On April 25 at a seminar in Sao Paulo, Finance Minister Mailson da Nobrega told businesspersons that at the end of the week, the government will announce plans to lift the price freeze imposed in mid-January. The price liberalization, he said, will be implemented in a staggered fashion, beginning with competitive sectors of the economy, such as newspaper and magazine publishing. Charges on goods and services provided by state-run companies and agencies, he added, will be frozen indefinitely. (Basic data from Xinhua, 04/25/89)
