TWO BRAKEMEN ARE MISSING

Engineer Loses Control on Down Hill Grade Near Trinidad.

DRUNK POLICEMAN SHOTS

Gallup Boy Riding Rods Falls Off and Has Foot Crushed.

MINE ENTOMBED TWENTY-SIX MEN

Trinidad, Colo., Feb. 9.—Thirty cars and one engine piled up in a broken mass at Morley, ten miles west of here on the Santa Fe railroad and all traffic is blocked as a result of the freight wreck this morning. The engineer lost control of his train on a down grade on account of the brakes refusing to work, and the train ran away, jumping the track at a trestle on a long curve at the base of a mountain. The engineer and fireman jumped and received severe bruises. Two brakemen are missing and it is feared that they are under the debris. The train was a California fruit train.

SHOT AND KILLED

DENVER SALOON. Denver, Colo., Feb. 9.—Policeman Charles Seerest shot and killed Thomas Johnson in a quarrel in a saloon at an early hour this morning. Seerest was under the influence of liquor.

FIFTEEN YEAR OLD LAD

IS HURT RIDING RODS. Special to The Citizen. Gallup, N. M., Feb. 9.—William Marshall, a lad of 15, born and raised in this city, fell off the rods of an east-bound freight train last night at Chaves, getting one foot crushed. He was brought back on train No. 1 this morning and taken to his home.

NATIVES OF TRANSVAAL

ARE DROWNED IN MINE. Johannesburg, Transvaal, Feb. 9.—Fifty-five natives were drowned today owing to the flooding of the South Rose deep gold mine.

EXPLOSION IN MINE

CATCHES MANY VICTIMS. Hilton, N. Y., Feb. 9.—It is believed possible today that some of the twenty-six miners who are entombed in the Parrell mine near Oakhill, may still be alive. Ten have been taken out, there having been thirty-six in the mine at the time of the explosion yesterday afternoon. There is no telegraph office near the mines and no information can be secured except by messenger over the mountains.

FRESH AIR HOSPITAL FOR POOR CHILDREN

New York, Feb. 9.—The Board of Estimate of New York is holding a public hearing today in regard to a gigantic proposition for the creation of a municipal fresh air hospital for children and convalescent hospital patients. The plans for the establishment of the charity include the acquisition of over 1,000 acres of ocean frontage at Long Beach, L. I., as well as the purchase of the entire property at that place, owned by the Long Beach Hotel Company. This includes the Long Beach Hotel as well as over thirty cottages.

The plan was originally suggested by Mayor McClellan in his annual message and since then the project has been carefully investigated by the friends of the plan. Nothing definite could be learned as to the cost of the plan, which the Long Beach Hotel Company puts on its property. It has a total acreage of something like 3,000 acres. Of this only the 1,000 acres along the water front is desired by the city. It is understood, however, that the company valued its entire holdings at several millions of dollars, and that part which the city would purchase if the deal goes through, could be had at about one million and a half.

The plan has many friends and supporters, but there is also some strong opposition to it. The Rockaway Beach Taxpayers' Association is among the opponents of the Long Beach plan, and will strongly advocate that, instead of purchasing the Long Beach property, the city will acquire the barren and sandy wastes at Rockaway Beach.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

New York, Feb. 9.—Money on call, easy, at 3 1/4 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 4 1/2 to 5 1/4 per cent. Bar silver, 65 1/2.

AMERICAN EXHIBIT IS PREPARED FOR ITALY

New York, Feb. 9.—The New York manufacturers are hastening the work of preparing the exhibits which they intend to send to the international exhibition which will be held in Milan, Italy, this year. For months exhibits have been solicited and collected, and it is believed that the New York exhibit will be quite creditable. From other parts of the country it is reported that not much activity is shown by manufacturers in bringing together exhibits that will be a credit to their respective states or sections. It is said that the management of the Milan exposition did not advertise the coming event in this country sufficiently to attract the attention of manufacturers. On the other hand, it is asserted by representatives of the Italian government that announcements and strong appeals had been sent to

FEW OF NOTED HEAD GRAFTERS

McCall Like Hamilton Has Long but Not Dangerous Illness.

Mc CURDYS TO GO TO PARIS

What Caused Such Great Flutter in Former Peaceful Dovecote.

ROCKEFELLER FOUND YACHTING

New York, Feb. 9.—Dr. John Vandenberg, family physician to John A. McCall, former president of the New York Life Insurance company, says that Mr. McCall is seriously ill of liver trouble, and while he is in no immediate danger, he will probably be ill for a long time.

WILL FIND PARIS

A CONGENIAL HOME. Morristown, N. J., Feb. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCurdy are going to Paris to live and will give up their home on South street. Their services have been told that their services will not be needed after the first of March.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE

MAKES GOOD REPORT. New York, Feb. 9.—P. P. Fowler, Norman Ross, Hiram Steel, Augustus C. Payne and Clarence H. Mackay, the special committee appointed by the trustees of the New York Life Insurance company to investigate its affairs, made a partial report yesterday, in which McCall and other officers are not only severely arraigned for mismanagement, but the opinion is expressed that the offending officials are responsible for the sums of money improperly expended during the reign of graft.

ROCKEFELLER KEEPS

AWAY FROM COURT. Racine, Wis., Feb. 9.—The private yacht of Mr. Plant, a Standard Oil magnate, with John D. Rockefeller on board, was laid up at Key West, Fla., on February 4, according to Vito Hansen, a prominent business man of Racine, now traveling in the south, who sends the above information. He sat at table next to Mr. Rockefeller in the hotel. The next stopping place of the yacht was not ascertained.

GRAND MASQUE BALL AT

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. New York, Feb. 9.—The Arion Ball, one of the greatest social events of the season, will be held at Madison Square Garden this evening. These balls have a reputation for their artistic merit and magnificence throughout the country and it is expected that tonight's ball will be even more gorgeous and attractive than its predecessors. It will begin with a promenade concert at 9 o'clock, after which the floor will be open to dancers. Only persons in masquerade costume will be allowed the floor. Promptly at 11 o'clock the trumpets will announce the beginning of the "Grand Ballet of the Seasons." The Metropolitan Opera House Ballet will take possession of the floor, with Miss Blanche Brown as their leader. Then will come the Spanish dancers, and then the automobile floats, each to represent a month of the year.

DISTINGUISHED VETERAN

DIES IN WASHINGTON. Washington, Feb. 9.—General John Eaton, a distinguished civil war veteran and noted educator, died here today, at the age of 77. At one time he was the editor of the Memphis Post, and was afterward president of several colleges, including the Sheldon-Jackson college of Salt Lake City.

COMMITTEE APPROVES RESERVE GUN SUPPLY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—In its recent report to Secretary of the Navy, the joint Army and Navy Board has strongly urged the need of providing the naval service with a reserve supply of guns of all calibers and the corresponding ammunition. Despite the previous recommendations nothing has been done by the government toward getting such a supply of war material. It is roughly estimated that the estimate required, conservatively, that it will require nearly $10,000,000 to obtain guns and ammunition absolutely necessary. As the situation is today, our vessels are without guns of any sort to replace these suddenly disabled or withdrawn from service. The reserve supply, it is estimated, should be 25 per cent of the guns now in service, while the reserve quantity of powder must be much greater. It is said in the report of the joint Army and Navy Board that it would not take more than half an hour for a ship to exhaust its supply of ammunition, and of course, in time of action such provision must be made to replenish the depleted magazines. This can be done, according to a plan offered by the joint board of having ammunition ships, which would have to be especially designed to carry vast quantities of the powder and shell, and be accessible to the vessels on the firing line. At present, the board points out, the only way we have of getting ammunition to a ship is by means of one of the colliers which is specially fitted for this purpose. It is believed that the ammunition could be acquired and retained in stock. There may be a large quantity of smokeless powder stored without fear of deterioration. The powder experts of the navy say that the latest type of ammunition may be depended upon to keep with our serious change, and that the only variation is due to evaporation, which does not affect in any way the stability of the powder. The failure to acquire reserve guns and powder is regarded by the joint board as of the utmost gravity.

A BIT OF INTERNATIONAL COURTESY

SOCORRO REJOICES AT

PLENTY OF WATER

AND IT IS NOW THOUGHT AN ARTESIAN FLOW WILL BE STRUCK.

Special to The Evening Citizen. Socorro, N. M., Feb. 9.—The Socorro Irrigation company's experimental well, put down by Contractors Gibbons and Keeler, near this city, has proved a wonder, at a depth of seventy-three feet. A strong flow of pure, soft water has been struck, and today, before the permanent contract is well by the contractors, an interesting exhibition was given to a large crowd of Socorro's citizens, by forcing the pumps to their full capacity for several hours, which proved conclusively that the volume of the flow is much greater than the most sanguine expected. Another feature of the strike is a vibrating pressure at this very shallow depth, that amounts to an artesian flow at times, which indicates that had their contract called for a greater depth, a permanent artesian well would have been the result. Messrs Gibbons and Keeler start at once on the well for the Bohemian colony, and the result beyond question will be an artesian flow which will make the valley around the Gem City a garden spot.

RETAIL LUMBER MEN

ARE IN CONVENTION. Hartford, Conn., Feb. 9.—The annual meeting of the Connecticut Retail Lumber Dealers' Association opened here today with a large attendance, representing every section of the state. The opening session was held at Putnam Phalanx Hall, this morning, and after the meeting the delegates adjourned to the Millen House for luncheon. There will be some interesting addresses in the afternoon session.

PRESIDENT CASTRO

GETS PUGNACIOUS

Is Enlisting Troops and Busy Preparing For War.

TROUBLE TENDS TO REVOLT

Massacre of French and Americans Would Not be at All Unlikely

Willenstadt, Island of Curacao, Friday, Feb. 9.—(Delayed in Transmission.)—A traveler who arrived here from Venezuela says that President Castro is busily engaged in enlisting troops and preparing for war. Information from the best sources indicates that the people do not support Castro, and that he may be given the blockade is declared. Well posted citizens express the fear that the French citizens in Venezuela will be in danger if war breaks out. President Castro is of a revengeful nature, and the inhabitants of the country are at his mercy. It is non-grata, and that he may be given his passports. Matters are nearing a climax. General Alcantara, of Venezuela, who was educated at West Point, has been appointed to the military command at La Guaira. He has received orders to fire on any French warships the moment they are sighted.

ANNUAL EXHIBITION

OF PENNSYLVANIA ART.

Erie, Pa., Feb. 9.—The annual Art Exhibition, under the auspices of the Erie Art Club, will open this evening with a private view of the display in the Art Gallery of the Public Library. The exhibition this year is confined to water colors and miniatures, but to make up for the lack of oil paintings, and larger works, the best artists of the country are represented in the exhibition by some of their choicest works.

NO HOPE NOW OF COAL AGREEMENT.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—At a meeting of the Illinois coal operators, which was held today at the Auditorium hotel, it was decided by unanimous vote to refuse the demands made by the United Mine Workers of America.

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION

GIVEN PRESIDENT DOLAN.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 9.—Patrick Dolan, president of District No. 5, of the United Mine Workers of America, went into court today and secured a temporary injunction restraining the delegates to the district convention now in session here from interfering with him in his power as district organizer.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION

Bangor, Me., Feb. 9.—Nearly one hundred boys, representing the various Y. M. C. A. branches and a number of boys' clubs in different parts of the state, are assembled here to attend the convention which has been called for the purpose of organizing a Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A. in this state, similar to such organizations existing in connection with the Y. M. C. A. in other states.

The convention will open this evening with a banquet at the Y. M. C. A. building. At this banquet the visitors and their hosts will have an opportunity of getting acquainted with one another and the way will be paved by the work which is to follow. The opening meeting of the convention will be held immediately after the banquet and it is expected that the organization of the Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A. of Maine will be effected without delay. As this is the first time the representatives of the different boys' associations have come together, the officers are to be elected and all the other work has to be done which is required in perfecting such an organization. Tomorrow there will be several sessions. Committees will be appointed to attend to the work of the various sections. The committee will submit their reports and then the plans for the work of next year will be laid. In the afternoon meeting several interesting papers will be read by delegates. These papers will deal with interesting features of the work done by boys' associations elsewhere and will contain suggestions for the work of the new association. At the meeting tomorrow evening Edgar M. Robinson of New York, the international secretary of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., will deliver an illustrated lecture on the work of boys' departments elsewhere. The Rev. George W. Hinckley, of Good Will Farm, will also address the convention.

WOUNDED MAN SAYS

WHO WAS GUILTY

For Two Months Refused all Information on the Subject.

HE CHARGES IT TO EMMONS

California Senator Recently Sent to Penitentiary For Boozing.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 9.—A special to the Examiner from Los Angeles says that Charles E. Ehler, who was shot just above the heart, in Bakerfield, on December 7, last, has arrived there and has broken his long silence regarding the shooting. He made the following statement: "Until now, I have refused to say who shot me. I have been a mooted question whether it was done by some one interested in the Goebel murder case of Frankfort, Ky., in which I am credited with having been an important witness, or State Senator Emmons of Bakerfield. He then goes on to say that Emmons shot him for an alleged insult to Mrs. Emmons. Emmons is now serving a term in the state penitentiary, having been convicted of boozing at the last session of the legislature."

PRESBYTERIAN YOUNG

MEET IN VIRGINIA.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 9.—One of the most extensive Sunday School conferences ever held in this state opened here this morning in the lecture room of the Second Presbyterian church. It will continue to February 18. The Rev. A. L. Phillips, general superintendent of Sabbath Schools and Young People's Societies in the Presbyterian church, is in charge of the conference. The formal opening of the conference will take place this evening. The Rev. A. L. Phillips will preside and a number of interesting addresses will be delivered. The program which has been prepared for the conference is very interesting and will embrace all questions connected with the Sunday School and the Young People's Society. An effort will be made to enlist the interest and activities of all classes of workers.

DAVENPORT SOCIALISTS

PREPARE PLATFORM.

Davenport, Ia., Feb. 9.—A mass convention of the Socialists of this city will be held at Claus Groth Hall this evening for the purpose of organizing a party, adopting the platform and nominating candidates for the coming spring campaign. The platform, which has already been prepared by a committee, and will be submitted at the convention, this evening, embodies the principal features of the Socialist doctrine. It is intended to put a full ticket in the field.

BROKER'S LIABILITIES

GREATLY EXCEED ASSETS.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—William Hooten, a grain broker, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today. He scheduled his liabilities at $55,600, and his assets at $140.

MAN IS FROZEN HARD AND STIFF

Minnesota Man Found Dead With $168 in His Pockets.

COLLIERIES SUSPEND WORK

In Pennsylvania on Account of the Unusually Heavy Snow Fall.

SCHUYLKILL TRAFFIC STOPPED

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 9.—Frozen so hard that sharp knives could make no impression, the body of Martin Brockman lies in an undertaker's shop in this city. The body was found in a snow drift just outside of the city, frozen as solid as ice. As soon as the body thawed sufficiently a post mortem will be held. Certificates of deposit for $100 and $50 in cash, were found in the pockets of the unfortunate man.

HEAVY SNOW AND COLD

WEATHER IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Mahoney City, Pa., Feb. 9.—Several collieries in this region were forced to suspend today on account of a heavy fall of snow during the night. Trolley traffic is completely tied up. A work train on the Mahoney & Hamilton division of the Lehigh Valley railroad is completely tied up in a cut a short distance from this place. More than a foot of snow has fallen, and the storm shows no signs of abating.

TRAINS LATE AND TROLLEY

SERVICE CRIPPLED.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 9.—Snow to the depth of eight inches fell during the night throughout the Schuylkill valley. All trains are late from thirty minutes to one hour late today, and suburban trolley service is badly crippled.

PANAMA TRADE DIVIDED

CRESCENT CITY HAS PART.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 9.—As the result of constant complaints that the merchants of New York have the advantage in selling goods, the Panama Canal Commission has been appointed the purchasing agent of the Panama Railroad company, and for the next year it will buy one-half of all the supplies needed in New York, the other half in New Orleans. Heretofore all these supplies were purchased in New York. At the end of the year the purchasers will determine which city offers the better advantage and is the better to make purchases in. The local merchants will make energetic efforts to hold the Panama trade, if it can be done.

NOT MUCH DONE OF NOTE IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—Pension legislation had the right of way in the house today. The calendar contained 135 senate bills, 293 house bills and one correcting military record. Before taking up pensions the house voted to adjourn until Monday, after today's session.

LITTLE BROWN FARMERS

HAVE VALUABLE LANDS.

North Platte, Neb., Feb. 9.—In setting aside irrigable lands, which come under the big government canal near Guernsey, the government has discovered that colony of Japanese has obtained control of a big body of the best land of the lands and are busy farming them. The lands are almost worthless when the Japanese took charge of them, but now they are fertile and valuable. The Japanese were brought in to work in the sugar beet fields, but soon emancipated themselves and started their own farms. They cannot be dispossessed.

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION

GIVEN PRESIDENT DOLAN.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 9.—Patrick Dolan, president of District No. 5, of the United Mine Workers of America, went into court today and secured a temporary injunction restraining the delegates to the district convention now in session here from interfering with him in his power as district organizer.

FORAKER TAKES INITIAL STEP

Offers His Amendment to Joint Statehood Bill For Territories.

DEFICIENCY BILL PASSED

Smoot Case Adjourned to Procure Witnesses For The Defense.

HOUSE ACTION IS UNIMPORTANT

Special to Evening Citizen. Washington, Feb. 9.—At the beginning of today's session Senator Foraker presented his amendment to the statehood bill directing the method of proceeding in Arizona and New Mexico on the question of admission. It directs that within thirty days after the approval of the statehood bill by congress the governors of the two territories shall respectively call elections for submitting the question of statehood. The voters of the proposed state shall vote by separate territories and the union shall not be consummated unless a majority of the votes in each territory shall be cast in the affirmative. The 80th question to be submitted to the electors is: "Shall Arizona and New Mexico be united to form one state? Yes, No?" The governors shall send the returns to the secretary of the interior, and if it be found that the majority in either territory have voted "No," the act shall be null and void except as to the section providing for the expenses of the election.

SENATE CONSIDERS

NUMBER OF BILLS.

Washington, Feb. 9.—The senate committee on interstate commerce today began the consideration of the Hepburn rate bill which passed the house yesterday. It is generally conceded that the Hepburn bill with only a few modifications, will have the majority report when the committee votes next Friday. Senator Patterson moved to strike out of the deficiency bill the provision abrogating the eight hour law upon the canal zone. He argued that the provision was adverse to Americans as well as aliens. Patterson's amendment was defeated without division. The senate passed the urgent deficiency bill and decided to adjourn until Monday.

SMOOT INVESTIGATION

GOES OVER AWHILE.

Washington, Feb. 9.—The introduction of evidence against Senator Reed Smoot was closed by the protestants' council today. A. S. Worthington, who represented the senate, said he was not ready to proceed but that he would communicate with Chairman Burrows within a few days. The character of the evidence offered this session, said Worthington, had convinced him that it might be necessary to call from one hundred to two hundred witnesses to disprove the testimony of the prosecution, unless the committee will permit the filing of affidavits. He said Smoot is anxious that the case be closed and that there should not be one day of unavoidable delay.

DAVENPORT SOCIALISTS

PREPARE PLATFORM.

Davenport, Ia., Feb. 9.—A mass convention of the Socialists of this city will be held at Claus Groth Hall this evening for the purpose of organizing a party, adopting the platform and nominating candidates for the coming spring campaign. The platform, which has already been prepared by a committee, and will be submitted at the convention, this evening, embodies the principal features of the Socialist doctrine. GREATLY EXCEED ASSETS.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—William Hooten, a grain broker, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today. He scheduled his liabilities at $55,600, and his assets at $140.

GEORGIA ANXIOUS FOR

NATIONAL MANEUVERS

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 9.—The people of Georgia are very anxious that their state be chosen as the battleground for the mimic battles of the army maneuvers to be held this year. The last army maneuvers on a large scale were held in Virginia in 1904. They surpassed, in magnitude, any army maneuvers ever held in this country, and there were about thirty thousand troops engaged in the various operations. It is believed that the maneuvers this year, if they are held at all, will be on a larger scale even than the maneuvers in Virginia. For that reason the people of Georgia are working with great energy, to have their state selected as the battleground.

It is still doubtful whether congress will make an appropriation for holding such maneuvers, but to be prepared for any emergency, the Georgia congressmen have been urged and petitioned to use their utmost efforts to have the maneuvers held in this state. Should Georgia be selected for the purpose, it would mean a great deal to the state. It would attract a large number of people to the state, who are anxious to get a glimpse of the warlike operations. The War Department always invites the governor of the state in which the maneuvers are held and of the adjacent states to these maneuvers, and requests them to send state troops to participate in them, the only condition being that the states assume all expenses attached to the movement and maintenance of their troops. The pressure brought to bear upon the War Department by congressmen and senators usually decides the state where the maneuvers will be held and as the western states have had several in former years, it is believed that Georgia stands a good show to be selected. If the maneuvers are held, these maneuvers are always held in the fall, after the crops have been harvested, in order to cause as little loss as possible to the farmers. The government invariably pays for any actual damage that is done.

MURDERER CONLEY

WILL PAY PENALTY

For His Crimes on the Scaffold at Taos Friday, February 16.

GOVERNOR WILL NOT INTERFERE

John Conley, convicted of murder in the first degree, for the killing of James Redding, near Questa, Taos county, will hang at Taos, February 16, Governor Hagerman yesterday said that he would not commute the sentence nor interfere in any way with the carrying out of the death penalty. Conley is now in jail at Taos awaiting the day of execution. His attorney is still in Santa Fe, but yesterday admitted that all hope of saving his client's life had disappeared. When asked regarding the case, Governor Hagerman said:

"The Conley case was brought to my attention immediately after I assumed the duties of governor. Since then I have carefully listened to all those who came to me in regard to the matter, whether they were those who desired the sentence commuted or opposed such action.
"I have consulted with attorneys and men in whom I have the greatest confidence and who have absolutely no interest in the case, regarding the points of law involved. I have read the evidence as presented by both sides at the trial. As a result I have reached the conclusion that I would not be justified in any way in interfering with the decree of the court. The trial was eminently a fair one. The judge in every instance when there was any question as to the evidence submitted, decided the point in favor of the prisoner.
"In reaching a final conclusion in regard to the case, I have not allowed myself to be influenced one way or the other by sectional feeling from any particular part of the territory. Therefore, I must in reason, refuse to commute Conley's sentence."

DECLARED DEAD BY THE DOCTORS AND STILL LIVES

MEXICAN GIRL ATTEMPTS SUICIDE BY DRINKING POISON. PHYSICIANS PRONOUNCE LIFE EXTINCT—BURIAL PERMIT IS SIGNED—RECOVERS.

A special dispatch from El Paso, dated Feb. 7, says: Pronounced dead by three doctors and a coroner, Esther Cardosa, a beautiful young Mexican girl, still lives.
For twenty-four hours she lay on her bed in the death chamber, while funeral preparations went forward. At the eleventh hour a Mexican physician was called to see her. He applied some remedies, and before the astonished eyes of her relatives, who had been praying for the repose of her soul, Esther gradually showed signs of life.

She is still weak, but it is believed that she will recover completely. Crazed by the pain of blood poisoning in her finger, caused by the prick of a needle, she attempted to end her own life by drinking a quantity of carbolic acid. After two physicians had done all in their power to save the girl, they pronounced her dead. The city physician and the coroner were called, and the former declared life to be extinct, while the latter signed the burial permit. They declared themselves unplugged to explain the return to life of the girl. Esther, since her narrow escape from death, has lost all desire to die.

Common Colds Are the Cause of Many Serious Diseases.

Physicians who have gained a national reputation as analysts of the cause of various diseases, claim that if catching cold could be avoided a long list of dangerous ailments would never be heard of. Every one knows that pneumonia and consumption originate from a cold, and chronic catarrh, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles are aggravated and rendered more serious by each fresh attack. Do not risk your life or take chances when you have a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure it before these diseases develop. This remedy contains no opium, morphine or other harmful drug and has thirty years of reputation back of it, gained by its cures under every condition. For sale by all druggists.

Battling Nelson has put in bank nearly $10,000 since he defeated Britt, and as his money-making power is still at the top he should be pretty well fixed financially before he receives the slumber-inducing poke.

BRAVADO OR A PRIOR LOVE AFFAIR?

THE GAY SET IN NEW YORK HAVE TWO VERSIONS OF MRS. YERKES' DECISION TO MARRY MINZER.

New York, Feb. 8.—What the real motives were that changed Mrs. Chas. T. Yerkes from a widow of a month and a day into the bride of Wilton Minzer will probably never be told. It is to be surmised that the gay youthful benefactor will never give a recount of his wooing, and it is more than probable that the recent widow and newly made wife will never relate the truth of that hurried marriage.

Mrs. Yerkes-Minzer admits the 45 summers that she has lived, though to tell the truth she does not look them. She is about 16 years the senior of her new lord and master.

No matter how ardent the six-footer from California may have been in his love making, still gossip asks: "Why did she marry him?"

As Mrs. Yerkes, the widow of the railroad magnate, she had everything that she could desire. With her vast wealth she could have had the entire into the most exclusive of New York's ultra set. That is, she could if she had made the effort and conformed to everything that was conventional, conservative and stiff. She had been kept from the fashionable side of life on account of certain little affairs of her husband, and, according to all sides, social pretension was one of the things at which she vainly grasped.

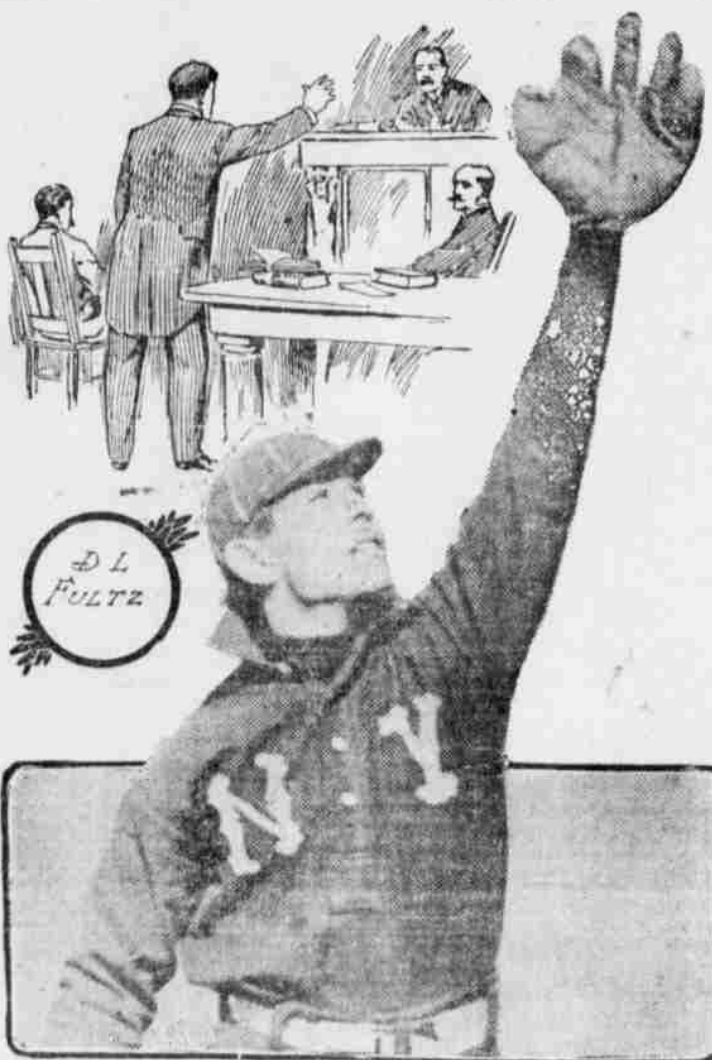

The guesses are many. Some of the women of the gay New York set declare that it was foolish pride that caused the Widow Yerkes to become Mrs. Wilton Minzer. These assert, with knowing nods of the head, that her vanity was seriously wounded when she discovered that she was not alone in the affection of the traction millionaire. It was bravado, these knowing ones claim, and that she wanted to show the world that there was a young, a handsome, a gay man, longing to marry her.

There are others, with sly winks and knowing smiles, who claim that the groom was the man who feared a rival, and insisted on a hasty marriage. These say that there had been a friendship existing between the couple for a year or more. After the death of Mr. Yerkes the newly made groom considered that others would be applicants for her hand and hand. That he then began a persistent courting for an immediate marriage, and that finally she was prevailed upon to give her consent.

The ceremony was then performed with the distinct understanding upon her part that the wedding should not be made known for several months to come. It is said that she determined to go through a period of conventional mourning, and finally go to Europe and there Minzer was to follow. He, however, feeling that even documentary proof was not sufficient, let some friend into the secret, and that this friend proved his friendship by rushing off to a newspaper office with the news.

to the breeze: "David L. Fultz, attorney." There are few in this avenue of the dollar king who associate the name and the profession with that of the well known ball player, who nearly lost his life in a collision with Norman Elberfeld, the shortstop, during a game late last season.

Fultz is a young man of exemplary habits. He is a Y. M. C. A. worker and his baseball contract always carried the provision that he should not be called upon to play ball on Sunday. Fultz is a graduate of Brown college, where he was one of the football stars a few years ago. He has been fitting himself for several years for the legal profession, and while he could earn a handsome living on the diamond for several years to come, yet he says he must give up the game some time and as it is a long, hard row for a young lawyer to build up a practice, the sooner he starts in the better, he says. Conroy will probably succeed Fultz in center field with the New York Americans.

Rough Hands Made Smooth.

A man who once has rough, horny hands made them as smooth and supple as those of a child with the use of the famous Hazel Salve, but he used the genuine—that bearing the name "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago." For sores, boils, cuts, burns, bruises, etc., it has no equal, and affords almost immediate relief from blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles. Sold by all druggists.

RATON A BUSY BUSTLING TOWN

Two New Banks Established,
Many Buildings Going Up,
New Raton Railroad.

TIGHT LID ON AT GATE CITY

Special Correspondence.

Raton, N. M., Feb. 8.—This seems a very busy place, but the natives claim that there is no boom on—just a steady growth, with probably a little increase in transactions as the result of two new railroads that are about to build through Colfax county.

At the hotel, the landlady told me that I could have a room just as soon as some one goes up. The house was full. At the restaurant, the waiter told me that the coffee was just sold out, and it was only $3.30 in the morning.

The building going on in Raton at present, an influential citizen told me, constituted about twenty-five residences. Eighteen business blocks are planned for the year, the work to begin as soon as the weather will permit. The weather, however, I am told, has been mild during the great part of the winter, and that had those who expect to erect business buildings expected as much, the work might have progressed through the winter unhindered as far as the weather is concerned.

One evidence of the general prosperity and growth of Raton and Colfax county is the birth of two new banks, the New Mexico National, capitalized for $100,000, a protégé of the Monarch National bank of Pueblo, Colo., and the Raton National bank, capitalized for $75,000, which is organized of El Paso, Alamogordo, Albuquerque and Raton capital, local people holding the large part of the stock. Benjamin Sherrod, of Alamogordo, will be cashier of the latter bank.

New Railroads.—The Raton, Rocky Mountain & Pacific and the Santa Fe, Raton & Eastern. The St. Louis, Rocky Mountain & Pacific is 120 miles long and extends from Des Moines, on the Colorado & Southern, to Elizabethtown, spanning Colfax county from east to west, penetrating the coal fields of the county. When completed it will be operated to develop the coal lands recently purchased by the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain & Pacific Coal company from the Maxwell Land Grant company, which is reported to include the coal on about 800,000 acres of land valued at $14,000,000.

J. W. Records, formerly of Albuquerque and more recently of Estancia, is now in charge of this road. Although the rails are not laid yet, the equipment, including eight engines and ninety cars, have begun to arrive in Raton.

The Santa Fe, Raton & Eastern is apparently a branch of the Santa Fe. It is seven miles in length and extends into coal fields east of Raton.

Raton is Growing.—Although the people of the Gate City stick together pretty well on the statement that the place has a population of 6,000, a conservative estimate will place it at 5,000. The ballot boxes showed 840 voters in 1904. Using the usual method of calculating population by five Raton had 4,200 population in 1904. The town saw a good growth during the year 1905. Rent is high in Raton. New houses of 5, 6 and 7 rooms bring from $20 to $30 per month. However, there are very few vacant houses in Raton.

Still Making Cigars.—Robert Massey, formerly of Albuquerque, has a cigar shop here, and says that he is doing well. Mr. Massey employs two cigar makers in his shop and works at the bench himself. He finds a local market sufficient to consume the product of his factory.

A District Attorney Worth Having.—The lid is on tight in Raton. The Sunday law is enforced according to the statutes and the denizens of the place point to the darkened windows with swelling pride.

Colfax county has a brick court house built within fifty feet of a mountain of sandstone said to be of very good building quality.

Coal brings $2.50 a ton delivered. There is very little stonework talk in Colfax county. The land grant and coal corporations apparently are against any kind of stonework, while the common people hesitate about expressing themselves either for or against joint stonework.

As an office-holder put it, "It's those fellows who are out that want a change."

Mike Donlin made the circuit of the bases more times than any baseball player in any league last season.

BUTTERMILK.
A Surer Way Out.

The "butter milk fad," which its followers insisted was the cure for all ills that human flesh is heir to, has pretty well died away.

Buttermilk is a pleasant and healthy drink, but there are a whole lot of desirable things that it cannot do. A Nebraska woman found something much more worth while. She says:

"Three years ago my stomach was in such a frightful condition that I could scarcely bear to take any food at all. Indeed, there was once that I went for fourteen days without a morsel of nourishment, preferring starvation to the aunts around that I suffered when I ate anything. And all this entailed upon me almost constant headaches and nervousness. My condition was truly pitiable."

"The doctor warned me that the coffee I drank was chiefly responsible for this condition, and ordered me to drink buttermilk instead. But I despised buttermilk and could not bring myself to use it."

"Then I was advised to try Postum Food Coffee. It has completely renovated and made over my whole system. The salutary effect on my poor stomach was simply marvelous, and that, straightened out, the headaches, nervousness and other troubles soon vanished. For more than a year I have not felt any distress or pain, such as I once thought would kill me."

"I can truthfully say that Postum has brought me the blessing of the perfect health I enjoy, for I gave up medicines when I began its use."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pages.

ITS ONWARD STEADY MARCH

Real estate is steadily advancing in price and people who are qualified to pass opinion on such matters, say that the coming season will be a record breaker for building. A few choice lots still unsold in the Eastern, Perea and Grant Additions, from $100, $150 to $200 per lot. Only $10 down, balance $5 per month. Buy now, the investments will make you rich in a few years.

"Are you an Odd Fellow?" Even bears of Wall street, is made the more or less difficult to make heads or tails of the performance given last night by the Ethel Tucker Stock company, to a fair sized audience, entitled, "Are You an Odd Fellow?" But it was not necessary for one to differentiate between the upper and lower extremities of the piece to enjoy a hearty laugh, and much merriment was derived from the production of the comedy by those present, whether they laughed with or at the actors it was hard to tell. As usual, the specialties of Verdon and Dunlap were the hit of the evening. This very clever team has "made good" at each performance, and Miss Dunlap's "stage smile" caught the audience last night as strongly as at the previous performances. The members of last night's cast got all there was possible out of the parts assigned them, and they pleased, which, after all, is the object of all theatrical companies.

"THE STRENGTH OF THE WEAK," TOMORROW NIGHT.

"The Strength of the Weak," is the title of the new play in four acts, by

Florence Roberts in "The Strength of the Weak."

Allice M. Smith, which Florence Roberts will present at the Elks' opera house tomorrow night.

Instead of following other actresses in parts made famous, Miss Roberts enters this season upon her contract with John Cort, who will provide at least one new play for his star each season for the next five years. In "The Strength of the Weak," Miss Roberts has what is said to be the best part she has ever portrayed. It is particularly well suited to her capabilities as an emotional actress, while there are several other characters in the play which are important enough to command almost equal attention. "The Strength of the Weak" is a new modern play in four acts. The story concerns the struggles of a young orphan, who, at the opening of the play, is about to graduate at a woman's college. She has written a book, said to be the story of her life, which is published anonymously, and the disclosure of the author's name comprises one of the many interesting complications. Max Pignat, the well known comedian and stage director, heads the company with Miss Roberts, which includes such capable players as James E. Wilson, Eugene Ormonde, Lucius Henderson, Robert McWade, Gregory Rodgers, Joseph Hadden, Florence Robinson, Ade, Lida, Manola, Ruth Allen, Lucile York, Mary Bertrand and Lillian Armaly.

FRENZIED FINANCE
IN THE LIMELIGHT.
It was a "cineb" that sooner or later "Frenzied Finance" would "butt into" the limelight of the drama, and now that it has arrived, one wonders that the theme has not been dramatized before now. In "The Lion and the Mouse," frenzied finance, as exemplified by the millionaire bulls and that her voice has so great possibilities, that she is to accompany Calve to Paris and receive free instructions from her.

Miss Badger has been playing in a small stock company in San Francisco, and her voice has oftentimes caused comment on the part of musical critics. When Calve appeared in San Francisco on a concert tour, Miss Badger was persuaded by her friends to such an interview with the great singer, which, after some hesitation, she did. Calve heard the young woman sing at her apartment in the St. Francis hotel and clasped her hands in ecstatic approval. Then, much to Miss Badger's surprise, she offered to superintend her instruction in Paris. Calve has acquired the best battle covering proteges in California, not long ago she took a mere child from Los Angeles under her wing, and more recently a girl from Seattle found in her a musical benefactress.

BIG GEORGIA MINSTRELS
COMING TO ALBUQUERQUE.
Some way or other it always happens that judicious advertising succeeds. Judicious means many things. Some people better never advertise. This can be said of many shows. Some attractions better never advertise. Managers who are not honest, whose advertisements mislead and whose shows disappoint—they had better let advertising alone.

The managers of Richards & Prince's Famous Georgia Minstrels endeavor to advertise nothing but what they can show. They are in a class by themselves, being the only recognized negro minstrels that play the first-class theaters, and cannot afford to mislead their patrons.

Some show people are careless in their statements. They become so used to writing "biggest," "grandest," "greatest," "best," and "world's largest," that they can only think in superlatives. They mean to be honest—probably are. They are merely careless and failure is the price of carelessness.

Go to the Elks' opera house on Wednesday night, February 14, and judge if the Georgians are over-advertised.

Young Mahoney and Hugo Kelly, who recently fought a draw, will meet at Hot Springs, February 16.

Charles Murphy says he is banking on Sebring. But the "outlaws" made a run on the bank several weeks ago.

The Kansas university has declared for football under the present playing rules just to be different from other institutions of learning. That's the Kansas way.

Louis Criger, of the Boston Americans, is believed to be critically ill with neuralgia of the spine and fears are entertained that it will go into spinal meningitis.

W. Gould Brokaw, a New York millionaire, has ordered an automobile that will run one mile in 25 seconds. Fred H. Marriott will probably be engaged to run it.

Battling Nelson will not have to do much training for his coming fight with McGovern. Nelson weighs only 126 pounds now, and as the fight is at 143, he can easily come down to it.

Joe Gans will probably take on Jack Dougherty, the latest aspirant for welterweight honors. Dougherty defeated Billy Ryan in eight rounds at Milwaukee and is shining him right in line for a chance at the smoked Baltimorean.

Jack Root, who has not fought since he met Max Baer in Reno, Nev., will re-enter the ring the latter part of this month to meet Fred Russell for a purse of $1,000. The fight will take place before the Kalamazoo (Mich.) Athletic club.

Because Wheeling, W. Va., won the pennant last season the management is having trouble with the team. Nearly every player on the team demands an increase in salary. They say they want a share of the extra cash they brought to the gate. Do the players on tall teams ever share the losses of the management?

President Eliot, of Harvard, has made another attack on football, declaring it to be more vicious than prize fighting. He says it causes an unreasonable number of injuries and deaths. He does not believe that the authorities who have permitted a condition of evil to grow up in the game should be trusted to eliminate that evil.

John Wren, an Australian, seems to be the real sport of the antipodes. Recently his horse won the cup race in Melbourne and he cleaned up the big sum of $250,000. Wren is trying to induce Jeffries to fight that country and has offered him $10,000 to come to Melbourne and meet the champion Australian prize fighter, the money to be paid win or lose.

Battling Nelson has at last posted his forfeit for the fight with McGovern and there is no longer any doubt that the two little fellows will get together. McGovern seems to be in as good condition as he ever was and should give the Dane the best battle of his life. Terrible Terry's friends are confident he will be returned a winner, but will hold off for odds in the betting. Nelson should be about 4 to 5.

The sporting fraternity this evening will find all paths leading to Casino hall, in Old Albuquerque. The two keen gridiron rivals from the University of New Mexico and the Central High school are to meet in the arena and fight "it out." That it will be a bitter struggle goes without saying. Both clubs have been daily working out preparatory for the battle and the team work, basket "shooting," offensive and defensive work of both organizations are said to be well nigh perfect. At 8:15 o'clock hostilities will commence. At its conclusion both clubs will try and forget the worsting or victory in the dance slated to take place.

Columbia college students do not take kindly to the attempt of the athletic committee to foist the English Rugby football game on them. The committee witnessed the game put up by the New Zealanders and were delighted with it, as not a player had his shins barked during the progress of the game. The students also saw the play and declared it was too mild to be sportsmanlike. They say they want a game that requires blood and iron.

Jack O'Brien has accepted the offer to cross the pond and fight Jack Palmer, heavyweight champion of England, for a purse of $10,000, early in June. Before going abroad O'Brien will fight Tommy Ryan for the mid-dleweight championship—that is, if Ryan can be coaxed into the ring. There is something of a suspicion that when it comes time for Ryan to put up forfeit money he will flake on the claim that he cannot get into condition. Ryan has a bad stomach. Marvin Hart will be given a chance to meet O'Brien in May.

Regarding the annual base ball game to be held in San Bernardino, Cal., February 22, between teams representing the office force of the transportation department and clerks in the offices of the master mechanic and coast lines store-keeper, a San Bernardino paper says:

"The latest find of the transportation team is 'Polly' Auld, who was the star pitcher of the high school inter-scholastic league for a couple of seasons. He is now railroading on the transportation side of the yards and will occupy the slab for that team. The man behind the bat will be Ferris, whom there is no better. Auld and Ferris should make a very fast combination."

"But the mechanical and store house team has a card up its sleeve, which has just been discovered, and this adds interest. Within the next few days the office of Head Store-keeper Custer will have been removed here from Albuquerque. In that office force it is a very fast battery. In Albuquerque they have been known as 'Custer's battery.' And they have been drafted to play with the mechanical and storehouse team."

"Polly" Auld, for years, was a faithful carrier for The Evening Citizen, and we know he will win his game."

Luckiest Man in Arkansas.
"I am the luckiest man in Arkansas," writes H. L. Stanley, of Bruno "since the restoration of my wife's health after five years of continuous coughing and bleeding from the lungs; and I owe my good fortune to the world's greatest medicine, Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which I know from experience will cure consumption if taken in time. My wife in proved with the first bottle and twelve bottles completed the cure." Cures the worst coughs and colds or money refunded. At all drug stores. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

FORMER LAS VEGAS
CITIZEN ELECTED SECRETARY.
Carl Lehman, formerly of Las Vegas, who is now residing at Dever, was elected state secretary of the Colorado Christian Endeavor, at the recent state convention. Mr. Lehman is well known in that city and was prominent in young people's work in the Presbyterian church. His mother and sister reside in Las Vegas.

Freightfully Burned.
Clas, W. Moore, a machinist, of Engi City, Pa., had his hand freightfully burned in an electrical furnace. He applied Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with the usual result, a quick and permanent cure. Greatest healer on earth for Burns, Wounds, Sores, Eczema and Piles, 25c, at all drug stores.

The City Election

As a consistent republican paper, and the only one of that kind published in Albuquerque, The Evening Citizen is opposed to a mongrel, compromise, special interest, individual, or any other kind of city ticket, for the approaching election, other than one selected on party lines and for party purposes.

As The Citizen showed on yesterday, this is a representative government in its varied departments of city, county, state and federal association; and the only means of conducting a representative government has been fully demonstrated to be through political parties. This demonstration has been made, not only in the United States and England, but also in France, Germany and other countries in the government of which representation holds a place.

Parties have their machinery by which the wishes of each party can be readily ascertained, and then the election follows showing which party is in the majority. There is no other plan at present by which the majority can express their wishes, or in other words by which the majority may rule. Suppose there should be an absence of party politics in the approaching election, as the morning paper proposes, how could the candidates be chosen and what would be the ground of their choice?

Evidently there would be a gathering together of a certain clique, having an axe to grind, and a ticket would be put in the field, probably non-partisan but certainly committed to the interest or interests which the clique desired exploited. But there are many having axes to grind and therefore having their special candidates to propose, and thus there would surely be a number of tickets, divided not by political questions, but by private interests, selected not by the people but by agitators, and ultimately elected not by a majority, but only a plurality.

But what would be the ground of selection? There will be eleven officials to elect. Will those nominated be selected because they are the best qualified men in the city for the positions? Every one knows that such a claim is absurd. There are hundreds of men in this city equally qualified for any and all of the offices. Then on what ground will the ticket be selected? If not on political lines, then there must be some other line. There must be some ground of selection. Can any one suggest a better, more easily conducted and more acceptable method of selection than the long practiced and always satisfactory one of nomination by political parties?

It is altogether incorrect to say that either in Albuquerque or in other cities fusion tickets have grown in popularity. For years the city elections have been strictly on party lines. Occasionally some candidate because of his personal popularity, as in the case of Mayor McKee, has been elected from the defeated ticket, but even he was nominated on a party ticket, and the majority of every city council has been elected by the party dominant at the time.

The Citizen feels confident that the republican party of Albuquerque has no disposition to allow the Morning Journal to assume the office of dictator by laying down what the party shall do and by selecting the city ticket for it, while the people at large cannot be bamboozled by the water organ into foregoing their right of selecting the city governing body for the next two years.

Coal Operators

How thoroughly coal is a necessity of modern life is evident from the fact that in 1880 the world's product of coal was 370,000,000 tons, of which the United States supplied in round numbers 20 per cent or 74,000,000 tons; but in 1905, the product was in excess of 1,000,000,000 tons, the part supplied by the United States being 39 per cent, or 390,000,000 tons. "Next only to food," says the London Standard, "coal enters largely into domestic life, but its increase or decrease, its rise or fall in price touches the people—every class, condition and age of people—from a thousand directions. No man, woman or child; no home, whether in palace, cottage or hut; no business, from that requiring only the individual's own labor to the mighty enterprise counting its employees by hundreds of thousands—no department of human life can fail to be impressed, and that largely, should the now probable strike of the coal miners go into effect.

The Citizen gave on Wednesday a somewhat detailed account of the preparedness of the miners for the coming fray. As to the preparations of the operators, The Citizen cannot be so explicit. It will suffice to say that the hard coal operators have already begun to accumulate a surplus on hand, the intention being that the combined seven companies shall not have less than 8,000,000 tons by the first of April. No doubt the soft coal operators are and have been pursuing a similar course. But while the operators may recoup their losses by increasing the price of coal, such increase will be a decided affliction to the country at large, nor can it be possible for the operators to secure such a surplus as will meet the necessary demands of the country. Hence, the public cannot but be appalled at the prospect of such a strife between the operators and miners as that which the threatened strike inevitably would be.

Dry Farming Tests

The energetic men who are to make tests in dry farming on rather an extensive scale have already successful results to encourage them. For instance, last season George Ward raised more than 700 pounds of beans on two acres and a half of unirrigated land. This represents a return of about $15 per acre, which is not at all bad, when the fact is taken into consideration that the land was of the class considered entirely unproductive because beyond the reach of water.

It is further important to note that no dry farming methods were employed. Mr. Ward says he merely plowed the land once, planted his beans and let them alone. He undoubtedly cleared $12 an acre on his crop.

This year Mr. Ward is going to test dry farming methods on his own account. He has selected a tract of mesa land which he will plow with a turning plow. Later he will stir the soil to a depth of fifteen inches, harrow it and sow the seed. In place of the dust covering advocated by the Campbell method, he will probably employ straw. Mr. Ward's methods will differ in some degree from those to be followed by the gentlemen who are going to make the test on a larger scale on grant lands, but the essential features will be the same. All such tests will be followed with great interest and with no small faith by the people of Las Vegas.—Las Vegas Optic.

The Citizen has on many occasions urged that there be a meeting of citizens to discuss the water works question, and that such meeting employ an expert to ascertain the true value of the present water plant and a reasonable estimate of the cost for installing a new and up-to-date plant. That there is much dissatisfaction with, and a very large disbelief in the accuracy of, the report made by the water company's expert, it is needless to deny. But even if that report were as accurate as the question is of too much importance to this city to be taken on the statement of a single expert. The people of Albuquerque, who are vitally interested in this matter, should have a report freed from the taint of even possible partiality. Again The Citizen urges a meeting of the citizens of the town, and the discussion of this question among several others.

The state of Ohio, with over $89,000,000 in municipal bonds, held by local banks, owes its distinction as the leader of the list largely to the recent tax-exemption of this class of bonds, coupled with the fact that the state is prolific in municipal issues of sterling character. Cincinnati is a busy center for municipal bond trading. Most of the municipalities of the state have reached that stage in development which calls for heavy expenditures on public works, and the banks find it profitable to invest in local securities of this kind.

Silk Industry to Start at San Diego

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 9.—This place is soon to have a practical demonstration of the possibility of making silk as a commercial venture, and Louis J. Wilde, a local banker, is the financial sponsor for the experiment.

For a long time Mrs. Carrie Williams has shown that silk worms can be successfully raised in the bay region, and has made exhibitions of silk in all its stages from raw to the manufacturer, of that had been produced there. Mr. Wilde has just secured a sighted acre south of San Diego and has contracted for enough mulberry trees to plant eleven acres of this. He has ordered from the east a full set of the machinery used in the silk industry and this will be installed in some temporary building until it has been demonstrated that the work can be carried on there successfully. Perry Weldner, Sr., of Los Angeles, has assured Mr. Wilde that he is ready to invest $15,000 to $25,000 in a mulberry plantation if a local market for cocoons can be built up. From Washington has been sent an ounce of eggs of the silk worm moth, imported from Italy. These will be used in the experiments at San Diego. Until sufficient time has elapsed to develop the merits of the proposition no special building or factory will be erected, but capital will be available as soon as that time arrives.

Rich Man is Put in Common Chain Gang

In Decatur, Ala., they have some right ideas of justice which the rest of the country might observe to the general advantage. A well-to-do jeweler, convicted of beating his wife, has been set to working on the chain gang and to sleeping in the cell with other malefactors. Just why this fact should be deemed of sufficient importance to be printed in every newspaper in the country is a delicate question. Of course, it is because such sentences, obviously just, are very rare. But that only leads to the real question—Why are they rare?

It seems that in Decatur and numerous other places men have been working on chain gangs and sleeping in cells without exciting any remark whatever. But when a man with money is compelled to do the same thing a great exclamation of astonishment sweeps clear across the country. Does money make a man immune against punishments that are dealt out to the moneyless man as a matter of course? Well, the fact is, it does. It is shameful that it must be admitted, but there is no denying it. We are a nation of money worshippers. For the swindler of thief that operates on a magnificent scale we have a sneaking admiration, very properly concealed. A Cassie Chadwick no sooner lands in the penitentiary than noisy sympathy asserts itself from a thousand sources. The bank wrecker has hardly entered upon his minimum sentence before hundreds of the "best people" have signed petitions for his pardon.

What does this mean if not that we are deluded and debased by the worship of money and ever ready to kiss the hand stained with crime, provided that we hear within it the clink of coin? The prisons and chain gangs of the country are filled up with poor devils who are weak creatures of cruel circumstances, who are morally diseased, constantly tempted by want or overwhelmed by evil passions—and for these we have no pitying tears, no regrets, no petitions for pardon. But he or she who has the opportunity and the strength to achieve position and fortune, and so rise above the temptations of ignorance and want, falls, and justifiably we all go to inventing excuses.

New Mexico Women Who Are Nervous

From Las Vegas Optic.

A United States army surgeon of considerable prominence contributes an article to the New York Medical Journal which is of much local interest. The article treats of the nervousness that is apparent among many people of the elevated region of the southwest, and reaches the somewhat surprising conclusion that only blondes are affected, and women more than men. This fact makes the physician look beyond the altitude, so generally blamed as the cause of nervous diseases, to seek some other factor.

The general theory has been that in some way the increased heart and lung action attendant upon life in a rarefied atmosphere has tended to produce nervousness. The physician in question, during three years' service in New Mexico, treated a large number of cases varying from slight lack of self-control to profound nervous depression. Every patient was a blonde, either of decided type or possessing some shade of brown hair and blue eyes. In every instance the blue iris was present. The doctor argues that the man or woman of fair complexion is not well fitted by nature to withstand the constant rays of the sun. He mentions one fair woman who found it soothing to darken her room in the daytime and light a lamp.

The cause of the inability to withstand the sunshine is thought by the doctor to be the small amount of coloring matter in the skin. He instances the case of the dark-skinned native races of the southwest, who have never been affected by nervousness, or any of the diseases supposed to result from altitude. If the findings of the doctor are correct, nature, as in so many other cases, proves her own best remedy, for the power of the southwestern sun is such as frequently to result in the change of complexion from blonde to brunette in a generation.

A Reversal.

"I once attended some legal proceedings in Nevada," says a Philadelphia lawyer, "which were unconventional to say the least. The judge presiding made up what he lacked in legal lore by a certain entertaining joviality. The case before him was windy and long drawn out, and it was plainly to be seen that he was tired and untolerant. To one of his decisions counsel for the defendant promptly took exception and his honor nodded carelessly and settled down in his ample chair. For a moment or two he quietly dropped off to sleep. His chair tilted back against the wall. Suddenly he fell over backward, and, scrambling to his dignity and his seat, he sought to cloak his mishap by exclaiming abruptly and irreverently: 'No, counselor, I must adhere to my decision of a moment ago.'"

"Counsel for the defense arose, and with a serious bow, said: 'Ah, but your honor has just reversed himself most conclusively.'—Harper's Weekly.

COUNCIL RECEIVES WATER CONTRACT

It and Ordinance Received Attention—Sewer Extension Proposition Aired.

IN SESSION THIS AFTERNOON.

A very important meeting of the common council is being held this afternoon.

Two matters are to receive attention in which the public of Albuquerque are deeply interested. One is that relative to the purchase of the plant of the Water Supply company, the other that referring to the sewer system of the city.

Through With Water Question. There is little more for the council to do regarding the water proposition. The local company has decided to accept the city's offer of $250,000 for its plant. The council at its last meeting instructed the city attorney to prepare a contract and the necessary ordinances pertaining to the purchase of the plant. This City Attorney M. E. Hickey has done and the same will be submitted before the council today, discussed at some length, and favorable action taken. This will practically wind up the council's connection with the matter and at the spring election the voters of Albuquerque will decide whether or not they want a municipal water plant.

The Sewer Problem. The sewer problem will receive a general airing. Alderman Walker of the sewer committee, will urge his colleagues to do something immediately in this direction. He will name several experts and request that one of these be selected to come to Albuquerque for the purpose of examining the present system and recommending improvements. It is understood that an expert will be engaged, inasmuch as past experience has taught the city that when any improvements are to be made they should be in accordance to the most modern ideas and it is said that had the present sewer system been built in this way it would not now be necessary to practically construct it anew if the sanitary needs of the municipality are to be properly taken care of. Mr. Walker will inform the council again that the rapid manner in which Albuquerque is growing makes the installation of a new and modern sewer system absolutely necessary.

No Limit to Bond Issues. According to an assessment, Albuquerque property is valued at $2,743,940. The bonded indebtedness of the city at present is about $162,000. Cutting out those bonds where there is no limit to their issuance, this amount will be reduced to less than $50,000. Four per cent of the assessed valuation of Albuquerque is $109,757.60.

Can Float City Hall Bonds. An act of congress also allows cities having a population of 10,000 or over the right of issue of bonds for the erection of a city hall to cost not more than $30,000.

Property Holders Assessed. In view of this perusal of laws and congressional records there seems to be no legal hindrance for the city to float bonds for the water plant, the sewer extension and the city hall. There is a notion among several of the aldermen, however, that the sewer matter can not be gotten in shape for the spring election and on this ground opposition will be injected toward hiring the expert. Then there is a feeling that property owners should be assessed to pay the bonds off with, if they are authorized.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID. All the above matters were discussed at some length. Owing to a general misunderstanding as to the time the council was to convene today, just a quorum was present and action relative to the water contract, proposed by City Attorney Hickey and the engaging of a sewer expert, was deferred until tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock when today's session was adjourned to.

City Attorney Hickey in his report relative to the issuance of bonds for the water plant stated that according to an act of congress passed March 4, 1898, all chartered municipal corporations having a population of not less than 10,000 persons could issue bonds for sanitary and health purposes, the construction of sewers, water works and street improvements. Attorney Hickey said that accordingly bonds could be floated for these purposes with the sanction of two-thirds of the city's qualified voters. In reference to the construction of a city hall the city attorney was authorized to prepare an ordinance providing for the appointment of a person in each ward to take a census of the city in order to ascertain whether there are 10,000 persons in Albuquerque, which number is necessary if bonds are to be floated for the new city hall.

The appointments of Santa Fe special officers Gray and Patterson and William Sisson and L. G. Stevens, as deputy marshals, by the city marshal were approved by the council.

PERSONAL.

John C. Farrell, who held a situation at Zeiger's restaurant but returned to Chicago, is again in the city, coming in last night, accompanied by Mrs. Farrell. It is understood they will reside here in the future.

W. E. Parsons, one of the best baseball players of Santa Fe, who was here on a visit to friends and to talk up some ball, has returned to the territorial capital. He told some of the local players that Santa Fe would have a team in the coming season strong enough to wipe out the face of the earth all the other clubs in the territory, provided games are played against them by the "Santa Fe Terribles."

The matter of disposing of the unlicensed dogs that run at large on the streets of Albuquerque is becoming of great importance—to the dog catcher. Not a day goes by but what some resident of the city registers a vigorous kick against these canines, many of which are heard of a dog collar, and many more of which have cannibalistic appetites and instincts. Let's start a war of extermination on these unlicensed canines.

The last issue of the Catholic Pioneer, contains an able article on "Aerial Navigation—Past, Present and Future," from the pen of Joseph A. Blondin, and to those who desire to be convinced that, in a few short years, aerial navigation will be all the go, The Citizen requests a careful perusal. Mr. Blondin has given the subject matter careful attention and study, and his details from the very beginning of air-ship trials are extremely interesting and instructive.

HOG RANCHMEN ARE INTERESTED

A cry of protest, faint at first, but assuming considerable volume, reaches the ears of Albuquerqueans relative to a city ordinance, passed not recently, and which will shortly compel all residents of the municipality to recognize the official garbage men and no other.

It is from the hotel, restaurant and boarding house keepers that the disconcerted growl emanates. These parties have heretofore reaped no little amount of money from their garbage. One restaurant keeper in the heart of the business section receives $25 a month for his slops. Others are equally well compensated for theirs. It is purchased by hog ranchmen, and is indispensable to them. When Scavenger Mitchell begins his business, these parties claim, that according to the ordinance governing the collection of garbage, they will not only be obliged to do without this revenue, but will have to pay the expenses of regulation to place their refuse in, and pay the garbage man a stipulated amount for removing it, in the bargain.

A prevailing opinion is that the ordinance is unconstitutional as it stands, and the current rumor is that several of the leading restaurant and hotel men will endeavor to sign contracts with the city scavenger for the removal of the garbage until the matter has been taken to the courts and decided.

Some of the hog ranchmen are also preparing to contest the garbage ordinance. It is said, they contending that it takes away from them the opportunity to continue their business, abridges their rights and freedom, and allows a corner to be secured in the raising of hogs; this corner being controlled by the scavenger and those associated with him. The article in The Evening Citizen the other afternoon, wherein it was stated that Alderman W. H. Gillenwater had sold his hogs to Scavenger Mitchell, although realizing at least $1,500 a year in profits, caused more laughter than this paper anticipated, and some say that the reporter who penned the article had more humor in his makeup than usual in such cases.

One gentleman, in discussing the hog selling proposition, stated that it would be a mighty cold day when Captain Gillenwater, who now sits in the council as an alderman from the third ward, and so, it is alleged, one of the garbage men himself, sells out unless there be a mighty long string to the selling.

If the ordinance means that hog raisers must go out of the business—sell out to the official garbage men, who, it is alleged, are F. H. Mitchell, and the financiers, Captain Gillenwater and the Springer Transfer company, then it must be unconstitutional, and such a law has heretofore been so declared by the supreme courts of several states.

Why not compel all those who own cows, dogs, cats and even chickens—they subsist at times on garbage and table refuse—to sell out to the official garbage men?

The Citizen believes in a good garbage law, but it strenuously objects, on behalf of the people, that the official garbage men be made owners of all the live stock in the city that eat garbage.

THE FIRST SELECTION

Of the connoisseur of cigars is invariably a White Lily. Fortunately, it's to be had always at the stores of leading dealers in cigars, drugs and groceries—many fruit and confectionery stores. So the particular user of tobacco in cigar shape need not be disappointed if he calls for his favorite, the White Lily, most any place where good cigars are sold. He will favor us if he lets us know where it isn't to be had. The White Lily sells for five cents the one or $2 the box of 50.

THE FIRST LESSON IN BREAD MAKING. Is the most important of all; that is the selection of proper flour. There is no difficulty about this if Empress Flour is chosen. It is so good and makes such sweet, white and nutritious bread as to be unsurpassed by any milled. The best bread makers use it for that very reason.

Avan Armijo, a Farmer,
Robbed of His Goods Last Night by Onesino Chavez.

COLLARED CULPRIT AND LARD

Avan Armijo, a farmer living in the Sandia mountains, came to Albuquerque yesterday for a load of provisions.

He stocked up with lard, coffee, bread, sausage, wine and sundry other articles, and about 10 o'clock last evening was ready to start back to his ranch.

He drove over on North Third street, en route to Mountain road, for a chat with a friend, hitching his team outside.

Upon his return to the vehicle, not long afterwards, Armijo discovered that he had been robbed. His lard, wine, coffee, etc., had been stolen during his short absence.

Armijo deputized himself as a detective, and made with his nose to the trail, ran into one Onesino Chavez, who was struggling along with a twenty-pound jar of lard, the identical one Armijo had purchased, and placed in his wagon. The farmer collared Chavez, found Patrolman Wagner and turned him over to the officer, after taking him to the store of E. Grady on North Third street long enough to leave the jar of lard there.

Tals morning Chavez claimed he took nothing but the lard, that he was intoxicated at the time, and did it merely as a joke, being of the impression all the time that the lard belonged to a friend of his. As Chavez was convicted January last of stealing an overcoat, and sentenced to serve thirty days in jail, the court took a different view of the man's intent in the matter, and sentenced him to serve sixty days in the county house this time.

ROBBED OF TICKET HERE AND ALL OF HIS MONEY

JOHN GOODWIN, WHILE WAITING FOR HIS TRAIN, WAS VICTIM OF THUGS AT EL PASO.

A report from El Paso says that John Goodwin, a sawman, recently employed at Alamogordo, was sandwiched and robbed there Wednesday night about 12 o'clock, losing $20 and a ticket to Albuquerque.

He had intended to leave for Albuquerque Wednesday night, but missed his train. Later, while taking a drink in the International saloon, on the corner of Fifth and Santa Fe streets, he was met by two Mexicans, an American and the other a Mexican. After they had taken several drinks, it was suggested that they go to the dance hall.

Goodwin started out under protest, and when they had walked for several minutes, both men jumped on him. He was rendered unconscious, and remained in that condition for several minutes. When he regained his senses his money and ticket were gone.

He reported the matter to the police and gave a description of the men, but all efforts to find them proved unsuccessful.

ECLIPSE LAST NIGHT WAS BEAUTIFUL ASPECT

What was probably the most beautiful eclipse of the moon ever visible to residents of Albuquerque, occurred last night. Earlier in the evening the great silvery ball shed its effulgence rays over all this part of the earth, and it was a moonlight night such as is only seen in New Mexico. The heavens were clear, with not a cloud in sight. At about 11:13 p. m. the earth's shadow first began to eclipse the disk of the moon. Rapidly it traveled across the lunar surface, until at 12:12, or thereabouts, the moon was totally eclipsed. It was as though a round covering, the exact size of the moon, darkly gloomy in the center, but thinning toward the edges of the moon, was spread over the satellite. Somewhat indistinguishable in the center, the gloom was deepest at the center, and the circumference of the lunar body, until, around the edges of the moon, it was a beautiful "old rose" color, presenting to all viewers a most beautiful phenomenon of the stellar system. At about 2:32 o'clock the moon passed from the shadow once more into its natural brilliance, and the eclipse was over.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE SUPERINTENDENT RETURNS

FROM A SUCCESSFUL TOUR IN ARIZONA—WAS AT FLAGSTAFF
WHEN THE EARTH QUAKED.

Rev. W. W. Havens, superintendent for the Anti-Saloon League in New Mexico and Arizona, who has been sent from the city the past three weeks on a lecture and organizing tour through Arizona, visiting Flagstaff, Phoenix, Tempe and Mesa, where various meetings were held and branch organizations effected, has returned to Albuquerque.

Rev. Havens was at Flagstaff at the time of the recent earthquake. He states that he was sitting in the depot waiting for a train when the first shock was felt. He says that at first he thought the train had struck the depot, and that the floor of the depot seemed to rise up, and the sensation was much like that of the swaying of a coach on a rough place of track. Everybody was in the street running hither and thither, he stated, and the inmates of a gambling place near by, ran into the street and looked up toward the heavens as though praying for forgiveness for their past misdeeds.

Rev. Havens stated that almost $500 was pledged by the people of the above named towns for the good of the cause, and that his trip was a decided success. Rev. Havens will remain here until Thursday, when he returns to Phoenix, where he will make his headquarters for about three months while he works through the southern part of that territory.

WILL PETITION FOR HOLD UP

Of Littlefield Bill, Should it
Pass and Become a Law,
Until January, 1907.

MEMBERS OF SCHOOL BOARD SIGN

With the probability of the Littlefield anti-gambling bill looming up on the horizon of New Mexico as a possible law in the very near future, much agitation has been started, with a view to getting the operation of the bill should it pass and become a law, held up for a time, so as to allow of a readjustment of the school system income, which, under present conditions, is derived almost entirely from revenues collected from the gambling fraternity.

It is understood that a number of those having the welfare of New Mexico's public school system at heart, are preparing to circulate a petition to the effect, claiming that in the event the bill passes and becomes a law, the revenue that has heretofore maintained the schools, will at once cease, and as a result of this cessation, they claim, public schools will suffer temporarily at least, as there will be no income with which to keep up the schools until a tax system could be arranged, levied and collected, and this, so say those who have taken the above stand, would take some time.

"It is our intention," said a member of the Albuquerque school board, "to ask that the bill be held up from becoming effective, in the event of its passage, until January 1, 1907, as our entire revenue, almost, is derived from this source, and a cutting off of this revenue would mean that we would have to go out and borrow the money to continue operations until such a time as a special school tax could be levied and collected. The commissioners would make this levy in March and the first collection would be made in July, 1907. So you see, we would have no income for school purposes until that time unless we borrowed at a good rate of interest. If the bill were held up from becoming effective it would not hurt us so much, as by that time we would be in shape with the special school tax that will, of a necessity, be levied."

A lawyer in this city has been called upon to prepare a petition, and is now at work drawing it up. When finished, this petition will be signed by the members of the local school board and others interested, and sent on to Las Vegas, Santa Fe and other places, to be signed by the members of the school board there.

While there is little doubt but what the gambling fraternity favor this move, as it would be to their advantage, inasmuch as it would mean a postponing of the closing up of their places for a year or more after the bill had passed, and as New Mexico has long been the stamping ground of licensed gambling, it would only mean the continuance of the evil for the betterment of the public schools, and for a short time at that, so New Mexico could well afford to harbor the evil for a year or so longer. It is contended, however, that the gambling fraternity are not agitating the petition as much as are those who really have the public school's welfare and best interests at heart.

Be that as it may, there is no denying that with the enforcement of the Littlefield law, the largest item of revenue of the public school system in the territory would be withdrawn, and that it would seriously cripple the schools, temporarily, at least, cannot be gainsaid.

Although nothing definite has been decided upon among the members of the school board here as yet, inasmuch as the law was not a quorum present at the last meeting of the board, R. W. Hopkins, of the school board, stated to a representative of The Evening Citizen that the matter of sending out a petition to congress was being agitated. It is the intention to call congress not to make the law effective until the school board can make a decision and make arrangements for the increase of the school levy, which at present is but 7 1/2 mills. As the legislature does not meet until March, 1907, congress will be asked to hold up the law until January, 1907, at least. According to the Bataan law, the school board cannot incur any indebtedness beyond the present fiscal year, therefore, even the borrowing of funds is denied them, in case the law becomes effective, and until the assessment of a school levy by the legislature of 1907, no funds could possibly be forthcoming. If the revenue from the gambling fraternity is cut off, beyond the present levy of 7 1/2 mills. The matter will be taken up at the next meeting of the school board, and in all probability congress will be petitioned to postpone making the Littlefield bill, in the event of its passage, a law until January, 1907.

SHERIFF'S CONDITION REMAINS THE SAME

PROBATE CLERK SUMMERS IS SOME BETTER TODAY—RE-PORTS FROM SICK BEDS.

The condition of Perfecto Armijo, who is confined to the hospital seriously ill with pneumonia, remains the same as yesterday when an improvement was reported. The many friends of the sheriff heard the good news today with a feeling of relief as the outlook is now bright for his ultimate recovery.

The attending physician at Probate Court Clerk J. A. Summers informs The Evening Citizen this afternoon that Mr. Summers shows signs of improvement and is resting very comfortably today.

MORTUARY.

Tom Pierce.
Last night about 5 o'clock, Tom Pierce, a young farmer 29 years of age, formerly of Lake City, Iowa, who has been in this city the past eight weeks for the benefit of his health, died from the ravages of tuberculosis at his residence at 707 East Iron avenue. The body will be shipped to Auburn, Iowa, tonight, accompanied by J. W. Chandler, an uncle of the deceased.

POLICE DO NOT GET COMMISSIONS

Deputy Sheriff Documents Not Issued and Officers' Authority Limited.

CRIMINAL WORK HANDICAPPED

The police of Albuquerque often ask themselves these days what use they would be in case a criminal wanted by them and being pursued, should succeed in escaping outside of the city limits. If equipped with gun, etc., they wonder why they could not be pointed upon and dragged to jail in exactly as legal a manner as could the criminal they were after. They wonder if the criminal would not have an excellent opportunity to effectually make his escape in the meantime, and thus further prey upon society in his nefarious way.

This train of thought, or soliloquy, perhaps, is no idle dream, by the by, but is a condition which really exists, for be it known that the local police force have no commissions, at present, as deputy sheriffs, which permits them to exercise their authority outside of the city of Albuquerque.

During the administration of Sheriff Hubbell, the local department was granted these very necessary documents, but Perfecto Armijo has thus far failed to distribute them to the Duke City force.

At present officers of the police department have no legal right to make arrests outside of the city, and it is a fact worth knowing that they are daily besieged with complaints from residents to get this or that person in adjoining villages. A policeman can even be arrested if caught outside of town with a concealed weapon on his person and the charge made to stand.

A few days ago a commission was asked of the sheriff's department for a policeman who wished to serve a warrant outside of the city limits. It was limited to a few days, however, and not relishing such a document, a constable's commission was secured instead.

The consensus of opinion is that an understanding will shortly be reached between the police and sheriff departments, that commissions will be exchanged and a harmony brought about which will allow the two departments to work together, and thus accomplish their purpose for which both are organized, namely, for the quick running to earth of criminals.

CHURCH, CLUB AND SOCIAL GATHERINGS

Special convocation of Rio Grande chapter No. 4, this evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Work in the M. E. Master's degree. By order of the H. P. J. C. Perger, secretary.

Regular services this evening at Temple Albert at 7:45. Rabbi Alfred T. Goldsaw, of Cincinnati, Ohio, will occupy the pulpit. Every one is invited.

The program for the Women's club this afternoon will be in the hands of the literary department members, and all the subjects will be chosen from literature dealing with the south and its environments, and the music will follow the same lines.

This evening at 8 o'clock the members of the Epworth League of the First Methodist church will give a reception to all new members of the church and league in the social rooms of the church, corner of Lead avenue and Third street. All members of the league are requested to be in attendance, and the public in general is extended a cordial invitation to be present.

Last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. McClurken, Miss A. MacAlpine, a teacher in the Presbyterian Sunday school, entertained the members of her class. Games were played during the course of the evening and refreshments served. A novel feature of the evening was the writing by each one present of a love story, the adjectives of which had been left out, and which had to be supplied by the writer. To make it more novel each adjective had to be the name of some tree or plant. Following is a list of those present:

Grace Grimmer, Mary Ramsey, Carrie McClurken, Henrietta Welking, Ruth Goss, Laurine Fredericksen, Leah Strachan, Kathryn Grimmer, Mattie May Dodson, Anna Duitman, Nellie Strahan, Lydia Flanning, Hazel Zirhutt, Rose Bradley, Hazel Thompson and Louise McClurken; Bruce Ramsey, Harry Welking, Wayne Duitman, William McClurken, together with Mr. and Mrs. McClurken and the hostess of the party, Miss MacAlpine.

ARRANGEMENTS ARE COMPLETED

For Entertainment of Bankers' Convention Here February 15 and 16.

THE PROGRAM OF PROCEEDINGS

All committees who have in hand the preparations for the reception and entertainment of the New Mexico bankers who are to meet in this city February 15 and 16, for the purpose of perfecting a permanent organization to be known as the New Mexico Bankers' association, met last night in the Commercial club rooms and discussed ways and means for the reception of the bankers.

From reports read at last night's meeting of the different committees, it was learned that nearly every banking house in the territory would have a representative here for the first convention, and some of them two or more delegates, the fact of Governor Hagerman's reception falling on the same date, February 15, having much to do with the interest that is being manifested in the coming convention.

A program of events and order of the business to be transacted was completed at last night's meeting of the committees, which follows in full, and which is to be subject to change by vote of the convention only.

THE PROGRAM.

The outer covering of the program, when printed, will bear the following legend:

"First meeting of the Bankers of New Mexico, at Albuquerque, February 15 and 16, 1906, called for the purpose of forming a Territorial Bankers' association."

HIGH SCHOOL BASKET BALL TEAM TO FEAST

YOUNG LADY STUDENTS OF IN-STITUTION WILL DO THE WAR-RIORS HONOR SATURDAY.

Tomorrow afternoon at Park hall, there will be a feast. A feast is to be served, and in the event of young people, good things to eat and drink are synonymous.

At 6 o'clock the festive board will be ready for the reception of the guests of honor, viz. the basketball team of the central high school. The dainty fingers of the young lady students of this institution of learning, are to prepare the articles included in the menu. This feast but small doubt that everything will not be the finest ever witnessed between the teeth of a land of midwestern warriors, and is likewise a reason why the ball tossers should volunteer to criticisms unless they wish to be forevermore ostracized from the good graces of the young ladies. A pleasing program of procedure has been arranged and a delightful time is anticipated.

A CROSS THE CONTINENT IN TWENTY-SIX HOURS AND FIFTEEN MINUTES

Traveling at the rate of 127 miles an hour—the highest speed attained by any of the competing auto drivers at the auto meet at Ormond, Fla.—an automobile would travel from New York to San Francisco in 26 hours and 15 minutes.

Leaving New York at 6 o'clock in the morning, it would cover the 900 miles to Chicago in seven hours and 45 minutes. From Chicago to Omaha, 463 miles, the speeding machine would consume three hours and 51 minutes more, while it would cover the 1,063 miles between Omaha and Ogden in eight hours and 26 minutes and land in San Francisco six hours and 15 minutes later—or at 5:35 a. m., after deducting the time gained between eastern time and coast time.

FASTEST MILES EVER TRAVELED.

Frank Marriott, in automobile.....	28 1-5 seconds
Hallmark train, Plant System.....	30 sec.-mils
H. A. Walden, motor cycle.....	1:08 1-5
Salvator, running race, horses.....	1:20 1-2
Paeing, Dan Patch.....	1:25 1-4
Trotting, Lou Dillon.....	1:58 1-2
W. G. George, running race between men.....	4:12 3-4

This is pretty fast traveling, but the records do not substantiate the fact that the automobile traveled its record in a "burst of speed." No pilot annihilated space at the Ormond race, but such a terrific pace met by reeling off a mile in the race could be maintained for any great distance. It is fair, then, to compare the time of 28 1-5 seconds of the record made at Ormond Beach last week. The train on the Plant system, if it traveled from New York to San Francisco, at the speed it attained on its record run, would cover the 2,250 miles in 27:50, or one hour and 45 minutes slower than the automobile driven by Marriott.

press, on the New York Central, traveled one mile in 32 seconds, or at the rate of 112 miles an hour. The plant system established the record for fast runs in this country in a run between Jacksonville and Fleming in March, 1901, when five consecutive miles were covered in 2:30, a mile in every 30 seconds, or within 1 4-5 seconds of the record made at Ormond Beach last week. The train on the Plant system, if it traveled from New York to San Francisco, at the speed it attained on its record run, would cover the 2,250 miles in 27:50, or one hour and 45 minutes slower than the automobile driven by Marriott.

STILL BOOSTING FOR THE KELLY DISTRICT

A. L. Heister Prophesied Great Things For Kelly Many Years Ago.

AND NOW HE IS HUMOROUS

Special Correspondence.

Kelly, N. M., Feb. 8.—Many years ago, when this writer prophesied a great future for Kelly, small attention was paid to the prediction. In mining as in other branches of human endeavor, there are always two classes; the first full of hope and faith—millions today and paupers tomorrow. The figures on an assayer's certificate having the magic power to make or mar their happiness. Denying themselves the luxuries and some times the necessities of life, with a faith as solid as the vast ribs of rock through which they bore, they toil on. The second class consists of the most part, of Missourians. They want to examine the goods. Well, the croakers of the future. Some are herding sheep; others snapping up any old job insuring "grub." Many of the "Hangers and Rattlers" are carrying yellow watches and bank books. They enjoy their "dinners" at night, and while the children are getting a "little polish" at Las Cruces, the old man polishes drill heads, confident that a few shots more and he will break into the "Silver Pipe."

These few remarks about the fact that Kelly has "arrived." Mindful that Kelly has very lately been written up from a mining and business standpoint, the writer will only say: Our ore bodies are widening, new finds are reported; properties have changed hands; other deals are on; Kelly is building and improving. Are dollars and cents the sum total of human happiness? The people of Kelly think not.

We have a large and prosperous school. Miss Barber of Las Vegas, is principal. A teacher, Miss Barber leaves nothing to be desired. Churches? Certainly. The Catholics are well represented by a church of their own and a resident priest. The spiritual welfare of the Protestants is looked after by the Rev. Mr. Porter, late of Kansas City. The reverend gentleman says that he feels nearer heaven here than in his old K. C., and we of Kelly, being a little puff, ignore the fact that he alluded to the altitude.

Amusement? Oh, yes. A regular theater. Good hall; well appointed stage, and a troupe of actors good enough to travel. And all this was brought about by home talent and home nerve. Chineworth and Allen do fine work in their special line. Jim Conners dances as few men can dance. James Hilton swings Indian clubs until the observer would swear he (Hilton) was handling a million instead of two.

H. M. Mortensen is an all round musician—violin, guitar, specialist, and our quartet is good enough for Kelly, and that is saying much. Messrs. Bridge and Sanborn, Agnew and Mortensen can certainly deliver the goods. But as grin starters and giggle builders allow us to present Bridge and Sanborn. When they undertake to amuse you they succeed. You first smile, then grin, and feel comfortable, then you feel better and begin to laugh. Finally you forget that your woodpile is low, and house rent due and that you lack $75 of having a nickel. You forget everything but Bridge and Sanborn. You act as though you're drunk, but you're not. You talk lovingly to your wife. When you get home, you forget to put the clock out or wind the cat, but seek your pillow and childhood's happy sleep to dream of Bridge and Sanborn.

We are not stuck up, but are really proud of our bustling mining camp and believe that anyone thinking of changing location and not having a through ticket for heaven would do well to come to Kelly.

GALLUP REJOICES OVER HER WELL

Water Enough Developed to Cover Needs For Many Years to Come.

FIRST COUPONS NOT CLIPPED

Gallup is in luck, it lies in the center of a great artesian water belt. Gallup owns an artesian well that is capable of supplying this city with an abundance of water for all domestic purposes, and for fire protection. A hole in the ground 1,000 feet deep and ten inches in diameter is at present one of the greatest assets this city has.

A short time ago the people of this city were called on to vote bonds to raise the money to sink the well. There was some opposition to the plan. Parties who were familiar were not backward in saying that water could not be found where the well was being sunk, political matters were even brought to bear on the question, but regardless of politics and everything else the people of Gallup went to the polls and practically unanimously voted $10,000 to be used to get water for this city. Every man who voted "yes" can be proud of himself, he is one of those who has helped bring one of the greatest blessings that was ever given Gallup.

This paper took a decided stand for the bond issue; it devoted considerable space to the matter; looked up the law bearing on the case, got a statement of the formation of the country, the cost of sinking the well and placed the questions before the people of Gallup in as intelligent a manner as the editor was capable of. Every effort was used in the columns of this paper to show the necessity of a water supply and that the best way to get one was to vote the water bonds. In several instances the paper was criticised for the stand it took, and the editor was accused of "standing in" to help get bonds voted to be used to raise money to go into the pockets of a few. All the editor has to say is that he believed that what has now happened would happen, and that the success of the formation of the country, the cost of sinking the well and placed the questions before the people of Gallup in as intelligent a manner as the editor was capable of.

The present city council or rather town board is to be congratulated on the success of its venture, a republican board straight through has brought to this city one of the greatest boons that Gallup has ever received. Regardless of politics the town board should receive the plaudits of every property owner in Gallup and as far as that goes in the center of McKinley county. Had it not been for the action of this present board it might never have been known that Gallup lies in an artesian belt that will eventually be the means of bringing settlers and capital to this part of the country.

Gallup, situated in the center of a fertile valley in a semi-arid region, has struck what is better than a gold mine, a flow of water sufficient to irrigate thousands of acres of this rich soil.—Gallup Republican.

INHERITED WATCH THAT JESSE JAMES ONCE STOLE

Walter B. Kibbey, who last week tendered his resignation as assistant United States district attorney, and who has moved from Tucson to Prescott, where he will practice law with Attorney General Clark, has just received a gold watch which has a history, says the Tucson Citizen.

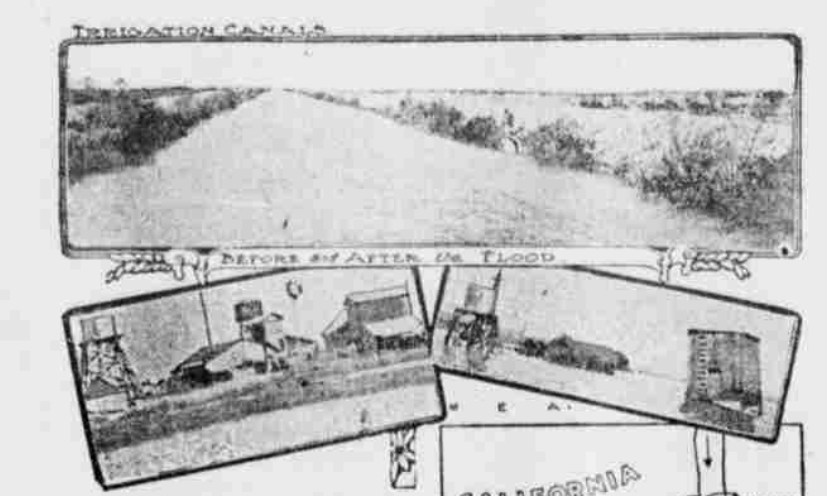

The time piece was inherited by Mr. Kibbey from his grandfather, Judge Burbank, who died in Indiana about a month ago. The watch had been owned by the grandfather for forty years and was made to order to duplicate an older one which had been lost.

While Judge Burbank was in the Indian service under President Lincoln, and traveling in Nebraska, the stage was held up by Jesse James and his gang. The order to "shell out" was promptly complied with, and the bandits took the watch as part of their booty. The time piece was later recovered by Judge Burbank.

DIVERTED RIVER THREATENS DEATH OF 10,000 PEOPLE

THE COLORADO'S FLOOD-TIDE SWEEPS DOWN IRRIGATION DITCHES AND MENACES SETTLERS OF IMPERIAL VALLEY.

Los Angeles, Feb. 9.—Because the Colorado river built a natural dam for itself, without consulting the men in charge of a great irrigation enterprise, 10,000 people, now settled in the Imperial valley, are in danger of being swept to death.

About six years ago a project was started to reclaim the Colorado desert by tapping the Colorado river with great irrigation canals—one of the biggest schemes of its kind ever attempted in the world. Had not Nature proved contrary, this once barren desert might have furnished happy homes for thousands of families until the end of time, but Nature proved to be a host without which, as usual, man reckoned to his sorrow.

At the point where the canal begins, the Colorado has a fall of a foot to a mile. The Imperial canal (for so the irrigation duct was named) has a drop of three feet to a mile. The dam retards the water long enough for much of the debris of which the Colorado carries an immense amount to settle, and soon the river had built a natural dam for itself. The first time the river rose, after this natural dam had grown to tremendous strength, it began to run through the canal. At first this was not considered serious, but the promoters of the scheme soon became alarmed as the mighty current of water pounded through the artificial duct which had been constructed.

Government experts were sent for immediately. It did not take these scientific men long to realize that only a miracle could ever turn the river back into its old channel. From signs which these men can read in the desert, the Colorado carries an immense amount to settle, and soon the river had built a natural dam for itself. The first time the river rose, after this natural dam had grown to tremendous strength, it began to run through the canal. At first this was not considered serious, but the promoters of the scheme soon became alarmed as the mighty current of water pounded through the artificial duct which had been constructed.

TOUR EUROPE FREE

THE COURIER-JOURNAL TO TAKE NINETEEN YOUNG WOMEN ABROAD AS ITS GUESTS.

The Courier-Journal is conducting a popularity contest that eclipses anything of the kind ever promoted in that section. Briefly, the Courier-Journal proposes to take on a seven-weeks' tour abroad nineteen young women from Kentucky and southern Indiana, all expenses paid, from the day the party leaves Louisville, July 12, until it returns to "The Old Kentucky Home," August 29. To give all a chance the Courier-Journal has divided Louisville and Kentucky and southern Indiana into sixteen districts, and the most popular young woman from each district is to be the one to make the tour. The nineteenth young lady is to be selected in another way. Readers of the Courier-Journal are to select the guest for the paper by ballot. It is estimated that the trip alone will cost the Courier-Journal about $15,000, to say nothing of incidental and other necessary expenses. There may be a young woman from this section who is a candidate for this tour. Write the Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky., for a list of candidates and full details of the tour.

FAVORITISM IN RAILROAD RATES

Here we have a laughable bargain ad. None but a nippy could expect to sell one pair of socks for more than four pairs, eh?

You ought to see a tariff sheet in a railroad freight office. The railroads will take freight for you from Montgomery, Ala., to Macon, Ga., at $1.50 a ton, but they charge $2.30 a ton to Shilman, Ga., only about half as far.

You'd suppose they'd bring it back from Macon for $1.50 a ton. But no; the rate would not feel drossy the day he fixed the rate going the other way, and petulantly put it at $2.95.

Just to show how arbitrary he could be when he got his hand in, he made the rate $2.40 for dropping it off 15 miles before you come to Montgomery.

The tariff sheet of today will occupy the position of honor in the dime museum of the next century.

RAILROAD TOPICS

C. W. Whitney, at work on the Belen cut-off, was a visitor in the city yesterday.

Santa Fe special car, No. 111, with E. J. Gibson on board, is in the city. Mr. Gibson is looking after company affairs here for a few days.

H. A. Chamberlain, of the claims department of the Santa Fe, with headquarters in Topeka, Kan., arrived in Albuquerque last night from the east.

C. E. McKenzie, superintendent of the Colorado-New Mexico division, of the Wells-Fargo Express company, with headquarters in Denver, is in the city on an inspection tour.

Owing to the addition of a couple of cars of Wells-Fargo express matter this morning to passenger train No. 2, that train went out as a double header, two engines of the 1200-type pulling her.

William Fisher, engineer of freight train No. 33, southbound, who was fatally injured in the wreck of his train Wednesday afternoon at Courchesne, near El Paso, particulars of which appeared in The Evening Citizen yesterday, still lies at the El Paso hospital in a critical condition, and his recovery is unlooked for. A broken rail precipitated the locomotive and several cars into the ditch. Fisher was buried beneath the wreckage and terribly scalded, his legs horribly mangled and internal injuries sustained. Conductor Elrick and Fireman Foster were slightly hurt.

FURNITURE CAR CLIMBED UPON A COAL CAR.

A peculiar accident occurred in a rock canyon of the Santa Fe a mile east of Watrous, the other night. A long string of empties was going east. The train was pulling through the canyon at a lively rate as the ground was descending. Doubtless a certain amount of air pressure had been applied to the brakes. Something happened which convinced the engineer that all was not right and he stopped the train. The trainmen were amazed to find that a furniture car had left the trucks and climbed up on a coal car. What the cause was no one can say. Neither car left the rails, but a couple of hours was consumed in getting the furniture car back where it belonged.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC FREIGHT BRAKEMAN KILLED BY CARS.

Joe Fox, a Southern Pacific brakeman, was run over and fatally injured at Fairbank, says the Tucson Citizen. He died while being brought to this city on a special train. Fox was riding on the tender of the engine, and in some way lost his hold and fell between the engine and a car. His legs were caught beneath the wheels and crushed. A special was immediately made up at Fairbank and Fox was taken to Benson. There Dr. C. S. Powell was taken aboard and a start made for Tucson. Fox was beyond medical aid, however, and died a short distance out from Benson. He was a single man and was about 30 years old. He came here to work for the Southern Pacific a month ago.

HOPEWELL AND PARTY NOW AT ESTANCIA.

A correspondent writing from Estancia, under date of February 8, says:

KANSAS LAUNCH BOOM FOR EXPOSITION IN 1911

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 9.—The state of Kansas proposes to put in the shade all previous attempts to hold the attention of eyes-mouthing humanity by putting on the biggest, loudest, most novel exposition ever seen west of St. Louis.

On the 29th of January in 1861 Kansas Territory was admitted into the union and thereby furnished one of the immediate causes of the civil war. Kansas has grown since then to a bustling, thriving commonwealth.

In remembrance of the old days and in celebration of the new ones, the state will hold, at Topeka, a world's fair—a semi-centennial exposition—on the fiftieth anniversary of the admission of the state into the union, which will be in the year 1911.

On the 29th of January, Kansas day, a big convention was held in this city to perfect the organization that is to carry out the wish of the people.

The 75 delegates who came to this convention are substantial and representative citizens of the state. They will form a corporation that will be backed by the whole people, lawmakers, magistrates, politicians, officeholders, farmers and business men who pay the taxes and who are going to go down into their pockets for the money that will be necessary.

In the front rank of its supporters are Governor E. W. Hoch, the hero of the Kansas fight on the Standard Oil monopoly; W. R. Stubbs, chairman of the Republican State Central committee and the arch champion of clean politics; F. D. C. secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, with a national reputation because of his researches on the absolute reliability of his reports; William Allen White, the newspaper editor, author and practical politician; and Eugene F. Ware, known to American readers as Ironquill, the Kansas poet, and to Washington statesmen as the one-time pension bureau on a thorough business basis.

Major Thomas J. Anderson, secretary of the Topeka Commercial club, the originator of the exposition idea, is one of those who helped get the state into the union. He is a veteran of the war of the rebellion and one of the most honored citizens of Kansas.

The people of Kansas are planning no small affair. The federal government will be asked for a big appropriation. The state itself will tax its resources to the limit. The city of Topeka will issue bonds for a large amount and the county of Shawnee, in which Topeka is situated, will be expected to produce several hundred thousand dollars at least. The county, which has just freed itself from debt, is already preparing to put the surplus that has been going to pay off bonds into the fund to be used for the exposition.

The Strenuous Life

Results in Stomach Troubles and Physical Breakdown—J. H. O'Reilly & Co., Offer a Simple Remedy.

The strenuous life of modern times forces people to rush through their meals hastily, hurrying from the table in the mad rush after the almighty dollar.

The result is incomplete digestion, inflammation of the walls of the stomach, and lack of secretion of the gastric juices, ending in chronic stomach trouble and nervous breakdown.

How much better it would be to eat more slowly, ease the stomach, trouble with Mi-onna, and soon regain perfect health. The headache, sleeplessness, nervous troubles, pain after eating, specks before the eyes, tachycardia, melancholy and gloomy forebodings, would be soon overcome and perfect health and strength would be restored. So reliable is Mi-onna in curing all forms of stomach weakness and trouble that J. H. O'Reilly & Co. have signed a guarantee that the remedy will cost nothing unless it cures. Each box of Mi-onna sells for fifty cents, and is invaluable to any one who suffers with indigestion, nervousness or weak stomach.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

DAY AND WEATHER.

Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday, with local rain or snow; warmer in north portion tonight.

Sun rose at 6:55 this morning and will set at 5:34 this evening, giving a day of 10 hours and 39 minutes. The moon rises as the sun sets and shines all night long. The day has been hazy but very pleasant, a model winter day in any way considered. General Hancock, one of the foremost generals in the civil war and a democratic candidate for the presidency after the close of the war, died on this day, 1886. For account of the eclipse last night, see article elsewhere in this issue, account elsewhere.

YARBERRY HANGING ANNIVERSARY.

Twenty-three years ago today, Milton Yarberry, marshal of the town of Albuquerque, was hanged at the old adobe jail in Old Town. It was a legal hanging. Yarberry had killed two men in this city within a month—Campbell, who worked at the shops, and Brown, who was a guard for the Wells-Fargo Express company on the trains, in those early days, running west from this city. It was really for the killing of Brown, who had distinguished Tennessee relatives and friends, that Yarberry was hanged.

Question—What has become of the famous "Red Mountain"?

R. A. Marble, of Estancia, was an Albuquerque visitor yesterday and today, transacting business.

S. J. Lewinson, salesman for L. B. Putney, wholesale grocer, left last night for a business trip to Denver.

Miss Montgomery was successfully operated upon this morning at the St. Joseph's sanitarium, for appendicitis.

Miss Zella Rankin, daughter of Don J. Rankin, is reported seriously ill with typhoid fever at her home in this city.

Capt. F. J. Dodge, of the detective force of the Wells-Fargo Express company, is in the city on his way to El Paso.

A. Viviani is laying the foundation for a 20-room rooming house on Tijeras avenue, between Third and Fourth streets.

P. Linsenau, of Los Lunas, was a visitor in the metropolis yesterday, returning to his home in Valencia county today.

George J. Solie, of Silver City, has arrived in Albuquerque and intends remaining several days transacting business of a personal nature.

W. S. Riff, president of the Albuquerque Gas, Electric Light and Power company, arrived in the city last night from a business trip to Tucson, Ariz.

Mrs. L. A. Miller, daughter of Col. and Mrs. J. M. Moore, who has been visiting her parents the past week, left this morning on No. 2 for her home in Atchison, Kan.

L. S. Strickler, brother of W. S. Strickler, returned to the city last night from San Francisco, and after remaining here a few days will continue south to Magdalena, where he is interested in mining.

Word has just been received in this city at the local Santa Fe offices that train No. 3, the limited, caught on the other side of the freight wreck near Trinidad, particulars of which appear in the telegraphic news elsewhere in this issue, will not arrive until 9:30 o'clock tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Price, of Socorro, are in the city, visiting the families of L. B. and Simon Stern. They will leave tonight for Trinidad, where they will visit relatives and friends for a few days. Mr. Price is the head of a new banking institution which he will soon open at Socorro.

Yesterday The Evening Citizen stated that B. L. Howell, of Moline, Ill., had arrived here, to investigate into reports that his mother, Mrs. Nora Howell-Moore, had left some property here, the woman dying at the Arizona asylum on June 1, 1899. Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Howell visited the court house and in looking over the records discovered that his mother once owned a house and four lots on West Copper avenue but on breaking up housekeeping here sold the property for $2,500 and then she and her husband, June Moore, left the city. Mr. Howell will now go to Flagstaff, on the same mission, he having a letter in his possession, saying that at the time of her incarceration in the asylum she owned a house and lot in that town.

Miss Margaret Kyle, of Chicago, traveling secretary of the Young Woman's Christianist association, is at McCalla Park, where she will address the students of the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. It is learned today that Miss Kyle will come north tomorrow morning, and may be induced to stop here for a day or two.

Governor Hagerman's social calendar is well filled these days. In addition to the numerous affairs that have been given in his honor and the others that he will attend at Santa Fe, he will be given a reception in Albuquerque by the Commercial club on the 10th, and one in Las Vegas by the Commercial club on the 21st of this month.

County School Superintendent A. B. Strong, who returned last evening from a trip to Los Griegos and Los Candelaria and reports school matters in first class condition. At the Griegos school the students are preparing for a prize spelling contest. J. Korber has offered a prize as first prize in the corn growing contest and S. E. Newcomer has donated $5 to the worthy cause.

Before returning to Kansas City last evening Frank C. Miller, vice president of the Kansas City Pioneer Trust company, and Willis J. Gleed, of the Topeka law firm of Gleed, Ware & Gleed, purchased 80,000 acres of sheep and cattle land in the Arisco land grant on the Rio Puerco. The gentlemen, who represent heavy capital, will stock the land with sheep and cattle in the near future.

Our women's house shoes combine daintiness with comfort, and wear. We have some styles without heels, some with low heels, and some with higher heels, narrow, medium and wide toes. Plain slippers, Juliettes and sandals with one, two, three or four straps. Prices range from $1.10 to $2. C. May's shoe store, 314 West Railroad avenue.

PECULIAR WRECK

THIS AFTERNOON

SUDDEN OPENING OF A SWITCH AT A RAILROAD CROSSING, CAUSES ANNOYING BLOCKADE.

A peculiar freight wreck happened at Railroad avenue crossing in this city about 2:05 o'clock this afternoon, when the progress of "red ball" No. 32, westbound, was suddenly arrested. More than half of the train had cleared the crossing, when car No. 96,246, belonging to the Burlington route, left the rails, and with a dull roar buried its hind trucks in the mud two or three feet deep.

The accident was caused by a sudden release of the switch branching off from the westbound main track a short distance east of the crossing. The freight was bowling along at a fifteen-mile-an-hour clip, when the switch suddenly flew open. The front trucks of car No. 96,246 had cleared, but the hind ones rolled over on the siding. As the distance between the two trucks of the car increased, there was a loud report, as the coupling finally broke, which held the car behind. No. 9,706, the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern.

The Burlington car was at that moment on the crossing. It dug up the dirt, and finally striking the brick cross-walk on the west side, tore this up and sinking into the dirt, truck deep, actually brought the pulling locomotive to a standstill. Car No. 9,706 also left the rails, but did not move far afterwards. The first car stopped at a dangerous angle, and would have crossed over into the street maiming several persons standing near, had it progressed a few more feet. Fortunately, the wrecked cars are in such positions on the crossing as not to stop traffic on the thoroughfare.
