CONFERENCE MAKES RAPID PROGRESS WITH PROBLEMS OF BANK BILL

Now Appears Certain That Signature of President Will Be Appended Before Tuesday Night.

HOUSE FOLLOWS ITS HABIT OF YIELDING

Senate Amendments Are Nearly All Agreed to, Those Remaining Unsettled Being Mostly of Small Importance.

CONFERENCE SETTLE DETAILS OF BILL

Washington, Dec. 22.—At 1:30 this morning the conference on the currency bill agreed to the measure, and the senate will be taken over the bill provision for an insurance fund to guarantee deposits in national banks. At that time but a single point of disagreement was still in dispute. That was the composition of the federal reserve board. The committee struck out the senate amendment which would allow the use of the new federal reserve notes as bank reserves.

The conference agreed on an entirely new provision to take care of the outstanding government 2 per cent bonds on which the present currency is based.
They will be retired running two years after the new system is installed, at the rate of $25 million a year. This amount will be taken over from the present national bank fund, the new federal reserve bank in property to their capital and surplus. On one half of their bonds the regional banks will be allowed to issue currency similar to the present bank notes. The remainder will be retired by the substitution of twenty-year 2 per cent bonds of treasury gold notes, with an agreement that the regional banks will renew the notes each year for thirty years.

The basic reserve section as framed by the senate, was accepted with slight changes.
They require the reserve of 18 per cent in central reserve city banks and 12 per cent in country banks.

The make-up of the federal reserve board was the last matter in dispute. The house members reluctantly agreed that the secretary of agriculture be removed, but insisted that the comptroller of the currency remain a member.

For nearly two hours the conference discussed without result the question of placing the comptroller on the board. The senate members were evenly divided on the question, the administration senators—Hollis, Shafer and Pomeroy—siding with the house members.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
Washington, Dec. 21.—An all-day conference of the joint congressional committee on the currency bill pushed that measure close to perfection tonight. Problems involving the reserve provisions, the size and character of the federal reserve board, the redemption of 2 per cent government bonds, and the retirement of the present national bank currency proved troublesome, but the conference finally smoothed out most of the issues between house and senate.

When the two branches of congress convene tomorrow, it is expected plans will be made for a long session beginning Tuesday. It was predicted tonight that the currency bill could be completed and signed by the president late tomorrow or Tuesday, and congress has dropped all other problems in the anticipation of the first actual recess that it will have enjoyed since April 2. It is planned to drop all business until January 12. President Wilson will leave Washington for Pass Christian as soon as the currency bill is signed.

An analysis of the bill by Senator Owen and Representative Glass, chairmen of the conference, showed forty-two points of difference between the two houses, but many of these were of a minor character and were disposed of quickly.

Among the more important decisions of the committee today were:
The minimum capital stock of each regional reserve bank was fixed at $2,000,000, a compromise between the $3,000,000 of the senate bill and the $1,500,000 minimum of the house bill.

The senate's provision for "from eight to twelve" regional banks was accepted by the house, in place of the minimum of twelve fixed in the house bill.

member bank's capital and surplus, was accepted by the house, to replace its own provision that the subscription must equal 5 per cent of the member bank's capital.

The senate gave way on its provision that "no class B" director of a regional bank could be a stockholder in any member bank. This would prevent the three directors who represent agricultural, commercial or industrial interests in the directorate of each regional reserve bank to own stock in local banks in their district.
The attempt of the house conference to have the secretary of agriculture and the comptroller of the currency make members of the organization committee to inaugurate the new system and permanent members of the federal reserve board, held the attention of the conference through much of the afternoon. The house bill included these federal officials as members of the board, while the senate allowed only the secretary of the treasury to remain on the board.

Should the conference report be ready tomorrow, it will be given the right of way in both the senate and house, and adjournment will follow as soon as the president signs the bill. Members of both houses are preparing to leave Washington for the holidays, even before President Wilson writes his approval of the new currency law.

After a lengthy argument the house conference agreed to accept the reserve section written into the bill by the senate. Under the house bill, a reserve of 33 1/2 per cent of gold was required behind the federal reserve notes which will constitute the new currency. The senate provision agreed to in conference provides for a 18 per cent gold reserve, with a tax of 1 per cent on depreciation down to 22 1/2 per cent and a graduated tax below that point.

The senate receded from an amendment which would have admitted to discount by the regional banks acceptances based upon domestic shipments of merchandise. The house conference yielded to a senate amendment which will allow the secretary of the treasury discretion in the disposing of government funds in the new federal banks. A compromise was arranged as to the forcing of one regional bank to redempt the paper of another, by which the vote of five members of the reserve board will be necessary to require such discount, and the conference struck out a senate amendment under which member banks could have discounted with the regional banks their own direct obligations.

The conference agreed to retain a senate amendment providing that no member of congress shall accept any division of profit in the new system.
The amendment providing that the secretary of the treasury, the assistant secretary of the treasury and the comptroller of the currency should be ineligible for two years after leaving the government service for any position in a member bank also was accepted.

The house conference finally succeeded in securing an agreement to a provision that the new system should be instituted by an organization committee and that the secretary of agri-
currency should be members of that committee. The composition of the federal reserve board was still in dispute, but the house conference expected to be able to retain these two officials among its members. A senate provision allowing national banks to act as trustees and executors of estates was agreed to, and several minor changes were made in the nature of compromises.

It was midnight when the committee settled down with the composition of the federal reserve board, the provision for the use of federal reserve notes as reserves in member banks, the bond refunding section and the guarantee of bank deposits provisions still in dispute. The printing clerk at the senate was kept busy dashing backward and forward in an automobile between the capital and the government printing office where a big force of printers was awaiting the final draft of the bill and the conference report. It was apparent that the committee was determined to thresh out all of the differences before adjournment for the night.

ATTEMPT MADE ON LIFE OF PREACHER

Blairsville, Pa., Dec. 21.—What is believed to have been an attempt to assassinate Rev. Dr. R. E. McClure, pastor of the Blairsville United Presbyterian church and president of the Indiana County Anti-Saloon league, failed late last night when a bullet fired at the minister penetrated a bib-lic, which he carried under his arm, and made a slight abrasion upon his left side. The authorities are searching for two men, one of whom fired two shots at the clergyman and who dropped his hat in escaping.

LABOR CONVENTION TO SETTLE STRIKE

Houghton, Mich., Dec. 21.—A statewide labor convention will be called by the Michigan federation of labor to be held at Lansing within thirty days to discuss ways and means of settling the strike of copper miners, according to five of the members of the board who came here today to meet officials of the Western Federation of Miners.

ROOSEVELT AND DR. MARTINEZ, CHILEAN DIPLOMAT, CLASH AT SANTIAGO

Criticism of Monroe Doctrine by Ex-Minister to United States Arouses Ire of Former President.

COLONEL DENIES THAT IT IS DEAD ISSUE

Small Clique of Students Makes Demonstration Against American Statesman by Shouting "Viva Colombia."

Washington, Dec. 21.—Members of the diplomatic corps, especially representatives from the South American countries, were greatly interested in a report reaching Washington today that former President Roosevelt and Dr. Marcel Martinez, at one time Chilean minister to the United States, had clashed in Santiago de Chile on account of divergent views on the Monroe doctrine. The Chilean diplomat is reported to have dissented strongly from the Roosevelt view that the much discussed doctrine is still a vital issue. The reported debate attracted unusual interest here because both of the prepared speeches were reviewed before delivery by the Chilean foreign office. Dr. Martinez, it was said tonight at the Chilean legation, was selected because of his strong friendship for the United States as the spokesman of the Chilean government at the state reception given the American visitor recently at the University of Santiago.

In his address at the Roosevelt reception Dr. Martinez characterized the Monroe doctrine as a dead issue and argued that the conditions which brought it into being have almost entirely disappeared. This statement is said to have aroused the ire of Colonel Roosevelt, who replied, with some heat, that the Monroe doctrine still was a vital principle of the foreign policy of the United States. He said, too, to have suggested to the Chilean diplomat, incidentally, that it was ill advised on such an occasion to inaugurate a controversy.

Then Colonel Roosevelt, according to report, stated that before leaving the United States, the texts of the addresses he proposed to deliver in Brazil, Argentina and Chile had been submitted to the diplomatic representatives of those nations in Washington to avoid the inclusion of anything that might prove offensive to his hosts.

To this Dr. Martinez is said to have replied that his own address had been submitted to the Chilean foreign office three days before Colonel Roosevelt arrived and that as no objection had been raised in that quarter he could see no reason why the discussion of the Monroe doctrine should be avoided as a dangerous issue.

Nothing official has reached the Chilean legation here concerning any phase of what diplomats are inclined to consider a delicate situation.
"It is true that the legation passed upon Colonel Roosevelt's Santiago speech," said Chilean Minister Suarez tonight. "After reading the speech I had it translated into Spanish and forwarded it to the foreign minister, Senator Enrique Vial. I understood that Colonel Roosevelt's speeches in Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Ayres, likewise were submitted to the Brazilian and Argentine foreign offices, as those addresses and the one delivered in Santiago were to be his principal utterances during the South American tour. I cannot understand how an issue could be raised between Colonel Roosevelt and Dr. Martinez, since the latter was selected to speak in behalf of Chile on account of his well known sympathy with the ideals of the United States."

It is said that at the conclusion of the Roosevelt reception, a demonstration against the American visitor was made by a small clique of Central American students. The story goes that, as the colonel left the university the students shouted:
"Viva Colombia!"

This incident, however, is understood in no way to have represented the general feeling of the populace.

Young Men Flock to Join Army.

Washington, Dec. 21.—There has been a tremendous increase recently in the number of men offering themselves to the army recruiting offices for military service last month there were 5,000 applications, 2,000 more than ever before recorded in a similar period of time in times of peace.

PRESIDENT WILSON REBELS CROWDING ON TAMPIO FOR SECOND ATTACK ON OIL TOWN

No Visitors Are to Be Received at Pass Christian, and No Business of Government Transacted.

JIM HILL CONSIDERED FOR CENTRAL BOARD

Chief Executive Desirous of Securing Able Men of Broad Experience to Operate New Law.

Washington, Dec. 21.—President Wilson intends that his vacation at Pass Christian, Miss., shall be a complete rest from official activity, but in leisure moments he will apply himself to the task of choosing tentatively, members of the federal reserve board to be created by the new currency law.

The president will see no visitors, will engage in no voluminous correspondence and will devote himself for three weeks of vacation and quiet thinking. He realizes that in the selection of the federal board he will be confronted with one of the most important decisions of his administration and the fate of the new currency policy will depend somewhat on the qualifications of the officials who will administer it.

Mr. Wilson, thus far, has decided on no individuals. He has a tentative list under consideration and is adding to it daily. Members of congress, especially democratic senators, are not recommending anyone, as they have announced, they wish to leave the president free from all political pressure. The president is desirous of securing the best men possible, versed alike in the details of business and finance. James A.
Hill, formerly head of the Great Northern, is known to be one of those most prominent in the president's mind.

The president is hoping to leave here Tuesday. He will not be accompanied by Secretary Tumulty, who will really be the acting president at the White House, inasmuch as Secretary Bryan, Garrison and other cabinet officers will be away for the holiday season. Mr. Tumulty will keep both Secretary Bryan and the president informed on developments in Mexico.

Alleged Thief Croaked in Subway.

New York, Dec. 21.—Pursued by a hundred passengers through seven cars of a subway train in Brooklyn tonight, a youth, suspected of being a pickpocket, leaped from the platform of the train as he was about to be seized and was crushed to death against a pillar of the tunnel. The victim was identified through his finger prints at police headquarters, according to detectives, as Solomon Farr, 19 years of age, who some months ago served a brief term in the city reformatory for a petty crime.

CITIZENS APPEAL TO GOVERNOR FOR RELIEF

Residents of Oregon Town Complain That Saloon Element Controls Municipal Government Completely.

Salem, Ore., Dec. 21.—Charging that there is little semblance to law and order in the city; that the saloon element is in control of the municipal government, and that the lives of themselves and their families are in constant danger, fifty-five residents of Copperfield, Baker county, have appealed to Governor West for relief.

Alleging that the mayor, H. A.
Stewart and three councilmen, are engaged in the saloon business, one of the signers of the petition in a letter to the governor said:
"The mayor lives in a hotel with a saloon in connection. He gives Saturday night dances, sells and gives away liquor to miners and sells liquor to habitual drunkards."
"These people are going to have the relief they demand," said the governor tonight. "I shall decide by tomorrow what measures to take."

REBELS CROWDING ON TAMPIO FOR SECOND ATTACK ON OIL TOWN

Federal Reinforcements Now in City and War Office Professes Confidence in Outcome of New Siege.

CONSTITUTIONALISTS APPROACH ZACATECAS

Huerta Wants Banks to Deposit Gold Reserve in National Treasury, but Fails to Secure Consent to Plan.

Mexico City, Dec. 21.—The rebel forces are crowding close on Tampico and a formal attack may be expected soon. The report received by the government last night that the assault had begun was not questioned, as it was assumed at the palace that this was the rebel plan, but it was developed that the attack who made the report had become confused over a minor engagement at a point some miles from Tampico.

The war office has utilized the time since the last attack to strengthen the garrison at Tampico, and professes confidence in its ability to resist the rebels.

Forces under General Panfilo Natera are slowly advancing on Zacatecas, capital of the state of Zacatecas, and between Saltillo and San Luis Potosi, along the main line of the national railways, rebels have again appeared in large numbers.
This region had been comparatively free of rebels for several days.

Two minor engagements have occurred between Tampico and Atlixtlan, twenty-three miles to the north, and the rebels, according to the war office, were victorious in both.
It is also announced by the war office that General Ynes Salazar has defeated the rebels between Cosque and Barmilla, in the state of Oahu-tlan, to the north of Torreon.

The government and bankers have not been able to agree on the adoption of the currency measure. The committee of bankers who have been attempting to devise a plan now again today with the sub-secretary of finance, but their suggestions were not accepted, chiefly because the bankers would not listen to the proposal that the guarantee of the fund should be deposited in the national treasury. They insisted that it should be deposited in the National Bank.

"The management of the Bank of London and Mexico says that it has enough currency to meet the demands should the withdrawal of deposits continue tomorrow." Government officials express pleu-sure at the success of the negotiations for a loan in Europe, but the conservative and unofficial element profess to see in it little that will assist President Huerta in operating the government for any great length of time, since this loan is to meet interest payments on the bonds.

MERCADO OUSTED FROM COMMAND AT OHINAGA

Ohinaga, Chihuahua, Dec. 21.—General Salvador Mercado, who was commander-in-chief of the Mexican federal troops in the north, was formally deposed today and it was reported to United States army officers that he had escaped in disguise to the American side of the border.

Mercado's evacuation of Chihuahua City, leaving that important federal stronghold open to occupation by General Villa's rebel troops, without a fight, was said to have caused his summary dismissal from command on orders from Mexico City.

General Francisco Castro, formerly commander of federal troops at Juarez, was named successor to General Mercado. Castro came to the Mexican side from Presidio, Tex., as a civilian.

Much activity, believed by some to be the preliminary to a general movement of the federalists away from the border, was manifested soon after General Castro took command.

WAR VESSELS ORDERED TO PROCEED TO TAMPIO

Washington, Dec. 21.—Upon receipt of dispatches late tonight from Rear Admiral Fletcher, in charge of American battleships in Mexican waters, the navy department ordered the gunboat Wheeling to proceed from Veracruz to Tampico, where the department was informed, hostilities between the federal and rebel forces have been resumed. The English cruiser Suffolk was also reported to have been ordered by Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock to proceed at once to Tampico.

Panama Vindictive Toward Colombia.
Panama, Dec. 21.—The anti-Colombian sentiment has grown to such an extent that an open letter has been addressed to President Porras, demanding the expulsion from the republic of the country's detractors and the dismissal of all Colombian holding government positions in Panama.
A further demand is made that the police corps shall be composed exclusively of Panamanians.

WET WEATHER IS BUREAU FORECAST

Washington, Dec. 21.—Christmas week weather will be unsettled over much of the United States, the weather bureau experts say, and frequent rains are predicted for the Pacific coast. Temperatures will be near or below the season average generally, and the skies will be overcast almost entirely throughout the week.

"A disturbance, now developing in the southwest," the weekly bulletin said tonight, "will advance northeastward, attended by rains and snows, and cross the great central valleys about Tuesday."
"Another disturbance off the north Pacific coast will cause general rains and snows on the Pacific coast slope in the next few days. It will reach the middle west Thursday or Friday and will be preceded by a general warmer wave and be followed by considerably colder weather." There are at present no indications of a severe cold wave during the week.

ARISTIDE BRIAND ATTACKS RADICALS

St. Etienne, France, Dec. 21.—Aristide Briand, the former premier, began a campaign against the new French government and the radicals in a speech here today. He charged that the radicals were in power only by splitting the country into warring factions, instead of uniting in an effort to achieve republican ideals.

In pursuance of this system, he said, M. Callaues, now minister of finance, had sacrificed France's foreign policy to his political ends, with consequences such as that of the Agadir incident in Tripoli, the Balkan crisis and the crushing military burden Europe is now staggering under.

EUGENIC MARRIAGE LAW CANNOT BE ENFORCED

Legal Union of Man and Woman Requires No License or Ceremony in Wisconsin, Says Court Decision.

Milwaukee, Dec. 21.—The Wisconsin eugenic marriage law, which will go into effect January 1, and which has created a state wide discussion, received a severe blow today when Horace R. Walmsley, an attorney, issued a statement that a marriage ceremony in Wisconsin was unnecessary and therefore the eugenic measure was useless.

"All that is required in this state is that two persons who are not married at the time agree to accept each other as mates," said Mr. Walmsley.
"No service is necessary and the physical examination required by the law cannot be enforced." The contention of Mr. Walmsley is based on a decision of the supreme court of April 3, 1913. The decision says that any man or woman not married at the time may make a legal and valid contract of marriage without any license, medical examination, priest, clergyman or magistrate. All that is required is that two persons agree to take each other as man and wife and begin to live together in that relation.

No written statement or witnesses are required, but the court suggested that for the benefit of both parties it would be well to sign an agreement, as follows:
"The parties who have signed this paper on this day take each other for husband and wife, being then in the state of Wisconsin, and they begin to live together as such husband and wife."

The court also suggested that there be duplicate copies of the agreement.
Then if either party wishes the paper to be made a record with the register of deeds, all that is necessary is to have two witnesses sign it, pay a notary public twenty-five cents and the whole thing is accomplished.

This discovery has thrown the eugenic supporters into a state of uncertainty.

LONG CHASE ENDS IN CAPTURE OF HACKETT

New York, Dec. 21.—James R.
Hackett, who had been pursued for four months on a charge of having embezzled $12,000 from a wholesale hardware dealer of Baltimore, by whom he was employed, arrived here today on the steamer Verdi from Buenos Ayres, in custody of a detas-chement of the Baltimore police department.

At Bahia, at Rio de Janeiro and again at Montevideo, the ship on which Hackett left New York last August, was searched, but the man was not discovered. Subsequently the detective heard that Hackett had hidden him in a refrigerator each time the search was in progress. He went ashore at Montevideo, where he was arrested.

Tokio, Dec. 21.—The arsenal at Tokio is manufacturing a quantity of arms ordered by the Mexican gov-shipped at an early date. Japanese officials explain that this is merely a matter of business and is not indicative of any unfriendliness to the

SPANISH STORES GET BELATED PROTECTION

Many Federals Are Deserting to Constitutionalist Ranks and Arms and Ammunition Are Secured.

Chihuahua, Mex., Dec. 21.—Anyone who heretofore looks on military property of foreigners or Mexicans will be executed. The right to confis-cate property will rest only with the rebel government.

General Francisco Villa issued this order today as showing his intention to maintain strict military discipline.
As an example, he executed on the spot a band of rebels who had been found guilty by court martial of sacking the home of a wealthy Mexican.
While the six rebels were marched before the firing squad, the stolen goods were returned to the owner.

All stores confiscated from the expelled Spaniards were closed and sealed.
Orders were given that no more goods are to be taken from them.
This action was believed to have resulted from the protest of the United States against the seizure of Spanish property. Already great quantities of the goods, valued at several million dollars, had been utilized by the rebels. The rest of the property is to be held pending an investigation whether the owners aided the Huerta government.

General Villa said his forces were being strengthened by desertions from the federal troops. He proclaimed amnesty to federal soldiers who would surrender and give up their arms.
Many federal troops are reported to have joined the rebels. Three hundred thousand rounds of rifle ammunition and 500,000 rounds of artillery ammunition were recovered from a lager east of Chihuahua, where they were hidden by General Mercado's evacuating federals.

Telegraphic and railroad communication has been extended as far west as Alamos and as far south as Termujillo. If there is no federal interference General Villa expects soon to have the states of Chihuahua, Sonora and Sinaloa as freely open as in times of peace.

Raul Madero, brother of the late president, conferred with General Villa in regarding the formation of a civil government. Mr. Madero is to be an adviser to Villa.

Reports that a battle is imminent between large bodies of opposing forces south of here are untrue.

LUIS TERRAZAS, JR., STILL HELD BY GENERAL VILLA

Juarez, Dec. 21.—Although negotiations have been under way for the payment of $250,000 for his release, Luis Terrazas, Jr., today was held prisoner by General Villa at Chihuahua. The father, whose vast estate, together with that of the Greys, was confiscated through a decree issued by Villa, attempted to secure the prisoner's release and safe conduct to the border, first through an appeal to Washington and now by the payment of money to the rebels.

When Terrazas, Sr., accompanied the federal forces in their flight to the border, the women members of his family refused to leave. They are still in Chihuahua, helping in the efforts to release young Terrazas.

Terrazas was not charged with any activity against the rebels, but was arrested because of his father's great wealth. The elder Terrazas was reported to have taken much of his cash and securities to the United States, and Villa is asking for the return of some of it. The division of the thousands of acres of Terrazas' land among the rebels, is one of the planks in the revolutionary platform.

FEDERAL OFFICERS EXECUTED ON DESERTION CHARGE

Meruello, Mex., Dec. 21.—The commissioned officers and many sergeants and corporals of the Tenth battalion of the federal garrison at Guaymas were executed at sunrise yesterday in that city, according to word brought here tonight. Officers and men of the Tenth were disarmed several days ago by General Ojeda, federal commandant, when he discovered they were plotting to desert to the insurgents.

Accompanied by three of the federal soldiers who surrendered at Maytorena, General Ojeda, field commander of the constitutionalists in western Mexico returned here last night to assist in locating the scattered groups of federal soldiers who had deserted from the Guaymas garrison.

General Ojeda and his remaining troops are in Guaymas, as far as could be learned, but insurgent sentinel reported that one of the federal gunboats had disappeared. This was taken as an indication that at least a part of the federal garrison had

It was announced last night that services of military officers and privof General Carranza that would be accepted from only those federalist army men who had taken the first opportunity to join the revolution.

Major B. Figueroa and other fed-

TWO MEN KILLED IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

DEATHS, WYO., Dec. 21.—Two men were killed and other passengers were slightly injured in a head-on collision between a Union Pacific freight train and the eastbound Los Angeles limited train No. 8, near Black Butte early today. Both trains were traveling rapidly and the freight engine and two baggage cars of the passenger train were badly damaged.

The dead were:
Thomas Moore Harting, fireman on the freight train, and F. C.
Krom, train conductor, of Omaha.
This wreck occurred in a dense fog, and no statement concerning its cause has been given out.

TWO HUNDRED PASSENGERS INJURED IN WRECK

LAUREL, Md., Dec. 21.—Two hundred passengers were slightly injured when the Canadian Northern train from Duluth, Minn., and Port William, Ontario, was derailed near here today and five coaches, a baggage car and a diner, overturned, breaking apart.
The wreckage caught fire, but the passengers, many of whom were bound for the holidays, escaped through broken windows, with no more serious injuries than scratches and bruises and helped themselves to the food. All the passengers had been accounted for when a third train took the passengers on to Winnipeg tonight.

According to officials, a broken rail caused the accident.

REFORM IN RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE IS WORKED OUT

Postoffice Department Plans Establishment of Terminal Stations to Aid Parcel Post Business.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 21.—The report of Second Assistant Postmaster General Steward, made public tonight, disclosed the fact that the postoffice department expects to decrease the expenditure for railway car service by establishing railway terminal postoffices and requiring a separation by routes, of first and second class mails of publishers.

Last year, says the report, a large amount of additional car space was required on mail trains because of the establishment of the parcel post system. That the extension of the service made a considerable increase in the national expenditure for car rentals is shown in the statement that from January 1 to November 23, there was a net increase of $451,672-34. Mr. Steward expects, however, to reduce these expenditures by instituting the proposed changes.

The report shows that the cost of operating rail, ocean, river, lake, street car, express wagon, pneumatic tube and mail messenger service, for the year ended June 30, last, was $38,102,277.34. This sum will be increased for the current fiscal year, approximately $10,000,000.

The number of all classes of domestic mail routes was 12,776, the combined length of which was 275,344 miles.

Considerable space in the report is given to the discussion of handling mail by fast freight. Mr. Steward says that this method of transportation has been generally satisfactory to publishers, as in most cases it has been practicable to overcome the slower movement in the freight trains by advancing the date of delivery to the postoffice at the point of origin.

Some publishers, however, objected to the fast freight service, because of the news character of the contents of their publications. In such instances, it has been the policy of the department, after adequate showing has been made, to transport the mail in regular mail trains. Consideration is being given to the question of additional compensation for the transportation of the mails and a report will be made to congress by the commissioner appointed to conduct the inquiry by or before March 14, 1914.

Such experiments as Secretary Hewitt has been making in the carrying of mail by aeroplanes have been conducted without expense to the government, although the mails thus transported were estimated only to cost carriers.

The satisfactory performance of the service has induced a recommendation by Mr. Steward for an application for $40,000 for a regular experimental aeroplane service.

BLOODHOUNDS TRAIL MURDERING ROBBERS

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
First Plain, N. Y., Dec. 21.—Pursuit of deputy sheriffs and citizens with bloodhounds are searching the countryside tonight for the man or men who last night murdered John Har-ratt, aged 40, near here, after bounding his daughter Katherine, 20 years old, into irretrievable. The father was slain when he went to the aid of his daughter. A considerable sum, hidden behind a wall panel, was not discovered by the men.

Katherine Harratt was doing tonight when she was struck from behind and rendered unconscious.
She was seriously injured and did not see her assailants. Her father heard the men and rushed down the back stairs from the second story, while his son Bruce attempted to descend the front stairs. Young Harratt found his way blocked, as a stray had been tipped over against the door leading to the front stairs.
He then went down the back way and found the house on fire, his sister unconscious and his father dead with a crushed skull and gunshot wounds in the neck.

formed in the hope of saving his life.
Little hope is expressed for his recovery.

WARNING IS ISSUED AGAINST EATING RAW MEAT

Trichinosis Is Disease Produced by Germ in Uncooked Flesh of Swine, Says Agricultural Expert.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 21.—To prevent the spread of trichinosis, a dread disease not known to the American people, the department of agriculture issued tonight a warning against the consumption of raw or uncooked pork products, which are said to be the source of the malady. In many districts of the country, particularly in sections with large foreign populations, the statement said, large quantities of pork are consumed in the Christmas season, resulting frequently in cases of seriously impaired health, if not in fatalities.

The department asserts that in November and December, 1911, there were fifty-eight cases of trichinosis that terminated fatally in one California community. In each instance the disease was traced to uncooked meat. Other outbreaks of the disease, with many fatalities, are cited.

The disease is caused by a parasite or worm, microscopically in size, found in hog flesh, and there is no known effective remedy of treatment.

Statistics based upon inspection by government scientists for nine years show that 1.41 per cent of the eight million hogs examined were infected with trichinosis.

MISSOURI TRIES TO RECOVER EXCESS RATES PAID

Despite Adverse Ruling by Federal Judge McPherson Suits Are to Be Instituted by Attorney General.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Jefferson City, Mo., Dec. 21.—In spite of the fact that Federal Judge Smith McPherson at Kansas City, yesterday afternoon, suspended his decree of the morning and ordered the dismissal of the railroad's injunction suits to restrain the state from filing petition suits, Attorney General Barber of Missouri, announced tonight he would proceed with the filing of suits against all railroads operating in the state to recover excess passenger and freight rates paid the railroads. The attorney general contends he will not be in contempt of court because a mandate issued by the supreme court of the United States already had disposed of the cases and dissolved the injunctions against him.
Suits similar to that filed against the Missouri Pacific will be filed against the other roads in various courts in the state tomorrow morning, in reference to Judge McPherson's action suspending entering of the decision until January 10, to allow attorneys for the railroads time to file other petitions, Mr. Barber said.

"I do not understand Judge Mc-Pherson's blowing hot in the forenoon and cold in the afternoon. It was not necessary that I wait for his ruling, but out of respect for the court I did wait until the decree was ordered."

AGED LITERARY WOMAN KILLED BY STREET CAR

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
New York, Dec. 21.—Miss Virginia Vaughn, writer of lyrics and poems, translator and friend of Nathaniel Hawthorne, the Brownings and other authors of the last half century, was killed by a street car in New York today. Miss Vaughn was the daughter of John Champion Vaughn, an abolitionist who published anti-slavery newspapers at Cincinnati and Cleveland. She was 81 years old.

500 LIVES LOST IN FAMOUS DOCKYARDS GREAT VOLCANIC ERUPTION

Flames Shoot Thousand Feet in the Air, and Bay Is Filled With Dead Fish and Turtles.

Two Lives Lost and Millions of Dollars Worth of Property Destroyed in Conflagration of Unknown Origin.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Sydney, N. S. W., Dec. 21.—Incoming steamers bring terrible details of the recent volcanic eruptions on the island of Ambain, in the New Hebrides group, in which 500 natives lost their lives. Witnesses of the disaster describe it as an sudden and violent eruption that they expected to see the whole western side of the island disappear.

With a terrific roar, which was followed by a rapid succession of artillery-like detonations, all the craters of the volcano erupted into full activity, spouting flames and lava, and throwing out huge boulders. Great streams of lava soon were rushing down the slopes, cutting off the villagers from escape. In one instance two torrents of the molten mass joined and made an island of one entire section of a village. Here fifty or sixty persons perished.

The scene at night was awe-inspiring. Flames shot in the air to a height of a thousand feet, illuminating the whole scene of destruction.
The ocean seemed to boil in huge superheated masses of steam fell into the water and streams of lava poured into the bay. Two feet of lava gradually formed a black flood which boiled out the light of the stars.

The bay, after the eruption, was filled with dead fish and large numbers of dead turtles. The water in the rivers was hot.

The British hospital buildings were wiped out of existence, but previous to their destruction the doctors pluckily removed all the patients to a launch and escaped with them.

Nothing is known as to how the fire originated. When it was first observed from the deck of the new little cruiser Queen Mary, it had already obtained a good hold on the inflammable material in the rigging, loft and sail house. All the fire-fighting apparatus in the dock yard was rapidly brought into action and the efforts of the men were devoted to preventing the fire from reaching the main store at the end of the burning building, which was filled with 20,000 tons of heavy oil. After many hours of strenuous work the fire was got under control it had reached within eight feet of these tanks. The flames were extinguished at 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

The huge wooden semaphore structure, surmounting the rigging house was a blazing beacon within half an hour after the outbreak, and collapse on the roof of the main tower and building, converting the whole into a fiery mass. Fire parties were sent to the dockyard from all the warships in the harbor, and the battle cruiser Queen Mary, on which burning brands were falling, was towed out of the danger zone.

Many valuable models of old warships, records relating to Nelson and earlier periods, and old naval relics, were destroyed.

TWO AUTOMOBILES TAKE TOLLS OF LIFE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
New York, Dec. 21.—One person was killed and two were injured when an automobile, traveling along a driveway in upper Central park, dashed over the iron main cornice of a bridge and dropped to a footfall bordering the river, twenty-five feet below. Miss Tommie Fitzgerald, of Peekskill, N. Y., was instantly killed. Miss Frances Lomon, of the same city, and another passenger in the machine, escaped with minor hurt.
The chauffeur was uninjured and fled. How he lost control of the car is not known.

At Scabright, N. J., an automobile dashed into a stage containing seven persons, and Mrs. Rodney, of Res-bright, was mortally injured. The stage driver was badly hurt and his friends drove the automobile off speeding away without offering aid to the injured.

The police are searching for the automobile party.

LEVY'S CHRISTMAS PRESENT WILL BE A HUMMER

Director of Athletic Club Will Serve Dainty Dish to Fight Fans; Boxers Working Hard for Event.

The Christmas present which Director Mark Levy will give to the fight fans of Albuquerque Thursday afternoon will take the form of one of the best boxing cards that the sports of the city have ever had the pleasure of witnessing. That the fight fans appreciate this fact is shown by the large advance sale of seats for the event.

Both Matthews and Torres, the principals in the main event, are working hard for the Christmas night. Torres had the floor of the gymnasium in the afternoon, yesterday, and Matthews at night. Matthews took on Al Shaulding and Barney Kuris in several first rounds. In addition to going through the various other stunts incident to the work of a boxer preparing himself for a big fight, the St. Louisan shows no bad effects from the boys which prevented him from meeting Torres last week, and his fast work gave a world of confidence to his friends.

Torres had his turn in the afternoon, and he, too, showed lightning speed and wonderful cleverness in his workout. The local boy realizes that he has a future before him and is determined to make the best of it. If he is able to defeat Matthews decisively he will be in a position to demand some good matches, and he is working for the coming battle as if his life depended on the result.

A new canvas has been laid in the big ring at the gymnasium, and everything is being put in the best of shape to accommodate the big crowd that is sure to be on hand to witness the battle.

PRINTERS BEAT EDITORS IN BOWLING MATCH AT THE DRUMMER ALLEYS

The printers and the editors of the Morning Journal met in a bowling match at the Drummer alleys yesterday afternoon. The printers did most of the bowling. They won. There was an appreciative audience present, who seemed to get more enjoyment out of the occasion than the players themselves.

The star man for the printers made a high score of 219 and an average of 176 for the three games. The editors did not have a star man, but one of their number managed to compile an average of 156, with 169 for a high score. The other scores were turned in to the office, but after being carefully considered were declared unfit for publication.

The manager of the printers bore his honors modestly. "My brave men performed with credit," he said after the game. "Of course, we did not bowl our best. At my instructions, the boys held back some of their stuff, and we always had something in reserve. I have no harsh words for our stricken opponents, but I must say that the game is a striking proof that class will tell."

"It was a case of brains against brawn," said the manager of the editors. "The only trouble was that their brawn was working while our brains were not. I still believe that if the society editor had not been handicapped by her slanted skirt there might have been a different result. Then, again, our local man is an old baseball player, and he had the idea that it was necessary to cut the corners. I have had difficulty in explaining to him that such shots do not count as strikes."

"There is no truth in the rumor," he continued, "that we have accepted a challenge from the team of the seamstresses' union. I cannot imagine how the report originated."

WELTERWEIGHTS TO
CONTEST AT GALLUP

Gallup, N. M., Dec. 21.—What promises to be the best boxing contest ever staged in northwestern New Mexico is that scheduled for Christmas afternoon, when Rubie Smith, of Denver, and Bob Evans, of Mexico City, welterweights, clash in a ten-round bout. Both men are training hard for the clash and their admirers are about evenly divided, though Smith's record is the more familiar to local fans.

Many landlords and tenants first met through the want columns of The Journal.

FOOTBALL RULES TO
LITTLE IN 1914

Intercollegiate Code During Season Just Closed Gave Almost General Satisfaction.

Philadelphia, Dec. 21.—There will be few, if any, changes in the football rules for 1914. The intercollegiate code gave more general satisfaction throughout the season just closed than ever before in the history of the game. The principal criticism made against the 1913 brand of football was directed rather against the lack of inventiveness by coaches than the rules under which the game was played. If the game as played by a particular university or in a given section was dull and uninteresting, the fault was not with the rules.

In the middle west there was far more satisfaction over the style of football played than there was in the east. In a general way the west played progressive football. In the east there was manifested everywhere a spirit of conservatism, while several universities which were at one time leaders with their progressive ideas gained an uneasiness reputation of being sandpotters.

Football men have closely studied the situation in both west and east and have been unable to point out any reforms made necessary in the rules. The extent to which the game is to be improved will depend solely upon the progressiveness of coaches themselves.

The feeling still exists in the east that the game could spare the forward pass and be improved in consequence. This conclusion is reached because in practically all the championship games played on eastern stadiums the forward pass was not only a complete failure, but a boomerang as well. The play was an utter failure in the Harvard-Princeton, Princeton-Yale, Yale-Harvard and the Pennsylvania-Cornell games. The writer kept very careful statistics of all these games and found that the forward pass was successful less than 10 per cent of the times. Not only did it fail to gain ground in the proportion, but nearly half the time when it failed on the attacking side it was intercepted by the defending side and returned for big gains. The forward pass is supposed to be an offensive play, but from the time it was first introduced it has lost far more ground than it ever gained. Curiously enough it is not defended so much for its value as an offensive play as it is for breaking up the opposing defense, but football men are beginning to see the fallacy of this defense of the play. If a part of a team's offense is retained simply to break up and weaken an opponent's defense it is high time for the rule makers to find some other method of equalizing attacks and defense.

This estimate of the value of the forward pass does not hold in the middle west. Football experts are divided in their opinions as to whether the success of the play in the middle west was due to their scientific development of it or a weakness in the construction of a defense for it. The claim is made in the east that a mediocre perfect defense for this play can stop it nine-tenths of the time. If this be true it follows that the west, in its efforts to develop scoring plays by the forward pass, neglected a proper defense for it.

In a discussion of the relative merits of the football played in the west and east this conclusion is inevitable—that the west overemphasized the offensive game, while the east paid entirely too much attention to the defense. Unless football coaches are obliged to adjust themselves to more radical revisions of the rules it is fairly certain that next year will see a more even development of both offense and defense in the west as well as in the east.

Western men have already taken the initiative in one reform in which the east is lagging far behind. At a recent meeting of the Western Intercollegiate Conference association it was voted that for the first two games of the 1914 season the players should be numbered, and that if the experiment proved a success the rules should be made obligatory for the remainder of the season.

The writer is willing to venture that if the western universities give the reform a fair test there will not be a dissenting voice in continuing it for the remainder of the season and forever after. It is almost inexplicable that the progressive west did not make this reform effective years ago.

Football is practically the only intercollegiate sport in which the convenience of the public is so ruthlessly ignored. Practically no one outside of a small part of the student body is able to recognize a single player on the gridiron. One sees only a struggling mass of players and is obliged to wait until the next day to learn who made the important and scoring plays. And even then one cannot be too certain of the accuracy of newspaper accounts, because, with few exceptions, the leading universities have made very little preparation to insure the newspaper men getting accurate information. All of this could be done away with instantly by a simple system of numbering players. It is done in practically every sport which the colleges maintain. No one would think of holding a track and field meet without providing some method of identifying the athletes. For the last few years it has been done in basketball, and the reform has worked splendidly. If the numbering system becomes popular in the west, western teams will be compelled to adopt it, if, indeed, the football rules committee does not make it obligatory. The Dartmouth team, in its game with the Carlisle Indians, demonstrated that it could be operated effectively. This experiment also proved that the system of numbers did not operate to the disadvantage of either team. All objections to it are based upon the hidebound policy of conservatism pursued so long in the east.

With a unanimity that is remarkable virtually all the captains of the eastern university baseball teams have expressed their opposition to coaching from the bench in intercollegiate baseball. These opinions they express in answer to a query on the subject by the Yale Daily News, the undergraduate publication of the blue. If the professional coaches would be barred from the bench during intercollegiate games, only the captain or some member of the team would be allowed to direct the play.

This view of college baseball ethics if put into operation would change the game in a radical manner. It was suggested because a good many college men thought the university game was developing along professional lines. The agreement on this question is surprising. Ten years ago it was the custom of the different colleges to attempt to rattle opposing pitchers by keeping up an incessant yelling for the purpose of disconcerting him. The practice was started in a thoughtless manner, but the more clear headed colleges have come to the conclusion that it is not only poor baseball, but unsportsmanlike and unfair. Harvard university deserves credit for starting the movement to suppress it. Today it is seldom heard and any attempt at it is usually to take such an advantage of a friendly opponent is quickly suppressed by the cheer leaders.

The idea of eliminating professional coaches from the benches is a development of the same idea, and if it could be adopted by general agreement it would be a long step forward in the elevation of the ethics of intercollegiate athletics in general. The ethics of college baseball is an excellent idea in practice is the absence of an intercollegiate baseball association. Two or three universities cannot do it without the assistance of all their important rivals. Any university which would take the initiative in organizing such an organization and adopting such a code of baseball ethics would deserve the thanks of the entire intercollegiate world.

If such a rule were adopted for college baseball it would not be long before a similar rule would be adopted for football. The manner in which professional coaches coach football teams from the side lines is little short of a disgrace. It is done on every big college gridiron, east or west. It is an infraction of the rule and the rule makers do nothing.

GIANTS ARE WELL FORTIFIED WITH OUTFIELDERS

With Acquisition of Robert Bescher, John G. McGraw Has One of Best Outgardeners in National League.

John J. McGraw has gone into the outfielders business on a considerable scale. With the acquisition of Robert Bescher, the speed marvel, the Giant leader has one of the largest stocks of right, left and center fielders in the big leagues.

If necessary McGraw can put more but outfielders on guard. Besides the parties named above, he has Arthur Shaver, who is an outfielder or third baseman, according to circumstances. Then there is young Mr. Merritt, who has been farmed out to St. Louis from Memphis for future reference, and there is also Mr. Theodore Goulet, who has also been turned over to St. Louis for conversion from a wild and woolly hurler to an outfielder. Otherwise John J. McGraw is just about half out of gardeners.

It is said that Mike Donlin, now engaged in touring the world with McGraw, is to be employed as a pinch hitter, vice Handsome H. McCormick, resigned. Mr. Donlin is an outfielder at heart. Whatever may happen to the Giants in 1914, it is likely that there will always be someone around to pursue the festive fly balls.

It is practically certain that Bobby Bescher will be a regular, and there is little chance for anyone to beat out George Burns for his job. McGraw regards the St. Johnsville boy as one of the greatest youngsters that have come into the big league in years.

In all the recent talk of Giant trades it was noticeable that the name of John J. Murray was never mentioned, so it would appear that the title of Right Field will be on the job in the shade of the big bull sign next season.

Fred Snodgrass is apparently the gent who is entitled to worry. There is no doubt that the Californian was offered in some of the recent Giant dickers for other players, but as none of the proposed trades in which his name figured were carried out, Snodgrass will probably be retained. McGraw has always had a mighty high opinion of Fred, and the black-haired native son has the advantage over a lot of players in that he can switch around and play in various positions very well.

He is not a bad first baseman by any means and he may eventually wind up there. However, he has not yet been beaten out of his center field job, so it is a little early to speculate on his future.

Dave Robertson, the southern slugger, must also be conceded a good chance for a regular job on the Giants, if he can hit anywhere near as well in the big league as he hit with Mobile last year. Dave was originally a left-handed pitcher and it is said that his hurling arm has entirely recovered from a football injury that destroyed Bobbie's effectiveness, but it would take a lot of sensational twirling to offset the ability to hit above the 300 and steal more than fifty bases on the run of a season.

McGraw is notoriously averse to using a youngster inexperienced in big league wiles as a regular, however, Dave will probably be just carried along for seasoning for at least a year and his position will be determined later.

Jim Thorpe's status seems to have been definitely settled in McGraw's mind. James is an outfielder or he is nothing. It is said that the celebrated Indian is developing rapidly on the world tour and he may have to be considered in the springtime battle for regular situations. As for Claude Cooper, it seems likely that he will be flung away somewhere in the sticks for seasoning. If McGraw can get him out of the league, Harrison and Piez are probably in Claude's class in that respect, but you never can tell.

Though he is rich in outfielders, McGraw is almost poverty-stricken in point of infielders. The passing of Herzog leaves him with only Eddie Grant and Milton Stock for utility purposes, and Milton has not yet demonstrated that he is a big leaguer. There have been rumors that Eddie is to be sent to Migue Pina at Memphis. Anyway, McGraw will probably dig up another infielder of experience as soon as he gets back.

There is a difference of opinion among the fans regarding the trade with Cincinnati. Some think McGraw got a shade the worst of it, while others believe he stung Garibaldi Herrmann. Working as a regular, Hartley may turn out to be a marvel, but McGraw has enough catchers without him, and there seemed little prospect that Grover would ever hit enough to displace the others. Meyer has spoiled McGraw for anything but a slugging backstop, and that is the reason he has taken on Elmer Johnson of Omaha, a heavy-bodied fellow, but a mighty wallpaper.

NEW YORK EXPERT
ON LAST LEGS

First Baseman Without a Peer for Many Years Believed to Have Served His Usefulness as a Baseball Player.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.
New York, Dec. 21.—Four big Chase. They called him a mule, a four-flasher, a quitter, a grandstand player, a quitter, and they say he was "laying down" on the New York Americans. And they said that was why Frank Chance traded him to the White Sox. Now, listen to something that will surprise you—Chase is on his last legs as a big league baseball player, and the next season is likely to be his last in the majors.

Prince Hal, as he was called at the height of his glory when the acknowledged peer of first basemen, was guilty of all he was charged with in 1910. He was accused of purposely laying down on the job so that he could get the position of manager of the Yankees, then held by George Stallings, with whom Chase did not get along at all. Chase got Stallings' job the next year—that is history. But he failed as a manager—that, too, is common knowledge. Then when Harry Wolverton was appointed as his successor, Chase, disgruntled again, resumed his old loafing tactics.

Wolverton failed and Frank Chance was signed up to head the team the past season. Chase swore by all that was holy then that he was going to "play his head off" for the Peerless Leader. He became a hero worshipper of Chance. But he continued to play poor baseball in spots, and the fans howled. "He's up to his old tricks again—laying down on the job." The tough luck of it is this—Chase was not laying down on the job—not last year. It brings to mind in a way the story of the boy who called "wolf" when there was no wolf. But this time the "wolf" had arrived, and the fans wouldn't believe it. They thought Chase was still a great ball player, but that he wasn't trying.

"One Saturday afternoon last summer, just before Chase was traded," says Chance, "the crowd got after Chase and booed his every move. When the game was over Chase could not be found in the clubhouse. He had locked himself in one of the shower locks, and waited until he thought everybody had dressed and gone. But when he came out Trainer Barrett and myself were still there. Chase was crying like a baby. He went over and sat down on one of the chairs, with his face buried in his hands, and the tears streamed down his cheeks. He asked as if his heart would break: 'We tried to console him, but he would not speak. Before Barrett and I left, there were the beginnings of tears in our eyes, too.'

After Chase was traded to Chicago he put up a sensational game for a short while, but then slumped and he went to play mediocre ball again. The Chicago fans, just like their New York brethren, got after Chase and accused him of loafing and even conspiring to get Jimmy Callahan's job as manager. Chase, it is learned, was entirely innocent of any such thing, but the printed charges stung him again, until now he is practically a broken down ball player, both physically and in spirit. Poor Hal Chase!

TINKER FAILS TO MEET ROBISON FOR TRADE CONFERENCE

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 21.—Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn National League club, was here today for a conference with Joe Tinker, the shortstop, but the latter did not arrive. Robinson said he understood that Tinker had not left Chicago, but that he did not attach much importance to the shortstop's failure to come here to meet him. President Elberts, Robinson said, would complete the deal with Tinker.

While here Robinson conferred with Otto Miller, a catcher for the Brooklyn team, who is reported to have been asked to play with the Federal league next year. Miller said he had been offered an advance of $800 over the salary he received last year, to sign a contract to play with the Brooklyn team. He said that he was unable to do so because of the agreement made by the members of the players' fraternity not to sign contracts until after January 1.

TINKER HOLDING OUT FOR LARGE SALARY

Chicago, Dec. 21.—The salary Joe Tinker demands from the Brooklyn club of the National league was termed unreasonable today by Wilbert Robinson, manager of the club, in a long distance telephone conversation. Robinson went to Indianapolis to meet Tinker who was not certain the Brooklyn manager would be there and so did not leave Chicago. Robinson immediately got into communication with Tinker here. After the talk Tinker said he believed the difference between himself and the Brooklyn club could be adjusted, despite the attitude of the club toward his salary request.

"Robinson told me the $10,000 bonus was mine as soon as I signed and wanted to know what salary I expected," said Tinker. "Unreasonable," he replied, when I told him. Not wishing to play for a small salary even if I do get the extra money, I told the manager I was sorry he looked at it in that light."

Tinker would not name the salary figures but some time ago he said that $7,500 would be satisfactory. Tinker said he expected to meet Elberts, president of the Brooklyn club, soon.

LOVE FOR PEANUTS
GOES BACK TO FARM

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.
St. Louis, Dec. 21.—Munching peanuts at the wrong time is a crime punishable by decapitation (figurative).

This fact will be driven home to Lou Criger, veteran Brown catcher and coach, before next spring rolls around, as Lou has been accused and found guilty of assimilating peanuts at a very inopportune moment.

Fans probably will recall the fact that Frank Chance, in the early part of the past campaign, went to bat out of turn and put his team, the Yanks, in a position to beat the Browns by singling on his illegal trip to the pen. While all this happened Lou Criger was munching peanuts on the Browns' bench and when the official scorer of Hedges' park tried to arrest Lou's attention, Lou resisted and continued to eat peanuts.

The upshot was that the Browns lost—and eventually the Yanks finished seventh while the Browns trailed in their dust. So now comes the unofficial, but authoritative tip, that Lou will be decorated with the royal order of tin next spring. Charley Barrett, gossip have it, will go south with the Browns as one of Ricker's assistants. Lou will be privileged to remain in the Minnesota woods, where he has a farm, and surfact himself on peanuts, his favorite dish.

'THEY'RE OFF!' IN A BUNCH 350 STRONG CANDIDATES FOR WORLD TOUR BEGIN ACTIVITIES TODAY

Cash Slips From Aservo Stores Count Double This Week; Now Is Best Time to Start Getting Subscriptions; Send in YOUR Name if It Is Not in List.

The time is here. Almost 350 young women of New Mexico and northern Arizona, who are members of the list of candidates for the Morning Journal's "Round the World and Tropical Tour Campaign," published yesterday morning. They will no doubt fall to qualify, but many may be added to the list.

Not every name on the list is representative of suitable young women. Every name indicates that person is worthy of the support of her friends and acquaintances. Every name comes to the Tour Department endorsed by highly representative people in the locality in which the candidate lives. And every one is entitled to the best support possible from the residents of her section of the various territories.

That this will be evidenced by the great amount of interest taken in the Aservo System. The Morning Journal campaign is the general public. Daily inquiries are being made by letter and phone regarding the operation of the system, and the stores listed yesterday morning have already begun receiving some benefit from their entrance into the system. Cash slips from these stores were in demand last week and this week, with double points being added on every cash slip received from the stores listed as Aservo merchants, each dollar will be worth and the candidates will reap resultant increased benefit.

The telephone number of the Tour Department is 175. Phone today and have a representative call and see you, who will explain further details of the plan and show you how easy it will be for you to win.

TESTIMONIAL FROM HIGH AUTHORITY.

The Morning Journal is proud of the list of names secured by nomination for the first publication of candidates. It shows loyalty and extensive circulation when more than 350 names of young women should be nominated as candidates in a community of this character. It also indicates that the judgment of the Morning Journal was correct when it determined to inaugurate the Aservo system for the benefit of its subscribers.

Now that the campaign has been fairly launched the candidates have the name in their hands. They will begin actual campaigning immediately and when the next exhibit of names and point standings is published, next Monday morning, it is probable that some surprises will be seen. The honor of being first in the list is great and will be an incentive for more earnest efforts on the part of the candidates.

When once the campaign of subscription is launched it is easy to pick up the points. As soon as your friends see you are making an effort to win, they will get behind you and support you to the limit of their possibilities. But they first must see that you are anxious to win before they will help you as much as they otherwise would.

Start Your Campaign Now. If you have not sent in your application DO SO AT ONCE and secure a name which will start your campaign now. ## GOVERNOR REFUSES EXTRAORDINARY REQUEST

District Attorney Whitman Asks Appointment as Special Deputy Attorney General to Probe Graft Charges.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 21.—A request by District Attorney Whitman of New York, that he be appointed a special deputy attorney general to make a state-wide graft investigation, will not be granted by Governor Glynn. The governor, in a statement, which criticized Mr. Whitman sharply and questioned his motives in seeking the appointment, made this declaration tonight.

In addition to taking the ground that there is no warrant in law for such action, and that it would be a severe reflection on the district attorneys of other counties, the governor said plainly that, in his opinion, Mr. Whitman's appeal was inspired by political motives.

"If Mr. Whitman thinks that playing politics in this way will embarrass me, he has reckoned without his host," said Mr. Glynn.

The governor declared that Mr. Whitman had promised to turn over any evidence of wrongdoing that he found outside of his jurisdiction, but none had come from him. Governor Glynn added that if Mr. Whitman would surrender any evidence of this kind which he has, prosecutions will be carried on by the various district attorneys, or he will remove them from office.

WHITMAN SAYS NO SUCH APPLICATION WAS MADE

New York, Dec. 21.—District Attorney Charles Whitman denied tonight that he had sought a designation as a state deputy attorney general. Mr. Whitman's assertion was contained in a statement replying to the one issued by Governor Glynn today. The prosecutor said politics had no place in the inquiry he was making.

The suggestion that he be appointed a deputy attorney general with statewide jurisdiction, said Mr. Whitman, came up during a talk at the Whitman home here last Wednesday night, with James W. Osborne, who is investigating state departments at Albany.

"Mr. Osborne stated," said Mr. Whitman, "that his investigation was likely to blow up, and that he was a court without lawyers, officers or witnesses, and that he had a hearing down for Friday or Saturday, I forget which. I told him that I would render him any help I could. I think that I suggested that, of course, unless empowered by the attorney general or the governor, it could not be done outside of New York county, and stated that if the governor or the attorney general so desired, I would accept such a designation."

"Mr. Osborne responded enthusiastically, and said that he would have it done tomorrow, that is, Thursday, and that I would save him from a very disagreeable situation. I have not seen Mr. Osborne since that date."

ABANDONED BABES TO DIE IN HALLWAY

Chicago, Dec. 21.—John Kostelny, 18 years old, and his 16-year-old wife, who confessed they had deserted their week-old twin boys, were given their liberty by a coroner's jury today. Both babies died from exposure. The jury had Kostelny promise that he would "love, cherish and care for" his wife. The girl's father, at whose home the children were born, also was given his liberty.

The twins were found Wednesday night in a hallway a hallway a few doors from the St. Vincent's orphanage. One died Friday and the other Saturday morning.

"After we were married, my wife went to her parents to live until she was a little older," Kostelny told the jury. "Her father told me the babies were born and gave me 12 and told me I'd have to take them away. I started to the asylum, but lost my nerve, and left them in a hallway."

Kostelny said he earned $12 a week and was ordered to turn it over to his wife.

SOCIETY FORMED TO ASSIST CONVICTS

Auburn, Ky., Dec. 21.—Thomas Mott Osborne, chairman of the state commission for prison reform, announced tonight the formation recently of the Prisoners' Aid League, known among the convicts of Auburn prison, where it has been informally at work for seven weeks, as "the pals," a name derived from the first letters of the league's title.

The society is composed of men from outside, acting as a board of visitors, who, without sentimental impulses, endeavor to bring the human touch to the isolated men, advising them in personal matters, keeping watch for opportunities to obtain positions for men who seek parole and filling the place of relatives among those whose friends are unable to come here to visit them.

John B. Riley, superintendent of state prison, is in hearty accord with the purpose of the league, which will be extended to all state penal institutions in time, according to present plans.

FOOD WITHOUT PAY ANARCHIST DEMAND

Portland, Ore., Dec. 21.—Two restaurants were stormed today by gangs of men led by Industrial Workers of the World, who announced that they were without money and must be fed.

In the first case, fourteen men marched into a cafe to get a substantial meal and then announced that they could not and would not pay.

The manager hailed a passing policeman and the men ran. The officer arrested three who were locked up on charges of disorderly conduct.

FIRE CAUSES LOSS AT NEW HOME OF C. S. HAYDEN

Defective Chimney Starts Destructive Blaze; Family Is Awakened Early in Morning by Smoke Fumes.

The residence of C. S. Hayden, a director of E. L. Washburn company, at 228 West Gold avenue, was partly destroyed by a fire early this morning. The alarm was received at the Central station at 1:30 o'clock.

The Hayden family was awakened by the fumes of smoke in their bedroom and Mr. Hayden turned in an alarm.

The fire was burning fiercely in the attic and had broken through the west wall of the house when the Central station company arrived. The firemen attempted to fight the flames with the chemical on the motor truck, but the fire gained too much headway and Chief Jacob Klein signalled the firemen stationed at the nearest hydrant, several blocks away, to turn the water into the house, bid by the firemen on their way to the house.

Cutting a hole through the roof with their axes, the firemen crawled into the attic and extinguished the fire in a short time with the stream. The loss from fire and water will reach about $1,000. The house and furniture were insured.

The fire evidently was caused by a defective chimney over an open fire place. The only place that it broke through the wall was behind the chimney, burning an opening as wide as the chimney from the floor to the roof.

The house was recently built by Mr. Hayden, and he moved there from his former home only a short time ago.

for it. Twenty police reserves were summoned and after a stormy scene the men were ejected. None was arrested.

COMMUNITY LECTURE ENDOWMENT FUND

Cleveland, Dec. 21.—A gift of $50,000 to be used as a "community lecture fund," will be announced tomorrow by President W. H. Thwing, of Western Reserve university. The donors are Malcolm Lee McBride, Mrs. Henry S. Sherman, Mrs. George W. C. Hill and Mrs. Herbert McBride, of Cleveland. The donation is in memory of Mrs. Herbert McBride's deceased husband and the parents of the others, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McBride.

By the terms of the gift the income derived from it is to provide lectures for the community as well as the university. Provision is made that they shall be delivered in various parts of the city, covering all fields of human knowledge, "as best adapted for the kind of audiences to be reached."

Cash and the Aservo System

Cash trade is cheaper for the merchant to handle than are credit accounts. No matter how GOOD a customer may be in a credit way, no matter how promptly he may pay his bills at the end of the month, it requires a certain amount of CASH to conduct any mercantile business. A cash transaction eliminates clerical work, interest, the cost of collection of the account, any possibility of loss by fire or otherwise, etc.

All these expense items MUST be, and ARE INCLUDED WHEN THE SALE PRICE OF ANY ARTICLE IS MARKED. THE CASH customer, under existing commercial rules, PAYS THE LOSSES SUSTAINED BY THE MERCHANT on bad accounts and hard collections. In other words, A PREMIUM IS PLACED ON CREDIT AND THE CASH CUSTOMER PAYS THE PREMIUM--HE FOOTS THE BILLS OF THE "DEAD BEAT."

Aservo System Benefits YOU

The Aservo System reverses this order and GIVES THE PREMIUM TO THE MAN WHO IS JUSTLY ENTITLED TO IT--THE CASH CUSTOMER. It equalizes the existing difference between cash and credit, and PLACES THE RESPONSIBILITY OF GOOD BUSINESS JUDGMENT IN DETERMINING GOOD AND BAD RISKS UPON THE MERCHANT--where it belongs--RATHER THAN UPON THE MAN WHO PAYS CASH--where it rests under present commercial conditions.

No matter whether YOU are a GOOD credit customer or one who pays CASH--YOU ARE ONE OF YOUR CLASS WHO FOOT THE BILLS of the man who "died;" the man who moved away without "settling;" the person who "lost his job" and could not pay; the crook who never intended to pay in the first place, and the man who has to be "bounced" to get what is due.

The credit customer is entitled to the privilege of paying once a month if the merchant desires to accommodate him in that way. BUT THIS SHOULD BE THE MERCHANT'S OWN RISK--NOT THAT OF THE MAN WHO PAYS CASH. Credit is an accommodation WHICH MUST BE PAID FOR and the obligation SHOULD REST WITH THE BENEFICIARY rather than be FORCED UPON THE CASH CUSTOMER.

No Discrimination Here

IF YOU are a subscriber to The Morning Journal under the Aservo System and pay cash for your food and wearing apparel and household necessities, by the use of the Aservo System Coupon Books you GET BACK a proportion, at least, of the PREMIUM WHICH YOU HAVE BEEN PAYING ON OTHER PEOPLE'S DEBTS--you profit to the extent of FIVE PER CENT ON ALL PURCHASES YOU MAKE IN ASERVO SYSTEM STORES: you buy goods from merchants who are FIRST CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT and who APPRECIATE YOUR PATRONAGE sufficiently to SHOW you in a SUBSTANTIAL manner that they DESIRE YOUR TRADE and wish to ASSIST YOU REDUCE YOUR PERSONAL AND HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES.

A subscription to The Morning Journal given at this time will help some ambitious candidate, of your choosing, in the list to be found on another page, secure an award which MEANS MUCH TO HER. It will entitle you to an Aservo System Coupon Book, in accordance with the length of your subscription, by the use of which YOU MAY SAVE FROM $30 TO $100 A YEAR on your personal or household expenses. Select the candidate whom you wish to help and SEND IN YOUR SUBSCRIPTION AT ONCE. Or, if you prefer, give it to the candidate. Either way will BENEFIT YOU, as well as the candidate.

SPECIAL---One Week Only Double Points On Cash Slips

In order to give the ASERVO MERCHANTS, listed on this page, the benefit of as large an amount of cash buying during Christmas week as possible, DOUBLE POINTS WILL BE CREDITED TO CANDIDATES ON ALL CASH SLIPS FROM THE STORES LISTED OR THOSE THAT MAY BE INCLUDED DURING THE WEEK. ## WINTER A NECESSITY.

Albuquerque is white with snow, the second time this year, which is a bit unusual for this section. Yet the winter and fall have been warm, which is usual here. Cold weather is good for a country and the people who live in it. We need to feel the frost in our blood, now and then, and to walk in snow.

In his great speech against the annexation of the Philippines, former Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, said: "A banana and a good American citizen cannot be raised on the same quarter section."

Historically, the strong people always have lived in the temperate zones where the seasons are well defined. The civilizations of Egypt, Assyria and Persia were only great in comparison with the civilizations of other countries where the winters were warm and the summers long and hot. They gave way before the Greeks and the Romans who, in turn, yielded supremacy to the higher Teutons from the north.

But as one goes farther north and the winters become longer and the cold more intense, the inhabitants are enervated much as they are by the continued warmth of the tropics. Between the polar and the tropical circles live the people who have moved the world forward.

Few of us like frost and snow and shivery weather and cool hills, but it is best for us that we have them. Nature has written that truth large in the history of the human race. Also, we want the spring time with seedling time and its green things growing and its flowers blooming; we want the summer with its heat maturing the crops and the fall with its harvesting of the earth's response to the labor of man assisted by the sun and the rain.

All the seasons of the temperate zone are necessary to the best development of the human race. We have them in their most pleasant expression in New Mexico, where the seasons meet all the year around.

RESPECT FOR LAW.

The people of North Dakota are unusually law-abiding. In that state, if we mistake not, the largest amount of money per capita is spent for education. The population is made up largely from Germany, Sweden, Norway and Denmark. Among the states it boasts the largest per capita production of wealth and the smallest percentage of illiteracy. Yet North Dakota has just had a lynching.

The taking of a man who had just been sentenced to a life term in the penitentiary from jail and striding him up by the neck and riding his body with bullets was an explosion of unregulated democracy. It was a recall of a judicial decision, differing therefrom from the typical southern lynching, in which the mob takes the law in its own hands on the professed fear that the courts will not deal adequately with the case.

The courts had dealt with the North Dakota case, and the lynchers deliberately judged the courts, the governor, who recently had pardoned six men from the penitentiary after they had served only short portions of the sentences imposed upon them, and the law as well as the criminal. The penalty did not suit them, and they feared that a pardon would soon render it nugatory.

The lynching was an inexcusable crime. The people of Wisconsin had not the idea that their women are all the time in peril, the excuse in the south. If the governor has abused the pardoning power the remedy lies in the law. If laws now in force are inadequate, new ones can be placed on the statute books during the next session.

The fact is, the whole country is on a low plane in regard to submission to law. In that particular the country needs education. We are too prone to obey only those laws that suit us, criminal or civil, and flout those that are not to our individual liking. It is easy to predict the fate of a nation that does not take its own civilization seriously. But prediction is not cure.

Parents used to try to control their children by scolding them with honey and telling them that the "bad man" would get them if they were not good. Nowadays, wise parents try to instill good thoughts with words and good deeds, and something like this:

process must be gone through with among the grown up children who constitute our democracy. They must learn better things.

As the Journal has pointed out many times, reforms must begin on the inside. "Thou shalt not," unless backed by enlightened public sentiment, gets nowhere.

STUPID SUPERVISION.

Regulation of the railroads is just now one of the large questions before the people. Upon our arteries of commerce depend the prosperity of the people as upon no other one agency. There was a time when there was little attempt at regulation by the government. Now there is too much regulation because there cannot be, it appears, regulation with discrimination. It is a good deal like the bed made to fit the length of an ancient king who insisted that all his subjects should be as long as himself and no longer. Those who were shorter were stretched to his inches and those who were longer were lopped off.

Under the present rule (of regulation, "honestly" managed roads are not permitted to charge enough to make needed improvements because there are dishonest and inefficient managements of other roads clamoring for larger incomes. Because disaster has come to the Frisco and the New Haven, all other roads must suffer and through them the country must suffer.

In a steadily rising market of wages and materials, the government that compels, in effect, further increases of wages and better equipments denies the efficiently managed roads compensatory freight rates. As a result, railroads are reducing the number of their employees. The result is that thousands are being placed in positions where they cannot purchase the necessities of life.

President Edmund Pennington, of the "Bos" line, in an address a few days ago, said that the prosperity of the country for the next year depended upon the power of the railroads to command necessary equipment and make extensions.

President Howard Elliott, of the New Haven road, put the proposition even stronger in an address before the Lotus club of New York. He recalled Macaulay's grim prophecy of the decline and fall of democracy in America. Chairman Prouty, of the Interstate commerce commission, answered Mr. Elliott with a shot at the railroad management of the New Haven road under Mr. Mellen, the predecessor of Mr. Elliott. Mr. Prouty said in effect that the railroads could not increase rates until it had been made impossible for them to borrow or spend money recklessly, to the common harm of stockholders and the public.

Here comes the simile of the king's bed. If the railroad is too short in its finances it must be stretched, and if it is too long it must be lopped off. The government has assumed authority without accepting responsibility. It neither will let the roads manage themselves nor supervise them so effectively as to check waste by the few and grant decently fair earnings to the many.

Because the Rock Island and the Frisco were jobbed and the New Haven debauched, a zealous and well managed system must meet increased expenses with earnings unduly depressed by law.

If the government means to supervise, why does it not do so intelligently? As things are now managed, it is quite as responsible as the roads for the mismanagement and waste of the few and the financial impotence of the prudent and honest.

Spurred by the success of Mr. Bryan in securing agreements with Costa Rica and Bolivia not to attack this country without taking time to think it over, it is believed that Secretary Daniels soon will have the endorsement of his naval holiday policy by Switzerland.

A leading suffragist of Colorado predicts that within ten years there will be women in the cabinet. Wonder if the president then will be permitted to name his wife secretary of the treasury?

Cincinnati had a water famine recently from a broken main. When it threatened the breweries, indignation rose so high that the mains were repaired between midnight and daylight.

A "mysterious woman" is giving the police of Detroit much concern. Funny that the problem has only reached the police of that city at this late date.

We all have our little superstitions. It is said that President Wilson always carries the left hind foot of a graveyard rabbit in his right trouser pocket.

There is one fat man with white whiskers who is particularly popular at this time of the year.

Coughs That Prevent Sleep

These coughs are wearing and if they "hang on," can run one down physically and lower the vital resistance to disease. Mr. Bob Ferguson, 312 Pine St., Green Bay, Wis., writes: "I was greatly troubled with a bad cough that kept me awake nights. Two small bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cured me. This medicine is equally good for croup, whooping cough, measles cough and for the chronic coughs of elderly people. It is soothing and healing and stops tickling throat. For sale by Butts, Inc."

OIL IN THE PECOS VALLEY

(From Pecos Valley News, Artesia.)

OF THE SUBJECTS which must of necessity be treated fully and in detail in any issue of a newspaper which goes out to those who hope to have local and make their homes with us on the horizon to handle properly is one dealing with mineral development. Too often has the public been "floored" through some "rosy" looking gold mine or oil field. Millions of dollars have been put in places where not the slightest showing of mineral wealth was made, and many a man can look back with regret upon some plunge he made into the mining industry with a hope of getting rich quick. On the other hand, legitimate fields of mineral wealth have suffered from just such publicity as is given by fakers. For instance, oil fields which at shallow depths have shown indications of oil misrepresentations made by promoters to the outside world. It is our intention to deal fairly with the oil situation in the Pecos valley, and to state the facts as nearly as anyone who is on the outside, and who is not a technical expert, can describe what is happening in the Pecos valley oil field today.

The beginning of the Pecos valley oil field is lost to local history. As nearly as can be learned outcroppings of oil sand or oil rock were found west of Lakewood years and years ago, by people who did not know what it was. The story of the rock that would burn with fierce heat was thought by many to be a mere wind story, like the local gossip which every community has down from one generation to another, and the actual instances related may be in part mere rumors, but the facts are that oil sand outcroppings have been located southwest of Artesia, and there is oil in the rock. From the location of this outcropping and the oil in it, it is not improbable that some pioneer built his fire around a chunk of it some chilly night and that the rock burned.

The first intimation of oil underlying the Artesian basin came from a young oil expert several years ago, who came to Artesia seeking health. He found traces of oil on the water from some of the Artesian wells. The same thing had been noticed before but no one paid any attention to it. This man said that the immense reservoir could be taken away and oil streams might be located which would pay good returns. He never recovered his health, but returned to his home in the east, where he died, and today it is impossible to even learn his name. We didn't think much of this oil in those days.

Oil, real oil, was first located, or thought to be located, in a well southwest of Artesia, which was shot with a heavy charge of nitroglycerine six or seven years ago, but no oil in any quantity resulted from the shot. Then the Giant Oil & Gas company collected cash on stock up and down the country to prospect the Hammond well, south of Artesia. They got oil, some little of it flowed out with the water, but the only way to get any amount to anything was to pump. This is the Brown well, which, after passing through many hands, finally became the property of a company of local capitalists, backed and aided by Judge Lovelock, of Houston.

The history of the well is the reliable history of the oil in the Pecos valley. Other wells have given forth oil and gas, but this is the only well which has been steadily pumped for any length of time, and it has not always been steady in its production.

After the Lovelock syndicate took charge of this well every effort was made to see what could be done with pumping. Sometimes it pumped good and sometimes it didn't pump at all. One day it pumped a little better than twenty-five barrels of oil in twelve hours, and a week later the machinery was shifted in some manner and it wasn't producing a drop. Why? Well, if the drillers could tell you why, they would be pumping every day in the week. The pump runs twenty-four hours a day and at the time this article is being written, December 6, the well is flowing a good stream of oil, and has been for the past seven days. The tanks are full and the oil is being run off into a dirt tank constructed when the oil was first brought from the well. Whether or not the men in charge have located the real strata and put the pump on it or not, we are unable to say. If they have, the oil will continue to come out. If they haven't, it will stop again.

All of this pumping is done at a depth of from 500 to 525 feet, for the deeper strata has never been sought in the Pecos valley oil field. It is believed that the men who are now most active in developing the field intend to develop a number of pumps which will eventually pay the cost of putting down a deep hole to where the big oil pool lies, if it is there. They have suffered many discouragements, due mainly to the unreliable reports which have been circulated about the field. On one occasion the Associated Press newspaper carried dispatches from Artesia that one company had a well flowing, without pump, thirty barrels a day, another well flowing fifty barrels per day, and would soon have in operation a third well which was expected to produce 150 barrels per day. The story was a barefaced lie from beginning to end. There has never been a well in the district producing oil without pumping. It would be unreasonable to suppose that a field of gushers would be found at the shallow depth in which the Artesian water is found. But these stories attracted the attention of capital in the north and east. Men investigated, found that such stories were untrue, and went away.

Today the company controlling the Brown well is drilling other wells for oil in the same neighborhood. At least they are spending money in this country and backing their faith in the field. Briefly stated, the oil companies interested are the Bell Petroleum company, owning a well west of Dayton, which flows two or three barrels of oil with water each day; the Hartford, Conn., people, who are developing on several thousand acres of lease near Carlsbad; the Pecos people, of England, who have filed and are doing assessment work on 20,000 acres southwest of Artesia, a company financed by Senator Anderson and his friends, which will develop on a large tract near Carlsbad; the Seven Rivers company, which has a large tract leased near Lakewood and is starting on a well.

Hardly a day passes but oil men come to the Pecos valley, but in the vast majority of cases they are people who do not wish to take a chance. They want the oil before they invest. Many of them haven't anything to invest, but are the coyotes of speculation, who follow where the excitement leads and feed upon the crumbs which are overlooked. The less we have of them the better. Occasionally some man comes here who really means business, and he receives all the aid the people of the valley can give him.

What do we think of it? We think there is oil underlying the Pecos valley. It may be found next month or it may be found ten years from now. There must be some pool from which the Brown well draws its supply, and from which the seepage in other wells escapes. The oil sand outcroppings west of Artesia must lead to somewhere, but it will take money to drill a hole deep enough to settle the question once and for all. There isn't much gamble to the oil situation in the Pecos valley. A man who would like oil may purchase a farm in the heart of the oil district, go ahead and make a good living through honest work all of his life, without ever becoming a millionaire, or on the other hand, the same farming land may produce oil some day. But it isn't a gamble. The land is worth the price to start with.

HEARST ACQUIRES GRANDVIEW HOTEL AT THE CANYON

Multi-Millionaire Newspaper Publisher Purchases Magnificent Scenic Resort for $35,000.

 Flagstaff, Ariz., Dec. 21.—William Randolph Hearst is recorded now as the owner of the P. D. Berry homestead and hotel at Grandview, located fourteen miles west of the El Tovar hotel, at the Grand Canyon. The Berry hotel was one of the first hotel sites at the Grand Canyon and used to be the end of the stage line from Flagstaff to Grand Canyon in the old days before the railroad was built in from Williams.

The trail from that point down into the canyon was the old original stage trail. This is still a mile and a half from the rim owned by the Page people, or whoever purchased the last Grand Canyon midway down in the Grand Canyon and it is understood that a deal is on and practically consummated between the present owners and Mr. Hearst. The purchase price of the Berry place is given in the deed at $35,000.

This purchase by the multi-millionaire who has visited this section repeatedly in the past few years, gives rise to many conjectures as to the purchase of the Berry homestead.

This section of the canyon is undoubtedly the most wonderful of all. The intersection of the Little Colorado river with the main river in the great gorge; the Painted Desert lying off to the east, with an open gateway to the wonderland lying off to the northwest in the Indian country where the Great Natural Bridge, Canyon de Chelly and other scenes which few white people have ever visited, naturally convince the casual observer that the project is more than one of securing a home on the brink of the canyon.

From Flagstaff north and east is the one feasible route for a railroad, electric line or even a reliable auto line that would provide the thousands of tourists that are now coming to this section, with a most perfect outlet to the real pleasure and sight-seeing grounds of America.

Flagstaff and this practically unknown wonderland has needed some one with unlimited means to make it the most sought land in the whole west, and with William Randolph Hearst securing this special advantage point between the main line, the Grand Canyon and the wonders beyond it, it would seem that a realization of pioneer hopes had come at last.

Aside from the wonders of this country, which many a tourist has come all the way from Europe to see, there are possibilities of water power that would supply all of Arizona with power as well as parts of Colorado and Utah. Whether this is a part of the idea or not it is impossible to tell, but it is safe to say that Flagstaff cannot help being benefited by the project now in the minds of the purchaser of the only site available on the rim of the Grand Canyon, and the only one which the government of the United States has granted patents for.

ALAMOGORDO MAY JOIN RANKS OF DRY TOWNS

With but a Single Thirst-Quenching Emporium, an Almost Prohibitive License May Force This One to Close

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.
 Alamogordo, N. M., Dec. 21.—Alamogordo, which has always had but one saloon, is now facing a probability—grave for some, interesting for others—of having that single and well known life saving station closed up. It will cater to the thirsty public for a few weeks yet, but after a certain date, as yet not definite, it may close its doors; in which case it is believed by many of the people here that Alamogordo will then be a dry town.

After taking over the management of the Alamogordo Improvement company's interests here, Col. W. H. Eldson, the new manager, investigated the town license which the saloon was paying and also checked up the business done there, and it appeared to him that the license was exorbitant—at least out of proportion to the business being done. The license demanded and paid for the first year of the town's incorporation, as fixed by the town board, is $1,800 per annum. A check of the business done showed that after paying this license and the other expenses of operating the saloon, a miserably meagre profit was shown for the year's work. While he is willing to do what he considers as fair, Mr. Eldson thinks a larger remuneration should be banked or the business and he made the town board a proposition to pay them $1,000 per annum as a license, and consented at the same time to continue paying his occupation tax for his various companies, amounting to something over $50 per annum, as well as a very large sprinkling tax. The town board must a few days ago and after a brief consideration of Mr. Eldson's proposition, tabled it unanimously, thereby standing for the saloon license of $1,800 per annum. Mr. Eldson being absent from the city at the time the town board took this action, he could not be interviewed as to what his plans would be in the future with reference to operating the business, but Mr. Guy Watt, the cashier of the company, was inclined to believe that after the stock of wet goods on hand had been sold, the business would be closed up.

Within the townsite of Alamogordo on only one lot, that now being occupied by the saloon, can the business of dispensing ardent liquors be carried on. All other lots have been sold, and are being sold, with a positive prohibition against the sale or manufacture of intoxicating liquors, either as a beverage or for medicine, thereon. In 1903, when the incorporation of the saloon here was in the hands of Henry Pfaff, of El Paso, the business was such as to make other would-be saloonists green with envy; in fact, it is said, the rattle of the dollars on the mahogany sounded like a xylophone solo. Wanting to get in on this wealth, Honck & Dieter, of El Paso, endeavored to open a saloon in a building belonging to Otto Olsen. Injunction proceedings were immediately instituted before Judge Parker at Las Cruces by the improvement company, and later several residents of the place, beside school district No. 1, intervened and asked to be made parties plaintiff in the action. One saloon was all the people wanted. Public opinion became so intense, the parties who had endeavored to kick against the price, refrained from further proceedings in court and a decree pro confesso was entered up against them and in favor of the improvement company and allied plaintiffs on February 3, 1905, by Judge Edward A. Martin, now of Albuquerque, who was at that time the presiding judge of the then, new Sixth judicial district court.

In the fall of 1910, during the administration of the first town incorporation, with Judge Byron Sherry as mayor, the town council fixed the license of the saloon here at $3,000. The saloon was closed when it refused to pay this tax, and a little later it was opened by the late Harvey Davidson, who committed suicide here last week, and on a habes corpus hearing before Judge M. C. Mechem, acting because of the illness of the late Judge Alfred W. Cooley, the license was declared to be exorbitant. As a consequence the town received no revenue from this quarter and a short time thereafter, by a strong vote of the residents, Alamogordo became an unincorporated settlement.

The present town board believes that the saloon will not close; that the business warrants the license assessed against it, and that in case it does, the prohibitory clause in the deeds of the company can be beaten in a legal hearing and that saloons can be opened on any lot within the town limits.

Another proposition has been discussed by some of the citizens to the effect that a company be formed for the purpose of renting the present saloon site and business at $100 per month, and after paying the expenses of its operation, turn into the town treasury all the balance for the benefit of the town, no license, under this arrangement, being collected from the business.

At the present time neither the improvement company nor the town trustees are saying much. It is a game of wait, with the possibilities of a spirited hyacinth in the near future and the probability of a local option election which will win in a walk.

Testimonial From High Authority

Mrs. Betty Lyler Wilson (of Nashville, Tenn.)

Mrs. Wilson of Nashville, Tenn., is famed the world over for her wonderfully delicious cakes. They are shipped to all parts of the globe for special affairs where the best of cakes are demanded.

This year, as in former years, Mrs. Wilson enjoys the distinction of making the President's Christmas Cake, using Calumet Baking Powder.

Mrs. Wilson's Baking Motto is: "To have complete success with no failures, care should be used in selection of Baking Powder."

Famous For Her Cakes Recommends CALUMET BAKING POWDER

Some little time ago I made a careful study and investigation of the baking powder subject and I feel fully repaid. I am firmly convinced from the results I have received that there is no baking powder so equal Calumet for wholesomeness and economy, and I also recommend Calumet Baking Powder for its never failing results.

December 9, 1913. Mrs. Betty Lyler Wilson.
 Calumet also received the Highest Awards at the World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago and Paris, France, 1912.

Buy a can of Calumet Baking Powder at once, and use it in your Holiday Baking, making your Christmas Cakes as good as the President's.

LAWYER WHO TOOK POISON SHOWS NO IMPROVEMENT

Henry G. Brandon Passes Restless Night at Hospital Following Operation Performed to Save His Life.

The condition of Henry G. Brandon, of Indianapolis, Ind., the passenger on the eastbound limited, who took poison last Friday night, and who now is in St. Joseph's hospital, last night was reported by Dr. W. H.
Loveless to be unchanged.

Although Brandon appeared to have recovered from the operation performed last Saturday afternoon, he was very restless Saturday night.
He is said to have suffered from insomnia previously, however, and this condition Saturday night was not necessarily an indication that he is recovering from the poison.

No indication of improvement was apparent yesterday, and his general condition was not as favorable to recovery as it was last Saturday. The operation on the kidneys, performed to relieve congestion, however, was successful and no symptoms of the mercury's having affected those organs were observed yesterday.

Mr. Brandon has been at the hospital all the time since he was taken from the train here, Brandon's parents are expected to arrive here tonight in answer to a telegram sent them by one of his traveling companions.

There is no doubt that Brandon took bicarbonate of mercury as he told the train crew he did. Marked symptoms of this form of poisoning are shown plainly by his condition, according to physicians who have examined him.

HAROLD BELL WRIGHT MAN WITH A SPECIAL MESSAGE TO HUMANITY

Harold Bell Wright, who is said to be the most popular of younger American novelists, with the assistance of Elsie W. Reynolds, has made a dramatization of his most widely read novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills." Its initial production in this city will take place at the Elks theater, matinee and night, December 25.

Mr. Wright is a man with a mission and a message—he is a story teller, and when the story ends we begin a better life "along the sunlit fields . . . where the light fingers even when the sun is down."

We start this journey of "The Shepherd of the Hills" because the gifted writer puts into our hearts the benediction of a renewed faith in men and women, a vital love for truth and beauty, and a deathless hope in the good outcome among the mystic brooding where our Pilgrim-way meets horizon shadows. He calls his story a very old story. This is true, indeed, for have not Good and Bad been in ceaseless conflict since the dawn of human life? Have not toil and love gathered their blossoms and fruit since the time when men and women first learned to weep and sing? The story is old if we come with the portrayal of the elemental and eternal forces of our human world; but it is new—wonderfully fresh and sweet with the morning light and dew of virgin hills and valleys—for these are long forces of the soul find expression in the characters to whom we have never been introduced until now. Yet these people of the Ozarks are real flesh-and-blood folk; some, it is true, reach the heroic; still we feel in them the thrill of kinship to all who live outside their almost enchanted land.

Here is a play worth seeing in this day of multitudinous and insipid drama. Here is a plot. The movement is ever onward—there are no retrograde and meaningless eddies in this stream of happenings. The current of events seizes you and takes you on and on, and when the end comes you are glad and sorrowful kind because so good a play ends as it does sorrowful because it ends so soon.

POLICE JUDGE CRAIG WILL PASS SENTENCE ON WOULD-BE THIEF

Police Judge George B. Craig will sentence Juan Vigil this morning. Vigil, who said his home is at Santa Fe, last Saturday morning pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to rob Patrian Jose L. Salazar's chicken house. The patrolman's son, hearing the noise in the coop, chased Vigil, overtook him and brought him downtown, where he delivered him to his father.

LEONARDO HUNICK IS FOREMAN OF CONVICT GANG TEMPORARILY

Warden John B. McManus, of the state penitentiary, came down from Santa Fe last night to place Leonardo Hunick, county road foreman in charge of the convict road gang now working north of Old Albuquerque. J. B. Wood, foreman of the convicts, left last night for Arkansas City, Kan., having received a telegram that his daughter was desperately ill and would undergo an operation.

The first duty the councilmen probably will ask the committee to do them is the determination of public sentiment toward municipal ownership. This undoubtedly will take some time.

Mayor Sellers will call a joint meeting of the council and advisory committee, special aid to the administration in handling the waterworks question, some time between Christmas and New Year's day, he said yesterday. To call the meeting before Wednesday would almost insure lack of a quorum, since the majority of the aldermen and committee men could not leave their business before that time.

LONE STAR MINE IN ATTRACTIVE PRIZES BLAND DISTRICT TO BE OPENED FOR WINNERS IN POULTRY SHOW

Cossak Mining Company Acquires Navajo and Cochiti Properties; Believe Cyanide Process Will Make Ore Pay.

The Cossak Mining company, organized nearly a year ago, will reopen the Lone Star Gold and Silver mine of the old Navajo Mining company's group in the Bland district.

The company will erect a 100-ton apertur mill at the mine. A. J. En-derwood, of Los Angeles, a mining engineer, is here to supervise the installation of the machinery. W. H.
Brevort, of New York, one of the most extensively interested members of the Cossak company, and Mr.
Underwood, recently ordered the machinery for the mill in Denver, and the first shipment will reach Doña-Ana, the shipping point for the Bland district, twenty-five miles northwest of that station, about January 15, according to Mr. Underwood.

Excavation already has been begun at the Lone Star. Mr. Underwood started this work last Saturday, and came to Albuquerque Saturday night to employ workmen. He will remain at Bland for several months, until the construction is finished. The building of the mill will progress slowly owing to the fact that parts of the machinery must be placed before it is completed.

The machinery will be shipped from Denver to Doña Ana and transported from that point to Bland, in wagons.
The road is good, Mr. Underwood said last night at the Alvarado hotel. He went from the Lone Star mine to Doña Ana in two hours Saturday afternoon, traveling in an automobile.

The Bland-Doña Ana road is the only outlet for the products of the mine, but owing to the fact that it will be shipped as bullion, makes its transportation to Doña Ana easy.

The Cossak company had taken over the Cochiti property as well as the Navajo company's holdings, but only the Lone Star mine is to be reopened at present. Other mines may be reopened later. This depends upon the success of the Lone Star.

The operation of the Lone Star by the Navajo company was stopped twelve years ago. Mr. Underwood believes, however, that recent improvements in the cyanide process of refining will make the operation of the Lone Star profitable. The ore is low grade and probably could not be made to pay with any other than modern methods.

Mr. Underwood said that an examination of the mine had been made recently and that the company believed that with modern methods, the Lone Star would show a profit.

RAILWAY SHOPS ARE CLOSED UNTIL JANUARY 2

Only Few Employees Kept at Work in Roundhouse and Car Repair Department; Lay-Off Short, Says Official

With the exception of the roundhouse and car repair shop, all departments at the Santa Fe railway shops have practically suspended work until January 2.

Nearly all employees, with the exception of those in the roundhouse and car repair shops, were notified last Saturday night that no work would be done during the holidays.
Only a few men were kept at work in the roundhouse and car shops, where they are necessary.

W. A. George, superintendent, said yesterday that the men would go back to work January 2.

SANTA CLAUS WEATHER STRIKES ALBUQUERQUE ON SHORTEST DAY OF YEAR

Albuquerque is getting ready for Santa Claus in more ways than one.
A special consignment of snow was received yesterday, and with it the kind of weather to make it stick, so that the jolly old saint will have no trouble getting over the house-top with his sleigh and reindeer.

According to the weather man, who ought to know if anybody does, there is a half inch of the fluffy white stuff fell yesterday, which makes it the deepest snow of the winter. As soon as the fall stopped a decided drop in the temperature took place, with the result that freezing weather set in and the kids, with their sleds and snowballs, had the most glorious afternoon of the season.

Any, by the way, although you may not notice it today will be lower than yesterday and, and tomorrow will be longer than today. Sunday marked the winter solstice, the shortest day of the year. Pretty soon we will all be looking forward to spring and the opening of the baseball season.

Yesterday's snow was general over a large part of the state.
