SAN FRANCISCO MARKED BILLS HAS BRIGHT AS TRAP FOR PROSPECTS GRAFTERS

SCHWAB TO SPEND
MILLION IN SHIPYARD

City Cannot Help Succeeding Declares Steel Magnate Who Believes Labor Troubles Will Ultimately Be Settled.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
San Francisco, Oct. 19.—Charles M. Schwab addressed a large gathering of the most influential men of San Francisco at noon today in the board room of the Merchants' exchange. His subject was "San Francisco's Industrial Situation and Her Commercial Future."

The most important of the direct statements made by Mr. Schwab was that after looking the ground over carefully he has decided not only to continue the Union Iron Works, but to modernize that ship building and structural plant at a cost of $1,000,000 or more and enlarge its capacity of output. This announcement threw his audience into a turmoil of hand-clapping and cheers. Mr. Schwab declared that the conditions of the industrial warfare existing in San Francisco cannot survive; that the unusual and abnormal scale of prices for labor imposed by the unions on capital in this city must fall, that confidence as between themselves and in the integrity of the courts must be restored amongst the people of San Francisco; that he is not an enemy to organized labor, but is opposed to the way in which labor unions are administered today; that San Francisco cannot help succeeding, and that this city has before it a future greater in industry and commerce and economical achievement than in its past.

PITTSBURG COMPLAINS OF HIGH PRICE OF FOOD

Suit Filed in Federal Court Alleges Dealers Discriminate Against Town.

Pittsburg, Oct. 19.—Attorney A. N. Anderson today filed in the federal court an amended bill in equity in the fight being waged here against the high price of food stuffs and the alleged discrimination against certain dealers by the various produce associations throughout the country.

The new bill is much larger in its scope than that filed recently by W. F. Arbouret against the Pittsburg Produce association. By the new bill, all the persons who formerly were mentioned as having been placed on the alleged blacklist of the trade association have been made complainants in the case, and many of the largest fruit growers of the country, together with all the railroads leading into Pittsburg, are defendants.

SUSPECTS RELEASED
UNDER HEAVY BOND

Folk's Successor in St. Louis
Has Clever Plan to Catch Councilmen Under Suspicion of Bribe Taking.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
St. Louis, Oct. 19.—The two members of the house of delegates, Fred Warner and F. W. Priemeyer, who were arrested last night in the council chamber on the charge of having received bribery money to secure the erection of a garage on Delmar boulevard by Henry Ascher, appeared in the criminal court today and gave bonds in the sum of $2,000 each to answer to any charge that may be returned by the grand jury.

It is stated that on advice from Circuit Attorney Sager, Ascher gave Warner and Priemeyer five marked $100 bills. Ascher said he gave the marked bills a few moments before the bill authorizing him to erect a garage was taken from the committee and passed by the house of delegates. The marked bills were deposited today at the City National bank by Samuel Weisman, a tailor and professional bondsman.

Soon after the bank officials notified Circuit Attorney Sager that the bills could be obtained at the bank, and he immediately recovered them. Weisman was taken before the grand jury after having refused to throw any light on how he came in possession of the marked bills when questioned by the circuit attorney.

Priemeyer denied any connection with the bribery, while Warner declined to make any statement whatever. Ascher is a defendant in police court on a charge of erecting a garage without a permit. It was because of the prosecution in police court that he sought to get relief through the municipal assembly.

BRYAN TALKS STATE RIGHTS TO SOUTHERNERS

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 19.—W. J. Bryan, before a great crowd at the state fair yesterday declared:

"The average man wants his own state to control its own affairs. Since I was here a year ago, I continued, 'a new condition has been forced into the political arena. It is difficult to state what the paramount question of the day may be. A great new question has arisen, that is the relative sphere of state of the nation. It is necessary that a concrete question arise before the average man becomes interested in it.'"

Small Blaze Empties Theater.
St. Louis, Oct. 19.—During a performance here tonight at the Columbia theater fire broke out in the roof. The audience was requested to pass out without delay, but to do so without disorder. The surprised people obeyed, and the theater was soon cleared. On the outside those who had come out of the theater saw firemen extinguishing the small blaze. No one was hurt.

DINNER IN HONOR OF NEGRO CHURCHMAN

Bishop Potter Risks Southern Displeasure to Entertain Colleague From Africa.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Potter, who have leased a residence here during the general convention of the American Episcopal church, last evening entertained at dinner Bishop Ferguson, of Africa, the only negro entitled to a seat in the house of bishops at the convention.

The dinner given in honor of the African bishop in the heart of the south, has been the subject of considerable comment.

Bishop Potter, in an interview today regarding his entertainment of Bishop Ferguson, said:

"There is nothing strange in that. I'll wager two shillings the bishop of Louisiana would have accepted an invitation to meet Bishop Ferguson if I had extended it to him," he said, turning to the Louisianaan. "wouldn't you, bishop?"

The bishop from Louisiana replied in the affirmative and Bishop Potter, turning to the reporter, said:

"I knew it."

The bishop of Louisiana, when approached on the subject, answered in a perfunctory and preoccupied sort of way. "I am a southern man," he added, "and the conditions there are far different than in the north."

He seemed much aggrieved that his name should have been brought into the matter, and expressed appreciation of the opportunity to explain his position. He said he did not know that he was talking before a reporter.

The convention adjourned today to meet three years hence in Cincinnati.

Radium Discovery in Alps.

Geneva, Oct. 19.—A radium mine has been discovered in the Alps by Professor Joly, a noted geologist. He declares that there is a rich deposit of radium in that part of the Alps through which the Simplon tunnel runs, and that stones collected during the excavation of the tunnel reveal richer traces of the precious stuff than are known anywhere else in Europe. He also says that the cause of the abnormal heat experienced by the men excavating the tunnel was the large deposit of radium in that region.

CENSOR HANDICAPS RUSSIAN NEWSPAPERS

Cryptic Tales of Robberies Puzzle for Gentle Reader.

Odesa, Russia, Oct. 19.—Newspapers in Odesa are now edited under difficulties. The new governor, General Nowicki, is determined to prevent details of crimes committed in the city getting into the papers, and has issued an order that names of persons, places and even amounts of money concerned in the frequent cases of outrage and pillage, shall be represented in the newspaper reports by the letter N, and no other way.

Paragraphs in the newspapers giving this class of news have thus become extremely cryptic. Here are two specimens:

"Hooligans whose names have been given as N, N and N, attacked Count N as he was walking down N street, robbing him of N roubles. He was conveyed to N hospital in an unconscious condition."

"A burglary has been committed at N's house in N street, where a flat rented by Mr. N was stripped of all valuables."

NEW REGULATIONS FOR ACQUIRING HOMESTEADS

Washington, Oct. 9.—An important change in the regulations for acquiring homesteads on the public domain was announced today by Commissioner of the general land office. As an additional precaution against fraud, all persons making homestead entries on public lands after November 1st next will be required to have actual residence on the lands for fourteen months before they will be permitted to "commute" the entries to obtain the title by a cash payment. Hereafter the period of actual residence has been eight months. The ruling will not affect entries made prior to November 1, 1907.

Episcopal Conference Closes.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 19.—The triennial general conference of the Protestant Episcopal church closed this afternoon. A resolution proposed by Dr. Huntington, of New York, for eliminating the thirty-nine articles of religion from the prayer book, on the ground that they are antiquated, will be finally left in the hands of a joint committee, which will report at the next convention in 1910.

TAFT EXPECTS TO BE PRIVATE COUNCILMAN TWO YEARS HENCE

Statement in Manila Speech
Would Seem to Indicate Secretary Has Small Hopes of Presidency.

PRaises PROGRESS OF PHILIPPINE PEOPLE

Declares Government Willing and Anxious to Help Business and Prosperity of Far Eastern Possessions.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Manila, Oct. 19.—At a banquet given in his honor in this city tonight Secretary of War William H. Taft made a most significant statement. He was referring to the fact that he had almost visited the Philippines three times already, and in expressing his intention to come here again, he said:

"I hope in another two years to visit Manila again, but then I probably will come as a private citizen." The significance of Mr. Taft's remarks in relation to the chances of his nomination for the presidency next year did not seem to strike his audience. The secretary's speech was received with much enthusiasm by the representative Filipinos present when he declared the government was anxious and ready to help the business prosperity of the islands.

Secretary Taft devoted the day to an inspection of the schools of Manila. He visited the Normal academy and trade school and was given a reception at the industrial exposition now being held here. In addressing a gathering of pupils the secretary declared education to be the life of the island. He said the trade schools afforded a wonderful opportunity, and he wished to see the system of labor with head and hands. No people could advance to a high state of civilization who looked down upon or despised labor, and the Filipinos should take pride and satisfaction in developing the education of their hands as well as their heads.

Agriculture, the secretary continued, is a most important phase in the development of the Philippines, farmers being needed just as much as lawyers, doctors and clergymen, and agricultural instruction should not be neglected. He paid a tribute to the self-sacrificing work of the teachers and complimented Governor Connelley and Dr. Hays, of the educational department on the school system. The secretary inspected also the newly established medical school in Manila. Speaking to the medical students he said he considered this work fully as important as any taken up by the government and that the islands were in need of physicians and a hygienic system of living. He paid a tribute to American doctors. Without the knowledge in tropical diseases gained by American doctors during the construction of the Panama canal would have been impossible, but with this knowledge they have been able to clean up the canal zone and make it healthy and the completion of the canal is assured. In conclusion the secretary complimented the medical sects upon the harmonious co-operation of American and Filipino instructors. While returning from Port William McKinley last night the horses attached to the carriage, in which were the secretary, Taft and Governor General Smith ran away. A detective who was on the box, took the reins from the hands of the driver, but he was unable to bring the horses to a standstill. He succeeded, however, in driving them into a ditch and thus stopping the carriage. Neither occupant nor carriage were hurt. There is no official program for tomorrow and the secretary consequently will have a free day.

There was an enthusiastic demonstration for Secretary Taft at a banquet given in his honor tonight by William Morgan Shaster, a member of the Philippine commission. Leading representatives of all classes and nationalities were present. The speakers included Senator Osmeña, the newly elected speaker of the assembly, and Governor General Smith. Governor Smith confessed in his remarks that he was one of those who had doubted the wisdom of the policy inaugurated by Secretary Taft eight years ago, but he now realized that this had been the only method to bring the two people to a common ground. He said that if one were to judge the future by the past, the success of Mr. Taft's policy would be unbounded and he was thankful for the circumstances under which it had been possible for the secretary to participate in the island legislation. It was feared three months ago, the general went on, that the national assembly would be radical, but it has proved its conservatism and has settled down to do business on conservative lines.

Secretary Taft opened his address by declaring that the future prosperity of the Philippine islands depended primarily on the Filipinos themselves. They must make progress as a nation before they could obtain the benefits realized by other nations and it was the duty of business men and others contemplating investment in the Philippines to help the natives to better their condition. It was with the most

BATTLESHIP MAKES EXCELLENT SHOWING

Washington, Oct. 19.—The result of the speed trial of the battleship Mississippi off the Delaware capes was announced in the following statement given out at the navy department today:

The Mississippi finished a successful speed trial. Average speed, four hours, full power 17.11 knots, and for twenty-four hours endurance trial 12.13 knots on 7,000 horse power main engines.

Intense satisfaction that he came to the islands today and found them quieter than ever before in their history. He was glad the assembly had been established and hoped it would take over some of the responsibility of the government. He said to capitalists and others looking for franchises and concessions that another power had arisen in the land and that hereafter they must come to the assembly with their requests. He had no doubt the assembly would carefully consider all questions affecting the welfare of the islands; that it would not only look out for the interests of the people, but would welcome with liberality the investment of foreign capital absolutely necessary to the development of the Philippines. The existence of the assembly would strengthen the hand of the government, and the government was anxious and ready to help the business prosperity of the islands in which the people themselves were quite as much interested as the merchants.

This was the beginning of a period of prosperity, the speaker asserted, and he thought that under it everybody would be happy and contented. It had been charged in the past that the government had not had proper sympathy with the American merchants in the islands, but this was not true. There could be no prosperity in the Philippines for anybody unless there was prosperity for the Filipino people, and when prosperity came it would be divided among all who had the courage to invest their capital and work with energy.

The secretary declared that he was not ashamed of anything in the islands and urged the Americans here to make every effort to bring the Filipino people to a realization of their wonderful opportunity. He had been to the Philippines three times already and he hoped in another two years to visit the islands again, but then he probably would come as a private citizen.

Mr. Taft was greeted with cheers at the close of his speech. This afternoon Secretary Taft laid the corner stone of the first school building to be erected in Manila under the American regime. He delivered a short address to the principals of the schools.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Lieutenant H. H. Rousseau, civil engineer in the navy, and a member of the Isthmian canal commission, has arrived here from the Isthmus and laid before Secretary Metcalf a proposition to increase the projected width of the canal, which is now planned at 100 feet in the locks. The recommendation is based upon the rapid increase of beam in naval construction since the canal plans were formed.

Secretary Metcalf will take up the matter with the president as soon as possible.

BACK TO THE MINES FOR ROOSEVELT

Bear Hunt Ended, President is Expected to Emerge From Wilderness and Go to Work.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Stambool, La., Oct. 19.—With the close of the day the president terminated his fourteen-day hunt on Bear Lake and Tensas Bayou. That the last day was one of unabated activity on his part is certain, but what the result was, was not known at 6 o'clock, as no messenger leaving the camp after the close of the day's sport had reached the telegraph station. The weather was excellent, as it has been throughout the week, and the party started out early this morning in high spirits and in anticipation of a fine day with which to close the fortnight of sport. The president will reach Mr. Shields' home during the forenoon tomorrow, and will meet a number of Mr. Shields' friends at dinner. A special train will take the president and his party to Vicksburg, starting from this point at 10 o'clock Monday. After a stay of four hours at Vicksburg, the president will board the train which carried him from Washington to Keokuk, and return to Washington.

Christians of Nation Blamed For
What Is Termed Complete Breakdown of American Institutions at the Golden Gate.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—That San Francisco politically has sunk to a lower depth than any other city in the country, and that Christian America is responsible for her condition, was the startling statement made by Rev. Dr. John B. Thomas, of San Francisco, to the synod of Pennsylvania of the Presbyterian church here today when he made an appeal for funds for the churches of that city.

Dr. Thomas described what he terms the gradual degeneration of the city, and said that San Francisco today represented a complete breakdown of American institutions.

"No other city in America has been so religiously neglected during the past fifty years as we have," said he. "We are reaping as we have sown."

Dr. Thomas asserted that the bad conditions could not be laid entirely at the door of San Francisco. "The blame rests with Christian America for neglecting her as a field for home missionary work. While the city increased in population, 250,000 in a quarter of a century, the churches did not increase a member."

After Dr. Thomas' address a resolution was passed commending the raising of a fund for the aid of the San Francisco missions.

EMPEROR BATTLES WITH DEATH

Condition of Francis Joseph
Shows Slight Improvement;
Danger By No Means Passed.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Vienna, Oct. 19.—Emperor Francis Joseph has now been ill nearly three weeks, and while he has made some improvement, his condition is not entirely satisfactory. There is still a certain amount of disquietude regarding the ultimate outcome. The emperor is not diminishing and the strength of the patient has been reduced because of the lack of nourishment and sleep. The disease itself, however, is not causing any actual weakness, the main reason for solicitude being found in the general condition of the aged monarch. The efforts of attending physicians are being directed toward averting in every way possible anything that would tend to further reduce the patient's strength.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Chicago, Oct. 19.—One trainman was killed and ten other persons were injured in a head-on collision between two suburban passenger trains on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad near Grand avenue, this city, tonight. Walter Cushing, engineer of the northbound train, was arrested and is being held pending an investigation of the accident. The dead:

Harry Larson, fireman of northbound train.

The train crews tell conflicting stories of the cause of the wreck, each engineer asserting that he had the right of way.

Comparatively few of the passengers were hurt, and most of the injuries consisted of cuts and bruises.

LANDS IN WEST VIRGINIA
AFTER 20 HOURS IN AIR

Aeronauts Gathered in St.
Louis for Bennett Cup Contest Expect to Exceed Wonderful Record Established.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
St. Louis, Oct. 19.—The remarkable flight of Aeronauts J. C. McCoy and Captain Charles De Forest Chandler, in the army signal corps balloon No. 10, which broke the record established by Lieutenant Lahm, has set a new standard for aeronauts who will participate in the international balloon contest which begins here Monday.

When the news was received here today that McCoy and Chandler had landed safely after a flight of over twenty-one hours in which they covered a distance approximated at 475 miles, there was a general feeling of relief and deep satisfaction in aeronautic circles here. For a time it was feared that owing to lack of tidings from the balloonists they had met with some mishap, but the record they established has apparently no dampening effect on the other aeronauts who will arrive for the Bennett cup Monday, and several have announced that they expect to exceed the distance traversed.

According to the announcement of the officials in the aeronautic contest, the contestants may compete for only one prize—the James Gordon Bennett cup, now held by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm. The announcement that several aeronauts had entered their names in the contest for the Lahm cup, offered by the Aero club of America, with the expectation of combining the two races, caused the contest committee at a meeting today to adopt a resolution declaring that no contestant in the Bennett cup race should at the time enter for any other event.

This limits the international contest to an endeavor to exceed Lieutenant Lahm's record for the Bennett trophy which he made in covering 402 miles from Paris to Hyfling Dales, England, last year. Had the Lahm entry been allowed, the aspirants for the Bennett cup would have had to exceed the distance covered by McCoy and Chandler. There will be a race for the Lahm cup during the contest week, and should any aeronaut exceed the distance traveled by McCoy and Chandler, who have won the trophy, they will lose possession of the prize.

No trial ascensions were made today, as all the balloonists were deeply engaged in preparations for the contest of the coming week.

Horace B. Wild, who won the dirigible balloon contest last June under the auspices of the Aero club of Chicago, and who will compete here Tuesday, arrived today.

Captain Charles Yeager, of Omaha, who will pilot the airship Comet in the aeronautic races, also arrived today.

Tonight the aeronauts were tendered a banquet by the Aero club of St. Louis.

DARING AERONAUTS RACE WITH RAILROAD TRAIN

Cincinnati, Oct. 1.—Captain Charles De Forest Chandler, United States army, and J. C. McCoy, of the Aero club of New York, arrived in this city today from Walton, W. Va., where they descended yesterday afternoon, making 475 miles from St. Louis. The two navigators left for St. Louis tonight.

"We would have been in the air yet, perhaps, as we had plenty of provisions. If we had not struck the mountains," said Lieutenant Chandler.

"Also, we wanted to get back to St. Louis in time for the races Monday. Our balloon behaved splendidly," he added. "We started from St. Louis in a northeasterly direction and kept going northeast until north of Indianapolis."

The sailing was not very exciting until we were over Edwardsville, Ill., where we had an exciting race with a railroad train on the Wabash road. I think, and a suburban car. The wind was in our favor and we beat them.

"When north of Indianapolis the wind changed, and we turned to south by east and sailed south of Dayton, Ohio. We were being carried into the mountains of West Virginia at a rapid rate. We decided to descend. The descent was made easily and without mishap to ourselves or the balloon."

"We came down slowly and landed on a steep hillside three miles north of Walton."

Army Men Anxious For Details.
Washington, Oct. 19.—Officers of the signal corps of the army were disappointed tonight in not receiving from Captain Chandler some details of the balloon trip. An examination of the map of West Virginia, however, makes it clear why there was so much delay in receiving the report of the landing at Walton, Roane county. This country is very mountainous and has few railroads. Walton has neither telegraph nor telephone lines.

Standard Oil Plant Destroyed.
Des Moines, Oct. 19.—Fire in the plant of the Standard Oil company here this afternoon destroyed $10,000 worth of oil.

NEGROS CRAZED BY RELIGION

Fierce Riot Follows Fanatical Outbreak in New Orleans; One Policeman Loses Life.

New Orleans, Oct. 19.—Fanatical excitement of negroes calling themselves slaves "by council of God," appears to have been the cause of the riot last night on a New Orleans street, in which one policeman was killed, several others wounded and a number of negroes badly injured. The isolated house in which half a dozen negroes barricaded themselves, and which was fired upon by policemen and citizens from all sides for nearly two hours, proves to have been a meeting place of the sect.

Last night during a meeting the shooting started when highly excited negroes inflicted razor wounds on Policeman Cambias because he attempted to enter the meeting to investigate reports of a disturbance caused by boys throwing stones through windows. Razors were slashed across his face and neck, mortally wounding him.

Those who remained and barricaded themselves were well armed. After the negroes had been smoked into submission many firearms were found under the meeting house. The great excitement in that section of the city grew intense, and when the arrests followed, it required the efforts of a score of policemen to get the negroes through the mob and land them in the station house.

The arrest of sixteen negroes, members of the so-called "Council of God," ten of them charged with murder, was the result today of police investigations into last night's race riot.

Some almost unbelievable tenets of their belief were announced today by those arrested. One of the beliefs was that the white men should be worshipped as deities. Some of the members had been forced into the sect by threats of death.

Of the dozen wounded, two are dying. These are Patrolman Welch and Edward Monroe, negro, and alleged leader of the sect. Sergeant Wheatley is recovering.

ARMY VETERAN PAY EXEMPT FROM TAXATION

HAGUE CONFERENCE SUCCESS SOCIALLY

Delegates Had Time of Their Lives at Various Functions Planned for Their Entertainment.

The Hague, Holland, Oct. 19.—While the Hague peace conference has failed to accomplish anything in the way of limitation of armaments, it has been a great social success. Entertainments of all kinds have been given for the delegates, who, although they consider the time spent in the meetings of the conference has been entirely wasted, have had the time of their lives.

The hero of the conference was the Brazilian delegate, Senor Barbosa, who is a probable future president of Brazil. He had a notable struggle with the American delegates over what is called the Drago doctrine (named after the Venezuelan delegate). There were stormy scenes between Barbosa and Joseph H. Choate, who tried to browbeat the Brazilian in court room fashion, but was beaten. The affair ended in something like personal enmity between the two delegates, and called forth a reprimand from Washington for the American delegates.

The Marquis de Soveral, Portuguese ambassador to England, and King Edward's "court jester," was another popular delegate. His wit and charm of manner gained him a host of friends, and he was much in request for social gatherings.

Dress Goods Days

Just as the sun gathers the rays of the sun and focuses them at a single point, so our Dress Goods Department has gathered the new and beautiful in dress and fabrics and concentrated them in this exhibit ready here. Dress materials from the best mills abroad and at home—mills that excel each in its own particular goods. France, Germany, England and America are chief contributors to this international exhibit of dress stuffs.

Let this fact guide your selection. The nearer the materials resemble men's goods, the more thoroughly they are liked.

Here, a decided tendency to neat effects—most women will decline the extreme patterns. Our stocks are notably strong in just the desired styles.

Broadcloths are in very great request this season, and justify this prominence by the remarkable variety of effects in which they come—they have boldly invaded the domain of the fancy dress fabrics.

Fancy Broadcloths in pattern lengths only, each a gem and every one different; per pattern, each $10.00 to $25.00.

Imported Broadcloth at $1.25. All Pastel Shades and Black; 58 inches wide, light weight and durable, with a satin finish. This must be seen to be appreciated; per yard $1.25.

Our $2.00 Broadcloth is 58 inches wide and comes in all the New Shades. Has a permanent luster, a Good German cloth and unexcelled at the price; yard, $2.00.

Our $1.25 Broadcloth comes in 12 Shades, is 58 inches wide, made by the Rotary Woollen Mills; comes in all the Stylish Shades and for the price can't be beat; per yard $1.25.

CROOKED GAMBLING AND HOW IT IS CONDUCTED

INTERESTING STATEMENTS
FROM NEW YORK EXPERT

Tells Why Faro is the Squarest Game and Why Roulette is Not, With Some Details of the "Business."

People who "play the games" in New Mexico are not very much interested now whether gambling apparatus is crooked or not, since public gambling is soon to become a thing of the past in this territory, and there is a general impression that the games run in this territory have been "on the square" in so far as such games can be square to the lamb who is fleeced; but it is interesting to know how games that are not on the square are operated and some light is thrown on this in a recent article in the New York World which has discussed plainly some of the means used to separate the gilded youth of the city from its easy money. Discussing this article, an expert on crooked gambling apparatus gives the Herald the following, which appeared in the issue of last Sunday:

"One publication like the Herald's exposition of the electrically controlled roulette wheel confiscated in the raid on Inwood cottage, Long Island, does more to break up gambling of that kind than the district attorney and the police can do in months," said the man who makes more "crooked" gambling apparatus than any other person in New York City.

"It's like the races," continued this authority on devices that separate "suckers" from their money so fast as they can lay it on the table. "There is only one thing that can stop the public from playing them, and that is for a track to get the reputation of standing for crooked work. As long as the betting public thinks they are getting a run for their money they will stick to the game; when they get the notion the races are 'fixed' they quit. As long as a man has reason to believe the cards are not marked, the roulette wheel is true, the dice are not loaded or the faro box is not a 'cold' one they will gamble; let him get even a vague idea that something about the game is not on the square and he quits. That's the reason we don't advertise our business."

"For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," the manufacturer of "crooked" gambling devices is fully as peculiar as Bret Harte's immortal Chinaman. Modestly enough, he does not take a great deal of credit for originality. He frankly admits that most of the ideas that have been adopted by him in the making of sure thing apparatus were evolved from the fertile brains of men who did not want to take a chance for their money.

Loaded Dice Are Old.
Take the dice loaded with quicksilver, for instance. That particular idea was hatched many years ago in the imagination of "Tom" Marney, who gravitated east from Denver and Omaha about the time craps leaped into great favor in gambling houses from its theretofore general vogue only among the negroes of the south. The western gambler had the idea, but he brought it to New York to have it worked out by a local manufacturer. Now the quicksilver "bones" are the staple of the "sure thing man's" outfit. Most of the other devices known to the profession, also, were invented by the gamblers themselves and not by the manufacturers.

"The game that has been the most difficult to control of all the popular games of chance," said the manufacturer, "is faro bank. I suppose that is one reason why it is so popular. The use of fifty-three cards, or dealing 'fifty-three,' as it is called, probably is the most successful method of taking the player's money wrongfully, but that hardly can be classed as a mechanical device. It requires extremely clever manipulation and collusion between dealer and casekeeper. A few years ago a Pacific coast firm put out a faro layout that was rigged with threads, wires, a false bottom to the box and other devices.

"In theory it was a beautiful thing, but it never got much money for the owners. One of them was brought to New York and I am told that some wine soaked youths were steered against it in a Thirty-ninth street gambling house, much to the disadvantage of the youngsters, but it never would have deceived a 'wise' sober player for three minutes. As a matter of fact, most of the big losses that are reported in the papers as due to 'brace' faro are not true. Just before Canfield's was closed John W. Gates was said to have lost $110,000 at one sitting at faro and to have said afterward that while he knew he had 'gone against the knife' he would cheerfully give another $110,000 to know just how he had been robbed. That may be true, but I don't believe it.

"Gates knows every trick at faro that the most accomplished dealer knows. I've never seen a device that would fool him one deal through. Barring the layouts that are rigged up for an occasional gilded youth or the ones that are carried from room to room or hotel to hotel to get the money of some particular man, there is mighty little crooked apparatus used in faro. And even then you will find that a large amount of liquor before the play begins is about as necessary as the crooked apparatus itself.

Roulette Also Controlled.
"Roulette, another very popular game on account of its supposed 'squareness,' has been more successfully controlled than faro. The original attempts at controlling it were made with invisible brakes designed to stop the wheel at the right time for the house. These devices were clumsy and produced an unusual action of the wheel that could be detected with half an eye. Of late years electricity has been employed altogether. The highest type of crooked roulette wheel ever evolved to my knowledge was the one the Herald dissected after the raid at Inwood.

"One of the chief points of ingenuity about the wheel was the way it could be taken apart at the ordinary joints without being noticed. This was a big point, for these layouts have to be moved often or are taken in raids. The Inwood wheel showed no suspicious features when knocked down in the ordinary way, and even though it was confiscated the authorities never would have known its real nature had not the Herald had inside information that kept them digging at it. To build such a wheel as this requires a good deal of mechanical skill, but the original idea, I understand, came from a gambler.

"It's pretty safe to say that the crooked roulette wheel of the future will be designed on the same general lines as was the Inwood wheel. But in this connection you will notice one thing, that this wheel was used only in outlying places where the game was patronized almost exclusively by moneyed convicts who are easy prey, and not in any of the Manhattan houses, where the players are, generally speaking, sober and alert.

"The possibilities of electricity in roulette have not been exhausted yet, in my opinion, and the chances are that the next wheel of the kind will be even more ingenious than this one."

When it comes to "wheels of fortune" the problem of controlling them becomes much simpler. In these devices two general plans of control are used, one the braking of the wheel itself as it is about to settle stationary, and the other, the braking of the wheel by the stiffening of the flexible indicator at the top. As in roulette, the colors alternate on the rim of the wheel, as do also the odd and even numbers. As the wheel slows down under natural conditions its movement at the end of its spin is so slight that the slightest braking serves to decide which compartment the indicator shall rest in. The brake on this type of wheel usually is operated by the foot of the manipulator of the wheel.

Stopped by Thin Blade.
The other method consists of inserting by a concealed device, an extremely thin metal blade into the apparently solid leather or rubber indicator. This stiffening of the indicator as the wheel is settling to the stationary causes it to stop where the operator desires in order to pick up the big bets.

What can be done with a "smooth" dice box is illustrated by a story told by "Buffalo Bill" (William F. Cody, who recites that while he was still in the promiscuous business of shipping beef cattle from his Nebraska ranch to the Chicago market he and two friends fell in with "Nick" Hogan, a one-armed gambler, noted from the Platte to Broadway for his prowess with the dice box. Cody and his friends had just sold several thousand dollars worth of cattle each at a good figure and were celebrating their luck in striking an "up" market by opening champagne, shaking dice to see who would pay for each bottle. From bottles of wine the waters between the friends climbed to $10, $50 and finally to $100. At an early stage of the game the one-armed dice expert who was known to the Cody party, "batted" into the game. After the three stockmen counted up at their hotel they found themselves a little more than $5,000 short.

"Whereupon," says Cody, "one of my friends turned to me and said: 'Colonel, what would that fellow have done to us if he had two arms?'" The "smooth" box is little manufactured, usually being the product of the skill of the individual who uses it. Loaded dice, however, may be bought by the ton. They are advertised freely in papers catering to the sportsively inclined class and are inexpensive. The favorite loading material is lead. The dice used in craps are loaded for any number desired.

"Natural" dice, loaded so that they come seven or eleven, are among the paraphernalia of every unfair crap shooter, and are secretly changed for the dice with which the player is trying to make a "point," the exchange being effected as the dealer seemingly is returning the same dice to the player for another "game." The player holding a collection of "loaded" dice may, but unseen exchange, make any "point" desired. Among the craps layouts seized by the police two years ago were a table with a copper sheathing under the cloth, and dice that were found on being opened to contain tiny bars of soft iron on the sides, which, when down, would produce a "natural" on top. Electricity had been employed, the turning on of the current producing a seven or an eleven when a player who had a big wager on the table was trying to make his "point."

According to one of the big manufacturers of crooked gambling devices the trade in marked cards is not as large as it formerly was because most of the sharpers using them prefer to mark their own cards.

"They use everything from their finger nails to their boot heels," he said, "to mark cards. Few of them will depend on bought cards, because they can identify their own markings better than they can learn others."

Girls Mark the Cards.
The marking of cards on a large commercial scale is done by girls. This labor becomes extremely expert and is well paid, partly because of the semi-confidential character of the work and partly because it is very trying on the eyesight. The markings are very minute and the slightest false move on any one card spoils the entire pack from which it is taken. The average price of marked cards is from one to three times their price without marking. Not only is the greatest care exercised in marking them, but also in the handling of them and in the removal from the cases and replacing them.

All this care is demanded by the absolute necessity of the pack appearing never to have been taken from the original package in which it was placed by the manufacturer.

THIS IS SAID TO HELP MANY

Should Mix This Simple,
Helpful Recipe at Home and Try It, Anyway.

Get from any prescription pharmacy the following:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargol, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is considered by an eminent authority as the finest prescription ever written to relieve Backache, Kidney Trouble, Weak Bladder and all forms of Urinary difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes Rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the afflictions may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture, yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising, the relief being effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescription of an eminent authority, whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

Two Battalions and Crack
Regimental Band Pass
Through Here En Route
From Philippines.

"I am glad to get back to God's country after three straight years in the Philippines," remarked Colonel R. H. H. Longborough, in command of the Thirtieth United States Infantry which passed through Albuquerque yesterday morning.

Two battalions, the regimental band and headquarters and staff of the "Hudson" regiment arrived here in two sections, the first reaching this city at 6:30 o'clock and the second at 11 o'clock. Lieutenant Colonel Bowen was in command of the first battalion, which was on the first train, while Colonel Longborough had charge of the second section.

According to local musicians, the band of the Thirtieth is the best military band that has ever played in Albuquerque. The concert which it gave at the Santa Fe depot attracted several hundred persons whose applause compelled the soldier musicians to play an encore. "Our Nation's Honor," "Pretzel Peas," "Napoleon" and the "Last Guard" were four warlike marches played, and each was a treat in itself.

The two trains carried 482 enlisted men and thirty-four officers. In a month the second battalion, now on a

A FEW PLAIN FACTS.

When the Santa Fe Railway company was seeking a location for its preserving plant it agreed to locate the works at Albuquerque, provided the people of the place would agree to do certain things. This the town agreed to, and the business men of the place very promptly subscribed and paid in the money that it was thought would be necessary to pay for what the town was to do, but when the conditions had been complied with it was found that the committee had collected some three thousand dollars more than would be necessary, and this sum of money remained at the disposal of, or in the hands of, the Commercial club.

And, the legislature of the territory of New Mexico had passed an act making an appropriation of seven thousand five hundred dollars for the purpose of building an armory at Albuquerque for the use of the company of National guards at this place, provided the people would furnish a site for the same—but it was found that such a site as would render the building valuable and creditable to the town would cost about twenty-five hundred dollars, and to raise that much money was a bigger thing than the young fellows composing the company could hope to accomplish, consequently they were "stuck," and the town was in danger of losing the building. At this point it was suggested that the surplus on hand from the tie-plant subscription was ample to pay for such a site, and it was conceded on all hands that this sum might be properly and profitably used for such purpose. But when application was made to the Commercial club to use the surplus remaining in its hands for the benefit of the town in the manner suggested, the applicants were very promptly and positively turned down, with the information that the money was to be returned to the subscribers. Then, Major Rippe, of the guard, secured a list of the subscribers to the tie plant fund, and calling upon them personally, secured from all of them except a bare half dozen of small contributors, written orders to the holders of the money to use the unexpended balance for the purchase of the armory site. The few who could not be seen, or have refused their consent, can make no manner of difference with the result, because positive orders have been received for the use of even more money in the manner indicated than will be necessary, but when Major Rippe, with the signatures of all these subscribers in his hand, made a request to have the boys purchased so that the work might go on and the territorial appropriation be thus secured for the benefit of the town, he was informed in terms more positive than polite that the club would "see about it."

And, at the late meeting of the National Irrigation Congress, in Sacramento, the energetic efforts of a citizen of a neighboring town secured the next meeting of the congress for Albuquerque, and after the club had been stirred up by the newspapers a half dozen times or more its directors met a few evenings since, and resolved to do something to make preparations for the meeting of the congress—and yet the one thing in connection with the meeting which is of more importance than anything else, or everything else together, left to the providing of a place in which the congress can meet, for everybody knows that there is not a room in the town capable of accommodating one-half as many delegates as will be in attendance; and everybody knows, too, that the object in pushing this armory proposition at the present time is to give the town just such a hall as we must have to enable us to accommodate such a number of delegates as will attend that meeting. All this plans have been made with an eye single to that end—the construction of such an armory building as the law calls for, and which will be at the same time so arranged and so located that it can be had and used by the public for the accommodation of far more than the meetings of the congress as the one we must take care of next summer, and if it is to be ready for the irrigation congress, it ought to be commenced without another week's delay.

There could be nothing more unpleasant to the Morning Journal than to be obliged to criticize the Commercial club. That institution was, in the days of its activity, the most useful and effective agency in the building up of Albuquerque; everybody recognized its value, and everybody appreciated its good work, but when it falls so far into a state of "innocuous desuetude" that practically everybody in the community talks about it and laughs about it, the paper takes the chance of being called a "has been" itself if it fails to call attention, at least, to the necessity for a little more life in the concern. The prevailing opinion, which you can hear expressed on every corner every day is that the directorate has gradually fallen into the hands of men who are too much engrossed with their own affairs to give attention to more than routine matters.

What is needed to bring the thing to life is a general shaking up, and the transfusion into its veins of a little—or more than a little—new blood.

PROGRESS OF PROHIBITION.

The progress that is being made in many parts of the country in favor of prohibiting by law the sale of liquor as a beverage is attracting a very large share of the attention of the press—especially that feature of the movement which proposes to put in force the "dry" policy in the District of Columbia. Upon this point the New York Times discusses thus: "Seriously speaking, the reported movement to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the District of Columbia is perfectly rational in the circumstances. It is hardly likely to be successful, perhaps, if it is ever brought before congress, but it would be no more than consistent for the senators and representatives of those states affected by the prohibition movement to vote for an anti-liquor law in Washington. It is for congress to decide. It is said that the house contains enough members opposed, either personally or as representatives of prohibition districts, to the sale of liquor to pass an anti-liquor rider with one of the appropriation bills next session. We shall know more about this matter in a few months."

"Meanwhile speculation as to the effect of a prohibition law in the district on the social and official life of Washington would be more amusing than instructive. The whole diplomatic corps would be amazed, undoubtedly. Official representatives of countries where people do not rush to extremes would be shocked by a new revelation of the eccentricity of American character. "But it would be folly to ignore the seriousness of the opposition to alcoholic liquor in many states, and the growing enthusiasm of the opponents. The liquor trade is awed and alarmed, as month by month the prohibition movement gains ground. In some parts of this country rum is more unpopular than ever before, and Washington is the capital of the whole country."

THE BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.

The problem of religious instruction in the public schools was put up to President Otto C. Schneider of the Chicago board of education one day last week, and President Schneider met the issue squarely—so squarely, indeed, as to bring a gasp of astonishment from the two club women who had broached the subject. "I believe with Jean Jacques Rousseau," said Mr. Schneider, "that religion should not be taught to any one in any form until his or her mind is mature. "As for the Bible in the public schools, I object to it. It is not fit for children. President Schneider's visitors were Mrs. Elizabeth Cook, president of the Woman's Educational Union, and Mrs. Clarence A. Starr, a prominent clubwoman and educational worker. The two wanted to ask the president's aid in securing the introduction of a book of Bible readings in the curriculum of the Chicago schools. "I would not object to a history of the Bible in the schools as a masterpiece of literature," President Schneider told the women. "It should be there the same as Homer's poems or any other of the great masterpieces. And for the same reason I should be glad to have on the reading list a history of the Koran, or of the religion of Confucius or of Buddha. "But as for teaching the Bible in the public schools of Chicago—it would be against the constitution. Religious instruction never has been introduced in the Chicago schools, the school authorities feeling that no system of religious training would be adapted to the intemperate sects and religions represented in the city's population. In addition, as suggested by President Schneider, a legal question is involved.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

The policy of giving young men, and young women, too, more or less industrial training in school is steadily and rapidly gaining in favor among the American people, and now that a very determined and very able movement is going on in many parts of the country for the establishment of schools especially equipped for industrial training, it is well to glance at the figures which constitute an unanswerable argument for such schools as taken from the experience of one of the older states of the union. The Massachusetts Commission of Industrial Education has been making an investigation of the record of some eight hundred young men working at trades. As a result it found that the graduate of the elementary school who took up a trade without any previous technical training earned at fourteen years of age $1 a week and at twenty-five years $11.75 a week. The student who spent four years at a technical school and took up a trade at eighteen earned $19 a week, and at twenty-five earned $21. In twelve years the student without technical training earned $5.122, and the student with a technical training earned $7.187.

If the country takes hold of this waterway improvement proposition, the Topeka Journal hopes that the money wasted on foolish river and harbor development to help some congressman maintain his fences, will hereafter be spent in a really useful manner.

Experience has demonstrated in Los Angeles, as in other cities, that the stopping of cars on the near side reduces the liability of accident. It results in other advantages which appear plainly on consideration, but, the San Francisco Chronicle says, despite this fact, there has been opposition to the innovation wherever it has been made. The public is attached to its habits and abandons them only under compulsion. Illustration and argument are alike unavailing in cases of this kind; experience is the sole convincer and its work is not completely accomplished until a new habit is formed.

What the Editors of the Southwest Are Saying Consolation.

Anyhow, El Paso's baseball aggregation took third money at Albuquerque, because the other clubs did not want it.—El Paso Times.

Hard to Answer.
A belated spring poet recently gave vent to the following: "Who would have a man forget his heart's first love?" We are really not prepared to answer such questions, and cannot imagine any one who would think of asking him to forego that pleasure unless it would be his second wife.—Kenna Record.

Tut-tut.
The Record is for statehood, first, last and all the time—but has no faith in the talk of President Roosevelt. Teddy is talking solely in the interest of harmony in the republican party, and, incidentally, with the hope of delivering certain votes to the big squish he is trying to make president.—Roswell Record.

Mr. Ripley and His Pipe.
President Ripley, of the Santa Fe, says "there will soon be two men to every railroad job." Perhaps the wish is father to the thought. Railway traffic is all the time increasing, and gross earnings on Ripley's own road were $700,000 larger last month than they were in the corresponding month a year ago.—El Paso Herald.

Wants It Pushed.
Every honest man in New Mexico is in favor of statehood. That was settled long before Governor Curry was appointed. If congress and the president are willing, the only thing left for the people of the territory to do is push more vigorously than ever the work of cleaning out the rascals. Will the governor help?—Roswell Record.

Broke Records.
The twenty-seventh annual New Mexico fair held at Albuquerque last week broke all records in point of attendance, and was a complete success in every particular. The attractions and amusements were good, and the people who congregated in Albuquerque from all over the territory found plenty to occupy their time and attention. The people of Albuquerque, who are mainly responsible for the "big doings," are to be congratulated upon the result.—Silver City Independent.

Pigs Is Pigs.
A bunch of pigs running loose over a town is about the worst looking spectacle that could be shown a visitor. If the town is to support these pigs they should be penned up, and the refuse carted to them. City pigs are fond of scattering piles of trash in all directions when rooting around for something to eat. Also, they have a great way of coming as close to the sidewalk as possible to lie down. Now, if you have any regard for your fellow townsmen, or are interested in the sanitary condition of the town, pen these pigs and keep them penned. A state law prohibits this nuisance and the business men intend to see that it is enforced.—Clovis (N. M.) Chronicle.

A Lesson in Freight Rates.

Las Vegas and Albuquerque are still demanding cheaper coal. Coal is brought at the moment in Colfax county cheaper than at any other place in the world, for good quality. The fact is, an almost unprohibitive price is charged by the Santa Fe, for the transportation of this coal to the less favored localities in the south. The rate on coal from Raton to Las Vegas is now $1.20 per ton. This is a downright haul and should be economical. In the face of this rate the same railroad hauls stone from the quarries five miles up the Hot Springs canyon at Las Vegas, using a yard engine, and gets the cars, makes up the train, and hauls the stone up to Raton. Raton, puts on four engines which labor over the Raton hill, the most expensive gull in the United States, and then continues to La Junta, where another switch is made and the train continues to Swink, a distance of 220 miles from Las Vegas. The rate on this stone is $1.40 per ton. Raton has for years been paying an extra rate on all commodities on account of the Raton hill, and now the Santa Fe comes and levels this hill for the benefit of the Swink sugar factories while the Las Vegas limestone, and yet taxes buyers of Raton coal 30 cents per ton more for a haul of less than half the distance, and much easier circumstances. Coal is still selling in Raton at retail for $2.50 and $3 delivered, for domestic use, and for manufacturing purposes at a much lower rate. Of course, there is a moral in this—come to Raton. Make your home in the state city, the most prosperous town in the southwest.—Raton Range.

For the benefit of the casual reader it may be explained in passing that the erudite editor of the Almanac, and Attorney and Citizen of some Prestige and Standing, recently failed in an attempt to gather $1,200 on an account the court held to have been settled. It might also be added that he is now receiving monthly bills for water and light.

Arizona Getting Just a Trifle Excited

(Bliss Review.)

This paper can see no reason why New Mexico should be admitted without the same favor being granted to the people of Arizona. It was the press and people of Arizona that killed the joint statehood proposition so dead that it will never be resurrected by continually "prating" to use the language of the New Mexican, about the monstrous injustice it would have visited upon both the people of Arizona and New Mexico. While the Arizona press was "prating" about this palpable injustice and fighting it in and out of congress the newspapers of New Mexico were fawning at the feet of President Roosevelt in fear of losing a few measly offices and the favors of those who held them.

To admit New Mexico now without admitting Arizona as a state would be an act as indefensible as was the proposed joining of both territories into one state. If to declare this is unwarranted "prating," then we must plead guilty and we believe the entire press of the territory, with perhaps one or two exceptions, will be willing to enter pleas of guilty to the same charge. Had it not been for the opposition of Arizona joint statehood would have been an accomplished fact today. Having defeated this proposed outrage Arizona now again asks for statehood and certainly the time to push this matter is when statehood has been promised to our sister territory who has not a single claim that Arizona does not possess.
We do not believe congress could be persuaded or coerced to go on record with a measure so unjust and indefensible as would be a bill admitting New Mexico as a state and denying admission to Arizona.

MEYER IS SEEKING TO EXTEND THE PARCELS POST

POSTMASTER GENERAL HAS NEW ARGUMENT

Cannon, at Home in Danville, Struggles With Ambitious Congressmen Who Want to Get on Good Committees.

[Special Correspondence Morning Journal.]

Washington, Oct. 14.—When Postmaster General Meyer, in his recent address at the convention of postmasters, made public the fact that he would urge upon congress a very material enlargement of the parcels post system, he invited a renewal of the old contest against the great merchant princes and the business men of the smaller communities who depend upon local trade for their prosperity. John Wamamaker, one of the greatest of America's merchants, when he was at the head of the post-office department, endeavored, but unsuccessfully, to induce congress to copy the European parcels post system. When the matter was urged upon congress, such a hue and cry went up from the country merchants that members of congress, especially members of the lower house, did not dare support the Wamamaker project.

The argument of the small dealers is that a parcels post system with low rates of postage and a maximum of weight in packages that will permit of generous purchases means the increase of the business of dealers in large cities at the expense of the home merchant, whose very existence depends upon the trade and patronage of those who reside around him. The proposition was considered in the light of an advantage exclusively for the big dealers, and the parcels post system projected at that time was doomed to failure.

Much of the same argument will again be advanced, but Postmaster General Meyer adds to his scheme a suggestion that may soften the objections of the country merchant. He proposes that this parcels post plan shall be made particularly useful in connection with the rural free delivery service, and it would seem that such a plan would be of far greater advantage to country merchants among their rural customers than to the large houses seeking a mail order business at great distance. Mr. Meyer suggests an extremely low postage in connection with the parcels post system as operated over the rural free delivery routes, and he believes if this were authorized by congress the mail order business of the country store would become an important adjunct to its regular trade. The postmaster general thinks the rate of postage on parcels should be reduced from 16 to 12 cents a pound and the limit of weight increased from four to eleven pounds. If the postage, so far as it related to the business transacted through rural routes, were made even less, officials believe the old-time opposition would disappear. Whether this argument is well founded remains to be seen. Anything that benefited free rural delivery has appealed to members of congress from country districts ever since the service was established, but their votes doubtless will be controlled by the sentiment that comes to them from home, and the scheme to establish a modern parcels post after the ideas of European nations may be as impossible today as it was fifteen years ago.

Annual Fight for Committees.

"Cuckoo Joe" Cannon, who is assured of re-election as speaker of the house of representatives, is taking things easy at his home in Danville, and probably will not take up his winter residence in Washington until after Thanksgiving. This will carry him pretty close up to the opening of the session. Reports from Danville, however, show that his mail is being burdened with applications from members desiring good committee assignments, and it develops that one of the most troublesome matters the speaker will have to dispose of is the West Virginia vacancy on the committee on rivers and harbors.

For twelve years Blackburn B. Duvener, who retired with the last congress, had served on this committee. There are five members of the West Virginia delegation, all republicans, and three of them are clamoring for this place. Each of them has a large water front to his district. William P. Hubbard, a millionaire lawyer of Wheeling, though he has not yet been sworn in as a member of congress, claims the position should go to him as a matter of right. He defeated Duvener, the retiring committee member, for re-election, and puts forward the unusual claim that the committee assignment goes with the district. James A. Hughes, of Huntington, now serving his fourth term, and Harry C. Woodward, of Spencer, who has been twice re-elected, are the other claimants. The latter makes the familiar plea that his district is good, and that he may be defeated unless he is assured of this desirable place.

The West Virginia case is cited only as a sample of the troubles that beset the speaker when he goes to make up his committee list. With Mr. Cannon at one end of the line and his secretary, L. White Rubeys, in Washington, a lively fire of correspondence is maintained, but Mr. Cannon has declared his intention of keeping away from the importuning of anxious and ambitious members as long as possible.

Our Vast Swamp Lands.

An interesting pamphlet which has been issued by the department of agriculture will open the eyes of the people to the enormous extent of the swamp lands of the various states, and as to the value they would attain were they subjected to proper treatment and added to the producing area of the country.

MRS. E. L. CARMAN OF GALLUP, N. MEX., RECOMMENDS HERPICIDE TO HER FRIENDS.
"I find Herpicide a most excellent preparation for the hair and have recommended it to a number of my friends. It cools the scalp and gives it a very refreshing sensation. I think it is quite an addition to the toilet."
Gallup, N. Mex. (Signed) Mrs. E. L. Carman.

It is so easy to learn, by actual experience, the value of Newbro's Herpicide, for dandruff, falling hair, itching scalp, etc., that no one in need of it should delay one moment in making the test.

A single application is enough to convey the impression of its worth, while the results of its continued intelligent use will speak for themselves. Newbro's Herpicide is known as the ORIGINAL remedy that "kills the dandruff germ," and its success, which is constantly increasing, has been phenomenal. Remember that permanent success is not built upon false claims. Get a bottle or send for a sample of Herpicide today. There are hundreds of imitations which should be avoided.

The compilation of the department refers only to the "western portion of the United States," which includes all states east of a line drawn from North Dakota to Texas. Because these swamp lands are found in widely separated tracts their vast extent is not realized. Were it possible to collect them into one tract, it would make an empire as large as England, Scotland and Wales. If placed in the eastern part of our own country, it would cover the six New England states, New York and the northern half of New Jersey. The swamp lands would make a strip 133 miles wide, reaching from New York to Chicago.

Not all of this, of course, is suitable for agriculture, but the department's experts have ascertained that 77,000,000 acres can be reclaimed and made fit for cultivation by the building of simple engineering structures. Although distributed so widely, 95 per cent of the total is held by private owners. Estimating the cost of drainage upon the basis of what has been done in the past, the experts say these 77,000,000 acres can be thoroughly drained and made ready for tillage at an average cost of $15 an acre. Their present value averages $8 an acre.

Ballard's Liver Regulator is acknowledged to be the perfect liver regulator. If you are blue and out of sorts get a bottle today. Similar lands in various parts of the country that have been drained sell readily at from $60 to $100 an acre, and in many instances they have sold as high as $400 an acre. But taking the lowest figure of $60 an acre after drainage, the increased value of the lands would amount to the stupendous sum of $2,319,000,000.

Vaudeville for the Coming Week.
As the reaction from the fair week's excitement is about over, the coming week should be big one for the Crystal Theater. It is the beginning of the house's sixth week, and the show and policy of the house has been so well demonstrated before the people by this time that it should command a gathering the harvest about 200. Novel and handsome gifts are being given to the ladies every Tuesday and Friday afternoons, and these, together with the clean, moral and entertaining shows that the management is offering, are attracting that desirable element in ever increasing numbers. Last Friday afternoon very pretty candelabra were given out, and genuine imported German blique figures, eight inches high, are being auctioned as souvenirs for Tuesday afternoon next.

Another laudable feature is the complete change of bill that takes place each Monday and Thursday there.

For the first three days of the week Manager announces William C. Rogers, direct from the Kansas City house, and America's foremost baritone song illustrator. In new and charming illustrated songs; Rivers and Rochester, the Australian travesty actors and song and dance comedians; Billy Behan and company of four in a brand new farce; the second and last week of Stanton and Sandberg, in their black face singing and dancing act, and new moving picture subjects. Each and every one upon this bill is an artist, and the most complete vaudeville entertainment ever presented here at anything like the prices may be expected.

Messrs. Stanton and Sandberg were a scream in the city last week, but they do their best act next week. Stanton is clever as both an eccentric and as a tramp, but his black-face impersonation is said to be his long suit. Their singing and dancing will also be a hit.

Rivers and Rochester are one of the knockout features from Denver and Pueblo the past two weeks, and are counted heavily for here. As to Mr. Rogers, the new illustrated song singer, he is the king pin of them all in his line. He has spent half of his life training, an already wonderful baritone voice and has appeared with the best opera companies in America, notably the Gordon-Shay Opera company. In operatic stock in Kansas City and St. Louis, he was the favorite, and he will be the talk of the town here in a few days. Mr. E. J. McBride, the accomplished pianist at the Crystal, will render for his ever true next week, "Bhagadad Hongkong No. 2," which alone is a treat. Mr. McBride is a concert pianist of note, and is becoming famous in Albuquerque for his high class overtures. He has given us "William Tell," "The Poet and Peasant" and "The Palms," and in each instance he has charmed.

Today marks the final appearance here of "Dolls in Toyland," a fascinating moving picture; "McFee, the Senator," a screaming farce by Behan & Co.; Martin, the expert on rings; Stanton and Sandberg's rapid fire wit, etc., etc.

How to Cure a Cold.
The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary loss of time is one in which we are all more or less interested, for the quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less danger of pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. H. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to his absolute satisfaction for the cold preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me. For sale by all druggists.

Burdette is coming. The Prince of Pathos, Burdette the wizard who tangles among the belts of his act is every human heart. Hear him at the Opera House Tuesday evening.

REPORTS OF WRECK OF LIMITED STRETCHED

CONDUCTOR ODER TELLS
STORY OF DISASTER

Only the Engineer Killed and
No One Seriously Hurt—Bad
Tangle of Trains Here As a Result of the Wreck.

Charles Oder, the Santa Fe conductor, who was in charge of the Chicago limited which was wrecked at Earl, Col., Friday morning, arrived in Albuquerque yesterday afternoon on No. 2. In talking about the wreck, Mr. Oder said that the report of many persons being injured and of a great amount of damage done, was greatly exaggerated by a Denver newspaper man who was on the train.

"Engineer Thomas was the only person killed, and Fireman Boyington was badly scalded and bruised, but not hurt fatally, as reported, and none of the other passengers were harmed besides being shaken up considerably," said Conductor Oder.

"The accident was unquestionably caused by soft track as the first engine passed over the bad spot safely, the second locomotive in charge of Engineer Thomas toppled over, killing Thomas instantly and throwing Boyington to safety. While all the cars jumped the track, none were damaged, and the observation car remained upright."

"The wreckage was cleared up as rapidly as possible, and the track repaired, and the string of freight and passenger trains that were delayed by the wreck allowed to pass, while we managed to get into La Junta only about twelve hours behind time."

Conductor Oder spoke highly of Engineer Thomas who was killed, saying that he was one of the ablest and surest engineers that ever handled the big passenger engines out of Hinton.

Bad Tangle of Trains Here.

One of the worst congestions of trains that has occurred at the depot for some time, took place yesterday morning when six passenger trains were at the depot from 5 o'clock until 7 o'clock. The trains were No. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6. The cause of the delay of the eastern trains was due to the wreck near Earl, Col., Friday in which the Chicago limited was derailed.

While the trackage facilities at the depot ordinarily can hold seven trains, the work of remodeling and improving the tracks compelled the six trains to run in on three tracks. The first section of No. 1 arrived here at 5:25 o'clock, but was compelled to wait for No. 3, which reached here at 6:25 o'clock.

After the three trains had been made un, orders were given to wait for breakfast and for the 1907 special containing the first installation of the Thirtieth United States Infantry. No. 1 finally got away at 7:35 o'clock, shortly after No. 10 from El Paso arrived and No. 9 pulled out for El Paso at 8:25 o'clock, with No. 7 following it five minutes later.

On account of trouble on the Arizona and west end of the Albuquerque division, No. 2 did not reach Albuquerque until 12:35 o'clock, while the second soldier train pulled in at 11 o'clock, leaving for Leavenworth, Kas., at 11:40 o'clock.

General Agent T. E. Purdy said yesterday that he hoped that the new main line tracks would soon be completed as the heavy winter travel is on and the local yards will soon be very busy.

Ripley to Go East.

According to a rumor current here yesterday Payson Ripley, trainmaster of the Rio Grande division, is to be transferred to the Eastern division with headquarters at Topeka, leaving for his new post about the same time that Superintendent W. K. Eiler relinquishes the Horny Toad for the Oklahoma division.

Mr. Ripley arrived here yesterday morning on delayed No. 7 from Topeka, where he spent some time on business. He was accompanied by Benjamin Orr, a trainmaster from the Southern Kansas end, who will succeed Mr. Ripley at San Marcial.

Frank L. Myers, the new superintendent of the Rio Grande division, is expected to arrive here some time this week, and he and Trainmaster Orr will go on duty at the same time.

Private car No. 3, used by Fourth Vice President W. B. Jensen of the Santa Fe, was deadheaded through Albuquerque yesterday on route to Chicago from California.

A train of deadhead baggage cars arrived here yesterday from California, to be distributed from here.

MYERS ARRIVES TO TAKE CHARGE OF SOUTH END

F. L. Myers, formerly agent here for the Santa Fe, and newly appointed superintendent of the Rio Grande division, arrived in the city last night from Kansas and leaves this morning for the south with retiring superintendent W. ### PRIMROSE SPECTACULAR MINSTREL AGGREGATION

Old Favorite Comes to Elks Theater
Next Friday and Saturday.

Something so far a departure as to bring fresh vitality into the function of negro minstrelsy has been accomplished by George H. Primrose, whose triumphant entry into a new field of black face comedy and pictorial effect ought to lift the Elks theater next Friday and Saturday evenings, October 23 and 24.

Money, money, money, jingles everything, even the expensive kind of voices employed and the costumes, scenery, huge and successful attempt in the matter of stage production and the fine polish on everything from Prim's patent leathers to the touching portraits of great men and the silk of the melody in the new tenor's tones.

The feeble attempts in days gone by to lift minstrelsy out of the sordidness reached when the old-time leger to some extent disappeared, was tolerably ludicrous, though well meant, and only now, after years of fumbling has one of the survivors and he is about the fittest, made a stunning base, for George Primrose and his great minstrel company are this year credited with about as exceptional and brilliant an entertainment as could possibly be gotten together with money and brains.

Everything from the rise of the curtain on the beautiful first part until the grand finale in the closing act, are of great magnificence and of the costly variety. Money has been spent in large bundles on this year's production and it is safe to assume local theater-goers will be treated to a genuine surprise in both talent and production—in fact the name of Primrose has never been identified with anything but the best in minstrelsy and this year's production far surpasses himself.
