THE VALUE OF PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE

Personal knowledge is the winning factor in the culminating contests of this competitive age and when of ample character it places its fortunate possessor in the front ranks of

The Well Informed of the World.

A vast fund of personal knowledge is really essential to the achievement of the highest excellence in any field of human effort.

A Knowledge of Forms, Knowledge of Functions and Knowledge of Products are all of the utmost value and in questions of life and health when a true and wholesome remedy is desired it should be remembered that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., is an ethical product which has met with the approval of the most eminent physicians and gives universal satisfaction, because it is a remedy of Known Quality, Known Excellence and Known Component Parts and has won the valuable patronage of millions of the Well Informed of the world, who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual use that it is the first and best of family laxatives, for which no extravagant or unreasonable claims are made.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent family laxative. As its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well Informed of the world to be the best we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of—Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, whether you call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

CHANCE TO BUY THRONE FOR $200,000

AFRICAN RULER WOULD RID HIMSELF OF CROWN

Royal Scepter, Right of Life and Death, and Amazon Guard Goes With Offer of African Potentate.

(By Henri Dubois.)

Paris, Oct. 5.—Here is a chance for an American with ambitions. The legal king, Yborshi, who reigns over a small kingdom in Africa called Abyssinia, is offering for sale in the French newspapers, his crown, his throne, his scepter, his territory, his subjects, with rights of life and death over them, and all the appurtenances of his royal splendor for the trifling of a million francs.

His kingdom covers an area of about two hundred and fifty miles by one hundred. The king, who governs rather by terror than by love, also possesses two hundred Amazons, who will be thrown into the bargain. It is presumed that he will keep his twenty-eight wives.

His crown consists of a sort of tiara, made of three human skulls, and his throne itself is raised on a structure of skulls, furs, fenners and other human bones. The Yborshi announces that he is divesting himself of royal panoply because he wishes to come and live in Paris and enjoy its pleasures and an automobile.

A revolution is threatened in Champagne—not in the delectable beverage, but in the district where it is grown. The wine growers of Champagne, the centers of which are Rheims and Epernay, are up in arms because wine growers in the surrounding districts also call their product champagne and sell it to the detriment of the wine that is actually grown within the limits of the old province of Champagne.

It is a question since the ancient province of Champagne does not exist any more whether the growers of Rheims, Epernay, etc., have an exclusive right to the name, or whether it is applied generically to all "vins mousseux" grown in this part of France, but that many brands of wine not grown within the real limits of Champagne proper, but which may be just as good wine, are also called champagne.

The Champagne Wine Growers' union have, at any rate, issued a public manifesto dealing upon the government to carry out the official delimitation of the Champagne country, and to prosecute all wine growers outside that circle—which comprises the present department of the Marne and the adjoining canton of Conde-en-Brie—who sell their wine as champagne. They threaten if this is not done to refuse to pay their taxes.

There is every possibility that the waiters of the Paris cafes will shortly go on strike again in support of their cherished right to wear moustaches. They struck last April in defense of the right, and also because the cafe proprietors were angry with them for breakages of glass and china. An agreement was arrived at, and the waiters let their moustaches grow, but lately a number of cafekeepers have refused to engage any but clean-shaven waiters, and the charge for breakages has crept up to the old level again.

During the last few days a number of indignation meetings have been held by the men.

I have been round several cafes today, and I find both waiters and proprietors firm and resolute. The waiters declare that rather than sacrifice their moustaches they will allow Paris to hunger and thirst. The proprietors declare that if they cannot get trained waiters they will get untrained ones. And so another waiters' war appears to be looming in the near future.

President Fallieres has a son who, though he is not much heard of in the outer world, is well known in Paris, where he enjoys a calm and ideal existence, possessing all the privileges of the high position of his father, but without any cares.

M. Andre Fallieres lives with his father at the Elysee palace and occupies an apartment on the second floor, looking over the garden and the rue de l'Elysee.

Unless he is invited out—and Andre Fallieres is a great favorite, especially with the wives of the various officials—he dines at home in the family circle. After coffee there is half an hour's chat, and when the president begins to yawn M. Andre Fallieres gets up.

"Are you going out?" asks the president. "I am going to pass an hour at the Comedie Francaise," says M. Andre, who imprints a kiss upon his mother's brow and matches off with his hat still and a light colored cane under his arm.

President Fallieres chuckles quietly at the little subterfuge of his son, who knows he will finish up the evening with a game of two at a famous club.

But M. Andre never comes home very late unless his father and mother happen to be away in the country and he is left in town. Then the condescension of the Elysee palace, which is an old servant of the Elysee, engages him to open the door to him—and chuckles like a distinguished master, Andre's papa, for in France it is acknowledged alike by republican and ex-monarchist that "youth must have its fling."

On the first day of each month M. Fallieres hands his son the sum of three hundred francs for pocket money.

"You can get along on that," says M. Fallieres, the elder. "I lived on much less when I was a boy." And it is said that M. Fallieres is very proud of his son because in spite of the money handed upon him he is able to save a little out of this small sum each month.

M. Camille Mondes, the famous French poet and author of Sarah Bernhardt's latest striking success, "La Actress."

It is concerned especially with the Pite episode, and M. Mondes has gone to the island to get local color for the play which will mark a departure in this veteran author's works, being written in prose, instead of verse, as he called "Les Trois Actrices."

He thinks it would be wise to date the play from the time when...

make Napoleon speak poetry. It is not yet known whether the divine Sarah will take the part of the great Napoleon.

A woman convict has set three French ministers by the ears. This woman, Valentine Maudel, was sent to the penal servitude of Guiana in 1891. There she married a liberated convict who had remained on the settlement named Martin. Her husband, however, returned to France, and Mme. Martin, who was very much attached to him, ran the great risk of escaping and accompanying him home.

They took up their residence in Paris and all went well for three years until last July when the woman was recognized by a detective and arrested. Since then she has been in St. Lazare prison awaiting the decision of three ministers. The minister of justice claims that she should be sent back to Guiana, the ministry of the colonies refuse to send her thither, because a new law has been passed since she was sentenced, abolishing the transportation of women; and the ministry of the interior claimed that they would be rid of the woman's presence, as she was undesirable.

The case has now been finally decided, for the minister of justice has recognized that the law suppressing the transportation of females should in the case of Martin be made retroactive. The woman has therefore been liberated from prison, but she was told at once that she is not to be allowed to stay in Paris, in view of the conviction against her, so that the sacrifice she made to follow her husband seems to be unavailing.

SLAVIO GETS IT IN THE NECK ONCE MORE

Former Superintendent of Schools Defeated for Job of Mayor of Acequia in San Jose Precinct.

The Hon. Slavio Vigil, the eminent educator who was Frank A. Hubbell's superintendent of schools, has been soaked again. Slavio was a candidate for mayor of the acequia in the San Jose precinct. He was defeated in the election held in that precinct yesterday by a decisive majority. Slavio was, as might naturally be supposed, the exponent of the well known principles (?) of the house of Hubbell. And that explains why he lost out.

Manuel Sedillo was elected mayor of the Acequia Madre de Barajas, and Pedro B. Tartaglia, Lorenzo Candelaria and J. P. Armijo were elected commissioners. The opposition contended that fourteen members of their party owned pieces of land along the acequia and consequently had fourteen votes coming. The other side protested to District Attorney Clancy that most of the fourteen men did not own an acre apiece and they were consequently knocked out.

ENGINEER LOSES BOTH LEGS AT THE KNEES

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT TO KINCHELOW AT DORSEY

Thrown Off Running Board Directly Under Wheels of Mammoth Decapod and Escapes With Life By a Miracle

(Special Correspondence Morning Journal.)
Raton, N. M., Oct. 6.—Engineer Fred L. Kinchelow, of the Santa Fe, lies in the Raton hospital at the point of death, as the result of the frightful accident which befell him while on his run Friday night. Both legs of the unfortunate man were severed below the knees, and he was otherwise injured. The accident occurred at Dorsey. Kinchelow was in charge of engine No. 1655, hauling a long freight. The train was making only about six miles an hour. The engine was out on the running board when the machine gave a sudden lurch, probably caused by a piece of soft track, and he was thrown off. His feet went inside the rails just in front of the wheels of the tender, which passed over his legs, severing them completely. The engine was detached from the train and Kinchelow was hurried back to Raton, where he was put in the hospital. Mr. Kinchelow has been running between Raton and Las Vegas for the past seven years, and is one of the most popular men on the road.

GRAND CANYON TRAIL CASE IS ADJUSTED

A stipulation has been filed in the Arizona supreme court at Phoenix, dismissing the appeal of Ralph Cameron in the famous Grand Canyon trial case. The history of the case is quite lengthy. Cameron for a long time operated a toll road into the Grand Canyon. The Grand Canyon Railway company questioned his right to use the pass for such a purpose and applied to the board of supervisors of Coconino county for a franchise allowing it to build a road through the canyon he controlled. This was refused. The company then instituted suit to relinquish the toll. After a long legal battle the case was finally decided in its favor. Cameron appealed some months ago. The stipulation was filed by the attorneys for the appellant and appellee and finally disposes of the matter. It is the natural inference that the case is at issue at the Arizona supreme court between the principals and that a road will be built through the trail.

Miss M. Gansel, who was for some time operator at the shops office at Albuquerque, has accepted a place in the Winslow telegraph office, after an extended vacation being spent while she visited California and the coast generally.

Freight Hits Handcar.
Thursday evening, about 6 o'clock, S. F. P. & Co. freight train No. 34, northbound, struck a handcar on which five section men were returning from work, near Cedar Glade, throwing the car from the track and injuring two Mexican section hands, one seriously.

Bego Senora, who was run over, was bruised about the head and shoulders by the handcar, a bolt entered his stomach and his left arm was crushed.

Tender on a Tear

Traffic was somewhat delayed Sunday between Ash Fork and Seligman by the derailment of an engine tank. Engine 1843, which was being used as a "pusher," helping a train from Ash Fork west. The tank broke away from the engine somewhere west of Coconino, and starting back itself was soon derailed, tearing up considerable track and generally tying things up temporarily. No. 1 was held at Ash Fork and No. 2 delayed. Cedar Glade, three waiting repairs to the track, which were accomplished in a few hours.

Crystal Changes Its Bill.
The Crystal theater, at 129 West Gold avenue, last night changed its program from what was seen last week, and is again a worthy candidate for the amusement patronage. The opening number of the fair week bill is Belmas and Martini, two supple and stoney young gymnasts, who do a pretty as well as a difficult aerial act. Strength and agility are required for such an exhibition and this pair seems to possess both to a marked degree.

Next comes Molly Thompson, the little Dutch girl who plays the saxophone. Miss Thompson can tell some funny stories and sing and do a wooden shoe jig, as well as render harmonious sounds from the instrument and the allotted number of minutes is only too short.

Mr. Logan has a pretty picture ballet in "Since Nellie Went Away," and the illustrations are good.

La Bred and Ryerson would scarcely be recognizable in the black face sketch of this week, but as they have something just as acceptable to offer, of a complete change, they are again a hit. A couple of imported moving pictures conclude the performance and comprise quite a valuable feature themselves.

This afternoon is ladies' movement matter and a great number of lady patrons will be visiting friends with a view to see the show and get souvenirs.

SOCORRO TAKES THE FIRST BALL GAME

EL PASO AN EASY MARK FOR GEM CITY BUNCH

Inability to Hit Charlie Rhodes and Exceptionally Rotten Fielding Responsible for El Paso's Defeat.

The El Paso team proved a very easy proposition for the Socorro base ball aggregation yesterday afternoon in the first game of the fair tournament. The Socorro team winning by the score of 5 to 3. At no time during the game had the El Paso team a chance to win, being unable to connect to any effect with the pitching of Charlie Rhodes, who has come back to his old home in New Mexico a full-fledged national league star and with the goods about his person. Rhodes did not pitch very intentionally, but it was all that was needed and the opposition was very light. The Socorro team did not play very brilliant base ball although the infield worked well, but the very poor work of the El Paso infield made very hard work unnecessary. It was simply a case of waiting for the ball to be thrown away. McCull for the El Paso team, pitched a good, clean game and with support would have given the Socorro team a run for its money. But bad throwing and worse fielding made winning impossible for the Texas players.

WHEN COPPER WAS REALLY ON THE BOOM

Present Price Recalls the Gloomy Drop of 1902, when 11 Cents was the Ton.
While copper is at a very low stage—16 cents, seemingly very low, since 25 cent copper has been a recent reality—when compared with the price of copper at a number of periods in the past seven years, the present price does not look so bad. During the Amalgamated slump, for instance, copper was quoted at 11.01 and closed at 11.00.
The rise and fall of copper during the past seven years will be of general interest. There was little variation in the price in that year and in 1901, when in November of the latter year it was quoted at 16.91. Then came the Amalgamated slump, and copper within two months went down to 11.01. Soon after this the price climbed to 13.02 and it remained around that figure until January, 1902, when in three months it advanced to 14.46. After four months had passed it was again down to 12.29 and closed the year at 11.90. In 1902 is a hiatus when copper varied little from the last figures given, but January 1 of 1904 witnessed the price of copper, which had been at 11.90, reaching 14.76 within a year. On January 1, 1906, copper was quoted at 18.30, and on the same date in 1907, 22.90. In March of this year copper reached its maximum of value, being held at 25.20. From that price to below 15 at present is a story that needs no recounting.

Quince, Sprains and Swellings Cured.
In November, 1901, I caught cold and had the quince. My throat was swollen so I could hardly breathe. I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it gave me relief to a most extent. In two days I was all right. Mrs. L. C. Quince, Ottoburn, Michigan. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a remedy and is especially suitable for sprains and swellings. For sale by all druggists.

MURDER BOSS

Charlie Tuthill of Raton is Grabbed Just Before He Sends Shotgun Load Into Foreman Iverson.

(Special Correspondence Morning Journal.)
Raton, N. M., Oct. 6.—Charlie Tuthill is in jail here on the charge of attempting to murder Foreman Iverson, of Mendelson's tailor shop, where both are employed. Tuthill was reportedly fired by Iverson, and securing a shotgun, drew a bead on the foreman. Just at the moment he would have pulled the trigger, bystanders grabbed Tuthill and disarmed him. Iverson swore out a warrant of attempted murder.

FREIGHT KING SAW FIRST FAIR 25 YEARS AGO

W. A. Tenney of Silver City Sees Vast Changes Since He First Witnessed a Territorial Carnival Here.

One of the most picturesque characters in the city this week attending the fair is W. A. Tenney, of Silver City, popularly known as "The Freight King." Mr. Tenney, who has been freighting for a quarter of a century in New Mexico, has probably the largest outfit in the southwest, and does a mammoth business between Silver City and the mining camps. He has hundreds of horses and mules and scores of wagons, and hauls anything over any kind of a road or on road at all. It's all the same to Tenney.

The interesting thing about Mr. Tenney, however, is that he saw the very first territorial fair ever held in Albuquerque, twenty-five years ago, when Albuquerque, the present city, was merely a wide place in the road, and Old Town was the city. Mr. Tenney has attended two more fairs since that time, the present one making his fourth. He says that there is nothing more wonderful than the way a modern, bustling city has sprung into existence in a little over twenty years.

Headed.
Had melancholy, probably caused by an inactive liver. A bad liver makes one cross and irritable, causes mental and physical depression and may result disastrously.

Died in His Dream

"I have never heard anyone tell of a dream in which he fell from a great height and completed the fall, striking the ground," said Police Captain Thomas H. Boudhead of the Central station. "It is often said that the rush through the air in this very common dream never ends, but comes to an abrupt end by the waking of the person, dreaming, but have had such a vision, and in my dream I struck the ground and lay dead. This mental picture continued during my sleeping hours, but had a great effect upon me." "I dreamed that someone intent on my life was chasing me with a weapon, and I was trying to get away. I came to the edge of a great cliff and, before I knew it, I had fallen over the precipice. This mental picture continued during my sleeping hours, but had a great effect upon me." The Weak Sister

A good many of the Republicans of New Mexico have started a movement to prevent the renomination of Delegate Andrews by the republican convention at a fair territory next year. It is becoming very evident to all that the democrats of New Mexico have an excellent chance to carry our sister territory next year against any republican who might be nominated, and it is pretty well agreed among republican politicians that they could not pick a weaker man than Andrews. —Douglas International.

UNDERWRITING NOTES

Some Interesting Details in Regard to the Record That is Being Made by a Remarkably Strong, Useful and Successful Institution—The Occidental Life Insurance Company, of New Mexico and Arizona—Its Authorized Capital Stock is $1,000,000, and It Has Over a Dozen Bankers of New Mexico and Arizona on Its Board of Directors—It Expected to Write a $1,000,000 Worth of Business This Year, and Has Written $1,192,000 in Nine Months.

Remarkable in the extreme is the record that is being made by the life insurance interests of the United States. Life Insurance has to do with the consequences of the gravest fact in life—our departure from it; and the administration of its affairs includes transactions of enormous magnitude, affecting directly the banking, real estate and other leading departments of modern business enterprises. That it shall be conducted with the necessary grasp, ability and honor is of supreme moment to tens of thousands of families constituting the best citizenship of the country. In short, there is no possibility of exaggerating the value that ought to be given by an intelligent public to the utmost vigilance in the observation of the methods pursued by the many companies which are keenly competing for new business.

And the statistics of life insurance are very gratifying, regarded as a whole. There is evidence in the large figures presented of thrift in the people, of well established confidence in the companies now in the field for business, and generally of an intelligent appreciation of the principle of insurance. This indeed is far less a subject of treatment in the advertising literature put out by the companies than it used to be. A well informed public sees readily the advantages of an investment which secures at once an estate large enough to insure comfort for a bereaved family in return for a premium which, in its amount—thanks to the power of getting the little together and making a large whole of them—is small and can be regarded, as it is regarded, as among the indispensable expenditures of the family. The literature of insurance is more than ever statements by the various companies, pointing out the advantage claimed by each one for itself over its competitors. Never before was this method of competition more keenly and ably displayed and enforced, which is an excellent thing for the public, and, as we have said, is gratifying proof of a more general appreciation of the advantages of insurance on its part.

Not but what there is abundant scope for an enormous increase of life insurance business in all parts of this country of eighty millions of people. Hundreds of thousands of new families are being founded all the time, and the future must be provided for by all of these young people who take a correct view of their parental obligations. The importance of this must be brought home to the people—if by means of a local company which is entitled to their respect and confidence, so much the better. Hence we are very pleased to note the increase and gratifying success of companies in numerous centers of population—companies which are home companies to the people whom they insure and whose patronage they are seeking, which cordially promote local investments and improvements, and are identified in the requirements of their organization, with local legislation. These features of the business are excellent, in making certain a larger increase of insurance than is possible by the solicitations of foreign companies, and promoting in important ways other substantial local interests. This country is so vast, its population is so largely increasing, that such a company as the Occidental Life Insurance Company, of New Mexico and Arizona, has a field of practically unlimited enterprise and success opened to it.

This is an institution to which it is proper to refer in this connection at some considerable length. It has its headquarters at Albuquerque, New Mexico, and is not a very old institution, but it has made remarkably rapid progress from the first, and it has today as brilliant prospects for the future as any life insurance company in the country. It has an authorized capital stock of $1,000,000, but the men who control its affairs as officers and directors and stockholders probably represent an aggregate wealth of not less than $100,000,000, as will be seen from the following list of names as Directors: Joshua S. Reynolds, President of the First National Bank, Albuquerque, and also of the First National Bank of El Paso; Alonzo B. McMillen, Attorney; W. M. Flournoy, Vice President First National Bank of Albuquerque; Dr. James H. Wroth, physician, Albuquerque; R. J. Palen, of the First National Bank of Santa Fe; James Graham McNary, Banker, El Paso, Texas; Henry D. Bowman, Banker, Las Cruces; W. D. Murray, President Silver City National Bank; Solomon Luna, President Bank of Commerce, Albuquerque; C. N. Blackwell, Cashier First National Bank of Raton; Mark A. Rogers, physician, Tucson; L. B. Christy, Banker, Phoenix; E. A. Cahoon, Cashier First National Bank of Roswell; T. E. Pollock, President Arizona Central Bank, Flagstaff; E. W. Wells, Vice President Bank of Arizona, Prescott; John R. Hulett, merchant, Holbrook; M. J. Cunningham, Cashier Bank of Bisbee, Bisbee; John W. Poe, President Citizens' National Bank, Roswell; Frank McKee, Cashier First National Bank, Albuquerque, and J. H. O'Reilly, insurance.

It will be seen that there are over a dozen bankers on this board, and it is not at all too much to say that there is no institution of the kind under stronger or more competent control than this one. The officers are as follows: President, Joshua S. Reynolds, President of the First National Bank of Albuquerque; President of the First National Bank of El Paso; a financier and capitalist of sterling worth and integrity, and a man who is looked up to and respected by everybody, and a tower of strength to what ever he is identified with.

Vice President: Hon. Solomon Luna, President of the Bank of Commerce, Albuquerque, N. M., and one of the wealthiest sheep owners of the Southwest; also a leading politician and financial power in the Southwest whose word is as good as his bond, and R. J. Palen, President of the First National Bank of Santa Fe, a capitalist and banker of extensive reputation.

The Secretary and General Manager, Mr. J. H. O'Reilly, is one of the best posted and most popular insurance men in the country, a man with extended experience with some of the giant insurance companies of the world; a natural born organizer and handler of men (capable of writing insurance, and a gentleman of character and ability).

The Attorney for the company is the Hon. A. B. McMillen, one of the leading attorneys of the Southwest; a man of wealth and high commercial standing.

The Executive Committee are: M. W. Flournoy, capitalist; A. B. McMillen, capitalist; Sol Luna, capitalist and banker; J. H. O'Reilly, and Joshua S. Reynolds. Dr. J. H. Wroth, one of the prominent medical men of New Mexico, is Medical Director of the Company.

As already indicated, this company has made exceedingly rapid progress from the first, and it is learned that it expects to write at least about $1,250,000 worth of business this year. The plan of campaign, so to speak, upon which it is operating, was mapped out, it is understood, by Secretary J. H. O'Reilly, and the influence of his sound judgment and wise methods is everywhere evident. The company is writing all the most acceptable forms of policies, and its rates are in every sense of the words strictly reasonable.

It can be predicted with certainty that under the wise and conservative, and yet progressive, management of President Reynolds, Secretary O'Reilly and their colleagues, the company will play a most important and useful part in the underwriting history in time to come. It is an institution of which great things may be expected. It is founded upon absolutely sound principles, and its system embodies features of usefulness not to be found in the system of any other organization that we know of. It is from every point of view entitled to the complete confidence of intelligent men and women. It has before it prospects that leave nothing to be desired. It bases its claims to public confidence and consideration upon its financial strength, upon the experience and practical knowledge brought to bear by the men who are its active managers; upon the soundness and conservatism of its methods of doing business, and upon the promptness and liberality with which it meets its engagements for the payment of losses when due. In short, the methods of this company are business-like and up-to-date in every particular, and its officers have demonstrated its policies to be as desirable as those of even the oldest and largest of its competitors. Those who purchase them are assured of perfect security and indemnity. We do not know of any life insurance company more justly entitled to public confidence than the Occidental Life.

You have tried the East, now try the West and keep the money at home. The Occidental loans to the people of New Mexico and Arizona already exceeds the combined loans of all the eastern companies in the two territories. This alone should appeal to your patronage.

TOOHEY DECLARES HIS TOMBSTONE IS A FAKE

Plumber Supposed to be Resting Peacefully Under Cactus Startles Old Employer by Request for Work.

To find that he had been dead since the month of November, 1902, and was sleeping under a cactus tombstone at Maricopa was the fate which met James A. Toohey when he arrived in Phoenix last Monday morning. Obnoxious to the fact that he had been dead and buried for nearly four years, he walked in on his old-time employer, William Evans, and asked him for work.

As the story comes from Phoenix, Toohey is a journeyman plumber, commonly known as a "tramp." He is an excellent mechanic and readily obtains work wherever he goes. He used to be that he struck Phoenix every winter and worked at his trade there, generally for William Evans. He was quite a character and was widely known among the members of his profession and the traveling fraternity, as well as nearly all the people of Phoenix. Ever a jolly fellow, he was a general favorite.

Attack of Chronic Trouble. In November, 1902, he was taken, together with another plumber, to Tempe by Mr. Evans, where they worked on a job for several days. Then the two fellows got on a drunk, which was a weakness of theirs. They left Mr. Evans in the lurch and boarded a train for Maricopa.

Toohey was never again seen alive, though it was supposed that he had been seen dead, for a mile or two north of Maricopa bits of flesh and bone were found. Some one had come to a horrible end under the wheels of a train. A hard hat, a pair of corduroy trousers and an envelope which had once borne a letter addressed to Toohey, but then containing a union card, made out to him, were picked up.

Identified Clothing. An inquest was held, and later Mr. Evans appeared and positively identified the hat and trousers as belonging to his former employee. The envelope and card seemed to set all doubt as to the identity of the dead man at rest.

The remains were picked up in a sack and buried at Maricopa. The plumbers of Phoenix made up a purse among themselves and had a cactus tombstone constructed, bearing the name of Toohey and the date of his death. Since that time James A. Toohey has been supposed to be in eternal sleep. Since he did not find into the city again the next winter, searching for work, as was his custom, he was greatly missed by his acquaintances among the traveling men. All expressed sorrow at his sad end, though since it was known that he was a drinker and in the habit of riding brake beams and trucks when he felt like it, no one was surprised at the manner of his taking off.

Saw a Ghost. Monday morning he dropped in on Mr. Evans, and after saying "Hello!" inquired casually if there was a place open for him. Mr. Evans stared at him as though he had been a ghost. After Toohey assured him that he was never more alive than right then, Mr. Evans told him of his grave in Maricopa.

Toohey was amazed. He declared he had never been killed; that he had never slept in the grave, and when he died he would pick out some other place to be buried.

Hasner Was Lost. He had never heard that any one had been killed. He swung on the train at Tempe with his plumber pal and a waiter, who had been working at Coffee Al's restaurant in Phoenix.

The plumbers arrived at Maricopa safely, but they never saw their waiter friend again. They had not boarded the train until it was running at a pretty fair speed out of Tempe, and naturally supposed that the "hasner" had failed to make it and would follow on the next train. Toohey and his companion then continued their travels, visiting the exposition and then working in various parts of the east. Finally they became separated and Toohey drifted west, arriving in Phoenix Monday.

DESPERADOES TRY TO BREAK JAIL AT SILVER CITY

Life of Deputy Estes Saved Only by Warning Given by One of the Prisoners—Burglar Captured.

[Special Correspondence Morning Journal.] Silver City, N. M., Oct. 6.—Two desperate men came near effecting their escape from the county jail here Wednesday afternoon and it was only through a warning given by another prisoner that Deputy Sheriff Estes was saved from being killed.

The men were Louis Torres and John Falk. Falk secured a spoon, made a pick out of it and succeeded in picking the lock to the outer corridor of the jail. In some manner he secured possession of a rifle and concealing himself in one of the outer cells he waited for Guard Estes to appear with the undoubted intention of killing him. One of the prisoners in another cell, however, called a warning to Estes and the latter did not come in until he was reinforced by Deputy Putman. With drawn revolvers the men entered the jail and called on Falk to surrender. The latter started to raise his gun but was covered before he had time to shoot. After considerable parley the two men came out of the cell with their hands up and were searched. Two pocket knives were found on them and a heavy iron window weight, a formidable weapon was found hidden in a handy coal bin. Falk was convicted at the recent term of court on the charge of larceny, but upon the presentation some new evidence was granted a new trial.

Torres is charged with the murder of Jose Duran at Santa Rita on the night of September 14.

Captured Burglar Escapes.

The Silver City Enterprise says: A quartette of thieves were caught red handed in the act of looting the general merchandise store of M. E. and E. M. Birdsell at Whitewater Wednesday night by M. E. Birdsell. Mr. Birdsell, who is also the station agent at Whitewater, made the four thieves his captives and took them over to the depot where he locked them in one of the rooms, pending the arrival of the passenger train to Silver City. He also telegraphed the sheriff's office in this city. However, before the train came along yesterday the burglars made their escape. Mr. Birdsell at once notified the sheriff's office, together with a description of the men. It is understood that the gang also broke

SHOCKING GRAFT IN TURKISH ARMY

Lieutenant Denied His Pay Shoots His Commander—Public Sympathy Fails to Save Murderer.

Constantinople, Oct. 7.—The shocking state of graft and incompetence in the Turkish army administration is strikingly shown by the case of Lieutenant Hussein Effendi, who shot his commanding officer, Hamdi Pasha, dead because he could not get his arrears of pay. Hussein has been hanged for the murder, but popular sympathy is with him and with his mother and family, who have been left quite destitute.

Hamdi Pasha was military commandant at Trebizond, where Hussein was a second lieutenant of the garrison. The lieutenant had to support himself, his mother, and her three young children on his meagre pay and a more meagre pension which his mother drew as widow of a major.

When Hussein was promoted to a post in another district he found himself without money for traveling expenses, as his pay was seven months in arrears, and the pension twenty-seven months. After applying in vain to the governor for at least a portion of his arrears, he went to Hamdi Pasha, who not only refused him any money, but cursed and abused him. "If you want money," he roared, "go beg for it!"

In despair Hussein took the Pasha's advice and disguising himself as a beggar sat at the door of the mosque soliciting alms. The governor, as he came out from worship, was going to give something to the "beggar" when Hamdi came up, and recognized Hussein through his disguise.

The brutal Pasha again showered abuse upon the lieutenant, who, losing all control of himself, drew his revolver and fired four bullets into him, the wounds proving fatal in a short time.

TO STOP INFUX OF COOLIES

Government Alarmed at Increasing Number of Orientals Flocking to This Country

Washington, Oct. 7.—Immigration of Japanese into America is increasing at such an alarming rate that it has been determined to adopt extraordinary measures to prevent the introduction into the United States not only of Japanese but other Asiatic coolie labor. One result of the recent trip of Secretary Straus has been an increase in the force of immigration inspectors along the Canadian border with a view to controlling the flood of Asiatic immigration. It is known that more than double the number of Japanese have come into the United States thus far in the year 1907 than came here during the same period last year. Naturally the figures of the government do not include the hundreds of Japanese who come into the country surreptitiously. They have come across from the Canadian and Mexican borders practically without hindrance despite the means adopted by the government to prevent the introduction of Japanese laborers. For many months the government has had immigration commissions in Mexico and Canada. In practically every instance the inspectors reported that the Japanese who reach Mexico or Canada are bound for the United States. Inquiries in the Hawaiian Islands have revealed an organization whose business it is to procure for Japanese laborers work in the United States. They not only provide the means but pave the way by which the Japanese may easily obtain an entrance into this country through Mexico and Canada. It is this sort of business the government proposes to combat. In the appointment of what practically constitutes a patrol guard on the northern and southern borders of the country, Secretary Straus hopes to reduce the number of Asiatics who are daily coming across the borders in great and increasing numbers.

The returns from the Canadian immigration office show 3,216 Asiatics landed at the British Columbia ports of Victoria and Vancouver between January 1 and September 15, 1907. Of this number 2,872 were Hindus, 4,511 Japanese, most of the latter reaching Canada from Honolulu. The remaining 603 were Chinese who paid admission fees of $100 for the privilege of landing in Canada. The field of labor in that section of Canada is limited and the investigations of the United States immigration inspectors have shown that most of the Japanese and Chinese expect ultimately to get into the United States.

CRESCENT LUMBER CO. SILVER CITY

The Crescent Lumber Co.'s yard and warehouse is one of the busiest places in Silver City, and fills a long-felt want in this section of the country. Although the Company has been in existence for only about three years, it is already known throughout the entire southwestern part of New Mexico. The Officers of the Company are all men whose business ability is known over the entire Territory.

I. A. Dye, of Albuquerque, is president; W. H. Hahn, vice president; J. B. Herndon, treasurer; O. N. Marron, secretary, and Geo. J. Salee, manager. Mr. Salee is a practical lumberman and is thoroughly familiar with the requirements of the trade in New Mexico, having been "born and raised on a pine stump."

The yard occupies an entire block of ground, and, in addition, there is a warehouse 75x100 feet, which is the largest single warehouse used for similar purposes in New Mexico. At present the Company is carrying a stock of about 750,000 feet of lumber in addition to a large stock of flooring, ceiling and finishing stock.

In the warehouse is carried a complete stock of Portland cement, lime, plaster, fire brick, fire clay, corrugated iron, doors, sash, glass, building paper, turned work of all kinds, paints, oils, and the best equipped stock of builders' hardware in the city.

That the accommodations and conveniences of the yard are appreciated is forcibly shown in the fact that the Company has more than doubled its business during the last ten months. Their working force consists of from twelve to fifteen men and three delivery wagons which are worked to their fullest capacity.

The Company maintains a well equipped planing mill in connection with its yard, where all special orders for sash, doors, frames, turned work, etc., are done. This department is under the management of Mr. I. W. Sallee, a contractor who enjoys the confidence of the company's patrons and who has materially increased the company's business in this department.

Practically every mining camp in Grant County is supplied with timber from the company's yard.

Controlling, as they do, the entire production of the Continental Lumber Company's plant, eighteen miles from Silver City, they are in a position to fill any order received for special sizes in timbers on very short notice. This feature is much appreciated in this section where, previous to the installation of the Continental Mill, all special sizes in timbers had to be freighted by rail for a distance of several hundred miles, which necessitated a delay of several weeks. The Continental Mill produces and ships to the Crescent Lumber Co., an average of 15,000 feet of pine lumber every day.

It is a rare sight in this country, where timber is scarce, to see a train of fifteen to twenty wagons loaded with lumber and drawn by from four to eight horses, but such is a sight that may be seen any day, on the road from the Continental Mill to the Crescent yard.

The Crescent Lumber Company has the exclusive agency in Grant County for Hercules Powder, and keeps a large supply on hand at all times.

They are also exclusive agents for the celebrated Elaterite and "Malthoid" roofings which are so widely used throughout the western states.

The prices maintained are as reasonable as good business judgment will permit, and special attention is paid to mining companies and contractors.

Should you be in the market for lumber or building material of any kind you will find the Crescent Lumber Company not only able to take care of your requirements, but always courteous and obliging and appreciative of your business.

ANOTHER CHAMPION STAGE DRIVER APPEARS

One by One Veterans of the West Are Telling of Their Prowess When Steam and Trolley Were Unknown in the West.

A few weeks ago the Morning Journal published the driving records of a couple of Arizona stage drivers. They were wonderful records, and so it seemed to us, and they attracted a good deal of attention. One man had driven 15,000 miles in a year without missing a trip, while another had driven 24,000 miles in two years, and a few months. But the stories serve to bring out statements from stage drivers all over the two territories and a comparison of records followed which have made the two original drivers look a little bit out of the running.

Several New Mexico veterans and several from Arizona have let the people know of their prowess, and here is the latest from the sister territory, as told by the Globe Silver Bell.

Stooped slightly by the weight of time upon his broad shoulders, his whiskers whitened by the frosts of perhaps seventy winters, and carrying a cane in support of a shattered leg, injured years ago in a stage accident, A. B. "Frank" Carpenter, a Globe stage driver of the good old days of thirty years ago, when he cracked the whip over his six-in-hand, is in the city looking up old landmarks and shaking hands now and then with some old-timer who was in Globe when the burro, the stage and the team were the camp's only transportation facilities. Carpenter talks interestingly of the days of log roads and looks back wistfully upon the almost phenomenal strides the city has made.

people to God's places of worship. Of course, there is still a taint of immortality here, of lax laws and assumed privileges, but where are they not? You will find similar conditions even in the effete cities of the staid old east.

"There is one thing that I want to call your attention to," said the veteran stage driver, turning to a Silver Bell representative, as he took a newspaper clipping from his pocket. "We stage drivers, with the burro, are entitled to much of the credit for the good things you are enjoying today, and, as you will notice, we jealously guard our achievements of the past. Now, in this story, which was taken from a recent issue of the Silver Bell, George Conrad, an old-time Prescott driver, claims that by traveling 14,000 miles in one year he is entitled to the blue ribbon. No sooner did his claim gain publicity than up jumped W. H. Hawkins, of Buckeye, who smashes that record all to pieces by stating that in one year he drove 18,912 miles, and that during a period of three years he made 55,692 miles, and he wants the blue ribbon snatched from Conrad's hands and passed to the lapel of his coat. The achievements recited are remarkable. I am anxious to impress this upon you, for I am about to make a statement in my own behalf.

"For three years prior to 1880 I drove stage for D. B. Lacey, his line running between Globe and Silver City. I never missed a trip during the time I was employed by Lacey, and each year of the three I traveled 25,550 miles, or a total in three years of 76,650 miles. Another interesting fact in connection with this record is that I ever saw the road in daylight over which I traveled. My run of twenty miles, going and coming, was made after nightfall. Here is a record that no stage driver in the world can touch, as, since retiring from the business, I have been watching closely the claims of stage drivers. And, like the other fellow, I want to put in a claim that I never missed a mail. I have been employed by such well known stage men as Gilman Salisbury, Barlow and Sanderson, ad Kern and Mitchell, who were acquainted with my work and who could vouch for any of my claims if they were here. If there is any contest, however, I can furnish ample evidence of the truthfulness of the statements I have just made."

How to Cure a Cold.
The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary loss of time is one in which we are all more or less interested. For the purpose of pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall of Worcester, Va., has a remedy for colds, coughs, croup, whooping cough, and all other ailments of the throat and lungs. It is called "Hall's Cough Remedy" and is absolutely the best remedy for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me. For sale by all druggists.

TWENTY FIVE NEW BUILDINGS IN FOUR MONTHS

WILLARD GROWING AT MARVELOUS RATE

Live Board of Trade is Accomplishing Great Results in Hustling Little Town on Belen Cut Off.

Willard, N. M., Oct. 6.—Willard has grown faster during the past four months than at any time in its history. Twenty-five new buildings have gone up in that time. Among the finest additions to the city's buildings is that of the Willard Mercantile company, 40 by 100 feet, with basement and balcony. The company, also, has a large warehouse 40 by 70 feet, the whole costing about $20,000. They have railroad tracks directly to their buildings. The company now carries a stock of goods worth between $75,000 and $100,000. B. S. Jackson is manager. J. A. Freeman, business agent, H. J. Scott, stenographer, J. P. Rheinhardt, S. W. Hendon, Milo Hill, E. A. Vondevel, W. B. Rayburn, Walter Rayburn and A. E. Hirsch, formerly of Albuquerque, compose the clerical and shipping force. Three more men will be added to the force about October 15.

Mr. Dunlevy, who has also a large stock of general merchandise, is branching out, and is now putting in a complete hardware department. He has enlarged his store and warehouse and is doing a much larger business than last year. Mr. Dunlevy also runs an onion and corn ranch near the town.

Board of Trade.
The Willard board of trade, of which John T. Kelly is the active president, is doing great work for the town. The streets are being splendidly graded under the supervision of Mr. Watkins, the business agent of the company, who is chairman of the street committee. The board of trade is also after a wool scouring plant, and it now looks as if the plant would be located in Willard by spring. W. M. Taylor, the hustling real estate man, is chairman of the committee to secure new enterprises, and is now negotiating with the local banks. After brothers have opened a merchant tailoring establishment and are already doing a very nice business. Frank S. Walrath, the well known insurance and real estate man, reports business good. Mr. Walrath is one of the most active members of the board of trade. The Elliott hotel, owned by Mr. Barnes and Mr. Elliott, is doing a good business. It has twenty-four rooms and has first class accommodations.

Twelve thousand acres of winter wheat will be sown in the part of the valley this fall and winter.

New Depots.
Both railroads have built new depots right near the business part of town, so that the railroad facilities are unexcelled. The board of trade will make a determined effort to have a daily train run between Albuquerque and Willard as soon as the cut-off is completed, a project which is of vital importance to Albuquerque and Willard and points between.

Script Matter Settled.
The difficulty over the townsite scrip has been adjusted. The scrip has been approved by the authorities at Washington. There was no doubt about the validity of the scrip. The difficulty was only in the application of the Minnesota law regarding power of attorney. The lawyer accepted the scrip from the administrator of the deceased Indian, and first held the property. It was sent back from Washington because under the law the power of attorney must come from the heirs and not from the administrator.

The legal technicality which developed excited considerable interest among the members of the New Mexico bar, as it was the first time that the power of attorney granted by an administrator of an estate had ever been questioned. The power of attorney was at once secured from the heirs as required, and the law was complied with.

El Paso Boys' Rent Lottery.
Edwin Abbott, a young El Paso butcher of 408 West Overland street, last week made a happy kill in the Mexican lottery. He bought a ticket for 50 cents, gold, and has just received $6,000 Mexican, won by his lucky number. A friend of his who bought at the same time has realized $10,000 from the chance.

A MERCHANT PHILANTHROPIST
The largest merchandise store in all the Willamette valley is that of James Craig, in Silverton, Oregon. And Mr. Craig is not only a big merchant, he is a philanthropist as well. He takes a genuine interest in the welfare of his neighbors, as this letter will show:

Office of James Craig, General Merchandise.
Silverton, Ore., Oct. 14, 1905.
JNO. J. FULTON, Gentlemen:
I would like you to send me a bunch of your pamphlets. I can send lots of customers to your local drug store. I am a strong believer in your cure for Bright's Disease, due to the following: The local physicians gave a young lady an incurable disease. A father brought a pamphlet of yours to me for my advice. I found I knew two of those whose names were given, viz: Ex-13 S. Sub-Treasurer Spaulding and Dr. Zelle. I wrote Spaulding. His reply was so satisfactory that the young lady's father ordered six bottles. Before she had finished two she was out of bed, and today is teaching school in Arizona, hearty and well. I have done lots of talking for you this past four years, and a good many of my customers who have been afflicted are well. The reason that I am writing this is that another one wants to start taking on his literature.

Yours truly,
JAMES CRAIG.
Did you ever hear of anything else in all the world that was so effective that business men would go among their neighbors and urge them to take it?

he took at the tickle goddess. The two young men were doing the stunts of Juarez, and decided to try for once, a chance in the lottery. Accordingly, with little ceremony they passed over each a half dollar, and received a number. Monday of last week the drawing came off, and the young men were notified by the Juarez agent that they had made winnings. Abbott wanted to know the procedure for getting his cash, and was told that the banks would cash his winnings. Accordingly he cheerfully paid a fee for collection to a Juarez bank, and stowed away his $2,000 gold.

How Dipping Affects Sheep.
When sheep are dipped they usually suffer a setback in weight varying from one-half to three and one-half pounds, according to a report from the bureau of animal industry. Sometimes there is a gain, but this is rare. The second day there may also be either a gain or loss. As the weight of sheep varies from day to day from one to five pounds in loss or gain, due chiefly to the increase or decrease of the amount of fodder and water in the stomach, the effects of dipping cannot be estimated in terms of loss or gain for forty-eight hours. In order to meet statements made concerning loss or gain in weight the bureau of animal industry had sheep dipped at stated intervals and the results were kept under exactly the same conditions; the dips used were lime and sulphur, tobacco and sulphur and two proprietary carbolic dips.

At the end of about two months, after three dipping all of the sheep showed a gain, with the exception of one of the sheep which lost the carbolic dip, which lost slightly. The lowest gain among the sheep treated with tobacco and sulphur was three and one-half pounds, the highest eleven and one-half pounds. The lowest gain among the sheep treated with lime and sulphur was seven pounds, the highest eight and one-half pounds. The lowest gain among the sheep treated with the carbolic dip was nine and one-half pounds, the highest three and one-half pounds. The sheep were given a fourth dipping and at the end of another month showed the following gains and losses over their original weight at first dipping: Sheep treated with tobacco and sulphur gained from one to three pounds; sheep treated with lime and sulphur gained from one to one and one-half pounds; sheep treated with carbolic dip gained as high as one pound or lost as much as one and one-half pounds. At this point circumstances intervened which closed the experiments for the season.

The experiment was then repeated, the lime and sulphur being used on sheep previously dipped in carbolic or tobacco dips, and vice versa. After ten days the sheep treated with lime and sulphur had gained from two to three pounds; the sheep treated with tobacco had gained from one to one and one-half pounds; the sheep treated with carbolic dip had gained as high as one pound or lost as much as one and one-half pounds. At this point circumstances intervened which closed the experiments for the season.

VERY RADICAL TREATMENT.

As to the proper way in which to treat citizens of the "undesirable" class, Attorney General Bonaparte has ideas of his own, and does not hesitate to express them. Thus he told the prison congress, assembled in Chicago, that society ought, in self-defense, to kill the habitual criminal.
He argues:

"The 'habitual criminal,' it must be remembered, is a product of modern civilization; our ancestors would have hung him for his first felony, or, if by any chance he escaped this fate, he would have almost surely died of some of the maladies then epidemic in prisons, while awaiting trial for the second. I would not have men hanged today for a trifling theft, nor our prisons dens of filth and hotbeds of disease; but I would have modern society cease to nourish and shelter its proved and inveterate enemies. Some years since, in a magazine article on certain defects in our criminal law, I suggested that an attempt be made to capital crime ought to be made to capital crime, when this should seem proper to the trial judge, and also that when a man has been already thrice convicted of major crimes upon his conviction for his fourth offense
of the like grade he should be liable,
again in the discretion of the court,
to the death penalty. At the time these suggestions appeared to grate upon the nerves of some among my critics, but I have seen no reason to repent of them."

All this is fair inference from the axiom that the object of punishment is the restraint of crime. It falls of its purpose if it simply hardens the criminal in his evil ways. Nevertheless, Mr. Bonaparte will not be able to persuade a people of Anglo-Saxon or Teutonic race to convert strict logic into action. They will go about half way and then compromise. There is a natural and growing hesitation
about killing any human being in cold blood.

Only one American steamship company bid for transporting coal for the battleship fleet at a price within President Roosevelt's stipulation, and this for only one-tenth of the amount of fuel required.

AERIAL WARSHIPS.

Now that the British government has had such encouraging success with its military steerable balloon experiments and both the French and German governments are enthusiastically working upon the problem of air navigation, it is not surprising to learn that our own war department is moving in the matter. With the experts figuring out the nature and cost of balloons and balloon stations,
and classes for instruction being arranged among the signal corps, it looks as if we may soon have something to call attention to in aeronational progress in American army life.
All this is sure to stimulate the already developing tendency to include aerostatics among the newer and more absorbing sports. An added impetus in the same direction will be given this month by the second international contest for the cup, brought to this country last year by Lieutenant Latham after winning the contest in the balloon flight from Paris to Bearburgh, England. This second contest will start from St. Louis, and that city has arranged for a whole week of aerial performances, in which flying machines as well as balloons, will be in evidence. Surely, air navigation is coming nearer with amazing speed.

According to a professional view expressed in London, the doctor in private practice is to disappear and health departments are to reign supreme. The prophecy, however, does not pretend to fix dates.

OPENING OF A NEW ERA.

Governor Workien of Maryland, in commenting on an anti-slavery agreement just entered into by the republicans and democratic committeemen
and candidates of Caroline county, says that the initiators of this movement are entitled to warm gratitude, for they have opened "a new era in Maryland politics, especially on the eastern shore, which has been so condemned in the past by the unlimited use of money for the corruption of voters." The executive hopes that the agreement may be made the basis of a "splendid anti-corrupt practice act."

The terms of the remarkable compact thus consummated are as follows:
Neither party shall spend more than $1,000 on the election. No part of that sum shall be asked or accepted of residents of other counties excepting contributions from state and judicial candidates. No contributions shall be accepted from corporations.

No one shall be employed "to get out the vote." No money shall be used to influence votes in any illegitimate way. No spoils promises shall be made to voters. Itemized lists of expenses shall be published. Finally, there is a clause in the contract to the effect that nothing but absolutely clear proof of violation and bad faith by one party shall justify the other in abandoning the compact and returning to the good old plan.

Attorney General Bonaparte will make his first speech in the Maryland campaign at Catonsville, on Thursday of this week. He has promised the republican managers that he will make other speeches during the campaign, but he will not be able to meet all the demands upon him.

IS IT WORTH IT?

The fact that Swarthmore college has decided to take until December to consider the question of accepting or rejecting the $2,000,000 bequest of Anna T. Jeanes, on the condition of giving up all participation in intercollegiate sports, shows at once a very proper conservatism and a desire to look at the matter not only from its various sides, but, doubtless, to secure an expression from alumni and friends. At the first news of this conditional bequest, the New York Commercial says, there was a vigorous protest from many sources against its acceptance; this still continues, and is likely to during the height of the football season. Swarthmore students have made showings in intercollegiate games quite beyond what was to be expected from the size and rank of the college; and the faculty and trustees are no doubt aware of the apparent value of the advertising that results from intercollegiate victories in sports and games in attracting youth to its halls. But isn't this a little overvalued? Have not intercollegiate contests already passed flood tide in this country? And is not the ebb in consonance with public sentiment likely to leave a more healthful basis for college athletics and sport in the shape of sport for sport's sake, conducted within the bounds of the individual college and within the limits of a more reasonable safety of life and limb? Would Swarthmore in withdrawing from intercollegiate contests be giving up anything so valuable as three millions, bequeathed to the primary objects of its existence? It is certainly well worth consideration, and however much it may "rub the fur the wrong way" to give up intercollegiate contests at the behest of "an old maid," it is not wisdom to seize this opportunity to extend higher education,
even at the sacrifice exacted—a sacrifice which is bound to look smaller and smaller as the years go by, both with the institution itself and with its scattered alums.

"Seeing Europe in Ten Days," runs
a headline in a New York newspaper, telling of a new scheme for rushing Americans around the continent in record time. Considering that there are at present several hundred Americans stranded in London, for whom Consul General Wynne and his associates are strenuously endeavoring to provide subsistence and transportation, the most pressing American desire just now would seem to be to solve the problem of how to see the United States in ten days.

SHE GOT HER DOG.

In a Washington special to the Chicago-Record Herald we find this interesting little story of how a pathetic little letter from a little girl in Maryland, touched the big heart of the biggest government in the world:

When the naval militia of the District of Columbia went on a cruise
down the Potomac a few weeks ago,
the men picked up an unattractive dog and carried it off. This resulted in a letter to the secretary of the navy
from a little girl at Pearson, St.
Mary's county, Maryland, named Clementine H. Craddock. She said of the milldamen:

"I am told they took away my good old dog Rover with them, and he is now on the boat in Washington. He is a dark red dog, right big and has hardly any teeth. I have no brothers or sisters, no one to play with me, now Rover has been taken. I am nine years old, and you don't know how lonely I am."

"I could drive him to my wagon, dress him up or anything. When he got stubborn and would not come with me I would get a stick and make believe it was a gun, and he would follow me."

Would you please take the time to find out about my dog? I am as happy as I have ever been and I cry about Rover."

When the letter reached the secretary of the navy things began to happen. Late this afternoon a wagon drove up to an express office in Washington, and two young men lifted carefully out a crate which they carried inside. They asked to have the crate weighed, and told the agent they wanted to pay the express upon it. It was a small dog, and the agent told him to take it to the express office at Pearson, St. Mary's county, Maryland.
In the crate was a "right big" red dog, and when one of the men in the express office looked down at him and said, "Here, Rover," the dog wagged
his tail.

In the box were some bread and other things suitable to the appetite of a dog with hardly any teeth. The tag on the box bore the name of "Miss Clementine Craddock."

The Morning Journal recognizes the goodness and nobility of effort of President Roosevelt, of the school board, and no one questions the fact that he has rendered service of inestimable value to the cause of education in Albuquerque, but it is equally clear that he gets "the cart before the horse" in the reasons he gives for not suspending school work during fair week. The disrupting of regular work, and the general demoralization, do not come from dismissing the school during fair week, but from attempting the impossible task of keeping them down to regular business while the whole community is having a holiday, and everybody's attention is absorbed in the work of having a good time.

That's what makes trouble and demoralizes the school. Children built on normal lines are just as human as members of the school board, or even newspaper editors.

Giving the devil his due, is still a part of the square deal—hence we note the fact that in a long list of accidents printed in the Chicago papers, and including more than a dozen different sorts of steam, electric and horse vehicles, the automobile was conspicuous only by reason of its absence.

The Denver papers are making a great "kick" because coal, such as our Gatup coal, is sold in that city at $5
a ton, when they say, it should be only $4.50. In Albuquerque we pay $7.50, with a promise of bigger figures to come.

All those who are present at the first territorial fair, 26 years ago, are requested to call at the Morning Journal office and register themselves
among the "fast families." They're it.

The Estancia Valley Has It Coming

(Estancia News.)
Recently the Journal (Albuquerque) has contained several articles concerning the valley, which will do immense good in the way of giving publicity to our prosperous country.
Especially is this true of the write-up during this week concerning our fair and the display of vegetables and farm products. An accurate and well-written article, such as has been given daily, will not only turn the attention of the thousands of readers of that paper to our county, but will also interest as well. The our people appreciate the kind words is shown by the increasing circulation of the paper throughout the valley.

BANQUET CLOSES MEETING OF THE KNIGHTS OF STATEHOOD FOR NEW MEXICO

Wit and Wisdom Dispensed Over the Cigars at Brilliant Culmination of Columbian Gathering.

A most brilliant banquet last night at the Alvarado, attended by some 400 members of the Knights of Columbus of New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and Texas, closed the notable two days' gathering of the knights at which seventy-four new members were admitted to the mysteries of the order. Many elaborate functions have been held at the Alvarado, but seldom has it witnessed a more successful event than that of last night. Among those in attendance were men prominent in all callings in the southwest and men known all over the south-west.

The menu was all that could be desired, and the fact that it was held at the Alvarado is assurance that the arrangements were perfect. O. N. Marron, district deputy, was toastmaster, and performed the duties of that position admirably. Rev. Father Mandall, of this city, spoke impressively on the subject, "The Knights of Columbus and Holy Mother of the Church." The stream is always purest at its source—being followed by Nestor Montoya, of Old Albuquerque, whose subject was "The Knights of Columbus and the State." Hon. Eugene Brady O'Neill, of Phoenix, was given the toast, "The Ladies," and spoke on that alluring topic with wit and eloquence, which proved that he felt strongly on the subject. Mr. O'Neill bears the reputation of being one of the best public speakers in Arizona.

Mr. O. A. Larrabee, of Las Vegas, democratic candidate for delegate in congress at the last election, was unanimously elected and made the speech he had intended. "A Plan for New Mexico," his place on the program was taken by Rev. Father Connolly, of Las Vegas, who did full justice to his subject.

The menu was as follows:
Oyster Cocktail.
Consomme en Tasse.
Celery, Salted Almonds, Olives.
Filet of Sole, Sauce Normande.
Pommes Duchesse.
Chicken Cutlets with French Peas.
Punch Imperial.
Filet of Beef, Larded, Mushrooms Sauce.

Lobster Salad.
Neapolitan Ice Cream, Assorted Cake, Imperial Cheese, Water Crackers.

PYTHIANS TO MEET AT BANQUET BOARD

Well Known Men to Speak Tonight at Elaborate Entertainment at Which Governor Curry Will Be Guest.

Two sessions of the Twenty-fourth annual grand lodge meeting of the New Mexico division of the Knights of Pythias were held yesterday at Elks hall. The opening meeting convened at 10 o'clock and continued until 7:30 o'clock when the business of the organization, which consumed the morning's session, was resumed. The knights will meet again this morning and this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Tonight an exemplification of work in three degrees will be put on, which will be followed by a monster banquet at Elks hall.

Governor George Curry will be the guest of honor. Governor Curry is a member of Damon Lodge No. 15 of Roswell. N. M. Colonel Ralph E. Twitchell of East Las Vegas, W. S. Hopewell of this city, Dr. M. McCree of Magdalena, A. R. Quinn of Carlsbad and Mr. George S. Klock of Albuquerque, will be the speakers.

Business Session in Armory in Elks Building Followed By Contests at Fair Grounds This Afternoon.

The New Mexico Volunteer Firemen's association will meet this morning at 10 o'clock in annual convention in the armory, Elks building with representatives present from every city in the territory where volunteer fire fighting organizations are maintained. Mayor R. H. Murphy, of Albuquerque, president of the association, will preside.

A. S. Smith, of Santa Fe, secretary of the association, arrived last night, bringing his team from the Santa Fe fire department, which will enter the contest at the fair grounds this afternoon. The meeting session will be taken up with the business of the association, and the afternoon will be taken up with the business of the association and the afternoon will be devoted to the contests of the fair grounds, which will include one ladder climb and double coupling contest. The teams entered are from Santa Fe, Las Vegas, the Santa Fe shops and the American Lumber company and some fast work is expected.

Interesting Discussion Comes Up in Course of Meeting of Women of Territory Yesterday.

That the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of New Mexico are in favor of statehood for the territory was brought out plainly at the convention in this city yesterday. The question came up incidentally when the Rev. J. C. Hollins, pastor of the First Methodist church, took occasion to go on record rather emphatically against the proposition at present. Rev. Thomas Harwood and Rev. Hugh A. Cooper thereupon took up the subject in favor of statehood, and the discussion that followed was an interesting one, most of the ladies expressing themselves heartily in favor of the admission of New Mexico to the union at the earliest possible date.

The convention closed last evening and was one of the best in point of attendance and interest ever held by the temperance women of the territory. The program began at 2 o'clock with a devotional service led by Mrs. C. E. Vaughn. Following the report of the credentials committee, Mrs. S. B. Miller rendered a solo, after which came the memorial service, which is a regular part of the annual meeting. The president's message followed an enjoyable solo by Mrs. Roy McDonald. The "Pastors' Hour" followed, all the ministers being invited and most of them being present. Miss Lulu Palmer sang, after which Mrs. Caroline Hawthorne, of Buffalo, N. Y., delivered an address on "The Duties and Privileges of W. C. T. U. Women." Next came "Scientific Facts," by Mrs. E. S. Dudley, M. D., followed by "Y. work," by Miss Eva Tucker, of Las Vegas. Miss Marion Le Duc, of Truchas, spoke on "Our Needs," after which came the election of officers, the report of the resolutions committee, the final reading of the minutes and adjournment.

LAST HONORS PAID TO JACOB LOEBES

Many Friends Gather to Express Grief at Passing of Prominent Albuquerque Business Man.

A large number of friends gathered yesterday at Immaculate Conception church to pay the last tribute of respect to the late Jacob Loebes, who was laid to rest in Santa Barbara cemetery. The funeral service at the church was preceded by a short service at the family residence, the cortege proceeding thence to the church, where mass was said at 8 o'clock by Rev. Father Mandall. The funeral was a large one, and in the number of carriages in the long line which followed the remains to the cemetery and in the beautiful floral tributes, was found some expression of the sorrow felt at the passing of a man who has built up a great business in Albuquerque, and who has been a prominent factor in the city's commercial development.

The pall-bearers were Otto Dieckmann, O. N. Marron, P. F. McCanna, George Schneider, F. Kistner and Jacob Karber.

SPLENDID EXHIBIT OF THE VARSITY AT THE FAIR

Display of Electric and Meteorological Apparatus Attracts Much Favorable Comment in Exhibition Hall.

One of the very best, if not the best, exhibits on display at Exhibition hall at the fair is that of the University of New Mexico. The booth is fairly covered with miniature U. N. M. pennants and is chock full of absorbing interest to any one interested in matters scientific. One of the most interesting features is a "Liquid Air Department," where demonstrations are made at 11 o'clock, 1 and 3 and 5 p. m. All at 100 degrees below zero is one of the curiosities of the demonstration. A wireless telegraph receiver is on display, and there are electric motors and other apparatus in profusion. The display of meteorological instruments, of which the university has a splendid collection, has attracted much attention. There are microscopes, and altogether the sample of the university's scientific equipment on exhibit gives a good idea of the scope of the work of the big school on the hill.

Other School Displays. There are other interesting school displays, including one by the Las Vegas High school and the Albuquerque public school exhibit. The latter, which were of even greater interest to the students of the district school in the contest inaugurated by Superintendent H. H. Smith, is one of the best exhibits in "science" education. Some of the apparatus and models of a new and old school are on display. They are beautiful, and it is hard to realize that they were grown by boys of ten and twelve in Berea, Ohio.

CHAMPION BEAR HUNTER REACHES ROOSEVELT CAMP

Stamford, La., Oct. 7.—Holt Collier, a Mississippi negro bear hunter, reported to the president's camp early today, ready for business in the campaign. He came down from Greenville on a boat and brought with him a fine kennel of dogs. The first report of a killing since the arrival of the president's party was received today. Pen Liley, Collier's white rival, succeeded in killing a fine black bear yesterday afternoon, soon after he made his appearance, commencing the president's dinner yesterday.

REMARKABLE RISE GAS MAN BADLY BURNED BY AN EXPLOSION

Appointment as General Attorney for the Corporation at $20,000 a Year Agreeable Surprise to Friends.

The appointment of T. J. Norton, of Los Angeles, to the position of general attorney for the Santa Fe railway company at a salary of $20,000 a year, has been somewhat of a surprise to the many friends of that gentleman. In spite of the fact that his rise has been rapid since the time nine years ago when he started in as a clerk at the Santa Fe, his friends are not surprised. It is unusual for a far western man to be chosen for this position. Mr. Norton's Albuquerque friends will be interested in the following from the Los Angeles Times:

Norton, who for the last few years has been solicitor for the coast line of the Santa Fe, has lived in Los Angeles just seven years. He never blazed his talents from the house. Few but a circle of friends knew him. But the officials of the road were well acquainted with the ability of Norton, and when the famous orange routing case was won by him for the Santa Fe, his superiors looked even more kindly upon the tall, straight and slim, quiet young attorney.

Norton is succeeded as solicitor by E. W. Cann, who has been his assistant for some years. Cann was once United States district attorney in North Dakota, and recently a member of the California legislature. Cann in turn is succeeded by T. T. Clotfelter.

The interest in the railroad world centers upon the sudden rise of Norton. About fifteen years ago he was a reporter on the Kansas City Journal, and did some editorial writing. Then he took up the study of law.

After his admission to the bar he practiced in Kansas City and later went to Chicago. He applied himself assiduously to the study of corporation law and got a minor position in the general solicitor's office of the Santa Fe in Chicago about 1898. He did his work well.

He was comparatively young then and looked upon his position as a great favor.

About 1900 Captain C. N. Sperry, who was coast solicitor for the Santa Fe, desired an assistant, and young Norton was selected.

After three years had passed Captain Sperry died and Norton was appointed in his place.

Shortly after this the famous orange routing case was opened and Norton took the case for the Santa Fe. It was a bitter battle, but he won.

Another case which added to the glory of Norton was the fight of way case in Arizona, in which the Southern Pacific trespassed upon the right of way of the Santa Fe. Norton fought this hard and after it had been carried to the highest court it was decided in favor of the Santa Fe.

The promotion of Norton is one of the longest leaps of recent railroad records. Some editorial writers have said one-fourth of the salary of the new position.

AUCTION POOLS ARE POPULAR

The inauguration of the auction system of pool selling is proving popular in Albuquerque as the crowd around the auctioneer in the Zeigler race last night testified. Several big stakes were placed on fair sporting events and the interest in the racing events was particularly evident. The men in charge of the privilege, Messrs. Levy and Weston, say that the sporting spirit is evidently wide awake in Albuquerque. Some rather sporty bets have been placed on the outcome of the base ball tournament and Mr. Weston's remark about the baby shoe has even brought some speculation as to that event. Pools will be sold each evening at 8 o'clock at the Zeigler bar on all fair events from horse racing to bronco busting.

WARNED WHITTAKER THAT DEATH WAS NEAR

Letter From Relative Told Unfortunate Santa Fe Switchman to be Careful and Urged Him to Quit Railroad.

An investigation made by Santa Fe officers yesterday failed to throw any additional light on the manner of death of Frank E. Whittaker, whose mangled body was found in the cinder pit at the roundhouse Sunday night. The remains are held at the Strong undertaking rooms, waiting for instructions from relatives at Logansport, Ind., the dead man's home.

Whittaker seems to have had direct warning of his death in a letter which was found on his person and which was written by his aunt, Mrs. T. M. De Weine, of Logansport. The letter told him of the recent death of a relative who was a railroad man, and who had been accidentally killed, and warned him that he would come to harm if he did not give up railroad work. Santa Fe Agent Purdy said last night that he had ascertained that Whittaker's parents are wealthy and that they are now touring Europe. Before they sailed, according to Mr. Purdy's information, they urged their son to accompany them, but he refused, saying he was satisfied with his work.

Word was received here yesterday that at the death Sunday night in San Bernardino, Cal., of L. B. Bartlett, former painter there for the Santa Fe, and formerly employed in like capacity here.

Meagher Struck a Match Before He Discovered All the Leaks in Rooms of Photograph Company.

Thomas Meagher, a gas man employed by the Albuquerque Gas, Electric Light and Power company, was badly burned about the hands and face yesterday afternoon about 2:15 o'clock by the explosion of gas in the dark room used by the Great Western View company on the second floor of the Zeigler building.

The men operating the films and apparatus for the view company detected gas escaping about 1 o'clock and notified the gas company, which sent Meagher to the Zeigler building. While Meagher succeeded in stopping the main leakage he did not discover another small aperture in the pipe, and as he was ready to leave he struck a match.

Instantly the room was enveloped in flames and Meagher was hurled against the wall, while the two men working in the room fled precipitately. The fire department was called and extinguished the blaze. The loss in films and apparatus in the dark room was estimated at $75.

Meagher was attended by a local physician and was reported resting comfortably last night, his burns not being serious.

MEETING OF THE UNDERTAKERS POSTPONED

Delay in Arrival of Members of Association Necessitates Holding Meeting a Day Later.

As the majority of the out of town members of the New Mexico Funeral Directors' association failed to arrive here before noon yesterday the opening session of that body was postponed until this morning. Vice President A. Borders, of this city, will preside, as President Clarence Ullery, of Roswell, was unable to come.

Thomas N. Wilkerson, acting mayor, will welcome the undertakers to the city. He will be responded to by Mr. H. C. Strong, of Las Cruces. The morning session will be devoted chiefly to discussion and reception of visitors while this afternoon's session will be occupied with the report of the officers and committees and other general business.

The undertaking parlors of R. K. Adams, A. Borders and F. H. Strong were yesterday made the headquarters for the visitors.

Professor H. S. Eckels, of Philadelphia, who is to demonstrate before the embalming, arrived here yesterday on the flyer. Mr. Moore, of the Colorado Casket company, arrived early yesterday morning and will take part in the meeting, as will also Mr. Corvass, vice president of the Jennings-Amos company.

Looking for Missing Boy. Lewis Vidal, aged 12 years, of El Paso, son of prominent people in the Paso City, is missing, and it is believed that he is making his way to Albuquerque over the Santa Fe. All trainmen on the Rio Grande division have been instructed by Superintendent W. K. Ester to keep a lookout for the Vidal boy, and when he is caught, the conductors are to return him to El Paso.

REGAL SHOES

FALL AND WINTER STYLES

This Shoe will appeal particularly to men who want the newest made-to-order model in a shiny leather, blucher cut, shoe. Although the toe is narrow, it has been carefully modeled so that the trim effect does not in any way interfere with the perfect comfort of the foot.

The handsome vamp of Patent Calf gives a pleasing contrast to the dull finished surface of the Matt Calf top. Clever Regal workmanship is evident in every part of this shoe—in the careful shaping of the vamp over the last, in the trimming of the moderately heavy extension sole and military heel, and in the fitting of the uppers and inside trimmings. Every bit of material used is custom grade. The linings are of 9 ounce duck with special mercerized finish. In every way this is one of the finest Regal models for general and dress wear. One of ten absolutely correct styles of this season. $3.50 and $4.00
