The "Fighting the Flames" company gave a little exhibition run through the streets last night, much to the amusement of the crowd. Work on the big show has been moving forward very rapidly the past two days.

RED MEN TO HOLD BIG POWWOW DURING WEEK

Great Council of New Mexico
Will Gather Around Camp
Fire, Beginning 9 o'clock
Monday Morning.

One of the noteworthy conventions of fair week in Albuquerque will be the meeting of the Great Council of Red Men of New Mexico, which will convene at Red Men's hall at 9 o'clock Monday morning, October 7. The order has grown to be one of the strong ones of the territory, and a very large delegation of dusky braves is expected to be in the city to attend the powwow and stay to see the fair. There will be no warpaint, and the gathering will be a peaceful one, but none the less interesting. The local council, which has a strong membership, has made rather elaborate preparations to take care of the visitors and that they will be shown a good time it is unnecessary to state.

OCCIDENTAL PROMPT IN PAYMENT

Mrs. Clara A. Fuller Receives
$3,000 Within Three Days
After Claim is Placed on File.

The promptness with which the Occidental Life Insurance company of New Mexico pays its claims is shown from the following letter from Mrs. Clara A. Fuller, wife of a well known Socorro county stockman, whose death occurred a little more than ten days ago. The letter is self-explanatory.

San Marcel, N. M., Oct. 1, 1907.
Mr. J. H. O'Reilly,
Mgr. Occidental Life Ins. Co.,
Albuquerque, N. M.

Dear Sir:—
I beg to acknowledge receipt of draft for $3,000, and wish to thank the officers of the Occidental Life Insurance company, and also their agent, John F. Fullerton, for the prompt action they have taken in the adjustment and payment of my husband's policy.

There can be no better recommendation than the fact that I have only been three days since my husband's death, and I have already received the full amount of my claim. I am, therefore, most grateful to the Occidental Life Insurance company, especially as it is a home company, to all prospective insurers, and one entitled to the entire confidence of the people.

Wishing you every success, and again thanking you for past courtesies, I remain,

Gratefully yours,
MRS. CLARA A. FULLER.

Coming Attractions at the Crystal.
Among the new attractions scheduled to open at the Crystal theater tomorrow night for all fair week are Delmas and Martinette, an extraordinary pair of novelty artists, and Miss Molly Thompson, champion lady saxophone player.

La Bord and Ryerson, the sweet singers of last week, have been held over for the fair week, their work being particularly pleasing, and the new act having never been seen here before. As this team had an idle week, Manager Cordier requested Circuit Booking Agent Weston, to let him have them for the next week also, and his request was granted. In the new act Mr. La Bord appears as an awkward "coon" and Miss Ryerson as an actress. At the conclusion of the act La Bord impersonates a female and the finish shows two girls doing a clever song and dance. Nothing like it has been seen on the local stage and it is expected to be one of the hits of the week.

Molly Thompson does the stunning Hussar, trumpet and saxophone player and finishes up in a magnificent costume and skirt dance with beautiful color effects. Delmas and Martinette are an imported European act lately off the famous Orpheum circuit and coming at it is said, double the salary an ordinary act commands. New moving pictures, of course, will be shown and a new illustrated song.

The Crystal performance will be further dignified the coming week by the appearance of programs. Hit by hit the local management is endeavoring to offer the public as complete a continuous vaudeville show as is to be found anywhere in the country. Quite handsome and appropriate souvenirs for the ladies are announced for the coming Tuesday and Friday and patrons are requested to fetch their visiting lady friends along. With its attractive offers and modest prices of admission the Crystal should play to capacity all next week. In the meanwhile this week's very desirable show includes Mandala, the eccentric comedy juggler, La Bord and Ryerson, comedians and sweet singers; Beathan and Alta in the burlesque travesty, "Little Willie," etc., etc., are appearing for the final performances.

BROWNS AND EL PASO TEMPERANCE UNION TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON OF TERRITORY MEETS TODAY

FIRST TRY OUT OF TWO SPEEDY BASE BALL TEAMS

Browns Are in Gilt Edged Condition, While Pass City Has Fast Crowd — El Paso and Socorro Open Tournament.

The first opportunity which the fans will have to get a line on the fair base ball tournament which opens tomorrow afternoon will come this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the Browns and the El Paso team will play an exhibition game, the winning team to take the heavy end of the gate receipts. The game is called for and will begin promptly at 2 o'clock.

The tournament opens tomorrow afternoon and as now arranged the first game will be between El Paso and Socorro. The Socorro team is said to have developed suddenly into one of the strongest base ball aggregations in the country, while El Paso is not at all slow. This afternoon's game, however, will give the fans an opportunity to see what El Paso is going to do.

The Browns are in splendid condition for the tournament. Franks, whose tall form is more or less familiar on the local diamond and Jimmie Durham of Kansas City, were out with the team for practice yesterday and with Galigne, Crabbe and Roy Corhan, the Browns' galaxy of star twirlers is a good one and one of the quietest. It is believed, will be able to produce something to stop Harry Hitt, the brilliant young Texan, who is going to lead El Paso's attack on first night. The whole of the team was out for practice yesterday afternoon, Kuntz, McHugh, Graham, Clancy, Green, Brierly, Nelson, McDonald and the whole crowd, and the work while short was like a well regulated clock. The El Paso team in addition to Hitt, who is more than a marvel, has acquired several other Texas leaguers who are said to have surprises with them, and this afternoon's game will be watched with considerable interest not only by the local fans but by the partisans of the other teams engaged in the fair tournament.

Manager M. R. Hickey of the tournament, announced yesterday that he expected El Paso and Socorro to lead off the games Monday afternoon. Silver City and Winslow, will be in Albuquerque this evening ready to take their turn at the game and the money. The tournament just now promises to be in every way the fastest meeting since base ball became a feature of the fair.

BOY FALLS IN TO A LIME KILN

W. K. Preston Called to El Paso
by Painful Injury Sustained by His Son.

Professor W. K. Preston, formerly a member of the University faculty and now chemist of the big cement manufacturing plant at El Paso, arrived in the city yesterday from California, where he has been for some months in the interest of the cement industry.

Upon his arrival here, Professor Preston received a telegram urging him to come to El Paso at once, as his young son, Herbert, had fallen in one of the lime kilns at the new plant and was badly burned. He leaves this morning for El Paso.

"The big plant is going up rapidly," said Prof. Preston last night, "and it won't be long before we are making genuine Portland cement and selling it here in Albuquerque much cheaper than the contractors get it at present."

CAVALRYMEN WILL GO IN CAMP AT LUNA PARK

Troopers Will Arrive This Country Ride — At Isleta
Last Night.

This morning troops L and K, Fifth United States cavalry will march through Albuquerque to their camp in Luna park where the cavalrymen will make their home during their week in Albuquerque. The troops camped last night at Isleta where they will move early this morning arriving in the city shortly before noon. Captain Clark M. Carr has been appointed chairman of a social committee of the Fair association which will welcome the soldiers as they cross Barajas bridge and escort them to the camp in Luna park where water and all necessary equipment for a first class camp ground has been provided. It had been planned to place the soldiers at the end of West Gold avenue but Luna park offered many advantages and was the choice of the officers.

The troops left Fort Wingate, Wednesday, and have since been making a leisurely march across the territory although first class time has been made when the condition of the roads is considered and the fact that the soldiers are carrying their heavy equipment with them. Lieutenant Colonel Hunter, commander at Fort Wingate, is in command, and the troops are under Captain Willard and Lieutenant Warren.

The cavalrymen will be given an opportunity to rest after their hard march this afternoon and evening and will make their first appearance in tomorrow afternoon's program at the fair grounds.

The soldiers arrived at Isleta at 5 o'clock last night, and after making camp, Lieutenant Colonel George R. Hunter and another officer came to Albuquerque to make arrangements for the troops' camp in Luna Park. According to Colonel Hunter an unusual trip was had the main making an average of thirty miles a day since leaving Fort Wingate.

WILL KEEP OPEN HOUSE DURING THE FAIR

Consolidated Liquor Company,
Veteran Albuquerque Establishment, Extends an Invitation to All Its Friends.

The Consolidated Liquor company, corner of Copper avenue and North First street, just across the street from the big "Fighting the Flames" show, is extending a cordial invitation this week to its many friends and all fair visitors to call and inspect its new home and enormous stock.

The Consolidated Liquor company is composed of a combination, recently effected of two of the oldest and most firmly established firms in the southwest, Meini and Eakin and Hachechi and Glom, who have been doing a wholesale business in fine liquors and cigars in this city and throughout the territory for the past twenty years. The consolidated firm is one of the strongest houses of its kind in the west and through the combination has been enabled to make a very substantial increase in its stock and to so extend its business that it is now well known throughout the entire southwest. The firm carries the largest and most complete stock of wines, liquors, cigars and kegs and bottled beer in the two territories. They are exclusive agents for such famous lines as Yellowstone whiskey, Green River whiskey, the official whiskey by the way of the United States government hospitals, Jas E. Pepper, T. J. Monarch, Greenbaum's, Betherdale, Hunter Rye, Canadian Club, Alva Club and a number of other whiskeys which through long use and wide advertising, are household words. In fact, if there is any brand of whiskey you desire, that it is good and standard you will be pretty sure to find it in the warehouses of the Consolidated Liquor company.

This company not only handles an exclusive line of the finest whiskeys and imported wines and liquors, but it is also agent for and distributors of Lempi's famous "Falsified Beer," the almost equally famous A. B. C. beer of the American Brewing company, the Bohemian being considered by many experts the perfect beer; and also for Schlitz, the beer that made Milwaukee famous.

The Consolidated Liquor company has been able to secure the exclusive agency for the famous Italian Swiss colony wines while its line of French and Italian liquors is absolutely complete.

The company has been pushing its business rapidly in recent months and has now extended its trade to every nook and corner of New Mexico and Arizona. Its continued prosperity is sufficient evidence of the standing of the firm and its well known reputation for moderate prices, standard goods and the secure deal.

UNDERWRITING NOTES

Some Interesting Details in Regard to the Record That is Being Made by a Remarkably Strong, Useful and Successful Institution—The Occidental Life Insurance Company, of New Mexico and Arizona—Its Authorized Capital Stock is $1,000,000, and It Has Over a Dozen Bankers of New Mexico and Arizona on Its Board of Directors—It Expected to Write a $1,000,000 Worth of Business This Year, and Has Written $1,192,000 in Nine Months.

Remarkable in the extreme is the record that is being made by the life insurance interests of the United States. Life insurance has to do with the consequences of the gravest fact in life—our departure from it; and the administration of its affairs includes transactions of enormous magnitude, affecting directly the banking, real estate and other leading departments of modern business enterprises. That it shall be conducted with the necessary grasp, ability and honor is of supreme moment to tens of thousands of families constituting the best citizenship of the country. In short, there is no possibility of exaggerating the value that ought to be given by an intelligent public to the utmost vigilance in the observation of the methods pursued by the many companies which are keenly competing for new business.

And the statistics of life insurance are very gratifying, regarded as a whole. There is evidence in the large figures presented of thrift in the people, of well established confidence in the companies now in the field for business, and generally of an intelligent appreciation of the principle of insurance. This indeed is far less a subject of treatment in the advertising literature put out by the companies than it used to be. A well informed public sees readily the advantages of an investment which secures at once an estate large enough to insure comfort for a bereaved family in return for a premium which, in its amount—thanks to the power of getting the little together and making a large whole of them—is small and can be regarded, as it is regarded, as among the indispensable expenditures of the family. The literature of insurance is more than ever statements by the various companies, pointing out the advantage claimed by each one for itself over its competitors. Never before was this method of competition more keenly and ably displayed and enforced, which is an excellent thing for the public, and, as we have said, is gratifying proof of a more general appreciation of the advantages of insurance on its part.

Not but what there is abundant scope for an enormous increase of life insurance business in all parts of this country of eighty millions of people. Hundreds of thousands of new families are being founded all the time, and the future must be provided for by all of these young people who take a correct view of their parental obligations. The importance of this must be brought home to the people—if by means of a local company which is entitled to their respect and confidence, so much the better. Hence we are very pleased to note the increase and gratifying success of companies in numerous centers of population—companies which are home companies to the people whom they insure and whose patronage they are seeking, which cordially promote local investments and improvements, and are identified in the requirements of their organization, with local legislation. These features of the business are excellent, in making certain a larger increase of insurance than is possible by the solicitations of foreign companies, and promoting in important ways other substantial local interests. This country is so vast, its population is so largely increasing, that such a company as the Occidental Life Insurance Company, of New Mexico and Arizona, has a field of practically unlimited enterprise and success opened to it.

This is an institution to which it is proper to refer in this connection at some considerable length. It has its headquarters at Albuquerque, New Mexico, and is not a very old institution, but it has made remarkably rapid progress from the first, and it has today as brilliant prospects for the future as any life insurance company in the country. It has an authorized capital stock of $1,000,000, but the men who control its affairs as officers and directors and stockholders probably represent an aggregate wealth of not less than $100,000,000, as will be seen from the following list of names as Directors: Joshua S. Reynolds, President of the First National Bank, Albuquerque, and also of the First National Bank of El Paso; Alonzo B. McMillen, Attorney; W. M. Flournoy, Vice President First National Bank of Albuquerque; Dr. James H. Wroth, physician, Albuquerque; R. J. Palen, of the First National Bank of Santa Fe; James Graham McNary, Banker, El Paso, Texas; Henry D. Bowman, Banker, Las Cruces; W. D. Murray, President Silver City National Bank; Solomon Luna, President Bank of Commerce, Albuquerque; C. N. Blackwell, Cashier First National Bank of Raton; Mark A. Rogers, physician, Tucson; L. B. Christy, Banker, Phoenix; E. A. Cahoon, Cashier First National Bank of Roswell; T. E. Pollock, President Arizona Central Bank, Flagstaff; E. W. Wells, Vice President Bank of Arizona, Prescott; John R. Hulet, merchant, Holbrook; M. J. Cunningham, Cashier Bank of Bisbee; Bisbee; John W. Poe, President Citizens' National Bank, Roswell; Frank McKee, Cashier First National Bank, Albuquerque, and J. H. O'Reilly, insurance.

It will be seen that there are over a dozen bankers on this board, and it is not at all too much to say that there is no institution of the kind under stronger or more competent control than this one. The officers are as follows: President, Joshua S. Reynolds, President of the First National Bank of Albuquerque; President of the First National Bank of El Paso; a financier and capitalist of sterling worth and integrity, and a man who is looked up to and respected by everybody, and a tower of strength to what ever he is identified with.

Vice President: Hon. Solomon Luna, President of the Bank of Commerce, Albuquerque, N. M., and one of the wealthiest sheep owners of the Southwest; also a leading politician and financial power in the Southwest whose word is as good as his bond, and R. J. Palen, President of the First National Bank of Santa Fe, a capitalist and banker of extensive reputation.

The Secretary and General Manager, Mr. J. H. O'Reilly, is one of the best posted and most popular insurance men in the country, a man with extended experience with some of the giant insurance companies of the world; a natural born organizer and handler of men (capable of writing insurance, and a gentleman of character and ability).

The Attorney for the company is the Hon. A. B. McMillen, one of the leading attorneys of the Southwest; a man of wealth and high commercial standing.

The Executive Committee are: M. W. Flournoy, capitalist; A. B. McMillen, capitalist; Sol Luna, capitalist and banker; J. H. O'Reilly, and Joshua S. Reynolds. Dr. J. H. Wroth, one of the prominent medical men of New Mexico, is Medical Director of the Company.

As already indicated, this company has made exceedingly rapid progress from the first, and it is learned that it expects to write at least about $1,250,000 worth of business this year. The plan of campaign, so to speak, upon which it is operating, was mapped out, it is understood, by Secretary J. H. O'Reilly, and the influence of his sound judgment and wise methods is everywhere evident. The company is writing all the most acceptable forms of policies, and its rates are in every sense of the words strictly reasonable.

It can be predicted with certainty that under the wise and conservative, and yet progressive, management of President Reynolds, Secretary O'Reilly and their colleagues, the company will play a most important and useful part in the underwriting history in time to come. It is an institution of which great things may be expected. It is founded upon absolutely sound principles, and its system embodies features of usefulness not to be found in the system of any other organization that we know of. It is from every point of view entitled to the complete confidence of intelligent men and women. It has before it prospects that leave nothing to be desired. It bases its claims to public confidence and consideration upon its financial strength, upon the experience and practical knowledge brought to bear by the men who are its active managers; upon the soundness and conservatism of its methods of doing business, and upon the promptness and liberality with which it meets its engagements for the payment of losses when due. In short, the methods of this company are business-like and up-to-date in every particular, and its officers have demonstrated its policies to be as desirable as those of even the oldest and largest of its competitors. Those who purchase them are assured of perfect security and indemnity. We do not know of any life insurance company more justly entitled to public confidence than the Occidental Life.

You have tried the East, now try the West and keep the money at home. The Occidental loans to the people of New Mexico and Arizona already exceeds the combined loans of all the eastern companies in the two territories. This alone should appeal to your patronage.

EL PASO MEN HOLD CHARITABLE VIEWS

Chamber of Commerce Cannot Do Anything About the Coal Price and Business Men Say It Is a Case of Railroad and Dealer Getting All They Can

The following more or less charitable series of expressions on the recent increase in the price of coal are from the El Paso Times of Sunday morning:

It was reported yesterday that the chamber of commerce intended to investigate the recent rise in the price of coal in El Paso and ascertain if it was due to the action of the Santa Fe railroad in raising its freight rates on coal. The price of coal has been raised from $7 to $9 per ton, and when Secretary Tilton, of the chamber of commerce, was asked yesterday what the chamber of commerce was going to do about it, he said:

"I have given this matter some investigation and will make my report to the board at their next meeting, but so far as I can see there is nothing that the board can do to afford any relief. All commodities, with very few exceptions, are steadily advancing in cost to the consumer, and naturally coal would follow suit. Most of the local coal for domestic use comes from Gallup, N. M., a local point on the Santa Fe Pacific, 411 miles from El Paso. On account of its superior quality the people demand it, and on which the freight rate is now $2.45 and will on October 1 be raised to $2.70, or a total advance in freight since last fall of 96 cents per ton. The railroad people claim, and with reason, that it was an abnormal rise, as a comparison with the rate from Dawson, N. M., will prove, from which point the rate to El Paso is $2.30 for a haul of 463 miles. The case is simply one of supply and demand. I am told that the coal people can sell their entire tonnage in Los Angeles for $2.50 per ton and better, and it is manifestly unreasonable to expect them to take a less price from an El Paso dealer. However, they have an established market here which they are in duty bound to protect. The El Paso man insists on having the best, and as usual as in this case, he will have to pay the price. The Dawson field, I presume, cannot be considered, as their output is used by the southwestern and its allied industries, besides, as it is claimed, it is not a good quality for domestic use as the Gallup article. It is possible that a new source of supply might be reached on the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain and Pacific, which is extending its line into the coal fields, but the Gallup coal, on account of its quality, will command the best price. Then, too, I understand that the American Coal company, operating in that district, has recently absorbed its rivals, which is invariably an important factor in regulating prices."

So it seems that the only reason for an advance in the price of coal is that Los Angeles can be squeezed into paying $3.50 per ton at the mines for it and because the mine owners are going to rob the consumer, the railroad sees no reason why it should not also get into the hold-up game and advance its freight rates.

"It is nothing," said a local manufacturer yesterday, "but a hold-up all around. It is not costing the mine owners any more to mine the coal than it cost last year, and it is not costing the railroads any more to haul it. But one company has secured control of our coal supply and raises the price because it controls the supply. Then the railroad, not caring to be outdone in the highway robbery act, raises its rates on hauling coal. It is enough to make the country rise up and demand government ownership of railroads and all coal lands."

"Beer is hauled from St. Louis to El Paso, a distance of over 1,600 miles, for $16 per ton. Beer is perishable goods and the railroads have to pay for ice to keep it cool. The distance from Gallup to El Paso is 411 miles and the freight rate on coal is $2.70 per ton, and there is no ice to buy and no time limit on getting the coal here. A car carries 20 tons of coal and should make the trip from Gallup here in 24 hours at the outside. That is $54 per day for a coal car, when a Pullman coach costs only $45 per day. It is a matter for investigation."

CRAWFORD SAYS ARIZONA IS ENTITLED TO RIGHTS
Democratic National Committeeman Declares Time Has Never Been More Opportune for Statehood Than at Present.

"Arizona is justly entitled to statehood for herself. The time has never been more opportune than it is at present," this is the statement of Hon. Ben M. Crawford, democratic national committeeman for Arizona, here last night. Mr. Crawford had been asked for his opinion of the reported statement of Governor Kibbey in Los Angeles to the effect that Arizona is not at present fully ripened for statehood, says the Tucson Citizen.

"I can see no valid objection to statehood," he remarked. "Arizona is developing rapidly. Its population—good, clean, intelligent, progressive and pushing citizens—is rapidly increasing. Its mineral resources are being developed on a big scale and in this line it is rapidly forging to the front. It has demonstrated that it is well able to handle its own affairs and to all justice statehood for this territory should not be long delayed."

Mr. Crawford left early this morning for Clifton, having stopped over here en route to his home from the east, where he has been for the past month. He has no pessimism over here en route to his home from the east, where he has been for the past month. He has no pessimism over the present slump in the price of copper.

"I believe that when matters are finally settled copper will bring eighteen cents, which will likely be a standard price," he said. "At that price one can be sold at a good profit even though it is of a low grade."

Mr. Crawford is commenting on reports of applicants for the position of delegate to congress stated that he was strongly of the opinion that Delegate Mark Smith is the only logical candidate to succeed himself.

NEW ROUNDHOUSE FOR SANTA FE SHOPS HERE

OLD STRUCTURE CRAMMED WITH BIG LOCOMOTIVE

General Manager Hurley Says
Albuquerque is Getting the Best End of it—Party of Officials Here.

"A new Santa Fe roundhouse is to be erected in Albuquerque. While the present structure will not be entirely dismantled, part of it will have to go on account of the constantly increasing amount of traffic through Albuquerque, and the number of engines that run in here, the present building cannot hold all of the locomotives," remarked J. W. Kendrick, second vice president of the Santa Fe at the local roundhouse yesterday afternoon.

Vice President Kendrick arrived here about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the east in a special train, on which were General Manager J. E. Hurley, General Secretary and Treasurer Edward L. Copeland, Superintendent of Transportation J. W. Kouns, Assistant Superintendent of Motive Power H. W. Jacobs and others.

Mr. Kendrick, General Superintendent H. W. Sharpe, Mechanical Superintendent M. J. Drury of La Junta, and General Roundhouse Inspector J. E. Whiteford visited the roundhouse to decide what part of the old, but substantial structure should be torn down. General Manager Hurley with several other officials spent the afternoon "hunking" about the city in a big automobile.

"All this talk of Albuquerque being given the cold shoulder by the Santa Fe is bosh," said General Manager Hurley. "Just because we are going to divert the California fast freight east via the Belen cut-off. The new storehouse here is about ready for the carpenters, and the shops addition will follow soon. The tie picking plant is being rushed."

Today the "brass collars" separate. Vice President Kendrick and several other officials leave for a trip over the coast lines, while Manager Hurley, Superintendent Sharpe, Secretary-Treasurer Copeland, Mr. Drury, Mr. Kouns, J. E. Gorman, freight traffic manager, and Superintendent W. K. Etter and Trainmaster Payson Ripley comprise a party which will go to El Paso on a special train.

Tomorrow in El Paso a directors' meeting of the Union Depot company of that place will be held, of which Mr. Hurley is president, several of the other Santa Fe officials being directors.

Frank Ray, an operator in the local Santa Fe relay station, accompanied by his wife and children left last night for California and the Grand Canyon on a thirty day's vacation.

The Santa Fe surveyors are busy getting the ground adjoining the old storehouse ready for the new building which is to be erected this morning. Considerable material has arrived and more is expected daily, but Contractor Anson has not yet started to work.

S. M. Vauclain general manager of the Baldwin Locomotive works, spent yesterday in the city with the party of Santa Fe officials. He returned east last night.

J. W. Kurn, superintendent of the New Mexico division, and E. J. Gibson, superintendent of the Albuquerque division were in the city last night.

Thomas Scully, division storekeeper, returned home last night from Newton, Kas., where he went to meet Mrs. Scully, returning from a visit in Texas.

Engineers Rydholm and Flemming and Firemen O'Farrell and Stinson were deadheaded here yesterday from Gallup.

A. R. Browning, distribution clerk in the storekeeper's office, and his bride, formerly Miss Lela Stowell, left last night for Chanute, Kas., on their wedding tour. Returning home they will visit in Colorado.

N. H. Andrus, watch inspector for the Rio Grande division, will arrive here from San Marcial Tuesday to examine the timepieces of the local trainmen and visit the fair.

Engine 2173, an oil burner used on the Valley division of the coast lines, was turned out of the shops yesterday.

How to Cure a Cold.

The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary suffering is one in which we are all more or less interested, for the quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less danger of pneumonia, and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years, and says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all druggists.

NO CONFETTI SAVE ON CARNIVAL NIGHT

ACTING MAYOR WILKERSON
SAYS IT DOESN'T GO

Tendency to Rowdiness Will be Vigorously Suppressed During the Entire Week, So that Ladies May Feel Safe.

Alderman Thomas N. Wilkerson, who is mayor of Albuquerque during the absence of Mayor Frank McKee, is rigidly opposed to the promiscuous use of confetti on the streets of Albuquerque save on carnival night. Saturday of fair week, and then only under the most careful regulations.

"So long as I am acting as mayor of this city," said Alderman Wilkerson last night, "there is to be no throwing of confetti save on carnival night, and then only under the most careful regulations. So far as I know the city council has not authorized the promiscuous use of confetti during the fair week and I do not believe it will do so. The police regulations during the fair in past years have usually been exceptionally good, and the city has been reasonably free from objectionable disorder. But for the past two years there has been a tendency to make every night of the fair week a carnival night, and to carry the use of confetti and other things, not so unobjectionable, to extremes that are intolerable. At the last fair we had confetti from one day's end to the other, and the streets were at times almost impossible for ladies through the throwing of confetti mixed with sand and dirt and through the use of the unlimited variety of squawks, rubber return balls and other instruments of torture, all of which should be prohibited at all times, including carnival night. Harmless fun and objectionable rowdiness are widely divided and the police should see to it that this year the dividing line is extremely plain and that the man or boy who steps over it is promptly put where he cannot offend again. There is a limit to everything, and while Albuquerque wants her visitors to have a good time, she is also going to see to it that these same visitors are protected from undue annoyance on the streets."

CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY MEETS

Dr. Lukens Says First Annual Convention Has Demonstrated Great Usefulness of Organization.

Dr. Charles E. Lukens, superintendent of the Children's Home society, has returned to the city from Roswell, where the first annual meeting of the society was held last week. Dr. Lukens said that the meeting was a very successful one and proved conclusively that the society was doing good for homeless children in New Mexico.

Joshua S. Reynolds of this city, was elected president, while Dr. J. S. Easton was elected treasurer. Dr. Lukens was re-elected superintendent and Drs. Easton and Lukens and Mr. Reynolds were also elected directors. According to the reports of the various officers the society is in an excellent condition and without a single debt, which, considering that the organization is only in its first year, is a remarkable record. Improvements were suggested, one of erecting a receiving home in the most central portion of the territory for the homeless waifs for their rearing and giving them an education.

GIVE THE KIDS A CHANCE.

It was a serious mistake to limit the school children of the city to two days off, during the coming week—the week of all the year. Fair week, in Albuquerque, should be in the same class with Christmas week. It is a week when we are expected to give ourselves up to sight-seeing, entertaining company, and having a good time generally, and every sort of business that can be suspended without serious loss should be put aside for the entire week—and the schools are certainly within the list of those sorts that would not suffer. Indeed, they suffer a great deal more from an attempt to keep them going part of the time than they would from complete suspension, because a large number of the pupils will absent themselves, anyhow, and that causes demoralization, and hurts the school for a good while afterwards. It is impossible to avoid such a result, for "how can you expect a fellow to keep his mind on books" when he is surrounded every hour in the day by ball games, horse races, merry-go-rounds and brass bands? Big folks can't give proper attention to business with such surroundings, and it is sheer nonsense to expect children to work such a miracle.

And besides, the boys and girls have an inalienable right to the privilege of enjoying themselves, when the necessary conditions come to them, and it is a sin—it is a crime against nature—to try to prevent them from doing so. Possibly the sedate old gentlemen who constitute the school board have gathered such a store of years that they have forgotten what it is to be a boy, but it is a condition that only comes to a man once in a lifetime. People who persist in lagging superfluously on the stage, may attain to a pitiable sort of childhood again, but they can never be boys and girls but once, on this side of the dark river, and when the grim ferryman takes them over, there will be found balance enough on the trouble side of the ledger, after the world has done all it can to give them a good time. Then let's give the kids a chance.

A PECULIAR MEETING.

The convention of states' attorneys general, held at St. Louis during the past week, was unique in its composition, even in this age of conventions of almost every imaginable sort of material. The meeting was the immediate outgrowth of the recent and pending prosecutions and investigations of certain illegal combinations and other persistent offenders. The fact that several states were fighting for the same things at the same time suggested the idea of a meeting for the exchanging of notes and discussion of methods and principles.

By the time the convention assembled the ideas of some of the attorneys general had broadened and the programme had been correspondingly enlarged. Questions of trust and corporate policy were discussed, the state-federal conflicts of jurisdiction in rate regulation cases claimed and received earnest attention, and a permanent organization was effected for the purpose of "presenting a united front" in legal proceedings, although, under our system of government and infinite diversity of laws and judicial constructions, it is not clear what this phrase means in a practical sense.

The convention included "radical" delegates as well as "conservative" ones. One of the former, in order to free the hands of the states, advocated the repeal of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution. That amendment was adopted, he said, in the interest of the negroes, to whom it has been of "no use," and has been employed as an anti-state weapon by railroads and other engaged in interstate commerce. It is hardly necessary to say that the convention did not incorporate this thought into its resolutions.

But the resolutions as they stand are certainly radical enough, and, whether one agrees with them or not, they challenge attention.

They recommend a federal law prohibiting the bringing of suits by persons interested in corporations to restrain such corporations from obeying state acts, and a law depriving circuit courts of all jurisdiction in cases brought to restrain state officers from enforcing, or state commissions from issuing, administrative orders, or from bringing suits in state courts to enforce local laws.

This is a more advanced and more explicit recommendation than that of the recent Nebraska republican convention, which favored the enactment of federal laws to prohibit the United States courts from enjoining state officers charged with the enforcement of state laws.

There are those who hold that such prohibition is impossible under the existing constitutional provisions in regard to the judicial power, but the attorneys general do not mention any constitutional amendment. Did they think it unnecessary or—hopeless? Do they agree with the political writers who say that constitutional amendment is practically impossible in the United States?

THE COLOR LINE IN CHURCH.

A special dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald, from Richmond, Va., where the national triennial convention of the Episcopal church in the United States is now in session, tells us that a great deal of trouble is expected by the members, over the color question. The virtual exclusion or separation of negroes from the Episcopal church will be urged by delegates. There is a large faction in the convention which advocates the closing of negro missions and schools, allowing the negroes to drop out and scatter among other religious bodies. Another faction favors the creation of negro bishops to serve independently over negro churches, while another plan is to appoint bishops to serve under the direction of the white bishops of their dioceses. Still another scheme is to give the negroes three bishops and let them erect an autonomous church.

Right Rev. A. V. Winington-Ingram, bishop of London, preached the sermon at the celebration of the holy communion in Holy Trinity church, the opening ceremony.

Reopening of the debate on the remarriage of divorced persons is an important feature of the business programme. Many of the delegates will urge the passage of a more drastic canon and possibly the prohibition entirely of remarriage of a divorced person by any clergyman of the Episcopal church.

In his sermon the lord bishop of London said in part:

"Undoubtedly the future can only belong to a church which believes and preaches the forth-reaching, energizing and active love of God. No church will save the world except a church that believes and proclaims and lives out the love of God to every child that He has made."

"And with the gospel of the love of God must go what we call in England the message of a free salvation—that the eternal Son of God came into this world and gave himself for his brothers; that the Christian religion does not consist in a belief in a good man named Jesus Christ dying on the cross, but consists in a belief in the sacrifice of God Himself. The future lies with no church which sinks to the so-called new theology."

"The church of the future must undoubtedly possess the unbroken ministry and the historic sacraments which you possess in the church of America today. Hold fast that thou hast, that no man take thy crown."

"But after all this is said and done the most evangelistic, the most catholic, the most orthodox church on earth will produce no effect upon the world if it has not still one further characteristic. It must clearly and unmistakably and before all the world be unworship itself. The greatest danger of the church on both sides of the Atlantic is worldliness."

TWO NOTABLE EVENTS.

The Territorial Fair, which has grown to be the most notable event in the agricultural life of New Mexico opens in this city tomorrow morning, to continue throughout the week. Simultaneously there will open in Chicago an exposition of agricultural products known as "the Corn Exhibit," which now claims to be national in character—and it must be admitted, since entries of articles for exhibition have this year been made by more than half the states of the union. The Chicago show is based upon Indian corn, and well it may be, because corn is the country's chief cereal product; it has transformed the wilderness into a garden, and has brought prosperity to thousands of farming communities.

Entertainment will be added to instruction at the exhibition, and city people who never handled plow or cultivator will discover many attractions in the exposition. They will enjoy examining the household articles made from corn husks, the corn kitchen will have an interest for them, and although they cannot all pronounce with the definitive judgment of experts on a husking bee, like some of the ex-farmers of Chicago who are to appear in experience meetings, they will derive much pleasure from this and other features of the big corn festival.

In the official programme it is said that "the national corn exhibition originated from a desire of corn growers and Chicago business men to hold a great corn show where the best samples of corn could be exhibited."

HEAVEN AND HELL IN CHICAGO.

"Hell and heaven can both be found in Chicago. You don't have to stir from the city."

So said Rev. Dr. M. M. Parkhurst Wednesday in his semi-centennial sermon following the opening exercises of the sixty-eighth session of the Rock River annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. St. James' church was filled with Methodists from every pastorate in the city, and after thinking a moment of the full import of the speaker's utterance they applauded him.

"I never was brought up on the kind of Methodism that declares there is a real hell of fire and brimstone," said Dr. Parkhurst. "Nor was I taught to believe that there was a real heaven of gold paved streets. The highest Christian ideal is heaven. The lowest moral status is hell. We have them both in Chicago. Many a man born in Boston thinks heaven is unnecessary."

"You can't be converted without entire consecration. Don't bring a diseased lamb to the sacrifice. You are not acting honest with God when you do. Sometimes it is necessary to take a spiritual cathartic to get the biliousness of sin out of your system. There are 7,000 licensed saloons in Chicago. This means $7,000,000 revenue to the city. The devil tempts the business man with this argument. High license means a higher grade of evil. Unless you remove the yoke of high license you cannot lessen the drink curse."

Because these wholesome truths were enunciated by a Methodist preacher, it doesn't follow that our Methodist brethren can keep them to themselves. They constitute just as good meat for all the rest of us as for them.

FOR ARBITRATION.

The eminent prelate, Cardinal Gibbons, though a Catholic, is honored and respected by the whole Christian world without regard to sect, and is everywhere recognized as an able man as well as a good man. In a recent magazine article he expresses great sorrow that some plan cannot be arranged between employers and employees, whereby all disagreements might be settled by arbitration, because strikes invariably result in the injury of the working man in the end, even though he may seem to carry his point for the time being. Here is one paragraph from his article:

"It would be a vast stride in the interests of peace and of the laboring classes if the policy of arbitration which is now gaining favor for the settlement of international quarrels, were also availed of for the adjustment of disputes between capital and labor. Many blessings would result from the adoption of this method, for while strikes, as the name implies, are aggressive and destructive, arbitration is conciliatory and conservative. The result in the former case is determined by the weight of the purse, in the latter by the weight of the argument."

STILL A VERY LONG WAY OFF.

As Mr. Roosevelt remarked in his speech at Cairo, "the millennium is still a long way off." And this pronouncement is corroborated by the fact that the efforts of The Hague peace conference do not promise much when we reflect that all the big governments of the world are intent on increasing armaments, and that such as have them use them in a fashion highly suggestive of a chip on the shoulder. The autumn maneuvers of the British fleet are now a subject of comment in the press of the United Kingdom and it is freely stated that their object will be "to teach the officers what the Admiralty would expect of them in case of war with Germany." In the face of such talk, it is absurd to a degree to speak of big armies and navies giving assurance of peace. Their possession is a temptation to use them, and it will be seen at an early day that a fatal mistake has been made in not heeding the demand for disarmament, which comes from the people but is denied by so-called statesmen because they lack the moral courage to pursue a course which would accomplish the desired result.

Easy Steps for Little Feet.

O, mother, Who is That?
That, dear Child, is the Common Geeser.

What is the Matter with the Common Geeser?
The Common Geeser, my Beloved Offspring, is in a Serious Condition.

Why, mother, is the Common Geeser Doped up like a Dislocated Grappler? Has he been eating Green Peasmon?
No, Billy Infant, the Common Geeser has just discovered that the Editor of the Almanac has been allowing the Water Company the Use of his Distinguished Name on Account of His High Prestige and Lofly Standing as an Attorney, a Citizen, a man of the Hour, the inventor of the Comptometer and Register of the United States Land Office.

Mother, is all this what has given the Geeser these Strange Convulsions?
No, my Child, The Word is Yet to Come.

What, then is it, Mother, which has caused the Poor Creature these Uncontrollable Spasms and Paralyzing Contortions?
Foolish Child, I will Educate The Editor of the Almanac has been discovered to be an Assistant Tax Dodger.

The Claim.

There are still certain republican papers in the territory that persist in fighting ex-Governor Hagerman. It seems to us that they would take the hint that the people of the territory are sick and tired of this continual row. It reminds us of some big overgrown boy who has a smaller one down and keeps tantalizing him just because he can. When Mr. Hagerman was ousted from office by a "square deal" president, that president was told to either say more or take back what he had already said, and he saw fit to close his mouth like a clam and has kept it closed ever since. This alone satisfied us that he found he was backing up the wrong tree and knew it. Now if some of our friends across the hill cut it, it will take a great deal better with the people in general.—Hagerman Messenger.

Solos

THEY'RE off in a pinch tomorrow.
O, WHAT A Vindication was there, my countrymen!

MAX A TAX dodger! And after all those Foul Asperations!
THE HAND of your Uncle Samuel can teach a long way—when it wants to.

GET OUT your Sunday face and shine it up. You will need it all this week.
CANCER germs have now been discovered in wall paper. Never lick the wall paper.

PROBABLY this bill that Max tried to collect twice from the county was due to an error in Book keeping.

THE ONLY knockers heard in Albuquerque now are the carpenters driving nails in the new houses.

IT WOULD be interesting to know whether the Ex-Register values his "Prestige and High Standing" as much as Priehard.

IT WOULD be interesting to find out what the Interstate commerce commission thinks of a profit of $3 a ton.

A LITTLE investigation, it is believed, will demonstrate that the dealers are selling their coal at an enormous loss.

NOW THAT THE excitement has died down and the clouds have lifted, did anyone hear whether Max ever paid for that penitentiary brick?

THE SMALL boy has happened on hard times. They are now framing up an ordinance to keep him from playing base ball on the streets of Tucson.

THE COURT has refused to let the Ex-Register collect a bill from the county twice and the Comptometer is in the back shops for a thorough overhaul.

THE ASTUTE perpetrator of the Almanac employs the same arithmetic in figuring up bills against the county that he does in computing the penitentiary cost.

THE EVENING paper has suddenly discovered that after all the consumer is getting his coal cheap at $7.50 and the dealer is a public benefactor. Now if the evening paper had only told the grand jury.

SOUTHWESTERN NEWS NOTES

President Babcock, of the University of Arizona, will deliver an address before the Arizona Federation of Women's clubs, which meets in Douglas Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Kenna, Chaves county, was almost destroyed by a fire the other night, the total loss being something like $25,000. The Kenna Record was burned out of house and home, and is at present being published at the office of the Elida News.

It is said the Santa Fe is getting around the order of the Interstate commerce commission lowering rates in the Pecos valley, as the demands of the business men were not quite specific enough. Consequently there is another holy war going up from the Pecos.

The talk that Judge Mills gave the Nation jury that acquitted J. G. Garand of robbery is said to have been considerably worse than that of the proverbial Dutch uncle. Judge Mills told the jury, among other things, that they were "unfit and incompetent."

Silver City is suffering from an epidemic of thievery which is very distressing to housekeepers. So far an engagement ring, a wedding ring, a fine mirror, a clock, two fine Turkish rugs, two revolvers, a cash register and $5 in cash, $40 in cash and $400 in jewelry and silverware has been stolen from various persons.

It is believed at the office of the sheriff in Phoenix that Vicente Francisco, who has been wanted for the last thirteen years for a brutal murder committed in the southwestern part of the city, is in the county jail. The suspect was brought in by Deputy Sheriff Davis and McCann. He was arrested in the afternoon at Camp Iyer, where he had been working for the outfit of Lee White and Joe Rodriguez. He denies that he is Franco and was known variously at the camp as Francisco Rodriguez and Francisco Romero.

"You can rest assured that I am not going back in a hurry to Nevada in search of promising mining properties," said Ed Kainale, who returned to Prescott recently from a fifteen-months' prospecting trip in the principal districts of Nevada and part of Utah.

"Since I left here," he said, "I have seen a number of the great properties of Nevada, of which so much is heard, but on the whole there is no part of that state or Utah in which the surface showings can compare with those of Yavapai county, from a mineral standpoint."

Must Be Newly Married.

Miss Carroll's Hair

AND WE CAN

PROVE IT!

BEAUTIFUL HAIR — AT — SMALL COST

WITHIN the last decade great and rapid strides have been made in Materia Medica. Many diseases that were considered incurable fifteen years ago are now cured in a few days, and in many cases prevented altogether. The scientists of late years have been searching for the cause, the foundation, the reason and the starting point of disease, fully realizing that the actual and true cause must be ascertained before a remedy can be created. Hair troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp, and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment, and when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all of its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural and logical thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Dr. Knowlton's DANDERINE has a most curious effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is identical with the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It feeds and nourishes the hair and does all the work originally carried on by the natural nutrients or life-giving juices generated by the scalp itself. It penetrates the pores of the scalp quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderful exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One twenty-five cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself. Now on sale at every Drug and Toilet Store in the land.

REGAL SHOES

FALL AND WINTER STYLES

This Shoe will appeal particularly to men who want the newest made-to-order model in a shiny leather, blucher cut, shoe. Although the toe is narrow, it has been carefully modeled so that the trim effect does not in any way interfere with the perfect comfort of the foot.

The handsome vamp of Patent Calf gives a pleasing contrast to the dull finished surface of the Matt Calf top. Clever Regal workmanship is evident in every part of this shoe—in the careful shaping of the vamp over the last, in the trimming of the moderately heavy extension sole and military heel, and in the fitting of the uppers and inside trimmings. Every bit of material used is custom grade. The linings are of 9 ounce duck with special mercerized finish. In every way this is one of the finest Regal models for general and dress wear. One of ten absolutely correct styles of this season. $3.50 and $4.00
