HEARING ON RATES BEGINS BEFORE COMMISSIONER CLEMENTS

Proceedings Instituted by State Corporation Commission to Equalize Transportation Charges in New Mexico.

MANY WITNESSES ARE EXAMINED FIRST DAY

Citizens From Many Points Appear to Tell of Burdens Which Hamper Growth and Development of Industry.

CHIEF POINTS BROUGHT OUT IN TESTIMONY

The following salient points were brought out in the evidence introduced by the state corporation commission in the rate hearing yesterday:

- * That as to very many articles of every day commerce, it is cheaper to ship through New Mexico in either direction than to ship into New Mexico.
- * That the rate from Kansas City to Gallup on certain commodities is the highest main line rate in the United States.
- * That certain jobbers in Albuquerque are accustomed to fill orders direct from the manufacturer by way of El Paso in order to secure the lower rate and compete with El Paso merchants.
- * That in many instances the El Paso merchant can buy goods from the factory and reship them to Deming at a lower rate than the Deming merchant can buy the same goods in the same quantities direct.
- * That the wool growing industry in Albuquerque has been killed by inequality in freight rates.

Hearing on the proceedings instituted by the New Mexico Corporation Commission before the United States Interstate Commerce Commission to equalize freight rates in this state was begun yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the federal court room in the postoffice building, Judge C.
Clements, president of the interstate commission, presided at the hearing, but announced at the outset that he would be compelled to return east tonight, and that subsequent hearings would be conducted by Examiner Mackley for the commission.

Interest in the proceedings was attended by the large and representative audience that sat through the hearing from 10 o'clock in the morning until 5:30 in the afternoon. A committee from the Albuquerque Commercial club, headed by President George A. Kaseaman, was present, ready to render any assistance that might be needed, but the case had been so thoroughly prepared by the state corporation commission that there was little for the local contin-gent to do.

Representing the corporation commission as special counsel was Attorney Samuel H. Cowan, of Fort Worth, recognized as one of the leading specialists in railroad rate litigation in the United States. Attorney General Clancy was unable to attend the hearing on account of previous court engagements, but it was announced that he would file briefs in the case at the proper time.

Representing the Santa Fe railway, the railroad principally affected by the proposed change of rates, was S. T. Bledsoe, general attorney for the company in Oklahoma. Mr. Bledsoe was assisted in the examination of witnesses by F. B. Houghton, freight traffic manager, and W. R. Brown, of El Paso, general freight and passenger agent of the Santa Fe. The Southwestern Pacific was represented by J. C.
Stubbs, the El Paso & Southwestern by John Franklin, the Los Angeles Jobbers' association by Fred P. Greer-son, the Arizona corporation commission by Commissioner F. A. Jones, and certain Pecon valley intervenors by Rufus Daniels.

Merchants and shippers from Deming, Gallup, Silver City and other cities in New Mexico were also present, as well as every member of the New Mexico corporation commission.

The first witness to be introduced by Mr. Cowan, for the commission, was Rate Expert B. F. Segerson, who was on the stand during all of the morning session and part of the time during the afternoon. Mr. Segerson's testimony was for the most part an explanation of numerous tables of figures which had been compiled by him in his official capacity and which were introduced in evidence without objection.

The essential part of Mr. Segerson's testimony was to the effect that from the east the rates into New Mexico were, in his opinion, excessive and discriminatory in favor of El Paso, while from the west, in least degree, the rates were equally discriminatory in favor of Trinidad. In other words, he stated, it was in many instances cheaper to ship through New Mexico in either direction than to ship into the state.

Mr. Segerson did not believe it would be wise to abolish the "blanket" rate for New Mexico points and place matters on a mileage basis, but thought that the rates embraced in the present "blanket" should be reduced so as to equalize with El Paso and Trinidad.

Cross-examination of Mr. Segerson was deferred until the attorneys for the railroad companies could examine the statements filed in evidence by him.

C. N. Cotton, president of the C. N.
Cotton company, general merchants, of Gallup, made a highly entertaining witness and frequently had the court room in a breeze of laughter. Mr. Cotton was evidently afraid of being tripped up, and in reply to a question by Attorney Gregson, said: "Oh, go along, you've got something up your sleeve."

Mr. Cotton had himself prepared to file a complaint before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and had the necessary papers drawn in the proceeding that he proposed to institute; but on learning that the state corporation commission had taken action in the matter, refrained from filing his complaint. He introduced his petition in evidence, together with a statement of rates prepared by him.

Mr. Cotton's contention was that the through rate to Gallup as it now exists is the through rate to Albuquerque plus the local rate from Albuquerque to Gallup. He alleged that the local rate to Gallup had never been changed since the merging of the Santa Fe with the old Atlantic & Pacific. It was during the examination of Mr. Cotton that it developed that the rate to Gallup is the highest main line rate in the United States.
Mr. Cotton declared that he would be perfectly satisfied to come in on the same "blanket" with Albuquerque.

"Don't ask me any foolish questions," said Mr. Cotton in reply to a question on cross-examination.
"Everybody's rate is higher than mine."

TRUST REGULATION OCCUPIES TIME OF PRESIDENT

Series of Conferences With Congressional Leaders Begins With View to Outlining General Program.

Washington, Nov. 20.—President Wilson began today a series of conferences on phases of the trust question on which he will treat in a general way in his address at the regular session of congress next month.

The president had a long conference with Senator John Sharpe Williams of Mississippi, author of a bill to exclude holding companies from interstate commerce, and talked at length tonight with Representative Stanley of Kentucky, head of the committee which investigated the United States Steel corporation in the last congress. It is understood that Mr. Wilson will confer with other democratic leaders who have made an extensive study of the trust question, and it is expected that the address will make general recommendations, leaving it to the committee of congress to work out the specific remedies to be written in bills.

Those who have talked with the president on the trust question, say he has asked many questions concerning the inquiries heretofore conducted, and apparently is seeking to learn to what extent the views of the democratic leaders agree with those gained from his own inspection of the problem.

RELENTLESS SHERIFF SENDS MAN TO PEN

Cripple Creek, Colo., Nov. 20.— Marion McAdams, convicted yesterday of the murder of Walter Irwin at the Four Mile Run ranch, was sentenced today to life imprisonment on the jury's verdict of murder in the second degree.

The sentencing of McAdams ended a man hunt begun by Sheriff Von Phul immediately upon his election.
The murder had been committed during the administration of his predecessor in June, 1912, and all clues to the murderer had disappeared. Mc-Adams had been at liberty untraced over a year when Von Phul, having gathered a mass of circumstantial evidence, arrested him and secured a confession. McAdams pleaded guilty to second degree murder on the advice of his attorneys.

TRAIN PLUNGES INTO LAKE SUPERIOR, REPORT

Winipeg, Man., Nov. 21.—It was reported early this morning that Canadian Pacific passenger train No. 1 had plunged into Lake Superior, near Fort William, Ont.

Tax For Naval Construction.
Washington, Nov. 20.—To meet the cost of naval construction, Representative Bailey of Pennsylvania proposed today a super-tax of 5 per cent on all incomes of $20,000 or over, however derived, collectable under the same regulations as the regular income tax.

CURRENCY BILLS TO NUMBER OF THREE ON CALENDAR OF SENATE

Original House Measure, Amendments Offered by Democrats and Republican Document All Reported.

BATTLE EXPECTED TO OPEN SATURDAY

Steering Committee to Meet Today and Arrange Program of Debate; Result Cannot Be Forecasted.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE) Washington, Nov. 20.—Final preparations were made today for the battle over the administration currency reform bill on the floor of the senate, which will begin Saturday. Three separate currency bills, all based upon the same general theory, will be placed before the senate by the divided banking and currency committees.

Unable to agree on amendments, the committee will present the Glass-Owen bill as originally introduced by the administration and passed by the house. The measure, with amendments assumed to be acceptable to the president, will be submitted by Chairman Owen and five other democrats of the committee, Senators Tamm, Hull, Reed, O'Gorman, and Shafroth. A bill materially changing the structure of the house measure will be presented by the republicans, Senators Nelson, Weeks, Brainerd, McLean and Crawford and Senator Hitchcock.

All three of the proposed bills contemplate the issue of a currency reformed by the prime commercial paper held by the banks of the country. Each proposes the establishment of reserve banks, which will issue the currency in exchange for commercial paper, to the banks, hold the reserves behind their deposits, mobilized for use in any emergency, and rediscount the paper held by banks in the system, thus keeping available always credit and currency to ward off financial crises. The bills propose to put the entire system under the control of a federal reserve board to be appointed by the president.

Although agreeing as to the purposes to be accomplished by the proposed legislation, the three plans differ in almost every point in attempting to carry out these purposes. As it passed the house, the Glass-Owen bill proposed the creation of twelve regional banks. The democrats of the senate committee cut them to eight, the minimum number the president was willing to accept. The republicans reduced the number to four, holding that the smaller number would more effectively concentrate the resources of the country.

The twelve regional banks proposed by the house bill would be owned by the banks through compulsory subscription to the stock, and the banks would elect six of the nine directors of each regional institution.
This plan was retained by the democrats of the senate committee, although it was further provided that if the banks did not furnish enough capital to run the system, the stock might be sold to the public.

On this point, Senator Hitchcock and the republicans departed from the administration theory of creating a "bank of banks" and materially changed the bill. They provided that the reserve banks' capital should be subscribed by the public, the banks taking whatever part the public would not take, and that the government, through the federal reserve board, should appoint five of the nine directors of each regional bank.

Visiting Teachers Are Assured Ample Accommodations

The local committee on arrangements desires to announce that ample accommodations have been secured for the teachers and their friends attending the New Mexico Educational association, meeting at Albuquerque, November 24-26.

A large number of the best homes in the city have been opened for entertainment. All persons desiring rooms, who have not acquired them on arrival, will be directed to rooms by attendants wearing proper badges. The price of these rooms ranges from fifty to seventy-five cents per person.

The hotel and restaurant directory that has been distributed, tells the price agreed upon for rooms and meals by the different hotels, restaurants and cafes. Visitors finding different prices from those quoted in the directory will promptly report to the guides or telephone the secretary of the Commercial club, phone 42, and they will be directed to rooms at prices above stated.

RENEGADE NAVAJOES WEAKENING; NOW BELIEVED THEY WILL GIVE UP

Agent W. T. Shelton Hopeful That Rebellious Band on Beautiful Mountain Is Ready to Make Peace.

CONTINUED RAIN HAS DAMPENED THEIR ARDOR

Another One of Fugitive Bucks Surrenders Himself and Is Held Pending Instructions From U. S. Marshal.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Farmington, N. M., Nov. 20.—Continued rain for the last twenty-four hours has rendered the position of the renegade Navajo Indians, encamped on Beautiful mountain, near the Shiprock agency, very trying, and has cooled materially the ardor of their sympathizers. These conditions also gave encouragement to agency officials who have been trying to secure a settlement without bloodshed.
The hope was expressed today that
cause the Indians to weaken in their avowed determination to fight, if any attempt was made to capture the seven braves wanted by the United States court in New Mexico.

Another hopeful sign was the action of one of the accused Indians today in surrendering to Indian Agent W. T. Shelton at Shiprock. The brave is held awaiting orders from United States Marshal A. H. Hunspeck, at Santa Fe.

That order will be restored and the present difference adjusted with little, if any, actual resistance, was the opinion expressed today by Agent Shelton. No definite information could be had today as to the exact number of Indians encamped on Beautiful mountain, estimates of persons returning from that vicinity varying from a few dozen to two or three hundred. It was agreed, however, that they were entrenched in an almost impenetrable position, armed with modern rifles and a considerable supply of ammunition. Now that troops are enroute to Shiprock, it is the opinion of those familiar with the situation that the Indians will not attempt to leave their mountain fortress. This knowledge has lessened the fear of a raid among the widely scattered settlers.

Today the medicine men, who declare that the school work at the agency destroys their occupation, continued their efforts to induce others to join in the uprising, but it was said with little, if any, success.

The present incident uprising developed from filing with Agent Shelton, in September, of charges of murder, highway and statutory violation against a number of Indians in a remote part of the reservation, known as the Black Hills. It is said the information on which the charges were based was secured from Navajo women, who were held at the agency for their protection. In Shelton's absence, a dozen Indians, including the accused men, visited the agency, overpowered the police and carried away the prisoners.

Agent Shelton's efforts to induce the leaders to surrender were unsuccessful, and the cases were taken to the United States district court for trial.

NEW MEXICANS HAD NOTES IN DEFUNCT PITTSBURGH BANK

Trial of Former Director of Eastern Institution Brings in Names of E. R. Paul and W. H. Andrews.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE) Pittsburgh, Nov. 20.—Alex Richmond, former director of the Commo-dian National bank, now in the hands of a receiver, was placed on trial today on charges of having misapplied funds of the institution.

Arthur Hirsch, of Chicago, who formerly lived here, testified that employees of his office signed notes at the request of Richmond and that the endorsements of concerns which never existed were written on the notes. It was brought out that these notes were for the purpose of lifting a note for $50,000 given by E. R. Paul, of the Santa Fe Central railroad company. A letter from T. E. Kane, acting comptroller of the currency, was introduced, recommending that a number of notes held by the bank be reduced. Among these was Paul's note, one for $24,000 of the New Mexico Fuel & Iron company, and one for $10,000 of W. H. Andrews, who formerly represented the territory of New Mexico in congress.

MEXICAN DICTATOR DELIVERS HIS ADDRESS TO CONGRESS

Usual Expression of Whimsical Humor Is Absent From Hu-erta's Face as He Appears in Capitol.

O'SHAUGHNESSY NOT AMONG THOSE PRESENT

Assemblage Is Composed Mostly of Older Men and Is Suggestive of Days of Porfirio Diaz.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE) Mexico City, Nov. 20.—His face showing none of that whimsical humor which at times characterizes him, President Huerta appeared this evening before the new Mexican congress and read his message. Few Mexican presidents have read at the formal opening sessions of congress shorter messages, and few have confined themselves entirely to one subject. It was nothing more than a terse explanation of his motives for dissolving the old congress, most of the members of which are in the penitentiary accused of sedition. The senate and chamber of deputies met in joint session and congress was formally declared convened at 5:30 p. m. President Huerta came to the congress through lines of troops and the small crowd which gathered were not demonstrative.

There were no extraneous frills to the session. It was more in the nature of a business meeting between the president and the men converted into lawmakers by the recent so-called elections. The message General Huerta bore to them was in its essence an admonition. The incident he related to them of the dissolution of the previous congress was one by which he intimated they might be guided in their conduct as congressmen.

The reply of the speaker, Eduardo Tamara, was brief. Not all the congressmen were present. Twenty-seven, the majority of whom were of the Catholic party, failed to put in an appearance. It had been announced that the Catholic members had held a meeting and decided not to participate in the session. This gave rise to the baseless rumor that Speaker Tamara would not preside, as he is a member of that party.

The new congress showed many faces familiar during the days of Porfirio Diaz. The exiled ruler would have felt entirely at home had he stepped into the chamber. The congress is composed for the most part of quiet men, representative of the older and more conservative element, and General Huerta appeared to realize this, reading them his message in a grim, straightforward manner, such as had not been witnessed in the chamber in recent years.

The indulgence in no oratorical effort He was applauded only upon his arrival and departure, when the members of congress and the spectators arose to their feet and added "Vivas" to the hand clapping.

One young deputy, more enthusiastic than the rest, called for a cheer, "for the man who is maintaining the national dignity."

General Huerta drove from the palace to the chamber through files of soldiers, most of whom were detailed from the crack Twenty-ninth regiment, which participated in the coup d'etat at the palace in February.
He entered the building while the band was playing the national air.

Acknowledging the plaudits and acclamations of the congress and spectators as he moved down the aisle by a series of military salutes instead of the grave bows which characterized his old chief, Porfirio Diaz, General Huerta looked a stern figure.

Like the congressmen, he was in evening clothes, the only touch of rank being a red sash across his breast.
In a half circle behind him on the platform sat his staff, resplendent in gold lace and full dress uniform and grouped just below on the floor at the house were the members of the cabinet. The only other touch of color in the house was to be observed in the gallery reserved for the diplomats, many of whom were in uniform.

The only country not represented was the United States. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the charge d'affaires acting under instructions, was absent from the session. Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister, was a few minutes late, and his delay in arriving gave rise to the rumor that he too had been instructed to absent himself.

At least two diplomats did not see fit to follow the advice and the example of the United States. The charges of Cuba and Brazil were reminded by Mr. O'Shaughnessy earlier in the day that their government had not recognized that of Huerta and suggested that they remain away.

The gathering in the galleries lacked the brilliancy of the days of Porfirio Diaz and the spontaneous expression of approval or disapproval of Madero's regime. It was a carefully selected audience. Tickets were necessary to pass into the building, and a fair part of the space was occupied by police in uniform and plain clothes. There were a few empty chairs.

In the entire audience there were perhaps ten women, but none representative of the city's fashionable element, in contrast to the days when the women of high society planned long ahead to obtain seats.

A technical violation of the law created comment. General Huerta's staff filed in wearing side arms. It is specifically provided that no armed soldier shall appear on the floor of the house, and custom has ordained that officers appearing in uniform must do so with empty sabres. But the words in evidence at sides of the members of General Huerta's staff appeared to emphasize the fact that this is a military administration.

Outside the building, throughout the session, a strong force of soldiers guarded all the approaches; patrols rode the streets for several blocks around and still other troops were stationed in small detachments further out. None of them, however, had trouble with the crowds. Some hundreds of curious gathered in the streets as near to the chamber as they were permitted to go, but in most parts of the city the ordinary course of business and traffic was uninterrupted.

From time to time, as President Huerta drove back through the lines of troops, there was handclapping, but nothing in the way of an ovation.
The newspapers published extras tonight carrying the message.

In his reply to the message, the president of the chamber, Senor Tamara, assured General Huerta of the cooperation of congress.

"If ever there should reign in congress a patriotic ideal," he said, "in these circumstances it ought to predominate more as never before, and above all other considerations."

To the congress he said:
"Without doubt, upon your work depends largely that the country with the aid of its need some should make a supreme effort, in order not to fall in the ruin and humiliation which threaten it. On this account, you come here animated by the purest patriotism, prepared to lay aside ambition, per-

DETECTIVE KILLED BY STRIKER IN TRINIDAD

Baldwin-Felts Operative Shot Dead on Streets of City Early in Evening; Greek Miner Arrested.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Trinidad, Colo., Nov. 20.—G. W.
Belcher, a Baldwin-Felts detective, was shot and killed on the principal street of Trinidad at 8 o'clock tonight.

Louis Zaccanelli, a Greek miner, is in the custody of the military authorities charged with the shooting.
The killing threw the city into a furore of excitement, but troops are patrolling the business district and order is being maintained. Later, three other suspects were arrested.

The circumstances leading up to the shooting are not known. Pedestrians who were within a few feet of the detective when the shot was fired saw Belcher fall upon the sidewalk. His body was carried into a drug store a few feet distant and died in a few minutes.
The bullet entered the left side of the head and lodged in the brain. But one shot was fired.

Immediately upon receiving news of the shooting General Chase ordered out several companies of militia and two troops of cavalry. Martial law has not been proclaimed, but the streets are being kept clear and crowds are not allowed to congregate.
Details have been placed before all amusement houses and in front of all the larger hotels.

Zaccanelli was arrested immediately by city patrolmen McCoy and Franklin. He was lodged in the city jail where he was later taken in charge by the military authorities.
When searched a revolver and a membership card in the United Mine Workers of America was found upon his person, and also receipts showing him to be a member of the Eagles.
The prisoner told the authorities that he had been in Trinidad for two months and that he came here from Rockvale, Colo. He also said that he formerly lived at Walsenburg and had worked both in coal and quartz mines.

According to the authorities the suspected man told a rambling story.
He stated that he is forty years of age and unmarried.

G. W. Belcher came here from West Virginia several weeks before the strike was called. On the night of August 15 he was shot in the leg in a revolver duel with Gerald Lippat, a United Mine Worker of America organizer, in which Walter Belk also figured. Lippat was killed and Belcher, together with Belk, were subsequently placed under bonds of $10, 000 each, charged with the murder of the union man.

Since the strike was called Belcher has been one of the most active of the Baldwin-Felts detectives. He figured prominently in a number of the clashes between strikers and armed guards before the militia was called to the southern fields. At the Baldwin-Felts headquarters it was stated that his life had frequently been threatened.

The shooting has precipitated the establishment of a militia court for the trial of all persons charged with offenses in connection with the strike, and tonight General Chase issued a formal notice to that effect. The court will be under Judge Advocate Major E. J. Boughton, and will sit at once.

BELIEVED HUERTA'S GOVERNMENT IS CRUMBLING SLOWLY

President Is Sure That Time Alone Is Needed to Secure Complete Elimination of Mexican Dictator.

NO BLOCKADE OF PORTS IS ORDERED

Special Efforts Are Being Made to Protect English Interests at Tuxpam Until Arrival of British Vessels.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Washington, Nov. 20.—The Washington government believes the power of the Huerta government is slowly "crumbling and disintegrating."

No positive steps have been taken by the administration here within the last few days to compel a compliance with the demand for the elimination of Huerta.

No preparations have been made for a blockade of Mexican ports.
Foreign interests generally will be protected by the United States. At Tuxpam, in particular, special effort will be made to protect British interests pending the arrival of British cruisers. The sending of the English ships is in line with previous satisfaction to the United States and is regarded as a normal move taken in emergencies such as exist at Tuxpam.
It is intended to have a sobering effect upon those constitutionalist officers, who according to official reports, have announced their hostility to English interests.

The landing of marines has not been found necessary and no instructions to that effect have been sent nor has there been any request for such instructions. In the meantime, Admiral Fletcher will be expected to take whatever steps he deems necessary to protect all foreign interests.

The parleys with the constitutionalists have been carried on in no formal way, but merely for informative purposes.

The administration, though not condoning the inhumanity of the armed strife generally in Mexico, is inclined to view with some complacency the reprisals by constitutionalists and federalists on those officers or men who have been deserting from side to side.

Those salient facts were obtained from those with whom President Wilson discussed the Mexican situation today.

The impression that the Huerta government is fast losing its control over territory hitherto dominated by it, is based on dispatches to the state department. These show also that diplomatic pressure from without is weakening the resources of the provisional government.

There was some emphasis in the domestic situation from the White House that any steps of a summary character had been taken through instructions to Charge O'Shaughnessy within the last few days. The president made it clear that beyond what already has been published, there were no moves in the situation as far as the United States was concerned which were unknown to the public.

The president holds the view as the result of all the influences now at work that Huerta will slowly, but inevitably be compelled to retire.

As to the future program of the United States, the president believes that of necessity it must be kept secret, as premature publications might impair its efficacy.

It was made plain at the White House that in the parleys between General Carranza, the constitutionalist chief, and William Bayard Hale, no effort was made to plan for the future. Mr. Hale's mission it was said was to learn what was in the minds of the constitutionalist chiefs, what their general character was and what disposition they seemed to have towards several phases of the situation. Discussion of possible successors to Huerta in anything so specific as "negotiations," had not been carried on or authorized by the president, according to the White House explanation nor was there formal request for credentials from Mr. Hale.

It was made plain that Mr. Hale gained the desired information, and White House officials stated emphatically that the parleys have not affected the plans of the American government and that there had not been any debate of any future program which the constitutionalists or this government would follow.

It became known also, that the official investigation into the executions at Juarez had not been completed. In this connection White House officials called attention to consular reports from Torreon, showing that many of the alleged atrocities reported in the dispatches did not occur; that foreigners had been protected, but that the execution of federal prisoners had been justified by the constitutionalists on the ground that these officers were traitors.

Senator Bacon, chairman of the foreign relations committee, holds the view that in Latin-American warfare the execution of those guilty of treason has been a natural circumstance, and for that reason has been inclined to view the incidents at Juarez as not differing materially from those which had followed other battles in the present revolution.

Interest here tonight centered about the meeting of the Mexican congress. Huerta's message was made public at the state department today. His request for sanction of his acts was regarded as significant, as was the intimation that if congress did not approve of his assumption of dictatorial powers or previous conduct, he and his cabinet would be perfectly resigned to the judgment.

There are many people here conversant with the situation who believe Huerta merely wishes ratification for his acts so that he can retire in a dignified way.

Secretary Bryan said today that he had requested the navy department to cable instructions to vessels at Vera Cruz to undertake the protection of foreign as well as of American interests in the oil fields on the east coast of Mexico. He explained that a request for the protection of British interests in the neighborhood of Tampico and Tampico had reached the state department through the American embassy in London.

Although the matter was treated at the state and navy departments as of small importance, and quite routine in nature, it was pointed out that Rear Admiral Fletcher may be confronted with a troublesome problem. Departmental records show that there are forty oil plants in full operation in the state of Vera Cruz, a majority of which are owned by Americans, although British and other foreign interests are represented. Oil tanks are near the coast, but the wells are located some distance in the interior, and if marines should be sent to protect them, they would have to march out of sight of blue water. Admiral Fletcher will have to decide what to do in the event that Aguilar, the old Mexican general who is the head of the constitutional forces near Tampico, disregards his warning to refrain from interference with these properties. It is said here that a long line of precedents would warrant the admiral in using the men of his fleet to enforce his demands, with the assertion that a state of anarchy exists in the oil section that requires the informal use of foreign marines.

PRIVATE MONOPOLY MANY NOMINATIONS ONE DOLLAR FINE OF WATER POWER ARE TRANSMITTED FOR FRAUDULENT TO SENATE LAND SCHEME

Conservation Congress Adjourns After Adopting Declaration of Principles Formulated by Gifford Pinchot.

Henry M. Pindell Is Named Ambassador to Russia and Long List of Consuls Are Promoted to Higher Rank.

Defendants Pleaded Guilty, but Could not Have Been Convicted Before Jury in Opinion of Judge.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Washington, Nov. 20.—Monopolistic control of water power in private hands was denounced, with a declaration that no water power rights owned by the public ever should be removed from public ownership, by the National Conservation congress, which adjourned here late today. The climax of the water power fight which had agitated the congress for several days came after such had been served divergent reports from the waterways committee, submitted that the matter had been taken from its hands by action of the convention yesterday in adopting general principles upon which the waterways committee agreed. No mention of the majority or minority reports, which differed as to state and federal control of water power projects was made in the report of the resolutions committee to the convention.

When the report had been read, Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester of the United States, and father of the conservation movement, moved as an amendment to report a declaration of principles on waterway control, similar to the one in the minority report signed by Henry L. Hinson and Joseph N. Teal, of Oregon. This amendment was adopted by a vote of 217 to 56, after one offered by Representative Burnett, of Alabama, which injected into the resolution the matter of state control of waterway projects, had been defeated, 274 to 122.

The Pinchot amendment, which was approved after repeated attempts to amend had been made by some southern and western delegates, declared the monopolistic control of water power in private hands was "far more rapidly than public control thereof," and that increasing concentration of water power in some hands, was accompanied by growing control over the power consuming agencies, the public service companies of the country. It continued:

"Whereas, this concentration of water power, as in the past, by outright grants of public power to perpetuity, will inevitably result in a higher monopolistic control of mechanical power.

"Therefore, be it resolved that we recognize the firm and effective public control of water power corporations as a pressing and immediate necessity; and that we recognize the public interest that we recognize there is no restraint so complete, effective and permanent as that which comes from public ownership of the power, and that it is the solemn judgment of the Fifth National Conservation congress that hereafter no water power now owned or controlled by the public should be sold, granted, or given away in perpetuity or in any manner removed from the public ownership which alone can give sound basis of assured and permanent control in the interest of the people."

When this resolution had been read, informal efforts were made to rule it out of order. Representative Burnett moved to amend it by inserting "state control," where "public control" appeared. It was upon these motions that the convention was brought to a stormy climax and at the time some of Mr. Pinchot's friends, including the president of the congress, urged him to consent to an adjournment. Motions to adjourn were made before the final roll call, but were headed down by the convention.

The congress elected Charles Lathrop Pack, of Lakewood, N. J., as president, to succeed himself; Mrs. Emma Pack, of Pittsburg, Mass., vice president; N. C. McLeod, Washington, D. C., recording secretary; Dr. Henry S. Drinker, South Bethlehem, Pa., treasurer; and Thomas F. Shipps, Indianapolis, corresponding secretary.

Efforts of the Arkansas delegation, headed by Walter Powell, of Little Rock, which hoped the congress yesterday to spread the revolt, failed today, but another effort to have state rights delegates meet with the Arkansas faction will be made tomorrow. If there is any response to the Arkansas appeal plans for another conservation congress will be made. The majority of the delegates, however, left Washington tonight.

COLOMBIA WILL NOT FOSTER MONOPOLIES

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Washington, Nov. 20.—That Colombia heretofore will grant no monopolies either in oil concessions or any other sort, that the proposition now pending of the Pearson syndicate of Great Britain, for oil concessions, will not be granted, and that the South American country is anxious to see American capital come there, was the message brought to Washington today by Roberto Aguilar, secretary of the Colombian legation here.

"Colombia desires to do business with the United States and to see American capital and people come there," said the new secretary, "and this can be done as soon as the Panama question, which I think will be settled soon, is out of the way. We want to be good friends of the people of the United States."

INFLUENCE OF DIAZ ON MEXICO IS DISCUSSED

Speakers at Latin American Conference Fail to Agree as to Place Dictator Should Occupy in History.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Worcester, Mass., Nov. 20.—Opposite views of the influence of Porfirio Diaz on Mexican life and national development were expressed by W. Reynolds, former president of the Mexican Central railway, and Professor L. C. Wells, of Clark college, who has traveled extensively in Mexico, at the Latin-American conference today.

Mr. Reynolds extolled Diaz as fostering peace to the country and interesting foreign capital in industrial and economic development.

"General Diaz," he said, "was a dictator in every sense of the word, although his operations were conducted under a republican form of government. His method of handling affairs proved conclusively that that was the only way at that time properly to govern the country."

Professor Wells declared Diaz, although he accomplished much, gave a "top-sided administration," the development of the country under his regime being almost entirely too economic in character, with little attention to social uplift.

Referring to the present situation in Mexico, he said that foreign governments desirous of ending the disorder, should beware of forcing a compromise between the opposing factions and should give little heed "to the capitalists who are more interested in securing per cent. return from their Mexican investments than in bringing permanent happiness to Mexico."

FORMER GOVERNOR OF PORTO RICO TO ARIZONA

Hon. George R. Colton and Sister Here Enroute to the White Mountains on Hunting Trip.

Former Governor George R. Colton, of Porto Rico, and Miss Majorie Colton, his sister, arrived here yesterday morning en route to the White Mountains of Arizona on a hunting trip. They left last night.

This is Governor Colton's first visit to the United States for fifteen years. For this period he has been continuously in the insular service of the government as a soldier or civil official. Governor Colton at one time was a resident of New Mexico. That was in 1881-82, when he was a ranchman in McKinley county. He never came as far south as Albuquerque, however, in those years.

After leaving New Mexico he went to Nebraska and, in 1899, went to the Philippines as lieutenant colonel of the First Nebraska Volunteer Infantry. He organized the customs service at Manila upon the American occupation and later went to Santo Domingo and organized the Dominican customs receivership under the "modus vivendi" between the United States and the negro republic.

He was insular collector of customs for the Philippine Islands, 1897-1909, and drafted for congress the new tariff for the oriental possessions of the United States, which congress enacted at special session in 1909. He also took a prominent part in drafting the provisions of the Payne bill, relating to free trade between the United States and the Philippines. He has been federal governor of Porto Rico since November 7, 1909.

The governor and his sister have been in the United States since October 1, and they intend to remain several months longer. After their hunting trip they will go to San Francisco and from there they will return to Washington, D. C. Governor Colton was succeeded by Governor Arthur Yager, who was inaugurated yesterday.

COURT GIVES WOMAN PERMISSION TO TAKE CHILDREN TO ARKANSAS

An order signed by Judge H. P. Reynolds, granting Mrs. Irene Sumner permission to take her children, Frank and Wiley, out of the jurisdiction of the court, was filed yesterday in the clerk's office. Mrs. Sumner in her motion, said she wanted to take the children to the home of her parents at Gracette, Ark., and agreed to return at the time specified by the court. Judge Reynolds set February 1 as the limit of her visit.

COMBS CAFE WILL BE TEACHERS' HEADQUARTERS

Mayor Sellers Will Turn Over Room Formerly Occupied by Restaurant for This Purpose and as Rest Room.

Alvan N. White, state superintendent, yesterday in talking to Mayor Sellers over the long distance telephone, said that the headquarters for the New Mexico Educational association would be in his rooms.

The mayor, however, intends to turn over to Mr. White upon his arrival here tonight the large room formerly occupied by the Hotel Combs cafe for use as headquarters and as a rest room for the teachers.

Tables were removed from the restaurant and desks, chairs and hat-racks were placed in the room. The room will be decorated with flowers and a pianist will furnish music for the teachers. The teachers may use the piano in daytime, if they care to.

The former restaurant will be ideal as headquarters and a rest room on account of its downtown location and also because of the fact that it is on the ground floor of the hotel building.

AMUSE CHICKENS, SAYS EXPERT POULTRY MAN

Amusement and exercise for poultry is advocated by James G. Halpin, poultry man for the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin, as a means of preventing the annual winter shortage of eggs.

"Right now poultry houses should be deeply bedded with dry straw," said Halpin, "and the grain feed should be worked into this litter so the hens may get good exercise and amusement hunting for it. If nothing of this kind is done, the flock will huddle together and lose all interest in life, and winter eggs will be few. It is well to get the hens to exercising and singing as they work for their feed."

This information would be worth millions to the poultry keepers of the country if carefully followed.

ROADS BOOSTERS TO HOLD COMBINED SESSIONS

Mayor Sellers Calls Meeting of Enthusiasts of Camino Real and Albuquerque-Amarillo Project for Tonight.

A road booster meeting with a double purpose will be held tonight at the Commercial club. All local business and professional men are expected to attend. Mayor D. C. Sellers, president of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway association, gives the assurance that the "hat will not be passed."

The mayor, as president of the ocean-to-ocean project, yesterday received a telegram from Gallup, to the effect that a party of boosters from that place, Belen, Los Lunas and other Valencia county towns would arrive this morning on Santa Fe train No. 10. They want to discuss with Albuquerqueans the completion of the gap in the Camino Real, from Albuquerque to Santa Fe.

The mayor also received a message yesterday, saying that Marcus Doda, official "Blue Book" compiler, would arrive here tonight from El Paso, to begin logging an "automobile" route from Albuquerque to Amarillo via Clovis. Seth Holman, of Armiño, secretary of the Co-operative Commercial club, and R. D. Oldham, president of the same organization, will come. They asked Mayor Sellers to call a meeting in the interests of this project, so he decided to combine the two.

R. C. Dillon, of Encino, was notified of the meeting yesterday and he probably will be here. He is expected to meet Doda and Holman at Encino at the completion of the first lap of their trip and to call a meeting of road boosters there.

The mayor also received the assurance of James A. French, state engineer, that he would be present tonight.

FORMER POSTOFFICE EMPLOYEES FACE TRIAL IN FEDERAL COURT

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 20.—Tomorrow afternoon in federal court, Alva G. Cornell, Charles J. Parsons and William E. Parsons, former employees of the Santa Fe postoffice, and all three colored and related, will be arraigned on the charge of being responsible for the disappearance of $1,900 of old currency mailed by the First National bank of Santa Fe to a Denver bank. If this case goes over, there will remain only one case for jury trial, that against Lee R. Chase, of Chiriquita, and if that can be disposed of, the petit jury is likely to be discharged.

In the New Mexico-Texas boundary trial at El Paso, Jose Maria Ramirez, the sixth witness for New Mexico, completed his testimony. The hearing will be adjourned on November 25 to December 5, after which very important testimony will be offered by New Mexico, putting an entirely new light on the dispute.

FINANCIAL STRINGENCY HITS STATE TREASURER

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 20.—The expected drought seems to have struck the office of the state treasurer, for today the only receipts recorded were from County Treasurer L. G. Pearson, of Quay county, and were for the purpose of paying the district attorney of the Eighth district, Quay county's proportion of his salary.

Tax collections are effectually tied up by suits pending in district courts and in the supreme court and no matter which way decided, there is likely to be a lack of revenues for the next two years unless a special session of the legislature places an adequate tax statute on the books.

The old-time republican leaders oppose a special session as they argue that the longer the present situation continues the more favorable the administrations of the republican governors will appear to the taxpayers when they are asked at election to compare them with the present administration.

MADERO RELATIVES TAKE REFUGE IN CONSULATE

Following Release From Vera Cruz Prison on Bail, Kinsmen of Late President Fear for Their Lives.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE Vera Cruz, Nov. 20.—Evaristo Madero, Daniel Madero, Leandro Aguilar, Andres Aguilar, Antonio De La Paz and Santos Mero, all relatives of the late President Madero, took refuge in the American consulate here this afternoon. They were released yesterday from the fortress San Juan Uta, where they were imprisoned several weeks ago on charges of sedition.

On their release they went to a local hotel, where the wives of the two Maderos were stopping. It was the intention of the entire party to sail for Havana this afternoon on the steamer Moro Castle, their release having been effected on nominal bail bonds and their understanding being that the government would raise no objection to their departing from the country.

The Moro Castle was watched closely throughout the day until she sailed at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon by secret police. Shortly before sailing time the Maderos presented themselves at the American consulate and said they had received information that a warrant had been issued for the arrest of themselves and relatives and that all of them were to be taken to Mexico City. They requested Consul Canada to give them asylum and the consul acquiesced. The consulate notified Washington and is waiting instructions.

WRONGED HUSBAND AT ROSWELL INVOKES UNWRITTEN LAW

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL Roswell, N. M., Nov. 20.—Charles B. Talbert, a ranch hand of this city, was killed shortly before noon today in the bathroom of a local hotel by Summers F. Marshall, a carpenter. It is understood the two men had quarreled over attentions which Marshall declared Talbert, a single man, had shown to Mrs. Marshall. Neighbors say the relations had existed for years, and that the trouble had been brewing for some time.

Talbert and Marshall were seen in each other's company several times this morning. After separating, the two met again in the saloon and without a word Marshall opened fire on Talbert with a shotgun, killing him instantly. Marshall was arrested without resistance.

SANTA FE LANDMARK MAY BE PURCHASED BY ALLIED BODIES

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 20.—The executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce tonight decided to join the Santa Fe club and the city council in taking a ninety-day option on the long one-story building that faces the cathedral and the auditorium grounds. The price asked by Archbishop J. B. Plaval is $12,000. The property covers half a city block. It is one of Santa Fe's landmarks and in it Archbishop Lamy conducted a parochial school for a number of years. It is more or less dilapidated but it is proposed to restore it in the style of the palace of the governors, with portal like that recently completed by the Museum of New Mexico. The present lease on the building held by A. J. Loomis expires in May. The United States government has also been offered the structure for $18,500 for a postoffice site. If acquired by the combined interests as proposed, the north end is to be used for council chambers by the city authorities, the middle by the Chamber of Commerce and the south end, which is in the best state of preservation by the Santa Fe club which at present occupies the former residence of ex-Governor Otero.

This cake, made by the Cottolene recipe, using only Cottolene for shortening, won the first prize three separate times at the Texas State Fair. Cottolene recipes are all winners, at home or elsewhere.

Cottolene

Remember, however, that you do not need to use as much Cottolene as you would of butter or lard. Always use one-third less when cooking with Cottolene, for Cottolene goes much farther.

You save money, any way you figure, if you cook with Cottolene, and your food is more wholesome and more digestible. If you will give Cottolene one fair trial, you will continue to use it for everything except on the table.

This is the recipe for the prize-winning cake, by Mrs. W. J. Stone, Dallas, Texas:

Three-fourths cup of Cottolene, 2 cups sugar, 3 cups flour, 1 cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 6 whites of eggs beaten to stiff froth, 2 teaspoons lemon extract. Cream 3-4 cup of Cottolene with sugar, add milk and flour alternately until well mixed, then add whites of eggs and extract. Grease tin and flour them; light the gas just as you place cakes in stove. Put all three layers in and cook at once. Let the cake cool an hour or so before icing. FILLING—Two cups sugar and just enough water to moisten, cook until it threads from the spoon. Beat whites of 2 eggs to stiff froth, pour the boiling syrup over the whites and beat constantly, then add 1 teaspoonful of lemon extract and 1-2 package shredded coconut, and ice your cake. If icing begins to get too stiff to ice add about 2 tablespoons of boiling water and beat well.

Give yourself the satisfaction of knowing what Cottolene can do. Order a pail of it from your grocer; also send to us for the interesting FREE Cook Book, HOME HELPS, written by five leading authorities. Write for it today

THE RATE HEARING.

The rate hearing began yesterday morning in this city before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clements. The hearing is to continue for two or three days, and it is fair to presume that the subject will be exhaustively dealt with from every angle.

In view of the fact that only a small portion of the evidence has been heard, and that only on one side of the question, it would not be proper at this time to forecast the probable result of the hearing or to comment editorially on what it should be. It is only fair to say, however, that in the proceedings yesterday the state corporation commission made out a very strong case, and that the rebuttal of the railroad company and other adverse interests will be awaited with keen interest.

The Journal has no desire to prejudge this case or to be otherwise than fair to all parties concerned. As we have before stated, all that Albuquerque asks is a fair hearing and a just decision, both of which are assured. The result, whatever it may be, will be accepted with entire composure.

Not only Albuquerque, but the entire state of New Mexico is involved in the present situation. In many instances Las Vegas and Santa Fe are in even worse case than Albuquerque. When furniture, for instance, can be shipped in carload lots from Kansas City to St. Paul for $1.04 per hundred while Albuquerque, Las Vegas and Santa Fe are required to pay $1.60, it does not require the aid of an expert to tell that something is wrong somewhere.

There is no disposition on the part of The Journal or the people of New Mexico to be unfair to the Santa Fe railway. The part that it has played in the development of the state and of the southwest generally is freely recognized and fully appreciated. At the same time it is only proper to add that New Mexico on its part has dealt much more gently with the Santa Fe than perhaps any other state through which its lines run. It has imposed no burdensome legislation upon the railroad, and its officials have always met it in a spirit of generous co-operation wherever their mutual interests were involved. In the present case it is only asking what its officials believe to be simple justice to the people of the state.

It is gratifying to note the keen interest in the hearing taken by the people of this city. The presence in the federal court room of a large gathering of representative Albuquerque business men gives cheering evidence that the people of the city are fully alive to their own interests and those of the community.

ALAS FOR JOHN DOE!

To the student of English history, and especially the student of English law, it must be peculiarly depressing to reflect on the sad change in the state of John Doe.

Time was when John Doe was a man of consequence—an indispensable adjunct to a very important branch of the jurisprudence of his country. "On the demise" of any subject of the king seized of real property the title to which was in dispute, he was wont to file an action of ejectment to vest the person in possession of the land and set up a claim for himself. He was an obliging litigant, however, and always, at the opportune moment, he would step aside for a real flesh and blood claimant. In those days of mellow antiquity John Doe was a perpetual plaintiff—if there was any litigation to be done, it was his cousin, Richard Roe, who was called in to play the part.

Tempora mutantur. Not only time, but the English law has changed. The old form of action of ejectment, at least in this country, has to a large extent fallen into disuse, and with it John Doe's ancient occupation is gone. It must be said, however, that John Doe, if not versatile, is at least adaptable. Being an incurable hanger-on of the courts, to the courts he must stick for a livelihood. Since he is not any longer in demand as a plaintiff he is perfectly willing to work at the other end of the job, and as there is no particular field for mythical defendants in civil procedure he must needs resort to the grand jury room and the criminal courts for an outlet for his activities.

And so it is that, from being the standing plaintiff in actions involving the title of vast estates, John Doe has come to be the standing goat. If a policeman is bribed and his confederates refuse to turn state's evidence, John Doe is charged with the crime. If a contractor is "sandbagged" by a grafting politician but is afraid to tell the district attorney John Doe must answer to the grand jury for the consequences. Gone is his reputation—gone his standing in the community. Shed a tear for John Doe.

DIPLOMACY A LA CARRANZA.

One is forced to smile broadly at the account of the failure of Carranza's special brand of diplomacy in its application to William Haywood Hale.

The idea that Mr. Hale would actually take him at his word seems never to have occurred to Carranza. The possibility that President Wilson's friend was not bitten of a frenzied desire to elude the cause of the Mexican constitutionalists to his throbbing bosom and make it his own was one of which he could not conceive.

The spectacle of the presidential claimant and his so-called cabinet waiting in Nogales for another interview with Mr. Hale three hours after the latter had left for parts unknown can not but provoke mirth. The manifest disappointment and chagrin depicted on the faces of these earnest patriots must have tempted the flippancy observer to exclaim, in his mind if not with his lips, "Stung!"

GEORGE CURRY DECLINED IT.

According to the El Paso Times, former Governor George Curry refused appointment as a member of the Philippine commission, at the hands of President Wilson. The Times says:

President Wilson had already declined to appoint Governor Curry to the Philippine commission, but, knowing that the influential politicians in the Philippines opposed him, Governor Curry called on the president and asked that he be not appointed on the commission. Governor Curry, having served as governor of the principal Philippine district, is thoroughly acquainted with that country and has very decided views on the government of it.

Curry, one of the heroes of the Manila campaign, arrived in El Paso yesterday with his pretty young bride. "It is not true," said the governor, "that we eloped. My wife and myself were engaged to be married with the consent of her parents. But we met in Washington and decided to get married at once. After we were married, we visited her parents at Uniontown, Pa., and then came on west to my ranch at Tularosa. I spent some time in Washington and had the pleasure of meeting President Wilson several times. He is a big man and the more I saw of him the better I liked him, and he is going to handle this Mexican situation with credit to America, despite the handicap in the state department. I talked with the president relative to the Mexican situation, and I know he is going the limit to avoid armed intervention. But he is determined to eliminate Huerta, and unless he can do it without armed intervention, then Mexico is going to get intervention good and strong, and it will not take the United States army and navy ninety days to do the work. I know that while some of the European powers oppose Mr. Wilson's policy, they will all line up in support of whatever the United States does because none of them is willing to quarrel with Uncle Sam. Congress was inclined to recognize the constitutionalists and aid them in establishing a government in Mexico. But they are too vague in their plans of government. Just the same, though, President Wilson has made up his mind that Huerta must go, and if he refuses to go peacefully then there will be armed intervention. I was not inclined toward Mr. Wilson at first. But the more I have seen of him the more I have been impressed with the fact that he is a big man and a thorough American, and he is coming out all right, because the handicap in the state department is going to hang itself, and you hear that sentiment from all over the country.

An eminent Wisconsin scientist has arisen to remark that chickens require plenty of amusement. As if every stage-door Johnnie didn't know that already, to the sorrow of his pocketbook.

After all, who is to say that Senator Adair displayed bad judgment? He took a chance, of course, but his neck must feel a lot safer now that he is removed from the assassination zone.

AVIATION TO LIMIT THE DURATION AND SCOPE OF WAR

Secretary Daniels Talks of Conquest of Air by United States Army and Navy and Future Development.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WRITER.)
 St. Louis, Nov. 20.—"In my opinion, the newly developed art of aviation will not only tend to limit the duration and scope of hostile operations, but also aid in the control of the seas, one of the elements contributing materially to the power and prosperity of a nation."

Secretary Daniels made this statement here tonight in the course of a public address upon aeronautics, in which he discussed the conquest of the air by the United States army and navy and the part aviation navigation will take in future wars.

"The possibilities of the aeroplane, when applied to the art of war, are extremely great and its proper use will undoubtedly be a dominating factor in the success of future campaigns," said he. "The principal roles of the aeroplane in naval warfare will be for scouting and reconnaissance work and for offensive and defensive operations against hostile fleets and fortifications. Next, indeed, will be the commander of an opposing fleet who would head his vessels against the fleet or coast of an enemy possessing a number of these vicious wasps of war, and unfortunate indeed would be a commander who did not have ready at his call this means of obtaining supremacy in the air."

"A torpedo costs $5,000 and frequently is lost in practice, through deflection in direction that makes it impossible to follow it from the crow's nest of a ship. But an aerial scout can follow a torpedo's course unerringly by watching it from above. The price of one torpedo will pay for several flying machines. Experts say mines are easily 'picked up' or located by aerial scouts. One little mine may wreck a $10,000,000 battleship. A flying machine, costing but a small sum, would mean the ship's safety. The dirigible, balloon likewise will play an important part in naval warfare as the aeroplane, and possibly will have a greater effect on naval strategy and tactics."

"The United States army has seventeen machines, with a total personnel of twenty-four officers. Seven more machines are in sight. There is at present no definite organization, and no plan of co-operation between the army and navy. The latter possesses only four hydroplanes and three flying boats, though it is proposed to buy three more."

"The war aeroplane and war airship are today recognized and proven enemies of war by the leading nations of the earth. In practice, aviation is little more than theory. Scouting and information in land operations is being given over to the aeroplane and the lighter dirigible, and scouting, information and mining in sea operations is being given over to the hydroplane and larger dirigibles, while the large and armed rigid dirigible, capable of carrying several tons of explosives and making long, sustained flights, is designed both for scouting and for making offensive attacks on ships, arsenals, docks, etc. An army or fleet of the present day operating in war without an efficient air service, against one with such service, it has been aptly said, would be like a blind man fighting another of equal power with all his faculties."

"It is true that the United States occupies a position differing materially from European nations bordering on each other or separated by narrow waters easily patrolled by air craft. And therefore we have not been forced by the pressure of an immediate danger to meet the progress of possible enemies. This is no doubt the reason we have lagged behind other nations in developing and utilizing our own gift to the world. Our scrupulous efforts to avoid all entangling alliances, make it less probable that we will be involved in the wars of the future, if there be any; nevertheless, we may not forget that with the Panama canal, as well as our coast fortifications to be protected, not only from attack by land and water, but also from the air, steps must be taken to gain a sufficient naval air service able to cope with the best air fleets of the world. If a time of crisis or sudden national peril were to come upon us now, the service of the aviation reserve would be beyond estimate. I am one of those who believe in this future, and with suitable assistance from congress will strive to bring aeronautics in my service abreast of the important position it holds in the various navies of the world."

"The United States produced the first aeroplane and the first hydroplane, and European nations eagerly grasped at the chance to utilize them in their armies and navies. "France has led in the development and use of heavier than air machines and has a larger aerial war fleet than any other nation. She is said to have now 600 aeroplanes, 900 aviators, twelve dirigible balloons and 400 balloon pilots. One authority says she will spend next year $7,500,000 on military flying. Another authority states that the military grant in 1912 was about $4,000,000; while a national subscription of about $200,000 was raised in addition, which has already supplied twenty-two aeroplanes with ninety-eight more to come ere this year is ended."

"France has, for the most part, relied upon her aeroplane service for scouting, mining and the command of the air by the destruction of a possible enemy's air craft, though she has nineteen dirigibles, with five more building."

"While France was devoting her genius to perfection of the heavier than air craft, Germany, at enormous cost in men and money, took the lead in the development of the lighter than air machine. The latest model of battle airship in the German navy has a speed of 45.7 knots per hour, carries a useful load of 14,000 pounds and, with crew and ballast, can carry fuel enough for thirty hours at full speed and to 1,371 knots; or at half power for sixty hours, at thirty-six knots, and so 2,140 knots. The ship is armed with two semi-pounders and four Maxims and has a wireless outfit for 300 miles. Germany has seven of these battle-airships and is building four more, with two to be begun in the near future. Germany owns thirteen mine laying and scouting airships, with five privately owned available. She has excellent air other stations in providing the sheds and harbors, adequate in number and strategic in location, for the use of her air fleet."

"Italy has been active in the air, chiefly under the army auspices. She possesses eight dirigibles and a large number of aeroplanes. She is arranging for twelve flying squadrons, one for each army corps. "Great Britain neglected the air problem until aroused by the growing fleets of France and Germany, and she now has created an air department in the admiralty and a flying school, with naval and military wings. The strength of the army air corps in April this year was 123 officers and 588 men. Russia has dirigibles, aeroplanes and even ships in her navy which are equipped solely with aeroplane and wireless. Russia, it is said, has spent $10,000,000 upon army and navy aviation."

"In conclusion, therefore, let me say that since it was Wilbur Wright who first gave aviation its impetus by actually flying, it would be a handsome thing for the American people, who are proposing all sorts of monuments to Wright, to perpetuate his memory in the way he would have most approved, by erecting at the Langley laboratory, a handsome memorial building, in which to house the first machinery and instruments of the new national institution. His fame is national and a Wright Memorial building at the national laboratory would show that our pride in his work is not confined to any particular locality."

PRICES BREAK TO LOWER LEVEL ON WALL STREET

New York, Nov. 20.—Prices broke to a lower level on the stock exchange today. Nothing occurred to arouse the market from its lethargy and trading continued to be of abnormally small proportions. The day's total was the smallest in months. In spite of the lightness of the offerings, the market was unable to absorb them without a recession. Throughout the day quotations dropped so slowly that the movement was almost imperceptible, but in the end many of the leaders showed declines of a point or so. Roughly preferred, lost 2 points.

Heaviness of the metal stocks was most noticeable. The coppers responded to the earlier tendency of the metal markets here and abroad. Offerings were reported to have been made in Europe on the basis of 15-1-4 and while the larger producers are quoting 15-1-2 in the domestic market, sales are said to have been made at the lower rate. Gloomy reports from the trade centers continued to be heard, attention being paid to statement that foreign manufacturers are becoming more aggressive in their campaign for business in this country.

Heaviness of American stocks in London had little effect on this market. A call loans were renewed at 2-3-4 per cent. Cheap money failed to stimulate speculation, and was regarded rather as an unfavorable omen, which qualified contraction in requirements for commercial purposes. Closing stocks:

the scarcity of Manitoba offerings as bull leaders had hoped for. One explanation of the firmness of December wheat is that strong local owners are trying to force shorts in that month to cover. General commission house demand, united with lightness of offerings to hold corn steady.

Unsettled weather predicted for the next thirty-six hours also tended to prevent a wide price range. Business in the date pit was small and the market showed no noteworthy feature.

May pork attracted buyers and advanced on better prices at the yards. Other commodities sank under leading sales. Closing prices:

DR. FLUND SPEAKS AT THEATER TO FINE AUDIENCE

Scriptures" was first published and given to the world.

When it first appeared critics said it would never be read. Today this book is being read more and more throughout the world, and wherever it is read the sick are healed, sinners are made true, and the unrighteous man his thoughts.

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" casts more light on the inspired Word, and is a more highly scientific work than any book that ever was written. No other book has ever stated Truth so clearly, and so unambiguously and scientifically as to rebuke sin and weakness in all their forms and make them disappear.

This book teaches pure Science; it does not teach a mere belief. Christian Science is not another religious belief. It is Science, and Science is something to be understood and demonstrated, not merely believed.

Christian Scientists cannot properly be termed simply believers in Christian Science, any more than a mathematician could be called a mere believer in mathematics. They are students of Christian Science; they are studying to understand Christian Science, but not trying to believe it.

They soon see that their beliefs do not change anything; that what is true is true whether they believe it or not; but if they would get the benefit of it they must understand it—the same in the Science of being as in the Science of numbers.

No teacher in mathematics, after demonstrating a proposition for a pupil, ever asks that pupil whether he believes it; he asks him if he understands it, knowing that his belief or disbelief will not change the fact; and what is true in the Science of numbers in this respect is emphatically true in the Science of being.

Christian Science is the Science of Life; it includes and comprehends the vast infinity of being and rejects all that is unlike the one perfect being that is God—the absolute and only good.

It is not something that Mrs. Eddy has created or invented. It is what she has discovered and given to the world, and for it she owes her more than she will ever be able to repay. Right here let me say, we are not trying to repay her by personal worship.

Christian Science is not mesmerism. Mesmerism is the belief of minds many; that each individual has a mind of his own, and that the stronger mind can influence and take unlawful control of the weaker mind; which judgment from appearances would be the natural inference.

Science and Health and the Bible, when rightly understood, disclose the fact that God is the only Mind, and the so-called mortal mind is but the carnal mind, that must be corrected by the divine Mind.

So that Christian Science, so far from being mesmerism, is just the opposite. Really it exposes and destroys mesmerism.

Christian Science teaches there is, in reality, no such thing as sickness or disease. That sickness and disease are illusions; not that it is hypochondria or imagination in the common acceptance of those terms, but that out of the great scientific fact of being no such thing is or can be found; that sickness or disease cannot properly be said to be a part of being.

Christian Science teaches there is no reality in sin; that God made all that was made, and all He made was good; that God did not make evil. In the Bible we read that God is of "pure eyes than to behold evil, and cannot look on iniquity."

Since, no evil is in Him, therefore no evil could emanate from Him, and since He made no evil, and He made all that was made, therefore evil never was made.

Therefore sin, sickness, pain and death, evil, error, and discord of all that do not belong to God, nor to His creation, and are no more a part of the great fact of being than the error and misunderstandings of mathematics are a part of the Science of numbers, or discord a part of music.

Christian Science teaches that all is good; not, however, that sin and evil are good, but that all that is, is good; and that which is not good, is not at all.

That sickness, sin, and death, matter and mortality are not of God, the only good, and therefore are not good, and therefore are not at all.

BUCKMANN CASE WITNESSES GO TO GALLUP

Undersheriff Lewis, Dr. L. G.
Rice and Two Men Who Were Wounded by Santa Fe Machinist Will Testify.

FARGAS AND GARCIA TESTIFY FOR STATE

Gallup, N. M., Nov. 20.—The trial of Otto Buckmann, an Albuquerque machinist employed in the Santa Fe shops, charged with manslaughter, was begun here today before Judge H. E.
Raynolds, in the district court for McKinley county. No difficulty was experienced in getting a jury.
Two witnesses were examined today. They were Rafael Fargas and Prudencio Garcia. Their testimony was substantially the same.
The witnesses said that as the rig in which they were riding turned a corner the horse struck Buckmann in the darkness, whereupon he hit the horse with a rock. Luis Benavides, who was driving, jumped from the rig and started for Buckmann, who drew a gun and shot Benavides. Fargas and Garcia, seeing what was happening, then jumped from the rig and sought to overpower Buckmann, when they also were shot.
The witnesses said that after this they knew nothing until sometime later.

The grand jury was discharged today, after returning six true bills and five no bills, among the latter being one against Stephen Canavan, now serving a jail sentence at Albuquerque for contempt of court.

Witnesses in the Otto Buckmann case, which was transferred from Ber-nadillo to McKinley county on a charge of venue, left yesterday for Gallup.
Undersheriff Dick Lewis, who arrested Buckmann, left last night. Dr. L.
G. Rice, city physician; Jacobo Gomez, Rafael Fargas and Prudencio Garcia left previously.

Buckmann is charged with killing Luis Benavides last March, near the Santa Fe shops, and also with assault with a deadly weapon upon Fargas and Garcia, whom he wounded. He was indicted by the grand jury of Bernadillo county in September, on the charge of manslaughter, and also upon the minor charges.

Buckmann's defense is that Benavides, Fargas, Gomez and Garcia attacked him at night on the Albuquerque-San Jose road, just outside the shops fence and, believing that they intended to hold him up, he fired, killing Benavides almost instantly, and seriously wounding the other two.
He said he had over $200 in his pockets. The two men who were wounded and Gomez, say that Buckmann stopped their horse and opened fire when they jumped from their buggy.

Undersheriff Dick Lewis arrested Buckmann soon after the shooting at the home of a friend. He appeared to have been beaten. He was released several days later under bond.

RECRUITS FOR BORDER PATROL DUTY DRILLED ON STREETS HERE

A special car, carrying thirty-two recruits for the Thirtieth United States cavalry on the border patrol, passed through Albuquerque last night. The troops arrived here on Santa Fe train No. 1 at 1:25 o'clock from Fort Slocum, N. Y., and left at 12:30 o'clock this morning for Fort Bliss.

When their car was unoccupied from the through train, the sergeant in command ordered them to leave the car and for thirty minutes drilled them on West Central avenue.

the office of the clerk of the district court. The State National, upon the endorsement of the Bank of Magdalena, paid two checks, forged by Steve Barrett, now serving a sentence in the state penitentiary, according

THE VAMPIRE TO BE REPEATED AT CRYSTAL

The three reel Kalem Fantasy, "The Vampire," will be repeated today at the Crystal theater. This wonderful production has met with signal success wherever it has been shown, and has already been repeated three times in Denver alone. Its popularity could not be more highly attested than by the fact that it has taken the management of the Crystal nearly three weeks to secure it for a return engagement, that has been asked for by many of the patrons of this popular theater. The picture carries a splendid story and particularly features the Vampire dance as exemplified by Miss Alice Eas and Mr. Bert French, present sensations in New York City. Today only, matinee and three times at night.

MOORE'S AIR-TIGHT HEATER

ever made. The Egg Shaped Dome and Hot Air Flue Firepot consume all the gas and all the carbon there is in the coal. There are no clinkers and no cinders.

The Air Tight Draft Control enables you to hold a fire from 24 to 48 hours and prevents even the slightest waste of fuel.

Moore's Air Tight Heater is the only heater having a Dust Flue. It

from collecting on the carpets and furniture by taking them all up the chimney. The Ashpan Apron prevents any ashes from falling on the floor when the pan is removed.

fit together air tight. No puff is used in mounting. Nothing but asbestos welding, which expands and contracts with the heat so that the
perfect control at all times.

We have one of these Stoves on exhibition at our store which has been in use for over 18 years, and is still in good condition.

Works Like a Furnace At Far Less Cost!

MOORE'S AIR-TIGHT HEATER is built on an entirely different principle than other heaters. It heats like a furnace—by circulation instead of radiation.

It burns hard coal or the cheapest kind of slack and can be run at LESS THAN HALF the cost of other heaters. Furthermore, it heats a much larger space than any other heater on the market.
One Moore's Air-Tight Heater will keep your entire house comfortable.

and Hot Air Flue Firepot consume
and no cinders.

48 hours and prevents even the
slightest waste of fuel.

Moore's Air Tight Heater is the

floor when the pan is removed.

perfect control at all times.

has been in use for over 18 years, and is still in good condition.

Heats Upstairs and Warms All the Floors!

As warm as a furnace would make the air in the farthest room is heated to the same temperature as the air in the same room as the stove.

Just think what this means—one stove that will replace two or even three others, give better results than all combined and cost less to operate than any one.

And these are only a few of the many advantages which Moore's Air Tight Heater can offer you.

has been in use for over 18 years, and is still in good condition.
