My other message is to assure you that friendship you entertain for the people of the United States is reciprocated by them far more universally and far more heartily than ever before.

There is a friendship of governments and a friendship of nations, a friendship of the shifting and of the material interests, or as affected by the relations of each power to other powers. But the latter rests on solid and permanent foundations. With our two peoples, it is based on a community of speech, of nature, of institutions, of beliefs, traditions and of ideals for the future. In all these things the British and American peoples are closer

BILLY JORDAN TO RETIRE AS RING ANNOUNCER

American League in Annual Meeting Votes Against Proposed Interleague Games; New Directors Chosen.

Veteran Sporting Official, Now Eighty-two Years Old, Will Enter Soldiers' Home to Spend Remaining Days.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
Chicago, Nov. 6.—The American League in its brief annual meeting today, voted unanimously against the proposed to substitute a general interleague series for the world's series as now played, discussed informally the plans of the players' federation and announced several of them "acceptance" and appointed a committee to consider revision of the rules.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)
San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Billy Jordan is to retire as official announcer of the prize ring. He is 82 years old and after the first of the coming year he will go to the Soldiers' Home at Yonkersville, Calif.

No trades were announced, and minutes present said they had not called off trades at the session, or after it.

Manager, Birmingham declared his team would remain intact, thus disposing of reported attempts by the Chicago club to secure one of the Cleveland outfielders. "I don't know," said the manager, "but I would not trade with Boston, though the club has an excellent catcher."

The league will suggest the shortening of the playing season by starting it on April 14 and ending it October 2. The dates, however, depend on agreement by the National League.

The date set for the schedule meeting was not announced.

At a discussion note was heard when President Johnson proposed the league go on record as favoring the world's series between the two leagues, permanent winners. The plan brought up recently by August Herrmann, chairman of the national commission, would have provided that every team in one circuit play every team in the other circuit.

The league resolved to not official list of demands from President Taft of the federation, but a series of reforms the players had drawn up had been sent to every club owner by the national commission and these were given out in an official session.

President Johnson, Vice President Johnson and Manager Mack of the Philadelphia club, were appointed representatives to meet with three National League representatives and managers and umpires of both leagues to go over the rules. Few of the rules will be materially changed, but some minor alterations will be made. The meeting probably will be held in December.

Reform school athletes to compete. Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 6.—Athletes of the state's ten reform schools, Whittier and the Preston Republic at home, will meet high school track and field men on equal terms next year in the annual high school field day at the University of California.

Announcement of the plan was made today at the conclusion of a conference of university and reform school authorities.

MARQUARD DUE TO GO TO BOSTON IN A TRADE

Baseball Wiseacres Say the Mighty "Rube" Will Be Exchanged for Pitcher Tyler; Didn't Show Class.

New York, Nov. 6.—One short year often makes a big difference in the prospects, reputation and standing of a ball player.

It was only twelve months ago that Rube Marquard had pretty near the center of the baseball stage, and his name took up much space in big, broad letters on headlines in the sporting papers of the newspapers.

What he would do in a year or so was heralded broadcast, and there was at that time terrible agitation for fear that he might leave the "big league" permanently and leave baseball flat.

Immediately after the world's series of 1912 was finished the home and his present wife started out on a vaudeville engagement that took in the country from east to west. Rube had won two games in the series between the Giants and Boston Red Sox for the championship of the league, and he had also during the National League season won fifteen straight games, tying the pitching record of consecutive wins.

Local fans predicted all sorts of dire disaster for the Giants unless Rube would return to play again with the club of Marquard.

But now neither the fortunes of the Giants, the New York club, the National League, nor the great national game appear to hinge on what Marquard will do next year. On the contrary, Rube is the one who is on the anxious seat.

That it is the intention of Marquard to trade Marquard to the Boston Nationals for Pitcher Tyler, also a southpaw pitcher—is the general opinion.

And one short year has caused Marquard to lose the great prestige as an irreplaceable pitcher.

There are some who think that if Marquard had joined the Giants in Boston and had the advantage to be in the spring training that he would have been the same winning pitcher he was in 1912.

He did not join the team until the players were on their way north, and his wife and the club in Boston, Tex., and he pitched very little as the way home. He had to get into shape in one day, and although he tried hard and conscientiously to train himself, conditions and circumstances were against him, and when the championship season started he was far from being in his true form. He might have thought he was, but Marquard knew he was not.

It was lack of spring training that put him on the back track. He intended he was as good as he ever was. He had the same confidence in himself as when he was in the pitching line, but he was not. He was not the same Rube who had won nineteen straight.

THE QUESTION OF BONDS.

Probably the leading thinker on financial subjects in the nation is James J. Hill. Ten years ago, he pointed out that the country was "confronted with indigestible securities." The country learned the truth of what he said when the panic of 1897 followed. Within the past few days, Mr. Hill, in a public address, declared that the country is waterlogged with bonds. Speaking of the character of these bonds offered to investors, he said: "We need to say that a man's word was as good as his bond; now we usually say that his bond is as good as his word, and no better."

Mr. Hill says there has been a "frightful inflation" of city, county, village and other public bonds, and that a spread half mile could be the efforts to market them.

There certainly has been an increase in the issue of public securities.
Public expenditures have increased with private. Taxes have risen like wages. Public bodies have gone along with the provision. Taxpayers will have to settle sometime.

But the cities, counties and villages have grown richer. Values have increased and taxation, as a rule, is less burdensome than under the former lower rates. Borrowed money, wisely spent, has generally paid interest rates and provided sinking funds to amortize the principal. In the spending is the place for economy rather than in the borrowing.
Cities that borrow for proper purposes and use recognized business sense in expenditure remain solvent.
Only those that borrow for needless purposes and are reckless in outlays are guilty of waste and fall behind in standing.

THE CURRENCY SQUABBLE.

The currency bill is having trouble.
It passed the house with little difficulty, but for weeks has been held up by the senate committee on banking and currency and amended beyond recognition. That is following custom. Whenever a bill originates in the house, the senate proceeds to rewrite it, not so much because it may need alteration as to teach humility to the plebeian body of lawmakers.

But with the currency measure, there is more than mere change for the sake of changing. It looks as if the senate had decided to amend or end it, using a bit phrase of Lord Romey regarding the English house of lords. The senate has been quietly examining the measure, and the measure's practical workings in order to fill the best of their suggestions into the glass ball and to sift from the bill things which might be impractical or harmful.

Reed and Hitchcock, two democrats of independent proclivities and, possibly, interested by the bankers of St. Louis and Omaha, their respective homes, have joined with five republicans on the banking committee, thereby making an effective anti-administration majority. Senator O'Connor, who has been in the senate since after the New York elections, yesterday, however, he seemed to have an idea that Tammany Hall would better no more parasites for him and he voted with the supporters of the president.

From the latest action of the committee, it appears that a bill will be reported to the senate in which the number of regional reserve banks will be greatly reduced from the original twelve of the Glass bill; that the capital for them, instead of being subscribed solely by the particular banks, will be open to subscription by the investing public, the national and other banks coming under the law being required to take up any part of the capital not subscribed for at the end of sixty days; that the management of the regional banks shall be under a board of nine members, five of whom shall be appointed by the government and four by the stockholders. Also a central clearing house, in the spirit of the plan proposed by Adair and suggested by Vanderlip, is being considered.

Before the senate is done with the bill, it is likely that the last money feature will be eliminated, along with the compulsory capitalization and re-demptible clause. It now appears that government control will be strengthened rather than weakened, where technical efficiency and expert management may not be impaired thereby.

Meanwhile, there are two sources of opposition, the big bankers who want no change, unless it be an impossible one in their favor, and the popular sentiment which follows the impractical theories of William J.
Fryer.

James H. Schiff, one of the great bankers of the country, has just given a sharp warning of the harm that will be sure to follow the policy of the New York bankers in opposing any change not dictated by them, and it is quite evident that President Wilson and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo have been listening to him loyally to the hilt. The president is too practical and much too sensible to indulge in the stuff dreams are made of when it comes to dealing with the currency of the country.
Also, Mr. Schiff has too much sense not to know what will follow if the banking question once becomes an issue before the people of the country during a political campaign.

THE INCOME TAX.

The income tax has no terrors for most of us. We can view it with detached interest. Only a few hundred thousand, out of a hundred million, wallow in the unbounded wealth of three or more thousand dollars net annual income.

The problem giving anxious moments to the officials of the treasury department, who must collect the tax, and the banks and the employers, the original source from which most of the taxes must be collected, directly, is to know just what the law means. All of them are trying to find out what they have to do.
The banks are working far more than the taxpayers. They have the heaviest work to do, and to one will pay them for it. They are made an involuntary corps of detectives.

The theory of the law is that every American, with three or four thousand dollars income, will try to cheat the government. Therefore banks, trustees, business agents, tenants, creditors and employers are forcibly employed to hold back the government's percentage of the income.
That is where the new law is going to hurt worst, unless the treasury department and the banks succeed in their search for some simpler way.

With those who should rightly pay the income tax, we have no sympathy. The unmarried man or woman who is burdened with an income of three thousand or more dollars a year can spare thirty of it for the expenses of the government. But it is now believed there will be endless trouble in applying the methods prescribed by the law to these collections.

The collection-at-the-source plan is copied from England. There it is easy, because every person with an income of eight hundred dollars contributes something from it to the support of the nation. Here the tax is confined to the small class who have incomes of as much as three thousand dollars, and the rest of us are concerned without pay to help the government get it out of them.

Former President Taft says: "Until we again have opportunity to discuss the matter, I am for the administration." Mr. Taft has steadily given reason for popular approval since he was defeated for election last fall.

The Panama authorities say the recent disturbances there were not earthquakes, but merely tremors.
Had they been earthquakes they would have cracked something.

When a man is offered a post in the Philippines, there is always a suspicion that some one has a motive for wanting him to go to a most distant and deadly climate.

It now develops that Messrs. Diaz and Calero were mistaken in thinking they were running for president of Mexico. They were running for shelter.

Be his dome of thought ever so ample, it cannot be denied that the name of Mr. Penney, of Pennsylvania, is a handicap.

Just about this time of each year, the psychological moment comes for clean football by the college teams.

It is not believed that Governor McDonald will call the late unim-mented legislature into life again.

No reputable life insurance company would regard Huerta as a good risk.

Mr. Newwood (after first quarreling) is now in a mood to be made up—Mr. Newwood—Strange. I always thought your mind at least was you own.

FOUR MEN KILLED STOCK MOVEMENT IN EXPLOSION AT LORDSBURG HAS DOWNWARD TENDENCY

Discharge of Dynamite Mangles Quartette of Miners and Another Is Blinded; 85 Mine Scene of Accident.

Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.
Lordsburg, N. M., Nov. 6.—Four men dead and one so badly injured that he will be blind for life was the toll taken by a dynamite explosion in the Eighty-Five mine at Lordsburg Monday morning. The dead are John Robbins, Pines Alton, Herman Kline, Ernest Fier and Louis Prie-taz. The injured man is Santa Ana Pierro.

Robbins, Kline, Fier and Pierro were on the fourth level of the mine, where eight holes had been loaded and set ready to fire. Kline was lighting the fuses and Robbins was assisting him. The mine is very wet, and after trouble is experienced in getting the powder to burn. This is what must have happened on this occasion, and while working with a refractory fuse the light of time was not noticed and in the meantime the fire was eating its way into the charge in the first shot. In the race the fire won and the men were caught like rats in a trap. In the meantime the engineer on the surface had received the alarming signal, but nothing further. When he finally heard the shots exploding he knew that an accident had happened. The cage man was stunned by the explosion but partially regained consciousness after a few seconds. He was able to give the signal to pull up it. He believed that some of the men below might still be living, and Louis Overton, who had been at work on another level of the mine, volunteered to go down, facing the poisonous gases to get the men out if possible. His heroism cost him his life, for the effect of the gas on his lungs was such as to bring on an attack of pneumonia from which he died twenty-four hours later. Santa Ana Pierro was gotten out alive. Robbins, Kline and Fierro were dead and horribly mangled.

John Robbins, who lost his life in this accident, was a native of Grant county, being born in Finks. After twenty-three years' work, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Robbins, are still well known residents of Pines Alton.

Herman Kline, who was shift boss, came to Lordsburg from Colorado, where his family resides.

Fier was an Italian. He was still living when taken from the mine, but the doctors state that his eyesight is destroyed.

"BORAX" SMITH NOT YET IN BANKRUPTCY

Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.
San Francisco, Nov. 6.—The efforts of Leo B. Dickey, Albert Hanford, E. E. Gilman, and others, to force Frank M. (Borax) Smith into voluntary bankruptcy, received a sharp setback today when Judge Dooley decided in the United States district court that Smith was entitled to a hearing on his motion to liquidate the individual claims of Dickey, Hanford, Gilman and their associates, amounting to $177,768.

The claims were filed in two sets, on July 24 and August 21, last, after Smith had consented to place his tangled finances, involving the $200,- 000,000 of the United Properties company, in the hands of a committee of San Francisco bankers and lawyers.
Council for Smith took separate permission to pay off these claims separately, without throwing their client into bankruptcy.

Bank Officers Under Arrest.
Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 6.—C.
Stekley, president, and W. S. Groves, Adolph Kahn and Thomas Cotton, directors of the Valley Savings Bank of Arkansas, Ark., which failed several months ago, were arrested today, charged with receiving deposits after insolvency. All were released on bond.
They are prominent in Arkansas and Little Rock.

CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

It Is Cruel to Force Nauseating, Harsh Physic Into a Sick Child.

Look back at your childhood days.
Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics.
How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different.
Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep their babies' health invariably handy. They know children love to take it, that it never fails to clean the stomach and bowels and sweeten the system, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages—also for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits and imitations. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with content.

For Children There is Nothing Better A cough medicine for children must help their lungs and colds without bad effects on their little stomachs and bowels. Foley's Honey and Tar exactly fills this need. No opiates, no sour stomach, no constipation follows its use. Sticky, sticky, sticky. It coughs and croup are all quickly helped and sweet refreshing slumber instead of feverish tossing at night.
It is easy therefore to understand why an increasing number of bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is sold yearly. For sale by Butts', Incorporated.

Mexican Situation Believed to Have Reached Acute Stage, Depressing Securities Generally on Exchange.

Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.
New York, Nov. 6.—The stock movement in stocks today was generally downward, although in the early trading there was a small advance in some of the market showing of yesterday, bulls were reluctant to buy on stocks, feeling that some grave development in the Mexican situation might suddenly upset the market. Reports that the Huerta administration had decided to adopt a defiant attitude toward this government were largely responsible for the sharp dip in the market.

Forecasts of the monthly statement of the United States Steel corporation pointed to a falling off in unfilled orders of perhaps 350,000 tons. Amalgamated, influenced by the drop in the London metal market, was weak. Railroad shares went down with the industrials.

Mexican petroleum was weakened by the failure of the directors to take action on the dividend at the possessed meeting of the board. The decline in National Railways of Mexico second preferred brought it to 11, compared with 27 1/2 earlier in the year.

Engagement of $500,000 in gold, in addition to the $2,000,000 recently purchased in London, was announced today.

The bond market was steady. Clos-

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Bull activity, based on the belief that wheat had been overbid, lifted prices today, the close showing a net advance of 7-8 to 1-2. Covering by shorts sent corn up to a net gain of 1-2 to 3-4 to 5-8 to 3-4.
Strength in Canada helped oats here to a net improvement of a shade to 3-4. Provisions rose 10 to 20c on good speculative buying.

Several of the large buyers began early to take on wheat, prices having reached an attractive low point. Believing acting on an assumption that selling in the last few days had been too free, bull leaders were influenced by additional news from India of developments unfavorable to the crop there. This, in the minds of many traders, offset improved conditions in Argentina and generally weak European markets. The market was nervous at first, and weakened after a show of strength. Then came the buying rally which carried prices up again and held them there till the close.

Short covering began early in the corn pit and the market, after an easy opening, hardened. Speculative buying gave also an early impulse to the price uplift and values showed steadiness throughout in spite of lower cables and splendid weather in the domestic belt. All southwestern markets were higher and thus imparted strength here.

Cash houses were good buyers of oats and the strong tone of the market was partly due, also, to a considerable falling off in primary receipts.
Reinstating by traders who were large sellers yesterday, was a dominating feature in the upturn made by provisions. January pork scored a net advance, under active demand, which lifted it 20c net. Closing prices:

"Gentlemen—Last December I took a sudden cold which developed into pneumonia. The doctors did not seem to help me, but could not clear my lungs.
One day I saw a testimonial in one of the papers telling of the good results someone had from taking Bokman's Alternative for a cough and cold. I began taking it and soon felt good again. My lungs began to clear up and I began to walk in strength and was well enough to take up my work again. I am in better health
