BANKER WALSH HEARING WAS POSTPONED BECAUSE OF ABSENCE OF ATTORNEY.

Baptist Minister Guilty of Criminal Relations With Woman Jailed.

WOMAN IS ALSO FINED HEAVILY

Chicago, March 10.—The preliminary hearing of John A. Walsh, former president of the Chicago National bank, who was arrested several days ago on the charge of violating the federal banking laws, was set for this morning before United States Commissioner Foote, but owing to the absence of Walsh's attorney it was postponed until March 13.

A lively fight between the friends of Walsh and number of newspaper photographers took place when Walsh was about to leave the federal building. The photographers had placed their cameras at the Adams street entrance to the building, and when Walsh came out one snapped him. In an instant the friends of Walsh made a rush for him and the machine went into the air and the photographer to the sidewalk. He jumped up and struck one of his assailants in the mouth, knocking him down, and cutting his own hand badly on the teeth of his victim. A general scuffle followed, all the photographers taking the side of their fellow worker against the friends of the banker, and for two or three minutes at least, a score fought up and down the steps. The arrival of the police stopped the fight. Only one photograph of Walsh was taken, but the chances are that the camera that took it will never be used again.

Another preacher goes wrong and is imprisoned.

Asheville, N. C., March 10.—Rev. W. H. Jones, a Baptist minister, and a former pastor of seven churches in Henderson county, was convicted at Hendersonville yesterday of criminal relations with Mrs. Ingle Cagle, and was sentenced to imprisonment for one year. The woman was also convicted and fined $100 and costs.

Still believe rebate case will not be decided by courts—think compromise will be effected in near future.

Speaking of the proposed settlement of the famous Caledonian rebate case, a prominent attorney of the city, who is closely identified with the plaintiff's side of the case, stated that so far as the Caledonian people were concerned, they were ready for trial and would push the case in the courts.

"Of course," added this attorney, "if the railroad people see fit to compromise the case by paying the Caledonian Coal company the price of the damages they have asked, there will be no cause for action, as this amount is the point involved in the litigation."

Yesterday it was inadvertently stated that an attorney for the plaintiffs said there would be a compromise. This was a typographical error. The information came from one who has been in close touch with the defendants.

"I am of the opinion," said the lawyer, "that the case will never be decided by the courts, but I am surprised to hear of a compromise being effected while Attorney Field is in New York, although I don't pretend to positively assert that that is the object of his trip to that city."

"Mr. Field," said an intimate friend of this attorney for the plaintiffs, "is in New York for the purpose of perfecting his case, and will certainly go to trial unless the defendants see fit to offer a compromise. Whether this has been done or not, I am not in a position to say."

One attorney, in speaking of the now famous case, said:

"It is universally said that Mr. Paul Morton is the man who was officially responsible for the giving of these rebates, and for which he received a 'white' letter from the president. The question is whether these people 'higher up' wish to have all the facts brought out or not. Since the court ordered the road to produce all these alleged contracts for rebate giving, the question is whether it would be more wise for the defendants to compromise than it would be to stand trial."

In consideration of these facts, The Evening Citizen's informant stated that he was almost positive that the case would never be decided by the courts, but that a compromise, satisfactory to both sides, would be effected before the spring term of court convened.

ARMED GUARDS PREVENT LYNCHING YOUNG MURDERER.

Pagosa Springs, Colo., March 10.—Armed guards have been placed around the lynching of Oral Weir, the young man who has confessed to have killed his own uncle, Joseph Weir, for the purpose of robbery. Excitement is very high, and it is feared that a lynching will take place to-night.

GREAT REJOICING IN CITIES OF OKLAHOMA.

There is great rejoicing here over the passage of the statehood bill by the senate, and there is unanimous concurrence in the amendments.

HOUSE WILL NOT ACCEPT SENATE AMENDMENTS TO STATEHOOD BILL

President, Speaker, Hamilton and All Organization Leaders Say House Will Stand Pat, but Opposition Will Oppose New Mexico.

WILL NOT BE CONSIDERED BEFORE MARCH 19

New Mexico's Friends See Growing Prospects of Single Statehood For This Territory by Letting Arizona Out of the Bill.

Washington, D. C., March 10.—The statehood question will not be taken up in the house until the return of the members of the river and harbor committee, who are making a trip of inspection through the south. This will be about March 19.

The house leaders, who represent the administration view of statehood, are positive that the house will concur in the amendment of the senate to eliminate Arizona and New Mexico from the bill. The positive assertion made by the stalwarts, is that the insurgents have not gained a single vote since the bill left the house, and that consequently they will be unable to carry the motion to concur in the senate amendments. When the bill comes from the senate, the program contemplates a motion to disagree, and ask for a conference. This motion will be made by Hamilton. It is thought that Babcock will not interpose a motion to concur. The vote will come on this section first, and the result will reveal the strength of the respective sides.

Those opposing statehood for Arizona and New Mexico in the house, have maintained all along that if an opportunity should be given to the senate to vote on the specific question, they have plenty of votes to defeat the bill.

"Stand Pat," Say Leaders.

"There is no change in the temper of the house, so far as I can see," said the statement of Speaker Cannon at the house today, regarding statehood legislation. Statehood legislation was discussed by the President, with several callers, besides Speaker Cannon. Representative Hamilton of Michigan, chairman of the house committee on territories, declared that the house would not accept the senate amendments.

Former Delegate Rodey, of New Mexico, who had been advocating joint statehood, expressed great disappointment at the action of the senate.

Beveridge, chairman of the senate committee on territories, talked to the president about statehood legislation, but made no comments on it.

It is learned that vigorous efforts will be made to have the house concur in the senate amendments. The movement will be supported by Oklahoma and Indian Territory advocates of statehood.

IT MAY IMPROVE OUR STATEHOOD PROSPECTS.

Special to The Evening Citizen.

Washington, D. C., March 10.—Yesterday afternoon before the Foraker amendment had been passed, the Burrows amendment, eliminating New Mexico and Arizona from the statehood bill, was voted upon and lost by a vote of 35 for to 36 against the amendment; but after the Foraker amendment had been passed by a vote of 42 to 29, the Burrows amendment, on reconsideration, was again called up and this time passed, by a vote of 37 to 35. This takes the question of statehood for New Mexico and Arizona out of the bill entirely.

There is considerable diversity of opinion here as to what the house will do when the senate bill shall be sent over from the senate next week. Great effort will be made to have the house accept the senate amendments, but the friends of joint statehood oppose and scout the idea.

President Roosevelt, Speaker Cannon, Chairman Hamilton and the organization leaders generally, say that "stand pat" is the watchword. The speaker of the house says that he sees no reason why representatives should change their mind on the bill, as it passed the house.

The friends here of single statehood for New Mexico already say that if Arizona is so unalterably opposed to statehood at the present, she can be given her desire, but that an amendment may be passed giving single statehood to New Mexico. One of the arguments offered in favor of this is that Oklahoma already has two democratic senators to Washington, and that New Mexico may be relied upon to send republican senators.

J. Lorenzo Hubbell and C. F. Ainsworth will leave tonight for their homes in Arizona, satisfied that Arizona cannot be admitted to statehood during the present congress.

Last night and today a number of private telegrams have been sent from Albuquerque and other towns in the territory to President Roosevelt, Speaker Cannon and Delegate Andrews, relative to statehood legislation, and asking their influence be brought to bear upon the members of the House of Representatives to adopt an amendment to the statehood bill.

WONDERFUL ADVANCE IN ELECTRICAL USE

New York, March 10.—Forty-two million dollars represents the advance made by the electrical industry last year. Figures just completed by New York experts prove that the greatest gain ever made came in 1905. In the previous year the gain was only ten per cent. Last year an increase of from $175,500,000 to $217,000,000 shows that the industry took a jump of twenty per cent.

The motor output increased $7,000,000 in value. Telephone apparatus beat this record by half a million. Wire and cable manufacturers gained $5,000,000. A still larger increase is shown in "miscellaneous apparatus," which totals $25,000,000. The only manufacturers who have stood still are the makers of electrical clocks. In the lighting field the gains have been enormous.

Trade authorities say that the industry will continue its present rate of progress indefinitely. In every part of the country the spread of electric lighting, the telephone, and lately domestic use of current is taxing the facilities of manufacturers and central stations. The lowered cost of gas does not appear to effect electrical advance in any direction where they come into competition. The greater safety, convenience and healthfulness of incandescent and arc lighting are giving it a popularity that gas no longer rivals.

The "miscellaneous" output of electrical appliances includes household devices that are now coming into general use for the first time. Everything from a cutting iron in the laundry to a washboard in the up-to-date laundry can now be heated by electricity. The electric kitchen, where a few coils of wire take the place of the coal or gas stove, will in a few years be as common as the electric car.

Prophets of the "electrical age" say that the element of cost, where it enters at all, can no more check the advancing era of electricity than the cheapness of stage coaches could prevent the adoption of the steam engine.

admitting New Mexico as a single state, along with Oklahoma and Indian Territory as a joint state. While in Santa Fe, yesterday, and after the fate of the bill in the senate had become known, a like telegram was sent to Washington, signed by Hon. Solomon Luna, republican national committeeman for New Mexico; Hon. H. O. Burrows, chairman of the republican territorial committee, and Major W. H. H. Llewellyn, United States attorney for New Mexico.

CONDITION OF PEOPLE IN STATE OF NEW YORK.

Albany, N. Y., March 10.—According to the figures in the annual report for 1905, of Frederick D. Kilburn, state superintendent of banks, the gain in the resources of the savings banks of the state of New York during the past year was $93,807,399.67, which is larger by more than $20,000,000 than was ever shown before for a single year.

It is asserted by those who are in a position to know, that the great showing made by the savings banks of the state means not an increasing use of these institutions by those whom they are not intended to serve, but rather a marked betterment in the conditions of the masses of the people. In support of this idea it is pointed out that the gain in open accounts of the savings banks for the year was 126,244, against 77,572 in the year before. The gain in the amount deposited during the year was $51,116,525.95, against $24,699,412.82 in the previous year. There are now 132 savings banks in the state, 35 safe deposit companies and 82 trust companies.

STRANGER O CHALLENGED FOR A MATCH RACE

JOSEPH BARNETT RECEIVES A MESSAGE FROM WAHLGREN, AT DENVER, AND ANSWERS AT ONCE.

Joseph Barnett, Albuquerque, N. M. Would you match Stranger O against Caledonian and two brood mares, $500 a corner, during Overland race? (Signed) G. A. WAHLGREN.

The above telegram was received by Joseph Barnett, owner of the pacer, Stranger O, today, from G. A. Wahlgren, secretary of the Overland race course association at Denver, and was promptly replied to by Mr. Barnett, as follows:

G. A. Wahlgren, Denver, Colo. Will match Stranger O against horses for two races, $500 a corner, to take all the race to be run in Albuquerque and one during Overland races. Will you acceptance or refusal of these terms. (Signed) JOSEPH BARNETT.

"I'm dead willing to match Stranger O against either of the mentioned horses," said Mr. Barnett, "but I want Albuquerque to get something out of it, whether I win or lose, so I wired Wahlgren that if he could arrange two races, one here and one at Denver, $500 a corner on each race, winner take all, he could get my game."

Stranger O has a track record of 2:08 1/4. Florodora, who has been here, has a record of 2:10 1/4, while Caledonian, the other horse mentioned, is somewhat of a dark horse, but in the year book is given a track record of 2:09 1/4.

"I would look as though Stranger O had a shade or two the best of it, but the 'dark horse' may do as many 'dark horses' have done before, come from behind and win under wraps."

However, such a race would be a drawing card for Albuquerque, and as Stranger O is Albuquerque's favorite, Mr. Barnett stated he would not match the race under any other terms than that one of the two races be pulled off here. Up to a late hour, Mr. Barnett had not received an answer to his telegram to Wahlgren, stating the terms under which he would make the match.

GOVERNMENT OF MANCHURIA WILL TAKE CONTROL OF AFFAIRS THERE AND JAPANESE ARE LEAVING.

NEW MINISTRY FOR FRANCE IS ALMOST FORMED—AMERICAN LEGATION AT PEKIN PREPARED FOR EMERGENCY.

REICHTAG LABOR LEADER DEAD

Washington, D. C., March 10.—The state department received a cable from a trusted agent in Manchuria, saying that commerce and trade there are approaching the normal; that the Chinese government is anxious to take over the civil administration so soon as possible, and that the Japanese troops will be entirely out of Manchuria in a few days, when the country will be open to the world.

NEW FRENCH MINISTRY IS ALMOST FORMED.

Paris, March 10.—M. Sarrien has accepted the task of forming the ministry, and has secured the consent of M. Bourgeois and M. Poincaré to take portfolios. He has notified the president of his acceptance of the task.

AMERICAN LEGATION NOW HOLD FORTRESS.

Peking, March 10.—The American legation in this city is prepared for any emergency and the reports of serious anti-foreign riots in various parts of China have no terror for the members of the legation, who live within their fortified enclosure as in a city by themselves. The last preparations have been completed and a number of become necessary, the legation will be able to stand a long siege. The American legation in this city is a regular fortress and is the first official residence owned by the American government in any country.

The building was constructed by Sydney W. Meely, assistant supervising architect of the treasury department, who was sent to China after the Boxer troubles, more than three years ago, for the purpose of building a safe retreat for the members of the American legation. He completed his task recently and returned to the United States.

The buildings are of brick and stone and of very solid construction. The largest building is for the use of the minister. Surrounding it are buildings for the secretaries, the chancery, the library and a number of smaller structures. They are all built closely together and are surrounded by a formidable wall of masonry. A short distance back of the wall on one side is the great city wall, on which has been constructed an American fort, equipped with small guns.

The American legation is now as well protected as any of the other legations. In a case of emergency the American residents of Peking could find refuge in the legation quarters.

The present garrison of the American fort is not very strong, but should it become necessary, there are enough troops available in Manila and two transports are in the harbor of Manila, ready to bring a strong force of American soldiers to Peking in case of trouble.

BISMARCK'S OLD OPPONENT DIED THIS MORNING.

Berlin, March 10.—Eugene Richter, a radical leader in the Reichstag since its foundation, Bismarck's old opponent and a long time editor of the Freinachtige Zeitung, died at 4 o'clock this morning.

STEAMSHIP COMPANY WILL ESTABLISH AN OIL LINE.

New York, March 10.—It is stated on the very best authority that the United States steamship company, which has just been incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, with a capital of $1,000,000, will establish an oil tank ship service in connection with the Union Oil company of San Francisco.

Two vessels, the Minnetonka and the Minnewasha, built in Cleveland and formerly in the service on the Great Lakes, were brought through the Erie canal in sections and are to form the beginning of the company's fleet. The vessels, now at Newport News, will be used in the trade between San Francisco and the Sandwich Islands.

POINTERS FOR VOTERS TO REMEMBER APRIL 3

The Citizen has been informed, through what it considers a very reliable source, that Mr. F. B. Luchinger, president of the Water Company of Menomonee, Wis., who is now in this city, made a very careful examination of the local Water Supply company's plant, with a view to purchasing the same a little more than a year ago, and that though the price made him was a GREAT DEAL LOWER than the price, which is now made to the city, he decided, after a careful examination, that the plant was not worth the price asked. In view of the fact that Mr. Luchinger is a constructor of both water and gas plants, his opinion of our local plant would no doubt be of GREAT INTEREST TO OUR CITIZENS just at this time, especially as Mr. Luchinger made this investigation with a view to investing his own money, and certainly his opinion would be of more interest than any opinion written by an alleged "construction engineer."

MR. LUCHINGER TO SIGN HIS RIGHT NAME to his report, and who seems to be so very familiar with every item contained in the books of the local company, when, upon a thorough investigation, it will be a thoroughly proven to the voter that said "construction engineer" knows "nothing whatever about the present water company, so desirous to sell to the city at such an exorbitant price, and especially about the condition of the mains which have been under ground for so many years.

Moral: Don't be deceived, voters of Albuquerque, on reports from fictitious writers about the Water Supply company's plant and LOW PRICE TO THE CITY, but keep yourself posted on this important subject by securing copies of The Evening Citizen, or become permanent subscribers. We are guarding the interests of the people in this important matter.

The first indication of trouble was at 3 o'clock, this morning, when the signal man on the mole heard guns and the sounding of the steamer's siren in a dense fog. The life boats were immediately launched. Subsequent news received was that she had been refloated, but shortly afterwards sank. The firing of guns indicated that the vessel carried passengers.

Later information.

The steamer which sank off the French coast has since been identified as the British steamer, Nelson, from Port Talbot, Wales, and bound for St. Nazaire, France. Her crew of twenty-five was saved.

CITY DEMOCRATS OPPOSE NON-PARTISAN TICKET

STALWARTS OF CITY ORGANIZATION PREFER TO FIGHT IT OUT ON PARTY LINES.

At their meeting held last night in the office of Dr. C. H. Carns, the chairman, the members of the democratic city central committee were as a unit for opposing the movement started to eliminate party lines from the approaching city election, and decided to name a democratic ticket at primaries to be held at places to be announced in the call.

These primaries will be held on March 24, two weeks from today, and the convention of delegates will be held on March 26, the following Monday. The election takes place on April 2.

MT. DAJO BATTLE QUITE SERIOUS

Women and Children are Slaughtered With Their Fighting Fathers

ROUNDING UP HEAD HUNTERS

Battle Lasted For Four Days. Was Caused by Major Scott.

MILITARY REFUSE PRESS NEWS

Manila, March 10.—Brigadier General Bliss made a reconnaissance towards Mt. Dajo during the week previous to the attack of the American force upon the Moro stronghold there, but it had no effect upon the hostile attitude of the outlaws. An official report says that the families of the Moros remained in the village, located in the center of the crater at the apex of the mountain, and that the women and children mingled with the warriors during the battle to such an extent that it was impossible to discriminate and that all were killed in the fierce onslaught. Constabulary detachments are now engaged in the mountains of northern Luzon, rounding up bands of savages and head-hunters, who are on the war path.

HART FIGHTING LASTED FOR FOUR FULL DAYS.

Monila, March 10.—Associated Press telegrams from Zamboanga say that the attack on Mt. Dajo commenced on Monday. There were four days of hard fighting, during which it is estimated that 900 persons were killed or wounded.

ERROR TO LET MOROS RE-ENTER THE PLACE.

Manila, March 10.—American troops now arriving at Zamboanga from Jolo. The consensus of opinion is that the whole trouble was due to the fact that Governor Major Hugh Scott permitted the outlaws to fortify themselves within sight of the city of Jolo. The military authorities at Zamboanga have refused since Thursday to give any information to the press.

PROGRAM WAS SUCCESS IN EVERY WAY

The musical and literary program at the Baptist church, last night, given under the auspices of the Baptist Young People's Union, was a decided success in every way. Mrs. Rosa Sutcliffe-Gleason, the accompanist of the evening, showed great skill in her manipulation of the large manual organs, recently purchased by the Baptist church. Mr. T. Y. Maynard and Mrs. Martha Brown-Gibbs pleased the large audience with delightful vocal solos, and both responded to encoring of the realists. It would be difficult to say which was the most enjoyable, as both received generous applause. The readers were the Misses Bearup, Johnson, Pearce, Owen, and Mrs. N. J. Strumquist. The selection given by the latter, "My Old Kentucky Home," was an original production. Mr. Carl J. Toland appeared twice on the program, once in a violin solo, which was unencored, and again, in the "Chorus of Angels," a trio for the organ and violin, with a whistling obligato. Perhaps the most popular feature of the evening was the whistling of Mr. Leonard Miller. One not seeing the whistler, would have thought there was a bird, or a whole flock of them, near by, pouring forth a volume of melody. At the close of his solos, and as he entered for the trio, Mr. Miller was heartily encored. His is certainly a wonderful accomplishment, and one by which he could draw a very large income, if he so desired, and would accept the theatrical offers that have been made to him. The young people realized quite a neat sum as the result of the entertainment which will be applied on the church deficit in the church treasury.

WATER FLUSHES DURANES DITCH

SEVENTY-FIVE WATER USERS COMPLETED CLEANING OF ACEQUIA IN FIVE DAYS.

As evidence that spring has come, water was turned in the Duranes acequia at noon today, and this afternoon is soaking the many hundred acres of fertile soil that comes under its drain, preparatory to spring planting, and tonight a dance will be given at the home of Henry Springer in Los Duranes in celebration of the event.

The Duranes ditch takes water from the river near Ranchos de Albuquerque and its four miles extends through one of the richest gardening districts in the valley. Many of the truckmen furnishing vegetables for the city market irrigate their gardens from this ditch. The work of cleaning it every spring is a great event, the water users flocking forth to furnish as much labor as the land they irrigate will probate with the land and the ditch waters and the labor necessary to do the work. This year it required seventy-five men five days to complete the work.

OPENING GAME OF SOCCER FOOT BALL AT COLLEGE.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 10.—An opening game of the intercollegiate Soccer football season will be played this afternoon between the teams of Pennsylvania university and Harvard university. Both belong to the intercollegiate Soccer league, which now includes Columbia, Harvard, Harvard, Cornell and Pennsylvania. It is expected that Yale, Chicago, Minnesota and Michigan will join the league this year.

AN AMERICAN ARISTOCRACY

(Written for The Citizen.)

Every time infidelity arises from international marriages people are heard to ask each other why American girls marry foreigners? By foreigners they are apt to mean titles; it would be inconsistent for us to declare against international unions, as a nation we are their fruit.

The American is a great critic, in that he makes it his business to criticize every thing under the sun. He will give you many reasons why our girls should be satisfied with the men of their own "Land of the Free"; he is perfectly satisfied that he is a "greater" man in every sense of the word than the foreigner. And he is apt to proudly add, that "he knows how to treat women."

There is a great deal to be said in favor of the American man, but there are a few things to be said about even "titles."

A lord, or a duke, or a prince, is the lineal descendant of some great man; that is, he runs a good chance of being. Under every ruler titles have been conferred without sufficient reason. But the really old houses of Europe had their beginnings in true nobility—the founder of the family having been a true noble. And, some one may say with a snort, his descendants have lived off this glory ever since. Perhaps; but many of them have done more, they have tried to be worthy of their names. That is something, you know. "Noblesse oblige," has been something besides an empty motto.

Now what did "living up to the name" really mean? Of course, there have been unprincipled actors of great houses, but into even these there has been instilled the real meaning of "noblesse oblige." In a very real way every son and daughter of a great house has been taught that he and she owed many sacrifices to the ancestor who founded the house—for his sake a certain standard should be kept, etc. It is just this thing that has so often made titled men successful in winning our most desirable girls.

Now, about heredity—that great creature that shoulders so many excuses, and is supposed to explain so many paradoxes.

Heredity means that a man gets through his parentage his qualities, mental, moral and physical. Our good Papa Science has not yet given us definite knowledge as to which parent gives the qualities. But if a lad man's son becomes a bad man we are wont to declare, "Like father, like son," and if a woman's son turns out to be a daughter who follows her example, we complacently exclaim, "Like mother, like daughter." (Strange how seldom we hear, "Like father, like daughter.")

But we must acknowledge that heredity is not a hard and fast rule; there are very oddities parents who have exemplary offspring.

And so we talk of another big word—environment. This helps a little but is not such a big help after all, for we find many cases where the very best heredity combined with the most perfect environment fails miserably. Then we may fall back on that old-fashioned word, original sin—a word we never really believe in while we are looking into babies' faces.

Every thoughtful soul has a tussle with these creatures, heredity and environment, at some time in its life. There is an inherent demand for fair play in every human being—and it would not be surprised if it were in animals, too.

Those of us who predicate that a new soul is created for every infant that opens its eyes to life, meet some or other challenge. God because of these creatures, heredity and environment; some of us may be shocked at the very idea of challenging God, but we do it anyway. Every time we associate God with the least injustice we are challenging Him.

And indeed, if there is a new soul created for each of the poor little babies, God ought to be challenged. Every parent has felt rebuffed at the letter of the old Mosaic law about the sins of the father being visited on the children; and this very emotion of rebuff was a challenge.

I know of but one thing that can reconcile God and man, and that is the doctrine of the Perfect Law, which has for its two factors, Reincarnation and Karma (Cause and Effect is the meaning of Karma). The declaration that we are our own parents, and make our own heredity and environment, changes all our challenges into peace.

Among the many things that a recognition of the truth of reincarnation will do is this: it will give the soul true dignity. If we must stand on our own feet, then is man a God in the making. But Heredity and Environment, you will cry out: "They are but agents for our growth!" If you and I live wisely today we will naturally gravitate to a good heredity and environment in our next life on earth. And this good "heredity-and-environment" may be wisely or unwisely used by us after we get it; we may have been wise last time because we were only evolved along a certain line; certain temptations may come in this incarnation, and we may not know how to meet them—hence we become black sheep.

But what hearing has all this on the case of international marriages? This, that what our girls are looking for is nobility, and this looking is natural, instinctive, a sort of survival of the fittest. These glorious girls of ours, the women ideal is ahead of yours, oh my brother! These beautiful creatures for whom we sacrifice so much, are looking for the qualities they fail to find in you. Of course they make mistakes, when they go after titles, but way down in their innermost they are not going after titles at all; they are looking for more culture, more refinement, more gentlemanly men. They have lived before, these dear girls of ours. They realize what a factor children are in the lives of women, because they have perhaps been mothers before. Have you ever wondered at the way little girls nurse their dolls?

It's no such thing, you may declare; it is just their silly vanity! Well, something like vanity has played an important part in the evolution of all of us, up to date! You may call it vanity, but it is just that the girls are trying to get the very best.

It is in your power to give them the best, the very best. You may not be the descendant of Lord Waverley, but you can be the founder of a house today, and do such deeds as will make you remembered "ever afterwards." Keep yourselves clean mentally, morally and physically, raise your ideals, spend your spare time in acquiring culture, aim at being the equals of your women. Look into the matter of chivalry; it is more than taking off your hat in an elevator for a pretty girl gets in. And in a few years our girls will not go gentleman-hunting in foreign parts, for they have common sense, these girls of ours, even if they do want the best.

We are told that many advanced souls are waiting on the threshold in life for the proper incarnation. They have been so wise in the past that it is not possible for them to accept the average parents; see to it, oh my brethren, that these great souls find a habitat.

Let us make an American aristocracy—one that even the socialist cannot object to, for it will be open to all. Let us exact of ourselves every quality that any lord, duke or prince could possibly have. Let us adopt for our mottoes, "Noblesse oblige." And then our princesses will not go abroad for husbands—they will find the best at home.

CHARGES AGAINST INSANE ASYLUM

REPORTS ARE UNTRUE, ACCORDING TO ADVICE RECEIVED BY GOVERNOR HAGEMAN.

The charges preferred by Miss Frances Addelman, an employee in the territorial insane asylum at Las Vegas, alleging cruel treatment and lax management on the part of certain officials and nurses connected with the institution, are untrue and were prompted more by jealousy than any thing else.

The above is briefly the decision of the committee appointed by the board of directors of the institution, at the request of Governor Hageman, to investigate the charges. Governor Hageman yesterday received the report of the committee, which is about two dozen typewritten pages in length, and embodies all the testimony, written and verbal, taken during the investigation. The name of nearly every employee of the asylum appears in the testimony. The committee in its prelude to the testimony, states that the affairs of the institution were examined in regard to the handling of patients and that the bulk of the findings of the committee, were positive contradictions to Miss Addelman's statements.

Governor Hageman said that he was fully satisfied that the accusations of the nurse were unfounded, and that he would not give the matter further attention. The committee made no recommendations regarding the discharging of employees of the institution who had testified adversely, and the governor said he did not know what would be done in regard to this phase of the affair. Periodically there have been charges and statements regarding the alleged cruel treatment of patients in this institution, yet after a thorough investigation each time, the opposite had been found true. It is probable that hereafter, such charges will be treated more lightly.

NEW YORK FASHION LETTER

New York, March 10.—There are so many of these dear girls who are just now making—not the great decision, but the one secondary to the greater, what shall I have in my trousseau? It is hard for anyone to give absolute in such matter, except they know the amount of money to be spent, the social obligations that will fall on the future bride, and her future residence; but we will give as general a letter as possible which will yet be of some help to the judgment of our bride. There are a few dresses that belong exclusively to the wedding

MADE IT HERSELF

A fashionable fad is to make one's own blouse. A charming maiden who recently wore her own cobwebby handwork to a luncheon had as the motif of the waist an embroidered butterfly. This was slightly below the bust, and the rest of the blouse was worked out around it. From it went graceful lines of Valenciennes insertion, while the same effect reached out to the shoulders. A narrow yoke was of the finest tucks, while the curving insertion lines were again used on the demi-puffed sleeves.

Outfit and to which every bride gives much attention. Perhaps it is natural that every girl should want a real wedding dress, not a pretty house dress or an extra fine traveling suit, but a real bona fide wedding gown, which she can put away as a memento of the romantic joyous day of days.

For the girl who can afford it, there are at hand beautiful materials in silk and lace which are made specially for this event. Most of the nuptial gowns are made in princess style which with its long train may be worn by the short and stouter woman to whom the princess without these accessories of long lines and length would be completely barred. The trains are extremely long but of an ordinary width and is made to stand out by means of under ruffles of silk or muslin platings.

A beautiful gown was of "argent coeur" satin trimmed with lace embroidered with silver thread. The princess model was used, which to secure the sleek-like fit was cut off at the waist line and silvered lace insertion applied between the skirt proper and the bodice above. It was slightly draped over the bust and fastened under the arm, a high necked yoke of lace and under sleeves of the same completed the costume.

Another bridal dress was of white point lace; the skirt had been made in one piece and hung in soft folds by means of tiny tucks at the waist. A soft plain lace bodice was gathered in at the belt under a deep circle of white silk and with it was worn a handsome little bolero, of point lace to match the skirt.

But the price of both these dresses is beyond the purse of our girls. A pretty dress could be made of white museline which can be had in various prices, to be made over white silk foundation; slip of princess shaping out by nine gores, following closely the lines of the figure and fastened in the back. The outer skirt, which is composed of nine gores extends in corset style above the waist, and may be adjusted to the figure by shirring or fine tucks to yoke length. A dressy full bolero is added to the model, which is shirred at the shoulder and at the lower edge, and a trimming band extending about the neck in fancy collar effect and joined under the arm to a pointed back section gives a pleasing finish. The undersleeves are fastened to the wrist, while the puff sleeves are shirred on the top under fancy cuffs and again at the seams. If preferred, white cashmere, pongee, henrietta and drap d'ete could be used.

A gown made for a very slight girl was of the tunic order in crepe de chine. The skirt was developed with five gores having an inverted box-pleat at the back. A deep circular flounce with tucks following the lower edge gave an additional ripple round the feet, and the foundation skirt was cut away beneath it. Six yards is the measurement given the flounce and three and three-quarters the skirt. The tunic is in seven gores and in pointed lower outline both back and front. The fullness at the waist is taken in tucks to yoke depth to fit the figure. The top of the gown is in corset effect with yoke of lace, puff sleeves to the elbow finished with fancy cuffs, from which extend lace metaline cuffs. If more becoming the tunic skirt may terminate at the waist line and the bodice be made after one of the many styles now so popular.

The veil may be of some rare old lace, or of fine shirring, or tulle and be fastened to the hair by means of a wreath or coronet of orange blossoms, or some other preferred flower, though most brides like on this day at least to have a few of the bridal flowers somewhere about the costume. The veil may be partly over the face, cover the whole figure, or be of the kind that fastened to the high coronet flowing out behind over the train only.

The second dress to be considered is the "going away" gown, and if one can have but few to one's wardrobe this dress should be of these materials, colors and styles that it will serve many purposes in the future.

A recent bride developed her "going away" gown from dark blue poplin, as she was having an eye to next fall. It was in round length just escaping the ground and of three piece construction; a back section with its fullness disposed in a triple box-pleat and two circular portions with clusters of plaits laid at regular intervals, all of which were attached to yoke depth. A seam in the front in Dutchess style connects the two side sections and adds to the appearance of the skirt. With this skirt was worn a pretty silk blouse and a little coat of the blue poplin trimmed with lace banding. The back had a seam at the center and had two plaits at each side forming a broad double box-pleat. A deep backward turning tuck is laid on each side of the front, the fullness below being pressed into a plait to the lower edge, and the closing is made at the center which could be formed to reverse. A stole facing seamed at the center of the back follows the neck and front edges. The full elbow sleeves were of one seam cut finished at the lower edge with pointed bands and frills of lace.

A bride who could own several walking dresses had her traveling suit made of grey and white overchecked cheviot, made with a circular skirt having a box-pleat panel extend from belt to foot, front and back, and the side sections trimmed at the lower edge with nun's folds. The Elton jacket was a plain affair cut in fancy outline, short three quarter sleeves, flat collar and fancy vest, all depending upon the machine stitching for decoration. With the suit was worn a cream silk blouse and grey cheviot skirt trimmed with cream pompons and grey velvet bows.

In the traveling bag should be another skirt, perhaps made out of an old, or if new, might be of one of the pretty new Stillekens, or of serge in dark goods. A number of pretty blouses will be necessary, and an odd jacket, preferably of tan or mode velvet cloth. This will be a saving to the new dress and also keep her from that conspicuous newness of clothes which writes "bride" all over her.

And now for the reception dress. A dressy affair may be developed from

AFTERNOON GOWNS

A stunning afternoon gown is composed of black lace trimmed with yellow Mechin. The foundation of the dress is of black taffeta, veiled with chiffon, and over this is the black lace, which has a small heavy dot in it. The bottom of the full flowing skirt has three narrow ruffles, put on in graceful waves. Each ruffle is edged with a tiny band of black velvet ribbon. The princess girdle of the skirt is partially concealed by the bolero jacket, which has a graduated collar of the Mechin and the lower part of the bolero is also edged with this lovely lace.

The sleeves, entirely of the lace, are unlined, the lace being mounted upon mouseline.

The hat to be worn without this dress is of yellow Tuscany, rolled on the side, and has a waving turquoise ostrich plume draped directly over the low crown. A narrow black velvet band encircles the crown, and a single pink rose rests in the rim of the hat.

pink satin, covered with silver soutache and a high silver girdle completes the costume.

Old rose rajah was used for another costume having a gored skirt laid in plaits. The waist is draped and slightly pointed, the drapery continuing in pointed upturned tabs over a surprise bolero of Irish crochet lace. The elbow sleeves are of lace with cuffs of silk. Collar and buttons are of velvet.

A gown in pale blue crepe de chine simply made would be pretty for an informal evening affair and afterwards suitable for small dances. Have it made with a circular gored skirt having a front panel, and a bodice with a transparent yoke and collar of lace and elbow sleeves trimmed with lace falls. A high crushed girdle should complete the costume.

To the girl that lives in the country and has few social obligations, and

DANCING FROCK FOR A MISS

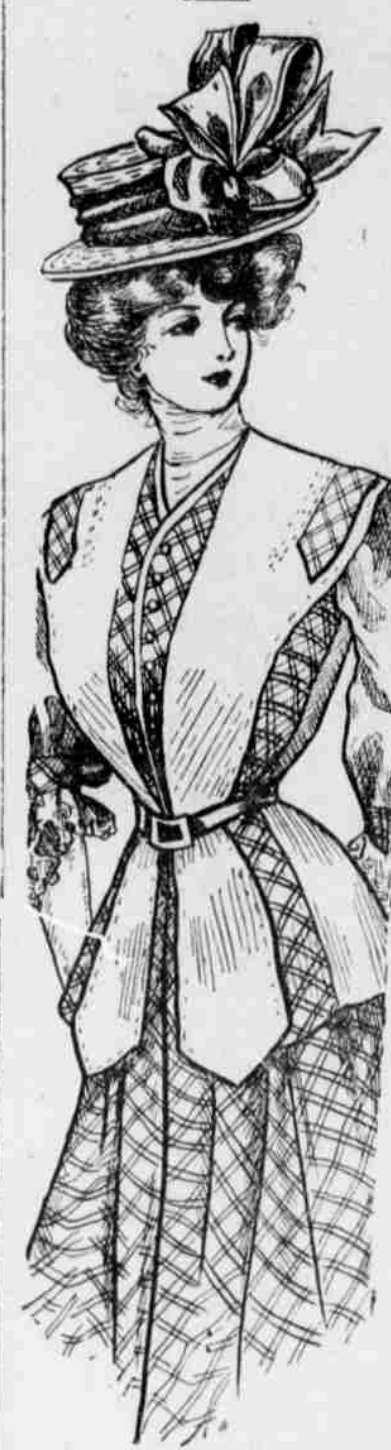

For the 15-year-old girl at dancing school a charming frock is of cream nun's veiling, combined with russet brown velvet, and mouseline embroidered in all the dainty hues dear to the girlish heart.

The frock reaches the ankles, the correct length at present for all girls who have reached the age of the teens. The skirt is full and round, tucked in small groups about the hips. The lower part of the skirt is trimmed with four wide tucks, about six inches apart. The bodice has one broad tuck midway between the yoke and the crushed velvet girdle. The yoke is of blue, pink and lavender. The broad collar is finished with edging of the embroidered mouseline, and it also has a scalloped trimming of narrow velvet ribbon of the russet brown. The sleeves are of the double puffs, with the same narrow velvet, and ending with the mouseline embroidery.

who wishes a gown that would be pretty for the reception, yet useful for many duties afterwards, as a summer church dress or for a garden party, etc., a fine printed organza having a white ground strewn with roses—the popular floral design this season—would be suitably developed over a pink lawn undergarment. A skirt gathered or plaited to yoke depth having nun's tucks about the bottom, a bodice laid in plaits, back and front yoke of white valenciennes lace outlined with a band of pink silk, and lace ruffles ending in a plastron front of the silk edged also with the lace, would be a dainty design complete with full gathered sleeves drawn in

SUIT IN PLAIDS

Plaids, in light weight materials, are among the stunning suits made up for young women.

In dark blue and white such a handsome street suit is made. Cream broadcloth is used in combination with the plaid.

The skirt is a short one, escaping the ground, with a bias fold finishing it on the bottom. The skirt has a seam up the front and back, each being finished with stitching. The coat is of white cloth, the underseam insets and the waistcoat being of the plaid. This was necessarily cut on the bias, to harmonize with the round effect of the skirt. The sleeves are of the white, with a cuff of the blue plaid and bias shoulder straps are at the extreme edge of the sloping shoulders.

A straight sailor hat is worn with the street costume. It is of bright blue straw, simply trimmed with ribbon.

tiny tucks finished with pink silk bands and lace ruffles.

Even if the girl can afford a more expensive dress for her reception, this would be a suitable extra frock for summer social occasions. For outdoor wear with this gown there should be a plaid hat of white chiffon shaped to suit the face of the wearer and decorated with pink roses having long stems and green leaves.

Statehood Situation

The action of the senate, yesterday, in not only passing the Foraker amendment by a large majority but in subsequently eliminating New Mexico and Arizona from the statehood bill, altogether, came as a very disagreeable surprise. However, it teaches a number of lessons.

It was the combination of presidential influence and party organization which carried the Hamilton bill through the house, and it was the combination of corporate influence and opposition to the president, which defeated it in the senate. The lesson then is that the influence of parties in power may be beneficial under certain circumstances, while under other circumstances such influence may prove detrimental.

Another lesson is that in the face of all the information spread among members of congress, in both houses, by New Mexico missionaries, there remains, real or pretended, an astonishing density of ignorance concerning, and an inexplicable and bitter animosity towards, New Mexico, both as to the country and the people. This was fully brought out in debate and in publications, where the interests and rights of Arizona, her present condition and future prospects, were dwelt upon most glowingly, while of New Mexico it may be said that none were found to stoop so low as to do her reverence. If this condition is actual, it shows that separate statehood is very far from possible for New Mexico at the present time, and probably for many years in the future.

What the house will do when the emasculated statehood bill is returned to it, of course, no one can say. It seems probable, however, that the state of Oklahoma will be admitted, and that New Mexico and Arizona will be left as territories for many years to come. That this will be disastrous to both territories many are fully persuaded. However, the people of this territory should buckle down to two purposes—to have a territorial government the nearest approach possible to good state government, and to develop the resources of New Mexico for all there is in them. The cause of education will be the greatest loser by the failure of the statehood bill.

Ultimate Authority

Rabbi Wise of Portland, Ore., received a call to Temple Emanuel, New York City. He replied: "If I accept a call to Emanuel's pulpit, I do so with the stipulation that my pulpit is not to be muzzled." The reply of the trustees was: "The pulpit shall always be under the control of the board of trustees." Dr. Wise remained in Portland. This, of course, caused large expressions of opinion, in both the secular and religious press. Most of the comment has been unfavorable to the trustees, and yet they took the only proper position. The minister is an employee, as much so as the clerk or the mechanic. As long as the employee, in his labors, meets the approval of his employer, all goes harmoniously forward; but when difference of view arises, the employer is of necessity the supreme authority.

The divine right of the pulpit is very much like the divine right of kings. Monarchs once thought they had the divine right to rule, regardless of the wishes of the ruled. Priests claimed their authority directly from God, and put it above that of the church and entirely independent of the wishes of the people. But both theories have been exploded, except in certain unenlightened sections. King and priest alike are hired men, paid to do certain things, and altogether amenable to their employers.

Las Vegas Reservoir

The people of Las Vegas have every reason to feel extremely grateful to Governor Herbert J. Hagerman for his strong and timely letter to the Secretary of the Interior regarding the reservoir project. Governor Hagerman is much interested in the matter and his powerful assistance will, without question, do much towards removing the lions that lie in the way of the carrying out of the scheme.

There is something more for the people of Las Vegas to do, however. The proposed reservoir will irrigate something more than 10,000 acres of land. Of this amount 9,000 acres has already been subscribed by the people of Las Vegas. The governor, in his letter, makes a strong point of this, and presses for an immediate appropriation on the ground that there can be no risk assumed by the government.

It is very important that the land should be over rather than under-subscribed. If Las Vegas want to make sure of the authorization of the reservoir plant within a short time they will take immediate steps to secure the subscription of the remaining lands. There can be no risk involved. There will be much to gain. Six dollars an acre for ten years for land that under irrigation will be worth $100 an acre is the best kind of value. And the government asks no money back until the first year's crops have been secured.

Subscribers can secure as high as fifty acres, but it is considered better to secure as many forty-acre holders as possible. An immediate effort should be made to secure the subscription of the remaining thousand acres. —Daily Optic.

Detroit Free Press: When Dr. Wiley of the Department of Agriculture, produced from alcohol, burnt sugar and something else, a superior brand of 14-year-old whiskey, in about fourteen minutes, it was not a work of acrobaticy, on a simple bit of manufacturing which is carried on on a large scale in many places in the country. The fact that the members of the congressional committee pronounced the product excellent is better proof of its quality than could ordinarily be obtained. What we don't understand is where the bad whiskey comes from. If it is so easy, simple and cheap to make a grade of whiskey which tickles the congressional palate why are there in existence so many kinds of whiskey which irritate, burn and scratch the whole length of the oesophagus? It is perfectly plain that the whiskey makers need curbing. They don't even produce a good imitation of the real thing when it is perfectly easy to do so.

Baltimore Sun: Congressmen whose principal achievements in statesmanship have been limited to obtaining vegetable and flower seeds for their constituents find themselves in an unenviable position just now. For years Uncle Sam has dedicated $170,000 annually to the purchase and distribution of seeds of various kinds among the farmers of the country. The minority committee of the House of Representatives has decided to cut off the appropriation, and there is wailing and gnashing of teeth among certain statesmen. They feel now that their last chance to prove themselves publicists of ability will vanish; that they may soon hear the stern command from disappointed and outraged constituents: "Go way back and sit down."

When, last October, it was announced that the Czar Nicholas had concluded to give a constitutional government to Russia, many papers of this country were most rhapsodic in their announcements of the fact, their comments upon it, and their heads over the telegraphic news conveying the information. The Citizen said at the time that constitutional government had not been granted, and that Nicholas would surrender his life rather than his autocracy, and that the condition of the people of Russia would in no wise be improved. It is now acknowledged everywhere that the proposed participation of the people in the government amounts to no more than the merest child's play.

There seems to be some small patches of timber still left in the country. A forest service bulletin issued on Wednesday says that several private owners in Florida have applied to the government for working plans under which to manage pine lumbering conservatively, and that one application alone is for a tract of 1,600,000 acres.

One City Tries New Plan of Government

Houston, Tex., March 10.—After six months of a new style of municipal government, Houston is well satisfied with its experiment. An elective commission has been installed, and wonders have been worked because authority has been centralized.

For years Houston has been electing all the executive officers from mayor, health officer, chief of police, and so on down to scavengermen. The mayor's authority, however, was a farce. Department heads would mutiny at the slightest provocation, and he could not enforce their co-operation. They would declare they were less responsible to the mayor than to the people who elected them. This choice of masters is easily understood. The people were patient and long suffering. The council was similarly demoralized. The ward politician seemed more intent upon making himself strong with his immediate constituency than doing something for the common good. As for city jobs, political pull was the prime test.

The people of Houston finally became ripe for a change. J. Z. Gaston, an alderman, fired the opening gun. He offered a resolution for an election upon the question of forming an elective commission centralizing the city government in the mayor and four aldermen. These five officials to have the appointment of all others. The incumbent council, each man being a little king in his own ward, voted it down with little ceremony. This was only the beginning of the battle. The press agitated the matter, and public sentiment became such that the council was afraid to deny the people the right to express themselves. So the election was held. The elective commission was declared for by a large majority.

Mayor Jackson, with Aldermen Gaston and Thompson, and City Attorney Stone, took one draft of the proposed new charter to the legislature, and the displeased councilmen another. After a bitter fight the people's charter was passed unanimously by the legislature and signed by the governor. An election was to have been called by the mayor at once, but it was delayed several months by an injunction. H. Baldwin Rice, mayor-elect, was then kept out of office for a while by another injunction. He finally took his seat with his four aldermen, whom he put at the heads of these departments: Finance; water, light and health; police and fire; streets, bridges and public grounds.

Each member found his department badly organized and the city treasury without money to pay the preceding month's salary roll. They all buckled down to work, and being favored by complete authority and confidence, have made a showing as refreshing to the city of Houston as it was surprising.

Reclamation Under Great Difficulties

From The Earth.

As we come out of the Yosemite, following the Merced river, we enter the famous San Joaquin valley, the richest part of California, and, with the exception of the Yuzoo valley of the Mississippi, perhaps the most fertile spot on the hemisphere. It is a vast basin, which was formerly a lake, 450 miles long and averaging sixty miles wide, with a desert at the southern end and a swamp for its northern boundary. The geologists call it a "sea trough," and it has received the salt and decaying vegetation washed down from the Sierra Madre mountains on the east and the Coast range on the west for ages, until what is known as the delta region has been covered with a soil of immeasurable depth and richness. It says a little toward the center and is drained by two great rivers—the Sacramento from the north and the San Joaquin from the south—with innumerable tributaries. They meet and flow together into the Bay of San Francisco.

The swamps, or "tules," as they are called, in the northern part of the valley, are being reclaimed by interesting processes and converted into meadows and farms of unsurpassed fertility. It will not be long before that entire region is drained and made ready for agriculture, and the alluvial lands—the tule swamps—great beds of peat covering not less than 140,000 acres, which were regarded until recently, as worthless, will, within the life of the present generation, have perhaps a higher value than any farm land in the United States, if not in the world.

These lands have been reclaimed in a curious manner. Big ditches are dug at frequent intervals with smaller ditches intersecting them; then the water is squeezed out of the soil by running over it heavy rollers, similar to those used in laying macadam or asphaltum pavement. The land, being on the same level or lower than the rivers, is protected from overflows by huge dykes or levees, like those of Holland. When the water has been squeezed out of the soil into the ditches it is pumped back into the river over the dykes, and the same ditches are afterward, when crops are planted, used to distribute water for sub-irrigation.

The reclaimed land, surrounded by these big ditches, is thus divided into tracts called islands, which are now being planted to wheat, barley, beans, potatoes, asparagus, onions, chile, alfalfa and other grains and garden truck, and are used for pasturing dairy cattle. Before the land is plowed it is so soft and miry that the horses that draw the plows are shod with shoes fifteen inches in diameter, made like a wheel. The hub is of steel and fits over the hoof. The spokes are of hickory or some other hard wood, and are held firm by a steel tire. After the land has been plowed once the sun sucks the moisture out of it, and it becomes dry. But when the water is let in through the ditches, however, it soaks it up rapidly, like a sponge, and keeps the roots of the plants constantly moist, producing enormous crops of everything that is planted.

Law for the Babies

Thoughtless people may be inclined to laugh at the bill before the Ohio legislature making it unlawful for managers of flat buildings to discriminate against families with children. But where is the joke? If such discrimination had been made against any other class of the human family, a big row, and mighty serious one, would have been raised over it long ago. There is little place in city life today for babies.

There seems to be a general failure to recognize that they are human and have just as many rights as anybody else.

Managers of apartment houses are not alone at fault. Owners of houses, too, prefer tenants with no children. And the man with children has a hard time finding a place for them to lay their little heads. He has to pay the highest rent, though he can least afford it. He has to accept the least desirable houses, though he ought to have the best. True, there are people who find annoyance in neighbor's children. But what of that? Children, on their side, instinctively dislike certain people. And of the two, the dislike of the children is the more natural and better guided, and at the same time their right to domicile is more sacred. If the question were reduced to one of strict justice, it would be found that people who cannot abide children have few rights which a civilized community is bound to respect.

Babies are to the home what sunshine is to the fields—its life and light. The prattle and lip, the laugh of pure joy and the patter of the little bare feet make the real home and represent its real purpose. Every place where parents who love their children as dearly as they love their own, are forced by harsh necessity to place them in institutions or otherwise desert them, and when the nurse is stirred to the bottom the senseless and heartless customs and conditions put upon them by those who easily could, if they would, change it all. The condition of city life, which turns the children from a blessing into a curse and an insupportable burden is anything but a matter of jest. The Ohio legislator who is striving by statute to find homes for the babies is no buffoon, but a true man, whose heart is in the right place.

CHURCH, CLUB AND SOCIAL GATHERINGS

The ladies of the Women's Christian Temperance Union met this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Havens, 902 South Edith street. Much important business was transacted and a social session held after the transaction of business.

With Mrs. George F. Albright presiding as chairman, the meeting of the Women's club of Albuquerque yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the literary department, was one of the most entertaining and interesting sessions held lately. The subject for the meeting was "American Humors," and their relation to American literature." But one paper was read during the afternoon, that being "The Place of the Humorists in American Literature," by Mrs. H. B. Ray. The remainder of the session was devoted to three-minute talks on the different American humorists. Mrs. S. E. Newcomer conversed interestingly of Bret Harte, ending with a reading of his "Heathen Chinee." Miss Baldrige followed, with a discourse on Mark Twain. Mrs. Hinkley told several interesting personal reminiscences of Bill Nye, with whom she was personally acquainted. Mrs. Whitcomb talked entertainingly of this humorist. Mrs. Washburn chose as her subject, James Whitcomb Riley, "The Hoosier Poet," and rendered his "The Frost is on the Pumpkin" with excellent effect. Mrs. R. L. Hunt discussed Eugene Field, the Missouri poet, and gave his "Long Ago," at the close of her remarks. Bob Burdette came in for a mention by Mrs. Shupe, who read several of his best writings, followed by Mrs. E. V. Chaves, who discussed "Mr. Dooley" and his work. Mrs. Ackerman handled "Samantha Allen," reading her "The Carriage." Mrs. A. G. Harrison had to respond to an encore, after playing her musical solo, Mrs. Sowers' "Dance of the Witches," called forth an encore, to which she responded.

Mrs. Reed of Oklahoma
Thinks Husband Has Come to Albuquerque.

WRITES LETTER TO CHIEF M'ILLIN

Mrs. R. Y. Reed, of Cushing, Okla., has lost her husband, and, believing he is in Albuquerque, has written Chief of Police McMillin requesting him to find the unfaithful spouse if possible, and hold him until she can interview him.

According to her letter, Mrs. Reed was still a blushing bride of but two months, when the man who promised to "love and protect" her, took to the woods, and it would seem, has remained there.

Mrs. Reed is 69 years old, and accompanied his bride to the altar two years ago the 28th of next August. Sixty days later Reed vanished.

As Reed resided in this city at one time and at Tucumcari at another time, Mrs. Reed has formed the opinion that perhaps he has returned to sunny New Mexico. She says in her letter to the marshal, that he left her one morning with the team, saying he intended to drive seven miles west into the country to work. It is possible that he missed the seven-mile post and is still headed west. He is described as having blue eyes and a light complexion.

The marshal is instituting an inquiry.

CONVENTION, TO TAKE PLACE IN LOS ANGELES.

Train No. 1 of tonight will carry eighty members of the American Association of General Baggage Agents, who are en route to Los Angeles, to attend the twenty-sixth annual convention, which will take place on March 14th. The party occupies three Pullmans and is traveling in first class style. The word that is being sent out along the line in advance of them is that "Nothing is too good for them; they are paying their way." Special tables have been reserved for them at the Alvarado, apart from the general travel.

This is the first meeting of the convention on the coast in sixteen years.

Among the subjects that are to be discussed by the association at the convention are:

String checks vs. brass checks.

The printing of uniform conditions on back of car checks; the advisability and legality of the same.

Uniform laws and regulations regarding disposition of unclaimed baggage.

The subject of separate wagon contracts for the transfer of passengers and their baggage.

Further consideration and report on the subject of limitation of liability on baggage.

The question of the agitation in different states relative to reducing excess baggage rates and increasing the free allowance.

New regulations, state of Pennsylvania, relative to transportation of the dead.

Uniform system of forwarding and recording values of packages, style of label and class of articles to be handled.

Lack of uniformity in rules and regulations as to weight allowance for variation of scales.

After the business proper of the convention has been disposed of it is expected that a number of side trips to points of interest in California will be arranged.

SIXTEEN SCHOOLS CLOSED YESTERDAY

Made Necessary by Lack of Funds Which the Former County Treasurer Holds.

WOULD HAVE CONTINUED A MONTH

Sixteen schools in the county closed for the term yesterday, after a three months' course. This leaves but ten districts where school is still in progress. The closing has been made necessary, owing to a lack of funds, or, to be more explicit, because several thousand dollars for school purposes, are in the hands of Hon. Frank A. Hubbell, and which he refuses to hand over until the court decides otherwise.

The closed districts are as follows: La Madera, San Antonio, Canoncito, San Antonio, Tijera, El Cedro, Chilili, Escobedo, Carmel, Sedillo and Yrisari, all in the mountains; and Los Candelaria, Pajarito, Atrisco, Rancho de Atrisco and Rancho de Albuquerque. Had these schools had the funds which belong to them they would have been able to continue sessions for a month later, the length of the average school term being about three months and a half.

Something like $3,500 is in the safe keeping of Mr. Hubbell, which otherwise would be available for school purposes. The supreme court of the territory recently sustained the decision of the lower courts, which decided against F. A. Hubbell in his claim to the office of county treasurer, consequently, it is expected that in due time the county money in the possession of Mr. Hubbell will be formally turned over.

DOES NOT THINK ALL HOPE IS GONE

ATTORNEY LLEWELLYN STATES THAT HE THINKS THERE IS STILL A CHANCE—NOW FAVORS
SINGLE STATEHOOD.

Gloomy indeed, was the outlook for statehood yesterday afternoon; more gloomy were the faces of the supporters of jointure who stepped to read the Evening Citizen's posted bulletins displayed during yesterday afternoon, which announced that the Foraker amendment had carried by a majority of thirteen—ninety number.

However, several prominent jointurists of the territory, refuse to believe that yesterday's action means the defeat of the bill. United States Attorney Llewellyn, who was in Albuquerque for a short time last evening, en route to his home in Las Cruces, from Santa Fe, in speaking of the matter, said:

"The statehood fight in this congress is not over yet, not by any means. As the bill now stands, it can hardly be passed by the house unless Cannon retires from the stand he has taken, which is very unlikely, but you must remember that Oklahoma and Indian Territory are strong favorites, and that their fortunes are linked to ours, in this matter. A telegram was sent to Washington yesterday by a number of joint statehoodites, when the news was received at Santa Fe, requesting the senate to admit New Mexico alone. We would rather have joint statehood, but anything is preferable to the present state of affairs."

"If Speaker Cannon will not retrench, and the conference committee fails to reach an agreement, as they probably will, it simply means no statehood for us, Arizona or Oklahoma."

COUNTY COMMIS- SIONERS MET TODAY

Surveyor Rankin to Inspect
Dykes and Bridges—Repairs For Brelas Bridge.

CESSPOOL ORDERED FOR THE JAIL

The Bernalillo county commission met in regular session at the court house this morning. Those members present were Alfred Grunfeld, Manuel Springer and Severo Sanchez. Clerk Walker served in his official capacity for the first time, at today's session.

The work to be done on the various bridges and dykes of the county was considered at much length. County Surveyor D. J. Rankin was ordered to investigate the work to be done in protecting property against floods and to report at the next meeting, to be held March 17, at 10 a. m. Mr. Rankin will inspect the Rio Grande dykes and its bridges, recommend necessary repairs, etc., and estimate what the cost will be in making additions and alterations.

The commission orders Mr. Rankin to examine the Brelas bridge and ascertain whether it is safe from floods. There is a feeling in certain quarters that in case of high water the bridge would prove extremely dangerous to traffic over it.

On motion of Chairman Grunfeld, Surveyor Rankin was instructed to draw plans for needed repairs to the Brelas bridge, and to report at the next meeting.

The commission was notified that insurance on the court house and jail is about to expire. The commissioners voted to attend to this at once.

On motion of Commissioner Springer Juan R. Duran was selected to act as assistant janitor during the term of district court this month. Sheriff Armijo was vested with the necessary authority to build a cess pool for the jail, the work to be done under the direction of the county surveyor.

Relative to a complaint lodged against the road supervisor in precinct No. 4, this official was ordered to appear before the commission at the next meeting.

Sheriff Perfecto Armijo's bond was approved. This ended the business of the commissioners and they adjourned, to meet March 17, at 10 a. m.

FUNERALS

The funeral ceremonies over the remains of Leo Lavine, the young Georgian, who passed away in this city a few days ago, took place this morning from the church of the Immaculate Conception, at 9 o'clock, under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, of which the deceased was a member. Miss Kate Lavine, sister of the deceased, arrived in the city last night from Savannah, Ga., expecting to find her brother still alive, having left Savannah before the message announcing his death had been received. She was met at the depot by a delegation of the Knights of Columbus who gently informed her of the demise of her brother, after which they accompanied her to the Borders parlors, where the grief-stricken sister viewed the remains. The body was interred in Santa Barbara cemetery.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Cruz Garcia took place this morning at 9 o'clock from the Sacred Heart church, interment in Santa Barbara cemetery.

Louis Kornberg expects to leave, this evening, for St. Louis, and will be absent about a week or ten days. As stated in The Citizen, yesterday afternoon, the Roberts, Johnson & Rand Shoe company of St. Louis will open a branch store here in the store room recently vacated by T. Y. Maynard, and it is understood, Mr. Kornberg will have charge of the new store on his return to this city.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS

Benecio F. Perea, an ex-county school superintendent of this county, and son, Max B. Perea and wife, came in from Los Angeles last night, and are visiting friends here today. They will go to Bernalillo, this evening, where they will reside in the future. The senior Perea has been absent from the county for nearly four years.

A driver on one of W. L. Trimble & Co.'s cabs was jarred from his seat while driving on New York avenue, this morning, by crossing a bridge. The team ran east on the avenue to the rear of Third street, where the cab wheels collided with a telephone pole. One wheel was torn from the vehicle, but aside from this, the runaway resulted in little damage.

A. C. de Baca, the court interpreter, announced this morning that after Lent he would begin the publication of a Spanish weekly newspaper in Albuquerque, called the El Suelto. Mr. Baca says that his paper will be neither republican, democratic nor non-partisan in politics, and that the main object of the paper will be to get "somebody hurt." The name, El Suelto, means "free of speech."

The residents on the north side of Silver avenue, between Second and Third streets, are more confused than ever as to the numbers on several small houses. Heretofore the prevailing numbers were 217, 217½ and 217 1-4, but now they are 219, 219½ and 219 1-4. Col. J. G. Caldwell, however, is happy, for the number on his house is correct, but as to the other houses—well, that's another thing.

Mrs. Paul Morton, wife of the president of the Equitable Life Assurance association, arrived from the west this morning, and is spending the day in the city, awaiting to leave for Mexico on train No. 9, tonight. Mrs. Morton passed through the city going west on last Tuesday, and was on the rear end of train No. 1, which was wrecked at Toltec on Tuesday night. The lady and friends enjoyed a couple of days at the Grand Canyon of Arizona.

Efeggo Baca, of Socorro, district attorney for the seventh district, was in the city today, accompanied by Prof. Rago R. Reyes. Prof. Reyes lived two years in El Paso, where he was connected with the Concho band, and was leader of the Concho orchestra. Prof. Reyes played the saxophone at one time with Sousa's band, and now contemplates organizing a band in Socorro, where he has lived for the past two months. While in the city, today, the professor purchased a $400 piano from Learned & Lindemann for his studio.

At the Tijeras avenue crossing, this morning, when the Santa Fe limited came down the right of way toward the depot, two boys, driving a wagon, came very near meeting the same fate that was dealt out to J. W. Paxton, at the Mountain Road crossing, the other day. The boys had just started up the incline of the crossing, when they looked north and saw the train coming. They jerked the lines just in time to save themselves, wagon and horse. It was, indeed, a narrow escape.

Santa Fe county at present, has two county assessors. One, G. A. McFie, at the conclusion of Gonzales' hearing, and the other, Edward Andrews, appointed by the county commissioners, who claim the right to fill such vacancies. It is thought the governor's appointee will get the position, however, despite the county commissioners' claim to the right to make such appointments.

"Jerry From Kerry," as presented by Patten & Perry, at Elks' Opera House, last evening, to a large audience, despite the fact that it is Lent, was a little of everything, but all pleasing and of merit. The fun commenced with the opening bill, a one-act playlet entitled "Joe, the News Boy," in which G. H. Perry interpreted four different characters, and Miss Lizzie Perry, the leading lady, handled the double role of "Joe" and "Mrs. Belknap." An olio, following this sketch, was jammed full of rattling good specialties, every one of which deserves special mention. Dick Mitchell, in his quaint Vermont dialect sayings, kept the audience roaring, and his trombone solo won merited applause. Herb Perry, with his song, "What a Difference a Few Hours Make," made good, as did Campbell and Fletcher, the acrobats, and the Florence sisters, in a song and dance turn, followed by Major Calhounette, an exceedingly clever sick wire artist. Altogether, the olio was one of the best vaudeville entertainments witnessed in this city for many days, and far superior to the olio of the minstrel companies who have played here. As the closing act, Patten & Perry presented a laughable farce, "An Editor's Troubles," which kept the audience laughing from the beginning until the fall of the final curtain. One thing noticeable and appreciated about the Patten & Perry company, is the fact that every member of the cast does some specialty, and does it exceedingly well.

The management of the Elks' opera house, it is understood, is making valiant efforts to secure "The Divine Sarah" Bernhardt, for one performance at this house during the spring. It is known that Bernhardt has the date of May 28th open, and negotiations have been started by wire with a view to booking the famous Frenchwoman for this date. If such should be the case, Albuquerque might well pride herself on the nature of the theatrical attractions her theater goes have had the opportunity of witnessing this season. We have seen Modjeska, now let us see her only peer, "the divine Sarah."

Among the coming attractions booked for this season is Charles B. Hanford, the well known interpreter of Shakespearean roles, and his equally talented leading lady, Miss Dornah, who will appear here, Saturday, March 31st, at matinee and night performance of "The Merchant of Venice" and "The Taming of the Shrew." In the last named Shakespearean comedy, Hanford is at his best, as is his wife, Miss Dornah, who, it will be noticed, spells her name backwards, merely for stage purposes. Mr. Hanford has studiously applied himself to the mastering of Shakespearean roles and to say that he has fully succeeded, is putting it mildly.

The coming of Ellery's band of soloists is eagerly being awaited by the lovers of good music in this city, who have not had an opportunity of hearing this stellar organization of musicians for two years, and in that time many improvements have been made in the organization, among them being the addition of the famous soloist and trumpeter, Signor Teddeo Di Girolamo, who has so far mastered his instrument as to be able to perform the most difficult passages without the labored effort noticeable in some musician's playing. A musician to his finger tips, and a man of striking personality, the Signor is one of the features of Ellery's famous band. The organization will render two concerts in this city, March 24th, one matinee and a night performance, at the Elks' Opera House.

The next attraction booked for the Elks' Opera House is the old reliable and well known English society drama, "Dora Thorne." Like "East Lynne" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin," it is a play that always pleases, no matter how many times seen, and the version presented by Rowland & Clifford is said to be one of the best that has ever been written from this well known novel. "Dora Thorne" will be presented here the evening of March 17th.

ALBUQUERQUE FAKIR
JOURNAL CORNERED

ITS HABIT OF MAKING "SPECIAL DISPATCHES" IN ITS OFFICE, DENOUNCED.

From Las Vegas Optic, March 8. The Journal, of Albuquerque, published yesterday morning two alleged Washington telegrams, one of which quotes Governor Otero as saying that the Foraker amendment will not be passed; the other quoting W. B. Childers as saying it will. The alleged Otero telegram is a pure fake, as Governor Otero isn't in Washington, hadn't been there for a long time, and while in Las Vegas yesterday denied ever having sent any telegram from anywhere saying that the Foraker amendment wouldn't pass. Up to the time when he was shown the special to the Optic yesterday, which said that Foraker would ask for the elimination of New Mexico and Arizona, he had believed the Foraker amendment would pass, and has made no expression to the contrary. The Childers special quotes Spooner as making a terrific speech against the statehood bill. As Senator Spooner has not been quoted in the Associated Press as making any speech, and as he is a joint statehood man, anyway, this dispatch was probably as much of a fake as the Otero dispatch.

Always Keeps Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in His House.

"We would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is kept on hand continually in our home," says W. W. Kearney, editor of the Independent, Lowry City, Mo. That is just what every family should do. When kept at hand ready for instant use, a cold may be checked at the outset and cured in much less time than after it has become settled in the system. This remedy is also without a peer for croup in children, and will prevent the attack when given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, which can only be done when the remedy is kept at hand. PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF THE TERRITORY

SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION HADLEY SUBMITS INTERESTING STATISTICS.

In the mail last night from the north, the same mail that brings so many "special dispatches" to our esteemed contemporary, from Santa Fe and Las Vegas, The Citizen received a communication from Prof. Hadley, superintendent of public instruction, giving the following interesting statistics relative to the public schools of the territory:

County.	No. schools reported.	Average No. of days in session.	Total amount of salaries paid.	Average salary per month.
Bernalillo	63	138	$24,250	$55.88
Craves	40	144	18,522	64.12
Colfax	37	155	17,816	62.50
Dona Ana	19	132	6,945	55.20
Eddy	38	142	16,455	60.72
Grant	31	145	14,840	55.12
Guadalupe	11	109	3,290	54.83
Lincoln	19	85	4,450	54.93
Luna	11	158	6,840	78.62
McKinley	13	171	8,955	80.68
Mora	37	70	5,370	41.62
Otero	20	120	10,850	60.27
Quay	9	111	2,465	49.30
Rio Arriba	56	71	7,495	37.85
Roosevelt	24	137	8,755	55.56
Sandoval	18	97	3,365	38.68
San Juan	28	103	7,420	51.53
San Miguel	79	110	21,665	49.80
Santa Fe	37	99	9,158	52.30
Sierra	18	90	4,281	52.20
Socorro	32	93	7,621	51.15
Taos	31	82	5,186	43.88
Torrance	11	69	1,915	46.70
Union	27	112	8,784	57.79
Valencia	31	107	7,715	46.69

Note—In the above table, each teacher in a system of graded schools is counted as a school.

The average number of days the schools of the whole territory were kept open is 114. This includes both the rural and the graded town and city schools. The latter are sustained about sixty to seventy days. Hence the average of 114 days improves the real showing of the rural schools, and detracts from that of the city schools. A similar difference exists in regard to salaries.

The important question is: How can we give to rural schools advantages equal to those of the city?

HIRAM HADLEY,
Supt. of Public Instruction.

OSTRICHES TO REPLACE CATTLE

PREDICTION ABOUT FUTURE INDUSTRY IN ARIZONA, SAID TO BE MONEY MAKER.

Joseph H. Kilbee, governor of Arizona, predicts that within five years cattle will have given way entirely to ostriches on the alfalfa ranches of that territory. The largest ostrich farm in America is located ten miles west of Phoenix. It contains more than 1,000 full-grown birds. The feathers from them yield annually $30,000. It is claimed that the plumage of the ostrich raised in Arizona is more beautiful than that of the birds raised in South Africa. Ostrich growers estimate their chicks worth $100 at six months old, $150 at one year, $200 to $250 at three years, while at four years of age, when they begin to breed, they are valued at $800 a pair and upwards. There are pairs of ostriches in the Salt River valley that $2,500 would not buy.

COMING EVENTS

March 17—Dora Thorne.
March 24—Ellery's Royal Italian band.
March 31—Charles Hanford Company in Shakespearean Plays.

For the benefit of some who do not understand why they are required to pay a second poll tax this year, it is stated that the poll tax paid some weeks ago was for the year 1905, while the poll tax now being collected is for the year 1906. Those who fail to pay this poll tax on or before the date of the coming spring municipal election will be disqualified from voting.

While riding his wheel home to supper about 6:30 o'clock last evening, J. D. Caldwell was precipitated to the ground, at the corner of Second street and Railroad avenue, as a result of his trousers catching in the chain of the wheel. A bone in his right arm was fractured, the left arm sprained and one of the legs badly wrenched. He walked to a surgeon's office and had the wounds dressed.

Colonel J. A. Wood, manager of the Golden Bullion Mining company, in the Golden district, and Charles G. Thayer, of the same district, are in the city for a few days. Colonel Wood stated that his company was installing new machinery in the mines as fast as it arrived, and that when all had arrived and had been put in place, the Golden mines would be equipped with as fine machinery as could be found in the territory.

RAILROAD TOPICS

J. G. Chavez, claim agent for the Santa Fe, on the Rio Grande division, is in the city on official business.

There are many ways of expressing it, but a railroad boy sprung this yesterday: "I'm so hard up I couldn't ride as far as the first whistling post even if the fare around the world was a penny." How's that for a hard luck story?

Elwood VanWye, who formerly resided in Deming, and who has been in the employ of the El Paso and Southern western road for the past two years or more, will hereafter be promoted from brakeman to conductor.

President B. L. Winchell of the Rock Island system, who is at Los Angeles, says that the Rock Island has no intention of building to the Pacific coast. "We do not see where we would be repaid, and our relations with the Southern Pacific are most friendly."

In consequence of a threatened boycott by the railway mail clerks, the Rock Island has acceded to their demands, and will hereafter turn all full length mail cars at Caldwell, Kan., so as to have the end containing the storage compartments at the front of the train. The clerks asked this as a protection in case of wrecks.

Train No. 10 made up for passing through the city yesterday with out its usual load of peons, by carrying an extra large consignment this morning. As they unloaded at the local station to let the car cleaners renovate the car in which they came up from El Paso, their many peaked caps hats gave the picturesque mission architecture of the Alvarado an enhanced appearance.

The delivery of seventy-two new engines ordered by the Santa Fe of the Baldwin Locomotive Works of Philadelphia, will begin shortly. Of the engines ordered twenty-four are of the Atlantic type, eleven of the Santa Fe type, eleven of the compound pacific type, which are to have a total weight of 226,700 pounds, with 151,900 pounds on the drivers, and twenty-six 4-wheel switch engines, to weigh 144,000 pounds, which are to be delivered in April.

The Deming Graphic says: L. M. Moffitt, formerly in the Santa Fe ticket service at Kansas City, relieves Mr. Tudor as ticket agent at the Santa Fe depot here. Mr. Moffitt comes with wide knowledge in railroad work, and will give the Deming Public the best of his experience. Mr. Tudor resigns because of ill health, and after a short rest from work will return to his home in Michigan. During their short stay with us, Mr. and Mrs. Tudor have won the esteem of all.

The El Paso Times correspondent from Alamogordo, writing under date of March 6, says: H. J. Anderson, president of the First National bank of Alamogordo, has been appointed the transfer agent for the transfer of the stock of the El Paso Rock Island Railway company, El Paso & North-eastern Railway company, Dawson Fuel company, and the Alamogordo & Sacramento Mountain Railway company, with offices in the First National Bank building.

TRANSFER OF MEXICAN CENTRAL YARDMASTER.
J. J. Cavanaugh, for the past two years master mechanic of the Mexican Central at Juarez, has been transferred to the important position of master mechanic of the San Luis Po-crushed. He is now at his home at 1013 South Second street.

A Scientific Wonder.
The cures that stand to its credit make Bucklin's Arnica Salve a scientific wonder. It cured E. R. Mulford, lecturer for the Patrons of Husbandry, Waynesboro, Pa., of a distressing case of piles. It heals the worst burns, scalds, boils, ulcers, cuts, wounds, chilblains and salt rheum. Only 25c at all drug stores.

LIGHT DOCKET FOR SILVER CITY COURT.
The district court convened in Silver City yesterday, with Judge Frank W. Parker on the bench. The docket is the lightest for several terms, and it is thought that court will only be in session for two or three weeks.

It will not cost you a cent to try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and they are excellent for stomach troubles and constipation. Get a free sample at any drug store.

Mrs. Bambini, at her parlors, No. 209 West Railroad avenue, is prepared to give thorough scalp treatment, do hair dressing, treat corns, bunions and ingrowing nails. She gives massage treatment and manicuring. Mrs. Bambini's own preparation of complexion cream builds up the skin and improves the complexion, and is guaranteed not to be injurious. She also prepares a hair tonic that cures and prevents dandruff and hair falling out; restores life to dead hair; removes moles, warts and superfluous hair. Also a face powder, a freckle cure and purple cure and pile cure. All of these preparations are purely vegetable compounds. Have just added a vibrator machine for treatment of scalp, face, and cure of wrinkles. It is also used for rheumatism, pains and massage.

HAD FOOT CRUSHED ON SANTA FE CENTRAL

ACCIDENT OCCURRED WHILE ARAGON WAS LOADING TIES AT MCINTOSH STATION.

"The wagon bearing Camilo Aragon, who was injured while loading ties at McIntosh station on the Santa Fe Central on Thursday, reached the city between 8 and 9 o'clock last night, with the crippled young man very little the worse from the all day trip through the mountains.

Aragon is not as severely injured as first reported. Instead of both legs being broken below the knees, as stated in a telegram received yesterday morning by his uncle, P. Gabaldon, he has only a crushed foot, and this will likely be restored to its normal condition with care.

Aragon attempted to jump between two cars that were being coupled together, when his right foot was caught between the bumpers and

WHAT IS CATARRH?

J. H. O'Reilly & Co. Guarantee a Cure by Hyomel or Will Refund the Money.

Until very recent years, it was thought that catarrh was a disease of the blood, but modern science has proved that catarrh is a germ disease, and can be cured only by a treatment that will kill the germ and heal the mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

Therefore, when you have catarrh, you can readily see that if you want to cure it, you should use Hyomel, which medicates the air you breathe, thus killing the catarrhal germs and healing the smarting, and raw membrane of the passages through the nose and throat.

The complete Hyomel outfit, consisting of an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomel, and a medicine dropper, costs only $1, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

J. H. O'Reilly & Co. have sold a great many Hyomel outfits, and the more they sell, the more convinced they are that they are perfectly safe in guaranteeing to refund the money if Hyomel does not cure.
