DAWES INSTITUTE, SANTA FE, N. M.

DAWES INSTITUTE.

The U. S. Training School at Santa Fe—Its Instructors, Pupils and Buildings.

Something Headable About a New Institution—Its Plans for the Present and its Propitious Future.

Santa Fe's new U. S. Indian training school, known as Dawes institute, in honor of Massachusetts' able senatorial representative, whose life-work has been largely devoted to a solution of the Indian problem, was opened for the admission of pupils November 15th, 1890. Ninety pupils were enrolled up to June 30th last, half of whom were Pueblo children and half Apaches from the Jicarilla and San Carlos reservations. Last year the school could not be filled to its full capacity, because the supplies—food, clothing and furniture—were both insufficient in quantity and did not arrive until midwinter; but the present year it is expected to have as many pupils as the buildings will accommodate which is from 140 to 150. The main building is 38x157 feet with two wings each 24x119 feet, and contains dormitories, pupils' sitting rooms, and dining room, school rooms, kitchen, sewing room and tailor shop. The barn and carpenter shop are temporary structures. A laundry and bakery are in process of construction. The erection of a building for employes' quarters, 24x78 feet with one wing, will begin this fall. All the buildings are of brick and two stories high, except the barn and carpenter shop. Other buildings will be added in the near future. The cut herewith presented conveys a very correct idea of the main building. The farm comprises 100 acres of the best land, and will soon be under fence. Its location is in a beautiful part of the valley, on the southwest outskirts of the city. After a water supply for irrigation is procured, all the land will be cultivated. The well dug last year affords sufficient water for the buildings. It is quite probable that an artesian well will be sunk this fall to secure water for irrigation. The engine, just received with the new steam laundry outfit, will be sufficient to pump the water for irrigation, if artesian water should not be developed and a resort to pumping becomes necessary. Two hundred young fruit trees are growing, and the number will be increased. There is also a small number of forest trees, and some shrubbery. The girl pupils receive regular instruction in sewing, cooking, and laundering, while the boys are taught carpentry, shoemaking, tailoring and laundering. They learn to cook their own food and to make their own clothing. The boys are doing considerable of the carpenter work on the new buildings. Besides the industries named, the children also do all kinds of necessary work incident to the running of the school. Other industries will be added in the future. Instruction is about equally divided between literary and industrial work.

There are three daily sessions in the literary department, forenoon, afternoon, and evening. All instruction is in English. Most of the pupils understand English well after being in attendance a few months, and may speak it well in a short time. It is remarkable how they pick up English. The Superintendent, Prof. S. M. Cart, is a man of affairs, thoroughly well qualified to direct the details of this growing institution, and he enjoys the esteem of all with whom he has come in contact here, as well as the confidence and respect of the national Indian bureau. The superintendent's assistants number one even dozen, such as teachers, matrons, and artisans, and are all well fitted for and earnest in the duties of their several positions.

KINDLY EXPRESSIONS.

What the Press and People Have to Say of the New Mexican's Fair Edition.

A NEWSPAPER MAN'S OPINION.
To the Editor of the New Mexican.
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 9.—Your fair edition was "a landy." Everybody is in love with it. Yours,
W. S. BURKE.
COMMENDABLE ENTERTAINMENT.
AN ENTERTAINING PIECE OF WORK.
The territorial fair edition of the Santa Fe New Mexican is an excellent publication, and an enterprising piece of newspaper work.—Silver City Sentinel.

The Santa Fe New Mexican publishes a mammoth illustrated edition of the history and resources of New Mexico. Such enterprise is commendable.—Tucson Citizen.

"THE BEST IMMIGRATION PAPER."
Do not fail to secure a copy of the New Mexican of last Saturday. It is the best immigration paper ever printed in the territory, and the enterprising publisher deserves a liberal patronage.—Albuquerque Citizen.

ELEGANTLY ILLUSTRATED.
Saturday's New Mexican came out in an eight page edition containing a write up of Albuquerque, and elegantly illustrating the principal buildings of that city.—Raton Reporter.

AN ELEGANT EDITION.
The Santa Fe Daily New Mexican for last Saturday was an elegant edition, devoted largely to Albuquerque and the territorial fair institutions. It costs money and labor to issue an eight page eight column daily paper in New Mexico.—Raton Range.

AN EXCELLENT NUMBER.
The Santa Fe New Mexican of the 5th instant is devoted to the advertisement of the city of Albuquerque, and contains a large number of cuts of buildings and street scenes in that city. It is an excellent number and will undoubtedly do Albuquerque a great deal of good. The occasion of its publication is the meeting of the territorial fair in Albuquerque next week.—Denver Republican.

COMMENTS APPROVAL.
The Santa Fe New Mexican publishes an illustrated territorial fair edition in the interest of that exhibition, which begins at Albuquerque on the 14th instant. It is an exhibition of friendliness for a rival town so seldom displayed by a New Mexican paper as to excite comment and command approval. The territorial fair is attracting great attention in New Mexico this year, and a large and extensive display is promised, as well as a very cordial reception on the part of the people of Albuquerque. The Santa Fe road has made an excursion rate of one cent a mile from all New Mexico and Colorado points.—Denver News.

The Penitentiary Board.
The board of penitentiary commissioners is in session to-day. There are present Messrs. J. W. Dwyer, A. L. Branch, J. R. Arroyo, Ambrosio Yino and J. R. DeMier. Hon. Thos. D. Burns was here yesterday expecting to be present, but was called home on urgent business this morning.

This morning a considerable amount of routine work was done. The bid of the U. S. Indian school to take 200,000 brick at $5 was accepted, and the number of brick to be sold henceforth in lots was reduced from 50,000 to 10,000.

Bids for supplies for the coming six months are being prepared at this afternoon's session.

By order of the board Mr. DeMier will superintend the construction of the telephone line and the work will be done next week.

School Teachers.

Two hundred school teachers are needed at once in New Mexico, "school-ma'ams" being preferred. And a railroad official of that territory declares that hundreds of eligible men in New Mexico are anxiously waiting the opportunity to offer their hands, hearts and homes to some good woman. "I have," he adds, "no personal interest in the matter except a desire to see the population of this country more evenly distributed; and if my suggestion will add a worthy resident to New Mexico, or gain a home or place for a fellow-being, I am satisfied."—New York Tribune.

TELEGRAPHIC TIDINGS.

A Protest From Texas.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 12.—The following dispatch was received at the World's Fair headquarters from Weatherford, the headquarters of the Texas Fair Association: "One hundred thousand Texans protest against the Sunday closing of the World's Fair. The day of fanaticism is passed."

Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The Evening Journal reports: Cattle receipts, 10,000, of which 2,000 were Texans and 2,000 westerns. The market is generally strong at advance tendency on good native and western cattle. Texans slow and weak; light stockers in over supply and nominal demand; sheep receipts 6,000, slow but steady, lambs dull and weak.

Gone Wrong.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 12.—President Coleman, of the Catholic Knights of America, is here investigating accounts of M. G. O'Brien, treasurer of the order, O'Brien is out of the city and President Coleman is in charge of the office. Thus far the investigation of accounts shows an apparent default of about $30,000, which in the absence of O'Brien is unexplained.

Campbell on the Stump.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Governor Campbell will open the Democratic campaign at Sidney to-night. Arrangements have been made for the running of special trains from all parts of the state. The demonstration in point of numbers and enthusiasm, it is expected will exceed any political gathering ever held in Ohio. The governor's health is much improved since his return from the east.

A Sharp Contest.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 12.—The Pacific Short Line road, will be sold at receiver's sale this afternoon. The lease of sale was issued some time ago but kept secret, for some reasons not understood. There will be several bidders for the property. It is expected that the two factions of the original company, besides the Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul, and Minneapolis and Omaha will have a short contest for the property. If any except the Northwestern system gets it, it will be extended.

Religious Statistics.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—A dispatch from London says: The World's Young Men's Christian association has just completed their annual table of statistics. From this it appears that there are in Great Britain and Ireland 756 centers and 78,000 members. Germany has more associations than

COL. NED WYNKOOP'S DEATH.

The Veteran Soldier and Pioneer of the Rockies Passes Peacefully to His Long Rest—The Funeral Tomorrow.

Col. E. W. Wynkoop died at his home at 10:30 last night. He had been more or less ailing for the past year, an attack of la grippe having brought on muscular rheumatism which, about January last, resulted in inflammation of the bladder, the final cause of death.

Col. Wynkoop was a native of Philadelphia, 55 years of age, and came of the hardy old-time Pennsylvania stock so characteristic of that state. Early in life, indeed, before he attained his majority, he yearned for the adventurous life of the far west, and when he became 21 he was clerking in a U. S. land office in eastern Kansas. Here he was an active participant in all the exciting events attending the early settlement of that state. When the Pike's Peak gold excitement broke out he was among the first men to cross the plains and seek fortune in the Colorado mines. His ventures turned out eminently successful. When the rebellion came on he enlisted as second lieutenant in company A, 1st Colorado cavalry, being promoted one month later, August 26, 1861, to captain and made major April 14, 1862. He was again promoted, March 13, 1863, to brevet lieutenant colonel. The daring exploits of this famous company in Colorado, Kansas and New Mexico under direction of this brave soldier are a part of the imperishable history of the central west. On July 11, 1866, after a brilliant career, Col. Wynkoop was mustered out of service and was soon made agent of the Kiowa Indians, stationed at Fort Lyons. He enjoyed the confidence of the Kiowas, Comanches and other border tribes in a marked degree, and he was, chiefly instrumental in bringing about treaties of peace with several tribes. The Kiowas stipulated to the Indian department that unless Col. Wynkoop was named as their agent they would decline to ratify the treaty which their delegation of chiefs had agreed to, so he was appointed. It was due largely to the pacific, patient treatment of Col. Wynkoop and his colleagues that the plains Indians are today so prosperous and peaceable.

In later years Col. Wynkoop settled with his family at Denver where his transactions in real estate were successful, and when that city was laid out one of his principal thoroughfares was named in his honor. He held there numerous positions of honor and trust. Some nine years ago he received the appointment of U. S. timber inspector for New Mexico and Arizona, and he resided in Santa Fe and has since made this city his home. A year and a half ago he was appointed to be warden of the penitentiary, which position he filled with signal ability, but the vicissitudes of political life soon wrought a change, and when the new board of managers came in he was displaced. Even at that time his unusually active life had begun to tell on him, and extreme feebleness had been his lot ever since.

The death of Col. "Ned" Wynkoop, who was familiarly known throughout the entire Rocky mountain region, will cause sadness all over the west. He was a man of many superior characteristics. Brave as a lion, he made a model soldier and military officer. Honest, big-hearted, chivalrous, as true as steel, he had the faculty of making friends readily and keeping them. His death was not wholly unexpected, yet it is none the less regretted. The tender sympathy of all is extended to his large family.

PLEASANT WITH SANTA FE.

The American Health Resort Association and its Plans.
 Dr. Roberts, special commissioner of the American Health Resort association, sends the New Mexican a copy of the Cimarron, Kas., New West newspaper which contains the following paragraph: "Dr. W. P. Roberts, vice president of the American Health Resort association, of Chicago, was in Cimarron on Sunday. He was on his return from New Mexico, where it is proposed to establish three sanitariums—one at Santa Fe, one at Albuquerque and one at Las Cruces. The doctor left with us some samples of fruit grown at Santa Fe. He was much pleased with the country, and speaks highly of the sanitary advantages of western Kansas and New Mexico."

SANCTUARY OF LOURDES.

Something About the Ancient Chapel at San Juan—The Pilgrimage of Devotion.

Upwards of 500 people went on an excursion over the narrow gauge last Tuesday to San Juan, near where is located the sanctuary of Our Lady of Lourdes. The church was built by a devout man, one Alberto, who, with several others, came to this country eighty years ago, and while traveling through the country, seeking homes for themselves and families, stopped to rest in a sequestered spot, on the banks of beautiful Rio Santa Cruz; while there, Alberto drew apart from the rest, and after repeating his Pater Noster, lay down beneath a pine tree and fell asleep; and while asleep he had a dream, or what he thought a vision. He said what appeared to him, in his dream, to be the Savior on a cross in the pine tree. The Savior hailed him by name, and in a commanding voice, said to him: "Build me a church here." On hearing this, Alberto woke, and in a dazed condition went and told his followers what had happened. They made light of him, and thought little of the matter. The next day Alberto went again and slept beneath the same tree, the same apparition appeared to him, and the same command was given. Thrice was this command repeated and finally Alberto and his friends went to work to build a church edifice, but they located it some little distance from that particular pine tree, and about the time the building was completed its walls collapsed.

Then a new site was selected, near the spot where Alberto slept, and here the church was erected. Before constructing this church they dug up this pine tree, and in connection with the main building, built a room around the place where the tree had stood, and another room adjoining it, all connected with the main building. Alberto, believing this to be sacred ground, reserved the spot where the tree stood inviolable; and at that spot, there remains to this day a round hole about eighteen inches deep, and twenty inches across, and in this hole is a peculiar reddish sand, which is said to contain healing properties. At any rate a great many cures are reported to have been effected by it. Mr. John A. McFaddin, now a citizen of Roswell, is among those who can vouch for the remarkable curative effects of these red sands.

A COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Local Business Men Invited to Join the Formation of a New Commercial Organization.

Circular letters to the number of 100 were sent out to-day to the address of various business men in the city inviting them to join in the organization of a socio-commercial club, an institution which has now come to be regarded as among the capital city's most imperative needs.

The letters inclose a slip for the convenience of subscribers, and read as follows: IMPORTANT.

Dear Sir: It has been deemed advisable that the residents of the city perfect an organization similar to the existing clubs in Kansas City, Denver, Las Vegas and Albuquerque, for the purpose of advancing the best interests of the city, both business and social.

Heretofore Santa Fe has not been in a position to keep up such an organization; but now that it is possible to secure elegant quarters at a very reasonable rental, the undersigned beg leave to submit the following:

1. The club shall be a body corporate, with a capitalization of $25,000. Shares at par value of $25 each.

2. No person desiring membership can become a member unless he is the owner of at least two shares of stock.

3. In order to incorporate, at least forty bona-fide subscribers to the capital stock must be secured.

4. The object of the organization to be the advancement of Santa Fe's business interests, and the having of a place where business men can entertain visitors to our city in a suitable manner.

Please return annexed slip at once to H. Lindheim, signifying your intention to become a member or not.

L. SPIEGELBERG, E. L. BARTLETT, E. A. FISKE, H. LINDHEIM, AD. SEIGMAN, L. A. HICKEY, R. E. TWITCHELL, MAX FROST.

It is scarcely necessary, in urging the business men of Santa Fe to join in this worthy endeavor, here to recount again the manifold advantages of such an organization. They are apparent to every thinking man, and it is sincerely hoped that at last fifty men can be found in the city who have the enterprise to join in making this move a success.

ROUND ABOUT TOWN.
