Wires Down, Blizzards Prevailing, No Communication Possible---Wonderful Change From Yesterday, Which Was Phenomenally Warm.

SLEET STORM BREAKS WIRES AND STOPS CARS

Sudden Change Almost Without Parallel in Country's History, Fall Being Fifty Degrees or More, in Many Places.

New York, Jan. 22.—Coney Island came to life yesterday. The weather caused a crowd of 15,000 to assemble, and a score or more took a dip in the chilly brine. The board walk was well filled with people and many of the resorts were opened.

Fog Stops Traffic.
The spring-like weather of yesterday continued today. New York has been so sunny that no craft entered or left the harbor. Several liners arrived at Sandy Hook but did not enter. In the upper harbor a few boats were moving, and the ferry boats ran irregularly.

Can't Reach Chicago.
New York, Jan. 22.—Telegraphic communication with Chicago was cut off at 9:35 this morning and has not been resumed. Just before communication ceased, news was received that a terrific sleet storm was doing much damage within a radius of seventy miles of Chicago. It was also reported that the storm was moving eastward.

CONDITION REPORTED FROM WINDY CITY.
Chicago, Jan. 22.—Chicago is cut off from news of the world today by a sleet storm which has prostrated wires in every direction. Business has been curtailed greatly by the stalling of street car lines all over the city. A single wire to Milwaukee is the only one working out of Chicago this forenoon.

KANSAS CITY GOES DOWN TO ZERO MARK.
Kansas City, Jan. 22.—The blizzard which commenced here Sunday morning has grown in fury, and today swept the entire northern half of the territory. The snow is drifting and in places is four feet deep. Much damage to stock has already resulted. This is the severest blizzard here in years. Trains are blocked and wires are down.

ST. JOSEPH ALSO GETS BITING TASTE.
St. Joseph, Mo., Jan. 22.—The storm is in the grasp of a blizzard. The mercury dropped nearly 50 degrees in forty-eight hours and it is feared that the fruit crop is badly injured.

Lincoln, Jan. 22.—This is the second coldest morning of the season in eastern Nebraska. Zero was registered this morning at 7 o'clock.

BLOODY SUNDAY COMMEMORATED

Memorial Meetings Held in Both This Country and Europe.

SOCIALISM IS PROMINENT

New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Raise Money for Russian Revolution.

TORONTO, CANADA, DOES SAME

St. Petersburg, Jan. 22.—The various Anarchist and Socialist groups all over the country celebrated the anniversary of "Bloody Sunday" today in a rather quiet manner. Several attempts were made in the provinces to commemorate the day in hostile demonstrations, but in every case the police authorities interfered and hostile demonstrations were suppressed. Many arrests were made.

INFLAMMATORY TALKS AND MONEY RAISING.
Brussels, Jan. 22.—The Socialists of this city celebrated the anniversary of "Bloody Sunday" by meetings in which inflammatory speeches were made. Funds for the Russian revolutionary propaganda were collected at all the meetings.

BLOOD IS SHED IN UNFORTUNATE WARSAW.

South McAlester, I. T., Jan. 22.—This part of the territory today is in the grip of a genuine blizzard. The storm is the worst in years, and railroad traffic is at a standstill.

ST. LOUIS NOT EXCUSED FROM GENERAL TROUBLE.
St. Louis, Jan. 22.—A blanket of sleet two inches thick, covering the ground this morning, with a temperature at 17 above, and a fine sleep blowing, interferes with street traffic and has badly hampered railroad traffic. Telegraphic communication with Chicago and points east of St. Louis was very poor this morning. At 8 o'clock this morning it suddenly ceased, and for three hours later had not been resumed. At the telegraph office it was stated that communication was being effected out of here in a slow, round-about fashion, but that the service is badly interfered with on account of the sleet covering the wires.

MUCH STOCK DAMAGE ALREADY SUFFERED.
Muskegon, I. T., Jan. 22.—The blizzard which commenced here Sunday morning has grown in fury, and today swept the entire northern half of the territory. The snow is drifting and in places is four feet deep. Much damage to stock has already resulted. This is the severest blizzard here in years. Trains are blocked and wires are down.

Chicago Gets Full Power.
Chicago, Jan. 22.—One of the most severe snow and sleet storms which this city has experienced in years, has practically isolated Chicago from the outside world. The storm is most severe within a radius of sixty miles. Almost all telegraphic service has been destroyed. Electric, elevated and surface transportation is about discontinued, and the cable lines are operating only with the greatest difficulty. A heavy gale prevails and snow and sleet is falling without cessation.

DAY OBSERVED ALSO AT TORONTO, CANADA.
Toronto, Ont., Jan. 22.—The Socialists of this city will hold a meeting here tonight to commemorate the anniversary of "Bloody Sunday" and to collect funds for the Socialist strike in Russia.

There will also be lectures and demonstrations on various agricultural topics. J. E. Meathurst, of Camp Point, is president of the convention and Fred W. Ladouceur, of Springfield, secretary. The exhibition of implements, stock and dairy products held in connection with the convention is of more than ordinary interest and is attracting considerable attention.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 22.—The Socialists of this city and vicinity will commemorate the anniversary of "Bloody Sunday" which was the beginning of the Russian revolution, by holding a mass meeting this evening. Several prominent Socialists will address the meeting and it is expected a handsome sum will be realized which will be sent to the revolutionary committee in Russia.

DARING AERONAUT BARELY ESCAPED FATAL INJURY.
Ormondville, Fla., Jan. 22.—Charles Hamilton, aeronaut, dropped 200 feet from his aeroplane yesterday, and escaped fatal injuries by the narrowest margin. Although Hamilton was in the air not more than three minutes, his flight was considered a great deal of a success. The collapse was due to the insufficient power of a six-horsepower motor, which was used to tow the aeroplane. Young Hamilton falls from Houston, Texas.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 22.—The Brazilian turret ship, Aquidauan, was sunk at Port Jacarepagua, south of Rio Janeiro, as the result of an explosion on board. It is reported that 200 of the crew perished and only one officer was saved.

HON. HERBERT J. HAGERMAN INAUGURATED GOVERNOR AT NOON TODAY

The New Executive Delivers Most Appropriate Address---The Reception and Ball to be Held This Evening.

Special to The Evening Citizen.

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 22.—The inauguration ceremonies were simple and dignified, but very attractive. The supreme court chambers were crowded, there being present many elegantly attired ladies.

Governor Hagerman presented his commission to Chief Justice Mills promptly at 12 o'clock, noon, when the oath of office was administered. The new governor made a most appropriate address. He expressed great gratification at the splendid reception, and realized the great difficulty of being young for the exalted place. He recognized this fully, but would undertake to administer the executive office to the best of his ability. He realized that the cordiality is not formal, but is extended to a new, untried official, and that the people desired to help as much as possible in the manifold duties. He paid an eloquent tribute to President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock, and said they were among the best officials on earth, and found that they gave constant attention to the smallest details, especially to New Mexico and Arizona, and accorded them very great praise as men and officials for the conscientious, careful discharge of their great duties.

On taking possession of the executive, Governor Hagerman announced the reappointment of W. P. Tarkington as adjutant general of New Mexico, and Miss Clara Olsen as his private secretary.

This Evening.
The reception and ball will be held this evening at the Palace hotel. The reception will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and will last until 9 o'clock. Sojourners in the city, citizens generally and men and women, are invited to attend the reception and pay their respects to the new governor, Herbert J. Hagerman.

CORN GROWERS MEET LARGE CORN USERS.

Charleston, Ill., Jan. 22.—The annual convention of the corn growers and stockmen of this state opened today at the College of Agriculture of the University of Illinois. Daily meetings will be held in which questions of practical importance to all farmers and stock growers will be discussed. There will also be lectures and demonstrations on various agricultural topics. J. E. Meathurst, of Camp Point, is president of the convention and Fred W. Ladouceur, of Springfield, secretary. The exhibition of implements, stock and dairy products held in connection with the convention is of more than ordinary interest and is attracting considerable attention.

EXPLOSION ON BOARD SINKS A BRAZILIAN SHIP.
Rio Janeiro, Jan. 22.—The Brazilian turret ship, Aquidauan, was sunk at Port Jacarepagua, south of Rio Janeiro, as the result of an explosion on board. It is reported that 200 of the crew perished and only one officer was saved.

The committee has appointed Jose D. Sena, clerk of the supreme court, master of the ceremonies, and he will introduce all callers to the new executive and the receiving party. The inauguration ball will start promptly at 9:30 o'clock, p. m., the music for which will be furnished by Morrison's orchestra, assisted by the modern orchestra of Albuquerque, including Prof. Di Mauro. There are eighteen dances on the program, which is a very handsome and unique souvenir of the occasion. Engraved on the cover is "Inauguration Reception and Ball, Tendered Herbert H. Hagerman, by Citizens of Santa Fe." On the back cover is the coat of arms of New Mexico. Upon the inside title page of the program is engraved a vignette of Governor Hagerman, which is a very good likeness.

Whether they will be able to send full teams of five men to the shoot is not known, but they will attempt to do so. The Silver City trophy at present is in the hands of the local gun club, the chief prize for which teams will contend, and every effort will be exerted to wrest it from the keeping of its present holders.

Other News of Importance From the Seat of Government Is Boiled Down to Convenient Form For Evening Reading.

Special to The Citizen.
Washington, Jan. 22.—On motion of Delegate Andrews, former Delegate B. S. Rodey was requested to address the house committee on territories. For three hours Saturday, he chained the attention of the committee and stirred up the Arizona animals to the points he made—that they did not drive him from the three principal point he made—that they did not represent the people of Arizona, that they were acting entirely in the interests of Arizona corporations as was seen from the fact that they were unwilling to submit the question to the people of Arizona, and that the merger of the two territories into one state is the greatest blessing each can receive.

The committee will report the bill on Tuesday, and the rule will be offered on Wednesday, limiting the debate to forty minutes. ## POPULARITY WITH PEOPLE

Considerable Discussion of Joint Statehood Conditions by Correspondent.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Speaker Cannon and his stalwart followers on the statehood question profess to be much comforted by the manner in which the Philippine tariff bill was passed this week. The best sugar and tobacco insurgents made a lot of noise and discharged a lot of ammunition, but their attacks were confined to outposts or to long-distance firing at the main works. When the democrats sought to have them join in a hand-to-hand struggle with the house organization, the insurgents hesitated—and were lost. They ran on the white flag in token of surrender and went over bodily to the camp of the enemy. Not a republican voted for Champ Clark's proposition to strike off the sugar differential.

Two Insurgent Bodies.

Victory on the Philippine tariff bill, say the speaker's adherents, forebodes victory on statehood. The tobacco-beet sugar insurgents and the statehood insurgents overlapped at many places, and the alignment was so nearly parallel that it was hard to distinguish where one left off and the other began. It has been the general understanding that a considerable part of the tariff insurgents strength came from members opposed to the statehood bill who had no particular objection to the tariff bill, and that on the other hand, many of the rebels in the anti-statehood camp were there because they disliked the Philippine tariff bill. In other words, that two distinct bodies of insurgents had joined forces in order to augment their strength.

If this be true in any large degree, then the jubilation in the speaker's camp has a good foundation. The natural expectation would be that the statehood insurgents will crumble when the test comes, just as the tariff insurgents did on Tuesday. A number of very vociferous opponents of statehood voted with the house organization to force through the tariff bill. Will the anti-tariff men now numbered in the anti-statehood camp desert as a measure of retaliation? The speaker and his lieutenants say they will. The leaders of the anti-statehood revolt and say they will not. The outsider can pay his money and take his choice.

How the Rule Works.

When the rule for consideration of the statehood bill is brought in, it will provide for no more than a debate and that at the expiration of this time the vote shall be taken, "without intervening motion." That is the house way of shutting off opportunity for the offering of amendments.

WORKS WITHOUT FAITH.

Faith Came After the Works Had Laid the Foundation.

A Bay State belle talks thus about coffee:

"While a coffee drinker I was a sufferer from indigestion and intensely painful nervous headaches from childhood.

"Seven years ago my health gave out entirely. I grew so weak that the exertion of walking if only a few feet made it necessary for me to lie down. My friends thought that I was marked for consumption—weak, thin and pale.

"I realized the danger I was in and tried faithfully to get relief from medicines, but after having employed all kinds of drugs, the doctor acknowledged that he did not believe it was in his power to cure me.

"While in this condition a friend induced me to quit coffee and try Postum Food Coffee, and I did so. Within the least time it would do me any good. I did not like it at first, but when it was properly made, I found it was a most delicious and refreshing beverage. I am especially fond of it served at dinner, ice-cold, with cream.

"In a month's time I began to improve, and in a few weeks my indigestion ceased to trouble me, and my headache stopped entirely. I am so perfectly well now that I do not look like the same person, and I have so gained in flesh that I am fifteen pounds heavier than ever before.

"This is what Postum has done for me. I still use it and shall always do so." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason. Read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' in pink.

To Get More Strength
from Your Food

LOTS of people are starving with a full stomach.

You know, it's not how much we eat, but how we digest that makes us strong, or brainy, or successful.

When the bowels are filled with undigested food we may be a great deal worse off than if we were half starved for want of food.

Because, food that stays too long in the bowels decays there, just as if it stayed too long in the open air.

Well, when food decays in the bowels, through delayed and overdue action, what happens?

The millions of little Suction Pumps that line the bowels and intestines then draw Poison from the decayed food.

Instead of the nourishment they were intended to draw.

This Poison gets into the blood and, in time, spreads all over the body, unless the Cause of Constipation is promptly removed.

That Cause of Constipation is Weak, or Lazy, Bowel Muscles.

When your Bowel-Muscles grow flabby they need Exercise to strengthen them—not "Physic" to pamper them.

There's only one kind of Artificial Exercise for the Bowel-Muscles.

Its name is "CASCARETS," and its price is Ten Cents a box.

Cascarets act like Exercise on the Muscles of the Bowels, and make them stronger every time they force these Muscles to act naturally.

The stronger these Muscles propel the food, the stronger does the friction of the food act on the flow of Digestive Juices.

The more of these Juices that act on food, the more Nutrient does that food turn into, and the richer nourishment do the little Suction Pumps of the Intestines draw out of it.

It needs only one Cascaret at a time to stimulate all the Bowel-Muscles enough, without purging, discomfort or loss of nutrition.

So, if you want the same natural action that a six-mile walk in the country would give you, (without the weariness) take one Cascaret at a time, with intervals between, till you reach the exact condition you desire.

One Cascaret at a time will properly cleanse a foul Breath, or Coated Tongue, thus proving clearly its ready, steady, sure, but mild and effective action.

A coming Headache can be ward off, in short order, by a single Cascaret, and the cause removed.

Heartburn, Gas-belching, Acid-eructing in the throat, and Colicky feeling are sure signs of Bowel trouble from food poisons, and should be dealt with promptly.

One Cascaret will stop the coming trouble, move on the Bowel food, and free the Digestive Juices, if that one Cascaret is taken as soon as the first signs are noticed.

Don't fail to carry the Vest Pocket Cascaret Box with you constantly.

All Druggists sell them—over ten million boxes a year, for six years past.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "C.C.C."

FREE TO OUR FRIENDS!

We want to send to our friends a beautiful French-designed, GOLD-PLATED BORON BOX, hand-manufactured in color and with a dressing table. Ten cents in stamps is asked as a reward for each box, and to cover cost of Cascarets, with which this dressing table is loaded.

Send to-day, mentioning this paper. Address: Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago or New York.

deep and unbearable gloom over the camp where abide the interests opposed to railroad rate legislation and other corrective measures advocated by the president. In fact, it would not be too much to say that these interests could endure with something approaching equanimity an open rupture between Mr. Roosevelt and the republican majority in congress.

It is not yet apparent, however, that the railroad rate situation has been seriously affected. The country expects such legislation, and congress is committed to it. The measure as proposed will not pass in the form in which he desired, but then, there never has been any chance that it would. A bill will be passed and it will contain just such degree of relief as the senate thinks will satisfy the people, and no more.

GREAT SOUTHERN AUTOMOBILE MEET

Toiring Car Races Have Been Eliminated With a Single Exception.

HIGH POWERS ARE PRESENT

Great Drivers Are Gathered to Take a Part in the Races.

Daytona, Fla., Jan. 22.—Never were the expectations of the thousands who congregated here to witness the great trials of speed between the swiftest automobiles of the world pitched higher than now, at the opening of the famous Ormond-Daytona beach automobile races. Several thousand automobilists from all parts of the world are here, besides several thousands who are not automobilists but greatly interested in the fine sport which the races promise. The races are held, as in former years, under the auspices of the Florida East Coast Automobile association and they promise to surpass all previous race meetings in the breaking of records.

There are in all twenty-two entries by individuals, with a total entry of 166 for the various events of the meeting. The touring car races which figured in last winter's tournament, have been eliminated with the exception of one single event. It was the opinion of many who attended the races last January that the running of stock car races was uninteresting, and that the big powered racing machines furnished much more excitement. The Florida Automobile association gave due consideration to the wishes of the car patrons and eliminated all but one of the touring car races.

In horsepower the entries this year show an increase of more than 25 per cent, and for the first time in the history of automobile racing two cars, one of 250 and the other of 200 horsepower will be seen in competition. Of these the 250 horsepower car is attracting the greatest interest, as it was built in this country and was ordered specially for this race meeting by Alfred G. Vanderbilt. The machine is a wonderful piece of mechanical art and will be piloted by Paul Sartori, one of the most famous chauffeurs in the world. The 200 horsepower car is a Barraco and will be driven by Hemery, another famous racing chauffeur, who won the last Vanderbilt cup race. Another car which is attracting considerable interest, and which is likely to be prominent in the races is the 165 horsepower machine entered by Henry Ford. It is a singular fact that the foreign machines are in the majority among the entries. Most of the American racing enthusiasts who will be represented in the various races, have planned their faith to machines of foreign make.

There is quite a falling off in the number of amateur drivers, which is quite natural considering the dangers connected with the tremendous speed of the automobiles. It requires thorough knowledge of the machines, an iron nerve and a cool head to guide a machine with safety at a clip of one or more miles a minute. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., F. R. Thomas and William Wallace, whose driving aroused much interest last year, will not be seen at the wheel this year. In the Corinthian championship and the Corinthian handicap of ten miles the only entry is A. L. Guinness, the young English sportsman, who will drive a French machine.

Of the foreign drivers Vincenzo Lancini of Italy, who will drive a 110 horsepower Fiat, is considered the most skillful driver. He seemingly had the last Vanderbilt cup race won by miles, when an accident, through no fault of his, lost him the honor. Walter Clifford Barr, one of the best English drivers, will handle a Napier car in the race. William Hilliard will also drive a six-cylinder Napier car. He won the Mount Washington climbing contest last July.

There are three 110 horsepower Fiat cars entered in the two-mile-minute races. Two of these have been entered by Hollander and Thomas, who will be driven by Lancini and Cedeno. The other is the machine entered by George W. Young and will be operated by Fletcher. The other entries are Alfred G. Vanderbilt's 250 horsepower car, to be driven by Sartori; the 200 horsepower Barraco, with Hemery at the wheel; Henry Ford's 165 horsepower Ford; Walter Christie's 100 horsepower Christie; C. A. Cossy's 80 horsepower Thomas; a Stanley steamer, and A. L. Guinness in a French car.

The event of this race meeting includes the 100 mile endurance race for the Minneapolis $2,000 trophy; the one-mile international race for the Sir Thomas R. Dewar trophy; the two-mile-minute race; a five-mile open championship race; a ten-mile open championship race; a fifteen-mile open championship race; a one-mile heavyweight championship race; a one-mile middleweight championship race for gasoline cars; a five-mile middleweight championship race for gasoline cars; a ten-mile middleweight championship race for all kinds of cars; a ten-mile open handicap; a fifteen-mile open handicap; a thirty-mile touring car and a thirty-mile free-for-all championship for American cars of any make.

Naturally the two-mile-minute race is attracting the greatest interest and there are many conservative automobilists who look forward to the event with considerable anticipation. They fear that it will be practically impossible to steer the cars with sufficient accuracy at so terrific a speed to avoid accidents. The result of a collision or even of a minor accident to one of the machines going at such a fearful speed would, naturally, be disastrous, and it is clear that everyone of the drivers is taking the most desperate chances. The Florida East Coast Automobile association has arranged a special attractive feature. After the great two-mile-minute race the driver who made the greatest speed will be crowned with the "speed crown" by the prettiest girl in Florida. The ceremony will take place in front of the grandstand in full view of the thousands of spectators. The value of the crown, which is composed of gold, silver and diamonds, is about $1,000.

The course is in perfect condition, and every precaution has been taken to prevent accidents at the races through some defect in the track.

CONTEST FOR

BERNALILLO STUDENTS SUPERINTENDENT STROUP HAS PLANNED UNIQUE AFFAIR— TRIP TO MOUNTAINS.

County Superintendent of Schools Stroup has planned a unique contest for the twenty-five school districts in Bernalillo county. Only boys under 17 years of age are to compete. The conditions are that every competitor will start growing corn. In the fall, at a date to be decided upon later, the students will come to this city with their products. For the best corn three cash prizes will be awarded. It required of every boy to do his own farming and to explain how it was done, for instance, whether manure was used, and how much, whether irrigation was necessary, etc. Of course there will be boys beating last year's record, but the object of the small corn will hence learn how the larger one was grown. The object is to produce farmers along scientific lines.

Superintendent Stroup spent the week in the mountains calling upon the school districts. He found from a foot to two and a half feet of snow to wade through. The six districts visited are all doing well. The term this year will be four months instead of three, as observed last year.

The pupils are very much interested in their work and are much enthused over the corn growing contest.

A Wealth Producer

Several days ago the New Mexican called attention to the fact that the mineral production of New Mexico during last year exceeded $5,000,000 in value. The department of agriculture in its crop report for December, 1905, just to hand, gives figures which indicate that the crops raised in this territory during 1905 exceeded in value even the mineral production. It enumerates only a few of the staple crops, but from these and from other statistics to hand an estimate can easily be made as to the total production of the 250,000 acres under irrigation.

The corn crop amounted to 997,402 bushels, valued at $988,297, and in round numbers covered 40,000 acres; the spring wheat crop covered 43,000 acres and the production was 947,740 bushels, valued at $852,266. About 12,000 acres were in oats, from which were garnered 351,404 bushels, valued at $203,814. Only 604 acres were in barley, and the production was 12,684 bushels, valued at $8,752. About 1,500 acres were in potatoes, the production amounting to 119,250 bushels, valued at $98,112. The largest acreage, 79,087 acres, was in hay, the production amounting to 213,535 tons, valued at $2,295,501.

This leaves the product of 75,000 and more acres unaccounted for and as much of that is in orchards or was in vegetables yielding from four to ten times as much to the acre as corn or other grain crops, it is no over-estimate to say that the farm crops this year in New Mexico amounted to almost $10,000,000, and with sheep, cattle, goats, horses, hogs and chickens, the product of New Mexico farms and ranges exceeded $20,000,000.

Add to this the $5,000,000 produced by the mines, the $5,000,000 produced by the manufacturing plants, $10,000,000 and more earnings of commerce, and the total wealth produced or earned in this territory during 1905 was in the neighborhood of $50,000,000, not to speak of the money left by tourists and health seekers, which, in a way, was earned, too. This is a very good showing, but merely a small fraction of what it will be when instead of 250,000 acres in cultivation, there will be 10,000,000 acres and more under the plow.—New Mexican.

Bigelow Cremated

In his speech before the Commercial club of Cincinnati, Ohio, Saturday evening, T. P. Shonts, chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission, added to the present Panama discussion, a clear and convincing statement of the affairs and management of this great American enterprise. He clearly disproves the slanders which have been so industriously circulated concerning the state, progress and control of the canal's construction. The way he disposed of Poulton Bigelow, was both pleasing and annihilating. The Citizen quotes as follows:

"A notable specimen of this scandal-mongering literature was laid before the country a few days ago from the pen of a man who had spent twenty-eight hours and ten minutes on the Isthmus. The ten minutes are important, for a person of such extraordinary powers of observation and production can collect an enormous amount of material in that time. He landed at Colon on November 29 at 10 a. m., and sailed away on the same steamer from Colon at 2:10 p. m., on December 1. In those twenty-eight hours and ten minutes he accumulated a fund of exact knowledge sufficient to enable him to draw a general and sweeping indictment of the president, Secretary Taft, the canal commission, Governor Magoon, Chief Engineer Stevens, Colonel Gorgas, and everything that has been done on the Isthmus since the American government came into possession of the canal zone.

"One point only will I mention as an illustration of his miraculous powers of observation. He said that during a recent rain the volume of water was so great in the sewers of Panama that it backed the sewage up into cellars and ruined many houses. There is not a cellar in Panama and never has been."

Statehood Fight

The bitterness manifested by some of the people of Arizona against union with New Mexico as one state is without just reason, but that is true of nearly all cases of the kind. When men for more or less selfish considerations oppose a measure and are unable to give good reason for their opposition, they seem to lend themselves all the more readily and completely to bitterness of protest and vehement condemnation.

If New Mexico were protesting against absorption by Arizona, one might account for, while not justifying or approving, the attitude taken. But why Arizona should object to being enlarged, made a bigger, greater, more powerful state than it can ever hope to become without the addition of part or the whole of New Mexico, is beyond the power of any man to explain along the lines of reason.

The trouble with the leading opponents of joint statehood is that every one of them thinks he carries a certificate of election to the United States senate under his hat; and it is the fear of losing a chance for that prize which makes him oppose the enlargement of the territory by the annexation of New Mexico.—Denver Republican.

A New Mexican Trait

Where else in the United States will you read death notices such as can almost daily be read in New Mexico papers of persons seventy and eighty years of age who have recently died and who have all their lives made their homes in the one town or village in which they and their forefathers were born. To my mind it speaks volumes for the love of home and the permanency of New Mexico's native population. It is a trait that we who love to call ourselves Americans are strangely lacking.

With our restless discontent of surroundings, our longing to see what's just "over the range," our crazy, unsatisfied ambitions to tear down the old and build anew, no matter how hallowed the surroundings, it is in a way a pleasure to know and mingle with people and men who are content with their father's homes, who can point back into the past centuries and say as could Mr. Perea: "Here my forefathers settled when the first conquistadors came to New Mexico almost three centuries ago, and here we Pereas have ever since been born, married and buried, and I hope will continue to do so as long as there is a Perea to keep the name."—Optic.

Pertinently Penned

"There can be no question that the more the statehood question is agitated, the better people understand, especially eastern people, that it will be a crime to attempt to unite Arizona and New Mexico as a single state against their wishes."

Thus reads the opening of an editorial in the Las Vegas Optic, and this vein is continued for twenty lines or more, but not a single argument is given to show why such is the case, to say nothing of an absolute lack of proof for the statements. This is the argument put up by ninety-nine per cent of the anti-statehood newspapers.—Roosevelt Register.

It does not appear that the Southern Pacific purchase of the Porter coal properties near Durango, Colo., has yet been consummated, though the Denver Times expresses full confidence that it will be; while the statement is made that the Southern Pacific has secured options upon a large extent of adjacent coal properties, which if carried to completion will give the Southern Pacific entire possession of the Durango coal fields.

His Mother-in-Law

From London Globe.

(The Japanese is taught to regard his mother-in-law as much as his own mother.)

Who was it helped me win my bride,
When I was downcast took my side,
And never has been known to chide?
My mother-in-law.

Who was the first to praise, the last
To blame, or call me wild and fast,
Or asked too much about my past?
My mother-in-law.

Who soothed my fiancée's papa,
When he was coarse and shouted "Bah!"
And was polite to my mamma?
My mother-in-law.

Who never called me silly, vain,
Idle, effeminate, insane,
Or talked of horses—bridge—champagne?
My mother-in-law.

And now that we are wed, and May
Shuns and annoys me night and day,
Who helps in keeping her at bay?
My mother-in-law.

Some Facts About

President of France

For the first time in the history of the republic, France from Thursday, Jan. 18, has been provided with two chief executives, a condition of affairs which will last until Sunday, Feb. 18. One of them, it is true, will be the actual president, and the other his successor, the election having taken place exactly a month before.

Emile Loubet completes his seven years' term of office. Here in America, comments "ex-at-chiefs" in the New York Tribune, the simultaneous existence of a president in office and a president-elect seems perfectly normal and regular, and excites no attention whatsoever. But although there have been no less than three separate republics in France in the last 110 years, and in spite of the fact that the third of these republics is now entering on the thirty-sixth year of its existence, French history furnishes no instance of a chief magistrate completing the term for which he has been elected and then handing over the reins of power to his successor.

Thiers, Marshal McMahon and Casimir Perier resigned more or less voluntarily before the expiration of their terms, finding the position untenable. Sadi-Carnot was assassinated at Lyons. Felix Faure met with a sudden death, which, in spite of the gossip about the matter, still remains in a measure shrouded by kindly mystery. Jules Grevy, who alone finished one seven years' term, was re-elected to succeed himself, but was driven from the Elysee soon after the beginning of his second term by the unsavory scandal in which his son-in-law, Daniel Wilson, who lived beneath his roof, was the chief actor.

The new chief magistrate of France is the son of a magistrate's clerk and the grandson of a blacksmith. M. Clement Armand Fallieres was born in November, 1841, at Mazin, department of Lot-Et-Garonne. He studied law and was called to the bar at Merce, of which town he became mayor, retaining that office until 1875.

In the following year he was elected to the chamber of deputies as a republican and affiliated himself with the republican left group in the chamber. He distinguished himself as an orator and was re-elected in 1877, and 1878. In 1880 he was named as under secretary to the minister of the interior and he was again re-elected to the assembly in 1881. He retired from the ministry at the time of the fall of the Jules Ferry cabinet, but returned to power the following year and was made president of the council and ad interim minister of foreign affairs.

Subsequently he was successively minister of public institutions, minister of the interior and minister of justice. He was elected senator in 1890, a position which he has held since that time and was elected to the presidency of the senate in 1899. He was re-elected in 1900 and was again re-elected January 11, of the present year.

M. Fallieres took an active part in the religious question, opposing at first the proposition for the separation of church and state, but later energetically advocated the repression of the clergy. In his election he had the general support of the advanced socialist and radical groups, constituting the famous party which sustained the Combes ministry.

One Who Hungers

For Appreciation

Did you ever distribute kind words to the men and women who are working for you and shoulder to shoulder with you? Once there was a young man who had energy and fire and ambition, who got into a rut. That is a common failing. He believed that there was such a thing as a hoodoo and that it was close on his heels. Things didn't go right. His efforts did not seem to count. Oh! but he had the blues. He expected discharge and what was worse than the mere losing of his position, a verdict of failure, which is death to ambition. Of course he was jaundiced—too severe on himself. Things were not so bad as he imagined. Any man can work himself into such a suicidal frame of mind if he will.

This young fellow was hungry for appreciation. He did not know it. He did not realize that a little tenderness in harsh business is a good thing. He had the mistaken thought that business is only cold business, after all. A good many folks have that idea. When the blues were the blues, and the man wished that he was a boy again, and could cry his troubles out on his mother's knee, a letter was tossed upon his desk by his employer, without a word, and the pessimist felt that it contained his dismissal and the end of all things had come. Here is that letter:

"Dear Sir:—Inclosed you will find an order that will, when handed to the cashier, increase your salary. The increase is made after a consultation of the management and in recognition of your loyalty and your excellent work. You came to us some years ago a very green country boy. I take pleasure in stating that your improvement has been most marked and that you are today skilled and efficient. I don't want you to stop at this measure of success. Continuation of such effort toward improvement as you have shown ought to mean greater things for you, and you should strive to fit yourself for higher responsibilities. Diversified good reading and close study, both of books and men, should be of value to you. I want to congratulate you on now receiving the highest salary ever paid to an employee in your department. I hope and expect that you will, by still further improvement, force us to make it still higher.

Your friend,
Yes, the money was all right. Money is good, but it was not money that caused a happy man to lay his head on his desk while the honest tears trickled through his fingers.

A LETTER FROM

ALAMOGORDO SECTION

A VISITOR IMPRESSED WITH WONDERFUL POSSIBILITIES OF AGRICULTURE.

Special Correspondence.
Alamogordo, N. M., Jan. 19.—The first thing that strongly impressed me, as a stranger, upon my first visit to this remarkable little city, was the wonderful possibilities in the way of agricultural development in the valley, of which Alamogordo is the center. With or without water for irrigation, this section is destined for rapid development. While it is undoubtedly true that marvelous results will be possible of attainment through irrigation, the possibilities of the so-called dry farming have been abundantly exemplified by the experience of J. C. Dunn, county treasurer of Otero county.

Mr. Dunn today showed the photographs illustrating the results of his farming by the "Campbell system" on his farm in 1900 from southern California, where for years he had engaged in the culture of fruits through the new system of dry farming. Mr. Dunn became the pioneer in that industry in New Mexico. He now has thirty acres under cultivation, all of which was desert land in 1900, where he has made a success of the culture of plums, apricots and grapes. His efforts in the growing of corn, oats, barley and rye have been similarly successful. In 1905 he grew rye having a stalk six feet, two and one-half inches high, and corn which was awarded first premium at the territorial fair.

Notwithstanding Mr. Dunn's success, most of the homesteaders locating here are depending upon irrigation for the permanent location of their crops. Water is to be found everywhere in the valley at a shallow depth, and many wells have been dug and equipped with gasoline engines for irrigating purposes. The main experimental artesian well has been sunk to a depth of about 100 feet, a short distance west of town, and the supply of water is to be found everywhere. When water is struck in sufficient quantity a greater influx of homesteaders is anticipated.

Alamogordo is bound to be a good, solid town, regardless of the action of the railroad company in relation to the permanent location of its shops. It now has a population conservatively estimated at 2,500, an increase of 2,500 since 1900. With the necessary means of agricultural development, the valley should support a population of fully 50,000 people. It is a section of New Mexico well worth watching.

NEW GRANT TRACT

MUCH SOUGHT AFTER

OPTION GRABBING BEGAN ON SATURDAY, WITH TWENTY-THREE FOR A STARTER.

Those who read the columns of real estate sales occurring in Albuquerque since the first of the year, published in The Evening Citizen on Saturday, will not be surprised at the statement that twenty-three options were taken on lots in the new Grant addition, which was placed on the market Saturday morning by the Surety Investment company, Albuquerque realty has never been more active than since the beginning of the present year.

The Grant addition consists of something over 100 lots north of New York avenue and west of Fifth street, terminating on the north at Mountain road. The Surety Investment company is working a little novelty scheme on the opening of this addition. Instead of selling outright, options are being taken on all and any of the lots free of the option to terminate on February 1, when the property will be formally sold according to contract, which is $10 down per lot and $5 per month until the property is paid for.

In speaking of the new addition this morning, Colonel D. K. B. Sellers, manager for the company, said that it was really the most desirable part of the city, and that it would be as beautiful after the streets were graded, which will be done immediately, as it is desirable in location. Many new options were made during today and the promise is that every lot will have been spoken for by the time the options expire.

NATIONAL AID FOR DRY LAND FARMING

VERY IMPORTANT BILL IN CONGRESS, ASKING APPROPRIATION, WILL COME UP AT LATER DATE.

The following bill of interest to people of the territory has been introduced by Representative Thomas F. Marshall of North Dakota, has been ordered printed and will come up for consideration later.

A bill to appropriate sixty thousand dollars for necessary expense of investigation of methods of dry-land farming suited to the arid and semi-arid regions.

"Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, that there be appropriated, out of the public moneys in the treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, for all expenses necessary to enable the secretary of agriculture to investigate methods of dry-land farming suited to the arid and semi-arid regions of the western United States, where irrigation is impracticable, the sum of sixty thousand dollars, of which sum five thousand dollars shall be immediately available."

The matter is of interest to New Mexico, as considerable attention is now being paid to dry culture methods in the eastern part of the territory.

George Slosson, who refused to meet Willie Hoppe before the youthful billiardist went to Paris to play Maurice Vignaux, is loath to give the boy wonder credit for his achievement. When Slosson heard the news he said: "I did not think Hoppe would defeat Vignaux. Now that he has, he must be considered seriously, and I must say that I consider him a wonder." It took Slosson a long time to discover what less careful students of the game have known for many months.

A MILLIONAIRE STARVES TO DEATH

With $145 in His Pocket and
Monthly Income of $2,500
Lives on Doughnuts.

OWNS SOME VALUABLE PROPERTY

Because he loved the clink of his gold better than he loved life, D. H. Vaughn, a millionaire capitalist and miser, of Deadwood, South Dakota, lies dead, as a result of literally starving himself to death.

Vaughn came to this city some time ago and engaged rooms at a well known rooming house in the city. He bargained with the proprietor over the price of the room. For weeks it was noticed by other roomers that the old man, who was 73 years of age, ate but very little, most of the time his three meals a day consisting of coffee and rolls or doughnuts.

Some of the roomers, thinking that perhaps the old man was penniless, offered monetary assistance which he refused, saying that he had enough to live on. In the way he saw dead. After that he was left alone, as each effort to induce him to partake of something more substantial or more costly than doughnuts met with the same reply: "I can't afford it."

He owed about $25 for board and room at the place he was stopping at the time of his death. It is said by those who came in contact with the old man, that he had but one change of underwear, and that he had not sent any soiled linen to the laundry during his stay in the city. He was attired in a broadcloth coat, a pair of cheap pants, an old worn-out vest, and shoes that had long since seen better days. This attire he never changed. He did not seem to be in ill health when he first came here, but as he refused to eat anything but rolls and doughnuts, with a little coffee, he gradually grew weak, until at last, others conversant with the case, called in a doctor. The doctor diagnosed his case as one of lack of nourishment. The old man grew very angry because the doctor had been called, saying he couldn't afford it. The doctor was paid and dismissed, with instructions not to call upon him any more. Vaughn continued with his coffee and doughnuts and yesterday morning, about 11 o'clock, a doctor was again sent, but before he arrived Vaughn was dead.

The death certificate states that the old man came to his death through starvation and the lack of nourishment. When his effects were searched by the coroner, a cheap $1 Waterbury watch, a wallet containing about $145, notes showing him to be the possessor of much real estate in Deadwood, and a memorandum showing that he had received for the month of November, in rentals and interest, over $2,000, was found. In addition to this there was found letters and other memoranda showing that the old man was possessed of property worth hundreds of thousands in the business district of Deadwood.

Another letter among his effects showed that he had a daughter, Mary Moulton, wife of the government assayer in Deadwood. This daughter was telegraphed to, telling her of her father's death. A message came back to this city which read:

"Put body in plain box and ship here."

During the old man's stay in this city he seldom went out, and remained most of the time in his bed. He did not appear to have any ailment and no cause, other than an insane desire to save money, can be assigned for the old man's miserly mode of living, which eventually resulted in his death.

A photograph found among his effects shows him with a little girl sitting on his knee, presumably the child of his daughter, Mary Moulton. In this photograph, which was taken in Deadwood, he is attired in the same clothes he wore during his stay here. Further inquiry into the previous life of the old man revealed the fact that he had a monthly income from property in Deadwood that amounted to about $2,500. His daughter, the wife of Harry Moulton, a government assayer in Deadwood, is also reputed to be wealthy.

Doctors who examined the old man, and the doctor who was first called in on the case, state that it was a plain case of the old man starving himself to death, as at his age, one could not live very long on coffee and doughnuts. Vaughn had no stomach troubles, there was no reason why he should not have eaten heartily, as on several occasions when he was eating at someone's expense, he ate very heartily.

It was a plain case of the miserly love for gold, which in this instance, brought death in its train. The body will be shipped to Deadwood tonight as per the instructions of his daughter, Mary Moulton.

BIG HOUSE GREETED MURRAY AND MACK

ALTHOUGH APPLAUSE WAS FREQUENT, THE MORE SQUEAMISH WERE MADE TO BLUSH.

If all stage performances were composed of the stuff similar to some of that handed out by Murray and Mack at the Elks' opera house on Saturday night, a great many theatergoers would agree with Dean Hart that "the playhouse was the devil's workshop."

All agree that Murray and Mack were not as good as they were a year ago, but they gave above the average comic opera which comes to Albuquerque. They displayed a number of new spectacular scenes, especially the Buster Brown scene, that were very good, but many of the "gags" had a musty smell, and a few of them bordered on vulgarity, while a number of the amorous scenes were quite too strong for the more squeamish. The company this year did not contain as large a number of artists as last year, and although the chorus was lively and hard workers, they had not the grace and beauty of former aggregations that Murray and Mack have brought to the city. Their greeting, however, was ever cordial and applause was spontaneous and frequent. The house was packed.

All Scott's interested in the banquet and "Bobbie" Burns' birthday celebration which will take place at the Elks' opera house on Thursday night, will place leave their names and addresses with R. Madden in the Commercial club building.

NEIL WILLIS SHOOT'S HIMSELF

With a 38-Caliber Revolver,
But Fails to Inflict a Death Wound.

WAS DRINKING AND TIRED OF LIFE

Neil Willis, a barber living at 216 West Silver avenue, this afternoon, shortly before 2 o'clock, attempted to end his life by firing a 38-caliber bullet into his right temple, but owing to the thickness of his skull, did not succeed in killing himself, the only result of the attempt at self destruction being a nasty flesh wound.

Willis, who has been employed in a First street barber shop, had been drinking heavily during the day, it is understood, and while in this condition, conceived the notion of killing himself. Securing a 38-caliber Smith & Wesson revolver he placed the muzzle against his right temple and pulled the trigger. Owing to his nervousness, his aim was bad, and the bullet merely entered the flesh, and striking the skull, ranged downward, coming out through his eyebrow, inflicting a rather painful, but not serious wound.

When he fired the shot, in his home at 216 West Silver avenue, a woman member of the family ran into the street crying, "Oh, my God, Neil has shot himself." When the police and a reporter for The Evening Citizen arrived the man and his family strenuously denied that he had attempted suicide, but stated that Willis was trying to take the pistol off a hook above his head when it was accidentally discharged.

"I don't want no newspaper story about it, or any excitement," said Willis to the reporter.

"Then why did you try to kill yourself, if you didn't want no excitement?" interrupted one of the women members of the family, thereby making it clear that, in spite of his denial, Willis had attempted suicide.

Doctor Hope was called in and dressed the wound, pronouncing it merely a flesh wound that would soon heal. At last reports Willis was resting easy and heartily ashamed of his attempt at suicide.

LEARNARD AND LIN- DEMANN'S BOYS BAND

What promises to be one of the most popular musical organizations of the month, the boys' band of the territory of New Mexico, is now in process of formation, and with the encouragement and enthusiasm the "aidersman of the second" lends to all of his enterprises, will rapidly take form and make a decided bid for popular favor. The organization is that of a boys' band. Mr. Learnard has brought together twenty young hopefuls, who will soon be equipped with the various reed and brass instruments which constitute a full band. The boys will then get down to hard work and it is safe to say in the language of the poet, "they'll make the welkin ring."

FRANKLIN HOUSTON COMPANY COM NG

First and foremost among this week's attractions at the opera house is the Franklin Houston Orpheum show. They are giving the best of satisfaction and are pronounced by press and public to be the best up to date show traveling.

Every act is a feature from the leading circus and best sawdustville shows. The Skumoto Royal Japanese troupe have played all the leading houses, and were the feature with the Photo circus last season. Windecker, the magician, although a young man, has been in the best houses and his work is surpassed by none.

Frank Miller, for three seasons the leading comedian of the Jolly Rogers' company, and last season principal clown with the Norris & Rowe circus, is a feature.

The Delong sisters, singers and dancers, Leon Cole, an illustrated songster, the Stingers' novelty electrical dance and kith and kindred with the very latest films, go to make an entertainment well worth seeing.

At the Elks' opera house Saturday night, January 27.

CUDAHY PACKING COMPANY TO OPEN OFFICE HERE

FILED ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION SATURDAY LAST, IN PROBATE COURT.

The Cudahy Packing company, incorporated under the laws of Nebraska, will shortly open a branch office in this city.

Last Saturday the company filed articles of incorporation in the Benaville county probate court, through its attorney, R. W. D. Bryan, of this city. The papers named as the incorporators E. S. Cudahy, John Forbes and Thomas Creight, and designated Albuquerque as the headquarters for its territorial business.

This is a formality required by the laws of New Mexico. If the Cudahy company wishes to do business here, Attorney Bryan's office will be headquarters for any legal redress sought against the company or any other matters requiring legal attention.

MORTUARY

Word has just been received in this city to the effect that E. B. Hinton, formerly proprietor of the Highland market, is dead at San Diego, Cal., where he went two months ago for the benefit of his health. Hinton lived in Albuquerque about five years, and during his residence in this city many friends who will hear with regret of his death. The demise occurred Friday and the body was interred in the city in which he died.

With a devoted wife, who ever suffered that her husband might have everything that would tend to his comfort, beside him, John Allen Walton passed away Saturday night, at 10 o'clock, in this city, from the dread "white plague," consumption. Deceased was 37 years old, and came here about four months ago from Huntington, W. Va., where he had been a deputy sheriff for the past eight years. The remains will be shipped to Pittsburg, Pa., accompanied by the wife, where they will be interred in the family burial plot.

"COAL EXPERT WAS FULL OF PRUNES"

Coal Dealers Do Not Conspire
With Railroad to Bleed
Consumers.

HOWEVER, COAL IS VERY SCARCE

As though by concert and at about the pitch of one very much offended, the coal dealers of the city today branded as a canard the story circulated in a morning paper to the effect that they were in "cabochs" with the Santa Fe railway in a scheme to make the consumers pay a higher price for coal than formerly.

The story referred to was an interview with a man who said that he knew all about the business, but desired his name withheld from public criticism, and as far as can be learned was a great injustice to the local merchants, who have already expended in the raising of the price of domestic coal of fifty cents per ton, which went into effect on December 13 last.

In referring to the story this morning, one of the dealers said: "That fellow is full of prunes," while the other said: "It is clear off his base; he doesn't know what he is talking about."

According to the coal men, this also was made for the benefit of the consumers. When coal first became scarce, the local dealers discovered that the operators were sending their output to a more profitable market than Albuquerque, California, and other dealers west were paying the operator more money for coal than here, and naturally the coal operators were sending their coal where it would bring the most money. To meet this condition, the local dealers had to meet the competing prices, which was equal to the fifty cent raise, the coal dealers not caring to stand the raise themselves, but it on the consumers. The railroads had nothing to do with the raise. They are getting the same freight rate as formerly, and are only to blame for not delivering cars loaded at the mines more promptly. An example of this slow delivery has been experienced by the local dealers in the past few days. The Cerrillos yards today received one car of Gallup coal billed on the 17th, last Wednesday, and the packable cars received only today two cars that were billed from Gallup on the same date. These three cars are the domestic coal supply of the city today, and it falls very short of the demand, and with the increasing cold weather the situation seems quite serious.

CARRIS GOT TEN DAYS FOR ASSAULTING NEGRO

Police court this morning Carris pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or spend ten days on the streets. Carris was shy the necessary change, and hence joined the chain gang.

AUTO IS SAVED FROM QUICKSAND

Drivers of "Rio Mountaineer"
Are in Gallup Awaiting
New Material.

WILL ARRIVE IN THIS CITY SOON

Special to The Evening Citizen.

Gallup, N. M., Jan. 22.—The cross country touring car, "Rio Mountaineer," which has been rescued from the quicksands of the Rio Puerco, and is now lying at Adamona, Ariz., awaiting repairs to arrive, is the first touring car to attempt to make a round trip from ocean to ocean and return.

It is a sixteen horse-power car, driven by Percy F. Megargal and David Fassett. They left New York on August 19, 1905. Westward to Wyoming the journeying was under excellent conditions, and 100 miles a day was easily covered. From Wyoming west, through the red desert and the mountains, much trouble was experienced—sand, floods, gales and steep grades and cover roads which were little better than a trail. All of this caused the drivers much inconvenience and was a severe test to the endurance of the car. Through part of Idaho and Oregon the roads were for passengers. Passing over the desert, on November 10.

From there they went to San Francisco and started on the return trip over the Santa Fe trail route. At Cajon Pass the car skidded on the sandy road and rolled completely over, without material damage to car or passengers. Passing over the desert, they encountered a fierce sand storm and in the San Francisco mountains near Flagstaff, Ariz., the daring travelers nearly perished in a terrible storm, being without food or gasoline for thirty-six hours.

A week ago today they left Holbrook, Ariz. A few hours later they ran into the quicksands of the Rio Puerco and nearly lost their car, which is now in need of repairs on account of the rough usage it has received.

The car accomplishes the feat of making the return to New York. It will demonstrate the durability of the automobile as a cross country vehicle.

As soon as the repairs arrive they will continue their journey, making this town probably the next day and Albuquerque a few days later.

DECATUR MAN HAS BEEN ARRESTED IN THIS CITY

ALLEGED BY FORT COLLINS AUTHORITIES THAT PRISONER
TOOK ANOTHER'S MONEY.

C. DeLohart, whose right name is Clarence Drake, is under arrest in this city at the request of the authorities in Fort Collins, Colo., who allege that Drake secured money there under false pretenses. Drake has been running a penny photograph gallery in the Barnett building here for some time, and according to his reports, had been making from $10 to $25 a day. Drake has living with him one Pearl Porter, who claims to be his wife. A communication from William Rich, marshal at Fort Collins to Chief of Police Thomas McMillin of this city, will explain Drake's wrongdoings in that Colorado town, and at the same time throw a little light on the character of the Porter woman.

The communication states that Drake lived in Fort Collins about three months with a woman whom he introduced as his wife, but who was really Pearl Fortwood, who likewise claimed to be Drake's wife. Her maiden name was Pearl Porter, Drake, the communication states, has a wife living in Decatur, Ill.

Marshal Rich says that Drake "goes next" to a photographer named H. C. Bradley, who was installing a heating plant. Drake received the job and ordered the material from the Denver concern, amounting to $421.61. The Denver concern held Bradley responsible for the material, but Drake asked the photographer to make out the checks to him as he expected other similar jobs, and wanted to make himself in good standing with the commercial community. A check for $50 was accordingly handed to Drake, which he turned over to those entitled to it all right. When another bill came from the Denver concern Drake made a similar request about the check Mr. Bradley wrote on for $371.61 with the endorsement that it was payable to the concern for material purchased. It is claimed that Drake took the check to the bank, erased the endorsement, secured the cash and skipped out.

A Decatur paper, in commenting on the story states that while in Fort Collins the Porter woman dropped information which resulted in another Mrs. Drake coming to Fort Collins, but after Drake and the Porter woman had "flew the coop." The Decatur paper explains, however, that the Mrs. Drake of that place does have been living in Fort Collins for some time, and has become of Drake.

Chief McMillin this morning received the following message from the sheriff at Fort Collins:

"Hold; will start at once with the proper papers. J. M. McCreery."

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED FOR EL PASO HARVEY HOUSE

E. Pellow, recently of Trinidad, but quite well known here as manager of the little red eating house which was displaced by the Alvarado, has been selected as manager of the house, and is now at the Paso City putting the plans of the company into effect. Harvey's concessions include the car and news departments as well as the hotel and lunch counter privileges. The new hotel will be opened as soon as it can be equipped.

BEARRUP'S PLAN PLEASES MINERS

Co-Operative Scheme of Local Manufacturer Receives Recognition at Convention.

MILLS HAVE A BRIGHT FUTURE

J. H. Bearrup, of this city, president of the Rio Grande Woolen Mills company, who went to Indianapolis, Ind., a few days ago to address the convention of miners in session there, has, according to information received in this city, met with much success in the "Hoosier" state.

Mr. Bearrup addressed the convention whose delegates represented a half million miners. In his breezy manner Uncle Johnny set forth the advantages to be derived from cooperative trading, and in the course of his remarks, explained how the miners of the United States could purchase woolen goods from the factory here by entering into the co-operative plan at a reduction of 50 per cent on prices paid through the ordinary channels. This, he pointed out, was the result of buying directly from the factory whereby the profits of the middle man was saved, not to say the cost of the goods on the market.

The convention was deeply impressed with the plan of Mr. Bearrup. A committee was appointed to confer with him relative to his proposition to furnish woolen goods at a reduction of 50 per cent from the market price, and report their findings back to the convention. It is understood that the report of the committee was favorable toward accepting the plan of Mr. Bearrup, and that the delegation was authorized to present the same before their respective unions.

There is some probability that a majority of the locals will likewise take favorable action, and that an executive committee will be selected to confer with President Bearrup at a future date, empowered to purchase stock for each union.

The future of the local woolen mill never looked brighter than at present, as with the half million miners as patrons of the factory, together with as many more farmers who have already assumed a trusteeship, the demand for material will be so great as to necessitate the erection of a new mill, and the employment of a force of employees which will materially increase the commercial importance of this city.

In explaining what he intends to profit by the plan personally, Mr. Bearrup says that as general manager of the plant he will receive a salary of $1,500 a year, an amount he will be entitled to more stock than the members who do not devote their time to the enterprise.

The following letter has been received by The Evening Citizen from J. H. Bearrup, Indianapolis:

"It now seems quite probable that the miners will take similar action with, and co-operate with the Farmers' union, and that they will make it possible for our company to erect almost at once a million dollar plant."

"Can it be possible that Albuquerque thinks that I will so abuse the trust that is placed in my hands as to place of others that are offering our company inducements, just because it is my home? My first, last and all the time regard, shall be to safeguard our union stockholders' interests."

"Albuquerque will probably have preference under equal circumstances, but it remains for her to take the initiative in this matter."

EPIDEMIC OF WHOOP- ING COUGH INCREASING

The epidemic of whooping cough, which has been raging in Silver City since early in the fall, seems to be on the increase instead of diminishing in size, and new victims are claimed almost daily, says the Enterprise. Among those who have had it are a number of adults, whom it has not treated with undue gentleness because of this strange oversight in their early training. Silver City these days resonates with regular Indian war-whoops as some child or "grown-up," pays tribute to this plebeian disease, which demands recognition of every one sooner or later in life. The disease is not dangerous, except with the very young, but with two of whom it has proven fatal in Silver City this winter, the Kelly baby having died from exhaustion superinduced by the strain of coughing.

RAILROAD TOPICS

FREE ENTERTAINMENT AT RAILROAD READING ROOM

G. W. Parkhurst, of the Parkhurst-Burris, Mercantile company, of Topeka, Kan., arrived in the city this morning from San Marcial, accompanied by a concert company of Topeka ladies, who are giving free entertainments at reading rooms along the Santa Fe. In speaking of the company and its work, Mr. Parkhurst said this morning that they had so far had a very pleasant trip, leaving Topeka a week ago and stopping at Dodge City, La Junta, Raton, Las Vegas and San Marcial. They were greeted at San Marcial last night by a large and very appreciative audience, and received most hospitable treatment at the hands of the San Marcial people. The entertainment to be given tonight at the local reading rooms will consist of vocal, piano and violin music. Those who compose the company are: Mr. Parkhurst, Mrs. Parkhurst, Mrs. F. H. Foster, Mrs. F. S. Thomas, Mrs. L. S. Perry, Miss G. Tracy and Miss N. Lescher.

From here the company continues west, stopping at Winslow, Needles, San Bernardino, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

RAILROADERS WANT MURTEL FOR TEXAS LEGISLATURE.

Members of the different railroad organizations centering at El Paso have decided to run one of their number for the Texas legislature to fill the unexpired term of A. L. Sharpe, recently appointed collector of customs at El Paso port. They have selected as their candidate Bob Murtel, who is, without doubt, the most popular railroad man in that city. Mr. Murtel has consented to run and will receive the unanimous support of all the railroad men in El Paso, and also that of a large acquaintance outside of railroad circles. He is a man of unusual executive ability and has given satisfaction for several years to both the railroads and the brotherhoods as chairman of the local grievance committee.

VETERAN HAD TO HAVE LEG AMPUTATED.

Judge E. A. Chaffin, of Las Cruces, who was taken down to Hotel Dieu a couple of weeks ago for treatment for a broken leg, had to have the limb amputated on Wednesday. Latest reports say he is getting along nicely. The operation, under the conditions, was a dangerous one and might have proved fatal.

T. W. Seery, of the Lantry-Sharp Construction company, at Belen, was in the city over Sunday.

J. E. Purcell, an employee of the Santa Fe railroad at Santa Fe, was in the city today from the Capital City.

H. S. Lutz, formerly station agent at this place, but now of Santa Fe, was in the city over Sunday, returning to Santa Fe last night.

E. P. Ripley, trainmaster for the Santa Fe, with headquarters at San Marcial, arrived in the city Friday, and will remain until tomorrow, when he returns to San Marcial.

F. R. Frost, chief electrical engineer for the Santa Fe, was in the city for several days on an inspection trip, leaving yesterday for a trip over the coast lines.

A. C. Potter, formerly a baggage agent for the Santa Fe, accompanied by his wife has gone to Denver where he will engage in the mercantile business.

Peter Bontz, a freight engineer, on the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe, arrived in the city last night from the hospital at Las Vegas, where he has been since December 8, for the treatment of his right hand, which was mangled while he was screwing down the grease caps on one of the Strong's sons, undertakers, and was sent east last night in charge of J. R. Davis, a friend of the deceased. Young Kress arrived in Needles about two months ago on a visit to his brother-in-law, A. M. Eldrid, a brakeman on the coast lines of the Santa Fe.

Several changes have taken place among the engineers on the run between Needles and Seligman. T. E. Galagher, who formerly ran between that town and Barstow, has gone on the east end, taking F. W. Jackson's passenger run. Those engineers were both made famous during the Scotty special run. Jackson has taken the local, and S. W. Thompson, formerly there, has taken a freight engine.

Miss Maud Graves, a sister of Mrs. J. J. Custer, wife of the storekeeper for the Santa Fe, has returned from a visit to Chicago, joining the Custer family who left here last night for San Bernardino, where Mr. Custer and family will make their home in the future. Mr. Custer will return to Albuquerque within a few days, and remain here until the store room headquarters are entirely removed to that city.

Engineer Jesse Thompson has gone back to train duty again, after being off for two years. Two years ago he was badly injured in the soldier train wreck just west of Needles and is just able to go back to work. He takes the passenger run between Needles and Barstow that T. E. Galagher had. Mr. Thompson is the oldest engineer running out of Needles, counting seniority of service, having been running for the past twenty-two years.

Fireman F. G. Pholey had a very narrow escape in Barstow the other morning. As it was his hands were very badly burned. He was ready to leave Barstow on the local freight, which runs between Barstow and Needles. When he discovered the fire was out on the engine, he poured a little oil on a piece of waste and lit it and tossed it into the fire box. As the oil had been collected in the fire box it ignited, causing an explosion which burned his hands very badly.

Mr. Farwell, who is to be chief engineer of the Albuquerque Eastern, with headquarters in this city, accompanied by his wife, has returned from a visit to the Republic of Mexico. Mr. Farwell was employed on the Cananea, Yaqui & Pacific, as engineer, but grew tired of living in such a "God forsaken country," as he expresses it, and returned to glorious New Mexico, where he will reside in the future.

Ray Montoya, a switchman in the local Santa Fe yards, left last night for Topeka, Kan., where he will represent the Albuquerque division of the Order of Railway Conductors and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, in a conference to be held January 29, between these orders and the officers of the Santa Fe, at which time a scale of prices will be submitted by the order, and other matters of importance between employer and employee will be taken up and discussed.
