CONTESTS FOR THE REVOLVER CHAMPIONSHIPS.
New York, March 18.—This is the date set for the opening of the annual indoor championship contests of the United States Revolver association. The contests will be held in this city, and a number of other cities simultaneously. These contests are open to all citizens of the United States, and emblems and medals will be awarded to the victors in the various contests. Efforts are now being made to arrange an international revolver meet with England, France and Germany. It will probably be arranged that the shooting is done in the respective countries and the results reported by cable.

G. E. Seymour, representing the L. M. Ramsey company of St. Louis, manufacturers of plumbing and hardware supplies, water pipe, etc., was in the city Saturday transacting business. Mr. Seymour has been dealing in the Ramsey company's supplies for the past thirty years and at one time was in the plumbing business himself. His experience with water pipes, water works supplies and the life of the ordinary water mains and pipes is wide and varied. In conversation with a representative of The Evening Citizen and Star, Mr. Seymour gave some insight into the life of a water pipe and the best kinds to be used.

"What do you consider the best pipe for a water supply company to use?" was asked of Mr. Seymour.

"There is only one good kind," replied Mr. Seymour, "and that is cast iron pipe, and I would not recommend putting in any other kind in the ground. I sell all kinds, but the cast iron pipe is the one and only one I guarantee."

"What is the difference in cost, Mr. Seymour, between steel water pipe and cast iron pipe?"

"Well, the common black pipe, or wrought iron pipe, costs more than the so-called steel water pipe. In fact, the steel pipe sold by certain houses are very thin and do not give as good satisfaction."

"What is the reason for this, Mr. Seymour, of kalamen pipe was the next question put to Mr. Seymour.

"I think very little of it," replied Mr. Seymour. "I would not recommend its use for water purposes at all. The kalamen pipe is made by the National Pipe company, who have recently introduced a different kind of the country and who make very extravagant claims for this pipe. Our house also sells kalamen pipe to anyone that wants it, but we do not recommend it. As you no doubt know the kalamen pipe is a very thin light pipe, which is subjected to a process of coating, and this coating on the outside is usually in the form of a sort of thin enamel. In making connections on this pipe it is very difficult and more expensive than connections on cast iron pipe.

"It is more expensive because it is so difficult to make a tight joint, a saddle and packing in making the connection, which you do not have to do with a cast iron pipe. Also the pipe being so light and thin it necessarily is more damaged and often moved out of line by reason of its lightness. It is also difficult and making connections. The damage is in a great measure. There are also owing to cracks made in the enamel, which explains a great many leaks in this kind of pipe."

"Do you know of any towns or cities using kalamen pipes in connection with their water systems?"

"No, sir," replied Mr. Seymour. At the next question asked Mr. Seymour:

"No, but I do know of some towns that put in the kalamen pipe for water purposes, about fifteen or twenty years ago, which they have since removed and replaced with cast iron pipe, owing to the unsatisfactory showing of the kalamen pipe. In some towns that first put in kalamen pipe did so with a view to economy, as the pipe is so light that the freight rate on it is much less than the freight on a cast iron pipe, but they soon found out that their economy cost them very dear in the end. They had to remove the kalamen pipes and replace them in a few years' time."

Mr. Seymour did not care to enter into a discussion of the condition of Albuquerque's water system, inasmuch as he was not acquainted with its history. He did, however, remark that he easily gathered that a kalamen pipe as compared to a cast iron pipe, cannot give very good satisfaction, or have a very long life, and that after being underground for several years, it is liable to rust and decay at a rapid rate.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Richard Mansfield will open a three week's season at the New Amsterdam Theatre tonight and, judging from the tremendous advance sale of tickets for this engagement the season will be the most successful and most brilliant in the history of the New Amsterdam. The repertory for the three weeks includes, besides several repetitions of Don Carlos, Romeo and Juliet, Hamlet and Hyde, the Merchant of Venice, A Parisian Romance, the Scarlet Letter, King Richard III, the Misanthrope and Ivan the Terrible.

Mr. Mansfield's company numbers ninety-one persons, including prominent actors and actresses like Leslie Fiske, Arthur A. Woods, and Mr. Keaton. Fully Melish, Sheridan Black, Clarence Handley, Miss Florence Rockwell, Miss Irene Prather, Miss Eleanor Barry and Miss Vivian Raymond.

A PARNASSUS FABLE

By Lizzie E. Tarr.

Far above the clouds the gods had gathered in solemn conclave on the top of Mt. Parnassus to decide what gift they should make to man; a gift that would be of the greatest benefit to him as well as give him the greatest happiness. The gods did not agree very well, but were becoming more and more undecided with every conflicting opinion voiced.

"What better gift could we give him," said Pan, "than a love for the outdoor world that will cause him to spend his life among the hills and woods; being taught by them his own comparative smallness while learning the beauty and grandeur of the majestic mountains?"

Atlas, having persuaded one of his brother Titans to bear the burden of the sky for a time, had come to take his part in the general discussion, and he now gave it as his opinion that the strength and endurance would be the greatest boon to man. Zeus agreed with him, adding that physical strength would arouse in him the desire to conquer and to rule.

Apollo, sitting near, had been passively playing his lyre for some time but now desired that an overmastering love of music be given man, causing him to hear and understand all the music in the world and be able to reproduce it.

Poseidon wished all men to reverence the mighty ocean and wish to spend their lives upon its broad, blue bosom; while Cupid, who had been playfully aiming his arrows at the group of goddesses sitting near, averred that man would be happy in any condition when blessed with the great passion.

Prometheus alone had remained a silent listener, and now proposed that they join the goddesses for a time and hear their decision; for the goddesses had come that day to decide upon a gift to bestow upon woman.

They were now sitting in the shade of an immense pine at some little distance from the gods, who now quietly joined them; hoping that by hearing their choice of a gift, they themselves might be able to choose one.

"What greater gift," said Venus,
"could be given to woman than a desire to please, with beauty which will enthral any man on whom she pleases to smile?"

"I, for one, agree with Venus," said Aurora, who had left her attendants to herald the coming of the dawn upon earth, while she helped decide this important question, "but too, she must appreciate the beauty of the tints and colors of the sky at dawn, and seek to enhance her beauty with them, else it would be of little worth."

"But," said Athena, sitting near,
"what good will her beauty do when man has tired of it and seeks more material pleasure? If added to her possession and appreciation of beauty, she loves the household arts of weaving and other housewifely accomplishments, what more can mortal man ask or want?"

"Not so," said Diana, surrounded even then by her hunting dogs and implements of the chase, "the woman of your imagination would be a soft hearted creature, unable to take care of herself. A desire to hunt should be given her, that she may become strong and self reliant."

"To my mind," said Proserpina, who had left her duties in Hades to voice her ideas on this subject, "the greatest gift we could give woman would be the ability to forget any disagreeable happenings."

"Let us harken," said Juno, strangely silent all this while, "to the decision of our lords. Doubtless they will be able to aid us with their superior wisdom."

Zeus was forced at this to own that he and the other gods had not yet arrived at any decision; though he particularly disliked to do so before Diana, who elevated her nose now at the thought of appealing to him.

Fearing that the god of the thunder bolts would become angry and do some damage, Prometheus arose, saying, "Though I have listened long I have not yet heard named what I consider would be the greatest gift the gods could grant to both man and woman. It is memory. Of what use to a man would great strength, the desire and power to rule, a love of music or of the outdoor world, or even a love for the great seas be if he were unable to retain any recollection of them?"

"On the other hand, what gain would it be to a woman if she had beauty, or any of the other gifts speak-ed of if she had no remembrance of them except at the time?"

"Memory would enable men and women to recollect and profit by the examples and deeds of valor of those before them; while they would try to have worthy deeds for their descendants to chronicle in after years.
In this way knowledge would not be lost and the earth would grow to be a wiser and better planet."

The goddesses applauded enthusiastically, while the gods gravely nodded in token of their agreement with him. Cupid, unable to restrain himself longer, crowned Prometheus with the needles of the pine, and aimed his arrows at him and the goddesses in turn until Zeus grew angry and let fly one of his thunder bolts at him.

This broke up the gathering and each went back to his special duty of watching over the affairs of the earth, feeling well satisfied over the immortal gift bestowed upon man that day.

DIDN'T KNOW WHO OWNED HIM

Judging from the following clipped from a Kansas City paper, Albuquer-que's representative in the joint statehood fight is having troubles of his own:

"Nobody seems to want our territory," said ex-Delegate B. S. Rodey of New Mexico today, "and there is no telling where we will have landed by the time the statehood fight is settled. Our status is as uncertain as that of an old negro slave I once heard of. Somebody asked him whom he belonged to.

"Ah don't know, sub," he replied.
"Ole Marce, he upstairs playing pukah."

DR. PARKHURST'S PERIL

This picture is from a recent photograph of the famous New York minister, against whom, it has just been discovered, there was a plot to murder. Dr. Parkhurst has never ceased during the past ten years to attack the police of New York City at every opportunity. It is now charged that two police officers plotted with two thugs to kill the preacher.

PATTI, FORMER NIGHTINGALE

This is the latest picture of Adelina Patti, the great songstress, who is now living retired at her beautiful castle, Craig-y-nos, Wales. She is 63 years old. She was born in Madrid in 1843 and made her debut in New York in 1859.

NEWSPAPER MAN WHO WILL BE AN UMPIRE

Wearing of the feverish life of a newspaper man, Wm. G. Evans will seek a season's rest and recreation as an umpire in the American League.
Mr. Evans has been employed on a newspaper in Youngstown, Ohio, but denies that he was born there. He is an easy, graceful writer and can call balls and strikes with a trenchant voice that sounds like a town running to a fire. He is 23 years old and his unimpaired weight is 180 pounds.

MOST ANYTHING.

"What a lovely new bonnet you have! It's a perfect dream."
"So glad you like it."
"It's a beauty and such an original design. Whose idea?"

"All my own. It came on me one day as I was looking at a plate of fruit served my new cook had made."

A Chicago paper cleverly asks for the list of books written by an Indiana man whose mind was a blank for 27 years. Why, they were blank books, of course.

On Hand for Business.

The New York police have unearthed a plot to kill Dr. Parkhurst. No doubt an answer to the minister's digests. Reports from the south say Rube Waddell was struck on the head and knocked unconscious. There's a mistake somewhere. If Rube was struck on the head he was not knocked unconscious. If he was knocked unconscious he was not struck on the head.

"Boastfully claims he is a descendant of one of the early kings of England."
"Descendant? Are you certain he didn't claim to be an ascendant?"

"Mrs. Noogame's last dinner was one of the most interesting of the season."
"Her dinner was always good."
"Yes, and she always springs something original. We began with a guessing contest—prizes for all who could tell what the forks were for."

Wasted Lives in Albuquerque

Men and Women Who Are in Need of a Helping Hand—J. H. O'Reilly &
Co. Offer a Way to Better Things.

There is no more irritating or nerve-racking condition than that caused by a weak stomach. It gnaws and wears upon every nerve fiber in the body and results in sleeplessness, headache, backache, rheumatic pains, furred tongue, distress after eating,
poor appetite and general weakness and debility.

As we may look to a weakened stomach for most of the chronic or lingering ills that weaken and rack our lives, it is of the greatest importance to know that a remedy for stomach troubles is at last offered by a reliable drug firm in Albuquerque under a guarantee that it costs nothing unless it cures.

J. H. O'Reilly & Co., knowing the formula of M-i-o-na, feel that it will be successful in every case where it is used in accordance with directions, that is, one tablet before each meal, and they offer to sell it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure.

A large box of M-i-o-na tablets costs 50 cents, if it helps you; nothing unless it restores health.

MANY BILLS OF SALE FOR A HORSE
There was an interesting replevin case at Hillsboro Tuesday, says the Advocate. Ray Grayson instituted the suit against Fred Hiltcher for the recovery of a horse for which he has a bill of sale from a man in Lincoln county. Hiltcher produced a like bill of sale from John Buttrick; in turn Buttrick produced a bill of sale for the same horse from a man in Socorro county. A jury was rounded up and after hearing the evidence failed to settle the case, believing that all parties came in possession of the horse honestly and that a mistake has been made by someone else in transferring the animal. In order to definitely settle the matter, Mr.
Hiltcher took an appeal to the district court. The quagmire in question is sorrel horse of various ages, branded O V, has blazed face and four white feet.

WASHINGTON LETTER IS AS SPICY AS EVER

High Handed Senate Proposes to Crush All Administration Measures—Facts About Supreme Bench—New Roosevelt Job Proposed.

OUR CONSULAR SERVICE AND OTHER COUNTRIES

Special Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., March 17.—There is genuine concern among the republican leaders in congress over the approaching election of members of the house. The fear has taken deep root that a landslide may result in a democratic majority.

The result of this alarm is that the house is almost on its knees before the senate, pleading that some of the administration's measures which have the support of public opinion be enacted into law. It begins to look as if the senate had set out to defeat the entire administration program.

So far as there is evidence, the senate has not been greatly agitated by the appeals. "The overshadowing senate" as it has been termed in a magazine article by one of the ablest members of the house, continues to overshadow. Never before since the government was founded did it more closely approach autocracy. It is disdainful of the president, disdainful of the house, and disdainful of public opinion.

In this particular session, the senate has been in a peculiarly advantageous position. It has not itself been committed to the enactment of any particular policies. At the polls to which the administration was committed, the house has grabbed a drowning man grabs a life preserver. The resulting situation has enabled the senate to assume this attitude toward the house and the president. "We will take your bills, shape them up to suit our whims and send them back to you. If you accept them, well and good; if not, well and good. The matter is not a vital one to us."

Irresponsible to People.

There is partisanship in the senate no less than in the house but senate partisanship has this peculiar feature. It is never allowed to interfere with the prestige of the senate. Senators may be republicans or they may be democrats, but first of all they are senators. They may, and they do, disagree among themselves, but let any outside influence attempt to clip the senate's wings, and they are all one party—the party of the senate.

Just now it is President Roosevelt against whom the senate is united. The senate doesn't count a great deal. The senate has grown so accustomed to kicking the house about that it is accepted as a thing of course. But President Roosevelt was a quantity that had to be dealt with specifically. There are in the senate, of course, champions of the administration measures, but their championship arises from belief in the measure, rather than loyalty to the president. Senator Tillman, floor manager of the administration's rate bill, goes out of the way to throw rocks in the direction of the White House. And there is no one to seriously rebuke him.

It is this situation that worries the house managers when they think of election day next November. There is harbored even the fear that the president's personal popularity may operate against chances of republican success at the polls. The foundation of this fear is apprehension lest voters make up their minds that Mr. Roosevelt might receive more faithful support for his policies from a democratic congress. Mr. Roosevelt always has posed as a straight party man, and there is no reason for assuming that he would wilfully do anything to hurt his party. But it remains true that he has accepted democratic support for his policies, and has seemed glad to get it. These things are likely to stick in the minds of voters.

Taft and Supreme Court.

If Secretary of War Taft goes upon the supreme bench to succeed Justice Brown and is made chief justice upon the retirement of Chief Justice Fuller, his youth will make it probable that he will exceed the average of service of chief justices. Since the supreme court was established, 1789, it has had but seven chief justices, not counting Rutledge, whose brief tenure was rendered merely nominal by his incapacity.

Chief Justice Marshall, the greatest of all American jurists, served for thirty-four years, and Taney presided over the court for twenty-nine years. Chief Justice Fuller, who has some eighteen years to his credit, has exceeded the average by two years. Of the associate justices, Justice Harlan has been on the bench for twenty-nine years, and during that period has greeted as newcomers fifteen of the fifty-three associate justices which the bench has known.

Friends of Secretary Taft declare that he prefers the supreme bench to the presidency. This is neither probable, nor without precedent. Jay, the first chief justice, chose that post, the first chief justice, chose that post, the first chief justice, chose that post.

It seems to be the accepted view that should Secretary Taft go on the bench it would remove him as a presidential possibility. But his nomination would still be possible. There is no constitutional inhibition against taking a man from the bench to place him in the presidential or any other office.

Bosses Want Taft Shelved.

It has been frequently pointed out during the past week that the appointment of Mr. Taft to the supreme bench would be highly pleasing to Vice President Fairbanks, Secretary Shaw and other presidential candidates.

It would also be highly pleasing to one George B. Cox and the present republican organization in Ohio. Since Taft turned things upside down in his anti-Cox speech, last fall, there has been no end of apprehensions as to what might do to the Ohio machine. Ohio republicans have been ripe for revolt for many a day. They were restive even under the leadership of the late Senator Mark Hanna, but his dominant personality prevented any serious outbreaks.

When Hanna died the arbitrary methods of his rule were continued, but by weaker men. The restlessness has increased accordingly, and the malcontents have lacked only a leader to cause the overthrow of the machine. They hoped—and the machine feared—that the leader had been found in Secretary Taft. If he removes himself as a political quantity by accepting a seat on the bench, Ohio republicans will have to wait for the coming of another man—and the machine will have another lease of life.

New Job for the President.

Notwithstanding General Grover's boom, Mr. Roosevelt's declaration that he would not accept a third-term nomination is generally accepted at its face value, and some of his enthusiastic admirers already have picked out a job for him when he retires from the White House. They propose to make him president of the Hague tribunal, the world's supreme court of international law, to which may be appealed all the international disputes of the civilized world which do not in their very nature call for a declaration of war as their only recourse.

They contend that no one is so well fitted for this high role as the present American executive. Already he has played a large part as mediator for the world's peace, and in his disinterested integrity there is undoubted confidence in all lands. Should this ambition of Mr. Roosevelt's friends be realized, the problem of what to do with at least one ex-president would be solved.

Grover on Third Term.

In a subtly worded interview, given out this week, General Charles F. Grover placed Theodore Roosevelt in nomination as a third-term president.

dential candidate. He had called at the White House to assure the president that he was not a candidate for a consular or any other federal appointment, and upon leaving, said:

"The American people reserve the right to elect a man for the third presidential term if they want to do so. All this talk about public sentiment being against it is bosh, according to my way of thinking. Everybody says Washington started the sentiment against a third term, but he had not been able to learn. He did nothing of the sort in word or writing. I defy anyone to show me where Washington declared against a third-term idea as a policy of the nation."

Washington was speaking for himself. During his first term he threatened to resign, in his second he said he wanted no more of it, and then he declined to run for a third. I'm not sure that any one urged him to run anyway. In his farewell address, Washington touched on everything but the earth and under the sky, but he failed to mention a third-term policy."

Root's Consular Troubles.

It appears that Secretary Root's campaign for consular reform is likely to result in the abolition of a large number of consulates. Congress has so far cut down the appropriations for the consular service that Mr. Root has before him a very serious problem in household economy. The amount for each consulate is less than $800 a year, and out of this sum the consul must pay office rent, postage, messenger service, light, heat, and other expenses.

When it is considered that the consul general at Paris pays each year for postage alone between $400 and $500, the full significance of Mr. Root's problem is seen.

It is thought at the State Department that the solution of the problem lies in the abolition of a number of consulates of the United States in order that those which are absolutely necessary to the country's interests may be operated.

Figures are given which show that the American consulates are not maintained at one-half the scale of those of other nations. For instance, in Shanghai, the American consulate is paid $5,000 a year, with a few fees. The British consulate at the same place is paid $7,500 a year, and in addition his government furnishes him with a large house. Germany and France each pays its consul general at Shanghai 9,500 a year.

Another case is cited of the consulate at Pretoria, South Africa. The American representative receives $3,000 a year, while the German gets $10,000.

Some Water Thoughts

Dr. Harrison, as a member of the city council, desired to accompany the water company's expert in his examination of the water company's pipes. This he was not given an opportunity to do. The Morning Journal, the organ of the Water Supply company, and an institution largely to be benefitted by the proposed sale of that company's plant to the city for $250,000, speaking of this episode, says:

"But what difference does it make, one way or the other? If the doctor wanted to learn the character and condition of the pipes, he could have acquired the information much easier and better by examining the mains where they are uncovered by the plumbers, in all parts of the town, every day." Again, the organ says: "Anyone who really wants to know the character and condition of the water pipes need have no difficulty in getting all the information that he needs on that subject, and such information as will be supported by the testimony of his own senses, by simply going out and looking at the mains for himself."

The ridiculousness of the claim that the pipes are uncovered in "all parts of the city, every day," in itself is ample answer to the whole argument of the organ. Of equal disregard to sense and fact is the statement that anyone can "go out and look at the mains for himself," as though they were lying out loose for public inspection. If this is the case, why is it necessary for the company's expert to go through the performance of special excavation for himself, if he could have "acquired the information much easier and better, by examining the mains where they are uncovered by the plumbers?" On the other hand, if expert Riffles found it necessary to make special examination on which to base his report, why should not Alderman Harrison have the benefit of the same examination, especially as the city was paying for the excavation and it was professedly being made in the interest of the city?

But the worst of all is where the Journal says in the same connection: "If we should allow ourselves to be deceived into buying or refusing to buy the water plant by the fine-spun theories of gentlemen who have axes to grind in the matter," etc. Whether this applies to Dr. Harrison, as it seems to do, or to anyone else, it is one of the rarest efforts at bluff, this city has ever seen. There is not a man in Albuquerque who has an axe to grind in this matter, outside of the water company and their organ, the latter expecting to be one of the chief beneficiaries of the deal, should the voters of the city be deceived into burdening themselves and their successors for many years, with the exorbitant price asked for the present water plant. The old cry of the thief to "stop thief," attempting thus to turn attention from himself by fastening his falsehood upon another, is too old to impose upon as enlightened a community as Albuquerque contains.

The Spelling Reform

In this day of materialism, anything, to be a great success, must have heavy capitalization. Even spelling reform, which has heretofore been the harmless hobby of a few dreaming faddists, may be expected, now that it has been liberally financed by Carnegie, to speedily swell into one of the great movements of the times. Spelling reform history repeats itself. The recently published list of scholars who will seek to change our English as it is spelled is no more distinguished in its day than was a like roll prepared to the same end in 1849. But the earlier reformers were not financed, and their reform died out, perhaps of starvation.

This country has known many celebrated spelling reformers. Josh Billings, who spelled to please himself, because, as he said, it was easier to spell that way than to learn to spell right, long ago pointed out that Shakespeare had only one fault—"he couldn't spell." Someone with a turn for curious statistics has carefully examined an edition of Sir Thomas Moore's "Utopia," printed in English in 1556, and found that fully a third of the words were spelled differently then from now. So pronounced has been the days since Chaucer that we almost require translations in order to understand him. But this is not progress enough for the modern reformers. If these have their way, the next generation may need translations of our own literature. Indeed, some of the pupils in those public schools where "frills and feathers" are carried to extreme already show an unfamiliarity with the regulation spelling which is startling.

But pleasant as it is, that there is need of reform in the spelling of English no one can deny. Some reform has already triumphed. The dropping of k after c, in such words as public, which about the time of the breaking out of the civil war was spelt, publick, and the elision of u from savior and words of that class, are in the memory of many now living. It is an error, however, to suppose that a proper spelling reform contemplates phonetic spelling, or spelling according to sound. The English language has certain well defined rules in spelling, but the trouble is that the exceptions are nearly equal in number to the words which follow the rule. The proper reform would be to require the application of the rule in all cases.

An Important Alibi

It is a pleasant thing to learn that the United States supreme court has not lost its usefulness. This it has demonstrated in the decision against the paper trust, that a corporation cannot claim the immunity of an individual in the matter of yielding up incriminating evidence. The court puts it aptly when it says a corporation is, after all, "an association of individuals under an assumed name."

The Standard Oil company, for instance, is but an alias for John D. Rockefeller and H. H. Rogers and some comparatively small fry. They have been going to church while the Standard Oil company has been sinning. Yet, under the very kind of plea which the supreme court has flung back into the face of the trusts, they not only hold themselves absolved, but also the Standard Oil company. Would not any court be dense or debauched to recognize such a double immunity—accept an impossible alibi?

Corporate aggression, in its ruthless stampede over human rights, has been pulled up with a sharp jerk. A halt has been called upon the vast plot to syndicate criminals against the public and lay the blame upon an impersonal entity. It is now up to the trust bandits to elect whether they will take their medicine as individuals or as corporations, and in either case it ought to be made bitter enough to put them out of their kind of business forever.

The Optic says that "except for the noise made by the comparatively small number of joint statehood boomers, there has been little statehood agitation in the territory for a year." The opponents of joint statehood among the newspapers probably outnumbered the friends of the movement about ten to one; and counting the repetitions in the weekly press of what the two opposing dailies said, the "noise" made against joint statehood, as compared with the "noise" for it, was about as a giant firecracker compared with one of the tiny green kind. But what strikes The Citizen as of most interest in the Optic's article is the implied confession that the "noise" made by the anti-statehood people was not an agitation for statehood. This is what The Citizen thought all along and occasionally said, but it never expected the Optic to admit it.

The Citizen, this evening, publishes the resignation of H. O. Bursum, superintendent of the territorial penitentiary. This paper greatly regrets that Mr. Bursum has considered it advisable to take this step. The general opinion in the territory, according to The Citizen's knowledge and belief, is that as superintendent of the penitentiary, Mr. Bursum has been the right man in the right place, and that his incumbency has been the most satisfactory the penitentiary has known, not only in the absence of scandal and possible complaint but in the efficiency and prosperity of the institution itself.

All Remains Right With Great World

By Dr. Washington Gladden.

Dr. Washington Gladden.

"If the foundations be destroyed," cried the old psalmist, "What shall the righteous do?" He was not the first nor the last man who thought the world was going to the dogs. Such fears are always exaggerated. There is no reason for believing that every man is a rascal. The disquieting disclosures of the day affect but a small percentage of the community. The great majority of office-holders are upright and faithful. The people generally are decent, industrious, fair-minded and honorable.

While Philadelphia was being turned upside down, and the great insurance companies inside out, and graft and bribery were being unearthed, here and there, the masses of the people were going about their business, doing their daily work patiently and faithfully, practicing the square deal in their exchanges, meeting their obligations, fulfilling their trusts, frenzied finances and rotten politics touch but a fraction of our population. What is more, these revelations are themselves the evidence of a rising tide of public morality. Most of the iniquities which have been brought to light are not novelties. They have been flourishing for years, and the people were not wholly ignorant concerning them; either they did not care very much, or they were too busy to grapple with them. It is because there has been a great awakening of the public conscience, because the people are beginning to care about such matters, that the light has been turned on, and the rottenness has been exposed. The mighty reaction and revolt against such iniquities, and the tremendous political overturnings that have come as the consequence of them, in which party lines have been obliterated, show how sound at heart is our American democracy.

Of all the signs of the times, none is more striking than the part which has been played in this uprising by the newspapers. It is safe to say that the daily newspaper is a good reflection of public sentiment. Sometimes, indeed, it leads public opinion, bravely and wisely; but, as a rule, it is never far in advance of public sentiment, and the thing that it says is about what the average man is thinking. If this has been true during the past twelve months, the average man must have been doing some very sober thinking. For the editorial columns of the daily newspapers, during that period, have been full of the most trenchant moral teaching. Here and there one finds a Philistine in the sanctum, and catches the note of a Mammonite materialism, but for the most part the newspapers have been lifting up the standards of a pure and high morality. Such stalwart preaching of the eternal righteousness as we have been hearing from them quite puts to shame the flabby and mincing utterances of many of our pulpits. The attitude of the newspaper press is the best possible evidence that the foundations are not destroyed and that the world is not going to the dogs. "God is in heaven; all is right with the world."

Hard Coal Miners And the Operators

Miners' convention in session in Indianapolis is to discuss the following proposals and rejections in the anthracite district:

PROPOSAL 1—Agreement for one year, including recognition of U. M. W. of A.

Rejected by operators with stand for "open shop" and no recognition.

PROPOSAL 2—Eight hour work day.

Rejected by operators, claiming it reduces production and increases cost.

PROPOSAL 3—Uniform scale of wages.

Rejected "because each colliery is a problem of its own."

PROPOSAL 4—Sliding scale of wages based on selling price of coal.

Rejected because "increased wages would take more than increased price of coal."

PROPOSAL 5—Abolition of the present board of conciliation, and a new system with three boards of conciliation, one for each of the three districts, as the final court.

Rejected on ground that present system works well.

PROPOSAL 6—Each company to collect from each employee the union's monthly assessments.

Rejected as unlawful and unjust to non-union men.

Miscellaneous proposals as to weighing, size of cars, "dead work," laborers, etc., rejected.

One Woman's View On Divorce Laws

By Dr. Ella K. Dearborn.

DR. DEARBORN.

When a couple no longer desire to live together, they are divorced by every natural law, and further union is as debasing to both as a sojourn in the red light district. If love does not hold a couple together, the law should not, and easy divorce is one step toward purity. You cannot legislate decency into a man any more than you can legislate human nature out of him; the remedy lies in education.

For generations women have been trained for wives and home makers. Their training begins with childhood. Nearly every paper devotes some space to the subject of home making, but did you ever see a paper that gave a column to telling the husband how to keep his wife in love with him? Did you ever know a mother that trained her boy to be a good husband? We have many papers for women, but none for men, and surely the "head of the house" should be educated for that responsibility, so let our "home papers" have a column for men and give full instructions for tact, sweetness, dress, deportment, etc. Many wives feel able to send in valuable contributions. As the mothers of divorced men look back upon the boyhood of these same men, do they realize that they trained those boys into habits that must necessarily make bad husbands, and consequently unhappy wives? Mothers of today, are you, in training your boys, doing your duty to the future wives? If you cannot manage the child, how do you expect the future wife to get along with the husband? And yet—the wise counsel of many gentle mothers weighs but little against the bad example of the fathers.

We may rail at existing laws as being unnatural and defective; we may argue that love, lust and cussedness are atavistic, and therefore natural, but we cannot successfully controvert the fact that education lifts the individual out of the animal, this through intellectual training. Now, as a remedy against divorce, let the men have some moral training. In the meantime let our divorce laws be such that when love dies, the couple may separate without legal hindrance or disgrace.

Hanford, is in the city and today made arrangements with Manager Matson of the Elks' opera house for the appearance of Mr. Hanford and company here on Saturday, March 31st, playing "Taming of the Shrew" in the evening, and producing "The Merchant of Venice" at the matinee in the afternoon. Mr. Walker has been associated with Mr. Hanford for fifteen years.

The auction sale of lots in the Perea and Eastern additions held by the Surety Investment company, Saturday night, when Scott Knight officiated with his leathern lungs, resulted in the sale of $7,455 worth of Albuquerque dirt. Col. Sellers, of the company, expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied with the result of this rather novel sale of city lots.

Last night, at Red Men's hall, the Harugarie lodge, No. 670, held a reception, the guests being L. Starks, grand president; and L. P. Bischoff, acting grand secretary, both gentlemen located at Denver. The local lodge members were out in force, and all the courtesies possible were shown the two distinguished visitors. They returned north to Denver this morning.

The Rooney Boys Concert company is well and favorably known throughout the United States and the management is to be congratulated upon securing such a high class attraction. The Rooney Boys will be seen here the second week in April.

The motor that operates the elevator in the Barnett building corner Railroad avenue and Second street, got out of order shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon and owing to friction, caused a volume of smoke to pour up through the elevator shaft. An alarm of fire was turned in and the department quickly responded but before their arrival the electricity had been shut off and the danger of a fire averted.

Messrs. Barnett, Bingham, Howell and Strousner, who left about a week ago on a hunt down the Rio Grande for a duck hunt in the vicinity of La Joya and San Acacio, have returned to the city, but they came back on the railroad and the boat will come along as express matter in a few days. They were fortunate in bagging quite a big fat of ducks, but very few geese, and many rabbits throughout the city today enjoyed web-footed fowl.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Eddy left last Saturday night for their old home at Jamestown, N. Y., where, it is understood, Mr. Eddy will go into the blanket manufacturing business with the Eddy family, who were respectively superintendent and assistant superintendent of the Rio Grande Woolen mill up to a short time ago, when they resigned. They were also from Jamestown, and have returned to that town. While here, Mr. Eddy worked on The Evening Citizen as a reporter.

It is Jackson of Willard accompanied by his son, Lester, left this morning for their home after a visit of two weeks in this city in attendance on Mrs. Jackson, who has been in the St. Joseph's hospital undergoing an operation which proved entirely successful, and being now on the high road to recovery. Mrs. Jackson's mother, Mrs. L. M. Polk, who has also been attending her daughter, accompanied Mr. Jackson to Willard this morning. Mrs. Jackson will remain here until she has fully recovered from the operation.

W. S. Fullerton is in the city from Socorro, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. N. A. Kutzner. Mr. Fullerton says that Socorro is really on the boom. A colony of people from Albuquerque have recently come into the valley and are buying land in a very businesslike manner. The new ferry stable being built by C. T. Brown is rapidly nearing completion, so that Socorro will soon have one of the largest and best stables in the territory. George Cook will have charge of the new stable. Mr. Fullerton denies the rumor that J. S. Fullerton has resigned from the captainship of the New Mexico mounted police as rumored, and stated that the captain has no intention of resigning.

CHARGED WITH A HOLDUP

Hugh Bruner and S. A. Warner Accused by a Milk Wagon Driver.

OTHER POLICE COURT NEWS

R. Merriman, a son of the watchman at the main gate of the American Lumber company's plant, and who drives a milk wagon for a local dairy company, caused the arrest of Hugh Bruner and S. A. Warner, two employees of the American Lumber company, charging that they attempted to hold him up.

According to the milk wagon driver's story he had just delivered some milk to the Navajo boarding house, near the lumber mills and had taken a check of $57 in payment for a milk bill, giving about all the cash he had in his pocket in payment for the difference between the check and the bill and the check given him. He said a number of men were at the boarding house and overheard the transaction, and that after he left the house he was set upon by three men, two of whom held him while the third searched him, asking where the check, which he had just received, and which they failed to find, had gone to, and that not finding any money or the check, one struck him savagely in the face after which all three fled. Merriman stated to the police that he could identify two of the men, as the boy who came upon the scene of the alleged hold-up just as the men were leaving. Saturday afternoon a policeman and the boy together with Merriman stationed themselves at the gate of the mill inclosure and as the men filed out pointed out Bruner and Warner as the men they were looking for. They were promptly arrested and yesterday morning were released on a cash bond for their appearance in police court this morning at which time they were given a preliminary hearing.

Both men bear excellent reputations at the mill, having been employed there for some time past. They positively deny any connection with the alleged hold-up although Merriman's identification of them is very positive.

When the case was called this morning Attorney Hickey, representing the defendants, asked for a continuance of the case until 2 o'clock this afternoon, to allow of the subpoenaing of witnesses, which was granted.

When the case was resumed at 2 o'clock this afternoon Merriman, the complaining witness, who is but 15 years old, was placed upon the witness stand. He made an exceedingly poor witness for the prosecution. The boy testified that he was met at the corner of Fourth street and Mountain road by three men who entered his buggy and drove him out near the American Lumber company's mill where they searched him. In cross-examination he became very much confused as to time, date, etc., and admitted that he did not see the men's faces, as they were covered with masks, identifying them by their boots and clothes, saying they had the same clothes on when arrested as when they held him up. Another witness, who had not seen the holdup but had heard the boy's story of the alleged holdup, was placed upon the stand and almost refused everything said by the first witness. Police Judge Crawford, in view of the frailness of the evidence and the weakness of the story told by the boy, promptly discharged the prisoners.

R. Rivera and H. Rivera pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly and were assessed $10 or ten days each. Elmer Eknell pleaded guilty to being intoxicated and was fined $5.

In the case of Acasilo Romero, charged with carrying concealed a deadly weapon. In the nature of a pistol, the defendant tried to explain how he came to have the gun but met with poor success, being fined $50, in lieu of which he was committed to the city jail. It is thought, however, that Romero will dig up the money before night and secure his release.

SUPREME VICE PRESIDENT OF FRATERNAL BROTHERHOOD
IN ALBUQUERQUE, AND DENIES STATEMENT PUBLISHED
CONCERNING DISAPPEARANCE OF FUNDS.

Mrs. E. R. Neldig, supreme vice president of the Fraternal Brotherhood, whose home is in Los Angeles, arrived in the city today, and spent the morning in driving around the city. When seen at the Alvarado by a representative of The Evening Citizen, Mrs. Neldig was very profuse in her praises of the beauties of Albuquerque and its unexcelled climate.

"The air here," said Mrs. Neldig, "is simply great. We have nothing like it in Los Angeles. And I have never seen a finer hotel than the Alvarado anywhere along the line. Your city is a bustling little place and has all the earmarks of a larger city."

In speaking of the alleged misappropriation of funds of the order, as exploited some days ago, by the Los Angeles Examiner, Mrs. Neldig was emphatic in her denials.

"It is true that the last executive board may have been extravagant in their management of the affairs of the order, but there has never been a dollar taken in by the organization that is not fully accounted for. The insurance commissioners of Washington made an examination, recently, and found, through a clerical mistake, $20 excess in favor of the lodge, every dollar of the organization's money being fully accounted for. The reports are a result of several 'knockers' statements, these 'knockers' being dissatisfied at not being re-elected to office. But the lodge is growing right along, just the same."

"In Los Angeles we have twenty separate lodges, and have a total membership of 27,330 in fourteen states and territories. We are only ten years old, but are growing rapidly. We have a home building in Los Angeles, costing $72,260.10, and now valued at a third more than it cost five years ago. Our lodges are open to inspection at all times."

Mrs. Neldig will attend the meeting of the Fraternal Brotherhood tonight, leaving later in the night for Texas, where she will visit one or two lodges, proceeding thence to Topeka, Kan., and on to Wisconsin, in which state she will visit every lodge organized therein.

ELECTION JUDGES AND WARD CLERKS

To be Selected at Tonight's Meeting of the City Council.

THREE STRAIGHT PARTY TICKETS

There will be a regular meeting of the city council tonight at which time judges and clerks of the different wards for the coming city election will be named by Mayor McKee and submitted for the approval of the city council. This will about complete the routine work in preparation for the coming election which gives promise of developing into a rather lively and interesting municipal election, aside from the two bond issues that will also be voted upon.

No serious talk is heard of a non-partisan ticket now and it is quite evident that both the republicans and democrats will put straight tickets in the field, and the socialists as well. The socialists claim that they will be able to corral at least 400 votes, and they are making preparations to put up a stiff fight for their respective candidates.

So far the registration in the different wards has been rather light but as three days still remain in which the registration books will be open it is thought that activity in this line will be more great for the next three days than heretofore. It should be remembered by would-be voters that in order to be legally entitled to a vote one must pay one's poll tax and register as well, and that the registration must take place in the ward in which one lives.

The registration books for the different wards are located at the following places:

First Ward, E. L. Washburn's clothing store, South Second street.

Second Ward, Harsell bottling works, South First street.

Third Ward, Johnson's bicycle store, South Second street.

Fourth Ward, Watson's book store, West Railroad avenue.

On Saturday night, March 24, both the democratic and republican parties will hold their primaries at which time aldermen for the different wards will be selected, and on the following Monday night the democratic and republican city conventions will be held for the purpose of selecting and nominating candidates for mayor, city clerk and city treasurer, and the aldermanic candidates named at the primaries will be ratified at these conventions.

FUNERALS

The funeral ceremonies over the remains of Romulo Garcia of 218 North Sixth street, who died at his home yesterday afternoon after an illness of several months, aged 39 years, will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the Immaculate Conception church with the Knights of Columbus lodge in charge of the remains. Deceased was formerly an employee of the Gross Kelly company, and it was while working for them that an accident occurred which eventually resulted in his death. He dropped a heavy box upon his leg, the knee, which caused an injury necessitating amputation. He never fully recovered from the operation, which yesterday caused his death.

All members of the lodge of Knights of Columbus requested to meet at the home of deceased Brother R. B. Garcia, 218 North Sixth street at 7:45 o'clock tonight, at which time the funeral ritual of the order over the remains of the deceased will be held.

John Martz, who died in this city last Wednesday, was laid to rest today in the Catholic cemetery at Santa Barbara, in compliance with a message received from the deceased's brother, Henry Martz, who resides in Cumberland, Md.

MANY GRANT COUNTY SALOONISTS INDICTED

DISTRICT ATTORNEY TURNER HAS STARTED WAR ON WHOLESALE VIOLATION OF SUNDAY CLOSING LAW.

Special to The Evening Citizen.

Silver City, N. M., March 19.—It is asserted upon good authority that the Grant county grand jury now in session here has found indictments against saloon keepers and their bar-tenders doing business here and at several mining camps in the county for violating the Sunday closing law. It is understood that this is the beginning of a crusade against the wholesale violation of the law by the saloonists of the district, and the indictments found are due to the vigorous work of District Attorney R. M. Turner. Mr. Turner tried to get indictments against the saloonists for the violation of the Sunday law at the beginning of his term of office, but failed because of the lukewarm assistance from the sheriff's office. The inauguration of Governor Hagerman into office is said to have had much to do with Mr. Turner's success in the present instance.

CHILILI COUNTRY

ADOLFO SALAS SAYS THAT SECTION OF NEW MEXICO IS IN FINE CONDITION.

Adolfo Salas, the general merchant and postmaster of Chilili, came in from the mountains this morning, being summoned for territorial grand jury duty, but when he laid his case before the judge, the latter excused him from service. Mr. Salas will return tomorrow morning to Chilili. The gentleman called at this office this afternoon and stated that the sheep raisers of the Chilili district are making great preparations to begin lambing and shearing and he believes from all present indications and condition that both will show up a record breaker for this spring. Mr. Salas says that the country in the Chilili section cannot be improved upon for grazing purposes, there being an abundance of grass and water, and the sheep were never in a finer condition than now.

United States and Territorial Grand Juries Ready For Business--Mayor Llewellyn Here to Represent the Government.

The 1936 spring term of the Second district court is in session. It began this morning with the selection of the United States grand jury. The empaneling of the United States grand jury which was next taken up could not be completed owing to the ineligibility of the first venire to furnish an adequate number of eligible jurors. A special venire was issued and this work will be taken up again on Thursday, March 22.

The territorial grand jury was empaneled, sworn and charged and put to work during the afternoon.

This jury is composed as follows: William Kleke, foreman; Antonio Montoya, John H. Blake, Raulito Montoya, Charles Lawler, Teodoro Romero, H. H. Tilton, Emilio de Luna, Diego Sanchez, Dan E. District Attorney F. W. Clancy represents the territory as prosecutor. Deputy Sheriff Arthur Heyes is in attendance representing Sheriff Perfecto Armijo. Adolpho Chavez was sworn in as interpreter before the territorial grand jury. Nestor Montoya entered upon his twelfth term as official court interpreter.

The United States grand jury is composed as follows:

Garcia, Santos (Antonio) Ortiz, Guadalupe Lucero, Steve Rhoad, Daniel Chavez, Porfirio Montoya, Seferino Lucero, Ambrosio Gurule, Juan Jaramillo, John Balok, James Grunsfeld.

United States Attorney W. H. H. Llewellyn, assisted by Attorney D. J. Leahy, is prosecuting cases before the United States grand jury. J. M. Montoya was appointed interpreter before this jury.

Anastacio Garcia, David Cervantes and Adolfo Chavez were appointed court bailiffs.

After the grand juries had been put to work court was adjourned in both branches by Judge Abbott at 2 o'clock to meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The night watchman, who was bound over to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of assault with attempt to kill, will be given a hearing of this case this month. At present he is under bond for his appearance in court.

GEORGE MILLER, RING THIEF, SECURES HIS FREEDOM

George Miller, the man taken from an east bound train here on Wednesday night, and confined in the city jail, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, secured his freedom today, by paying up. Several months ago, Miller pawned a ring with L. G. Ringfield, that didn't belong to him. In a few days a woman appeared and reprieved the ring as her property. A warrant was issued for Miller, and placed in the hands of Constable James Smith. The constable caught him trying to slip through the town on a night train. "A check from home" settled Mr. Ringfield's bill and paid the trimmings, which amounted to $7.50, and also secured Miller his freedom.

company suit against the Santa Fe, if tried, will consume at least two weeks. Aside from this, the United States docket will not consume over a week. The territory's criminal docket is not extensive and beyond three weeks the time to be consumed by the territorial business of the session depends entirely upon the time the grand jury will be in session. However, it is doubtful if the funds on hand will be sufficient to pay running expenses for a longer term than three weeks.

the Philippine Islands, is endorsed by army quartermasters who have charge of that work, as being more durable and as answering the purpose in all respects much better than the lumber brought from the United States. The quartermaster general's office, in this city, has been gathering some statistics on this subject, and, according to reports received from various parts of the island, there is no doubt the native wood would be all that is claimed for it by its advocates. Its use, however, would cost the government about five times the price represented in the employment of American lumber, including the expense of trans-Pacific delivery. In the first place, there are few, if any, facilities for obtaining the lumber, which is acquired in the Philippines from the native forests. Another item to be considered is the inter-island transportation. The means for this service are limited, necessarily, in the islands, both on land and water, and it would require a great increase in the system of transportation under the quartermaster's department to have this wood delivered at the mill or at the places where it is to be used. There would have to be plants established for the preparation of the material for construction purposes. These three features would bring the cost of native wood employed in army construction up to a prohibitive rate. It will be several years, therefore, before army, or other government construction in the Philippine Islands will be able to depend entirely upon native woods.

INTERVIEWED WHILE AT SANAT FE

Prof. Clark Has Good Words to Say About Capital and Penitentiary.

VISITED THE PENAL INSTITUTION

Prof. J. E. Clark, superintendent of public schools at Albuquerque, who was in Santa Fe, attending the meeting of the territorial board of education, spent Saturday morning looking about Santa Fe, and vicinity. He had much to say complimentary to the Capital City and its various institutions, as well as its possibilities.

At Santa Fe he visited the penitentiary and was favorably impressed with its management. In speaking of the prison to a representative of the New Mexican, Prof. Clark said:

Liked the Superintendent.

"Everything seems to be in an excellent condition. I had the opportunity of meeting Superintendent H. O. Bursum, and while I was unable to spend much time with him, he impressed me as being a man of the sort of ability requisite for the position. I understand it is being planned to institute a system whereby the convicts will be given gray uniforms instead of the stripes. This, I think, is proper, and in accordance with the more modern systems in the east, and I sincerely hope that it will be inaugurated. The sanitary conditions at the penitentiary appear to be excellent, and things in general seem to be properly conducted."

"In driving about the city I was very much surprised to see the amount of land that is devoted to the culture of fruit. There must be an excellent system of irrigation here to make this possible. The possibilities of the land in this part of the territory are wonderful. I have been on fruit ranches in this community and the many kinds of fruit, their excellent qualities and their luxuriance reminds me somewhat of a South American jungle. The farms that I have seen about here all seem to be in excellent condition, and the water supply plentiful."

Praises Indian School.

As is consistent with his profession, as an educator, Prof. Clark was especially enthusiastic over the work being done in the Indian training school.

"I was more than delighted," he said, "with the interest and enthusiasm that is displayed by the Indian pupils. They enter into the spirit of their work in a whole-souled manner, and in Assistant Superintendent George B. Haggitt, whom I met, the institution has a man who thoroughly knows his work. The pupils approach him much in the same manner they would their father, and he has the most perfect control over them."

At Sunmount Tent City Prof. Clark found much of interest, and said it possessed all the necessary qualifications for a successful health resort. He believes the idea to be an excellent one, and with its possibilities that much can be accomplished at Sunmount.

"The tendency," continued Prof. Clark, "which seems to exist here, which I am displeased, is that to combine the antique and romantic of Santa Fe with the modern. The tourists which please the eyes of the tourist are being almost destroyed by dove tailing them in with the new and modern. It looks to me as if there is plenty of room here to build the new without destroying the old. There are sights to be found here which are to be seen in no other place in the country, and yet people are inclined to destroy their value."

INSPECTING SHEEP FOR JEMEZ FOREST RESERVE

Dr. W. A. Skinner, an official of the bureau of animal industry, has made his headquarters in Santa Fe for several weeks and will likely remain there for the summer. He is now engaged in inspecting sheep that are to be on the Jemez forest reserve in Rio Arriba county. No animals will be permitted to go upon the reserve until after due inspection. It is estimated that about 300,000 head of sheep may be permitted to range on the reserve. Applications for that number have been made by owners and are now under consideration by Forest Assistant M. L. Erickson, who has charge of the reserve.

Always Keeps Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in His House.

"We would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is kept on hand continually in our home," says W. W. Kearney, editor of the Independent, Lowry City, Mo. That is just what every family should do. When kept at hand ready for instant use, a cold may be checked at the outset and cured in much less time than after it has become settled in the system. This remedy is also without a peer for croup in children, and will prevent the attack when given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, which can only be done when the remedy is kept at hand. For sale by all druggists.

ROSWELL DAM SITE MAY HAVE TO BE CHANGED

TO PENASCO ROCK IF LATTER POINT IS FOUND TO BE MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

B. M. Hall, engineer in charge of the reclamation service for this district, arrived in the city yesterday morning, from Carlsbad, and is en route to Leasburg and Penasco Rock to look over the field preparatory to letting the contract for the construction of the Leasburg diversion dam, says the El Paso Times.

There is a possibility, in view of the fact that the Santa Fe railroad recently moved its track from Penasco Rock to a point some distance away, that the latter place may be selected as the site for the diversion dam, instead of Leasburg. Engineer Hall states, this possibility resting with the people themselves. If they wish the dam built at Penasco Rock it will be done.

Penasco Rock was the site originally chosen for the dam, but as the railroad ran too close it was impracticable. At that time—several years ago—Penasco Rock was decided upon as the legitimate location for the dam.

but later Leasburg was selected and general approval was expressed. "Investigation is necessary," said Chief Engineer Hall, yesterday, "to see what can be done. Surveys are now under way from Leasburg to Penasco Rock, a distance of about five miles, and these will show the recent changes in the river. We wish to take advantage of whatever changes have occurred."

"If the people all prefer it there is a possibility of going back to Penasco. It is not a particularly better point than the other, but it will cover ground that will otherwise be left out. One advantage is that a great rock juts out into the river where the gates would be, which would save considerable concrete work."

Upon his visit to both Leasburg and Penasco Rock, Engineer Hall will decide if it would be advantageous to change the site of the dam back to the latter point. If the change is made it will be at the behest of people and whether or not it is done the contract for the work will be let at an early date.

Doctors Are Puzzled.

The remarkable recovery of Kenneth Melver of Vaneboro, Me., is the subject of much interest to the medical fraternity and a wide circle of friends. He says of his case: "Owing to severe inflammation of the throat and congestion of the lungs, three doctors gave me up to die, when, as a last resort, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery and I am happy to say, it saved my life." Cures the worst coughs and colds, bronchitis, tonsillitis, weak lungs, hoarseness and la grippe. Guaranteed at all drug stores. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

YOUNG BOYS ENTERED HOUSE AND STEAL MONEY

Two Mexican boys, Fred Hidalgo and Daniel Rodriguez, aged 13 and 11 years respectively, were arrested last Tuesday for entering the house of Mrs. J. W. Orchard and stealing $5. says the Hillsboro Advocate. Hidalgo confessed taking the money and was sentenced by Judge Smith to seven days in the county cooler. Four dollars of the money was recovered and Judge Smith agreed to let Hidalgo go unpunished if his brother would pay the missing dollar and the costs, this the brother refused to do. On account of his tender years Dan was allowed to go and promised to sin no more.

BLACK SHOES TO THE WOODSHED AND PLEASE HIDE YOUR ELBOWS

DECREES FROM FASHION'S THRONE.

SKIRTS ARE SHORTER—They must be 5 or 6 inches from the ground because they must show the shoes.

SHOES MATCH THE COSTUME—Otherwise they must be white. They are elaborate and as important as sleeves.

BLACK SHOES RULED OUT—They are not to be worn even with a black gown this season.

"PRINCESS." THE ONLY GOWN—There are variations to suit all occasions. No other style will do.

LACE CRAZE SUBSIDING—Best dressers will use only Valencia and Baby Irish. Cluny is barred for street wear.

METAL BUTTONS THE REAL THING—Some French gowns show colored stones, matching the material, set in the metal.

COATS MATCH THE SKIRT—Traveling coat and separate coat for lingerie gowns are the only exceptions.

SLEEVES COVER THE ELBOW—Elbows are not pretty and sleeves must have a lace finish that hides them.

Chicago, March 17.—Elizabeth A. C. White is president of the Dressmakers' Protective association of America and has just returned from Paris. So, of course, she knows.

At the convention just closed in New York she exhibited trunk after trunk full of new gowns and told American women, through their representatives, what they must and must for mountain climbing and still another for golf. There is one for shopping, one for walking, one for the races, another for the carriage and another, of course, for the bride.

The "gamp princess," which means in two pieces, is cut off about on a line with a high girle and the rest of it is simply lingerie blouse.

With this gamp princess must be worn either a bolero or a "pony jacket."

The "pony jacket" has just come over. In reality it is simply a bolero, finished and lustrated with platings or ruffles, coming from beneath the bolero proper. It is very nobby, for of course the platings are pressed flat, and the ruffles, if there are ruffles, are soft, and of such materials as lace.

"Everybody wants to know whether she has the right kind of figure to wear a princess dress," Miss White said. "It all depends on how you wear your stays. A fat woman gets her waist line too high. The larger the corset the better."

The little separate coats for lingerie gowns are made of silk, trimmed only with itself and a bit of lace, and should be either black, green or red.

Everything on the continent will be made of silk—raja, Burlington, radium and shedwater—or lingerie. Mohair and brilliantine are taking the place of linen in Europe—for linen loses its freshness—unless its wearer is content to never sit down, and freshness is linen's one charm.

The elaborate part of the summer costume is the sleeves. They should invariably have a white lace finish at the elbow. For, of course, they come only to the elbow, or rather they should just turn it. "For no woman," said Miss White, "has a pretty enough elbow to show."

A GASTRONOMICAL TREAT WILL BE SERVED DAILY AT THE WHITE ELEPHANT MERCHANTS' LUNCH FROM 11 TO 2:30.

COMING EVENTS

March 24—Ellery's Royal Italian band.

March 31—Charles Hanford Company in Shakespearean Plays.

April 3—City election.

April 15—Easter Sunday.

May 15—The opening of the Casino.

Of course there is no correct dress this year but the princess. Everything, for everybody, must be princesses. "But there are a hundred different kinds of princesses," said Miss White, "and everybody can wear some of them. There is a short princess not wear from now until next September. She is now holding a fashion exhibition in this city.

TOO LATE?

all the Nourishment out of Baby's Natural Food.

Larger children cannot always be watched, and will eat unreasonably. The Ready Remedy should ever be at hand—Cascarets—to take care of the trouble when it comes.

No need to Force or Bribe children to take Cascarets. They are always more than ready to eat the sweet little bit of Candy.

Repulsive medicine forced on the little ones does more harm than good.

AMA! Don't be frightened—But be warned!

Every Mother knows, or should know, that the terrible Mortality among little children is caused by Stomach and Bowel troubles. Colic, Sour Curd, Cholera Infantum, Summer Complaint, Measles, Rash, Scarlet Fever—even Mumps—have their first cause in constipation.

The Delicate Tissues of a Baby's Bowels will not stand rough treatment. Salts are too violent, and Castor Oil will only grease the passages, but will not make and keep them Clean, Healthy and Strong.

There is no other medicine as safe for a child as Cascarets, the fragrant little Candy Tablets, that has saved thousands of families from unhappiness.

The Nursing Mother even in good health should always keep her own Bowels Loose, and her Milk Mildly Purgative by taking a Cascaret at night before going to bed.

No other medicine has this remarkable and valuable quality. Mama takes the Cascaret, Baby gets the Benefit.

Cascarets act like strengthening Exercise on the weak little bowels of the growing babe, and make them better able to get

GALLUP PROPOSES TO HAVE A LAUNDRY

The laundry of the Pacific Improvement company is about ready to be started, a laundryman has been secured and as soon as several pullies which are needed to complete the plant arrive work will begin, says the Gallup Republican. The laundry is equipped as completely as any laundry in the territory and is prepared to turn out as good work. The office of the laundry will be installed in the same building as the plant.

BORING FOR OIL AND GAS NEAR GALLUP

Eighty-five miles north of Gallup in the valley of the San Juan, a drill is being sent into the formation prospecting for oil and gas, and report has it that the indications are very favorable for a big stake, says the Republican. Last month three oil claims were consolidated under one company, a contract was let to a drilling outfit and work has begun. The starting of work was the signal for a rush to take up land in the vicinity and now many oil claims are on record.

WILLING HELPERS.

What's the use of a helper, if he isn't willing? Willingness is an ample mantle which will almost cover all the sins of service. But a classified advertisement in The Evening Citizen is a willing helper that is not only absolutely competent, but also is a willing worker. It works all the time for you. It is the best, and most economical publicity in the world.

Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Itch, Ring Worm, Pimples, Barbers' Itch.

All of these diseases are attended by intense itching, which is almost instantly relieved by applying Chamberlain's Salve, and by its continued use a permanent cure may be effected. It has, in fact, cured many cases that had resisted other treatment. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by all druggists.

You May Buy or You May Wait

But Things MUST Come Our Way!

You'll Have to, Also!

YOU May Think We Are SPECULATING

WE Know We Have a "GOOD THING"

Remember: That WE can afford to wait, but YOU cannot; in growing cities, the best residences are seldom built on the low lands. That we are the sole owners of the only heights overlooking the center of the city and which, covering over fifty square blocks, are but eight blocks distant from the heart of the business district. That, having held this tract intact for years, we now are offering it for residence purposes only, and that our deeds will exclude, for all time, all factories, stores, saloons, boarding houses, etc. That we are expending in improvements over FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS and TWO YEARS WORK and, at our own expense, are grading the lots and streets, building cement walks and planting trees. That we own our own water plant and will furnish you from deep wells, an ample supply of soft water at a price lower than the present rates. That the entire tract will be graded to a gentle slope, permitting to every residence the Best of Drainage, Broad, Low Terraces, and a Magnificent View of the Mountains, Mesa, City and Valley. That here you are above the dust and the dirt---or mud---the smoke and the noise of less favored localities. REMEMBER THAT:

The Natural Advantages We Had—We Made the Artificial!

That SILVER AVENUE, and its adjacent blocks, the only street now ready, the CREAM OF THE ENTIRE ADDITION, will be the FINEST IN ALL NEW MEXICO OR ARIZONA. That, beginning at one park and ending at another, and also parked on both sides throughout its entire length, it is a boulevard eighty feet broad, lying on the crest of the highest ground in the tract.

That on this avenue a thirty-foot building line is imposed, that the lots are sold only in sites of 100x132 feet, that no dwelling may cost less than $4,000, and that the purchaser insures to himself and his heirs, his home amid beautiful residences and the quiet and refinement of such surroundings. That the sixty sites on this avenue are so advantageously situated that nothing similar can ever again be offered in the City of Albuquerque.

Also Remember That the Majority of the Directors of this Company Have Bought Here and Expect to Build at Once.

GO UP AND SEE! THEN SIT DOWN AND REASON!

RAILROAD TOPICS

Superintendent Gibson of the Albuquerque division of the Santa Fe, returned to the west last night after several days here.

W. K. Etter, superintendent of the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe, accompanied by his wife was in the city yesterday.

Leonard Miller, the whistling soloist, who is connected with the Santa Fe here, has gone to Sterling, Ill., for a few weeks' visit with the old folks.

C. H. McFurr and wife of Leavenworth, Kan., are spending a few days in Albuquerque. Mr. McFurr being agent for the Santa Fe in the Kansas town.

R. E. Twitchell, attorney for the Santa Fe, arrived in the city last night from Las Vegas to look after some legal matters for the railroad company.

Frank J. Thomas, sales agent for the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain & Pacific Railway company, stationed at Raton, was in the city Saturday and Sunday on company business.

The Needle Eye says: Contractor A. W. Anson has been progressing rapidly with the Santa Fe recreation building during the past few weeks. The structure is now assuming some of the magnificent proportions which will be in evidence when completed.

Pat Walsh, general baggage agent for the Santa Fe, visited the local station today, checking up the local baggage. Mr. Walsh is en route east from Los Angeles, where he attended a convention of the American Association of Railway Baggage-men. Mr. Walsh says that the convention was largely attended.

Vice President and General Manager McKee of the Copper Range Mining and Railroad company in southern Arizona, was in the city last night for a few hours en route to the mining property. He was accompanied by a party of ten stockholders and directors of the company who will spend about a week inspecting the properties of the company.

The Gallup Republican says: A recent letter from the industrial commissioner of the Santa Fe railway inquiring about the artesian water development at Gallup shows that the road is interested in the opening up of this country. The fact that the well is now flowing a little over 1,000 gallons of pure soft water an hour is not bad news to report to those who are interested in the development of the country about Gallup.

C. H. Sharp, the Lantry Sharp Construction company arrived last night from Kansas City, the headquarters of the company, and left this morning for the Santa Fe cut-off, going by way of Kennedy and the Santa Fe Central. "Three weeks ago," said Mr. Sharp, "it was expected that the back-laying gangs, working at different places on the cut-off would connect up within a month so as to have rails laid from Belen to the Rock Island, and if work has progressed as it should have, we will have train running between those points within ten days." Mr. Sharp also said that all the stories coming from holes to the effect that men were shipped to the cut-off to be turned away without work are without foundation. There is plenty of work for those who want work.

LOOKING OVER COUNTRY TO SELECT A ROUTE

Civil Engineer George C. Franklin of the Colorado and Arizona railway, and a corps of surveyors arrived here Thursday evening from the southern end of the country, where they have been looking over their work of last year for the purpose of selecting one of three routes, says the Holbrook Argus. This company expects to begin building on their right of way, north of the Santa Fe line, within the next thirty days. They will probably cross the Santa Fe at a point about twelve miles west of Defiance station, cross Milky Hollow, Hay Hollow, pass through Snowflake, Adair and Forest Dale and connect with the Southern Pacific at Talkal.

WILD OIL CAR CRASHES INTO PASSENGER TRAIN

Passenger train No. 38, the south-bound Southern Pacific Los Angeles-Santa Barbara local, was partially wrecked near Fillmore, half way between Ventura and Santa Barbara, at 5:30 Friday evening.

The accident was caused by an oil which Mr. Otero made with regard to the preservation of game and wild animals of all sorts.

A Scientific Wonder.
The cures that stand to its credit make Bucklen's Arnica Salve a scientific wonder. It cured E. R. Mulford, lecturer for the Patrons of Husbandry, Waynesboro, Pa., of a distressing case of piles. THE "BIGGEST LIAR"

IS UP AGAIN
In the last Sunday edition of the St. Louis Republic appears a half page article on "How the People of the Pecos Valley Celebrated When the Message Came to Begin Work on the Big Ditch." It is the biggest lie on the Pecos valley that has ever been told—and there have been some whoopers. The story is illuminated with scary pictures of cowboys, cougars, "bat cave," etc. The fellow that wrote the article is either the "biggest liar" broke out in print again, or else is writing to kill space and does not care what he gets up so he can work it off on the Sunday edition editors. Be that as it may, even the cramp-mind Sunday editor ought to have known better.—Roswell Record.

THE ELLERY BAND CONCERT

The inborn genius of Ferullo, the inspired young leader of the Ellery band, is something that cannot be described through the medium of cold, unsympathetic type. In fact, it is something too sacred and too subtle to be pictured through any medium other than the receptive mind of the intelligent listener. To such indeed, his magnetism and genius reach the very bottom of the heart, open up new vistas of joy, and thrill and delight the willing soul beyond comprehension and description. Ferullo's personality is in evidence in every musical measure. No single one is reproduced without first having been influenced by the mood and inspiration of this remarkable young director—without first having passed through a baptism of fire, as it were, which purifies and clarifies. So passionate and realistic is the development of the characterization in the grand opera selections played by the band that the sympathetic listener can, as in a vision, see the singers and the scenery and hear the voices, for it is all brought out by the magic wand of Mr. Ellery's wonderful bandmaster. If one is a connoisseur in music they will be entranced; if one knows little or much about art, they will be able to distinguish the lights and shadows and realize that they have come under the sway of one director who made the greatest and the noblest in musical literature an open book and created in them a desire that it might never be closed.

All who attend the Ellery band concerts at Elk's theatre on Saturday, March 24, will realize that Ferullo is the greatest leader that Col. Ellery ever had.

ALBUQUERQUEANS VISIT GALLUP

J. L. LaDrier, a well known architect of Albuquerque, was in Gallup recently to look into the court house situation. He will draw plans and submit an estimate of the cost of the superstructure. It is the intention of the supervisors to get the building under way as soon as the weather will permit.

B. B. Borden of Albuquerque is in Gallup and will remain for some time looking after his oil interests. Later he expects the arrival of parties from the east who will accompany him to the oil fields for the purpose of investigating the prospects. If the easterners are satisfied with the looks of the oil ground they will invest with Mr. Borden in a plant to thoroughly prospect the formation.—Republican.

FORMER COLFAX COUNTY CITIZEN DEAD IN BOSTON

John Lee, the first probate clerk and ex-officio assessor of Colfax county, New Mexico, died at his brother's home in Boston, Massachusetts. John Lee was the locator of the L. B. Maxwell lode near Elizabethtown, and clerk of Colfax county from 1869 to 1885 inclusive. He located at Cimarron, during L. B. Maxwell's time and belonged to a cavalry company stationed there up to 1885 in the north-east part of town. From there he went to Elizabethtown, where he worked in the mines and conducted a hardware store. In politics John Lee was a democrat, in religion a devotee of Catholicism and the best and truest friend of the native population in Colfax county.

The nice chapel at Cimarron and the modern edifice at Springer are John Lee's monuments. Salazar's po-larity in Colfax county is largely due to this good man and this man's death deprives M. M. Salazar of his first and kind friend—John Lee. Peace to his ashes.

DAY AND WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer in northern portion Tuesday.

Sun rise, 6:06; set, 6:10; length of sunlight, 12:04; moon rose at 2:46 this morning, moon set at 6:37 Saturday afternoon. Day has been actually perfect. Livingston, the great African missionary and explorer was born on this day 1813. Louis Kossuth, the great Hungarian patriot, was born on this day in 1802, and his anniversary was celebrated today in many of the leading cities of America.

The Integrity of Our Name

Now-a-days when the cry "Quality" is shouted on every hand by a hundred brazen throats it is hard to distinguish between the false and the true in clothes.

It is the part of wisdom then to put your faith in a house of recognized standing and unchallenged reputation. Such a house can not, as a mere matter of business policy, afford to play its customers false.

OUR NAME on clothes is a mark of which we're right proud and which we have kept unshattered through all the storm and stress of competition—it stands for "promises fulfilled" for "no misrepresentation" for "finest fabrics, best trimmings, advanced styles, our customer's interests," first, last and all the time.
