ALBUQUERQUE WELL PLEASED

Postmaster Hopkins Has Been Nominated For Another Term

ALASKA GIVEN A DELEGATE

Two Hundred Thousand Dollars For Coinage of Nickels and Dimes.

SIR NICHOLAS IS THE SMOKER

Washington, D. C., March 5.—The president today sent the following nominations for postmasters to the senate: R. W. Hopkins, Albuquerque, N. M.; Lola Wood, Fort Sam Houston, Texas; and E. Leahy, Rodgers, Texas.

[The Citizen congratulates Mr. Hopkins that in his case the expected and very generally desired has come to pass. If faithful and acceptable discharge of official duties during one term of office be ground for reappointment, Mr. Hopkins certainly had that ground in the very fullest sense of the term.]

SENATE.
Washington, D. C., March 5.—At 3 o'clock the senate bill was taken up and read. Senator Nelson spoke in its favor and Senator Long will speak on the same side tomorrow. When the senate convened today, Culberson, of Texas, reported favorably on the committee on judiciary, the bill dividing the western jurisdiction of Texas and creating a new district. The bill passed.

HOUSE.
Washington, D. C., March 5.—The house today passed the senate bill providing for a delegate in congress from Alaska.

The house also passed a bill increasing from $50,000 to $500,000 the amount for the purchase of metals to be coined into pennies and nickels, and providing that these coins shall be made in Denver, San Francisco, New Orleans and Philadelphia mints, instead of now exclusively in the Philadelphia mint.

By unanimous consent today the house authorized printing in the congressional record the address of Geo. D. Perkins at the funeral of the late speaker, David B. Henderson. The memorial was presented by Lacey, of Iowa, who characterized it as beautiful and historical in character.

RATHER LARGE SIZED PURE IMPORTED CIGAR.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—Representative Longworth, of Ohio, returned to duty in the house today. He brought with him and presented to Speaker Cannon a Havana cigar, at least fourteen inches long, a product of Havana.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS ARE PLEASED WITH PROSPECTS

Chicago, March 5.—The war fever has broken out at Fort Sheridan. Practically all of the 1,200 enlisted men there have a touch of infection. They are stirred by the reports of a possible clash with China and are ready to go to the Orient and win martial honors. The fact that appeals to the soldiers and has aroused their hopes of some change from the routine of post life, is that recently the War Department demanded a complete detailed report of the condition of the men and the equipment at Fort Sheridan. All are fully equipped and nearly every organization has been recruited up to its full quota.

ANOTHER LAKE SUPERIOR COPPER MINE OPENED.

Calumet, Mich., March 5.—Within a few days another mine will be added to the list of producing copper properties in the Lake Superior copper district. It is expected that the Victoria mine in Ontonagon county, will start treating its rock in its new steam mill within a few days. The Victoria's mill is 50x150 feet, ground dimensions, and contains one head with a daily capacity of 250 tons of rock. A railroad connects the mill with the mine, which is 4,800 feet distant, and as the grade is from 6 to 12 per cent the loaded rock cars will draw the empties through the greater part of the way back to the mine. A stationary engine is at the upper end of the road and will facilitate the work.

TWO HUNDRED FORTY-EIGHT NAVAL ACADEMY VACANCIES.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—After this date there are fifty-three vacancies in the naval academy to be filled by United States senators and 195 by representatives and the members of both houses, who have such vacancies to fill have been notified to send in their nominations. The number of vacancies is nearly equally distributed over the different sections of the country.

BURGLARS RANSACK PALLADINO RESIDENCE

HOUSE WAS RUMMAGED FROM CELLAR TO GARRET WHILE INMATES SLEPT PEACEFULLY ON

Burglars broke into the residence of G. Palladino, the contractor, residing at 331 North Fourth street, last night. The house was rummaged from cellar to garret, desks were broken open and drawers gone through, while the family slept, but nothing is missing except the entrance through the front door and passed out through the rear door. They did much damage by wrecking furniture. The robbery was not discovered until this morning.

RICE FAMINE IN JAPAN 650,000 NOW EAT STRAW

President's Appeal for Relief by America is Based Upon Harrowing Report--Granaries Denuded by Ruined Crops.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—Upon the theory that "needing, like men, should stand ever ready to aid each other," President Roosevelt has written a general appeal for relief to the famine sufferers in Japan and has recommended that contributions be sent to the American National Red Cross society, which will forward them to the Japanese Red Cross.

The president has been stirred by a story of starvation that people in this crop was only half the average output, thus bringing additional famine. The three provinces affected, show this appalling condition:

In Miyagi province, with a population of 899,279, and a 12 per cent crop in 1905, 250,000 people are starving. In Fukushima province, population, 1,177,024, with a 25 per cent crop in 1905, 300,000 are starving.

In Iwate province, with a population of 748,254, and a 33 per cent crop in 1905, 100,000 are starving. The value of an average crop in the three provinces totals $18,630,930, but the loss on the present crop is estimated at $14,150,787, or $5 per person.

Extremes in temperature and an unusual excess of rains caused the failure of the rice crop. Every effort to save the crop and avert disaster was unavailing. The Japanese government crop bulletins tell the story as geographically as anything. In the case of Fukushima province the bulletins were:

Date	Crop Condition
August 25	75 per cent
September 25	62 per cent
October 5	38 per cent
October 16	32 per cent
October 24	29 per cent
November 10	25 per cent

Famine alarms began with the bulletin issued on October 5.

Behind these bare figures was a propitious June in the first half, severe rains in the last half and twenty-seven days of rain in August, with only one of the three kinds of rice blossoming. There was improved weather in September, but cold nights followed and even the partial crop was nearly destroyed.

A Mockery of Food.

In the desperate resort to scavenging straws, roots and acorns—food the world over for cattle and hogs—the Japanese of the future provinces are indeed undergoing a supreme ordeal. Samples of the food shown to the foreign residents' relief committee smelled sour, and the mess was nasty and green and altogether repulsive. The Japanese government has made elaborate tests of these foods to determine how much nourishment they contain, and to warn the people against poisonous ingredients.

Japanese government reports says Henry B. Miller, consul general of Yokohama, tells only part of the terrible condition of the people. He has sent home an estimate that over 650,000 people are in extreme distress, with no possibility of saving life without aid. Thousands of people are living on roots, acorns, leaves of straw mixed with small quantities of rice and flour. What makes the famine doubly hard to bear is that the silk

Acorn cakes are becoming a luxury because the supply of acorns is almost exhausted. To remove bitterness, the acorns are dried and pulverized. The flour is then boiled in a solution of potassium carbonate for half an hour and the residue dried. To this is added two quarts of foreign rice and one quart of flour, and when possible a quart of native rice. The whole is then pounded into a cake, which is eaten with soy (sauce) or after being rolled in bean flour.

Shredded Straw.
Straw Cakes—Straw, seven parts; cheap flour, 1½ parts; water, 16 quarts; lime, one-quarter of a pound; potassium bicarbonate, one-half pound.

The straw is cut very fine and boiled in the water about 1½ hours. The roots and chaff are skimmed off and discarded. The water is strained through the lime, and the potassium bicarbonate and more straw added. The hulled straw is then washed with fresh water and drained, and then mixed with cheap flour. Cakes are formed and allowed to dry. These cakes are eaten or boiled in soup. Other varieties of foods vary from combinations of foreign rice with grass or chrysanthemum leaves to gels made of bad flour, with radishes and seaweed. The roots of the wisteria are also eaten.

WEST BOUND NO. 1 PASSENGER TRAIN DITCHED AT TOLTEC

A Number of Native Laborers, With Express Messenger Summers, More or Less Seriously Injured--Ditched Train Returned to City.

Special to The Evening Citizen.
Gallup, N. M., March 5.—The Chicago-Los Angeles westbound train No. 1 was wrecked at 12:30 o'clock this morning near Toltec, fifty miles east of Gallup. The engine and tank jumped the track and the train was going at high speed. The express car, baggage car, coach and one tourist sleeper followed the tank into the ditch. A small station, between Grants and Bluewater, 102 miles west of here, was the last station. The blockade will open this afternoon. All detailed cars were overturned except the day coach. Express Messenger Summers was badly bruised and a number of native laborers were cut and bruised. Traffic was delayed twelve hours.

The News Here.
Santa Fe Los Angeles train No. 1, which left Albuquerque at 8:15 o'clock last evening, was wrecked at Toltec, a small station, between Grants and Bluewater, 102 miles west of here. The accident occurred at 12:30 o'clock last night, but owing to Toltec being five miles from Grants, the nearest telegraph station, the news did not reach the city until 3 o'clock this morning.

On leaving here last night No. 1 carried baggage car, one express car, a smoker, a chair car, three tourist sleepers, one standard sleeper and the private car of Mrs. Paul Morton, who was en route to California with a party of friends. At Toltec, it is understood, No. 1 picked up a car of native laborers, and that a large number of these were injured. The real extent of the dead, (should there be any), and injured list could not be learned at 3 o'clock, owing to the wires being under the exclusive use of Santa Fe train service.

The train crew consisted of Conductor J. E. Davenport, of 295 South Arno street, this city; Engineer George Calvert, of 611 South High street, this city, and Fireman Braun, of the Arlington rooming house, on South Second street, this city. Express Messenger J. A. Summers, of 401 West Roma avenue, this city, is reported to be among the seriously injured.

Relief Train Delayed.
A relief train bearing the wrecked crew and doctors left this city at 6 o'clock this morning. The engine broke down at Toltec and the train was delayed until another engine could be secured from the local shops. This train bearing the injured, is expected to reach this city at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The rest of the equipment not disabled in the wreck, including the car of Mrs. Paul Morton, will be returned to the city this evening.

Track in Bad Condition.
Where the wreck occurred the railroad traverses the San Jose river valley, and owing to the heavy precipitation of the winter, the roadbed is considered in very bad condition. The engine tender of train No. 8 left the track at about the same place last night, but without serious results.

Traffic Delayed Twelve Hours.

It was stated that the local Santa Fe offices at noon today that a "shoo-fly" would be completed around the wreck at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The train which left the city this morning carried as a part of its baggage, seven-ton rails and 500 ties which were to be used for repair purposes at this point.

LABOR LEADER KILLS HIMSELF

Member of Father Gapon's Labor Organization Proves Innocence

CHURCH RECEIVES PRINCESS

Jewish Congress Authorized by Russian Government Meets in St. Petersburg.

ELECTION OF RUSSIAN ASSEMBLY

St. Petersburg, March 5.—The accused member of Father Gapon's labor organization, who committed suicide yesterday while the scandal involving charges of accepting money from the government was being investigated, was named Schoff. He enjoyed a high standing among his fellow workmen who are depressed because of the scandal.

It has now developed that Father Gapon himself was present at yesterday's meeting when Schoff killed himself. Father Gregorovich Petroff charged Schoff with obtaining $2,500 from Father Gapon, and with having accompanied a member of the secret police in his search for Malushensky, a councillor and press agent of the Father Gapon movement, who fled with funds belonging to the organization.

During the meeting Schoff made an impassioned speech, declaring that he could not support the infamy involved in the charges that the organization had been in league with the government nor the obliquity heaped on himself, as both he and the organization were innocent. He then called upon Father Gapon to declare in the presence of his fellows whether he, Schoff, had received a cent from the government. Gapon rose and exonerated Schoff, whereupon the latter arose and said: "I will now give you a supreme proof of my honesty, and drawing a revolver, he blew out his brains."

No definite plan has so far been suggested.

FAMOUS HYDE CASE WILL BE HEARD IN WASHINGTON

ATTORNEY CHILDERS GOES TO WASHINGTON TO ARGUE CASE BEFORE SUPREME COURT.

W. B. Childers, the attorney, left Saturday night for Washington, D. C., where he goes to represent the E. J. McLean company in a suit appealed to the supreme court of the United States. T. B. Catron of Santa Fe, is associated with Mr. Childers on the McLean side of the case, Attorney Charles Spiess of Las Vegas representing the Territorial Cattle Sanitary Board, in reality the defendants.

The case is styled the Territory of New Mexico, ex rel. E. J. McLean & Co., vs. the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad company, and is known throughout the territory as the "hide" case.

The cause of action is the constitutionality of the 10 cent inspection tax on hides shipped out of the territory. Some time ago, the E. J. McLean company delivered to the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, a bundle of hides upon which the tax had not been paid. The railroad company refused to transport the hides and a damage suit was instituted against them by the McLean company. The lower courts and territorial supreme court held that the law was constitutional as passed by the last legislative assembly, whereupon the McLean company appealed to the supreme court of the United States.

Standard Oil Sparring for Time in Fight With Missouri

MORGAN TO SEE THE KING

McCurdy Promised Jerome to Return Whenever He May be Wanted.

GREEN IS TRIED FOR GRAFTING

New York, March 5.—The decision on the question whether H. H. Rogers shall be compelled to answer the questions asked him in the Missouri oil hearing, and which he had refused to answer, has been postponed until March 26th. Justice Gilder-sleeve, who heard the argument, directed adjournment, in order to await final decision in the Missouri courts, relative to a similar case.

During the argument for an adjournment, W. V. Rowe, counsel for Rogers, said: "I wish to tell the court, as the mouthpiece of Rogers, that I have the final decision of the Missouri court, which is against Rogers, and will answer questions as to stock transfers without order from the court."

Henry Wollman, who represented the state of Missouri for Attorney General Hadley, objected to the adjournment, saying that it was an effort of the Standard Oil people to delay the case. "If Rowe will say, as matter of record for this court," said Wollman, "that Rogers will answer on the 23rd of March, I am satisfied, but we don't want to agree to having this hearing adjourned so as to give them time to appeal to the United States supreme court."

March 23rd is the date for resumption of the Standard Oil hearing before Commissioner Sanborn. Rowe repeated his previous statement on the behalf of Rogers, and the hearing was adjourned before Judge Gilder-sleeve until March 26th.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN HAS REACHED ROME.

New York, March 5.—It appears from the Herald that Richard A. McCurdy, former president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, before sailing for Paris, last Wednesday, entered into a written understanding with District Attorney Jerome to return to this country at any time his presence may be desired, and to return by September 1st, in any event. This is taken to confirm the report that the district attorney is preparing certain life insurance matters for the grand jury. Also, the Herald says that Jerome was shown a certificate from McCurdy's physician representing the former president in a physical condition demanding absolute rest and removal from business cares.

JUSTICE COULD REFUSE TO FIND FOR DEFENSE.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—Justice Gould, in the criminal court today, retried the motion made by counsel in the case of George A. Green of Binghamton, N. Y., on trial for conspiracy in connection with the sale of supplies to the postoffice department, to instruct the jury to acquit the defendant; and the defense proceeded with the submission of its case. In reply to a question from the court, the counsel for the defense suggested that they might get through with their testimony today.

The opinion in the case was delivered by Justice Holmes, and upheld the decision of the court of appeals for the ninth circuit. Justices Harlan and Brown dissented.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW HELD IN BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 5.—The fourth annual automobile show of Buffalo opens at the Convention hall today, and, judging from the large number of entries, the large number of manufacturing concerns represented, and the completeness of the arrangements it promises to be by far the most interesting and successful automobile show ever held in this city. The arrangements are nearly complete. This afternoon a private view will be given the exhibitors and representatives of the press and the formal opening will take place this evening, when the entire hall will be a blaze of electric lights. Many of the foreign machines, which have been exhibited in New York and other large cities in the east are on exhibition here and will attract considerable attention.

RELATES A STIRRING INCIDENT

Prof. J. E. Clark, superintendent of public schools in this city, has returned from Louisville, Ky., where he has been in attendance at the convention of the National Educational association. Prof. Clark stated that the convention was a success in every way, and, speaking of some of the incidents that occurred during the convention, related the following account of what must have been a very inspiring spectacle:

"It was at the convention the night of February 28. A bevy of white arrayed high school girls mounted the rostrum and sang, 'My Old Kentucky Home,' and 'Dixie.' Fully 1,000 educators and probably the same number of citizens, all but went wild under the influence of the touching melodies. After the great audience had across, clapped their hands and applauded in other ways, the girls left the rostrum.

"Come back, come back," were the cries that resounded through the great auditorium. "You must help us sing 'America,' shouted 1,000 voices. The young ladies fled back on the rostrum, and soon the walls of the building fairly shook with the strains of 'America.'"

The following interview with Prof. Clark, taken from the Louisville Courier-Journal of March 1, shows that that gentleman was thinking and talking only of and for New Mexico during his stay in the southern city.

Good Words for New Mexico.
For the first time since the department of superintendence has been holding sessions apart from the annual meeting of the National Educational association in the presence of the superintendents of schools from Albuquerque, Santa Fe, and Las Vegas. J. E. Clark, superintendent of schools at Albuquerque, was the first of the three to arrive. He attended two or three of the sessions of the department and mixed with the educators from other parts of the country, laboring under the impression that he was the only New Mexican in Louisville. Last night, however, he discovered that J. A. Wood, superintendent of schools at Santa Fe, and R. R. Larkin, superintendent of schools at Las Vegas, were among the visitors.

Mr. Clark had been writing to the other two superintendents, trying to prevail upon them to attend the meeting in Louisville, but did not know until he met them that they had decided to come. Mr. Clark, before he went to New Mexico a year ago, was a Michigan superintendent of schools for ten years. He had been in attendance at the meetings of the department and when he took up his work in the western territory began to labor for the representation of his new home.

All manner of questions, many of them almost ridiculous, have been addressed to him since he has been in the city. Few, if any, of his brother educators seem to have had any conception of the development of New Mexico.

"New Mexico," said Mr. Clark, "is greatly misunderstood; she is grossly misrepresented. Eastern people are as far from having a correct idea of our southwest candidates for statehood as a hurried European is of having an adequate notion of one of our great cities after one has ridden through on a Pullman and seen only the dusty streets, the untidy alleys and the shabby houses of the wharf sections. Travelers and newspaper men who have visited the territory, have for some strange reason, seen only the 'dobe huts' with their quaint, beehive bake-ovens and their long ruddy strings of chili; the rude implements and 'gunned' ponies of the 'greasers'; the palatial gambling dens and the political convulsing of the shrewd Yankee of the east.

"New Mexico is a land of opportunity for young and old, for well or sick. Thousands of acres are being reclaimed from the desert for agricultural purposes annually. Ranches of all fairs, cattle, sheep, goats and garden truck are paying heavy interest on the investment.

"Educational conditions are away in advance of the 'back east' idea of them. It is true that the territory is not up with eastern states, but conditions are improving in a way that they have never done in the past. New Mexico has in Prof. Hadley one of the foremost state superintendents in the country. He is known all over the United States. The school system was organized only fifteen years ago, yet its cities and villages have school systems that compare very favorably with cities of equal size in the states. Albuquerque has fine, excellent public school buildings, modern in construction and equipped with the best furniture and heating plants.

"The city has an enrollment of 2,000 pupils and a teaching corps that is above the average in efficiency. Graduates of the high school department are accepted as freshmen in the western colleges and universities.

"Albuquerque, the metropolis of New Mexico, is a city of keen enterprise. It has a Commercial club of over 200 members with headquarters in new $75,000 Commercial club building that would be a credit to any city of 100,000 people. The amount of business done there is astounding to those who investigate."

GOVERNOR OTERO'S
EUROPEAN TRIPHE AND SON EXPECT TO LEAVE
THE TERRITORY SOME TIME
THIS WEEK.

Ex-Governor M. A. Otero will leave during the present week for a visit to Washington, thence to New York city. On April 5 he will sail on the Hamburg-American Steamship company's steamer, the Prinzessin Lu's Victoria. The vessel will cross the Atlantic to the Azores islands, thence touch at Tangiers and thereafter at Gibraltar, where a stay of four days will be made, thence to Malta, thereafter to Corfu and then sail to Venice, from which point various Italian cities as far south as Naples, will be visited. Finishing the Italian tour they will go through Austria and make a stay at Vienna. Thereafter, the journey will be via Dresden to Berlin, from which point interesting cities and resorts in the German empire will be reached. Then the trip will be extended to Paris, from where various French towns and country places will be visited. The itinerary will then take the governor and son to London to visit northern England and the Scottish highlands, thence to Liverpool, where a steamer will be taken to return to New York city. The governor expects to return to Santa Fe during the first week of July.

BOHEMIAN COLONY
EXCURSION TRAIN

Max Kirchman has returned from his ten days' trip to Chicago, very enthusiastic over his success in the further promotion of his Bohemian colony project, says the Socorro Chief. During his visit in Chicago, Mr. Kirchman arranged with the officials of the Santa Fe road for a special excursion train from Chicago to Socorro, to arrive here on May 1. The excursionists will be not only from Chicago, but from many different states of the Union as well. Socorro may therefore, expect a jollification during the first week in May, and should be prepared to bid her visitors welcome and give them a generous taste of real Gem City hospitality. Mr. Kirchman says, in answer to some expressions of impatience that he has heard, that it would be preposterous to expect him to have his people here in a month, before proper arrangements have been made for their reception and settlement. "The Bohemians will come," says Mr. Kirchman, "come to stay and to improve the Rio Grande valley lands furnished them by their association to such a degree as will pleasantly surprise old settlers here."

BRUTAL ASSAULT UPON
OLD MAN IN EL PASO.

Peter McGuel, aged 78 years, who lives in a little jacal near the city of El Paso, and just to the rear of the Texas & Pacific shops, was set upon by two Mexicans Friday night about 10 o'clock, assaulted, robbed of sixty cents in nickels and coppers, and his little hut set on fire. Bleeding from a blow over the right eye, which had been struck by the larger of the two assailants, McGuel was able to save his quilt and some old clothing which had been given him. He had hardly dragged the clothing from the hut, when it went up in flames. The assault was one of the most daring which has been committed in El Paso in recent years.

PRAIRIE FIRE LOSS
ABOUT ONE MILLION.

A dispatch from Roswell says: More than 1,000,000 acres of fine agricultural land in the western part of the Panhandle, and just east of Portales, N. M., have been burned in a prairie fire that has been sweeping east and south for two days, and is still beyond control, with a head fifteen miles wide, under a stiff wind.

J. P. White of the Yellowstone ranch and L. F. Douthitt, one of the biggest stock raisers in the southwest, states that the loss is already $1,000,000. Probably a dozen big ranches have been robbed of their feed and their buildings ruined.

The Victoria Cross

You might draw your boy to your knee and tell him the story of the Victoria Cross, for the semi-centennial of the founding of this decoration, which means more than any other decoration the world has known, has just passed. You might tell him that the cross has no intrinsic value. It is worth in money about four cents. But it represents the highest type of loyalty, the personal bravery that forgets self absolutely and that pays no heed to danger in the effort to save. Five hundred and twenty-eight crosses have been awarded in the past fifty years. They have not been lightly bestowed. Every man who wears one was worthy and had been tried as by fire. It would require volumes to relate the tales of heroism and daring covered by those 528 bits of metal. Why, one man won his cross, during the Indian mutiny, by fighting with his bare fists after his sword had been broken, and he fought so fiercely and well that he delayed the enemy until English reinforcements came up and saved the day. "Boys," Lord Roberts, the little soldier who knew no fear, is entitled to wear two Victoria crosses. He won his own over and over again when he was a lieutenant, and his son, who received his death wound while trying to save the guns at Colenso, was also given a cross; and the good Queen Victoria, in her appreciation of this heroism that follows blood from father to son, ordered that Lord Roberts should wear his own cross on his left breast and his son's on his right breast. Tell your boy about these things. They are not stories of war alone. They are not arguments for the shedding of blood, but tales of manhood, the highest type; the kind that can look death in the eyes and say: "I'll do my full duty as a man." Tell the lad that there are crosses to be won in every day living, in the struggles which must be faced by every one, and that never was there need of a higher type of men than now. A queen may never pin a medal to your lad's breast, but the world admires strength, courage, loyalty, whether they are shown on field of battle or in the humblest walk of life. It is always worth while to try to satisfy the voice inside. Tell your boy about that, also.

The would-be sensation about the cruel treatment of a patient at the New Mexico insane asylum, has proved itself to be false and malicious, as every intelligent person could well believe that it would, and as every one having any familiarity with the management of the asylum at Las Vegas very well knew that it must. This writer from the very opening of the asylum up to two years ago, was a frequent visitor to the institution, dining there often, intimately acquainted with the members of the management, and well posted in the plans, purposes and methods adopted and pursued; and no crazy or disgruntled employee, smearing under discharge, could make him for a moment believe that cruelty in the institution could be possible, with Dr. W. R. Tipton as medical director and George W. Ward as steward.

A suggestion for Albuquerque: In Chattanooga, Tenn., the efforts of members of the American Civic Association have been quite successful and the City Beautiful idea has taken hold upon the minds of the Junior League of the Highland Park Methodist church. The church has a splendid property consisting of about three lots, a pretty little frame church, and a commodious two-story parsonage. At present the largest part of the property is in lawn, where a new church will be built as soon as the conditions justify it. The parsonage was finished only about a year ago, and it has not been possible up to this time to do much in the way of beautifying the grounds. A short time ago the Junior League took up the subject and resolved to start a project to beautify the yard.

Farmington Hustler: Judge Goddard of the Colorado supreme court, while drunk at a banquet, the other evening, took the occasion to severely condemn an attorney who was also present, who had been retained by the officers of the Western Federation of Miners. Judge Goddard expressed his contempt for an attorney who would accept fees from such a source. There is a lot of us people with the old-fashioned idea that an attorney who accepts fees from any client and performs service in return for it is immeasurably superior from an ethical standpoint to a judge who accepts a salary from the taxpayers of a state and then renders his decisions according to the dictates of a few corporations.

A young man, the other day, threw himself into the Chicago river. When he was pulled out, he gave as an excuse that he was driven to suicide because: "I could not see my way through life." Yet this man had $20 in his pocket, was strong and healthy, and had no one dependent upon him. It is not given to mortals to see the end from the beginning. Not one of us has a perfect map of the expedition, in which he is engaging. The only thing the wise man knows is this—the forces that are for him are greater than those that are against him; and he goes on bravely, by faith instead of sight. Faith does not see the way, but it holds the way, unseeing and hopeful.

Thomas W. Lawson predicts that within a year John D. Rockefeller and H. H. Rogers and other high financiers, if living, will be wearing stripes in state's prison. This is not more startling than the assertions Lawson made concerning the inside management of the life insurance companies, which assertions have been confirmed by investigation. Lawson claims the report of the Armstrong insurance committee whitewashed the real criminals and that the evils of "the system" were not exposed. "The committee was steered away from the big thieves," says Lawson. "Where the McCallis and the McCurdy's got tens of thousands, the men higher up got millions."

Socorro Chieftain: It is soon to be known whether it is possible to secure an artesian flow of water near Socorro or not. Max Kirchman and his Socorro associates in the execution of the Bohemian colonization project have been out on the mesa between the smelter and Socorro mountain, and selected a spot where boring for artesian water will shortly begin. As it has already been established that an abundance of water can be had in the valley by pumping from the river's underflow, an artesian well up on the mesa is all that is now lacking to establish Socorro on a more substantial and enduring basis of prosperity than was hers even in her painful days. The future looks bright for Socorro.

Rio Grande Republican: Yesterday was the first of March and a general cleaning up took place; the streets were laid bare and the uneven sidewalks divested of their dirt. Thanks, Mother Nature; you are accomplishing just what the Cruces people should be doing. We have started on an era of improvement; work is being started on the Selden diversion dam very shortly; why not get together and try to improve the looks of the town? The principal streets are a disgrace; they ought to be graded so that waste waters could be handled. The sidewalks in front of some of the leading business houses are so uneven that it is a hard job for a person to keep from breaking his neck at night. Why not pull together and do something?

The regular annual convention of the Cattle and Horse Protective Association of Central New Mexico will be held at San Marcial on Thursday, March 22nd. The purpose is to bring buyers and sellers together for the interchange of ideas and for the purchase or sale of stock to the greatest advantage. A large attendance from New Mexico, Kansas, Colorado and Texas is anticipated.

McKinley County Republican: The Gallup city election is drawing near, and the political bees are buzzing. There is considerable talk of a non-partisan ticket, or rather, a bi-partisan ticket, as many of the property holders favor a city board composed of equal numbers of members belonging to the two parties.

A Remarkable Sale of Reserve Timber

Press Bulletin No. 111—Forest Service.

From several aspects a striking interest attaches to the recent sale by the government of about 50,000,000 feet of timber on the Montana division of the Yellowstone Forest Reserve to a contracting company which will convert most of the timber into railroad ties.

This is one of the largest sales ever made of government timber; the price is advantageous; and a large percentage of the cut will be of a species which a few years ago was without market value, namely, lodgepole pine. Further, it may be said with assurance that had not the preservative treatment of ties been shown to be both practical and economical, such a sale could not now have been made for 60 per cent of the cut, or approximately 1,000,000 ties, is to be treated with preservatives by a process which experiment and trial have placed on a sound business basis.

The purchasers of the timber have contracted to supply the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and Northern Pacific railway companies with ties for a period covering three years. The timber for which they applied to the government consists of lodgepole pine, red fir, and spruce. A large proportion of the stand is lodgepole pine, which grows very densely. Consequently after all the specified timber has been removed, a plentiful stand of young trees will be left, which in a few years will again form a forest of merchantable dimensions.

The government will receive a stumpage price of $2.50 per thousand feet for the red fir and $2.00 per thousand feet for the spruce and pine.

The story of the entrance of lodgepole pine into the timber market is an interesting chapter in the history of the use of forest products. Five years ago this tree was classed among the nearly worthless, inferior timbers growing in the northwestern states. It had never come into extensive use. Its liability to attack by fungus and lightning, and the large percentage of sapwood in its structure, were disadvantages which seemed to handicap it permanently. Yet the possibility and the need of finding substitutes for scarcer woods had already led to the closer study of a number of unexploited species, and devices were being sought by which artificial treatment might be made to take the place of natural adaptability to a specific service.

Among these devices were improvements in seasoning methods and the use of preservatives. It was found that preservative treatment, which greatly prolonged the life of certain timbers, depends largely for its success upon the penetrability of the wood, which permits the preservative to enter the wood substance easily. The lodgepole pine was seen to be exceedingly well adapted for preservative treatment, and also lodgepole pine, in which softness is combined with a high degree of permeability. In 1902 the seasoning and preserving of lodgepole pine was thoroughly taken up by the Forest Service, in co-operation with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad and with the present purchasers of reserve timber in Montana. The results established its serviceability and thus opened a new field for the supply of ties, upon which the railroads are drawing so heavily.

One Duke Who Is King Among Men

In these days when the bad in the world finds so much publicity that the people almost forget that good exists and that the sun shines, it is refreshing to read about Duke Carl Theodore of Bavaria. He isn't much to look at. No medals cover his breast. He has not led an army to victory. And as for scandal, with which every court in Europe reeks, Duke Carl Theodore is a gentleman.

He has been famous for many years, and has just performed his five thousandth successful operation. In Munich he has expended $1,250,000 in building and maintaining hospitals. He asks no fee from patients of any class and the poor are his special care. His wife, who was the Princess Maria of Portugal, aids him in his work. You cannot estimate what such a man means to the world. There is no standard by which to measure. He could pursue pleasure. He can live in an atmosphere of luxury, speed in flying automobiles, ride in special trains, travel in floating palaces. But, because of the wonderful impulse for good that abides in his breast, because of the divine desire to be of use to his kind, he has worked, and made his efforts count.

Think of restoring to 5,000 human beings the flowers, the blue sky, the faces of loved ones, pictures, scenery, ambition, courage, hope, life itself. That is the story of Duke Carl Theodore of Bavaria. Twenty-five years of patient, skillful labor, all for others. It is a record fit for the pages of the Great Book of Life. It is enough to make one forget that wrong exists in the world.

Interview With Passenger.
W. M. Loyl of Lexington, Neb., who was a passenger on No. 1, said to a reporter from The Evening Citizen today:

"It was about 1:30 this morning. We were clipping along at a fair rate of speed, not extraordinarily fast, however. There were two chair cars on the train, and I was in the front one, or the car nearest the locomotive. I was awakened from my sleep very suddenly by being roughly jolted about in my seat. The train, a second afterwards, stopped with a thud, giving everybody a severe shaking up. It only took a second for me to conclude we had been wrecked. The front end of the car I was on had reached an angle which proved this very conclusively. I got out of the car with little difficulty. The engine was still on the track. By a queer freak of luck it did not leave the rails. The tender did, however, and lay a wreck beside the track. The express car lay in the ditch, in a position which indicated that it might topple over at any minute. The smoker was also in the ditch, lying flat on its side. The front end of the first chair car left the rails and rested in the ditch, but the remainder of the train kept to the rails. The only persons injured were those in the smoker and the express messenger. The messenger was hurled against the side of his car as it toppled into the ditch and was seriously hurt. In the smoker were several natives. They, too, were hurled about as the car fell into the ditch. All were painfully hurt, especially two, who it is thought are fatally hurt. The cause of the wreck is attributed to the tender of the engine suddenly becoming derailed, spreading the rails sufficiently to allow the cars behind to leave the track. I tell you, it was the closest call from a serious loss of life that I ever experienced for a wreck of its magnitude."

TRAIN WRECKED AGAIN IN THE LOCAL YARDS.

When train No. 1 arrived in the local yards this afternoon it was backed into the "bull pen" at the Santa Fe shops. While so doing the head chair car was pushed off the track and for several feet ran into the cinders. The natives injured were brought to this city in a caboose and transferred into ambulances from Strong's undertaking parlors.

WORK HAS BEGUN ON THE HIGHEST BRIDGE IN THE WORLD.

Canon City, Colo., March 5.—Work was begun today on the highest railroad bridge in the world. It is to be built across the top of the famous Royal Gorge, near this city. It will be 2,800 feet above the hanging bridge of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad and will be so high in the air that the roaring of the Arkansas river below will not be heard and the powerful stream will look like a mere thread of silver. The structure will be erected in connection with the plans of a syndicate of San Jose, Cal., which is about to establish an interurban system of electric railroads in Fremont county from here to Florence and the top of Royal Gorge. It is expected that the line to the top of Royal Gorge will be completed and in operation some time this summer.

SAMUEL SCHUTZ PASSES AWAY

In El Paso, at the Age of 78.
Was That City's Pioneer Merchant.

RELATIVES WERE AT HIS BEDSIDE

Bernard Ifield, Noa Ifield and James Grunfeld, the latter two sons-in-law of the late Samuel Schutz, who passed away in El Paso Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, returned this morning from the funeral, which was held at the Schutz home, 127 San Francisco street, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rabbi Martin Ziehlman, of Temple Mount Sinai, officiating. At the Jewish cemetery in Concordia, where interment took place, the services were conducted under the auspices of the El Paso Pioneers' association, of which the deceased had long been a member, he having been one of the original pioneers of El Paso, coming to that city in 1854, when the city was known as Fort Franklin, Texas, at that time one of the outposts of southwestern civilization.

With one exception, that of William Trever, the deceased was the oldest pioneer in point of years of continuing residence, living in El Paso. Coming to El Paso in 1854 he established the first mercantile store of any magnitude that city had then known. This first store was established on what is now San Francisco street, on the very spot where his beautiful home, in which he breathed his last, now stands. Prospering, as the city grew, he was, up until his retirement some ten years ago, El Paso's leading business man, and was known as the Father of San Francisco street, which street he had always contended would be El Paso's leading business street. As a striking example of the irony of fate he died just as his faith was about to be rewarded and his contentions come true, for, since the building of the new Union depot, that street has doubled in commercial value. Mr. Schutz was also the one who established El Paso's first street railway, the old mule car line, and was one of the ardent workers in securing an electric line as the city outgrew the mule line.

Mr. Schutz was well known to a large number of Albuquerqueans, he having visited here a number of times, and several of his children making this city their home. Deceased, who was 78 years old at the time of his death, leaves a widow and nine children to mourn his loss, besides a host of friends all over the country. The surviving members of the family are Mrs. S. Schutz, his wife, Adolph and Edwin Schutz, of El Paso, sons; Joseph, a son living in New York; Mrs. Henrietta Schutz, of Silver City, a daughter; Mrs. Noa Ifield, Mrs. B. Spitz, Mrs. James Grunfeld, daughters, living in this city; Mrs. H. E. Dillon, of San Diego, a daughter; and his youngest daughter, Miss Irma Schutz, of El Paso.

The three daughters residing in this city, who were present at the bedside when the grim summons came, have not yet returned, and will remain in El Paso several days longer trying to comfort each other, in this, their darkest hour of trouble and misery. Besides being a member of the Pioneer association, the deceased had for many years been a member of the Masonic order, joining in the sixties, but for some reason he dropped out several years ago, and since that time being an inactive member only. He was known as a public spirited citizen, and was well liked by all who knew him. Friends of the deceased in this city extend to the bereaved relatives their heartfelt sympathies.

The meeting adjourned to meet again at the same place, March 12, at 7:30 p. m. All graduate nurses in the city are requested to be present.

BUTCHER'S DELIVERY HORSE RAN AWAY

MADE MATTERS LIVELY ON SECOND STREET AND GOLD AVENUE TODAY.

The horse attached to J. Samora's meat delivery wagon of Old Albuquerque, became frightened about 3 o'clock this morning while standing near the postoffice on South Second street, and started east on Silver avenue at a lively clip. With the wagon away dangerously behind him, the horse, on reaching Gold avenue on First street, turned north on the avenue and along this thoroughfare was tearing madly westward until an iron awning pole in front of Dodson's, "locked horns" with the vehicle and brought it to so sudden a stop that the horse was freed from it and continued on for some distance, before being stopped. Meat was strewn profusely along the thoroughfare traversed, and the wagon was badly wrecked.

ALBUQUERQUE MAN USES HIS RAZOR

Ran Amuck in Topeka While Insane Probably Fatally Injuring Two Persons

WORKED FOR W. T. THORNTON HERE

Readers of The Evening Citizen will remember reading exclusively in this paper of a call one Cyrus Haygood, a negro, made upon Chief of Police McMillin some weeks ago, at which time Haygood told the marshal that he was being pursued by a mob of persons intent upon taking his life; that while at the Santa Fe station he overheard parties whispering about him which sounded like threats, and related several other incidents along the same line. Haygood requested that an officer be stationed at the depot that evening to protect him, as he was going to leave the city to enter the Western University, near Kansas City, a negro theological college, to take a three years' course. The marshal informed Haygood that an officer would be on hand that evening, to attend to his wants and Haygood reported. Chief McMillin concluded that Haygood had a few wheels in his belfry and paid no more attention to the matter.

The next day, a boarding house kept by E. E. Coons and wife, in an effort to escape he slashed them both. Later, he attacked David Brewer, a newspaper carrier, whom he evidently mistook for a policeman. Mrs. Coon and Brewer report from Topeka that Haygood, previous to this slashing affray, ran breathless into a man's house, begging that he be protected from a mob close upon his heels. The man so approached, reaching the conclusion that the negro was insane, sought to detain him until the police could be summoned. When Haygood heard this gentleman telephoning for the police he started to run, was caught by the man, and while endeavoring to escape he slashed him with a razor. The man has been committed to an asylum.

Haygood left here on or about the 28th of December. Mr. Thornton informed The Citizen that he discharged the fellow because of the symptoms of insanity which frequently came to the surface. Haygood worked here for several months and has relatives living in the Highlands.

HOW LENT IS BEING OBSERVED BY SOME

MANY AND DEVIANT ARE THE WAYS CHOSEN TO OBSERVE, OR RATHER AVOID, THE DUTIES OF LENT.

By bringing up the question of the observance of Lent and listening to the replies and remarks made, one can easily learn that to some it means merely a stricter economy than before, rather than a dutiful observance of the Lenten season.

"I am observing Lent," said one man, notoriously stingy, by making my wife and family eat only one meal a day.

"I am going to bed every night at 9 o'clock," said one fair maid, with a tendency to avoidpols. "If you do," retorted the cruel man, to whom the remark was made, "you'll look like an elephant before Easter arrives."

"I am not going to smoke or chew tobacco during Lent," said a man who has twice taken the Keeley cure.

"We haven't had a bite of meat on our table the past month," said a man who walks two miles every day to borrow his neighbor's newspaper.

"Why not?" Inquired the listener.

"Observing Lent," said the thoughtful, stingy man.

"I am going to deny myself automobiles," remarked the bootblack at the Alvarado.

"I am going to abstain from eating pastry," said the man who suffers from indigestion.

Despite the stringencies of the Lenten rules regarding amusements, there are still several forms of social intercourse that can be indulged in without offending one's sense of the fitness of things. For instance, luncheons are permissible, "talkfests" allowed, receptions, without cards, and like entertainments. But it is not to these that the fair sex turns during this season. Festive appeal—that tells the story. Day dreams of that Easter gown and hat. Trips to the dressmaker, bargain hunting, shopping tours galore—these are the things with which they find ample amusement during the Lenten season.

NEGRO HORRIBLY BURNED IN SALOON

Alcohol Poured on William Hardeman's Leg and Match Applied to It.

E. CHAVEZ ACCUSED OF CRIME

William Hardeman, a negro, was horribly burned Saturday morning in the Daylight saloon, on North Tule street, and E. Chavez is charged by Hardeman as having applied the torch which may result in the colored man losing a portion of his right leg.

Hardeman alleges that he was sitting in a chair in the saloon, asleep, when he was suddenly awakened by a terrible pain emanating from his right ankle. He discovered that his sock was on fire. In great agony, Hardeman tore the sock away, only to discover that this relieved him none of the excruciating pain, inasmuch as the entire flesh on the member was being cooked.

Hardeman claims that E. Chavez had poured a quantity of alcohol on his right leg and touched a match to it. The fiery fluid soaked quickly into the skin which the flames ignited with lightning rapidity.

The flesh was literally cooked, inflicting a horrible wound down to where the tightly laced shoe stopped the further downward progress of the liquid.

Hardeman reached police court with difficulty, being scarcely able to crawl along with the aid of a cane. He swore out a warrant for the arrest of Chavez, which was served. Hardeman visited the office of the city surgeon and physician and had the ugly wound attended to. There is a probability of the man losing his foot as a result of the fiendish practical joke.

COMPANY G GOES OUT FOR RIFLE PRACTICE

SOME EXCELLENT SCORES MADE. COMPETITIVE DRILL FOR SERGEANTS AND CORPORALS. SHIPS TOMORROW NIGHT.

Yesterday, the entire day was spent by the members of Company G, National Guards, on their rifle range, in marksmanship practice. Over 600 shots were fired at the target, in the course of which some good scores were made. Private Henning scored the highest individual record, making 42 out of a possible 50, at 200 yards.

Tomorrow night there will be a competitive drill held in the Company G armory, at which some good scores will be made. The drill will be held at which time those making the best individual records in the manual of arms, will be awarded sergeantships or corporalships, according to the showing made. Friday night Major Elder will review the company and hold inspection. Visitors are cordially invited to be present at any or all of these drills.

HARRY BOHAG FINED $50 IN POLICE COURT

HE ASSAULTED HARRY HOWARD WITH A KNIFE, RECENTLY, IN A SALOON.

Harry Bohag, a bartender, who supplied in several local saloons, and who, on January 9th last, was committed to jail by Judge Crawford, to await the action of the grand jury, to which time this morning he was brought, was this morning brought before Judge Crawford again, allowed to plead guilty of assault, through his attorney, T. N. Wilkerson, and sentenced to pay a fine of $50. The money was handed over and Bohag left the court room a free man, but much wiser from his long confinement in the county jail.

On January 9th, last, Bohag, while in a quarrelsome mood, it is said, quarreled with Harry Howard, a night bartender at the White Elephant. Later, when hostilities had been transferred to Graham Bros' saloon, it is alleged that Bohag stabbed Howard in the back with a knife, inflicting a wound which fortunately did not prove serious. About a week ago, Howard got through at the White Elephant and left the city. Witnesses to the stabbing affray have also left for parts unknown, and the county might be saved from the expense, such as bringing interested parties back to this city for the trial, it was deemed advisable to dispose of the case in the police court.

GALLUP WILL GET BRANCH OF NEW ROAD

MAIN LINE OF ARIZONA & COLORADO CROSSES SANTA FE COAST LINES THIRTEEN MILES WEST OF CARBON CITY.

S. E. Aldrich, a prominent citizen of Gallup, who is in the city accompanied by his wife, says that the Arizona & Colorado railroad will not reach Gallup with its main line, but will build a branch line into the Carbon City. The main line of the new road crosses the main line of the Santa Fe coast line thirteen miles west of Gallup.

Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich will remain in the city until Wednesday. Mrs. Aldrich has been here for a couple of weeks with a sick friend, Mrs. Coddington, mother of Sheriff Henry Coddington, of McKinley county. Mrs. Coddington is 60 years of age and suffers from nervousness. She was advised to come to Albuquerque by her physician, who thought that the change into a lower altitude would be beneficial to her.

WATER AND SAND GREASY WITH OIL

Hendrickson's Well Shows Good Indications for a Real Gus he

MANY VISITORS THERE YESTERDAY

Yesterday afternoon a representative of The Evening Citizen visited the "oil find" on Martin Hendrickson's place, five miles south of the city, and found the facts as presented to the public exclusively in last Saturday's issue of this paper not at all exaggerated.

Standing around the well, which it is hoped will yet produce a gusher, were Joseph T. Johnston, D. H. Boatright, George Edick, W. W. Bacon and Martin Hendrickson.

Others from the city had come and gone, giving their opinion pro and con, and others, including F. P. Trotter and W. H. McMillin, came later in the afternoon.

All examined the water and the black oily sand, and all expressed confidence that oil in more or less quantities was somewhere yet undiscovered in that vicinity; perhaps in flowing condition in the Hendrickson well on further development.

Mr. Hendrickson is very sanguine that he has just struck the opening strata of an "oil field" and believes, like those with whom he conversed yesterday, that by further boring, which will now have to be accomplished through machinery, that a good flow of oil, if not a gusher, will undoubtedly be struck.

"About two months ago," said Mr. Hendrickson, "I started on the well for the purpose of securing water for drinking and irrigation purposes and at forty-two feet secured a fine flow of good water for drinking purposes. This well is six feet, and at the bottom I commenced drilling in the hope of striking a larger flow for irrigation purposes. On reaching forty-four feet further, the odor of petroleum was very great and with every draw of the pipe water and sand, greasy and strongly impregnated with oil, was brought forth. I am confident that oil exists somewhere in this vicinity, but the strata reached is so firm that it will take more than ordinary man power to drill through; machinery must be installed."

The farmers and ranchers, five and six miles south of town, as stated last Saturday in The Evening Citizen, met in this city for the purpose of organizing and collecting a fund to prosecute further work on the well, but no action was taken. It is understood today that another meeting will be held here tomorrow, when an organization will be effected by the election of officers and a fund subscribed to push the work.

MAN NAMED PENMAN IS CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

MRS. P. S. WATTS SAYS HE INSULTED AND THREATENED HER LAST NIGHT.

Mrs. P. S. Watts, colored, has sworn out a warrant in the police court for the arrest of a man named Penman, who, she says, insulted and threatened to assault her. Mrs. Watts deposes that while leaving the African Methodist Episcopal church, last evening, Penman hurled bad and offensive language at her. Penman was arrested today and will be given a hearing tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

COLONEL MCCONNELL WILL VISIT ALBUQUERQUE

Charles H. McConnell, proprietor of the Great Economical drug store, in Chicago, a Civil war veteran, and chief of staff to General J. C. Black, late commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, will probably be in Albuquerque next month. He is now in Cuba, and writes to Colonel Max Frost of Santa Fe, that after a tarry in Mexico on his homeward journey, he is his intention to stop off in Albuquerque. He is a member of the Twenty-fourth Michigan volunteer infantry of the "iron brigade," he was a sergeant, and from here he will go to Santa Fe.

Miss Irene, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Steward celebrated her 11th birthday Saturday afternoon with party at which were present the following guests: Clara Richmond, Francis Dunning, Norine and Hortense Switzer, Reba Star, Roberta Langland, Leta Abbott, Myrtle Faber, Marie Allen, Lucy Baea, Lyle Toyeh, Floyd Lamb and Irma, and Floyd and Irene Steward.

George Frisbie, an uncle of the young man, will arrive in the city tonight to take the remains back to the young man's former home, Grantville, Kas., for interment.

WHY TILLMAN WAS ELECTED TO LEAD

Intended Slight Likely to Work in Interest of Rate Bill--Democrats Relied on to Kill Statehood.
Bristow For Senate

OTHER NEWS FROM SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

Washington, March 5.—The country has spent a week, more or less, in the motive of Senator Aldrich and his followers of the interstate commerce committee in designating Senator Tillman as the champion of the Hepburn railroad rate bill. Opinion is divided as to whether a slight to the president or a slight to Senator Tillman was intended. A good many believe that they mean a slight all around, and wanted to make the proposition of federal regulation of railroad rates ridiculous in the eyes of the country.

It doesn't matter a great deal what motive was behind the move. The thing of interest is that Aldrich and those who voted with him overthrew their mark. The country has refused to regard the coup as a merry jest. The country, in fact, doesn't care a playmate who reported the bit from the committee.

If there was any thought that the president would be enraged, or that advocates in congress of rate legislation would be rendered into factions, here again the Aldrichites failed of their purpose. "Senator Tillman is an honest man and a brave one," Mr. Roosevelt is quoted as having said. "I believe Senator Tillman will handle the bill ably and successfully," was the comment of Senator Delver. It is a maxim of politics that responsibility makes a man conservative. Some people, perhaps, would not have believed that it would work in the case of Tillman, but it has. The fiery South Carolinian has shouldered his task with a breadth of statesmanship surprising to those who have judged him only by his oratorical outbursts. Tillman can rant and rattle the atmosphere over the most trivial thing in the world, yet there is no man in the senate who digs deeper to get at the bottom of any question of really serious public concern.

"A man don't want to go butting into senate debate," he said once to the writer, "unless he has the goods on him." This picturesque, and thoroughly Tillmanesque expression, is typical of the man. A good many senators have discovered to their confusion that Tillman "had the goods on him" when they least suspected it. He jumps into debate in what seems the most reckless sort of fashion, making statements which, couched in the language he employs, sound ridiculous and absurd. Some grave and dignified senator ventures to admonish the Tillman, and the South Carolinian should confine himself within a reasonable bounds of fact. Then Tillman digs down and delivers up the "goods," and the lecturing senators subside with a painful promptness.

Tillman in action is a sight worth going miles to see. He never makes a dull speech in his life. Not only is he possessed of a vocabulary that stings like the crack of a whip, but there is a rasping twang in his voice that makes men want to fight. He is to the senate what Gen. Grant was to the house, except that of late years the venerable Ohio statesman only gives battle when it cannot be avoided, whereas Tillman still loves a fight for the fight's sake.

In great glee the opponents of the rate bill have pointed out that Tillman severely criticized it in a recent speech. That bothers Tillman not at all. He doesn't make any pretension to consistency, and, moreover, the logic of the situation is on his side. "This isn't at all the sort of bill that would be enacted were I alone the congress of the United States," he admits with perfect candor; "but as I'll fight for the best sort of a bill I can get."

That is broad-gauge statesmanship and puts to shame some of the vociferous advocates of rate legislation who insist on the whole hog or nothing. It is the kind of statesmanship that is making Theodore Roosevelt one of the most influential presidents the country has had. And this statesmanship, so different from all the popular conceptions of Tillman, is going to make the senator from South Carolina one of the nation's foremost men. The rest of the senator from Rhode Island and those republican senators who voted with him in committee seems destined to be a sorry jest for them, indeed.

Democrats to Kill Statehood.

It appears just now that Mr. Roosevelt's joint statehood policy has struck a snag in the senate, but the difficulty is, after all, over a minor point. The senate will vote on the statehood bill next Friday, and the chances seem to be that the Foraker amendment will be adopted. The Foraker proposition is to segregate New Mexico and Arizona from Oklahoma and Indian Territory, and permit the first two named territories to vote as to whether or not they desire to be taken into the union jointly as one state or to remain in their present political status for an indefinite time, or until congress sees fit to admit them separately.

At the same time, the important fact must not be overlooked that should the Foraker amendment be adopted, and the bill sent back to the house in that shape, the latter body may refuse to concur, and thus tie up the whole proposition, possibly, until next session. It is thought, however, that the friends of joint statehood for Oklahoma and Indian Territory are sufficiently numerous in both branches of congress to force action favorable to those territories.

The claim is made by the jubilant Arizonians who have been more opposed to joint statehood than thirty-two of the thirty-three democratic senators will vote for the Foraker amendment, Mr. Clarke of Arkansas, being the only member of the minority whose vote is considered at all in doubt. In addition to these thirty-two democrats, it is said that at least eighteen republican senators will vote for the Foraker amendment, giving that proposition a total of fifty votes, or five more than are needed. Senator Beveridge, however, has not given up the fight. If he can secure the active cooperation of the president, the situation may be changed between now and next Friday. The difficulty is that Mr. Roosevelt has advocated joint statehood chiefly as an opportunity. He never has entertained any strong prejudice against New Mexico and Arizona being admitted as separate states. When he committed himself to the two-state bill it seems that no other sort of a proposition could get through congress.

The chief obstacle in the way of statehood all along has been the disinclination of the senate to increase its own membership. Now, if the senate prefers, at some distant day, to receive six new members, rather than four right now, all well and good. Mr. Roosevelt is not going to weep over this senatorial calamity.

President Has Grown.

If Mr. Roosevelt gets substantial rate legislation, and the best opinion now is that he will, his victory over congress will be almost complete. There are minor things which he has asked, it is true, which have been denied him; but Roosevelt appears to have grown large enough to disregard non-essentials. This was not true a number of years ago. At least, the onlooker had no reason to believe it true. He made great deals over things that really didn't matter in the least, and the first years of his administration witnessed no achievement of consequence, so far as his relations with congress were concerned.

Even men who do not like the president admit that he has grown, and grown remarkably, since he succeeded to the White house. He always has had enemies among members of his own party in congress, and they are no less numerous today than they ever were. If anything, their numbers have increased. But those anti-Roosevelt republicans no longer speak the president with contempt. They have learned to take him seriously, something they resolutely refused to do at first. It is not at all difficult to believe that a degree of fear inspires this late respect, but whatever the compelling motive, it is true that respect has taken place of disdain, and that the first years of his administration will receive liberal assistance in the way of an appropriation by congress. Members of the cabinet, notably Secretaries Shaw and Taft, have appeared before the committees at the capital, urging that this enterprise, so dear to the hearts of the nation, be given the liberal assistance commensurate with its historical interest and importance. The president, they told the lawmakers, was deeply interested in the exposition and favored a liberal appropriation. The exposition promoters ask $1,200,000 for a government exhibit and also want authority to coin one million $2 silver pieces to be sold at the exposition at the bullion value of the silver. It is not likely they will get all they ask—expositions rarely do—but there is evidence in congress of an interest in the subject which was not apparent a year ago.

Administration for Jamestown.

Though the situation has for some time looked dark for the promoters of the Jamestown exposition, there is now some reason to believe that the enterprise will receive liberal assistance in the way of an appropriation by congress. Members of the cabinet, notably Secretaries Shaw and Taft, have appeared before the committees at the capital, urging that this enterprise, so dear to the hearts of the nation, be given the liberal assistance commensurate with its historical interest and importance. #### Bristow for Senator.

Washington is taking a great deal of interest in the contest now on in Kansas for the senatorial seat to be vacated by Mr. Burton next March 4—provided he doesn't vacate at an earlier day. This interest arises chiefly from the fact that one of the candidates, J. L. Bristow, former fourth assistant postmaster general, who leapt into fame by bringing to book the postoffice grafters. Mr. Bristow was here this week to testify at the trial of George E. Green. Speaking of the senatorial contest, he said: "Yes, I wish in the race along with Representative O'Brien, and Charles and Mr. Stubbs, speaker of our legislature, but it would not be right to ask a candidate to discuss his own prospects. Naturally, a man hears only the bright side of the question, for his friends bring him only news of duty this week. Jake was merely to appear in person, however, I may say that I think my chances of success are excellent. There is a strong sentiment in Kansas for a primary law for the selection of all officers, but in advance of the enactment of such a law it was thought best not to leave the state to a senator to a primary election, and so the legislature will settle the matter in the accustomed way."

Members of congress were greatly incensed at some of the strictures in the famous Bristow report, and for a time lay Bristow was about the most roasted man in America. Just what treatment he would receive, were he elected to the senate, is a very interesting subject for speculation.

Jake Weimer has at last signed a Cincinnati contract, and will report for duty this week. Jake was merely flirting with the management when he declared he would quit baseball unless his salary was fitted.

Under a new ruling of the American turf association, jockeys will be permitted to wear their own silks, their allowance only when they are riding for their contract employers.

Hugh Duffy declares he would not swap Mike Doolin for any shortstop in the country. There are several teams that are not at all anxious to make a swap with Hugh.

CHILD BRIDE KILLED FOR A BLOOD ATONEMENT

TALE OF HORROR OF AN OUTRAGED GIRL, WHO MURDERED THE MALE WHO WRONGED HER, AND STABBED THE GODMOTHER AUNT WHO DID NOT SAVE HER FROM THE AWFUL SIN—UNHAPPY HUSBAND FIRST TOLD HER OF THE WRONG.

New York, March 5.—Josephine Terranova committed murder that she might cleanse her soul of dishonor. She killed her uncle for the stain he put upon her. Then she stabbed her godmother aunt because she knew that the aunt should have saved her from sin and degradation. Until her marriage the man she loved three weeks ago, Josephine Terranova had no realization of the hideous injury done her. Giuseppe Terranova turned from his child bride, and she, believing that by blood alone came my uncle he wanted to marry me. They did not let me say one word to him. Giuseppe bought me all the pretty things for my wedding, he bought me a violet dress, a silk waist, shoes, stockings and a hat. Oh, I loved him.

"It was on the 28th of January that we went to the city hall and were married. Then Giuseppe took me to his home in Brooklyn, where we were to live. I thought I was to be so happy, but it was not so. A few days after I was married Giuseppe began to act so strange. He would not statement for her sinful ignorance, rushed to her former home and took the life of the man who had ruined her.

After wandering about the city for three days, Josephine Terranova was arrested and taken to the Tombs. She makes no pretense of regret for her awful deed.

"My aunt told me I was the devil's child and never could be happy," was the way that poor little happy Josephine Terranova told her story in the dull old Tombs.

"I was only 8 when I came to this country to live with my mother's sister, Concetta Riglio. She was my godmother as well as my aunt, and we thought my uncle a very rich man. He had a bakery all his own, and they did not let me go to school. All I could do was to work in the store. I was not allowed to have any girl or boy friends. My aunt told me that she was my godmother and that I must do as she bidded; I believed she could do no wrong.

"When I was 12 years old she took me into a room where my uncle was. She told me to obey him and she left the room. I was frightened, but there was no place to go. My mother and sisters were in the old country and I did not know any good nuns to whom I might appeal. I had never been to confession and I did not know the wrong. For three years I lived this way.

"Then just before Christmas Giuseppe came to my uncle's house. He was from a town in Sicily, five miles from where I used to live. He told me to look at me. He would sit all the evening quiet and still.

"Then I went to my aunt and told her how my husband acted.

"All she did was to laugh. 'Bah! You can never be happy. You are the devil's child!' is what she said to me. I went home and asked my husband if this was true. He looked so sad that I told him everything that had happened to me. I told him that I was not my fault. That I had been afraid. He went upstairs and did not come back that night.

"In the morning when he returned I tried to kiss him, and he would not let me. My heart was like stone. Then I handed him my wedding ring.

"I put on the pretty wedding dress that Giuseppe had given me, and I went out to make that wicked man atone for my sin. I paid $3 for the pistol and a quarter for the knife. I went to the house where I had lived until Giuseppe had married me and I spoke to my uncle. He told me to go away, and I shot him.

"Then I went upstairs and told my aunt that I had made a blood atonement. I stabbed her once, twice, three, and I am sorry I did not kill her. She was my godmother and she should have saved me."

Not once since she came to the Tombs has Josephine expressed regret for her deed. She believes that the young Italian husband will now take her back.

This Sicilian child wife is a pretty girl, a trifle taller than most of her countrywomen, and she has the fair skin that is seldom their beauty.

THE ROMANCE OF MISS ALBUQUERQUE

THIS CITY'S PRETTY NAMESAKE MARRIED IN LOS ANGELES.

The Denver Post printed the following interesting leased wire telegram: Pittsburgh, Pa., March 1.—The fashionable suburb of Avalon is excited over the announcement of the sudden marriage in Los Angeles, of Miss W. E. Kimball, an attorney and banker of Carrollton, Mo. Miss Calvin, her sister, mother and grandmother, left Avalon last fall to spend the winter in California and Mexico. The bride is 19 years old, is beautiful, and well educated.

A few years ago the husband of Mrs. Calvin was in poor health, and went to California for his health. He did not improve, and decided to come back to Pennsylvania. He became worse and stopped off in Albuquerque, N. M., where nineteen years ago he died. A few days after his death a daughter was born to Mrs. Calvin. In honor of the valley town where her husband breathed his last, the child was named Albuquerque.

Afflicted With Rheumatism.

"I was and am yet afflicted with rheumatism," says Mr. J. C. Bayne, editor of the Herald, Addington, Indian Territory. "But, thanks to Chamberlain's Pain Balm, am able once more to attend to business. It is the best of balms." If troubled with rheumatism give Pain Balm a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief it affords. One application relieves the pain. For sale by all druggists.

William Rabb, the bookmaker, who was ruled off the track at New Orleans for alleged crookedness has sued City park management for $25,000 damages. It is claimed Rabb incurred the loss by being barred from the track by U. S. Marshal against Jockey Wishard, to lay against certain horses to be ridden to lose by the Wishard boy.

REV. HARSHAW TO LEAVE SILVER CITY

HAS ACCEPTED A PASTORATE AT NEWKIRK, OKLA.

At the quarterly conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, held last Sunday evening, after a sermon by Dr. A. P. Morrison, presiding elder, Rev. J. C. Harshaw, who has been pastor of the church for the past three years, resigned to accept the pastorate of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Newkirk, Okla. Rev. D. G. Murray, pastor at Newkirk, is coming to Silver City in exchange with Rev. Harshaw, says the Independent.

The new pastor is expected to arrive in the city this week, and will hold his initial services on next Sunday.

Rev. Murray is an able preacher and had great success in his work in Newkirk, Okla. His family are great musicians and their coming here will be a valuable accession to the musical talent of the city. Rev. Harshaw will not leave until next week for his new field of labor.

The members of the church and also the many friends of Rev. Harshaw and his estimable family sincerely regret that he has decided to leave this community. The great energy he displayed in helping to secure for the Methodist denomination here one of the handsomest churches in the southwest is appreciated by every member of the church, all of whom wish him signal success in his new field.

About fifty Raymond-Whitcomb excursionists, who are just returning from a trip into Old Mexico and other points in the south, were in Albuquerque Saturday, seeing the sights. Part of the party went to the Grand Canyon Saturday night, the remainder continuing on to their homes in the east.

The rooms to the rear of the offices of Dr. Stoffer, in the Caledonian building, were selected for the railroad offices and the furniture was moved in Wednesday.

Railroads are beginning to receive requests for cars to handle the spring movement of cattle from west Texas. Reports from the freight department of the Santa Fe say that 1,000 cars have been ordered to move cattle on the Santa Fe division. The Frisco at Fort Worth has applied for 750 cars.

Mr. Bean says that it remains to be seen whether the bonus system will prove a success, which is in part contradictory to the statement a railroad man made to The Evening Citizen on Saturday.

The largest freight car in the world is being constructed in the St. Paul shops at Milwaukee. The largest freight cars in use at present are of 100,000 pounds capacity, and they are looked upon as monsters. The new car will have a capacity of 200,000 pounds. It is being built to transport a ninety-ton section of a base for a blast engine, which the Allis-Chalmers company is shipping to Bethlehem, Pa. The car is forty feet long, has four instead of two trucks, and six teen instead of eight wheels.

FRANK MYERS, SANTA FE ENGINEER, MADE A CATCH AT OKLAHOMA CITY.

Last Friday Engineer Frank Myers, of the Santa Fe, caught a man at Oklahoma city, who was trying to put a piece of iron in the guides of his engine. The man had put a piece of iron in the guides on the engineer's side, when it was discovered by Myers. A short time later the same man returned and was trying to put another piece in the guides on the fireman's side of the locomotive, when the engineer saw him. Myers caught the man and held him until the police arrived. He was put in the jail at Oklahoma City and is still there awaiting some action by the authorities. Had the work not been discovered by Myers it is very likely that there would have been a badly wrecked engine.

FROZEN TO DEATH AFTER HIS FALL

AWFUL FATE OF MAN BLOWN FROM BRIDGE AND WAS HELD LESS WITH BROKEN LEG.

Death by freezing, after hours of untold suffering, was the horrible fate of Harvey Hale, 65 years old, Thursday night. He had been blown from a bridge and sustained a broken leg. Unable to move or to summon assistance, he was compelled to lay silent and await the coming of death in a most fearful form.

Mr. Hale was the father-in-law of H. A. Johnson, section foreman at Emery Gap, N. M., and was a section hand. He started out to walk to his daughter's house, going along the track, and he must have been blown from the Colorado & Southern railroad bridge near Emery Gap, in the northern section of New Mexico. The bridge spans an arroyo and is twenty feet high. Mr. Hale's leg was broken by the fall.

He was unable to get to his feet again, and although he probably called loud for assistance until too weak to utter another sound, he was not heard. He must have simply lain there, suffering intensely from the cold and his injury, until death mercifully relieved him of his agony.

He was not missed at his home, as it was known that he had started for his daughter's house, but when it was learned that he was not there, a searching party was hastily formed, and the hunt for the missing man was commenced. Meantime a snow had fallen and the unfortunate old gentleman had been buried completely from view.

The searching party went over the bridge twice, but failed to see the body. Friday evening when Mr. Johnson was returning from a long hunt he saw in the arroyo part of the body, the snow having melted during the day. The body was frozen quite stiff.

The body was taken to Trinidad, and the funeral was held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

ALGODONES NEWS

Special Correspondence.

Algodones, N. M., March 3.—The majority of the farmers here are through planting their wheat crop, and a good many are planting garden truck. There will be a greater acreage planted this year than formerly, as many places where no crops could be raised for lack of water will have plenty of water this season. Indications are good for abundant crops this year. All classes of stock look well for this time of the year. The people are much pleased with the outlook for the coming year and are correspondingly cheerful.

There was a very nice wedding here a few days ago. The bride was the daughter of Andres Vigil, a prominent sheep man and farmer of this place. The young lady is a bright and well educated, pretty woman. The groom is the oldest son of Pedro Leobato, a prominent farmer of this place. He is a young man of exceptionally good character and fully deserves his good luck. The wedding was a very pleasant affair and was much enjoyed by all present.

Peace and prosperity reigns here at present. If we can only keep one or two of our precious precinct officers within proper bounds. From present indications it seems that one, at least, of them will be called to account and taught a lesson that will make him understand that he is a servant of the people and not their master. It will undoubtedly reduce the size of his head to something like its proper proportions.

There is something I must say, and that is that The Citizen is now with that old enemy of the race, constipation, often ends in appendicitis. To avoid all serious trouble with stomach, liver and bowels, take Dr. King's New Life Pills. They perfectly regulate these organs, without pain or discomfort. 25c at all drug stores.
