NO RADICAL TRUST LEGISLATION IS EXPECTED BY DEMOCRATS

President's Message, Relating to Combinations in Restraint of Trade, Waited for by Congressmen.

BANK BILL EXPECTED BEFORE CHRISTMAS

Republicans Not to Retard Action on Currency Measure, Is Announced Policy of Leaders.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 7.—President Wilson's views on trust legislation are to be sought this week by congressional leaders. The last week has developed a pronounced view among democratic members of the senate that the anti-trust acts of the present session of congress should be few, and should effect only the more obviously needed reforms in the field of combination and corporation activity.

While the president has announced his purpose to send a special trust measure to congress in the near future, the scope of the communication has not yet been outlined.

The demands of democratic leaders for speedy action on the currency reform bill, have had a marked effect on the senate. Confident predictions are now made that the bill will pass that body before December 20, and that an adjustment of differences between senate and house can be reached shortly after that time.

Republican members have made it clear they do not wish to be charged with delay of currency reform.

The house will have before it the pending week Alaskan railroad legislation, the Hensley "naval holiday" resolution, immigration regulation, high cost of living investigation, the lobby committee's report, and numerous other matters of compelling interest.

It is the hope of house leaders now that the senate will be able to complete the currency bill so that a two weeks' recess can be taken for the holiday season.

Advocates of anti-trust reforms in both houses, expect to concentrate upon a few trust bills early in the new year. It is believed that these bills will cover only part of the field of trust legislation.

The early trust bills probably will be aimed at the abolishment of interlocking directorates and holding companies, and possibly of voting trusts and "fiscal agencies." Legislation strengthening the rights of minority stockholders will also be asked for, and attempts will be made to strengthen the Sherman law so as to get rid of the effect of the supreme court's decision that "reasonable" restraints of trade are not unlawful.

These bills do not reach the reforms desired by the majority of those in the senate who have been most active in the study of the trust question. It has become apparent that there will be a strong effort to create a trade or industrial commission similar to the Interstate Commerce commission, and with the broadest possible powers of control over all corporations doing business over state lines.

Chairman Newlands, of the Interstate Commerce committee, favors the creation of an "interstate trade commission," as one of the most important steps toward thorough control of "big business." He has a bill that would give this commission general oversight over corporations, with power to make original investigations and report conditions to the attorney general for any necessary prosecution. The commission would also carry out supreme court decrees dissolving convicted trusts.

Some of the other bills now before the senate, however, go much further in the rigid control they would impose. The first would give an industrial commission power to determine in advance whether a corporation's stock was "watered," whether it had paid too much to the fiscal agents who financed it, whether its prices were unreasonable or its methods of selling competition illegal; and authority to keep out of interstate business any corporation whose methods it does not approve.

Other bills, including those by Senators La Follette, Williams, Cummins, Chapin and others would impose rigid laws defining illegal acts, specific restraints of trade, price cutting methods to stifle competition or forms of over-capitalization and would impose drastic penalties for the infraction of these laws.

Fire on Ship at Sea Extinguished.
Norfolk, Va., Dec. 7.—Wireless reports received here tonight told of the transfer at sea of 147 passengers from the steamer Rio Grande, which had caught fire while bound from New York to Brunswick, Ga., by the Italian ship Scammon, the subduing of the flames and safe return of the passengers to their vessel. The Rio Grande is now on her way to Brunswick.

PLAYWRIGHT'S FATHER DIES IN CALIFORNIA

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Montreal, Que., Dec. 7.—News of the death of his father, Richard Whitestone Tully, at Sierra Madre, California, was received here by Richard Walton Tully, the playwright, on the eve of the production of his new play, "Mama, the First-Maker." Mr. Tully arrived here last night and inasmuch as he is directing the production he will be unable to attend his father's funeral.

Richard Whitestone Tully was one of the picturesque figures of the early days in California. Arriving there when a young man, as a "forty-niner" he accumulated a fortune in mining. At one time he was mayor of Stockton. He was 78 years old.

EFFORTS TO SETTLE IRISH STRIKE FAIL

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Dublin, Dec. 7.—The attempt to reach a settlement of the Dublin strike which has been in progress for fifteen weeks has failed. A conference composed of employers and employees, assisted by English labor leaders, met for twenty-four hours, thrashing out every point, but broke down today on the workers' demand for complete reinstatement of the strikers. This, the executives of the employers would not concede. The employers offered to reinstate eighty per cent of the strikers.

MRS. PANKHURST IS AGAIN RELEASED FROM PRISON

Hunger Strike of Militant
Leader Opens Jail Doors
While Followers Are Denouncing Government.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
London, Dec. 7.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, who was arrested at Plymouth on December 4, on her arrival from the United States, aboard the steamer Majestic, was released from the Brixton jail at 10 o'clock tonight.

Mrs. Pankhurst began a hunger and thirst strike immediately following her arrest.

Mrs. Pankhurst was driven to a hotel. She appeared very weak and immediately retired to bed in charge of a nurse. Mrs. Pankhurst was given her liberty on seven days' license. She intends to proceed to London at the earliest possible moment.

Not anticipating the early release of their leader, suffragettes gathered tonight at the Empress theater to protest against the imprisonment of Mrs. Pankhurst. The house was only three-quarters filled. "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond, who presided, explained the empty seats by accusing the postoffice of tampering with letters containing invitation tickets. In the course of a speech denouncing the government, she exclaimed:

"Here and now we swear that never again will the government get Mrs. Pankhurst. We shall organize a bodyguard which will even face baton charges."

A resolution demanding the instant release of Mrs. Pankhurst was adopted with enthusiasm, but as the meeting was dispersing the news of her liberation was announced, and was greeted with prolonged cheers. Several large donations to the cause were made, and promises of further donations given, amounting in all to $50,000. This amount includes $22,500, the proceeds of Mrs. Pankhurst's American tour.

DOCKING FACILITIES NECESSARY ON THE PACIFIC COAST

To Care for Ships of Atlantic Fleet, After Opening of the Canal, Arrangements Will Be Made With Private Company

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 7.—Absolute necessity for dry docks on the Pacific coast in which the great battleships of the Atlantic fleet can be docked when they pass through the Panama canal has led Secretary Daniels to seek authority from congress to enter into a contract with private dock owners. The collapse of the great Pearly Harbor dock in Hawaii, which was to be the mainstay of the navy on the west coast, and the inaccessibility of the Mare Island navy yard basin until a great deal of dredging has been done has reduced the naval reserves on the west coast to one dock at Puget sound, entirely too far distant from the Panama canal to meet naval needs.

The secretary therefore proposes to contract with a private corporation which already owns docks in San Francisco harbor, to construct another great dock capable of handling the dreadnaughts on the basis of a guaranteed compensation in so many thousands of tons of naval docking per annum.

SEARCH IS BEGUN FOR LABOR LEADERS

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Trinidad, Colo., Dec. 7.—Frank J. Hayes and John B. Lawson today became objects of a search by military authorities here, who wish to detain the two union leaders for examination as to the conduct of the strike of miners in the southern Colorado coal fields, and that their whereabouts might become known, military authorities communicated with the Denver civil authorities in an effort to locate the two men.

The military commission leaves here tomorrow for Walsenburg, where it will conduct an inquiry into the strike situation in that section of the strike district. Among those who go before the commission there will be the men who are said to have confessed to complicity in the armed assault upon an automobile at La Veta recently, which resulted in the death of four persons. Adolph Gerner, union organizer, will be asked to appear before the commission.

General Chase tonight stated that Louis Tikas, a leader of the Greek strikers, now held in solitary confinement, will not be released at any immediate date. Tikas is being held because of the commission's belief that he has knowledge of acts of violence committed by strikers in this district.

GERMAN OFFICER TO BE COURT MARTIALED

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Berlin, Dec. 7.—Lieutenant Baron Von Forstner, according to the report reaching here, is to be tried by court martial for wounding a lame shoemaker, on December 2, at Zabern, Alsace, during street disturbances. It was Lieutenant Von Forstner who started the trouble at Zabern by making scornful references to the citizens when he addressed the recruits of his company.

Seventeen huge socialist meetings were held today and were addressed by members of the reichstag. A protest was recorded against "military anarchy versus constitutional rights." Order was maintained at all the meetings.

Mining Plant Destroyed by Fire.
Cripple Creek, Colo., Dec. 7.—The mine building and the plant of the Gregory mine were totally destroyed by fire here tonight. One man who had been marooned in the shaft, barely escaped with his life. The damage to property is estimated at $10,000.

DENVER GRADUALLY BREAKING SNOW BLOCKADE

Main Lines of Street Cars Are Running at Intervals and Railroad Traffic Is Again
Under Way.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Denver, Dec. 7.—Conditions remained favorable throughout the day for the clearing of tramway lines and steam railroads from the worst snow storm recorded in Colorado for thirty-five years. Tonight the main lines of street cars in Denver, east, south, north and northeast are running at intervals. The warm sunshine of the day has greatly aided the work of clearing the streets, but only in the business district is traffic possible.

The blockade on most of the railroads was broken today. In the Cripple Creek district, where the snowfall was especially heavy, it is reported that there is yet no prospect of relief for the passengers on a stalled short line train for several days. The plows are unable to penetrate the ice filled cuts and heavy locomotives have been stalled in trying to force a way to the train.

Two locomotives remaining in the Cripple Creek yards are unable to get out more than two miles. Electricity for the lighting system is available tonight, but there is no power for the mines or electric cars. People generally remain indoors as the streets are almost impassable. There is no scarcity of food or coal.

Mrs. John Porter, living in a cabin on Bull hill in the Cripple Creek district, was found dead in bed when her husband reached home after being snowed out for two days at the Portland mine. Her body was taken to Victor on a sled.

PROSPECTORS ARE RESCUED FROM SNOWBOUND CABIN

Colorado Springs, Colo., Dec. 7.—G. B. McDonalds and T. Powell went on snow shoes fifteen miles up on Cheyenne mountain to the rescue of Thomas Wells and Jacob Allen, two prospectors, who were snowbound in an isolated cabin with no food except flour. Wells, the younger of the two, had succeeded in reaching a ranger cabin where there was a telephone and had sent out a call for help. Allen is 78 years old.

Two caravans of pack mules, on their way from Silverton, Colo., to Nebraska will be used tomorrow for carrying coal from the mines to the National Woodmen sanatorium, ten miles distant, which has been using wood for fuel for the past two days.

Argentina Admiral Is Dead.
Buenos Ayres, Dec. 7.—Admiral Enrique Howard, president of the Argentine council of war and marine, died today.

ZAPATISTAS ATTACK TRAIN AND FIERCE FIGHT RESULTS NEAR CAPITAL

Rumors Are Current in Mexico
City That Monterey and Saltillo Have Fallen Into Hands of Constitutionalists.

STORIES OF FEDERAL REVERSES BELIEVED

Vast Crowd Attends Bullfight
at Amphitheater in Which Two Noted Matadors Are Enthusiastically Greeted.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Mexico City, Dec. 7.—The government has disregarded the warning of the Zapata forces that they would shoot any railway employees in case the operation of trains on the Cuernavaca line was attempted after December 1, and as a result a pitched battle has taken place between Cuernavaca and Iguala. Luis Valdes, a Mexican who was naturalized in Texas, and a member of the Order of Railway Conductors, who was in charge of the train, was shot and seriously injured while another conductor, a Mexican, also was wounded.

The Zapata forces had made arrangements to dynamite the train, but through miscalculation they fired on the train just before it reached the mines. The train stopped and a fight ensued in which several of the escorting soldiers were killed.

Fighting between the federal and rebels near Huixtla, which is situated between Mexico City and Cuernavaca, had apparently ended today, but the outcome has not been determined, although the rebels withdrew.

Notwithstanding reassuring reports issued by the war department, rumors that Monterey and Saltillo have been taken by the rebels are persistent and the temper of the residents of the country is now such that reports of federal reverses are given more credence than those of federal victories.

There was a municipal election in the capital today but the scores at the polls failed to indicate that the average citizen knew anything about the affair. Although the public took no interest in the election, it did manifest a very lively interest in a bullfight, the great attraction being the presence in the ring of Belmondo, a famous Spanish matador, and Gama, an idolized man of Mexico.

No seat in the amphitheater, which has a capacity of 25,000, was empty and hundreds stood in the aisles and on the roof. To this crowd, representative of the republic's population, the relative skill displayed by Belmondo and Gama appeared far more interesting than developments in the revolutionary situation. The acting minister of finance was judge of the contest.

The Mexican republic in general appears apathetic with regard to the advance of the rebels, although it is conceded by all classes that the rebels are moving rapidly, and speculation for the most part has to do, not with the question of will they win, but how soon.

The press of the capital, however, largely gives preference to a display of the news of federal victories and minimizes or eliminates all stories favorable to the rebels. The financial situation has not changed. Guessing as to what President Huerta will do has practically ceased.

The public has accepted as true his statements that he will not resign. A few Americans are returning to the capital, and a few are leaving. The European colonies are completing their plans of defense.

MANY MEXICAN FAMILIES REFUGEES IN VERA CRUZ

Vera Cruz, Dec. 7.—A heavy north gale has been raging since yesterday, but began to abate towards midnight. German, French and Spanish steamers from Havana, have been here to outside unable to enter the harbor.

Many Mexican families have arrived here from the capital in the last few days. The report indicates a feeling of unrest there. All the hotel accommodations here have been taken.

The American consul at Tampico, Clarence A. Miller, reports that he has received advice from the consular agent at Tuxpan that large federal reinforcements have arrived there and the regular forces under Aguilar are moving northward. The consular agent says that the presence of the American warships has had the effect of checking insurgent depredations and recommends that they be retained indefinitely.

It is believed that the next point of attack will be Monterey and after that, San Luis Potosi.

DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN VILLA AND CARRANZA

Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, Dec. 7.—A battle of considerable importance is expected at any moment east of Torreon, Coahuila. General Contreras notified General Carranza, the constitutional leader, today that he had left Torreon to meet two federal columns advancing from the east. The insurgent force is estimated at six or seven thousand, while the strength of the federals is unknown. The federal columns, which came from Monterrey and Saltillo, have halted temporarily at San Pedro and Parras, two small towns near the Coahuila border.

Rumors of a disagreement between General Villa and Carranza were received here today and occasioned much surprise. It was stated at constitutional headquarters that Villa had been making regular reports to his commander-in-chief and that there had been no disposition on his part to vary from General Carranza's orders.

General Carranza's bodyguard of 200 picked men, arrayed in new brown khaki uniforms with large hats cocked on one side, while various ammunition belts and bright red blankets were carried on the back of the saddle, paraded today in the plaza centenario before a crowd of spectators and a group of moving picture cameras.

Thirty Americans escape from threatened Tampico. Port Arthur, Tex., Dec. 7.—Thirty Americans, mostly women and children, refugees from Tampico, Mexico, arrived here late today on burger and a tug. The refugees said they were leaving Tampico because of the threatening conditions there, that the federals had begun to fortify the city against a force of seven thousand rebels to the south and west and several hands of rebels of a few hundred each on the north.

They said that Tampico was crowded with others waiting to get away.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MAN ARRESTED FOR CRIME

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Los Angeles, Calif., Dec. 7.—William Hinx, county road overseer and Sunday school superintendent of Bayview, Neb., was arrested here today on a telegraphic warrant charging him with having embezzled $250 of public funds and with violation of the Mann white slave act.

He is accused of having left the state with Linda Huston, a servant girl in the Hinx household. According to advice from Nelson, Neb., the county seat, where the warrant was issued, the money had been given him to pay off workmen on the roads in the district.

COAST DEFENSES IN SERIOUS NEED OF MORE MEN

EMINENT SCHOLAR CHARITY PATIENT

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Chicago, Dec. 7.—Dr. Carl H. Von Klein, a graduate of Heidelberg University, an authority on Egyptian papyri and ranking high among the archaeologists, was found by his friends today a patient in a charity ward at the county hospital. Trustees of John Crear Library, of whom Dr. Von Klein is one, arranged to have him removed from the county institution.

Dr. Von Klein was possessed of sufficient fortune to devote his entire time to scientific work, and for some years had been active in scientific circles in Chicago.

He had been seen by friends but little since the arrest, last spring, of his son, Edmund E. C. Von Klein, while at a dinner party at a hotel. Young Von Klein was charged with the theft of $2,500 worth of jewels from Miss Ethel Newcomb. He was taken to Portland, Ore., for trial.

Worried and expensive involved in the arrest of his son was said by friends to have left Dr. Von Klein penniless.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Dec. 7.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who left Buenos Ayres Friday, arrived here today and was given a hearty reception. Quarters had been prepared for him at the residence of the ex-provisional president of Paraguay, Pedro Pena.

TWO MINERS KILLED BY STRIKERS IN MICHIGAN

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Calumet, Mich., Dec. 7.—Arthur and Henry James brothers, and Thomas Daily were killed, and Mary Nicholson was seriously injured by rifle bullets fired before daylight today into the apartment house in which they lived. The James brothers came here yesterday from Toronto, Canada, and obtained employment in the Copper Range Consolidated, whose men are among those on strike.

They took up their abode with Daily who was both a miner and a boarding house keeper. Miss Nicholson is the daughter of William Nicholson, who occupied the other side of the apartment house in which Daily lived.

All of the victims were in bed when shot. Three kinds of rifle bullets were imbedded in the walls of the house. Ten or twelve shots were fired.

The murders aroused great indignation throughout the copper mine strike zone and big meetings of citizens were held today at Houghton and Calumet. Both meetings adopted resolutions demanding that the sheriff use all means to rid the city of "murder inciting mercenaries," and that all law-abiding citizens unite in giving peace officers all assistance to restore peace and normal conditions.

VILLA IS CAUTIOUS LEST FEDERALS CUT HIM OFF FROM JUAREZ

Entrance Into Chihuahua Is Postponed Until Location of Mercado's Forces Is Fully Ascertained.

BULLION TRAIN HAS NOW REACHED BORDER

Caravan of Refugees Moving Slowly Toward Presidio; Progress Handicapped by People on Foot.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Juarez, Mex., Dec. 7.—Still fortifying his telegraph and railroad communication with Juarez against a possible attack by federals, General Francisco Villa with his rebel army, today remained near Sau, about thirty miles north of Chihuahua. Villa said he would delay his entry into the capital city until he was confident he was not going to be cut off from the north.

The idea prevailed that some of General Salvador Mercado's federal troops, after evacuating Chihuahua, possibly might have left the main body and swung around to the north and west in an attempt to throw a force between Villa and his base on the border at Juarez. Should Villa lose his communication with Juarez he would be isolated in Chihuahua, and thus be in the position of the federals before they evacuated that city. Direct telegraph communication with Villa's headquarters, however, showed that no federals had been seen anywhere and Villa's slow progress toward the state capital was merely precautionary.

Villa, himself, is convinced that the hurrying away of the federal generals without being put under fire, was sufficient indication that they were disheartened and fearful of mutiny by the unpaid soldiers and that in consequence no more important fighting is to be expected until the rebel army reaches the territory south of Chihuahua. Meantime, he is moving cautiously. The extension of their territory has placed new responsibilities upon the rebels. It consists in protecting the property which formerly they were engaged in destroying.

That Mercado's routed federal army with his generals and officers were still making frantic efforts to reach the United States border, but were handicapped in their progress because scores of the civilian refugees, including members of wealthy Chihuahua families, were on foot, came in messages from Ojinaga, opposite Presidio, Texas.

A bullion train, after traveling two weeks over the desert from the mines at Parral, arrived on the border with a million ounces of silver. Some of the drivers reported that the caravan of federal refugees could be seen miles away. Behind them the refugees had left a trail of discarded possessions which they had taken with them in hurrying from Chihuahua, and which later they found too burdensome to carry. The remnants of food, broken down wagons and a trail of footprints extending for miles disclosed the precipitate flight of both soldiers and civilians.

Washington Watches Movement in Mexico.
Washington, Dec. 7.—With the announced policy of the Washington government on the diplomatic side of the Mexican situation, one of patient waiting, interest here chiefly centers in the rapidly moving military operations in northern Mexico.

The movement southward of General Villa's constitutionalist forces is being observed with marked attention by military officials here.

Reports that Huerta's generals are planning a concentrated obstruction to Villa's march on Mexico City, with a possible flank movement by those bodies of federal troops hitherto reported as fleeing from Chihuahua City to the border, are being followed closely.

There is a general feeling among the high officials of the government that the process of forcing the Huerta government to yield will be a slow one.

The announcement from Hermosillo, the constitutionalist capital, that Francisco Escudero had been retired as Carranza's minister of foreign relations, awakened considerable speculation here. It was recalled that William Blawie Hale concluded his career with Escudero, because he had been unable to resume conferences with Carranza direct. In some quarters there was a disposition to regard the withdrawal of Escudero as having had some connection with the Hale negotiations.

It was learned here tonight that Escudero had left Hermosillo and was enroute to New York to meet his wife, who sailed from Vera Cruz recently. Friends of Escudero said he had suffered a nervous breakdown and needed a rest.

Mr. Hale continues to reside in Washington, awaiting word from President Wilson as to when they may confer in detail about Mexican matters. The president's illness, last

MONTGOMERY WARD DEAD AT HOME IN CHICAGO

Self-Made Merchant Prince Rose From Day Laborer to Head of Mammoth Mail Order Concern.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Chicago, Dec. 7.—Montgomery Ward, who rose from a day laborer to the presidency of a mail order house which bears his name, died today at his residence at Highland Park. The death resulted from a complication of diseases which developed after two falls. About two years ago Mr. Ward slipped on the running board of an automobile at Pasadena, Calif., and broke one arm and a shoulder blade. These injuries forced him to forego all outdoor amusements and confined him largely to his home. Six weeks ago, Mr. Ward fell in his home and fractured his right hip. The kidneys were injured and pneumonia set in.

Arson Montgomery Ward was a self-made man in the true sense of the expression. Born at Chatham, N. J., February 17, 1842, Mr. Ward came with his family to Niles, Mich., when eight years old. He attended school until he was 14, when he went to work in a stove factory where he was paid twenty-five cents a day. Later he became a day laborer in a brick yard.

In the late fifties, young Ward went to St. Joseph, Mich., where he entered a general merchandising store at wages of $3 a month and board. He proved successful as a salesman and in three years was in charge of the business and was receiving $100 a month. Mr. Ward came to Chicago in 1866, and obtained work in a department store. Later he entered a wholesale dry goods house and then became traveling salesman for Walter A. Smith & Co. of St. Louis. It was while he was with this firm that Mr. Ward thought he saw a great future for a house which would sell directly to the consumer.

Mr. Ward returned to Chicago to accept an executive position with a dry goods firm which he helped reorganize after the fire of 1871. His dream of a store which would eliminate the middle man grew and he resigned to found A. Montgomery Ward & Co. It was organized as a partnership with Charles H. Thorne, his brother-in-law. The company's first quarters were over a stable and the staff consisted of one clerk and the partners. The firm grew until on January 1, of this year, it was reorganized and incorporated in New York for $40,000,000. The company does $48,000,000 worth of business a year.

He retired from active business in 1901, but retained the presidency of his firm.

CUTTER SERVICE IN NEED OF BETTER EQUIPMENT

Boats Are Old and Not Enough
Officers for Handling Them
Are Available, Says Report to McAdoo.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 7.—An earnest plea that congress have more regard for the needs of the revenue cutter service and that it provide more vessels to render aid on the high seas, the Great Lakes and the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, was made to Secretary McAdoo today by Captain E. P. Berthold, commandant of the service.

Captain Berthold set forth in detail some of the things done by the service in the last fiscal year in saving lives and property endangered by shipwreck and disaster. By its efforts, he reported, 227 lives were saved, 2,735 persons on board vessels in distress were assisted, and vessels valued at $10,667,710 were assisted in time of need. In the year, officers of the service boarded and examined owners of 25,679 ships and boats with 878 violations of laws. The cutters removed or destroyed thirty-one derelicts and recovered and returned to owners others valued at $18,999.

All this was done for $2,471,932, about $3,000 less than congress appropriated, although twenty-five cruising cutters and eighteen harbor vessels were employed. Figured on a monetary basis, the service saved about $4.39 for every dollar expended. The report urges the replacing of the cutters Perry, Woodbury, Manhattan and Winona, with modern vessels estimated to cost about $925,000 in all. The Perry was lost in Herring sea in 1910. The Woodbury is a veteran of fifty-nine years, the Manhattan of forty years, and the Winona of twenty-three years' service.

The proposed successor of the Perry would be used in southern California waters; the heir to the Winona would cruise in the Gulf of Mexico, and the Manhattan's place would be taken in New York harbor by the fourth new ship. Many other old vessels are still useful, but need extensive repairs to increase their efficiency.

The point is made by the commandant that the service is in a critical situation regarding the recruiting of its commissioned personnel. Several vacancies exist which cannot at present be filled. Congress is urged to authorize seven additional cadetships in 1919 and to make permanent authorization in the following year for

FATAL AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT NEAR LAS CRUCES

Bert Ramsey, Wholesale Liquor Dealer of El Paso, Is Instantly Killed When Motor Car Overturns.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 7.—Bert Ramsey, a wholesale liquor dealer of El Paso, was instantly killed at 8:30 o'clock last night, when his automobile turned over with him and his negro chauffeur ten miles northeast of here on the Organ road. The negro was not injured. Ramsey's neck was broken and his head was crushed almost beyond recognition by the heavy machine falling on him. Mr. Ramsey was returning from Organ when the accident occurred. He had ordered his chauffeur to drive fast, as dark was approaching rapidly, and as neither of them was acquainted with the road Mr. Ramsey wanted to get back into Las Cruces before night. The car struck a soft spot on a bad turn and turned over twice, throwing the chauffeur clear of the wreck.

When the driver recovered from his fright he started on the run for this city, where he notified Sheriff F. Lucero of the accident. Sheriff Lucero immediately started for the scene in an automobile, taking a physician with him. They found Mr. Ramsey dead.

Sheriff Lucero held an inquest over the body and pronounced death the result of an unavoidable automobile accident. The body was brought into Las Cruces and placed in a morgue. It was shipped to El Paso today.

Mr. Ramsey arrived in Las Cruces Friday night from El Paso. He spent yesterday closing the sale of his branch wholesale liquor house. At 8:30 o'clock in the afternoon he drove out to Organ, seventeen miles northeast of here, to transact further business and was returning here when the accident occurred.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Paris, Dec. 7.—Although Senator Gaston Doumergue will not notify President Poincare until tomorrow as to whether he will take the responsibility of forming a ministry, it is believed that he will accept the task imposed upon him.

He arranged a provisional cabinet this afternoon which included for minister of foreign affairs either Alexandre Felix Ribot, Jean Dupuy or Theophile Delcasse. This proved a stumbling block, as neither M. Ribot nor M. Dupuy would accept the office, and it is generally thought that M. Delcasse, who is now in St. Petersburg, as ambassador, will also refuse, in view of the effect his nomination would likely have on opinion abroad, notably in Germany. It is therefore considered probable that M. Doumergue will take the foreign office himself, following the example of M. Poincare when he was premier.

Other members of M. Doumergue's provisional cabinet include General Dubail as minister of war, with General Serrail as chief of staff; navy, M. Noulens, now under-secretary of war; instruction, M. Viviani; finance, Joseph Caillaux; commerce, Fernand Bresson; agriculture, Louis Malvy; or Maurice Bataillon; colonies, M. Laroche; public works, M. Lhopiteau; labor, Rene Renault.

Moderate opinion, while it will have preferred M. Ribot, M. Dupuy or some other statesman less committed to advance views, considers that Doumergue would be reasonably safe as premier. There is apprehension among the conservatives that M. Doumergue, when in doubt, will accept the counsel of M. Caillaux, the radical leader, or ex-premier Clemenceau. The public, especially that portion of it identified with finances, will be relieved, if the political crisis can be settled tomorrow.

U. S. WILL OBSERVE SANTO DOMINGO ELECTIONS

Washington Government Will Pay No Attention to Vigorous Protest Lodged by Island Republic.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Santo Domingo, Dec. 7.—The American minister, James M. Sullivan, has advised the Dominican government of the coming to Santo Domingo of the American commissioners to observe the municipal elections.

The Dominican government entered energetic protest against any intervention in the republic's political affairs. Washington, Dec. 7.—Representatives of the United States government left here today for Santo Domingo to aid in supervising the elections in the island republic, December 15. They are Jordan H. Stabler and F. A. Sterling, of the Latin-American bureau of the state department, and Hugh S. Gibson, formerly secretary of the American embassy at Havana.

The state department has made no official announcement of the part of officers are to play in assisting the island republic to hold a fair and free election.

Philadelphia, Dec. 7.—Three tribes of Indians heretofore unknown, have been discovered by the University of Pennsylvania Amazon expedition in regions of Brazil never before penetrated by white men, according to a letter received at the University museum today, from Dr. Farrabee, head of the expedition. The letter was dated October 7, at Boa Vista, Brazil, which is at the headwaters of ordinary navigation on the Uruca-ru river, a northern affluent of the Amazon. Dr. Farrabee stated that his party had just returned from an expedition up the Uruca-ru river to a point much higher than any previously reported by white men.

When finally halted by waterfalls, the letter continues, the party penetrated the interior where the Indian tribes were found. The Indians call themselves Porocotos, Ajamaras and Zahacans. Dr. Farrabee made vocabularies of their languages, took photographs and collected many ethnological specimens. Archaeological specimens of rare interest were also found. Of great assistance to the expedition, the letter states, was a Scotchman found just before the party started for the interior. He had married an Indian woman and had lived in that region for twenty-five years, becoming familiar with the different Indian languages.

For his assistance to the expedition, the Scotchman declined offers of money and requested only that a set of the museum's latest work on Egyptology be sent him.

The Bolero Is Now More Than a Mere Accessory

It Has Attained Distinction as an Integral Feature of the Gown; Some Lovely New Costumes.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Although the birds of fashion have long since returned from their flitting across the water, we are assured that the winter season to succeed an autumn of revelations is to be an epoch not less imaginative.

Even yet, the indirectly-gowned woman on Fifth avenue is the object of much scrutiny from a host of dress-makers, milliners and shoe-makers, each endeavoring to catch the style of her above, the quality of her veil, the graceful line of her supple corset.

The first point to be borne in upon the mind was in planning a winter wardrobe is that fullness of drapery is showing a marked tendency to emigrate from the point to the back. Many exclusive shops are showing three-tiered pleated effects, which extend from side to side across the back of the skirt. Such a design may be produced in beige silk poplin, with winged elbow sleeves and normally placed giraffe self-color, and a small Medici collar of fine, darned net.

The ample silhouette in front is not to be superseded at once, however, for as yet the drooping pose is almost a physical necessity of the uncorseted figure. The fetching blouse-bolero is also an inspiration of natural lines, and supports the bust without seeming to, above draped or undraped skirts. It is developed in flowered silks, plain taffetas, net, or chiffon, and is sometimes smartly pretentious of being a corset in black cutaway lace.

Very pretty for the tea-hour is the bolero-bolero frock in the first sketch. This was worn at one of the popular luncheons, which have become such a feature of New York life. The skirt was of black chiffon velvet, bordered in wonderfully checked effect, with ermine and skin fur sewed together in small squares. The bolero was treated in the same fashion. The simplicity of the line was enhanced by a shadow-lace blouse gathered to the neck, and the vivid note of color needed was supplied by the rich American Beauty satin giraffe fastened by a solid gold buckle.

The bolero again attains a distinction above that of an accessory in a Callot model of mustard-colored wool brocade seen at the same tea. The bolero blouse was severely bound with self-coloring, and fastened down the left side with large, round gleaming buttons. The sleeves were of self-toned chiffon and long, loosely shirred in at the wrist by three narrow bands of the wool brocade.

Among the vagaries of a vogue attracting much notice this season is the fall of supplementing the sheers of fabrics with fur appointments. Many of the fancy-loving Parisiennes are wearing their diaphanous frocks with white fox. These frocks, producing motifs in the new printed silks, as were the skirt flounces, with rows of pearls. But the striking note of the costume, and the one which gave it entire individuality, was the unique head-dress of black velvet, with narrow folds of satin matching in tint the rosy cheeks of the apples pictured in the frock.

Gridles for evening gowns are now provided of summiel or composition plaques in far-flung dyes. When the contours are of plumed, net, lace, or chiffon, they are held while at the front and back with great buckles formed of silk-bound wire and studded with two-toned stones, such as brilliant with transparent tourmalines.

A finishing detail worth knowing is a small segment scallop for the bottom of chiffon train and bretelles, accomplished by a loose crochet chain-stitch of fine silk thread. Many of the couturiers have adopted this for rax edges of chiffon and net, and an ordinarily deft woman can produce the same result by using No. 8 silk and a large hook, catching the chain-stitch to the chiffon at every fourth stitch.

CHRISTMAS

Your Gift To Her---or Him

Your little girl or boy has a natural gift for music. Are you spoiling it?

When she hums or sings at play, she is merely expressing this natural gift—her talent. All children have this gift for music.

Sometimes parents develop it. Often they starve it. Oftener still, they spoil it—spoil it with a poor piano—a piano "good enough to practice on."

The untrue tones of a cheap piano spoil the ear. The delicate brain cells which register sound, pick up the habit of untrue sound—a habit which they cannot unlearn. You know how a singer with a "poor ear" sings off the key and never knows it.

Yet from a good piano the ear will just as readily pick up true sound habits—habits which mean refinement and taste.

Develop your child's natural gift. Give her a chance for a true musical education on a good piano. It will mean happiness in after life—popularity—perhaps a career.

The Larnard-Lindemann Co.

Is the place to buy a time honored instrument. What better Christmas gift to your boy or girl than one of our rich toned beautiful pianos. We have a plan by which you can afford to give your child just such a gift this Christmas—to give him or her a good musical education now, instead of waiting until you have saved up for it. No matter where you live a small payment down will put a new piano in your home.

Profit-Sharing Campaign

OPEN to every young woman (married or single) of Albuquerque, state of New Mexico and Eastern Arizona. An opportunity to travel and see the world with all necessary expenses paid by The Morning Journal.

ONE GRAND AROUND THE WORLD TOUR

(Or an Optional Award of $1,000.00 in Gold Coin)

Five Transcontinental Tropical Tours via Panama Canal
Five $400.00 Upright Pianos
Five $75.00 I. C. S. Scholarships

Rules and Regulations

No. 1.—Any reputable young woman (married or single) residing in Albuquerque, the state of New Mexico or eastern Arizona is eligible to enter this race and compete for an award. All that is necessary is to clip the nomination blank appearing below, fill out, secure the endorsement of three well known business or professional men, and file the same with the Tour Manager of The Morning Journal.

No. 2.—The territory covered by this campaign has been divided into five districts, each district being separate and distinct and having its own individual set of awards. Candidates in one district do not compete with candidates in other districts, except in the instance of the grand "Round the World Tour" which is open to all.

No. 3.—All vote coupons clipped from the papers will be known as "singles," and in order to be voted must be properly filled out, neatly trimmed for filing and cast not later than the expiration date printed thereon. These coupons may be withdrawn or reduced at any time.

No. 4.—All ballots issued with Aservo coupon books will be known as "specials." These ballots must bear the number of the book from which they were taken. May be voted at any time unless a call is issued specifying certain numbers. These numbers must then be voted before the call period expires. "Specials" may be withdrawn at any time at the discretion of the Tour Manager, when a call will be issued for all outstanding ballots of that class to be cast before a specified date. A call may be issued at any time by the Tour Manager.

No. 5.—All point ballots based on paid-in-advance subscriptions will be known as "regulars," and must bear the receipt number from which they were issued for the proper recording of same in the office records.

No. 6.—Point ballots will not be issued on any subscriptions for less than six months. Point ballots will not be issued on renewals unless subscription covers at least three months in advance. Remittance in full must accompany all subscriptions.

No. 7.—Any district that may have only one active candidate will be declared off, and said district will be merged with district closest to it in points, and candidate from said district added to the one with which it is merged. Merging of districts will be at discretion of Manager of campaign.

No. 8.—All points which have been allotted will be filed in the Tour Department of The Journal, subject to the inspection and verification of candidates and their friends at any time during the campaign.

No. 9.—A board of representative business men will have exclusive control of ballot box the last day of the campaign, and, after a careful canvass of the votes, will declare the winners. The decision of the board of judges to be final and will admit of no appeal.

No. 10.—No employee or close relative of an employee of The Albuquerque Journal is eligible to enter this campaign and compete for an award.

No. 11.—Candidates can enter only from the district in which they live. Candidates moving from one district to another, after being nominated, will be retained in the district from which they were first nominated.

No. 12.—Points cannot be transferred from one candidate to another when once issued, nor can one candidate's name be substituted for another. Should a candidate withdraw from the campaign, her points will also be withdrawn. Points once withdrawn cannot be recovered.

No. 13.—In case of a tie for any one of the awards, the prize will be equally divided between the tying candidates or a duplicate prize will be given.

No. 14.—Nominations of candidates may be made at any time during the campaign, and by anyone without cost or obligations. The management of The Journal reserves the right to reject any nomination at its discretion.

No. 15.—Candidates are not confined to their own town or district in which to secure coupons and subscriptions. Subscriptions may be taken by any candidate anywhere in the wide world.

No. 16.—This campaign will close Saturday, February 14, at 9 p. m., in the following manner: The judges shall have charge of the ballot box in the Tour Dept. When the hour of 9 p. m. has arrived they shall declare the campaign closed and the doors locked. All persons inside the office of the Tour Dept. (or other previously designated rooms) at the hour of 9 p. m. who have subscriptions to deposit shall be permitted to do so, and point ballots shall be issued thereon. After all balloting has ceased and ballots deposited the ballot box shall be publicly sealed and placed in charge of one or more watchmen, to be named by the judges, who shall have charge of it until the official canvass shall be made. Not until balloting has ceased entirely will the doors be unlocked nor will any communications from anyone outside the offices be permitted in any manner whatsoever.

No. 17.—No statement or promise, made by any solicitor, canvasser or agent varying from the above rules as set forth will be recognized by The Albuquerque Journal.

No. 18.—In accepting nominations candidates agree to abide by the above rules and regulations.

Division of the Districts

In order to equalize the competition and afford candidates residing in the remotest sections of the state the same opportunity to win as those living right here in Albuquerque the territory covered by this campaign has been divided into five districts. Each district is separate and distinct and has its own individual set of awards.

DISTRICT NO. 1.—The city of Albuquerque and the county of Bernalillo.

DISTRICT NO. 2.—The counties of Sandoval, Santa Fe, San Miguel, Mora, Colfax, Union, Taos and Rio Arriba, embracing such cities and towns as Bernalillo, Santa Fe, Las Vegas, Raton, etc.

DISTRICT NO. 3.—The counties of Valencia, McKinley, San Juan, embracing such cities and towns as Los Lunas, Belen, Gallup, Farmington and Aztec. Also includes all of eastern Arizona, embracing such cities and towns as Winslow, Holbrook and Flagstaff.

DISTRICT NO. 4.—The counties of Socorro, Sierra, Dona Ana, Luna and Grant, embracing such cities and towns as Socorro, Magdalena, Las Cruces, Deming, Silver City, etc.

DISTRICT NO. 5.—The counties of Torrance, Guadalupe, Quay, Curry, Pecos, Chaves, Lincoln, Otero and Eddy, embracing such cities and towns as Willard, Estancia, Santa Rosa, Tucuman, Clovis, Portales, Elida, Roswell, Carlsbad, Alamogordo, etc.

THE PLAN IN BRIEF

The prime object of this campaign is to secure new paid-in-advance subscriptions to The Morning Journal, and at the same time to introduce the Aservo System, whereby the subscribers are placed in a position to save from $30 to $100 per year on their personal and household expenses.

In order to gain this end quickly and advantageously The Journal offers the intelligent and ambitious young women of Albuquerque, the state of New Mexico and eastern Arizona the most wonderful collection of educational tours and other valuable awards ever before presented the newspaper reading public of this section of the country in exchange for a few weeks' effort and industry among their friends.

The subscriber, by paying six months or more in advance, receives ten-fold benefits in the form of Aservo Coupon Books, each coupon entitling the holder to a five per cent discount on cash purchases made in Aservo stores—A SAVING OF FROM $30 TO $100 PER YEAR, depending entirely on the amount of the subscriber's expenditures.

WHO MAY ENTER RACE TO GIRDLE THE GLOBE

Any reputable young woman (married or single) residing in the campaign territory is eligible to enter this race and compete for the valuable prizes offered by this newspaper. All that is necessary to become a candidate is to clip the nomination blank appearing below, secure the signatures of three well known business or professional men of your city or town, and mail to the Tour Dept. of The Morning Journal. Immediately upon receipt of nomination subscription blanks and other materials will be forwarded and name enrolled as an aspirant with 1,000 points credit.

HOW POINTS ARE SECURED.

Points are secured in two ways, one of which is by clipping the coupons appearing daily in the paper. These coupons are good for five points. Clip all available ones and send them in. The other, and better way, to pile up points is by securing paid-in-advance subscriptions to The Morning Journal. On each subscription, paid in advance for six months or more, a ballot will be issued. The number of points depends upon the length of the subscription and whether it is old or new. (See schedule below.)

HOW AWARDS WILL BE MADE.

The candidate securing the greatest number of points in the entire campaign, regardless of where she resides in the state of New Mexico and eastern Arizona, will be awarded the grand "Round the World Tour." This tour includes all necessary expenses afloat and ashore, and will extend over a period of approximately 135 days. If the winner so desires she can take the optional award—$1,000 in gold coin.

After the "Round the World Tour" winner has been declared the highest candidate in each of the five districts will be awarded the Transcontinental Tropical Tour via Panama Canal. The tours will include all necessary expenses afloat and ashore, and will extend over a period of about thirty days. The itinerary of these tours is outlined elsewhere on this page.

As a second prize for each of the five districts there will be a beautiful $400 piano. Name and make will be announced in an early issue.

The third highest candidate in each of the five districts will receive a choice of any $75 scholarship in the International Correspondence School.

Nor is that all. Five hundred dollars in gold has been set aside to be distributed among non-prize winners on a five per cent basis. That is, any candidate who turns in $100 or more in subscription money and does not win one of the big awards will receive a commission. This insures compensation for every active candidate.

THE ASERVO SYSTEM.

The Aservo System Profit-Sharing Campaign is of benefit to every man, woman and child in Albuquerque, the state of New Mexico, and eastern Arizona. The awards offered are of such magnitude as to make the most skeptical "sit up and take notice," yet the principal feature of this campaign is the saving in dollars and cents to the subscriber. It means a material reduction in his cost of living.

When a subscription is taken, the candidate issues a receipt which entitles the subscriber not only to The Journal for the period of time to which he subscribes, but also to an ASERVO SYSTEM COUPON BOOK. Each coupon contained in each book entitles the holder to one cash merchandise purchase, regardless of size, at any Aservo establishment. In exchange for the coupon, when accompanied by cash, interchangeable Merchandise Checks or Certificates, of the value of five per cent of the amount purchased, good for face value in the store that issues them or in any other Aservo store, is given the purchaser.

The ratio of coupons contained in each book is based on the length of the paid-in-advance subscription, as follows:

Six months—One book, containing 120 coupons.
One year—Two books, containing 240 coupons.

TRAINS TO ARRIVE
HERE TODAY

Snowbound Limited Starts
From La Junta, but Is Forced Back; Track May Be Open Today.

BLOCKADE LIFTED AND TRAINS BEGIN MOVING
La Junta, Colo., Dec. 7.— Train No. 2, due here from last Saturday morning, left here at 11:30 o'clock tonight, the track from this city to Raton having been cleared of blockading snow. Other trains held here last at ten-minute intervals after the limited. The first will reach Albuquerque tomorrow afternoon.

The Santa Fe railway hoped to be able to penetrate the snow blockade between La Junta and Raton last night. If the attempt was successful the five westbound trains held at La Junta last Saturday would reach here today.

The snowbound trains east of the blockade were started from La Junta at 9 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but failed to proceed far on account of the drifts. As far as snow cleared the track in cuts the snow banks slid onto it. The trains were recalled to La Junta. Officials here were notified that another trial would be made last night.

Trains were started from Las Vegas about the same time the westbound trains left La Junta. These also were recalled.

Simultaneously with the information that trains had started from La Junta and Las Vegas yesterday afternoon, orders were received here to recall all westbound trains over the main line. No. 10, already had gone that way, and No. 2, the eastbound California limited, and No. 3, followed.
The belief was that the track would be clear when No. 2 and No. 4 reached Las Vegas.

Train No. 3, due here yesterday morning, was detained over the Belen cut-off at Newton, Kan. It did not reach Albuquerque, and a train, with the crew and mail clerks, left here at 11 o'clock yesterday morning to make connections with the eastbound limited at Belen. One passenger, a woman, was to have gone, but she arrived at the station after the train had departed.

No. 1, due here at 2 p. m., under the new time card, arrived at 3:40 via Newton and Belen. No. 1's apparently remarkable time over the cut-off was due to the fact that it did not have to make frequent stops as it would on the main line. No. 1 carries a great part of the westbound local traffic in New Mexico.

Trains No. 7 and No. 8, due here last night, were not detained at Newton. They continued west on the main line, that of point. It was believed that they would be able to go through last night behind their schedule, but the unexpected delay at La Junta yesterday afternoon held them there.
Last night there were seven trains at La Junta. Two sections of the westbound California limited, due here last Saturday morning, are with the trains there. At Las Vegas, before the arrival of the No. 10, which left here yesterday morning, six trains. If the road is not opened through the mountains before this morning there will be ten through trains halted at that point.

CONGREGATIONALISTS
CONSIDER SUCCESSOR
TO REV. T. L. DYER

Members of the Congregational church, at meetings held at the church yesterday morning and last night, failed to reach a positive agreement as to the successor of the Rev.
T. L. Dyer the present pastor, who recently resigned. Several ministers were considered and the members probably will extend a call to one of these. The names of those under consideration, however, will not be made known, members said.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

M. C. Roberts.
The body of M. C. Roberts, aged 32 years, who died last Saturday at Santa Station, Ariz., was brought to Albuquerque last night on Santa Fe train No. 8, and taken to Strong Brothers' undertaking room. He was employed in the water service of the Santa Fe railway. Mrs. Roberts, the widow, accompanied the body. He is survived by, besides his widow, a daughter, Dora, who lives here, and a niece, Meta Tway, a teacher in the Third ward school. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Congregational church. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

Funeral of Miss Jennie Martin.
Funeral services for Miss Jennie Martin, who died last Saturday at the home of Nick Metz, her stepfather, will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow at the church of the Immaculate Conception. The cortege will leave the home at 8:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Santa Barbara cemetery.

A Boy at Christmas

IF I COULD have my wish tonight, it would not be for wealth or fame.
It would not be for some delight that men who live in luxury claim;
But it would be that I might rise at three or four a. m. to see,
With eager, happy, boyish eyes, my presents on the Christmas tree.
Throughout this world there is no joy, I know now I am growing gray,
So rich as being just a boy, a little boy on Christmas day.

I'd like once more to stand and gaze enraptured on a twinkled tree,
With eyes that know just how to blaze, a heart still turned to ecstasy;
I'd like to feel the old delight, the surging thrills within me come;
To love a thing with all my might, to grasp the pleasure of a drum;
To know the meaning of a boy—a meaning lost to minds that blaze;
To be just once again a boy, a little boy on Christmas day.

I'd like to see a pair of skates the way they looked in my back then,
Before I'd turned from boyhood's gates and marched into the world of men;

I'd like to see a jackknife, too, with those same eager, dancing eyes
That couldn't resist or blench at view; I'd like to feel the same surprise,
The pleasure, true from all alloy, that has forever passed away,
When I was just a little boy and had my faith in Christmas day.

Oh, little, laughing, roguish lad! the king that rules across the sea
Would give his scepter if he had such joy as now belongs to thee!
And beads of gray would give their gold and all the honors they possess.

Once more within their grasp to hold the present fee of happiness,
-Earth sends no greater, surer joy, as too soon, thou, as I, shall say,
Than that of his who is a boy, a little boy on Christmas day.

J. E. GOODSELL TO NEW TIME CARD IS ORGANIZE CRACK GUARD COMPANY
NOW EFFECTIVE
ON SANTA FE

Canvass Will Begin This Week
for Members Who Will Form Second Militia Organization in Albuquerque.

It was announced yesterday that
J. E. Goodsell, of the Albuquerque Business college, would begin a canvass this week for members for a second national guard company to be formed in Albuquerque. The new company is to be organized at the suggestion of Governor W. C. Mc-Donald and Adjutant General H. T.
Herring. It will be entirely separate from Company G, but will in no way interfere with the existing company, occupying the armory together, etc.

The necessity for several more companies in New Mexico, to bring the national guard up to the standard required to share in the war department's appropriation, started the movement for the organization of a second company in Albuquerque. A second company was last week organized at Santa Fe.

According to regulations, at least fifty-eight men must be recruited before the company can be organized and officered. It is believed that with Mr. Goodsell at the head of the movement to form the new company the necessary number of men will easily be procured.

LARGE ATTENDANCE IS EXPECTED AT DEMING
BANQUET, SAYS ELY

Ralph C. Ely, president of the state fair commission, who yesterday afternoon delivered an address at the Elks memorial, left last night for Deming, so he would not miss the Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet.
The banquet, tomorrow night, bids fair to equal any of the previous feasts, socially, oratorically and from the epicurean standpoint. Gov. W.
C. McDonald, Adjutant General H. T.
Herring, Commissioner of Public Lands R. P. Ely, and other state officials will be present, according to Mr. Ely.

From 100 to 125 guests usually attend the annual Deming banquet, and Mr. Ely has known them to remain at the tables as late as 1 o'clock in the morning, "with nothing to drink."
The banquet inspires the spirit of boast in residents of Deming. At this meeting officers of the club for the next year will be elected and reports of the present officers, showing the work done by the club in the last year, will be heard.

Mr. Ely said that a goodly number of persons not residents of New Mexico were in Deming to attend the public land sale to be held there today by R. P. Ely, commissioner of public lands. Some came from as far away as California and Iowa.

FEW MINISTERS GIVE SERMONS PERTINENT TO TUBERCULOSIS SUNDAY

"Tuberculosis Sunday," yesterday, was given scant attention in the majority of Albuquerque churches. The Rev. S. E. Allison, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, South, and the Rev. C. A.
Foreman, of the First Presbyterian church, referred to the subject briefly.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

There will be a meeting of the Girl Scouts this afternoon immediately after school at the Gold and Broadway church, for the purpose of rehearsing for the entertainment to be given at an early date.

Mineral Lodge No. 4, Knights of Pythias, meets tonight at 7:30 o'clock.
The session is of particular importance as the recently elected officers will be installed, and in addition there will be work in the first rank. Accordingly a full attendance of members is expected.

ELKS MEMORIAL IS FITTING TRIBUTE TO ABSENT ONES

Magnificent Address by Hon.
Ralph C. Ely of Deming, and Sacred Music Feature Annual Services.

A tribute in the way of annual memorial services, yesterday was paid the absent brothers of Albuquerque Lodge No. 461, B. P. O. Elks. The services, which were in the nature of a lodge of sorrow, held at Elks' theater, were featured by a brief oration delivered by Hon. Ralph C. Ely, of Deming, and by an impressive program of sacred music.

Mr. Ely's oration was a ten-minute address. It was a tribute to the ordinary man. Mr. Ely spoke with touching eloquence. He said that he wanted to say something good of the ordinary man, and his worth to society.
But for the memorial services, he said, the ordinary man, who never becomes famous or does anything that perpetuates his name, would be forgotten in the natural course of events.
His address was given the closest attention by the large audience which filled the theater and it made a marked impression on his auditors.

Perhaps the most touching feature of the services, was the answering of the roll call of absent brothers. As each name was called, a little girl dressed in white, crossed the stage and placed on a mound of green, representing a grave, a carnation, while a shower of flowers fell from the fillet of the stage. Forty-three names were called, and forty-three little girls answered for the absent ones, by deposit-ing a flower on the grave, until it was entirely covered. Then the forty-three little girls appeared and sang.

The eulogy to the year's honored dead of the lodge was delivered by Esteemed Leading Knight W. E. Walton.
During the services, numbers were rendered by the Elks' orchestra. Solo were sung by Mrs. Ada Pierce-Winn and Mr. Charles J. Andrews, and a violin solo was given by Mrs. Ralph M. Henderson.

The little girls participating in the services included Olive Harlan, Elizabeth Morrisette, Esther Harlan, Hazel Carnes, Grace Stutz, Marjorie
Steen, Alma Beach, Naomi London,
Anna Pentz, Margaret Strumppel, Katherine Warren, Louise Treffenberg, Carol Wilson, Carrie Horner, Margaret Eastwood, LeClare Cavanaugh, Gladys Cavanaugh, Gail Beckman, May Laub, Cornelia Chavez, Dorothy Cameron, Elsie Clayton, Madeline Kelly, Grace Longfellow, Beatrice Brodell, Lillian Sanchez, Helen Shade,

atrice Hill, Cornelia Ward, Helen Wal-die, Helen Sisk, Stella Copeland, Lorena Barton, Mabel Hynde, Molly Ma-haram, Juliet Fleischer, Mildred Harris, Helen McGuire, May Booth.

The following acted as ushers at the services: Nye G. Martin, J. H.
Baker, John J. Tierney and Ralph S.
Dunbar.

SEES STOLEN BIKE IN NEIGHBOR'S YARD WHEN HE MAKES AN ARREST

When Patrolman Pablo Lujan went to the home of Eugenio Garcia, at San Jose, yesterday, to serve a warrant charging him with larceny of a bicycle, he saw in a neighboring yard another bicycle which he identified as one that had been reported to the police as stolen.

Lujan, after arresting Garcia, cited Raul Lopez, who lived in the house where he saw the other bicycle, to appear in police court. Garcia is 12 years old, and Lopez 14 years old.

The patrolman found that the numbers on the bicycle in Garcia's possession, and also that in the possession of Lopez, had been effaced with a chisel.
