COUNTRY WATERLOGGED WITH WORTHLESS BONDS

Glass-Owen Currency Bill is Attacked by Banker, Who Says Senate is Afraid to Go Contrary to House.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Chicago, Oct. 30.—James W. Hill and Frank A. Vanderlip, the speakers at tonight's banquet of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, each sounded a note of warning to the business interests of the country.

Mr. Hill, whose subject was, "The Road Financing of the Future," declared that the country is waterlogged with bonds. "Confidence cannot be restored," he said, "until the name bond has won back something of its old standard."

Mr. Vanderlip said that congress was in danger of saddling on the country a ruinous policy of flat money. The senate, he said, was hesitating and fearful of doing anything against the wishes of the house. Mr. Vanderlip spoke on the pending banking legislation.

"The fatal defect of the Glass bill," he said, "is that it surrenders the country on a basis of flat currency. The notes proposed are flat notes. They have no reserve whatever provided by the government and they are to be loaned without limit to a number of banks. There is no case in all history where a nation has started on an issue of flat money that the result has not been a complete breakdown of the financial system of that country."

Mr. Vanderlip urged, instead of a regional bank, a single central bank, owned by the people and under government control. Regional banks, he said, were dangerous, as the same climate and crop stresses would affect the entire region, bringing on heavy a strain on the resources of the bank. Competition for reserves among regional banks and forced investment by national banks in regional bank securities, he also gave as fatal objections. The central bank, he asserted, met every objection.

"I believe the intellectual judgment of every member of the senate committee approves such a plan," said Mr. Vanderlip. "Politically, however, some of the members see serious obstacles. The fact that the house is committed to a regional system is a serious obstacle. The disposition of the president not to consider or even discuss any other plan than the Glass-Owen bill is an obstacle. The declaration of the Baltimore convention against a central bank is a difficulty. Were it not for these three things, I have no doubt, the senate committee would be well on their way today toward completing the bill for such a central institution."

"The hope for the removal of these obstacles to sound legislation," said Mr. Vanderlip, "lies in the creation of a public opinion that will be felt by the senate. The force of such opinion will bring about the desired result," he continued. "The senate is intellectually convinced today. They need only to know that the public is convinced. They are fearful of the political situation and afraid to change front after the house has prepared the public mind for a regional system."

"If the senate could be convinced the public wanted a central bank," Mr. Vanderlip concluded, "sound legislation might be had in thirty days."

George M. Hovey, president of the Continental Commercial Bank of Chicago, attacked the bill as likely to have an adverse effect on business. "I feel there are some features in the administration bill so revolutionary and so unnecessary that I fear an attempt to put it through in its present form will have such an adverse effect on the sentiment of the people that it will be reflected in business," he said. "I attack specifically the enforced entrance of national banks into the system through the requirement that they shall furnish the capital and deposits with which to make it a success or have their charters dissolved and which, at the same time, denies them representation on the board of control, an unjust to the banks and contrary to the spirit of Americanism."

"The national banks which did not go in would be forced to liquidate their business within one year. In the liquidation of a national bank, one of the first things necessary is for the bank to deposit with the treasurer of the United States lawful money to redeem its circulating notes. On June 4, 1913, the lawful money in the country was $1,700,000,000.

the banks go to secure that vast sum of money, and failing to secure it what would become of our organization of credit?"

"Instead of a man's word being as good as his bond, his bond is no better than his word."

James J. Hill of St. Paul so described the bond situation in the United States at the banquet tonight which closed the convention of the Investment Bankers' Association, who deal in bonds and who heard him attack what he termed the reckless issuing of this kind of paper without proper security.

"The investor is not sure today of either the ability or the intention of the soliciting borrower to pay at maturity," he said. "The country is waterlogged with bonds. Confidence cannot be restored until the name bond has won back something of its old standard. And that cannot happen until there are limited by moderation, conformity to the value of the security and confined to the margin of safety and the form of credit for which the bond was originally designed."

Frank A. Vanderlip of New York and George M. Hovey of Chicago, admitted that the pending currency bill contained principles of a good currency system, but both asserted they were opposed to it because of objectionable details.

"Eighty per cent of the bill is good," said Mr. Vanderlip, "but an eighty per cent bill is no better than an omelet made with five eggs, one of which is bad."

"I have no desire to defeat this bill. I desire early currency legislation, but not legislation that is bad. Europe is watching the developments and I believe that the proper plan will place us first in the world of finance."

Four members of the new board of governors were the only changes in the bill. The national election, S. R. Fidler of New York, and John E. Hill of Chicago, William West of Philadelphia and Barrett Wendell of Boston, were elected to the board.

Mr. Vanderlip said that congress was in danger of saddling on the country a ruinous policy of flat money. The senate, he said, was hesitating and fearful of doing anything against the wishes of the house. Mr. Vanderlip spoke on the pending banking legislation.

"The fatal defect of the Glass bill," he said, "is that it surrenders the country on a basis of flat currency. The notes proposed are flat notes. WILSON IS WAITING TO BE OFFICIALLY ADVISED AS TO ELECTION

Weeks Will Probably Elapse
Before Results Can Be Definitely Known, as Communication Is Slow.

WHITE HOUSE RETICENT AS TO FUTURE POLICY

Elimination of Huerta Deemed Absolutely Necessary Before
Any Basis of Pacification
Can Be Agreed On.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Washington, Oct. 30.—President Wilson let it be known today that he was waiting for things to take definite shape in Mexico as a result of the election last Sunday and that the United States government would not act until informed in detail of what took place at the polls.

Recently the president, in a note to the Mexican foreign office transmitted by Charge O'Shaughnessy, declared the election of October 26 would be considered constitutional by the United States. How long the United States will wait for the return is not known. It is believed that several days, perhaps weeks, will elapse before the Huerta government, handicapped by difficulties of communication, will be able officially to record the result.

No positive information as to the government's future course was divulged at the White House. The president informed those who discussed the situation with him that he had not decided whether the next step would be made known by words or action. One of the features of a plan he is working on is a formal statement of the aims and purposes of the United States, its stand against the influence of material interests in Latin-American affairs, its devotion to the cause of constitutional government on this hemisphere and its belief that a fair and free election with safeguards and guarantees must be held in order to establish a legal authority in the southern republic. This statement of the government's attitude, already outlined in the president's speeches at Mobile and Swarthmore, in all probability will be communicated to Mexico and a copy of these views transmitted to foreign governments generally as an expression of policy by the Washington administration.

Whether the statement of the government policy will be addressed to John Lind or Charge O'Shaughnessy for presentation to the Huerta administration has not been made known. It has been suggested that future communications may also be addressed in some way to the constitutionalists, thereby recognizing them as a factor in the problem of pacification.

Many conversant with the situation insisted today that any new plan must have as its basis some method of eliminating Huerta before the constitutionalists would consent to taking power of election.

The attitude of the European powers was expected as awaiting the policy of the United States. Inquiry as to whether the foreign governments had assured the United States of their cooperation brought the reply that they had not committed themselves, but at present were not standing in the way of the American government.

Americans desiring to go to Mexico will receive no assistance or encouragement from the administration. This became known today when President Wilson declined to grant the request of Representative Mann, Illinois, republican leader in the house, that the United States company be permitted to send a number of engineers, chemists and other employees to its plantations at Topolampam to buy on the next government supply vessel going down the Pacific coast.

The president informed Representative Mann that there were many applications for transportation on government ships and that to give permission to one would open the way to following the practice generally. Furthermore, the state department had given notice that it would be contrary to the administration's policy to take Americans back into Mexico at a time when there was no in the country had been advised to leave.

It was said tonight that the sugar company would probably send its men to Topolampam by a private vessel. Representatives of the company say crops will be ruined unless the sugar is cut immediately and that the revolutionists are threatening to confiscate the property on the ground that it has been abandoned.

PAINFUL SUSPENSE IN MEXICO AS TO WASHINGTON'S NEXT MOVE

Huerta and Blanquet Ticket
Seems to Have Received a Large Majority of Votes
Cast in Election.

ATTORNEYS ARE NOT AGREED AS TO LAW

Flight of Felix Diaz Has Ceased
To Be Subject of Comment, as His Candidacy Was Never Taken Seriously.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
New York, Oct. 30.—With the election of Huerta and General Blanquet almost a foregone conclusion, according to the official returns, the question as to what Washington proposes to do in keeping the foreign residents and the stability of Mexicans in a state of painful suspense. On the surface, at least, the administration is giving little consideration to the subject, seemingly taking the ground that the Mexican people have declared in favor of Huerta's continuance in the presidency.

Although it is charged openly in many quarters that the maintenance of Huerta and Blanquet, which now are being reported from all quarters where the election terms were observed, were the result of official pressure, there is no possibility of going back of the returns, as it seems established that no other candidate polled nearly enough votes to jeopardize the Huerta-Blanquet ticket.

In view of Washington's previous representations on the subject, the next move of the American government is awaited here with no little misgivings. Many Americans have looked their portable belongings, preparatory to flight, and are facing the possibility of having many of their household effects seized. They express little hope of finding anything left upon their return. The inadequate storage facilities already are overtaxed, and most of those who have their homes in charge of Mexican caretakers as the only alternative.

What the new Mexican congress will do with reference to the election is one undertaking to predict, although the statement made recently by Senator Moreno, minister of foreign affairs, is regarded as reflecting the executive's desire. Senator Moreno asserted that in the event of congress finding a majority of the votes were cast for Huerta and Blanquet, the votes cast for Huerta would be declared void by reason of his inability under the constitution to accept himself and Blanquet would assume the vice presidency and the acting presidency pending the calling of new elections.

Mexican attorneys take issue with the foreign minister on this point, declaring that if General Blanquet is adjudged elected to the presidency it will be for the unexpired six years' term, begun by Porfirio Diaz in December, 1910, and continued by Francisco de la Barra, Francisco Madero and General Huerta, and not for a temporary period, since there would be no occasion for further elections until the regular constitutional election of 1916.

The flight of General Felix Diaz, which never aroused great interest in the capital, presently has ceased to be a subject of comment. His candidacy was regarded by many Mexicans as a mere incident of the campaign and never was taken seriously.

Federico Gamboa, Manuel Colera and David de la Parra appear to have conceded their defeat. It is alleged, however, was placed in the way of their departure.

In the impartial observer it only remains for comment to be reconstructed and announce the election of the administration ticket—this to be followed by Huerta's proclamation, declaring void the votes cast for him.

ITALIAN PAPER THINKS INTERVENTION INEVITABLE

Rome, Oct. 30.—Commenting on Mexican affairs the Tribuna says that if the administration at Washington proceeds further in its interference with other countries, especially Japan, can not remain indifferent.

"If the United States intends actually to insist upon Huerta's abandoning his dictatorship," adds the Tribuna, "it must intervene with military forces."

ATTACKS VALIDITY OF IMPEACHMENT OF SULZER IN U. S. COURT

William H. Moore, Printer on
New York World, Files Remarkable Proceeding in New York on His Own Account.

ACTS SOLELY AS A CITIZEN AND TAXPAYER

Alleges Administration of State
Has Passed Out of Control of People and Into Hands of Small Group of Men.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
New York, Oct. 30.—The constitution of William Sulzer to the high court of impeachment and his removal from office as governor of New York was thrown into the federal courts for review today by William H. Moore, a printer, of this city. In a remarkable petition Moore alleges that the control of the government of the state of New York has passed from the people to a small group of attorneys and that consequently New York is no longer enjoying a republican form of government as guaranteed by the federal constitution.

Moore seeks to have the court enjoin Martin H. Glynn, from continuing any of the functions of governor, based for the restoration of office to Sulzer, attacking the assembly for attempting to limit the power to convene in extraordinary session and pass articles of impeachment, and compels his position with a prayer for an audit of all the state books.

Members of the court of impeachment, Governor Glynn, Attorney General Cary, Secretary of State May and Sulzer himself are named as defendants.

It is charged that the defendants' attempt to file a court of impeachment, "which is a court of impeachment," which William Sulzer was guilty as charged in several of the articles on which the impeachment proceedings were based and that the defendant, Glynn, acting in conspiracy with the other defendants, took the oath of office as governor of the state of New York and wrongfully assumed and is still assuming to exercise all the powers, duties and functions of that office.

The other defendants, the petition says, are using all the power of their offices to maintain Glynn as governor to the exclusion of Sulzer and to induce other officials and citizens of the state to do so.

The legality of the impeachment charges also is attacked. On this point Moore contends that the legislature illegally assumed and attempted to assume the right to remove and displace and passing articles of impeachment.

The state's vast expenditures and many offices attracted the attention of a certain group of politicians who, prior to January 1, 1909, were without control of the group that dominated the activities of the group, he continues, were directed to obtaining control of the public offices of the state.

"To such extent have these elements, interested themselves in obtaining control of the expenditure of money of the state, been successful," Moore says, "that your order and most of the offices of the state believe that the administration of the state on January 1 had passed out and beyond the control of the people of the state into the control of one or more of the best so interested themselves as to obtain together with a small group of other citizens in accord with them in the sole purpose of obtaining control of the money of the state for their own use and benefit and not with any hope, desire or ambition to profit or re-enrich the state in the expenditure thereof."

Moore denied that there was any politics behind his suit. He said that he and his attorney, John Leary, had conceived the idea and submitted the petition to several attorneys who agreed that it had a substantial basis. "If I am in the district court," he said, "I expect to appeal and by the whole impeachment question because the supreme court." He continued Sulzer's declaration that the former governor knew nothing about the suit before it was filed.

Moore has been active in democratic politics and in the laboring union. He never held office, although he was a candidate for appointment to convention called on state labor commission.

The publishers of the New York World said that although Moore was one of their employees they did not know he was to bring the suit and that the newspaper was in no way connected with it.

Leary said tonight he would apply next week for a preliminary injunction in the case returnable in a week or ten days. This he anticipated probably would be denied by the court without prejudice, which would give him an opportunity for an immediate appeal to the United States supreme court.

"The filing of this action at this time," said Mr. Leary, "has no connection with the fact that an election is imminent. It is not a political move. We waited as long as we did to give Governor Sulzer an opportunity to take action on his own initiative. I told him more than a week ago that Mr. Moore contemplated this suit and would withhold it if the governor intended to make any move of his own. Mr. Sulzer said he was in the hands of his attorneys and they had advised him there was no appeal beyond the court of impeachment."

TROOPS EXPECTING SERIOUS TROUBLE WITH RIOTERS ANY MOMENT

Adjutant General Chase Anticipates Outbreak at Aguilar and Has Detachment of Artillery in Readiness.

"SCAB HERDERS" IS TAUNT FOR SOLDIERS

Excitement in Trinidad Increasing and Presence of Troopers on Streets Causes Crowds to Abuse Them.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Trinidad, Oct. 30.—Approaching of violent outbreaks between striking miners and mine guards, accompanied by an attack upon the strikers' camp at Aguilar this morning, caused Adjutant General Chase, in command of the Colorado National guard encamped here, to hold the entire command in the military camp all day.

Frequent trips were made by troops acting under orders from the adjutant general, and a squad of cavalry numbering twenty-five were ordered from Walsenburg today to Aguilar, where possibility of an outbreak appeared to be the most likely. Strikers in the colony there today demanded protection of the state troops, after having been deprived of many guns by the infantry company which yesterday and last night preserved order in the two mine camps.

Adjutant General Chase tonight said that he anticipated trouble at the Aguilar camp before morning. The detachment of artillery today was put in readiness for instant removal to any part of the strike zone. The artillery today took a drill trip toward Ladlow, the most active strikers' camp in the district. All day strikers congregated there to await the arrival of the situation. No arms were in evidence about the camp there today, but none have been surrendered to the state troops from that camp, though guns and ammunition from other sections of the strike zone are arriving by the wagon load. Receipts are being given to individual owners of the central bank weapons, and according to present plans they will be returned to them when the strike shall have been settled.

A troop of cavalry made a trip toward Frederick to intercept a wagon load of arms which was reported traveling eastward in Trinidad. The cavalry returned, however, without having found trace of the ammunition wagon, and it is believed that the wagon guards were informed of the approaching guards and made a detour from the road.

Excitement in Trinidad today increased and the presence of a trooper on the streets was the incentive to strikers to shout abuses upon him and the entire national guard. The members of the militia have been termed "scab herders" by the strikers, who take advantage of every opportunity to speak of them as such.

Late today information was received that the Delagua camp, which was the object of an attack by strikers last night, would again be assaulted before morning. Investigation of the rumor so convinced the mine guards of its truth, that they have left the camp almost at the mercy of the strikers, with only a few non-union miners left behind to defend it.

Adjutant General Chase was informed of the expected attack, and it is believed that in event of its occurrence the cavalry from Aguilar, two miles away, will be ordered to defend the property and the camp's inhabitants.

Because of the lawless acts committed last night in all sections of this part of the strike district, mine employees are using extreme vigilance to prevent its repetition. Militia officers today began an investigation of the explosion at St. Thomas, near Sopris, and the burning of the Colorado & Wyoming railroad trade between Sopris and Primero. No announcement of the progress has been made.

Late today preparations of the militia camp at San Rafael heights had been completed practically, and the camp settled down to face a continuing stay in the district. A tent city has sprung up there with graded company streets and everything possible has been done to assume the inconveniences of camp life to the men who are unaccustomed to it. Tomorrow morning routine of military camp will be established, and troops, companies and battalions will be put through regular drills.

Conferees will be held tomorrow morning. It was announced, between mine operators and the adjutant general relative to the location of troops at mine property. It is known, however, that the adjutant general does not favor placing troops on company property, and he will try to control the situation from the camp at San Rafael heights.

General Chase received a report tonight that about 100 tons of hay belonging to County Commissioner J. H. Aguilar, of this county, was set on fire and completely destroyed on his ranch at Aguilar early this morning. It is thought that the hay was set on fire by strikers who had fired the

RYAN IS DECLARED JUST AS GUILTY AS M'NAMARAS

District Attorney Miller Utters
Scathing Denunciation of Labor Leaders in Hearing at Indianapolis.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Chicago, Oct. 30.—District Attorney Charles W. Miller, of Indiana, upholding the position of the thirty labor leaders convicted in the dynamite conspiracy, before the United States circuit court of appeals, declared today that Frank M. Ryan, now president of the iron workers' union, had been "the real leader of the dynamiting syndicate."

Ryan, who was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment, but was released on bond pending the appeal, was among those in court. Mr. Miller contended that Ryan in effect was the iron workers' executive board and that the board by appropriating money, enabled the McNamaras to carry on the dynamite campaign. The district attorney also asserted that Herbert Hockin, now serving six years in Leavenworth prison, was as guilty as the McNamaras brothers.

"But," said Mr. Miller, "Hockin was not more guilty than Ryan and not more guilty than J. E. Murray, of Salt Lake City, who now appeals for a reversal of his Indianapolis verdict. Then, why is it that Hockin is not appealing? Why is he content with the judgment returned against him?"

"Hockin is the only one of the convicted men who does not join with the others in the appeal."

Mr. Miller denied assertions by counsel for the men that they did not have a fair trial at Indianapolis. He declared that there was no basis for the insinuation he was opposing and that the men had been poorly defended.

Judge Francis E. Baker, after stating from the bench that it simply had been shown that many laws for the protection of life and property had been violated, said he would ask the government to offer proof that the federal government had not reached beyond its jurisdiction and because of the enormity and number of the explosions, had met punishment for crimes punishable by various states. Mr. Miller said such proof would be given before the argument on the appeal was concluded tomorrow.

ECCENTRIC MILLIONAIRE ARRESTED FOR LARCENY

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
San Francisco, Oct. 30.—A charge of grand larceny was placed in the San Francisco court today against Walter McCree, the eccentric millionaire, who fled last Sunday night from a ranch where he was being held as an incompetent. James Callaghan, representing the McCree estate, based the accusation on the appropriation of a horse from the ranch when McCree took his leave. It was explained that the charge was filed merely to insure the millionaire's extradition if his guardian, H. B. McKillop, should be successful in interceding with McCree before he could leave for Europe.

McCree is now on a train bound for Chicago and the officials in that city and New York have been asked to watch for McCree who is believed to have Belgium or South Africa as his objective point.

McCree has been active in democratic politics and in the laboring union. He never held office, although he was a candidate for appointment to convention called on state labor commission.

The publishers of the New York World said that although Moore was one of their employees they did not know he was to bring the suit and that the newspaper was in no way connected with it.

Shafer Begins Training at New Mexico A. C. Manager of Danny Matthews Picks Pierce to Win by Knockout.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Spurring in succession with Aurelio Herrera, Young Kitchel, Young Chas. and Taft, who figured in the "Myrtle of the West" fight, Pierce Matthews, who will meet Harry Shafer next Tuesday night at the Elks' theater, boxed eleven rounds tonight with action fast night at the New Mexico A. C. gym.

Matthews showed the same aggressiveness, cleverness and willingness to take his punishment as he did in his previous fights. The largest crowd ever to occupy the gymnasium for a try-out saw Matthews last night and several of the ringside seat occupants pick him to stop Shafer's ascension. Shafer's friends, on the other hand, while conceding that Matthews will give him a tough battle, do not believe anyone outside the elite circles in platoon has the demerit to stop him.

A feature of last night's program was a two-round bout between Joe Kramer, a feather, who arrived Monday from Denver, and Jack Carson, Director Mark Lee's 100-pound pupil. Kramer wanted to go on the card for next Tuesday night in a preliminary. He did not look like a fighter to Director Lee, but the manager agreed to sign him if he made a showing against Carson. He didn't. Carson dropped him several times. The first round was all that was necessary to give the fans a line on Kramer, but he wanted another chance and Carson went an extra round with him. He failed to reach the standard.

Shafer began gymnasium work yesterday afternoon at the New Mexico A. C. Of course, he did not show his wallop, which has endeared him to local fans. He couldn't be expected to if he intends to train until the eve of the fight. Training bouts between him and Carson are expected.

H. M. Walker of Examiner Says He Has Cleverness on His Side, But Does Not Look Like a Knockout-Out.

Just what the sport writers think of Benny Chavez on the coast and how they figure his chances in his bout next Tuesday night at Vernon, with Eddie Camp, the Pacific coast heavyweight champion, is best shown by the following article from the Los Angeles Examiner, written by H. M. Walker, sporting editor, who is one of the foremost boxing authorities in the country.

"Little Benny Chavez, was wamp of a boy, boxed before several actors (boxing) a few years ago, and a couple of inspired writers looking for local color, a hand to make a heavyweight shudder. "But being a regular fellow, the Mex. paid no attention to the gentleman with pink nose and rimmed around their collar tops, the loud cry of the press agents or the bad character smoked by the literary sleuths. Instead, he took good care of the job on hand, the name consisting of a conscientious effort to knock his sparring mates over the head sense that hides the Doyle jump from the serious gaze of the Vernon pugilist."

"The lad from Wagon Mound, and he refers with as much pride to the New Mexico capital as a New Yorker does his Broadway, is an fast youth we used to know under the name of Attell. Also, he is scientific enough for all purposes and as a whole strikes up as a class member of the clever boxer class. If Benjamin has been over-advertised at all, the puff was at the expense of his fighting powers. It is difficult to see the terrible power in the light of a knockout. His shoulders and arms run too much to the 'skinny shamer' style of boxing."

"Chavez is billed to box twenty rounds with young Eddie Camp before the Pacific Athletic club next Tuesday night. This contrast should cause him to view his immediate future with some foreboding, but, most emphatically, it does not. "Bah" jerked Benny when Camp's name was mentioned. "A nice boy, awful little fellow, but where he too with me? No place. I feel naturally job here in months, in now, in eye, and then lay one on here chin. I had Mrs. Jack Carson, Chicago my friend. I look him twice."

"And by the same line of reasoning Wagon Mound's favorite son expects to make a lifelong friend of E. Camp a few nights hence."

KNOCKOUT MARS IS KNOCKED OUT BY KILBANE

Fight Was Fierce and Feather-weight Champion Was Knocked Down in Second Round; Finish in Seventh.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Cincinnati, O., Oct. 30.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion of the world, knocked out tonight "Knockout" Mars of this city in the seventh round of what was to have been a ten-round bout.

Up to the last round the fight had been very fast with honors even. In the second round Mars scored a clean knockout, but Kilbane rallied fiercely and evened matters by sending Mars to the mat. Both men were bleeding from the second round on.

In the seventh Mars made a rush at Kilbane, who met him with a straight right to the jaw, putting him down for the count. Mars is a youngster who has risen rapidly since he began fighting here a year ago. Kilbane weighed about 135 and Mars 122.

ROSWELL ARRIVES; BOTH TEAMS ARE CONFIDENT

N. M. M. I. Football Squad Invades City for Big Game Today; Varsity Squad Determined on Revenge.

In charge of Captain C. M. Rademacher, chief coach, the football squad of the New Mexico Military Institute, of Roswell, invaded Albuquerque last night for the big game against the University of New Mexico this afternoon at 2 o'clock, up Association park field, and almost immediately went to bed. The Roswell boys were met at the Santa Fe station by a large delegation of university students and local supporters of the N. M. M. I. team. The reception and acknowledgments were vociferous in the extreme, but of short duration, for Coach Rademacher, realizing that his team has a big job before it today, herd the boys off to bed promptly.

Captain Rademacher, of fortitude, and his players, with a few exceptions, delegated the honor of receiving the visitors to the student body, as two strenuous practices yesterday, afternoon and night, and anticipation of the hard fight today had put them in a very receptive mood for Coach Rademacher's suggestion that they "hit the hay early."

COACH RADEMACHER IS NOT OVER-CONFIDENT

Questioned as to his view of the prospects for success, Captain C. M. Rademacher, coach of the Roswell team, said last night:

"Last year we beat the university, 21 to 9, but I do not expect to have such easy going this year. The university team, I understand, has improved considerably. In addition, we have a comparatively new team, only four of last year's regular men being on the team this year. However, I do expect to win. The boys will have to jump into the game clear up to their ears from the very start and fight to the finish. But I know they will do that, and if they do, the University of New Mexico will be mourning the loss of another game to Roswell tomorrow night."

The Roswell line-up, which will open the game against varsity this afternoon is as follows: Center, Runk; guards, Blinn and Ghisla; tackles, Hinkle and Criss; ends, Garst and Garst; quarter, McClure; full, Lutz. The additional members of the squad on the trip are: Goldschlager, Cooper, Peterson, Tolbot and Walton. Hill, Haines, Lusk and Whitlow, cadets, who are not members of the squad, accompanied the team, and are guests at the J. E. Haines home.

The Roswell team that will start the game against varsity today averages slightly over 150 pounds. Coach Rademacher stated last night. The varsity team averages 145 pounds. The teams differ in that varsity's weight is evenly distributed, while Roswell's men show greater variance in poundage.

VARITY DEFEATFUL FOR PREVIOUS DEFEATS

Both Coach Rademacher and Captain Calkins were optimistic but not too confident of victory last night. "Hutch" said: "We have an excellent fighting chance. The boys will have to play the game of their lives to win, but at that, I think we'll win." Captain Calkins, between yards, explained that he was getting ready to turn in early, and upon questioning, said: "The boys are all fit and I think our chances are good. We have simply got to beat Roswell this year. Our fellows all feel that way about it and that spirit will win for us. Our speed will make up for the advantage Roswell has in weight."

The varsity lineup for today's game will stand as announced earlier in the week, with the exception that Probert may start the game at full in place of Balcomb. In such case, Balcomb probably would be used alternately with Probert as was the case in the Indian game last Saturday.

FULTZ EXPECTS NO SERIOUS CONFLICT

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) New York, Oct. 30.—David L. Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' Fraternity, says that the demands of the organization in the form of a pension will be presented to the National commission within the next two weeks and he has every reason to believe the requests will be granted. Fultz says he has learned that the owners, particularly in the big leagues, were inclined to look with favor on such articles of the petition as have been brought to their attention. Little opposition is expected, although trouble may arise from the most unexpected quarters. Fultz was non-committal as to what action would be taken in case of opposition, but indicated he did not expect immediate definite action, since the demands of the players in many parts will have to be passed on by the several bodies in organized ball and incorporated finally in the league constitutions and national agreement. He did not believe, however, the magnates would seek to evade the issue and cause unnecessary delay.

LACK OF DEFENSE IS CHIEF FAULT OF MANY BOXERS

Prominent Ring Stars Made Conspicuous by Battered Faces; Have Ignored Skill to Prove Gameness.

Like all the professional boxers no longer, and there are now many hundreds looking their living by the sport, and you will quickly discern that majority do not care to be studied. The defensive side of the game, their battered faces give ample testimony that they know little of blocking, parrying, slipping blows or foot boxing. Many have started out like the street fighter to show their way to victory, stopping their opponents' blows with their faces, and depending solely on landing a knockout punch. All the while they are receiving damaged ears, broken noses, split lips, lacerated cheek bones and gashes over the eyes, which are invariably opened in each contest.

It is not long before any one can pick out a professional boxer, for half of them carry the earmarks of their craft. Beating like all other branches of sport, should keep pace with the times. There is not a contestant in any other athletic pastime who dares his profession in the face of the public like the boxer without a defense does. It need be that a half player could be picked out of the crowd by a broken finger which had not been properly set. Baseball, like other sports, advanced with the times, and the intelligent player adopted devices for protecting his hands. The scientific side of the game came as a matter of evolution, and the player with the proper manual equipment, soon learned how best to avoid injury.

Professional boxing is a business, just the same as other branches of sport, which have been commercialized. The ring life of the ordinary boxer who has no resources and studies the scientific side of the game is from ten to twelve years. Each man is given as much ring vitality, he can burn it up in five years or make it last fifteen. The scientific boxer who has no defense is lucky if he can make his hands last five years and avoid carrying the scars of his style of boxing the rest of his life.

Battling Nelson leaped into the ring November 29, 1904, when he beat down Young Corbett to San Francisco in ten rounds. This time was then 23 years of age. In seven years he amassed a fortune. With his style of boxing he was the one great exception, for Nelson had little or no defense. What he did possess came to him naturally in his awkward way. The latter is now 31 years old. His hands are gone and his face is disfigured. He is even partially deaf. All of which is the result of being an abject of punishment to the ring without flinching. Nelson was a physical wonder, and it is sheer folly for any struggling to take on boxing as a profession without learning the defensive side of the game and hope to emulate the Dane as a money winner.

PLAYERS' FRAT WILL GET SOME THINGS ASKED FOR

Ban Johnson Says Many of Their Demands Are Reasonable and That There Will Be No Trouble.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Chicago, Oct. 30.—President Johnson of the American League, who returned from a meeting trip in northern Michigan today, said that he, as well as all the other members of the national commission, had received a copy of the players' fraternity demands some time ago and after perusing them carefully, he was of the opinion that a great many seemed reasonable. He thought that an agreement would be reached on most of them at the coming meeting.

HEDGES ISSUES PUBLIC DEFENSE OF HIS ACTION

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) St. Louis, Oct. 30.—In answer to criticism because he has not given George Stovall, former manager of Browns, his release, President Hodges of that club, has made public a letter explaining his stand in the matter. It is that because his team is in need of playing talent he feels justified in holding Stovall for trading purposes. He cites an precedent the fact that when Stovall was deemed as manager at Cleveland, no demand was then made for an unconditional release, and he feels the same situation should hold good now. The letter declares that Stovall drew $7,000 this season as manager and President Hodges states he is willing Stovall should make a deal for his own exchange if it is satisfactory. Stovall in both leagues, except the St. Louis Cardinals, and that Stovall can go to that club if he is willing to play.

Veteran Dan Shannon Dead.

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 30.—Daniel W. Shannon, now a well known ball player, who had been married with the Rochester, Buffalo and Hartford teams in the days of the old Eastern league, is dead at his home in this city, aged 57 years. He managed the Buffalo team when James Franklin was the owner.

BRYAN STUMPS JERSEY FOR GOVERNOR FIELDER

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 30.—William Jennings Bryan made today his second appearance in New Jersey during the present gubernatorial campaign, speaking in behalf of the democratic candidate, James F. Fielder. The secretary made addresses in Penn's Opera house, New Brunswick and Perth Amboy.

"New Jersey occupies a conspicuous position just now in the affairs of the country," he declared. "It is a city upon a hill, a light that cannot be hid—this state which gave to the nation a president who, in the fulfillment of promise and honor in Washington has given the people of New Jersey the first opportunity to stamp him with their approval or disapproval."

CUMMINS ATTACKS TARGET PROGRAM OF DEMOCRATS

Portland, N. J., Oct. 30.—That the tariff bill passed by the democratic congress does not entirely the dollar rate purposes of the majority of men who were commissioned by the people of the United States to make their laws, was the statement of United States Senator Albert B. Cummins tonight in a campaign speech in support of Edward C. Stokes, republican candidate for governor of New Jersey.

Denouncing the progressive, Senator Cummins declared the majority of the voters who constitute the republican party are progressive, and that those now of the third party will be convinced at the next presidential election that the essential reforms for which they stand will be accomplished through the instrumentality of the republican party.

ALLEGED DIAMOND THIEF BEGINS SECOND TRIAL

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Portland, Ore., Oct. 30.—Edmund E. C. Von Klein of Chicago was placed on trial today for the second time for the alleged theft of $2,500 worth of diamonds from Ethel Kaskas of San Francisco, whom he is charged with having duped into a notorious party. The jury in the first trial disagreed.

Mrs. E. Webber of St. Louis, who declares she lost $12,000 in diamonds through her acquaintance with Von Klein, is here to lend her support to the prosecution, but Miss Newcomb, the music witness against the plaintiff, disappeared after the first trial and has not been located.

When the present case is disposed of Von Klein will be tried on another indictment charging larceny.

FORMER SLAVE SENDS POSSUM TO WILSON

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Washington, Oct. 30.—President Wilson received by express today a live, fat possum.

"I am an old slave-time sucker," wrote Joe Forester, of McFarlan, N. C., the sender. "I heard that some one sent you a sweet potato the other day here is an opossum to go with it."

GOHAM'S WASTE OF PAPER AMOUNTS TO MILLIONS

Startling Figures Show That New Yorkers Throw Away Hundreds of Thousands of Tons Every Year.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
New York, Oct. 30.—Father Knickerbocker has just discovered that he is the greatest waste of waste paper in the world. So enormous is the amount which he throws away that there are more than 100 firms in New York engaged in gathering and selling it. Its value is estimated to be greater than the income of any European ruler. At a conservative estimate, at least 10,000 workers—purchasers, drivers, sorters, buyers and exporters—are engaged in this industry throughout the greater city. More than 100,000 tons of waste paper is collected every week—a yearly crop of nearly six millions of tons. The principal factor in this field is the Salvation Army, which for years has collected the old clothes and magazines for the "show" and "cure" taken into his home. Undoubtedly the tons of magazines and newspapers are then and offered to its mission led to the adoption of house to house gathering of waste paper as a means of self-support for the thousands of homeless and jobless men whom the Army undertakes to help to help themselves. In more recent years, realizing the possibilities for profit in the business, the Army has established a number of thoroughly equipped plants in various parts of the city, each one with stables and sorting and baling rooms, and also with living accommodations for its workers.

SILVER CITY MAN INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT, DIES

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Silver City, N. M., Oct. 30.—R. H. Lee, for twenty-two years a resident of Grand county, died last Saturday in a local hospital, from injuries sustained on Sunday, October 5, in an automobile accident. The funeral was held Monday, at Pleasant Allen, where burial took place.

Mr. Lee was one of the pioneer citizens of this section. At the time of his death he was fifty-three years old. He was a native of Champlain parish, Cornwall, England, and came to America twenty-five years ago, settling in Michigan and later in New Mexico. He was in Pleasant Allen, where in addition to mining he was interested in mercantile business. In February, 1909, while in Mesquite a number of years ago, he was injured in an automobile accident. He was in Pleasant Allen, where in addition to mining he was interested in mercantile business. In February, 1909, while in Mesquite a number of years ago, he was injured in an automobile accident.

For the past several years Mr. Lee had been in business in the Huron, where he owned a number of valuable mining claims. He leaves to mourn his death a widow and several children.

OKLAHOMA MAN IS INJURED WHILE HUNTING ON GILA

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Silver City, N. M., Oct. 30.—Sidney Brock, president of the Sidney Brock Dry Goods company of Oklahoma City, Okla., went through an experience while on a hunting trip to the Upper Gila country which, painful and trying as it was, shows that the American business man of today still retains a large percentage of the hardiness, the vitality and fortitude under intense physical suffering of which past generations are the often given credit for a monopoly.

Mr. Brock and a party of friends from Oklahoma City were hunting in one of the wildest parts of the Gila country above the cliff dwellings, on the West Fork when he was kicked by a horse and the bones of his leg shattered. The injury was a very painful one, and a member of the party was sent to summon medical aid while the others constructed a

At this point Dr. Westlake, who had noticed the accident on his way to the city, and the remaining forty-five miles to Silver City was made with greater speed and more comfort. Arriving here the leg was set and placed in a permanent plaster cast and the patient was able to start next day for his home.

Here is what Mr. Brock went through. Leg broken Sunday 9:30 a. m., carried five miles over rough country on an improvised stretcher, rode forty-five miles in a wagon through country which is in many places barely passable with a wagon, strapped to a wooden platform on the back of an auto and carried forty-five miles, arrived in Silver City Tuesday, 2 a. m., home set and leg placed in plaster cast; started Wednesday on a 1,200-mile railroad journey.
