FACING INTERVENTION.

It is announced from Washington that conditions between the United States and Mexico are at a most critical stage. The fact that Great Britain and, possibly, other European powers are disposed to back the Huerta regime brings in question again the Monroe doctrine and produces a situation which will admit of no temporizing by this government.

It is reported that a statement is being prepared by the administration which will warn Europe that, as "the nearest friend," the United States will insist upon dealing with the Mexican situation as she may believe best and indicate that no naval demonstration in Mexican waters, to other powers will be tolerated.

Meanwhile, the United States is drifting toward intervention—rather things are drifting in Mexico toward a condition which will make intervention inevitable. Anarchy exists in that country. Huerta has wiped out the last vestige of constitutional government. He has suspended the congress and defied the laws. Everything points to no election to the presidency next Sunday, since Huerta announces that he cannot accept an election. He will remain dictator until he is overthrown.

That the United States cannot recognize such conditions favorably goes without saying. That without recognition by this country, Mexico can borrow no money is equally true. While the tariff on imports has been increased 40 per cent within a short time, the revenues thus derived from the extra taxation will not come near to meeting expenditures. Also, it will increase the burden upon the people and result in more general dissatisfaction with the Huerta rule.

It is quite probable that the United States will recognize the belligerency of the Carranza rebels soon after the battle of Celaya is held. That will enable Carranza to buy arms and ammunition, and the overthrow of Huerta is sure to follow soon; but with such recognition, the United States would probably be held responsible for resulting changes.

But with Carranza as president, peace will not be restored. There will be other ambitious leaders who will want power, and the men who have found it much easier to loot than to work, will make up a formidable force.

The fall of Huerta and the elevation of Carranza will only remove the intervention a step further off. It will solve in question which the Wilson administration must deal with eventually. Order and anarchy are enemies which cannot be reconciled.

When intervention becomes necessary, there will be no more meddling with Mexican affairs than that of police with a mob. If it should become necessary to reach such men as Zapata and Huerta, it will be their fault. We intervened in Mexico once. Then it was polite but ineffective. While Huerta's army gathered on the Rio Grande, Secretary of State Edward advised Napoleon III to call the French troops home. Arms flowed over the border and soon lawful government was restored without the presence of an American soldier. Irresponsible anarchy is a much harder problem than foreign conquest, but it can be solved. In time it will be solved.

ANGLO-GERMAN AGREEMENT.

While the Germans refused to agree to the proposition to build a new shipyard during the next twelve months yet in Berlin there is talk of an agreement to go as far as a limitation in the construction of dreadnaughts, convention in which divide the resources of both countries dangerously.

The Hagedad railroad settlement removes the last outstanding difference between Great Britain and the Kaiser's empire, though other differences could be easily discovered if either country should begin to search for them. But the attitude of Great Britain is defensive, not offensive. The moment Germany assumes a defensive attitude, any possibility of a quarrel ceases.

As a matter of fact the quarrel has ended for the moment, at least. It vanished into thin air during the cannon smoke of the Balkan war. It ceased because the exigency of land defense became paramount, results in the Balkans having altered the balance of power in Europe to Germany's disadvantage.

 Germany now needs assistance of England's naval strength. If she expects England's hostility by building more ships, she will inspire Great Britain to egg on France and Russia—Germany's two actual enemies. One country is on the one side of her and the other on the other side. She is hemmed between the two.

CATTLE ON THE FAIR.

The packers' convention in Chicago recently answered affirmatively the question, "Can New England raise beef?" Experts say the packers are right, and that at present prices meat could be profitably produced on New England farms.

If New England can do it, she ought to. So many other states which can raise beef much more easily than New England. Men familiar with production of beef say there will be little relief from high prices until the small farmer becomes an active producer to the extent of at least two beef steers for sale each year.

The practical problem is how to get the small farmer started and started right on this phase of agriculture. The problem confronts the irrigation farmer of New Mexico as much as it does anywhere in the United States. First of all, there must be investment of sufficient money to start the small farmer on his career of cattle raising in a small way. He will not get into it without some assurance of success. He must see how he can feed at a profit. Part of his feed will have to be shipped in, for cattle to make good beef should have some corn. Corn can be fed in this country, sparingly with alfalfa, only when it can be shipped in in carload lots. Otherwise, feed costs are too high.

BUMPER FOREIGN TRADE.

The foreign trade of the United States never has been in better condition to adjust itself to heavy tariff reduction without serious disturbance. The total for the year is likely to exceed all previous records. In spite of the imports held for the reduction, for the eight-month period there was a reduction of only thirty-one million dollars from last year, while exports for that period increased nearly one hundred million dollars.

With the stimulus of the new tariff law in effect, imports probably will show quite an great increase for the whole year as was shown by exports to October 1.
 But the volume is less important than the character of the trade. The heaviest reductions are on foodstuffs and raw materials which should benefit manufacturing as well as the consumer. The larger part of our exports is of a character to profit by any reduction of the cost of production, either in labor or materials.
 Of more than a billion and a half dollars worth of exports during eight months of this year, half a billion was of completely, and another half billion was partly manufactured goods, including foodstuffs. Imports for the same period were about a billion. The only balance against us is in raw materials.

The administration, before taking him on, is trying to figure out whether Huerta is a linehead or a Diaz. The main question in solving the problem is whether Huerta wrote the statement to the ambassador or had it written for him by Federico Hemandez.

After thinking about it for a long time, Henry Lane Wilson has made public the belief that Secretary Bryan acted without due thought in kicking him out of the Mexican embassy.

A New York actress is going to marry Captain Cyril Patrick Francis William Radcliffe Dugmore, of England. That is a lot to worry about.

CARLSBAD PLANS TO FINANCE GOOD ROADS SOUTH AND EAST

CARLSBAD, N. M., Oct. 24.—On the Colorado first and down the Pecos River into Texas next is the road program of the Carlsbad Commercial club. The road affairs have been placed in the hands of a committee of those who are sticking to the work. Local interest has grown to a surprising extent and money will come from many sources to carry into effect the plans now being prepared.

A few days ago the county road commission, Engineer J. W. Lewis and C. H. McLaughlin, the good roads' leader in El Paso county, took with them the Carlsbad-El Paso route over the Guadalupe mountains to decide on what work was necessary to make this a good highway. A new route was found over the Big Canyon hill, the only difficult point on the route and by making a series of about a mile this hill can be negotiated at a 6 per cent grade, easy enough for any type of wheel. Beyond this hill the road is good, requiring but little work. The highest point on the route is 2,200 feet. The engineer is now at work on plans and when completed, no time will be lost in shaping up this highway.

Carlsbad wants a good road to El Paso and will have it. This road will not in any way interfere with other roads planned to the Rio Grande from other points in the Pecos valley. But Carlsbad is also planning a road south along the valley. This will reach Pecos and eventually connect up with roads to Toyah Valley, San Antonio, Fort Stockton, San Antonio and the Gulf coast.

Dawson With Population of 5,000 Souls Forms a Picturesque Coal Mining Camp

DAWSON, the scene of New Mexico's greatest disaster, is a bit of English New England in the heart of the desert. The mine of the Dawson Coal and Lignite Co. is scattered over a series of fields of highlands in the southern New Mexico topography. A total of eighteen tunnels are taken by the coal miners and their families in the Dawson field.

Dawson is strung along the main street, which answers for a main street. At one end of this canyon is the American settlement with the offices of the company, the stores, the churches and homes of the American officials and foremen. The railroad runs into this American settlement around a curve in the canyon and ends abruptly with the station for a dumping point. From the American settlement to the mouth of the No. 2 mine, the canyon winds its way, dodging to one side to get around the washeries, tipple and screening plant with their black conveyor belts crisscrossing from one building to another. Along the lower edge of the canyon are scattered small and unimproved houses of the native labor, close to the mine mouth—too close when an accident like the cave-in Wednesday afternoon occurs, and the native women, with the mine mouth with the same instinct that makes a horse bolt at a gun, flee to their homes.

To the left of the canyon and forming a background for the scene of the No. 2 tragedy, is the highback and the No. 2 tunnel. Along the lower edge of the canyon, the entrance to the No. 2 mine is on the face of the highback, near the top of the mountain where it slopes off to the canyon level. The entrance is a lateral fault in the opened earth which forms a right angle with the main canyon just beyond the mine mouth. The head of another mountain slopes down to the edge of the canyon and the No. 4 mine mouth opens on the same canyon, as does the fatal No. 2. On the opposite side of the mountain into which No. 2 drifts is the No. 3 mine mouth, which connects with the No. 2 tunnel. The air shaft which pierces the mountain at its apex extends down to the connecting tunnel and pours pure air into it. From the opening of this air shaft Pike's Peak may be seen on a clear day.

The system of mining in use at Dawson is by triple main entries, double cross entries and pillar and reefing. The width of the main and cross entries and air courses is nine feet, the height of the air courses six feet six inches, the average width of the rooms is 24 feet, and the length is 250 feet. The coal is loaded from the rooms to the tipple and from there by electric motors to the surface. The mines are sprinkled by a pipeline system with hydrants at short intervals and there are fire basins on duty all the time to prevent any spread of fire.

The population of Dawson is more than 5,000, of which it is estimated that two-thirds are of foreign birth or extraction. These foreigners are scattered over the fields of the mining district at places convenient to the mines where the men are employed underground.

Three Drills Soon to Be Operating Near Carlsbad
 Extensive Operations Looking to Exploitation of Oil Fields in Lower Pecos Valley Will Be Started.

CARLSBAD, N. M., Oct. 24.—The Carlsbad oil field will be busy in the near future. Senator W. H. Andrews, the president of the Carlsbad oil and gas company, is back from the east and is planning a heavy outfit to start work on holdings eight miles east of town. The preliminaries are completed and the rig is to be put up and set to work at once.

The Comanche company has been financed and will have a rig at work as soon as it can be brought here and set up on holdings east of the Pecos river, about fifteen miles southeast. Well informed local men say that a third rig will soon be at work in the Rocky Arroyo, ten miles west. All through the summer geologists have been quietly slipping in and have pried into every hole and corner from Toyahvale to Toyah, Texas. They have been shy, but every one of these geologists has expressed the firm conviction that the Pecos valley is full of oil of high grade. They have expressed faith in the Carlsbad field and that oil will be found in paying quantities in the locations where rigs are preparing to work. The views of these geologists agree with the report made years ago on the Pecos Valley oil fields by government experts.

NEW YORK STOCKS HAVE IRREGULAR MARKETS

Strong Opening Is Followed by Decided Depression With Recovery and Advance at Closing Hour.

BY HUNTING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE

New York, Oct. 24.—Fluctuations of stocks today were irregular. Opening with an advance, the market fell below yesterday's close and during most of the day's session, made little progress in either direction. The close came with an upward swing in reaction and the market ended the day with material gains. The only definite movement of the day was that of the last hour when the market showed signs of independent strength. Traders accounted for the early advance by referring to the plan for a central government bank, presented by Frank A. Vanderlip, which was reported to have found favor with some members of the senate. The plan was met with uncompromising opposition to this plan nullified the effect of this factor. The new report for foreign trade shown in the semi-annual statement of the Federal Reserve bank, which was published in the morning, was regarded as disappointing.

New Haven reached a low record at 81 1/8, as did the convertible 6's at 104 1/4. Confirmation of the reports that the Pennsylvania was contemplating a huge bond issue, was followed by renewed depression of the stock to 101 1/4, although it did not reach the year's low point. Later it rallied strongly. Rock Island stocks and bonds were buoyant, rising 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 points. Bonds were irregular.

Closing prices were:

country as a whole such favorable conditions had never before prevailed.

Buyers of wheat derived their courage mainly from the fact that seaboard clearances for the week were the largest in ten years. There were also reports that Duluth was doing an active business in Manitoba and durum for export. Buyers, however, maintained their front and were reinforced at the last by statements from country points northwest that spring wheat receipts were likely to be more liberal.

Corn was freely sold on account of the fine weather, oats followed the lead of corn. The principal feature of the day's trade was heavy commission house selling on a mid-season advance.

Offerings of provisions were quite liberal early, but were well taken and the market developed a firm tone. The temporary weakness at the outset was due to a decline in the price of live hogs.

Closing prices were:

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW.

New York, Oct. 24.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:
 Despite irregularities of weather and the natural ebb and flow in trade currents, the volume of distributable trade holds up well, though probably not as large as some weeks ago nor as heavy at some centers as a year ago. In the southwest the disposition is to go carefully. Pacific coast reports also are cheerful.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week are the largest for twelve years, aggregating 8,225,353 bushels, against 6,656,961 bushels last year.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

New York, Oct. 24.—Dun's Review will say tomorrow:
 The business situation continues fairly satisfactory although evidence of reactionary tendency are manifest in certain branches of trade. Cooler weather has stimulated both retail and wholesale distribution of seasonable merchandise.

A better tone is apparent in the copper market.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Best prospects ever known for winter wheat in the United States put the bulls today at a disadvantage. Closing prices were weak, 1-1/4 to 1-1/2 down. Corn showed a net loss of 1-1/2 to 1-3/4. In product the outcome ranged from 1-1/2 to 1-1/2 decline to 1-1/2 advance. Whenever wheat prices bulged a little today, the volume of selling increased to a noticeable extent. Aggravation of the part of the bulls came chiefly from reports concerning the winter crop. Expert opinions were to the effect that taking the

WOULD CAPITALIZE FILM COMPANY AT $50,000

G. P. Hamilton Outlines Financial Plan of Proposed Motion Picture Manufacturing Firm to Business Men.

To a group of ten business men, who met last night at the Commercial club, G. P. Hamilton, former St. Louis Motion Picture company general manager, outlined plans for the organization of an Albuquerque company.

Mr. Hamilton's plan is to capitalize for at least $50,000 with $20,000 paid in. He would require $5,000 at once, $7,000 in three weeks and $7,000 in six weeks, he said. He received encouragement from his hearers.

Speaking of the company as an advertisement for Albuquerque and New Mexico, Mr. Hamilton said that if he had a camera here he could have gone to Bluffton and taken photographs for which there would have been a countryside demand.

He believed also that the most company would have been able to take the pictures to be sent to the San Diego exposition for New Mexico's exhibit.

COUNCIL ADOPTS A LEVY OF 15.73 MILLS FOR CITY

Lower Than Rate Which Aldermen Rescinded, Owing to Increase in Valuation by State Board.

The council last night adopted a levy of 15.73 mills, 1.57 mills lower than the first levy adopted two weeks ago but rescinded last Monday night. The council was able to reduce the levy because of the increased valuation of city property due to the action of the state board of equalization in raising the values on merchandise stores. The valuation for Albuquerque when the council made its first levy was $1,000,000 and now, after the increase made by the state board, it is $1,200,000.

The levy adopted last night not only is lower than the former levy, which was rescinded, but also lower than last year's levy of 16.33 mills. The levy made last night, the council hoped, will raise $338,000. This will be apportioned among these funds:

General fund	$22,745
Water fund	5,500
Park fund	1,500
Library fund	2,250
City hall fund	5,250
Interest fund for 1914	2,000
Interest fund for 1915	3,250
Interest fund for 1916	750
Interest fund for 1917	13,000

The general fund will require $28,280, according to the council's computation, but this fund will receive $56,131 from revenues issued by the city.

The council voted to pay $2,713.67 in quarterly bills in full. It decided to pay only half of the Water Supply company's bill of $2,713.67, half of the Albuquerque Electric Light & Power Co.'s bill of $2,713.67, and half of the Springer Transfer company's bill of $2,713.67.

The council transferred $10,000 from the city hall fund, which had been placed in time deposit, to the credit of the city hall committee. The mayor and city clerk were authorized to issue warrants not to exceed $1,000 on this fund as needed.

The council met in the police court room, owing to the fact that Councilman J. A. Skinner, who was injured two weeks ago when the gallery of the motion picture collapsed, was unable to climb the stairs. The councilman is forced to use crutches.

PASSENGER ON LIMITED ARRESTED HERE BY CHIEF

Chief McMillin yesterday morning arrested M. V. Williamson, a passenger on Santa Fe train No. 3, charged with uttering worthless checks in Las Vegas. Williamson, who is a representative of the Western Sales company, was arrested in Las Vegas some time ago, it is said, on a similar charge made by D. N. Combs, former proprietor of the Hotel Combs. He was released when he paid the check.

HARRIS, THE JEWELER, SELLS TO W. E. DODD, OF BUTTE, MONTANA

Yesterday, W. E. Dodd, of Butte, Mont., purchased the jewelry business of W. A. Harris, corner of Third street and Central avenue, and has taken charge. Roy Dehoff, who is a nephew of the new proprietor, will remain in the city indefinitely, he being understood as to his future.

LOCAL NIMRODS GET THREE DEER ON HUNTING TRIP

Three deer and other game were secured by a party of Albuquerque nimrods, composed of T. N. Lavelle, Frank Quier, M. Nash, Fred Kahnt and John Sloop, who spent the past two weeks in the Mogollon mountains in western Grant county.

Messrs. Nash, Kahnt and Sloop arrived home last night, coming by rail, and bringing the game with them. But two deer were brought back, the third one having been eaten by the hunters while they were in the mountains. The deer brought back are now on display in the show window of Lavelle's grocery store on West Central avenue.

Mr. Lavelle and Frank Quier are expected to return tonight. They are driving overland with a team and wagon.

The hunters had a fine outing, the weather was perfect and game plentiful.

EASTER JURY FAILS TO REACH VERDICT; IS DISCHARGED

Announces Inability to Agree After Nearly Two Hours of Deliberation; Vote Is Unchanged on Final Ballot.

When they reported for the second time that they were unable to reach a verdict, Judge Maynolds of the district court, at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, discharged the jurors in the Easter case.

The case went to the jury at 3:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon and after arguing and voting until 5 o'clock, the jurors filed into the court room with the announcement that they could not agree. Judge Maynolds sent them back for another hour, but at the end of that time they declared they could not reach a decision.

Three verdicts were possible under the court's instructions—rape, attempted assault and acquittal. On the first vote the jurors are understood to have voted seven for conviction of the 34-year-old defendant, on the second charge and five for acquittal, the vote did not change on any of the succeeding ballots, even when they returned to the jury room for the final ballot, it is understood.

JOSE CHAVEZ HELD ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT WITH DEADLY WEAPON

Jose Chavez, a cripple, yesterday was held for the grand jury by Justice Policarpo Sanchez, of Barrios, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Chavez was arrested Wednesday night, charged with firing a revolver, but it was not known until later that a shot fired by him had injured through Pedro Sanchez's trousers leg.

The shooting occurred near the Barrios station. Chavez was driving a buggy and Sanchez was walking. The former called to Sanchez to stop and when he refused, fired at him, according to the evidence presented to Justice Sanchez.

MRS. RIVERS DISCLOSES SECRET

Matter Didn't Prove Experiment After All, and She Now Makes It Public.

Mineral Springs, Ark.—In a letter from Mrs. J. M. Rivers says: "If it had not been for Cardui, the woman's tale, no doubt, I would have been in my grave."

I was sick all the time for 10 years, and took medicines constantly. I suffered terribly. At last, I decided I would just try Cardui on my own book, and kept it a secret. It was certainly a wonderful cure. Since taking it, I have no pain whatever, feeling good, and can wrestle with my 16-year old son. In fact, I don't feel over 16 myself. Am as happy as a lark. When I began taking Cardui I only weighed 107 lbs. Now I weigh 117 lbs. and am going to continue taking Cardui until I weigh 125.

I just can't say enough for Cardui, and I believe it all women who suffer from womanly troubles would take it, there would be more happy homes.

Using Cardui is no experiment. It has stood the most severe of all tests—the test of time. Cardui has been in use for over half a century, and in this time has benefited more than a million women. It is composed of purely vegetable ingredients, which have been found to build up the vitality, tone up the nervous, and strengthen the womanly constitution.

That it has helped others is the best of proof that it will help you. Try Cardui.

S. H. Write to: Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Cardui. Instructions on your case and 41-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper.
