, the viceroy of Fukien province, the governor of Chokang, the admiral in command of the Chinese squadron, the major general of the Fukien division, the tao-tai of Amoy, the special commissioners, Chien Tu and Mai Hsin Chien (Dr. George Mark). The management of the preparations for the reception has been placed in the hands of Commissioner Dr. Mark, assisted by the tao-tai of Amoy and Commissioner Chien Yu. Dr. Mark accompanied his excellency, Li Hung Chang, as interpreter on his tour around the world about sixteen years ago, and has proved himself exceedingly well qualified to manage the arrangements for the reception.

Amoy is well adapted to the reception of the fleet. The harbor is probably the best on the China coast. Although Amoy city, like most Chinese cities, is dirty and decidedly uninviting, yet there is a large open plot of ground, known as the drill grounds and race course, about one mile distant from Amoy City, and directly accessible from the sea. This plot of ground lends itself exceedingly well to the purposes of the entertainment. On the south and east it is surrounded by picturesque hills, while on the north and west is the sea. Thus it will not be necessary upon this occasion for anyone to enter the city of Amoy. The foreigners resident at the port of Amoy live on the island of Kulangsu, opposite Amoy City. This island comprises what is known as the Kulangsu international settlement and is governed in a manner similar to the Shanghai international settlement. The reception and festivities given by the Chinese in connection with the fleet's visit will be on the open plot of ground above mentioned, while the reception to be given the officers by the foreign community will be given on Kulangsu.

The Chinese reception and entertainment will be distinctly Chinese in its nature, yet so planned as not to be inconsistent with the American ideas of enjoyment. The grounds are circular in shape, and a road thirty feet wide will lead from the sea to these grounds, a distance of about one quarter of a mile. This road continues a half mile further and connects with a beautiful Chinese temple (Nan Pu Tou Mao) in the hills to the south of the grounds. Clusters of bamboos at intervals of every ten feet have been planted along each side of the road for its entire distance. Chinese lanterns will be strung along through these clusters of bamboos. An electric light plant capable of supplying 10,000 15-candle power lights will be installed, and whenever these lights are used they will be dropped into Chinese paper lanterns, thus maintaining the Chinese effect. A series of buildings and mat sheds have been constructed about the circular plot of ground. The main building, to be known as the officers' hall, will be 200x60 feet, and is so situated as to command a splendid view of the whole field. There is a stage for Chinese theatricals in one end of this building. Accommodations for dining and entertaining 300 people will be provided in this hall. A veranda on the front and ends of the hall directly overlooks the baseball diamond and football gridiron. Directly opposite the hall, on the other side of the oblong, has been erected a gorgeous Chinese arch which will be outlined in electric lights. This arch will serve as one of the entrances to the grounds. Ten buildings constructed of bamboo and Chinese matting and facing on the circle will provide dining accommodations for 3,000 men. Two large buildings each capable of accommodating 1,000 people will serve as theaters. A large structure has been erected for an exhibition hall and bazaar, where Chinese made wares and curios may be exhibited and sold. Bordering on the circle, nearly opposite the officers' hall, is a picturesque knoll, which will serve for the fireworks display. This knoll has the advantage of being visible from the sea, thus when the fireworks are being exploded the men on board the vessels in the harbor may see them from their ships. In the plan of decorations, so far as possible, the American and Chinese colors only have been used.

Young men from the Tung Wen Institute, an American-Chinese school, will act as interpreters for the visiting officers and men.

Acting upon the suggestion of the American consul, Julian H. Arnold, the entertainment for the men will consist for the most part in a carnival of sports. Two handsome silver cups to be made in Canton, and costing $1,250 each, will be awarded as prizes to the ships winning the baseball and football games. A telegram was sent to Admiral Sperry at Auckland requesting that the preliminary games be played before arrival at Amoy, leaving the semi-finals and finals for Amoy. To this request Admiral Sperry assented. Boat races and other sports will also form part of the program; for these prizes aggregating about $1,000 will be awarded.

Instead of presenting each visitor with a medal or button, as is customary on such occasions, Commissioner Mark has arranged to present each officer with a Chinese cloisonne vase and to each man a Chinese cloisonne cup.

The program of entertainment, as at present planned, is as follows (it being planned to entertain 2,000 men ashore at one time):

Thursday, October 29.—Arrival of battleship squadron; 8 p. m., dinner at American consulate, to introduce commanding officers to Chinese reception committee.

Friday, October 30.—Chinese officers and foreign consuls call on flagships; 9:30 to 11:30 a. m., football games; 12:30, luncheon on grounds; 2:30 to 4:30, baseball games; 6 to 6:30, Chinese theatricals, jugglers, etc.; 7 to 10, Chinese dinner and Chinese entertainments.

Saturday.—Reception on board Chinese flagship; 9:30 to 11:30, football; 12:30, luncheon on grounds (3,000 men); 2:30 to 5, boat races, American and Chinese; 7 to 10 p. m., Chinese dinner and entertainment (3,000 men).

Sunday.—Day of rest. Tea in afternoon at various Chinese temples.

Monday.—The foreign community will entertain the officers on this day with the following program: 12, reception at Foreign club; 12:30 to 2, luncheon at Foreign club; 3 to 6, tennis and sports on lawn; 9:30 to 11 p. m., dancing at Club theater; 11 to 12, supper and fireworks.

The Chinese will entertain the men with the following program: 9:30 to 11:40, baseball; 12:30, luncheon (3,000 men); 2 to 5, varied sports; 7 to 10, dinner and Chinese entertainment.

Tuesday.—Empress dowager's birthday; 10 to 12, reception; 9:30 to 11:30, final football games; 12:30, luncheon; 2:30 to 4:30, final baseball games; five presentations of cups; 7 to 11, officers, 3,000 men and entire foreign community entertained at dinner, followed by gorgeous display of Chinese fireworks.

Wednesday, November 4.—Departure of fleet.

The spirit exhibited by the Chinese in connection with the preparation for the reception of the battleship squadron is most commendable. Commissioner Mark and his associates have done and are doing exceedingly well in their efforts towards making the exhibition a credit to their country and a pleasure to their American visitors.

MUCH WORK AHEAD FOR PETIT JURY

Criminal Docket Set Yesterday Afternoon, Shows Many Cases To Be Tried.

The territorial petit jury now trying cases in the second district court will have broken all records for time on duty, as far as Bernalillo county is concerned, when they get through with the work that was mapped out for them yesterday and this morning. Cases were set on the criminal docket yesterday afternoon and this morning up until the 21st of November, and when these cases are all disposed of, Judge Abbott intends to set more cases, probably carrying the term into December. This term of court was begun in October.

Contrary to expectations for the accommodation of counsel, Judge Abbott did not take up the trial of Jack Donahue, charged with murder, this morning, but set for Monday of next week. For various reasons civil cases will continue to be the business of the court this week. The case of R. L. Thompson versus the Albuquerque Traction company, was called this morning. Thompson brought suit against the traction company to recover for a cow killed by one of the company's cars about a year ago.

The case on trial Saturday and Monday resulted in a victory for Eduardo Chavez, who was sued by Elias Garcia to recover $1,200. The jury did a very unusual thing when it gave the defendant damages for $663.75. The action was the result of a sheep deal, in which Chavez acted as the purchasing agent for Garcia. N. B. Field appeared for Garcia and Chavez and Sedillo were attorneys for Chavez.

Judge Abbott yesterday arraigned Samuel T. Fites and Donald M. Parker, both well known in Albuquerque, for larceny. Fites, who was charged with stealing a horse worth about $100 from M. E. Porter and was indicted by the territorial grand jury for grand larceny, pleaded not guilty. Parker pleaded guilty to larceny on two counts, throwing himself on the mercy of the court. Parker stole several articles of wearing apparel from the Golden Rule Dry Goods company while in the employ of the company, and also filched a watch from Henry Gerphide, of Belen. A few months ago he was in the justice court in the city for stealing money from M. E. Porter, while in his employ, but the case was never tried, Parker's friends having come to his rescue, making good his shortage.

Cases set for trial and cases that will likely come up for trial at the present term of court follow:

Wednesday, Nov. 4, case No. 4260, John Donohue.

Friday, Nov. 5, case No. 4267, John Thomas, and case No. 4268, George Peel.

Monday, Nov. 9, case No. 4262, Francisco Balizan, and case No. 4269, Louis Bertoni.

Tuesday, Nov. 10, No. 4203, Miguel Sedillo, and case No. 4289, Louis Hidalgo.

Wednesday, Nov. 11, No. 4297, Samuel Pites, and case No. 4414, Errel C. Hall.

Thursday, Nov. 12, case No. 4277, Cristobal Garcia and case No. 4281, Rafael Tagliaferri.

Friday, Nov. 13, case No. 4282, Valentini Sedillo and case No. 4283, Consolidated Liquor Co.

Saturday, Nov. 14, cases numbers 4285 and 4418, Abeline Cuchlar.

Monday, Nov. 16, case No. 4161, Antonio Pettini.

Tuesday, Nov. 17, case No. 2844, C. C. Ayer.

Wednesday, Nov. 18, case No. 4292, Donaciano Tafaya and case No. 4293, Romulo Urban.

Thursday, Nov. 19, case No. 4412, Jack La Rue.

HE HAD NO FUNDS.

New York, Oct. 27.—James S. Walker, a former clerk in the office of the paymaster-general of the United States navy at Washington, was in the Tombs police court yesterday, charged with passing a worthless check. The complainant against Walker, who is said to be a distant relative of George B. Cortelyou, was John Nordhouse, who is secretary to Paul Morton, formerly secretary of the navy.

FEARED KIDNAPPING.

A chambermaid at the La Veta rooming house on West Lead avenue this morning found J. A. Hurley, a Santa Fe section man, under the bed in his room, beating madly on the floor and apparently suffering from the delusion that he was to be kidnapped. Hurley was removed to St. Joseph's hospital and placed under the care of a physician.

He rented a room at the La Veta house Saturday and then went out to get something to eat. Nothing more was seen of him until the maid found him under his bed. Hurley is hardly able to talk but says that while walking near the Alvarado last Thursday evening someone struck him in the eye. Both his eyes are in bad condition, one being swollen shut and the other nearly so.

ATTEMPTS ATTACHMENT ON RAILROAD TRAIN

New York, Oct. 27.—In an effort to collect a judgment for $18,000 in a damage suit against the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, Deputy Sheriff Burns went to the offices of Treasurer Thomas, announcing that he intended to levy on the office furniture.

On being told the furniture would not cover the amount, he announced his intention of attaching one of the trains standing ready to leave the station. While the officers were explaining to him that the rolling stock of the road was all mortgaged and therefore could not be attached, the road's attorneys secured a stay of execution.

Stops carache in two minutes; toothache, ear pain or burn or scald in five minutes; hoarseness, one hour; muscleache, two hours; sore throat, twelve hours.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, monarch over pain.

DEMOCRATS GET A TICKET NAMED

File Nominations Today With Probate Clerk—Four Tickets in the Field.

Even after two adjourned conventions and one padlock meeting, with divers and sundry gatherings of the central and executive committees, and the herding of every aspiring member of the party to be found in the county the least bit susceptible to notoriety, the Democratic central committee could not get enough of the unterrified to make a complete ticket.

The much wanted ticket was shown to the public today at the probate clerk's office. Not as many candidates got away as reported. All those found at the padlock affair with their fingers not crossed stuck but one. Mr. B. A. Baker, candidate for county commissioner from the third district got away, and M. Mandell was induced to take the chance. No candidate was nominated for commissioner for the second district.

The emblem adopted by the territorial committee was adopted by the Bernalillo county committee. The ticket follows:

Delegate to Congress, O. A. LARRAZOLO, Territorial Council, HUGH J. COLLINS, House of Representatives, ADOLFO A. SALAS, E. E. PARKER, County Commissioner, 2nd District, No Candidate, County Commissioner, 3rd District, M. MANDELL, Sheriff, J. A. MONTOYA, Treasurer and Collector, G. A. CAMPFIELD, Assessor, EMIL KLEINWORT, Probate Judge, TRINIDAD A. LUCERO, Probate Clerk, W. C. OESTREICH, School Superintendent, J. D. EMMONS, County Surveyor, PITT ROSS.

The original ticket contained the name of B. A. Baker, nominee for county commissioner third district, but a sworn statement attached to the ticket, showed that Baker resigned and that M. Mandell was selected by the committee in his stead.

Socialists File Ticket. Delegate to Congress, W. P. METCALF, Territorial Council, MENTZ OLSSON, House of Representatives, ALEXANDER CRAIG, PETER LOW, County Commissioner, 2nd District, JOHN BLACKBURN, County Commissioner, 3rd District, J. J. RYAN, Sheriff, L. P. BECKHAM, Probate Judge, T. J. HALL, Probate Clerk, C. L. HELM, Treasurer and Collector, C. F. ALLEN, Assessor, G. E. GUSTAFSON, County School Superintendent, JOSEPH BOWDICH, County Surveyor, JOHN SCHRODER.

The emblem of the Socialists is a globe, with clasped hands on it. They make four tickets in the county, the Republican, Democratic, Socialist and Independent. In addition, Martin Ryan is candidate for delegate to Congress on the Independence League ticket, which gives sufficient variety, at least.

HE FASCINATED THE SENATOR'S DAUGHTER

Miss Gorman Still Clings to Deserter Who Influenced Her to Leave Home.

Washington, Oct. 27.—By some strange power of fascination Charles J. Magnus brought a spell over Miss Ada Gorman, favorite daughter of Senator Arthur P. Gorman, of Maryland.

It was this power that won the heart of the woman after she had been warned against her suitor. By the same power she still clings to him—her husband now—and makes the declaration that she will fight for him in his trouble until she frees him of a prison cell. In Louisville, Ky., where Magnus is in jail, charged with being a deserter from the United States navy, the prisoner's wife defends him with all the power at her command.

Time and time again, it is said, Miss Gorman was informed of every incident in the career of the young man, whose eventual fate has been disclosed since his arrest, but she tenaciously clung to the statement that he was a model young man and was being slandered.

So great was Magnus' influence over Miss Gorman, that he is said to have persuaded her to drop for all time the woman member of the Vermont Avenue Christian church, who was instrumental in bringing the two together. To this woman Miss Gorman had pledged her sincerest friendship and interest; made a confidant of her, and within the last two years spent $1,500 or more on her. Notwithstanding this association, the expenditure of money and intrusting of confidence, Miss Gorman seems to have been forever weaned from her close associate by a mere word of disapproval from Magnus.

The musician's motive in dissolving this congenial companionship is said to be attributed to the fact that the confidant was familiar with his early history and he was cognizant that continued association would thwart his scheme to "get all the money she has and skip by moonlight."

The story of Ida Gorman's fidelity to the young musician was given by the woman who made repeated efforts to prevent the marriage which has brought so much sorrow and humiliation to her in the latter days of her honeymoon.

In the face of these statements, however, Miss Gorman is said to have reiterated her determination to "marry Hartlove or no one."

Two years ago, had a person informed Miss Gorman that two tiny shoeing mules—two raised children in the streets—would subsequently be responsible for the woe, misery and humiliation that is hers today, she would have denied it.

Such, however, is the inception of the romance which has culminated in Louisville, Miss Gorman knows the source of her sorrow, but today her lips are sealed because of fidelity, loyalty and devotion to the man she loves.

While passing along E street northwest, after a shopping tour, Miss Gorman encountered two vendors of shoe-strings, who tugged at her skirts and entreated her to purchase their wares. They insisted their mother was sick and that their father had run away. To each of these street Arabs Miss Gorman gave $1 and inquired as to their address. They said they lived in southwest Washington, over a dyeing establishment.

The next day Miss Ada Gorman, one of Washington's well known philanthropists, went to the home of the children to talk to their mother. In the mother of the children she met a member of the Vermont Avenue Christian church.

From the mother Miss Gorman is said to have learned that the father of the shoe-string peddlers was a painter, earning $5 a day, but a drunkard and ne'er-do-well, thus making it necessary for the boys to eke out a living for themselves and their mother in the streets.

Miss Gorman not only clothed the boys who had accosted her, but also the mother. And because of her philanthropy the mother came to love her benefactor and a strong bond of friendship sprang up between the two women.

This friendship ripened into companionship, and a few weeks later Senator Gorman's daughter attended a revival with the woman of poverty and her children. Going from the revival to the Gorman residence, at 1511 Rhode Island avenue, Miss Gorman's friend remarked that it would be a good idea for the Vermont Avenue Christian church to have an orchestra.

Miss Gorman inquired: "Do you know where we can get musicians?" The friend replied in the affirmative. On the following Thursday, in last November, Donald Leslie, Charles Hartlove and Albert Lampton reported at Miss Gorman's residence, in Rhode Island avenue, and said they would play at the church. Rev. Frederick D. Power rose after the ceremonies on that Sunday and announced his pleasure at the music furnished.

Increased the Musicians. It now develops that subsequent to the addition of these three musicians to the choir, seven other instrumentalists were added to it. To Hartlove and the other members of the choir, Miss Gorman is said to have paid $5 apiece. The pay of each musician is said to have been dispensed by Hartlove.

On the first Thursday following his playing the church Hartlove is said to have advertised to fellow enlisted men at the navy yard that he would not "need to work for the rest of my life." He is said to have spread the rumor that his days in the navy were numbered and that he would soon be "independently wealthy."

The inside story of this is that the woman who was befriended by Miss Gorman had introduced Donald Leslie to Miss Gorman, and he in turn had presented Hartlove and Lampton.

Hartlove is said to have remarked to friends on the Dolphin that he intended buying his discharge. Although it was not known he had saved money with which to buy his way out of the navy, fellow seamen accepted the statement. They knew he had spent large sums of money and exhibited rolls of greenbacks.

$100—Reward—$100 The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. ## THE LAST STRAW

Your Money Back

If Kodol fails, get back what you pay. Note our guarantee. It must digest all food, at once and completely. It must do all that the stomach should do—do what nothing else does—else it is free.

There is no such thing as a cure for dyspepsia. We might as well talk about a cure for lame ankles.

Nature must do the curing. And Nature will do it when given the chance. Tonics and stimulants may seem to help for a time. But their effect comes only from spurring the stomach to action. And weakness cannot be cured with a spur.

One must relieve the stomach. Let Kodol do, for a little time, what the stomach fails to do. Help it as you, help a lame ankle. Rest it, as you rest other organs that need to recuperate. And stop the irritation of hard, undigested food. You will be surprised to note how quickly the stomach can regain its strength.

All modern treatments for indigestion aim at this relief. But they aim in different ways. Some advise dieting. That brings partial relief by omitting some elements which the stomach can't digest.

But the omitted foods are important. The body requires many food elements. When you cut some of them out, you are robbing some part.

How can Nature restore digestive strength if you deprive it of nourishment?

Another common way is to take pepsin, or digesters which depend almost solely on pepsin. That helps a little, for pepsin digests albumen. But only a part of your food is albumen. Pepsin can't digest starch; it can't digest fat. What will become of them?

It is essential to have a digester which completely digests all food. That is Kodol. There is nothing else which contains all the needed elements.

A perfect digester can be put up only in liquid form. That is why Kodol is liquid. And, because it is liquid, like the digestive juices, its action is almost instant.

This is very easily proved. Take Kodol after the meal, and note the absence of pain, of fermentation, of gas. It is evident that the food is digesting.

Or mix Kodol with food in a test tube, under proper conditions, and one can see it digest. Not part of the food, as with pepsin, but all of it. You can find no other digester which will meet such a test, for there is none.

Will you use a digester that goes but half way? Or will you give to the stomach that complete relief which comes only from the use of Kodol?

Our Guarantee

You may prove, without the risk of a penny, what Kodol can do. Buy one large bottle, and ask your druggist for the signed guarantee. If the results are not satisfactory, take the empty bottle back and your druggist will return your money. This offer is made on the large bottle only, and to but one in a family. That will amply prove how much Kodol means to you. Then please tell your friends who need this help how easy it is to obtain it.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1.00 bottle contains 2 1/4 times as much as the 50c bottle.

LOSSES BY FIRE ARE GROWING SERIOUS

Effort Will be Made to Cut Down Per Capita Loss in This Country.

Washington, Oct. 26.—It is evident that after many decades of irresponsible indifference the American mind may at last become sensitive to the idea of waste. The forest fires of the past sixty days have not exceeded either in number or extent those of many previous years, but the agents of protest and alarm coming from all parts of the country are comparatively so unusual as to indicate a considerable crystallization of public sentiment against such unnecessary sacrifice of our natural resources.

It is singular that almost simultaneously the public mind of this country should be called upon to consider equally if not more startling statistics of fire waste in another direction.

Facts and comparisons recently given out by the National Fire Protection association through its president at Boston covering the destruction of buildings and other insurable property by fire are of a nature serious enough to demand immediate consideration from those having the prosperity and welfare of the nation at heart. We quote the following: "The national debt at its highest point was a little over two and three-quarter billions; the property loss in the United States by fire during the last thirty-three years was found and one-half billions, or an average annual loss of one hundred and thirty-six millions. This annual loss has been constantly increasing; for the first eleven years of the above period the average was eighty-two millions, for the second eleven years, one hundred and thirty millions, and for the last eleven years one hundred and ninety-five millions, with an average loss for the last five years of two hundred and fifty-two millions, or over thirty thousand dollars for each hour of the year."

One thousand two hundred and sixty millions of dollars in the products of human soil swept out of existence in the brief space of five years is such stupendous waste as almost to atrophy the imagination. This sum equals almost our customs revenues; it would more than pay the dividends of all the railroads; it exceeds the revenue of the national postoffice; it is greater than the production of gold or silver.

"It is speaking very conservatively when we say that more than fifty per cent of the fire loss is due to what we technically call 'faults of management,' or what might better be known as carelessness; that is, easily preventable causes."

The annual number of fires in American cities averages forty for each ten thousand of population, as compared to eight for each ten thousand of population in European cities. The annual per capita loss in Australia, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy and Switzerland varies from 12 cents in Italy to 49 cents in Germany, with an average of 33 cents; in the United States the average is $2.47. Berlin has a population of three million. Its annual fire loss is seldom more than $150,000. Chicago, with its population of two million, burns up annually nearly $5,000,000 of values. We destroy more property by fire than do any four nations in Europe. While Boston has suffered a fire loss of $5,000,000 in the past few months without unusual public comment, the city of Rome, almost as large as Boston, is deeply stirred by a loss of $50,000 in a single year. In all of 1907 there were but thirty-five fires in Great Britain that averaged over $50,000 damage and not one that exceeded $400,000 destruction. In January alone of the current year fire destroyed $24,000,000 of property in the United States.

A fire in the congested value district of New York City, covering an area as large as that of the San Francisco conflagration, would put out of existence nearly every insurance company doing business in this country. One thousand companies, or more than three times the present number, have failed or retired since 1850. For the ten-year period of 1898 to 1907 inclusive the insurance business shows an underwriting loss of four and one-half per cent, and it is a significant fact that some of the European companies writing policies in this country are seriously considering withdrawal.

The arrant individualism of the American character assumes that the underwriting interests can look out for themselves, and raise premium rates to cover their losses, absolving the public from all responsibility save the payment of the increased tax; but there is a limit beyond which honest companies will not go in such a gamble, and that limit must mean the disappearance of reliable insurance, and the consequent instability of credits. Reputable companies are already steadily narrowing the limits of their risks, while the constantly increasing hazard and loss operates to discourage capital from the business of underwriting.

Until recently there was, outside of underwriters' boards and bureaus, no organized effort to combat the disgraceful fire waste of this country. In 1896, however, there was organized the National Fire Protection association, which includes in its membership such associations as the American Institute of Architects, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, American Water Works association, International Association of Fire Engineers, National Electric Light association and others, besides such individuals as are desirous of exerting their influence to secure better building and check the fire waste. Its membership today includes sixty-three associations, and one thousand two hundred and seventy-eight individuals as associate and subscribing members. The articles of association state that "the objects of the association shall be to promote the science, and improve the methods of fire protection and prevention, to obtain and circulate information on these subjects, and to secure the co-operation of its members in establishing proper safeguards against loss of life and property by fire."

This association has already accomplished most valuable work in the compilation of standard requirements for the construction of buildings, based upon the experience and observation of fire experts and leading architects, which requirements take the form of model building codes for adoption by municipalities. They are furnished free of expense, and represent the combined experience of the very best experts to be obtained. Such public-spirited efforts as these of the National Fire Protection association must remain ineffective, however, if confronted by continued public indifference. Only an aroused and active interest in our stupendous national folly will cause the public use of the valuable information referred to. The experience of the city of Chelsea makes this fact clear. The conflagration breeding character of the "rag district" of that city was a matter of public knowledge made clear to the city authorities a year before the fire in a report of the mayor, which read: "When we consider that at any time with a high wind prevailing, a fire might gain such headway as to get beyond control, and would destroy property worth many thousands of dollars, we realize that the cost does not enter into the question as much as the protection of the property." Here was open acknowledgement, but it did not result in an endeavor to improve the situation; and the conflagration was largely due to inadequate and poorly enforced building restrictions, and the sufferance of an unsupervised and dangerous "rag district." Such conditions as these referred to in Chelsea are to be found to a greater or less extent in every town and city of the country. The National Fire Protection association can point out the hazards, but it remains for the American municipalities themselves to say if our present disgraceful and profligate national fire waste is to continue.

Why Colds are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by all druggists.

BETTER BREAD THAN

MOTHER USED TO MAKE!

Which is only another instance of what lovers of a good article really think of Buster Brown bread. Yet high sounding praise is not as convincing as a personal trial. We want you to try our bread, eat it, sleep on it and think on it. You will then say that it's better than mother used to make.

Seeing Them is a Good Deal Better Than Reading About Them

Examine our shoes critically. Handle their uppers, bend the soles, look at the lining, insoles, heels and toes, try them on and judge their style and comfort; compare our prices with what you have been paying or are asked to pay somewhere else, and then you will be able to decide intelligently whether it is to your interest to buy our footwear. We are here six days out of every week, anxious to show our goods and willing to abide by your decision.

THE FUNDAMENTAL ISSUE

There has always been in each Campaign a Paramount Issue; and in this Campaign it is the two Candidates. There is another issue, and Dr. Lyman Abbott of "The Outlook" calls it the Fundamental Issue—the question of Labor and Capital. These really should be no enemy between the two for the one could not exist without the other. Labor and Capital should have an affinity for each other. May we not look forward to the day when the Laborer will be the Capitalist, and when the evils of industrial wars will be known only as past history?

We are now making an advance sale on Christmas Toys. Also other goods. These Christmas Toys are made in Germany; in the people's homes. The makers of these toys have worked at the art all their lives. Their fathers and mothers and grandparents before them made toys. These poor toy makers earn about 30c a day. That would be small wages for an American laborer, wouldn't it? But you are benefited by this cheap labor to the extent of being able to buy handsome toys at a very low price. More than that our toys were bought at a discount this year and we are going to give our customers the advantage of our purchase. We have the very latest things in toys and by getting them now you have first choice and prices just as reasonable. We bought some of other Holiday Lines at even bigger bargains than we bought the toys, and in these lines, as well, we believe in giving our customers the benefit when we purchase a bargain.
