-BRIEF WIRINGS-

Bardley Gets Fifteen Years.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 3.—Treasurer John Bardley was sentenced yesterday by Judge Wilson to fifteen years solitary confinement in the Eastern penitentiary and to pay a fine equaling the sum to which he pleaded guilty.

Iowa Cyclone.
BOONE, Iowa, July 3.—Dispatches received here report a cyclone at Gray, Audubon county, Wednesday evening. A large number of houses in the track of the storm were destroyed and a number of people injured. One man is reported killed at Halbur.

Fornist Parnell.
DUBLIN, July 3.—The Irish Roman Catholic bishops at a meeting held here yesterday reaffirmed their former declaration that Mr. Parnell was unfit to be the leader of the Irish people, that he was unworthy of the confidence of Roman Catholics and calling upon Irishmen to repudiate him.

Rumored Purchase.
ST. LOUIS, July 3.—A dispatch from Houston, Texas, says there is a rumor current there to the effect that the Missouri, Kansas & Texas is negotiating for the purchase of the Aransas Pass road. Officials of the former road have recently made a tour of inspection of the latter.

The Arizona Reds.
HOLBROOK, Ariz., July 3.—A messenger who has just arrived from Colonel Corbin reports that he arrested eight Indians for whom he had warrants, for destroying landmarks and threatening the destruction of life. The messenger states that on account of the presence of four companies of military the Indians did not make any attempt to fight. Colonel Corbin leaves this morning for this place with his prisoners. All the troops were sent home yesterday and today.

False Alarm.
DENVER, July 2.—The rumor regarding the report of General Manager T. T. Smith, of the Denver & Rio Grande, is wholly without foundation which probably arose from the fact of his recent appointment upon the advisory board of the consolidated line at Leadville from which source he is to receive a large compensation. The duties upon the advisory board in no way interfere with his position with the railroad company which he has managed with so much ability and success.

A Popular Order.
NEW YORK, July 3.—According to the annual report of the Knights of Pythias, which has just been issued, that organization has been making great strides during the past year. In that period its membership has increased by 44,000, making a total of 308,000. The amount of cash on deposit in the name of the order is also $7,000,000 larger than in any preceding year, while the endowment rank is also in a flourishing condition despite the excessive mortality of the past twelve months. The order is 28 years old, this month.

The Desert Under Water.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 3.—There is water in the lake is rising, but no special uneasiness is felt by the railroad people. Owing to the almost insupportable heat it is impossible to get any white man to venture on the desert at this time of the year. The Indian runner sent by the railroad people has not yet returned and the boat sent out from Salton has only been able to go a short distance. A telegram received at the railroad office in Los Angeles says: "A strong wind from the southeast raised the water on the north shore. The water here is moving westward slowly. I fear the track will go with the next strong wind. The waters are slowly but surely rising. The water is 10 per cent fresher than Saturday's water. That it comes from the Colorado river at a point near Pilot Knob, there is little doubt."

San Francisco, July 3.—Considerable apprehension was felt yesterday morning over the safety of the Southern Pacific road in the Colorado desert. Supt. Mulvihill, with two boatmen, started last night to explore the lake in a small boat. The shallow water makes the trip perilous, as the wind shifts the waters, and is liable to leave the boat standing far from the shore, while the soil is of a very treacherous nature and would preclude the possibility of wading ashore. The party has not yet been found.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Blaine's condition is improving.
A man signing himself "Reformed Sinner" has returned stolen jewelry which he robbed from the store of George Eckert at Kingston, Mo., in January, 1887.

The St. James Gazette of London takes a gloomy view of the tin plate industry in England. The Gazette says the tin plate lockout is the beginning of the decline of a great British industry.

The Saax river in Alsace-Lorraine and in Rhinish Prussia has overflowed its banks, flooded its valleys and almost destroyed one of the finest wine crops that the region in question has seen for years.

Roger Q. Mills, of Texas, will soon start his campaign for the speakership aggressively on a written platform, as opposed to the conservative motions of the eastern Democracy.

Mark W. Harrington, editor of the American Meteorological Journal and a professor at Ann Arbor, Mich., has been appointed chief of the weather bureau. The formal transfer of the bureau from the war department to the agricultural department, under an act of the last congress, took place on Wednesday.

HISTORICAL SKETCHES OF NEW MEXICO

Francisco Sanchez Chamuscado and the Franciscan Missionaries. Fray Francisco Lopez, Fray Juan de Santa Maria and Fray Agustin Rodriguez, 1551.

The San Felipe of 1581 should by no means be confounded with the San Felipe of to-day, whereas the latter lies north of Albuquerque, the former lay far to the south of it and in the near vicinity of where is now San Marcial. It was, in all probability, the ancient pueblo called Qualecu, a village of the Piro, who then constituted the most southerly branch of the Pueblos. It is well known that the Piro, since the uprising of 1680, reduced to a small hamlet near El Paso del Norte, called Seneca, to some descendants living at Los Lentes and who seem to have forgotten even the language of their forefathers, and to a few households distributed among other stocks. At the time of Chamuscado, however, they occupied at least a dozen pueblos in the Rio Grande valley, between La Joya in the north and Fort Craig in the south. But all these villages were small, considerably smaller than those which, after the Spanish occupation, were formed around mission churches. The missionaries sought to consolidate the unimportant pueblos into a few larger ones and this they did for two reasons. In the first place it was their object to unite as many Indians as possible close to the missions for purposes of religious instruction, secondly they did it for protection against the relentless foe, the Apaches. Hence the disappearance of a number of pueblos during historic times and previous to 1580.

The small party of Spaniards was well received by the Piro. It seems that their insignificant number caused no apprehensions, and further more, that the behavior of the strangers was such as to inspire confidence as well as respect, no disparaging report of the slightest opposition of the expedition. Slowly they moved up the river, visiting now and then, here and there, one of the small pueblos in sight. In this manner they at last reached the vicinity of Bernalillo.

Bernalillo was the region which the chroniclers of Coronado have called "Tigué." That name is easy to recognize. It applies to the Tigua Indians, which to-day still reside at Sandia and at Isleta. In the 16th century the Tiguas occupied about a dozen pueblos between Albuquerque in the north, and the vicinity of Albuquerque in the south, and a few more pueblos were inhabited by their tribe about Isleta and south of it. At Bernalillo proper there were two, two more were inhabited on the sandy and gravelly dunes facing the site on the west, one at Santa Ana and another at Alameda. This cluster of settlements, the inhabitants of which spoke the same language, seemed to the friars a favorable spot for the beginning of their labors, and as the Tiguas were or at least appeared to be, friendly, they decided upon establishing their headquarters at Bernalillo, a village, the name of which, in the Tigua language, means "the place of the Tiguas." The Tiguas were offered and, convinced that the escort was hereafter unnecessary, the three monks took up their quarters among the Indians, while Chamuscado and his men engaged in further explorations.

It required considerable boldness on the part of those Spaniards, to attempt to penetrate some distance away from the Rio Grande. But the friendly reception tendered to them so far was certainly an encouragement. We may as well inquire here to what the peaceful conduct of the Pueblo Indians can be attributed? Forty years before Chamuscado had been at Bernalillo and he had not left the best of memories. The conduct of his subaltern, Garcia Lopez de Cardenas, towards the Tiguas, had caused a cruel conflict, at the end of which the Indians abandoned their homes and thereafter refused to hold any intercourse with the whites. That the Spaniards were in the wrong was proven, and Cardenas severely punished for his actions. When Coronado evacuated New Mexico in the year 1542, a priest, Fray Juan de la Cruz, remained among the Tiguas all alone and disappeared without leaving any clue to his fate. It is usually supposed that the Indians killed him. If this be true, then the Tiguas had no reasons to be friendly towards the new comers. But it is a fact known to those who are intimately acquainted with Indian nature that, however much romance has spoken of the vindictiveness of the Aborigines, he is in fact as prompt to forgive as he is prompt to forget obligations of gratitude. What is often represented as actions of long harbored revenge on the part of the Indian, has nothing at all to do with such feelings, but is simply the result of new influences; particularly of a religious nature. Whenever the original creed and belief of the Indian demands of him to sacrifice his best friend among the whites he will do it in most cases, not on account of animosity, but from superstitious fear from dread of the higher powers and their interference in case of disobedience. It is well to note such peculiarities of the Indian character, for the character has been but indifferently studied, hence correspondingly misrepresented. The Indian is a child, forgetful of the good he has received but equally unkind, after a certain lapse of time, of any wrong done to him. The events at Coronado's time exercised therefore not the slightest influence upon the conduct of the Tiguas towards the missionaries and their companions.

The true reasons for the conduct of the Pueblo Indians on this occasion are found in the harmlessness of the newcomers.

owing to their small numbers in the first place, again in a suspicion that, although in appearance not strong enough to offend, these strangers must still be powerful enough to defend themselves in case they were attacked. Also a dim recollection of the effect which the weapons of the Spaniards had produced forty years previous; and lastly in the conduct of the whites themselves. I repeat here that Chamuscado displayed in his intercourse with the natives, an admirable tact. Nowhere was there any occasion given for complaint or conflict. Then again it must be considered that he nowhere remained longer than a few days, so that the great contrast between the races which always and everywhere had led to collisions, had not time to display itself. He might also penetrate further inland with comparative security, since everywhere else in New Mexico, at Bernalillo excepted, and for a short time at Pecos, Coronado had left but good recollections. So Chamuscado turned westward (To be continued July 11.)

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy liver. When the liver is torpid the bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, drowsiness and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons' Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy. NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, torpid liver, constipation, etc., it hardly ever fails to give relief. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all ailments of the stomach and bowels.

THE LAND COURT.

Further Details Relative to its Organization—New Appointees—To Meet in Santa Fe Decem-ber 1.

Editorial Correspondence of the New Mexican. DENVER, Colo., July 1.—The court of private land claims was organized this morning and called to order by Chief Justice Reed, at the U. S. marshal's office. The sessions of the court during the forenoon was private. The matter of the appointment of the court officers was considered, the following appointments were made: For clerk, J. H. Reeder, of Hayes City, Kas., was appointed; Clerk Reeder is an attorney at law, has served several terms in the Kansas legislature, stands high in his profession and is very highly spoken of as a man well qualified for the position in all respects by those who have known him in Kansas for twelve years past.

Mr. J. M. Hawkins, now a newspaper man in Nebraska, formerly one of the editors of the Silver City Enterprise and brother of W. A. Hawkins, of Eddy, was very strongly recommended for this position. Judge Murray, of Tennessee, made a strong effort for his appointment, but the fact of Mr. Reeder being an attorney and an able and successful one at that and being thus considered better qualified for the place, carried the day for him.

For interpreter, Eusebio Chacon, son of Major Rafael Chacon, of Trinidad, Colo.; the young man is an attorney at law and has graduated with high honors at Notre Dame, Ind. His father is well known in Santa Fe and throughout New Mexico, and is one of the original settlers of Trinidad, Colo. He was a major in the regiment of New Mexico volunteers commanded by Col. Manuel Chavez during the late war. This appointment may be ascribed to the influence of Judge Stone, of Colorado. The stenographer is S. F. Parker, of St. Louis. This appointment may be ascribed to the influence of the attorney of the court, Col. M. G. Reynolds, of St. Louis.

The first session of the court will be held in Denver and will last about two weeks. About the first of December the first session will be held in Santa Fe. The court impresses everyone here favorably. Chief Justice Reed is a tall, slim man, gray beard, dignified, suave and deliberate of speech. He has been chief justice of the supreme court of Iowa, a member of congress and bears a spotless reputation. Judge Fuller of North Carolina is the ideal of a southern gentleman. He is a large man, white hair and white mustache, and is considered one of the ablest and most successful lawyers not only in his own state, but, in fact, throughout the group of southeastern states.

Judge C. H. Shuss, of Wichita, Kas., has been district judge for several years; is a slender man of average height, gray hair and side whiskers, quick, energetic, and evidently a man of superior legal knowledge and attainments. He has been a state senator for six years, district attorney for four years and district judge two years.

Judge Murray is a large, tall man, smooth shaven face, looks for all the world like Bob Ingersoll, and enjoys a fine reputation as a man and lawyer. He was a union soldier and the only office he ever held was United States attorney for Tennessee under the Grant administration.

Judge Stone, of Colorado, is one of the pioneers of the Centennial state. He came here thirty-one years ago and is well known to many of the old New Mexico settlers. He has been judge of the highest courts of the state of Colorado, and the members of the bar in Denver speak of him in the highest terms as a lawyer and a judge. He seems to be a man of deliberation and of a conservative turn of mind.

Col. N. G. Reynolds, of St. Louis, the attorney of the court, graduated at Annapolis as midshipman and ensign, resigned his commission, studied law, was admitted to practice in St. Louis, ran for congress on the Republican ticket in 1884 in his district in Missouri; was of course defeated; is a successful attorney, has quite a reputation as a railroad lawyer. He is full of life and energy and seems to be a first-class man in every respect.

The official proclamations of the organization of the court, the time of its session are now being prepared and will be published in daily papers in Washington, in Denver and in Santa Fe.

LATEST BY WIRE.

DENVER, July 3.—Thomas B. Baldwin, of Denver, formerly register of the land office at Folsom, N. M., has been appointed by the land court to be deputy clerk for Colorado. The appointment of a deputy clerk for New Mexico will be announced soon—possibly this afternoon.

DEPUTY CLERK FOR NEW MEXICO.

Later—Don Ireneo L. Chavez, of San Mateo, has been appointed deputy clerk, of the land court for New Mexico. Mr. Chavez is a fine Spanish and English scholar. Mrs. J. B. Scroggs of Kansas City, the guest of Mrs. E. L. Bartlett for several weeks, left on Wednesday for home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Twitchell, Mrs. Gower and a party of friends depart tomorrow for a month's outing on the Pecos.

D. A. Seely and wife, of North Bend, Neb., are sight-seers about the historic city today. They are quartered at the Exchange.

Meers, Adolph Fischer, Douglas and Philip Harroun and Ed. Andrews leave on Sunday via Monument rock and the El Macho trail for a ten days fish along the Pecos, ten miles above Cooper's.

Owing to the absence of Governor Prince, there will be no official reception at his residence next Wednesday, July 8. In August, however, they will be resumed.

Mr. F. W. Clancy and wife and Mrs. N. B. Field, of Albuquerque, leave in a few days for the Pecos valley where they will take possession of Mr. Clancy's summer cottage.

Meers, Arthur Seligman, Will Griffin and others are planning to depart on July 14 for a six weeks' sojourn in the Valle mountains, being accompanied by a party of an even dozen of friends from Kansas City, Las Vegas and Santa Fe.

Hon. T. B. Catron arrived from Las Cruces yesterday. That region is quite too warm for the average Santa Fean just now, and Mr. Catron announced his intention to resolve not to leave Santa Fe again for six weeks.

Hon. A. L. Branch, of Mora, and Sheriff Agapito Abeytia, of that county, arrived in town last night.

The Athletic club, which now has thirty-three prompt paying members, is preparing to give a very attractive public entertainment at the close of the summer in the shape of an athletic exhibition. Many of the members are already quite expert in athletic sports.

Hon. B. M. Thomas and family returned last night from an extended trip north and east, enjoying also a trip to their old home in Indiana. The secretary is looking much improved in health as a result of his vacation and rest.

He says it is quite hot enough back in the states to make a man long for Santa Fe's balmy atmosphere.

Out of the collection of about seventy-five varieties of roses which grace the home of Mrs. Catron, about one-half of them are now in full flower, and they form a beautiful sight to the eye. Those who delight in such things and care to call and see them will be always welcomed by this model hostess. Her collection of lilies is also very fine.

J. D. Warner, formerly of Las Vegas, now the fortunate possessor of some vast tracts of Mexican coffee lands near Vera Cruz, also interested in the Anglo-American newspaper, City of Mexico, is a guest at the Palace today.

Mr. Wilcox, Mr. J. Watson Vail and their families and Mr. W. C. Murray, of Alma, Nebraska, are having no end of enjoyment doing Santa Fe and adjacent points of interest. They will remain here over Sunday.

Mrs. B. Seligman is still detained in Philadelphia on account of sickness. Her friends here hope earnestly for her speedy recovery and safe return home.

Ireneo L. Chavez, the newly appointed deputy clerk of the land court for New Mexico, arrived from San Mateo today and registers at the Palace.

V. A. Greenleaf and J. S. Moore, of Albuquerque, are in the city on business with the territorial auditor general.

John Symington, Jr., left yesterday for a ten days visit among his young friends at Fort Wingate.

Hon. J. R. Ribera, member of the Bernalillo county board, is in the city on business.

Mr. George Anton and Miss Ella Sienros were married at the cathedral this morning.

J. W. Schofield has gone to Las Vegas on business and pleasure combined.

J. S. Taylor, the artesian well man, is here from Springer.

Col. Perfecto Arriola, of Albuquerque, is on a visit to the capital.

SANTA FE'S MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

The Citizens Non-Partisan Ticket Triumphs With But One Exception—A Great Victory For Progress and Decency.

The people of Santa Fe again did themselves proud yesterday. Just a month ago they took their first progressive step and downed the croakers by a vote of eight to one in favor of instituting a city government, and yesterday they showed their metal by voting to keep politics out and business in, and administering a rebuke to the disgruntled politicians that the said d. p. will not soon recover from. With the single exception of one councillor, Richard Gorman, who defeated Nicolas Sena in the first ward, the entire business men's non-partisan ticket carried the day. The principal fight seemed to have been made by the sorehead leaders upon Mr. J. D. Hughes, the citizen's candidate for clerk, and incidentally the New Mexican came in for a good deal of their mischievous mouthings because of its vigorous support of the non-partisan ticket, but the result speaks for itself.

Mr. Hughes was elected by a vote which, considering all the circumstances, must be very gratifying to himself and his friends.

The vote for Mayor Thornton stands: First ward, 174; second, 215; third, 190; fourth, 180.

The vote for city clerk stands: First ward, Hughes 154, Delgado 124; second ward, Hughes 156, Delgado 59; third ward, Hughes 106, Delgado 85; fourth ward, Hughes 103, Delgado, 77.

For treasurer, first ward, Eldred, 77; Vaughn, 99; second ward, Eldred, 156; Vaughn, 59; third ward, Eldred, 105; Vaughn, 75; fourth ward, Eldred, 88; Vaughn, 92.

The vote for aldermen is as follows: First Ward—Frank Delgado, 133; Sena, 78; Berardine, 44; Gorman, 100.

Second Ward—M. Garcia and M. Quintana, 215; no opposition.

Third Ward—G. D. Koch, 115; W. S. Harroun, 103; S. S. Beatty, 68; Chas. Wagner, 41.

Fourth Ward—G. W. Knaebel, 140; N. Mondragon, 99; H. Lindheim, 95; J. D. Sena, 18.

The board of county commissioners will make an official canvass of the vote on Monday.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

Sheriff Frank Chavez is a stayer, and as a political prophet is away up. No wonder the game are down on him.

Several scrapping matches last night after the result had become positively known.

It was rather a refreshing sight to see ardent Democrats and Republicans working side by side in the 3d ward to defeat the schemers.

City Clerk J. D. Hughes, gentlemen! Something of a victory for the New Mexican, too, eh? Chalk up another knock-out for the gang.

It was mighty small potatoes, that attempt to recompense Delgado for his loss of $1,000 and five months' time in jail by nominating him for an office that pays the princely salary of $25 per month.

A. T. Grigg isn't worried a bit over the success of the business men's ticket. He made fair, straight fight for some changes in the convention, but after that let drop all political preferences and worked for the straight ticket.

A vindication is what they wanted and they got it in the neck! Santa Fe has indeed made progress during the past year. The people have stamped the county bond funding schemers with their seal of disapproval.

The opposition had some good men on its ticket yesterday but they, like old dog Tray, had to be sacrificed because of the company they were in. These things serve to teach good men a valuable lesson.

It will probably be a long time before the broods and law-breakers again ask that Santa Feans drop business methods and go out of their way for the sake of vindictive.

Mr. Wedeles is quite entitled to smile. If credit is due to any one man in particular for the result of yesterday's contest much of it must, in justice, be laid to the account of Frank Chavez. Speedily out he has acted square and manly and himself to be a public-spirited man, anxious to promote Santa Fe's best interests.

WILL CELEBRATE TO-MORROW.
Outline of the Program to be Carried Out in Observance of Independence Day.

Capt. John Gray and James Van Ardel are out this afternoon raising funds for a celebration of Independence day, and, while this is always a thankless task, at the same time they have been quite successful, and as a result a good time is promised.

It is proposed to have a series of races—foot, sack, potato, bicycle, burro races, etc., on the plaza at 3 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and at 7 o'clock there will be a concert in the plaza for an hour or more, to be followed by a brilliant display of fireworks.

Every citizen should contribute his mite toward helping the committee carry out this program. Captain Sol Spiegelberg has been designated custodian of the funds so contributed and will see to it that they are properly expended.
