GOVERNMENT CONTROL ALSO IS SAFE

President Hammers Home His Argument for Broad Supervision of the Interstate Railroads by the Nation.

HOLDS SOCIAL REFORM THE PREVENTIVE OF SOCIALISM
Constructive Change Offers the Best Method of Avoiding Destructive Change—The Gospel of the Optimist.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 3.—President Roosevelt and party arrived at the Chicago wharf at 9 o'clock this morning and were immediately conveyed in carriages to St. Mary's Hotel. Governor Dineen of Illinois introduced President Roosevelt, who began speaking at 9:40 and continued until 10:30. The party then returned to the hotel, and after the start was made for Memphis. Over ten thousand people heard the president's address in the park, and the crowd would have been much larger had it not been for the rain.

The President's Address.
Men of Illinois, and You, Men of Kentucky and Mississippi:
I am glad to have the chance to speak to you today. This is the heart of what may be called the Old West, where we now call the middle west, using the term to denote that great group of rich and powerful states which literally form the heart of the country. It is a region whose people are distinctive Americans in all their thoughts, in all their ways of looking at life, and in its past and its present alike it is typical of our country. The oldest men present can still remember the pioneer days, the days of the white-tiled ox wagon, of the emigrant, and of the log cabin in which the emigrant first lived when he set foot below the surface of the earth. It was a rough day, day of hard work, and the people who did that work seemed themselves uncouth and forbidding to visitors who could not look below the surface of the earth. It was an amusing even to think that even as genuine a lover of his kind, a man normally so free from national prejudices as Charles Dickens, should have selected the region where we are now standing as the seat of his forthright "Eben" in Martin Chuzzlewit. The country he so bitterly assailed is now one of the most fertile and productive agricultural territories in all the world, and the dwellers in this territory represent a higher average of comfort, intelligence, and industry than the people of any other continent. The land teems with beauty and fertility, and but a score of years after the pioneer had been shown to be a nursery and breeding ground of heroes, soldiers and statesmen of the highest rank, while the rugged worth of the rank and file is the citizenry rendered possible by the deeds of mighty men who led in courage and in battle. This was the region that brought forth mighty Abraham Lincoln, the defender of the weak, the best in democratic life, and from the loins of the same people, living only a little farther south, sprang another of our greatest presidents, Andrew Jackson. "Old Hickory," a man, who made mistakes, like most strong men, but a man of iron will and incorruptible integrity, fearless, upright, devoted to the welfare of his country, the bone of our flesh and flesh of our flesh, a typical American if ever there was one.

The Gospel of Optimism.
I recommend a careful reading of Martin Chuzzlewit to the pessimists of today, to the men who, instead of fighting hard to do away with abuses while at the same time, are content with their business, and their hopelessness for the country, insist that all our people, socially and industrially in their private lives no less than as politicians, newspaper editors and business men, are at a lower ebb than ever before. If every one of you feels a little downcast over the particularly gloomy view of the present taken by some of the chief types in our national life, you will find it a real comfort to read Martin Chuzzlewit, to see what a well meaning pessimist of the past thought of our country sixty-five years ago, and then think of the extraordinary, morally no less than materially, of those sixty-five years. Dickens can be read by us now with profit. Edgar Allan Poe, Hawthorne, Emerson, Melville and Twain have their representatives today, plenty of them; and the wise thing for us to do is to recognize that there are still types of evil in politics, journalism, business and private life, and to war against them with all our hearts. But it is rank folly to regard them as the only, or the chief types in our national life. It was not of much consequence whether Dickens made such an error or not, but it would be of great consequence if we ourselves did; for a foolish pessimism is an even greater foe of healthy national growth than a foolish optimism. It was not that Dickens invented characters or scenes that had no basis in fact; on the contrary, what he said was true, as far as it went; the trouble was that out of many such half truths he made a picture which as a whole was absurd; for often a half truth is the most dangerous falsehood. It would be simply silly to be angry over Martin Chuzzlewit, on the contrary, read it; be amused by it, profit by it; and don't be misled by it. Keep a lively watch against the present day Progressives and Bricks; but above all, distrust the man who would persuade you to feel downhearted about the country because of these same Progressives and Bricks, past or present. It would be foolish to ignore their existence, or the existence of anything else that is bad in our national life, but it would be even more foolish to ignore the vast forces that tell for righteousness. Friends, there is every reason why we should fight whatever is evil in the present. But there is also every reason why we should feel a sturdy and confident hope for the future. There are many wrongs to right, there are many and powerful wrongdoers against whom to war; and it would be base to shrink from the contest or to fail to wage it with a high, a resolute will. But I am sure that we shall win in the contest, because I know that the heart of our people is sound. Our average men and women are good men and women and this is true in all sections of our country and among all classes of our countrymen. There is no other nation on earth with such vast natural resources, or with such a high standard of living and of industrial efficiency among its workers. We have as a nation an era of unexampled prosperity ahead of us; we shall enjoy it, and in much greater degree after us. The trend of well-being in this country is upward, not downward; and this is the trend in the things of the body as well as in the things of the body.

Government in its application is often a complicated and delicate work, but the principles of government are, after all, fairly simple. In a broad, general way, the government is the affairs of the national administration, which deals with the interests of all our eighty-odd millions of people, just as the city government deals with the getting on with our neighbors in our several neighborhoods; and the nation as a whole would show substantially the same qualities that we would expect to see in a family, in dealing with his fellows. To illustrate this, consider for a moment two phases of government action.

The Need of Fighting Strength.
Among your own neighbors, among your friends, what is the attitude you like to see a man take toward his fellows, the attitude you wish each of your sons to take when he goes out into the world? Is it not a combination of readiness and ability to hold his own if anyone tries to wrong him, while at the same time showing careful regard not only for the rights but for the feelings of others? Of course it is! Of course the type of a man whom you respect, whom you are proud of, if he is a kinsman, whom we are glad to have as a friend and neighbor, is the man who is not a misanthrope, who is not afraid, who will not shrink to resist, who is ready to stand up for himself, but who is also ready to yield if he will submit tamely to wrongdoers, if he is contemptible. If he is a bully, an oppressor, a man who respects himself, who is even worse and should be hunted out of the community. But, on the whole, the most contemptible position that can be possibly assumed by any man is that of blustering, or bragging, or insulting, or wronging other people, while yet expecting to go through life unchallenged, and being always without a back door to his own humiliation if readiness to make good is demanded.

Well, all this is just as true of a nation as of an individual, and in dealing with other nations we should act as we expect a man who is both game and decent to act in private life. There are few things cheaper and more profitable to a nation than the part of the public man or of the private man, on the part of a writer or of a speaker, an individual or a group of individuals, than a course of conduct which is based on bluffing, or whether in speech or act, to individuals of another nation or to the representatives of another nation or to another nation's policy. It comes infamous from the standpoint of the interests of the United States when it is combined with the refusal to take those measures of preparation which can alone secure from aggression on the part of others. The policy of "peace with insult" is the very worst policy upon which it is possible for a nation to base its rule of foreign policy for the United States. It is to show itself courteous toward other nations, scrupulous not to infringe upon their rights, and yet able and ready to defend its own. This nation is now on terms of the most cordial good will with all other nations. Let us make it a prime object of our policy to preserve these conditions. To do so it is necessary on the one hand to mete out a generous justice to all other peoples and to hold them courtesy and respect, and on the other hand, as we are yet a good way off from the millennium, to keep ourselves in such shape as to make it evident to all men that we desire peace, but are ready to fight just and right and not from motives of weakness or timidity. As for the first requisite, this means that no only the government, but the people and the press, must stand by the government in the needed spirit; for otherwise the folly of a few individuals may work lasting discredit to the whole nation. The second requisite is that we should be ready to build up and maintain at the highest point of efficiency the United States navy. In any great war on land we should have to rely in the future, as we have relied in the past, chiefly upon our volunteer soldiers; and although it is indisputable that our little army, an army inferior in small numbers to the army and population of this mighty nation, should itself be trained to the highest point and should be valued and respected as demanded by the needs of the future, and enlisted men, yet it is not necessary that this army should be as large as compared to the armies of other great nations. As for the navy, this is a matter of different view. We have an enormous coast line, and our coast line is on two great oceans. To repel hostile attacks the fortifications and not the navy, must be used; but the best way to parity is to hit—no fight can ever be won except by hitting—and we can only hit by means of the navy. It is not a makeshift navy under the conditions of modern warfare. Since the days of Napoleon no war between great powers has lasted as long as it would take to build a battleship, let alone a fleet of battleships; and it takes just as long to train the crew of a battleship as it does to build it. The most important thing of all, the training of the others, it takes much longer. The navy must be built and all its training given in time of peace. When once war has broken out it is too late to do anything. We now have a good navy, yet not large enough for our needs, but of excellent material.

DIXIE READY TO WELCOME PRESIDENT

MEMPHIS IN GALA ATTIRE
IN HONOR OF HIS VISIT

Roosevelt Spends Afternoon in Uneventful Voyage Down the Mississippi Where Grand Uncle Sailed First Steamboat

New Madrid, Mo., Oct. 3.—The president spent the entire afternoon in a leisurely trip down the Mississippi, now broadened by the addition of the waters of the Ohio from Cairo. At New Madrid his boat, the Mississippi, slowed up, but the delay was very brief. This city is a place of historic interest, and not the least interesting feature of its history is found in the associations with it of the name of Nicholas Roosevelt, who stopped here in 1811, when he brought the first steamboat ever run on the waters of either the Mississippi or the Ohio rivers. It was here that the elder Roosevelt turned up the Mississippi instead of down, and it is related that this change was influenced by the great New Madrid earthquake, which occurred at this time.

MEMPHIS DECORATED IN HONOR OF PRESIDENT'S VISIT
Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 3.—Memphis, the gateway to Dixie, has surprised itself in the enthusiasm of its welcome to President Roosevelt and the hundreds of other distinguished men who will be the guests of the city during the stay of the president. The city is decorated in honor of the visit, and the Mississippi river is expected to reach Memphis shortly after noon tomorrow, and will be greeted by reception committees headed by Mayor Mallory and other prominent citizens of the city. The president's address will be delivered in the auditorium, where the waterways convention will be in session. Special excursions are expected to bring thousands of visitors from Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Already the streets of the city have assumed a festive appearance, bunting and flags mark the city during the stay of the president. A welcome arch at the entrance on Monroe street, bearing a picture of the president, will greet the visitors when they leave the boat. Other arches have been erected at street intersections, and on all of these hundreds of lights will gleam at night.

The convention hall the central feature of the decorations is a big picture of President Roosevelt, flanked by portraits of the governors who will be in attendance at the convention. The program arranged for the convention includes addresses tomorrow morning by President W. K. Kavanaugh, Lyman E. Cooley, of Chicago; John L. Vance, president of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, and Joseph E. Ransdell, president of the National Rivers and Harbors congress. Governor Patterson will welcome the president on behalf of the state. The program on the part of the convention includes addresses tomorrow morning by President W. K. Kavanaugh, Lyman E. NEW MEXICO FAIR

THREE BUNCHES OF RUNNERS REACH CITY

Will be Close to Seventy-five Thoroughbreds in Events at Traction Park During Carnival Week.

Three more bunches of fast horses to be entered in the territorial fair races arrived in the city over the Santa Fe from the north yesterday. Practically all the horses are now on the grounds, there being about fifteen more runners yet to show up. There will be a total of nearly seventy-five thoroughbreds in the city when the first race is called at Traction park next week, and the race meet will be the biggest of the kind held in the west this year with the single exception of the Overland park meeting in Denver. There will be more money in purses than offered at any of the Kansas or middle western meets, and it is quite safe to say there will be fully as much excitement as Overland park ever witnessed. The bunch of fast horses is a magnificent one and is composed of the pick of the racing material in this section of the country. The stables at Traction park are all full and there will be strenuous times around them for the next ten days.

"Stranger O," formerly owned by Joe Barnett, of this city, and now owned by Edward Parker, of Denver, arrived yesterday from Colorado. Stranger O is an old Albuquerque favorite.

"Daybreak," another harness horse with some records, owned in Rocky Ford, also came in yesterday. Daybreak goes in the 2:20 trot. F. S. Hyer, "Chilly the Clipper," of Denver, was in the bunch, as was "Prince Russell," another horse that needs no introduction to turf enthusiasts. All the harness horses coming are now here with the exception of a horse from Grand Junction and another from Fort Collins. Only one of all those entered will not come, "Jesse C," who strained a leg and is out of commission.

The track at Traction park is said by those who are wise to be in the pink of condition, and with good weather the race meet should be a wonder. The fair officials are congratulating themselves on the fact that the bad weather is being pulled off this week.

FAIR INFORMATION BUREAU IS READY

Big List of Rooms Ready for Visitors and No Difficulty Will be Had in Taking Care of the Expected Throng.

The information bureau for the convalescence of Albuquerque during the territorial fair, will be opened this year as usual on Sunday night, in the office building on the southeast corner of the Alvarado grounds. Edward Albright, who has had charge of this work for several years, will direct the bureau and will have a force of assistants and guides ready to make the bureau really effective.

For the past two weeks canvassers have been out taking the addresses of house holders who desire to receive room and a long list is on hand, showing that Albuquerque will have no trouble taking care of the people who may come. The crowd will be here there is no doubt. The demands for rooms in the hotels is greater than ever before. Aside from the reservations made by the fair association for its guests in the Alvarado, that hotel is practically sold out for the week although under pressure it will be able to take care of a great many extra. The reservations in other hotels have been unusually large and it is the opinion of the hotel men that they are going to have the largest week in the history. The information bureau will therefore be a valuable institution.

DRUNKS SMASH IN HOTEL DOORS

Stimulated Tourists Put Off a Santa Fe Train Pinched Soon After Landing in the City.

H. W. Wheeler and E. B. Crumboltz were put off Santa Fe train No. 2, when it arrived here at 4:32 yesterday afternoon after the tourists, seriously affected by the altitude and a large quantity of bad booze, had attempted to break every window in the car and to do up the tourists who ejected them. The travelers, looking for more excitement, crossed over to the Sturges hotel and were engaged in playfully smashing in the glass of one of the first street doors of the building when the police appeared and they were taken in tow. They will have their hearing this morning.

ALBUQUERQUE MISSES WHO WILL ESCORT GOVERNOR

Large Photograph of Young Equestriennes Appears in a Metropolitan Daily With a Boost for the Fair.

In a four column photograph in the New York Sun appears the likeness of the twelve young Albuquerque equestriennes who compose the Mesa riding club, and who will act as the escort of Governor Carey during the fair next week. The picture is accompanied by an article several columns in length, devoted to the unique organization and the general subject of "horses and men." In the southwest. The writer quotes liberally from Roosevelt's opinions regarding the sensibility and healthfulness of the equestrian life in preference to the old side-saddle for women, and incidentally pays some pretty compliments to the women riders of Albuquerque, with the statement that only one woman in this city still uses the old-fashioned side saddle.

The photographs of the young ladies was taken on West Central avenue and they present an attractive picture in their blue blouses, white, and with their wavy southwestern pony-tails.

The Albuquerque and territorial fair edition of the Denver Post is out and will be received here for redistribution throughout the territory this morning. The edition is said by those who have seen it to be a splendid one and a first class advertisement for Albuquerque and the fair.

CLUB PORTER IN TOOLS FOR THEFT OF CUFF LINKS

Charles Russell Carter, colored, also believed to have Stolen Numerous Other Articles From Commercial Club Rooms.

Charles Russell Carter, also known as Charles Russell Carter, was arrested yesterday by Chief of Police McMahon at his home on North Broadway, charged with the theft of a pair of valuable gold cuff links from the room of Leon Herzog, in the Commercial club building, where Russell acted as porter for a month. The cuff links were brought from Europe and were highly prized by the owner. The negro finally admitted taking the cuff links and numerous other articles have been seized by officers of the club building lately, and while Russell has not been charged with the theft of these, grave suspicion naturally attaches to the prisoner, who will have a hearing in police court this morning.

A number of men are busy at work on the new diamond at Traction park getting it in shape for the fair tournament.

The management of the basketball tournament was busy wiring yesterday in connection with the negotiations to secure Western league umpires for the series of games.

Women Who Wear Well.
It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the balance which like the bloom from a peach which is rarely handled. The smile is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate woman's organs, so surely when these organs are established in the face and body of one witness to the fact that the woman is well. Nearly a million women have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. Made wholly of those native American medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments. For nursing mothers, or for those broken-down in health by too frequent bearing of children, also for the expectant mother to prepare the system for the coming of baby and making its advent easy and painless, there is no medicine quite so good as "Favorite Prescription." It can do no harm in any condition of the system. It is a most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening medicine, wisely adapted to woman's delicate system by a physician of large experience in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments. Dr. Pierce may be consulted by letter free of charge. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Edward Madin, Once Proprietor of Local Hotel Comes Back After Twenty-seven Years to See Old Home.

"Albuquerque has undergone a remarkable change during the past twenty-seven years. But for the few old faces I see here and there, I would feel like I was in a strange city, although I have a right to claim membership among the pioneers of this town." The speaker was Edward Madin, who had got down from the Chicago limited last night to make a visit to old friends and see the fair.

Mr. Madin is now a mining operator at Manchester, Nevada. Twenty-seven years ago he was the proprietor of what is now the Sturges hotel and he attended the first New Mexico territorial fair in this city in 1880. "I'm glad to get back to Albuquerque," said Mr. Madin. "The thoroughness with which this year's fair has been advertised reached even into Nevada and I decided to come back and see one more big blowout." Mr. Madin was the center of a group of pioneers last night, who spent an evening in recalling old times when Albuquerque wasn't even a whistling station.

CHIEF ARRIVES TO TAKE CHARGE OF THE FIREMEN

Veteran of the Denver Department Will Handle the Fire Fighters in "Fighting the Flames" Spectacle.

W. E. Roberts, of Denver, fire chief in the great "Fighting the Flames" spectacle, which is to be the most sensational exhibition ever brought to Albuquerque, arrived here late last night to take charge of the fire fighters in the big show, when it is out on for the first time Monday night. Although a man of about fifty years, Chief Roberts is as active as the most agile fireman on the Denver force today. Mr. Roberts was connected for a quarter of a century with the Denver department, serving as volunteer and paid fireman, and finally for thirteen years as chief. He is a veteran of the service of the fire department on fire fighting. Chief Roberts has been connected with "Fighting the Flames" for a year, and most of the last night that he was in readiness by Monday evening.

CAVALRYMEN IN CAMP AT RIO PUERTO TONIGHT

Were at Laguna Yesterday and Will Leave for Delta Saturday, Albuquerque Sunday Morning.

Troops I and K, Fifth cavalry, were in camp last night near Laguna, and tonight will reach Rio Puerto. Scouts will be the camping station Saturday night and Sunday the troops will reach Albuquerque and go into camp on the ground at the end of West Gold avenue, according to present arrangements. The march has been a speedy one and unexpected thus far. Major Hunter is accompanying the soldiers, making the entire trip in the saddle. Eugene K. Kimpnich of Albuquerque, who arrived from the west yesterday afternoon, met several of the officers at Laguna and says that the troops are looking forward to a lively time at the fair and that every man in both troops is in hard training for the military athletic contests.

Season tickets to the fair are now on sale everywhere, at the principal drug stores, book stores and other kind of stores, and are going fast.

Res Ruseley, Who Can Ride Anything With Four Legs and A Mean Disposition, Enters the Bronco Events.

Res Ruseley, champion bronco buster of southern Colorado, and who bears the reputation of being one of the most daring and skillful riders in the west, has written to the fair management announcing that he will enter the bronco busting contest during the territorial fair. Ruseley makes the third entry from Colorado, and it is believed he will give the others a few brief runs for their money. The entry list for the busting is a good big one, and the sport promises to be as exciting as usual this year.

JAPANESE PAGODA IS NOW UNDERWAY

Preliminary Work on Unique Decoration Scheme at the Alvarado for the Great Montezuma Ball.

The preliminary work of getting the Alvarado hotel ready for the Montezuma ball, the wind-up of the territorial fair and the social event for the year in the territory, is now under way. The Japanese decoration scheme by which the Alvarado is to be transformed into a little bit of quaint old Japan, has already been described. The platform in the plaza upon which the Japanese pagoda is to be erected, has already been completed, and the pagoda will go up rapidly. Plans have been completed by the committee for the rest of the decorations, and the work will be finished soon. The Japanese lanterns ordered for the occasion are unique and very handsome, and a large sum of money is to be spent for the decorations in the tea rooms and the appointments of the ball room.

DETROIT TIGHTENS GRIP ON PENNANT

Second Victory Over Washington Insure Championship to Tigers—Other League Games.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Although Detroit needed to win from Washington in order to make it practically impossible for Philadelphia to close the gap in the championship series, Manager Jennings' Washington friends have waived the question of doubt and presented him with a floral horseshoe in token of their victory. Before the game started at the American League park this afternoon, Manager Jennings had no speech of thanks for the gesture, but when his whistle failed him at this crisis, but his men responded for him by running away with the game in brilliant style. Tonight they are enroute to St. Louis for the final series of the season, which ends there with a double header on Sunday.

The score by which the Detroiters triumphed was 3 to 2. The Washingtons scoring only after "Bill" Donovan, having the game safe, eased up a bit and lobbed the ball over the plate. Cobb kept up his terrific clip at the bat, getting three hits in four times up, but he turned his ankle in sliding to second and was forced to retire in the eighth. The extent of his injury is not known. O'Leary was also there with the six and two singles and a double. Four double plays testify to the visitors' snappy back field.

Cobb Not Badly Hurt.
Washington, Oct. 3.—It developed tonight that the injury to Cobb of the Detroiters, who was retired from the game with Washington today in the eighth inning as the result of sliding in to second in the sixth inning, will not keep him out of the games at St. Louis. Cobb reopened an old wound on his leg, causing him much pain and Manager Jennings took him out in order that he might no further endanger the injured limb.

Aerobant Blondin, who is to have charge of the captive balloon "Albuquerque," which will make daily ascents during the fair, has the big balloon all varnished and is now at work on the gas generator, which will inflate the huge bag.

A MATTER OF DUTY

Every man who is in business in Albuquerque should recognize it as an imperative duty on his part to belong to the Commercial club, because that is an institution that has done more than any other one instrumentally to give Albuquerque the proud position which it occupies today as the leading city of the southwest. The "old-timers" recognized the value of the co-operation for the good of the place which was made possible and practicable through the means of the club, and it is not to the credit of the newcomers that they fall behind their predecessors in enterprise and public spirit. And yet, that they do thus fall behind is as certain as that figures do not lie.

There are fully twice as many men engaged in active business or professional pursuits in Albuquerque today as were engaged here in like pursuits ten years ago, and yet the membership of the club is fully twenty per cent less now than it was then, instead of being, as it ought to be, double what it was at that time.

Those figures tell the whole story, and it only remains to find out "Why?"

To those who have come among us during the last decade to profit by the superior advantages which Albuquerque offers them, have less enterprise, less public spirit, and less "hustle" than those who were here before them, that they do not identify themselves with an institution which has shown itself successful in promoting the interests of the town, and has done so much to make the very opportunities which they are now enjoying?

Or, is the club itself to blame because its management, or its members, do not put forth a greater personal effort to draw the newcomers into the organization?

One or the other of these causes is clearly responsible for the fact that one of our most valuable institutions is actually going backward, while everything else around us is going forward.

One or the other of these causes is clearly responsible for the unfortunate condition that now exists, and to demonstrate which it is the club's duty to appoint a committee of its members to prepare a list of the business and professional men of the town who are not members of the club, but ought to be, and another committee to call upon these persons and make personal appeal to them to join with their fellow townsmen in this co-operative movement, which time has abundantly demonstrated to be for the great good of the whole community.

Before such a step is taken it might be advisable, as some one has suggested, to separate the business and social sides of the club, so that it would be optional with a man to join one or both. It sometimes happens that a man who might be very valuable on the business side of the club is blackballed for social reasons—and a division as suggested would obliterate that unfortunate and a live, bustling business man would not have to be turned down for social reasons.

But something should be done and done promptly. The club is an institution of too much value to the town to be permitted to grow rusty.

THE COURT OF LAST RESORT

Chief Justice Clark, of the supreme court of North Carolina, asks in the current independent whether the federal supreme court is "constitutional" and answers the new query. In the negative. He finds nothing in the constitution to warrant the judiciary in passing upon and vetoing acts of congress, and he stoutly denies that this authority is conferred by necessary implication. He thinks the supreme court has usurped this power and relation which makes the three branches of the government co-equal and equal. He admits, however, that the power has been exercised and continued so long that it may be late to challenge it.

Regarding the position of the eminent North Carolina jurist upon this subject, the Chicago Record-Herald says Justice Clark is a known "radical," and his position may be based on that ground by conservative lawyers and thinkers. But a precisely similar view is taken in an article in a recent issue of the North American Review by Professor Thacker, dean of the Dickinson School of Law of Pennsylvania. This writer attacks the constitution and reviews the debates in the federal convention, and reaches the conclusion that "there is no trace in the work of the constitution makers of an intention to make a court a censor of the work of congress." He does not believe that the framers of the constitution had the faintest idea that the judiciary would claim the power to nullify legislation and "make" the constitution under the guise of "interpretation." According to these and other thinkers, the final arbiters and interpreters of the constitution are and were meant to be the people, the voters, who pass on all questions of policy. This is the answer to the objection that some tribunal must exist with power to interpret the organic law. The upholders of the existing practice may now be expected to enter the lists and make a vigorous defense of the judiciary.

OPPOSING EMIGRATION.

We learn from eastern exchanges that among the impressions which our immigration commission informally communicated on its return from Europe was that the old world governments were no longer fostering or conniving at wholesale emigration. This is undoubtedly true of some European governments—notably of Italy, Sweden, Norway, Greece and Spain. The Spanish minister of the interior, we are informed, has drafted a rigorous bill to restrict emigration and even to prohibit it for reasons affecting "the public good."

In Italy, official and private writers say, "emigration has become a kind of epidemic," and as a result large tracts of land are passing out of cultivation and many villages and small towns are being emptied of their younger, able-bodied inhabitants. True, a golden stream of savings and gifts flows from America to Italy, but the government and the land owners no longer find in this sufficient compensation for the loss of labor and vigor. The Italian war office is unable to enlist annually the number of recruits fixed by law, and the subject of restriction of emigration is receiving serious consideration.

Regarding Secretary Root's policy toward South America, the Springfield Republican says: "The point at which Secretary Root's policy differs from that of many of his predecessors is in the substitution of South American influence for South American advantage and incidentally for our advantage, too, for any line of conduct remotely suggestive of the 'big stick' or 'overlordship.'"

He would work with the more progressive nations for the advancement of the less progressive, not by employing threats but by using suasion. Such a program, while it is gratifying to the sensibilities of the larger nations, requires discretion in its application, for the smaller nations are exceedingly jealous of their big neighbors and prone to resent anything smacking of patronage. They must be addressed as if they were equals or they will not listen."

Foreign dispatches tell us that the havoc wrought at Malaga by the recent hurricane was almost indescribable. One of the latest reports says the greatest distress is everywhere prevalent. The governor with difficulty is preventing famished persons eating and eating decayed food-stuffs that have been thrown out by store-keepers. The work of clearing away the food stuffs now left in the streets by the floods is being pushed rapidly. Many bodies have been found in the mud. A band of emigrants which was encamped on a quay the night of the flood awaiting a steamship has not been seen since, and it is feared all of its members perished. Damage done by the flood is placed at $2,500,000. Fifteen hundred stores were ruined.

Governor Comer, of Alabama, announces that when he gets home from the great waterways gathering at Memphis he is going to call a special session of the legislature in order to have it determined "who controls Alabama—the people or the railroads." In many states, he explains, two-cent passenger rates have been established by law, and the railroads have acquiesced. "Lower freight rates and stricter legislation than our laws call for have been put into effect, and the railroads are obeying the laws, and yet here in Alabama we find an unreasonable opposition on the part of some of the railroads to grant as part of what has been granted to the people of other states."

Cable dispatches from the Orient give graphic descriptions of Secretary Taft's reception at Tokio, and also report in detail the conversation between him and the Japanese secretary of war, as well as the cordial meeting between our secretary and the Mikado. All parties, it appears, agreed that there is nothing that seriously threatens the good relations between Japan and the United States, and expressed an earnest wish to fully restore and maintain mutual confidence. Secretary Taft spoke freely to the press correspondents at Tokio, and, among other things, said that in his address in Japan he intends to bluntly declare that "talk of war is a crime."

The vigor and earnestness of the war against gambling, which is being prosecuted by many of the leading cities of the country could not have a more favorable illustration than is given by the statement in Chicago papers that "the grand jury has dropped other business for the moment in order to attend to the gamblers, and their deeds are so numerous that evidence against them will almost certainly be secured."

The Philadelphia Press declares that Mr. Root, by his visit to Mexico, has relieved Spanish-American statesmen from the fear of our aggression. He has instructed and informed American public opinion in the new stability of Spanish-American states. He has sought to convince the two continents as a whole that American lands have mutual duties, responsibilities and destinies, which set them apart from the rest of the world.

There may be doubts about the work of The Hague peace conference, but there are none concerning the attitude of the great nations of the world on the subject of war. Every one of them appears to have adopted the Kaiser's theory that the best way to avert a conflict is to be prepared for hostilities. And wasn't it George Washington who told us a good while before the Kaiser was born, that in peace we should prepare for war?

"The average man," says the Birmingham Age-Herald, "spends the first half of his life in getting wise and the last half in telling other people how to get wise." This would be very true, says the Bismarck Review, "but for the fact that the average man doesn't get very wise at any stage of his career." And if he does happen to get wise, it cures him of the habit of telling about it.

Speaking of the coming aerial carnival at St. Louis, the New York Herald says this novel festival must attract an immense attendance. It will excite universal interest and will give renewed stimulus to the development of aeronautics, not only in this country, but throughout the world.

There is a strong impression among various congressmen that Mr. Cannon can have the presidential nomination if he wants it. In fact, says the Washington Star, those who have personally studied the career of the speaker are disposed to take it for granted that he can have things pretty much his own way.

Miss Gertrude Beeks, who examined conditions among Panama canal employees for Secretary Taft, has reported many changes necessary for the welfare and comfort of the workers. She didn't see a pink tea while she was there.

Some of the bulls and bears of Wall street listened to a discourse on the stewardship of wealth by the bishop of London recently. They returned to their stewardship.

The Californian who has served thirteen years for a crime he did not commit is entitled to any consolation he can find in the fact that he was sentenced to imprisonment and not to death.

Dr. Wiley is experimenting now with a soft drink squad, which reports the Record-Herald that the soft drink sometimes carries a big stick.

Senator Thomas C. Platt says that Governor Hughes is a "master politician" building up a machine and may gain the presidency.

Should Governor Kibbey decide to continue as governor he may hand his attorney general a lemon in the shape of the republican nomination for congress.—Bismarck Review.

Pie All Accounted For.
We do not expect to see any particular enthusiasm among residents of Arizona on the occasion of the arrival and coming of Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock to the territory, for the reason that all the political powder was disposed of when Mr. Hitchcock recently visited Phoenix.—Bismarck Review.

Exactly.
Since the people of New Mexico are almost unanimously in favor of single standard, what is the use of wasting time in discussion? Why not continue the house-cleaning and prepare to demonstrate that the territory is fit for standard? That will be the principal question at Washington.—Howell Record.

Or Albuquerque Any Old Day.
And yet they say Arizona has not a sufficient population for admission to statehood. Let our detractors come to Phoenix some citizen day.—Phoenix Republican.

Suburban Student of Literature.

"This order was once received from a suburban patron:
"Dear Mr. Librarian: Please to send me the following books: 'The House of Three Dials,' 'The Vision of Sir Launfal,' and 'The Last of the Mohicans,' by John Milton, and greatly obliged."
—The Circle.

More Pennsylvania Indictments.
Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 2.—Seven more indictments in the capital prosecutions were returned by the grand jury this afternoon. Every man named in the prosecution has now been indicted.

Widow of Gen. Wallace Dead.
Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 2.—Mrs. Susan E. Wallace, widow of General Wallace, died last night. She had great literary ability and needed her husband in his writings.

People Tell Each Other About Good Things.
Twelve years ago few people knew of such a proposition as a Power for the People. Today after the grandest success of Allen's Power has been told over after year by year, and the people are so numerous that evidence against them will almost certainly be secured."

NEITHER court sessions nor official communications find the people for friction of one spoke of a sheep's tail.

"HARMONY" is sometimes like the old foundry "come back"—the same old chuck served up under another name.

ONE THOUSAND charming girls who desire husbands have arrived at New York on one vessel. Low rates from all points.

BASEBALL is becoming an exact science. An El Paso and a Socorro player have both sustained fractured jaws during the past week.

NOW AS TO that sand storm—can it be that the effort of the politicians to throw dust in the people's eyes—but what's the use.

IT MAY BE well to explain to outsiders that the real reason Albuquerque catches so many bogus checks is because she has money to throw away.

THEY ARE making cows by electricity in Madison Square Garden. Now if some one will show us how to feed her on kilowatts it will simplify matters.

THE CAVING in of the grand stand at Dalhart some time ago teaches us the useful lesson that such structures are unsafe either for fans or politicians.

IT IS RATHER a sad commentary on a city of the size of Albuquerque that several horses were frightened by seeing a fire engine on the public streets this week.

HARMONY is a swell story—but the man who attempts to restore harmony between the politician and the chicken thief caught with the goods generally gets a swipe at the state.

"LET US make El Paso so attractive that nobody will ever leave it of his own accord."—El Paso Herald. This probably is to stop the epidemic of suicides in the Paso City.

FIVE THOUSAND revolvers were thrown into the Atlantic by Police Commissioner Dugan of New York. He may complete the good work by sending some 5,000 photographs after the guns.

"HAVE THE Divinity Professor imbibed hard cider?" is the blood curdling query which is whispered about in Oberlin O., following the sensational testimony of two restaurant men accused of selling booze.

"ARIZONA WIVES sell mine prospects for $10,000, while their husbands work for their living."—El Paso Herald.

And like as not the $10,000 will go into a new gown—while husband continues to work for a living.

MEN'S CLOTHES will be found this year. Green dyed suits are expected to be swaggers and magenta neckties and red shirts will take the fashionable set by storm. This is an invasion of the sacred rights of women which will undoubtedly be greeted by a wall of protest.

It would be a good thing if the sun would set heavily on the perpetrators of the foregoing.

HARRY SCORSE of Holbrook has returned home with a big cash in his face and a hair-raising tale of a bear as big as the Standard Oil company which walked across him while he lay asleep on the Apache reservation.

Mr. Scorse resents the imputation that the grub hooks like it had been made by a bottle neck instead of a bear's claw.

IT WAS announced by one of the ministers of a neighboring town a few weeks ago that he would preach on the subject of "Hell, and Why Will Be There," says a Kinman paper. Before Sunday came around he received letters from three lawyers, two magistrates, two town officials, and an editor, threatening to sue him for slander if he mentioned names in the discourse.

SANTA FE GRANTS BIG INCREASE IN WAGES

Two Cents an Hour Raise for Boilermakers and Machinists
Announced From Offices in Topeka.

HELPERS AND HANDY MEN
ALSO GET AN INCREASE

Affects Many Thousands of Men and Will Mean Several Thousand Dollars Bigger
Budget Here.

The boilermakers, machinists helpers and handy men in the local Santa Fe shops are wearing the local color smile today. The news reached here from Topeka yesterday that the Santa Fe has announced from the general offices an increase of wages of two cents an hour for all boilermakers and machinists on the system, some 4,000 in number, and an increase for helpers and handy men of a cent and a half an hour. The raise, which was announced by the employees, is effective October 1, and will mean a great deal to the employees of the system. It is an increase of twenty cents a day, six dollars a month, or seventy-five dollars a year for the boilermakers and machinists. There are perhaps approximately 400 of 500 men affected by the raise in the Albuquerque shops, so that the increase means, roughly speaking, about $25,000 more money paid out in the year to Albuquerque men. The extra earnings for the boilermakers and machinists alone will mean an additional budget of $250,000 a year from the company, so that the action taken is one of the most important affecting the mechanical department ever taken by the Santa Fe.

The raise was the sole topic of discussion in the local shops yesterday.

Limited in Ditch.

The Santa Fe train No. 4, generally known as the Chicago limited, ran into a ditch at Camden, Missouri, thirty-eight miles east of Kansas City at 12:25 last Monday morning. The derailment was caused by a broken eighth-five pound rail. The train was maintaining a rate of thirty-eight miles an hour when the derailment took place. The engine and entire train, consisting of five cars, was derailed. The train was in charge of Conductor J. E. Kautner. Engineer Hammer was in charge of the engine, No. 547. No one was injured and several of the travellers did not even leave their berths.

The passengers were transferred to train No. 2, which followed a short time later, and at 4:25 No. 2 continued the journey to Chicago. Three hundred feet of track were run up.

The Santa Fe is constructing a double track at this place and it did not take long to make a connection with the other track.

The track at this place has but recently been repaired. New rails were laid in June and stone ballast had been added since then. The rail was probably a defective one.

All Trains Punctual Late.

Defective locomotives on the Albuquerque division west of Gallup, N. M., and on the Arizona division, are given as the cause of trains Nos. 2, 3 and 8 being late yesterday. No. 2 arrived at 4:25 o'clock, while the east-bound flyer reached here at 6:45 o'clock, with No. 8 arriving here about 9 o'clock last night. Cold weather in Colorado, Kansas and northern New Mexico delayed Nos. 1, 7 and 2 last night, none of the three arriving here before midnight. No. 1 was in two sections, as was No. 7.

It was reported yesterday that Contractor A. W. Anson would start work on the new Santa Fe storehouse within the next ten days, the material to be used in erecting the new structure is beginning to arrive. Contractor Anson said yesterday that he did not know certainly just when the new storehouse would be started. To prepare for the construction work, the local Santa Fe section men have begun tearing down the old fence surrounding the present storehouse.

A freight wreck took place at Ortiz, a small station fifty-five miles north of Albuquerque, yesterday morning. The local wrecking crew was dispatched to the scene of trouble. Trains Nos. 10 and 3 were slightly delayed by the wreck.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beccandorf of Chicago, who arrived last night on the first section of No. 1, had a little adventure that they won't forget for some time. In their Pullman, occupying an upper berth was a woman, who watched the Beccandorfs very closely. When they got off Mrs. Beccandorf missed her valuable gold watch. After a search in the Pullman car, she of the upper berth finally surrendered the watch.

C. Selvy, chief special agent of the Santa Fe coast lines with headquarters at Los Angeles, and his son and daughter, were in the city Wednesday. Mr. Selvy returning home that night, while his children will stay for the time.

A. W. Skinner, piston inspector, is passing the winter around on account of a fine fourteen-pound boy, who was added to his family at 420 West Santa Fe street.

T. Scully, division storekeeper, went to Newton, Kas. yesterday morning to meet Mrs. Scully, who is returning home from a visit to relatives in Texas.

H. W. Jacobs, assistant superintendent of motive power, is expected in this city tomorrow from Topeka, en route to California, on an inspection tour.

G. H. Woods, traveling engineer of the second and third districts of the New Mexico division, was in the city yesterday.

George Wilkerson, a machinist, formerly employed at the local shops, has returned to this city to resume work here.

J. L. Snyder, bonus supervisor of the coast lines, passed through the city Wednesday night en route to Topeka.

Local trains are running over the Belen cut-off from Belen to Montalvo, according to a Santa Fe official.

Official, who spent yesterday in the city, and the construction department is rapidly building the line to Topeka. According to the railroad man, a good year's work is ahead of the contractors before they can turn the line over to the operating department. Six of the big 1800 type decapod engines are being used between Belen and Vaughn.

E. E. Arison, bonus supervisor of the eastern grand division, including the Topeka general shops, spent one day in the city this week.

J. R. Stokes, section foreman at Bluewater, N. M., has resigned to enter the trainmaster's department. G. S. Woodard succeeds him.

Walter Saunders, section foreman at Belen, is in Mexico on a vacation. Charles Rogers is relieving him.

Sky C. Overstreet, division special agent of the Albuquerque division, was in the city yesterday.

E. J. Snowden, special agent at Raton, has been detailed for special work at Kingman, Ariz., for the coast lines. He left late last night for that place.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Jacob Loeb, president of the southwestern brewery and ice company, is very seriously ill at his home in this city, and grave fears are entertained for his life. Mr. Loeb had expected to go to Los Angeles for treatment a week ago, but at the last minute was forced to abandon the trip because of the severity of his illness. A very large number of friends are waiting anxiously for news of improvement in his condition.

Officer Rabbitt, of the local police force, yesterday received from a brother in Kentucky a fine white hickory policeman's club, which is similar to the customary "billy" except in its color. Mr. Rabbitt's brother lives near Frankfort, Ky. When he learned that his brother had become a policeman, he secured a fine phase of the revolutionary period in club out of the rough wood. It is a very handsome affair.

There will be a meeting of the Woman's club at the club rooms at 3 o'clock this afternoon, at an excellent program, under the supervision of the literary department to commence at 2:30 o'clock. The principal topic for the papers and discussion will be the phase of the revolutionary period in American history. This meeting, which is expected to prove an exceptionally interesting one, will be the last held until after the fall.

A. L. Wheeler, of Philadelphia, recognized in the athletic world as one of the greatest guards that has ever played football, spent yesterday in the city, the guest of Howard Clark, a classmate at the University of Pennsylvania some years ago. Mr. Wheeler has been in Silver City and vicinity lately, looking up some mining property, and he is now en route to the University of Pennsylvania to resume his work with the football squad. He left last night for the east.

STOP THE STRENUOUS LIFE.

Weakens the Tissues and Lessens Organic Vitality.

The stress and strain of the strenuous life in both city and country tends towards stomach troubles. The frantic rush for pleasure, money and excitement is bringing serious results. Elaborate food, late suppers, over-eating and too much drinking are some of the causes of stomach weakness for which the individual is responsible.

Five people suffer today where one did ten years ago with sick headache, dizziness, flatulence, distress after eating, apoplexy before the eyes, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness and the many other symptoms of indigestion.

All who are suffering with stomach troubles, and that means at least two out of three in Albuquerque and other towns, should use Mi-on-na stomach tablets. Nothing else is as safe, yet effective; nothing else can be so thoroughly relied upon to relieve all troubles from indigestion as Mi-on-na. It is unlike any remedy heretofore known, and is actually one of the most valuable discoveries in modern medical science.

It is not a mere digestive taken after the food is eaten, but a true tonic, stimulant and strengthener for the muscular walls of the stomach, increasing the flow of digestive fluids and putting the stomach into such condition that it does the work nature expects it to do. It is an absolute and lasting cure for it banishes all weakness and debility from the stomach and bowels.

So reliable is Mi-on-na in its curative action that the J. H. O'Reilly Co., with every 50-cent box they sell, give a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy does all that is claimed for it.

Small Wrecks Delay Trains.

One of the Santa Fe's big new decapod locomotives jumped the track at Belen about 9 o'clock Wednesday night. It took the wrecking crew eight hours to get it on the track again. The engine, 1848, was pulling a draw from Belen and was just going onto the main line when the big machine, hopped off the track, tearing up ties, loosening rails and blocking both the Rio Grande and coast lines.

No. 1 left here Wednesday night at 9:35 o'clock, and Nos. 7 and 9 after 2 o'clock, but all were tied up at the junction until the track was cleared. The engine, with the exception of its pilot, was not damaged.

CRYING FOR HELP.

Lots of it in Albuquerque at Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys cry for help. Not an organ in the whole body so delicately constructed.

Not one so important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble.

It is the kidneys' cry for help.

Doan's Kidney Pills are what is wanted.

Are just what overworked kidneys need.

They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

Read the proof from an Albuquerque citizen.

Mrs. E. Fournelle, living at 403 S. Broadway, Albuquerque, N. M., says:

"I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a great many of my friends and acquaintances, and they have learned of a valuable medicine and, like myself, appreciate it exceedingly."

Two years ago I took Doan's Kidney Pills using in all three boxes and was cured of pain in my back, a trouble which I had for a good many years. I was also greatly relieved of rheumatism at the time and have never been bothered with this complaint since.

There is no question as to the virtue of Doan's Kidney Pills.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McLure Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Mrs. Hopper did not know of her husband's death until her arrival in Albuquerque, having started for this city on learning of his serious illness.

R. B. Bonar, of Lawrence, transacted business in Albuquerque yesterday.

Frank Allen and wife, of Los Angeles, were visitors in the city yesterday.

Alejandro Sandoval, of Corralles, was one of last night's arrivals in the city.

Lieutenant A. W. Hanson, Fifth United States cavalry, stationed at Fort Wingate, N. M., arrived in the city last night.

There will be a meeting of the ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic at the home of Mrs. J. G. Caldwell, 215 West Silver avenue, this afternoon at 2:30 this afternoon.

At the stockholders' meeting of the Albuquerque Pressed Brick and Tile company, held yesterday afternoon in the company's offices here, the following officers and directors were chosen: E. C. Allen, president; Charles Melini, vice president; W. J. Johnson, treasurer; M. E. Hickey, secretary. A. W. Hayden is the fifth director.
