Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 9.—The purchase of the Chicago, Cincinnati & Louisville by the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and the Pere Marquette railways may be contested in the courts. W. A. Bradford, president of the Chicago, Cincinnati & Louisville, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon, after a consultation in New York, with his legal advisers, and the following statement by him was published today:

“I am afraid there may be a little formaldehyde in that roast of beef, your imperial highness,” said the head chef of the palace of the czar of all the Russians, “but I was very suspicious of the alleged strictly fresh beef offered on the market.”

“All right, chef, replied the czar, “I’ll stand for formaldehyde, but be sure that there’s no strychnine, carbolic acid or rough on rats mixed up in it.”

One might imagine from reports of the czar’s enforced seclusion and the fact that death by poison is one of his many great fears, that a conversation something like the above might take place in the imperial palace.

But the fact is that Nicholas partakes of an extraordinarily extensive menu, and spends enormous sums to procure it, and also to secure himself from the sudden death ingredients that so many of his faithful subjects would like to enter into the imperial bill of fare.

To begin with, Eugene Kratz, head chef of the palace, ranks as a general in the Russian army, and his salary is about $50,000 a year. He bosses all the imperial kitchens. About the only time Kratz does manual work is when the czar’s appetite becomes capricious, and as Alexander sighed for a new world to conquer, Nicholas craves for something new to eat.

Then Kratz gets busy. He takes to his private kitchen and thinks and experiments—mixes, stews, bakes things which no cook book ever thought of—until he finally satisfies himself that he has got something that will “hit” Nicholas just right.

But he doesn’t call Nicholas in and say: “Try a spoonful of this, Nick. I’m sure you will like it.” Oh, no; nothing like that.

The imperial tasters are ordered to the front.

First comes the under chef, and he gets a taste. As to whether or not they really approve, from a gastronomic standpoint—according to Victor Hutzler, who served two years in the winter palace kitchen, and who is now chef of a San Francisco hotel—that does not count.

The idea is to see if any of those under-chefs drops dead or falls into convulsions—a sort of case of trying it on the dog. Then the under-chefs get into the tasting line, and next a major of the army. No fatal or serious results following, then is served to the czar a dish that fits a king and would kill a peasant.

The czar frequently submits a menu for the day, and when it is under preparation 300 men are hustling in the kitchen enveloped in delicate vapors.

The breakfasts vary much, but invariably and pate de foie gras are never absent. The czar falls to on breakfast at about 8 o’clock. At 11 he is ready to go into the game again. This time it is salads, soups, cold meats, leeks and desserts.

That seems pretty tall eating already, but the 5 o’clock dinner is the real thing. The cooks have been steaming over it all day.

The major on duty partakes of every dish, after which it is placed in an elevator having a closed door. Everything in readiness, the czar enters the elevator, is locked in, and the dinner and the major are lifted directly to the dining room and into the presence of the czar.

The major again goes through the tasting performance, and nothing happening to him, the imperial family sits down to dinner.

The dining room is made of cast iron, and sealed between meals like a bank vault. It is entirely bomb proof. The czar starts in on dinner with a number of appetizers. Then “hors d’oeuvre,” soup, hot and cold meats, half a dozen entrees, hot and cold fowls, many different vegetables, puddings, ices, cakes, wine, tea and vodka.

The number of courses are always the same. The czar never misses one of them. However, he seldom eats between meals.

HOW THEY KEEP PIZEN OUT OF THE CZAR'S HASH

SOMETHING LESS THAN A MILLION UNDERSTUDIES OF THE CHIEF COOK TAKE A TASTE FIRST, AND IT'S O. K. FOR NICK IF THEY DON'T GET THE BELLY ACHE.

GREGORY PAGE'S BLOW SAID TO HAVE KILLED WALTER W. JONES

Although He Apologized For Some Remark Charged Against Him, the Murderer Used Some Hard Object in Committing the Awful Crime.

MOST BRUTAL AFFAIR IN ANNALS OF TERRITORY

After Man Had Been Almost Slugged to Death, He Was Taken to Another Hotel and During Delirium Walked Out of Window.

Special to The Evening Citizen.

Gallup, N. M., Jan. 9.—Walter W. Jones, a government lawyer, who received his appointment at Sutherland, Va., and who was en route from the San Carlos reservation to Fort Defiance, on the Navajo reservation, died here Sunday noon from the effect of blows said to have been delivered by Gregory Page, proprietor of the Page hotel, of this city.

Mr. Jones came to this city on December 30, and was to have reported for duty to Government Agent Perry on January 2, but on the night of his arrival he went to the Page hotel to secure lodging for the night.

On the way to his room it is said that he made some slurring remark to Mrs. Page, the proprietor's wife.

Mrs. Page reported it to her husband, who later met Mr. Jones in the bar room of the hotel, where words followed.

By some it is said that Mr. Jones apologized. However that may be, it seems certain that Mr. Page struck Mr. Jones two blows over the head with either a chair, pistol or some hard object, as the blows caused fractures of the skull.

Mr. Jones' wounds were cared for by Doctors Stoffer and Coudert, and he seemed to be getting on fairly well, when on the night of January 5, while suffering from acute mania caused by the wounds, he walked out of the window at his room in the Hinch hotel on to the roof of the Carman building, and from there fell to the sidewalk, fracturing his hip.

At the post mortem examination held yesterday the verdict was “That the deceased came to his death from blows, either of which would produce death.”

The coroner's inquest is now sitting, but have not as yet reached a verdict.

Special to The Evening Citizen.

Gallup, N. M., Jan. 9, 2:30 p. m.—The coroner's jury has just returned its verdict, after sitting since yesterday morning. The verdict reads:

“We find that the deceased came to his death indirectly, from a blow delivered by Gregory Page.”

No recommendations or instructions were delivered by the jury.

YET THE FARCE RUNS ITS WAY

Rogers Either Remains Dumb as Witness
in Oil Case

OR SAYS HE DOESN'T KNOW

Informing Attorney General He Doesn't Think It is Worth While to Answer.

LAWSON WILL GIVE TESTIMONY

New York, Jan. 9.—Henry H. Rogers, vice president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, was on the stand again today.

“How long have you been connected with the Standard Oil company of Indiana?” asked Hadley, the attorney general of Missouri.

“I don't know,” said Rogers.

“Since its organization?”

“I don't think it is worth while to answer that,” said Rogers.

“You will permit me to be the judge of that,” responded Hadley.

Hadley then asked Rogers if he was connected with the Standard Oil of Indiana when it succeeded to the business of the Standard Oil of Kentucky. The counsel for the Standard objected, and the witness declined to answer.

Several other questions Rogers declined to answer.

Lawson to Appear.

New York, Jan. 9.—Attorney General Hadley, of Missouri, said today that Thomas W. Lawson, of Boston, would be invited to appear before the commission. This decision was reached today when the attorney general was informed that Lawson was willing to appear.

Lawson last night expressed his willingness to come to New York in connection with the inquiry. Hadley said he would telegraph Lawson immediately and ask him to come to New York and testify.

Rogers Maintains Refusals.

Rogers continued to decline to answer questions, but finally Hadley brought from him that John Teagle is a member of Schofield, Scourmer & Teagle, and in the oil business. Asked whether Walter C. Teagle is in the oil business, Rogers said: “I understand Walter C. Teagle is connected with some foreign business. I have met him at 26 Broadway and elsewhere.”

He declined to say whether he saw him about oil business. Rogers knew several other oil people vaguely, too vaguely to enlighten the commission.

Even Police Won't Answer.

Eugene Carney was the next witness. He said he was a police officer at 26 Broadway and that his principal business was to start the elevators. Acting under the advice of Attorney Rowe, Carney proceeded to give a modified imitation of Rogers' refusing to answer all questions. Howard Hager, who said he was connected with the foreign department of the Standard Oil, was then called. He also refused to answer the questions put to him.

ROGERS SUMMONED TO APPEAR BY SUPREME COURT.

New York, Jan. 9.—Henry Wellman, acting as counsel for Attorney General Hadley of Missouri, obtained an order today requiring H. H. Rogers, vice president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, to appear in the supreme court tomorrow morning and show cause why he should not be required to answer the questions in the taking of testimony before Commissioner Sanborn for use in the case of the state of Missouri against the Standard Oil company. The order was issued by Justice Davis in the New York supreme court.

BETTER TO KEEP IN PATH OF RECTITUDE

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 9.—After four years spent in exile as fugitives from the law, Benjamin D. Greene and John F. Gaylor, appeared this morning in the federal court for the southern district of Georgia, before Judge Emory Speer, to answer to several indictments charging conspiracy to defraud the government and with keeping money known to have been embezzled from the United States.

GREENE AND GAYNOR ARE IN THE TOILS AT LAST.

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 9.—The trial of Benjamin D. Greene and Colonel John F. Gaylor, on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States government and presenting of false accounts, in connection with the Savannah harbor improvement, was begun before the United States court today. Abraham H. Rosa of New York acted as the principal attorney for the defense. He will be assisted at the trial by Colonel Muldrum and other prominent attorneys. The two defendants were brought back from Canada on a request of the United States government for their extradition, and that fact will probably be used by the defense to confine the trial to the two counts of the indictment, which are included in the terms of the extradition treaty between the United States and Canada. There are in all four charges against the defendants, first, conspiracy to defraud the United States government; second, presenting false accounts; third, embezzlement; and fourth, receiving money that belonged to the government, knowing it to have been embezzled. It is maintained by the defense that the crime of conspiracy not being included in the extradition treaty, the government has no right to try the prisoners on that charge. The trial will probably last several days.

SOME LIGHT PUT ON VENEZUELA METHODS

Special to The Citizen.

New York, Jan. 9.—It is now likely that within a very short time congress will consider the matter of the relations between the United States and Venezuela, one of the principal subjects involved being the seizure by President Castro of the property of the New York & Bermudez (Asphalt) company, and the subsequent exploitation of this property for the joint benefit of Castro, Amel L. Barber and Ambrose H. Carner.

The New York & Bermudez company claims that it is the victim of a conspiracy engineered by these three men. It has asked the state department to secure an arbitration of the whole subject by an international tribunal. Much new light is thrown on the question by the testimony of Amel L. Barber, before the commissioner appointed to take evidence in the celebrated and unprecedented case in which President Castro seeks to recover $11,000,000 damages for alleged participation by this company in the Matos revolution of 1901. A great part of this testimony is now printed, the hearing itself, held October 18, 1905, having been quietly conducted in the presence of only a few attorneys and witnesses.

The cross-examination of Mr. Barber was conducted by Delancey Nicolai of New York.

TRIAL OF MIDSHIPMAN UNDER NEW RULING.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 9.—The first court-martial of a midshipman under the act of 1902, providing dismissal for “conducting a counterfeiting business,” began this morning. Midshipman Stephen Decatur, Jr., was placed on trial. The charge against him is supported by one specification, namely, that Decatur countenanced the hazing of Fourth Classman Gayford Church. Decatur, who recently acquitted of doing the hazing personally.

SCHOONER STRIKES ROCKS DURING TERRIFIC GALE.

Cape Henry, Va., Jan. 9.—The schooner Fannie Palmer, went ashore three quarters of a mile off the Little Island life saving station at 4 o'clock this morning. The vessel is lying near the beach and is pounding heavily on the rocks. One man landed in a breeches buoy with a message to the owner. The other members of the crew refused to land.

GERMAN MINISTER SUFFERS STROKE OF PARALYSIS.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—A telegram received at the state department today from Berlin says that Baron Richthofen, German minister for London foreign affairs, has suffered a stroke of paralysis and is seriously and critically ill.

CLEVELAND BROKER COMMITS SUICIDE.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 9.—I. W. Prior of Dennison, Prior & company, of this city, committed suicide this afternoon by shooting himself. Prior was one of the best known brokers in Cleveland and was a member of the New York stock exchange.

HOUSES DASHED INTO PIT

Catch Fire One Hundred Feet Below and are Consumed With Inhabitants.

Haverstraw, N. Y., Jan. 9.—At least fourteen persons are believed to have perished in a landslide which carried several houses down into the city pit here last night. Up to 3 o'clock this morning no bodies had been recovered and it is believed that all the missing are dead. Undermined by shifting clay, which had been softened by yesterday's snow fall, several houses with their three floors of sleeping occupants toppled over the brink and tumbled to pieces.

The houses which were of wood, were set on fire from overturned stoves, and the debris was soon a mass of flames. Some fifty tenants escaped with more or less serious injuries.

The landslide occurred at Rutland street, east of town, where two blocks of houses, according to another theory, are supposed to have been undermined by workmen digging for brickmaking. The catastrophe occurred shortly after midnight and while the victims were asleep. Seven houses went down into the pit which is 100 feet deep.

At 11 o'clock this morning it was reported that twenty-one or more persons are dead as the result of the falling away of the ground and the fire that followed. The names of those supposed to be killed are:

Joseph Albert; Rev. Mr. Alden; Jewish Rabbi; Mrs. Hayes; Abraham Blas; John Bonnett; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cohen and their five children; Thomas Hughes; Bartlett McGovern; Mr. and Mrs. Silverman and child.

NEW YORK BOARD OF TRADE FOR PHILIPPINES.

New York, Jan. 9.—The New York board of trade will hold its annual banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria this evening. There will be a number of distinguished invited guests at the banquet, and it is expected that several important addresses will be delivered on that occasion. Among the matters to be touched upon will be the proposed Philippine shipping law, which becomes operative on July 1, 1906. The board of trade is strongly opposed to the new law and will urge upon congress to repeal the law, as it would place injurious restrictions on the facilities for handling American trade with the Philippine islands.

GERMAN PARLIAMENT MEETS AFTER HOLIDAYS.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—The German reichstag reconvened today after the customary holiday recess. Many important matters will come up during the week, among them an interpellation in regard to the negotiations with France and the other powers concerning the Moroccan question.

STATEHOOD FIGHT IS NOW GROWING WARMER

Insurgents Insist on Placing Word “Each” in Enabling Act—Hagerman Recommended For Appointment by Senate Committee.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Speaker Cannon's efforts to win the insurgents over to the Hamilton joint statehood bill have met with little success apparently, and the joint statehood proposition is still shrouded in uncertainty. The insurgents claim they have 58 votes, the number which, coupled with the solid democratic vote, will force the consideration of amendments to the Hamilton bill.

Two or three republicans are reported to have been won over to the administration measure through speakers Cannon but the weakening of the opposition is so slight that until further changes are brought about the Hamilton bill will not be taken before the house.

All sorts of compromises have been suggested, but have met with no favor at the hands of the supporters of joint statehood. The last compromise offered by the insurgents was the insertion of a single word, “each,” where it would provide that the people of New Mexico and Arizona should decide by popular vote whether they would accept joint statehood.

PANAMA CANAL MATTERS TO BE THOROUGHLY PROBED.

Washington, Jan. 9.—All matters relating to the Panama canal, and the government of the canal zone, and the management of the Panama railroad will be investigated by the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals. This was decided today at the first meeting of the committee. The investigation will begin on Tuesday next, although there may be a special meeting in the interim to take up nominations of canal commissioners.

AT PHILIPPINE MATTERS BRIGHT AND EARLY.

Washington, Jan. 9.—There was no delay in beginning the debate on the Philippine tariff rebate in the house today. The discussion was opened by Bonyne, of Colorado, who opposed the bill in the interest of the beet sugar industry.

HAGERMAN REPORTED FOR CONFIRMATION.

Special to The Citizen.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Delegate Anderson was at the meeting of the senate committee on confirmation today. The committee reported favorably on the confirmation of Hagerman's appointment as governor.

The senate held executive session. Judge L. F. Parker has been exonerated by the attorney general. Hagerman says the statehood bill will have to wait several days in order not to supplant the Philippine bill.

BEEF PACKERS ARE BEFORE THE COURT

Chicago, Jan. 9.—The trial against the beef packers indicted for conspiracy to violate the anti-trust laws, opened here today in the United States district court. There are in all twenty-one persons and corporations under indictment and the hearing is held to decide the ten special pleas of immunity raised by the defendants. The verdict of the jury will only decide whether the packers are to be tried later on the main charges in the case or go free altogether because under the law they are entitled to immunity from prosecution, if as they assert, they furnished evidence against themselves during the grand investigation, and which evidence, it is claimed by the defendants, was used against them to bring the indictments.

CITY OF CHARLESTON GREET'S HER CRUISER

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 9.—Thousands of visitors from all parts of the state have arrived here, awaiting the arrival of the cruiser Bonaparte, which is due at this port today and will remain here until Friday. The cruiser was named after this city and the citizens are no little proud of the fine ship which bears the name of their city. To show their pride in the honor and their appreciation of the honor conferred upon Charleston by naming one of the finest cruisers of the American navy after it, the citizens have raised a fund and have had a magnificent solid silver punch bowl with platter and ladle of the same material made, which will be presented to the ship on its arrival.

The most elaborate preparations have been made for the reception and entertainment of the officers and men of the Charleston. For this evening a reception to the officers of the ship will be arranged, at which the officers of the Texas, Arkansas, Nevada and Florida and of the torpedo boats now in the harbor, will also be invited.

The presentation ceremonies will take place tomorrow. The bowl and accessories, included in a massive case, will be taken on board the Charleston by a steam launch, which will also carry Mayor Rhatt and the members of the presentation committee. It is expected that Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte will be present at the ceremony. He has been especially invited for the occasion, but was not able to make a definite promise, owing to the pressure of business during the early days of the session of congress after the holiday recess. Tomorrow evening the city of Charleston and also Secretary Bonaparte, should be come, will be the guests of the city at a banquet given in their honor. For the following day a big hunt field has been arranged for the officers of the Charleston and the other ships in the harbor.

The punch bowl, which will be donated to the Charleston, is of large size and exquisite workmanship. It was made in New York and is ornate with relief scenes of Fort Sumpter, Fort Moultrie, the Battery and St. Michael's church, and also the seals of the navy and of the city of Charleston and various emblematic designs.

After her visit to Charleston, Commander Winslow will take his ship out for her final trial and will then start for the Pacific coast. The Charleston is a protected cruiser of 10,000 tons and the first of its class.

RELIGIOUS, SPORTING AND MUSICAL MATTERS

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 9.—Today is the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of St. Paul's parish of the Episcopal church, and the members of that congregation will celebrate that event in an appropriate manner. This evening the principal celebration will be held, consisting of a special service, with the bishop of Indiana as the principal speaker. Tomorrow morning another special service will be held, at which the bishop of Kentucky will deliver the sermon. In the evening the Men's club of the parish will hold its annual banquet, with the bishop of Kentucky as guest of honor and principal speaker. Other parish celebrations will extend over the rest of the week.

HUNTERS AND DOGS HOLD BIG MEET IN THE WOODS.

Waynesboro, Ga., Jan. 9.—Hunters and dog lovers from all parts of the country are among the many hundreds of interested spectators who are assembled here to attend the fourth annual meeting of the Georgia Field Trial association. Eleven setters and six pointers have been entered for the trial, and among them are some of the best and best trained dogs in the United States. There are probably as fine bird dogs in the world as some of those entered for today's trial. Much pains and patience has been spent in training the dogs during the past year and fine sport may be expected. The conditions are almost ideal. The reservation on which the trials are to be held, measures about 12,000 acres, is located near the town and has the important advantage that there is always a sufficient amount of game to be found there. During the last four years the fame of the Waynesboro grounds has spread all through the country and even across the ocean, and among the spectators attending the trial are several English sportsmen. NOGALES CITIZENS WIRE CANNON

Speaker of the House, That They Are in Favor of Joint Statehood.

OTHER JOINT STATEHOOD NEWS

That the joint statehood movement in Arizona has many adherents, and that the people of that territory are NOT against the movement as a unit, as is claimed by the single statehood lobbyists, is made manifest by the fact that on the fourth of this month 15 messages from prominent residents and citizens of Nogales, Arizona, some of them over forty words in length, went in to Speaker Cannon, all urging the passage of the joint statehood bill.

Following are the names of the senders, together with their occupations:

E. Titcomb, President of the Arizona & Sonora Manufacturing company.
E. Ephraim, president of the Nogales Water company.
R. D. George, secretary Nogales Building and Loan association.
Con O'Keefe, treasurer Santa Cruz company.
I. Burgoon, supervisor Santa Cruz company.
W. G. Seville, proprietor Fulton Market.
A. L. Peck, proprietor Nogales Livery Stable.
J. M. Summey, proprietor Elite barber shop.
C. T. Jones, proprietor Montezuma restaurant.
George W. Atkinson, cattle raiser and stock dealer.
Roy & Titcomb, (Inc.), manufacturers.
Allen T. Bird, editor of Nogales Oasis.
Ray Ferguson, chairman republican county central committee, and a prominent physician and surgeon.
Milton Bohall, postmaster at Nogales.
H. M. Williams, public accountant.

These messages all went prepaid by the respective senders.

A letter received from Congressman Lacey, one of the original joint statehood advocates, in the days of the Fifty-seventh congress, reads in part as follows:

"The only question in my mind is whether or not we will have to put on the Forker amendment, BUT THE BILL WILL PASS."

Parties in this city have received letters from Senators George Sutherland of Utah, and Gearin of Oregon, which, while they do not state positively that they will vote for the bill, seem to favor it.

Senator Burkett of Nebraska and Congressman Brundage of Arkansas write that they will vote for the bill.

Congressman Champ Clarke of Missouri writes to a friend in Roswell, according to the Roswell Register, that he will most certainly vote for the bill.

The fact of the matter is, there are so many democratic congressmen, from states surrounding Oklahoma, who will vote for the omnibus joint statehood bill, that it will prevent a united front by the democracy of the house against the bill. Especially will this prove true of the representatives from Arkansas, Texas, Missouri and probably Alabama. If this comes to pass, and it looks now as though it would, there will be at least 25 democratic members of the house who will vote for the bill.

Not less than three dozen letters went to members of congress today from different citizens of Albuquerque, and more have signified their intentions of writing later.

The democrats of New Mexico, who are more numerous than the combined voters of both parties in Arizona, are doing great work for the joint statehood movement, writing letters to their former senators and representatives, and doing all they can to further the movement.

A prominent Arizonian, who was a visitor in Albuquerque today, speaking of the joint statehood agitation in Arizona, said:

"The anti in our territory are getting hard up for single statehood speakers when they employ a man by the name of Rose, said to have once been the mayor of Milwaukee as a speaker against joint statehood."

Why don't they get a citizen of Arizona to speak? Why don't some of the anti accept Colonel Bird's challenge and meet him on the platform?"

Every report being received at the League headquarters only makes it more evident that it is only a matter of a short time until New Mexico and Arizona are one state.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING COMES FROM DEMING.

While out shooting quail at the ranch of his father, Shady, the 16-year-old son of James Phillips, accidentally shot himself with a No. 12 Winchester shotgun, loaded with No. 6 shot, says the Deming Graphic.

While walking over a sleek rock, the young man slipped and fell, striking the hammer on the rock and breaking it off, thereby discharging the gun. The whole charge took effect in his right forearm, tearing away the thumb and many bones of the wrist.

The day was cold and stormy and the thirty mile ride to town, though made as easy as possible, together with the great loss of blood, would have been a severe trial on the strongest man.

Though the hand was in a very bad shape, an effort was made to save a part of it, but it was seen that the force of the charge had destroyed so much of the arm that further effort to save any part of it would result in death to the boy.

Doctors Swope and Steed then amputated the arm just above the elbow. While the great strain on his system for a time seemed more than he could bear, and his life seemed at most despaired of, at last a rugged constitution asserted itself, and he is now on the high road to recovery.

Though beginning the new year with so great a loss, it may be some consolation to the young man that many of our greatest men have been similarly afflicted. Shelby has the reputation of being an exceptionally good and bright boy, and with these two sterling qualities there is nothing he may not yet accomplish in life.

Financial Question

Henry Clews, the New York banker, in the advance proof of his weekly Financial Review, dated Jan. 6, says: "The year 1906 opens under most favorable auspices. General business conditions are satisfactory and ought to continue so, at least until the next harvest. So far as the stock market is concerned there are but two dangers, and these are rather serious ones: an over-extension of credit and the fostering of undue speculation. The money squeeze is now over, and from now until the middle of March money should remain in a comfortably easy condition; but the recent stringency in the money market is proof of the need of an elastic currency system, and of the rather unwelcome demonstration of the persistency of speculative demands upon our banking resources. Unfortunately, the latter are very frequently under the domination of men whose interests lie in the direction of still higher prices on which to unload their surplus stock. In fact, this power of speculative interests over the financial institutions is one of the worst dangers in the situation."

The Denver News of Saturday said: "The most obvious cause for distrust in New York was not referred to by Banker Schiff. It is the relation of the federal and state banking departments to the immense trust companies of New York city, who have billions of money on their books entered as deposits, while their reserves December 15 were only about 1 per cent of admitted deposits. Had one of their princely borrowers slipped up in cotton, wheat or copper, or repeated Morgan's failure with ship securities in London, then a fair-sized panic would have occurred, for, even with slow paying tellers, 1 per cent reserve would make but a sorry showing against the crowds at the doors. * * These New York trust companies, organized by the capitalists who control the national banks in that city, have a special field of operation. As the federal banking law does not reach them they indulge in loans which the federal laws prohibit, and because of that freedom they are able to draw deposits from the banks."

The American Banker, of Dec. 30, 1905, stated: "The volume of the currency is now not only absolutely greater than it ever was before, it is also greater per capita. More than this—owing to the accelerated speed of railways and the increased use of telegraphs and telephones, money moves more rapidly; the same dollar makes a greater number of payments in a given time. Putting all this together, and holding also in view the increased and increasing product of gold throughout the world, it follows that we are destined to enjoy, if indeed we are not already enjoying, what the country dreamed, or at all events, was taunted, to dread, some few years ago—a currency inflation."

After calling attention to the fact that the New York Stock Exchange in the year 1905 used "in our opinion more than one half of the total actual currency" the American Banker adds:

"What the United States government has been trying to do, what it is still trying to do, is to control or regulate the volume of money, without exercising any restraint upon Wall Street. It is needless to say that the effort has been a total failure. It is, in fact, not the secretary of the treasury, with all his tremendous powers and opportunities, who controls Wall Street; but it is Wall Street who controls the secretary and the president and congress and, in short, the entire government. This humiliating and dangerous fact is the consequence of a single economical error; one that Secretary Shaw himself shares. The error is that the volume of the currency should conform to the demands of 'business'; forgetting that the main 'business' of the country judging from its own figures is speculating on the New York Stock Exchange. It is not the volume of the currency that should conform to the demands of speculation, of hopes, of ambitions, desires, thoughts, dreams, gambling, if you will; but it is that these vagaries of the human mind should conform, so far as the currency can influence them, to a fixed or regulated measure of value. It is not the measure that should conform to speculation; but speculation to the measure. It is not that Wall Street should rule the government; but that the government should rule Wall Street."

To the mind of this writer it seems evident that when money is plentiful the price of other things is high, when money is scarce the price of other things is low. To increase the currency means to increase the price of commodities, to decrease the currency decreases the price of commodities, for the value of money, like every other product of human skill, increases with its scarcity and decreases with its abundance. In all speculation there are two parties—the bulls and the bears. The bulls want an increased quantum of currency so that prices of stocks, bonds and commodities will continue to rise; the bears want a decreased quantum of money, in order that prices may fall. Hence, both bulls and bears—in other words, all speculators—want an "elastic currency" which can be expanded or contracted to order. But while the one class wants expansion, the other class wants contraction. This was made evident when Secretary Shaw was advised by a certain class of financial interests to increase government deposits New York city, and a certain other class, equally prominent, powerful and interested, advised him against so doing.

In any event an elastic currency—one which could be pulled out or pushed in at the will of the manipulators—would add an additional element of uncertainty to speculation and increase the practice of it and the mania for stock gambling and gambling in futures. Hence, the words of the American Banker should be burned into the memory of all, and never be departed from by our lawmakers—"It is not the volume of the currency which should conform to the demands of speculation, but it is that these vagaries of the human mind should conform, so far as the currency can influence them, to a fixed or regulated measure of value. It is not the measure (the currency) that should conform to speculation, but speculation to the measure."

The Albright Case

The Morning Journal entirely misrepresents the scope of the decision in the Albright case. The decision of the supreme court of the United States was to the effect that it could not entertain jurisdiction under the Act of congress authorizing appeals to the supreme court, upon the ground that the matter in dispute must be measurable by some sum or value in money, and that in proceedings in quo warranta that although under the English statute of 9 Anne, while a fine on a judgment of ouster might be imposed upon the usurper of the office, nevertheless this was in the eyes of the law a punishment for the offense committed and not the particular object of the suit, and that the court would not entertain jurisdiction, whatever might be the effect of its decision upon the claim of emoluments for the office. The court so expressly states in its opinion. That question remains to be litigated. With this explanation The Citizen publishes the opinion of the supreme court of the United States in full, in another column.

New Mexican: Again the citizens of New Mexico are ready and willing to vote upon any constitution which may be submitted to them for their approval or rejection, based upon any enabling act to be passed by the Fifty-ninth congress. If the enabling act provides for joint statehood, a great deal will depend upon the provisions of the act and upon those of the constitution submitted to them. Whatever the outcome will be, the question will then be settled definitely. If the people shall approve joint statehood, well and good; if they decide that they want separate statehood and will make a fight in congress until such is attained, well and good again. Give the people a square deal and a fair chance.

Coin Premiums

Rapidly Rising
New York Herald.

Premiums on old coins have advanced from seventy-five to one hundred per cent during the last few years, said an old coin dealer to a reporter for a local newspaper. Any number of coins that could have been picked up for a small sum a short time ago now bring sums up to $75 and $100. This is due to the tremendous revival of interest that has taken place in coin collecting. There are now in this country more than 4,000 coin collectors who systematically buy old coins and are always in search of new specimens. They make trips to Europe and other countries in quest of desired rarities. Some of them make trips of this character every year, for no other purpose than to ransack the shops of dealers in odds and ends on the other side of the ocean in the hope of finding a treasure, which, as a matter of fact, they very often do. Of course, there are thousands of persons who casually gather old coins indiscriminately, but I don't take such collectors into account. So great is the demand for old coins nowadays that the supply does not begin to meet it. Most American collectors go in for coins of United States issue. Not much interest is taken here in foreign and in the ancient Greek and Roman coins, although they are the rage abroad. A good many collectors make a specialty of gathering Colonial coins and the private gold issues of North Carolina, California and Georgia, but the large other collectors go in for the gold and silver coins of the United States. That small letter on a coin which shows the place of its mintage makes all the difference in the world to a collector and also in the price.

"C. C." Adds to Value.

For instance, a twenty-cent piece of 1875 of the Philadelphia mint, is worth just twenty-five cents, and yet a coin of the same denomination of 1877 or 1878, bearing the two tiny letters, C. C., for Carson City, N. M., is worth anywhere from $5 to $10, whereas those made in other mints are worth just their face value or a trifle over. There were only twenty-four of the former ten cent pieces minted. Would you believe a dollar of 1904 was worth $5.00? It is, just the same, and that sum was paid at a recent auction sale. Yet such is the inconsistency of coin collecting that a dollar of 1798, in good condition, can be bought for $2.50. The reason for this is that all 1904 dollars were struck in proof sets, and were quite limited. Proof coins are made by furnishing the sheet of metal before the coins are stamped, and they come forth with a high polish. The low figure of the 1798 dollar is due to the enormous number preserved in good condition. Many of the coins minted since 1859 bring premiums that greatly exceed those for coins issued during the latter part of the eighteenth century and the beginning of the nineteenth century. A gold dollar of 1875 in proof condition will bring $75. The three dollar gold piece of 1878 is worth $50. All three dollar gold pieces, in fact, with the exception of those minted at the Philadelphia mint in 1858 and 1874, are worth premiums ranging up to $75. The four dollar gold piece of 1879 and 1880 is rated at $50. The flying eagle cent of 1856 brings $15 and is hard to get at this price. All the silver three cent pieces command premiums that range as high as $5. The nickel three cent piece of 1877 is worth $4 and the five cent piece of the same year is valued at $2.50. And, what will seem stranger of all to the general public, the common bronze cent of 1877, in proof condition, is quoted at $2.50, and even those which have been in circulation fetch an advanced price.

Die Cuts a Figure.

Die varieties mean more than one would suppose. Of the 1794 cents alone there are fifty-five die varieties, each one of which is held at a high premium, and of all the big copper cents there are 817 die varieties known, at the present time, with other countries to hear from. And this just refers to coins of one denomination. It can easily be imagined the work ahead of the collector who goes in for the collection of die varieties of coins of all denominations. The majority of the collectors of gold coins confine themselves to denominations under $5. This by no means limits their field greatly, as there are hundreds of varieties of the private gold issue of the western states, North Carolina and Georgia, not to mention the varieties of regular United States issue. Just take the Brasher doubloon. This was a gold piece issued in New York city in 1837. On the reverse it bears the motto, UNUM ET PLURIBUS, and an eagle with spread wings, upon its breast a shield, with a bundle of arrows in the right talon and an olive branch in the left, while the head is surmounted by thirteen stars. This coin was struck from dies which had been made for a cent, which the maker had submitted to the authorities for approval, but it was rejected. The coin is now worth more than $500, and is seldom offered for sale. Of the California gold issues alone there are several hundred varieties, and some of them command enormous premiums. There are only three collectors in this country who make a specialty of accumulating gold pieces of the value of $1 and upward. There are not only the eagle and double eagle of United States issue, but the many $10, $20 and $50 gold pieces of private firms in the west, and the $16 and $49.67 gold slugs. This branch of numismatics is only for millionaires. All the fifty dollar gold pieces, of which there were seven varieties, are octagonal in shape except one, and now fetch from $150 to $500; that is, when they are offered for sale, which is not very often. But there is one gold piece of United States issue which is beyond the reach of all collectors, no matter how wealthy. This coin is above price. It is the first twenty dollar gold piece minted by this government, in 1849. The piece was submitted for approval, but before action was taken the new year came, so that the dies had to be destroyed and new ones made for 1850. This coin, the only one of its kind, now rests in the coin cabinet at the Philadelphia mint.

Condition Real Factor.

After all, the real factor in the value of a coin of rare date is its condition. On this depends whether it is worth $5 or $500. A 1799 copper cent worn almost smooth from constant circulation and with the date barely discernible, will bring from $3 to $15, while one in better condition will advance in value by leaps and bounds. Two hundred dollars has been paid for one of these homely cents in very fine condition. One of my customers has had a standing offer with me for the last five years of $225 for one of these 1799 cents in unimpaired condition. Such a coin must exist, I am certain, maybe hidden away in the bottom of an old bureau drawer or reposing in the depths of an old stocking, the owner unaware of the small fortune it will bring. The great premium at which the 1799 cent is held is one of the mysteries of coin collecting. Usually a large premium is demanded for coins that are extremely scarce, or, by reason of their limited issue, are almost unobtainable. But there is no such reason why the 1799 cent should be rare. The mint records for that year show that exactly 904,585 were coined. Notwithstanding this enormous number, the coins are now very scarce, but where they have gone no one knows.

Cheerful Colored Parson.

The visitor in the south was offering his sympathies to the old colored parson. "It's a shame, uncle," said the visitor, "that the congregation should drop buttons in the plate when you were collecting your salary." ALBRIGHT CASE AS OFFICIALLY GIVEN

Text of Supreme Court Decision in the Bernalillo Assessor Appeal.

PROPERLY ATTESTED BY CLERK

In the supreme court of the United States, October term, 1905.
George F. Albright, appellant, vs.
No. 229.
The Territory of New Mexico ex rel
Josias M. Sandoval.

Appeal from the supreme court of the Territory of New Mexico.
January 2, 1906.

Chief Justice Fuller delivered the opinion of the court:

This was a proceeding in quo warranto brought in the district court of Bernalillo county, New Mexico, July 20, 1903, by the territory, on the relation of Josias M. Sandoval, against George F. Albright, it being alleged that Sandoval was duly elected to the office of assessor of Bernalillo county for the term of two years, from the first of January, 1903; that he duly qualified and entered on the discharge of the duties of the office; and that he had never resigned, vacated or abandoned the office, and ever since his election and qualification had continued to discharge the duties thereof. It was further alleged that on March 23, 1903, respondent, Albright, without authority of law unlawfully usurped the office and took possession of the assessor's room in the court house and of the books, papers and other insignia of office, claiming office by virtue of a pretended appointment by the board of county commissioners of Bernalillo county, made under the authority of an act of the legislative assembly of the territory of New Mexico, entitled: "An act to create the county of Sandoval," approved March 10, 1903, as amended by an act entitled: "An act to amend section 3 of an act entitled, 'An act to create the county of Sandoval,' approved March 12, 1903."

Judgment was rendered by the district court in favor of Albright, August 3, 1903, and carried to the supreme court of the territory, which reversed the judgment and remanded the cause with directions to the court below to reinstate it and proceed in accordance with the views expressed in its opinion, 78 Pac. Rep. 204. The mandate was filed below October 19, 1904, and on the 19th of November the district court entered judgment "that the respondent, George F. Albright, has unlawfully usurped and does unlawfully usurp the office of assessor of the county of Bernalillo and territory of New Mexico, from the respondent Josias M. Sandoval, the lawful incumbent of said office; that the said respondent, George F. Albright, do henceforth cease and desist from in any manner interfering with, or attempting to perform the duties, or exercise the functions of the office of assessor of the county of Bernalillo aforesaid, and that he forthwith deliver up to the relator the records, books, papers and furniture and all other things appertaining to the office of assessor of the county of Bernalillo and territory of New Mexico as the lawful custodian thereof," and for costs.

The case was again carried to the supreme court and heard upon a motion to dismiss, and on the merits, and February 24, 1904, the court denied the motion to dismiss, modified the judgment of the district court by striking out the words, "and that he forthwith deliver up to the relator the records, books, papers, furniture and all other things appertaining to the office of assessor of the county of Bernalillo and territory of New Mexico," and affirmed the judgment as so modified, 79 Pac. Rep. 719. On the same day an appeal was allowed to this court, a supersedeas bond given, which was approved March 9, 1905, and the record was filed here April 17. The case comes before us on a motion to dismiss.

The ground assigned for the motion is the expiration of the term of the office of assessor of the county of Bernalillo, and the consequent lack of power to grant appellant any effectual relief. But the same motion has already been considered and denied by the supreme court of the territory, and its renewal here amounts to no more than an assignment of errors to the action of that court in this regard, to be passed on and disposed of as such, if otherwise we have jurisdiction of the case. If we have not, the appeal must be dismissed even though for reasons not put forward in support of the motion. The opinion of the supreme court fully discussed the authorities on the subject of a right to have a review of the judgment on appeal after the expiration of the term of office involved in the proceeding in quo warranto. The court refused to dismiss the writ, holding that 9 Anne, c. 29, § 2, providing that in addition to judgment of ouster, fine and costs may be imposed, was a part of the common law of the territory, and also that the judgment might affect the rights of the parties in another litigation in relation to the emoluments of the office.

The appeal to this court was taken under the statute of March 3, 1885, 23 Stat. 443, c. 355; Shute vs. Keyser, 149 U. S. 649. Both sections of that act apply to cases where there is a matter in dispute measurable by some sum or value in money, although the amount is not restricted under the second section. Washington & Georgetown Railroad company vs. District of Columbia, 146 U. S. 104; Farnsworth vs. Montana, 129 U. S. 104. In proceedings in quo warranto, such as those in this case, the alleged usurpation is the matter in dispute and the liability to a fine on judgment of ouster does not make that matter measurable by some sum or value in money. As in criminal cases, the fine is "in the eye of the law, a punishment for the offense committed, and not the particular object of the suit." United States vs. More, 3 Cranch, 159, 174. Moreover, appellant could hardly be allowed to invoke our jurisdiction on the ground that if his appeal were sustained he might be fined on a new judgment.

The term of office had expired before the rendition of judgment by the territorial supreme court, and as to the effect of the judgment of ouster in a suit to recover emoluments for the past, that is collateral, even though the judgment might be conclusive in such subsequent action.

Mesdames Medler, Brooks and Macpherson were appointed a committee to secure suitable quarters for a "shelter" for worthy poor, and children whose parents are employed during the day. When such a place is established it will be turned over to the Salvation Army. The finance committee will meet again Thursday at the residence of Louis Hild. The second Tuesday in each month was selected as the regular meeting day for the Associated Charities organization.

PRISONERS MORRIS AND GRAY ARE THE ASSOCIATION

Startling Information Comes to Light in Case of Accused Confidence Men--Money
From Kentucky.

John D. Morris and S. L. Gray, the two accused confidence men of Louisville, Ky., will carry their unprecedented smoothness into court with them and make conviction a difficult thing indeed. They have engaged as their attorney, T. N. Wilkerson, and it is safe to assume that this attorney will leave no stone unturned in freeing his clients from the brand of crime which has been placed upon them.

Petition is Legitimate.

There is nothing the defense claims, in the petition circulated, not legitimate in every respect. Those who have carefully read this document, a copy of which appeared exclusively in The Evening Citizen yesterday, will agree with the defendants in this claim. Substantially, the petition states that the undersigned merchants, jobbers, and manufacturers, etc., petition the Southeastern Passenger association of Atlanta, Ga., to issue and place on sale a 2-cent mile, interchangeable mileage book in their territory to be sold at the uniform rate of 2 cents per mile, entitling the purchaser to 250 pounds of baggage, the said book to be for the use of the commercial traveler.

It will require a keen person, indeed, with a pair of powerful glasses on, to find anything crooked with the petition, Attorney Wilkerson will inform you. It is an end which manufacturers have sought in vain for years, and which if brought about, would be generally appreciated. The Southeastern Passenger association is a syndicate of southern railroad companies which have placed the ban on the interchangeable mileage book. If they could be brought into line the plan to make the interchangeable book good on all railroads in the United States would be easy as most other railroad companies honor the same throughout the east. There is no evidence to show that Morris and Gray were not sincere in their solicitations in this respect, for although it is believed the task of inducing the Southeastern association to adopt the interchangeable book is an utter impossibility, it does not necessarily brand a man as a criminal for floating a petition in trying to bring about this result.

About the Subscription Blank. The subscription blank which states that the money so subscribed was to go toward helping to defray the expenses incidental to circulating the petition, for interchangeable mileage in the Southeastern association, carries with it no incriminating evidence until the clause is reached where the blank states: "In payment for which, accompanying check is drawn to the order of the National Commercial Travelers' association."

The prosecuting attorney, O. N. Marron, contends that there is a fraud shown, because the defendants admit appropriating this money, as subscribed to their own use, the National Commercial Travelers' association, so mentioned, getting no money, and it being a grave question whether there was such an organization.

Defendants' the Association. Here is where Attorney Wilkerson will spring a sensation for he will claim, and prove, that there is a National Commercial Travelers' association, and that John D. Morris and S. L. Gray are such association. They therefore have every right in the world to use this money so collected, he will claim, as it belonged to them. Attorney Wilkerson will contend that Messrs. Morris and Gray had just as much right to organize themselves into a travelers' association as any other parties have the right to form a company.

In Police Court Today. The two defendants appeared in police court this morning at 10 o'clock but nothing was done. Attorney Wilkerson inquired what the bail would be in case he desired to waive examination. Judge Crawford replied somewhere in the neighborhood of $1,000 each. Attorney Wilkerson thought $1,000 was pretty high, but Attorney Marron jumped to his feet and reminded Mr. Wilkerson that both men were charged with a felony and he wanted to bail fixed high enough to warrant their attendance at district court. The court adjourned the matter until 4 o'clock this afternoon at which time the men will in all probability waive examination and furnish bail for their appearance before the grand jury which sits in March.

Got $200 from Kentucky.

The mother of Morris, in Louisville, Ky., has sent through a minister of that city the sum of $200 to aid him in his trouble. Rev. A. G. Harrison, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, of this city, received a telegram today from the Louisville divine stating that the money was on its way here. Morris was greatly pleased when informed of this good fortune. Both men were handcuffed together last evening and allowed to spend the night at the Sturges hotel under guard. Today they were accompanied by the men about the city.

QUESTION ON WHICH
CATTLEMEN UNITE

Denver, Jan. 9.—The consideration of the railroad rate question will be one of the most important subjects to be discussed at the second annual convention of the American Stock Growers association, which will meet here during the week of January 29 and February 3. The matter is of great importance to the cattlemen of the west, and the new association recognized this fact by sending its legal counsel, S. H. Cowan, of Texas, to Washington for the purpose of attending the hearing before the senate committee on the railroad rate question. Mr. Cowan has returned and will submit a lengthy report on the subject, which will probably be discussed at some length. That the cattlemen in general recognize the importance of the matter as much as the members of the American Stock Growers' association is evident from the fact that the Cattle Growers' Interstate Executive committee has decided to co-operate with the American Stock Growers' association in the prosecution of its purposes.

SOMETHING DOING QUICK

McCLURE'S HELPER IS UNDER ARREST

A. Padilla, 15 Years Old, is Charged With Murdering Ranchers.

HEARING HELD IN OLD TOWN

A. Padilla, the 15 year old Mexican youth who it is alleged was implicated with Emilio McClure in the brutal murder of Carmel Baca and Nicolas Sanchez, the two prominent ranchmen of McKinley county, is having a hearing this afternoon before Justice of the Peace Chaves of Old Albuquerque. The youth is charged with murder in the second degree and it will rest with Justice Chaves as to whether the young man will be bound over to await the action of the grand jury with this charge still against him.

Salvador Baca, a relative of one of the murdered men, signed the complaint upon which Padilla was taken into custody on the murder charge. The hearing is being held in the court house and a large number of witnesses are being examined. McClure claims the boy helped him in the dastardly job, the youth's part as far as known, being in going through the effects of the murdered men after McClure brained them with an axe as they slept in their blankets at La Posta crossing on the Rio Puerco, while en route to this city with the spring clip of wool.

McClure pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve a ninety-nine years in prison by Judge Abbott some time ago. In a confession McClure made to a reporter of the Evening Citizen it will be remembered that he stated in addition to the fact that Padilla's clothes and $100 belonging to the murdered men, that the boy helped him throw the bodies in the well where they were subsequently found. Later—Evidence in the case of A. Padilla being insufficient for warrant conviction, he was this afternoon adjudged not guilty and discharged.

BASKET BALL SERIES FOR TERRITORIAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The ball in sports on the gridiron in Albuquerque the present season has brought the game of basket ball, which for awhile has been hiding its light under a bushel, as it were, to the front once more, and as a result, some fast games are being ranged between the six teams in this city and teams elsewhere in the territory.

This city has been chosen as the central city wherein will be played the series of championship games, between the teams composing the league, the first game, and the first game of the series will be played January 12, between the team from the University of New Mexico and the original "Minors," who so easily won the championship three years ago, but who since that time have been disbanded until the recent reorganization. The university team at present holds the championship of the territory.

OTHER ITEMS.

County Superintendent Stroup announces that school has commenced in the new district of Los Griegos, the district having been divided into two parts a few days ago owing to the crowded condition of the one. Miss Isabelle Armijo has been appointed teacher and she has entered upon her new duties. Already thirty-two pupils are enrolled. Superintendent Stroup states that notices have been sent to all school districts in the county for the collection of poll tax and it is expected that at least 60 per cent will be readily collected. In district No. 8, the collections have thus far surpassed those of last year by $50. Since the receipt of the taxes all warrants have been paid and everybody concerned is well pleased over the school situation.

BRUTALLY POUNDED OVER THE HEAD

J. B. Nipp Claims Antonio
Samora and Tom Chavez Assaulted Him.

HIS CONDITION IS CRITICAL

J. B. Nipp, a well to do ranchman, residing at Los Griegos, a few miles north of town, is confined to his bed in a critical condition, as the result of a brutal beating he received last evening. Nipp attended a wedding celebration near Los Griegos, at which it is reported were Antonio Samora and Thomas Chavez, among many others. Nipp, it is claimed, went into a saloon to get a drink, and as he was leaving the place was held up and brutally pounded about the head.

Nipp informs Sheriff Perfecto Armijo that his assailants were Samora and Chavez, and that they assaulted him with a club or a piece of iron. The sheriff, who called upon Nipp shortly after the assault, says that on Nipp's head were several ugly wounds. The pillow was saturated with blood. Sheriff Armijo says, which flowed from the cuts in his head and from his mouth.

The men will be arrested when they can be located. What the result will be of the injuries Nipp sustained is not known. They may terminate in his death, in which case his assailants will be charged with murder. It is said that a bad feeling has existed between Nipp and Samora for some time. Nipp had, it is claimed, struck the man some months ago.

NEWSPAPER STORY MAY REUNITE LOST BROTHERS

DISPATCH SENT FROM THIS CITY GIVES VALUABLE CLUE, A. N.
SHULTZ THINKS.

A dispatch sent out from the Albuquerque correspondent of the Santa Fe Republican, chronicling a mishap which befell William Shultz, of this city, on December 8, when he stepped off a foot-bridge in the darkness and sustained serious injuries, may be the means of bringing together two brothers who have for many years been separated and their residence unknown to each other.

Dick Veila, of 330 South First street, Salt Lake City, Utah, writes to Chief of Police McMillin under date of December 2, that noticing the article in the Republican, it recalled to mind inquiries made of him by a close friend, A. M. Shultz, by name, a German formerly of Ohio, relative to the whereabouts of his brother, William Shultz, who for many years he had been trying to find. A. M. Shultz now lives at Encampment, Wyoming, Carbon county. The letter states that Shultz recently lost both forearms while working in a saw mill which would explain why he was writing the letter, rather than Mr. Shultz himself.

CLAIMED THE ATTORNEY WAS TALKING THROUGH HIS HAT

For awhile yesterday it looked as though the probate court room would be the scene of carnage, but an actual encounter between the two belligerents was happily averted by the promptness of Judge Jesus Romero.

The trouble started when the case of Guiseppe Badaracco, administrator of his deceased wife's estate, versus the other heirs, was being heard. Badaracco presented a bill against the estate of $154.50 for expense incurred by him in burying his wife. The other heirs objected to this, on the ground that a husband was expected to personally pay the expenses of his wife's funeral. Attorney T. C. Montoya represented the heirs and Judge W. C. Hancock the defendant. During the course of the trial Attorney Montoya referred to Mr. Hancock as "talking through his hat and being topsy-turvy," to which Hancock took exception, and for awhile things were lively, but Judge Romero got busy and the case was adjourned.

HARRY HOWARD STABBED IN BACK

Culmination of a Quarrel in Graham Brothers' Saloon
With H. Bohag.

ALLEGED ASSAILANT IS ARRESTED

Harry Bohag, a bartender who has been working on and off nights at Zeiger's cafe, is under arrest with the serious charge of assault with intent to kill appended to his name on the police docket. Harry Howard, the night bartender at the White Elephant, is suffering from two stab wounds inflicted in his back by Bohag. This resulted a quarrel which started in the White Elephant early this morning and was finished in the saloon of Graham Bros.

From those familiar with the facts it is learned that Bohag was in a quarrelsome mood all night and was on two or three occasions relieved of bottles he carried in his pockets. When Harry Howard went off duty this morning at the White Elephant, it is claimed that Bohag walked up to him, shoved Howard's hat down over his face and slapped him, upon which Howard punched Bohag on the nose and remarked that possibly Bohag would leave him alone then. Before taking the car home, it is asserted that Howard walked into Graham Brothers' saloon, where he had another set-to with Bohag. The two men came to a clinch and fell down on the floor, Howard on top. As the men arose to their feet it was noticed that Bohag had in his hand a pocket knife which was opened. It is alleged that he made a lunge with the knife at Howard's face. Howard ducked, whereupon it is claimed that Bohag closed up on Howard and stabbed him twice in the back. The blood flowed copiously from the wounds, drenching Howard's clothes. He was removed to a physician's office, where the injuries received proper attention. A complaint was filed against Bohag and he was placed under arrest. The matter received distribution of Judge Crawford in police court at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Can She--Can A Woman Live on $60,000 A Year

MRS. DORE LYON.

MRS. THOMAS J. VIVIAN.

MRS. CHARLOTTE WILBOUR.

MRS. C. C. SHAYNE.

FOUR PROMINENT WOMEN WHO DISCUSS THE ABOVE QUESTION

CASE OF MRS. BURKE-ROCHE, WHO FUSSED WITH HER FATHER BECAUSE SHE SPENT $200 A DAY MORE THAN THAT. STIRS UP SOCIETY.

New York, Jan. 9.—Can an American society matron maintain her position on $60,000 a year?

That question today is agitating New York society circles as the outcome to the breach between Frank Burke-Roche, a multi-millionaire New Yorker, and his beautiful daughter, Mrs. Burke-Roche. Mr. Burke-Roche, who is a millionaire, could not live on her allowance from him of $5,000 a month; that she expended $200 a day over that amount.

An open rupture between the millionaire and his daughter occurred when Mr. Burke-Roche reproached Mrs. Burke-Roche for her financial excesses. She left his home, taking apartments in a fashionable hotel.

Mrs. Burke-Roche admits that she was compelled to overdraw her allowance. She denies that she squandered money playing bridge or showing horses.

Prominent club and society women in New York were interviewed by your correspondent upon the momentous feminine question: "What constitutes an adequate allowance for an American society woman?"

Mrs. Charlotte Wilbour, president of the Sorosis society, said:

"I believe a man or woman should live within their allowance and should economize according to it. I do not consider $60,000 a year too great an allowance for a woman in society, for the demands upon her pocketbook are enormous. The average housewife can live comfortably on $20,000 to $25,000 a year. That, of course, does not include a box at the opera, fancy dress balls, carriages, servants, automobiles and other necessities. The woman with $25,000 a year can live a comfortable, quiet life."

Mrs. Thos. J. Vivian, president of the California club, said:

"Mrs. Burke-Roche could live on much less than $60,000 a year if she made up her mind to do it. However, I know that there is terrific financial pressure on society women. They must be patronesses of charity, give balls, theater and opera parties, belong to clubs and dress accordingly. Sixty thousand dollars a year is a fair allowance, in my opinion."

Mrs. Dore Lyon, prominent in many clubs and societies, said:

"The amount of money necessary to a woman depends entirely upon the circle of society in which she moves. If she has a town house, a country residence, automobiles, horses and carriages, and liberally patronizes the various arts and gives consistently to charities, her allowance must necessarily be large. Money is the one thing that counts in the really smart set. I call $50,000 a year a fair allowance. A woman with $10,000 a year cannot hope to live anything but a quiet home life. She will have no automobiles, yachts, liveries or personal servants."

Mrs. C. C. Shayne, of the Ohio club, said:

"A woman should live within her income no matter what it is. It depends upon the temperament of the woman whether an allowance of $5,000 or $100,000 makes her happy or contented. Upon a woman's management of the expenditures of money depends her ability to keep within her allowance, whatever it may be. The average society woman has to meet tremendous expenses to live if she wishes to take advantage of the alluring forms of entertainment her position affords, and if she is to live properly and cultivate her children."

SPORTING... ...BREVITIES

Base running, according to Sheekard, who led the National League in that department last season, is not altogether due to speed, but to a combination of speed and judgment.

The saloon business having lost its charm for him, Kid McCoy will open a jewelry store in New York. He says a big dealer in precious stones is behind him. Also his third wife's money.

The Tennessee racing law is to be tested, indictments having been returned against five horsemen and bookmakers who held a one-day special meet for the purpose of making a test case.

With Old Cy Young and Young Cy Young and Kid Cy Young all doing slush duty in the major leagues this coming season, the fans will have to keep their memories in good working order so they will know "who's who." The addition of another Cy Young pitcher would exhaust the distinguishing appellations.

S. C. Hildreth, one of the prominent owners on the American turf, has quit the bookmaking business after one year's trial, which cost him $41,800. He found the track followers wiser than the bookies and he will try to retrieve his losses by running his horses and lacking them to win when he thinks the chances are the best.

Patsy Donovan, who has been managing the Brooklyn team by asserting that his pitching staff is as good as any in the United States. Nothing like being on optimist, Patsy; he's a much pleasanter fellow than the pessimist, even though he may unload a great deal of "hot air" in the course of a season.

A Los Angeles club has offered a $7,500 purse for Kid Herman to meet Terry McGovern, but as Terry is tied up with Battling Nelson there is little prospect of the offer being accepted by him. Of course, if Nelson should defeat Terry, his drawing power would not be sufficient to warrant such a sum being hung up for him and Herman.

Arthur Irwin, who will manage the Athletics club in the "Outlaw" League, is flirting with several National League players, but as yet has failed to draw any of them away from the big organization. Irwin would greatly like weakening any of the big teams as he does not feel particularly kind toward the majors, having missed fire in an attempt to land the management of the Cincinnati Reds or the St. Louis Cardinals.

It wasn't so very many months ago that Jack O'Brien was kept busy trying to find men who wanted to meet him in the squared arena. Now he is just as busy dodging men who are anxious to try to knock his block off. On his trail are Hart, Ryan, Berger, Sullivan and Burns. Hart will be given the first chance and if he fails the others will be taken on in succession, as the Philadelphia has expressed a willing ness to settle the

THESE WOMAN'S CLUBS DENY THET RACE SUICIDE CHARGE

THEY SHOW AN AVERAGE OF THREE AND ONE-HALF CHILDREN TO EACH MEMBER.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 9.—Indignant Pittsburg club women have made a canvass of the married members in order to disprove the allegation that "the club woman commits race suicide and encourages other women to do so." The result is a vindication, they claim. It shows an average of 3.5 children for each married woman in the general federation of Women's clubs.

Twenty-one members, selected at random, had 62 children, an average of about three children to each member. While a number of the mothers have but one child, enough have three, four, five or six to bring up the average. Then, too, it is pointed out that many of these mothers are young, and may have more children in the future.

Many of the clubs carry the names of the babies of the members on their membership lists, notably the Women's Southern club. Three little toddlers attend the meetings regularly. Winodasaus has a pretty custom of presenting each of its "club babies" with a bouquet of roses, tied in the club's colors. During the month of October three children were born to members of the club, and the mothers were presented with flowers.

"Club women make the best and most successful mothers," said Mrs. Minnie Ourey Roberts, who is the mother of seven. "A club woman is a mother woman, and is better fitted by her education to systematically raise a family in a satisfactory way." "Three-fourths of the club women I know have good sized families," said Mrs. Ludwig Koethen, Jr., president of the Women's Civic club, and the mother of four, "and they do not neglect their families. The women's club movement has not been in existence long enough possibly to have been a factor in any decrease in the number of children in this country. I believe that women need relaxation, and that the clubs offer this to women, but I do not think they become so interested in club work as to jeopardize their home work."

mooted question of the heavyweight championship to the satisfaction of everybody, if it is within his power to do so.

Jack Palmer is now the heavy-weight champion of England, having been awarded that title by knocking out Geoffrey Thorne in the fourth round before the National A. C. London, recently. A body blow did the business and there were cries of "foul" all over the house, but the referee did not allow the claim. The general impression of the spectators was that Palmer did land the winning blow below the belt.

There is considerable merit in the suggestion of Dr. Arthur T. Hadley, president of Yale university, that open foot ball should be played because

Mrs. George Strott, 26 years of age, who lived with her husband, a brick layer, at 411 College street, Santa Fe, died suddenly of heart trouble shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday morning. A few hours before her death she was apparently in the best of health and had joked and laughed with her husband and friends.

Mr. Strott was awakened by his wife about midnight, and she complained of a pain in her side. Later, she again slept, but suddenly awakened him a second time by placing her hand upon his face. She was unable to speak, and died before medical aid arrived. They have no children.

STATUS OF WORK ON HONDO RESERVOIR

The work on the Hondo reservoir is being pushed as rapidly as the conditions will allow, says the Roswell Record. Wood, Bancroft & Doty,
a contracting firm of Omaha, began work on December 28 on the last embankment. According to the contract this work must be finished in six months from that date.

After this work is completed the government force will take up and complete the rip-rapping.

Advertisements have been issued calling for bids for the canal and laterals. This contract will be awarded the latter part of the month or the first of February. An engineering corps under Engineer Schlect is now in the field staking out the work.

From the condition of the work it is safe to say that the water will not be turned on during the coming year in time to allow the growing of any crops. It is possible, however, that water may be secured in time to permit a little fall planting, but even this cannot be assured.

The work on the reservoir is being well done, and when complete it will hold sufficient water to irrigate from 15,000 acres up to 20,000, depending on the amount of the flow of the Hondo.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BAR ASSOCIATION

In Santa Fe Yesterday—Members Elected and Committees Appointed.

THE McMILLEN RESOLUTION

The New Mexico Bar association held its annual meeting in the supreme court chambers of Santa Fe yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. President W. A. Hawkins was in the chair and Secretary R. H. Hanna at the desk. There were present at the meeting about twenty members of the association from different parts of the territory. Several matters of interest were taken up and disposed of.

The next meeting will be held at Clondroft on August 22. The officers are always elected at the mid-year meetings. It was thought that the meeting would prove a hot one,
as the following motion had been introduced by Attorney A. B. McMillen:
"Resolved, That it shall be considered unprofessional conduct upon the part of any practicing attorney in the territory of New Mexico who shall talk about or discuss the merits of any case which may at any time be pending in any of the district courts or the supreme court, or which may go to the supreme court on appeal with any judge of any district court or supreme court of said territory prior to trial or after submission of said cause except on request of a judge of the court in which such cause may be pending, and then only in the presence of adverse counsel."

Motion Withdrawn.
Mr. McMillen found, however, that certain members thought the motion was a slap at them, and so withdrew
it. This motion was the companion one to the following motion, which was adopted at the last meeting:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this Bar association that conferences between the judges of the district courts, either as district judges or judges of the supreme court, in advance of the hearing of a cause pending in the district court, or in the supreme court, or in advance of the bringing of a cause in the district court, as to what may be the proper determination of the questions involved in such causes, is to deny to attorneys and members of the bar a fair hearing of their cases and to deprive them of the opportunity to present them to the courts for consideration and justice, and is in effect to decide without a hearing accorded to litigants and clerks, and a denial of one of the great rights accorded to several citizens in accordance with the Magna Charta."

Paul A. F. Walter and Mark B.
Thompson of Santa Fe, and M. E.
Hickey, of Albuquerque, were elected members.

A resolution was adopted that all of those who had been dropped from the rolls for non-payment of dues would be reinstated upon the payment of $10.
Judges Pope and Mann and Attorney Catron were appointed to assist the secretary to secure proper addresses for the next meeting. It is probable that Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court will be one of those to deliver an address.

Measrs. Spies and Renshan were appointed to the committee of admissions. In place of L. C. Fort, deceased, and W. J. McPherson, moved to Denver. Mr. Catron was appointed to the committee on law reform, in place of E. L. Bartlett, deceased.

A BUSY DAY IN PROBATE COURT

MONTEZUMA TRUST COMPANY CASE HEARD—CASE APPEALED—OTHER PROBATE COURT MATTERS.

In the probate court yesterday Judge Jesus Romero, in Old Albuquerque, sustained the exceptions by Sidney Eugene Abel to the report of the Montezuma Trust Company, in the administration of the estate of the late David J. Abel, of which estate the trust company was acting as executor in connection with Sidney Abel.

When the case was called late yesterday afternoon the trust company asked for a continuance but this was objected to by Mr. Abel's counsel, Mr. N. B. Field. The court sustained Attorney Field and the case was gone into, resulting in the above verdict for the plaintiff. The Montezuma Trust company took an appeal to the district court.

Mr. Abel averred in his exceptions that there was $4,400 that had been unaccounted for by the Montezuma Trust company, which amount, he claimed, was a part and parcel of the said estate; that the trust company had been guilty of irregularities to the extent that they, as co-executors, had disposed of property of the Meyers-Abel company, of which testator owned almost all the stock, to the extent of $26,674; that the trust company had paid liabilities of the company to the extent of $19,281.04, without the authority of the court, and without submitting a report of said disbursements to the court; that said trust company was indebted to the estate in the amount of $4,150.33, with which sum it had failed to charge itself, and that said trust company had failed to charge itself and credit to the estate, interest on the money deposited by estate with said trust company, and which ordinarily would have drawn six per cent interest.

In answer the Montezuma Trust company states that the probate court has no jurisdiction over the Meyers-Abel company; that said company was not a part of the estate of deceased; that all assets of said company are in the possession of the secretary and treasurer, W. H. Gillenwater, of the company; that they disclaimed any liability for interest on money of estate; and that they had performed their duties according to law.

The Montezuma Trust company has retained several local legal firms as counsel, and it is understood they will fight the claim of Sidney Eugene Abel to the supreme court if necessary. The case will come up in the district court in February.

Other Business.
Ramon Garcia was appointed guardian of Abelencia Marex, and furnished a bond of $50.

In the matter of the guardianship of Salvador Herrera, a minor, the judge appointed Santiago Herrera as guardian to serve without bond.

Mattie Williams was appointed administratrix of the estate of J. G. Williams, her uncle, to serve without bond.

The will of Elizabeth Baxter was approved and admitted to probate and James H. Smith was appointed executor to serve without bond. The claim of $316 for the funeral expenses of the deceased was approved by the court.

The will of Dolores S. de Chaves, deceased, was presented for probate, and Monday the 5th day of February, was the date set for proving the same.

Green Tag Sale of Suits and Overcoats

Two Vital Reasons Force Us to Make Unequalled Price Reductions.

Congested Stock and Change in Our Clothing Department.

THE ONLY REASON we can give for being over-stocked is the fact that we over-bought—for we have had an excellent trade. We still have as complete a stock of Suits, Overcoats and Trousers as many a store can show at the beginning of the season—good sizes and some lines almost unbroken—surely a good enough reason for desiring to get clear of these goods, even at the ridiculously low price we quote. The other reason we give is also a weighty one—we are going to make some sweeping changes in our Clothing Department next season. We are not ready just now to state exactly what we intend to do, but can say that it will be a rather agreeable surprise to the public and will result in increased satisfaction with the service this store will give to all those who appreciate good Clothing—Therefore

Every Winter Suit On Our Tables Must Be Sold Now

We do not propose to be hampered when the time comes to make these changes, and a dollar on a suit now is no more to us than a dime at any other time. So it's to be a wonderful sale of suits.
