STATEHOOD BILL WAS PRESENTED TODAY AS HAD BEEN EXPECTED

Deprecates Charges Made by Arizonians That Our People Are Foreigners or Undesirable Inhabitants in Any Sense of Term.

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS PASSAGE OF THE BILL

Shows How Low Assessment Values in Both Territories Come From Immense Undervaluation of Property of Every Description.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—Representative Hamilton of Michigan, chairman of the house committee on territories, today submitted a favorable report on the Hamilton joint statehood bill, which provides for the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as the state of Oklahoma, and for joint statehood for New Mexico and Arizona, under the name of Arizona. The report reviews the bill in detail, explaining that the capital of Arizona is to be at Santa Fe, until 1915, and that the capital of Oklahoma is to be at Guthrie for the same length of time, when the people can choose their capitals. The report says:

"This committee considers the criticism as ill-founded which finds fault with New Mexico because of its foreign population. Out of a population of 195,316, New Mexico has only 16,405 foreign born inhabitants, a smaller percentage than most states of the Union. New Mexico was made a territory in 1850, and ever since that time the people of that territory have elected their own legislators, made their own laws, conducted their own local government and contributed revenue to the federal treasury. Were it not that two-fifths of its population, which are native born but of Spanish descent, have heretofore been erroneously referred to as foreign, it would be an aspersion upon a patriotic people even to refer to their nationality. The remaining three-fifths of the population are of the same character as the people of Arizona."

Of the alleged undervaluation of property in Arizona, for the purposes of taxation, which was warmly discussed in the hearings, the report says:

"It has a total assessed valuation of taxable property as shown by the report of the secretary of the interior, of $57,920,372, but it is probable that its property is returnable for taxation at comparatively small percentages of its market value in some instances, as indicated by government reports, at not over five per cent of its actual value."

Concerning taxes in New Mexico, the report says:

"The assessed valuation of property within the territory for the year 1905, was $42,578,792, but it is asserted that for the purpose of taxation, property is not returned at more than 20 per cent of its market value."

RETAIL GROCERS MEET FROM ALL SECTIONS

Want Debt For Necessities Made Preferred Claim. Reasonable Pure Food Law--Defeat of the Parcels Post Bill.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Jan. 23.—More than two thousand members and delegates of the National Association of Retail Grocers of the United States were in attendance this morning when President Kirby, of the Niagara Falls Retail Grocers association, called the ninth annual convention of the National organization to order in the auditorium of the Natural Food company. The delegates were welcomed by Mr. Kirby and the mayor of Niagara Falls, and appropriate responses were made by several delegates from other states. Then President J. A. Green, of the national association, delivered his annual address and the other officers of the organization submitted their annual reports.

As outlined in his address by President Green many highly important matters will come up for consideration before the convention and the latter promises to be one of the most interesting and important ever held in this country. Among the various needs of the retail grocers of this country are the following: An amendment to the bankruptcy laws, so that debts for necessities shall be treated as preferred claims, or better, that no discharge be granted from such debts. The adoption of the Dixon bill, compelling civil service employees to pay their accounts for necessities. The adoption of a law which will properly guard the interests of the grocers; some equitable settlement of the premium question; the defeat of the parcels post bill, which would seriously injure the interests of the retail grocers; to defeat the plan of laying an import duty on tea and coffee and other matters of equal importance.

For some time the proposition has been agitated to secure the passage of a law which would require grocers and their clerks to pass certain examinations and obtain a license before they are permitted to engage in the retail grocery business, but there is considerable opposition to that plan and it is not considered probable that a majority of the delegates will favor any action in favor of a license law.

and declaring in favor of joint statehood for Oklahoma and Indian Territory, the report says that there is no more reason for joining New Mexico and Arizona, than there would be in joining Alaska and Porto Rico. The manifest purpose of the majority is to unjustly keep Oklahoma out of the Union unless they can, with greater injustice, force Arizona in. Says the report:

"We regret the president's action in recommending, without assigning any reason, joint statehood for Arizona and New Mexico, and thus ignoring the last expression of the republican national platform on the question of statehood for the remaining territories."

The report concludes: "Should the republican party pass this bill, wicked as it is in denial of equal rights in representation, and partisan as it is in all its material details, it will afford an excellent example of the suppression of individual, territorial and national rights to subserve party ends."

SOME THINGS WHICH JOINT BILL CONTAINS. Special to The Citizen. Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—The statehood joint bill was presented today by the majority of the committee on territories, the minority presenting a bill against jointure.

The majority bill gives the new state of Arizona $5,000,000 for public schools and grants of lands for public state institutions. It provides for two congressmen, two United States courts to be held at Albuquerque and Phoenix, and gives sixty-six members of the constitutional convention to New Mexico and forty-four to Arizona.

The convention, which is to meet at Santa Fe, may hold a session of sixty days, and $150,000 is appropriated for its expenses. The convention shall ordain the time for electing state and county officers, the legislative and executive branches of the government, and the time when the constitution shall be presented to the people for ratification.

Delegate Andrews presented the Bernalillo county petition for joint statehood, forwarded by Frank Hubbell, and also bills validating various bonds of territorial officials and refunding laws for several counties.

The opposition to the rule is weakening and now does not exceed forty. The bill will pass the house.

(Special from B. S. Roddy.) The statehood bill will be up in the house tomorrow. The lines are drawn closely and the fight will be bitter, but I feel sure it will pass. Every friend of the bill is working for it today among the members. I am doing all I can. B. S. RODDY.

"Millionaire Syndicate" In the Reform Business in Pittsburg

H. C. FRICK. A. J. CASSATT. SENATOR KNOX. WM. FLINN. E. M. BIGELOW.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 23.—The dawn of a new political era is breaking in Pennsylvania. Siege is being laid to the existing state machine by determined men backed with great wealth, political experience and a certain measure of popularity.

That was why such a desperate struggle was made to secure the nomination of Alexander M. Jenkinson, wealthy tobacco manufacturer, for mayor, and why money was poured into the republican primaries as it never was before. That is why, too, it is said, that the Pittsburg Leader, independent afternoon newspaper, suddenly changed hands for $1,250,000. This leaves but one of the seven English daily newspapers outspoken against the new leaders of the party.

Having gained control of Pittsburg, and already having a stronghold in Philadelphia, the next reputed move will be the naming of the governor of the new state next fall. These new powers, which are seizing the reins of republican leadership are: Henry Clay Frick, of steel and coke interests; A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad; A. W. Mellon, banker of Pittsburg, and United States Senator Philander C. Knox. Associated with them are said to be William Flinn, millionaire contractor and former leader of the republican party in Pittsburg; E. M. Bigelow, leader of the new discredited reform administration, and John Wamaker and Mayor Weaver, of Philadelphia.

Since the death of United States Senator Quay, several things have gone badly for the republican organization in Pennsylvania. A mighty, popular insurrection shattered the leadership of Senator Boies Penrose. This was followed by the election of a democratic state ticket with republican votes. It was therefore evident something had to be done.

And the fact that Messrs. Frick, Cassatt, Mellon and Knox—the first three being the ones who are reputed to have named Knox United States senator—have the salvation of the organization, is looked upon with some gratification by the people.

JUDGE S. M. ASHENFELTER DEAD AT SILVER CITY. THIS WELL KNOWN ATTORNEY PASSED AWAY IN DEATH THIS MORNING.

Special to The Evening Citizen. Silver City, N. M., Jan. 23.—Judge S. M. Ashenfelter, of this city, died here this morning, after a two days' illness, of paralysis of the heart.

The deceased was one of the oldest residents of the southwest, and one of the most prominent attorneys of the territory, having at one time held the position of district attorney of the judicial district of southern New Mexico. He came to New Mexico in 1860, and was a member of the Silver City lodge of Elks.

By marriage, he was a relative of ex-Governor Edmund G. Ross, of Albuquerque. The deceased leaves three married daughters, one of whom is Mrs. W. D. Walton, editor of the Silver City Inquirer. He is survived by his wife and two sons.

CUSTOMS COLLECTOR HOLDS UP LOT OF SCHOOL BOOKS. San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 23.—Customs Collector Stratton is holding up a consignment of American text books, printed in Japan, pending investigation. They are first, second, third and fourth readers, and are the kind used in the public schools of the United States. The wholesale price is 75 cents per copy, while the American publishers charge 57 cents per copy. It is believed that this shipment of books is an infringement on the copyright laws of the United States.

PITTSBURG'S MILLIONAIRE CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

A. M. JENKINSON.

Born in 1860 in Pittsburg. High school graduate, and went to work for father's tobacco concern.

In 1899 headed the firm and extended the business over the country.

Has slathers of money and is therefore, a big man in Pittsburg society.

Interested in athletics, choo-choo wagons and horses.

Was once a member of the city council. Has always been interested in municipal affairs.

President of the National Cigar-makers' association, and an official in many semi-public and private enterprises in Pittsburg.

It is said that H. C. Frick and A. W. Mellon selected him as a candidate on account of his prominence in the country club, of which both Frick and Mellon are members.

but the methods attributed to them appear shocking.

Take the nomination for mayor of Mr. Jenkinson. The party was flirting with the independents, the democrats and citizens in selecting a candidate. W. A. Magee, Jr., an old party man, announced his intention to fight for the nomination. All over the city republicans offered him support. Then, lo! the announcement was made that Mr. Jenkinson, practically unknown in party circles, was a candidate. What Jenkinson lacked in popularity was readily made up by money said to have been spent by his backers to turn the tide of sentiment from Magee. They succeeded, but it was a costly battle.

An indication of revolt at these proceedings is the support that Geo. W. Guthrie, the democratic candidate for mayor, is receiving. But with all this, it is expected that Jenkinson will be elected mayor in February, with the expenditure of less money than was spent in defeating Magee in the primaries.

Favoring the republicans is the fact that the citizens' party is dead. Its following has gone now to what is popularly called the "millionaire syndicate." It was the citizens' party that four years ago turned the lights upon the corruption and rottenness of the republican administration, and held forth the rainbow promise of reform. It proved only a rainbow.

With the control of Pittsburg, the great metropolis of the western end of the state and the support of the reform republican party in Philadelphia in the east, it is calculated that the naming of a governor next fall will be attempted with confidence.

Japan's Financial Commissioner Leaves for the Island Empire, Having Completed the Work Which His Country Gave Him to Do.

Paris, Jan. 23.—President Loubet presided today at a cabinet council, at which Premier Rouvier announced that he had received a communication from Ambassador Jusserand to the effect that the United States does not consider a French naval demonstration against Venezuela to be a violation of the Monroe doctrine. France, it is pointed out, thus has her hands free, but the situation is unchanged for the moment, as the country will not take any decisive action until the report of M. Talmy, former charge d'affaires at Caracas, shall be received.

WAR MADE PEACE AND PROSPERITY IN FAR EAST.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 23.—Koreo Takahashi, the financial commissioner of the Japanese government, who was sent here at the beginning of the war between Japan and Russia to arrange for the placing of the Japanese loan, sailed from here today for Japan, having completed his work in this country.

"I have completed my work in this country," Mr. Takahashi said in his modest way, shortly before his departure, "and am returning to Japan now. The government has arranged its financial program and does not need my services any longer. I expect to be able after my return, to devote some time to rest and to the arrangement of my own financial interests."

"I feel quite confident," he said, when asked concerning the probable future of Japan, "that Japan will speedily recover from the shock of that great war. Destructive as it was, it was to some purpose. If it had done nothing else than bring recognition for the country it would not have been in vain. But, it has accomplished a great more than that. It has made a new era of peace and prosperity possible in the far east. It is but natural that a period of retrenchment should follow a devastating war, such as Japan has just passed through. But, I am advised by the Japanese government, that retrenchments will be made only so far as may make for the safety of the administration. The government must maintain its powerful navy and an army of sufficient strength to insure its own safety and peace. Moreover the terms of our alliance with Great Britain will render it necessary to maintain the army and navy on a footing. Japan must now do a great deal in the way of commercial and industrial expansion. She must necessarily adapt herself to a new set of conditions and perhaps she may find it to her advantage to profit, in a measure at least, by the example set by the Americans in the matter of commercial progressiveness. She is bound to grow and expand and extend the commercial relations to countries that have heretofore had little to do with her."

ALBUQUERQUE BEATS ALL RECORDS

This afternoon Mrs. A. S. Winchell, wife of A. S. Winchell, a Santa Fe engineer, gave birth to a set of twins, both boys, at their home at 905 South Broadway.

The remarkable feature of this item is the fact that this is the third set of twins Mrs. Winchell has presented her husband with, and in addition to the six children born as twins, Mrs. Winchell is the mother of three other children. The latest twin arrivals are doing splendidly as is the mother, but the engine room of Pere Winchell has had to be enlarged to permit of his getting into it, he has expanded so much with happiness and parental pride. Dr. Pearce officiated.

Washington, D. C., papers will please copy, that our old friend Teddy Roosevelt has been elected to the office of the race suicide proposition confronting the people of New Mexico when her fair women can boast of a record like Mrs. Winchell has.

WORD OF DEFENSE FOR NAVAL ACADEMY CADETS

Hard Worked and Good Students---Recent Enlargement of Facilities and What the New Building Cost and Contains.

Annapolis, Jan. 23.—Midshipmen don't spend all of their time hazing and being hazed. They are about the hardest working students to be found anywhere. Every day something is added to the list of things they must know. They must be the most skilled engineers as well as tacticians. In fact, so constantly is warship machinery improved and increased that it is hard work for the naval officers to keep up with it.

With the number of midshipmen jumping from an average of 300 to 520, with the prospect of nearly a thousand next June, more room and greater facilities were required for mechanical instruction at Annapolis. Accordingly, a big slice of the $10,000,000 appropriated by congress for the enlargement and equipment of the naval academy has been spent on the new marine engineering and naval construction building—huge structure, 266 by 175 feet in size. It is two stories high, and cost $400,000 before a dollar had been expended for interior equipment.

On the ground floor is the model room, crammed with working models and exhibits of the thousand and one pieces of the machinery with which the naval officer must be as familiar as he is with guns and torpedoes.

Following the model room is the mechanical laboratory. Here is the full-sized working installation of the "Long-Arm" system of power doors, operating from a central station which a warship is located aboard ship. When the officer in command releases a wheel he starts the door motors going, and the bulkhead doors are closed without the ship, rendering it unworkable. At the same time the men below have the power to hold up any door temporarily for their own safety.

This is a fair example of the value of the marine engineering department in familiarizing midshipmen with the machinery of which they will later be in charge. All the new cruisers of the "Colorado" type, and the new battleships of the "Connecticut" class are equipped with this electrical door-closing system. It is a device which has been developed in the American navy only, and the work exhibits here received very interesting and enthusiastic attention from Prince Louis of Battenberg when he visited the academy early in the winter.

In the mechanical laboratory, the midshipmen are instructed in classes of 275 some part of each day. A squad of midshipmen may be employed in the machine shop with automatic tools while another party is in the wood-working department, making patterns or machines. One company of the first class is engaged in moulding, both in iron and brass, and on Saturday brass furnace is put into operation and the midshipmen cast from moulds they have made during the earlier part of the week.

The naval officer of the future in this way acquires practical knowledge of the construction and operation of the ships he will later command.

WATER QUESTIONAn Old-Timer Explains From
His Point of View on Water Subject.

SAYS PLANT COST $15,000

To The Evening Citizen.

The water question now before the city council is the most important matter affecting the vital interests of our beloved city that has ever presented itself for solution by the people. It involves the welfare and happiness of every man, woman and child in the community. It is not merely for the present but will influence the whole future of the Duke City. It also touches the purse of every business man and householder and its right solution will diminish their monthly expense account. For these reasons, every feature of the problem should be given to the public. It should receive the careful and thoughtful consideration of every one. The council members who are the subject of discussion should be advertised and should be attended by large numbers of our citizens. Every member of the council should be talked to by each citizen so that they may know the sentiments of their constituents.

The first question to be settled is the question of municipal ownership. Is it desirable to have the city own its own water works? There was a time when thoughtful men hesitated to intrust the people with the management of purely industrial enterprises. Even now many doubt the wisdom of municipal ownership, fearing that what is called "politics" will prevent success. By the use of this word "politics" is meant that unscrupulous men will get control and by grafting, oppression and cheat the people and enrich themselves. The position is an attack upon a republican form of government because it assumes that the people are incapable of governing themselves. Many, however, contend that if the people are to be benefited by water rates it is better for them to do it themselves, by their appointed agents, than to have it done by the employees of corporations.

The question of municipal ownership has, however, been practically settled by the experience of cities and towns all over the United States and in foreign countries. The result has proved almost without exception that the people have been benefited by better service and lower rates. In the state and counties of the city of London, the city council now own and operate street car lines, ferry boats, gymnasiums, lodging houses, theaters, manual training schools; it builds and rents houses, besides performing the usual duties of a city council. They have raised the price of labor, reduced an eight-hour day, reduced prices and given opportunities to the people they represent to live better and to enjoy themselves, and strange

QUIET, EFFECTIVE WORK

Right Food Builds Up and Strengthens
While You Wait.

"The improvement in my condition came very soon after I had begun to use Grape-Nuts food, and so easily and naturally that I was a well woman almost before I knew it," writes a Nebraska woman.

"For years I have suffered from chronic constipation, with its accompanying headaches, languor and extreme nervousness. This condition had gone on so long without permanent relief from anything I could take that I had become fairly resigned to it, as something to be endured with patient fortitude.

"Five years ago Grape-Nuts became a very popular dish with all sorts and conditions of people in our village, and I bought a package just to see what it was like, with no thought of any special benefit that I might derive from its use. I liked the crisp, nutty flavor of the new food from the beginning and kept on using it.

"It had been told in advance of the salutary effect that eating Grape-Nuts would have on me. I would doubtless have been incredulous, and it was a most pleasing surprise to suddenly realize that my constipation was gone and with it my headaches, while my nerves had grown steady and normal and my strength was nearly doubled.

"That I was actually in the enjoyment of the natural health that had been denied me for at least ten years.

"This is what Grape-Nuts food did for me, and this is the condition in which it has kept me for the past five years. I am still fond of it, and would eat it if it had not proven so signally beneficial.

"When my baby was recovering from a severe attack of cholera infantum, I found that Grape-Nuts food was not only a much relished but most strengthening and wholesome food for her, and it continues an indispensable item in her daily menu." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in 10 pages.

to say, all these diverse enterprises are actually paying investments. It is undoubtedly true that the great majority of the residents of our city are warmly in favor of municipal ownership for they are intelligent, progressive men and women and keenly alive to the marvelous extension of the powers of government in these later days and the advantages of a practical application of the principle that government should be of the people, by the people and for the people.

How to Accomplish It.
The next question is how best can the city of Albuquerque become the owner and operator of water works, to supply its inhabitants with that absolutely indispensable necessity of life—water?

Obviously the city has the power to lease bonds and put in an efficient water plant. It must, however, be considered that the city has a contract with the present water company for hydrants, extending for fourteen years and involving an expenditure of about $6,000 a year. In addition to this the present water company might attempt to run in opposition. Some think that under these circumstances the city could not make its own plant profitable. The profits, however, are so great that without doubt the city could pay for the next four years $6,000 a year and successfully meet any competition.

Besides on a legal contest the contract of the water company with the city, could at any time be terminated because of the failure of the water company to meet its requirements. The water company never has fully met its obligations under the contract. It has, however, scrupulously collected the amounts of money the city was obligated to pay. There is not, however, on the part of the city council, nor on the part of the great majority of the people any disposition to take any advantage, whether under form of law or otherwise, of the water company. The people, in fact, would rather patiently suffer under the oppressive rates that have heretofore prevailed than do any injustice or even to place the water company in a position where they would inevitably lose money. The present owners of the water company are prominent citizens and an enlightened public sentiment would seek to prevent any injury being done by the people at large to any individual in the community. On the other hand the time is rapidly approaching when no individual will think of doing the public an injury or an injustice merely for his personal aggrandizement. It may therefore be assumed that the people of Albuquerque, unless forced thereto by great and pressing necessity, will not build separate water works and operate them in competition with the present water company. It must not, however, for a moment, be doubted or the fact for an instant lost sight of, that the city of Albuquerque is abundantly able to crush out and destroy any opposition that might be presented by the present water company to municipal ownership, otherwise it would have to be admitted that a part was greater than and could control and dictate to the whole.

The Purchase Price.
The city council adopted the wisest course and that was to open negotiations with the water company with a view of purchasing their plant. The water company has expressed a willingness to sell. The question now for discussion is the price. The water company offered to sell for $275,000, and the council has offered to buy for $250,000, subject to the endorsement by vote of the people. What is a fair price? The expert selected by the council reported the value of the plant to be $258,000. The water company claims to have placed too low a value on it and that it is reasonably worth $300,000. Many citizens think that the expert did not make sufficient allowance for the depreciation of value, particularly of the pipes, which have been in the ground for over twenty years and that the actual value on a proper estimate will fall far below $250,000. The water company claims that the franchise is worth something, although, probably because they realize that it was a gift from the city, they do not ask the city to pay them anything for that. The water company claim also that as they are a going concern, and have a contract for fourteen years and are making a considerable profit over expenses and fixed charges, that they ought to receive more than the actual value of the property in its right and under the ground. They are willing, however, to take $250,000 less than they think the actual land and chattels owned by them are worth. On the other hand should the city determine on municipal ownership, no one, in view of the early maturity of the bonds of the water company and the impossibility of securing an extension of the franchise, would be willing to pay anything for the property.

Owners Could Sell Cheap.
The city is the only actual purchaser in the market and can afford under all the circumstances to give more for the plant than it is actually worth. Now what can the water company afford to take? They can afford to take just what the city is willing to give, because they cannot find another purchaser and because they cannot operate the plant against the opposition or competition of the city. The present owners of the plant do not stand in the same position as Mr. Grant, who always claimed that he had been obliged to put all the profits of the concern into improvements and extensions and must therefore look to the future for his remuneration. They therefore can afford to sell on the basis of the cost to them. What did they pay for the plant? Those who know have so far not taken the public into their confidence. It is rumored that they paid the Grant estate $15,000. There are outstanding bonds amounting to $185,000, supposed to be held by New York parties. If a sale was made at $250,000 this would mean under these conditions, a profit of $50,000, or $10,000 to each of the five owners. This, in addition to their profits since they have been running the water works, said to be at least $1,000 a year, would be regarded by many as a very comfortable remuneration for the time and trouble involved.

Plant Cost $15,000.

The present owners cannot afford to have this community think they are making too much. They are deeply interested in the prosperity of this community and value its good will even more than they do its good dollars. Who are the present owners of the water company? They are Frank A. Hubbell, W. H. Gilman, W. R. Whitney, A. B. Miller and M. W. Flournoy. They are officers in the First National bank and in the Montezuma Trust company. The $15,000 which they paid for the plant was undoubtedly borrowed from these banks and the interest has been paid from the profits. So that no one of these gentlemen has a single dollar of his own money invested in the enterprise. This fact, especially in these days of this country's cash and reflection upon these gentlemen, does it follow that they should be what they have thus gained, a sacrifice, but it places them in a position where they can afford to deal liberally and even generously with the community of which they are the benefactors. Behind these gentlemen are the banks they represent. The people will hold the banks responsible if the people's money deposited in these banks, has been used to enable these gentlemen to drive too hard a bargain with the people. It would be a profitable investment to take some of the surplus of these banks and pay these gentlemen a legitimate profit on such an action, so that they could not offer to the city the water plant at an actual cost to them. The people of this city take a great pride in the growth and prosperity of their banks, as it indicates the sound substantial growth from a monetary standpoint of the city. On the other hand, the banks make every effort to gain the confidence and good will of the people as the growth and permanence of their business rests upon the faith of the people. This is especially true of a trust company which asks to care for the hard earned savings of the poor and to have entrusted to it the money of estates for the benefit of widows and orphans. There is a sacredness about such an institution which demands for its preservation the highest financial integrity. It should be like Caesar's wife, above suspicion.

Council and Company Friendly.

From this point of view, if the members of the city council do not consider that they can deal with the city in this water sale, with the utmost liberality extending even to some self-sacrifice, the banks they represent could well afford to interest them in doing so.

For the members of the council at their last meeting, namely Messrs. Hanley, Harrison, Hild and Walker, voted to offer the water company $225,000 for their plant. This number was not sufficient to carry the motion. The motion to make the offer $250,000 was passed almost unanimously. The members of the council expressed themselves as desiring to deal fairly with the water company, but duty to themselves and to their constituents, prevented them from offering more than they thought the plant worth or more than the city could afford to pay. On the other hand, the members of the water company, undoubtedly considered that they made a liberal offer when they named as their figure $275,000.

As the council and the water company are so close together, there is every reason to believe they will reach an agreement. A concession by either party or both could not be criticized.

The fullest discussion should, however, be indulged in and all the information possible should be given the public. Every one from now on, until the matter is finally determined should become vitally interested in the subject and make their influence felt both with the water company and with the members of the council.

OLD TIMER.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

Jan. 23, 1832—Thos. W. Lawson did not predict the downfall of the Standard oil crowd.

Jan. 23, 1799—Congressmen declined to ride on railroad passenger.

Jan. 23, 1777—No attempt made by Thos. F. Ryan to grab New York streets.

As for Tillman, he makes a noise like a United States senator.

IT WAS THE LID.

What was it, Polk put down with such a bump?

What was the lid, the lid.

What was the thing that made Missouri jump?

It was the lid.

What was it spread to other towns so quick?

And fell upon them like a load of iron?

When Polk had shown the way to do the trick?

It was the lid.

What kept Bill Skinner's wife before the glass?

It was the lid.

And what made Bill stir up a row?

Alas, it was the lid.

Some fifty plunks his bank account was slack.

He landed on his stylish wife—

When he stumbled on the thing that set him back—

It was the lid.

What was it caused Jim Smith to punch Bill Nye?

It was the lid.

Why is it they don't speak as they pass by?

It was the lid.

Jim placed his high silk hat upon a chair

And Bill a moment later sat down where—

Well, something cracked like blazes then and there.

It was the lid.

doubtedly borrowed from these banks and the interest has been paid from the profits. So that no one of these gentlemen has a single dollar of his own money invested in the enterprise. This fact, especially in these days of this country's cash and reflection upon these gentlemen, does it follow that they should be what they have thus gained, a sacrifice, but it places them in a position where they can afford to deal liberally and even generously with the community of which they are the benefactors. Behind these gentlemen are the banks they represent. The people will hold the banks responsible if the people's money deposited in these banks, has been used to enable these gentlemen to drive too hard a bargain with the people. It would be a profitable investment to take some of the surplus of these banks and pay these gentlemen a legitimate profit on such an action, so that they could not offer to the city the water plant at an actual cost to them. The people of this city take a great pride in the growth and prosperity of their banks, as it indicates the sound substantial growth from a monetary standpoint of the city. On the other hand, the banks make every effort to gain the confidence and good will of the people as the growth and permanence of their business rests upon the faith of the people. This is especially true of a trust company which asks to care for the hard earned savings of the poor and to have entrusted to it the money of estates for the benefit of widows and orphans. There is a sacredness about such an institution which demands for its preservation the highest financial integrity. It should be like Caesar's wife, above suspicion.

Council and Company Friendly.

From this point of view, if the members of the city council do not consider that they can deal with the city in this water sale, with the utmost liberality extending even to some self-sacrifice, the banks they represent could well afford to interest them in doing so.

For the members of the council at their last meeting, namely Messrs. Hanley, Harrison, Hild and Walker, voted to offer the water company $225,000 for their plant. This number was not sufficient to carry the motion. The motion to make the offer $250,000 was passed almost unanimously. The members of the council expressed themselves as desiring to deal fairly with the water company, but duty to themselves and to their constituents, prevented them from offering more than they thought the plant worth or more than the city could afford to pay. On the other hand, the members of the water company, undoubtedly considered that they made a liberal offer when they named as their figure $275,000.

As the council and the water company are so close together, there is every reason to believe they will reach an agreement. A concession by either party or both could not be criticized.

The fullest discussion should, however, be indulged in and all the information possible should be given the public. Every one from now on, until the matter is finally determined should become vitally interested in the subject and make their influence felt both with the water company and with the members of the council.

SPORTING...
...BREVITIES

Lave Cross declares he will still be playing baseball when he is fifty years old. How much further has he to go?

William G. Evans, who has been appointed an American league umpire, is a college graduate and speaks four languages—English, French, German and baseball.

Joe Bowker, the sturdy little English fighter, is coming to America in the spring to meet Abe Attell in a twenty-round bout.

The exodus of baseball players who spend the winter months training with the right foot on the bar rail, will start to Hot Springs next month.

The Delahayes declare that they are to jump to the Altoona club in the "outlaw" league. Here's a chance for Arthur Irwin to sue somebody for breach of promise.

Lajoie, of the Cleveland team, who got a bad case of blood poisoning from his stockings last season, is thinking of discarding the use of stockings altogether and wearing sandals instead of shoes.

It is said Willie Hoppe will offer to back his claim to the world's championship for $10,000 on his return to America. Hoppe has long sought to meet Slosson and now that his claim is in the hands of the world's best players, he will add a few more to Slosson's shares of trouble.

Peter Maher says he has a coming champion in Ireland whom he is going to bring over here to win the undisputed championship of the world in the heavyweight class. Good. Here's hoping he does it. And may he live long and prosper and never go on the stage.

Jimmy Britt says he will quit California and open a hotel in New York. Jockey Denny Maher has shown the way to wealthy sports who are seeking an outlet for their surplus capital. In the good old days wealthy pugilists opened saloons. Now they are farmers and hotel keepers.

Chicago fans are still complaining because Billy Maloney was permitted to get away. They insist he was not given a fair chance and that he will in time be a second Hamilton. The club management contends that Maloney was a poor judge of fly balls, and made easy catches look difficult because of misjudging the distance.

Miss Amanda Clement, the South Dakota girl who gained national notoriety through her ability as a baseball umpire, has decided to quit umpiring and attend to her studies at Yankton college. She won't be missed. The female umpire, the bloomer girl baw player and the doll bird can be spared very nicely. A woman in bloomers isn't an inspiring sight, anyway.

Yale's athletic reserve fund is $96,325. The money will probably be used to build a new boathouse, rebuild the football stands and make other improvements in athletic arrangements. There has been considerable criticism because such a large reserve fund was accumulated, but its need is shown by the condition of Yale's boathouse, her stands and baseball cage.

Freckman, the horse that was so extensively used for "ringing" purposes last season, is making other sale in Madison Square Garden, New York, January 29. As the horse has been in the hands of the Pinkertons since the Jamaica meeting, it is supposed the animal is being put up for the detective agency, the owner being charged with claims for animal.

As was pointed out at the time the match was made, it does not look as though Nelson and McGovern will fight after all. Nelson's manager, has not yet posted a forfeit to bind the match and all efforts to get him to put up the money for the match is being made through the efforts of a matchmaker, to keep his protégé in the limelight. He is willing to make a match with any of the promising lightweights, but when it comes to hindering the match with a money deposit he flukes.

DECISION MADE

ATTORNEY GENERAL PRICHARD MAKES STATEMENT OF INTEREST TO MEMBERS OF BOARD.

George W. Prichard, attorney general, has addressed the following letter to E. F. Gallegos, chairman of the board of county commissioners of Union county, in which he makes statements of interest to the members of such board and of the legal fraternity, and which is of general interest to all territorial boards of county commissioners.

"Dear Sir—I have yours of the 8th instant. It appears from your letter that your treasurer has deposited in First National bank $37,600, and the bank as a designated depository has made a bond in the sum of $17,000, and upon these facts you inquire of me what is the correct sum in which the bond should be given, and what you should do to protect said sum of $37,600."

"By reference to Section 2, Chapter 106, Session Laws 1905, you will observe that the designated depository for the deposit and safe keeping of public funds is required to furnish a surety bond in an amount equal to twenty-five per cent of the aggregate collections made by the county treasurer any preceding year. In arriving at the amount of the bond required of the bank the whole collections for the year before are to be taken into consideration and twenty-five per cent of the aggregate sum is the amount in which the bond should be made."

"Of course it necessarily follows that at certain times of the year the amount on deposit in the designated depository is in excess of the amount of the bond. For instance, in January and June the deposits are liable to be larger than at any other time, but the money is being constantly drawn from the bank, thus reducing the deposits until the next collection of taxes. As the law referred to has provided what the bond of the depository shall be, there is nothing to be done except to require bond in an amount equal to twenty-five per cent of the aggregate collections for the preceding year."

"The legislature of 1905 seemed to think that the bond provided for would be sufficient protection of the money that might be deposited in the designated depository."

"Yours very truly,
G. W. PRICHARD,
Attorney General."

"I don't see why you gave that waiter a tip. It was the worst dinner I ever saw."

"That's why I tipped him. I thought to give him something so he could go out and buy his."

MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF A PEACE RESIDENT.

Word was received at Tombstone of the sudden death of a woman named Mrs. Mitchell at Pearce, the other night, under mysterious circumstances. Various reports were current and it is believed by many that the deceased was poisoned either by suicidal intent or perhaps deathly poison administered by someone with murderous design. A coroner's jury was summoned and the investigations were such that an analysis of the stomach was ordered. Dr. L. E. Halze, of Pearce, being called upon to make the examination, the jury meanwhile withholding their verdict until the report of the analysis could be had. The body of the deceased was shipped to relatives at Hillsboro, N. M., for interment. Further developments are expected with the report of the inquest when more light will be shed on the sudden death.

Words of the Wise

No one can read the interview with Governor H. J. Hagerman, which appeared in the New Mexican of last evening, without realizing two things—the governor believes that the joint statehood bill will become a law, and he is confident that the people of the territory will accept. Hence his wise utterance on the character and the work of the constitutional convention. This utterance The Citizen reproduces with great satisfaction:

"If the joint statehood bill now before congress or any other statehood bill should pass I want to make a statement of interest to all who have the welfare of New Mexico at heart. I consider it the most important thing that will come before the citizens, for many, many years. It is the selection of the right sort of men to the constitutional convention. Politics should be 'cut out' entirely in such event.

"I consider it most important, not only to secure the most representative men, but also the men best educated along lines of constitutional law. We want the very best men it is possible to find. No locality, whether for or against joint statehood, should fail in this important duty.

"Every man sent to that convention should, without exception, be pledged to work for the best constitution it is possible to secure. He should work to this end without the least regard for his personal opinion, or those of his constituents. You may say, and I think it is generally known, that rumors are current in some localities, that delegates in the event of statehood are to be sent to the convention with the intention with the intent to make a bad constitution. Such delegates would, in my opinion, be soon found out. Should any man work against the interests of a good state constitution, he would become a political pariah."

Everything which Mr. Hagerman uttered, during the time between his nomination and his inauguration—and with an unusual sense of propriety such utterances were few, modestly put and appropriate—did but convince the people of the wisdom displayed by the president in the selection of New Mexico's new governor. But in the opinion of The Citizen the foregoing words of the governor, made just before his inauguration, are like "apples of gold in pictures of silver." Nothing could be more timely, nothing more wisely thought and more clearly expressed. If such shall prove to be the character of his thinking, speaking and acting during the term of his administration, New Mexico may well count itself among the blessed.

Against Stock Speculation

The weekly financial review by Henry Clews is always worthy of attention, but that which was issued Saturday seems to The Citizen unusually imperative of consideration. Among important things, he tells us that "there is scarcely any possibility of a reaction (from present prosperity) unless there should be a break-down through reckless speculation in New York." Again he says that "today excessive speculation is the chief menace to a continuance of prosperity, and no legitimate means should be spared to control or repress it."

In this connection he says: "Manipulation, backed by prosperity, imparted much strength and activity to the stock market. It is quite obvious that all the largest interests in the Street have a common interest in advancing the market. The big holders still have plenty of stocks for sale, and the only means of finding purchasers at the present high level is to create the impression among the public, through tactics easily detected by the trained observer, that the market will rise still higher. Bullish predictions have been spread broadcast, and as these in many cases have been proved correct, the public is naturally taking the bait with increasing confidence. In some quarters manipulation has been of a very questionable and reckless character; and at the moment there seems to be nothing to check such operations except stringency in the money market or a collapse of some kind."

Speaking of the industrial stocks, he emphasizes the hazard of speculation in them by saying that "many of these are still excessively over-capitalized, and their market course is largely influenced either by reorganization proposals or merger rumors. They are, consequently, dangerous to touch, except for those who are well informed of what is coming on. But the most reckless manipulation of all is to be witnessed in the copper stocks, based upon the great demand and present high prices of the raw material. These are best left severely alone except by those with exceptional sources of information and heavy margins."

Certainly Wise Warden

Matt W. Hall, warden of the Missouri state penitentiary, and possessor of much experience with perpetrators of capital crimes, is thus quoted:

"I believe in the most humane treatment possible to all persons who have offended the law, but to this there must be a limitation. I am decidedly of the opinion that men sometimes become so depraved that often they, themselves, are better off by being put out of the way. I feel that there is too much sentiment springing up in the minds of the people in regard to capital punishment, and I do not believe that it would be just to the rest of the world to do away with it.

"Our criminal code, as practiced today, I regard as a great failure for the reason that we are accomplishing nothing with it. As warden of the Missouri state penitentiary, I now have in mind a number of convicts who have served anywhere from three to five terms, and some even more than that in this institution. They serve out their time and go directly back and begin to prey upon society, and, perhaps, to reproduce themselves in the meantime. They, of course, have not committed such crimes as would cause them to be hanged for their offenses, but I would amend the constitution of the United States and annex every man or woman as soon as the fact was established that he or she was a habitual criminal. I would let the second offense of larceny establish the fact.

"I think the consistent thing for the American people to do is to stop the breed, and in cases where a person has committed willful and deliberate murder, I would let him hang for the crime. The lawbreaking will outbreed the lawabiding for the reason that they do not care what becomes of their posterity; therefore, I believe that their hope of posterity should be cut off. When this is done, I would then establish first-class libraries, start schools, and throw every influence possible against the inmates of the penal institutions of the United States that would have a tendency to cause them to lead better lives."

The sugar trust has not succeeded in crowding out all its competitors, but it controls affairs sufficiently to fix prices. The total quantity of sugar consumed in this country in 1905 was 2,596,580 tons, of which the American Refining company manufactured 52.89 per cent, and the independent refineries 47.11 per cent. The best sugar factories, mainly controlled by the trust, produced the remainder. Yet, in behalf of this about 9.5 per cent of the sugar consumed in this country, congress is asked to perpetuate upon the people here and upon the Philippines, the import duty on sugar brought from that part of United States territory. In this effort Colorado and California members of congress took part against the Philippines. But did they do so in the interest of the best sugar producer, who now in Colorado is on a strike against the manufacturer for the price paid last season, or was it in the interest of the sugar trust, which controls best sugar but does not control the Philippine product?

Marshall Field Gave Advice to Young Men

Some time ago Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis wrote to Marshall Field and asked: "What do you consider essential elements of success for young men standing upon the threshold of a business career?" The answer was: "First, let him consider his natural bent or inclination and ascertain, if possible, what he is best adapted for. Second, having determined, let him pursue the work in hand with diligence and determination to know it thoroughly, through close application and mastery of details. Third, next to the selection of occupation is that of companions. To every young man I would say, seek at the start to cultivate the acquaintance of those only whose contact and influence will kindle high purposes, as I regard the building up of a sterling character one of the fundamental principles of true success. Fourth, absolute self-control. One who cannot govern himself is unfit to govern others. Fifth, economy is one of the most essential elements of success. As a rule people do not know how to save. I deem it of the highest importance, therefore, to impress upon every young man the duty of beginning to save from the moment he commences to earn, be it ever so little. A habit so formed in early life will prove of incalculable benefit to him in after years, not only in the amount acquired, but through the exercise of economy in small affairs he will grow in knowledge and fitness for larger duties that may devolve upon him.

"Every young man should aim to be mainly and self-reliant; make good use of all the spare moments; read only wholesome books; study to advance his own interests as well as those of his employer in every possible way. As a rule the young man of high principles and fair ability, who saves his money and keeps his habits good, becomes valuable in any concern. By following out these suggestions, however, aiming constantly to prepare himself for a higher place instead of waiting for something to turn up, every young man will succeed to a more or less degree.

"I would not have them believe, however, that success consists solely in the acquisition of wealth. Far from it, as that idea is much too prevalent already. The haste to become rich at the expense of character prevails to an alarming extent, and cannot be too severely denounced. What is needed today more than anything else is to instill in the minds of our young the desire above all to build up a character that will win the respect of all with whom they may come in contact, and which is vastly more important than a great fortune. I quote from the will of a senator who died recently the following on this question: 'I hope my sons will defer to and confide in my executors and trustees, and, above all, that they may realize early in life that the only one thing more difficult to build up than an independent fortune, and more easily lost, is character.'"

Some History of The Football Game

The opponents of foot ball as a college sport are just as active as ever, though probably not as vociferous as they were a few months ago. A few colleges have forbidden their students playing the game, and one or two, notably Wisconsin, are considering the advisability of dropping the sport for two years, or until the rules are modified and the chance for brutality in mass plays eliminated.

It may not be generally known that the recent outcry against foot ball is but an echo from the "bold days" of the thirteenth century. Foot ball was first played by the learned Greeks under the name of episkuros, from whom the Romans adopted it under the appellation of harpastum, and in the course of time introduced it into Great Britain. In the thirteenth century protests began to be uttered that the game was too brutal for college boys and a demand for a modification of the rules was made. The protesters were not discouraged because they did not get immediate action, but kept up their objections until along in the fourteenth century, in 1365, Edward III decreed it a crime to play the game. This early Edward wasn't worrying over the short-arm punch in the mass play or the liability of broken bones in the halves-back formation; he merely wanted to revive interest in archery, and he thought by strangling one sport to revive interest in another. But he soon learned that even kings can't stifle popular demand for a certain kind of amusement and the game was revived. Then Richard II tried to kill the sport, and failed. Richard was also interested in archery, but the students were not and foot ball arose Phoenix-like above the ashes of a struggling monarch's futile efforts.

James I thought the game brutal, but confined his efforts to kill it by forbidding the bear apparent from playing it. He wrote that the game "was meet for laming than making able users thereof." James I had noted the discomfiture of previous monarchs and the game flourished during his reign. In England Shrove Tuesday came to be recognized "foot ball day" and everybody played, old and young, men and women. People living near the public greens and squares barricaded their houses, put heavy shutters against windows and made the door fast. There was no recognized set of rules in the early day, but there must have been a lot of fun. The glories of Shrove Tuesday disappeared around 1825, but the game gained thereby. The Rugby game was the outgrowth of a general demand for established rules. It still has a big following in England, though association foot ball, which is played almost entirely with the feet, has a great following there. In the light of past experience the objections to foot ball game should not be discouraged—they may get a modification of the rules even though they may not be able to wipe the game from the slate of college sports.

Recent Changes in The City of Mexico

From Bradstreet's.

Our correspondent at the City of Mexico writes that the appearance of the city is entirely different from what it was ten years ago, owing to the fact that many new edifices of an expensive character have been erected within the last few years. The materials cost more than they do in the United States. Ostensibly labor is cheap, bricklayers receiving only $1.25 a day, but the work they accomplish is only about one third of that of a skilled American bricklayer. Rents in the city are, consequently, very high, and owing to this fact, combined with an excellent and rapid street railway service and the desire for more commodious quarters, a far greater proportion than formerly of Mexico's inhabitants live in the numerous suburbs, the property in which has greatly increased in value. Eight years ago there was a vacant plot of land resembling, in the rainy season, a quagmire, opposite the National Railroad station; on this has since sprung up the aristocratic "American Colony," some of the houses in which approach palaces in exterior appearance. Extensive building is also going on throughout the republic, especially in such new and prosperous towns as Torreón. Owners of house property have to pay a tax of 12 per cent on the rent received.

RESUME OF MINERAL PRODUCTS LAST YEAR

PROSPERITY IN OTHER LINES PROVOKED IMMENSE ACTIVITY IN ALL KINDS OF MINING.

Dr. David T. Jay, of the United States Geological Survey, who brings out each year a volume entitled "Mineral Resources of the United States," is authority for the statement that the general prosperity of the year 1905, due to good crops, excellent foreign trade, and business confidence, was emphatically expressed in the greatest production of minerals ever known in the history of our country. Good crops stimulated the railroads to increase their rolling stock. The direct consequence of that increase was a heavy demand on the iron and steel trades, which in turn stimulated the expansion movement to coal and coke.

The preliminary estimate made by the director of the mint of the production of gold and silver in the United States during the calendar year 1905 shows a gain of approximately $6,000,000 in gold and 1,000,000 ounces of silver over the output of 1904. The Alaskan gain is nearly all in the Tanana or Fairbanks district, the returns for which are $5,107,000. California shows a loss in gold production of about $1,500,000, due to prolonged drought, which not only brought hydraulic operations to a standstill but interfered, to some extent, with quartz mills. Nevada shows a gain of about $400,000, and Utah an equal increase. Colorado's gains amounted to about $1,000,000. The ill wind of war and revolution which brought disaster to the Russian petroleum industry carried prosperity to the productive oil areas of the United States. To supply the increased demand from abroad, which resulted from Russia's deficit, strained the petroleum resources of this country to their utmost.

The demand for copper during 1905 was intense and prices were high. This demand for copper affected other metals sympathetically, especially aluminum, which floats on the copper market as a substitute for copper conductors and is more or less sought, according to the price of copper.

General prosperity was sufficiently pronounced to make itself felt in the building trades, as is shown by the increased production of structural steel, brick, terra cotta, and stone. Of all the structural materials, cement profited most by the forward movement, which came, fortunately, at a time when a favorable market was necessary to take care of existing stocks.

Prosperous conditions were reflected even in the sale of precious stones, although a large majority of the business consisted of sales of diamonds from abroad, which brought unusually high prices.

WILL SOON RESUME WORK ON THE BELIN CUT-OFF

C. W. WHITNEY, SUPERINTENDENT FOR LANTY-SHARP, TELLS OF CONDITIONS—SAYS TRAMP STORIES ARE FAKES—TELLS OF FEW DEATHS.

C. W. Whitney, general superintendent for the Lanty-Sharp Construction company, in charge of the work on the Belin cut-off between Belen and Equis, was in the city today on comparative business.

Mr. Whitney stated that at present there were about 300 men engaged on the works, as the bad weather prevalent of late had caused the laying off of several hundred men.

"Ordinarily we work about 1,200 men," said Mr. Whitney, in conversation with a representative of The Evening Citizen, "but the recent snow storms filled up all the cuts with snow and the weather was so cold that the work was greatly hindered."

"The story that the tramps who get in front of your police judge on vagrancy charges tell, are all hot air. There is plenty of work on the cut-off for all men, and we give employment to all who apply. We order a hundred men, say, from Denver. When they arrive, only about half of them go to work, the rest continuing on to some other place. If it should happen that we haven't work for all of them those who do not go to work are fed and given transportation back to the place the came from on the next train, so you see there is positively no excuse for them saying they couldn't get work on the cut-off."

"The trouble is that they are too lazy to walk from one camp to another. We have camps strung along from two to four miles apart for 150 miles, and if a man don't find work at the first camp, if he would walk to the second camp he could easily find employment, but they refuse to walk. We will haul their baggage from one camp to another free of any charge, but when they expect us to furnish them with automobiles or something to haul them from one camp to another while they are looking for work, we balk."

"Another thing," continued Mr. Whitney, "I saw in a newspaper article that they say life is held cheap on the cut-off; that if a man is killed the doctors issue a death certificate, saying he died from heart disease and that ends it."

"Now that isn't true. We have only had five deaths since the work started last summer. One of these was from heart disease, one from appendicitis, two were blown up in explosions, and one was murdered. The men who were blown up were McMan and Johnson. The murdered man was a Mexican who was killed and robbed by a fellow Mexican. He was stabbed in the back and in the right temple, and robbed of $15 in money and three small pay checks. We know who did it, but as the murderer was not reported to us for two days, the man made good his escape. So you see there is no occasion for such newspaper articles as the one I speak of."

Mr. Whitney also stated that his company was putting in a rock quarry at the mouth of Abo canyon and that several hundred men would be employed at once, as the road from Belen to Equis is to be rock ballasted. Mr. Whitney leaves tonight for his headquarters at Belen.

RECEPTION AND BALL MOST BRILLIANT EVENT EVER HELD

In the Historical City of Santa Fe—Over Two Thousand People Greeted by Governor Hagerman.

Special to The Evening Citizen.

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 23.—The reception and ball last evening in honor of Governor Hagerman was among the most brilliant events ever seen in the city.

Promptly at 8 o'clock Governor Hagerman and his mother, Mrs. J. J. Hagerman, and Governor and Mrs. Otero took their place in the receiving line.

People had been coming for some time and a long line formed and proceeded up the stairway to the landing where a colonial porch had been erected.

They proceeded down other steps, and into the ball room or out.

It is estimated that about 2,000 people were in the receiving line.

The reception lasted for an hour and a half. J. D. Sena acting as master of ceremonies.

At 9:30 o'clock Governor Hagerman entered the ball room with Mrs. Otero, followed by Governor Otero and Mrs. Hagerman. This was the signal for the ball to begin.

The music was magnificent and the decorations the handsomest ever seen here.

Prominent women from all sections of the territory were present, and the costumes were the handsomest of any given in the history of the city.

From 10 until 11 o'clock a buffet supper was served, and the dancers did not leave until a late hour.

Every detail went off nicely, which was enhanced by the lack of ostentation, sometimes present at inauguration functions.

Many of the city's guests left today but a number are staying over for a visit.

GOVERNOR HAGERMAN'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS

"Fellow Citizens:—To say that I am pleased with the reception which you have accorded me here would butly express my sentiments. To you I am a new and untried man, who must seem very young to undertake the serious duties upon which I am about to enter.

"I have not the presumption to assume that the welcome you have accorded me here is any further a personal one than such as in the natural kindness of your hearts you would extend to any one about to become governor of New Mexico.

"You welcome me as you do because every one of you, of whatever party, whatever creed or of whatever birth or ancestry has confidence in the wisdom of that great man who now guards the destinies of the United States—Theodore Roosevelt (applause)—and his trusted and courageous lieutenant—Secretary Hitchcock, to whom, as you well know, I owe in a great degree my appointment. And my fellow citizens, it would be strange indeed, if the hopes you have built upon the wisdom of these two men were not high. They have the welfare of New Mexico very near their hearts.

"In the great multitude of affairs connected with their high offices they have time to inquire into and to investigate even in details the administration of affairs in this territory. The measures they adopt in regard to New Mexico are only determined upon after thorough investigation and great care. If I have ventured to speak to you on this occasion of these two men it is because I wish thoroughly to impress upon you the great responsibility which I feel is involved in the position with which the president has honored me.

No Political Ambitions.

"It is a triple responsibility: the personal responsibility to the president and to the secretary of the interior, the responsibility to the federal government and above all, the responsibility to you, the people of the great territory of New Mexico. It is a position which in itself is a highly honorable one. No man can fill it in the way it ought to be filled or in the way in which he himself desires to fill it, if he cherishes even in his inmost soul, any personal hopes for future political preferment of any whatever. If I have ventured to speak to you on this occasion of these two men it is because I wish thoroughly to impress upon you the great responsibility which I feel is involved in the position with which the president has honored me.

LOCAL MILL WILL MAKE BOOTS, SHOES AND HARNESSES

DEPARTMENT FOR MANUFACTURE OF COTTON GOODS WILL ALSO BE INSTALLED.

President J. H. Bearup, of the Rio Grande Woolen Mills company of this city, will introduce three new departments in the million dollar mill to replace the one at present in use in this city.

These will be a boot and shoe department, one for the manufacture of cotton goods and another for the making of harness.

At present, only woolen goods are manufactured. The co-operation of the Farmers' Union of America and the Miners' organization of the United States, necessitates running the mill on a far more elaborate scale than their wants may be more fully cared for.

When the new mill is in operation, blankets, underwear, cloth for ladies' or gentlemen's clothes, ready made suits, gloves, shoes, etc., will be turned out, thus equipping a person from head to foot. Blankets of the finest weave will be turned out of all descriptions. At present, gloves are manufactured, and in all probability that branch of the business will be continued.

The new mill will be one of the largest and most modernly equipped of its kind in the United States.

is not beyond the power of any man to realize.

"Fellow citizens, the government of the United States and of its component parts is based upon the theory of universal suffrage. Upon this theory the United States have, in the face of the doubts and often sneers, of the monarchies of Europe, grown and prospered until they now have become one of the greatest nations in the world. Our forefathers made no mistake when they built upon the great truth that the voice of the people is in its broadest and truest sense the voice of God. They believed, and events have justified their belief, that the only sovereign under whom any nation could permanently prosper is the people themselves. This is the foundation principle of our republic and is still the keystone of the arch of our governmental system. The moment we swerve or deviate from this great principle, we are endangering the whole structure of the republic. This is the truth as true now as it was 100 years ago, and as it will be 100 years hence.

A Government by the People, Not by Bosses.

"Every bona fide citizen should primarily by his vote have as much to say in regard to the administration of public affairs as every other one, and every citizen should realize the honor and the responsibility that this privilege involves. He should realize that upon his individual efforts depends the safety and the very existence of the nation. Upon him depends the successful administration of our affairs. Upon him depends the making and the enforcement of the laws, for to him is given the duty of electing the men who make the laws, and without his sanction, co-operation and support no laws, however good, can be enforced.

"It is a circumstance upon which under which the will of the majority of the people is frustrated and the power is concentrated in the hands of a few who do not use it for the best interests of all, it is he, the voter, who is in a great degree responsible. It is he, the voter, who elects the men who are to administer the government. It is he, the voter, who elects the men who are to administer the government. It is he, the voter, who elects the men who are to administer the government.

"I often said that under our system of government the executive has a great deal of independent power. I consider that any power the executive may have to be a delegated power and in no way independent. I believe that the governor, whether he is elected or appointed, is as responsible to the people as are their directly elected representatives. He has every right to believe and every reason to expect that those directly elected representatives will correctly and honestly voice the real sentiments and definite desires of their constituents. If, in particular instances, he believes that such have not been the case, then it is his duty, not to act independently, but to the full extent that the law authorizes him to do so, and no further, to directly and courageously try to bring about the results which he honestly believes a majority of the people desire. These, my friends, I consider to be elemental truths and principles. I shall keep them constantly before me in the performance of my duty. I ask you free and independent voters of this territory to do your part and I to the full extent of whatever capacity may be in me, will do mine."

MANY ALBUQUERQUEANS AT-TEND INAUGURAL CEREMONIES

Most of the Albuquerqueans who went to Santa Fe to attend the inauguration ceremonies of the new governor, Herbert J. Hagerman, have returned to this city. Among those who returned on No. 1 last night from Santa Fe were Dr. G. W. Harrison, Probate Judge Jesus Romero and Nestor Montoya, all of whom report that the ceremonies passed off smoothly and that the ball and reception tendered the new governor last evening was a brilliant affair.

Besides those already mentioned, other Albuquerque citizens who attended the ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Keen, Dr. F. B. Romero, John H. Wiley, Prof. Di Mauro, R. A. Stamm, M. Sanchez, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Luna, W. B. Childers, Benjamin Romero, Benigno Romero, Seferino Crockett, Frank A. Hubbell and A. White, most of whom returned today.

ELK'S ORCHESTRA CONCERT

THE ADVANCE SALE OF TICKETS FOR THE ELKS' ORCHESTRAL CONCERT ON FRIDAY NIGHT, FORTTELLS A CROWDED HOUSE.

A splendid program has been carefully rehearsed, and the musical public will be afforded a treat such as is seldom given here.

As the success of this concert will determine whether the city is to have a permanent orchestra worthy of its prominence among western cities, it behooves every citizen to turn out. The Elks have done a good thing in assisting the promotion of this organization, and as they have taken hold in their accustomed vigorous style, it is safe to say that the event will be a success.

Mrs. W. H. Mills, who has for many years been one of the most prominent vocalists in Kansas City, and has recently come to Albuquerque to practice her profession as a vocal teacher, has been secured as vocalist, and will also take the leading part in the ladies' quartet, which is doing splendid work.

The prices certainly are reasonable, so that the expense is no excuse for non-attendance.

J. H. Meadors, connected with the Northern Pacific Steamship company, in Seattle, Wash., has arrived in the metropolis to visit a few weeks with the family of his brother, W. S. Meadors.

ARMIJO BLOCK IS BURGLARIZED

Scarcely an Office in the Building Escaped Visit of Thieves Last Night.

MONEY AND STAMPS ARE STOLEN

An organized gang of sneak thieves which has infested Albuquerque for some time, operated again last evening, making the largest haul yet.

The N. T. Armiijo building at the corner of Railroad avenue and Second street, was the place in which the thieves applied their nefarious operation. There is scarcely an office or room in the block that was not entered.

The offices of Don J. Rankin, the fire insurance agent, and Dr. B. F. Copp, the dentist, were the first places burglarized. It is believed that the burglars entered the building by the rear door.

Dr. Copp occupies room 12 in the Armiijo block and Mr. Rankin room No. 10. One adjoining the other, the connecting doors usually being left unlocked so that an entrance is gained to one it is quite simple to get into the other.

The burglars forced a window in Mr. Rankin's office which looks into the outer corridor. They climbed inside, and applying a chisel to the desk, pried it open. It was thoroughly ransacked, but nothing was taken as far as known.

A large quantity of postage stamps were in the desk, and it would indicate that the thieves were exclusively in search of money. Not satisfying their desires in this respect, a visit to Dr. Copp's office was made. His desk lid was pried open in a similar manner as the one adjoining had been, and in a small box a quantity of bulk gold was kept for dental purposes. Its value was $50. This very acceptable booty was tucked away in the pocket of the crook, with which he left the building and escaped.

Mrs. Copp saved her husband $10 more by slipping a $10 gold piece into another receptacle of the desk in such a manner that the thieves failed to find it during the ransacking of the desk.

It is not known for a certainty, of course, where the thieves went next, or for that matter whether the above named places were those first entered, but as a matter of convenience for the writer, it will be surmised that the thieves then went across the hall to Attorney Felix Baca's sanctum. Raising a window, which did not happen to be locked and stepping inside, an unsuccessful search was made for valuables. There were no valuables there, hence the "burglars" continued on to City Clerk Harry F. Lee's office. A roll top desk was forced open and stamps aggregating $10, stolen. The postage stamps were the property of the Sheep Sanitary board.

Dr. E. W. Wilson's office received a call. The door to the doctor's private office being very much disfigured through being pried open. As the doctor keeps nothing in his office except surgical instruments, etc., he lost nothing.

The rooms of the New York Life insurance company on the third floor of the building were also broken into, the desk opened, and $6 in stamps taken.

The burglars tried to get into the room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Haywood, but were scared away by Mr. Haywood hearing them and coming out of the room with a pistol. The men got away before Mr. Haywood could use his gun.

Mr. Gifford, who occupies a room in the Grand Central hotel, also located on the third floor of the block, discovered that his effects had been ransacked by thieves upon his return at a late hour. He missed several valuable trinkets.

There is no clue to the identity of the thieves.

CONCERT IN READING ROOM WAS WELL ATTENDED

The concert given last night in the reading room of the Santa Fe railroad company was attended by a large number of railroad men and other citizens of Albuquerque. Manager S. E. Buser, in charge of the Santa Fe reading rooms prevailed upon a party of well-known residents, Topeka, Kan., who are musically inclined, and who are making a trip to the west, to render concerts in the different reading rooms along the line of the Santa Fe, and last night's concert was a part of this plan. The party is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Parkhurst, Mrs. F. H. Foster, Mrs. F. D. Tison, Mrs. L. S. Ferry, Mrs. G. Tracy and Mrs. N. Lescher, and all are sweet voiced and accomplished musicians. They left today for other points on the coast lines of the Santa Fe, where they will render concerts in the reading rooms.

SPECIAL OFFICER IN A DOG FIGHT

While Preventing Big Canine From Eating His Pet He Is Badly Bitten.

AN EARLY MORNING SET-TOO

Special Officer G. L. Patterson of the Santa Fe railroad, was an innocent participant in a dog fight this morning which resulted in his receiving an ugly wound on the left hand from the teeth of one of the canines.

Mr. Patterson was coming down the street in the direction of the business center. By his side trotted a little dog, the officer's pet, by the way. The canine is a gentle animal, whose worse fault is to bark when he has no business to do so. By this it is meant that the pet of the Patterson family oftentimes used the greatest discretion in denouncing other members of the dog family to whom he takes a sudden dislike.

This morning was an instance when the doggie got fresh. After passing a dozen or more dogs of his size or smaller, with not so much politeness as the little dark rover of morning, he finally spied a canine whose size would make him eligible to membership in the elephant family. Toward took a peep at his master. The badge of authority beneath his coat together with his husky build, furnished the doggie with the necessary courage to hurt a growl at the big brute. The big brute thereupon stepped up to the little canine to see what he meant by the insult. Officer Patterson saw black clouds hovering dangerously near by, and reaching the conclusion that his pet would just about be a bite for the other, he made haste to snatch his pet into his arms. The big dog took exception to the yard officer "butting in," and took a grab at the officer and his pet at the same time. He connected, too, for when the ugly jaws crashed together they held a officer, the little doggie's hide and Patterson's little finger. A few kicks from Patterson's boot explained to the ferocious brute that he was up against a little more than he bargained for. He released his hold, backed up and took to the timber. Patterson took his dog home and himself to a surgeon's office, where the long flesh wound was cauterized.

A bite of the nature such as inflicted on Patterson's finger is often the cause of much apprehension from the fear of hydrophobia, but the Santa Fe officer attaches no seriousness to it.

BEN FRANKLIN FIRE BRIGADE BUCKET

That the American people are a skeptical race was again demonstrated this morning when a crowd of curious onlookers gathered in front of the windows of the O. A. Matson store to "rubber" at an ancient looking leather fire bucket which bore the inscription "Franklin Fire Dept. A card beneath stated that the bucket was made in 1736, and was at present the property of "Spot" Moore.

"Pshaw!" said one bystander. "They didn't know how to make leather buckets in 1736. It's a fake."

"Sure," said another. "It don't look old enough to be that old."

"Pisikin buckets to carry water in were made 2,000 years ago," said one who had evidently read some ancient history.

This started an argument as to whether it really was as old as was claimed for it, but as the bucket couldn't talk, the crowd, presumably, is still arguing the question.

PUNISHED IN COURT FOR STEALING COAL

IF CARLOS TELLES DOES NOT DIG UP $10 HE WILL WORK FOR CITY TEN DAYS.

When Special Santa Fe Officer Patterson finished a crawl over a dozen or more cars in the yards last night, he stood in the presence of Carlos Telles, a native of Barcelona, and that party's wife. Telles was busily engaged in filling a sack with the company's coal. His wife was an interested spectator. Telles was placed under arrest, brought to police headquarters and locked up.

There was no denying the charge of petty larceny in police court this morning so Telles pleaded guilty. He was given his choice of paying a $10 fine or working for the city ten days. He has not yet decided what he will do in the matter.

Officer Patterson states that a great deal of this sort of stealing is going on. The other day he tried to trap a party who was filling a sack on a gondola car, but the thief saw him first, took to his heels and escaped.

A few evenings ago the officer came across a wheelbarrow and several coal sacks. His approach had apparently been detected owing to the noise of stopping through the clinders makes, and the thief and his load, leaving their conveyance behind.

Officer Patterson says that no discrimination will be made in arresting those found stealing. Whether they be old or whether they be young, it will make no difference. Telles, arrested last night, tried to bribe the officer into letting him escape, but it was no go.

PLAYED HERE AND HEARD AT SANTA FE

Gov. Hagerman Listened to Graphophone Selections Played in This City

A RATHER UNIQUE CONCEPTION

Herbert J. Hagerman, the new governor of New Mexico, sat in his office of state at Santa Fe this afternoon and heard that famous and familiar selection, "Cavaliers Rusticana" as played in this city.

The charming strains were transmitted over a slender wire belonging to the Colorado Telephone company and through the agency of one of Leonard & Lindemann's Victor graphophones.

Governor Hagerman was called up and invited to listen to the selection. He graciously consented and during its rendition sat with features illuminated, according to parties with him at the time.

The big graphophone was placed close to the telephone transmitter and in clear, harmonious strains was carried to the ears of the governor 83 miles away.

It was but one demonstration of the wonders of the telephone, but in this particular instance a most pleasing and rare one.

As the Colorado company yesterday promised to permit all those who desired the privilege of conversing or using the toll lines out of Albuquerque free of charge, large numbers availed themselves of the opportunity and the unique way Leonard & Lindemann utilized this frank, was but one of many.

HOOLIGAN IN CITY

THE FAMOUS TRAMP ARRIVES AT DEPOT, BUT CHIEF McMILLIN FAILED TO CAPTURE HIM.

Chief McMillin arose early this morning, but he failed to capture one of the most notable characters of trampdom in the country, "Hooligan," whose description has been sent broadcast throughout the country, dropped off the train at the Santa Fe depot, but the chief, who is usually wide awake and "up to snuff" was for the first time in his life caught napping.

"Hooligan" reached the center of the city safely, when he was discovered by a representative of The Evening Citizen.

"You must be a Sherlock Holmes," he remarked, as he sat down in a chair at Matson's book store.

But "Hooligan" isn't very talkative. Explaining that he saved his humor for the Sunday papers and his stage representation, he called Arthur J. Aylesworth, his manager.

Yes, this is "Hooligan," said Aylesworth, "but he has his Sunday clothes on. When he emerges from his dressing room at night you wouldn't know him. 'Hooligan' has been making a real hit this season. Business has been very large and the company appears to give good satisfaction."

"We carry a company this year which includes several comedians of pronounced ability and a number of specialty acts that are unique. This is our fourth season and we have played nearly every state in the country. During the action of the comedy we introduce a number of popular songs, including several musical numbers which were written especially for this production."

One of the newest and best musical farce comedies of the day is "Hooligan's Troubles," which appears here on Tuesday, Jan. 23, at the Elks theater. "Hooligan's Troubles" is in its fourth season and is built upon the humorous catastrophes of one Hooligan who has been made famous by his antics in the New York and Chicago Sunday papers.

WIZARD EDISON FINDS WAY TO CARRY THE HUMAN VOICE ACROSS THE OCEAN

VETERAN INVENTOR MAKES DISCOVERIES THAT WILL STARTLE SCIENTISTS—HIS STORAGE BATTERY IMPROVED.

New York, Jan. 23.—Ere the world is a few months older humanity and civilization will be the richer for a new development in electric science, evolved from the inventive genius of Thomas A. Edison.

The new discovery, which is described in which Mr. Edison works through the silence of the night are more jealously guarded than the state papers of a German bureaucracy. But that he is at last by correlative experiment able to accurately estimate the carrying power of his sound waves under the sea is now beyond a doubt.

Side by side with the sea telephone is the veteran inventor completing certain remarkable developments in the Edison nickel iron storage battery.

weight the endurance of the battery is increased. Mr. Edison's improved storage battery will, it is believed, enable an automobile of high power to maintain a maximum speed ranging from 100 to 150 miles an hour. Under the present conditions it is possible for a racer of high power to attain a maximum speed of 120 miles an hour and maintain it for perhaps five minutes. With the improvements now completed by Mr. Edison the discharge power of the amperes will be largely increased. The old storage battery was capable of running a vehicle 3,000 miles over land roads. The capacity of the new battery is limitless in respect of speed or endurance.

Only a few days ago learned scientists were arguing on the possibility of establishing a clean vibrant electric connection between Liverpool and New York, and gravely determined after much discussion, that the feat could never be accomplished.

For years has it been known generally that Mr. Edison was busily engaged with experiments along this line. Only within the last few months, however, has there been reason to suppose that his work was reaching a definite result.

The reappearance of the familiar light during the dark hours of the morning in the windows of his private rooms in the laboratory told the people of West Orange, N. J., that something momentous was at hand.

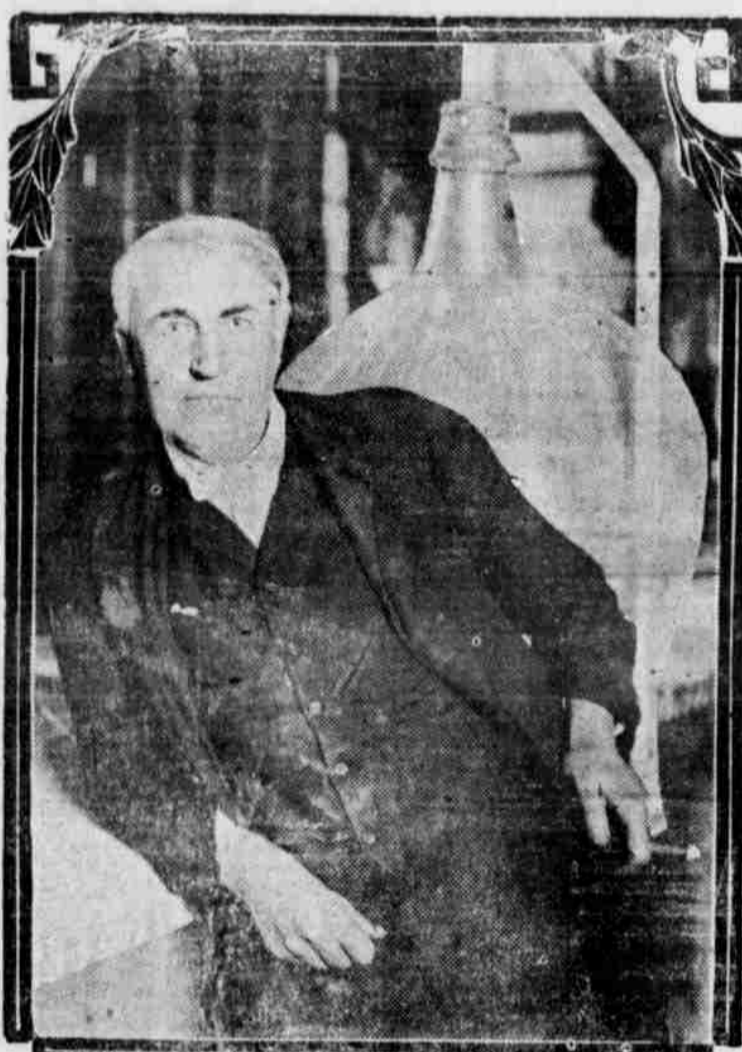

That light showed that Mr. Edison was working toward a conclusion of his long labor. For many weeks he has worked, slept and eaten in the laboratory, lying down when exhausted to snatch one or two hours' rest on a couch, and then starting to his work again when all the world was asleep. And now it is known that Mr. Edison has at last conquered the difficulty of transmission of the sound of a human voice through long distance of water.

Hitherto the great and almost insuperable difficulty in the way has been in the impossibility of exactly increasing the power of the sound waves under deep water.

Wind or a rough sea cannot affect the transmission of an electric current. To protect the wires heavier insulation is necessary and the increase of insulation adds to the carrying capacity of the current. In this graduating the exact power of insulation and in attaining the highest degree of sensitiveness between the receiver and the transmitter, lay the task which Mr. Edison, according to high authority, has at last surmounted. The details are, of course, known only to himself. The secrets of the first introduced to the public two years ago with a view to its adaptability to the use of the automobile. Mr. Edison's labors with the storage battery have lain in the direction of a gradual lightening in the weight of the battery. In each reduction in the pleted by Mr. Edison the discharge power of the amperes will be largely increased. The old storage battery was capable of running a vehicle 3,000 miles over land roads. The capacity of the new battery is limitless in respect of speed or endurance.

GRIEF DRIVES SPAIN'S BEST TOREADOR TO A MONASTERY

MAZZANTINI TURNS HIS BACK ON TRIUMPHS AND WEALTH BECAUSE HE LOVES HIS CHERISHED HELMFEET.

Madrid, Jan. 23.—Luis Mazzantini, the most famous bull fighter in Spain, intends to enter the cloister of the Augustine friars of the Escorial. Mazzantini is heartbroken over the death of his wife, which occurred recently in Mexico.

Mazzantini began life as a country railway porter, and for a long time he had a hard struggle with poverty. One day some of the youths of the village organized a Novillada, a fight with very young bulls, which is a popular sport in small towns. Although he had never before faced a bull, Mazzantini showed surprising skill. Shortly after he duplicated his first success, and this decided him to adopt bull fighting, although his wife, a village belle, at first objected.

Mazzantini entered a traveling troupe of Novilleros, as a banderillero, the person who throws gayly colored darts into the bull's sides before they are killed. He was diligent and soon organized a troupe of his own. In his new position of "first sword" he won constant praise and in a memorable engagement at Seville, twenty years ago, he succeeded in "taking the alternative" at the hands of Frascuelo, then the best bull fighter in Spain.

From that time his real triumphs began. He was paid from $1,000 to $1,500 for each appearance in the ring, and repeatedly audiences, driven to a frenzy of admiration by his skill, threw into the ring for him purses of money and jewels.

Mazzantini took part in 1,200 fights and during his career has killed over 3,000 bulls. Eleven times he has been injured, on six occasions seriously. He has rescued many of his fellow bull fighters from death. Mazzantini has cleared about $3,000,000 in salary and presents by his career in the ring. He is a favorite in Madrid society, where he is always called Don Luis, but with other bull fighters he is not popular, being known among them as the "aristocrat of the bull ring." He was always devoted to his wife.

PROMOTER OF BOHEMIAN COLONY RETURNS TO SOLORRO

Max Kirchman, faithful to his promise, returned to the Gem City last Wednesday in the best of spirits and well satisfied with his two days' stay in Chicago, says the Solorro Chief. After attending to all necessities of the association, he visited the offices of the Santa Fe road and arranged for reasonable transportation and freight rates for his newcomers. Mr. Kirchman well understands his responsibility as secretary and general manager of the American Bohemian association, which, combined, are a source of continuous care and worry, but his indomitable energy will overcome any difficulties presented.

TURK DID NOT UNDERSTAND, AND WAS KNOCKED DOWN.

There was a bit of excitement at the Alamogordo depot the other morning on account of trouble between a Turk and some hoboes. The Turk claimed that the hoboes attempted to rob him of his watch, and in the scuffle the glass windows of the depot and was badly cut on the left arm. At the trial of the offenders it was shown that the hoboes asked the Turk as to the time of day, which was misunderstood by the Turk as a demand for money. The vagrants claimed that the Turk asked them, hence the blow that sent him through the window. Officer Sam Nims made the arrests and Justice O'Reilly imposed upon the fellow guilty of striking the Turk a fine of $10 and costs.

RICH GOLD STRIKE REPORTED NEAR SANTA FE

Two wood cutters while at work six miles northeast of Santa Fe, recently discovered some fine looking mineral bearing rock in place, in which free gold was visible. Corbett & Collins, assayers of Santa Fe, found the samples to run very high in gold and silver. One sample assayed over $300 in gold and silver. Another sample assayed over $200 in gold and $50 in silver per ton. As yet only a few claims have been located on account of the severe weather. Numerous samples show great quantities of ore of the same general character covering a large area. The mineral is found in a formation of quartz accompanied by considerable iron sulfide.

BENJ. IDE WHEELER MAY BE SUCCESSOR OF DOCTOR HARPER

PRESIDENT OF UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA SAID TO BE SLATED FOR EXECUTIVE CHAIR OF CHICAGO UNIVERSITY.

Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 23.—Rumors of more than passing significance connect the name of Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the State university here, with the executive chair of the Chicago university just vacated through the death of Dr. Harper, who, by the way, was a firm friend and former associate of President Wheeler at Brown university.

President Wheeler is particularly eligible to succeed Dr. Harper. The Chicago university demands a thorough Hebrew scholar and an efficient organizer, in both of which capacities Dr. Wheeler stands almost preeminent in the United States. It also requires a president of the Baptist faith, which is Dr. Wheeler's denomination.

Dr. Wheeler is not over popular in Berkeley, some say on account of his "ultra-progressive" methods, but these would especially commend him to follow in Dr. Harper's footsteps. He receives here a salary of $10,000, which would probably be doubled in Chicago. It is thought that he is willing to accept the post, though he declines to discuss it until a definite offer has been made him. Though not a personal friend of John D. Rockefeller, whose choice will probably be absolute, he is, or should be, as acceptable to the Standard Oil king as any of the other men whose names have been mentioned as possible successors of the late Dr. Harper.

BIGGEST FOR LIVE STOCK BUSINESS

WILL BE THE CONVENTION AND SHOW TO MEET IN DENVER, JANUARY 29.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Western Live Stock show, January 16, it was decided to make a class for breeding sheep. Another year this classification will be made much larger. In addition to several cash prizes for different breeding sheep classes, a handsome trophy cup will be awarded for the best display of breeding sheep.

Three breed associations duplicate all the premiums won by their representatives in the Western Live Stock show. They duplicate the prizes on pure bred cattle and on steers showing a preponderance of blood of their breeds. These are the American Shorthorn Breeder's association, the American Hereford Breeder's association and the American Galloway Breeder's association. A large representative exhibit of cattle of these breeds is expected at the show. In addition to duplicating the prizes on the cattle, the Shorthorn association gives a $25.00 prize to the herdsman if the champion steer is a shorthorn.

The Galloway cattle division of the big Western Live Stock show promises to be very interesting. Charles Gray, secretary of the American Galloway Breeder's association, will be present to judge this breed and to look after its interests. Mr. Gray is one of the best judges of live stock in America. The champion Galloway bull of the world, imported Worthy 3rd, will be shown by George Bernard of Eastonville, Colo., with the balance of his herd. It will be an excellent opportunity to see a fine representative lot of the "shaggy blacks."

Two fine silver cups are offered as special premiums for Hereford cattle in the Western Live Stock show. The Bohm-Alton Jewelry company of Denver gives one for the best aged Hereford bull, and the Body Park company of Denver one for the best yearling heifer. Secretary C. R. Thomas of the American Hereford Breeder's association will be at the show to look after the interests of the breed, and O. Harris, Mo., judges the Hereford cattle.

There will be a large delegation of feeder buyers in attendance from the Missouri river markets at Omaha, St. Joseph and Kansas City to buy the cattle entered in the Western Live Stock show. They realize that there will be a fine lot of feeder cattle of all classes in the show and that from the prize-winning feeders at Denver must come the winners in the fat classes at the big Eastern shows next fall.

CARLSBAD MOTHER HELD FOR INFANTICIDE

A special dispatch to the Denver News from Roswell, dated January 19, says: District Attorney James M. Murray returned today from Carlsbad, where he conducted the prosecution in the preliminary hearing against Mrs. May Aiken, who is charged with burying her child alive at Lakewood, on the night of January 7. She was held to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of murder, and was remanded to jail, bond being refused by Magistrate N. Cunningham.

Mr. Murray says it is the most peculiar murder case that ever came under his observation. She did not win when arrested or when shown the corpse of her child. She appeared untroubled at the hearing, and an attractive woman of ordinary appearance. She is aged about 25, and does not look like a criminal. She claims a strange man kidnapped the child. Her husband disappeared three weeks before the alleged crime was committed. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that the baby came to its death by violence at the hands of its mother.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt, had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

FAVORITISM IN RAILROAD RATES

Can you loop the loop?

You ought to see a carload of machinery do it en route to the Orient. Suppose you start it from Kansas City. The through rate per 100 lbs., counting as far as Frisco, is $2.60. However, from Chicago to Frisco it is only $1.75. You can send it to Chicago to get this rate and still the total cost to Frisco will be less than $2.60. In fact, you can wait at Kansas City and in a few days see your car come back through en route to the coast after it has looped the loop. In other words, you make money by sending your freight on an excursion to Chicago. Is it not strange?

RAILROAD TOPICS

WILL WEIGH ALL U. S. MAIL ON THIS DIVISION

On February 10 the weighing of all United States mail handled by this division of the railway postoffice on the Santa Fe will begin and continue for the succeeding 105 days. This is done for the purpose of securing a basis for the four years' contract the Santa Fe has with the government for the transportation of mail matter. Special clerks, who will attend to the weighing of the mail, will be appointed in the next few days and will commence their labors on February 10, to get an average as a basis for the contract by the weighing system involves a great deal of extra work, and it will mean the employing of several extra clerks over the present force.

NEW HOTEL AND DEPOT TO BE BUILT AT ASH FORK.

A dispatch from Los Angeles announces that James Johnson, a prominent railroad contractor and a resident of Needles, has been awarded the contract for the building of the new Santa Fe depot and hotel at Ash Fork, at a cost of $150,000. Both Mr. Johnson and the Santa Fe are to be congratulated. Another idea which emanates from the news item is the fact that these great improvements made by the Santa Fe along their present main line does not indicate that the "cut-off" which has been hurried far and near as the doom of Needles and all other cities along the line now in use means the abandonment and evacuation of Needles, Kingman, Williams, Flagstaff, Winslow, Gallup, etc.

G. C. Mayer, F. T. Bickett and F. M. Clough, Santa Fe railroad men, were in the city today from San Marcial, on company business.

Fireman Fred Asdale has returned to Raton from Denison, Texas, where he has been visiting his mother the past thirty days. He has been assigned to a preferred job on the mountain run.

Engineer Harry Hohn, of Raton, had one eye badly injured several days ago by the bursting of a lubricator glass on his engine, and he expects to go to Topeka to the Santa Fe eye specialist.

Henry Koehler, Thomas B. Harlan and Hugo Koehler of St. Louis, president, vice president and director, respectively of the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain & Pacific railway, were in Raton last week on business in connection with their road.

It has been given out that the contract for the grading of the Santa Fe change at Springer has been awarded, and that work will commence next week in full blast. The grade work alone will cost the company between $25,000 and $30,000, and that is only one item.

F. V. Parker, general superintendent of the Santa Fe, who arrived in the city last night from Payson Hot Springs, where with his wife, he has been sojourning for some time, left in his special car No. 8, on train No. 10, this morning for his headquarters in La Junta.

Frank Etter, traveling passenger agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, with headquarters in Kansas City, was in Albuquerque last night visiting his brother, W. E. Etter, superintendent of the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe, who was here last night. Frank Etter was accompanied by G. L. Cobb, southwestern passenger agent for the St. Paul, both leaving last night for El Paso, from which place they will return to Kansas City via the Texas route. They had just returned from a

SEVERE ARTERY IN NECK BUT WILL RECOVER

A Farmington, N. M., dispatch to the Denver News, dated January 19, says: Last night Clarence Ivey, a young man of 25 years of age, attempted to commit suicide by cutting an artery in his neck with his penknife. He had said he could not stand his troubles. All at once he arose, shook hands with his brother and the other boys, and said: "Good-bye. This is the last time you will see me alive. I cannot bear my troubles any longer, and it will soon be over."

He stepped out of the saloon. His brother and the bartender followed him. He had gone just a block when he partly severed the artery in the neck and fell to the ground. The boys in search had passed him when he called out to them:

Dr. Guthrie was called and Ivey was carried to his office. As soon as the man became conscious he began to talk. He said:

"Little, little! Tell her I did this for her."

He then begged them to let him die. The "little" referred to is Mrs. Lillie Walling, the wife of a prominent citizen who had employed Ivey for the past year. While there he became enamored of Mrs. Walling, who gave him considerable attention.

A few months ago Mr. Walling moved his wife here so the children could have school advantages, and Ivey followed. After coming here, he thought that he did not get the attention he had before, and grew despondent, with the foregoing results. Ivey was well known in Silverton, having been employed there for some time before going to work for Walling. His recovery now seems probable.

INDIANS KILLED GAME OUT OF SEASON

Constable Frank Blake last evening arrived in the city with Governor Jose Guadalupe, of the Jemez pueblo, and three other members of his tribe, Pablo Toya, Francisco Nague and Victoriano Llope. The braves are accused of killing two deer out of season. Their arrest, followed and a fine of $50 imposed in each case and $3.15 in costs.

In default of the fine money the Indians were committed to the jail in this county.

LOW LINE DITCH INTERESTS SOLD

It is about forty miles long, extending from a point in Sandoval county near San Felipe to a point where the Santa Fe railway crosses the Rio Grande south of this city near Isleta. The interests of George Arnot and Charles F. Waugh, who hid in the property at $1,000, is also conveyed.

Fair tonight and Wednesday.

Sunrise, 7:08; sunset, 5:16; length of sunshine, 10 hours and 8 minutes. Moon rose at 6:04 this morning; new moon tomorrow at 11:54 in the forenoon. The reign of terror began in France on this day, 1793. Winter began December 22 and will end March 21. A little over one-third of it has, therefore, already passed. The day was bright and sunny, but a little chilly. Fine winter weather.

Dr. J. Grant Lyman of New York city, is visiting in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Burton of Los Angeles, are guests at the Alvarado. G. C. Mayer, F. T. Beckett and F. M. Clough, of San Marcial, were in the city this morning.

Sol, Arkush, a cigar man of Denver, who has been visiting friends in this city the past week, left last night for Denver.

The territorial board of health has granted Dr. P. J. Patchen a license to practice medicine. Dr. Patchen will open an office here.

Mrs. Simon Neustadt, wife of the general merchant and postmaster of Los Lunas, who has been seriously ill, is reported much better today.

John Becker, the Belen merchant, came in last night from Santa Fe, where he attended the inaugural ceremonies, proceeding to his home today.

Miss Candelaria Barcia, one of Albuquerque's pretty young ladies, has returned to the city after a visit to her sister, Mrs. Rudolph Helweg, of El Paso.

George D. Parrish and family, of Springfield, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Owen for the past few days on their return from southern California.

A. A. McCordale, of the Globe store, who has been ill for some time past, is again able to be up and about, and expects to resume his duties the first of next week.

A marriage license was yesterday granted by the probate clerk of Bernalillo county to Mary Parisis, aged 40 years, and W. H. Weber, age 36 years, both of this city.

The sheriff of Fort Collins, Colo., is expected in the city tomorrow night to take Clarence Drake back to that place, where he is wanted for the alleged crime of securing money under false pretenses.

O. W. Whitney and F. H. Mudge, of Belen, are in the city from the cut-off town transacting business. Mr. Mudge says everything is tied up on the cut-off, owing to blizzards and heavy snows at Texico and elsewhere on the Panhandle.

Marriage licenses were today granted to Carlota Candelaria, 27 years old, of Old Albuquerque, and Eliseo Chavez, 22 years old, of Barajas, and to Nydia S. Powers, of Bland; 35 years old, and Samuel W. Young, 47 years old, of this city.

About fifty options on lots in the Grant addition have been filed with the Surety Investment company, and as a result it is thought that when the day of sale arrives, February 1, there will be but very few lots left for sale.

Weiler & Benjamin have moved into the rooms in the Grant building recently vacated by Albert Faber. The Maroon building on Railroad avenue, where they were formerly located, will be torn down to make way for a modern store building to be erected by Mr. Maroon.

J. E. Saint, interested in copper properties in Globe, Ariz., arrived in the city last night from Chicago and points in Michigan, where he has been in the interest of his company. He will remain in Albuquerque several days with his family, after which he will go to the mines in Globe.

By telephonic message this afternoon, from Santa Fe, The Evening Citizen learns that in the case of Hubbell vs. Judge Ira A. Abbott, district Judge of the Second judicial district, on motion to quash, no action was taken today by the territorial supreme court.

The "Hoot Mon" dance to be given by the members of the Commercial club in the club rooms tomorrow night bids fair to be one of the most amusing events ever given by the club, and the fun will be fast and furious. It is said that MacHerzog and MacWeiler will do a Highland fling in costume, having overcome the difficulty they have been having with their knees. MacPicard, owing to illness, will be unable to act as master of ceremonies, but his place will be filled by one who will make an endeavor to score as great a success as would the worthy MacPicard.

Hooligan, the star in "Hooligan's Troubles," which will be forth at the Elks opera house tonight, was out on a bicycle riding this afternoon and attracted considerable attention, inasmuch as the bicycle he rode had only one wheel, above which was the saddle, on which was perched Hooligan, tin can, tatters and all.

Nelt Willis, the barber who shot himself yesterday, sent word to his father today, through his son, that he positively did not attempt to commit suicide, but that the shooting was purely accidental. As Willis is a hard working barber and well liked by all that know him, it is not the intention of this paper to do him any injustice.

B. Oxendine, son of G. Oxendine, a pioneer citizen of Albuquerque, has arrived in the city for a visit with his father, the first in nineteen years. He expressed himself as hardly able to realize the great advancement the city had made since he was here last. Oxendine, Jr., is in business in San Francisco.

Judge Ira J. Abbott, who at present is in Santa Fe, expects to return to the city and take up work in his chambers in the district court Saturday, the 27th, but in the event that he does not arrive in Albuquerque until Saturday morning he will not be at his chambers to transact legal matters until Saturday afternoon.

Friends of Mrs. Alice Landaker, whose pitiful circumstances were set forth in these columns a few days ago, are circulating a paper calling upon to carry the woman through during the sickness of her husband. Liberal donations have already been received from the philanthropic Albuquerqueans. Let the good work go on.

Mrs. J. M. Price, wife of a railroad engineer, has received information of the serious illness of her mother at Terre Haute, Ind., and will leave for that city in a few days. Mr. Price will accompany his wife as far as Ottawa, Kas., and from there go to Cherryvale, to visit his brother, Thomas Price, who is the roadmaster on the Southern Kansas road of the Santa Fe system.

The headquarters of the Central Labor union will hereafter be in the rear rooms, upstairs, over the San Jose restaurant, on Railroad avenue. Since the organization of the Central Labor union, several years ago, the members have been meeting upstairs over the store of Weiler & Benjamin, but this building will be torn down, necessitating the members securing new quarters.

Mrs. Nicolasa Garcia de Gonzales yesterday gave a warranty deed to John A. Cuneo, consideration, $500, to a piece of land in precinct 12, 28x122 feet, also to 25 feet running to the land south of Mountain road. The land is a very desirable residence property, and lies between the Armijo addition and the Grant tract in the northwestern part of the city. The land also has a water right that goes with it.

LOUISIANA SENATOR AGAINST JOINTURE

This morning M. Mandell, the clothier, who is taking a great deal of interest in the joint statehood bill, and is working for its passage, received the following letter from Senator Murphy J. Foster, of Louisiana, and the senator registers himself against the measure:

Washington, Jan. 18, 1905. M. Mandell, Albuquerque, N. M. Dear Sir—I wish to acknowledge your recent letter relative to the joint statehood question, and to say that I have carefully read what you have to say regarding the same.

"While it may be, as you say, an open question as to which party would predominate in the event of Arizona and New Mexico being merged into one, I am on other grounds opposed to the joint statehood bill, and it is not my intention to support that measure."

"Yours truly, 'MURPHY J. FOSTER.'"

SAYS NO GOLD BRICKS WERE FOUND AT BLAND.

In reference to a story that has been going the rounds to the effect that a gold brick had been found beneath the foundation of the old Albemarle mill which is being dismantled at Bland, Harry McDonald, a foreman for the Morrison Bros. Machinery company, of Denver, who have the contract to tear down the mill, and who was brought to this city yesterday suffering with a mangled hand, stated to a representative of The Evening Citizen that as long as he had been on the works he had heard nothing of any gold being found, and expressed the opinion that the only "gold brick" proposition about it was the newspaper story.

FRIGHTFUL LIFE LOSS IN ONE SINGLE COUNTY.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 23.—Statistics for the year 1905 just given out by the authorities of Allegheny county indicate that during the past year more than 17,000 persons were killed or injured in this county, while at their daily work. Of this number the blast factories and iron and steel mills are responsible for 9,000. The other factories and shops have 4,000 to their credit and the victims of the railroads numbered 4,000, while those of the mines numbered 400. Besides this there were several thousand injured whose cases were not reported, as the injured persons were taken straight home and not to any of the hospitals or morgues. Several of the mills have furnished such a large number of death and injury cases, that the insurance companies refuse to insure men working there.

The body of D. H. Vaughn, the millionaire miser of Deadwood, S. D., who starved himself to death in this city, was last night sent to Deadwood, his former home, the Bank of Commerce, acting on advices from the deceased's daughter, Mary Moulton, taking charge of the shipping of the body.
