KAISER SCORES FOR THAT JAPANESE ALLIANCE

It Is Against the White Race, Says Emperor, In a Suppressed Interview.

READY AND ANXIOUS FOR EUROPEAN FIGHT

Declares King Edward Has Humiliated Him and He Is Ready to Wage War—Would Join America in War Against Japan.

New York, Nov. 21.—What purports to be "an absolutely accurate and authentic synopsis" of the interview obtained from Emperor William, of Germany, by Dr. William Bayard Hale, and which was withdrawn as it was about to be published in the Century magazine, is printed in The World today. Some of the main points summarized are as follows:

That King Edward, of Great Britain, had been humiliating him for more than two years and he was exasperated because Germany is the paramount power of all Europe and England is trying to neutralize that power.

That he held France in the hollow of his hand and that Russia was of no account since her disastrous war with Japan.

That if a Pan-European war was inevitable the sooner it came the better it would be for him as he was ready for it and tired of suspense.

That Great Britain had been a decadent nation ever since her victory over the Transvaal in an unrighteous cause.

That the Anglo-Japanese alliance was an iniquitous alliance against all the white race. That the only way to counteract this alliance was for Germany and America to act together at an early date or America would have to fight Japan in ten years.

That in the event of a great war England would lose many of her large colonies, especially those in the Pacific ocean.

That all he would take for Germany would be Egypt though he would liberate the Holy Land from the yoke of the infidel.

That the Zeppelin dirigible balloon would give Germany a powerful advantage in the event of war.

Hale Denies It.

"I repudiate absolutely the story which the New York World this morning published, purporting to tell what passed at my audience with the German emperor. It is a pure fabrication from beginning to end, and I so declared to the World reporter who showed it to me before publication."

MURDERER GIVEN FREEDOM BY PRESIDENT

Roosevelt Pardons Miner Who Killed a Strikebreaker at Los Cerrillos Four Years Ago.

Denver, Nov. 21.—Through pardoning John Marino, an Italian coal miner, confined in the penitentiary at Santa Fe, freedom comes to a man whose cause was championed by organized labor throughout the country. The news of the pardon came to John Mitchell, who is attending the American Federation of Labor convention, from Governor Curry of New Mexico. In addition to granting the pardon President Roosevelt urged a thorough investigation of the case.

Marino killed a strikebreaker at Los Cerrillos in 1904 in a scuffle, by stabbing, was convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

JURY WANTS TO KNOW EXACT WORTH OF TOE

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 21.—Two men fighting for damages have plunged the Lake county bar into turmoil. Judge Rether is unable to understand why one man's toes should be worth more than another's.

Andrew Christensen, employed by two Gary contractors, lost all the toes on his right foot when a clutch on a derrick broke and a stone fell on his foot. He sued for $1,000.

While he was employed at the Interstate Mills at East Chicago, a truck crushed two of Andrew Christensen's toes. He wants $5,000. The jurors are trying to determine why one man's toes should be worth $2,500 each and another's $200.

BAD TREMBOR IN MEXICO.

Reports from eleven towns indicated that the quake lasted from 44 to 55 seconds, varying with the locations.

SAYS PETTINE WANTED TO KILL THREE MEN

Sensational Testimony Made by Witness in Murder Trial Today.

"Did Pettine tell you that he intended to kill three men, Benedetto Berardinelli, Caesar Grande and Charlie Grande, but had not been able to get the three of them together?"

This question propounded this morning by Attorney H. B. Ferguson, of the counsel for the prosecution in the Pettine murder case, to Luciano Campanoli, a witness offered by the prosecution in rebuttal, brought all the attorneys for Pettine to their feet with protests this morning at 10:30 o'clock, and the arguments that followed were probably the most heated of the entire trial. The prosecution fought to get the evidence before the jury and the defense made a strenuous effort to prevent it. The prosecution won, however, and Campanoli answered "Yes."

Campanoli, who is a shoemaker at Santa Fe, said that Pettine came to his place after he had secured bond, and told him that he had intended to kill the three men mentioned above but had not been able to get them together. On cross-examination he admitted that Pettine had never been to his place before nor after he told him that he had intended to kill the three men. The defense greatly weakened the statement of Campanoli by showing that there could have been no motive for Pettine making him such a statement. Pettine had no other business at the shoeshop.

Pettine, when put on the stand, was asked the same question but denied making it. He said that he did not know Campanoli previous to the trial, but he knew him now.

On cross-examination, the prosecution attempted to make Pettine tell what he did the day of the killing. It will be remembered that the shooting took place about noon, in a centrally located part of the city but Pettine made good his escape on foot.

District Attorney Clancy asked him where he was before he went to Santa Fe and gave himself up.

"In New Mexico," was the answer.

"What part of New Mexico?"

"In several places."

"Where did you go immediately after the shooting?"

"On the outside, in the open."

"Did you go into hiding?"

"If I was on the road I was running or walking."

The defense apprehended the purpose of the prosecution and objected to almost every question, but the objections were not necessary. Pettine was a very wary witness. He was alive to every movement made by any part of the court. While there were two interpreters, one in Spanish for the jury and one in Italian for Pettine, he was ready to answer every question propounded to him before the interpreters had finished them and listened very closely to what Interpreter Montoya told the jury. He did not tell how he escaped from the city.

The prosecution attempted to show by Pettine that he had been disappointed in love with a daughter of Caesar Grande, a niece of Mrs. Berardinelli, and that the men of the family had prevented him marrying the woman and that was one of the reasons why he killed Berardinelli and probably wanted to kill the Grandes, but could not get the evidence in. Pettine denied that story.

The prosecution offered the testimony of Architects J. L. La Chiere and E. B. Cristy as to the character of Berardinelli.

The case will probably be given to the jury this evening.

HARVARD BEATS YALE IN CLOSE GAME TODAY

The Crimson Team Kicked a Field Goal and Then Held the Blues.

New Haven, Nov. 21.—Harvard won from Yale today in an exciting game in which both the teams were so evenly matched that the result seemed in doubt until the final whistle of the timekeepers. The score was: Harvard, 6; Yale, 0.

The only score was a field goal which was kicked by Kennard in the first half. From the start to the finish it was the most exciting game between the two schools in years. The teams were so evenly matched that there was little choice.

Over 35,000 people gathered to see the game. In the last quarter of a century Harvard had defeated Yale only three times and the prospect of a crimson victory this year brought out a big crowd.

COUNTRY FACES A PAPER FAMINE.

Wisconsin Manufacturers Predict Only Abnormal Weather Will Change Things.

Appleton, Wis., Nov. 21.—Unless all together abnormal weather condition prevail practically throughout the United States between now and the first of next year, this country with in six weeks will face a print paper famine, according to the best judgment of the largest paper manufacturers of Wisconsin. The constant depletion of water power of the stream in paper making districts in both the east and west is adding daily to the threatening aspect. The wood pulp mills of the Fox and Wisconsin river valleys are at present running less than half of their capacity.

DYNAMITE CAP IN STOVE; SCHOOL BOY MAY DIE

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 21.—Unaware of the serious consequences that were to follow, John Quinn aged 12 threw a dynamite cap in the stove at the session of a crowded class room in the San Leandro public school.

An instant later there was a terrific explosion and portions of the stove were sent flying all over the room.

Several fragments struck Edward Oakes, aged 13, who may die of his injuries.

All of the other pupils escaped serious injury. Responsibility for the explosion was fixed through an investigation by the principal, Johnny Quinn confessed he had found the cap, and tried of playing with it had thrown it into the stove, believing it would merely frighten the pupils.

MANILA IS INDIGNANT OVER THE ACTION OF SPERRY

Admiral Refused to Let Sailors Visit City Because He Feared the Cholera.

EXTEND WELCOME TO PACIFIC FLEET

Admiral Herber Lets His Men Room at Will in the City and Big Reception Is Planned in His Honor—Washington Is Told.

Manila, Nov. 21.—Rear Admiral Sperry addressed a letter to Governor General Smith today saying that it had been decided not to grant the men of the Atlantic battleship fleet a leave of absence during the stay of the ships in Manila bay, owing to the presence of the epidemic in Manila and the fact that during the progress of the epidemic a large percentage of the cases had been concealed.

The position of the admiral is bitterly resented. The house to house inspection was resumed yesterday and it is asserted that not a single case of cholera has been revealed, governor General Smith is communicating the facts to the government at Washington.

Admiral Herber, commanding the third division of the fleet, removed all restrictions on his men and hundreds of them fill the streets tonight, being enthusiastically received.

The indignation of the people is being expressed by the fact that the admiral is refusing to let his men and another granting leave without restrictions.

ANOTHER BUSINESS BLOCK TO BE BUILT

Charles Mellini Buys Central Avenue Property and Will Erect Building.

Business property in the central portion of the city still continues to boom and a deal was closed Thursday afternoon whereby the lot formerly owned by Wallace Hesselein of the Standard Plumbing and Heating company, at 410 West Central avenue, was transferred to Charles Mellini, of the Consolidated Liquor company, the consideration being $3,600. The deal was consummated by P. F. McCanna, acting for Mr. Hesselein.

A business block will soon be erected on this ground by the new owner, Mr. Mellini, and while he is as yet undetermined as to whether or not it will be a two or three story brick structure, in all probability a two story one will be erected to correspond with the one soon to be built adjoining it.

TINY ST. PIERRE ISLAND TO JOIN UNITED STATES

GOVERNOR'S HOUSE WHERE AMERICAN FLAG WAS DISPLAYED. MAP SHOWING POSITION OF ST. PIERRE AND OTHER ISLANDS OF WHICH IT IS THE CAPITAL. VIEW OF TOWN OF ST. PIERRE.

Paris, Nov. 21.—The astonishing demand of the people of the French fishing village St. Pierre, Newfoundland, that the United States annex the island, has started French statesmen. France would send out her entire army to protect St. Pierre.

The island is the pivot of French fishing rights on the North American continent. Three times it has been shuttled between England and France. No other flag than these two has ever floated over its roofs until the other, recently, when the folk of St. Pierre marched to the French governor's house, carrying the American flag and shouting, "Give us liberty or give us death."

The tiny island is celebrated as a strategic point.

Before the Spanish-American war Cervera arranged to bring his fleet off St. Pierre to coal and to communicate with France over the direct cable from St. Pierre. Then he intended to go down to Boston and blow the lights out of that city.

The St. Pierre province consists of the small islands of St. Pierre, Miquelon and Langlade. St. Pierre the capital is seven miles long and three miles wide. The other islands are a little larger.

These islands are the last toe-hold of France on the great North American continent, where once she held sway from the gulf to the northern waters.

The city of St. Pierre has 5,000 inhabitants and is like an interior French village. The anti-church movement in France reached St. Pierre when two school teachers were arrested for teaching religion. When they were fined $200 each and their school closed the St. Pierre folk began their demonstration with the American flag.

Report Is Current That Well Known Resident of Las Vegas Is Married.

Mr. Duncan denies that he is a benedict, but the Las Vegas Optic, the paper of Mr. Duncan's home town, says that he is. The Optic says:

"It is currently reported and generally believed, though stoutly denied by the gentleman himself, that Hon. J. S. Duncan of this city stole a march on his friends some weeks ago by being quietly married to Mrs. Louise Smith in Colorado Springs. Mrs. Smith is a former wife of Judson Smith and has resided in Las Vegas for many years. She has a large circle of friends here who have kept her secret faithfully and well. If the fact of her marriage had been revealed to them under the pledge of secrecy."

"Mr. Duncan is a pioneer resident of the Mesquite City. He is prominent in business and political circles at present holding the lucrative office of territorial coal oil inspector. He has also served a term or two in the upper house of the New Mexico assembly. The Duncan opera house is owned by him and he owns other valuable property interests in the city."

"Mr. and Mrs. Duncan were given a surprise party the other evening and are said to have entertained their friends handsomely."

KEEFE WITHDRAWS FROM THE COUNCIL

Longshoreman President Takes Notice of Opposition to Him and Quits—Old Officers Are Easily Re-Elected.

Denver, Nov. 21.—Samuel Gompers was re-elected president of the American Federation of Labor today with only one dissenting vote in the convention. The single dissenter was Charles Jeski, a Socialist representing the Wisconsin Federation of Labor.

After the result of the ballot became known President Gompers thanked the convention and promised to do all in his power for the labor movement. "In the labor movement," he declared, "I live. And I will live to serve it."

All of the members of the executive council were re-elected except Daniel J. Keefe, of the Longshoremen's union, who withdrew in consequence of the opposition to him which resulted from the support he gave to the Republican candidates in the late presidential campaign.

William D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees, and John R. Alpine, president of the National Plumbers' union, were placed in nomination for the eighth vice presidency, to replace Keefe in the council. On the roll call Alpine was elected, the vote being: Alpine, 3,335; Mahon, 6,075.

Treasurer John R. Lennon and Secretary Frank Morrison were re-elected without opposition.

CAN SEE LIFE ON MARS.

Baltimore, Nov. 21.—R. W. Wood, who occupies the chair of experimental physics at Johns Hopkins university, has worked out a mercury telescope by which it is hoped that life, if it exists, may be seen on the planet Mars.

Professor Wood has reported his invention to the National Academy of Science. He refused to make any definite statement as to the future possibilities of the instrument. It is possible, he said, that a mirror fifteen or twenty feet in diameter mounted in the tropics at the bottom of a deep pit might enable people to observe details on Mars and the other planets which cannot be seen with smaller instruments.

STATEHOOD FOR N-W MEXICO"

We favor the immediate admission of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona as separate states in the Union—Republican National Platform.

The Case of Missouri

When Missouri went Republican four years ago it was regarded in the light of an accident and Democracy wasted a lot of breath explaining how it happened. In the recent national election Missouri showed plainly that she has a strong liking for the Republican party, so strong, in fact, that there seems a probability of Republican victory in that state in future years. The St. Louis Globe Democrat puts the situation in the right light in the following language:

Democratic papers give various theories to account for the election of a Republican governor in Missouri and the repudiation of a Republican electoral plurality. Four years ago a large number of Democrats, dissatisfied with the nomination of Parker, kept away from the polls. But this year the Democratic vote came out and Bryan was considered peculiarly a strong nomination in this state. The result is a surprise for the Democrats, who felt absolutely sure of carrying the state, at least on the national ticket. If the Democratic managers in Missouri had not been blind to many signs they would have seen long ago that the state was on its way to the Republican column. The total Democratic vote has not kept pace with the Republican vote or the growth of the state. Its aggregate vote was larger in Bryan's first battle than in his second, and larger in the second than in the third. The Parker year was simply a heavy slump and need not here be taken into the account. A continuous Democratic decline is undeniably proved by the election returns of the last fourteen years.

Missouri has become Republican on the general merit of Republican principles and the party's long record of efficiency. Seeking small special causes is needless. In its geographical position and natural resources Missouri is not surpassed by any like territorial area in the world, and the exercise of common sense must inevitably lead it to choose the most progressive policies. There is humor as well as some truth in the idea that it is only by emigration to Oklahoma or Texas that a Bourbon can be kept from voting for straight in Missouri. But modern tendencies are not favorable to bringing up another community of Bourbons. Old prejudices lose their hold on a generation that has no personal recollection of differences that have passed away. Bourbon politicians fail to grasp this point. In the recent state campaign the first attempt on the Democratic side was to revive civil war and reconstruction strife and to stir up race bitterness. The 700,000 voters in Missouri can no longer be handled on the strength of traditional bitterness.

Missouri is the fifth state in the union in population and likely to gain a higher rank, for its area is greater than that of any of the states that lead it now in the number of inhabitants. Its central location and general advantages point to an eventual immense concentration of people and varied industries. No idea of mystery is connected with Missouri's latest political decision. It is in rational keeping with the circumstances of the case and has been visible on the way for many years. Republican principles and policies, weighed in the light of conscience and reason, furnish a sufficient explanation of the plurality in this state for Taft and Hayley. Depopulating the state is not required to its enlightened advancement in politics. A Bourbon element exists but it is no longer strong enough to deaden thought, ignore fairness and dominate the state, learning nothing and forgetting nothing. Missouri is Republican because it is taking a live interest in live political issues.

This Year's Corn Crop

The final report of the department of agriculture estimates the corn crop for 1903 at 2,642,687,000 bushels. This figure has been exceeded only three times—in 1899, when it was 2,656,440,000 bushels, and in 1906, when it was 2,592,320,000 bushels. Thus it will be seen that this year's crop is above the average of recent years. As prices are higher than they were when those larger crops were harvested, the income of the corn raiser this year will probably be greater than it was in any previous season.

Corn is the country's imperial crop. It brings to the producer more than does any other farm product. For about half a dozen years its farm value has been over $1,000,000,000 annually. For 1907 it was $1,337,000,000. It will go beyond $1,400,000,000 for 1908. There is a close race between hay and cotton for the second place among the crops in aggregate value, with hay often ahead. In 1907 the figures stood at $675,000,000 for cotton and cotton seed and $660,000,000 for hay. Wheat brought $500,000,000 to the farmers for 1907, oats $350,000,000, potatoes, $190,000,000, barley $115,000,000, tobacco $67,000,000, and other products brought in smaller amounts.

As the farming element is still the largest ingredient of the population, and as everybody consumes farm products, large crops have a vital interest for the country. The aggregate of the cereal crops for 1903 will be almost up to the highest figures of the past. The higher prices will bring a bigger income to the farmers than in any previous year. Secretary Wilson a few weeks ago estimated that the value of the farm products of 1903 would be above the $5,000,000,000 mark, which is a higher figure than they ever touched in the past. The favorable crops will be a large element in the country's prosperity. From the beginning of the year the country has been saying that two things would be needed for the restoration of prosperity—good crops and a Republican victory for president and Congress. The country has gained both of them, the latter in a particularly large measure. And the evidences of the approaching prosperity are so numerous that everybody sees them.

Another fond illusion has been shattered. A national lecturer for the Theosophical society recently delivered himself in Chicago of the information that the snakes seen by the drunken men are real. He says that the intoxicated person who sees snakes actually sees them on the astral plane. The drunken state serves to develop the psychic eye and thus objects are seen on the astral plane instead of the physical. The horrors that the intoxicated man sees are perfectly real on the plane that his vision is focused, says this gentleman, and he continues that "it is Karma on the astral plane that is punishing the men for his violation of the law of sobriety. The penalties meted out on the astral plane are as painful as the penalties which men suffer in the material world." All of which is interesting and should be a sufficient warning to men not to get into such a condition that they will get a peek into the astral plane. And all may be thankful that the astral plane is so far removed from the ken of normal folks.

A Philadelphia man has been arrested for making love to his own wife. Doubtless the lady was afraid the man had suddenly taken leave of his senses.

The Dowager Empress of China, that rare old woman, is dead, it seems. She was, perhaps, the greatest exponent of female strenuousness known to her day and time.

Well, the election's over. Let us hear the latest news from Harry Shaw," says a contemporary. The most desperate case noted yet.

A Japanese general predicts a thirty-year war between this country and Japan. That, we believe, is going even Capt. Hobson one or two better.

When it comes to reading the riot act to Mr. Hohenzollern, the German chancellor is perhaps the most unenvied man in the whole world.

"A fashion writer says hats are going out of style," according to the Knoxville Sentinel. Good! Let everybody push!

Here's that horrible problem again: Will Mr. Taft be the twenty-sixth or twenty-seventh president of the United States?

As we understand Chancellor von Buelow, Emperor William will have to be his own Secretary Loeb.

"VOODOO" MADE HIM CONFESS HIS GUILT

Man Accused of Crime Cut His Throat When His Shotgun Went Off.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 21.—Tried by an old "voodoo" oracle, Louis Hursch's inexorable conscience convicted him of the cowardly murder of Sam Haywood.

Hursch was his own executor. Ashen faced, quivering from fear, he cut his throat so desperately that he died without a groan.

Sam Haywood lived on "Doc" Woodson's place, four miles north of Baxter, Green county, in southeast Arkansas. Haywood, his wife, and their brother, Edward, were about to go to bed when he was called to the door of his cabin. He opened the door. There was a flash, a report and a load of shot tore Haywood's left breast. He fell dead.

News of the murder was telephoned to Monticello, the county seat. Justice of the Peace Henry Lewis, deputy Sheriff Tom Piggs and a couple of officers rode to Haywood's cabin, and a coroner's jury was impaneled. No direct clue to Haywood's assassin could be produced, but a report was affixed that Haywood and Louis Hursch had met and quarreled at Dermott, a hamlet near Baxter, last evening. Hursch was arrested but established a perfect alibi.

There was not a particle of evidence of Hursch's guilt. The jury was about to bring in a verdict of "death at the hands of an unknown party." A negro juror, shaken probably by the memory of frightful scenes he had witnessed or which had been described to him, said:

"Judge, your honor, if you want to know the truth; if you want to know if this man put a load of shot in Mister Haywood, bring this man's shotgun here, load it, and fire it."

"If he killed Mister Haywood the gun will sweat blood, just as sure as the devil's after you all."

His fellow negroes on the jury chorused: "Try him by voodoo, judge. Voodoo never lies."

Incredulous, of course, only to gratify his jurors, Justice Lewis said to the deputy sheriff:

"Go ahead, Tom."

Biggs found that Hursch's shotgun was loaded. He fired it in the air; then, with it at his shoulder still turned its muzzle toward Hursch.

His barrel glistened as clean as a bound's foot, but on the very top of the muzzle flecks of rust, which Hursch could never have seen before, shone red in the sunlight.

"It leaks blood," he yelled. He dashed into the log chicken house, whipped out his knife, and cut his throat through the deputy sheriff could jump through the door.

What Would You Do? In case of a burn or scald what would you do to relieve the pain? Such injuries are liable to occur in any family and everyone should be prepared for them. Chamberlain's Salve applied on a soft cloth will relieve the pain almost instantly, and unless the injury is a very severe one will cause the parts to heal without leaving a scar. STELL TRUST WILL BUILD B.G. PLANT

Plans to Erect Steel Car Factory at Cost of $3,000,000 Revival in Business.

Pittsburg, Nov. 21.—The Harriman and Gould interests, as well as the Baltimore & Ohio, the Vanderbilts and the Pennsylvania railroad, have entered into a lively competition at present for the site of the new three-million-dollar steel car plant which is to be erected by the United States Steel corporation.

The corporation has demanded of the roads one thing before it will consider any one of its many sites in the Pittsburg district—that the Pittsburg freight rates be guaranteed to prevail at this plant for many years to come. Even though the plant may be built fifty miles from Pittsburg the same rate as that to and from Pittsburg must be guaranteed.

There is rumor that the plant will be built at Monessen, Pa., in the Monongahela valley, at a point reached only by the Pennsylvania and Vanderbilt lines, thereby cutting off the Wabash and the Baltimore & Ohio.

The corporation has more than a mile of frontage here, and it will be necessary to move a wire mill, but this has been intended for years.

All over Pittsburg district the effect of President Corey's announcement of the intention to spend $5,500,000 is felt. Three hundred additional men have been called to work at the Schoen Steel Wheel company, where $1,000,000 is to be spent in improvements.

About 100 additional men were taken on at Homestead last night, where $1,000,000 more is to be spent.

The Jones & Laughlin independent interests will put many more men at work.

It developed today that the National tube works of McKeesport were placed on full time last week, but that those back of the company did not care to have this made public.

The Westinghouse Electric company has been forced to place two of its big departments on double time, and expects to put more of them on this time during the week.

The Carnegie Steel company announces that it will blow in two more blast furnaces not later than December 1.

The Republic Iron & Steel company announces that tomorrow morning every furnace it owns in both the north and south will be in operation. Several of its large furnaces should be rolled before they are forced into work, but the press of immediate business is such as to compel the owners to fire them.

How to Cure a Cold.

Be as careful as you can you will occasionally take cold, and when you do, get a medicine of known reliability one that has an established reputation and that is certain to effect a quick cure. Such a medicine is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has gained a world wide reputation by its remarkable cures of this most common ailment, and can always be depended upon. It acts on nature's plan, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. During the many years in which it has been in general use we have yet to learn of a single case of cold or attack of grip having resulted in pneumonia when the remedy was used, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

FOR COUGHS AND ALL THROAT AND LUNG TROUBLES.
GUARANTEED SATISFACTORY OR MONEY REFUNDED.

Some Reasons Why

The C

Because The Citizen is a home paper. It is either delivered by carrier at the house or is carried home by the business man when his day's work is done and he STAYS THERE. A morning paper is usually carried down town by the head of the family and hurriedly read.

I

The Citizen is not read hurriedly, but thoroughly, so that all advertisements receive their share of attention. It presents the store news a little ahead, giving the prospective purchaser time to plan a shopping tour for the next morning.

T

Wise advertisers patronize The Citizen because they know their advertisements are seen and read at the homes in the evening, and if they are offering something worthy of attention, their ad has accomplished its mission.

I

The Citizen has never given premiums to subscribers, but is subscribed to and paid for on the news merits, showing that its subscribers have money with which to buy what they want from legitimate merchants. These are the people The Citizen invites to your store.

Z

The Citizen employs a man whose business it is to look after your advertising wants. He will write your copy if you wish. If not, he will see that your ads are "set up" to look their best and he will attend to them from day to day.

E

Are you advertising in The Citizen? Your competitors are, and are profiting by it. Do you think conservative business men are spending money where they are not getting results? Get in the swim and watch your business grow.

ARIZONA WILL HAVE A STRONG LINEUP

Team Which Plays Here Thanksgiving Is Heavy and Fast.

The line-up of the Arizona football team which will meet the University on the gridiron at Traction park Thanksgiving afternoon, has been received by Manager Lee of the University, and comprises the following players:

Ernest Blades, left half; Thomas Rice, right end; George Robinson, fullback; Roderick Bornham, right half and captain; Carl Duffey, center; M. Carpenter, left end; M. Rutherford, tackle; E. Behr, manager and guard; L. Callaway, guard; B. R. Hatcher, quarterback; H. Andrews, tackle; and R. Rose, R. Williamson, Guy Wilkey, L. C. Branta, R. Milton and D. L. Waddell, substitutes.

This afternoon the University boys are playing the Las Cruces team in the latter city and the boys are confident that they will return to this city victorious.

While much speculation as to the outcome of the Arizona-New Mexico game on Thanksgiving day afternoon is going on, it is not the opinion of local enthusiasts, who claim to know, that the University boys of this city will be defeated, although Arizona will be represented by one of the strongest aggregations ever brought to this city. All indications tend to show that an extraordinary large crowd will view the game and the seating capacity of the new bleachers being built expressly for the occasion will be taxed to the utmost.

Arizona is already sending out a hard luck story and the Arizona Daily Star has the following concerning the team and its chances:

The football team of the University of Arizona is not in the excellent condition that it was expected they would be by this time. In fact, the squad is in a pretty bad shape just at present. Coach Galbraith is discouraged. In spite of the careful training he has been putting the boys through, the eleven is in no shape to meet the New Mexico huskies at Albuquerque on Thanksgiving day. Two weeks ago the prospect was for a crack team. But the exceedingly hard scrimmages of the past ten days have damaged the team badly and just at present things look blue, to say the least.

Not only were Rolfe, Milton and Grossetta badly disabled, as was reported a few days ago, but some of the strongest men on the squad suffered injuries during the scrimmage that will at least lower very much the grade of their playing the rest of the season. Carpenter, left end, is so lame that his look-for value is in running forward passes will be almost nil. Rose and Duffey, centers, were both in for too many "pile ups" for the good of their position, and Blades, fullback, is suffering from a severe attack of "charleyhorse," as are also Robertson and Burnham at half. Little Woodell, counted on for a great deal on end, had his neck badly twisted in practice Wednesday evening. Andrus at tackle and Callaway at guard are both finding themselves with very short men, due to getting out on the gridiron only a week ago. This is the case also with several of the other men.

Altogether the work of the team has not shown the expected improvement. There has been no slacking up in practice work, but unfortunately the men have been unlucky in scrimmages. The boys are not to blame and the coach has put in excellent work, and it may be that they can yet win the game at Albuquerque.

THIS WOMAN HELPS AMBITIOUS GIRL

She Keeps Child in School at Her Own Expense, by Providing for the Family.

In Albuquerque there is a woman who is a real philanthropist, who, for some mysterious reason, probably modesty, does not care to have the public know the work she is doing.

There is a poor family in the city composed of a sick husband and father, a mother, a son about 17 years old and a girl of 12. The man is too ill to work, and every member of the family has to do his share toward supporting the family. The woman does sewing and washing, and the boy has been working in a grocery store. The girl so far has been kept in school by the others. One day this week the mother sent word to the girl's teacher that she would have to take the child out of school and put her to work. She had to have the girl's wages to help support the family. It doesn't seem that such conditions of poverty could be possible in prosperous Albuquerque but this is one.

Mrs. Tressie Nelson, 609 North 5th Ave., Nashville, Tenn., writes: "As Peruna has done me a world of good I feel in duty bound to tell of it, in hopes that it may meet the eye of some who has suffered as I did. headache, I had backache or a pain somewhere and really life was not worth the effort I made to keep going.

"A good friend advised me to use Peruna and I was glad to try anything, and I am very pleased to say that six bottles made a new woman of me and I have no more pains and life looks bright again."

There are a great many phases of woman's ailments that require the assistance of the surgeon.

But by far the greatest number of such cases are amenable to correct medicinal treatment.

A vast multitude of women have been relieved from the ailments peculiar to their sex through the use of Peruna as prescribed by Dr. Hartman.

He receives many letters from all parts of the country relating to subjects of vital interest to womankind.

Of the vast multitude of women Dr. Hartman treats annually, only a small per cent. of them consider it necessary to write to the Doctor at all.

While it is not affirmed that Peruna will relieve every case of this kind, it is certainly the part of wisdom for every woman so afflicted to give Peruna a fair trial.

ble in prosperous Albuquerque but this is one.

Evidently the news that the girl was compelled to leave school because of reasons with real virtue went further than the teacher, for yesterday a woman called upon the teacher and told her that she would give the destitute family what the girl could earn a week if the girl could be kept in school. The news was carried to the family and doubtless was gratefully received.

YELLOW PERIL HAS ALREADY ARRIVED

Japan and China Are Combining Forces, Says Kurapatkin in Magazine Article.

New York, Nov. 21.—"The results of the premature conclusion of peace at Portsmouth, by which Japan was recognized as the conqueror of Russia on the continent of Asia, will unquestionably be painful, not only for Russia, but for all the powers who have possessions of business interests in Asia. The Yellow Peril, whose appearance has only recently been foreseen, has now arrived."

This astonishing statement is made by Gen. Alexi Kurapatkin, commander of the Russian army during the Russo-Japanese war, in an article from the suppressed history of the war in McClure's Magazine, published today.

"Japan is feverishly augmenting her forces," he says. "China, under the guidance of Japanese officers is forming a numerous army on the Japanese model."

"The twentieth century is bound to bring a terrible conflict in Asia between Christian and non-Christian races."

Gen. Kurapatkin's article is written to prove that Russia might have served to avert this struggle that he foresees by wiping out the Japanese army during the last war. Russia was ready, he says, to do this, with a million and a half men.

"Never, in our military history," he writes, "has Russia sent out forces of such strength as in September, 1905, when we unexpectedly received the fatal news that an agreement between our representative and the Japanese had been reached at Portsmouth."

Gen. Kurapatkin hopes that "with an understanding with European powers Russia will be given an opportunity to use all her armed forces in a fight with Japan, or with Japan and China."

Supporting his statement that Russia could have wiped Japan at the time peace was declared, and that "future historians must say that the victory was assured to Russia," Gen. Kurapatkin says that by August, 1905, the Japanese army was as good as routed.

"More men than Japan's whole standing peace army of 116,000 had been sent to their graves by Russian soldiers. There were over 135,000 Japanese dead. Japan's 315,000 reserves were disheartened; its credit was impaired."

"To all appearances the Japanese were troubled even as to how they could secure ammunition for their artillery."

"Later Russia knocked out, either killing or wounding, 300,000 Japanese soldiers."

"One day a Japanese company in full strength surrendered as prisoners. The southern temperament showed itself among the Japanese in weariness of war. In letters, found on the killed, were found expressions of the weariness of war; and there was news of the heavy taxes which had increased in an extraordinary degree during the war, and the costliness of articles of prime necessity."

"The Japanese could not fail to be worried by the coolness toward their successes which began to be shown by the powers of Europe and America," says Kurapatkin, further summing up Japan's alleged distress because "it was not at all to the interests of European powers to permit a complete victory by the Japanese."

Meanwhile the Russian army has grown in size, enthusiasm, and bravery. Russia had discovered that it was necessary to guard its frontier from European powers; aged men had been weeded out of the army; young men had taken their places.

"It had succeeded in making all the men think that fighting was necessary," says Kurapatkin. "The women will make fun of us," they said to me more than once."

The army of Russia, for the first time since the opening of the war, "was filled to its complement. It had received machine guns and batteries of howitzers; field railways insured the transportation of supplies to the army; telephones and telegraph had at last arrived. The transportation department had been enlarged and the sanitary condition of the army was excellent."

Kurapatkin closes his article by declaring that Russia herself must improve before her army can be any better. A military uniform, now, does not designate valor. The word "general" means nothing. The best men do not go into the army; the higher officers are promoted the less practice they have in commanding troops. Soldiers are not kept sufciently well clad. Too little has been done in the schools to encourage a patriotic spirit.

Gen. Kurapatkin sees hope. "We cannot doubt that Russia, summoned to a new life by her monarch, will speedily recover from her temporary shock."

FOR HER DOG, $100 A DAY.

Paris, Nov. 21.—"One hundred dollars a day is the least that the society woman may spend on her dog's outfit—this is, if she pretends to keep up with the styles," said the leading creator of toy dog fashions in Paris. "Why, one single order given by the late Ogden Belmont some years ago amounted to $400."

"You understand that these fashions, like any others, change each season. Or rather they change to suit the wardrobe of the dog's mistress. This summer dogs wore light-colored broadcloth coats, lined with satin. Of course, there was a pocket for the tiny handkerchief embroidered with the crest of the house."

"Now that winter is coming on, they will put on sweaters. These are my latest creations," she added, displaying a boxful of worsted sweaters, white ones, bordered with yellow, and pink ones with red. "These are intended to match my lady's boudoir, where the dog spends his mornings. In the afternoon he puts on a collar of the same shade as his mistress' dress. However, this season he won't wear collars so much as he has been wearing them or looking at his mistress' picture—these attached to a slender gold chain."

"See, here is something I have just finished for Mrs. Carver of New York." She took up a broad collar of gray leather, thickly studded with seed pearls and pale blue stones. "Naturally the leash is of the same color. When the dog goes out he will be dressed in his pale gray coat with its blue velvet revers. When he goes motoring he has his 'necessaire'—his suit case completely fitted up with rubber shoes, toothbrush, larger brush and comb, sponge and monogrammed towels. If he happens to be a tiny Pomeranian, he is carried in a leather sack."

She showed some sacks of kid and fine Russian leather, all satin lined. One of white suede looked amazingly like a big opera glass case. "You see that in these the pet is quite enveloped, all but his head. If he is larger, he sits at his mistress' side and is wrapped in a traveling cloak. Usually I make these of dark brown material. Madame Anna Gould has just ordered some for her celebrated Blenheim."

"Americans are my principal customers. All the Belmonts and Vanderbilts have their dogs fitted up, for, as I understand, there aren't any firms that make a specialty of dog fashions in the United States. However since the Americans paved the way, the French have been following in their footsteps. At the marriage of Baron Henri de Rothschild he put French bull wore a white kid collar, ornamented with artificial orange blossoms."

STOCKMEN MAKE GRAZING AGREEMENT

Differences Between Cattlemen and Sheepmen Are Adjusted in Wyoming.

Rawlins, Wyo., Nov. 21.—No more forcible demonstration of the value of range control now existing with the national forests of the United States can be found than that afforded by the meeting of the advisory board of the Carbon County Wool Growers' association, which was held at Rawlins, Wyo., October 23, to arrange for the grazing of sheep upon the Hayden national forest during the season of 1937. The Hayden forest is situated in southern Wyoming, a part of it extending into Colorado, and has been one of the important summer ranges of the west. Its open parks and ridges among the timberbelts of particular value for the grazing of livestock.

In past years, before the land in the Hayden forest was placed under administration, numerous conflicts took place between the opposing livestock interests. The sheepmen found that these summer ranges were essential to the welfare of their business, and brought in their sheep in constantly increasing numbers. The cattlemen, who had previously occupied the country viewed these advances of the sheep with disfavor and alarm, and range wars of the most serious character not only threatened but occurred. The rivalry among the sheep owners themselves was also keen, there were long hard races for the choicest ranges, resulting in heavy losses of sheep and in still further clashes.

Under the administration of the forest service conditions have been changed for the better. There are no encounters between the two interests, as both sheep and cattle owners know that they will be protected in the use of the range in which they have an equity, and there is no further necessity for a sheep owner to go on to his summer range before it is ready for use, against his best judgment, in order to hold it against some other sheep man.

In 1906 the woolgrowers of Carbon county, Wyoming, who were users of the Hayden national forest, secured official recognition from the forest service in accordance with the regulations and in the spring of 1907 the advisory board of their association, working in co-operation with the supervisor of the national forest and other forest officials, settled some very important questions of range division, allowances and grazing periods during that year.

This year the services of the board were again requested by the supervisor. It was pointed out that the ranges within the forest were carrying a greater number of stock than they should, with due regard to all interests represented, that a reduction in the number allowed was necessary and that an equitable method of reduction should be established.

The meeting of the board at Rawlins was the result. There the various matters were taken up and discussed, the amount of the reduction was decided upon, a satisfactory sliding scale to be followed in making the reduction in each individual case was established, the grazing periods were changed to conform to the needs of the stock owners while giving attention to the proper protection of the forest interests; changes in sheep driveways or trails were taken up and approved, and the short meeting resulted in a harmonious agreement whereby the stock owners received all consideration requested by them, while the forest interests were fully protected.

Under the old regime such an agreement would have been impossible, for each stockman would have been prompted by his desire for individual gain, rather than by a wish to promote the general welfare of his industry, and his range. The number of stock allowed on the Hayden forest for the season of 1937 is 6,000 head of cattle and horses, and 240,000 head of sheep.

PARSIFAL

One of the most promising signs of late years in connection with the drama is the greatly increased interest shown by the better class of theatergoers in dramatic productions of a semi-religious and religious nature. Among the more notable of this class of plays may be mentioned "The Eternal City," "John the Baptist," "Sign of the Cross," "Mary of Magdalen," "Ben Hur" and "The Shepherd King." Each of these dramas has met with distinct favor, not only because of the beauty and depth of the various themes presented, but because, also, there is no greater or more dramatic material to be gained from any source than that of the Bible. The latest and most successful of all religious dramas seen in this country, although for years past it has been witnessed in Europe, is Richard Wagner's magnificent spectacle, "Parsifal." While there is not a biblical character seen in the production, it is essentially a grandly religious work. It is true there are some sacred objects dealt with, but they are used only as a means to an end, to attain the purpose the author desired, without in any way violating Christian truths or treading upon one's Christian susceptibility. It is simply a great moral drama, conceived and written by a Christian genius, in the effort to reproduce the reverential atmosphere of the original surroundings and in other details, the tradition of Parsifal will be preserved during the engagement at the Elks' theater Tuesday, November 24, except in the commencement time, which has been slightly changed.

Formerly the time of commencement was 7:30, and a two-hour intermission was given for dinner. In the production, it is essentially a grandly religious work. THE MISSOURI GIRL

The unvarying success of Fred Raymond's comedy, "The Missouri Girl," has become proverbial among the theatrical profession, and among the Rialto, or any place where actors collect, you will hear the usual remark, "Hain't he got a gold mine?" The reason is plain; the play is one that creates fun and amusement in large quantities. The company presenting it is composed of the best efforts at all times. Five of the present cast have been successful stars at different times.

"The Missouri Girl," Fred Raymond's famous comedy, which pleased our theatergoers so immensely last year, will play a return engagement at the Elks' theater November 23. This announcement will be hailed with delight by all who enjoy good, clean, homespun comedy and elegant stage settings, as there was once a company that appeared here all last season that gave us universal satisfaction as "The Missouri Girl."

HOOGLIGAN IN NEW YORK

Hooligan made famous by the comic newspapers has been transferred to the stage and will be given a representation on Thanksgiving night, November 26, at the Elks' theater. It is a comedy drama and has been highly satisfactory manner; in fact it is asserted that Mr. Morris' stage version of Hooligan and his adventures is one of the most able, laughable and interesting plays seen in many a day.

And one that would serve anyone well if the hero of the cartoons were not the central figure. A good old company of comedians, singers and specialists are with Hooligan and the entire press whomever they have appeared are unanimous in declaring Hooligan and his coterie of fun-makers an emphatic hit.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Clark M. Carr, of 600 North Fourth street, returned this week from a short visit at Santa Fe.

The ladies of the Degree of Honor entertained last Wednesday evening at a card party in Odd Fellows' hall. Light refreshments were served.

The members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist Episcopal church held a card meeting in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A large number of members were present, and an interesting meeting enjoyed.

The Woman's Home Mission society of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold its regular monthly social at the home of Rev. Leon I. McCain, 402 South Walter street, next Tuesday, November 24, from 3 until 10:30 o'clock. Extensive preparations are being made.

The Royal Highlanders entertained last evening at their second g and ball given in the Elks' ball room. The number of guests attending largely exceeded those of former affairs. The entertainment consisted of dancing while the adjacent room was devoted to other social features. Prof. DiMauro's orchestra furnished the music for the dancing.

Mrs. E. F. Weed, of 215 West Silver avenue, entertained the Woman's Home Mission society of the Methodist Episcopal church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. An especially interesting meeting resulted, among the topics for discussion being "Our Missionaries," and "The Treasury." The meeting was largely attended.

Recital.—On Tuesday evening, December 8, in the Congregational church, the Misses Helen and Clara Davis will give a musical and literary recital. They will be assisted by some of the best local talent. Miss Helen Davis is a graduate of the Columbia College of Expression at Chicago and is an accomplished and entertaining reader. Miss Clara Davis is an expert pipe organist and played at the Presbyterian church during the summer. The entertainment will be one of the best of the coming month.

Club Party.—The largest and most elaborate affair of the year on the Albuquerque Commercial club's social calendar, will be the ball given in the club rooms next Thursday evening, Thanksgiving. The Thanksgiving ball is always made the feature of the year's parties, and the arrangements being made are elaborate. Both large dancing halls will be devoted to the dancing, while Mrs. Cavanaugh's full orchestra will furnish the music. During the evening punch and Tom and Jerry will be served, and at midnight a delightful turkey lunch will be served in the reception parlors. The members of the entertainment committee at work on the arrangements are: Mr. Leon Herzog, chairman; Mr. N. G. McCord; Mr. Jay A. Hubbs and Dr. Robert Smart.

Woman's Club.—The program given at the weekly meeting of the Albuquerque Woman's club yesterday afternoon was in charge of the domestic science department, led by Mrs. Margaret Medler. Parliamentary practice was led by Mrs. George Albright followed by roll call, which was answered by "Soup Recipes." Miss Leslie Keith played several instrumental solos. An excellent talk, "What Constitutes a Good Housekeeper and Home Maker," was given by Mrs. S. E. Newcomer, while "Provable Idleness" was the subject of an interesting paper by Mrs. L. R. Thompson. Miss Elsie Sackett played an instrumental solo. The program concluded with an instructive demonstration of "Pan Roast of Oysters," by Mrs. F. H. Kent.

Entertainment.—Mr. and Mrs. Felix Lester, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Merritt and Mr. and Mrs. Charles White have issued invitations for a German garden party to be given at the skating rink next Monday evening. The invitations number over three hundred, and read: "Won't you come out and play with us in our German garden, Monday evening November 23?"

The rink will be elaborately decorated to represent a German garden, and the guests are requested to wear German costumes. The entertainment will consist of the regular moving picture performance, a musical program, after which the evening will be devoted to dancing and skating.

A characteristic German lunch will be served at tables arranged around the central portion of the rink, where the dancing will take place. The regular rink will be reserved for those desiring to skate.

Bazaar.—The date of the W. C. T. U. bazaar which was to have been given on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday November 24, has been changed to Monday November 30 at the Presbyterian church because of Thanksgiving. The eight booths will be handsomely decorated and articles of necessity and luxury both will be sold. Tea, coffee and cocoa will be served. Miss Lillian Elwood is in charge of the musical program, which consists of the following numbers:

Song, by the Young Ladies' Quartet.
Vocal duet, Miss Cartwright and Miss Lola Neher.
Reading, Miss Davis.
Song, by the Young Ladies' Quartet.

Violin solo, Miss Vatek.
Vocal solo, Miss Viola Blucher.
Reading, Mrs. Benadum.
Violin solo, Miss Vatek.

The booths will be named for the days of the week and will be arranged as follows: Monday, where articles of washing will be sold, will be in charge of Mrs. Davis and Mrs. LeBreton; Tuesday's booth will be in charge of Mrs. Marsh and Miss Marsh who will sell articles characteristic of ironing day; Wednesday, will dispense fancy work articles, and will be in charge of Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Strumquist; at Thursday's booth articles of darning will be arranged, in charge of Mrs. Nutter and Mrs. Barnes; articles of dusting will predominate at Friday's booth, and will be in charge of Mrs. Pearce and Mrs. Bruce; at Saturday's booth, in charge of Mrs. Palmer, articles of home cooking will be sold; and at Sunday's booth, in charge of Mrs. Vaughn, coffee tea and Bibles will be sold. The affair is one of the noveliest ever planned, and promises to be a big success.

"This Ticket is good for passage only on the steamer Lusitania, with stop-over privileges at the various countries as per coupons attached. Both parties to this contract are subject to the conditions laid down by the Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church."

"Coupons not good if detached and only in order in which they appear." The above formed one end of a coupon ticket sold Thursday by the ladies of the Presbyterian church for a trip "Around the World" and to one of the most delightful festivals ever given in the city.

"Steamer Lusitania" was a biplaned bark, which left the residence of Dr. W. G. Hope, on Copper avenue, Thursday evening after 7:30 o'clock, at intervals of twenty minutes, and made a tour of the neighborhood, visiting several of the finest homes, which represented the various countries. The fare was 50 cents and the trip was well worth the money. The start was made from America. The spacious Hope home had been profusely decorated with red, white and blue. Mrs. C. A. Frank sang "America," costumed as Martha Washington. The Goddess of Liberty was there and several little Indian maid played with their beads in a tepee in an adjoining room, giving the scene a local color. In the dining room the guests were seated at long tables and served with oysters. The napkins were emblematic of Old Glory, and in passing out, Uncle Sam bid the voyagers goodspeed to the home of R. W. D. Bryan, across Robison park on Central avenue. Here was Japan, with all her warm and charming oriental colors, where people sat on their heels and sipped tea and fanned themselves. Mrs. Bryan was seated at the piano, while Miss Elwood charmingly sang Japanese songs. The color scheme was Japanese throughout, and done with artistic effect. The tea served with wafers and kismos (one variety) was artistic. Japanese maidens with their black hair done up in rolls on the side did the serving.

From Japan the voyagers steered down Park avenue two doors to the home of W. H. Barney. The refrain of "We got a new pig in the parlor" burst upon the wayfarers as the door was opened, and Hugh Bryan invited them to kiss the Barney stone. It was a large oval stone much like those found in dry places in New Mexico, all weather-beaten and full of holes. The attention it received, however, would have excited the envy of Lieut. Hobson. Everything was green but the cider, and that was made of green apples. Mrs. Barney sat at the head of a long linen covered table and dispensed the refreshments. In the parlor was a real pig that gave cute little grunts when nudged and every one was asked to give it one nudge. Miss Reynolds sang Irish songs in a manner most catchy.

Around the block and west on Central avenue, at the home of W. H. Hahn was Germany. The Kaiser was there in all his speckled robes. Beneath the wig and paint was the countenance of R. H. Collier. There were lots of Germans there and one could talk German if he wanted to. Mrs. Hahn and a court of young matrons served coffee and cakes. Pretzels were hung in strings over the doors like portieres.

Further west on the avenue, at the colonial home of George Arnot, was Scotland, with people dressed in kilts. Scotch oats was piled in pyramids from the floor. Ice cream and cake were served in abundance, and Mrs. Hugh Collins sang airs of Scotland.

Last but by no means least in importance, at the home of Frank Ackerman, on Honeymoon row, was darkest Africa. If one wasn't black when he went to this place he was almost sure to be when he left. There were people large and small, with black faces, salted peanuts and salad formed the repast served in Africa, while a colored quartette sang songs appropriate to the atmosphere.

From Africa the voyagers returned to America to punch and music. All those who had taken part at the various houses gathered there for the finish and the evening was tapered off with song. The affair was one of the most successful church entertainments ever given in Albuquerque.

MANY FREE DINNERS THANKSGIVING DAY

New York Prepares to Feed 200,000 People With a Million Turkeys.

New York, Nov. 21.—One million turkeys, ducks and other fowl are on their way to supply the Thanksgiving day requirements of this city, while half as many quarts of cranberries will be needed here to furnish the essential accompaniment of the great American feast day. This at least is the estimate of wholesale dealers in these supplies. Moreover, the good things to eat will be more evenly divided among the whole population than they are on any other occasion. There are 200,000 persons in New York who never get a square meal, except once a year—on Thanksgiving day—according to a veteran worker for one of the city's charitable organizations. Of course not all this great army is made up of unemployed, or dependent persons, but it represents those who are habitually underfed. On Thanksgiving day, however, it is the proud boast of Father Knickerbocker that nobody need go hungry within his gates. Dinners at each of which thousands are fed are given by charitable institutions, by public and religious associations, and by many politicians like the Sullivan of the lower East side, who this year are planning a "feed" for some 3,000 Boweryites, regardless of political affiliations, although that usually may be taken for granted. The dinners of this sort already announced will be sufficient for fully 75,000 persons, while the free basket meals distributed to poor families in the tenements probably will aggregate an equal number. Aside from all this, there are thousands of well-to-do men and women who make a practice of supplying Thanksgiving cheer to a number of families less fortunately circumstanced. This form of help will reach 50,000 more, so that it is safe to say that practically nobody in New York will be suffering from hunger on Thanksgiving day, a condition that could not be duplicated on any other day in the year. Even the immigrants on Ellis island get their first introduction to the typical American holiday by a rousing dinner in which turkey and cranberry sauce figure. It is characteristic of New York to pay special attention to the favorite Thanksgiving day form of charity, for there is not city in the country where good eating and plenty of it is held in higher esteem.
