BANKING SYSTEM OF COUNTRY IS REVOLUTIONIZED BY PROVISIONS OF NEW CURRENCY LAW

REFORM MEASURE TO BE PUT IN EFFECT BY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WHO ARE DESIGNATED BY ACT

Many Changes Made From Original Draft of Glass-Owen Bill and Senate Amendment Providing for Guarantee Fund is Eliminated and Reserve Features Are Incorporated to Guard Against Undue Inflation or Using Funds for Promotion of Stock Jobbing and Other Purely Speculative Interests; Secretary of Treasury and Comptroller Ex-Officio Members of Central Board, Five Others to Be Named by President.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The new bill affecting the currency, banking and finance of the country which both branches of congress prepared to pass before adjournment tonight after which it will go to President Wilson for his signature, is one of the most far-reaching measures relative to finance that has been enacted in many years. The magnitude of the subject, the diversity of interests affected and the length of the debates in both branches of congress have made it difficult for the ordinary observer to follow the changes and grasp the essentials of this highly technical measure in its important bearings on finance, banking and the entire range of financial subjects, public and private, which it affects. With a view, therefore, of presenting accurately and in non-technical language, an outline of the salient features of the measure as finally framed, the following summary is given of the bill as a whole and of its principal details.

Generally speaking, the first steps to be taken to bring into operation the nation's new financial system will be through an organization committee consisting of the secretary of the treasury, secretary of agriculture and comptroller of the currency. Banks have sixty days within which to file their applications for membership in the new system and one year's time is allowed before the government will compel the dissolution of any national bank that refuses to join.

The new law will make little direct change in the operation of the present national banks, except to allow them to loan a certain amount of their funds upon farm mortgages. Its chief purpose is to add a new piece of machinery to the banking system that will take up the "slack" during the changing business conditions of each year; that will give the banks a place to quickly convert their assets into cash in time of need and that will bring out new federal currency when it is needed and retire it when money becomes "cheap."

Banks are now required to keep a certain percentage of their deposits as "reserves," part in cash in their own vaults and part of which may be redeposited in the banks of New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other designated cities, in times of sudden financial demands, when banks have loaned up to the full limit of their resources, these reserves furnish little relief, because if they are paid out to meet demands, the banks are left in a precarious condition.

The basic principle of the new law is to get these reserve funds into circulation when necessary without lessening the safety of any bank; and to provide a place to which local banks may rush in a crisis and get cash for the "prime commercial paper" they hold in their vaults.

This is to be accomplished through a chain of regional reserve banks or "reservoirs of reserves," in which all banks shall deposit a stated part of the money they are required to hold as reserves. Under the new system when a financial flurry comes the banks can take commercial paper, such as notes, drafts and bills of exchange to these "reservoirs" and secure the use of their own reserves or if necessary even the reserve of other banks by depositing this security.

The new regional banks will receive about one-half of the bank reserves of the country. They, in turn will be permitted to loan back to the banks all but 25 per cent of these reserves, so that in case of emergency, millions of cash can be brought out into circulation quickly.

The banks will have to pay for these loans, however, as individuals would have to pay for a loan from any local bank; and this change is expected to prevent the too-free use of the reserves held by the regional banks.

A new form of paper currency is also provided for to come out in case of emergency and which is expected to be put back into the hands of the government when times are normal. These "treasury notes" will be printed by the government and issued through each regional reserve bank and will bear the guarantee both of the regional bank and the government. If the demand for currency in any section of the country exceeds the supply of circulating money, a regional bank can secure this new money from the government and put it into circulation; but a gold reserve of 40 per cent and commercial paper equal to the full value of the note must be held as a reserve behind each note so issued. This provision is expected to be the influence that will drive the new money back into retirement when it is no longer needed.

The following analysis presents the details of the new law without adhering to the technical division or language of the measure. At the head of the system will stand a federal reserve board at Washington, appointed by the president, composed of the secretary of the treasury, the comptroller of the currency and five other members. Two of these shall be expert bankers but none shall have banking affiliations or own bank stock during their service. This board will exercise general control over the entire system.

The temporary "organization committee," or the federal reserve board, will select from eight to twelve cities where regional reserve banks shall be located, and will divide the entire country geographically with these cities as the centers of districts. The national banks in a district will be required to subscribe for the stock of the regional reserve bank in that district and to keep a portion of their reserves there.

Local banks will be known as "member banks," because they will own the stock of the regional reserve bank of their district. Each member bank will be required to take capital stock of the regional reserve bank equal to 6 per cent of the member bank's capital and surplus. The capital of the regional bank will increase or decrease so that it always represents 6 per cent of the combined capital and surplus of all the banks of the district that have joined the system.

National banks are compelled to join and state banks are permitted to, if they bring their reserve requirements up to the standard set for national banks and submit to national examinations.

Public ownership of the stock of the regional reserve banks is permitted only in case enough banks do not join in any district to provide a capital stock of $4,000,000. In such event the public may purchase the stock in quantities limited to $25,000 for each individual, but the voting of this stock will be placed in the hands of government representatives on the board of directors of the regional reserve bank.

The regional reserve banks may do business only with their member banks, not with the public, except that certain "open market operations" such as the purchase and sale of gold, government or municipal bonds and certain forms of bills of exchange are permitted. These banks will make their earnings from the loans to member banks and from the purchase and sale of bonds and foreign bills of exchange.

Member banks will be compelled to put up in cash only one-half of their subscription to the capital of the new banks; the remainder can be called for if needed by the regional banks. Dividends of six per cent will be paid on this stock to member banks and this stock will be non-taxable. After these dividends are paid one-half of the surplus net earnings goes to create a regional surplus fund and when this has reached forty per cent of the regional banks' paid-in capital, these earnings are to go into the United States treasury. The balance of the net earnings are to be paid to the United States as a franchise tax.

With the machinery thus created for a new banking system that is supplementary to the commercial banks of the country, the law provides for a gradual transfer of part of the bank reserves to these new "reservoir" banks. In order not to disturb business conditions or to withdraw suddenly the heavy deposits of country banks in the large cities the law provides that three years may be consumed in shifting these balances and that if necessary, part of the reserves transferred to the regional banks may consist of commercial paper. The amount of reserve required from every bank under the new law and the place where it must be kept are as follows:

Country banks: Total reserves required, 12 per cent of demand deposits and five per cent of time deposits. Five-twelfths must be kept in the bank's vaults for the first year and two-twelfths after that time. For the first year two-twelfths must be kept in the regional reserve bank, increasing one-twelfth each six months thereafter until it reaches five-twelfths of the total reserve. For three years the unaltered part of the reserve may be kept in the banks of reserve cities.

Reserve city banks: Total reserve required, fifteen per cent of demand and five per cent of time deposits. Six-fifteenths must be kept in the bank's vaults for the first two years and after that time five-fifteenths. Three-fifteenths must be kept in the regional reserve bank for the first year, increasing one-fifteenth every six months thereafter until it reaches six-fifteenths. For three years the unaltered portion of the reserve may be kept in other banks, in its own vaults or regional banks; after that time in one of the latter two places.

Central reserve city banks (New York, Chicago and St. Louis): Total reserve required, eighteen per cent of demand and five per cent of time deposits. Six-eightieths must be kept in the bank's own vaults; seven-eighths in the regional reserve banks and five-eighths in either place the bank may choose.

These immense funds of reserves form "member banks," together with government money will make up the deposits of the regional reserve banks. Each of these banks will be administered by a board of nine directors, six of whom will be elected by the banks and three appointed by the federal reserve board.

The regional banks may rediscount—that is, buy at a discount from its member banks—"prime commercial paper" when the member banks desire to convert these assets into money. The exact terms of this important provision as to the character of paper upon which the regional reserve banks may furnish cash are as follows:

"Upon the endorsement of any of any of its member banks with a waiver of its demand notice and protest by such bank, any federal (regional) reserve bank may discount notes, drafts and bills of exchange arising out of actual commercial transactions; that is, notes, drafts and bills of exchange issued or drawn for mercantile, industrial or commercial purposes or the proceeds of which have been used for such purposes, the federal reserve board to have the right to determine or define the character of the paper thus eligible for discount within the meaning of the act."

Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to prohibit such notes, drafts and bills of exchange, secured by staple agricultural products, or to other goods, wares or merchandise (Continued on Page Two.)

PROHIBITIONISTS MEMORIALIZE PRESIDENT

Demand Made That Chief Executive Shall Favor Amendment to Constitution Making Country Dry.

Columbus, O., Dec. 22.—President Wilson was memorialized today to ask congress to submit a constitutional amendment looking to the abolition of the liquor traffic in the United States at large. The memorial was signed by a special committee of twenty-five named at the great anti-saloon demonstration which took place on the steps of the capitol in Washington on December 10, and which was an outgrowth of the national convention of the anti-saloon league of America and other temperance forces, held in Columbus November 10-14.

President Wilson was unable to receive the special committee upon the occasion of the Washington demonstration and the memorial sent to the White House today was issued in lieu of a personal hearing. It asserts in effect that nationwide prohibition would be only an advanced step in the application of the declarations of the Baltimore platform upon which President Wilson was elected.

The memorial quotes the section of the democratic national platform of 1912 regarding the conservation of natural resources of the country and contains: "We believe that men, women and children should be included with the forests, sources of water supply, arable and mineral lands and navigable streams as objects of national protection to prevent their being wasted or absorbed by special or privileged interests such as the extant organized government co-partnered liquor traffic of the United States."

Concluding, the memorial says: "The party which you have the honor to lead offers its platform of 1912 as the pledge of justice to the people and upon that pledge we plant our appeal for the right to have this most vital issue passed upon by the people and their legislators through the states and at the earliest practicable opportunity."

CURRENCY BILL IS PASSED IN HOUSE AMID GREAT APPLAUSE

Thirty-six Republicans and Thirteen Progressives Vote for Measure, While Two Democrats Oppose.

REPRESENTATIVE GLASS
LEADS SHARP DEBATE

Minority Floor Leader Mann Paints Dire Picture of Distress and Says Inflation Was a Necessity.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The house adopted the conference report on the administration currency bill at 10:45 o'clock tonight, by a vote of 293 to 66, and sent the report to the senate, which had waited in session to receive it before adjournment for the night.

Profuse and uproarious cheers from the democrats greeted the announcement of the vote by Speaker Clark, and many members of the house hastened over to the senate to see the report received there.

Earlier in the evening the senate had agreed to vote not later than 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and the leaders regarded it as certain that the completed bill would be in the hands of President Wilson for his signature before tomorrow night.

On the final vote, thirty-six republicans, thirteen progressives and one independent, Kent of California, voted with the majority for the report and two democrats, Callaway of Texas, and Witherspoon of Mississippi, joined the opposition.

The vote followed a debate of nearly three hours, during which the galleries remained crowded with spectators, including many prominent figures in official life.

Republicans who voted for the report followed: Burton, Borah, (S. D.), Cramer, Cranton, Curry, Davis, Dillon, Egan, Fair, Fessenden, Hansen, Helgeson, Kelly (Mich.), Kloss, Kinkaid (Nebr.), La Follette, Lusk, Lindquist, Miller, Munn (West Va.), Nelson, Nolan, Norcross, Smead, J. M. C. Smith, (Mich.), Samuel Smith (Mich.), Smith (Maine), Stafford, Stevens (Maine), Sutherland, Treadway, Young, (N. D.), Munnahan, Mapes, Stephens (Calif.), 26.

Progressives who voted for the report: Bell (Calif.), Bryan (Wash.), Chandler, Fairclough, Huddins, Kelly (Penn.), Lafferty, Mullock, Temple, Woodruff, 12.

After the announcement of the vote a joint resolution proposed by Majority Leader Underwood that the house recess upon adjournment tomorrow until January 12, was adopted. The report will be taken up by the senate tomorrow. The house then adjourned until 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Senator Owen announced that a separate bill to provide for guaranty of bank deposits would be considered in the near future. This has been introduced by Chairman Glass of the house banking committee.

Representative Glass appeared in the house with the conference report just before 6 o'clock and as the clerk began reading there was a rush for the lunch rooms. An hour was required for the formal reading and it was understood that there would be about two hours of debate before the final vote.

In the meantime, Senator Owen had presented the agreement of the conferees to the senate and that body, ordering the report printed, recessed until 9 o'clock, to await action by the house. The senate leaders hoped to hear from the house soon after reconvening and were prepared to hurry action on their side so as to send the completed bill to the president before midnight.

General debate on the report began in the house at 7:30 o'clock. It was agreed to discuss the measure for two hours and forty minutes, an hour and twenty minutes for the democrats, an hour for republicans, and twenty minutes for the progressives.

Opening the discussion, Representative Glass said the conference had reported the original house bill back "without one single fundamental alteration."

Mr. Glass went over the conference report in detail and defended the new provisions of the bill which had been assailed by bankers and members of the senate.

Representative Hayes of California, minority member of the house conference committee, criticized the failure of the senate and the conference to remove the provision which makes the government of the United States primarily responsible for the notes it proposes to issue to the regional reserve banks.

because he believed it an improvement of both senate and house bills. "Under this bill," he said, "the reserves in Wall street can no longer be used in stock speculation, but must be used to meet the commercial needs of the country."

Representative Moore of Pennsylvania, characterized the bill as "a travesty upon democracy's so-called popularity," and a confession of dictatorialism.

Representative Gurnsey of Maine, republican, said he opposed to the bill chiefly because the reserve board would be controlled by partisan interests.

Representative Burgess of South Carolina, Herlin of Alabama, and A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, democrats, supported the report in enthusiastic addresses.

Announcing that he would vote for the conference report Victor Murdock, progressive leader in the house, insisted the democrats had acted too hastily and struck only "a half blow" at special interests.

"In the last eight months," said Mr. Murdock, "I have seen the mental attitude of democratic leaders change from a desire to serve the public to an attitude of trying to avert national disaster. There is no panic in this country yet. There are no hard times yet, but the special interests of the country have been spreading the poison of pessimism all over this country."

Representative Lindbergh, of Minnesota, progressive, assailed the conference report on the ground it eventually would increase rather than decrease the cost of living. The vital defect of the measure, he said, was that it did not give the federal reserve board the right to fix rates of interest to be charged by the bankers to the borrowers of the country.

Representatives Kahn, of California, and Platt, of New York, republicans, criticized the report declaring it would prove a disappointment to the nation.

Much of the discussion concerned the elimination by the conferees of bank deposits. Representative Glass declared the senate provision would have defeated any real guaranty of bank deposits and intimated that further legislation on this might be undertaken. He said that such a guaranty of deposits ought to place the tax on the banks and not on the government.

Representative Temple, progressive, of Pennsylvania, announced that, although he voted against the house bill, he would support the conference report because he believed it a great improvement over the original measure.

Majority Leader Underwood, as the debate neared a conclusion, was given a great ovation when he rose to speak. He congratulated the house and senate and the banking and currency committee "on accomplishing a result that many congresses and many committees have attempted in twenty years and failed."

Mr. Underwood referred to the talk of a money trust and said that one of the great reforms under the bill is the taking of the reserves out of the reserve centers and scattering them through the regional reserve banks under governmental supervision. He said he had a firm conviction that the great banking interests would accept the bill and that it would be a boon to the people.

Minority Leader Mann closed the debate for the republicans, declaring that democratic control of the nation's currency "had cost its millionaires more than two great countries."

"Mexico," he said, "lies prostrate, bleeding, and America lies prostrate, its men out of employment and its factories closed."

As a remedy for this, he said, the democrats proposed to inflate the currency and he predicted it would return to the house "an unwieldy republican majority next November."

PLEAS OF NOT GUILTY

Walsenburg, Colo., Dec. 22.—The ten men charged with the murder of the four guards at La Veta on the afternoon of November 8, at their arraignment before Justice of the Peace W. C. Hunt, entered a plea of not guilty.

The plea of the men promises to make the trial one of the most spectacular in the history of labor conflicts. Then ten men are Sam DeJohn, Charles Shepard, Frank Krupa, Ed Rich, Dan, Edward and Charles Richards, George Zember, Martin Markinovich and John Flockhart.

The preliminary hearing was set for December 27.

MOUNTAIN STATES CO. GRABBING MONTANA

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Butte, Mont., Dec. 22.—Alleging that the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Co., through its subsidiary, the Corporation Securities Investment company of Denver, has secured control of the Interstate Consolidated Telephone company and all its subsidiaries and is endeavoring to suppress competition of the Interstate company in Montana by destroying its business, P. H. Moss of Butte, a stockholder of the Interstate company, started suit today in the district court against the Interstate company and its subsidiaries, the Corporation Securities Investment company, Thaddeus E. Lane of Spokane, John Macdonald of Butte, John P. Davies of Spokane and H. R. Riley of Butte, demanding that a receiver be appointed for the Interstate company and its subsidiaries. The persons named are Interstate Telephone directors.

Mr. Moss also asks that the defendants be enjoined from voting any of the stock of the Interstate company and its subsidiaries held by the Mountain States or Consolidated Securities companies at any stockholders' meetings and also for a temporary injunction restraining the defendants from in any manner interfering with or conducting the affairs of the Interstate company.

Hearing on the injunction and receivership has been set for January 5.

QUARANTINE AGAINST FOREIGN POTATOES

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Washington, Dec. 22.—Secretary Houston today issued an order continuing the quarantine put temporarily into effect September 20 last, forbidding potato importations from the British Isles, Canada and all continental Europe. This action was modified, however, by a second order for any order which the quarantine may be raised under proper regulation and inspection from foreign countries or districts which can show that they are free from late blight and powdery mildew. The first becomes effective December 31, but will admit until January 15, 1914, potatoes covered by consular invoices issued on or before Wednesday next. The second becomes effective January 15, next.

In the case of certain provinces in Canada and certain countries and districts of Europe, the officials here believe the absolute prohibition can be lifted in time to allow the movement of the present year's crop under regulation and inspection, which under the secretary's order, is similar to that for nursery stock.

DEATH OF LAWYER REVEALS STRANGE DUAL LIFE

New York State Attorney Lived With Woman Occupying Secret Room Adjoining Offices; Also Had Wife.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Monticello, N. Y., Dec. 22.—Adelaide M. Brance, the woman who had lived for three years in a secret room connecting with the law offices of Melvin H. Couch, who died suddenly in his office Sunday, remains a mystery tonight. One definite fact ascertained about her is that she met Couch some fifteen years ago when she was a book agent, and fell in love with him. Where her home is and who her people are, however, still remains unknown.

The death of Couch, a prominent lawyer and former district attorney of Sullivan county, revealed today that, unknown to his family and friends and to his clients, Miss Brance had lived for three years in a secret room connecting with his law office. Couch was found yesterday lying dead on his office lounge. Death was due to rupture of a blood vessel in the next room crouched the frightened woman who admitted she had seen him die, but insisted she was not responsible for his death. She said she was Adelaide M. Brance, of Goshen, N. Y., and that the secret room had been her only home during the past three years.

Couch was 46 years old. The woman is 46. Her hair has taken on a turn gray. She was poorly dressed and the room where she lived was sparsely furnished with an old cook stove, a table, an iron bed and two chairs. She said she had lived there voluntarily and had never gone out in the daytime. At intervals she went for a walk at night.

The woman was held on a technical charge, but the coroner's verdict as to the cause of Couch's death supported her assertion that she was not responsible. The attorney, she said, died of a ruptured blood vessel Monday morning. The autopsy today brought the verdict that death was due to the breaking of the ascending aorta.

Miss Brance said she met Couch three years ago when she called at his office to sell books. The lawyer's friends remember that about this time he had the room where she was found out off from his office by a heavy partition.

Couch's wife first learned of her husband's secret when word of his unexpected death brought her to the office where he lay dead. She had visited the office frequently but had never entered the adjoining room. She fainted when she confronted Miss Brance.

PRESIDENT HUERTA SAVES BANK FROM RUN MADE BY DEPOSITORS

Decree Is issued Creating Holiday of Ten Days During Which Doors of Institution May Be Legally Closed.

$7,000,000 WITHDRAWN DURING SEVEN DAYS

Critical Situation Is Officially Recognized and Action of Dictator Is Taken to Prevent Further Disaster.

HUERTA DESPERATELY IN WANT OF MONEY

Vera Cruz, Dec. 22.—The strain to which the administration has been reduced financially is indicated by the fact that President Huerta recently offered to sell an acre of national territory in Vera Cruz fronting on the water to an official of a foreign government. This official, who is located in this city, visited the national capital, where the proposal was submitted.

The price is said to have been attractive but the offer was refused for fear of complications. Similar attempts are reported to have been made to dispose of national real estate in Mexico City.

The American consul at Vera Cruz has been instructed to keep a careful check on the property confiscated by the Carranza government and also to protect Carranza against continuation and to secure a return where possible.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Mexico City, Dec. 22.—The directors of the Bank of London and Mexico tonight began a careful scrutiny of the affairs of that institution, and if their findings are endorsed by other bankers, it is not improbable assurance will be offered the directors which will enable a full resumption of the business of the institution. It is reasonably certain, however, the bank will continue to avail itself of the decree of President Huerta, issued today, making the last ten days of the present year legal holidays.

With the possible exception of one other institution, it is believed that no other bank than the Bank of London and Mexico will take advantage of the official edict, which authorizes financial institutions to do as little or as much business as they desire during what is regarded as a financial crisis. The Bank of London and Mexico was crowded to its capacity at the closing hour of business today by men and women who were trying to withdraw their deposits. The lines of depositors extended from inside the bank to the street.

The amounts paid depositors were limited to 200 pesos, and no assurances were given that even this much would be given out in the future. The approximate amount withdrawn from the bank since depositors began demanding their money several days ago, is said to exceed 17,000,000 pesos of this amount, 14,000,000 pesos ($7,000,000), was withdrawn since last Tuesday.

The Bank of London and Mexico has in the various states, twelve branches, four of which were closed some time ago on account of local conditions. These were at Monterrey, Torreon, Mazatlan and Durango. On a minor scale the condition of the remaining branches is similar to that of the parent institution, but all are taking advantage of President Huerta's decree which has been telegraphed to the various points where the branches are located.

The critical position in which the Bank of London and Mexico was placed, has been no secret for some days to the other banks, and the suggestion was made on Saturday that President Huerta be requested to save the situation by making it possible for a bank legally to refuse payments for a period. The management demurred, as it believed it could weather it out, but at the opening hour this morning it became evident it could not, and the finance department was called upon for aid.

A decree was proposed and a search for the president was begun. He was located shortly before noon and affixed his signature without hesitation. An extra edition of El Diario, the official organ, was published, carrying the decree, and with this posted conspicuously in and about the building, the doors of the bank were opened early in the afternoon.

President Huerta's right to issue the decree, was the result of the action of congress prior to adjournment when it vested in him extraordinary power over the three departments of finance. The decree reiterated that it was issued in accordance with this extraordinary power and that the holidays were decreed "on account of the difficult circumstances in which the country finds itself and in order to give sufficient time for unfounded alarm which has been created among the public to subsidize and to prevent the bank from becoming general.

The decree gives to the clearing house and all banks throughout the republic the right to suspend all business and add two days or until January 7, to the period in which they shall not consider themselves compelled to meet their obligations.

The members of the clearing house decided tonight not to take advantage of the decree, but to open as usual, accepting for collection checks against the bank of London and Mexico, the deposits of such checks to depend on the bank for payment. If they are not paid they will be returned to the depositors. It is announced that this will have the effect of reducing the line at the bank windows and thus create the impression that the run has been reduced.

The affairs of the bank of London and Mexico were also discussed by the clearing house members and a group of bankers conferred again with the sub-secretary of finance. The clearing house inquiry developed that the bank has in its vaults $12,000,000 pesos in cash and $2,000,000 in bank notes about 15 per cent of which are the discredited state bank bills.

The management of the bank of London and Mexico has all alone in Mexico been the only one, and has explained that its inability to pay depositors was due merely to the shortage of currency. Gold has been hoarded for a long time and silver of late has been disappearing. Both metals have been exported in large quantities.

COMPLETE SILENCE BY PRINCIPALS IN TRAGEDY

Former Identity of Woman, in Whose Apartments Divorced Husband Was Slain, Remains Mystery to Police.

Los Angeles, Dec. 22.—Handicapped by the silence of the two living principals in the tragedy, the police made little progress today in their investigation of the circumstances involved in the killing of Daniel De Villiers of San Antonio, Tex., by Roy L. Glover, a land agent here. It was ascertained last night that De Villiers was shot while trying to see Mrs. Glover, his former wife, and his two little children, who occupied the room where the tragedy occurred in time to see their father die, but the identity of De Villiers and the identity of Mrs. Glover prior to her marriage were still matters of speculation here tonight.

According to reports from Texas, received in answer to telegraphic inquiries, De Villiers was a veteran of the floor war in Santa Africa. Mrs. Glover said he was a million keeper who induced her to elope from the home of her father, a wealthy banker in New York, and marry him. Thereafter, she asserted, as a result of a statement by her attorney, Mrs. De Villiers lived on an allowance provided by her father, who is now in Europe.

She also said her maiden name was Jean Campbell and that she had won a championship of the Jersey Golf Association in 1904. De Villiers were as a watch charm a medal inscribed to Jean Campbell as a golfing trophy. By those connected with the case refused to make any comment which told that no Jean Campbell had been in Jersey during championships in 1904 or any other year.

Both she and Glover were enjoined to strict silence by Lemmings Davis, who was retained as counsel to Glover.

Through telegrams to San Antonio, the police learned that Mrs. Glover had been divorced from De Villiers in October, 1912, and had been awarded custody of the two children, David, aged 4, and Margaret, aged 6, but no information could be obtained relative to her marriage, which she said occurred last October, just before Glover came here.

MRS. GLOVER WIFE OF RICH WALL STREET BROKER

New York, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Roy L. Glover, divorced wife of Daniel De Villiers, whom De Villiers was trying to see in Los Angeles today when Glover shot and killed him, is the daughter of H. G. Campbell, a wealthy Wall street broker. She married De Villiers in this city in 1907, after her divorce from a man named Lewis of Paterson, N.J. The De Villiers then went to Condit, La Salle county, Texas, where De Villiers bought a small ranch. Mrs. De Villiers obtained a divorce from her husband in San Antonio in 1911. It is said, however, that after this divorce Mrs. De Villiers assisted her former husband financially in his alleged activities against President Madero of Mexico, which led to De Villiers' arrest in El Paso, in 1911.

Daniel De Villiers came of a well-known Cape Colony family, several members of which have been knighted. During the late Boer war he commanded a body of scouts attached to a Boer column operating in West Griqualand and the Orange Free State.

De Villiers came to this country in 1904, with a mixed contingent of Afrikaners and English, who appeared in the Boer show at the St. Louis exposition. Most of his youth was spent along the Zambesi river as a hunter of big game, where at one time, he was attached to the staff of Frederick Courtney Selous, the famous hunter, who was a member of Theodore Roosevelt's hunting party in Africa in 1900. In 1912, De Villiers was identified with the campaign of Governor Oscar Colquhoun of Texas.

HARRISON STRONGLY IN FAVOR OF MRS. YOUNG

Chicago, Dec. 22.—Charles H. Harrison, mayor of Chicago, today refused to receive a delegation in support of John D. Shoop, present school superintendent of Chicago. The men, most of them prominent in the commercial life of the city, presented a petition of 25,000 names, asking for the reelection of the present head of the schools.

Mr. Harrison also today reappointed Harry A. Lipsky, whose resignation he accepted a few days ago and named Axel A. Stron to succeed Charles O. Selchness. Mr. Harrison declared he will go to any length to return Mrs. Young to a place at the head of the schools.

TRIAL OF VON KLINE NEARS CONCLUSION

Portland, Ore., Dec. 22.—A court room full of people today heard the concluding testimony in the trial of Edmund C. Von Kline, of Chicago, charged with having lived polygamously in Portland with Miss Ethel Newcomb, after deceiving her with a fraudulent marriage at San Francisco. Only two witnesses were called for the defense and their testimony was unimportant, relating merely to the identification of documents. The defense then rested and arguments will be heard tomorrow. It is said the case will go to the jury early in the afternoon.

JOURNEY HOME OVER ICE FOR CHRISTMAS

Los Angeles, Dec. 22.—A journey home for Christmas, began several months ago over Arctic ice, ended tonight when members of the Polar Bear expedition arrived here. The party included Louis Lane, captain of the schooner Ellen A. Draper, Jr., Dunbar Lockwood and Will T. Hudson, photographer. The Polar Bear was frozen in the ice when they left her to march over Alaska trails.

JAP MARINES WILL VISIT MEXICO CITY

Mexico City, Dec. 22.—Of all the foreign warships which have arrived in Mexican waters, it appears probable that the Japanese cruiser Ise will be the first to be represented by its marines and bluejackets in the Mexican capital. The Ise reached Manzanillo today, and it was announced at the national palace that a contingent of Japanese will start for Mexico City this week.

Federal forces, which recently landed at Altata, a coast town of Sinaloa, marched inland, attacking and defeating the rebels north of Culiacan, according to the war office.

Zelaya to Sail for Europe

New York, Dec. 22.—Jose Santos Zelaya, former president of Nicaragua, will sail for Europe on La Touraine Wednesday, he announced tonight through his secretary, Joseph Medina, who will accompany him. Medina was emphatic in asserting that Zelaya was leaving upon his own volition.

BANKING SYSTEM REVOLUTIONIZED

from being eligible for such discount but such definition shall not include notes, drafts or bills covering merely investments or issued or drawn for the purpose of carrying or trading in stocks, bonds or other investment securities, except bonds and notes of the government of the United States.

Notes, drafts and bills admitted to discount under the terms of the paragraph must have a maturity at the time of discount of not more than ninety days, provided that notes, drafts and bills drawn or issued for agricultural purposes or based on livestock, and having a maturity not to exceed six months may be discounted in an amount to be limited to a percentage of the capital of the federal (regional) reserve bank to be ascertained and fixed by the federal reserve board.

The regional banks may also discount acceptances based on the importation or exportation of goods.

The new treasury notes which are to furnish the elastic element in the currency system and to add to the country's circulating money in time of need, will come into use in the following way:

The notes will be printed by the government with a distinctive style for each regional reserve bank. One of the three directors named by the federal reserve board for each regional bank will be known as the federal reserve agent, for that bank and a supply of the notes will be placed in his custody.

Should a regional bank desire to pay out more money than its cash resources will permit, the law provides that it may put some of its re-accumulated commercial paper into the hands of the "federal reserve agent" and receive in return the new treasury notes. For each note that it puts out into circulation the regional reserve bank must set aside in gold 40 per cent of the value of the note, as a guarantee for its redemption.

This gold with the commercial paper held by the "federal reserve agent" is the protection behind the new money, but these notes will also be guaranteed by the government, and may be redeemed in gold at the United States treasury.

Each regional bank under the act must keep a reserve of 25 per cent of the deposits it has received, besides the 40 per cent gold reserve behind the treasury notes it issues. If the gold reserve behind the notes falls below 40 per cent a heavy tax is imposed on the bank, which, in turn, adds the tax to the rate it charges member banks for rediscounts. This was designed to stop an over-expansion of currency. In times of sudden stress, the federal reserve board can suspend these reserve provisions in order to furnish quick relief to any community. One regional bank cannot again pay out the notes of another except under a heavy tax. These notes are expected to return to the regional banks and be withdrawn from circulation when the need for their use passes.

None of the existing forms of currency except the national bank notes, will be disturbed by the new law. The United States notes used to secure the issue of national bank notes are to be taken up at the rate of $25,000,000 a year by the regional reserve banks and new treasury notes or shorter 2 per cent bonds will take their place. National bank currency is expected gradually to retire.

The federal reserve board will exercise final control over the entire operation of the system. It can compel one regional bank to loan to another in time of need, can suspend all restrictions surrounding the reserves which regional banks must hold and can remove directors of regional reserve banks whenever it is believed necessary.

While the banks retain control of the boards of the regional reserve banks, their connection with the federal reserve board is only through an advisory council, made up of one representative from each federal reserve district. This council will meet in Washington to confer with the federal reserve board, "on general business conditions" and to make recommendations and suggestions concerning discount rates, note issues and reserve conditions.

An important change in national banking methods, embraced in the new law, will permit all national banks except those in New York, Chicago and St. Louis to make direct loans on five-year farm mortgages, up to 25 per cent of their capital and surplus, or up to one-third of their time deposits. Another provision in the law permits national banks having a capital of $1,000,000 or more to open foreign branches. Similar authority is given to the regional reserve banks, the purpose being to facilitate the development of American trade abroad.

MATTHEWS SAYS HE WILL GIVE K. O.
TO TORRESSt. Louis Boy Declares He Never Felt Better in His Life and Was Never More Confident of Victory.Pierce Matthews is feeling cheery these days. He has gotten rid of the tangle on his neck, which is enough to make any man feel cheery. Also, he thinks he can get rid of Torres with as much, if not more, ease than the bull."Honestly," said Matthews yesterday, "I don't see how it is possible for me to lose in my Christmas bout.
I know Torres is a good boy with a mighty wallop, but he wasn't able to get his wallop in when we fought before, and I don't understand how he can figure to get it in this time. In our last match I was very cautious, but now that I have had a go with him I believe I have his measure. I confidently expect to put him away inside of six rounds."Jack Torres doesn't share this belief one little bit. He feels it in his very bones that he can lick Matthews, and has made up his mind to do it as a Christmas present for his friends, who are backing him to the limit. The local boy is looking to the future. A victory over Matthews will be a big feather in his cap and will enable him to make matches which mean easy money."I am not making any boasts," said Torres. "I am going to do my fighting in the ring and not in the newspapers. But if I don't drop Matthews when we meet next Thursday, I will be the most surprised fellow in Albuquerque."So there you have it. Both boys are supremely confident, and neither can see a chance to lose. Somebody is bound to lose unless it is another draw, which is not at all probable.
The only certain thing is that there will be a big Christmas day card at the gymnasium and that the fans will see a real fight.Torres worked out yesterday with "Lefty" Floyd and Kiki Giffen as sparring partners. He is in the very best of condition, and made a fine showing. Matthews did only light work. The St. Louisan is always in condition, and only needs a little work before a battle to put him on edge. He is now taking on weight, and will undoubtedly enter the ring Thursday afternoon primed for the fight of his life.

FACE PERPLEXING
SITUATIONRemedy for Existing Demoralization Cause for Grave Concern; What's the Matter With Old Eli?New York, Dec. 22.—What's the matter with Yale? If someone will kindly drop into New Haven and whisper the answer to this question they might have a monument erected to them, if at the same time a solution of the problem was furnished.Yale staggered through the finish of the sporting year with a clean slate, said slate being one of defeat.
In football, rowing and baseball, the three leading sports, the Blue cracked and was walloped by Harvard. They are building an immense stadium for Yale to play her football games in.
It will seat 65,000 persons, but the new "howl" isn't going to win games.
So far as anyone has been able to
navy is well remembered. Swinging away on the English stroke with English equipment, Yale was swept from the river by the Crimson cars-men. Then Harvard won the deciding baseball game from the crack Yale nine in New York by a score of 6 to 5. After rousing hopes to a high pitch by holding Princeton to a tie on the gridiron, the Blue crumpled before Harvard and the toe of Charles Brickley. There is a rumor that Yale was a chess tournament during the year, but that isn't being noised about.Taking a look backward, it may be observed that it has been some time since Yale knocked through with very much to crow over. In 1907 the Blue defeated Harvard in the boat race.
That was the last, as the Crimson shell has now shown the way to the line for six consecutive years. Yale hasn't won a football game from Harvard since 1909. The Blue kicked through that year with an 8 to 6 victory. Then came scoreless ties in 1910 and 1911. Last year Harvard won 20 to 0 and came back this year 15 to 5. This alone is enough to cause much pecking of brows at New Haven, as it is the first time in history that a Harvard eleven has downed Yale in two consecutive tings between the goal posts.There is much talk and discussion of whether the English rowing system shall be thrown out of Yale but the chances seem to be that the ten-drinking training and heaving of clumsy equipment will stick for at least another season. Something radical will have to be done in the navy, and a degree of something or other is in prospect for the football line. Yale is up against it. Seven of this year's football team will be lost by graduation. They are: Captain Ketcham, Pendleton, Talbot, Martin, Alsworth, Avery Wilson, who developed into one of the best quarterbacks of the year and Carter, at end.As for "Fair Harvard," it seems that as long as Percy Houghton sticks on the job there is bound to be a reasonable amount of football displayed around Cambridge. Houghton is a driver, and in picking a football team looks for football players rather than collision leaders and the blue bloody who can climb out on the hub of their family tree and shake downa showaway on the Mayflower for reference. Recalling the Harvard-Yale game, can you imagine a few years ago the name of O'Brien in a Harvard lineup? Answering we will say you cannot. O'Briens do not figure among our oldest families.But Houghton doesn't spend his spare hours looking up social standings. He wants to know how much a man weighs, and if he is a football player that's enough. Pedigree don't count with Percy.Harvard will get away on the 1914 season minus only three of this year's regulars. They are the aforementioned O'Brien, end; Hitchcock, guard, and Captain Storer, end. Brickley, and his toe will be back; Mahon, who would draw as much attention as Brickley if he wasn't on the same team, also will be on the job, and, with Hurdwick and the other experienced hands to start with, Yale should do the worrying.This has been a tough year on experts; those boys who sit down with miles of figures and past performances and let everyone know who is going to win a football or a baseball game before time is called. Their mistakes have come rattling down through the year with amazing regularity. One of the favorite pastimes has been kicking over the old dog buck and generally spilling the contents over surrounding territory. The Navy was a 2 to 1 and 10 to 6 favorite over the Army. The West Pointers were willing to take a chance with forward passes, and springing the unexpected, smacked the Navy hither and you over the Polo grounds.Yale was picked to have an easy time with Colgate, and Colgate licked the Blue. Then the system was switched, and Princeton picked to trample all over Yale. The Blue held the Tiger to a 3 to 2 tie. Between times Dartmouth proceeded to wallop Captain Baker's hunkies. It was all set and framed in the minds of the experts for Pennsylvania to push Cornell off the map, but it took the Ithacans to do the pushing, and Penn-sylvia on the receiving end of the push. Facing the great Carlisle team, dope favored Dartmouth, but what the Indians did to the big green team is too good to repeat.INDIANAPOLIS CLUB
SOLD FOR $175,000
TO M'GILL AND SMITHIndianapolis, Ind., Dec. 22.—The Indianapolis American basketball club was sold by Sol Kiser, representing Sol Meyers, owner, to J. C. McGill, of Denver, and William Smith, of New York City, late today for $175,000. The purchase price was paid to Kiser at a meeting in Chicago of the parties interested.About three months ago Mr. Mc-Gill and associates of Denver purchased the team, it was announced at that time for $165,000. The agreement then provided for $75,000 cash payment and the remainder later.
The deal fell through because of the inability of Mr. Meyer to reach an agreement with Mike Kelly, manager of the Indianapolis team, who was under a two years contract.When the new negotiations were opened, Kelly agreed to accept $2,000 from Meyer in lieu of his two year's contract which called for a salary of $6,000, and to turn back to the club 25 per cent of the stock for which he had given his notes but upon which he had not made first payment.J. C. McGill, one of the new owners, for several years has owned the Denver club of the Western league and Mr. Smith, a New York real estate dealer, is McGill's uncle.
The new owners announced that Jack Hendricks, of Chicago, who has been manager of the Denver club, will become manager of the Indianapolis team and will come to this city to assume active charge of its affairs on January 3.It is planned, Hendricks said tonight in a long distance telephone conversation, to spend $25,000 in acquiring players for the Indianapolis club.LEVINSKY WINS OVER

ARIZONA FOUND DEAD
IN CABIN ON RANCHWinslow, Ariz., Dec. 22.—Walter J.
Scott, a pioneer of northern Arizona and for several years a fireman on the Santa Fe coast line, was found dead in a cabin on the Spellman & Lyons ranch, twenty-five miles south of this city Sunday afternoon. When discovered he was in bed, one leg and one arm were broken and it is thought that he had been dead about forty-eight hours. He was born in England about sixty years ago and had no relatives in this country. The body was brought to Winslow and a coroner's inquest will be held, though the cause of his injuries may never be definitely known, as he was alone on the ranch where he was employed at the time of his death.YOUR HAIR MAY BE

CANDIDATES AND FRIENDS ALIKE ALL ENTHUSIASTIC OVER ASERVO SYSTEM CAMPAIGN AND NEW ENTRANTS START

From Remote Sections of Campaign Territory Come Additional Applicants and Those Already in Start Active Campaign. Cash Slips Count Double This Week.

From all over the campaign territory inquiries regarding the Aservo System Profit-Sharing campaign, conducted by the Morning Journal, are pouring into the Tour Department. Not only are eligible young women anxiously planning their campaigns to secure one of the educational trips but subscribers and prospective subscribers are also interested through the vast benefits which they obtain under the Aservo System.

The fact that five per cent is saved on all cash purchases in Aservo stores by the use of Aservo system coupons which are given WITHOUT ADDITIONAL COST to all subscribers, whether old or new, appeals strongly to the frugal housewife as well as the host of the family who desires each month to "make ends meet." Also, the premium obtained by the return of the Coupon Book covers to the Morning Journal office is a feature of the system which arouses the enthusiasm of the younger members of the family and is not entirely lost on the older folk.

Candidates already started in the race to "circle the globe" or view the Pyramids and at first hand are finding it a most enterprising matter than they anticipated securing subscriptions and the resultant points to their credit in the campaign. Everyone is interested in the Aservo system because it means a real money-making to them and the subscription price of the Journal is a secondary consideration in comparison with the benefits the subscriber secures through the Aservo system Coupon Book. Every candidate who has made an active start in the campaign is enthusiastic over the manner in which she is received by her friends and acquaintances.

Now is the time to start. Next Sunday the second list of candidates' names with their respective point standing will be published. It should be the desire of every candidate, or prospective candidate, to have her name stand as high in the list as possible. It is by the showing YOU make that your friends will judge you. Their support will be gauged accordingly.

New entrants in the Morning Journal's "Round the World and Tropical Tour Campaign" conducted under the universally beneficial Aservo System of profit-sharing with the public are acknowledged daily in the Tour Department. Not only are Albuquerque's young women interested in the campaign but the outside districts are coming to the fore-front in a substantial way and the list of candidates is growing rapidly.

Real ballgame is the order of the day and candidates already started are prosecuting a vigorous early campaign. Their efforts are being crowned with success in a higher degree than even they anticipated. But there is plenty of room for others. Every candidate has her immediate circle of friends and acquaintances and everyone stands on equal chance in the glorified rivalry for points in this campaign.

The real activities of the campaign have but just begun. No one has an enormous lead and there is plenty of opportunity to jump to the head of the list in the next exhibit of points to be published Sunday. A few subscriptions will place YOU in the lead, even though you have not yet started. Begin today. Call up your friends and tell them that you are anxious to secure the tour of the world and ask them to reserve their support for you. You will be surprised how readily they will accede to your desire.

Big Rewards for Effort. After the start is once made you would not stop for anything. The rewards are sufficiently attractive to warrant a considerable expenditure of effort in securing either of them. The candidate is fortified by the knowledge that she is working for a higher reward for her efforts than she could obtain in any other manner with twice or three times the work. Then, too, the young woman who secures the tour of the world with all necessary expenses offset and ashore paid by the Morning Journal will have won a special honor. It will indeed be an honor to be declared the grand leader in the campaign over scores of aspirants in the field, any one of whom is working in every way of the best effort YOU have to give.

The length of the campaign is short. When you are once fairly started you will think the time is all too limited. But when the time has been awarded and YOU find yourself among the winners you will have the knowledge that you have acquired something that is within the realm of possibility to none but the favored few and you will be proud of the fact that you secured it through your own personal efforts, and those of your friends.

Everything worth while in the world is obtained only through some effort on the part of the aspirant for the reward. Even if it requires a little striving to secure it, the work it has cost makes it many times more valuable than if it were given you without any effort whatsoever. And in this instance, the tour of the world will be appreciated much more highly if it costs some effort—the educational value to the fortunate one will be all the greater.

Aservo System Helps Candidates.

But the personal effort on the part of candidates in the Aservo system profit-sharing campaign is reduced to a minimum because of the fact that every candidate is really doing her friends a favor by securing their subscriptions to the Morning Journal under this system. The subscribers themselves will appreciate the advantages they obtain in a financial way, which means a saving in their personal and household expenses of from $20 to $100 per year and upwards, according to their expenditures.

That is the novel feature of this campaign which never before has been introduced by any newspaper—in Albuquerque—a feature which appeals strongly to the general public. The subscribers themselves are the direct beneficiaries under this system, while at the same time they may assist some of their friends obtain something which, under the ordinary conditions, would be beyond their power to secure.

If you have not yet entered your name as a candidate in this great world-touring campaign send it in TODAY. Do not hesitate longer. Get started right away so your friends will know that you are in the race and will not forsake their support to someone else. Make just as good a showing as possible in the next point exhibit Sunday; then get active and you will be surprised how easy it will be for you.

Save the Coupons.

The free coupon being published daily in the Morning Journal means five points for YOU on each one sent in by you or your friends. Have every one you know clip them neatly and send them in to the Tour Department with YOUR name written plainly in the space provided for that purpose. But do not spend valuable time you could be putting in securing real point values hunting for coupons. The time spent in collecting coupons enough to give you 100 points could be put in securing subscriptions, on which you would probably secure thousands of points to the 100 on the coupon.

The real method of substantially and consistently building up a high point standing and incidentally giving up a good reserve strength is in obtaining subscriptions to the Morning Journal. In the outside towns, where a clubbing arrangement has been effected with a local weekly, candidates are enabled to make a substantial gain in points by securing subscriptions to the weekly in conjunction with the Morning Journal. This arrangement equalizes the chances of the outside candidates with those in Albuquerque and makes it much easier for them to compete for the two grand awards.

SPECIAL COUNSEL IS SUGGESTED TO PRESS SUIT

General Attorney for Frisco Railroad Tells Federal Judge That Receivers' Attorneys Should Not Be Employed.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERSHIP

St. Louis, Dec. 22.—W. F. Evans, general counsel for the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, suggested to Circuit Court Judge Sanborn in the United States district court here today, that if the court found it desirable that a restitution suit be instituted against directors and former directors of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, attorneys should be employed to prosecute the case. Mr. Evans said that neither he nor Henry A. Priest, now attorney for the receivers, should be required to handle the restitution suit.

The suggestion of Mr. Evans was made near the close of arguments on the petition of William Niles, of New York, for permission to file a restitution suit, and on the request of the receivers for instruction whether they should file a restitution suit. Judge Sanborn took under advisement the whole matter of authorizing the filing of suits. He indicated that the evidence recently brought about by the Interstate Commerce commission in the investigation of the Frisco receivership, would not determine his decision. Judge Sanborn said he did not care to determine the case on outside facts. He did not indicate when he would announce his decision.

John D. Johnson, in closing his argument that Niles should be authorized to file suit, said that ordinarily a restitution suit should be brought by the receivers, but that the court should consider whether the ends of justice best would be served by a suit filed by receivers, who long had been associated with the men against whom the suit would be directed, or by a suit filed by a stockholder eager to protect his own interests. Mr. Johnson said the tendency of the receivers would be to shield the directors with whom they had been associated. He said he had no objection to suit filed by the receivers, provided independent counsel were employed. The associations of W. P. Hyatt and Henry E. Priest, counsel for the receivers, disavowed them from acting as counsel in such a suit, said Mr. Johnson.

The history of the conferences that led up to the receivership was cited by Mr. Priest in a statement which he filed in answer to the statement in the petition of Mr. Niles, that the receivership proceedings were the result of collusion.

"About the time," said Mr. Priest, "I was summoned to New York by Mr. Yeakum, chairman of the board of directors of the Frisco, I learned that the company was in great financial straits; that it was confronted with a default upon maturing obligations aggregating about $2,600,000; that it was trying to make arrangements with New York and St. Louis bankers to raise money necessary to meet this obligation; and if it could not do so, must immediately go into the hands of the receivers; that it had a floating indebtedness, the interest and principal of which was maturing."

"The first question considered was whether the money to meet the $2,600,000 obligations maturing could be raised. Efforts to raise this were continued down to within two days of the application for the receivership. "It was conceded that if a receivership should follow it would come without opposition and as a friendly proceeding in the interest of secured and unsecured creditors, as well as stockholders."

"It was conceded that the railroad company owed the North American company over $400,000 and that this debt was secured by collateral upon lands in New Mexico undeveloped, of an estimated value of $500 to $100,000. James Campbell, president of the North American company, consented that the North American company would become plaintiff. The debt of the North American company was secured; it could gain nothing by becoming plaintiff to the bill. This only harm that could come to any one by its so appearing would come to it in that choosing to proceed as a general creditor, it would preclude itself from asserting summarily to the sale of its collateral."

"Where there is an honest debt, there can be no collusion predicated upon the consent of the debtor to the process of collection, especially where as in this case the interest of third parties could in no wise be affected or prejudiced by it."

CHILEAN GOVERNMENT HAD NOT READ SPEECH

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERSHIP

Washington, Dec. 22.—Eduardo Suarez, Chilean minister here, issued a statement tonight referring to the reported divergence of views on the Monroe doctrine between former President Roosevelt and Dr. Martini on the occasion of the former's recent speech at the University of Santiago de Chile and announced that Dr. Martini did not speak as a representative of Chilean government nor had his address been approved by the foreign office of Chile, as reported. He added that Dr. Martini had been chosen to speak because he was dean of the law faculty of the university, which had invited Mr. Roosevelt to the country.

EVIDENCE TENDS TO PROVE FRAUDS BY FUEL COMPANY

ADOLPH P. HILL TO BE POSTMASTER AT SANTA FE

Special Treasury Agent Gives Damaging Testimony in Suit Against San Francisco Corporation.

San Francisco, Dec. 22.—Books of the Western Fuel company, it was testified here today, showed that in 1912 the company made 15 per cent of sales made to American vessels, more coal than had been loaded into them. On the figures for coal discharged from the barges and not for the coal the barges received, affidavits were presented to the customs authorities and drawbacks or rebates on duties were collected.

W. H. Tidwell, special agent of the United States treasury department, made this statement in the trial of the company for conspiracy to defraud.

Tidwell testified that United States army inspectors and revenue cutters which loaded coal from Western Fuel barges received more coal, according to the books, than the barges carried and that the government had refunded customs duties for the large amounts.

The refunds were made, he said, upon the sworn statements of James H. Smith or some other of the defendants, that the company's figures for the amounts discharged from the barges were correct.

According to Tidwell's testimony, between April 1, 1912, and December 31, 1912, the Western Fuel company sold 62,999 tons of foreign coal in excess of what it received.

President Wilson Sends in Nomination of Well Known Democrat of Capital City for Important Federal Position.

Washington, Dec. 22.—A long list of nominations, including 253 appointments to postmasterships throughout the country, was sent to the senate by President Wilson today.

The nominations included that of Adolph P. Hill as postmaster at Santa Fe, N. M.

Contrary to expectations, the nominations did not include the designation of a new comptroller of the currency who will have an important part in organizing the new currency system.

Adolph P. Hill, who has been appointed postmaster at Santa Fe, is a well known democrat of the capital. He will succeed John Pfeiffer, a Republican, who has occupied the office about two years, having been appointed to succeed S. B. Grimshaw, who died while in office. It is understood a fight has been on for some time to force the retirement of Pfeiffer.

GIRL SCOUTS EVOLVE FINE CHRISTMAS PLAN TO BRING HAPPINESS

The Albuquerque camp of the Girl Scouts of America have decided upon a plan for Christmas which is sure to bring a world of happiness and good cheer to other girls, not members of the organization, in this city.

There is nothing of charity in the plan—nothing in the way of ministering to the poor, feeding the hungry or clothing the poorly clad. Neither is there any suggestion of organized giving or of doing anything in an organization in the Christmas program of the girls.

Like all really fine ideas, it is exceedingly simple. Each girl, as an individual, has pledged herself to do some act of kindness to some other girl—the particular act to be left to her own choice and judgment. To do some little courtesy, some small act of self sacrifice, something involving an unselfish attention to the comfort or pleasure of another—that is the plan in a nutshell.

The girls are in a glee over the idea, and have not themselves to accomplish it with the enthusiasm that dignifies of nothing but success. That it will bring genuine happiness to many hearts, and by no means the least to those who are responsible for the plan, is a statement that does not need proof.

NATIONS OF EUROPE CONTINUE RUSH FOR ARMAMENTS

All Countries on Continent Busy Preparing for War That Is Not in Sight; Arbitration Sentiment Grows.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.
London, Dec. 22.—The first lot of the British admiralty said recently that when he thought of Europe today with every nation mulling more freely with every other nation, with every government professing the utmost friendship for other states, with every sovereign linked by relationship and interest with the heads of other powers, with every foreign agent uttering accents of supreme cordiality, and yet the whole held and gripped in the thrall of armaments on a scale unexampled since the beginning of time, he could not help being reminded of the story of the Spanish prisoner who was confined for twenty years in a dungeon until one day he happened to push the door of his cell, which had all the time been unlocked, and walked out free into the open air.

The strange European calm already noticed still continues at the moment of writing. The little differences left over from the great struggle are one by one being settled and the cloud banks of coming issues are still below the horizon.

It is at a time such as this, however, when the din and clamor of incident has died away that one becomes conscious of other sounds that have always been there, like the hum note to the peal of bells. The clash of the sword and the roar of the field gun may be no more heard in Europe, even the diplomatic saber rattling, may have ceased, but the steady clang of the riveter's hammer is heard day and night from one end of Europe to the other, and the glare of the blast furnace lights the night sky in every land. Europe is at peace. Statesmen vie with one another in expressions of mutual good will, but the race still continues. The "two keys to one" of the British Navy league is answered by a still more concentrated effort on the other side of the North sea, whilst from St. Petersburg, Vienna, Paris and Rome come echoes whose monotonous burden is dreadnoughts and yet again dreadnoughts.

When it is not dreadnoughts it is men. France hurries through a return to the three years' service system. Germany adds steadily to her already immense army, and carries her army bills through the Reichstag on the crest of the wave of an appeal to patriotism which silences even the socialists. Austria-Hungary spends millions she can ill spare from her depleted exchequer on adding to the efficiency of her forces; whilst Russia, with that machine-like ponderousness which turns nothing to the right hand nor to the left adds battalion after battalion to her great host.

Winston Churchill was truly right enough when he described these preparations as unexampled since the beginning of time. How far he was right in his simile as to the Spanish prisoner and how long it will be before the prisoner makes that simple move which is to mean at last to the future world at large.

One thing is certain, that in every country in Europe there has come into being a public opinion whose growth is steady, which has already seen the prisoner as a prisoner, and has recognized why and how he need be no longer. The peace movement grows every day, not only in respect of the numbers of its adherents, but what is much more important, in understanding. It is fast becoming a great factor in international politics.

From the moment Norman Asquith developed that thesis, which is the text of "The Great Illusion," namely, the complete interdependence of nation upon nation in respect of trade and finance, and showed to the point of demonstration the utter impossibility of war resulting in anything but injury, not only to the vanquished, but even more to the conqueror, thoughtful men throughout Europe began to think whether after all it might not be true and if true, when all they stand?

Large numbers of men and women in every nation in Europe have accepted the views put forward in "The Great Illusion." Every day brings in its evidence that the views of many statesmen are being steadily influenced by this peace movement, so eminently begotten of the understanding, and it is clear to any one that henceforth this new factor will have to be increasingly reckoned with in any review of international politics.

Just over two years ago when Agadir was an every man's lip, on both sides of the North sea, what was the hand that really held the leash of the dogs of war and refused to loose it? Every revelation since has gone to show that it was finance. With what amounted to a blank on the Berlin bourse and a run on the bank throughout the country, many statesmen in those days must have asked themselves: "If this is done at the threat, what of the accomplishment?" And so war came to the birth and could not be delayed.

It is every day becoming more increasingly evident that the more civilized the country, the more its trade and commerce and manufactures are developed, the more hardly does it go to war. The Montenegrin can leave his plough in the morning, shoulder his rifle and be at work on his alternative trade at night. He can fight for weeks and months, and then when the war is over go back to his farm and take up life where he left it off weeks or even months before.

The same is true in varying degrees of all the Balkan states. It is absolutely true of Turkey. And so the Balkan war was possible and the rapid recuperation of the Balkan states is possible and even certain. What of the powers? "The war must be circumscribed. At all costs we must agree to draw a ring round the Balkans." This accomplishment was for twelve months the great ambition of the powers by day, and its possible failure their nightmare by night. No doubt in this desire, simple motives of a more enlightened humanity had a large part, but it cannot be doubted that again and again the weight that brought down the loadstone of finance, was the question of money. Not the simple question of the cost of warfare in man and francs, kronen and roubles, but the recognition that in that wonderful system of credit which has spread itself over Europe and beyond, an injury done anywhere is an injury done everywhere.

The Balkan states and Turkey, and to a large extent Russia are still outside the vast credit bond of the continent, but Germany with her army bills, France with her three years' service, Austria-Hungary with her new dreadnoughts and her new guns. England with her £75,000,000 budget for her navy alone, are all subscribers to the great system, and a bank closed or a house broken in Berlin, as likely as not affects more people in London, Paris, or Vienna than it does in the German capital.

It has been often pointed out that

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and is only to be cured by taking internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a perfect preparation. It is composed of the best food known, combined with the best blood purifier, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect eradication of the two ingredients is what produces most successful results in curing catarrh, head, throat, and lungs, etc.

the great danger in Europe today is that diplomacy has not moved with the times, that the cry from the diplomatist faced with the necessity of treating a new circumstance after a new fashion is ever, "It is not so written," instead of "Let us write it so."

The old diplomacy and the old ideas as to what constitutes real national greatness are fighting for their very existence, and in their last ditch, and manhood, as they are, for a last stand they make a brave show.

But the Palace of Peace is completed at the Hague, and silently throughout the length and breadth of the world there moves the peace idea. True, today it is clothed largely in self-interest, but tomorrow, it cannot be doubted, it will be clothed in reason, and ultimately, the prize is so sure enough, it will be clothed in understanding. When this stage is reached, the prisoner will have pushed the door of his prison. He will have found that it never was locked and he will walk out free.

PRISONER BROUGHT HERE TO PREVENT A LYNCHING

Sheriff of Sandoval County
Hurries Rafael Benavides, Charged With Assault, to Old Albuquerque Jail.

To save Rafael Benavides, 25 years old, charged with assaulting a woman, from threatened lynching, Sheriff Bullano Lucero of Sandoval county, rushed him to the Bernillo county jail at Old Albuquerque, yesterday afternoon in his automobile. Two deputies were guards. Sheriff Lucero feared the old jail at Bernillo would not withstand an attack if the mob determined to take the prisoner by force.

Benavides was arrested December 12 by Deputy Sheriff Valentine C. de la Hoya and Jose Martinez and held in the Manuel Martinez store there under a guard of three armed deputies from that time until last Friday, according to Sheriff Lucero.

The Cuba people, incensed at the crime of which they believed Benavides guilty, threatened to hang him, the sheriff was informed. He said he heard that a number of townspeople were armed. The deputies, fearing that the mob would attack them if they attempted to take Benavides from the store openly, resorted to a ruse.

The deputies caused a report to be circulated that Sheriff Lucero would come to Cuba for Benavides. They hid the prisoner under a load of alfalfa in a wagon and drove to San Louis, where they met Sheriff Lucero. In the meantime the would-be lynchers were awaiting the arrival of the sheriff at Cuba.

They left two deputies at that place to learn whether any of the mob was following and the others went to Bernillo, arriving there Sunday night.

Benavides is accused of a crime against Mrs. T. Salazar, living at Cuba. He called at her home December 13 and told her that her sister-in-law was ill at Bernillo and wanted her. She went with Benavides and when they were a mile from Cuba he assaulted her, according to Sheriff Lucero. The sheriff said Benavides took her back to Cuba on his horse and that he was arrested at his home the same day.

TO LEARN FEELING OF CITY TOWARD Y. M. C. A. HERE

George S. Klock Today Will Appoint Committee to Canvass Situation; General Secretary Meets Business Men.

George S. Klock today will name a committee of seven men to determine Albuquerque's sentiment toward the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building here. Mr. Klock was assigned to this duty at a meeting held yesterday morning in the Commercial club by J. J. McKim, of St. Louis, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and several business men.

The association here, according to the plans discussed yesterday morning, would receive both railroad men and residents not employed by the Santa Fe into membership. The consensus seemed to be that if the Santa Fe furnished a site, light and heat the city would raise $40,000 for a building and its equipment.

Mr. Klock acted as chairman of the meeting and the Rev. J. J. Schaefer, pastor of the Lutheran church, as secretary. To reduce the question to definite action a resolution was adopted, authorizing him to appoint the committee.

INCREASE YOUR WEIGHT TO MATCH YOUR HEIGHT

Thin, emaciated people, who are not as heavy as one of their height should be, should take Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion, the ideal nerve and body builder. Being under weight at most always means that one's health is not good, that some part of the system is not doing its work well—that the nerves and blood are not in healthy enough shape themselves to properly direct and nourish the bodily organs causing the trouble.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion builds weight, because it furnishes ingredients necessary to nourish and rebuild the wasting tissues, to replenish the blood, to make the nerves strong and well. It is a real medicine—not an alcoholic beverage, as many so-called "tonics" are. The latter only stimulate, instead of feeding and strengthening the system, and leave you worse off than before.

You who are underweight, tired, run-down, nervous, easily exhausted, and have been vainly doping yourself with "remedies" that have done you no lasting good, take Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. In a few days you will begin to feel better and after a few weeks will feel like a new person—or we will gladly give you back your money. There is no alcohol, nor any dangerous or habit-forming drug in Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. It is a strength and weight and health-building medicine—not a dope. For the emaciated and debilitated—the convalescing—growing children—aged people—it is a sensible aid to renewed strength, better spirits, glowing health.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion—king of the celebrated Rexall Remedies—is for freedom from sickness and for your family. Pleasant-tasting—unlike the cod liver oil preparations—you'll be as enthusiastic about it as we are when you have noted its strengthening, invigorating, building-up, disease-preventing effects. If it does not help you, your money will be given back to you without argument. Sold in the Rexall Store—one of more than 7,000 leading drug stores in the United States, Canada and Great Britain—Burt's, Inc., Drugists, Albuquerque, N. M.

FALLS THROUGH BAR MIRROR; GLASS ENTERS LUNG

Ernest Didier, of Belen, in St. Joseph's Hospital Here in Serious Condition as Result of Brawl.

In an embroglio with four natives and an American yesterday afternoon in a saloon at Belen, Ernest Didier fell or was pushed through a mirror. Three glass splinters entered his back under the right shoulder blade, perforating the right lobe of the lung. The wound is dangerous.

Didier was brought to Albuquerque on Santa Fe train No. 116, arriving here at 4:30 yesterday evening, and was taken to St. Joseph's hospital where he was placed upon the operating table at once. Surgeons removed three pieces of glass from the lung. They ranged in size from one to two inches long.

Didier was conscious when he reached the hospital, although he had lost a great deal of blood, chiefly by an internal hemorrhage. This was arrested, however, before he became very weak. One of the chief dangers threatening him now is pneumonia, but no symptoms had been observed last night.

The identity of the five men who took part in the melee with Didier could not be learned at Belen last night. It was said there, however, that Sheriff Ruperto Jaramilla, of Los Lunas, was to make an investigation.

Didier is the son of Adolph Didier, of the Didier Mercantile company, one of the most prominent residents of Belen.

BONUS IS OFFERED TO PROMOTERS OF NEW RAILROAD

Herbert Green Leaves for Chicago After Being Assured That Money Will Be Ready
When Line Is Completed.

Herbert Green, Chicago capitalist and promoter of the newly incorporated Gulf, New Mexico & Pacific railroad, left Albuquerque on Santa Fe train No. 4 last night. It was stated that Mr. Green would spend a day in Santa Fe to finish up some odds and ends of business, and would continue on his journey in time to be in Chicago for Christmas.

Before leaving Albuquerque, the Chicago man had a final conference with a number of Albuquerque business men, among them J. B. Herndon and O. N. Marron, of the State National bank; Frank Wilson, of the Western Meat Supply company, and Jacob Korber. At this conference the proposition made by Mr. Green several days ago that citizens of New Mexico raise $125,000 within the next thirty days, to be returned when the first installment of French money is received, was gone into and discussed in an informal manner.

Mr. Green was given to understand by the various gentlemen present at the conference that under existing conditions, and in view of the uncertainty surrounding the completion of the enterprise, the raising of so large an amount of money in so short a time is out of the question. At the same time he was assured in the most emphatic manner that Albuquerque and New Mexico are anxious for the completion of the railroad and will contribute substantially to the building of it without asking any return of the money invested.

A counter proposition was put to the promoter which was in effect, that any reasonable amount of money could be raised in New Mexico as a bonus, payable on the completion of the railroad, but that the business interests of the state would demand that the railroad should actually be built before parting with their money. It is said that one of the men present at the conference stated to Mr. Green that he would then and there pledge $5,000 for the company that he represents, payable when the first train is run into Albuquerque, and that similar assurances were given by the others present.

Mr. Green is said to have stated that such assurances as these would be satisfactory in lieu of the proposition originally made to him, and that he would undertake personally to raise the $125,000 needed in order to secure the French loan, relying on the payment of the bonus in order to reimburse himself.

Mayer D. K. Sellers, when seen in regard to the matter last night, was enthusiastic over the prospect of getting the new road into Albuquerque and declared that an organized movement should be started at once to secure pledges of the amount necessary to insure the beginning of work at an early date. The mayor stated that E. A. Cahoon, a prominent Roswell banker, in a long distance telephone conversation yesterday, had stated that the Pecos valley would duplicate any amount that might be raised by Albuquerque and the surrounding country. It is quite possible that a mass meeting of Albuquerque business men will be called in a few days for the purpose of inaugurating a campaign to raise this city's share of the amount needed.

President George A. Kaseaman, of the Commercial club, stated last night that he had not been present at the conference with Mr. Green yesterday afternoon, and for that reason would prefer not to say anything in regard to the matter. It is understood, however, that at several of the various meetings which Mr. Green had with directors of the club the proposition was made to him that the citizens of New Mexico would raise a bonus, payable upon the completion of the road, and that Mr. Green declined at that time to entertain such a proposition.

SALVATION ARMY WILL GIVE CHRISTMAS TREE FOR POOR CHILDREN

Announcement has been made by officers of the Salvation Army of a change in the plan by which it was at first decided to abandon the army Christmas tree for poor children this year. The tree will be given in the armory at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and will doubtless be attended by a big crowd of little ones.

The reason for amending in the first place that there would be an tree was because two of the officers who had the work in charge were sick, and it was thought that they would not be able to give the work the attention that it required. They are feeling so much better, however, that it has been decided to go on with the plan for the tree.

Every child that comes to the armory Thursday afternoon will receive a treat in the way of goodies and a toy. The tree, however, is intended primarily for those children whose circumstances are such that otherwise they would have no Christmas treat. The tree will be beautifully decorated and will present a splendid holiday appearance.

The distribution of baskets containing provisions and clothing among the poor families of the city will be made by the officers of the army on Wednesday, as originally announced.

How to Make the Best Cough Remedy at Home

A Family Supply at Small Cost, and Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and 1/2 pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of 82. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It tones up the indolent appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, bronchial asthma, whooping cough and spasmodic croup.

This method of making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is now used in more homes than any other cough syrup. This explains why it is often imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in gualacal and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination. A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

GENERAL VILLA IS AWAITING MOVE BY FEDERALS

Constitutionalist Leader in Northern Mexico Willing That Huerta Forces Shall Assume Offensive.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
Juarez, Dec. 22.—A waiting attitude was assumed by General Francisco Villa and his rebel troops today to learn what action, if any, the federal forces now at Ojinaga, on the border, would take. As long as the bulk of the federal army in the north remains at Ojinaga, more than 1,000 miles from striking distance of any of the rebel strongholds, General Villa said he was contented to let them remain there.

While the federals have been preparing to march into the interior, they are without any train or telegraphic communication south of the border. They have among them ten generals, or one for each 100 soldiers.

General Villa now has begun to turn his attention toward developments southward. The nearest federals in that direction are at Torreon, about 200 miles south. As soon as he is sufficiently advised of conditions, General Villa intends to send a large force toward Torreon. Skirmishing between federals and rebels at Gomez Palacio and Lerdo, near Torreon, have occurred, but they were insignificant.

Exaction of money from people who leave Chihuahua, still continues, according to refugees. They said General Villa required the money as a tribute to the revolutionary cause and the money had to be paid or the refugees were not allowed to leave. Mrs. Pedro Prieto, wife of a merchant, said she had to pay $12,500 in gold and Luis Querques and Pedro Torres, merchants, $5,000 each.

The home and property of Jacob E. Touche, a native of Turkey, valued at $500,000, was confiscated by Villa and Touche paid $10,000 cash for the release of his sister. Touche is reported to have amassed a large fortune in Mexico, after entering that country many years ago with nothing more than a trained bear. His elaborate home in Chihuahua was one of the sights of the city.

AMERICAN MINING MAN RELEASED BY REBELS

Douglas, Ariz., Dec. 22.—A. Wall, American mining man, jailed for debt at Agua Prieta, Sonora, last Friday, was released today after a hearing at Fronteras, where he had been taken on Sunday, from Agua Prieta.

Wallace said he settled the bill of $1,000 alleged to have been due Ramon Bolanos, a Mexican, for work in Wallace's mine in Sonora.

Yagui Indians are attacking many Mexican freighting outfits traversing the section around La Oroya, according to Americans who have arrived recently from the Sahuayo district. Brisk battles are not unusual, they say, the Indians winning the majority of fights.

Several frontiers have been killed. It is said, and others were tortured. The favorite method of the Indians seemed to be to strip men of all their clothing and turn them loose on the desert to make their way home as best they can.

No effort is being made to curb the Indians, the Americans stated, because of the usefulness of their services to the constitutionalist army.

QUEJEDA STUBBORNLY HOLDS ON TO CITY OF GUAYMAS

Hermosillo, Sonora, Mex., Dec. 22.—An American cruiser was lying off San Blas, Sinaloa, today, according to information tonight received at constitutionalist headquarters. Collihue, the state capital, and San Blas are held by insurgent forces.

While it was not made clear what reason the American ship had for being in the neighborhood, it was believed that the purpose was to confer with Felipe Rivero, constitutionalist governor of Sinaloa regarding the reported imprisonment of W. S. Windham and J. M. Dunn, Americans. Since the announcement from Washington that a cruiser had been sent to investigate, the two men have been found, it is said, and the story of their imprisonment by insurgent officials refuted.

Emphatic denial was made in all quarters here of the report from Mexico that the insurgents had been defeated at Mazatlan and Tepic. It was pointed out that the capital had absolutely no communication with those west coast points. It was denied that any fighting had occurred within the last fortnight.

Railroads and telegraph are declared to be operating within ten miles of Mazatlan and equally close to Tepic. It was reported that a federal airplane flying off Mazatlan frequently had shelled without result, passenger and troop trains which are moving freely.

Nothing has been heard from Guaymas since the recent declaration and reported disarmament of a part of the federal garrison. Insurgent officials here consider that General Ojeda could not hold out many more days in view of the threatened demoralization of his troops. Some admiration has been expressed for his tenacity.

The insurgents will not attempt another attack on the government forces of the port city as long as the federal gunboats are in a position to shell the town and menace the lives of non-combatants, it is stated.

ALIENISTS BEGIN TO TESTIFY IN SCHMIDT TRIAL

Dr. Smith Ely Jelliffe of New York Gives Testimony for Defense, Showing Ex-Priest to Be Insane.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
New York, Dec. 22.—The prosecution of alienists began their march to the witness stand today at the trial of Hans Schmidt, for murder. Dr. Smith Ely Jelliffe of New York had testified for the defense, court adjourned early to enable Schmidt's attorneys to construct a hypothetical question which will be put to Dr. Jelliffe and to other medical experts.

Practically all of Dr. Jelliffe's testimony indicated that Schmidt was abnormal. The witness said the priest complained to him that his lips and fellow clergy refused to acknowledge his authority. The defendant excused his forger of the signature of his professor at Munich by saying: "I was in high spirits and good health and I entered into the personality of the professor. I was the professor. So it was not wrong for me to sign his name."

Dr. Jelliffe asked Schmidt if he ever played the violin in a bath as one of the former witnesses had testified. "I did," said Schmidt. "It was nobody's business. I felt like it and I put my feet in the water and sat in it and played. What an inspired man does heaven wishes him to do."

During one of his visits to Schmidt's cell, said Dr. Jelliffe, another physician who accompanied him picked his forehead with a needle and showed the prisoner a drop of blood. Instantly Schmidt's face became livid. "All blood is mine," he shouted, making a lunge for the physician's hand and trying to raise it to his lips.

PROPOSES TO MERGE PHONE LINES WITH POSTAL SERVICE

Representative Lewis of Maryland Gives House Full Details of His Plan for Government Ownership.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
Washington, Dec. 22.—Government ownership of the nation's telephone lines would cost less than $200,000,000 and would present no greater difficulty of financing than did the Panama canal, Representative Lewis of Maryland, told the house today in an exhaustive analysis of his proposal to have these lines operated by the post-office department.

"Investigation discloses that our telephone rates are the highest among twenty countries. The result of these abnormal rates is that we rank only sixth as telephone users. Against these conditions, it appears that our postal rates average lower than other countries and that the number of letters here is the highest in the world," said Mr. Lewis.

"The telephone companies seem to be lacking in institutional economy or efficiency. The operation of sending a telegram is loaded down with seventy-four incidental services and processes, not less than fifty of which would be replaced by affixing the postage stamp. The American inefficiency is exaggerated by the duplication of telegraph offices in all the important towns and cities and the demand of the service at many thousand unnecessary points.

"A striking feature is the discovery that the telephone service is a relatively declining institution, and that it would be wiser now to modernize it alone and as a single service. To take over the telephone lines alone and operate them merely as telegraph lines might result in postal bankruptcy.

"But our toll and long distance rates compare with those of other countries even less favorably than do our telephone rates. It is not unfair, or inaccurate to say that the American interurban telephone rates are the scandal of public service rates the world over. The American Telephone monopoly takes the thirteenth place among seventeen countries with regard to the lowness of these rates.

"The local rates of the Bell Telephone monopoly are just twice the average charge in other countries. While our postal rates give us the first rank in lowness of charges, this company ranks but fourteenth among sixteen countries with its local charges and we are one of three countries where the charge for a local call exceeds the letter postage rate, the other thirteen countries giving a much lower single phone call rate than their letter rates.

"The subscribers' rates in American cities, compared with continental cities, are about three times as high. For example, New York, where 5,000 calls about fifteen a day under a measured service, cost more than the four unlimited yearly rates of London, Paris, Berlin and Stockholm together. For like service, Baltimore people pay more than the rates for London and Paris combined and Washington pays as much as the five cities of Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Auckland, Tokyo and Copenhagen combined. In postal telephone cost the local toll tariffs tend to run about half the charge of a letter, while here it runs with the street car fare and sometimes exceeds it, and is three times the letter rate.

"While competition does not supply a remedy because it divides the service and necessitates the payment for two phones, yet it throws an illuminating sidelight on the tendency of a private monopoly to push up the rates. Thus, sixty of the great American cities, averaging 342,456 in population, pay an average annual phone rate of $52.50 under competition; while the other thirty-six cities average only $35.82 in population without competition, pay an average rate of $31. Since competition can only augment the total cost of operation, it is apparent how private monopoly and high rates go hand in hand.

"It will be unnecessary to take over the telephone lines here (capitalized at $240,000,000), as both kinds of communication can be handled on the telephone wires, which exceed the telegraph wires in mileage and geographical distribution.

"The cost of acquiring the telephone networks is indicated as something less than $200,000,000, for which it is proposed to issue 2 per cent bonds, payable in fifty years. It is calculated that the postal system by super-imposing the telephone service on the telegraph lines at half the present telephone rates, may save some $20,000,000 annually from that traffic alone, which, with the present profits of the telephone, and after the deduction of interest on the bonds and depreciation would supply the department with a large surplus for extensions and so forth."

PRESIDENT JOINS IN SINGING AT THEATRE

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
Washington, Dec. 22.—President Wilson stood in a box in a local theatre today, then with uplifted hands joined in the chorus of "Old Nassau," the alma mater song of Princeton. It was at the conclusion of the performance of the Princeton University "Triangle Club," when the entire audience rose and Mr. Wilson sang, as did all alumni of the institution present. The play, a musical comedy written by the students, was attended by Washington society in general.

INVENTOR BELIEVES RADIO TELEPHONE WOULD WORK

Lee De Forest, on Trial for Misuse of Mail in Wireless Promotion, Says Statements Were Not Overdrawn.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
New York, Dec. 22.—Lee De Forest, the inventor, had faith in the wireless telephone and was sincere in his belief of its success at the time he and others organized the Radio Wireless Telephone company. De Forest made this statement today to a jury in the federal court here. He is on trial with James Dunlop Smith, Elmer E. Burlingame and Samuel Darby, charged with misuse of the mails to promote sales of the company's stock. He was a witness for the defense.

De Forest told of the merits of the invention on which the organization of the Radio company was based and asserted that wireless telephone communication was established between Milwaukee and Chicago and vice versa. Cross-examined about certain messages which the government alleges were never sent between those cities, although they were advertised by the company, De Forest explained that reasons "mainly mechanical" preventing the telephone company from operating, were responsible for their not being sent. The witness conceded that the Radio company had never yielded returns to the stockholders.

Questioned concerning the pamphlets issued by the company, De Forest said he did not think the claims they contained were exaggerated. "The telephone promised much," he declared.

AMERICAN IS RELEASED ON ORDER OF HUERTA

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
Washington, Dec. 22.—Word came today to the state department from Mexico City that at the instance of Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge, the federal government had ordered the unconditional release of William Krause, an American, who had become involved in some of the plotting incident to the present revolution in the Mexican capital. A report of a small skirmish near the town of Aldama, about twenty-five miles northwest of Tampico, claimed as a federal victory, was the only war news received today.

PRESIDENT ORDERS SHARP REPRIMAND FOR OFFICERS

Army and Navy Men Who Participated in Recent Carabao Dinner Will Receive Official "Call Down" for Levity.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
Washington, Dec. 22.—President Wilson today made public a letter addressed to Secretaries Garrison and Daniels, respectively, requesting that "a very serious reprimand be administered to those army and navy officers who participated in the recent dinner of the Military Order of the Carabao in which the administration's Philippine and other policies were satirized. The letter follows:

"The officers who were responsible for the program of the evening are certainly deserving of a very serious reprimand, which I hereby request be administered, and I can not rid myself of a feeling of great disappointment that the general body of officers assembled at the dinner should have sneered the carrying out of such a program with apparent indifference to the fact that it violated some of the most dignified and sacred traditions of the service.

"I am told that the songs and other amusements of the evening were intended and regarded as 'fun.' What are we to think of officers of the army and navy of the United States who think it 'fun' to bring their official superiors into ridicule and the policies of the government which they are sworn to serve with unquestioning loyalty, into contempt? If this is their idea of 'fun,' what is their idea of duty? If they do not hold their loyalty above all silly effusions of exultation, why should their profession do they hold sacred?

"My purpose, therefore, in administering this rebuke, is to recall to the men who are responsible for this lowering of standards to their ideals, to remind them of the high conception with which they ought to put duty above personal indulgence, and to think of themselves as responsible men and trusted officers, even while they are amusing themselves as dinner-out."

"Signatures: WOODROW WILSON, Secretaries Garrison and Daniels decided to administer the reprimand by transmitting a copy of the president's letter to each member of the entertainment committee.

Secretary Garrison immediately sent this memorandum to Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army.

"It is hereby ordered that the officers of the United States army who were on the dinner committee and were, therefore, responsible for the program of entertainment at the recent dinner of the Military Order of the Carabao, held December 11, 1913, be reprimanded in presence of the members of the committee on the communication of the president to me, dated December 12, 1913, copy herewith. The term that the reprimand should take should be to furnish to each of said officers a copy of the letter from the president."

Secretary Daniels probably will issue a similar order tomorrow, making the presidential rebuke effective as far as navy officers are concerned.

The members of the dinner committee on the part of the army who will receive copies of President Wilson's communication are:

Major Lawrence M. Fuller, retired;

Major Francis J. Keestner, Captain Warren Dean, Captain Frank T. Hines, Major James E. Nesmyke, Major Edgar Russell, Brigadier Frank McIntire and Col. F. C. H. Heistand.

These navy officers served on the dinner committee.

Rear Admiral Thomas B. Howard, chairman; Milton General William P. Huddle, U. S. M. C.; Captain W. B. Shoemaker, Surgeon Frank E. McCullough, Lieutenant Commander Frank E. Hagley, Paymaster Victor S. Jackson.

The only member of the committee not in the service is Dr. Joseph M. Butler, formerly a major in the volunteer medical corps and secretary of the Washington council of the Carabao. He seems to be beyond reach of President Wilson's reprimand, as he is now back in civil life.

It has not yet been determined whether the reprimand will be noted on the records of the respective officers, but opinion tonight is that such notation will not be made.

War Minister to Lead Troops

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Dec. 22.—The government is making extensive preparations to retake the town of Esmeraldas from the rebels under Col. Carlos Caceres, who captured the place on December 15. Gen. Juan Navarro, the war minister, has resigned his portfolio and will assume command of the operations. He left today for Ithala de Caceres, a seaport about one hundred miles south of Esmeraldas, with reinforcements.

NATIONAL BANKS TO COMPLY WITH NEW LAW

Treasury Department Receives Numerous Applications by Wire From Widely Scattered Institutions.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
Washington, Dec. 22.—What treasury officials regarded as an indication of how financial circles will receive the new federal currency system, came from Boston today in a message to Secretary McAdoo from the National State Bank, one of the largest institutions in New England.

The message declared that the executive committee of the bank had voted unanimously to advise its directors to accept the new law and enter the system.

Receipts at the treasury of scores of telegraphic applications from all parts of the country backed Mr. McAdoo to believe that there can be no question now that a large part of the national banks intend to come into the system. There are about 7,500 national banks in the United States and not more than a few hundred have voted their intention to apply for membership in the federal system, but a rush of applications is expected as soon as the bill is signed by President Wilson. Many of the banks, realizing that they cannot get in the first application and not caring particularly about the relative position they may obtain, are understood to be awaiting the signing of the bill.

Applications today came from the following cities:

Waterloo, Ind.; Boston, Omaha, Westfield, N. J.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Madison, Wis.; Lynchburg, Va.; Olinville, Ind.; Wilmington, Del.; Bloomington and Springfield, Ill.; Marion, Ind.; Columbia and Sedalia, Mo.; St. John, Ore.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Topeka, and Parsons, Kan.

TELEPHONE DEVICE DETECTED POLITICIAN

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
Vicksburg, Miss., Dec. 22.—Testimony purporting to have been obtained by means of a telephone device, was introduced today at the trial of State Senator C. A. Hobbs, charged with soliciting and accepting a bribe in connection with a bill providing for the creation of a new county in Mississippi. This testimony tended to corroborate that given by Stephen Castleman, who after cross examination today, was excused. He swore that he had given Hobbs $250 as a bribe.

W. L. Douglas, who said he recorded conversations between Hobbs and Castleman, read to the jury what he said were notes of these conversations. According to these notes, Castleman was willing to give a bribe and Hobbs to receive it.

CONGRESSMAN PEPPER CLAIMED BY DEATH

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.

Congressman Pepper was first elected to the Sixty-second congress and re-elected to the Sixty-third congress. When a young man he taught school. COURT DISMISSES CHARGE AGAINST MOELLER

El Pasoan Was Accused in Indictments of Obtaining Money
Under False Pretenses in Real Estate Deal.

Judge H. P. Reynolds of the district court yesterday dismissed two indictments against William Moeller, charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses. The grand jury of the March, 1912, term returned one and the grand jury of the September, 1912, term returned the other.

Deputy Sheriff A. C. Hurlless recently arrested Moeller in El Paso, but he prevented the officer bringing him here by instituting habeas corpus proceedings.

Moeller, according to the indictment, returned in 1912, obtained $25 from Charles F. Redman by representing to him that lots in the Highland Park addition to Las Cruces were located about four blocks from the main business section of the city. As a matter of fact the lots were more than two miles from that district, according to the indictment.

Moeller in the indictment reported in 1910, was charged with obtaining $60 from John H. Johnson by representing to him that lots in the Highland Park addition to Las Cruces were about four blocks from the business center. In fact they were two miles away, according to the grand jury.

SENTENCE GIVEN CHAVEZ FOR PERJURY, SUSPENDED

Upon Carlos R. Chavez pleading guilty to a charge of perjury, in an indictment returned by the grand jury at the March, 1912, term of court, Judge Reynolds yesterday sentenced him to serve from four to five years, but suspended sentence.

Two indictments were on record against Chavez, the one to which he pleaded and another, also charging him with perjury, returned by the grand jury at the same term.

According to the indictment, Chavez, at the trial of the case of Delvina Sanchez against Felix Chavez de Candelaria and Antonio Jose Chavez, Jr., administrator of the estate of Jose P. Candelaria, Jr., testified that Jose P. Candelaria, December 15, 1908, executed a deed to the plaintiff. As a matter of fact Candelaria did not execute the deed,
the indictment stated.
