OUTPUT OF MINES OF UNITED STATES TWO BILLION

TREMENDOUS TOTAL FOR THE PAST FISCAL YEAR

Advance Report of Geological Survey Shows an Increase Over the Previous Year of 17.15 Per Cent in Value.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.] Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—In 1906, for the second time, the total value of the mineral production of the United States exceeded the enormous sum of $1,500,000,000.

The exact figures for 1906 are $1,502,502,266, as compared with $1,282,925,720 in 1905, a gain of $219,576,546, or 17.15 per cent. This great increase in the total value of our mineral production is due to gains in both metallic and non-metallic products. The metallic products showing an increase in value from $702,452,191 in 1905 to $886,110,856 in 1906, a gain of $183,657,755, and the non-metallic products showing an increase from $580,473,529 in 1905 to $616,391,410 in 1906, a gain of $35,917,881.

To these products should be added estimated unspecified products, including macadam, blunth, and other minerals, valued at $200,000.

As heretofore, iron and coal are our most important mineral products. The value of the iron in 1906 being $505,700,000, and that of the coal $512,079,809. The fuels increased from $602,257,548 in 1905 to $652,398,476 in 1906, a gain of $50,140,928.

The values of the mineral products of the United States in 1905 and 1906 are summarized by Dr. William Taylor, of the United States Geological Survey, in an advance chapter from "Mineral Resources of the United States, Calendar Year 1906," which will soon be ready for distribution by the survey. This summary includes two tabular statements that differ radically. Each one gives the value of the mineral products of the country in the years 1905 and 1906; but the first one gives the net value of the mineral products of the whole country in their first marketable form, excluding all unnecessary duplication. The manufactured coke product, for instance, amounting in 1906 to $2,401,217 short tons, is excluded in the second table, in the quantity and value of the coal used in its manufacture, which are included in the coal statistics. Similarly white lead, red lead, sublimed lead, zinc lead, litharge and orange mineral, whose average aggregate value for the last ten years has greatly exceeded $10,000,000, are not given in the table, but are included in the output of pig lead. The second table under the heading "Output and Value by States and Territories," however, gives the value of both the raw material produced in the region and of the derivatives in their first marketable condition.

The iron industry broke all records in 1906. In the output of iron, pig iron and steel, and the increase in production was accompanied by an increase in prices. The quantity produced was 44,749,725 long tons, valued at $1,095,719,106. These figures show an increase of 12.28 per cent in tonnage and of 32.83 per cent in value over those for 1905.

Minnesota produces more than one-half the iron ore mined in the United States, and Michigan produces nearly one-fourth; and the iron product of these two states together represents 82.45 per cent of the value of the entire product of the country.

The following table shows the production and value by States:

State	Quantity, long tons	Value
Alabama	3,895,635	$1,725,133
Colorado	14,018	22,515
Connecticut	21,891	94,119
Delaware	111,289	534,789
Florida	21,891	94,119
Georgia	46,944	38,172
Idaho	11,284	21,124,947
Illinois	22,544,917	$1,289,526
Indiana	88,919	154,169
Iowa	1,140	2,401
Kansas	292,199	846,551
Kentucky	142,123	1,124,778
Louisiana	1,041,987	2,835,439
Maine	56,001	77,818
Maryland	18,746	28,746
Massachusetts	919,829	1,246,282
Michigan	878,784	1,397,412
Minnesota	8,859,841	1,379,317
Missouri	848,122	2,092,217
Montana	47,749,725	$1,095,719,106

An advance chapter from "Mineral Resources of the United States, Calendar Year 1906," on iron ores and iron products in 1906, by Edwin C. Eckel, is now ready for distribution by the United States Geological Survey. Mr. Eckel's report shows the quantities, values and prices of iron ores and iron, the kinds of ore mined, the annual ore consumption, and discusses the iron ore reserves of the country—that is, the amount of workable iron ore still unmined—and their probable duration.

A list giving the names, location (by states), and output of 135 of the principal iron mines of the United States forms a part of the report. The maximum production is shown by the Mountain Iron mine of Minnesota, which in 1906 produced 2,541,151 tons of ore.

The report also contains statistics showing the production of steel and the part played in the iron industry by the United States Steel Corporation.

ADAMS' CONFESSION IS ADMITTED AS EVIDENCE

Defense Objects to Document, Alleging Coercion, in Vain.

Rathdrum, Idaho, Nov. 11.—C. Thiele was the first witness in the Steve Adams case today. He testified to the arrest of Steve Adams and his subsequent confession. Attorney Darrow immediately interposed an objection on the ground that the confession had been obtained by threats, promise of immunity and the promise of reward.

The jury was excluded, and McPartland and Whitely were cross-examined by Mr. Darrow relative to the way in which the confession was obtained, and it was ascertained that the confession had been made to McPartland. After the examination of these witnesses, Mr. Darrow renewed his objection on the same ground, but it was promptly overruled. The jury was then brought back and Mr. Thiele continued his testimony.

He said that Adams had told him in the presence of Mrs. Adams that he had some relics on his uncle's, J. W. Lillard's, farm. Among these was a 25-25 Winchester cartridge that had killed Fred Tyler. Witness wanted to get a letter from him to deliver those articles to him. Mrs. Adams told witness that the day or the day after Steve's arrival they had buried the articles on the Lillard farm near Baker City, Ore.

J. H. Hawley, who conducted the Haywood case at Boise, and the first Adams trial at Wallace, took the lead for the state today, once again with Darrow resulting. C. H. Williams and Attorney Glyde, for the state, have again the Marjorie Creek country to look over the ground where the Tyler murder occurred and possibly be of use in rebuttal for the state. Bulkeley, of Colorado, Colo., to whom Adams made statements after he was in his custody, arrived here today and will be used as a witness for the state. George C. Huebner, clerk at the Boise court, who recorded Adams' confession, is also here. Adams' confession is to be put in evidence under the testimony of James McPartland.

SIX DAY BICYCLE RACE REVIVED IN BOSTON

Eleven Teams Start on Weary Grid: Italians Lead For First Day.

Boston, Nov. 11.—Ten of the eleven teams which started at 1 o'clock today in the six-day bicycle race at the Park Square Garden had completed 124 miles and three laps at 11 o'clock tonight, when the racing for the day closed. The other teams, which included Bianchi, of Florence, and Salini, of Rome, as originally made up, was one lap behind at that hour. The Italian pair had several spills during the afternoon, so that they lost a lap. This evening Salini became discouraged and retired, but a trainer named Mahu volunteered to become Bianchi's partner and went on the track. Another lap had been lost to the team in the meantime, but one of these was made up later by Bianchi.

JOHNNY JONES IS THE VERY BEST OF THE SEASON

SPLENDID PLAY TAKES
BIG HOUSE BY STORM

Magnificent Costuming and Scenery, Sprightly Music and Dancing and Merry Comedy Prove Delightful.

The people of Albuquerque will hear with the greatest pleasure that Joseph M. Gates will bring three more of his splendid plays to the Elks' theater. This season after seeing "Little Johnny Jones" last night. It was positively the very best and most interesting and altogether delightful comedy theater-goers have ever seen in Albuquerque. While almost every seat in the house was sold, the play itself proved a surprise even to the most optimistic. The best thing about the performance was perhaps the snap and go and rhyme that pervaded it from curtain to curtain. There was not a moment that even verged on being dull or uninteresting and the audience was on the qui vive until the last chorus was sung.

The scenery and stage effects are splendid and expense evidently has not gone into the staging of the performance. The last act, laid in Chinatown, San Francisco, offered the best opportunity for effective stage work, an opportunity that was taken to the greatest advantage. Scores of glowing Chinese lanterns were festooned above and the torchlight dance with all other lights extinguished made an especial hit. The costumes were fairly bewildering, dainty and rich in coloring and design. "The girls of the U. S. A.", the "Cah Girls" and the "Chinese Girls" were "vamped to the echo in their graceful dances, the "Chinese Girls" petite and charming, coming in for the lion's share of the applause.

"Give my regards to Broadway," sang by "Little Johnny Jones" Billy Seymour was one of the best hits of the evening. It is a very clever song to which the splendid voices of "Johnny" and the chorus did full justice and the finale was added when by a beautiful electric device a brilliantly lighted ocean scene was rolled across the sea while Johnny sang far away as the rockets soared from the receding vessel. It was one of the prettiest and most realistic bits of stage work ever seen in Albuquerque. The prime favorite of the play was the inimitable and imperturbable "Unknown"—William Keough—with his unalterable conviction that everyone else had a "mean disposition," his inevitable cigar and his unobtrusive gift as a "corrector of destinies." Keough is one of the cleverest comedians on the stage, with a quiet drollery that is like Sammy's sneeze—you never know when it is coming and you can't stop it. It is wholly irresistible.

Heinrich Dexter, in the triple role of the "Bart of Bloomsbury," "Goldie Gates" and "Rosa's Pauchette," was a star as indeed he must be to play the part. In fact, everyone on the stage was a star, including each of the pretty chorus girls, the adjectives in this case being used advisedly. They are pretty and no joke. They are captivating. There were too many good things to describe in detail, but perhaps "Johnny Jones" is a very funny proposition after all, should not be omitted from the best of the songs. The music was exceptionally catchy and the infectious movement of the whole play carried the audience completely with it.

The other Gates plays coming are "The Mayor of Tokyo," December 2; "Hattie," with Millicent Foxworth in the leading role, Christmas night; and "The Red Feather," New Years night. They are all three said to be right in the same class with "Johnny Jones," and it is entirely unnecessary to say that each will draw a full house.

Arizona.
Bottle E. Cooley will again present "Arizona," America's greatest play, at the Elks' theater Nov. 15. The theater-going public seems never to tire of this charming comedy and hall each succeeding visit with delight. Critics have gone over the story of Mr. Thomas' play time and again, and it is not the intention to burden readers by retelling the many praises which critics and the public have written and said about it. Suffice to say that the coming presentation will be as grand and as perfect as to detail as on any of his former visits here. You will see the same bluff, hearty Canby, and his comely wife, the same Barrella, with her weak points that are nurtured by the flattery of the captain until the frank, open-hearted Lieutenant Denton awakens her to her danger, charming.

Eddie Mulligan, as "Sam Woe," in "Arizona."

ingenious Bonita, with all the sprightliness of youth; the sedate, cavalier-like husband, Colonel Bonhom, and all the attendant characters, including the vaquero Tony, the blunt Dr. Fenlon and his eccentric love-making to Miss McCullagh, the strong-minded school teacher, Lena; the servant-maid, who has been deceived by the captain; Sergeant Keller, her father, and all the minor characters which go to make up the cast of this more than interesting play.

At the Crystal.
Quite an inviting array of talent will appear at the change in vaudeville at the Crystal theater this week. Billy Bohan and company have a very funny farce in one act, called "The Comedy Man," which is clever and decidedly out of the common run. Mr. Rogers does a fine straight singing that will please the most exacting of music lovers. The Elliotts are clever instrumentalists and gifted vocalists, and their harp playing and singing—especially of the old songs—were heartily enjoyed last night. "The Haunts of Tip Van Winkle" and "Tenants" are two very interesting moving picture series.

This afternoon the eight-inch decorated dinner plates are to be given as souvenirs to the ladies.

DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF SIGNING A RELEASE

SCHMIDT SAYS IF HE DID HE DIDN'T KNOW IT

Interesting Development in the Case for Damages Against Brewery; Physician Testifies
Plaintiff Was in Right Mind.

There were a number of interesting developments yesterday in the trial in the district court of the suit of Joseph Schmidt against the Southwestern Brewery company for $25,000 damages for injuries and scalds alleged to have been received at the brewery through the negligence of the company. The defense alleges that Schmidt, while he was in the hospital after the accident, signed a release, agreeing not to prosecute a suit for damages, the release being offered in evidence. Schmidt denies that he knew anything about signing a release and says he did not know much about what he was doing while in the hospital. Dr. D. H. Carns, who attended Schmidt, was a witness for the defense yesterday. He testified that no time was Schmidt delirious or out of his head while in the hospital. He said that instead of giving the plaintiff an eighth of a grain of morphine every day, as alleged, he was given only a small dose of the opiate on the first day to alleviate the pain of his injuries. Schmidt, it is alleged, went back to the brewery and worked several months after he was out of the hospital.

The accident happened a year or so ago, Schmidt, it is said, previously went to work on the premises of the company to repair a big mash vat which was defective. A patch came off the vat while Schmidt was working underneath it and the scalding boiling hot liquid fell on him, scalding his head and hands.

Quite a number of witnesses were examined yesterday including O. N. Marston, who also appeared as attorney for the defense with Attorney W. B. Childers, Neil E. Field handling the case for the plaintiff.

District Court Notes.
William H. Morris, of Gallup, filed suit in the district court yesterday against William E. and Louis F. Kuckelbecker, of the same place, for damages of $200 for alleged failure to carry out the provisions of a real estate deed. It is alleged the defendants agreed to sell a lot to plaintiff for $3,000, and then sold it to Peter Kitchen for $2,500. Joe Morello also filed a suit yesterday to recover the sum of $333 from Joseph Kuhn. Both arose from Gallup, a town which has earned the reputation of producing more lawsuits than any place of its size on the map.

J. E. Emmings was granted a discharge in bankruptcy by the court yesterday.

Roy F. Hall, of Gallup, was granted a temporary license to practice law yesterday.

MATHER BELIEVES GREAT EMPIRE IS IN THE MAKING

ROCK ISLAND PRESIDENT
— THE GUEST OF ARIZONA

Declares the Real Credit for Reclamation Policy is Due to Plain Lawyer of San Francisco;
Approves Roosevelt.

(Special Correspondence Morning Journal.)
Prescott, Ariz., Nov. 10.—That Arizona is the coming great empire of the southwest is the conviction of President Rock Island of the Rock Island system, who was the guest of the people of Prescott at a big banquet at the Yavapai club Friday night. F. M. Murphy, who was the host of the occasion, Mr. Mather being accompanied by that gentleman on an inspection trip of the southern Arizona mining district and the irrigation project for the reclamation of the Salt River valley. Mr. Mather and friends left for Chicago Saturday. About fifty prominent citizens attended the banquet, among the speakers being Mr. Murphy, Judge C. P. Atkinson, of Phoenix; Attorney General Clark, Charles L. Norton, Mayor Morris Goldwater, D. M. Riordan, of Flagstaff and Los Angeles; H. L. Hollis, of Chicago; Paul P. Hastings, general freight and passenger agent of the Santa Fe, Prescott and Phoenix; Major F. W. Foster, of Fort Whipple; Superintendent W. F. Staunton, of the Pinalone Consolidated Mining company; John Mason Ross and H. N. Fredericks.

Following the opening address of the host, Mr. Mather was presented. In his comments upon what he had seen during his visit in Arizona, he disclosed himself to be a splendid observer and a student of conditions. He said in part:

"I have obtained a new impression of Arizona. From what I had seen out of the car window, heretofore, while passing through this territory, I had considered Arizona a mere speck of sand in this country. I was amazed at the revelation of beauty in Arizona. I had no idea there was such a vast extent of land susceptible to irrigation. One of my greatest experiences was my visit to the Roosevelt dam. It is one of the marvels of the world. Engineer Hill informed me that it would be capable of impounding 30 per cent more water than the great Asouan dam, which has been one of the proudest achievements of the British government. It eclipses that wonderful engineering feat on the Nile. The lands to be irrigated by it are equal to the entire southern portion of California south of the Tehachapi and right here in Arizona, there is to be reproduced a veritable empire. The government also has in hand a project for irrigating 750,000 acres of land that will be made to blossom as the rose and, incidentally, make more dividends for the railroads. If Arizona could make it plain to the east the extent of its great possibilities, the eastern idea of it would soon change. It would be known as the garden spot of the west. It is needless for me to say that the citizens of Arizona appreciate the fact that the policy of President Roosevelt is largely responsible for these great projects, but I wish you to remember that the birth of the movement for the reclamation of arid lands is due more to a plain lawyer of San Francisco, who initiated the idea and who carried it to the very doors of the white house. That man is George B. Maxwell, to whom I ask you to drink this toast."

Continuing the speaker said:

"Whenever a pioneer community has planted in its midst a man of energy, resources, character and bravery, that man should be crowned in his community. Such a man is Frank M. Murphy, to whom I ask you to join me in drinking this toast."

BELIEVES IN ROOSEVELT REGULATION POLICY
Mr. Mather made the interesting declaration that he was in accord with President Roosevelt's policies for the federal supervision of railroads. He did not believe that the Interstate Commerce commission should have the power of making railroad rates, but he did believe the president's policies for government regulation of common carriers was sound.

"Certainly no railroad that is conducting its affairs in an honest manner has anything to fear from such a policy," he declared, "and I trust that the people, excited over the revelations made of some roads granting rebates and doing other things not in strict accord with the law, and to their legislatures, in the various states, and fall to discriminate between the roads that are making every effort possible to comply with the laws, and those that are not, with the result that good, bad and indifferent railroads suffer alike from the spasms of railroad legislation that have taken place of late."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Wall Street.
New York, Nov. 11.—There was apparent some activity in the buying of stocks in the early part of the day and commission houses report that orders had come to them from sources that had been quiescent for several weeks. It was supposed that there were some government margins, such as have been precluded ever since the financial conditions first became acute. It was obvious also that closing up of uncovered short contracts played a part in the upward movement of prices. Observers in the board room confirmed last week that the actual supply of stocks in the market was scarce. In one or two high grade stocks the impression received practical confirmation in attempts to secure small blocks by successive advances in the bid by many points without bringing out any offerings. Low prices in the period of the crisis, of course, represented the sacrifice by borrowers of money who had to have means to repay loans on any terms. Now that urgent necessities of that character have been provided for it becomes manifest that the large bulk of holders of securities feel no disposition to sell them at present prices. The buying did not follow up the advances with any animation and the market was left almost stagnant conditions after the buying had spent believed to mark the early reflection in the bank statement of gold arrivals, which both in building up the cash showing and in releasing credits incurred for the engagements of the gold, will work early improvement in the banking position. Much significance was attached to the announcement today that some of the early engagements of gold from London were cancelled. Arrivals of South African gold in London today afforded supplies which were taken up for New York accounts, but there were no withdrawals from the Bank of England for that account, and the private rate of discount in London receded. A less satisfactory development was the continued urgency of the demand for currency in New York which maintained the premium for some large sums at above 3 per cent.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. NEW MEXICO

A LIVE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

The eighteenth annual session of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress will be held this month at Muskogee, Oklahoma, from the 18th to the 25th, both inclusive.

In a personal letter from the secretary of the congress, Mr. Arthur P. Francis, of Colorado, our special attention is directed to certain printed matter enclosed.

The enclosure is a printed sheet setting forth a number of interesting facts regarding the city of Muskogee, and presenting a full page picture of the place as it appears today.

From the many facts enumerated we feel impelled to copy a few which, for reasons which will readily become obvious, have, or should have, special interest for the people of Albuquerque.

First, the town of Muskogee is only eight years old, and yet we are told that it has, according to the census, a population of thirty-five thousand.

Second, it is the centering point of five railroads, enabling the merchants of the place to ship goods direct to all points of the surrounding country.

Third, the place has paved streets, large blocks of city-like buildings, and has put up a big, substantial convention hall, for the express purpose of accommodating the coming congress, with ample room for its sessions, and commodious office rooms for all of its officers, and.

Fourth, we are told that "The Commercial club of Muskogee is the most progressive Commercial organization in the southwest. Its membership comprises all the business men of this flourishing community. This organization has merged its work for the next five months into the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress and individually and collectively is bending every energy for the success of the eighteenth annual session of this congress."

The first fact mentioned in the last paragraph accounts for all the gratifying conditions enumerated in the other three. A progressive Commercial club, embracing in its list of members all the business men of the place.

The people of Albuquerque know what such conditions mean for this town as long as we had such an organization here; they know that so long as we had a Commercial club embracing all the business men of the place, the town continued to grow and prosper at a rate never approached by any other town in this section; they know that whatever the town is today it owes to the live organization which existed here at that time, and they believe that if that organization had continued to live, and to "booster" along the same lines, that Albuquerque would not now be obliged to fall in far behind the young giant of Oklahoma, which is only one-third as old as this town. But the difference between the methods of the Albuquerque Commercial club of the present time and the Muskogee Commercial club, is all that is necessary to show any intelligent man all the cause that is necessary to account for the great difference between the progress of that town and this.

The Muskogee club includes all the business men of the town, who all pull together for everything that will help Muskogee, while the Albuquerque organization is composed of a few little cliques, each opposing anything that will help the other, making no effort to draw in any new life, or put any new blood into the thing, and allowing it to steadily lose in membership every year.

The Muskogee club, by its own efforts, secured the meeting of the Trans-Mississippi congress at its town, while the Albuquerque club, after the meeting of the National Irrigation congress had been secured for the town, through the efforts of a citizen of a neighboring place, endeavored to discourage its coming here because it was "too big a thing for us to take care of."

As soon as Muskogee had secured the Commercial congress, its club at once went to work and had a fine hall built for its accommodation; but public sentiment had to literally force the Albuquerque club to let go of a little of the public's money which it held, so that the same could be used for the purchase of a site for a building which the territory would put up, and which would furnish excellent accommodations for the Irrigation congress.

Many other parallels might be drawn along the same lines, but the few which we have cited above are amply sufficient to show the difference, in value to a town, between a live and hustling organization and one that has gone to seed.

THE POSTAL SAVINGS BANK.

The postal savings bank has long been an established institution in England, and experience shows that it does not injure the commercial banks, but on the contrary serves to strengthen them. Ten million persons, or almost one-quarter of all the men, women and children in the United Kingdom, have accounts with the postal savings bank. The average sum on deposit is about $78, the total amount of deposits being $780,000,000. The increase in this total last year over the preceding year was $20,000,000. In connection the government operates an investment bureau for its depositors and will purchase government securities for them on easy terms. The need of the postal savings bank is as well marked in the United States as in Great Britain, and if Mr. Meyer can succeed in securing the establishment of such a bank, as well as in securing an extension of our parcels post facilities, his administration of the office will be memorable.

A GASTLY RECORD.

Peace hath its slaughters no less than war. During the year ending June 30, 1907, the railways of the United States killed 5,000 persons, and injured 76,286. That is the record as compiled by the interstate commerce commission.

The figures do not include the persons killed or injured at railroad crossings, nor those trespassing on equipment or right of way. It is the record of casualties solely for passengers and for trainmen actually on duty on or about trains.

The increase in the number of killed over the preceding year was 775, or more than 18 per cent. The increase in the number of injured was 9,577, or over 14 per cent.

It is a slow and painful process to secure the adoption of devices for the protection of the lives of passengers and trainmen, because the railroads resist progress in this direction at every point. It costs money to save lives, and they prefer to avoid the expense.

The interstate commerce commission brings the case against the railroads home in a couple of sentences. It compares the small increase in casualties due to coupling and uncoupling cars and to accidents to men on the tops of freight cars with the heavy increase of accidents to passengers due to collisions and derailments.

In the latter case the large total of 1907 was exceeded for the year under consideration by 17 per cent.

The comparative protection to railroad men on the lines noted is, the commission says, "undoubtedly due in large measure to improvement in the maintenance and care of automobile equipment," an improvement due only to strenuous efforts on the part of the government.

The moral is clear. If the government will take up on a broader scale the problem of forcing the roads to protect their passengers from unnecessary accidents results may be secured, but probably in no other way.

VICTIMS AND DEMORALIZING.

Here is a matter which well deserves the careful attention of municipal governments in all sections of the territory. Speaking of conditions in Chicago, the Record-Herald says:

Last spring the protest of various citizens' associations and social settlements against the kind of "shows" which the nickel theaters presented in many instances, "shows" in which the vicious and demoralizing elements predominated, forced the police department to take energetic action against the moral nuisance. A special squad was organized to watch the five-cent theaters and penny arcades and order the immediate withdrawal of pictures that were either indecent or so lurid and sensational as to breed lawlessness and crime.

Good work was accomplished by this flying squad, and for a time the moving picture shows left little to be desired. But no sooner had the police relaxed their vigilance than some of the proprietors returned to their former type of "entertainment," and it is well known to many citizens that "crime" vengeance, killing and scandal figure again on the bills of a number of those establishments.

It will not do to assume that comparatively reformed places stay reformed and need no further attention. The squad should not only resume its campaign, but its duties should be made regular and permanent.

Somewhat more difficult and complicated than the question of nickel-theater regulation is that of bringing the real theaters of the lower class under sufficient but legal and proper control. The mischief traceable to glorification of crime and brutality and passion is certainly great, but it is not always easy to draw the line between merely crude melodrama and vicious exploitation of crime under the guise of popular "art." According to Judge Pettit of the municipal court, boys are hypnotized into the commission of penitentiary offenses—burglary, robbery, "holding up," etc.—by some of the spectacles in the cheap theaters, while girls of tender age are exposed to evil associations and immoral influences. Seven boys, all frequenters of a particular place of so-called amusement, were brought before Judge Pettit in one day and charged with thirty-five separate offenses. Pistols and skeleton keys had been found in their possession, and they had been caught in steel and conspired by the examples of desperate outlawry and exciting adventure that had been "acted" before them. Theaters are not licensed to manufacture vagrants and criminals. The question of juvenile protection and theater supervision should be earnestly taken up by the council and the judges of the juvenile and municipal courts.

A new star will be due next Monday. Oklahoma will become a state on the 18th inst.

The editor of Harper's Weekly declares it to be his "profound conviction that the Roosevelt panic" marks the beginning of the end of the political careers of both Roosevelt and Bryan, and that a sane—even quiet—man will be elected president one year hence.

According to the report of the superintendent of the mint the gold production of the United States in 1906 reached nearly a round hundred million dollars, and in addition there were heavy imports of the metal, but despite that fact it seems pretty scarce at present.

The New Orleans Times-Democrat puts a large fact in a small space when it says, "much of the state rate legislation and regulation during the last year was enacted hastily, under pressure of a strong popular demand. The subject is one that requires careful study if it is to be handled wisely, and this there was neither time nor opportunity to give in all cases."

The American Farmer says any farmers' boys who have a supply of bumble bees will confer a favor on the agricultural department by reporting them at once. They are wanted for shipment to the Philippines, to be used in the cross fertilization of plants. It has been found that honey bees are not strong enough for this purpose and there are no bumble bees over there.

New York is making the experiment of using women ushers in her theaters. It is an occupation for which they are suited in many respects. They ought to be particularly valuable in adjusting the frequent troubles growing out of erroneous seatings, because the victims will scarcely feel like kicking up a big fuss when a woman is the adjuster. That is, says the San Francisco Chronicle, men will not; but it may be different at matinees, when the feminine is most in evidence in the audiences.

The Washington Star wins the prize for the best post-election cartoon. The wall is hung with bulletins from every section that had attracted any degree of public attention. Three gentlemen whose faces are so well known that they do not have to be introduced to the reader (Roosevelt, Bryan and Hearst), are in the room, with their coats off, each with a pad of paper on his knee, and figuring most industriously to make out what it means, while the same anxious, uncertain and disgusted look on each face shows as plainly as words could tell it that each would like to call some Daniel to interpret the figures on the wall.

Perfect Compliment.

Perhaps the most perfect compliment on record was that paid by a young negro to his bride on his marriage day.

After being made man and wife the bridegroom said to the minister what the fee would be.

"Oh, well," said the minister, knowing his circumstances, "you can pay me whatever you think it is worth to you."

The negro turned and silently looked at his bride over from head to foot; then, rolling his eyes, replied mournfully:

"Why, sah, you has ruined me for life; you has for sure."—Pick-Me-Up.

"Who" and "Whom."
For many years the use of "who" for "whom" has been a source of confusion to the public press. Latterly there has come into vogue the opposite error of using "whom" for "who," but it is not until now that a first class newspaper can achieve the triumph of making both of these mistakes in one short article, as in the following from an interview with a Missouri senator, in the Washington Post.

"Whom do you think will be nominated?" was asked.

The senator threw up his hands.

"Who are you for?" was the next question.

"I am for Taft; and I believe the delegation to the convention from the state of Missouri will be for him."

TWO HOSPITALS

Two more cases of Bright's Disease that recovered after the treatment in hospitals had failed and life was despaired of.

One is John H. Gyselaar, the well known merchant of Eureka, Cal. He was in the Lane Hospital in San Francisco for three months. Was so swollen with dropsy he had to be tapped every ten days. He was steadily sinking when his family took him home and put him in Fulton's Renal Compound for Bright's Disease. The tapings ceased and he began to mend, and is now perfectly well. Everybody in Eureka knows of his miraculous escape.

Another case is that of Mr. T. J. Mulloy, of 2216 Bryant St., San Francisco. A few months ago he was in the U. S. Marine Hospital in that city and was low with Bright's Disease. That his sister, Mrs. French, was advised by the physician in charge that a fatal end was inevitable and close at hand. She took him home and put him in the same treatment that saved Gyselaar. He recovered and five months later returned to his employment. Write either of the above if you question this.

Bright's Disease and Diabetes are curable in 87 per cent of all cases by Fulton's Compound. Send for literature. John J. Fulton Co., 409 Washington Street, San Francisco.

What the Editors of the Southwest Are Saying

Nothing Doing.
The unwritten law does not cut much ice in Sonoma County. A Mexican killed his wife's paramour, and Judge Nave (intended) to give him life imprisonment—Lordsburg Liberal.

They've Never Woke.
The El Paso Herald writes that automobilism is a useful sport. Yes, it is quite useful. In fact, it is so useful that many have never woke up.—Deming Grammarian.

Tomhawk Busy.
Maybe El Paso's anti-scalping law might do some good out in the Indian country. It does not appear to stop anything here.—El Paso Times.

Lynch Him.
Alamogordo is infested with a brute in human's clothes who is now carrying on the most crime of poisoning dogs.—Alamogordo News.

Tigers Large and Small.
The little gamblers are not respected merely because they have not accumulated enough of other people's money to buy automobiles and steam yachts—but they could not do as much harm in a thousand years as the Wall Street gang can do in one hour.—Roswell Record.

While the Men Lay Around.
When you hear a fellow say that the butter and eggs pay all their grocery bills, you can figure that his wife does most of the work.—Morrill Messenger.

New Mexico's Convention.
It is predicted that there will be 25,000 people in Albuquerque to attend the meeting of the national irrigation congress next fall. It will afford an unprecedented opportunity to advertise all sections of New Mexico. While Albuquerque is doubtless the most suitable place in New Mexico to hold the congress, yet it will task the city to the utmost to accommodate all the visitors and every section of the territory should lend a helping hand.—Alamogordo Advertiser.

The Best Are Dead.
Henry Cohen, of the Grand hotel at Hermosillo, defines a "good Yaqui" as "one without a gun." "The moment one gets a firearm straightaway he becomes bad," Henry remarks further, that "you may discover the difference about the time the bullet strikes you." Henry is a good deal of a philosopher.—Nogales Oasis.

A Dead One.
That Denver woman who has declared that "a wife should always get half her husband's salary," is bound to be regarded as a piker by the women who have been getting three-fourths.—Tucson Citizen.

The Right Man.
Assistant United States Attorney General McHarg seems to have his hands full in trying to right the wrongs that have been committed against the territory in years past. The following excerpt from the El Paso Herald shows, however, that he is no coward and is going after the right men, judges of our courts, though they be Mr. McHarg's friends. With the upper part of the territory it is to be hoped that he will come down this way and see what he can find here to regulate. He will need a spy glass. The truth of fraud is evident to the naked eye.—Deming Headlight.

Tomas is Busily Boosting for Tomas

Tomas Hubbell, former terror of the outlaws in Bernalillo county and who has been strenuously trying to butt back into politics since the people caught him a year ago, is busily boosting a boomlet for Tomas.

Tomas' fond hopes of becoming superintendent of the penitentiary, have been dashed by the granting by an inconsiderate governor. Not discouraged, Tomas is trying to get all the advertising he can out of it, even though he didn't have any more money than a rabbit. In El Independentiente, of Las Vegas, Tomas expresses both his grave disapproval of the state of things in general and his entire approval of the situation in Bernalillo.

El Independentiente says as follows: "El Independentiente, trusting to reports which it believed credible, published a week before last a notice that in all probability Don Tomas S. Hubbell, of Albuquerque, would be appointed as superintendent of the territorial penitentiary. Today it becomes necessary to notify our readers that these anticipations were not realized and that the appointment was not given to Mr. Hubbell as had been hoped. At the same time, it is proper to make some observations as to the propriety and desirability of that appointment and how much it would have pleased the great majority of the people of New Mexico. The grounds upon which El Independentiente says this, are that Mr. Hubbell is not a wanderer without known home or home, but a native citizen of New Mexico, a man of affairs and property, who has something to lose in the country, and, consequently, is interested in its welfare and prosperity. He is also a man of high position and established reputation among his fellow-citizens and belongs to that class which would go to the greatest honors and distinctions to be found in the control and at the disposition of the people of the territory. His appointment would have represented the principle of self-government, whose true significance is that the citizens of a country, a territory or a state, should be those who occupy and enjoy official positions, and who are interested in the management of public affairs. At the same time, in honoring Mr. Hubbell with the position which was hoped for, this circumstance would have been an honor which would have reached every citizen of New Mexico, because it was a preference given to a New Mexican of prominence and influence, who is fully identified with the interests of the territory. The same thing which we say concerning Mr. Hubbell, we can also say concerning many other New Mexicans in all parts and sections of the territory, who ought always and in all cases have preference over wandering adventurers, who, without fixed residence and without any interest in the country, usurp its privileges every time that they can do so. We are told that there has been appointed to the position of superintendent of the penitentiary of New Mexico a Captain Green, who says that he is a resident of Los Angeles, California. Concerning this individual and the quality of his merits and qualifications, we will say nothing nor are we able to say anything, because we are absolutely ignorant as to who this gentleman may be upon whom has been bestowed one of the most important positions and of the greatest responsibility that there is in the territory.

FIRST REAL TOUCH OF WINTER IN NEW MEXICO

Day is Cold and Dark and Gloomy and Three Inches of Snow Covers North Part of the Territory.

If any one entertained a lingering doubt that chill winter had really put in its appearance, the doubt was dispelled yesterday. It was winter like the good old New England Thanksgiving variety—such as Albuquerque fortunately does not experience for many days at a time even at this season of the year. After Sunday morn had dawned bright and beautiful a little wind came wandering over from the north and the minute it hit the thermometer there were things doing. The all-temperature embarked on a board the thermometer and started down at a 2.64 gait, falling ten or twelve degrees by Sunday afternoon. It has not risen perceptibly since. Yesterday was by far the coldest day this fall, and the mercury flitted around between 35 and 50 most of the day. While the feel of snow was in the air and the cold was penetrating, there was little snow visible in this part of the territory except on the mountain tops. Up north it was different. Arrivals from Hinton yesterday reported snow from two to four inches deep all the way from the Gate City to the Glorieta Pass, with a biting wind and a leaden sky. The percentage of sunshine here was practically nil. The weather man, who is against the coal combine, promises fair and warmer weather today. There is good reason to believe that it will be the regulation fair, hold weather in a day or two. Meanwhile the ice man, abashed, has gone home to get his heavy overcoat and figure up the profits on a 1,200 pound lot of coal at 47.50, cash on delivery, net profit in the dealer's pocket being $2 to $3.

The interstate commerce commission has thus far rendered no response to the interesting little grand jury report forwarded to it by the district attorney. The commission, as he stands in the coal house door looking pensively at the rapidly diminishing "ton," is waiting with some interest to hear from the interstate commerce commission. The weather yesterday, indicating the rapid approach of the good old cranberry time, had a noticeably depressing effect on local turkeys, who stood around with drooping tails and gobbled a querulous complaint against fate and the inevitable axe.

USEFUL DISCOVERIES.

Are Not Always Startling. Neither Do They Create the Most Talk.

It is not always the greatest, most startling discoveries of science that are most useful to the human race. Comparatively few people were directly interested in Herschel's finding of the new planet Uranus, but many thousands have been benefited by Prof. Linn's experiments, which proved beyond a question that Dandruff and Baldness are the results of the inroads of a parasitic germ which invades the roots of the hair. The discovery of the true cause of baldness made Newber's Herpicide possible. Herpicide effectually kills this germ. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. Sold by leading druggists. Not Many Sales Are Uninfluenced By Store Advertising!

The store-man today that is uninfluenced, directly or indirectly, by store-advertising will not have amounted to ten per cent of the total business of the day. By the direct influence of advertising is meant the sales of articles specifically advertised. By the indirect influence is meant the sales of articles not specifically advertised, but are displayed to the customer who are drawn to the store BY THE ADVERTISED ARTICLES in the Albuquerque Morning Journal. In the latter case, as surely as in the first, the advertising must be credited with the sale.

Observant merchants know that this is true. They should gain courage from the knowledge to strengthen their advertising campaigns to the point of matching their store-hopes and plans.
