It is safe to say that the day did not pass unobserved in any school in the state. The Boston schools made quite a celebration of the day. Addresses on Lincoln were delivered before the assembled classes and there was also singing of patriotic songs and other features.

Many republicans and patriotic societies will have banquets in honor of Lincoln's birthday this evening.

JOHN MITCHELL DOESN'T REPLY

Great Man Declines to Notice Attack of the Little Fellow.

READY TO MEET OPERATORS

Anthracite Miners' Scale Committee Is Suddenly Called to Meet

MEETING SECRET, WHY UNKNOWN

New York, Feb. 12.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, said today that he did not care to discuss the statement given out by President Dolan of the Pittsburgh district yesterday. In his statement, Dolan said that President Mitchell was coming to New York to ask the anthracite operators for a contract which he had not the power nor authority to enter into, as the national convention and elect him hand and foot. He also attacked Mitchell's management of coal strikes in the past, and declared that every strike in the coal region under his leadership had ended in a failure.

"What do you think of Patrick Dolan's attack on you before the Pittsburgh miners?" Mitchell was asked today.

"I do not care to discuss Mr. Dolan," was the reply. To all other questions Mitchell made similar answers.

SCALE COMMITTEE HOLDS SECRET SESSION.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 12.—The members of the anthracite miners' scale committee were hurriedly called together today, but for what purpose was not given out. On Saturday night it was stated that the committee had finished its business and would not meet again prior to the conference between the miners' officials and the coal operators, which takes place in New York on Thursday. Today's secret session, however, leads to the belief that some important question arose which required immediate attention of the committee. None of the officers would discuss the meeting.

SPECIAL ELECTION FOR SEWER MATTER

It has been decided by the sewer committee after a conference with the board of health, not to bring the matter of extending the city sewer system before the voters at the April election. It was agreed that in the first place such would be an utter impossibility owing to the short time which remains before March 2, the last day on which anything can be done for the reason that public notices for the issuance of bonds must be published thirty days before the general election. "If we should have voted at once for a sewer expert," said Alderman Walker today, "it would have been a week before he could reach Albuquerque. That would make it February 19. This would leave the expert but a week in which to examine the sewer system and draw his plans, an impossibility to say the least."

The sewer committee, after talking the matter over carefully, were also convinced that it would be extremely inadvisable to raise the question of voting for the sewer bonds in with the water plant purchase proposition and possibly with the city hall proposition also. "It might have resulted in all three questions being turned down," one of the committee members said. "Therefore we decided to hold the matter up until during the summer some time when a special election will be called and the proposition voted upon. A special election will not cost much over $75."

It can also be said with considerable certainty that Alexander Porter, of New York city, will be the expert engaged to examine the sewers of the Duke City and draw plans for their improvement. He will do the work for $250. Other offers have been received, but none were so reasonable.

Alderman Walker has received a letter from Mr. Porter written from New Orleans February 8th, in which the writer says he has left that city for California and will stop off in Albuquerque upon his return east. It is only to the visit being made through New Mexico that Mr. Porter offers to perform the expert work so cheaply.

Fairbanks and Beveridge.

Indian, Feb. 12.—The Lincoln League of Indiana has selected Lincoln's birthday for the opening of its annual convention and when the League was called to order by President Shattuck Willard McGuffey of Chicago, several hundred delegates were present, who had come here from all parts of the state. The league has not been very active in recent years, beyond organizing a large number of republican clubs of young men in this and other states. Last year the league devoted considerable time to planning the arrangement for the national association of Republican Clubs. For this year's annual convention special preparations have been made, and a number of prominent orators had been invited to deliver addresses before the convention. Among them are Vice President Fairbanks, United States Senator Beveridge and United States Senator Hemenway.

At the Marion Soldiers' Home, Lincoln's birthday will be observed as usual, and the delegates to the league convention have been invited to attend a reception, which will be held in honor of the day at the home. The convention of the league will last for three days.

NICK'S WEDDING MORN GIFT TO FAIR ALICE

THE STORY OF THE THREE BEAUTIFUL RINGS HE GAVE THE WHITE HOUSE BRIDE—SOME OF THE MAGNIFICENT PRESENTS THAT HAVE ALREADY ARRIVED.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—This week the festivities in honor of the groom will begin, and several dinners will be given in his honor. But at the request of his bride, the popular Ohlson is not encouraging the plans for many banquets.

He prefers to have the feasts include Miss Alice and the women folks of the hosts. The Ohio congressional delegation will, however, tender him a stag dinner today, and Mr. Perkins, the best man, has a dinner scheduled for Thursday, the 15th.

Great secrecy is being observed about the gift which Mr. Longworth will present to Miss Roosevelt on the morning of the wedding, but his intimates know of two handsome bracelets which he recently ordered.

He has already given her three exquisite and costly rings. The fourth ring was a special token of remembrance on the 22d birthday of the fair bride, which occurred on the 11th of this month.

This ring the young couple purchased together in New York, and it is the inevitable solitaire diamond, a flawless stone of unusual size and brilliancy, and within is the date of the birthday and a mystic Hebrew word which means "Faithful unto Death."

The other rings have been frequently described. One is a hoop of diamonds which was a gift to mark the anniversary of the first meeting in October, 1903.

The second was the sapphire, which three generations of Longworth brides have worn as a betrothal ring, and the third, three pigeon-blood rubies, was his Christmas gift.

Some fine jewels have come as wedding gifts from American diplomats abroad. Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid have sent a dog collar of diamonds and pearls, and Miss Jean Reid, a gold toilet set studded with turquoise.

General Horace Porter, former ambassador to France, has presented some antique jewelry of gold and amethyst, a comb and side comb and a linked belt.

The vice president and Mrs. Fairbanks will give silver table dishes, compote, pudding and berry vessels, all hand carved in repoussé style and gold lined.

The Ohio congressional delegation has experienced several stories sitting without coming to any conclusion. Opinion has veered from a solid silver punch bowl to a complete chest of flat silver. As yet no decision has been reached.

FORMER NEWS NOW FULLY CONFIRMED

Southern Pacific Makes First Payment on Durango Coal Fields

WILL REQUIRE $2,000,000

This Assures Building of the Arizona & Colorado Railroads Immediately.

San Francisco, Feb. 12.—E. H. Harriman, Epes Randolph, and their associates, who are interested in the Arizona & Colorado railway yesterday, which will eventually become a Southern Pacific branch, have bought a vast coal and iron area near Durango, Colo., and have just paid down a part of the purchase price. It is said it will require $2,000,000 to complete the deal. The Porter Fuel company and the Boston Coal & Fuel company's coal lands are included in the purchase; also thousands of adjoining acres of coal land. Surveyors have been at work for the past few months between Durango, Pueblo and Clinton, Ariz., on the line of the Southern Pacific, which means that the company proposes to go into Pueblo for the benefit of eastern traffic and to share of the business of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company.

A FORGER GETS IN HIS WORK

AND MANY MERCHANTS CASHED WORTHLESS CHECKS—POLICE LOOKING FOR Y. L. MCGEE.

This afternoon, many merchants who cashed checks signed "Y. L. McGee," forged by that lady's husband, are looking for the fellow, and the police are anxious to have the culprit behind the bars.

The forger is Y. L. McGee, a bricklayer in the employ of M. J. McGehee, first met by Mrs. McGee and two children, reside on North Seventh street, between Fifth and New York avenues. He has been on a "jaunt" the past few days, and last Saturday he drew checks galore, and after a hurried investigation for the news was not ready for the public until 4 o'clock this afternoon. It seems a dozen or more merchants and auctioneers cashed the worthless checks, ranging in amounts from $10 up to $75, and possibly more. The checks are all drawn on the Bank of Commerce.

It is understood that Mrs. McGee had some little money in the bank in her name, and on last Friday, under a protest paid a $50 check which had been drawn by her husband, her name being forged to come in and the same morning, immediately after the bank opened for business, it is alleged, Mrs. McGee called and drew out all the money she had. When the checks drawn by her husband on the bank came up for cashing, they were refused payment, it then dawned upon the merchants that the checks they had cashed were worthless.

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 12.—The Lincoln Association of Jersey City will observe Lincoln's birthday by giving a banquet at the Jersey City Club house this evening. Would's Famous Pianist Missing. Later Telegram Says She Has Returned.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—A dispatch to the Inter-Ocean from Cincinnati, Ohio, says: Wang Fong, the former secretary of Six Companies in San Francisco, is visiting in this city. He says that he thinks the Boxer trouble in China is about to culminate in the greatest massacre of modern times. He issued the following warning to several American friends last night, telegraphing it to Los Angeles, Seattle and San Francisco: "Blow is about to fall. Cable warnings to friends to leave China at once. Tell them to seek the protection of Germany temporarily and to get out of the country before February 21."

ROBBED OF TWO COSTLY PHOTOGRAPHER'S LENSES

A sneak thief entered the office of the "La Esmeralda de Nuevo Mexico," this morning and made off with two photographers' lenses belonging to the proprietor, Enrique Sosa. Mr. Sosa was in an adjoining room at the time and a young man who was engaged at a printing press did not see the thief reach into a small box and remove the lenses, she valued at $75 and the other at $5. It is possible that the thief would not have been discovered for some time had not Chief McMillin arrested one M. G. Brennan, a photographer, who recently arrived in the city, with the lenses in his possession and which the man confessed to have stolen from Mr. Sosa. It appears that this same Mr. Brennan called upon Mr. Sosa a few days ago, looked the lenses over and stated that he would probably buy one or both. Brennan was locked up, charged with grand larceny. He was somewhat intoxicated at the time of his arrest. Brennan has been stopping at the Grand Central hotel.

Robbed of Tent and Table.
Mr. Sosa informed The Evening Citizen reporter that a short time ago a large and very valuable tent belonging to him was stolen from the Mountain road. A table left outside the office a few evenings ago was also carried off.

STREET CAR ACCIDENTS GET WORST OF WRECK.

The dead are Mrs. Willam Bacon, South Chicago, and Minnie Warsaw, 12 years old, of Chicago.

COAST DEFENSE SQUADRON CRUISES IN MEXICAN GULF.

Charleston, S. C., Feb. 12.—In accordance with orders received from the Navy Department the coast defense squadron under the command of Admiral P. W. Dickson, and consisting of the battleship Texas, the monitors Arkansas, Florida and Nevada, and six torpedo boats sailed from here today for a cruise in the Gulf of Mexico. During the stay of the squadron in this city the officers of the ships were hospitably received by the citizens, and many social functions were arranged in their honor. It was with regret that the citizens of Charleston heard of the order which compelled the fleet to leave for the south. It is understood that the squadron will make its first stop at New Orleans, where it will take part in the Mardi Gras festivities in that city. Then the squadron will probably return to Charleston to remain until spring, when the annual spring gun practice begins near Norfolk.

MOROCCAN CONFERENCE IS FAILURE

Failure According to British. Unemployed March in London Again

TRANS-ANDINE RAILROAD STARTS

Belgrade, Servia, Feb. 12.—A serious fight has occurred in Old Serbia between the troops of the Turkish army and two Servian bands near the villages of Nikujan, Dragomani and Chelouk. The Turks were the attackers, and lost forty killed and wounded. The Servians lost eighteen killed and wounded.

GERMANY'S FAULT THAT CONFERENCE IS FAILURE.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—While the British government has not realized its efforts to bring about an agreement between France and Germany regarding the Moroccan police, it has given up hope of an amicable settlement. It is expected in official circles that the Alhuciras conference will break up possibly during the present week, leaving the Moroccan situation where it was before the conference was called. Germany is given the credit for the failure. In fact, it is believed that Emperor William, realizing that there is no hope of Germany's demands being endorsed by the powers, is now anxious that the conference shall fail.

POVERTY PARADES FAIL OF FORMER EFFECT.

London, Feb. 12.—There was another march of the unemployed laborers through the streets of London today, with the object of impressing the new government and legislators with the demonstration and the attitude of the public towards the subscription collectors showed that interest in "poverty parades" has been decidedly waning since they took on a distinct political character.

RAILROAD OVER ANDES WAS OPENED TO PUBLIC.

Santiago, Feb. 12.—The first section of the Trans-Andine railway was inaugurated today. The line reaches to the foot of the Andes, where a tunnel begins. The line will shorten the time to Buenos Ayres by about six hours.

NO CLUE TO MOTHER OF DESERTED FOUNDLING

INFANT HEARD CRYING IN REAR OF HARSH BOTTLING WORKS NOT THE SAME ONE FOUND AT THE PINO HOME.

No clue has yet been discovered as to the identity of the mother of the infant found Friday evening on the doorstep of the Pino home on West Gold avenue. The story to the effect that an attempt was made to get rid of the child on the preceding night by leaving it in the rear of a South Chicago bottling works seems to be somewhat of a "pipe dream." John Cornetto, proprietor of the restaurant referred to, agreed to a representative of The Evening Citizen that he heard a baby crying in the rear of the Harsh Bottling Works, 219 South First street on the same evening that the infant was discovered at the Pino home, but as the abandoned child was found on the doorstep of the Pino home between 6 and 6:30 o'clock Friday evening, and as Mr. Cornetto heard a child crying about 8 o'clock, it obviously was absolutely not the same infant as was found at the Pino home. Mr. Cornetto did not investigate the matter and later the crying ceased and the infant, wherever it was, was removed. It was thought to belong to some of the neighbors in that vicinity who was passing through the alley.

NAVY EXAMS AND SOME OFFICIALS PROSECUTED

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 12.—Contrary to the usual custom, the graduating exercises of the Class of 1906 were held today, instead of being held some time in June, as in former years. Various reasons are assigned for the change. It is said that the principal reason was that the United States Navy is in pressing need of officers, and that it was absolutely necessary to graduate the class ahead of the regular time, to fill a number of vacancies in the service. It is believed, however, that the recent basing trials had something to do with the matter and that the graduation was held so early to give the students a chance to graduate before the charges against them were investigated.

It is generally remarked that this year's graduating class contains an unusually large number of young men who have made excellent athletic records during the past few years. Among the young athletes are several who have won considerable distinction on the gridiron, in base ball, rowing, rifle shooting, gymnasium work, printing, sprinting and running, jumping and fencing.

The career of the class of 1906 at the naval academy was brought to an

SOME FACTS ABOUT ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Characteristics of Young Man- hood and Story of His Courtship.

SECRET OF HIS POPULARITY

His Only Duel Which Was Never Fought With General Shields.

Perhaps his most winning quality, with young and old alike, was his sincere belief in his fellow townsmen and their community, says Frederick Trevor Hill in the December Century. Local pride never had a more buoyant champion than he. For him Sangamon county in general, and New Salem, in particular, was the promised land, and he was confident that the people were equal to the task of developing it according to its needs.

Thus, when it was first suggested that the shallow, snag-bound Sangamon river was navigable, and might be made a great highway of commerce, he eagerly championed the theory, and worked with voice, pen and hand to realize a practical result. The Sangamon is still unnavigable, and New Salem has disappeared, but Lincoln's plan for improving the water way remains as evidence of his sincere belief in the future of the community and to show us what he could do with a weak cause at the age of 21.

The argument is not remarkable, but it is exceedingly interesting and suggestive. Although he was young and boyish, and what he hoped for possible, even in the face of failure, and despite the really laughable attempt which was afterward made to force the passage of the Sangamon, there was nothing ludicrous in his idea. What he claimed sounds reasonable, and what he hoped for possible, even in the face of failure.

This early effort plainly indicates Lincoln's natural aptitude for logical statement. But it does more than that. It displays a trait which few lawyers possess: for the ability to present facts clearly, concisely and effectively without raising undue advantage of them is a rare legal quality. It requires not only ability, but character. It is one of the infallible tests which distinguish the legal bravo from the jurist.

LINCOLN'S DUEL.

Miss Todd soon singled out and held the admiration of each of the Springfield beaux, and Lincoln, being much at the Edwards house, found himself almost before he knew it, entangled in a new love affair. In the course of twelve months an engagement to marry her, but something, nobody knows what or how, happened to break the engagement, and to plunge him again into a very sea of wretchedness.

The trouble preyed upon his mind until he could think of nothing else. He became unable to attend to business, or to take any part in the life around him. Fearing for his reason as well as for his health, if this continued, his good friend, Joshua P. Speed, carried him off, whether he wished or no, for a visit to his own home in Kentucky. Here they stayed for some time, and Lincoln grew much better, returning to Springfield about midsummer, almost his old self, though far from happy.

An affair that helped to bring the lovers together again is so out of keeping with the rest of his life that it would deserve mention for that reason, if for no other. This is nothing less than Lincoln's first and only duel. It happened that James Shields, afterward a general in two wars, and a senator from two states, was at that time auditor of the state of Illinois, with his office at Springfield. He was a

IT'S DIFFERENT.

Since Coffee Left.

A Wisconsin lady says of coffee: "From childhood I had been used to drinking coffee, and grew very fond of it."

"When in course of time I began to suffer from stomach and bowel troubles, with accompanying headaches, pains in the chest and loss of appetite and flesh, I was slow to suspect that coffee was the cause. My sister, who had used and knew the virtues of Postum Food Coffee, persuaded me to try it. I gave up the old kind of coffee with reluctance, thinking that I would never find a hot table drink that I would relish so well."

"I was therefore more agreeably surprised to discover that Postum, when properly made—thoroughly boiled, was so very palatable. It proved to be a rich, creamy, delicious beverage, soothing and quieting to the nerves and healthily invigorating. I also found it nutritious, as the old kind of coffee never was."

"Postum began to help me from the very beginning, and I was thus encouraged to continue its use, until I am happy to say I have been for three years and where I propose to remain. I find it a glorious and happy place to be in."

"I never before had such good health as I have now. No trace of my former ailments remain. I have put on weight until I am almost 'fleshy,' and my complexion has resumed the bloom of my girlhood days. 'My mother,' her be (as I can see now), 'thinks coffee drinking. Her ailments were precisely the same as mine were, but no one suspected at that time that they were due to coffee, and she continued to use it, her health growing steadily worse, till she put an end to her sufferings. I had only known what that was, now, as I am living to this day. 'My father' was also a great coffee drinker and tobacco user as well, and I am sorry to say, too fond of liquor. He lives with me, and I have taught him to drink Postum, with the result that he uses much less tobacco, and has entirely lost his appetite for strong drink. In this great improvement of his health, I feel most sincerely grateful to the discoverer of Postum Food Coffee. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich."

Dunbar, corner of Gold avenue and Third street. Fourth Ward—Masonic building, near the corner of Third street and Copper avenue.

In addition to city officers, the question of issuing bonds for one municipal project, and possible two more, will be voted on, namely, those for purchasing the water plant, for the building of a new city hall and improving the sewer system. The bond issue for the water plant will be $200,000, for the city hall not to exceed $30,000, and the sewers probably for $75,000 or $100,000.

There is sure to be more or less opposition manifest in all of the above enumerated questions, and especially relative to the water plant bond issue. This will make the election one of the most interesting and hotly contested held in Albuquerque for some years.

McGraw is not a believer in bowling as an aid to a pitcher's arm, and he has ordered Pitcher Ames to refrain from a bowling club. Ames was also coming to believe that his arm might be affected by too strenuous exertion. A little bowling undoubtedly is a good thing, but the tendency of most bowlers is to overdo it, with the result that their muscles become tired and lose their elasticity.

GRAND PERFORMANCE BY MISS ROBERTS

AIDED BY A COMPANY OF STARS
"THE STRENGTH OF THE WEAK" WAS ADMIRABLY RE-
DERED.

Max Figman's production Saturday evening of "The Strength of the Weak," in which John Cort presented that talented young actress, Florence Roberts, drew a large and thoroughly delighted audience to the Elks' opera house.

"The Strength of the Weak" is a society drama with a delicately woven and intricate plot which was superbly interpreted by Miss Roberts. Mr. Figman, Mr. Ormonde and a supporting cast remarkably well balanced. The production was embellished by rich scenic effects, beautiful costumes and accessories perfect in every detail.

As Pauline Darcy, the vaudeville star, Miss Roberts was permitted to advantageously display her talent. The demand of the part for strong emotional work was more than fulfilled, and satisfied the most exacting theatrical critic. With the utmost ease Miss Roberts conveyed her auditors from laughter and smiles to sorrow and tears, and vice versa. The powerful climaxes elicited applause, which made the auditorium of the playhouse fairly ring, and when the curtain fell, had the effect of bringing forth a babel of pleased exclamations from those present.

Eugene Ormonde, as "The rising young architect," the man Pauline Darcy fell in love with, and who subsequently made the horrible discovery that it was his father who had ruined the life of his sweetheart, he having been owned by Mr. Abbott, a wealthy mine owner, acquitted himself with laurels many.

Max Figman, in the role of Maron Oscar Von Kleber, demonstrated the fact that he is an actor of great ability and likewise an artist in staging a heavy drama, for it was under his personal supervision that "The Strength of the Weak" was produced.

The Kentucky legislature will probably abolish Sunday base ball in the Blue Grass state.

Did you ever notice that ball players all work for a salary? When a man draws under $100 a month he's a kaiser.

Buck Ewing, the famous catcher, who has been seriously ill in Cincinnati, for several weeks, is on the road to recovery.

George Tebeau is trying to get Jimmy Burke from the St. Louis Cardinals, to cover third base for Louisville next season.

Now that they are positive they will be unable to secure Spring, the Chicagoans are declaring: "Oh, well, we didn't need him, anyhow."

Charlie Dooley lost his contract with Philadelphia back in a hurry—with his signature attached. He got a substantial increase in salary.

John Dugan, who has been pitching in the long grass leagues of Indiana for several seasons, has been signed by the New York Nationals.

Jimmy Britt has at all anxious to meet Willie Fitzgerald and has side-stepped him. Britt would much sooner take on Young Corbett or Herman.

The New York legislature is considering a bill to stop base ball on Decoration Day. The New York legislature is liable to do anything, and do it good.

Willie Foster has covered the full posted by George Blosson for a match game of billiards for the world's championship. The date for the match has not been fixed.

England has decided to jump to the outlaw, Sam of the trails. He exhibited on the diamond eminently fit him for the outlaw. A few years' Unclash made a vicious assault upon

James E. Wilson and Adelaide Mandala likewise came in for their share of kind criticisms from the delighted audience.

It is universally hoped that Miss Roberts and company will see fit to stop in Albuquerque for a return date later in the season. They will surely receive a most hospitable welcome.

The Coming Strike

The coal operators defiantly declare that they are prepared for the coming strike. They have anticipated it and laid up a supply. The miners declare that they too are well prepared for a long siege. They too have expected it and have their treasury in fine condition, with 300,000 paying members. Only the public is unprepared, unable to make any preparation, and helpless to defend itself against the paralyzing effect which a great coal strike will have upon general business. And so, unless something happens between now and April 1, the fight will go merrily on in nearly every coal mining district of the country, neither of the combatants suffering loss, and the innocent public paying the enormous cost.

The world moves. A strike is no longer a blind protest of brute force. It is adjusting itself to the niceties of civilization. Organized capital and organized labor are learning at last that their interests really are in common, and that the great, bulky, unorganized public affords easy picking. It is on open secret, as many assert, that the movement to inaugurate a great coal strike originated in Wall street last fall. The anthracite operators, whose contract with their miners expires April 1, want to break the power of the United Mine Workers. The bituminous operators merely want to close down their mines long enough to add 25 cents a ton to the year's price of their product. The miners, for their part, want a general advance of 12 1/2 cents on their wage scale, an eight hour day, and a recognition of their union.

Only the public has no demands to make, and no means of enforcing any demands if it had them. If two men stop in the street to settle a difference with their fists they are promptly dragged to the police court and their difference is settled by law. The public must not be annoyed and inconvenienced by a public settlement of private differences—in some cases. But two great organizations may have a private difference, and not only fight it out on the street, but plant their heaviest blows in the faces of the disinterested public and block every line of business, and there seems to be no law applying to the case except to compel the outraged public to quietly submit to its injuries and pay the costs.

What the people—the long suffering, much abused, patient general public—should demand, and demand with the power which will make its demand effective, is for legal arbitration of all differences affecting the necessities of life. If operators and employees cannot or will not compromise, then let the public, through the instrumentality of law, step in and protect itself.

McKinley Republican: The much talked of north and south railroad through this country seems to be a coming reality. The road will be of great benefit to this section. It will open up new country, bring good markets near Gallup, and will give a direct connection with the rapidly developing Mexican copper and gold country where there will be a steadily growing demand for coal to be used as a fuel. The Southern Pacific, which owns the Arizona & Colorado, has bought great coal fields in Colorado; but from current press reports these fields will be mined for fuel for the Southern Pacific and not for selling to outside companies either in the United States or Mexico. Even if the road should not bring reduced freight rates it will be an important factor in the developing of the country to the north and south of Gallup.

The works of Jack London have been withdrawn from circulation by the Derby Neck, Conn., free library with the following announcement: "As Jack London publicly announced he is an anarchist, assailing the constitution to hell and the government to destruction, we have ordered all his works withdrawn from circulation. And we urge not only other libraries to do likewise, but all lovers of their country to cease buying his books or taking magazines publishing his stories." Evidently the Derby Neck folks have forgotten the time when the leading people of their section publicly proclaimed the constitution to be "a covenant with death and an agreement with hell." However, London can smile at the course of the Derby Neckers, for it will but give his works a wider advertisement.

Professor Emil von Behring, discoverer of the diphtheria serum, addressing the German agricultural council, announced his determination to adhere to a resolution to keep his tuberculosis remedy secret until the autumn. The professor discussed at length the method of preventing consumption by immunizing milk cows. The aim is to secure milk having immunizing properties. He says he has approximately solved this problem. Cows are treated when very young with a fluid which Professor Behring calls tuberculin. Professor Behring also treated cows which showed a virulent type of tuberculosis in their milk. His theory is that children fed on milk from cows rendered immune through his treatment become themselves immune.

Judge Lindsey, of Denver, who has acquired national fame by his admirable management of the court for juvenile offenders, recently stated that no man can be elected to office in Denver, unless his subservience to the corporations which hold Denver in their grasp, is well assured. This he declares to be true, regardless of the candidate's political affiliation. It is evident that some would gladly see Albuquerque placed in the same condition, while they very correctly believe that mongrel tickets will be of more easy manipulation than straight out party tickets. It scarcely admits of doubt that such persons are destined to disappointment. Albuquerque is not yet ready to clothe herself in chains and slavery.

It has been stated at the office of the forestry service that no new forest reserves will be created pending consideration in congress of the Herburn bill, which provides for taking out of the hands of the president the authority to create reserves without the sanction of congress. This action, it was stated, is by the direction of the president. Meanwhile protests are being filed with the forest service by Wyoming, Colorado, Oregon and other western senators and representatives against the creation of a number of proposed reserves in those states.

The secretary of the interior has awarded the contract to T. F. Carter, of Roswell, N. M., for construction of the earthwork of the distributing system of the Honda project, New Mexico. Only two bids were received for this work, that of Mr. Carter, for $10,113, being lowest. The contract calls for 22,000 cubic yards of excavation on canals and 28 linear miles of lateral ditches two feet in width on the bottom.

New Mexican: City politicians are already agitating the question of nominations for the April election. So far there seems to be a scarcity of candidates on both sides of the political fence. The city has juggled along with some sort of an administration during the past two years, that was neither very bad nor very good. Its principal fault was procrastination and paying little heed to important questions.

On Friday, Prof. Elwood Mead and Representative Mondell were given hearing before the house agricultural committee in behalf of the amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill placing $20,000 at the disposal of the bureau of experiment stations for conducting practical experiments in dry farming in western states.

With a set of wives, a set of children and a set of mistresses hiring lawyers to watch the division of the Yerkes estate, the chances seem good for the pulling into active circulation of fifteen or twenty more millions piled up by the great franchise-grabber through years of skinning his friends and sucking on special privileges.

Why Repose Cure Is Not a Panacea

By Winifred Black.

A woman I know has just come from India. She's starting an "Om" class. She doesn't call it an Om class; she calls it a circle for the study of repose. When you study "repose" with this friend of mine she tells you that the one thing necessary for all human happiness is to sit back in a corner, fold your hands lightly but firmly and keep saying "Om" over to yourself until you're what she calls "in tune with the infinite." I don't know what "Om" means and I don't believe she does either, but that's what they say in India, she says, when they want to get in tune with the infinite, and it's their belief "in tune with the infinite" that makes the East Indians the calm, unruffled, smiling philosophers my friend declares them to be.

Who started this fad of the East Indian philosophy of "repose," anyway? It is running through all grades of society like wildfire. Some call it by one name and some by another, but whenever you meet a new lam or ology these days it's sure to be based upon the idea that repose is the one thing needful.

I wonder if the "repose" idea is going to turn out all it's supposed to be after all. Did you ever live in a boarding house with a woman whose husband had the repose idea so strongly developed that she had to keep boarders to buy his clothes for him? I never meet one of these calm, smiling, unruffled persons who always have time to take "repose exercises" without getting out my field glass and scanning the landscape to see if I can't get a glimpse of the foolish, every-day person who is earning the money to keep the "reposeful one in repose" so much of the time. These people who never worry usually turn out to be perfect geniuses at giving some one else an excellent excuse for worry.

It's all very well to preach repose to a member of the stock exchange, or the guard on an elevated road, but isn't it overdoing it a bit to print long sermons advocating this convenient doctrine for every and all kinds of people?

We distrust the patent medicine advertisement which tells us that Doctor Somebody's sweet elixir will cure every disease on the calendar and a lot of ailments never yet calendared; why should we believe that the same kind of mental medicine will cure every kind of mental ailment?

I don't think people worry too much. I think they worry too little as a rule—about the right thing. I never saw a worthless parasite or a miserable hanger-on anywhere in the world who ever worried a minute; did you? The man who never does anything never worries about anything, and the man who never worries about anything is almost sure to keep very far away from doing anything to worry about.

When I want to hire a dreamer or a madd or any one to do any kind of work and do it well, I should never think of looking among the members of the Don't Worry club to find her; would you? I want to a gardener once to get him to come and do some work for me. When I was waiting for him to come in I looked out of the door and saw a large, calm, peaceful son of person strolling toward me. He was talking to a companion and as they drew near I heard the restful man say, "No, sir, I never worried a minute in my life, and I ain't never going to get together." When I found out that the restful person was the gardener I told him I would let him know about the work later, and I went out and hunted up a little bit of nervous, fretful person, with a temper like a spring gun—and he did the gardening. My neighbor, who depended upon the restful man was not at all restful himself when he looked at her own far from restful garden. No "Om" classes for me, thank you. When I got to the point where I can't work hard enough to get so tired that I can rest without saying "Om," or any other mystic word of any other cult, I hope that I will be tired enough to lie down once and for all in my little narrow brown bed in the sweet-smelling earth and listen to the singing of the birds, who have never heard of being "in tune with the infinite" in all their tuneless lives.

Immortal J. N. Free Poorhouse Inmate

From Daily Optic.

When the doors of the Crawford county, Ohio, poorhouse closed the other day behind J. N. Free, the "Immortal J. N." the curtain was rung down on one of the most unique and interesting characters this country has ever known. There are few people in the country, at least in the middle west, who have not seen or heard of the "Immortal J. N."

Eighty years ago Jacob Newman Free was born in Tiffin, Ohio, the eldest son of a Presbyterian minister. Half a century ago he became known as the "Immortal J. N." and ever since he has been living as the birds live, but in a much greater condition of luxury. When he was admitted to the county infirmary the other day he proudly displayed to the officials of the institution an old pocketbook containing more than 100 slips of paper reading "Good for J. N." being life passes signed by officials of the leading railroads of the country. By means of these passes, "J. N." traveled wherever he pleased. He visited every state and territory and in every city of more than 2,000 inhabitants he had friends. He claims, and his claim is generally believed, that he knows more people personally than any other living man. Everywhere he went he stayed at the best hotels and for half a century no landlord was found bold enough to even present him with a bill.

In his youth "J. N." was an infant phenomenon. At four years of age he read almost all the Bible; and during his teens he acquired a reading and speaking knowledge of no less than thirteen languages. During the course of 49 he went west and started a stage line. Within two years he accumulated a fortune of $50,000. A partner robbed him and "J. N." then returned to Ohio and began the study of law.

Within a few years he was prominent at the bar in Cincinnati. One day, so the story goes, he was defending a murderer, in whose innocence he ardently believed. As a result of his eloquence the man was acquitted. The same day his client confessed that he was guilty. "J. N." rushed back to the court room and started to explain, but the strain and excitement had been too much for him. He was stricken with apoplexy. Within a short time he recovered his physical health, but never his mental peace. He became the "Immortal J. N." and started on the wandering life which he followed for fifty years. He was the apostle of "Pressure," a mysterious force which but for him would crash out of existence all the labor units of the United States. He was well acquainted with President Lincoln and numbered many distinguished men among his friends. During the war he even started out to find Jefferson Davis and save the union by putting the "pressure" on the leader of the confederacy. He got well within the confederate lines when he was arrested and given thirty minutes to leave the country. "J. N." says he still has twenty-nine and a half minutes of the time coming to him.

His Objection.

Pastor—"I hope you approve the change I've instituted in my sermons—cutting them down to half the length of those I used to preach."

Parishioner—"I don't. I wish you'd keep on preaching long ones."

Pastor—"Why I'm flattered. I'm sure."

Parishioner—"You see, I'm used to sleeping a half hour, and it's hard to change my habits and have to wake up in fifteen minutes."—Cleveland Leader.

Knowledge.

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," said the man who quoted.

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "especially when it's something that a queer publisher happens to know about you."

FAVORITISM IN RAILROAD RATES

Yes, this does look quite odd. Somewhat like a cross between a rail fence and a scientific diagram. It is only a diagram. It is intended to show up the inconsistency in rates between East St. Louis and four certain points in Arkansas, which are only a few miles apart. You don't see East St. Louis in the diagram, because you don't need to. Camden is the point farthest away from East St. Louis. On class 1 the rate is the same from three points, but drops 5 cents for Camden. On class 3 it is the same for two points, but drops 5 cents for Camden. On class 2 it rises 3 cents and 1 cent over the nearest point, only to drop 7 cents for Camden. On class 3 for two points it rises 2 cents, and rises 1 cent more for Camden. If Camden gets classes 1 and 3 and B cheaper than points nearer East St. Louis, why not on class 2? What difference should it make in the relation between the rates what class of freight is carried? Why should not points en route get freight as cheap as a place further on? Railroad rates evidently need a strong dose of Old Doctor Roosevelt's Regulator!

RUNAWAY FREIGHT ON RATON MOUNTAINS

Engine and Thirty Six Cars
Fill an Arroyo With Scrap Iron.

LIVES WERE SAVED BY JUMPING

A special dispatch from Trinidad, Colo., dated Feb. 9, gives the following account of a thrilling experience. A Santa Fe freight crew had on the steep Raton mountain grade. An engine and thirty-six cars ran away on Raton mountain at an early hour this morning and were piled up in one mass of wreckage at the base of the mountain, blocking both tracks of the Santa Fe and stopping traffic for about twelve hours. Just as the train had left the tunnel near the top of the mountain and started down the steep grade, the air brakes refused to work and the engineer lost control of the train. Seeing that death stared them in the face, the engineer yelled to his fireman and also to the head brakeman, who was riding in the cab, and all three men jumped. The train gained speed at every turn of the wheels and dashed down the steep mountain side, attaining a speed of 70 miles an hour. At a sharp curve at the base of the mountain, nearly three miles from the tunnel, where a trestle work crosses a gulch, the large mountain engine jumped the rails and turned crosswise on the double track. The cars struck the engine with such force as to turn it over, stripping it of wheels and reducing the engine to a mass of twisted iron. The thirty-six cars filled the gulch and piled high up above the engine on both tracks. Engineer Vaughn was the most severely injured of the three men who jumped, but no bones were broken and his injuries are not dangerous. Fireman Sawyer and the brakeman, whose name is Burdett, escaped with only a few slight bruises. Wrecking crews from La Junta and Raton arrived on the scene with all possible haste and although the wreck occurred at 1 o'clock in the morning, they only succeeded in getting one track open for traffic at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Four westbound passenger trains were held at Trinidad and the east-bound passenger trains were held at Raton. Those trains were all released as rapidly as possible when the track was opened. The three railroad men who were injured reside at Raton. The first report of the wreck was that three men were killed, but later developments showed that all of the crew escaped death.

There have been a number of runaway trains on Raton mountain the last few years, but this is the first wreck of the Santa Fe ever experienced on this mountain. Every one of the thirty-six cars were reduced to kindling wood and the engine is good for nothing but scrap iron.

Gardner Lathrop, general collector of the Santa Fe system, with headquarters in Kansas City, together with a party of prominent people of that city and elsewhere, was in the city a few hours this morning, on route to Kansas City from a trip over the lines of the Santa Fe. The party included, among others, Judge Pollock, of the supreme bench, and Mr. Slater, of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad. Mr. Lathrop stated to a representative of The Evening Citizen that the trip had no special significance, other than to look over the lines of the company and to show his friends "what a fine road they had." The party traveled in Mr. Lathrop's private car, No. 2, and went east on No. 10, which was delayed here about one and one-half hour while repairs were made on private car No. 2.

Storekeeper Custer, of the coast line, announces that the removal of the headquarters from this city to San Bernardino will not be fully accomplished before March 1. He also stated that there would be several changes in the local storekeepers' office, which, upon the removal of the headquarters office, will rank as a division storekeeper and office. Mr. Custer will take his chief clerk and seven assistants with him to San Bernardino. Thomas Scully, at present division storekeeper at La Junta, will come to Albuquerque as storekeeper, while K. K. Stevens, of the local store room, will go to La Junta as division foreman. A successor to Mr. Stevens has not as yet been chosen.

Superintendent W. K. Eetter was in the city this morning in his private car, No. 8, and was in conference with Gardner Lathrop, general collector of the Santa Fe. He went south today to San Marcial.

Santa Fe private car No. 414, with R. D. Burns, chief engineer of the coast lines of the Santa Fe on board, arrived on No. 10 this morning, coming up from El Paso. Mr. Burns, accompanied by his wife and several friends, have been in Mexico for some time for the benefit of his health, which was greatly improved during his stay in the southern republic. He goes west tonight.

Miss Alma Bussor, daughter of S. E. Bussor, superintendent of the Santa Fe reading room, arrived in the Alvarado last night from her home in San Francisco and will remain here several days visiting with friends.

Charles Roehl, connected with the general passenger department of the Santa Fe, is in the city from Chicago, visiting his brother, Stephen Roehl, cashier in the local Santa Fe freight office.

Dr. J. W. Morrison, a physician with the Great Brothers' Construction company, on the Belen cut-off, is in the city for a few days, having arrived from a short visit to friends in Los Angeles.

E. W. Hodges, general purchasing agent for the Santa Fe system, was in the city for a short time last evening, en route to California, on board the directors' private Santa Fe car.

NEW HEADLIGHT THAT WILL TURN OBVIATES DANGER

Los Angeles, Feb. 12.—Ora E. Mitchell, a local car man, has invented a device which stands in a fair way to minimize the danger of accidents and realize a fortune for the inventor.

Mitchell is a conductor on a Glendale car, operated by the Los Angeles Interurban Railway Co. When he made his first run over the Glendale road before the track was in perfect condition, Mitchell realized that it would be much safer if a headlight could be turned from side to side while the car was in motion. His spare moments he spent in planning such a device, and the finished product of his idea is a contrivance for turning the headlight of a trolley car or automobile by means of foot pumps. He has tried the light on a Glendale car with perfect success and car men are of the opinion that it is one of the best inventions of recent date.

By the pressure of the foot on a brake the headlight can be deflected from the center of the track to either side. Mitchell claims that his lamp will do away with the present danger at street crossings and in rounding the curves, as the motorman without extra effort, may turn his light in any direction and signal to cars ahead.

Lamps are also being made for the use of automobiles.

MRS. J. T. BARRACLOUGH AND ROBERT L. PHELPS

On the register at the Alvarado appears the names, "R. L. Phelps and wife, Oakland, Cal."

The Evening Citizen representative, who called at the hotel this afternoon, says that Bob Phelps was not married when he left Albuquerque many years ago, and also was aware of the fact that he was still a bachelor when here a short time ago; hence an investigation was necessary and a card was sent in asking an audience with Mr. Phelps. The gentleman appeared, his face covered with smiles, and he gave The Citizen representative, whom he knew twenty odd years ago, a hearty hand-shaking.

"Own up, who is this Mr. Phelps?" remarked the reporter, and Bob, with a broader smile, unhesitated himself as follows:

"Yesterday afternoon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Van Slyck, old friends, in El Paso, I was married to Mrs. John T. Barracough, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Walter, and this evening, in Chief Engineer Burns' private car and accompanied by himself and Mrs. Burns, we will leave for Oakland, Cal., where we will reside in the future, and which has been our home since leaving Albuquerque."

As Robert L. Phelps and Mrs. John T. Barracough, several weeks ago, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Burns on a tour to Mexico, and as they had been engaged to be married some time the coming summer they concluded to bring their courtship to a happy end by having the knot tied at El Paso, as they are going back to Oakland as husband and wife.

The bride was the widow of John T. Barracough, for years a member of the hardware firm of E. J. Post & Co. About twelve years ago he and Mrs. Barracough took up their residence in Oakland, and in August last, three years ago, he died from Bright's disease.

For several years, beginning with the fall of 1881, Mr. Phelps conducted a clothing and gent's furnishing goods store on West Railroad avenue, under the firm name of Phelps & Bennett. He has been a resident of Oakland since 1887, and is a member of the large department store firm of Taff-Pennoyer company.

A number of Albuquerque citizens, who know Mr. Phelps and Mrs. Barracough years ago, and who were put in possession of the facts about their marriage, called this afternoon at the Alvarado and offered them their congratulations.

THIEF BEGGED FOR RELEASE ON KNEES

Was Caught Stealing Coal and Officer Patterson Refused Him.

WAS PUNISHED IN POLICE COURT

On his knees, Cipriano Armijo begged Special Santa Fe Officer Patterson to release him. "Don't take me to jail," the fellow pitifully moaned. "It is the first time I have ever stolen anything; let me go this time," he begged.

The foregoing was the culmination of a capture made this morning shortly after 5 o'clock of a coal thief in the local Santa Fe yards. Officer Patterson was making one of his rounds, when he espied Armijo on top of a car of coal, busily engaged in filling a large sled sack.

Patterson crept up to the car Armijo was at work on, unnoticed. He crawled beneath and patiently waited for his man to come off "his perch." Not long afterward, Armijo threw the bag of coal to the ground, jumped down after it, and hid it preparatory to throwing it over his back, when Officer Patterson nearly frightened the fellow out of his wits by stepping up to him, laying a hand on his shoulder, with: "I want you; you are under arrest."

Then the man dropped to his knees and begged to be released, as quoted above. Officer Patterson refused, and brought his man to the city prison, where he was locked up. In police court he pleaded guilty, and was fined $10. "This amount," Judge Crawford said, "would have purchased enough coal to last you all winter. Honeysuckle you will find, is always the best policy, in the long run."

The bag of coal Armijo stole weighed nearly sixty pounds.
