TURKISH PARLIAMENT MOST REMARKABLE IN HISTORY

Sultan Today Formally Opened New Legislative Body, With Many Ceremonies.

NATIONALITIES ARE MINGLED TOGETHER

Christians and Moslems, Rubbed Shoulders and Joined in the New Order of Things Without Least Friction.

Constantinople, Dec. 17.—With the meeting of the first Ottoman parliament today, Turkey formally breaks from the despotic rule of centuries. The sultan, who granted the constitution last July, provided for this assembly which paraded through the city at the head of an elaborate cortege to open the first session. Everywhere he was greeted with loud cheering and there was no semblance of disorder.

The sultan opened the Parliament in person, with elaborate ceremonies fashioned after the customs of older similar assemblies. The new legislature met in the same room where the short lived Parliament of 1876 assembled and the scenes were perhaps the most remarkable in the political history of the world.

All creeds and races in the Turkish empire sent duly elected representatives and the many, vari-colored delegates, some in flowing silk robes and others in fashionable frock coats formed a gorgeous and multi-colored picture, such as never before witnessed in a legislative gathering in Europe.

Albanians, Syrians and Arabs were among the Moslem representatives, while Greeks, Armenians and Bulgarians represented the Christian nationalities. Members from Jerusalem and Mecca rubbed shoulders with their colleagues from the European countries and far-off Kurdish, Armenian and Arabian districts on the confines of the Indian ocean.

So far as can be judged from surface indications, the new Parliament has entered upon its duties with a determination to carry out successfully the aims of the bloodless revolution, which has made possible the inauguration of a constitutional regime in Turkey.

WORKMAN KILLED BY ROCK FROM BLAST

He Stood Behind a Small Bush With His Back to the Spot Where the Blast Was Fired.

The first fatality to happen on the Albuquerque Eastern railroad since the beginning of the construction work last October, occurred Saturday noon when a rock from a large blast struck Pedro Alejandro in the back of the head, causing instant death. Alejandro was the firer of the charge and contrary to rules stood behind a small bush about 900 feet away from the explosion, with his back to the scene.

It is the custom of those in the neighborhood of the locations where blasting is being done, that, at a warning cry from one of their party when a shot is to be fired, all seek an open spot where they may see the spot being blasted, and if necessary dodge any missile which may come their way. In this instance the victim not only sought a small bush for protection, but stood with his back to the blast. In this position he was unable to see a large, sharp cornered rock measuring about one foot square which aimed directly for his head, removing a large part of his skull.

Arrangements were made to take the body to Santa Fe, his former home.

TO ABANDON BIG HOTEL

Chicago, Dec. 17.—Plans for abandoning the Auditorium hotel have been decided upon by the board of directors of the Congress Hotel company, operating the Auditorium and Annex. All the business of the two big hotels on Michigan boulevard is to be concentrated in the Annex, which recently was enlarged to double its former capacity.

President Southgate asserted that the Auditorium hotel had been losing money for years. He asserted that it did not pay 1 per cent on the money invested and that it was poor property compared with the new Annex, which, he asserted, was paying its stockholders $250,000 a year.

CUSTOMS OFFICER NAMED

Washington, Dec. 17.—The president today sent to the Senate the following nomination: Collector of customs for the district Brazos de Santiago, Texas, Rentfro B. Creager, of Texas.

EAGLE IS GIVEN LONG SENTENCE

Murderer Will Be Sent to Penitentiary for Twenty Years.

Apparently happy that it was not more, Dick Eagle, convicted of murder in the second degree, yesterday afternoon accepted the sentence of twenty years in the penitentiary with the same dogged composure with which he watched the trial that might have landed him at the end of a rope had the jury not believed that he was drunk when he shot a Pueblo Indian boy at Bluewater last May.

"Thank you, judge," he said when the court had finished. With this brief remark he returned with the deputy sheriff to the county jail to await the trip to Santa Fe. A few years ago Eagle worked as a barber in a shop on South Second street in the block south of the post-office. He claimed to be a doctor and, it is said, practiced with his magic medicine among the native people both here and in Oklahoma. He told Judge Abbott that hunting gold and herding cattle were other vocations he had followed during his life time. His high forehead, straight nose and flowing black hair gave him a queer appearance which probably caused a feeling of awe among the ignorant natives and Indians and helped him ply his trade with gain.

The authorities of the territory have become convinced that Eagle is either not right mentally or else a fakir. He might be both. On no occasion since his coming to the territory, has there been an unexplained robbery in the territory that Dick Eagle has not written the authorities that he knew where the robbers were hiding, and that he would expose them or that he knew where they had hidden the money. On one or two occasions he was successful in getting persons to believe his wild dreams.

Eagle claims to be a Cherokee Indian. His conversations, (he is always ready to talk) in English, always contained either Cherokee or Navajo Indian words. While he lived several years prior to his arrest with the Navajo Indians and it is believed sold them whiskey, he considered the tribe as a whole, his enemy. This was the cause of the killing of the Indian boy, for which he was sentenced.

According to his story told on the witness stand, he was driving along the road in the Zuni mountains one evening just at sunset. An Indian halted him with a word of challenge. Eagle made the guttural sound the Indian made. He asked the man if he was a Navajo. The latter said, "no," and Eagle gave him a drink. Taking the bottle from his lips, the Indian asked what difference it made, whether he was a Navajo or a Cherokee. He said that the Cherokees were copper-colored, which Eagle interpreted to mean cowardly. The man reached for his knife and Eagle attempted to shoot the weapon from his hand. He stumbled as he shot and the bullet made a mortal wound.

While in the county jail Eagle had a number of strange dreams, so he said. One of them was that he was visited by a strange being in the form of a man, large of stature, wearing a blue robe.

TRAIN IS DELAYED BY ARIZONA FLOOD

High Water Is Reported in the Territory With Much Damage at Several Places.

Passenger train No. 2 due this morning at 7:55 o'clock, had not reached the city at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and the indications at that hour were that it would not get in before midnight, if then, owing to heavy rains and subsequent wash-outs in Southern Arizona.

On account of the wash-outs being west of Winslow, Ariz., the first division point west, very little information regarding the damage done to railroad property could be had at the local Santa Fe offices.

It rained all Tuesday and Wednesday in Central Arizona and in the southern part of the territory there was considerable rain on Monday also. The Santa Fe tracks are said to be badly damaged on the San Francisco mountains. The Salt River valley is flooded and the town of Roosevelt near the Roosevelt dam is partly submerged. This latter information came in a private telegram last night. Considerable damage has been done by water in the vicinity of Phoenix.

A report received this afternoon was to the effect that the water at Clear creek, sixteen miles from Winslow, in a deep rock canyon, was fifty feet above low water mark last night and that the Santa Fe pumping station there was badly damaged.

WASHINGTON GLAD IT IGNORED CASTRO

Now the People of Venezuela Have No Feeling Against the United States.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—The riotous demonstrations in Caracas are a surprise to the officials at Washington, who generally expected that any demonstration of hostile act by the foreign power against Venezuela would result in solidifying the people and rallying them to President Castro and his government.

The common belief here is that United States had taken forceful steps against Venezuela, Castro would have become a hero in the eyes of the people there. It is possible for this reason that the administration has been indifferent in pushing demands for a settlement. The department felt that the Venezuela situation would gradually work itself out. For this reason there has been a persistent determination to ignore Castro and look with equanimity on the doings of the foreign governments in an effort to get satisfaction, so long as there was no interference with American interests and no violation of the Monroe doctrine.

THAW'S AUNT HARBOR DIED IN AN ASYLUM

Philadelphia, Dec. 17.—Harriet A. Thaw, aged 85, an aunt of Harry K. Thaw, died Tuesday night at the Friends' asylum for the insane at Frankfort, a suburb. The fact that she was in an asylum was used in the second trial of Thaw. The aged woman was an inmate of the asylum for years but the fact was concealed from the public until it was made known at Thaw's trial.

INDIANAPOLIS NEWS ALSO MAKES REPLY

Says Roosevelt Makes Exhibition of Towering Rage to the Chagrin of Nations.

Indianapolis, Dec. 17.—The Indianapolis News, edited by Delevan Smith, to whom President Roosevelt referred in his Panama statement in connection with the New York World makes reply to the president in the following language:

"It is difficult to characterize fully the latest outbreak of the president without resorting to the use of language as undignified and blame-worthy as that which put the president's utterance in a class by itself in the official literature of the high office he holds. Whatever provocation Mr. Roosevelt may have felt pricking his soul, nothing could justify or extenuate the torrent or invective and violence which he poured out in a state paper upon the heads of private citizens. No one in his sober senses can fail to regard the performance as a grave derogation to the dignity of the presidential station, a pitiable exhibition of towering rage on the part of the chief magistrate and the source of humiliation and chagrin to the entire country. It is quite impossible to think of any of Mr. Roosevelt's long line of distinguished predecessors that could possibly have so far forgotten the dignities and deencies of his exalted position as to transmit to Congress a message in any way comparable with that of yesterday.

"Denunciation and bitterness of speech are no explanation and no answer. Assumption that the New York World and its proprietor were influenced by base or unworthy motives in the publication of the reports touching the Panama affair can not be justified no matter who may be the person that makes it."

COAL SUPPLY DWINDLES

New York, Dec. 17.—That the entire coal supply of the Pennsylvania coal fields will be exhausted in eight-four years was the alarming prediction made by Prof. William Griffith, mining expert and geologist of Scranton, Pa., at the hearing of the government suit against the anthracite coal carrying railroads for illegal combination in restraint of trade under the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law. Prof. Griffith estimated the total available supply of anthracite coal for shipment in 1905 at 2,229,261,650 tons and said at the present rate of consumption the supply would be used up in 1992.

INDIAN LEADERS ARRESTED

Calcutta, Dec. 17.—Great excitement prevails here, owing to developments in the agitation against the government. The most prominent Bengali leader in Eastern Bengal, Dutta, was arrested and conveyed to an unknown destination. Another prominent Nationalist leader, Mitra, editor of the Sanjibani, has been arrested at Calcutta, while the editor of another native paper has been sentenced to transportation on the charge of sedition.

TAFT TO GEORGIA FOR HIS VACATION

He Will Later Visit and Then Make Speeches Until Next March.

New York, Dec. 17.—After a stay of four days in this city, President-elect Taft left this morning for Washington and Augusta, Ga., where he will have the last period of rest and recreation before assuming his duties as chief executive. He will take luncheon with the president at Washington, and expects to reach Augusta tomorrow morning. If present plans are adhered to, Taft will end his southern vacation the last week in January, sailing at that time from Charleston on a three weeks' visit to the Panama canal. He expects to reach United States on his return trip February 15, and from that time until the day of his inauguration will be busy filling a number of speaking engagements.

BODY OF VETERAN IS LAID AT REST

Firing Squad From National Guard Renders Military Honors at Funeral.

The body of John Riley, the Confederate soldier, who died in Old Albuquerque early in the week in destitute circumstances, was buried in Fairview cemetery this afternoon with ceremony befitting a soldier. A squad from Company G, New Mexico National Guard, accompanied the remains from French & Lowber's chapel and fired a salute over the grave. Rev. Cook, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, and regimental chaplain of the guard, officiated, while Mrs. Frank sang sweetly a song in tribute to the soldier of the gray. A number of members of G. K. Warren Post No. 5, Grand Army of the Republic, were among the mourners who attended the services.

The expenses of the funeral and burial were paid for by a subscription fund raised by citizens. Governor E. S. Stover said today that the article in The Citizen of yesterday referring to the poverty of the last days of the old soldier and his wife, gave him too much credit, to the exclusion of others, for what assistance he gave to Mr. Riley and his wife while they were residents of Old Albuquerque. He states that other ex-union soldiers and others, particularly W. W. McDonald, and T. L. Hubbell, gave the family material aid, and that Mrs. F. W. Clancy was a devoted, untiring friend, always rendering generous aid and that the good people of Old Albuquerque were more than kind and generous in their treatment of the unfortunate couple.

WORK OF CONSTRUCTION PROCEEDS RAPIDLY ON NEW ROAD

Dominion Construction Company Has Large Force at Work on the Central.

FINISH THE LINE BY NEXT SUMMER

It Is Expected That Road From Moriarty to Hagan Will Be In Use by April and the Rest Will Be Finished Soon.

With a force of nearly 400 men and 146 teams, the Dominion Construction company is rapidly pushing the construction of that part of the New Mexican Central railroad which will connect Albuquerque with the coal field at Hagan and later with the main line of the New Mexico Central at Moriarty. The progress made in construction since the work was begun several weeks ago leads to the belief that the road will be completed between Moriarty and Hagan by April 1, 1909.

Stalls have been laid for a distance of five miles west from Moriarty toward Frost Junction, where the branch to Hagan starts. When this part of the line is completed the shipping of coal will begin, and it is the intention of the road to then push the remainder of the work, completing the line into Albuquerque.

The construction of the line, however, is being actively pushed at several points. The roadbed has been completed out of Albuquerque to Camp Garcia, near the Tribo ranch on the mesa at Camp Garcia, are 14 men and 21 teams. They are building a trestle west of the camp, the aid of a pile driver being necessary. Grading outfits are working toward Frost from Camp Garcia and stakes show the line the road will follow through Tijeras canyon. Resident Engineer J. R. Farwell and a party of surveyors are working between Camp Garcia and Frost.

Eighty men and 35 teams are at Camp Frost and the work there is progressing rapidly. At station No. 287, twelve men and twelve teams are at work and the roadbed from Frost to Hagan will soon be completed. Much engineering work is being done and the construction between Frost and Hagan will be somewhat difficult requiring the changing of the course of a creek in several places, filling and cutting. At San Pedro, the largest camp between Frost and Hagan, much blasting is being done.

That part of the road between Moriarty and Frost is about completed, and steel laying is in progress. The camp will soon be moved to within a few miles of the terminus, and the end of the line will be given an impetus. It is expected that greater activity on the Albuquerque Eastern end of the road will begin about January 1.

The forces at San Pedro camp, between Frost and Hagan, consists of 111 men and 33 teams. Engineer P. Doodridge and eight assistants are there in charge of the work. This force will be augmented either today or tomorrow by the arrival of Daniel Sweeney, a contractor from Oklahoma and a force of 100 men and 42 teams. Mr. Sweeney has been given the contract for the construction of the six miles of road between Hagan and San Pedro and will start work immediately on arrival.

H. E. Culbertson, general manager of the Dominion Construction company, says that the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible. It is hoped to have the entire road in operation by next summer and at the rate of progress now this can be done. R. J. Vanstun, superintendent of construction, says that Albuquerqueans can travel out of their city on the Central by the latter part of the summer.

While the construction company is giving the greatest attention just now to that part of the road between Moriarty and Hagan, in order to get out coal from Hagan as quickly as possible, there is activity all along the line. The various camp forces are steadily extending the roadbed in the course mapped out by the surveyors and as there are no particularly difficult feats to be performed, the work will probably make rapid progress.

The men employed in the work are well housed, each camp having a number of houses where the gangs are sheltered. Fresh meat, bread, fruit, vegetables, etc., form the menu and the force is contented.

CONGRESSMEN INVITE PRESIDENT TO SHOW EVIDENCE

House Adopts Resolution Presented by Special Committee on the Message.

LITTLE COMMENT MADE BY MEMBERS

Not a Dissenting Vote Cast When Resolution Was Brought up by Perkins, Though Cochran Wanted Change Made

Washington, Dec. 17.—Chairman Perkins, of the House special committee which was appointed to recommend a course of action relative to the suggestions in the president's message concerning the secret service department, and to which members of congress have taken exception, presented the report of that committee at the beginning of today's session of the House.

The report recommends the adoption of a resolution calling upon the president to supply the House with the evidence upon which he based his statement that a number of House members were principally concerned over the fact that secret service men had been investigating the members themselves.

The House adopted the Perkins resolution without a dissenting vote and after very little comment. Cochran, of New York, suggested that it should be made applicable to Congress as a whole and not merely to the House. The change was not made, however, and the Perkins resolution as made was adopted.

HANGED A MURDERER

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 17.—Elmer Hill, charged with the murder of Mamie Womack in Adair county, was dragged from the jail at Monticello, Wayne county, last night, carried four miles to Greasy creek and there hanged to a tree. The body was discovered there this morning by passers-by who had heard nothing of the mob's action last night.

THORNTON HAINS HELD CROWD BACK

Witness Strengthens State's Charge That He Was the Leader of Expedition.

Flushing, N. Y., Dec. 17.—The testimony that Thornton J. Hains drew a revolver and tried to drive back those who sought to aid William E. Annis, while Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., was firing at Annis as he sat in his boat at the Bayside Yacht club, developed today from Charles A. Birchfield, called as one of the state's principal witnesses in the case. Birchfield's evidence is said by the prosecution to support Gravesman's charge that Thornton Hains was the principal and aided his brother in slaying Annis.

SAYS HE WAS SHOT AT

F. Gonzales, a workman on the platform at the local Santa Fe freight house, was arrested by the police this morning on a complaint sworn to by Pedro Gutierrez, charging assault with intent to kill. Gutierrez says that Gonzales shot at him several times last night near the viaduct. Gonzales says that he was at his home east of the shops all evening and will be able to prove an alibi. The hearing of the case was held in Judge Craig's court at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Conserving Humanity

Thirty thousand dead, over two million injured, is the casualty list of industrial life in the United States for the year.

Like the war department's chronology of a great battle are the statistics thus made public by the bureau of labor. And in fact it is the report of a great battle—the fight for bread, which never ceases, which has been waged always and will be waged always until time is no more.

The interest of the nation at this time is bent towards the conservation of national resources and the question would not be impertinent at this time, were inquiry to be made into the possibility of conserving humanity.

The same report which gives the figure of labor's roll of honor, also makes public that carelessness, ignorance and reckless indifference, are the predominating causes of death and injury.

Fatalities by unavoidable accident, there will always be, of course, but fatalities such as have produced the larger part of the deaths and injuries in this country during the past year, show that there is a vast waste of human life.

It is also a fact that the greater part of the fatalities and injuries were among the class of men and women and children who do the hardest and most disagreeable work for the poorest pay. In other words, the laboring people who could least afford to be injured, who had the least to leave for parents, wives, children and dependents, were the ones who suffered the most.

Hundreds of lives were wiped out in the mines of the country, where men toil day and night, shut away from the sun, in the muck and filth of slimy walls of stone and earth.

The railroads paid their annual toll to the grim reaper and the factories and crowded cities, came next with startling lists.

So long as men pay for their bread in the sweat of their brows, so long must there be industrial fatalities that are unforeseen and hence unavoidable. Incidental thereto, so long as greed and avarice in various malicious forms, control the industries of the world, so long will there be fatalities and injuries to the helpless wards of fate.

It would seem, however, that some protection could be had whereby the great waste of the nation's human resources could be cut down to a minimum.

Stripping the forests, allowing the waters to flow away while the desert yawns for moisture, and the many other forms of national carelessness in the past, are immeasurably insignificant as compared with the annual wiping out of thirty thousand humans and the injury of millions.

The sacrifice to the nation's prosperity that cannot be avoided is quite sufficient to make the cost of no small moment, but the lives that are wasted as tribute to avarice and greed on the one hand and to the indifference of the public conscience on the other, make the cost of prosperity all too great. The statement that at least one-third and perhaps one-half the fatalities and injuries could be spared by intelligent and rational methods of inspection, legislation and control, should awaken public sentiment to a demand that these rational methods be adopted.

Old-fashioned cooks and old-fashioned cookery hold the fort in the culinary realm at the White House at Christmas tide, says a popular magazine. The president and Mrs. Roosevelt are wont to intrust the preparation of the great state dinners to professional caterers, but when it comes to the dinner that is pre-eminently the home meal of the year, the French chefs have to give way to the women, who may not be served in the evolution of new desserts but who are more than expert in the preparation of the Christmas standbys, such as turkey, cranberry sauce and mince pie. Moreover, there is likely to be summoned for the occasion an old colored woman, who is a past-master of the art of making doughnuts. The White House domestic staff does itself proud on Christmas night in the arrangement of the dinner table, for which a profusion of flowers have been sent from the White House conservatory, to say nothing of a generous supply of Christmas greens. Mrs. Roosevelt's new china is used, with its delicate gold ornamentation, and the historic small silver is in evidence, including the quaint old "stickers" for holding the turkey firmly during the process of carving. President Roosevelt, like the late President McKinley, has the national bird of the day brought to the table just as it comes from the oven, and takes pride in himself doing the carving and apportioning the light and dark meat in accordance with the preference of his guests.

Official estimates show that the Hindu earned 4 cents a day in 1850, 3 cents a day in 1882, and in 1900, after English rule had been given nearly a generation in which to prove its inestimable advantages, less than 2 cents. The truth is, nobody save an English official in the India service can even glance at the government's own statements about the peninsula without scenting the fumes in the London Times' boast about "half a century of unselfish toil," which has "brought into being the new and pulsating life of India." Not all the outward signs of economics, the railroads, street lamps, municipal buildings and schools can hide the fact that these improvements have been made as investments, and that on the whole, they have profited the stranger far more than the hungry millions whose taxes have created them.

The amenities of political campaigning are illustrated by a story told by a Southern Congressman. It appears that during the course of a stump speech delivered some years ago by John Sharp Williams, in Mississippi, he was interrupted by a sudden yell from a man in the audience. "I have been robbed by pickpockets!" "I did not know that there were any Republicans present," promptly suggested Mr. Williams, in order to get a laugh. "Oh, there ain't, there ain't!" roared the unhappy man. "I'm the only one!"

The late Admiral Cogan distinguished himself both in war and in peace. To his other peaceful accomplishments he added those of an exceptionally entertaining after dinner speaker. On one memorable occasion he received a great ovation from his admiring companions at the dinner table. "This is enough honor to take any man's breath away," he said. "I hope that it does take mine away before I get home."

Kansas dirt roads are the best in the world according to a Kansas paper which adds, however, except when it rains, snows or thaws. As it is always doing one or the other in Kansas, the dirt roads are seldom the best in the world.

Study the sewer proposition and let us fully understand the question before forming an opinion. The Citizen wants to see a sewer system built as quickly as possible, at the least expense, which it believes is what a majority of the people want. The question which must be solved is how best to attain that end?

One advantage of being very, very rich is that your daughter can marry a title and your son a chorus girl and still people will not presume to criticize you.

We now know what a perfect gentleman is. A witness in the French courts testified the other day that Prince Helle de Sagan was a perfect gentleman.

One reason why an Albuquerque man prefers a burro to an automobile is that he is in no danger of running down pedestrians. If he happens to lunge a little too freely.

The Christmas magazines are getting poorer every year. The advertisements are better reading than the literary endeavors of authors who would write touching holiday stories.

The ammunition for the president's African trip is already prepared and in storage for his use. However, there is a bare possibility that he may use it up on Congress before he starts for Africa.

The slim effect in women's clothes also produce the same effect in men's bank accounts.

"CLOWN'S DAUGHTER" AT COLOMBO THEATER

It Shows an Exciting Elopement and Thrill After Thrill.

The feature picture of tonight's program at the Colombo theater will be "The Clown's Daughter," and it is a whole show in itself.

A group of strolling players are seen following an old wagon along the highway, stopping as they come to a town to give a performance. Among their number is a beautiful young girl, the daughter of a clown and she is a first-out looking little creature, indeed, as she trudges along clad in rags. An aristocratic looking youth happens to pass the little group and being attracted by the girl's beauty and manners, starts a little flirtation, to which she responds with a glance of her mischievous eyes.

An elopement follows, which has more thrill in it than a sewer meeting of the city council. The film is 771 feet long.

USED A STONE TO SUBDUCE WIFE

Native Waives Preliminary and is Bound Over to Await Action of Grand Jury.

Expressing himself willing to take his chances with the territorial grand jury, rather than have a preliminary hearing, Jose Largo waived trial in Judge Craig's court Tuesday on the charge of beating his wife on the head with a stone and was bound over under a $250 bond, which he was unable to furnish.

The offense with which Largo is charged took place two weeks ago at Canyoncito, Pinalillo county. The man was arrested shortly after the crime to await the developments of the woman's injuries. It was feared at first that her skull was fractured and that she would die. She has recovered sufficiently, however, to leave her bed, and in all probability, will live to appear before the court.

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

Some Reasons Why

The C

Because The Citizen is a home paper. It is either delivered by carrier at the house or is carried home by the business man when his day's work is done and it STAYS THERE. A morning paper is usually carried down town by the head of the family and hurriedly read.

The Citizen is not read hurriedly, but thoroughly, so that all advertisements receive their share of attention. It presents the store news a little ahead, giving the prospective purchaser time to plan a shopping tour for the next morning.

Wise advertisers patronize The Citizen because they know their advertisements are seen and read at the homes in the evening, and if they are offering something worthy of attention, their ad has accomplished its mission.

The Citizen has never given premiums to subscribers, but is subscribed to and paid for on its news merits, showing that its subscribers have money with which to buy what they want from legitimate merchants. These are the people The Citizen invites to your store.

The Citizen employs a man whose business it is to look after your advertising wants. He will write your copy if you wish. If not, he will see that your ads are "set up" to look their best and he will attend to them from day to day.

Are you advertising in The Citizen? Your competitors are, and are profiting by it. Do you think conservative business men are spending money where they are not getting results? Get in the swim and watch your business grow.

OFFICIALS ON THE WAY TO SECURE THIEVES

Two Men Who Are Charged With Robbing Store Will Be Brought Back for Trial.

Sheriff Perfecto Armijo and Assistant Marshal Harry Cooper have gone to San Bernardino, Cal., with requisition papers for the two men who robbed the store of Michael Bros., on South Second street. Two suit cases of new goods are in the hands of the officers of San Bernardino, and a third is located in Los Angeles. It is believed that Michael Bros. will get back nearly all of the goods stolen. The suit case left by the thieves at Gallup arrived here last night and was opened this morning. It contained four new shoes, none mates, and a quantity of old clothing, which the thieves undoubtedly changed for some of the new ones they stole. One of the men has confessed to the San Bernardino authorities.

JAP AGREEMENT TO HAVE OPPOSITION

Senate Will Probably Try to Block Alliance as Agreed Upon Recently.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—The indications are that the Japanese-American entente, designed to protect the territorial integrity of China, will be the subject of much debate in the Senate at the present session. The fact that such an agreement has been entered into through diplomatic exchanges between Japan and the United States without the formality of a treaty is not acceptable to Democratic leaders. They propose to institute an inquiry to determine the exact form of the understanding between the two countries with a view to showing if possible that the agreement in fact is a treaty.

Soon after the entente was made public Senator Bacon said the agreement must have the sanction of the Senate in order to be of binding force. Discussing this question, Senator Bacon said he still held to that view, but that he did not purpose taking any action until he was convinced that President Roosevelt did not intend to transmit the agreement to the Senate.

Senator Culberson, the minority leader, has requested several lawyers to give the subject their attention. Senator Simmons and Senator Money have interested themselves in an investigation of the law governing treaty-making, and at this stage are inclined to the belief that the entente is a treaty. Their inquiry, however, has not been concluded and Senator Simmons said he was not inclined to set up his judgment against that of such an able lawyer as Secretary Root until he had approached the question from every angle.

If a controversy should be raised the question as to whether the President and the secretary of state were usurping constitutional powers of the Senate, it is probable that disposition of the question would be postponed until next session. In this event the probability is that Mr. Root will be one of the senators from New York, and will be expected to defend the right of the president to engage in relations along the line of the Japanese-American agreement.

ROOT AMBITIOUS TO BECOME PRESIDENT

He Will Seek Seat in Senate
as Stepping Stone to Highest Office in the Land.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Whenever a New Yorker is met with in Washington he places himself in an attitude to receive congratulations upon what now appears the certainty that Elihu Root will be elected to the United States Senate to succeed Thomas C. Platt. For quite a number of years now New Yorkers have taken no part in conversations that had to do with the merits and abilities of United States senators. They have displayed little evidence of the enthusiasm over the men the Empire state has sent to represent it in the "greatest deliberative body on earth."

But they are proud of Root, as well they may be, even though they may not have learned to love him. The austere secretary of state is a figure to be admired though his personality is not one to inspire devotion. By those whose unwilling admiration he has compelled, Mr. Root has been described as a "congealed intellect," and in other frigid terms, but these terms of unendearment are not wholly deserved. Many a man earns the reputation of being cold and distant whose heart beats just as warm and true as that of his more fulsome brother. Vice President Fairbanks has for years been termed the "human icicle," but the writer recalls that the night Mark Hanna died he saw Fairbanks sit in a corner of the Arlington hotel and sob like a woman bereaved.

President-elect Taft has announced that he had hoped to retain Mr. Root in his cabinet as secretary of state. There is not a member of the Senate who would not gladly accept the premiership of the cabinet. Why, then, is often asked, does Root prefer to exchange the state portfolio for a Senate seat? The writer has not been taken into the confidence of the secretary of state, but he feels justified in guessing that the thing which brought Mr. Root back into the cabinet is now taking him to the Senate. That thing is an ambition. Elihu Root wants to be president of the United States. He has fortune, and he has had every honor public life in America could give him short of the presidency. Service in the Senate can add nothing to his distinction, but service of the right sort in the Senate might well add to his public prestige and his popularity.

It is no secret that it was the lure of the presidency, that brought Root back to the cabinet, after he had resigned the secretaryship of war to return to his law practice. President Roosevelt held out the hope that this year's nomination might go to the brilliant New Yorker, and it was well known at the time that he was Roosevelt's first choice for the succession.

The turn of the political wheel finally convinced Mr. Roosevelt, as it did Mr. Root, that while Mr. Root might secure the republican nomination, he would be in danger of defeat at the polls. Because he had been at the head of the New York bar and closely identified with the great financial interests centered at the metropolis Mr. Root would have to make his campaign under a cloud of suspicion, and this was not a year in which a candidate suspected of such leanings could have been elected.

Root's services at the head of the state department had been a failure, therefore, so far as advancing his presidential ambitions were concerned. He had won lasting renown in the field of world diplomacy won the right to be ranked among the very greatest of American secretaries of state, but the limelight does not often penetrate the seclusion of the state department.

It became clear to Mr. Root that to win popular leadership he must seek other lines of activity. The Senate offered the most inviting field to a man of his tastes and abilities. It is true that for some years the Senate itself and the men who rule that body have not been high in popular esteem. But the fault lies with the senators, not with the Senate as a forum. To a man with the commanding ability and exalted prestige of Elihu Root, the United States Senate offers the most promising field to be found anywhere in American public life. If he will go there and use all his great powers in fighting the fight of the people he can make himself as much an idol of the people as Theodore Roosevelt has been.

He May Run in 1916.

It may seem far-fetched to picture Mr. Root accepting a seat in the Senate with a view to capturing the presidency eight years from now, for it is to be assumed that he would not oppose the renomination of Mr. Taft, but eight years is not a long span in a man's life and many men have sought the presidency a much longer time. If Mr. Root is ever to attain the presidency he cannot wait longer than 1916. He is 63 years old now, and in eight years he will be 71. Though a remarkably well preserved man he could not hope for the presidency after 1916.

There is no reason to doubt that Mr. Taft knows of Mr. Root's ambition or that he sympathizes with it. He has the very highest regard for the character and ability of the secretary of state, and while he would like to continue him in that position he must know that Root in the Senate could be much more useful to him. President Roosevelt has seen the defeat of not a few of his policies because there was in the Senate no man he could depend on who was strong enough to overcome the powerful coteries of senators who opposed as far as they dared everything which Roosevelt favored.

Mr. Root would seem to have before him, therefore, an opportunity such as is presented to few Americans. There never was a time when people were so alive to their own interests in the matter of legislation, and in the battle between predatory wealth and the common people no man of Root's surpassing ability has aligned himself with the people. Under such circumstances, there ought to be no limit to the popularity possible for him to achieve.

ATHLETIC CLUB

HAS GOOD PROGRAM

Exhibition Saturday Night Promises to Be the Best Ever Put On Here.

Members of Albuquerque's Athletic club are whetting their sporty appetites in anticipation of the smoker scheduled for Saturday night. The principal bout between Bob Walker of Chicago, and Kennedy, the athletic instructor in the club's gym, will be a hotly contested exhibition. It is to go fifteen rounds for points, endurance being one of the principal points upon which the decision will be rendered.

The principals of this bout are two as good boxers as ever put the gloves on in this territory. They weigh about 140 pounds stripped and are well matched in other ways. Kennedy probably has the better record of the two, though Walker has the scalps of some of the best middle-weight boxers of the country.

The preliminary go will be between a couple of local light-weights, and promises to be a very interesting side show. Members of the club will miss a treat if they let this smoker get away from them. Major Ruppe has decided to hold the opening event until after 9 o'clock, which will give the business men of the city a chance to attend. Three hours will also be sufficient time for the completion of the program before Sunday morning.

Membership cards may be had at R. Ruppe's drug store at $2. This card entitles the holder to admission to the club and the use of the gym, with instructions by Prof. Kennedy for thirty days. The cards run from December 15 to January 15. The last smoker proved to the fans that there will be no fake exhibitions. The management will not stand for any shams, and members of the club may be assured they will get all that is coming to them at the smoker Saturday night.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING NOW IN FULL SWING

Eager Shoppers Through the Busy
Stores in Search of Gifts for Friends.

If there is anybody in Albuquerque who thinks that because of business depression and lack of employment during the past year there is going to be nothing doing for Christmas, a trip among the stores of the city will make him see the error of his conviction.

It takes more than a lack of employment and consequent shyness of funds to completely squelch the Christmas spirit among people who have friends to be remembered at this happiest season of the year, and most of us have some friends. Yesterday being pay day, a considerable money has already been put into circulation, and today was the real opening day for Christmas shopping. Nearly all the stores are making an effort to meet the people half way this year and assist them in making their money go farther than ever before. The Houston store on Central avenue, is leading in this respect by continuing their bona fide 35 per cent reduction sale in all departments throughout the month. This store is packed with goods of quality and class. There is nothing cheap but the price, nothing that you would not be glad to send as a gift to your very best friend, to "her" or to "him."

There is a line of very handsome handbags in all grades, from 75 cents to $15, which ordinarily would cost you 25 per cent more. Then there is the famous "Lucky Curve" Parker fountain pen, the pen that "inks the point and not your fingers," from $1.50 to $10. Pyrography outfits, $2 to $5. What would make a better gift than an Eastman Kodak. You will find them here from $2 to $10 and more.

Just to help you in selecting there are tourist leather collar boxes and toilet sets, card casts, pocketbooks, bill books and collectors' wallets, sterling silver pencils, sterling silver nail files, ladies' pearl handle gold pens and pencils, toilet sets in seal and alligator, manicure sets, fancy ink stands, smokers' sets, postcard albums, kodak albums, fancy box stationery, skates, footballs, boxing gloves, safety razors, knives and hundreds of other articles which will make acceptable gifts.

Then we should not forget that there is much added sentiment in the attractiveness of the parcel. Houston has all the latest things in holly boxes, holly paper and stickers to give your parcels a Christmas-like appearance.

Houston's is a popular place with Christmas shoppers because they know that what they get here is sure to be right and that they can save 25 per cent on all their purchases.

TRUANCY OFFICER WILL CARE FOR BOYS

Guardian is Named For Two Children Who Had No One to Look After Them.

Probate Judge Romero closed a two days' session of probate court yesterday afternoon by appointing Truancy Officer Sill guardian of the two little sons of a plasterer, Convey by name, who were found a month ago living a miserable life in an adobe building on North Broadway. The father, who is supposed to be at Socorro, was notified to appear before the court Tuesday and show reason why the boys should not be taken from his care. The court postponed the hearing a day with hopes that the father would come and claim his sons, but he did not and yesterday, at the quest of the oldest boy, age 13 years, Mr. Sill was appointed guardian.

Mr. Sill said this morning that he would keep them until such a time as he could find a suitable home for them. Both are unusually bright for their age and when the dirt that had accumulated on them had been washed from them they made a good appearance. They are strong physically and have good faces, with honest eyes and with proper care will make good men.

In the case of the claim of Mrs. Josephine Smith against the estate of the late Dr. J. A. Henry, in which the claim was made for $300 for services rendered the late physician during his last illness, the court rendered a decision giving Mrs. Smith $475. H. B. Ferguson appeared as counsel for Mrs. Smith and Geo. S. Klock for the estate. Several very heated arguments were engaged in by counsel. Klock asked for an appeal from the decision of the court.

Frank H. Strong was appointed administrator of the estate of B. F. Walker, deceased, and gave bond in the sum of $1,000. Several small claims against the estate were allowed. The hearing of the final report of Geo. P. Leonard, administrator of the estate of Sarah C. Overstreet, was set for the first Monday in February, 1909. Patricia V. Sanchez was appointed administrator de bono non of the estate of Margarita Chavez de Sanchez, deceased. His bond was fixed at $500. Carlota C. Miller was given permission to sell certain real estate belonging to her wards, George Miller et al. Pauline Helch was appointed guardian of Emil and Edile Helch, minors, and gave bond in the sum of $100. December 15 was set for the hearing of a claim made by Louis A. Cameron against the estate of G. L. Althelm, deceased. The claim was for $15.45.

George Arnot, of Gross, Kelly & Co., was appointed administrator of the estate of James P. Mitchell, to serve under $4,000—bonds, which were furnished. Mr. Arnot was appointed on petition of Thos. Faucett and others who allege to be creditors of the estate. Lily Mitchell, widow of the deceased bartender, filed an application to be appointed administratrix but the appointment had been made before the application was received.

The appointment of a guardian of the two Convey boys was set for this afternoon. Otto Dieckmann and A. Croden were appointed appraisers of the estate of the late J. D. Tortina.

HIS ADVERTISEMENT CAUSES MUCH WORRY

Colonel Sellers is Confronted With the Necessity for Appearing "Bachelors."

By publicly referring to certain well known and popular young men of the city as bachelors in an advertisement offering a bargain in real estate, Colonel D. K. B. Sellers has evidently started something that he will have trouble stopping.

While the colonel cannot be sued for libel, unless some of the young men referred to can show that they have at some time or another been married, there are a number of very husky individuals in the list who may demand a retraction, or offer bodily injury to the colonel, or else propose a compromise by which the eligible will have to enumerate the eligible maid of the city who should buy some of his valuable lots in the Eastern addition, on which he proposes to build a house for the purchaser.

And there is a possibility that the colonel is wrong in the case of some of the young men he refers to as bachelors. It was said today by a clergyman that at least one of the young men in the list of eighteen alleged eligibles is a married man.

The advertisement may be the cause of bringing to light more than one secret marriage. While the reporter is pledged to secrecy and the confidence of a newspaper man is sacred, the Citizen's readers may glance over the list and make a guess as to the one referred to. There are only eighteen names and one could not miss the mark so very far.

As evidence that some of the men referred to as bachelors are deeply offended, The Citizen today has two letters of protest. One of the letters is signed but the writer modestly requests that his name be withheld. These letters follow:

An Open Letter.
"Editor Citizen:
"Since Colonel Sellers has seen fit to use my name to his own advantage, without my consent, I would now dare him to publish the names of the old maid who he believes should purchase one of his fifty foot lots, including five thousand feet of lumber, and a foot warmer. If he will do this, I am willing to put up for a lot and go in with any one of them on the lumber deal."

(NOT SIGNED.)
Hurt His Chances.
"Editor Evening Citizen:
"As one of those so-called confirmed bachelors, who was subjected to Colonel Sellers' attack in last evening's paper, I desire to enter a stren-

Owing to a deplorable incident which resulted in a loss to us of about $10,000 worth of our goods (we refer to a robbery which a great many of our friends will remember) we have not been able to maintain our position for the last five years as the foremost jewelers of the Southwest.

This place, which rightfully belongs to us, we have now taken. We have moved our goods into a room larger than the rooms occupied by any other jeweler, we have tripled our stock and facilities for serving the public.

Especially is our leadership pre-eminent in the line of cut glass and china and the really new styles in jewelry. We have the finest line of cut glass (Hawke's make) ever shown in the city, and our china is Stouffer's American hand painted, also lines painted by the "fine Italian hand" of the leading artists of France and Italy.

MISS ETHEL ROOSEVELT.

MISS ROOSEVELT MAKES DEBUT DEC. 28

The President's Daughter Will Enter Society at a Dance at the White House.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 17.—In spite of the approaching debut of the daughter of the White House, clouds for a time hung low about the second floor bedroom, boudoir, and bath overlooking Pennsylvania avenue northeast. This was the suite of Miss Alice Roosevelt that was, and now in its fresh sky-blue decorations and maple furnishings is the private habitat of Miss Ethel, the prospective first debutante of the land.

She was the one particularly affected by the unhappiness and those nearest the little girl—as all such people speak of her—say that she begged to give up her present visit to New York, for Ace, her yellow dog, was lost. He was not discoverable in the White House fountain pursuing his favorite occupation of bathing there, and he was not in that comfortable spot for drying, which is his mistress's shirt waist box.

"Under the circumstances," said Miss Ethel, her round hazel eyes overflowing, "I can't bear to think of dining and dancing!" But the New York engagements were made, and Mrs. Roosevelt, who is punctilious, hustled her daughter away. Then, suddenly, a few days later, out of nowhere, Ace walked informally through the guarded main entrance of the White House and up the wide, rounding stairs. His return was instantly announced at the home of Mrs. Landon in New York, by telegraph, and brought the hasty response from her young visitor of "Hurray! Can enjoy myself mightily now! Ethel."

expecting anything more extreme in the details of this most notable of debut events will find it only in the imaginations of those who tell of it.

Day by day she mingles among them just this way. When she attends the theater informally out of season she usually goes with three or four of her young acquaintances, selected entirely for personal reasons and not according to any court etiquette. They make up the price of the seats among them and drive down in the White House carriage to the theater bareheaded and unchaperoned, after dining together at the home of one of them.

The other day she decided to make a purchase in a book store after closing hour. She was driving with her mother and she hopped out of the carriage almost before it stopped. Then she ran up to the door, rattled it, and ran around to the clerk's door, through which she made a precipitous entrance, and was out again before the slower footman could get the use of himself to assist.

That day she wore the tailor costume of a right young girl, with a high skirt and unfitted jacket. Altogether she was not one whit less independent, according to some one who has seen her often, than the little Ethel who had a year ago ridden her bicycle up in front of the candy store next the book shop. That time she unassisted, had stood the single three times of a year ago post, three times had watched it fall, had finally carried a brick and propped against it, looked at it a minute, to make sure of its safety, shrugged her boyish shoulders, pulled at her short reefer jacket, and had gone inside to buy a glass of soda water.

Goes Out With Her Mother. Nowadays, to be sure, she seldom goes unchaperoned, and is the almost constant companion of her mother. And she shows one other external acknowledgment of her approaching womanhood as well. It lies in her lengthened skirts, which are now below her shoulders, and will, on the promise of Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary, at afternoon and evening entertainments, shortly sweep the floor. Then, too, the flat-lying, bright brown hair of a year ago has been taken on the curve of a soft pompadour, and it ends, not as formerly, in two braids, but in a heavy knot on her neck.

In other respects, however, the girl to whom the whole eastern coast is trying to give a good time is just a child who sticks to her reefer jackets and straight dresses because she is too unformed for maturer cuts. All of her dresses, except one brown, tailor-made, are put up in the youngest of styles, and there are no directoire fashions promised in her wardrobe for later. One brown tailor made dress is semi-fitted and people are objecting to it because it "is not just Ethel's style." They think that only the round, brown hat with its band of rose color keeps that costume appropriately youthful for her.

As for the other dresses, they are satisfyingly simple and becoming. Many of them are of soft, white mull, made with round skirts, Dutch necks, French embroidery and sashes. There is also one of gray, with all of the accessories of plumes, suede shoes, gloves and bag, charmingly toned to it. Indeed, one of the attractions of this debutante lies in the ravishing prettiness and simple way that she dresses.

At a symphony concert the other afternoon she was present, charmingly gowned in a simple dress of pale blue, and her sister, Mrs. Longworth, who has bespoken the privilege of chaperoning her often this winter, was with her. Almost the whole interest of that afternoon centered not in the music but in the comparison of those two sisters. They are both like their father, but almost totally different from each other. Mrs. Longworth beyond doubt, is growing matronly, but even as a little girl she was not just like the little girl of today. The debutante of this year is her mother's own daughter in features, expression, coloring and manner.

In physique she is like the president. In this particular the debutante differs from him. And this leaves only one of his conspicuous qualities for them to share, which is his impulsiveness. Miss Ethel is a big girl with large bones, fair hair, and the perfect shell-like coloring of the Dutch women. In fact, she betrays her kinship with the Dutch women in her solid build, her naive ways, and most vividly of all, in the wholesomeness of her smile. She has not the slender figure nor the same sort of high spirited dash which contributed to much to the attraction of her sister as a debutante. But she has the charm of gentleness modified by a boyish roguishness and a promise of splendid womanhood. The lines "standing with reluctant feet where the brook and river meet," might have been written for her.

She Helps Herself. And having been simply and graciously presented to the political society of Washington, she is likely to mingle democratically the next day with the crowds on the streets of the capital with Montawk, her horse, and Ace, her dog. All those who are

WOULD PROTECT BIRDS OF THE NATION

Audubon Society Will Begin
Campaign to Save
Feathered Friends.

New York, Dec. 17.—To save the crops, woods and waters of America for future Americans by preserving the birds, without whose services few growing things will survive on the continent, is the object of a special campaign that was begun in this city today. At the request of the leaders of the movement at Washington, the National Association of Audubon Societies has enlisted in the general conservation crusade, with all its working forces that have for years labored to this end. As a first step to show the rapid decline in the feathered resources of the nation a census of the game and forest birds of the entire country has today been projected by the association.

Five of the leading ornithologists and workers in the Audubon association were selected as a committee to represent the important interests of bird protection in cooperation with the other elements in the national conservation organization. With William Dutcher, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, there will serve on this committee Edward Howe Forbush, who is in charge of the association's New England department; T. Gilbert Pearson, the head of its offices in the south; Frank M. Chapman, a leader in Audubon field work, and Dr. T. S. Palmer, who is prominent in the government biological survey, the department of agriculture, as well as an active member of the association.

With the assistance of the authorities at Washington, this committee hopes to soon be ready to show the people of the United States some striking evidences of the effect of bird butchery upon their chief resource.

To have a complete census of the game and forest birds over every square mile of every section of this country is regarded here as one of the hardest tasks which the Audubon workers have ever undertaken in their long history of labors to preserve the national bird life. Thousands of detailed question blanks are to be sent to representatives and friends of the association the country over, as well as to every known warden, ornithologist and official who is in touch with local conditions. On the expert observations of this small army of bird lovers and experts a comparative census will be based which the Audubon officials feel sure will show an appalling decrease in nature's feathered forces that insure life to all crops and trees.

Forest fires such as devastated the country this fall were declared by the Audubon authorities in this city to be responsible for wholesale destruction to America's bird races. For every tree consumed by the flames, homes were lost to breeding birds, they declared, while millions of the migratory flocks perished because of the conflagration. It is known that whole regiments of the smaller species have in many cases been confused and lost in the smoke clouds of the burning regions.

"When we have proven in this way the tremendous and growing destruction of bird life, which is now seriously threatening the crops and general material welfare of every American, we believe the whole country will come to support our work," said William Dutcher, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, at its headquarters, 141 Broadway, today. "It is high time that the people of this country were made to realize the prime economic importance of our efforts to protect the nation's bird resources. This I feel sure the proposed census will accomplish. Beyond the share in the conservation movement which we have undertaken, we shall continue to push our other essential lines of work just as far as the very necessary help of patriotic citizens will permit."

THE BIGGEST BANK WILL MOVE

NATIONAL CITY BANK, NEW YORK.

New York, Dec. 17.—Fifty million dollars in gold, silver, and currency will be moved across Wall street next Saturday afternoon and Sunday, when the National City bank quits its old home, 52 Wall street, for its new quarters, the old United States Custom house, remodeled.

The removal of this enormous sum of money will be accomplished by the bank's own clerks and messengers, who, under heavy guard, will cross and recross the street carrying great leather bags, each containing not less than $10,000. The street will be filled with policemen to head off anything suggestive of trouble.

A year ago the old custom house was turned over to builders. The interior was completely remodeled, but the granite walls, with the familiar Ionic columns, were left practically untouched. By adding a Corinthian colonnade and adhering strictly to a scheme of classic simplicity it is believed an admirable result has been obtained.

The entire lower section is given over to a great banking chamber, the ceiling of which is sixty feet high and eighty-three feet to the top of the central dome.

Dominating from its position in the center of the banking room every other feature of the ground floor is the great armor plate safe, weighing 30,000 tons. Fane of disguise or ornament the architects are frankly treating it as a strong box. The safe has every known effective safety feature, the most modern and striking of which is a system of steam calls enclosing the great iron box designed to paralyze in a moment any person bent on robbery. The steam can be shot into these coils by touching several concealed buttons in a twinkling, making all the space about the safe a veritable furnace.

The purpose of such a feature is to foil any attempted hold up in banking hours, no matter how strong or how heavily armed the raiding force. The safe might be wide open with hundreds of thousands of dollars in plain view, every bank clerk and official on that floor might be looking down the muzzle of a revolver, yet an office boy on the upper floor could touch a button and no human being could approach the safe and live.

The National City bank is just four years short of 100 years old.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it is like a rubber band closed, and the sound cannot enter the ear. It is entirely closed, and when it is closed, it is entirely closed, and when it is closed, it is entirely closed.

SAYS SOCIALISM IS NOT RIGHT SOLUTION

President of Cornell Points Out Dangers That Confront the Nation.

Omaha, Dec. 17.—Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell university, was the principal speaker yesterday at the corn exposition being held here, and he took as his subject "The Problem of Great Fortune," pointing out the threats of the government of the United States to take measures toward regulating existing conditions. He said in part:

While I sympathize with the socialistic desire to improve the condition of our unprotected classes, I have no faith in the socialistic panacea. That forced, unjust and unnatural equality for which he stands would destroy the genius, energy and initiative of the individuals to which the progress of civilization is in the last analysis due. And the socialistic supposition that the state would manage great industrial enterprises as successfully as private individuals is refuted every day by experience and observation of the manner in which in all countries business is conducted by the political leader, and managers who constitute government for the time being.

I have no faith in the socialistic scheme of state ownership of capital and equal compensation for all. On the other hand I recognize the lesson that inequalities of fortune, when they become very conspicuous and firmly established under the aegis of existing institutions, lead to revolutions.

The Socialistic Spirit. Let us not, however, be guilty of misapprehension or exaggerated alarm. Socialism, as I have said, is an impossibility. Individualism is the only workable scheme of society, and, when tempered with a proper social spirit, it is the justest scheme.

The danger, however, which lies near it is of becoming anti-social and of breeding revolution. Its safety lies in renewed baptisms of the social spirit. And that social spirit, while admitting inequalities, and even great inequalities, yet exercises an influence in the direction of greater equality. It thus becomes the purifier and preservative of existing institutions. The men who fight it, the men who contend for unlimited equality as the natural correlate of the free individual, are the dauntless champions of revolution. However sincere they may be, they are woefully short-sighted.

I see, therefore, no hope or advantage to the community in government ownership of railroads. This branch of Socialism, like Socialism as a whole, seems to me utterly unfruitful and even injurious. But I repeat that since we are inevitably wedded to an individualistic system of government, and since history shows that such governments purge themselves by revolutions when the contrast between what Mr. Bryce calls the "Have" and the "Have-nots" has become so vast that it is no longer tolerable, it is the part of foresight and prudent statesmanship to anticipate the tendency of events and adopt such salutary measures as may correct the evils before the revolutionist's knife is needed to eradicate them.

Nor is it wholly, or perhaps even mainly, a matter of statesmanship. The first requisite is the enlightenment of public opinion. And when action is called for it will perhaps be found that in a community which has informed itself and reflected upon these problems, more can be done for their solution by the wise action of private individuals than by all the efforts of government, though I am far from saying or believing there is nothing which government can do in the premises.

Progress of Working Men. When we speak of the contrast between the rich and the poor, we have in mind at the latter extreme the wage-earners who own no property and whose livelihood depends on their daily earnings, which, though generally assured, are sometimes precarious. I am not saying that this class of our citizens is not better off today than it has ever been in the past. On the contrary I believe it is. Certainly, Karl Marx's predictions in regard to the effect which capital and machinery were to produce on the laboring classes have been falsified by the events, not only have their wages been increased, but the hours of labor have been reduced and the sanitary and other conditions greatly improved.

Vast Fortunes on Trial. Calamitous fortunes are on trial in this country. Whether and how far it is worth while to encourage and protect them is a question of the future. The voters of the country who will answer it will have their sentiments and opinions influenced by the use to which these owners put their fortunes in their lifetime and the manner in which they dispose of them at their death. Yet there is one fundamental fact which is apt to be overlooked by radicals, though it is essential to a just consideration of the whole question. I allude to the circumstance that not only are great fortunes usually safer in the hands of the people who have made them than in any other hands, but in obedience to economic laws they must be employed in the maintenance of productive enterprises which benefit the consuming public and pay wages to employees as well as earn profits to the owners. Yet a life devoted solely to making money would seem a splendid and wretched one. And this is the testimony of our multi-millionaires themselves.

President Schurman went on to point out that if multi-millionaires themselves failed to recognize their obligation to share their fortunes with the community which they have accumulated with the co-operation of the community then it is in the power of the government to enforce this obligation by a system of taxation on the transfer and inheritance of decedent's estates. He expressed the opinion that there was no "Just" tax, no tax whose incidence is more lightly felt. He suggested that in connection with this National Corn exposition, the governor of Nebraska call a conference of governors or other representatives of the several states to formulate a policy on inheritance taxes.

Turning then to the subject of legislation against trusts Dr. Schurman said that if a just and wise policy could be formulated and established in regard to the rights and obligations of the owners of great fortunes as well as the claims of the public calm and impartial discussion of the problem of trusts and corporations would be easier.

Encourage the love of good books this year by giving them as presents.
