KANSAS CITY POLICE IN PITCHED BATTLE WITH FANATICS

Adam God, Elijah II and Followers Use Revolvers When Officers Appear.

TWO ARE KILLED THREE BADLY HURT

Fanatic Says He Will Get Well and Live to Kill More Policemen - Real Leader of the Band Escapes After Bloody Fight.

Kansas City, Dec. 9.—"I am not going to die. I am going to get well and live to kill a few more policemen." That is the assertion of Louis Pratt, self styled "Adam God," a religious fanatic who is lying in the general hospital here. He was seriously wounded in a battle between his followers and the police late yesterday.

As a result of the fight, Pratt's 13-year-old daughter, Lulu, and a policeman, Albert C. Dalbow, are dead, and two other policemen are in a critical condition. John Sharp, known as "Elijah Second," and who was the real head of the little band of religious enthusiasts, is still at large. Mrs. Pratt, with two young daughters, spent the night in the maternal room in the police headquarters, but Mrs. Sharp, who fired the two shots that struck Policemen Mullane, is confined to the city jail.

At the hospital this morning, it was said that Mullane had small chance to recover but Sergeant Clark's condition was slightly improved. A. J. Selzer, a bystander, who was hit by a stray shot, is also expected to get well.

Today Mrs. Pratt told of the work of the band, who came here in a house boat. "Mr. and Mrs. Sharp," she said, "were known to us as Adam and Eve, and we believed their teachings." She said they armed themselves on the advice of Sharp. The first she heard of yesterday's struggle she says was when Lulu and Mary came running down to the boat and told that shooting was going on in the street.

"When the officers arrived at the house boat," she said, "I took my Winchester off the wall and told Lulu to get a gun and we all got into a skiff tied to the house boat. I sat in the boat with the gun in my hand. I wasn't going to shoot unless I had to because I had no chance to ask Adam and Eve what to do."

"I am sorry I didn't resist. I am afraid I will lose my eternal life because I think that Adam would have advised me to shoot. Lulu got into the back skiff which was covered and Mary took the oars and we started across the river. The officers began shooting at the boat. We drifted up to the bank, and when I saw blood on Lulu's ear I knew that she had been shot. Then Mary and I got out and hung on the side of the boat until they captured us."

Mrs. Melissa Sharp also made a statement. She said that she married Sharp twenty years ago when she was 17. They lived in Arkansas and Oklahoma. They had no religion until about six years ago when she said her husband had revelations from God. They began to study the Bible and later both had revelations. They then gave away their property and started to preach. Since then they have traveled through Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Minnesota. They then went to Canada. About last August they returned from Canada, built the house boat and started to float down the Missouri, preaching at many places. They had been prosecuted by officers who had wanted to take their children and had gone armed many months.

Chief of Police Ahern announced today that yesterday's bloody affair marked the end of street meetings in Kansas City.

The fight started about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Juvenile Officer Holt saw Sharp preaching on the corner, surrounded by a woman and five children. The juvenile officer did not believe the children should be in custody of Sharp and inquired as to the identity of them.

The woman told him to mind his own business and the preacher and his companions drew revolvers. Sharp struck the officer over the head with his revolver. Holt started to return to the police station and Sharp and his followers, also started in that direction. Holt warned the sergeant on duty at headquarters to prepare for trouble and Officers Dalbow and Stege were ordered to go out and arrest Sharp. As they emerged from the station, the preacher and his band opened fire. A riot call was turned in and policemen began gathering, closing in on the preacher. When the firing ceased Pratt was badly wounded. His companions fled, the woman and some of the children fled, their houseboat. The officers saw the woman and child in a rowboat in which they were rowing across the Missouri river. Officers called to them, but they would not stop and the police, in a volley, seriously wounding one of the girls. The woman then rowed the boat back to the shore and surrendered. Sharp has not been seen.

CURRY AT RECEPTION.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Governor Curry of New Mexico was a guest last night at the White House and together with a number of others saw the moving pictures of Jim Abernathy in a wolf hunt. President Roosevelt arranged with Abernathy to have the pictures shown at the White House and the entertainment made a hit with the president and his guests.

Governor Curry, Solomon Luna and Harry Kelley are due to appear before the ways and means committee in the interests of wool and sheep growers of New Mexico. It will probably be several days before they can be heard.

CASTRO REACHES SPAIN.

Santander, Spain, Dec. 9.—The French steamer, Guadalupe, with President Castro of Venezuela on board, came in here today. Castro will continue aboard the steamer to Bordeaux and travel thence to Berlin. He has come to Europe with the intention of settling Venezuela's national quarrels. The president's health is good.

HALE SUCCEEDS ALLISON.

Washington, Dec. 9.—A largely attended Republican caucus of senators today unanimously elected Hale chairman of the Republican caucus to succeed the late Senator Allison. The position carries the chairmanship of the Republican steering committee to the senate which determines all the important legislation of that body.

EAGLE IS GUILTY IN SECOND DEGREE

Cherokee Indian, Who Killed a Navajo at Bluewater, Must Go to Prison.

Guilt of murder in the second degree was the verdict of the jury which sat in the case of Dick Eagle, charged with slaying a Navajo Indian near Bluewater last May.

The case occupied the attention of the court but one day, probably recording the briefest murder trial ever held in the Second Judicial district. The jury retired shortly after 6 o'clock. At 12 o'clock, the foreman announced that a verdict had been reached and the thin paper bearing a half dozen words meaning years in the penitentiary to Eagle was placed in an envelope.

Eagle was present when Judge Abbott opened and read the finding, but showed no emotion. The man is one of the queerest characters in the southwest. He is half negro and half Cherokee Indian. The top of his head is bald and from the remainder flows long wavy tresses black as coal.

On the witness stand yesterday he said that he was a doctor, a barber, a gold hunter and a cowboy. During recent years he has frequently communicated with the authorities saying that he had information about the hiding places of thieves and money. He wanted to show the authorities to the den of Black Jack. Since being confined in the county jail he has written several officers that he would show them where the French robbers were in hiding.

YOUTHFUL BRIGANDS TAKEN TO JAIL

They Will Be Kept There Until the Grand Jury Disposes of Their Cases.

In default of $250 bonds each, John Sawtelle and Lynn Gray, the two youthful brigands charged with grand larceny by J. A. Skinner, were taken to the county jail yesterday to await the action of the grand jury.

The young men made a very picturesque appearance in high heeled boots and other apparel characteristic of the wild and woolly west, as they were escorted by an officer to the jail. Both held their heads erect, however, displaying the courage of real bad men, who would not give up but would fight to the last ditch.

The horse and wagon stolen from E. B. Harsch Sunday night was found near the cache of groceries in the willows near the Rio Grande. The rig was taken from Mr. Harsch's barn Sunday night by Gray and Sawtelle and used to haul the groceries stolen from the Skinner grocery store.

It is believed that Gray and Sawtelle were engaged in robbing the Skinner grocery at the time the police were raiding the rendezvous on North Fifth street, when three members of the gang were captured. The cases of Fred Luna and George Ward have not been disposed of as yet. The authorities are at a loss what to do with these young fellows.

TAFT AND CANNON MEET IN CONFERENCE.

Washington, Dec. 9.—President-elect Taft and Speaker Cannon today held a conference for an hour and a half. At the conclusion each announced that arrangements had been made whereby Taft was to meet the Republican members of the House committee on ways and means tomorrow afternoon, after which a statement would be issued.

TREASURY SECRETARY SUBMITS ANNUAL STATEMENT

Shows Expenses to Have Been Fifty-eight Millions More Than Receipts Last Year.

EVERYBODY HAS AT LEAST $34.72

More Than Three Billion Dollars Is in Circulation and Per Capita Increases—Suggests Ways of Saving Money.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The annual report of Mr. Cortelyou, the secretary of the treasury, shows a reversal of conditions for the fiscal year 1908, as compared with the fiscal year for 1907. For the latter year the receipts were $84,236,556 in excess of the disbursements. For the fiscal year 1908 the disbursements were $58,070,201 in excess of the receipts, due to business depression and increased appropriations. Fortunately the report says, the available cash balance at the beginning of the fiscal year was $272,061,445.

The treasury was called upon in the latter part of October, 1907, to render assistance in a financial panic which started in New York City and which gradually extended over the entire country. Through treasury operations during this financial disturbance the amount of public deposits with the banks reached $236,548,321 on November 30th, 1907, and on December 27, 1907, the maximum of $259,994,271 was attained, after which it was decreased to $254,920,184 by the close of the month.

Further withdrawals decreased this amount to $118,379,536, on November 16, 1908. At the beginning of the present fiscal year there was a free circulation of money and large amounts were returned to the financial centers and some of the depositaries voluntarily returned to the treasury a part of their holdings of public deposits, amounting in all to approximately four million dollars. A further withdrawal of public money from depositary banks in New York City was made in January, amounting to $8,550,000 making the balance in the banks to the credit of the general fund at the end of January, $226,241,418.

Further voluntary surrender of deposits was made during February, and on June 30th the general fund had been reduced to $149,000,000.

The aggregate of trust funds, consisting of gold currency and standard silver dollars held for the redemption of certificates and notes for which they were respectively pledged, increased $139,000,000 during the year.

The monetary stock for the year increased $263,203,000. The growth in gold was $151,744,391. In silver, $17,919,395; national bank notes $94,545,227. At the same time there was a decrease of $1,006,000. At the close of the fiscal year, 1908, the money in circulation amounted to $3,935,015,488 or per capita of $24.72. The percentage of gold to circulation was 45.95. There was an increase of $94,545,227 in the volume of national bank notes during the fiscal year closed July 1st, last.

The amount of interest bearing debt on June 30, 1907, is shown to have been $934,902,760 and on June 30th, 1908, $897,504,590. The report shows that from the date of the passage of the national bank act in 1863 to July 1, 1908, charters were granted to 1,174 national banking associations and at the close of the last fiscal year there were in operation 6,827 associations, with authorized capital stock of $930,542,774. Banks to the number of 1,878 have been closed by the voluntary action of their stockholders and 459 insolvent associations have been placed in charge of receivers.

There were purchased for the collation of subsidiary silver during the fiscal year 16,956,309 ounces of silver bullion at a cost of $9,823,026. The receipts from internal revenue taxes for the fiscal year 1908, were $251,711,126, a net decrease from 1907 of $1,955,646. The customs receipts for the same period, amounted to $286,112,130, a decrease for the year of about $46,000,000.

Based on figures on the estimates of appropriations already submitted by the several executive departments the secretary is of the opinion that the excess of expenditures over receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, may reach $143,046,796. The three months of November and December, 1907, and January, 1908, witnessed imports of gold into the United States to the amount of $118,822,870, and on the other hand the three months of April, May and June, 1908, witnessed exports of gold from the United States to the amount of $49,555,325. For the twelve months ending October 31, 1908, the total imports of gold were $150,234,064, and total exports $72,509,564.

The secretary says it would seem that means might be devised to diminish the transfer of physical gold under these conditions. That exports of gold might be extended and more payments in such a way as by one nation to another in times of stress, was proposed soon after the crisis of a year ago. It has been suggested that an international conference be called of representatives of the ministries of finance and of the great state banks with a view to more prompt and effective co-operation in emergencies.

The secretary devotes considerable space to the question of an economic adjustment of current receipts and disbursements in such a way as to facilitate such an adjustment, and suggests that it would perhaps be competent to Congress to vest in a joint committee the power of revising the appropriations bills with a view to distributing reductions and increase in an equitable manner and also with a view to the relative importance of the object for which appropriations are sought. It would seem that such a committee should be charged with the responsibility of keeping the expenditures of each year, or, if this could not be done, that it should authorize the issue of a proper amount of short term obligations to bridge over the deficit of lean years. By such a committee needless and wasteful expenditure might be checked.

On the subject of the revision of the tariff the secretary says the new administration is pledged to a fair and equitable revision. The necessities of the government should be a guide, at least in part, to the measure and character of the revision. Data recorded in this report tell their own story. If the deficiencies reach anything like the figures given, ample provision must be made through new subjects of taxation, to provide adequate revenue. The earnest consideration of Congress is especially urged to this phase of the subject.

Of recent currency legislation the secretary says that the act passed at the last session of Congress has served a useful purpose, and will be available until the recommendations of the monetary commission created by that Congress, can be considered and acted upon.

GRONSFELD ASKS 4 PER CENT NOW

Late Reform Assessor Makes Demands Under Old Law Despite Reform Platform.

SUIT AGAINST COUNTY PROBABLE OUTCOME

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners of the County of Bernalillo, Albuquerque, N. M.: Gentlemen: Siegfried Grunsfeld, assessor of Bernalillo county, territory of New Mexico, hereby demands and gives notice to the said board of county commissioners of Bernalillo county and the individual members thereof, that he claims on all collections made by the county collector, upon which the assessments were made, or licenses issued by him, and the assessor and that the said board of county commissioners of this county set aside and void apart the four per centum so due the assessor upon any and all collections heretofore made and hereafter to be made upon which assessments have been made or licenses issued by the claimant and assessor and that said board of county commissioners and the individual members thereof as well, will be held responsible for any and all sums due the said assessor. Respectfully, SIEGFRIED GRUNSFELD.

The above notice was served on the board of county commissioners in session yesterday by attorneys representing the Hon. Sig Grunsfeld, assessor of Bernalillo county, who will be remembered as one of the gentlemen whose names were signed to a published statement to the effect that the entire Good Government ticket was so strongly in favor of reduction in county salaries that its candidates were willing to be elected on that issue.

The above notice is a formal demand for the insignificant sum of $2,288.02 more or less, which the reform assessor claims as due him from the emoluments of his office for 1907, and which represents the four per cent of collections of the county treasurer formerly paid the assessor prior to the last legislature when the per cent was reduced one-half.

SAYS CANALS WOULD PREVENT FREIGHT BLOCKADES

Speaker at Waterways Congress Says Plan Brings Good Results in Europe.

NOTABLE SPEAKERS MAKE ADDRESSES

Session Is Opened at Washington With Big Attendance to Discuss Plans for Solving Transportation Problem.

Washington, Dec. 9.—One of the most notable gatherings ever assembled in the history of this country in the interests of waterway development was called to order today when the National River and Harbor congress met in its fifth annual convention. The congress is endeavoring to impress Congress with the necessity of a comprehensive policy of improving the rivers, canals and harbors of the nation.

The congress opened with prayer by Bishop O'Donnell and an address by Vice President Fairbanks followed. Ambassador James Bryce of Great Britain, told of the waterways of Great Britain. Others on the program for the day include Samuel Gompers, Seth Low of New York, and Governor Chamberlain of Oregon; Governor Sanders of Louisiana and Champ Clark, of Missouri.

Judge George Hillyer, of the Georgia railroad commission, in an address told of the necessity for overland canals.

Calling attention to what he said were the great freight blockades in the United States a year ago, Mr. Hillyer said that in Europe the difficulty had been obviated by the proper division made into water freights and rail freights; with due regard for the improvement of the rivers and the construction of canals.

The transportation problem in Europe had been solved, he said, by shipping bulky and non-perishable freight by river and canal, while the costly freight went by rail. "We never hear of a freight blockade in France, Belgium or Germany," he said. "In any freight blockade in the United States," he asserted, "probably there were three car loads of the bulky kind to one of the less bulky but costly kind."

"Given the canals and rivers and water routes," he said, "by which the bulky, cumbersome and heavy freights would be shipped, the situation in any freight blockade would be once relieved and the recurrence of the same evil permanently prevented. "It was true," he said, "that if the money was spent on the railroads they could be so increased in capacity as to meet the present needs, but that, he argued, would involve an expense of five thousand million dollars for immediate needs with no guarantee for the future, whereas one-fifth or possibly one-tenth of that sum judiciously expended on the rivers and harbors of the country and in the construction of well-located canals, would solve the problem. "Under this system," he said, "the railroads would be left to handle the high grade and costly freights, which they can easily do. This would pay them better and at the same time the public, having the advantage of both water and rail, would be properly and promptly served." He disclaimed that transportation rates in Europe were higher than in the United States. It was doubtless true, he said, that the rates enjoyed by the railroads for carrying the high priced and costly freights were somewhat higher in Europe than here, but he said that in Europe the bulky and less valuable freights were hardly counted at all in railroad rate making or exercised any important influence in railroad bookkeeping. On the whole, he said, and in the aggregate the comparison was overwhelmingly favorable to the combined water and rail system in Europe as contrasted with the all-rail system so largely prevailing in the United States.

Mr. Hillyer cited many illustrations of the costly process of railroad transportation as furnishing a sufficient explanation of the need for inland waterways as a means of forcing cheaper freight rates.

TWO SAFE CRACKERS WERE SCARED AWAY

They Were Detected in the Act, But Escaped Without Leaving a Trace.

The presence in the neighborhood of a Santa Fe callie led to an attempt to crack the safe of the Superior Planing mill at the corner of Coal avenue and First street at 2:30 this morning. The caller, Whitesides by name, was riding past the mills on a bicycle, when an explosion of nitro-glycerin in the mills attracted his attention.

"I got off my bicycle and looked through the window," said Whitesides this morning, "and I saw two men leaning over the safe. The office was filled with smoke from the explosion. About the time I saw them the two men saw me. One of them pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired at me and I ran."

Whitesides left his bicycle lying in the street and ran to notify the police. When he returned with an officer there was no trace of the two men but an investigation of the office showed that they had been frightened away just in time. The knob of the safe, an old-fashioned kind, had been knocked off and nitro-glycerin poured into the aperture. The explosion did not open the door. There was $10.65 in the safe.

Whitesides did not have time to get an accurate description of the men. Neither were the safe, and he says he believes they were strangers. The police are working on the theory that they are crooks from one of the larger cities, and believe they may be the ones who recently cracked a safe in El Paso, and have robbed safes in several other Texas towns.

January 6-7.—Editor in charge of the departments of entomology, economic zoology and veterinary science, in the experiment station record, office of experiment stations, department of agriculture, salary $1,500.

January 6-7.—Hull draftsman, one at a salary of $100 a month and another at a salary of $125 a month, in the light house board, department of commerce and labor.

SAYS TWO MEN ASSAULTED HIM

An Encounter Sunday Results in Charge Being Filed in Court Yesterday.

Because of treatment he alleges he received at the hands of Frank Walsh and Elmer Phelps, employees at Robert Loudon's dairy south of the city, S. D. Odling appeared before Judge Craig yesterday and swore to a complaint charging assault with intent to do bodily injury. Walsh and Phelps were arrested yesterday by the police and yesterday afternoon bound over to the grand jury under $200 bonds.

Odling said that he was on the dairy farm Sunday, when the two men assaulted him. They told him that he was trespassing and "fired" him off the place. They say that he called them a name, whereupon, according to his story, they threw him down and tied him hand and foot with stout cords and carried him like a log to the dairy, where the daughters of Mr. Loudon made them release him.

LAS VEGAS MAN WILL FIGHT WITH KENNEDY

Box Has Been Arranged for Athletic Club Smoker December 19.

Bob Walker of Denver has signed articles of agreement to box Prof. Kennedy of the Albuquerque Athletic club, fifteen rounds, both men to weigh in at 140 pounds. This will be the principal feature of the next smoker of the Albuquerque Athletic club and promises to be a big drawing card. Walker is the boy who boxed the soldier here during the fair. He has been at Las Vegas for some time, and was induced to come here by Major Ruppe. Both men are clever and considering the inducement that has been offered them, the bout promises to be a good one. The next smoker will be held Saturday night, December 19.

THE PARK BOARD THANKS CITY COUNCIL

Will Call Meeting of Citizens to Discuss the Work to Be Done.

At a meeting of the park commission this afternoon the recent action of the city council in appropriating $2,000 towards the purchase of a block of ground for the enlargement of the Highland park, was considered and a vote of thanks for the generous action was unanimously passed. It was decided to proceed at once with the improvement of the plot of ground thus secured. In order to obtain the views of the people most interested in the new park, it was resolved to call a meeting of the citizens some evening next week for the purpose of discussing the best plan for utilizing the proposed park. It will be the endeavor of the park commission to begin work as soon as possible so that the necessary grading may be done before planting time arrives.

HAYTIAN REBELS ARE OUT. Capt. Haytlen, Hayt, Dec. 8.—There is a revolutionary outbreak in several northern towns of the republic. General Robillard has started for the scene of the disorders.

GOVERNORS DISCUSS WAY TO CONSERVE RESOURCES

Joint Session With the Commission Is Held Today at National Capital.

THE COUNTRY MUST DOUBLE ITS PRODUCE

Soil Is Not Wearing Out. But Will Be Called on For Greater Efforts—Coal Will All Be Gone by Next Century.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The National Conservation commission today began conference with the governors of the different states, with the probable result that some concrete plan will be mapped out for the conservation of the nation's natural resources. More than thirty states were represented by their chief executives.

Soil Is Not Losing. The most interesting point made public through the report of the work conducted during the summer and fall by the section of lands of the National Conservation commission, of which Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, is chairman, is that the inventory of natural resources has demonstrated that the soil of the United States as a whole is not falling off, but rather is in most parts of the country, if not actually gaining, at least holding its own. The report declares, however, that our agricultural lands will soon be required to produce at least twice as much as they do at present in order to meet the nation's demand for food. Such an increase in crop production is possible with proper methods.

There are in the United States proper, according to the report, a trifle less than 3,000,000 square miles of land surface, of which a little more than one-fifth is under cultivation. About a quarter is covered with forests, and a smaller proportion with woods, young growth and cut-over lands. With the exception of waste lands and a relatively small amount of mineral lands, all the rest is grazing land.

The inventory of the mineral resources of the United States, which the section of minerals under the chairmanship of Representative John Daisell of Pennsylvania, has made during the summer and fall is a long list of waning supplies. This was shown by the report of the section before the joint conservation conference which summarizes the figures of the country's mineral wealth. Some of the main features of this report were as follows:

What We Have. The mineral production of the United States now exceeds $2,000,000,000 in value every year, and is second only to agriculture as a contribution to our national wealth. It furnishes our light, heat and power, and supplies 65 per cent of the freight traffic of the country.

The waste in the mining and treatment of minerals, substances during a year is equivalent to more than three hundred million dollars. It is estimated that the coal supply of the United States is 1,463,800,000 tons and at the present rate will be exhausted before the middle of the next century. The known supplies of petroleum and natural gas will not last beyond the middle of the present century.

The damage on account of fires for 1907 was $456,455,990. At a reasonable estimate, probably more than one-half the insurance one-fourth of the city water supply and distribution charges, three-fourths of the fire department charges and three-fourths of the fire losses, or a total of $1,354,000,000 a year may be reasonably looked forward to as a saving at such time as building construction in the United States shall become as good or better than that now found in European countries.

PROPERTY OWNERS TO DISCUSS SEWER

Meeting Will Be Held Tomorrow Night at the Commercial Club.

A meeting of property owners and persons interested in a new sewer system for Albuquerque will be held at the Commercial club tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Bullock, representative of the construction company which proposes to build the system for the city, will be present and prepared to answer any questions that may be propounded to him regarding the proposed new sewer. Mr. Bullock will also make a detailed explanation of the plan on which his company proposes to build the sewer.

This meeting is called by the Commercial club and should be largely attended. The building of a sewer system is one of the most important questions before the property owners of Albuquerque.

STATEHOOD FOR NEW MEXICO

We favor the immediate admission of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona as separate states in the Union.—Republican National Platform.

The President and Statehood

It has been known for many months that President Roosevelt would advocate the admission of New Mexico and Arizona to statehood as separate states, in his message to the present session of Congress. Therefore, the emphatic statement which he made yesterday that he favored statehood at the hands of the short session of Congress, was no surprise, although it was very pleasing to the people of the Southwest.

"I advocate the admission of New Mexico and Arizona as states. This should be done at the present session of Congress" was the way the president's message was worded, as told in the news columns of the Citizen last evening.

Coupled with the fact that the president-elect, Mr. Taft, and the members of the cabinet, together with nearly all of the most powerful members of Congress have declared themselves in favor of statehood, the president's message takes on new significance.

It is well known to the people of New Mexico that the delegate, Governor Curry, Mr. Luna and other well known New Mexicans, are already in the national capital doing everything in their power to secure statehood from this session of Congress. They are sanguine of success and conditions at present are very favorable. It is a good time now, to forget politics and every resident of the Southwest should unite in working for admission to the Union.

The strong stand which the president has taken in his message will greatly add to our chances for admission at the short session and the Citizen believes that we will be successful.

The matter of building an adequate sewer system for Albuquerque is one that cannot longer be postponed. The only question is as to the most advisable method of procedure. The city council and other city officials who are charged with the duty, should give the question due consideration, but the matter should not be delayed for long. There is no question of politics in this proposition and it does not matter how the sewer system is secured, so that it is done in a business like manner, with due economy and with ample accommodations for the needs of the people. The sewer system is badly needed and the delay will prove much more costly than proper sewerage in the long run. Business and health both demand that the proposition be taken up at the earliest possible moment and this paper hopes that the city officials will proceed with all possible haste.

Religious fanatics, known as "Holy Rollers," or some such a name, killed a policeman and seriously wounded several other officers in Kansas City yesterday. In a return fire, the officers dangerously wounded one of the leaders of the band and killed a young girl. Many things pass for religion in these days, but the religion that goes armed with pistols, is not one that can be considered an aid to civilization. Religious freedom is undoubtedly the foundation of this country, but there should be some definition of religion in the exercise of such freedom and a six-shooter ought not to be the chance of its altar.

The Boston Transcript comments upon statehood in the following unique manner, which, however, is interesting now that the question of a new name for this territory has been suggested. If New Mexico with Arizona is admitted under its present name there will be eight states with an initial M and eight Ns; the News and the Norths being chiefly responsible for the latter list. There will also be four Ws, four Is, three Os, three As, three Cs, and two each of Ks, Ts, Ss, and Vs, while the seven remaining letters of D, P, R, U, G, F, and L, will be represented by a state each.

The unknown citizens of Pine Bluffs, Ark., who went contrary to the federal government's orders and dynamited a government dyke in the Arkansas river for the purpose of making a channel that would divert the water from engulfing the city and wrecking untold damage to it, ought to be discovered at once and not for the purpose of censure or punishment. They should be made to stand out in the limelight of publicity so that a grateful people can pin a few medals on them.

The Atchison, (Kan.) Globe declares that it does not cost much to live well in Atchison. It says that an American man the other day had fried chicken and cream gravy, mashed potatoes, white bread and hot corn bread with creamy butter for his lunch, and it only cost him twenty cents. A man could have a meal like that any place for the same sum and less if his neighbors were as careless in allowing their poultry to run around the streets as are the Atchison folks.

The good government assessor, Mr. Sig Grunsfeld, apparently does not think that a campaign pledge for reduced pay in the assessor's office is worth keeping. As a sample of good government, Mr. Grunsfeld will no doubt appeal to the voters of Bernalillo county. It is understood that he is not alone in his views as regards lower county salaries. Next!

The police of Chicago have just discovered that flowers deposited on the graves in a large cemetery there after each funeral, are stolen and later disposed of by street vendors. Apparently, there is no form of cussedness which Chicago has overlooked.

WILL PAY MAIL BILLS EVERY MONTH

Railroads Will Not Have to Wait for Their Money After February 1, 1909.

Washington, Dec. 9.—A new method of payment to the railroads for the transportation of mails is to become effective February 1, 1909. Instead of payments for this service quarterly, the roads are to be paid in the same manner the government discharges its other obligations, once each month.

The estimated revenue paid the roads for the year 1908 is $48,000,000. The new system will mean that $4,000,000 will be put into circulation every month instead of $12,000,000 every quarter. The payments for 1909 will be on the same weight basis as 1908.

Although the railroads have been required to file with the postoffice department their vouchers on which the payments are made monthly, the payments were made quarterly. The new system will save the roads a great deal of labor, besides allowing them the use of the money two months sooner than was granted them under the old system.

Some time ago the American railway association, through F. A. Delano, and the Rock Island road, through Guy Adams, superintendent of mails, began a campaign for revision of the manner of reimbursement to the roads for the carrying of mails.

Under section 1231 of the postal laws payments were made quarterly and that prevailed until the recent order, No. 563, was issued by the postmaster general, allowing payments to be made at the end of each month.

The government receives preferred service from the roads in the handling of mails, but the latter have always been compelled to wait three months for payment for that service.

"The government pays all of its bills every month," said Superintendent Adams of the Rock Island mail service upon his return from Washington, "and the roads felt that they too, were entitled to monthly payments. Rural free delivery carriers are paid monthly, with a small original investment, while the roads which represent an investment of millions have waited three months for their reimbursement. This action of the postoffice department in granting a change in the long existing method is very pleasing to the carriers, as it shows a disposition to meet on common ground for a fairer play than the old law presented." The position of the roads is that they are the very life of the postal department, inasmuch as the city carrier, carrying the mail to residence or commercial houses, and the rural delivery carrier, carrying the mails to farmers, are dependent on the railroad to bring to city or station his supply of mail for delivery.

That the railroads should be careful in their rate advances, lest a maximum rate law be enacted and that the shippers and carriers should work more in harmony, were the opinions voiced by J. C. Lincoln, president of the National Industrial Traffic league.

For That Dull Feeling After Eating.

I have used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for some time, and can testify that they have done me more good than any tablets I have ever used. My trouble was a heavy dull feeling after eating.—David Freeman, Kempt, Nova Scotia. These tablets strengthen the stomach and improve the digestion. They also regulate the liver and bowels. NEW YORK ELKS WILL BUILD LODGE

Expect to Spend Million Dollars on Structure to be Finished Next Year.

New York, Dec. 9.—Elks in New York are to spend $1,000,000 on a new clubhouse, hotel and theater, to be erected at Forty-third street and Sixtieth avenue. Work on the structure, which will be built by New York Lodge No. 1, will begin within sixty days.

The building, according to present plans, will be twelve stories high and will be dedicated on Christmas eve, 1909. The chairman of the board of trustees, in speaking of the project, said:

"It is to be a general meeting place for the 250,000 Elks who are residents of the United States, 10,000 of whom live in the city of New York. One hundred and twenty-five rooms will be provided for local or transient Elks, who will also have their own theater, with a seating capacity of 675, billiard rooms, bowling alleys and a huge restaurant. The lodge room will have a seating capacity of 1,000."

Medicine That is Medicine.

"I have suffered a good deal with malaria and stomach complaints, but I have now found a remedy that keeps me well, and that remedy is Electric Bitters; a medicine that is medicine for stomach and liver troubles and for run down conditions," says W. C. Kleister, of Halliday, Ark. Electric Bitters purify and enrich the blood, tone up the nerves, and impart vigor and energy to the weak. Your money will be refunded if it fails to help you. 50c at all druggists.

to this city, is the COMING RESIDENCE SECTION: Don't forget that.

I will let Silver Avenue go,—and it will be, far-away, the finest street in the new state,—at the old prices. I have also 13 lots left on Central Avenue, and when these two streets are sold out Gold, Lead, Coal, Iron and Highland Avenues will all be withdrawn from the market and many thousands of dollars will be expended in grading, setting out trees, and installing one of the most complete and up-to-date, little water plants in the southwest. If you want to make a few easy dollars, or your wife a Christmas present that will mean something, get in quick on some of this property.

Some Reasons Why

The C

Because The Citizen is a home paper. It is either delivered by carrier at the house or is carried home by the business man when his day's work is done and it STAYS THERE. A morning paper is usually carried down town by the hand of the family and hurriedly read.

I

The Citizen is not read hurriedly, but thoroughly, so that all advertisements receive their share of attention. It presents the store news a little ahead, giving the prospective purchaser time to plan a shopping tour for the next morning.

T

Wise advertisers patronize The Citizen because they know their advertisements are seen and read at the homes in the evening, and if they are offering something worthy of attention, their ad has accomplished its mission.

I

The Citizen has never given premiums to subscribers, but is committed to and paid for on the news merits, showing that its subscribers have money with which to buy what they want from legitimate merchants. These are the people The Citizen invites to your store.

Z

The Citizen employs a man whose business it is to look after your advertising wants. He will write your copy if you wish. If not, he will see that your ads are "set up" to look their best and he will attend to them from day to day.

Are you advertising in The Citizen? Your competitors are, and are profiting by it. Do you think conservative business men are spending money where they are not getting results? Get in the swim and watch your business grow.

ANCIENT PAPER HAS MUCH OF INTEREST

Workmen Unearth Note by Hunting, Paper Money and Copy of New Mexico Press.

Workmen who were tearing down an old adobe house adjoining the postoffice in Old Albuquerque yesterday, unearthed a tin can, which was imbedded in the walls of the structure. The can was found to contain a copy of the New Mexico Press, a newspaper published at Albuquerque, bearing the date of August 30, 1864, a note signed by F. and S. Hunting, a one dollar bill of the date of 1862, which was wrapped around paper bills of the denominations of five, ten, twenty-five and fifty cents.

The note was written on light blue ruled paper in a perfectly legible hand, and says: "August 31st, 1864. Fourth year of the American civil war. General Grant trying to take Petersburg and Richmond. Gold at 260 per cent. Indians on the Santa Fe road to the states very hostile. We built this house and the steam mill in Rancho Seco at the same time."

The house where the can was found served both as a residence and store and in it Franz Hunting conducted a store for more than forty years. The ruins of the mill referred to in the note can still be seen on West Central avenue.

The note, paper and money are in the possession of Charles Mann, postmaster at Old Albuquerque, where many have inspected them.

The old newspaper, however, is of the greatest interest. It is Vol. 2, No. 33 of the New Mexico Press, dated Albuquerque, New Mexico, Tuesday, August 30, 1864. Hezekiah S. Johnson, proprietor and editor. The paper is 13 by 9 and one half inches in size, four pages, three columns to the page. It is printed with very fine type. A year's subscription cost $3 and the advertising rates were $75 for one column, one year, or $40 for a half column, one year.

Apparently Mr. Johnson had as much difficulty collecting subscriptions for a newspaper in 1864 as newspapers do now, for at the top of his editorial column he says:

"As the proprietor has not time to write dunning letters and cannot afford the expense of a dunning tour over the territory, subscriptions and renewals must be paid in advance. The leading editorial is entitled 'Plain Talk' and the editor scores the governor of the territory in a lengthy article, saying in part:

"The arrival of each mail brings news of animals being driven off by Indians from trains en route to this territory and of persons going to the states or returning thence, slaughtered. From Kansas newspapers we learn that the people of that state are not exempt from Indian hostilities; but we also learn from the same source that the people of that state are taking measures to defend themselves and to drive the Indians from their borders. Driven from Kansas the Indians will victimize New Mexico as past experience has taught them that they are not as apt to meet with resistance from the people of the territory as from that of Colorado; and while plundering us is much less risky than plundering Colorado, it is much more profitable.

"We speak thus for the reason that at the time of writing, our executive appears to be making no preparation for the defense of the territory."

The editorial continues in the same strain, calling attention to the fact that although a regiment of 3,000 men was promised, no proclamation creating it has been issued. The editor says:

"Perhaps the Santa Fe Gazette (the civil and military organ) may call this hectoring and abusing the very governor who made us a colony, nevertheless we must be prepared for speaking plainly of his excellency when our duties as a journalist and the sufferings of the territory require us to let the authorities at Washington know that he is but a man of straw, without parallel, save Pancho Panza."

The paper tells of the departure of Captain David H. Brotherton with his company, K. of the Fifth U. S. Infantry, for Santa Fe, and says: "Captain B. bears with him the sincere regrets of most of our citizens at the separation."

Attention is called to the advertisement of Strachan and company, and a personal tells of the departure of Lt. Edmund Butler for Bosque de los Pinos. Under the head of "Indian Campaign" it is stated that "Major Updegraff, U. S. A. has gone on a campaign against the Indians of the plains with several companies."

Under the heading: "From the States," appears:

"Reports are that that the fleet in Mobile bay has been destroyed and the city taken. Also, that General Key has cleaned western Virginia of rebels. He will be a good key if he keeps them out. A terrific fight had occurred at Petersburg in which the rebels were repulsed. August 7 Averill routed the combined forces of McCausland, Johnston, Gilmore and McGill, captured all their artillery, 400 horses, 429 prisoners. Our loss was 7 killed, 21 wounded. McCausland, with his demoralized command fled to the mountains. Sherman holds his own at Atlanta, where he has erected field works. The governor of Colorado has been authorized to raise a regiment, cavalry or infantry, of 100 daymen to fight the Indians."

celebrated at Isleta, last Sunday, the paper says, and "we are informed that Stephen Stanley, having difficulty with an Indian, drew his pistol and fired several shots, killing one and wounding two disinterested parties. A party of Pueblos pursued Stanley to the river, but being better mounted than they he made his escape."

"From Arizona," is a story telling of the return of Mr. George Blake from Arizona, via Fort Wingate. Mr. Blake spoke highly of the mineral and agricultural resources of Arizona.

"More Indian Depredations" tells of the arrival of Mr. Perfecto Armijo from the states. Mr. Armijo says that Indians ran off 110 head of mules from his father's train near Cedar Springs and left him without means of bringing on the wagons. "At Armijo's loss is $15,000," says the paper.

"Mr. John L. Waters, of Fort Wingate, was in town last week after goods for that market, as well as the amusements of the metropolis," is another personal paragraph.

Good advice is given thus: "If you have a private quarrel and wish to make a fool of yourself, publish all about it."

A clipping from the New York World tells of "Some of Lee's Disadvantages" while correspondence from the Boston Journal tells "Gossip About General Grant," in which the general says there are only two political parties in the country, those supporting the Union and those against it.

About half of the paper is in Spanish. Advertisements are carried for Strachan and company, who seemed to carry about everything needed by man; a notice of dissolution of the partnership between H. Meyers and Henry August; an ad for H. Cohn, dry goods, boots and shoes; a clothing ad for Brown and DeGree, successors to Wm. F. Enders and company; notice of a sale of 2,390 French muskets and 100,000 ball cartridges at Las Cruces, by the Ordnance department, signed by W. R. Shoemaker, M. S. K. Fort Union Depot; an announcement that W. H. Henri, Esq., will be a candidate to represent Bernalillo county in the next legislature and his friends solicit for him the suffrages of his fellow citizens.

A notice signed by M. Werner, postmaster, says that the mails close for Santa Fe and the states Tuesday at 4 o'clock and for Mexico on Saturday at 6 o'clock. N. T. Armijo and Co. advertise that several small boxes left at their store in Helen, directed to Charles Hopping, must be called for or they will be disposed of according to law. Maurice Schwarzhopf advertises as a bookkeeper and translator and Santiago L. Hubbell advertises as United States Claim agent, office at the residence of Dona Marianna Sarracino. M. Miller advertises that he has a good supply of Santa Fe lager beer always on hand, also other good liquor. The Rio Abajo Weekly Press advertises that "all persons irrespective of sect, condition or politics, are respectfully informed that they can have their job printing done at the job printing of the Rio Abajo Weekly Press, under the immediate supervision of the proprietor, who is a practical book and job printer."

The advertisement of probably the greatest interest, follows: "Attention Travelers. The mail route from El Paso to Kansas City via Santa Fe has been recently fitted up with new and comfortable coaches and fresh animals and now affords a speedy and pleasant trip to the states. Travelers are assured that this route is perfectly safe, such precautions having been taken by the military that there is now no danger to be apprehended from either Indians or guerrillas. Each coach will be in charge of a careful and attentive conductor who will make it his special business to care for the comfort of passengers. We have established a line of express in connection with the United States Express company at Kansas City, Mo., and can forward money or small packages to any part of the United States. David R. Know, general agent. M. L. Byers, agent at Santa Fe."

CHURCHES TO PREVENT WARS OF NATIONS

Council at Philadelphia Hears Report of Committee on International Relations.

Philadelphia, Dec. 8.—The committee on international relations yesterday reported the federal council of the Churches of Christ, recommending that the churches take an active part in settling disputes between nations. The report says in part:

The committee recommends: 1. That the federal council declare its conviction that war is evil, and Christian nations should resort to arbitration in case of international difficulties. 2. That it favors the creation of an international court of arbitral justice.

3. That it is opposed to increase of armaments. 4. That it learns to its satisfaction of the negotiations of treaties of arbitration between the United States and some nations, hopes that other treaties may be negotiated and that their existence be no longer limited by the reason.

SAY ANTI-TRUST SENTIMENT RECEDES

There is Less Opposition to Big Corporations Throughout the Country.

New York, Dec. 9.—Representatives of the big corporations here profess to see in recent events signs of a recession in various directions in the wave of anti-trust feeling that has swept over the country during the past few years and has led to the enactment of laws which the corporations declare have made it impossible for them to do business in certain states. While they are ready to admit that corporate business in the future is certain to be far more strictly regulated than it was done in the beginning of the recent movement for legal supervision, they are encouraged to believe that the extreme features of what they designate as oppressive legislation are likely to be gradually modified, in application at least. As an illustration of this moderating tendency they point to the recent readmission into Texas of Swift & Co., the meat packers, who had been barred from the state for more than a year. To be sure the application for readmission was made under a Delaware charter, supported by an affidavit that the company was not a member of a trust and accompanied by the payment of a fine. At the same time, however, the financiers point knowingly to the fact that so far as announced there has been no change in the directorate of the National Packing company, in which the Swifts as well as the other big Chicago interests ordinarily grouped under the general designation of the beef trust figure. The developments in this direction are being watched with interest by the big insurance companies, the farm machinery combination and others who have found themselves deprived of an important field by the operation of the Texas laws.

Some Peculiar Facts.
The recent registration for the presidential election, together with the compiling of the tax list, have revealed some curious discrepancies and facts here. As a result of an analysis of these figures the city fathers are considerably mixed, for while the rolls show 618,000 voters, the tax list numbers only 200,000 names. In other words, less than one voter out of three and less than one out of every twenty of the entire population is a tax payer, though why this should be no one has yet been able to explain. That 418,000 voters pay no taxes is, however, a matter needing explanation, especially as this condition increases the amount paid by tax paying voters by more than 200 per cent. The present average tax in this city is $403 per capita, for those who pay it, while if distributed among all voters it would average only $177 apiece. In any event, however, the total, which amounts to $120,000,000 annually, must be collected and the fact that only one out of three voters contribute to it merely serves to give New York one of the highest tax rates in the world. In this tax situation is found the chief explanation of the fact that New York is the most expensive city to live in in the United States. When the fact is taken into consideration that a large number of tax payers are women who cannot vote, the average amount of taxes paid by each voter approaches the $700 mark, a very tidy sum even for New York.

To Teach Women.
The first school of its kind—one which will enable women to earn their living in a specialized field, has just been started here. New York has already had various courses of instruction for the fair sex ranging from those which through culinary education and initiation into the mysteries of babies, radiators, furnaces and finances were calculated to enable a woman to make a model wife for mere man, to those which through higher courses of learning aimed to enable her to supplant him in the commercial field. The new course, however, which is being carried on at the city's high schools, aims only to make women proficient in her own field—particularly as a saleswoman. The course, which lasts nine months, is largely made up of laboratory work, that is, practical instruction in the art of selling anything, from pins to pianos. To the student making the largest sales a special degree will be given, while all who complete the course will get diplomas. A number of the large department stores have promised to employ the graduates and the popularity of this novel line of education is shown by the fact that the age of pupils already enrolled runs from 14 years, the minimum, to 86. The lone student of the latter age is preparing to sell false hair.

be held this evening and as there is business of importance to be transacted as well as initiation of candidates, all members are urgently requested to be present. The usual banquet will be held after initiation."Mrs. Temple's Telegram" was one of the cleverest farce comedies seen at the Elks' theater this season. The second performance was better than the first. The actors took advantage of every possible opening to localize the wit and humor with which the lines were filled. The house was small, but appreciative.D. D. Bronson, of the forestry ser-

GRUNSFELD ASKS

half in counties of class A, of which Bernalillo county is one.This reduction was made by the last legislature because the people of Bernalillo county asked for it and because the members of the legislature believed that in some of the wealthier counties, the income to officeholders was much larger than the service they returned the people.It is understood that if Mr. Grunsfeld is not paid as per his request he will bring action against the county and to set aside the present law, which, it is understood, he maintains is not constitutional.During his tenure of office, it is said, Mr. Grunsfeld has not drawn the pay allowed him by the law, which may or may not indicate that for some time he has thought of bringing such action.The $9,238.02, it is understood, represents only the assessor's claim for the year 1907. If this is true, the amount which he would also claim for 1908 would undoubtedly be considerably in excess of that amount, making a total sum of probably not less than $20,000.While no notice has been served on the county commissioners, it is reported that another county officer, who also appeared in print as the signer of a pledge to lower county salaries, will watch the outcome of Mr. Grunsfeld's action with considerable interest and will likely make similar demands in the event that the assessor is successful.The suit, if it is brought, promises to be interesting, and possibly expensive for the taxpayers of the county.The county commissioners, who had heard of the contemplated action, denied the request of the assessor and offered him the two per cent due him under the present law, which provides that the sum shall not exceed $4,500 a year.This action by the commissioners is taken to mean that they will permit the assessor to bring suit and that the county will resist his efforts to collect the four per cent.The action of the assessor in violating the pledge which was probably alone responsible for his election, has provoked severe criticism on all sides today.The Journal-Democrat which has heretofore been one of his most staunch supporters, attempted to sidestep the affair by a lengthy explanation, in which it assured the public that it was deeply grieved.In view of the assessor's attitude since the law was passed followed by his defeat for renomination, his action was not unexpected but it must be admitted that he has left a number of his fellow reformers in embarrassing positions.The affair is principally interesting at this time from the standpoint of the sincerity displayed in the late reform movement for revenue only.The chief feature of the local campaign of two years ago was a published statement bearing the names of all the independent candidates to the effect that they pledged themselves to reduce county salaries. Among the names signed to the pledge as published by the Journal-Democrat was that of Assessor Sigfried Grunsfeld, relative of County Commissioner Alfred Grunsfeld.The Republican majority in the last legislature passed a bill for the reduction of county salaries, in which the counties were classified and the reductions made proportionately because of the difference in the taxation of the various counties. Bernal-lillo county was in the classification
"A" and the reduction in the fees of the assessor's office amounted to two per cent, which was a reduction of one half. Mr. Grunsfeld by his action has set aside the platform upon which he was elected and without which he probably would not have been elected.PILES CURED IN 10 TO 14 DAYS

HER HAT CAUSED HER FRIEND'S ENVY

And Now They Don't Speak—But She Didn't Know It Only
Cost $5.

A number of well known women who recently attended an informal affair, given by an equally well known young woman here, are still talking about the very apparent envy of one of the guests when she saw a hat worn by her next door neighbor. The two do not speak now and a hat was the cause of it all.

One of the women wore a hat which her friends whisper among themselves cost her $18 at a well known local millinery establishment. The woman's neighbor, however, appeared in a new bit of millinery, which for style and general pleasing appearance, made the $18 hat look like the original thirty cents.

The guests passed so many complimentary remarks about the hat, that the once proud possessor of the $18 millinery became envious and made some derogatory remark about her neighbor and the result was a zero atmosphere which has not yet been dispelled.

But the sequel was too good to keep. It has since developed that the hat which caused all the trouble and which has attracted so much favorable comment, besides eclipsing the $18 creation of the envious woman, cost only $5. It was purchased by the fair owner at the big sale now being held by the Cash Millinery Store, 210 South Second street. The hat was originally $12, but everything in the store is now selling for $5, regardless of what the price formerly was, while hats which formerly sold at $5 now sell for $2.50 to as low as $1.50. Having only been in business two months, there is no old stock to work off, hence the styles are the very latest and the prices have never met by any other millinery establishment in the city. It's simply a case of pick out the hat you want, regardless of its price mark, and it's yours for $5. If you are looking for handsome millinery at a bargain, see some of the hats now displayed in the window.

If your horse stumbles or interferes, try the I. X. L. shoeing forge. We will stop him. 315 West Copper.

MUSICAL RECITAL GIVEN LAST NIGHT

Miss Helen Davis and Miss Clara Davis Were Assisted by Quartet and Soloist.

One of the best entertainments given in Albuquerque for some time was the musical and literary recital by the Misses Helen and Clara Davis in the Congregational church last evening. The program consisted of several organ solos by Miss Helen Davis, an accomplished pipe organist, interspersed with readings by Miss Clara Davis. The young ladies were assisted by Mr. Gould and the Etude quartet, consisting of Mrs. Frank, Mrs. Roy McDonald, Miss Lillian Elwood and Mrs. H. J. Collins.

Miss Clara Davis is an accomplished elocutionist, and her humorous recitations last evening were especially good. Miss Helen is well known in the city as a pipe organist, and her selections rank among the best ever listened to by a local audience.

The prettiest features of the evening were the tableaux, "I Shall Give His Angels Charge Over Thee," in which several children, dressed as angels, took part. Mrs. C. A. Frank and Mr. Gould sang the accompanying songs. The second tableau was "A Wedding." The party consisted of the bride and groom, flower bearer and ring bearer, and six bridesmaids. The lighting effects were beautiful.

Following is the program:
Organ Solo—Tocata and Fugue in D Minor..... Bach
Miss Helen Davis.
Reading—Becky Thatcher's Love Affair..... Twain
Miss Clara Davis.
Vocal Solo—Slave Song..... Teresa del Riego
Mrs. H. J. Collins.
Organ Solo—(a) The Curfew..... Horstman
(b) A Springtime Sketch..... Brewer
Miss Helen Davis.
Reading—Almost Beyond Endurance..... Riley
Miss Clara Davis.
Club Singing..... Miss Beatrice Hill
Tableau—He Will Give His Angels Charge Over Thee.....
Solo..... Mrs. C. A. Frank
Solo..... Mr. Gould
Intermission.

Reading—The Last Word..... Van Dyke
Miss Clara Davis.
Organ Solo—Priere and Tocata, from Suite Gothique..... Boelman
Miss Helen Davis.
Reading—An Afternoon Tea..... Loomis
Miss Clara Davis.
Organ Solo—Offertoire de St. Cecilia, No. 2..... Batiste
Miss Helen Davis.
Tableau—Wedding.....
Chorus from the Rose Maiden.....
Meddames C. A. Frank Roy McDonald, Miss Elwood and Mrs. Collins.

URGES THE USE OF INLAND STREAMS

All Waterways Should be Utilized as Quickly as Possible, Says Roosevelt.

Washington, Dec. 9.—President Roosevelt and President-elect Taft were the principal speakers yesterday afternoon when the Southern Commercial congress was merged with the meeting of the conservation commission. In his address, President Roosevelt pointed out the good work accomplished as a result of the movement to save the resources of the country. He said:

Judge Taft, governors, representatives of the states and the great national organizations, members of the national conservation commission, ladies and gentlemen:

I welcome you to Washington and to the work you have gathered to do. No service to the nation in time of peace could be of greater worth than the work which has brought you together. You have come here to make this nation's future as great and happy as its present. It is the largest national task of today, and I thank you for making ready to undertake it. If you do more than fix the national attention upon the problem, you will do vast good. It argues well for our future that you are here; and it is to the credit of our country that in this matter it should take the lead among the nations of the world.

The prudent business man regularly takes account of stock, so that he may know just where he stands; but nations have been slow to profit by the wise example. The United States is substantially the first nation to inventory its stock on hand, and it has only begun to do so in any definite way within the last few months.

Last May the governors of the states and territories met in the White House to confer with each other and with the president upon the material basis of our national welfare. They united in a memorable declaration which should hang on the wall in every school. One outcome of the conference at which the declaration was adopted was the appointment of the national conservation commission, whose chief duty was to prepare an inventory of the natural resources of our country—those resources which are, in the language of the governors, the foundations of our prosperity. Its report is to be used by the president in transmitting to Congress information as to the state of the union so far as natural resources are concerned.

The commission consists of senators and representatives, members of the executive departments and public spirited private citizens familiar with particular resources. It is wholly without funds and it has therefore depended altogether on the public spirit of its members and the co-operation of the executive departments at Washington and in the several states, especially the scientific and statistical bureaus. Its work has brought these bureaus into closer and more effective co-operation than ever before, and for this reason its results will rank as by far the most useful statement of the national resources ever prepared in any country. Each bureau, without relaxing its regular work, has collected and summarized the results of its past work, and has contributed them to the commission. I desire to make special acknowledgment to the men who have so cheerfully and successfully accepted and carried out this additional task. They have rendered a real service to the whole nation at the cost of great personal sacrifice of time and effort to themselves. And the best of it all was the admirable spirit of co-operation which characterized the whole work.

I am especially glad to welcome the co-operation of the states, through their conservation commission and otherwise. Such co-operation gives earnest of mutual assistance between states and nation, and mutual benefits to follow. Without it the great task of perpetuating the national welfare would succeed with difficulty. If states and nation work for it together, all in their several fields, and all joining heartily where the field is common, we are certain of success in advance.

The national organizations concerned with natural resources, such as the great engineering societies, the National Rivers and Harbors congress, which is now holding its fifth convention, the Southern Commercial congress, also in session, which has made so excellent a beginning—all these and many others have joined in the work in a way to gladden the heart of every patriotic American. A special word is due the National Rivers and Harbors congress. It is the one organization that is advocating a waterway policy and not a waterway project, and is national in its scope, for it represents practically all the friends of waterway improvement in these United States. The question of river and harbor improvements and the benefit that such will bring to the producer and the consumer has, through its work, been favorably and prominently brought to the attention of the country. Prominent commercial organizations and men of character and influence throughout practically every section of the country are enlisted in the cause it represents. Its work being strictly national and in no sense sectional, merits and should receive the support of our citizens.

I thank all these organizations. The results of the inventory of resources will be laid before the present conference by the national conservation commission. I shall not attempt to review these results further than to say that the more striking facts brought out at the conference last May were confirmed.

These facts are sobering. No right-minded citizen would stop the proper use of our resources, but every good American must realize that national improvidence follows the same course and leads to the same end as personal improvidence, and that needless waste must stop. The time to decide or neglect the statements of experts and the teaching of the facts has gone by. The time to act on what we know has now arrived. Common prudence, common sense and common business principles are applicable to national affairs just as they are to private affairs and the time has come to use them in dealing with the foundations of our prosperity.

We must not grow hysterical or sensational in depicting our condition. But neither must we allow a false security based on conditions long since passed away to prevent us from seeing the facts and applying business common sense to the situation they disclose. The purpose of the inventory was to give the facts—not to create alarm, but to take stock of what we have, and so to lead to the necessary action for its preservation and increase.

Our natural resources are so related that the use of one affects the use of all the others. This is especially true of our waterways. Every man, woman, and child within our borders has an interest in them, through navigation, power, irrigation or water supply, or through all four. We have neglected our waterways more than any other natural resource and we must put an end to that neglect. The inland waterways commission has told us how.

First, let us prepare a comprehensive plan for inland waterway development along the lines pointed out by the commission. Such a plan must consider every use of the waters, it must put the interests of all the people in advance of any private interests whatsoever. The preparation of this comprehensive plan should begin at once.

Second, let us proceed immediately with the construction of the waterways for which plans have already been approved, and which we are now certain will fit into the outlines of the general plan. Our previous policy of procrastination, delay and fitful and partial action, has borne its perfect fruit. Our waterways are deserted, and in return for our vast expenditures we have little or no actual navigation to show. The people are ready for a change. Let us have it, and at once. If we can pay the cost from current revenues let us do so. If not let us issue bonds. By either method, let us have the waterways and that quickly. The plan and the work can and should proceed together. While the work we are sure of is being begun, the plan for the rest can be prepared.

The work therefore should begin at once. But there must not be the slightest recklessness or waste of money. No work whatever should be undertaken that has not been thoroughly examined and fully approved by competent experts. Above all not one cent should be expended to satisfy special interests, whether of a business or a locality, or promote any man's political fortunes. This is too large a matter to be handled in such a way. We must approach it from the point of view of the national interest, under the guidance of the wisest experts in engineering, in transportation and in all the uses of our streams. Forests and waterways cannot be separated in any successful treatment of either. Forest protection and river development must go hand in hand. The three things which should be done without any further delay are therefore: First, to provide for a comprehensive plan of waterway development. Second, to begin at once on work already planned that will surely fit into the larger plan. Third, to provide amply for forest protection against fire, against reckless cutting, against wanton or reckless destruction of all kinds, and to secure the Appalachian and White mountain national forests without delay.

OLD GERONIMO MAY RETURN TO WEST

Apache Would Like to Visit Arizona and New Mexico With His Tribe Again.

Lawton, Okla., Dec. 9.—Although Old Geronimo is fast failing in years caused by the awful hardships experienced during the days that he held the west and the southwest in terror, prior to 1886, he can still carry a story with great accuracy. He is now busily engaged with many of the Apache bucks, repeating the tales of the Apache cattle and assisting in the branding of several thousand yearlings. The work is being done while the Apache Indians are making their annual roundup of cattle in the Fort Sill military reservation. All cattle are being collected at the Rock Island tanks near Elgin where the calves will be branded.

Lieutenant George Purlington, who has charge of the Apache prisoners of war and their possessions, is overseeing the roundup. Working with him and assisting in the roundup are 100 men and boys.

A complete invoice of everything belonging to the Indians is to be made and it is estimated that the Apache herd of cattle contains 10,000 head, probably the largest single herd in Oklahoma. One of the interesting things in connection with this herd of cattle is the fact that there are very few dry cattle. This year there is the largest crop of calves ever raised on the reservation. According to the annual custom of handling these cattle the cows are numbered and in branding, the calves are branded with the same number as their mothers. The better calves are retained—no cows being sold until too old for active life on the range and the greater part of the steers are shipped and sold.

Each Indian owns cows bearing his numbers and the young cows bearing the same number become his property. It is estimated that there are approximately 500 steer calves this year, which will bring the tribe about $25,000.

Old Geronimo was in Lawton recently and expressed himself, through an interpreter, on the Indian and his future. "My people are going fast," he said, in his broken Spanish. Nearly all are dead now, soon all will be dead. Too much whiskey kill Indian. Soon no more at all. That branch of the tribe prisoners of war, upon the Fort Sill reservation, has diminished until they number less than 250 members. This state of affairs grieves the old broken-down Apache chief more than anything that has ever come up in his life in times of war or peace. It has always been his ambition to have the tribe, like his white brethren, to thrive and increase in number and influence.

Geronimo was the chief attraction at the last pow-wow given by the blanketed Indians at Collinsville. At that time he met the Osages, Shawnees and a few Choctaws and Creeks. Geronimo went over with an armed escort, upon permission from the secretary of war, William H. Taft. J. A. Dickerson, secretary of the Collinsville Commercial club, came to Fort Sill and accompanied the old chief, his wife and daughter to Collinsville. When old Geronimo reached the spot of the great Indian pow-wow, and found there E. W. Longston, a Lawton photographer and one of his close personal friends, having made many photos for the old chief, who would not permit any one to return home with him, rather preferred to come back with Mr. Longston.

There was nothing out of the ordinary in the dress of Geronimo to attract attention to his person when he arrived at the pow-wow, but he was not to be outdone, and when he saw the Shawnees and Osages all togged out in their many colored blankets and glaring feather headdresses and palm of gaudy tints, he retired to his tent and soon emerged therefrom in all his paint and feathers. He was a grand, upstanding figure of a man. Yet he looked diminutive beside the big fat forms of Osage and Shawnee until he looked around and then the big husky Osages and tall Shawnees seemed to wither away and leave but the single figure of the old warrior in the foreground.

He took occasion early in the convention of Indians to show his contempt for the blanketed Indians. When he was introduced to the chiefs of the other tribes he held a limp hand and did not say a word. One of the other chiefs said it was like shaking hands with a monument.

In his speech made at that time, he said: "The hope of my people is the Christian religion. By that alone will the remnant that remains be saved. They need some restraint. Too long they have been enemies of the white man. The white brothers will do all right by the Indian. It is the Indian's fault. I believe in God myself. (Geronimo is a member of the Dutch Reformed church near Fort Sill and is an active worker in the church.) And every Indian ought to believe in God and follow his teachings. The sooner the Indian finds out that he will keep on dying out unless he does something to save himself, the sooner will the Indians amount to something. Indians amount to nothing now. Great White Father pays no attention to Indian. Indian goes to Great White Father, gets drunk. Great White Father disgusted and turns away. Indian ought to go to Great White Father like white man. White man goes to Great White Father, and Great White Father listens. White man goes sober, Indian should do the same."

"I want to go back to my old home before I die," the old chief said, plaintively. "I am tired of killing white brother. I am 86 years old. Tired of fight and want rest. Want to go back to the mountains again. I asked the Great White Father to allow me to go back, and he says no. He says he can trust me but cannot trust others. There are not many Apaches left. White men kill off Apaches. But Apache good Indian now and will remain good. I may word before passing on the happy hunting ground prepared for the Indian."

effect could not have been more rapid when the question was put to him what he thought of Miles. He straightened up and his eyes shone like coals. His hands trembled and his lips twisted as in a spasm of passion. He threw his hand high in the air above his head and in a muttered tone in the Spanish language, he spoke to the interpreter. "The old man does not want to talk of General Miles. He does not want to say anything about those days. He is trying to forget them, and any reference to the past is very painful and agitates him very much. So do not mention Miles, or Crook, or Lawton, or any of the officers who fought against him."

"No more leaving of the Fort Sill reservation," he said today. "I am going to stop there until the Great White Father gives Indian right to go back to his old home in Arizona and New Mexico."

Wherever Geronimo goes he always collects about him many curious on-lookers and rapidly disposes of whatever curiosity or trinket he is possessed of. It is estimated that he cleared as much as $50 a day at the Collinsville pow-wow, disposing of his photos at 25 cents apiece, and placing his autograph, a very crudely spelled out name, GERONIMO, using all capital letters, added another 25 cents to the value of his cards.

There is a movement on foot by the war department to transfer the tribe from Fort Sill to Fort Reno, so as to make room for the enlargement of Fort Sill to a bridge post. This is opposed by Geronimo and his successor, Asa Deluke, the newly elected chief. Should the department decide to make this change, Chief Asa announces that he will get a permit from the department to go back to New Mexico. He is only one of the younger set of Indians, and having taken part in the outrages, he is at liberty to leave and go to the west. It is his desire, however, to remain with his tribesmen as long as possible.

HOUSE OF LORDS

MAY BE REFORMED

Committee Would Make Changes in British Upper House of Parliament.

London, Dec. 9.—The report of the select committee of the House of Lords, appointed to suggest a plan for the reform of the upper house, has been issued. The committee finds it undesirable that the possession of a peerage should of itself give the right to sit and vote in the House of Lords.

It then sets forth that all hereditary peers should be formed into an electoral body for the purpose of electing 200 of their number to sit and vote as the "Lords of Parliament," not for life, but for a single Parliament; that the spiritual lords of Parliament be reduced to ten, to be selected by the bishops; that Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa have representatives in the House of Lords; that a number of hereditary peers, estimated at 130, should sit without the necessity of election; that these include men who have held the post of cabinet minister, viceroy, governor general of Canada and governor of the larger colonies, and naval and military officers of high rank and that twenty years' service in the House of Commons shall entitle one to a seat among the peers. This plan will give the reformed House of Lords about 250 members.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is not a dangerous condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh), that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

STILL WORLD'S TENNIS CHAMPIONS

NORMAN E. BROOKES.

A. F. WILDING.

The world's tennis championship was decided at Melbourne, Australia, recently, and the Australasian team, Brookes and Wilding, retained the Davis trophy, emblematic of the world's honors.

The opponents of the Australasians were Beals C. Wright and Frederick B. Alexander of the United States. This pair defeated England's team, Ritchie and Parke, at Boston, then sailed to the antipodes in a vain endeavor to capture the Davis cup.

That the Australasians are the best tennis players in the world was conclusively shown by the scores of the trophy matches.

Wright and Alexander won but one set in the four played, the scores being 6-3, 6-2, 4-6 and 6-2. The Americans were clearly outclassed. In the singles Wilding beat Alexander in the final round 4-6, 6-0, 6-2, 6-2.

Brookes is a native of Australia and Wilding of New Zealand.

THE FOREIGNERS TOOK BIG PROFITS

With Rise in Stock Markets. Many Bonds Have Been Returned From Abroad

New York, Dec. 9.—For some time past it has been evident that the rise in stocks had been excessively pushed. The big trading element, which now carries a much larger share of floating stocks than is generally supposed, showed no disposition to enlarge its commitments on the long side; while the investing and speculative public profiting by past experience, could not be induced to absorb any important portion of the stocks offered by the big holders, who have been energetically lifting the market ever since the panic. Along with this cessation of home buying came free foreign selling. London openly encouraged realizing upon American stocks, and conservative foreign bankers have been very explicit in their disapproval of our stock market manipulations. To their clients they fully expressed the opinion that the rise in this market had been altogether too rapid and out of all proportion to the improvement in business conditions on this side of the Atlantic. In consequence there has been a return of American stocks and bonds at a considerable profit to the foreign holders, and on a scale not witnessed in many months. It so happened that some of our own leading bankers held similar opinions, though possibly from different motives. They had no desire to see another speculative debacle, such as preceded the collapse of 1907; because they recognized that a second panic would not only indefinitely postpone recovery, but might invite a wider, deeper and more lasting depression than the first. Moreover, last year's violent derangement of credit had brought to an abrupt standstill many of the extensive railroad improvements rendered imperative by inadequate transportation facilities. For these increased facilities there was a most urgent demand which could not be satisfied until the money market and the security market admitted of fresh capital issues which had been temporarily suspended. It is well known that our railroads must now come into the market with many new important issues, which could not be successfully floated in an excited and dangerously high stock market. All conservative forces, therefore, were united in discouraging a speculative furor, and it is to be hoped they will succeed. Even many of the speculative leaders have wisely moderated their efforts to force prices to a higher level at this time, recognizing that it is more prudent to wait until the present level has been well established or until a further improvement in conditions warrants still better prices. One thing is certain, there are few, if any, bargains in the New York stock market, and shrewd investors who usually begin to look around at this season are not likely to pick up many stocks for their strong boxes at present prices; bonds and some of the new issues being more likely to receive the preference as affording safe and more profitable returns on their money. The difficulty of engineering a January rise, which often starts in December, will thus be greater than usual, and it may be that some time will elapse before another prolonged bull movement can be successfully inaugurated. Meanwhile, we should advise the taking of profits on all good rallies for the market leaders in spite of lessened holdings still have stocks for sale and will no doubt keep up an appearance of strength, notwithstanding weakened technical conditions. This was shown in the effort to advance second class stocks as a cover for selling the high priced issues. The money market, while firmer, is still too easy to please large lenders who desire more profitable employment for their surplus funds. The prolonged ease in money was not entirely satisfactory. It is one of the usual sequences of panic and indicates continued inactivity in some lines of business. It is also objectionable for the reason that an excessive supply of cheap money is always a dangerous incentive to unwholesome speculation. The present inflation in stocks and increased speculation in real estate has been largely fostered by redundant money and low interest rates. Gradually, however, this condition will disappear. Business is becoming more active, and both mercantile and industrial demands will grow. Many new capital issues are forthcoming and these should shortly considerably diminish the surplus of idle capital. Gold exports have also begun and will operate on the side of firmer rates for money. Having an unusual supply of gold at hand, we can readily spare large sums without injury, and if Europe continues to buy sparingly of our grain and cotton while freely selling our securities it follows that considerable gold must go abroad in settlement. Some authorities already expect to see $10,000,000, more or less, sent out this month. By arousing public opinion to the grave political dangers arising from monopolistic and corporatist abuses, President Roosevelt did his country an inestimable service, the value of which will be infinitely more appreciated in the future than at present. The dose he administered was a bitter one, but the patient needed it. The period for agitation, however, is now over. Mr. Roosevelt has done the work for which he was best fitted, and the work of crystallizing an awakened public opinion into intelligent and equitable legislation regarding corporations must soon be begun. It should be left to the judicious action of Congress aided as far as practicable by the careful Mr. Taft, who stands pledged for the Roosevelt policies of reform. The tariff, however, is sure to be the main issue of the coming session of Congress; also of the special session which Mr. Taft will very likely call. In all probability the tariff discussion will be complicated by the rapidly growing government deficit which if not checked will cause no little embarrassment, for either national expenses must be checked or further sources of revenue provided, the latter having suffered from business depression and the prohibition campaign. Last year the government reaped a surplus of $84,000,000; this year there is a deficit of $58,000,000, a loss of $142,000,000 in twelve months. The tariff battle will chiefly center on the steel schedule, especially as Mr. Carnegie has said the steel duties are unnecessary and many American manufacturers wish to buy their raw materials in shape of steel in the cheapest market. More or less hesitation is sure to accompany any tariff agitation, but the derangement to business will be much less than on former occasions, because many of our industries are much less dependent upon a tariff than formerly and there are many industries that would be positively stimulated by gaining cheaper raw materials and wider markets under adequate tariff revision. In any case there is no serious disturbance to business in sight at present arising from new tariff legislation. The business outlook is slowly but surely improving and the main difficulty with the stock market is that it has discounted such improvement probably too far in advance, hence it is now trying to resist the natural reactionary tendencies. Friday's outburst of strength was one of those displays which may be expected at almost any time while the market remains so completely in control of powerful manipulators.

Marked for Death.

"Three years ago I was marked for death. A graveyard cough was tearing my lungs to pieces. Doctors failed to help me, and hope had fled, when my husband got Dr. King's New Discovery," says Mrs. A. C. Williams, of Bac, Ky. "The first dose helped me and improvement kept on until I had gained 58 pounds in weight and my health was fully restored." This medicine holds the world's healing record for coughs and colds and lung and throat diseases. It prevents pneumonia. Sold under guarantee at all druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

TO ESTABLISH POLISH EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTE.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Application for a charter for the Polish educational institute has been filed with the secretary of state at Springfield as the initial step toward the creation of the largest and most important center of instruction in the United States, devoted to the teaching of the young of Polish extraction or birth.

Eventually lecture halls, gymnasiums and auditoriums for educational purposes to accommodate more than 2,000 pupils will be constructed in Chicago at a cost of $500,000.

GOOD SHOWING ON CARLSBAD PROJECT DRINK PLENTY OF GOOD PURE WATER

First Year Indicates What Valuable Prescription Which can be Accomplished with Any Can Prepare at Systematic Work. Home.

Carlsbad, N. M., Dec. 9.—The first crop season, after the opening of the Carlsbad project, built by the U. S. reclamation service, closes with a most excellent showing to the men who have worked intelligently, and taken advantage of the natural conditions existing in this part of the territory. The day of the pioneer is over. He is never a developer in the true sense of the word. He has courage to settle on land he it ever so uninviting, clear it, and bring it into a semblance of cultivation. He gets but small returns as he lacks the skill to compel the soil to return bounty. Having an unusual supply of gold at hand, we can readily spare large sums without injury, and if Europe continues to buy sparingly of our grain and cotton while freely selling our securities it follows that considerable gold must go abroad in settlement. Some authorities already expect to see $10,000,000, more or less, sent out this month.

Friday's outburst of strength was one of those displays which may be expected at almost any time while the market remains so completely in control of powerful manipulators.

There are other new settlers that have done equally as well. To the end of the first year he had solved the puzzle and began to farm skillfully and profitably. He planted about fifty acres of alfalfa. He plowed his ground, harrowed it, disked it, harrowed it again, leveled it, in short, went over his land a dozen times or more before it was ready to plant. He planted and the results were a surprise to his neighbors, who had always claimed that alfalfa would never grow in that locality. At the end of his second season Mr. Ball has taken in enough money to cover his original investment, and the cost of every improvement that has been made on the place, including large residence, sheds, deep well, granary, etc. He has a place that attracts the attention of the passer-by, and is today worth over $100 an acre, the original price paid being $16 an acre. Mr. Ball has planted more alfalfa this year and is otherwise improving his place, being satisfied that the Carlsbad project is a good place to live and make a living.

Another illustration may be given in a different line. In this case only fifteen acres are involved. It was not an attractive piece of land, but the new owner went at it with intelligence and skill and in a few months the fifteen acres were beautiful to look at. In three years it has come to be a fine orchard, where once the mesquite brush and the cactus ruled unhampered. In two more years this orchard will be turning off fruit at the rate of $500 an acre.

These two examples illustrate what can be done by intelligent work in this climate with this soil and ample water supply.

LIFE'S JOURNEY

Is Burdensome to Many in Albuquerque.

Life's journey is a heavy burden With a constantly aching back. With urinary disorders, diabetes, With any kidney ail.

Doan's Kidney Pills relieve and cure.

Here is Albuquerque proof that this is so:

Mrs. E. Fournelle, living at 403 South Broadway, Albuquerque, N. M., says: "I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a great many of my friends and acquaintances, and they have learned of a valuable medicine and, like myself, appreciate it exceedingly. Two years ago I took Doan's Kidney Pills, using in all three boxes, and was cured of pain in my back, a trouble which I had for a good many years. I was also greatly relieved of rheumatism at the time and have never been bothered with this complaint since. There is no question as to the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WOMEN OF THE WORLD MEET EVERY FRIDAY Meet Every Friday Evening at Sharp. FOREST IN ELKS' THEATER. E. W. Moore, C. C. D. E. Phillips, Clerk. 403 West Lead Avenue. VISITING SOVEREIGNS WELCOME.

"The people here do not drink enough water to keep them healthy," exclaimed a well-known authority. "The numerous cases of kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the drinking of water, nature's greatest medicine, has been neglected."

"Stop loading your system with medicines and cure-alls; but get on the water wagon. If you are really sick, why, of course, take the proper medicines—plain, common, vegetable treatment, which will not shatter the nerves or ruin the stomach." To cure rheumatism you must make the kidneys do their work; they are the filters of the blood. They must be made to strain out of the blood the waste matter and acids that cause rheumatism; the urine must be neutralized so it will no longer be a source of irritation to the bladder, and, most of all, you must keep these acids from forming in the stomach. This is the case of stomach trouble and poor digestion. For these conditions you can do no better than take the following prescription: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in bottle and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, but don't forget the water. Drink plenty and often.

This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in each household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, backache or urinary trouble, no matter how slight.

Good Cough Medicine for Children. The season for coughs and colds is now at hand and too much care cannot be used to protect the children. A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when he has a cold. The quicker you cure his cold the less the risk. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the sole reliance of many mothers, and few of those who have tried it are willing to use any other. Mrs. F. P. Starcher, of Ripley, W. Va., says: "I have never used anything other than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for my children and it has always given good satisfaction." This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a child as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

Now, the Journal seems to think I ought to be satisfied with anything that might be "dished out" to me through the whims and caprices of a legislature prompted by malice or ill will, as the bill seems to indicate.

I deny the assertion of the Journal, that I was not nominated on this account, as every man would act the same as I did were he in my place. The fight that was made on me was on account of the raising of the assessment of the Montezuma Trust company, which incurred the enmity of W. H. Gillenwater, who is interested in both concerns, and who is chairman of the Republican county committee.

In the discharge of my official duties I have tried to do the right thing towards the people and am willing to leave my case in their hands. Respectfully submitted,
