CURRENCY BILL BECOMES LAW AFTER PRESIDENT HAS USED FOUR GOLD PENS TO AFFIX APPROVAL

SPEAKER CLARK AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OF NATION CHARACTERIZE MEASURE AS NON-PARTISAN IN EFFECT

Members of Cabinet, Democratic Leaders of House and Senate and Many Legislators Are Present When New Provision for Regulation of Country's Banking Business Is Put Into Effect; Enthusiasm and Jollification Attend Ceremonies; Glass and Owen Are Highly Complimented for Success With Which They Carried Out Plans for First Reform of Its Kind During Exactly Fifty Years Since Financial System Was Adopted by United States.

Washington, Dec. 23.—President Wilson signed the Glass-Owen currency bill at 6:01 o'clock tonight in the presence of members of his cabinet, the congressional committee on banking and currency and democratic leaders in congress generally.

Speaker Clark, after the signing of the bill by the president, issued a statement as follows:

"Most assuredly the country is to be congratulated on the fact that at last the currency bill is on the statute books. For in such matters of great public moment, it is the uncertainty that hangs over a bill which is the sum total of human wisdom on any particular subject. Now, all men of intelligence will know very soon what the currency bill contains and what it means, and can conduct their affairs accordingly.

"My own judgment is that it will be satisfactory to the country in a high degree—at least I hope so. The fact that a large number of republicans and progressives voted for our bill is proof positive that the country is well pleased with it.

"So many of them so voted that it may not improperly be denominated a non-partisan currency law. We certainly have ample cause for self-congratulation that in nine months we have passed a bill revising all the tariff schedules and a bill thoroughly revising and overhauling our currency system.

"Our two bills are excellent samples of constructive legislation. The tariff bill is working well and now that the uncertainty as to the currency bill is removed, I hope and believe that the country is entering a long period of prosperity."

With a few strokes of the pen the president converted into law the measure to be known as the Federal Reserve act, reorganizing the nation's banking and currency system and furnishing, in the words of the president, "the machinery for free and elastic and uncontrolled credits, put at the disposal of the merchants and manufacturers of this country for the first time in fifty years."

An enthusiastic applause ran through the ceremony not only as the president affixed his signature, but as he delivered an extemporaneous speech characterizing the measure of the administration to take common counsel with the business men of the country and the latter's efforts to meet the government's advances as "the constitution of peace."

The event came at the close of a day of rejoicing in the national capital, for congress had recessed for two weeks for the first time since it convened last April.

The democratic leaders were jubilant because they had completed two big pieces of legislation—the tariff and the currency reform, in nine months—a performance which they considered unprecedented in the history of the country.

"I need not tell you," said the president to the assembled group as he took up his pen, "that I feel a very deep gratification at being able to sign this bill and I feel that I ought to express very heartily the admiration I have for the men who have made it possible for me to sign this bill. There have been currents and counter-currents, but the stream has moved forward. I think that we owe special admiration to the patience and the leadership and the skill and the force of the chairman of the two committees; and behind them have stood the committees themselves, exercising a degree of scrutiny and of careful thought in this matter which undoubtedly has redounded to the benefit of the bill. Then, there has grown up the great piece of business which preceded it, evidence of very notable, indeed, only constructive action, only the action which recognizes something like men with the enthusiasm of co-operation and I think at this session of congress we have witnessed an accumulating pleasure and enthusiasm on the part of the membership of both houses in seeing substantial and lasting things accomplished.

"It is a matter of real gratification to me that in the case of this bill there should have been a number of republican votes cast for it, but this cannot be called a partisan measure. It has been relieved of all intimation of that sort by the cordial co-operation of men on the other side of the two houses who have acted with us and have given very substantial reasons and very intelligent reasons with us. So that I think we can go home with the feeling that we are in better spirits for public service than we were even when we convened in April.

"As for the bill itself, I feel that we can say that it is the first of a series of constructive measures of which the democratic party will show that it knows how to serve the country. In calling it the first of a series of constructive measures, I need not say that I am not casting any reflections on the great tariff bill which preceded it. The tariff bill was meant to remove the impediments to American industry and prosperity which had so long stood in their way. It was a great piece of preparation for the achievements of American commerce and American industry which are certain to follow. Then there came upon the heels of it this bill which furnishes the people free and elastic and uncontrolled credits, put at the disposal of the merchants and manufacturers of this country for the first time in fifty years. I was refreshing my memory on the passage of the national bank act, which came in two pieces, as you know in February of 1863, and in June of 1863; it is just fifty years ago since that measure was passed, and it has taken us more than a generation and a half to come to an understanding as to the readjustments which were necessary for our own time. But we have reached the readjustments. I myself have always felt, when the democratic party was criticized as not knowing how to serve the business interests of the country that there was no use of replying to that in words. The only satisfactory reply was in action. We have written the first chapter of that reply.

"We are greatly favored by the circumstances of our time. We come at the end of a day of content, at the end of a day when we have been scrutinizing the processes of our business, scrutinizing them with critical and sometimes with hostile eye. We have slowly been coming to this time which has now happily arrived when there is a common recognition of the things that it is undesirable should be done in business. What we are proceeding to do now is to organize our peace, to make our prosperity not only stable, but free to have an unimpeded momentum. It is so obvious that it ought not need to be stated that nothing can be good for the country which is not good for all of the country. Nothing can be for the interest of the country, which is not for the interest of everybody, therefore the day of accommodation, of concession, and of common understanding, is the day of peace and achievement. We have come to the beginning of that day. Men are no longer resisting the conclusions, which the nation has arrived at, as to the necessity of readjustments of its business. Business men of all sorts are showing their willingness to come into this arrangement which I venture to characterize as the constitution of peace. So that by common counsel and by the accumulating force of co-operation we are going to seek more and more to serve the country.

"I have been surprised at the sudden acceptance of this measure by public opinion everywhere. I say surprised, because it seems as if it had had looked at it with too critical an eye, that it was really meant to be a thing, which they had supposed to be hostile, to be friendly and serviceable—exactly what we intended it to be and what we shall intend our legislation to be.

"The men who have fought for this measure have fought nobly. They have simply fought for those accommodations which are going to secure us in prosperity and in peace. Nobody can be the friend of any class in America in the sense of being the enemy of any other class. You can only be the friend of one class by showing it the lines by which it can accommodate itself to the other classes. The lines of help are always the lines of accommodation.

"It is in this spirit, therefore, that I can say with what deep emotions of gratitude I feel that I have had a part in completing a work which I think will be of lasting benefit to the business of the country."

The scene at the signing of the measure was not unlike that which attended the completion of the tariff bill. The conference report on the bill which had passed the house last night by an overwhelming vote was likewise adopted by the senate this afternoon by a vote of 42 to 25, republicans voting again with the democrats. The engrossed bill, with the signature of the vice president and the speaker of the house were finally brought to the White House shortly before five o'clock.

By six o'clock, the hour set for the ceremony, Speaker Clark, Representative Underwood, Senator Owen and Representative Glass, Secretaries McAdoo, Garrison, Daniels, Lane and Wilson and Postmaster General Burleson were grouped around the president's desk and in front of him crowded members of congress and many government officials. The group also included Mrs. Wilson and her daughters, Mrs. McAdoo and Mrs. Owen. There was an atmosphere of joyousness rather than solemnity apparent. The president inquired if Senator James had come. The husky form of the Kentucky senator appeared from behind the crowd and someone remarked:

"A majority of the senate has now arrived."

Four gold pens were used by the president in writing the bill into law. He wrote the words, "23, December, 1913, approved," with one and used three pens in writing "Woodrow Wilson," splitting the first name into two syllables. The last three pens he presented to Senator Owen, Representative Glass and Secretary McAdoo.

The president answered the curiosity of the crowd as to the disposition of the bill. He wrote the words, "23, December, 1913, approved," with one and used three pens in writing "Woodrow Wilson," splitting the first name into two syllables. The last three pens he presented to Senator Owen, Representative Glass and Secretary McAdoo.

JUNIOR REPUBLIC HEAD IS UPHELD BY TRUSTEES

William R. George Has No Official Connection With Freewill, N. Y., Institution, Says Report.

New York, Dec. 23.—No action looking toward the removal of William R. George from all participation in the affairs of the George Junior Republic, will be taken at this time by the trustees of the Freewill, N. Y., institution. This was the reply forwarded by them today to the state board of charities regarding the board's action in calling upon them to force Mr. George to sever his official connection with the institution he founded. His removal was recommended after an investigation of charges made against him. No decision was given at any time on the charges.

The trustees in their communication to the state board expressed "utmost confidence in the future of the republic," and asserted that nearly all of the published criticisms of it were due to a misunderstanding of actual conditions. The board was informed that the trustees felt they could not accede to its request to abandon the republic's idea of self-government and turn the institution into a farm colony.

Regarding the recommendation for the removal of George, the trustees pointed out that the founder has had no official connection with the republic since 1908, although he is at present the director of the national association of junior republics. The trustees set forth that the charges against him are still under investigation by a committee of high standing and hence "any action of the trustees or any recommendation made by them in this regard in advance of the decision of this eminent jury, which will soon be rendered, would not only be a grave discourtesy but would be manifestly unfair."

The action of the trustees will be governed entirely by the findings of the investigators, the trustees declared.

JUDSON CLEMENTS IS REAPPOINTED BY WILSON

Washington, Dec. 23.—Judson C. Clements, of Georgia, was reappointed today by President Wilson as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission and his nomination was hurried to the senate, which confirmed it.

Unclad Woman Dies From Exposure. Chicago, Dec. 23.—A woman who was found in a south side alley yesterday, clad only in an apron and one shoe and who later was identified as Hannah Laughlin, Battle Creek, Mich., died today as the result of exposure. She died without giving any explanation of how she happened to be found in the alley.

ELLA FLAGG YOUNG AGAIN ELECTED SCHOOL HEAD IN CHICAGO

Women and Mayor Harrison Triumph in Stormy Session of Board of Education of Windy City.

ANGRY COMMENTS BY FRIENDS AND ENEMIES

When Voting Began, After Reign of Confusion, It Required Only Fifteen Minutes to Put Through Program.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Although Ella Flagg Young was voted back into the superintendency of the Chicago public schools today, after a stormy session of the board of education, seven members refused to vote on the ground that the board had no power to reconsider the election of John D. Shoop, assistant superintendent under Mrs. Young, who had been elected as her successor. Contention also was made that the four new members of the board named by Mayor Harrison to replace four whose resignations he had enforced, were not entitled to their seats.

The action of the board in removing Shoop and replacing Mrs. Young, will at once be challenged in court. It was announced by the opposition. Mrs. Young's failure to be re-elected two weeks ago by the school board roused a storm of popular indignation. Mass meetings were held and the school board and the mayor's office were besieged by delegations which demanded that Shoop resign and make way for Mrs. Young to come back. Mayor Harrison declared that members of the school board appointed by him had voted against Mrs. Young in an "underhand way." He summarily accepted the resignations of four, whose resignations had been placed in his hands when Shoop was elected.

The four were in their seats before the meeting convened and refused to leave. "The mayor has been carried away because a number of delegations of women visited his office," shouted Trustee Harding, one of those whose resignations had been accepted by the mayor, but who took the floor and defied the chairman to silence him.

"Those women do not represent Chicago. They do not represent a tenth part of Chicago. Chicago does not want Mrs. Young just because a crowd of women hold mass meetings."

Few of the arguments were intelligible because of the number shouting together.

"Don't listen to the liar," cried Mr. Loebe of the Young faction, as Mr. Sonsteyn accused him of secretly voting against Mrs. Young.

"There's the chairman who invited me to join his monkeyshine club and I refused to do it," yelled Harding, pointing at President Reuberg.

"My God, will Chicago stand for these outages here today?" shouted Sonsteyn.

Mrs. John McMahon, trustee, tried to get the floor.

"I know you are a woman and anywhere else I'd remember that I am a gentleman, and I'd stand aside for you," exclaimed Sonsteyn, "but here on this question I will not yield to you."

Nothing was accomplished, except to get the principal objections of the anti-Young faction into the record, until it came to voting on the resolutions to unseat Shoop and elect Mrs. Young. Then the trustees, explaining their votes, got a chance to make themselves understood.

Mrs. Young was kicked out, said Dr. Clemenson. She resigned to save herself from being kicked out, but she was kicked out just the same. However, she was out and I voted for Shoop as a good civil service move. He was the next in line. We haven't come to the point yet when only one person can conduct our educational system. I believe that Mrs. Young's usefulness here is at an end. After this she could not serve here and be of use. I voted against her."

"Mrs. Young got up and marched out of here in a fit of pique," said Mr. Rothman. "She would have been re-elected if she had stayed for another ballot. An injury may have been done to Mrs. Young, but it won't make things better to do an injury to Mr. Shoop."

PRESIDENT STARTS TO PASS CHRISTIAN

Washington, Dec. 23.—President Wilson, with Mrs. Wilson, their two daughters, Misses Margaret and Eleanor, Miss Helen Woodrow and Dr. Cary Grayson, naval aid, left Washington tonight at 10:45 o'clock for Pass Christian, Miss., to spend Christmas.

The president studied the crowd which had gathered at the depot to see him depart, by boarding his private car an hour before his time for departure.

Joseph Tumulty, the president's secretary, did not accompany the party. He will remain at the White House during the holidays and keep in touch with the president by telephone.

"BIG TIM'S" CHRISTMAS GIFTS CONTINUED

New York, Dec. 23.—Although "Big Tim" Sullivan is dead, those who in the past looked to him for their Christmas dinner, will not so hungry this year. His heirs announced today that poor families in the bawdy district would continue to receive the usual Christmas dinner baskets, and that the inmates of the lodging houses along the bawdy would also be remembered as formerly. It was also stated that the Timothy D. Sullivan association had been reorganized and incorporated to carry on the benevolent work.

TANGO AN EXHIBIT IN CALIFORNIA COURT

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 23.—Although legally termed a "statement of fact," and presented as such, the tango was danced today in the police court before Judge Thomas P. White.

The "statement" was introduced at the hearing of M. C. Melkeldohn, charged with having operated a dancing academy without a license. The defendant said he was not a dancing teacher, but an entertaining dancer and offered to prove it. The court consented and Melkeldohn, obtaining a partner from among his acquaintances who attended the hearing began.

"I know how to tango," said the judge. "Let's see this tango."

The judge and all court attaches watched the "statement" with much interest, the case being later taken under advisement.

VON KLEIN GUILTY OF BIGAMY, SAYS JURY

Portland, Ore., Dec. 23.—Edmund E. Von Klein, of Chicago, was found guilty of bigamy here tonight.

The indictment was that he lived here bigamously with Ethel Newcomb in 1911. He was tried on a charge of stealing Miss Newcomb's jewels, each trial resulting in a disbarment.

Practically no defense was introduced in the present case, only two minor witnesses being introduced.

MORE BANKS ASK TO COME UNDER NEW CURRENCY LAW

George M. Reynolds, President of Second Largest Institution in United States, Recommends Application.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Banks in several of the large cities of the country today telegraphed Secretary McAdoo their applications for membership in the new federal banking system. Two national banks in New York, the first from that city, applied, and St. Louis, Cleveland, Denver, Seattle and Philadelphia, all came along with one or more applications. Three trust companies, one in St. Louis, one in Baltimore and one in Washington, applied. The clearing house associations of Kansas City, Mo., and Atlanta, expressed approval of the law and their intention to recommend to member banks the desirability of entering the new system. George M. Reynolds, of the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago, telegraphed that he expected to recommend to shareholders entrance to the system.

Among other cities which sent applications was Houston, Tex. If a majority of filings applications is counted in admitting banks to membership, the honor of being first will go to the Lynchburg National bank at Lynchburg, Va. Lynchburg is the home city of Chairman Glass of the house banking and currency committee.

To Define Cuban Sugar Tariff. Washington, Dec. 23.—Representative Estepola of Louisiana, introduced a resolution in the house today to authorize an inquiry into what will be the status of sugar importations from Cuba under the new Underwood tariff bill. It is claimed that while congress repealed the provision of the existing reciprocity treaty with Cuba stipulating that a 25 per cent preferential rate given the island shall be based on the rates named in the Dingley bill of 1897, a grave mistake was made in not repealing the act of congress passed to put the treaty itself into effect.

SHEEPMAN DRAFTED INTO FRENCH ARMY

Grand Junction, Dec. 23.—Joseph J. Nougouier, postmaster of San Rafael, Utah, whose sheep grazed just over the state line in the winter time, has been drafted into the French army. He has complained to Senator Sutherland, of Utah, who has promised to use his influence with the French government to have Nougouier released from military obligations.

Nougouier is a naturalized American, but the French military law requires that a citizen of that country obtain permission to accept allegiance from another country before he can be released from his military duties. Nougouier went back to France last summer, with Vincent Nougouier, Pierre-Gentil and Martin Mouren, who were associated with him in the sheep business.

ALIENISTS TESTIFY IN SCHMIDT CASE

New York, Dec. 23.—Alienists called by the defense testified today at the trial of Hans Schmidt for the murder of Anna Amulmier, that the prisoner is a paranoiac.

Dr. William A. White, of the United States hospital for the insane, Washington, D. C., said he was convinced the defendant's insanity was of the paranoiac type. Schmidt, he believed, had a perverted understanding of the nature of his act.

Dr. Henry, of the New Jersey state hospital at Trenton, gave testimony coinciding with that of Doctor Jelliffe and White. He thought Schmidt had suffered from aberrations for six years and was incurable.

That Schmidt was insane at the time of the murder was the opinion of Dr. M. S. Gregory, of Bellevue hospital, this city.

GOOD FELLOW DIES DOING GOOD TO LITTLE BOY

Proves That Santa Claus Is Not a Myth by Laying Down His Life for Happiness of Nine-Year-Old Boy.

Denver, Dec. 23.—Little Wilbur Harris, a nine-year-old orphan, son of a poverty-stricken mother, who has his Santa Claus, Christmas morning, but W. H. Heap, a philanthropist, who had come to Denver from Paterson, N. J., because he was dying of tuberculosis, and who made possible the salvation of the Christmas myth for little Wilbur, is dead. And his death came because he ignored his specialists' command to remain at home in his bed; ignored them and walked block after block in the deep snow in the impoverished section of the city laden with a sled, train of cars, clothes, rubbers, candy and many other presents for the destitute Harris family.

To Heap had come word, through his interest in a legion of "good fellows," that Mrs. Harris had in desperation told her little boy there was no Santa Claus for poor children. That was last Friday, and Mr. Heap, from his bed, and in his automobile was driven to the shopping district where he himself, dying, made the selection of gifts which were to bring happiness to a little soul. But the automobile could not penetrate the deep drifts of heavily packed snow in the lower part of town, and this Good Fellow staggered under his burden to the Harris door.

In presenting the sled to the mother, who cried from sheer joy, Mr. Heap remarked:

"The sled will do him lots of good. I think if the youngster (who is a cripple) can get out in the open air with plenty of warm clothes, he may be cured, partially, of his ailment. God's open air is the thing we have, anyway."

And coughing violently, the Good Fellow was half-carried to his machine by the happy mother.

He was hurried home and the specialists were quickly summoned, but too late. The Good Fellow had died.

And today funeral services, attended by other Good Fellows, were held over his body.

WHITE SLAVE FILM DECLARED INDECENT

New York, Dec. 23.—Showing the white slave film which last Friday caused Harry W. Newburger, deputy police commissioner, to close a Broadway theater, precipitated a raid tonight on another theater further down Broadway. Action against the management of theaters was taken on a warrant issued by Police Magistrate Murphy. Giving a public exhibition of an immoral moving picture is the charge.

Commissioner Newburger entered the theater with five detectives and arrested four men and women connected with the management of the house. The film was being shown at the time. When the audience began to clamor for a refund of the money paid for admission, it was announced that this could not be made because the sanction of those under arrest would have to be secured. Over 300 of the spectators threatened to make trouble and they were still crowding the lobby of the house at a late hour.

FLYING WEDGE OF FEDERALS INVADERS TERRITORY OF INSURRECTOS

General Villa Is Temporarily Cut Off From Communication With Juarez by Small Force of Huerta's Men.

SALAZAR BELIEVED TO BE IN COMMAND

Aside From Annoyance Caused by Destruction of Bridges and Breaking of Wires, No Harm Is Done, It Is Said.

Juarez, Mexico, Dec. 23.—A flying wedge of federal troops swept into rebel territory today and, adopting the tactics of guerrilla warfare, began a campaign to destroy railroad bridges and telegraph lines, according to rebel reports.

Their first act was to cut off communication between General Francisco Villa's 6,000 rebels at Chihuahua and the rebel base at Juarez. By pulling down telegraph wires south of Juarez, the federals temporarily isolated Villa in Chihuahua, so far as direct communication was concerned.

The small federal band went out from Ojinaga, on the border and was believed to have been commanded by General Ynes Salazar, who is well known in guerrilla warfare. The plan of the federals, as understood by the rebel chiefs, is to operate extensively over northern Mexico and by working in circles, to destroy all property that might be of use to the rebels without engaging the latter in a fight. According to report, Salazar's men were headed for the Casas Grandes district, west of the railroad running from Juarez, and were designing to burn houses and other property. In this district are located comparatively rich agricultural and grazing fields, cultivated by Mormon colonies. Most of the Mormons have left.

It is believed by the rebels that the federals will form nothing more than a fugitive band, destroying what property they can reach and disappearing before they can be overtaken. Extensive destruction of railroads and telegraph lines would work against the rebels, but so far no serious damage has been done, as the wires between Juarez and Chihuahua are soon to be repaired.

Rebel headquarters held to the belief that Salazar took only a small part of the federal army from Ojinaga. It was also said that Salazar, after crossing the rebel line of communication and temporarily crippling it, might never again be heard from. Salazar had only what are known as federal volunteers who might return to civilian life.

An attempted invasion by the federals into rebel territory was expected, and General Villa regarded it as insignificant. He said the rebels were too well fortified in Chihuahua and on the border to be greatly harassed by the few federals remaining in the north. The total of the strength is about 4,000 soldiers, the bulk of whom are at Ojinaga while with more than ten thousand men Villa controls almost the whole of the country north of Torreon and west of Monterrey.

The last report from Villa was that he was sending men and supplies toward Torreon in preparation for an attack on that city. As the federals from Torreon had not opposed the rebel advance, General Villa's plan was to implant his men strongly and in numbers near that city before attacking it.

A train which left Chihuahua for Juarez before the telegraph was interrupted had not reached here tonight, although it was believed the railroad had not been impaired.

FRENCH CRUISER SAILS FOR PORT OF TAMPAICO

Yara Cruz, Dec. 23.—The French cruiser Conde sailed from here this afternoon for Tampico, the commander having received an urgent call from that port.

Sir Christopher Cradock, in command of the British warships and five of his officers, will leave tomorrow morning for Jalapa on a pleasure trip.

CHRISTMAS SEASON IS QUIET IN WAR-TORN MEXICO

Washington, Dec. 23.—Even in rebellion-torn Mexico the holiday season is bringing some measure of peace. State department advisers indicate a general slackening of hostilities and there has been nothing in the nature of a battle since the unimportant skirmish of December 19, at Altamira, near Tampico. Today's reports showed that Torreon and Comstock had been recaptured by the federals and that the rebels had reentered the towns of Zepeda and Parras, all without real fighting.

From the west coast, Commander Zeigler, on board the Amador at Acapulco reported that the condition there was quiet; that the constitutionalists had secured possession of San Marcos and that they were reported to be operating throughout the whole state of Guerrero.

ELEANOR WILSON IN SANTA CLAUS ROLE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 23.—Miss Eleanor Wilson, youngest daughter of the president, played Santa Claus to a host of little children today. With Christmas greetings from the president, she took an automobile load of toys and candies to a settlement on the Virginia side of the Potomac through which her father rides on his way to golf.

Miss Wilson visited about fifteen families.

"There hasn't ever been such a time before in Virginia," commented one local woman as the automobile stopped at her home.

"We haven't seen the president since '07," chimed in one of the children, "where is he?"

"He has been ill," said Miss Wilson. There was a general inquiry as to his health from those assembled, and Miss Wilson said her father sent his love and best wishes and was now going to Pass Christian for a vacation.

MISS BRANCE ASKS GOVERNOR WITNESS PERMISSION TO STAY IN JAIL AGAINST STATE SENATOR

Mysterious Woman, Who Lived for Three Years in Room Adjoining Office of Lawyer, Overwhelmed.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Monticello, N. Y., Dec. 23.—Miss Adelaide Brance, the woman who was with Stephen H. Couch, former district attorney of Sullivan county, when he died suddenly Sunday morning in his office, was given her freedom late this afternoon, the authorities having failed to connect her with the death of the man for whom she incurred herself for three years.

Though freed now even of the charge of petty larceny, on which she was held pending an investigation of the man's death, Miss Brance has asked permission to remain a voluntary prisoner for two or three days.

"I cannot face the world now," she said today. "I am sick at heart and sick physically."

Sheriff Kinney will permit the woman to stay long enough to regain her strength. She is destitute and says she has no place to which she might go. Today she expressed the wish to die and be buried beside the dead man.

Miss Brance refuses to give any information as to her relatives, saying that she does not wish to bring disgrace upon them.

It was learned today that Miss Brance and Couch quarreled shortly before the man's death. The woman told Couch she wished to visit an old time friend over the holidays. To this the lawyer would not listen. He grew excited and Miss Brance, fearing a scene, finally promised that she would remain with him. A few minutes afterwards the aged man fell over on the couch. She ran out to get a physician but on her return found the lawyer dead. Couch was buried this afternoon from the residence of his wife.

Late today Miss Brance gave the first hint as to her antecedents. "I was born in Hardwick, near Coopersburg, N. Y., where my brother now is employed in the postoffice," said she. "My father and mother are dead. But that is all I propose to tell of my family history. What happened to me before I came to Monticello, fifteen years ago, I feel concerned nobody."

HUERTA BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION IS A JOYOUS AFFAIR

Provisional President Declares He Is Not Anti-American and Will Protect All Foreigners.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Mexico City, Dec. 23.—President Huerta's birthday celebration was brought to a close at Chapultepec tonight by a series of speeches. The gathering included most of the president's official family and a few personal friends.

The minister of foreign affairs, Querido Moheno, attacked the policy of the United States energetically, saying that Huerta had been acclaimed as president not only by Mexico, but by twenty-two Latin-American states. He spoke in glowing terms of the support Mexico might expect from the Central and South American nations in event of war with another power.

Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, the ex-minister of the interior, however, called attention to Mexico's deplorable condition, the uncertain state of mind of millions of her people. He deplored the idea of settling Mexico's difficulties with an outside power in any other manner than diplomatically.

President Huerta patted him on the back when he had finished and in his own speech declared that he was not anti-American. He was opposed to jingoism, he said, and reiterated his intention to protect foreigners and defend their interests.

The Tribune, an afternoon paper, was suppressed today. The acting head of the department of the interior has warned the newspaper men that less publicity must be given to what he characterized as alarming news.

St. Louis, Dec. 23.—The resignation of Frederick A. Delano, as one of the three receivers of the Washburn railroad, was formally accepted in a order issued here today by Judge Adams. The court then announced that the appointment of a successor to Mr. Delano was unnecessary as the two remaining receivers, E. B. Pryor and W. K. Bush, could serve the purpose of the court.

CURRENCY BILL BECOMES LAW

of the fourth with the laughing remark: "This is the forty per cent gold reserve."

Later it developed that Senator Chilton, of West Virginia, had sent up a gold pen of his own to be used in writing the date of the law.

"I'm not accustomed," he said, "to write my name in a series," said the president.

"Well, the bill was made in installments," suggested Senator Lewis of Illinois.

"Isn't that a reflection on the senate?" inquired Representative Glass with a laugh.

Senator Lewis' remark was lost in the applause that followed the completion of the president's signature as he rose from his desk. The president attributes the success of the measure to the heads of the two congressional committees by writing each a letter. To Representative Glass he wrote:

"May I not express my admiration for the way in which you have carried the fight for the currency bill in an extraordinarily successful issue. I hope that the country appreciates the work you have done and I rejoice that you have established yourself in its confidence."

He wrote Senator Owen:

"Now that the fight has come to a successful issue, may I not extend to you my most sincere and heartfelt congratulations and also tell you how sincerely I admire the way in which you have conducted a very difficult and trying piece of business. The whole country owes you a debt of gratitude and admiration. It has been a pleasure to be associated with you in so great a piece of constructive legislation."

When the president completed his speech there was a general reception and a round of handshaking. The president extended the compliments of the season to his visitors. When everybody had gone, he cleared up his desk and sat thoughtfully for a minute. Presently he walked to the corridor outside of his office.

"Where's Pat?" he inquired and the individual addressed—Patrick McKenna, veteran doorkeeper—stopped forward, blushing with surprise, as the president seldom comes out in the corridors.

The doorkeeper looked up inquiringly.

"Merry Christmas, Pat," said the president, and he walked slowly over to the White House to arrange for his trip to Pass Christian, Miss.

Organization of the new banking system will be undertaken immediately by Secretary McAdoo of the treasury, and Secretary Houston of the agricultural department, two of the members of the committee charged with the task by the law. The controller of the currency is named as the third member, but this office is now vacant and cannot be filled until the president sends a nomination to the senate upon his return to Washington after the holidays. It is agreed in official circles, however, that a majority is authorized to act, so the two cabinet officers are preparing to proceed without waiting for a full committee.

Treasury department authorities decided that the deputy controller formerly in charge of the office could not serve on the organization committee.

Explorers' Vessels in Winter Quarters

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Chicago, Dec. 23.—Dr. H. M. Anderson, chief anthropologist with the Stefansson expedition, reported to George J. Desbarats, deputy minister of naval affairs, today, that all the scientists and members of the crews of the Alaska and Mary Sachs, two of the explorers' vessels, were safe and well in winter quarters at Collinson Point, fifty miles from Flaxman Island, in the Arctic circle.

The report arrived by mail today and states, contrary to recent dispatches from Seattle, that neither of the two vessels is damaged to any extent. The Mary Sachs was caught in the ice packs last September, but can be repaired easily. Dr. Anderson reports last having seen the Karluk in an ice pack near Point Barrow on August 19.

The mail received today was dispatched from Collinson Point on October 13, by runner to Circle City, Alaska, and thence it was sent south by steamer.

The Mary Sachs, with Kenneth Chapman, a geologist in charge, and the Alaska, reached Collinson Point on September 27, and decided to winter there.

NO WAY TO HELP BOYS WHO COMMIT CRIMES

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
San Francisco, Dec. 23.—"There are many ways of punishing a boy who has erred, but when it comes to the question of helping him to lead a better life, we are, I am sorry to say, practically powerless."

This was the comment today of Federal Judge Morris Dooling when William Laviolette, one of five boys arrested for breaking into a country postoffice, appeared before him.

Judge Dooling advised the United States attorney to request the probation officer to find work for the boy.

"Of course," said the judge, "if we fail to find employment for him there is always the jail to fall back on, but that is not a very desirable place."

Two other boys, arraigned for stealing locks from rural delivery boxes, were sent back to their parents at Chico.

ALLEGED ABDUCTOR LANGUISHES IN JAIL

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Iola, Kan., Dec. 23.—"I took Mary Armstrong Dean away because she told me she had been threatened and needed protection," said Homer McCord to officials in the county jail here today. McCord was arrested yesterday in connection with the alleged abduction of Mrs. Dean, a bride of a few days, from the court house park here last July.

Both Mrs. Dean and Harvey Dean, her husband, declared McCord used force and threats in taking Mrs. Dean away.

VIC HANSON WILL MEET SMAULDING NEW YEAR'S

Clever Middleweight Signed by Director Levy; Expected to Arrive Tonight From El Paso With Manager.

Al Smoulding will have his chance New Year's day.

Director Mark Levy, of the New Mexico A. C., announced last night that Opportunity—made famous by the press agent efforts of John J. Insall—would knock at the much-touted local middleweight's door disguised as Vic Hanson.

This match will be the test for Smoulding. If he has class, Hanson will make him display it and if he hasn't—his friends will be contented since he will have had a chance to demonstrate whether he can mix with the super-meal-ticket set.

Smoulding thinks he can. What Pierce Matthews has told him about himself has improved his opinion of himself. The St. Louis lightweight has handed it out to Al that he is as class as Jeff Clarke, the Fighting Ghost of Joplin, Mo.

What does Matthews know about Jeff Clarke? Jeff was Luther McCarty's tutor and at that time Luther and Matthews both were under the management of Billy McCarty. Matthews has sparred with the Joplin middleweight frequently, and he says he could reach Jeff's face with far more ease than he can flatten the Smoulding nose. Smoulding, by the way, is Matthews' training partner for his fight with Torres.

Some question mark might ask how Jeff Clarke got into this. It's like this. Hanson went fifteen rounds to a draw with Clarke at El Paso. Later Hanson claims he knocked out Clarke in Joplin. There seems to have been a diversity of opinion on this knock-out. However, some of the Ghost's friends asserting that Hanson walked the darkey about the beltline.

Hanson is hovering on the outskirts of the real elite in the middleweight division and threatening to break into the inner circle in the immediate vicinity of the championship at any time. That's his status. There is a crowd in the middleweight he has met. This list boasts of such names as Sailor Ed Petroskey, Montana Dan Sullivan, Frank Mantell, Joe Thomas, Frank Klaus, Jack Herick, Walter Coffey and Chicago Jimmy Howard. He also has a twenty-round draw with Gimbart Smith.

He already has been signed to meet the winner of the Chip-Papke scrap.

In Milwaukee. This Chip person is the sink who toppled Frank Klaus twice within the last few weeks.

Director Levy last night telephoned Fred Winsor, manager of Hanson, tickets and he is expected to arrive here tonight with Hanson. Vic will begin training at once at the New Mexico A. C. gym.

Smoulding will start the grind tomorrow, or Thursday. At is in fair condition now. He has snuffed the primrose lane and he has been training with Matthews for the last week. He could step into the ring now and put up a fast battle with the toughest batters in his class, but, as he declared last night, he will risk nothing in his mill with Hanson. He relies this bout will make him, or send him back to the near-class division.

LIGHTWEIGHTS PREDICT QUICK FINISH TOMORROW

Pierce Matthews expects to beat Torres in six rounds.

Jack Torres believes he will put the St. Louis down for the full count.

Both Matthews and Torres have plenty of arguments to support their beliefs and both appear to be in condition to make their promises good. Matthews never looked better, and Torres, always a bunch of brawn and bones, seems fit for a championship battle.

The boys went through their regular program yesterday. Torres in the afternoon and Matthews at night. Today both will go through only light work.

TINKER IS OFFERED $40,000 TO PLAY WITH FEDERALS

Former Cincinnati Manager Announces He Is Seriously Considering Acceptance of Proposition.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Chicago, Dec. 23.—An offer from the Federal baseball league, promising Joseph Tinker, former Cincinnati manager, more money as manager of the Chicago Federal league club, is holding up Tinker's agreement to his sale to Brooklyn by Cincinnati. The offer came to Tinker from James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league and it is worth promises $40,000 for a three years' contract.

Tinker also intimated that he was giving the Federal offer his serious consideration.

"I want to play in Chicago," he said, "and organized baseball won't let me. I won't go to Brooklyn, so if I am to remain in the National league, the Cubs must get me. The Federal league offer seems to be the only opportunity to play ball and remain in Chicago."

It was said Gilmore is making an effort to have the deal closed so it can be announced in a statement promised for next Monday, when the Federals have declared they will give out a list of former National and American league players who will join them this year.

POLO PLAYERS PREPARE TO MEET CHALLENGERS

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) New York, Dec. 23.—It was announced today by the polo association that at a meeting held last night initial steps were taken toward preparing for the international match against the English challengers next summer. It was decided to begin preliminary practice April 1. The Georgian court field at Lakewood was again named for that purpose.

Among those who attended the meeting were Harry Payne Whitney, J. H. Groome, Charles Wheeler, R. L. Agnew, William A. Hazard, president of the polo association, and H. L. Herbert, secretary. The matter of assembling suitable mounts was placed in the hands of a committee of four composed of Louis A. Stoddard, Malcolm Stevenson, J. H. Groome and William A. Hazard.

SNODGRASS SLATED AS SUCCESSOR TO FRED MERKLE

Manager McGraw Said to Be Grooming His Center Fielder for Initial Sack; May Trade "Bone-Head."

Although Edward Konetchy did not land with the Giants in the big shift of National league players, it is no means certain that Fred Merkle will continue to play first base for the Giants. There is reason to believe that Manager McGraw is grooming Snodgrass to play that position. Merkle is not likely to be sold or traded before next season, but his fate depends largely on his hitting next spring.

Snodgrass is no stranger to infield play, and during his career with the Giants has often acted as doorkeeper to the beseeching circuit. A year ago last spring he played first base for about a month and gave general satisfaction. At various times he acted as an understudy to Merkle.

McGraw frankly admits that he wants more "noise" in his infield. Fletcher and Herzog were the only ones who exercised their vocal chords to any great extent last season. Merkle and Snodgrass seldom lifted their voices in encouragement to a pitcher, and Doyle was not much of an orator either. Now Herzog has departed, and rumor hath it that Snodgrass will be placed on first base to "pepper up" the infield if Merkle does not give satisfaction.

The acquisition of Bob Bender probably means the displacement of Snodgrass as a center fielder. Undoubtedly Bender will continue in left field. Though he failed to shine in the world's series, Bender gave an excellent account of himself during the championship season, and should improve in his second season as a regular. It is not McGraw's way to pick his team from world's series form. As there is no better man in sight Jack Murray is expected to patrol right again.

Murray is available only as an outfielder, but Snodgrass can play either first or second base. In Dave Robertson the Giants have another fifty first baseman, so Merkle will have plenty of competition. The return of Robertson will also complicate the outfield situation. The southerner is said to have developed into a great natural hitter. If he can maul big league pitchers as he pounded Southern league hurlers last season, McGraw will find a place for him.

With Cooper, Robertson, Thorpe and possibly Mike Donlin on the payroll next spring McGraw will have a wealth of outfield material, and can spare Snodgrass for infield roles. Fred was originally a catcher, and could be pressed into service behind the bat if necessary. However, the Giants should be well fortified with maskmen, as Meyers, McLean, Wilson and Johnson will be on the job. Johnson is a big husky from Omaha. Scott Dick Kinsella captured this bird, and states that Johnson, while big and slow, is a fine thrower and a splendid batsman. "He's just as good as Meyers was when McGraw picked up the Indian," declares Richard, the ivory hunter.

JIMMY FOX GIVEN DECISION OVER EASTERN FEATHER

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Denver, Dec. 23.—Jimmy Fox of Los Angeles, and Young Douglas of Indianapolis, went the limit of a ten-round bout here tonight. Fox getting the decision. They are featherweights. In the semi-windup, Walt Walters of Denver, defeated Joe Flynn of Denver, getting the decision at the end of the tenth round.

In the preliminary, Earl Puryear of Denver, defeated Eddie Hamilton of Denver, in the eighth round of a scheduled ten-round bout.

Yale and Notre Dame to Play. New York, Dec. 23.—A football game between Yale and Notre Dame next fall is a probability, according to reports in college circles here tonight. Yale's tentative schedule, for 1914, contains a date for Notre Dame at New Haven, on October 17. It is stated, and the Indiana university, it is understood, probably will accept.

MAJORS HAVE LAW COLLINS IS WORTH BIG FORTUNE TO CONNIE MACK

Older Organizations Will Have Advantage When Struggle Comes With Federal Over Agreements With Players.

It's a wonder some of the big league baseball stars wouldn't read their contracts once in awhile. Or, if such a leniency and verbose document is too much for their mentality, it might have been a good thing for many to take it to a lawyer before making their mark at the bottom of the big words.

Now some of the big league corners are discovering that they probably will be unable to jump over into the Federal league where nice, fat, tempting inducements are being held out to the dissatisfied and ambitious ones. There's a "sleeper" in the contracts they have scratched that may make it impossible to stray forth into the independent pastures in search of succulent herbage.

Some one in organized baseball had an inspiration or a deep into the future, for big league contracts, during the past two years, have contained a clause whereby the players acknowledge the right of the club owners to reserve them for the year following play. Some long head must have foreseen the efforts the Federals are making to sign up promising youngsters who have not signed their contracts, but are held by the reserve clause of baseball.

That the new contract is watertight and fireproof is indicated by the announcement that the majors will carry into the courts the cases of players who yield to temptation and join the independents.

Instead of merely signing to play ball for six months at a certain salary for two years past big leaguers, and, indeed, many minor league players, have signed to play ball for three-fourths of the money for which their contract calls, and have received the other 25 per cent of their wages in consideration for their consent to let the club reserve them for the year to follow. According to the terms of the contracts the players have actually received one-quarter of their salary for giving the clubs an option on their services for the year following that covered by the contract. This seems to be the big leaguers, whether they have signed their 1914 contracts or not, and gives the club owners a legal hold on their men that seems likely to bother the Federals a good deal in their efforts to raid the majors.

No matter whether this clause will hold or not every man who jumps the major league clubs will probably be the bone of contention in a legal battle in the courts, and these would probably last long enough to prevent the use of the jumpers by the Federals next season.

It looks as if this quiet little move made two years ago will effectively check the raiders. Somebody in the major league ranks must have played a hunch and no one on the outside not wise until the "little joker" was called out of the deck.

FRANK KLAUS AGAIN KNOCKED OUT BY GEORGE CHIP

Middleweight Who Stopped Pittsburgh Championship Claimant in First Bout Repeats Victory.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Pittsburgh, Dec. 23.—Frank Klaus of Pittsburgh, claimant of the middleweight championship, was knocked out in the fifth round of his fight with George Chip, of Madison, Pa., here tonight.

Chip outfought Klaus in the first round, held his more experienced opponent even in the next three rounds, and knocked him out in the fifth round.

It was the second time in three months that Chip had knocked Klaus out. After the fight, Chip issued a defiant note to all middleweights.

WELLS FARGO EXPRESS TAKES GLOOMY VIEW

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) New York, Dec. 23.—In declaring the annual dividend of 5 per cent, directors of the Wells Fargo Express company issued a statement to stockholders today asserting that the continuance of the present dividend rate is uncertain because of the rate reductions which will go into effect February 1.

"We feel that it is time to inform stockholders that in view of conditions facing the company, the outlook for net earnings is discouraging," reads the statement, "and in view of the continuance of the present dividend rate is uncertain."

Alleged Insane Murderer Released. Cincinnati, Dec. 23.—George R. Mundy, the local attorney who was acquitted last week on a murder charge which grew out of the killing of his wife last summer, was not free today when the court decided that he was now sane. The jury that acquitted Mundy at the time, stated that it was their belief that Mundy was insane when he fired the shots that resulted in his wife's death.

If Joe Tinker Cost Twenty-five Thousand, What Is the Market Price of Athletics' Star Second Sacker?

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) New York, Dec. 23.—If Joe Tinker is worth $25,000, what's the value of Eddie Collins?

That is the question that baseball fans are asking today. Connie Mack's answer is that Collins is worth just about four times as much as Tinker, or exactly $100,000, although it is doubtful if Connie would let him go even for that figure.

A perusal of the records of the two great infielders seems to show the superiority of Collins.

Tinker in twelve years as a major leaguer has amassed a grand fielding average of .937 and a grand batting average of .264. Collins broke into the game as a regular in 1905 and in the six years since then has compiled a grand fielding average of .958 and a batting average of .323.

These figures show that Collins each year for six years has batted 69 points better than Tinker and fielded 21 points better—a tremendous margin.

In his six years as a regular, Collins has batted under .300 only once—that was in 1908, his first year in fact company, when he hit .232. In his twelve years as a major, Tinker has gone over the .300 mark but once, and that was last year, when he clubbed 'em for .318.

Collins is as brainy, if not brainier, than Tinker. He is a faster man on the bases than the $25,000 National leaguer, but where he has the biggest edge on Tinker is in the matter of age.

Tinker will be 34 next July. Collins is 27. Tinker is four years beyond the point where a ballplayer reaches his prime. At best, he has only two or three years of major league baseball left in his system. Collins, in contrast, still is good for ten years of baseball; perhaps twelve. He has taken the best care of himself, is temperate in all his habits and ought to outlive Tinker in usefulness.

CONVICTED OF KILLING FOUR STEPCHILDREN

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Meridian, Tex., Dec. 23.—Mrs. Ellen Ethridge, who confessed to killing four of her stepchildren a few months ago, was sentenced today to life imprisonment. She had been found guilty of the murder of Oscar, her stepson, 5 years old. The prosecution planned separate trials in each case and called the second immediately after today's verdict.

Mrs. Ethridge is the wife of a stockman whom she married last March. In her confession Mrs. Ethridge said that last June she held a can of lye to the lips of her 2-year-old stepdaughter, Beulah, until the child swallowed enough to cause her death because the child that morning "got up puffy and fretful." Later, she said, she also gave lye to her stepson Harrison, and on October 2, according to her statement, she gave poison to Oscar, Dick and Pearl Ethridge because "they looked like they were going to be sick." Pearl recovered.

WITH BARRIER UP AND TRACK CLEAR, CANDIDATES START RACE TO GIRDLE GLOBE WITH ENTHUSIASM AS A SPUR

Many Striving for First Honors in Next Sunday's Point Exhibit; Join the Merry Campaigners and Secure a Delightful Trip to the Tropics or Other Valuable Awards at Expense of Journal.

The first week in the actual balloting in the Aservo System Profit-Sharing campaign operated by the Morning Journal has opened strong and many candidates have already infused their friends with the spirit of the race. Many others who up to this time have done no active work started out this week with determination to secure the coveted World Tour or the optional award of $1,000.

Now is the time for every ambitious young woman to enter the race to "girdle the globe." The campaign has just begun. Many candidates have not even yet started to work and still others are probably waiting to see the next exhibit of points in Sunday's Morning Journal.

DO NOT WAIT. START NOW AND MAKE THE FINISH THAT MIGHTY HASTEN. There is room for many more ambitious young women and the rewards are worth the effort to secure them. If you are unsuccessful in securing an award you are assured ample compensation for your time through the fact that a commission is paid on all money turned in on old and new subscriptions to candidates failing to secure an award, who turn in $100 or more.

Do not allow a sense of false pride to deter you from entering this campaign. You may secure any award you desire if you have the proper determination. Boost your standing in next Sunday's exhibit of points and show your friends that you are really making a serious race of the game. They will be that much more anxious to assist if you show a spirit of determination and energy.

In the beginning of the race, begin right now planning your campaign and those friends and acquaintances whom you cannot see personally right away, call them by telephone and tell them of your ambition. You will be surprised how readily they will rally to your support.

If your name did not appear in the list of candidates Sunday morning send it in at once. If it did and you have not yet secured the materials with which to start your campaign come to the Tour department or send in your application blank and the necessary books and materials will be sent to you.

Next Sunday morning the second list of candidates in the Aservo System Profit-Sharing campaign conducted by the Morning Journal showing the number of points each has acquired during this week will be published. Will YOUR name be at the head of the list?

There is less than one week in which to pile up points for the next announcement of the standing of candidates. It should be the ambition of every applicant to make as good a showing as possible at the outset, thereby inspiring their friends that they have not misplaced their confidence in them. The more points you have the better the more faith your friends will have in your ability to secure the award you desire.

Every candidate has an equal chance, whether she be in Albuquerque, or outside districts. The campaign territory has been divided to such a number as to make the race equal in every sense of the word and no candidate no matter where she lives has any advantage as far as working territory is concerned. The young woman in the smaller town has just as good a chance to win the Round the World tour or trip to the tropics as the candidate in Albuquerque. In fact the candidates in the outside districts in some respects have a better chance to win than do their city brethren because of the smaller amount of competition and their wider acquaintance.

Great Honor to Win. This campaign is not exclusively for those who primarily could not afford a tour of the world. It is for all classes—the young woman who is ambitious and who desires to do something for herself, the young woman who otherwise could not afford such a trip and those who are striving for advancement for the honor of winning that something else. It would be an honor indeed for anyone to win over such a field. This class of candidates is the highest ever assembled in a similar enterprise in New Mexico. The woman who is featured in the grand leader of the campaign will have won a signal honor and a reward which in itself is worthy the best efforts of the best woman in the state.

Every day lost at the beginning of the campaign is worth two hard days at the close. In other words, the candidate who starts NOW and concentrates her campaign industriously until the close will be resting on her laurels while her sister who labors incessantly. She will have secured a reserve strength that will be a big factor in overcoming all the odds.

The awards the Morning Journal is offering in this campaign are within the grasp of but a small percentage of people. Here this opportunity is presented to every candidate, similar to those young women who are willing to devote some of her time to a pleasant occupation for a few short weeks. And the grand leader will have earned by her own efforts and those of her friends, an equivalent of more than $125 a week for the time she puts in on the campaign.

Tour the World Free. Could anything be more desirable than a tour of the world without a cent of expense to yourself? Or, if you prefer there is the optional award of $1,000. But even if you should fail to secure the first grand award there are the five tropical tours via the Panama canal which leisurely stops at all the principal points of interest enroute. Following these are the 1400 Leonard-Lindemann plan and the $75 L. C. and annual prize. Yes, any candidate who fails to win an award will be paid a commission on all the money she turns in on new and old subscriptions, amounting to $100.

Building from the large number of inquiries which are coming in to the tour department daily regarding the Aservo System Profit-Sharing campaign, not only from Albuquerque people, but from the outside districts as well, the novel method of distributing the advantages has met with the hearty approval of the public all over the state. The subscribers recognize the fact that in this campaign

JOINT RESOLUTION DE VILLIERS WENT TO SUSPEND FREE CANAL TOLLS TO SEE CHILDREN IN LOS ANGELES

Representative Adamson Favors Testing Measure Before There Is Discrimination Against Europe.

Washington, Dec. 23.—A joint resolution to conditionally suspend the operation of the provision of the Panama canal act granting free passage to American merchant vessels was introduced today by Chairman Adamson of Florida, of the house commerce committee.

Representative Adamson introduced the resolution on his own responsibility and it will not go before congress as an administrative measure.

When Ambassador Bryce left Washington in April, it was generally understood that he had secured some sort of assurance that an effort would be made by the United States to execute the free toll provision of the canal act. Significance has been attached to the fact that the negotiations between Washington and London in regard to the toll question came to a complete stop about that time, although Mr. Bryce's last note specifically committed the British foreign office to the delivery of another communication amplifying and strengthening the points adduced by the ambassador in opposition to the argument of the state department in support of the existing canal tolls act.

Representative Adamson, in a statement tonight explaining his resolution, declared it afforded an opportunity to clear up the international phases and to test suggestions on all sides in the canal toll controversy.

"Those of us who advocated uniform tolls," said Mr. Adamson, "tried our case largely on the case that the tolls would be needed to operate the canal and prevent the operation and maintenance from becoming a charge on the treasury. Most of those who advocated the exemption for the coastwise trade professed that if the government really needed the tolls to operate the canal, then they would not insist on the exemption, but they contended that there would be a large surplus of tolls from other vessels and that the exemption could well be afforded considering the plethora of revenue."

"On the other proposition, the advocates of uniform tolls, while it was still a domestic proposition and before England had been heard from at all, considered the treaty stipulations and sought to avoid violation of them. The advocates of exemption, insisting that there was no violation of treaties, asserted that they could not consent to violate a treaty and that if it really were a violation of a treaty they would not insist upon the exemption."

"Then a leading exponent on the floor of the house suggested that the exemption be made and that if England objected that a case be made for determination at The Hague. Since that exemption was made that gentleman and others of his general object to arbitration at all."

"This resolution proposes two things. First, an experimental test to demonstrate whether or not the tolls will pay the expenses of operating the canal exclusive of the tolls of the coastwise trade, and the other is to afford opportunity to adjust all questions of diplomacy touching the tolls. Assuming that the advocates of exemption have sincere in their contention on these two propositions it should not prove embarrassing to them at all nor be regarded as any abandonment of their position to submit the resolution to test the correctness of the two contentions in the two propositions."

"If it be demonstrated that the tolls are sufficient to spare the tolls to the coastwise trade, the state department will be allowed time to adjust questions growing out of the treaty stipulations, and if the advocates of exemption are found to be a sufficient revenue and the diplomatic questions are settled in their favor an executive order will then put the exemption into force."

Man Slain by Husband of Former Wife Was Well Known in Business Circles of San Antonio.

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 23.—When Daniel De Villiers left San Antonio last week for Los Angeles, where he was shot and killed by Roy L. Glover, he said he was going to visit his two small children. They are in the custody of their mother, who obtained a divorce from De Villiers here October 15, 1912. The court granted him the right to see his children twice a year. Mrs. De Villiers alleged cruelty in her divorce suit.

Friends of Glover, who recently was engaged in the real estate business, claimed to know nothing of his marriage to Mrs. De Villiers. They said Glover went to Los Angeles last October and was here December 12, winding up his business affairs.

While in San Antonio in 1912, De Villiers was engaged in Mexican colonization enterprises, and later in the liquor business here.

FRISCO TELEGRAPHERS IN FAVOR OF STRIKE

Springfield, Mo., Dec. 23.—A count of nine-tenths of the ballots cast by telegraphers in the employ of the St. Louis and San Francisco railway on a proposition to strike as a result of the refusal of the receivers of the railroad to grant increased wages and an eight-hour day, shows 95 per cent of the men voted in favor of a strike, according to a statement by J. A. Newman, vice president of the International Order of Railroad Telegraphers. If a strike is called 1,200 men and station agents, dispatchers and operators all over the Frisco system will be affected.

According to Newman, arrangements are being made to care for the families of the men who might be affected by the strike. It was announced the union had a fund of $100,000 to use in caring for families of the men and keeping their children in school.

SHARP-EYED VICTIM DETECTS TRAIN ROBBER

San Francisco, Dec. 23.—James Beutick was arrested here today charged with having robbed a Southern Pacific passenger train near El Monte, December 1, and having murdered Herman Montague, a passenger agent who attempted to resist him. The police took from him the watch of the train fireman and a pocketful of pawn tickets. Beutick was caught by the sharp eyes of Arthur Cohen, a passenger on the train who was robbed.

Cohen felt unusually humiliated by the robbery because he was on his honeymoon. Today, riding in a street car he saw Beutick mingling in the shopping crowds. He thought him very like the robber and, leaving his car, trailed him until he met a policeman, who made the arrest.

New Road for State University. Seattle, Wash., Dec. 23.—Prof. Henry Landes, state geologist and dean of the school of geology at the University of Washington, was elected today acting president of the university to succeed Dr. Thomas P. Kane, who was removed at a special meeting of the board of regents. Dr. Kane was accused of being retrogressive.

Battleships Sail for United States. Vera Cruz, Dec. 23.—The United States battleships Louisiana and New Hampshire sailed this afternoon for the United States.

SHOULD BE ADDED TO THE SEVEN WONDERS OF THE WORLD

You have all read of the Seven Wonders of the World and also the Seven Wonders of Modern Times. They are mostly inventions and the result of years of experiments, at a heavy expense, and sometimes at the cost of lives.

To these modern Seven Wonders should be added CALUMET BAKING POWDER, because after years of experiments the Calumet Baking Powder Company has produced the most wonderful baking powder of the present time. This baking powder, first, solves the high cost of living. It is a great saving over the high-priced, crust brands and, on the other hand, it is a saving over the cheap and "Big Can" powders because it has more leavening and will go further and there are no fillers; with an imperious baking powder, sometimes one spoonful of it equals five cents to a dollar's worth of butter, eggs and sugar—not mentioning the time and labor.

Further, it should be added to the seven wonders because by test it has been proven to be a perfect baking powder, which is a baking powder that gives the greatest amount of leavening gas, leaves the food perfectly pure and wholesome, and so compounded that it makes baking faultless. Calumet Baking Powder is put up by the most scientific methods under the supervision of competent chemists. Automatic weighing and filling machines take the baking powder from the mixer to the cans; no human hands touching it, this insures the product to be at all times pure and sanitary. As the baking powder is completed it is tested chemically and practically. It is always uniform.

Calumet cannot be recommended too highly and one trial will convince you of its wonderful merits—its wholesomeness and economy. Resolved: Hurrah! Award—World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago, Ill., Paris Exposition, France, March, 12.

Family Keeps Ward Estates. Chicago, Dec. 23.—All of the estate of the late A. Montgomery Ward, estimated at more than $5,000,000, will be kept in his family, according to the terms of the will a great of which was given out tonight. None of the property is left to charity. Mrs. Ward having held, as did the late William Deering, that he had provided sufficiently for charitable purposes in his lifetime.

Superintendent Up for Court Contempt. Denver, Dec. 23.—Judge Ira C. Hetherington of the county court, today took under advisement the arguments offered by Dr. R. A. LaMoure's attorneys to show cause why he, the superintendent of the state insane asylum at Pueblo, should not be adjudged in contempt of court for having refused admittance to the asylum of committed persons.

The superintendent offered statements to show that the reason for his refusal to obey the previous court commitments was that the asylum at that time was overcrowded and that the state could not give proper attention to any other patients. He stated his willingness, however, to attempt to make enlargements in the capacity of the institution and it appears so that more patients need not be turned away in the future.

Among the witnesses was Dr. A. P. Bussey, former superintendent of the asylum.

Family Keeps Ward Estates. Chicago, Dec. 23.—All of the estate of the late A. Montgomery Ward, estimated at more than $5,000,000, will be kept in his family, according to the terms of the will a great of which was given out tonight. None of the property is left to charity. Mrs. Ward having held, as did the late William Deering, that he had provided sufficiently for charitable purposes in his lifetime.

"Love Fraud" Man on Probation. Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 23.—P. E. Young, an elderly realty operator of Long Beach, Cal., who pleaded guilty to having written so-called "love letters" to many women and obtaining money from them while they were not aware of his true identity, was placed on probation for five years for day in and out of the state of the 100 per cent.

DOCKET IS NEARLY CLEARED; JUDGE WILL LEAVE

Court Swamps District Clerk's Office With Judgments and Orders, Disposing of Much Civil Litigation.

Practically clearing the civil docket before leaving for a two weeks' vacation in California, Judge H. P. Reynolds, of the district court, yesterday deluged the clerk's office with orders and judgments. Judge Reynolds will hold a brief session this morning. He will leave on the westbound California limited at 11:50 o'clock this morning.

By one of the orders signed yesterday the case of Mrs. F. A. Focks against Mrs. Mary Munger was continued until January 22 and E. B. Peters, father of Wallace Peters, for whose possession the two women contested in court, was made a defendant. He is now in Tulsa, Okla., according to the order.

Peters on that date will be required to show cause why the custody of the child should not be given to Mrs. Munger, who recently was awarded the boy by Judge Reynolds in giving his decision in the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Mrs. Focks.

BERNALILLO COUNTY GETS JUDGMENT IN TWO CASES

The Bernalillo Mercantile company was awarded judgment against Jose L. Castillo by default. The plaintiff will recover $75.53. The action was based on a note.

The Bernalillo Mercantile company also was given judgment against Isidoro Mora for $252.65. This suit also was founded on a promissory note.

An amended final judgment was entered in the case of Vigil & Jamison against Rosa Roat. An affidavit from Deputy Sheriff G. N. Fleming, of McKinley, was filed, saying that he had served Rosa Roat with papers in the case when the defendant's name originally was given as Anna Roat. The plaintiffs are to recover $12, according to the amended judgment.

MRS. ANNA DAVID FILES PETITION FOR DIVORCE

Charging Peter David, her husband, with desertion, Mrs. Anna David yesterday filed a complaint in a divorce suit. They were married January 6, 1901. They have two children, Louis, 8 years old, and William, 6 years old, who are now in the custody of the plaintiff, according to the complaint.

Mrs. David alleges that she and David own a ranch in Guadalupe county, and that they also have three horses and other personal property to the value of $500.

She asks for the custody of the children and that the property of the defendant and joint community property of the plaintiff and defendant be sequestered by the court and applied for the support of herself and the children. She also asks that David be required to pay a sum of alimony deemed just by the court and the costs of the action.

MCCLOSKEY AUTO COMPANY WINS SUIT AGAINST BARTH

Judgment in favor of the plaintiffs in the case of Francis McCloskey and J. Claire McCloskey, of the McCloskey Auto company, against State Senator

Isaac Barth yesterday was entered in the district court. The plaintiffs are to recover $202.04.

Judge Reynolds issued an order, upon the petition of District Attorney M. U. Vigil, correcting the tax rolls for 1932 and 1933. Property belonging to D. A. Macpherson was assessed to him and erroneously to "unknown owners" in those years.

M. T. MORIARTY SUES THE SHERIFF OF TORRANCE

M. T. Moriarty yesterday brought suit against Sheriff Julius Meyer, of Torrance county, asking judgment for $650.

Moriarty alleges that Meyer at the direction of the company took a $825 safe from him. For a second cause of action he alleges that he rented the People's Savings bank of Moriarty property in Moriarty and that the bank placed a safe in the building, which the sheriff seized, destroying a lien held by him.

COURT DECIDES AGAINST MEYERS IN TWO CASES

At the close of the hearing of two cases brought against Ernest Meyers, Judge Reynolds yesterday announced that he would find for the plaintiffs.

The Bank of Commerce was plaintiff, in one action, asking for judgment for $600 on an alleged note.

Louis Tracer was plaintiff in the other action, involving property in Bernalillo. Tracer asked judgment for $1,100.

TEN MEN WORK ALL DAY INSTALLING COOPS FOR POULTRY EXHIBITS

Yesterday was a busy day in the display room of the Barnett building on the Second street side, a force of ten men being employed building and installing coops for the reception of the exhibits of poultry to be made at the first winter poultry show ever held in Albuquerque, which opens Friday and continues throughout Saturday.

It was announced by the secretary last night that the rule placing 10 o'clock Friday morning, as the latest time possible for exhibitors to enter birds, will be strictly adhered to. It is desired that as many breeders as possible place their birds in the show room during Christmas day, thus giving those in charge an opportunity to place all coops and avoid the confusion that naturally would occur with coops being installed during the time visitors are making the rounds of the show room inspecting the exhibits.

It is expected that 200 birds will be on display, securing the biggest and best local poultry show ever held.

INDIANAPOLIS LAWYER MAY SURVIVE POISON

With the continued improvement in the condition of H. G. Brandon, of Indianapolis, at St. Joseph's hospital, hope is entertained for his ultimate recovery from mercurial poisoning, caused by his taking antiseptic tablets on Santa Fe train No. 4 last Saturday night. The operation to relieve congestion of his kidneys, yesterday was pronounced to have been very successful and it was said that this might save his life. It is too soon after his taking the poison to tell with certainty whether he will recover, it was said at the hospital, but his chances are believed to be better.

RED CROSS SEALS HAVE BIG SALE OVER STATE

Every Little "Sticker" Put on a Christmas Package Means That Much Good Done for Suffering Humanity.

Not only in New Mexico but throughout the United States the sale of the Red Cross seals for use on Christmas packages has been larger this year than ever before. The general public all over the country have come to realize the tremendous good that is accomplished by the pennies that go for these little stickers, and has contributed generously to the cause which they represent.

The proceeds of the sale of Red Cross seals in every state, county and town of the United States is devoted every year to carrying on the work of the American Red Cross in combating the great white plague. Nowhere more than in Albuquerque is the importance of this work so thoroughly appreciated, and the sale on the seals in this city is evidence that the people are thoroughly alive to the good results to be accomplished by this agency.

Dr. Leroy S. Peters, who is the head of this work in New Mexico, stated yesterday that while full reports had not been received by him from over the state, there is every indication that the sale of the seals will exceed that of former years. "We need every penny that we can get for this purpose," said Dr. Peters, "and I wish strongly to urge upon the people of Albuquerque and the entire state to buy a supply of these little stamps during the remaining days that they are on sale. There is no chance to lose when you spend your money this way," he added. "Every cent of it is devoted to the relief of human suffering, and it is impossible to spend money in a better cause."

The Red Cross seals are on sale at all the drug stores, and it is hoped that the remaining two days before the close of the Christmas season will see a big boost in the sale of them.

CLERKS CATCH MAN WHO GRABBED TURKEY AFTER A HOT CHASE

Dan Burrows failed to get away with a turkey he "lifted" at the Jaffa grocery store, 221 West Central avenue, yesterday afternoon, and instead of dining on the traditional Christmas bird tomorrow he will spend the holiday in jail unless Police Judge George R. Craig shows him clemency this morning.

Burrows selected a dressed turkey hanging in front of the store, grabbed it and ran, according to the police. Clerks saw him and gave chase. He turned north on North Third street with the clerks close behind and at the alley they overtook him. They turned Burrows over to Patrolman N. M. Miller.

SAD ACCIDENT MARS CHRISTMAS HAPPINESS

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL) Carlsbad, N. M., Dec. 23.—The general spirit of Christmas joy was marred today by the sad death of young George Finley, son of W. A. Finley, who was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun while out with a party of friends on what was intended to be a week's hunting trip. The news was brought to the city late this afternoon and caused a feeling of sadness to come over the entire community. Young Finley and a party of boy companions were playing about the camp when the accident happened.

PROTEST AGAINST SHEEP-DIPPING LAW

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE) Grand Junction, Colo., Dec. 23.—Hearing at Monticello, Utah, January 14, will lead to a decision on whether the state of Utah can compel Colorado sheepmen who take their herds into that state to dip the sheep, whether they are scabby or not. Injunction was obtained a week ago last Saturday by W. R. Goslen of this city, whose winter range is around Thompsons, Utah, preventing the state sheep inspector for Grand county, Utah, from dipping the sheep forcibly. This injunction was served on Inspector Arthur Taylor when he endeavored to carry out the state law. While waiting for the arrival of the papers Goslen has ordered his men to tear up the pipes in Thompsons dipping vats. Mr. Goslen stated it would have cost him $5,000 to dip the 22,000 sheep of his herds, and that he saw no reason for dipping them when they were not scabby and the cold weather would have made heavy losses likely. There has been agitation in eastern Utah against the use of the range, which is already crowded, by sheep outfits whose summer range and headquarters are in Colorado.

YAQUI INDIANS ATTACK FREIGHTERS

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE) Douglas, Ariz., Dec. 23.—A band of eighty Yaquis attacked ten Mexican freighters at Kilaui, five miles west of La Dura, Sonora, a few days ago and killed three Mexicans and wounded seven, according to information received here today. The freighters were ambushed and had but little chance to defend themselves, it is said.

Goods valued at several hundred pesos and their mules were then stolen. Food supplies in that section are scarce and the people are on the verge of starvation, it is reported.

FAVORS POSTPONING
PASSAGE OF BILL

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
New York, Dec. 23.—A statement issued tonight in behalf of a committee which represents practically every foreign trans-Atlantic steamship line, by Paul Gethall, the chairman, supports President Wilson's suggestion that legislation regulating the status of seamen and allied subjects should be deferred until the results of the international conference on safety at sea, now being held in London, is fully known. The measure has already passed the senate.

It is declared that the bill now before congress is impracticable in some of its provisions and cumbersome in others. As an example, the compulsory assignment of passengers to certain places in particular life boats is cited. It is contended that this measure is absurd, because, in the confusion incident to disaster at sea, passengers could not always get into the boat assigned to them.

Exception is also taken to the provision forcing companies to provide two sailors for each life boat.

"Well," he said, "you can rest assured that I did not come to see Mr. Mitchel for a job. I guess I am one of the few who are not after jobs. My business with Mr. Mitchel was purely personal."

FORESTER GRAVES
DISCUSSES MINING
ON FORESTS

Relations of Service With Those Interested in Development of Mineral Resources Are Cordial.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Washington, Dec. 23.—"Attempted frauds under the mining laws are usually resorted to by interests in no way associated with mining," says Chief Forester Henry R. Graves in his annual report. "But the appeal to mining has been made in the name of the mining industry." He adds, however, that he is glad to be able to report that the relations of the forest service with the men who desire to develop the mineral resources of the country are increasingly cordial.

At the same time, the report adds, the mining laws afford the greatest cloak for and frauds in the national forests, and have been more commonly misused than the other laws, because all land in the national forests is open to mineral exploration and entry.

"As a rule," says the report, "injustice upon compliance with the law works not hardship but benefit to miners. The mining laws were passed to promote their interests, and the special requirements of their business were kept clearly in mind. It is only in unusual cases that the best interests of either the mine or the miner would be served by going contrary to the law or beyond the limits which the law has set. Even the law works against the interest of single individuals; its impartial enforcement is in the interest of the industry as a whole and of the public."

Mr. Graves says: "That the violation of the alleged injustice during the mining industry by the national forest system has been either inspired by motives quite distinct from the welfare of that industry or the result of misapprehensions has grown increasingly evident during the past year. The American Mining Congress has provided for the formation of state committees to take up cases in which injustice seems to have been done miners by forest officers and lay them before the higher officials of the service, or if necessary before the committee appointed by the Idaho Mining Congress last year has presented but one case, and that was found to be a case in which no source other than that followed was possible under the law. Nevertheless, it is my strong hope that similar committees will be selected by the miners in every state in which their industry is of importance on national forests, and that these committees will vigorously and consistently represent the interests of that industry in its relations with the forest service."

"One of the objects of the national forests is provision for mining, on which so largely depends the prosperity of the west. That the forests are in point of fact fulfilling these objects is attested by the miners themselves. Contributions to mining journals have pointed out during the past few months that had not the national forest lands been reserved from private acquisition, the field open to prospectors would even now be greatly diminished, that 'wildcatting,' generally recognized by miners as one of the severest handicaps under which the legitimate industry struggles, is curtailed by the refusal of patent to would-be vendors of worthless property; and that the forests protect miners against extortionate prices for local timber."

"It has often been asserted that the national forests have operated as a bar to legitimate mining development. Figures collected in Colorado during the past year show that, if anything, there is more activity in prospecting on the forests than on the public land outside. In an address before the Idaho Mining Congress at its Boise meeting last winter, the reasons for the comparative inactivity in prospecting—an inactivity which some have sought to ascribe to the effect of setting aside the national forests—were analyzed by one of the speakers, a well-known mining man. This speaker gave as the principal causes the rise in the price of provisions and decline in the same supply, with the consequent great increase in the costliness of outfitting and living in the mountains; the change in the character of the supply is now drawn very largely from mines which lack the spirit of venturesome enterprise, independence, and fondness for nomadic wilderness life, characteristic of the prospector; and the difficulty in finding forage for pack animals which has resulted from the expansion of the grazing industry.

"In a word, it grows steadily more apparent that the national forests are not an incubator on the mining industry, but, on the contrary, an aid to it, just as it has proved an aid to the best development of the stock industry on the forests, both in the interest of the industry itself and in the interest of the people who consume the product."

"As with the stock industry, the proper relations of the forest service with the mining industry should be co-operative. It is entirely suitable that matters in dispute between the forest service and individual miners, or matters of administration affecting the industry as a whole, should be adjusted through the instrumentality of an organization which the service can regard as a representative of the miners, and with which it can deal in a spirit of mutual fairness and regard for all rights and interests involved—both individual and public. In practical working, such a system will prevent further misleading of public opinion by claimants, whose real grievance against the forest service is their inability to perpetrate frauds through misuse of the mining laws. Such fraudulent claimants are seldom bona fide miners. While frauds committed or sought to be committed in the name of the mining industry are legion, all but a very few of them are only remotely, if at all, connected with either mines or mining. This fact is illustrated by many examples."

"Mining claims are located on the national forests in order to get title to land valuable for townsite purposes; to land valuable because of scenic surroundings of world-wide fame; to land controlling timber sales negotiated by the service; to sites for summer cottages; to land around watering places which gives control of sheep or cattle ranges; to land which controls mineral and medicinal springs; to valuable farms and agricultural land without complying with the homestead laws' residence requirements; to valuable power sites; to reservoir sites valuable for power and transmission lines; and to sites for saloons and kindred enterprises not permitted upon national forests."

Specific instances in which the provisions of the mining laws have been sought to cover these purposes other than legitimate mining development are given in the report.

New York, Dec. 23.—John T. Martin, a lawyer of this city, and an appraiser attached to the office of the deputy state controller, here, was designated today appraiser of the estate of the late J. # Marvels of the "Midway" at the Panama-Pacific Exposition

Millions of Lights to Flash on the Gold Paved Streets of Great Concessions District.

THE ICE HIPPODROME

Photos copyright, 1913, by Panama-Pacific Exposition Co.

By HAMILTON WRIGHT.

PROGRESS on the "Midway" at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is so far advanced that definite information may be given about this fascinating concessions district. The concessions center will be one of the most marvelous features of the Exposition grounds. At night it will glow with myriads of incandescents; its streets will be paved with gold; shafts of colored light will be hurled against its lofty towers and minarets, the tallest of which will be 250 feet in height.

Many amusement features will be shown for the first time. The art of presenting huge panoramas and dioramas has advanced marvelously during the past decade, and the world's most celebrated amusement purveyors will display their finest productions. The concessions will be notable not only for their huge size and the excellence of their presentation, but for their educational merit. Between $1,000,000 and $12,000,000 will, it is estimated, be expended upon installation in the concessions district.

So far the Exposition management has received more than 7,000 applications for concession privileges. The hundred largest concessions already granted will cost more than $7,500,000. A flood of applications is being received from all parts of America and Europe, and a staff of experts is kept busy in segregating them.

Prize For Best Name.

What to call the main street of the concessions center is a question. Chicago had the "Midway," St. Louis the "Pike," Portland the "Trail" and Seattle the "Pay Street." Frank Fort, director of concessions and admissions and one of the greatest amusement authorities in the world, has offered a prize for the best name and is flooded with suggestions. Among the titles suggested are "The Main Street," "The Locks," "The Canal," "The Zone," "The Isthmus" and "The Ditch."

First work in construction on a number of the concessions has already begun.

gun. Among the more important concessions are the "Grand Canyon," a spectacle to be presented by the Santa Fe railway; "Toyland Grown Up," a great city in which the buildings will be enlarged reproductions of children's toys (Toyland will be a superbly artistic spectacle, a mass of wonderful palaces covering twelve acres, and it will be presented by Frederick Thompson, the famous creator of Luna Park at Coney Island); the Panama canal, working model of the great canal at Panama; "Creation," based on the first chapter of Genesis; "The Evolution of the American Navy"; a replica of the world famous city of Nuremberg; an ice palace in which international skating and hockey matches will be held; a Forty-nine Camp; the Battle of Gettysburg; Hagenbeck's Wild Animal exhibit and prehistoric garden; Asia; Mahomet's Mountain; the Dayton Flood and the Aeroscope.

"Grand Canyon of Arizona."

One of the most attractive of all the concessions will be the "Grand Canyon of Arizona" in all its grandeur and power, as seen from the platform of an observation car. Some of the most noted scenic artists in America are engaged upon the canvases, which will depict the scenes of the canyon in its natural colors. This concession, to occupy 300 by 700 feet of ground space, is now under construction and when completed will cost $250,000.

The Santa Fe railway plans to make it of educational value rather than one to amuse only. Guides will deliver lectures on the points of interest, and in harmony with the getting of the panorama will be an Indian village in which members of the Pueblo, San Domingo, Navajo, Zuni and Hopi Indian tribes will present their dances in native costume and display their handicraft.

"Toyland Grown Up" will be a walled principality, almost as large as an exposition itself. The walled city will be entered by three mammoth gates. The first gate will be the Gate of Fun, and Toyland will be entered by Crazy street, with its crooked, crooked buildings and crooked, crooked streets and crooked, crooked street car lines. Every thing will be crooked, crooked, with single gates.

"CREATION," BASED ON THE FIRST CHAPTER OF GENESIS

The second gate will be the Gate of the Court of Youth, the Gate of Beauty.

The third gate is the entrance to the City of the Wicked King, where it will be the Gate of Thorns.

Nymphs of Fairyland.

Rolling its waters into Fairyland will be a wonderful cascade, which will pour 30,000 gallons of water a minute into a lake, where beautiful girls and nymphs perform graceful evolutions in the water as it rushes down. The cascade is surrounded by a magnificent building with golden domes and coping decorated with Christmas trees.

A colossal stairway on either side of the cascade forms a grand approach to the building. Beneath the dome is the Court of Youth, and thence flows the water that the sightseer in 1915 must dip his fingers in with difficulty. In the Fountain of Youth the visitor must pass through inflation ceremonies before he is able to enjoy the pleasures of Toyland Grown Up. Among other features will be Mother Hubbard's Cupboard, sixty feet in height, a great shoe as large as a six-story city building and built in part in the form of a side wheel steamer, since this ship will have huge wheels like the Ferris wheel at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago. Its means of these wheels the sightseer will be raised aloft. In Toyland there will be, too, the City of Peter Pan, the town that never grows up. Toyland, indeed, will be the fairland that the child dreams of. Altogether the Toyland concession will cost more than $1,000,000 and will require more than 4,000,000 feet of lumber. Its streets and canals if stretched in a row would be five miles long.

The model of the Panama canal, to cost $250,000, will be an exact reproduction of the great work at Panama. Dayton lake, Michigan dam and all phases of the canal with which Americans are familiar will be reproduced in miniature. Portifications will be shown, and the workings of the great gates at the locks will be illustrated in a way that will, perhaps, make their operation as plain to the visitor as if he visited the canal itself. Two thousand people will be able to make the trip through the "canal" every thirty minutes. Incidentally, it may be observed, the gates to the concessions district, as the visitor enters it from Van Ness avenue, will be reproductions of the great spillways at Panama.

Great Navy Panoramas.

"The Evolution of the Dreadnaught" will be a panoramic illustration of the birth, growth and development of the American navy, entailing an outlay of $150,000. The concession is in charge of E. W. McConnell, who produced a "Trip to the North Pole" at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis in 1904. The historic incidents in the life of the navy, such as Perry's victory at Lake Erie, the battle of the Monitor and Merrimack, Dewey's victory at Manila bay and the defeat of the Spanish fleet at Santiago, will be shown.

All of the scenes will be presented in chronological order. The visitor in 1915, as he enters the concession, will see first a panorama depicting the early events of America's naval history, and then panoramas of the later events, with which every schoolboy is familiar. Throughout the successive stages of the panorama the illusion of warships in action will be preserved. The final panorama will show the assembled battle ships of the navy of the world anchored off Harbor View, with the white squadron coming through the Golden Gate.

This panorama will become an actuality, for the nations of the world have been invited by Uncle Sam to send their best battleships and cruisers for the opening of the exposition. The invitation is meeting with splendid response. It is expected that more than 200 of the world's battleships will take part. Each of the twenty-eight nations that have already officially decided as governments to participate in the exposition will send one or more of its representative war craft to the Golden Gate, and a number of the nations have already given assurance that several of their finest fighting craft will assemble at the Golden Gate. Mr. Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty of England, has promised that Great Britain will be represented with a number of the finest Dreadnaughts. The spectacle of this vast fleet assembled from the world's navies will be without parallel in history.

The European nations will assemble their battleships at Hampton Roads, and thence, after an official review, the composite fleet of the world's fighting craft, the largest fleet ever assembled, will proceed through the Panama canal to the Golden Gate.

Higher Than Ferris Wheel.

A novel feature will be the "Aeroscope," an inverted pendulum, which will carry sightseers to an elevation of 268 feet. This is four feet higher than the famous Ferris wheel at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago. The Aeroscope presents a novel feature in construction. Crane arms, 340 feet in height, mounted upon a steel tower fifty feet high and made of two parallel riveted trusses, will operate as a balanced lever. One of the crane arms will carry a double decked cage for passengers.

One of the most attractive of the concessions will be that reproducing the historic market place of old Nuremberg, probably the quaintest point in the old world. Nuremberg today is no only one of the great cities of the German empire which has preserved its medieval appearance. Nuremberg was the home of the Meistersinger. Here the "Iron Maiden," instrument of torture, first made her grisly entrance into the dungeon chamber; here the independent robber barons first held sway against all who came; here the incomparable work of Franz Hals was first produced. Many of these interesting relics will be shown.

The banquet hall, folk dance hall, restaurants, cafes and concert gardens will be presented as they existed five centuries ago. Employees will be dressed in the native costumes of the fifteenth century that visitors may feel that they are in the fascinating old city of Nuremberg as it existed in the height of its glory.

Typical of the early days of the west will be the "Forty-nine Camp," in which the chase was made famous by Bret Harte will be reenacted and mingle with the visitors. Stagecoaches of the days of 49 will meet the visitors at the entrance of the Union Ferry building and take them out to the "camp." Rustic wheels, fairs games and stagecoach robberies will appeal to every sightseer. There will be no actual gambling for games of chance will not be permitted upon the exposition grounds. Nevada mining men under the leadership of Sam Davis, editor of the Carson City Appeal, will operate this concession at an outlay of $100,000. The face of the "Ice Palace," to be presented by Montreal concessionaires, will be unique in design of ice, through which will run ammonia pipes. In the interior will be a skating rink three-fourths of an acre in area, upon which will be held international hockey matches.

Unique "Roadtown."

A unique display in one of the exhibit palaces will be "Roadtown," a modern skyscraper laid on its side, with the pipes and wires and elevators running horizontally instead of vertically and with the inhabitants of the building having free access to the open country that surrounds it.

"Roadtown" is a continuous house. Instead of grouping houses together as man does in the building of a modern city the exhibitor suggests a novel idea that cities should be strung along for miles through hill and dale, giving every family an ample and handy supply of fresh air. "Roadtown" is to be built of "poured" concrete—Edison's system—and it will be earthquake proof, fireproof, soundproof and germproof. All the transportation will be conducted in the basement, where a monorail transportation system will be used.

In the "Submarine" concession sightseers will travel actually beneath the water in submarine craft corresponding in appearance and in general equipment with the most modern type of submarines used in the world's navies.

Dayton Flood Reproduced.

Henry Ellsworth, named throughout the world as a producer of the Oberammergau Passion play, which has brought thousands upon thousands of pilgrims to the picturesque shrine in the foothills of the Bavarian Alps, will produce a great concession to be known as the "Dayton Flood." Mechanical devices upon an elaborate scale will reproduce many of the thrilling incidents at the time of Dayton's great disaster. The spectacle will convey a lesson, and the courage with which Dayton overcame his disaster will be exhibited.

"Mahomet's Mountain" another large and interesting attraction, will represent a huge man, ninety-six feet tall, holding up a mountain. Visitors will journey through the mountain, visiting caves, waterfalls and many spectacular places.

George S. Klock, who at a meeting of business men Monday at the Commercial club, was authorized to appoint a committee to learn whether Albuquerque favored a Y. M. C. Mr. Klock probably will announce the personnel of the committee today.

ALL TRAINS EXCEPT
NO. 4 CARRYING
MAILS NOW
OF TWO ESTATES
BEGUN IN COURT

Santa Fe Expresses Haul Second Class Matter and Fragile Parcels to Relieve Unprecedented Congestion.

Every Santa Fe train entering and leaving Albuquerque now, excepting only the eastbound California limited, are carrying mail. Railroad and post-office department employees said yesterday this was the first time that Christmas mails have been so heavy as to load nearly every train.

The mails for the last week have been more than twice as heavy as they were for the corresponding week last year. The first class mail has been practically the same, and the registered mail less. The parcels post caused the increase. The falling off in registered packages is due to this. Train No. 4, which heretofore has brought only a pouch from Santa Fe to Albuquerque, carries paper mail from Kansas City to Albuquerque and from Albuquerque to Los Angeles. The mail is transported in "direct" sacks, as there is no mail clerk on this train.

Train No. 7, which does not carry any mail, now carries paper mail from Kansas City to Albuquerque and California cities.

The westbound California limited and No. 9, the regular mail trains, have heavier loads than they had a year ago. Both trains have one working mail car and two storage cars, in which pouches were piled to the ceiling. In addition to this No. 9 had a baggage car filled, Monday and last night.

The big increase in eastbound mail this year was a surprise to postoffice employees. No. 8, which is an express train west of Albuquerque, is carrying parcels, post packages too fragile to be entrusted to the regular mails.

No. 8, east of here, is a mail train and now it takes out the mail car brought here by No. 2.

No. 16 has been carrying the bulk of mails for the east. This train's equipment now corresponds with the westbound California limited's.

DIDIER'S CONDITION
FAVORS RECOVERY
FROM SERIOUS INJURY

Ernest Didier, of Helen, who was seriously injured when he fell through a mirror, yesterday appeared to have improved. He is at St. Joseph's hospital. The fact that pieces of glass penetrated the right lobe of the lung, however, makes it impossible for the attending physician to say positively just what his chances for recovery are.

Parenti & Company will sell the eight claims for half a million dollars.

Mrs. Bryan Wants Husband's Estate Relieved of Responsibility in McClure Estate; Mrs. Dieckmann Files Report

Mrs. B. W. D. Bryan yesterday filed a petition in the probate court, asking that the Bryan estate be relieved of further responsibility in the estate of James A. McClure. Mr. Bryan was executor of this estate and Mrs. Bryan entered the case as administratrix of the estate of her husband. Judge E. W. Hargrave would hold the hearing on the petition February 2. Mrs. Emma Dieckmann as administratrix of the will of Otto Dieckmann, who was executor of the will of Mrs. Annie Lohse, filed a report on the estate of Mrs. Lohse. This will be heard February 2. Mrs. Dieckmann also filed a report in the Edith Lohse guardianship, which is to be heard February 2.

In the Paul Mohn guardianship matter, Judge Hargrave granted leave for the filing of an amended petition. Judge Hargrave approved the sale of personal property of the J. A. Nadeau estate.

SHEPHERD OF HILLS
A STORY OF HUMOR,
PATHOS AND LOVE

Gaskell and McVitty announce for production at the Elks theater, matinee and night, December 25, Harold Hill Wright's dramatization of his very popular novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills." In making the dramatization, Mr. Wright was collaborated with by Elsbury W. Reynolds.

"The Shepherd of the Hills" is a story of humor and pathos told in a simple, direct manner, of love, mystery, with its scenes all in the Ozark mountains, southern Missouri, where the author lived and preached for some years. There are several incidents, including the night ride of the splendid heroine over the hills through a storm, an attack upon the shepherd, and the moral victory of a man when a panther is about to spring upon his rival, but there is no melodramatic touch to the play.

ERA OF PROSPERITY NOW AT HAND IS OPINION OF RAYNOLDS

Leading Financier of Southwest Believes Settlement of Currency Legislation Means Big Impetus to Business.

BENEFICIAL EFFECTS ARE ALREADY OBSERVED

Banks Will Have More Money to Lend and Development Will Go Forward by Leaps and Bounds Without Delay.

Joshua S. Raynolds, president of the First National Bank of Albuquerque and of the First National Bank of El Paso, and generally conceded to be the leading financier of the southwest, arrived in Albuquerque yesterday, stopping over for a day with his son, District Judge Herbert F. Raynolds, James G. McNary, first vice president of the First National Bank of El Paso, and a non-in-law of Mr. Raynolds, will arrive this morning from El Paso, and he and Mr. Raynolds will leave at once for Las Vegas, where they will spend the holidays.

Mr. Raynolds was seen yesterday afternoon at his office in the First National bank and asked for an expression of his opinion on the newly enacted currency law and the effect that it will have on business conditions throughout the country. He was in a very optimistic frame of mind, and did not hesitate to say that he looks forward to better business conditions than have prevailed for a long time. Mr. Raynolds was rather cautious in expressing himself, inasmuch as the report of the conference committee of the house and senate had not been adopted by the senate at the time of his interview. His remarks were based on the bill as it came from the conference committee, which has since been adopted without change by both houses.

"There was a time," said Mr. Raynolds, "when in common with very many bankers I was greatly alarmed at the turn that currency legislation seemed about to take. That was when the bill was in the house and it seemed that radical features would be injected into it which would be burdensome to the legitimate banking interests of the country and work a hardship upon the people as a whole.

"I have watched the progress of the bill through the senate, however, and have been glad to note that almost all of the objectionable features have been eliminated and that it has been improved to such an extent that bankers generally will welcome it as a big step forward. Of course, it is not a perfect bill—it was not to be expected that a perfect law could be enacted at this time—but it is such a vast improvement over existing conditions that I look for an immediate improvement in general business conditions all over the country.

"Personally, I would have been glad if the conference committee had left in the bill the provision for the guarantee of bank deposits. A provision of this nature, properly safeguarded, would not only be a good thing for depositors but also for the banks themselves, for it would increase the feeling of security among the people to whom the banks look for deposits and would result in increased business for the banks. Of course, any such measure would have to be so safeguarded as not to prove a tax upon sound bankers for the benefit of unscrupulous and incompetent bankers, and it seemed to me that the senate bill provided such a safeguard. I am glad that this matter is to be taken up in a separate bill, and I trust that it will be worked out in a satisfactory manner.

"The bill as reported from the conference committee will give the banks a larger cash reserve and more cash on hand for the use of their customers. This, of course, means more money on hand for development, and there is every reason to believe that the country at large, and the southwest in particular, will experience an era of prosperity in the immediate future that has seldom been equaled. In fact, it has already begun. The certainty of the passage of the currency bill has caused a general improvement in business conditions within the last few days. There should be a big impetus to business immediately after the holidays.

"There is only one danger that I can see, and that is the risk of over-inflation. This can be remedied by the appointment of the right sort of men to be in charge of the regional banks and the right sort of members for the federal reserve board. Purely political appointments for these offices, of course, would be fatal; but I believe that everybody is so anxious for the success of the new system that there is little danger of this happening."

Asked whether Albuquerque would endeavor to obtain one of the branch banks under the regional bank for this district, provided for in the bill, Mr. Raynolds said that it was too early to discuss the possibility of such a plan. It will be some time before anybody knows where even the regional banks are to be located. If there is any possibility of getting one of the branch banks here, Mr. Raynolds said that every effort would be made to secure it for the city.

Mr. Raynolds also applauded the stand taken by Albuquerque citizens in regard to the extension of the New Mexico Central railroad so as to construct a line from Farmington to Roswell. "The citizens of New Mexico," he said, "will contribute liberally to such an enterprise if its completion is assured. It is only the part of prudence that they should require that the railroad should be built before parting with their money."

Mr. Raynolds seems to be in excellent health, and is looking forward with pleasure to the family reunion in Las Vegas during the holidays. He will probably stop over for a day in Albuquerque on his return to El Paso. The financier was greeted by many friends while in the city yesterday, and expressed his pleasure at being in Albuquerque again.

LABOR UNIONS TO WELCOME WILSON

Calumet, Mich., Dec. 23.—William B. Wilson, secretary of labor, is expected to visit the copper strike district soon, according to C. H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners. Moyer said today the miners were arranging to welcome Mr. Wilson.

Moyer denied a report that the miners contemplated taking a vote on going back to work the first of the year. The investigation of the attorney general of the state was ended today with a report that no further violence was expected and the statement that the grand jury investigation into acts of lawlessness is progressing rapidly. It was said no indictments were expected for some time.

Christmas Package Contained Bomb. New Orleans, La., Dec. 23.—A peculiar rattle from the inside of what appeared to be an innocent Christmas gift attracted Mr. John Torrandino, here today, and he flung the package from him and ran. A minute later it exploded. Somebody sent him a bomb through the mails and he released the percussion mechanism when he removed the outer cover. He reached another room in safety, but the explosion did much damage to the house. A similar package was sent by messenger last year, Mr. Torrandino refused to receive it.

BRISTOW SAYS OWEN WILL PROFIT BY NEW BANK LAW

Angry Debate Precedes Passage of Conference Report on Currency Bill Through Senate at Afternoon Session

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The administration currency bill entered the last stage of its passage when the senate met at 10 o'clock this morning to take up the conference report which already had been delayed twenty-four hours by difficulties in the house.

Backed by the overwhelming democratic majority of the house, the bill came to the senate, for what leaders confidently expected was the last time, and the agreement on all disputed points approved by the lower body. When the senate debate began under the agreement to vote by 2:30 this afternoon, Senator Bristow, one of the republicans of the banking committee, who had been denied admission to the deliberations of the democratic conference, led off with an attack, saying he proposed to express his opinions so that they would get into the permanent record.

The agreement placing the secretary of the treasury, secretary of agriculture and controller of the currency on the committee to organize the new system, he declared, was a move to bring the whole system under political control.

Senator Bristow declared he believed Senator Owen had excluded him from the conference for fear he would join some of the democrats against Owen's "pet measures."

"It was done because he knew he could not control my vote," cried Mr. Bristow, "as he could not control the votes of some of his democratic colleagues, in the interests of certain great banking interests that have had a hand throughout in framing this bill. The senator from Oklahoma has accepted the most offensive provisions of the Aldrich bill and has covered them with a mask to deceive the people."

Senator Owen declared Senator Bristow had been excluded from the deliberations of the democrats, because they did not want their conference to "become a debating society."

"My allegation is that this bill has been drawn in the interests of the banks," continued Senator Bristow, "that the senator from Oklahoma is largely interested in banking, that the profits derived from this system by the banks he is interested in will add directly to his personal fortune and that he has voted to increase from 5 to 6 per cent dividends paid by the new regional banks on the stock held by member banks."

Mr. Owen retorted that Bristow's charges were "false and ridiculous." Senator Owen said that twenty-four years ago he had helped to organize "a little bank in Oklahoma, that he still owned stock in the bank, and 'will own it until I die.'"

"The allegations that my actions on this bill were influenced by the ownership of stock in that little bank are ridiculous," he said, "more than that, they are false and the senator knows they are false."

Senator Nelson, another of the excluded conferees, assailed the democrats.

"You have not only insulted the republicans of the senate and insulted and humiliated me," he said, "but you have disfranchised the state I represent."

The conference report was approved by the senate by a vote of 42 to 25. As the house already had approved it, there remained only the signature of the vice president and the speaker to complete the measure for President Wilson's signature.

Three republicans and Senator Poinsett, joined the democrats voting for the bill in its final form. The republicans were Senators Jones, Norris and Weeks.

The passage of the report was greeted with little demonstration. With the president's signature at 4 o'clock tonight, the bill became law, although it actually will not become effective until the new system has been organized by a committee of government officials designated by the measure. The controller of the currency is one of them. That office is now vacant and one of the first steps in putting the new system into force will be the appointment of a controller. President Wilson is expected to select a man soon.

A bill for the guarantee of bank deposits, a feature eliminated from the bill, was introduced immediately by Senator Williams, democrat, and was sent to the banking committee, where it will be taken up after the holiday recess.

Immediately after the final passage of the currency bill the senate adopted the resolution for recess until January 12, thus clearing the way for the Christmas holiday adjournment of both houses.

At 3:11 o'clock the house adjourned until noon, Monday, January 12, and its members scattered. Many of them will go home for the holidays and others will remain in Washington.

CATTLEMEN WANT LEASE LAW AND DRIFT FENCES

New Mexico Stockmen to Send Delegation to Congress to Urge Statute; Governor McDonald Will Go Along.

ROSWELL, N. M., Dec. 23.—The cattlemen of Chavez, Eddy and Roosevelt counties will send a delegation, accompanied by Governor W. C. McDonald, to congress during this session, asking that body to pass a lease law, and allowing stockmen to build drift fences on the public domain.

The government has indicted several prominent stockmen who will appear at the term of federal court here next February, charged with building fences on the public domain. Heretofore this law has not been rigidly enforced.

The stockmen claim that if drift fences are not allowed they will lose 70 to 80 per cent of their calves each year. Besides, there will be heavier expenses in keeping the stock which would drift for hundreds of miles.

The governor and the delegation will set up to congress that unless drift fences are allowed the cost of beef will be materially increased. The new law would affect all cattle raising counties where there is a vast amount of public lands.

FOUR DEPARTMENTS TRY TO SIMPLIFY WATER CONTROL

Secretaries of Interior, War, Agriculture and Commerce Have Overlapping Duties to Perform.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Plans for incorporating a system whereby all questions pertaining to water control and distribution under the federal government may be disposed of without duplication of effort were discussed at a departmental conference today by Secretaries Garrison, Lane, Houston and Bedford. It was agreed that greater co-ordination and co-operation between the four departments would simplify work, now widely distributed, and to this end further conferences will be held.

It was pointed out during the discussion that the great water sheds of the national forests are now controlled by the agricultural department, while in many instances, especially where floods are involved, the war department has sole jurisdiction. Water supply and floods, it was observed, bear a close relation to conservation problems, over which the interior department is lending its best efforts to solve. Also, the question of water regulation dealt with by the department of commerce frequently are closely associated with those of the other departments.

It will be necessary for the conference to learn just what special legislation already is in effect or proposed for the regulation of river and harbor projects and forestry reservation and to go into all the questions broadly before they can perfect their plans for the co-ordination of this work.

GERMANS TO BUILD RAILROAD IN CHINA

Berlin, Dec. 23.—The Chinese foreign minister and the German minister to China, signed at Peking today an agreement for the construction in China of two railways to be constructed by German engineers who are to utilize purely German materials and capital.

The cost of the two undertakings is figured at $20,000,000, but the Deutsche Gesellschaft estimates the financial requirements at a much higher figure. It is yet uncertain when the loan is to be offered.

The railways are to form part of the state railway system under the control of the ministry of commerce, but a German chief engineer is to remain in charge as manager until the loans have been repaid.

GRAND JURY PROBES INTO GRAFT CHARGES

New York, Dec. 23.—The grand jury heard further testimony today in connection with charges that a certain politician attempted to extort money from Anthony C. Douglas, a bidder for work on the construction of the Croton aqueduct. Testimony against the politician was also given in another case before the jury in which he is charged with collecting a bribe from a state highway contractor. The jury did not finish hearing all the evidence and adjourned until next Tuesday to hear other witnesses. Charles N. Chadwick and John Galvin, members of the board of water supply of New York City, which had charges of letting aqueduct contracts, Charles P. Dillon, a deputy commissioner of highways and a newspaper man were examined today.

Methodists, South, Hold to Name. Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 22.—The proposal to change the name of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, to "Methodist Episcopal Church in America" has been defeated, according to figures given out here today by the Christian Advocate. Thirty-two of the annual conferences of the church opposed the change and only twelve favored it. Three Methodist conferences have not voted. The following showed 1,001 against the proposal and 1,232 favoring it.

Do You Walk
Like This
This

The first is the way
most people walk—
in common shoes—with the whole weight resting on less than half the feet. It's a sure way to have tired, aching, burning feet.

The other is the way folks walk that wear the famous Dr. A. Reed Cushion Shoes—with the weight evenly distributed over the whole foot. And it's the only way to walk easily and comfortably.

If you have never worn Dr. A. Reed Cushion Shoes —drop in tomorrow and look at them. Every one of our customers that has tried them is delighted—says it's like walking on air—and we'll guarantee that you'll say the same thing.

There's every size and style to choose from—and comfort guaranteed—all at reasonable prices.
We'll look for you tomorrow.
