EARLY HEAVY RAINING BRIGHT BALMY WEATHER TODAY

Taft and Hughes Running Strong in New York State but Believed Bryan Will Carry City--Democratic Candidate Expresses Usual Hope of Election--Spending Day Quietly at Home--Taft Has Throat Treated, Says He Feels Good and Will Vote Late Today.

STRAIGHT TICKETS PREDOMINATE AND VOTERS SPEND VERY LITTLE TIME IN POLL BOOTHS

Illinois Casting One of Heaviest Votes in History--Two Thirds of Registered Votes Cast in Chicago Before Eleven O'clock--National Capital Watching Contest With Great Interest--Officials Absent From Their Desks--President at Oyster Bay--Voted at 9 O'clock.

New York, Nov. 3.—From throughout the entire country reports of the progress of the election indicate an early and heavy vote. The weather is reported fair everywhere, and everywhere the voters are spending very little time in the booths, which further indicates a majority of straight tickets. The voting is fast.

President Roosevelt cast his vote at Oyster Bay shortly after 9 o'clock. Bryan voted at a country grocery near Fairview and Taft cast his ballot in Cincinnati. The national political headquarters in this city are practically deserted today, and the offices of Mack and Hughes have been closed. The returns are to be received at both headquarters the quiet of the day will be replaced tonight by a flood of activity. The rush will begin when the New York polls close at 6 o'clock.

The early vote in the city was largely for Bryan. At noon, when the business men began to cast their ballots the aspect changed materially but there is no hope of Taft carrying the city. The upstate vote is said to be heavy for Taft and Hughes, the latter running ahead of Chanler in the northern counties heavily.

Taft Will Vote Late. Cincinnati, Nov. 3.—Mr. Taft will vote late this afternoon. After having his throat treated he declared that he felt as good as he did the day before he began his campaign.

Bryan is Very Confident. Fairview, Nov. 3.—Calmly awaiting the verdict of the American people at the polls, which he is confident will at last reward his efforts to fill the presidential chair, Bryan today is buying himself with the ordinary affairs of his home. Telegrams are pouring in on him bringing tidings of a Democratic victory. Observing that the press dispatches say the weather is fine almost everywhere, Bryan remarked: "Inasmuch as I expect a majority of the voters are with me, good weather is good for me." No little satisfaction was felt by the candidate when at noon he was informed that his own precinct is going for him two to one.

Did He Vote It Straight? Election day at Fairview was ushered in with clear skies and balmy weather. Bryan was astir early this morning looking over a mass of telegrams received from different parts of the country giving him assurances of Democratic victory. At 9 o'clock accompanied by J. G. Lyons, his farm manager, Secretary Rose and a correspondent of the Associated Press he drove in a dog cart to Henline's grocery store in the little village of Normal, where he cast his vote. At exactly 9:15 o'clock Bryan deposited his ballot which was No. 43 in the box and as he did so a score of voters in the store removed their hats and offered him their best wishes.

Mr. Bryan appeared to be in good health and laughed and chatted with his companions. He met a number of friends to and from the polling place and exchanged greetings.

Disorder in Missouri Today. St. Louis, Nov. 3.—There was much scratching of tickets in this state today. The indications are for a full vote. Disorder broke out early in St. Louis. One election judge was beaten near a polling place. A score of more arrests for various offenses were made before noon, one of the prisoners being Felix McAdams, the Democratic nominee for the legislature.

Illinois Vote Breaks Record. Chicago, Nov. 3.—Illinois today is

MASSACHUSETTS FOR TAFT. Boston, Mass., 3:45 p. m.—Returns from five towns in Massachusetts give the following results: Taft, 740; Bryan, 221; Hughes, 50. These same districts gave Roosevelt 775 and Parker 257 in the election of 1904.

Vote for President. New York, Nov. 3.—Six election districts out of 3,036 districts in New York state, outside Greater New York, give Taft 2,249, Bryan 1,392, Hughes 37. Those same districts in 1904 gave Roosevelt 2,030, Parker 1,140.

Vote for Governor. New York, Nov. 3.—Six election districts out of 3,036 districts in New York state, outside Greater New York, give Hughes 1,326, Sherman 25. These same districts in 1904 gave Hughes 1,630, Hearst 1,153.

Taft's Majority Grows. Boston, Nov. 3.—Returns for president from ten towns give Bryan 470, Taft 1,571, Hughes 70. These same towns in 1904 gave Parker 598, Roosevelt 1,177.

Washington a Deserted Village. Washington, Nov. 3.—Possessing no vote of its own and yet peculiarly interested in the result of the election, Washington today occupies a position similar to that of a family whose sons go to war on different sides. The capital watches the conflict with intense concern, although not permitted to participate in it. The city is quite deserted by men of prominence.

Following their participation in the campaign on behalf of their colleagues most of the members of the cabinet have gone home to vote. The same is true of a majority of the heads of the bureau, many chiefs of divisions and of an exceptionally large percentage of male clerks. The departments are all open but no one pretends to give very close attention to business.

Big Taft Majority There. Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—The general opinion among those who have followed the political campaign in this state is that the Democrats will make a poorer showing at the polls today than they did two and four years ago. During the week just past the conviction has been growing that Taft will not be far behind the magnificent majority this state rolled up for Roosevelt four years ago. One of the potent factors is that never during the last fourteen years have the Republicans of Wisconsin been so united as they are this year. While it is true that La Follette and his followers are not entirely satisfied with the national platform and are not entirely reconciled, it is equally true that they under the leadership of the senator are working hard for the success of the ticket.

TAFT STILL GOING IN NEW YORK. New York, Nov. 3.—Two hundred and ten election districts out of 3,036 districts in New York state outside of Greater New York give Taft 63,743, Bryan 51,522 and Hughes 90. These same districts in 1904 gave Roosevelt 67,827 and Parker 44,682.

Buffalo, Nov. 3.—One hundred and six districts out of 109 indicate a plurality in the city of 4,570 for Taft and 4,995 for Chanler.

New York, Nov. 3.—Four hundred and nineteen out of 2,025 election districts in New York state, outside of Greater New York give Taft 34,295

SENATOR'S DAUGHTER PLAYS SENATOR'S DAUGHTER ROLE

FOLA LA FOLLETTE.

When Leo Dietrichstein wrote his play, "The Ambitious Mrs. Alcott," he little dreamed that the important role of the senator's daughter would ever be taken by the real live daughter of a real, live United States senator. Miss LaFollette never cared much for society. She believed she could make good on the stage. "All right, go ahead," said her father. That was three years ago. She made her debut under the management of Dietrichstein, her father being governor at that time, and she has been with Dietrichstein ever since.

over Bryan. At the same rate the state outside of New York City will give Taft 176,494 over Bryan. Chairman Woodruff says Taft will carry New York state up to the Harlem river by 200,000.

Democrats Losing in Chicago. Chicago, Nov. 3.—Forty-one precincts out of 1260 in Chicago give Taft 3,448, Bryan 4,031.

PREACHER USED VULGAR LANGUAGE

Fined $300 in Georgia Courts for Insulting Congregation From Pulpit.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 3.—The Georgia court of appeals has affirmed the verdict of guilty against Rev. Walt Holcombe of Carterville, who was convicted of using vulgar language in the pulpit when there were ladies in the congregation and was sentenced to pay a fine of $300 and costs. Holcombe is an evangelist and the son-in-law of the late Rev. Sam P. Jones. Holcombe used the language for which he was indicted in the pulpit of the Carterville Tabernacle while a great revival was in progress. In affirming the conviction the court of appeals says:

"It was not the ribaldry of some low grade comedian in a second-class theater; it was the indecent jest of a minister of the gospel made in a house devoted to the services of God, in the presence of some 3,000 worshippers, aimed at a woman member of the congregation whose excess of adipose tissue happened to attract his attention."

WINS HERO MEDAL AT 15 YEARS

Owatonna, Minn., Nov. 3.—August Hansen, 15 years old, has been awarded a bronze medal and $2,000 in cash by the Carnegie hero commission.

Last November, while a party of school boys and girls were enjoying the first ice of the season, Hazel Shaw and Bertie Borden fell into the river. August Hansen plunged into the icy current and went to the rescue. He reached Miss Borden, but the ice gave way and both fell back into the river.

ITALIAN AIRSHIP LOITERING AROUND OVER ROME

Rome, Nov. 3.—An airship attached to the Italian army circled and maneuvered over Rome today at an altitude of about 2,000 feet and attracted the attention of the entire capital. The airship came from the military balloon house at Bracciano, twenty-six miles from here.

EXPECT A HEAVY VOTE THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY

Everywhere There Are Contests and Voters Will Turn Out Today in Big Numbers.

NEW YORK PREPARES FOR EXCITING TIME

Tonight Will See Big Crowds and Hilarity as Results of the Election Are Announced From Newspaper Offices.

New York, Nov. 3.—With the first gray shadow of approaching dawn, American voters sought today to choose the president of the United States. The early weather reports are favorable and a heavy vote is being cast in every state where there has been a semblance of contest between the two leading parties.

The polls opened throughout New York state at 6 o'clock. The closing hour is 6 o'clock p. m. Shopkeepers along Broadway busied themselves during the morning with the preparation of defense against election night and tarings and revelry which will have reached a magnitude and liberty approached by probably no other city. Carnivals were constructed in front of plate glass windows, all show cases projecting upon the sidewalks were removed, and as far as possible the "demonstrations," as the police express it, for the surging crowds that will pack the famous thoroughfares tonight from Old Trinity, at Broadway street, to Times square at Forty-second street, and beyond.

There was a rush of voters at practically every polling place this morning. Taft was especially popular. To get its votes in early because of fear of complications later in the day, through the operation of the new registering law. The new law requires the voters to write their own names in registering and repeat the signature for comparison on election day.

Questions for illiterate voters were quite extensive. Those questions which result in slower voting than ever before. The upstate returns will undoubtedly be in before the count in many local precincts is fairly under way. Erie county, in which Buffalo is located, and which is usually an index to the national result, will be one of the first counties to announce the results, as voting machines are used.

WILL TESTIFY IN A BRIBERY CASE

Seattle, Nov. 3.—Lieut. Jacob Schick, Tenth Infantry, is here en route to Fort Gibbon, Alaska. He has been absent from the fort on leave since last summer, when charges against him were preferred by Vashon Bros. After he reaches Alaska he will be the chief witness against A. G. Vashon, who will be tried on the charge of attempting to bribe a government official. He will also be the principal in a $50,000 damage suit against Vashon, who has already been indicted and bound over on the bribery charge.

The Vashons and another firm bid on a contract to supply wood to the fort, and Schick, as quartermaster, awarded the contract to the other firm, the lowest bidder. The Vashons, Schick says, wrote to Seattle associates that Schick had jobbed them and charges were preferred against Schick before the war department. The Vashons failed to substantiate the charges.

STEAMER COLLIDES WITH FERRY BOAT

Washington, Nov. 3.—Early today a collision occurred in the Potomac river between the Norfolk and Washington steamer City of Washington and the ferry boat Lackawanna, bound from Washington for Alexandria. One man, Samuel Belanken, a merchant of Alexandria, was killed. The collision is said to have been due to a confusion of signals and the inability on account of the low stage of water to properly handle the ferry boat. The starboard side of the Lackawanna was torn away and the bow of the City of Washington was damaged. The Lackawanna was beached.

A POSSIBLE QUEEN OF ROUMANIA AND HER CHILDREN

Cettinje, Montenegro, Nov. 3.—The inhabitants of Rumania still cherish the hope that some time there will come the uniting of Rumania, Montenegro and Serbia into one state, with the present crown prince of Rumania as the king.

If such a thing should happen, he would get the job more through the popularity of his wife and children, whose pictures are shown here, than by any merits of his own.

GOOD ANDREWS MAJORITY IN BERNALILLO COUNTY

Many Voters Out but Slow Work at Polls--Less Than Half Registered List Voted at 3 O'clock--Republican County Ticket Sure Winner--Democrats Bend Entire Efforts to Help Larrazolo Without Much Success--Andrews Stickers Much in Demand--Old Town for Andrews--Outside Precincts Reported Favorable to Republican Ticket.

At four o'clock this afternoon, the indications were that W. H. Andrews, the Republican candidate for delegate to Congress, would carry this county by a larger vote than was claimed for him by the territorial chairman a week ago.

The local Republican ticket will also be elected. It is difficult to arrive at a basis for forecasting majorities because at four o'clock in the city precincts much less than one half of the registered vote had been polled. A large per cent of those who visited the polls, came with their ballots prepared and folded. Workers at the polls said today, that there was less demand for tickets than for many elections, indicating that the voters had previously made up their minds.

It is believed that there are many scratched ballots. A number of Democrats are using Andrews stickers. There appeared to be opposition in some quarters to Alfred Grunfield, Republican candidate for county commissioner and Jesus Romero, Republican candidate for sheriff. Some Republican tickets appeared with stickers pasted over those two names. It is not believed they were numerous enough to defeat either candidate.

The Democrats paid little attention to their county ticket and left the candidates to rustle for themselves. Their workers spent all their energy towards boosting Larrazolo and there was certainly a good supply of Larrazolo stickers being passed out which were not used.

The Andrews sentiment was a surprise to the Democrats and the indications were that in the city precincts at least, Larrazolo was not in the running.

In the county precincts, indications late this afternoon, were that indications favored the Republican delegates to Congress. At three o'clock, the indications were that many voters would still be in line when the polls closed in the city precincts. From the time the polls opened this morning, the voters were lined up and waiting. So much time was consumed in voting each man however, that some grew tired

1400 For Andrews in Valencia

Los Lunas, N. M., Nov. 3.—Valencia county will give 1400 majority for W. H. Andrews and may 6 better. In Los Lunas Andrews received 111 votes, Larrazolo 2; in Los Lunas Andrews received 61 votes, Larrazolo 1. These are samples of the way the county is running.

STATEHOOD FOR NEW MEXICO

We favor the immediate admission of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona as separate states in the Union.—Republican National Platform.

New York For Taft.

It will only be a few hours at the most before the result of the election being held today, is fully known, unless the counting of the ballots proceeds much slower than in the past. But the chief interest so far as the presidential end of the election is concerned, appears to be in the returns from New York state.

"Tell me what New York does and I'll tell you the rest," is an expression frequently heard from The Kansas City Star at the eleventh hour publishes a brief forecast in which it gives very strong reasons for the belief that New York will go for Mr. Taft. The Star says:

The empire state is certainly maintaining its traditional position as the "pivot state" in national politics. There have been times, of course, when that state was absolutely necessary to the winning candidate. This is not wholly true this year. It does seem that Mr. Bryan cannot win without it but it would be easily possible for Taft to lose New York and still be elected.

But the indications at this time are that Taft will carry the state by a relatively large plurality. In spite of some recentment of the president's policies among a limited number of Republicans, the state of New York has reason to be proud of him, and is proud of him, and his influence in his own commonwealth is very great. Add to this the popular personality of Mr. Taft, his unusual fitness for the office, his fine canvass, and the admirable speeches of Governor Hughes, and the combination becomes still stronger.

But, more than all, the influence of business, in the final analysis, favors Mr. Taft. It was pointed out early in the campaign that the legitimate business interests generally would naturally be for Taft, because of his stability, and the even the predatory combination would prefer a man of sound judgment and practical methods, even if they could not expect any quarter from him, rather than a man from whom they would not know what to expect.

And New York is the biggest business state in the union. It is much concerned about prosperity. The question as to whether Mr. Bryan or Mr. Taft would do more to promote industrial, commercial and transportation enterprise will be a tremendous factor in New York. And for this one reason, regardless of others, it has never seemed reasonable that New York would reverse itself and give its electoral vote to Mr. Bryan.

The Comic Supplement.

In abandoning the use of colored supplements in its Sunday editions, the Boston Herald makes the following comment:

Today the Herald abandons the comic supplement. That abandonment of Sunday newspaperdom has had its day. We discard it as we would throw aside any mechanism that had reached the end of its usefulness, or any "feature" that had ceased to fulfill the purpose of attraction. Comic supplements have ceased to be comic. They have become as vulgar in design as they are tawdry in color. There is no longer any semblance of art in them, and if there are any ideals they are low and descending lower.

Many protests come from the public against a continuance of the comic supplements. Parents and teachers object to them. Most discerning persons throw them aside without inspection, experience having taught them that there is no hope for improvement in these gaudy sheets. The supplements no longer amuse an intelligent public; they serve mainly to depress persons of taste, and distort such growing taste as may struggle for the light in others. The colored comic supplement is the clown of the newspaper establishment. The Herald believes that a great newspaper no longer needs a clown. Perhaps it never needed one, but all newspaperdom seemed to think "the comic" a necessity, and so the colored supplement came into being and acquired the habit of living.

The colored supplements of the newspapers have not kept pace with the steady improvement in the art of illustration. This defect is due to technical and commercial limitations no less than to a poverty of imagination on the part of persons whose function it has been to provide the pictures. While illustration in other branches, in books and magazines and daily papers, has been showing a great advance, the colored supplements have been going backward. The Herald, giving careful consideration to the subject, has arrived at the conclusion that the time has come when, in the interests of the public taste, the "comic" colored supplement should be abandoned.

The American Clothes.

Dr. David Jayne Hill, our Ambassador at Berlin, is simply adhering to a time-honored custom when he appears at public and court functions dressed in the plain black clothes of private life, says the New York Times. Those among our ambassadors who, probably in their desire not to appear too conspicuous in the public assemblages of foreign capitals have so modified the garments of private life as to wear some sort of diplomatic uniform have been governed entirely by their own taste. In wearing knee smocks and gilt braid they have violated no written law. Dr. Hill prefers to abide by old custom. Cable dispatches indicate that he was the most conspicuous person in an audience of gayly uniformed men at a recent state performance of opera.

Undoubtedly simplicity of attire for an ambassador conforms with long popular prejudice in this country. But it must be remembered that our first diplomats were sent abroad when nobody wore plain black, when knee breeches, gay silk waistcoats, gold buttons, and silver buckles were worn by all gentlemen. The plain black represents the stern simplicity of the nineteenth century. Perhaps if the question of putting our diplomats in uniform for state occasions were submitted to a popular vote today in the United States the majority would favor the uniform. As it is, some of our representatives abroad have taken the matter in their own hands, while Dr. Hill prefers to stick to the old custom. The matter is not wholly unimportant, and if the influence of an ambassador is weakened by his appearance in plain clothes amid an assemblage of men in showy uniforms formal government sanction of a departure from the old custom would be wise. Meanwhile Dr. Hill's refusal to wear uniform is commendable.

The Greatest of All.

By 6 o'clock tonight another president will have been elected for four years and thousands of lesser officials will have been chosen to conduct the government all over the country. The campaign has been waged without a stop for the past few weeks and the candidates large and small, have gone on trial before the voters.

Today it is up to the people to decide and in doing so, the voters of this great and rich country, exercise the greatest right in the history of man—the right to govern themselves.

It is to be hoped that every man entitled to vote, will be at the polls today, no matter where he is living. It is to be hoped that there is enough patriotism in every man to make him fully appreciate the power which he has and which the future of his country is dependent upon.

A Missouri woman had her husband arrested because he hit her with a biscuit a few days after they were married. Whether or not he was guilty of assault with a deadly weapon, probably depended upon who made the biscuit.

A whole lot of candidates will sleep the sleep that knows no waking, from a political standpoint after today.

Judging from the new football rules, the casualties on the gridiron this year will break all records.

The Birmingham Herald says this is a quiet campaign. Not in New Mexico.

FRAMES MARRIAGE PROPOSALS FOR BUDOIR DECORATIONS

MARGARETTA DREXEL—PENCIL SKETCH BY THE DUCHESS OF RUTLAND.

London, Nov. 3.—Framing the written proposals of marriage from one's admirers and using them as ornaments for one's boudoir, is the latest fad among the young buds of British society.

Originated by an American girl, the idea has taken strong hold, and it has England's titled gossips by the ears. For many of these fortune-seeking noblemen have obeyed literally the old-time motto: "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Margaretta Drexel, the beautiful young daughter of Anthony J. Drexel and wife of New York, who has amazed English society by going heart-whole through two London seasons, waited upon by a virtual train of courtiers, started the fad. A score or more such proposals decorate her bedroom walls.

And the amusing part of it all is that a comparison of notes, as a result of the new idea, shows that some of the peers have been working overtime in their efforts to capture some one of the many debutantes well endowed with this world's goods. Miss Drexel's career in London society has been brilliant enough to satisfy the utmost desires of the most ambitious. Both the king and queen commented upon her loveliness when she was presented at Buckingham palace two years ago, and ever since she has had peers of every degree constantly in her train of admirers. Scarcely a week passes that rumor does not have her engaged to this or that one.

No picture gives an adequate idea of the young girl's loveliness, because of its ever-varying expression. Her coloring, one of her great charms, is lost in a photograph. It has been the dream of Shannon and Sargeant to paint her, but the willful beauty has not yet found time for the sittings.

Her charm of manner tells more than her actual beauty. In a room you will see her surrounded by a dozen or more men, while other girls of her age will be talking to each other. Yet no one accuses her of being a flirt. She never tries to out-ripar her sex, and for all her success she is extremely popular.

She is much of an idealist, and it would not be surprising if in the end she made a romantic marriage. So devoted to her are her parents that they would hardly make objection to her choice if it entailed her happiness.

DAILY SHORT STORIES

THE MAN WHO LISTENED.

By Weld T. Burdick.

Joe and Tom were fast friends. The attendants at the Blissfield insane asylum said these two inmates were "pals" and pondered at the fact. Tom was big in figure and blustering in style. Joe was small in stature and very quiet in manner. But the secret of their friendship lay in the fact that Tom was a good talker and Joe a good listener. Neither man was violent or progressive in his insanity.

Put one thing which cemented their friendship perhaps more than anything else was their mutual hatred for Keeper Jim Grace.

Jim was of the kind who think every patient is a dog and should be treated as such.

Several times Tom had confided to Joe that some day he feared he would let his temper get the best of him and do up Jim Grace, but Joe had come out of his shell of reserve long enough to caution against such a thing. For the horrors of the prison for the criminal insane was ever before them.

It was winter time and the men working in the stinging January air in the wood lot had been driven harassed and abused until revolt and now they were ordered to return.

The men shouldered their axes and without a word started for the asylum. Tom and Joe were behind and the workers just preceded Jim Grace. They walked single file through a path lined on either side by deep snow banks.

They had gone but a little distance when Grace asked Tom to carry his overcoat which he had taken off.

Obediently Tom reached for the coat, but in doing so the garment slipped from his hand and fell into the snow. With an oath the keeper struck him a stinging blow in the face bringing a stream of blood from his bruised nose.

For a moment Tom was stunned, and then all the hot resentment which had been slumbering for months broke forth, and his glittering blade sank through the skull of the keeper as if bone were but paper. With a groan Jim sank to the path and Tom looked at him unable to think just what he had done. He knew he was mad and that he still hated Grace and he knew he had at last found vent for his hatred, but he could go no further with his thoughts and estimate results.

Not so Joe.

He heard men coming and he looked at Tom standing in the path still dazed. Tom was his friend, the only one he had ever had since his childhood had deserted him.

With a quick bound he pushed Tom headlong into the deep snow, and when the party of keepers reached the scene a moment later they found Tom struggling in the deep drift and Joe standing with his foot on the prostrate form of big Jim Grace, while he brandished his ax in the air and gave vent to language which had never before been heard to pass the lips of peaceful Joe.

The keepers pounced on him and clapped him in irons and marched him to a padded cell. An investigation was made and Tom swore by all that was holy that he had struck the blow; but Joe insisted that he had—and had he not been found almost in the very act?

No others in the party had seen the deed, and the wise doctors decided that Joe was a bad man and should be sent to the dread asylum for the criminal insane and the doors of the place that Tom and Joe had talked about in whispers and dreaded all their asylum lives yawned for the man who listened.

Some Reasons Why

The C

Because The Citizen is a home paper. It is either delivered by carrier at the house or is carried home by the business man when his day's work is done and it STAYS THERE. A morning paper is usually carried down town by the head of the family and hurriedly read.

The Citizen is not read hurriedly, but thoroughly, so that all advertisements receive their share of attention. It presents the store news a little ahead, giving the prospective purchaser time to plan a shopping tour for the next morning.

Wise advertisers patronize The Citizen because they know their advertisements are seen and read at the homes in the evening, and if they are offering something worthy of attention, their ad has accomplished its mission.

I

The Citizen has never given premiums to subscribers, but is subscribed to and paid for on the news merits, showing that its subscribers have money with which to buy what they want from legitimate merchants. These are the people The Citizen invites to your store.

Z

The Citizen employs a man whose business it is to look after your advertising wants. He will write your copy if you wish. If not, he will see that your ads are "set up" to look their best and he will attend to them from day to day.

E

Are you advertising in The Citizen? Your competitors are, and are profiting by it. Do you think conservative business men are spending money where they are not getting results? Get in the swim and watch your business grow.

PLAYING POLITICAL
GAME IN HAWAIIThe Islanders Are Born Politicians
but Conventions Are Harmonious.Honolulu, Hawaii, Oct. 27.—I attended a meeting of a Republican precinct club in Honolulu a short time ago at which plans were being formulated to represent the body at the coming district convention. The experience was interesting and incidentally threw some light on some of the reasons why Hawaii does not have "race problems" in the sensuat Americans of the mainland understand the term.The meeting was attended by upwards of one hundred voters comprising at least three nationalities and various admixtures of them—Hawaiians, Portuguese and Americans, or more properly of American parent-age, since all present are American citizens under terms of the territorial organic act. The chairman is a "native" as persons of Caucasian blood, excepting the Portuguese, are generally spoken of here. He is a man of wealth and influence, the president of one of the leading commercial bodies in the islands, and is the leading spirit in a dozen important business enterprises. Although born in Honolulu, where he has spent most of his life, he is in every way a refutation of the idea that energy and enterprises are antithetical.The secretary of the club, who sat at the end of a long table at the chairman's right, has the dark eyes and olive skin of the Latins. He is a Portuguese, apparently under thirty years of age, and although an immigrant, has spent most of his life in the territory. He has been a representative in the territorial legislature for one term, and is a candidate for re-election. If a good record counts for anything in Hawaiian politics he is certain of realizing his ambition.Before the meeting was called to order the voters present stood about the hall and upon the sidewalk near the entrance, in groups of half a dozen or more, and talked quietly, and joked in tones that would not have attracted comment in a drawing room. At one side and a little apart a quartet of singers with guitars and ukuleles made melody that suggested a moonlight serenade, and contrasted strangely with one's American idea of a political meeting with its noisy talk, smoky atmosphere and blaring brass band.The chairman called the meeting to order with a light rap of his knuki on the table, and by inviting those present to occupy seats in the front part of the hall. When this had been completed with he stated that the roll of the precinct club at the time showed upwards of two hundred names, and invited any present who had not yet joined the club to come forward and subscribe their names. Several persons did so. The chairman then stated that the precinct had a high reputation to maintain, and that it would be unfortunate should there be any dissatisfaction on the part of any person or group of persons. To guard against such a possibility he suggested that a nominating committee be selected to nominate delegates to the district convention, the three nationalities, "naoles," Portuguese and Hawaiians, to be equally represented in the twelve nominees to be named. He explained very carefully and in detail that no one was compelled to support the nominees to be named by the committee, but at the precinct convention might nominate any other persons he chose.All of this was translated in detail
into the Hawaiian tongue as was all other proceedings of the meeting. It was explained, when someone objected to the time required, that while probably all present understood English quite well, the chairman did not care to leave any chance open of some one not understanding the full import of everything that was said.The interpreting was done by a tall young Hawaiian who speaks English perfectly, but in a stilted, grand-iloquent style, and with the peculiar characteristic of the race. He is one of the leading politicians of Honolulu, and may probably be excused if his hat fits a little close, since he has served as a senator in the upper house of the legislature and went to Chicago as a delegate to the Republican national convention last year although he was not seated when Hawaii's representation was limited to two members. He is at present a candidate for the office of first mayor of Honolulu under the new charter by which the city was incorporated by the last legislature.The chairman's suggestion was approved by the body after three quarters of an hour or more of oratory in both English and Hawaiian, and in which every one had a chance to talk. I learned later that the committee named nominated delegates in equal number according to national-ty, and that they were elected without a dissenting vote.It must not be imagined that Hawaii is asleep politically. Hawaiians thrive on politics, and take to it like ducks to water, but when it is remembered that politics any place brings out the worst sides of human nature, especially where different races having franchise privileges are involved, it would seem that Hawaii
has much to be proud of in the progress she has made. At the present time the islands are in fever over the November elections, which are local in so far as national politics are concerned, for being a territory
they have no voice in the elections of the president, but they have a delegate to Congress to elect as well as a part of the legislature and various county and city officials, and there are plenty local issues. Personality of the candidates also enters largely into the matter, especially this year, and there are those who are trying to arouse feeling between the races, and to draw lines according to color but while there is plenty of talk, most of the leaders of all races and parties disavow such attempts and judging from the past racial feeling will play but small part in the end. But one thing that Hawaii is sure of is that there will be no intimidation, coercion or violence whatever happens which hasn't always been true all over the mainland.

SAYS MARRIAGE IS
SUICIDE OF LOVELarge Number of Divorces Prove It, Says Chicago Professor.Chicago, Nov. 2.—"Marriage is the suicide of love," said Prof. Edward D. Monroe, Ph. D., formerly of Stanford university, before the Woman's Literary club of Woodlawn. "The increasing number of divorces each year in America seems to substantiate
this conclusion," said the professor further. A restrained murmur of amusement was heard among the several hundred club women present."In the first place, marriage is entered upon by thousands of foolish and frivolous girls and thoughtless young men, without the least consideration of the question of mental adaptability or of congeniality. Wedding is rushed into, and a few months after the honeymoon the parties concerned come back to their rational senses and realize that there are grave temperamental differences to reckon with.""Before long there appears on the horizon of love's young dream the dread 'affinity.' And most of you realize what that implies. It signifies that the bonds of matrimony will be long and ruthlessly shattered and wind up in the divorce courts."Souvenir Pillows, Hand Made

BE SENT TO MID-
OCEAN BOATSNew York, Nov. 2.—From a pole that went up today on the roof of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel the news of the election will be flashed through the air by wireless tonight to ships on the Atlantic and Pacific that are within 1,000 miles of land.The steamships of twenty-two lines on the Atlantic and of eight on the Pacific will get the results almost as quick as will the crowds in front of the bulletin boards in New York. Far-out over the dark waters of the ocean, the Gulf of Mexico and the great lakes the messages will go flying in every direction.Seated in their cabins the passengers on the transatlantic grayhounds
and the officers on Uncle Sam's warships in many distant seas will receive bulletins as frequently as those sent out on the land telegraph lines. The arrangements are in charge of F. W.
Hance and M. A. Kopperl, of the United Wireless Telegraph company.The station on top of the Waldorf, nineteen stories above the ground,
will use a current of 110 high tension volts which has been transformed into a low tension one of 25,000 volts.
The messages will be transmitted to the nearest shore stations of the wireless and then sent out to sea and up and down the coasts and thence after and across the continent and out over the Pacific.RUSSIANS SEIZE JAPANESE VESSELSVictoria, B. C., Nov. 3.—The seizure of more raiding Japanese sealing schooners at the Russian sealing grounds in the North Pacific is reported by the steamer Montague. The schooner Fuso Maru was intercepted off the rookery at the Russian seal islands on September 6 on her way home from the Behring sea. Two boats with six men armed with rifles were on the beach. The men were engaged in clabbing seals on the hauling grounds when the Russian patrol
ship arrived and seized the schooner,
but in the fog the schooner escaped and the guards afterward found the six men who had been left on the rookery.Another Japanese schooner was caught off Great Santal Island by the Russian patrol cruiser Lieutenant Zusimloff, and was burned by the Russians. The crew deserted the schooner and took refuge in the woods. After a vain chase the Russians returned and burned the ship.
It was feared that the Japanese would be either frozen or starved to death.President and Son Vote.

MRS. BOTKIN MUST SERVE SENTENCE

California Woman Who Gave Out Poisoned Candy Is Refused Clemency.

Unless she applies for further relief to the supreme court of the state or to the supreme court of the United States, Mrs. Cordelia Botkin, convicted of the murder of Mrs. John P. Dunning in August 1898, will be compelled to serve the life sentence which was meted out to her in San Francisco many years ago, provided executive clemency is not shown her before her life's course has been run within the walls of the penitentiary, where she has been fighting for her liberty through the various courts since her conviction. The district court of appeal affirmed the judgment of the lower court, in which she was convicted, and there remain but a few hopeless ways by which she can get back before any higher court again.

The crime for which Mrs. Botkin was convicted was considered at the time as a particularly atrocious one. Enamored of John P. Dunning, who had a wife and family in Dover, Del., she conceived the idea of killing the wife, thinking thereby to secure the full measure of her own desire. According to the verdict found by the jury she purchased a box of candy from a local store, filled the bonbons with arsenic and sent them with a note of love to her victim. The candy reached its destination and two persons were killed by the deadly sweetmeats. But the note was the undoing of the murderer. By expert testimony and other evidence the crime was traced to its origin and Mrs. Botkin was convicted.

ELECTION RETURNS AT SKATING RINK

Bulletins Will Be Received at Several Places for Benefit of Albuquerqueans.

Election returns will be received at the skating rink tonight and announced there as fast as they come in over the wires. The moving picture machine will be utilized after the regular evening program, and bulletins will be flashed on the screen. Returns will be received from both the national and territorial election by telephone and telegraph.

At the Commercial club returns will be received throughout the evening and will be announced between dances. The Elks' club has also arranged for returns for the benefit of members and at the several saloons returns will be received throughout the evening.

GET INCREASE IN PAY.
Washington, Nov. 2.—While the final reports are not yet ready, it is announced that the president and Secretary of the Navy Metcalf have directed an increase in pay of the classified civil service employees at all navy yards and stations. The bureau officials are engaged in ascertaining what funds are available to pay the increase. Clerical employees in the navy yards receive about 40 per cent less salary than clerks in the executive departments of the government. The increase determined upon will be about 10 per cent. A bill will be presented to Congress providing for the additional increase.

Faywood Hot Springs water was awarded first prize at the territorial fair.

LADIES TO IMITATE CITY OF DENVER

Go on the excursion to Denver Thursday evening November 5th. Excursions are requested to meet at the Presbyterian church parlors from which place the trip is started. Police officials from the Presbyterian church will personally conduct this trip and a pleasant voyage is guaranteed all attending. The train is scheduled to leave promptly at 8:15 p. m. on the fifth of November and all wishing to take this beautiful journey will kindly be on hand in order that no one will be left behind. Meals will be served a la carte at the Denver Cafe while the excursion tickets will be sold for the moderate price of "a smile and a dime." Those not wishing to have a good time will please stay away. The preparations for the affair are elaborate and success is assured.

REMAINS OF B. MEYERS ARE LAID AT REST

The funeral of B. Meyers was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the residence and was largely attended by sorrowing friends and relatives. The services were under the auspices of the Masonic order, of which the deceased was a past master. Rabbi Chapman of Temple Albert delivered the funeral address. Interment was made in Fairview cemetery. The pall bearers were E. S. Stover, P. H. Kent, W. P. Fox, A. M. Whitcomb, S. U. Rosenwald and B. O. Jaffa, all members of Temple Lodge No. 6, A. F. and A. M. The deceased was one of the earliest residents of Albuquerque.

MUST LOSE ONE WIFE.
San Francisco, Nov. 2.—The Washington authorities have peremptorily ordered a temporary division in the family of Robert Hu Tung Bosman, the Hong Kong millionaire and polygamist, who recklessly came to this city with both his wives last September and outraged the feelings of the immigration authorities by demanding a landing for himself and his extensive family. Word has come from Washington that Bosman will have to send one of his wives back to China. He has delicately chosen between Mrs. Margaret and Mrs. Clara, and it has fallen to the lot of Mrs. Margaret to be ignominiously deported on the next steamer which sails for the Orient in ten days.

BUSINESS PICKS UP IN FACE OF ELECTION

Report by Government Shows Improvements in Manufacturing Businesses.

Washington, Nov. 2.—A marked increase in activity in the principal manufacturing industries of the country is indicated for the month of September, according to the monthly statement of imports issued by the bureau of manufactures of the department of commerce and labor. A large decrease in the import prices of the principal manufacturers' material as compared with September, 1907, is shown. Hides and skins show an increase in quantity imported of 50 per cent in excess of the corresponding month of last year. Pig copper shows an increase of 25 per cent, crude India rubber 60 per cent, tobacco for manufacturing 50 per cent and fibers 20 per cent. While more raw cotton was imported than in September, 1907, the value of raw cotton imports for September of this year shows a decrease of over 30 per cent. Similar decreases in the import prices per unit of quantity are noted in nearly all articles of importance used in manufacturing.

WOMAN FOUND IN SWAMP PROMINENT AND WEALTHY.
May's Landing, N. J., Nov. 2.—But for the prompt assistance of David Smith, Mrs. Mary Megargee, a wealthy woman residing at the Walker's Forge Mansion, near this place, would have perished in a dense swamp.

Smith had just returned home from work when he heard cries coming from the direction of the swamp. Putting on rubber boots, Smith waded through the swamp and found Mrs. Megargee standing waist deep in water holding on to a tussock. She was nearly exhausted. Smith carried her out of the swamp to a clearing. She said she had taken a by-path to cut off distance. She lost the path and floundered into the swamp.

Mrs. Megargee is well known in Atlantic City and is a great lover of dogs and horses. She enjoys several servants and is reputed to be very wealthy.

WOOL BREAKS OVER YEAR'S RECORD MARK

Fine Territory Staple Brought Sixty Cents This Morning, and Price Still Soaring.

Boston, Nov. 2.—The wool market is active and strong. Today's sale have reached the highest point of the year and the volume of trade is well distributed, and prices continue to move upward. Sixty cents a pound was asked for fine territory staple on the scored basis.

BRIM FULL OF ROMANCE IS THIS ESCAPING GIRL.
Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—Four elopements before she is 17 is the record of pretty Mrs. Florence Dancy according to her mother, Mrs. McKinney. The young woman, her mother told the police, is missing from her home, 445 East Clearfield street as is $110, the disappearance of which was coincident with that of the girl. Mrs. McKinney says Florence was only 14 when she eloped the first time.

DIFFERENCE IN PLATFORMS OF TWO PARTIES

Democrats Would Revolutionize Existing Conditions With Radical Ideas.

The important differences between the Republican and Democratic platforms are on the subjects of the tariff, the trusts, railroads, bank deposits and court procedure.

The Republicans promise tariff revision with allowance for higher cost of labor in America; the Democrats favor a more radical revision.

The Republicans urge larger control over corporations in interstate commerce and fuller publicity; the Democrats have an elaborate plan to prevent concerns from controlling too large a share of the product.

The Republican declaration on regulating injunctions is much less drastic than the Democratic.

The Republicans favor railroad pooling under supervision of the Interstate Commerce commission. The Democrats urge the physical valuation of railroads as a basis for rate control.

The Republicans declare for a postal savings bank. The Democrats desire a postal savings bank only in the event of not obtaining a guarantee fund for bank deposits.

The Republican platform is silent on the question of publicity of campaign funds, income tax and the election of senators by direct vote of the people, to all of which the Democrats commit themselves.

But Mr. Taft has declared for publicity and for an income tax should one prove necessary. He points out, too, that resolutions for popular election of senators have passed the House of Representatives by non-partisan votes.

The two platforms may be summarized as follows:

Tariff. The Republican platform declares for revision of tariff by special session of Congress immediately following inauguration of next president. Duties should "equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industries." A maximum and minimum tariff is favored, to be administered by the president, the maximum to be available to meet discriminations by foreign countries, the minimum to represent the normal measure of protection.

The Democratic platform favors the immediate revision of the tariff by reduction of import duties. Articles entering into competition with trust-controlled products should be placed upon the free list, and material reduction should be made in the tariff upon the necessities of life, especially upon articles competing with such American manufactures as are sold abroad more cheaply than at home; and graduated reductions should be made in such other schedules as may be necessary to restore the tariff to a revenue basis. Existing duties have given to the manufacturers of paper a shelter behind which they have organized combinations to raise the price of pulp and of paper, thus imposing a tax upon the spread of knowledge. The platform insists on the immediate repeal of the tariff on wood pulp, print paper, lumber, timber and logs, and that these articles be placed upon the free list.

Trusts. The Republican platform claims responsibility for the Sherman anti-trust law and favors such amendments as will give to the federal government greater supervision and control over and secure greater publicity in the management of that class of corporations engaged in interstate commerce having power and opportunity to effect monopolies.

Here is the Democratic plank in full: "A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. We therefore favor the vigorous enforcement of the criminal law against guilty trust managers and officials and demand the enactment of such additional legislation as may be necessary to make it impossible for a private monopoly to exist in the United States. Among the additional remedies we specify three: First, a law preventing a duplication of directors among competing corporations; second, a license system which will, without abridging the right of each state to create corporations, or its right to regulate as it will foreign corporations doing business within its limits, make it necessary for a manufacturing or trading corporation engaged in interstate commerce to take out a federal license before it shall be permitted to control as much as 25 per cent of the product in which it deals, the license to protect the public from watered stock and to prohibit the control by such corporation of more than 50 per cent of the total amount of any product consumed in the United States; and, third, a law compelling such licensed corporations to sell to all purchasers in all parts of the country on the same terms, after making due allowance for cost of transportation."

Court Procedure. The Republican party believes that the rules of procedure in federal courts with respect to the issuance of writs of injunction should be more accurately defined by statute, and that no injunction or temporary restraining order should be issued without notice except where irreparable injury would result from delay, in which case a speedy hearing thereafter should be granted.

The Democratic platform declares for jury trial in cases of indirect contempt and adds: "Questions of judicial practice have arisen in connection with industrial disputes. We deem that all parties to all judicial proceedings should be treated with rigid impartiality, and that injunctions should not be issued in any cases in which injunctions would not issue if no industrial dispute were involved."

Railroads.

The Republican platform says: "We approve the enactment of the railroad rate law and the vigorous enforcement by the present administration of the statutes against rebates and discrimination, as a result of which the advantages formerly possessed by the large shipper over the small shipper have substantially disappeared; and in this connection we commend the appropriation by the present Congress to enable the interstate commerce commission to thoroughly investigate and give publicity to the accounts of interstate railroads. We believe, however, that the interstate commerce law should be further amended so as to give railroads the right to make and publish traffic agreements subject to the approval of the commission, but maintaining always the principle of competition between naturally competing lines and avoiding the common control of such lines by any means whatsoever. We favor such national legislation and supervision as will prevent the future over-issue of stocks and bonds by interstate carriers."

The Democratic platform, in a longer plank, calls for the valuation of railroads by the interstate commerce commission for rate regulation; such valuation to take into consideration the physical value of the property, the initial cost of production and all elements of value that will render the valuation just and fair. It would give the commission power on its own initiative to adjust rates. Rebates and passes are opposed.

Postal Savings Banks. The Republican platform declares for the establishment of postal savings banks.

The Democratic platform declares for a guarantee for bank deposits. In the event that this cannot be obtained a postal savings bank is urged.

Other Republican Declarations. On other subjects the Republican platform pledges the party's devotion to the betterment of condition of wage-earners; promises national cooperation on methods of road construction; declares for the enforcement in spirit and letter of the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth constitutional amendments; commends the work for conserving national resources, promises an adequate army and navy; indorses arbitration and The Hague treaties; urges legislation on behalf of the merchant marine; commends the liberal care of war veterans and their widows; promises the extension of the merit system; favors legislation for the public health; favors the establishing of a bureau of mines and mining; urges citizenship for the Porto Ricans and increasing home rule for the Philippines and declares for the immediate admission of New Mexico and Arizona as separate states.

More Democratic Planks.

The Democratic platform pledges anti-election publicity for campaign contributions and declares for a law to restrict the size of campaign contributions and to prohibit gifts from corporations, favors an income tax, the establishing of a department of labor for the cabinet in which shall be included a bureau of mines and mining, urges the upbuilding of the merchant marine without putting additional burdens on the people, favors an adequate navy, declares for the merit system, liberal pensions for veterans and a more efficient health service, demands the popular election of United States senators, desires the admission of New Mexico and Arizona as separate states, urges development of waterways and conservation of natural resources; pledges the party to work for bringing telegraphs and telephones under the interstate commerce commission, favors a pledge of independence for the Philippines as soon as stable government shall be established; demands full territorial right for Alaska and Porto Rico, opposes Asiatic immigration and urges statutory legislation against countries enforcing patent restrictions on the United States.

THE NEW HIRED MAN ON THE FARM

Electricity Does the Chores, Lights the House and Does All The Hard Work.

New York, Nov. 3.—Contrary to most opinions, the methods of farming in this country have been improved and revolutionized until agriculture is little short of an exact science. Each year sees new and successful machines invented to take the place of the old hand drudge on the farm; each year farming becomes more human, with less backache and hard work for the men and women on the farm; each year the conditions of the rural inhabitants of the country are improved with new and better farming machinery, telephones, rural free delivery and better prices for farm produce.

For years the most perplexing problem of farm life has been the employment of suitable labor. Farm hands are very scarce and they must be paid good wages or they will not stay. Modern invention has produced a machine for nearly every disagreeable chore on the farm, but these diverse machines require power—if there is no engine handy then the wheels of these machines must be turned by hand.

And it is right here that science, remembering this eternal worry of the farmer, has stepped in and solved the power question with electrical apparatus and motors just suited for farm work. This new "hired man" never kinks at getting up at 3:40 a. m.; never objects to scrubbing the milk cans and never gets mad and quits the very morning that five acres of hay are ready for the barn. And he will even do the chores at the barn and help about the house at the same time.

An idea of the extent in which electricity is being used in agriculture may be gained from a description of

of the happy homes of to-day is a vast fund of information as to the best methods of promoting health and happiness and right living and knowledge of the world's best products.

Products of actual excellence and reasonable claims truthfully presented and which have attained to world-wide acceptance through the approval of the Well-Informed of the World; not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting and obtaining the best the world affords.

One of the products of that class, of known component parts, an Ethical remedy, approved by physicians and commended by the Well-Informed of the World as a valuable and wholesome family laxative is the well-known Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

A 300-acre electrically operated farm on Long Island. This farm, a portion of which is salt marsh land not cultivated, was for years allowed to grow wild. It was about three years ago that the present owner, a New York gentleman, purchased the property and proceeded to farm it along modern lines. The first thing the new owner did was to wire the house and barns for electricity for light and power. One hundred and sixty electric incandescent lamps were installed about the premises. All the machines about the barns were old, but were easily cleaned up, and by supplying a few missing parts were arranged for belt drive from a countershaft. The feed cutter, root cutter, fodder cutter, fanning mill, grindstone, circular saw, corn sheller, a small drill press and a horse clipper were grouped so as to be driven by one 3-horse power motor. The fact that no two of the large machines were needed at the same time made it possible to use such a small motor.

It cost $3,500 to install the private plant, consisting of a 10-horse-power gas engine, driving a 5-kw. generator. But the yearly cost figured out as low as $550, less than two-thirds of what the owner must have paid to rent electrical power. That $5.00 was made up of, first, interest on investment and depreciation of plant at 12 per cent, $420; and, second, of running expenses for fuel, lubricating oil and minor repairs, $250. There was no cost for labor, because the plant required no expert attention after the quick starting of engine and generator. One could do a full day's work and give the electric hired man, between times, all the attention requisite.

The power plant was installed in an unused one-story carriage shed, located at the western end of the L formed by the linked group of farm buildings. That was about 250 feet from the main building containing the farm machinery and the creamery, but it permitted utilization of a structure otherwise idle.

It was found to be most economical to install a storage battery to provide a continuous supply of current so that the engine need not run all the time, or in case anything happened to the plant.

The new farmer turned loose this current on a churn, electrically driven, and made it grind out, regularly every day, from ten to twelve pounds of butter inside of fifteen minutes.

A serious mistake was made by erecting an 18,000-gallon water tank, with a windmill; when, for $200, a one-horse power electric pump could have been installed which would have been for more simple, reliable and workable.

An automatic refrigerating plant, worked by electricity, was installed that is free from dampness, free from the waste of a single pound of energy, immaculately clean and perfect in its regulation of temperature. With such a refrigerating plant not only is the labor of harvesting and daily hauling of ice eliminated, but the farmer achieves the ideal means of preserving many of his products through periods of low prices until such time as the advance in the markets enables him to sell at the highest rates, often double what he would have received without it.

A small motor drives the bottle-washing machine and the pasteurizing apparatus, and, twice a day, it works the milking machine on two cows at a time and enables one man to attend to two or three machines at once. With a milking machine properly cared for as to the details of cleanliness, not a single germ can possibly invade the milk supply, because, from the time it starts from the udder until it is all in the hermetically sealed pail, not a breath of air comes in contact with it. The incubator and brooder are also heated by electricity.

Electricity sweeps the floors pneumatically, and makes light of that weekly back-breaking job with the broom. It turns the interior of the farmhouse from an oven at 2 o'clock of a summer afternoon into a cool paradise by means of the electric fans, and warms the house in winter by means of electric radiators. It washes the clothes as well, but a good deal more mercifully, than the wet wash laundry. It also does the cooking, ironing, sewing and most of the disagreeable tasks of the kitchen.

Colds and Croup in Children. "My little girl is subject to colds," says Mrs. Wm. H. Serig, No. 41, Fifth St. Wheeling, W. Va. "Last winter she had a severe spell and a terrible cough but I cured her with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without the aid of a doctor, and my little boy has been prevented many times from having the croup by the timely use of this syrup. As soon as he shows any signs of croup I give him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for three or four days which prevents the attack." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

UPWARD TREND IN THE STOCK MARKET

Election of Taft Conceded, Which Makes for Better Conditions in Future.

New York, Nov. 3.—Developments over the last week have favored an upward movement in security values. The election of Mr. Taft is now conceded by Republicans as well as many conservative Democrats; the quarterly statement of the United States steel corporation was even better than anticipated, showing an unmistakable improvement in the iron and steel business and forecasting larger dividends for the common stock next year; there was a resumption of copper buying which carried the volume of business to the highest level established in months; the statement of the American Railway Association showed the number of surplus cars to be not much in excess of 100,000; the Balkan troubles were practically eliminated as a disturbing factor; large contracts for steel and equipment, forecasting a resumption of building and a gradual restoration of confidence were placed. Mr. Bryan's presence in the east was ignored by Wall street.

There are no grounds upon which to base an opinion that stocks will seek a lower level within the next week or so. It would be a poor market to trade in if it did not have its interruptions.

In if it did not have its interruptions. The large interests have been responsible, to a large extent, for the upward movement. They have been the principal accumulators of stocks, and that they will seek to reduce their lines on the strength of a Republican victory seems certain. The stock market will probably respond to the news of Mr. Taft's election, but whether the upward movement will continue for any great length of time after November 2d is open to question.

While the consensus of opinion in conservative banking circles is that the stock market is destined for a setback after the buying movement caused by the election of Mr. Taft, has spent its force, there seems to be no question that prices will ultimately reach a much higher level. It would be strange indeed if an upward movement in commerce and industry was accompanied by an entirely opposite movement in security values. True, the downward swing in stocks began many months before the panic of October, 1907, when prosperity was at its height and new high records in business and earnings were being established by the various corporations. But it will be remembered that at the time the security markets began their downward career, which culminated in the October panic, the business trend had been upward since the latter part of 1904. The big interests, taking advantage of the extraordinary prosperity of the country, were unloading their holdings in anticipation of the culmination of the great expansion in commerce and industry, although few believed that the climax would be a chain of failures affecting scores of banks, railroads and industries in all parts of the country. The decline, perhaps was helped along by hostile legislation, but viewed from the remarkable business pace that had been set, no human hand could have stayed the revolution which forced a change from unparalleled prosperity to utter stagnation which has now been under way a year.

What arguments can be advanced in support of the claims, that with inevitable interruptions, the course of the market will be upward?

First.—Prospects of a more regular money market and the continuation of a federal administration, in which the business interests have confidence, for four years more. While it is not to be supposed that the movement to regulate corporations with the object of weeding out existing evils will be abandoned, there is every reason to believe that the movement will be conducted along lines less chaotic than heretofore, and that there will be no unnecessary breeding of distrust or undermining of confidence.

Second.—A gradual restoration of business to normal conditions, which as a result of more economic operations created by the business depressions, and increased capacity, means the establishment of record breaking earnings by the industrial as well as the railroad corporations.

Third.—A year or more of economy on the part of consumers, which will result in a brisk demand for all classes of products when such a movement does set in.

Fourth.—A thorough housecleaning among certain banking institutions which have been a menace to sound business progress, and the rehabilitation of institutions, industrial, railroad, banking and otherwise, that would have fallen even under a less pronounced financial revolution than that of October, 1907.

The depression of the last twelve months has destroyed none of the country's actual wealth. We continue increasing our mineral production, increasing the capacity of our mills and factories, increasing our agricultural production, extending our railroads, although on a less extensive scale, rehabilitating our weak institutions and in other ways solidifying our business foundation. Under such conditions it will be strange indeed if the country suffered other than temporary stock market reactions such as the one that may occur when the buying movement influenced by Mr. Taft's election has spent its force. We have at least three years of prosperity ahead of us.

Attorney Julius Staab was at the Central high school this morning and made an address to the students, comparing territorial and state governments. He outlined the benefits to be secured from statehood and the advantages a state has over a territory, explaining the issue at stake in today's election to the students in a comprehensive manner.

George R. Caldwell, representing the Denver Republican, is in Albuquerque to write for his paper an article describing the resources and prospects of this community. Mr. Caldwell has traveled over a large portion of the territory, describing different communities, and expects to visit practically every part of New Mexico before he returns to Denver. He will be in the city about a week.

Judge Abbott dismissed the territorial petit jury yesterday afternoon until tomorrow morning. Today he is hearing motions in his chambers, clearing up business which requires his attention alone. Tomorrow morning the criminal docket will be called. The first case on the docket is the case of the territory versus Jack Donahue, charged with murder. This is probably the most important case on the docket and the case of Estlin, charged with murder, is a close second.

Members of the Elks' lodge of this city are invited to be present at the club rooms this evening, at which time "open house" will be kept. Returns of the election will be received by special wire. Lunch will be served and a general good time will be shown all Elks and their friends attending.

The funeral of Mrs. J. S. Yount, 70 years old, who died yesterday morning, will take place from the French-Lowber chapel at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Rev. Hugh A. Cooper of the Presbyterian church will preside. Interment will be made at Fairview cemetery. The pall bearers will be J. M. Moore, A. A. Trimble, E. B. Crisley, W. M. Mornings, G. W. Dexter and D. M. Ferguson. Mrs. Yount had lived in Albuquerque three years and had a large number of friends here who mourn her demise.

YOU have your own ideas about the style of suit you want to wear this fall; you may prefer the double-breasted coat; a good many men like the athletic shape it gives the figure.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

make so many good styles that about all you need to do to get just what you want is to come to us and say what it is. We've got it.

Fine suits in many new, smart, snappy styles; a great variety in the shape of the pockets, the way they're put on; the shape and hang of the coat; a lot of catchy details you'll be interested in. Many good colors to choose from.

Overcoats, too, when you're ready; raincoats, topcoats; all styles. All wool, right tailoring and correct fit.
