COURT DEALS DECISION IN HARRIMAN MATTER

Former Senator Spooner Defends Railroad Wizard's Right to Refuse to Answer Commission's Questions.

DEVELOPMENT OF ENTIRE WEST INVOLVED IN ISSUE

Government Attorneys Claim Right of One Man to Control Railroads of Nation Hinges on Decision.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

New York, Nov. 13.—After seven hours and a half of argument on both sides of the question, Judge Hough, in the United States district court, announced tonight that he would not be ready to render a decision on the petition of the interstate commerce commission to compel E. H. Harriman to answer certain questions propounded to him last spring in the course of the commission's investigation into the so-called Harriman lines until December 1. The opposing counsel were given the privilege of filing additional briefs during the next two weeks. The arguments, which were not concluded until 6:30 p. m., took a wide range, and the privileges and powers of the interstate commerce commission were thoroughly gone into. Former Senator John C. Spooner, of Wisconsin, appeared for the first time in the case and argued in defense of the position maintained by Mr. Harriman, that he is not required to tell the commission what individual profit he made in selling the stocks of other railroads held by him to the Union Pacific company or to detail the manner in which the income of the Union Pacific dividend was declared in August, 1906, and its announcement deferred for two days. Mr. Harriman had also declined to say how much stock of the Union Pacific, if any, he bought just before the announcement of the dividend.

John G. Milburn was also heard in defense of Mr. Harriman, in opposition to the petition filed by the commission. On behalf of the government, as represented by the interstate commerce commission, were conducted by United States District Attorney Henry L. Stimson and Frank B. Kellogg, special counsel for the commission.

Counsel for Mr. Harriman stated to Judge Hough that the stock purchases of the Union Pacific railroad amounted to $150,000,000 during one period and about $182,000,000 in the aggregate, were made on the recommendation of the executive committee, approved by the board of directors and ratified by the stockholders. All that Mr. Harriman had done, he declared, had met with the fullest approval of the stockholders of the Union Pacific. He further stated that, allowing for losses sustained in the stock purchases, the Union Pacific had profited no less than $27,000,000 by its stock purchases. Mr. Milburn said this fact should silence the claim of the commission that the stock purchases tended to impair the effectiveness of the railroad engaged in interstate commerce.

Mr. Kellogg in reply to this stated that the commission had no right to the stock sold to the Union Pacific was nothing more or less than a Wall Street quotation, probably fixed by the very pool of men who, it is claimed, were behind the stock deals. As to the impairment of the usefulness of the railroads, Mr. Kellogg asserted that the roads of inflated value were today unable to borrow money to build the cars needed by them to carry out their obligations to the public.

"The same thing is true of the roads without inflated values," retorted Mr. Milburn. Senator Spooner declared that the stock deals between Mr. Harriman and the Union Pacific were matters of concern only between the individual and the stockholders and had nothing to do with interstate commerce. Mr. Kellogg declared the commission had a right to inquire into the uses to which the money of a railroad was put.

Judge Hough interrupted the attorneys on both sides with many pointed questions. He said, among other things, that he did not exactly see what the deferred announcement of the Union Pacific dividend had to do with interstate commerce. He also asked if, after all, the commission was not only seeking to prevent the question, to prove from whom Harriman, the individual, purchased the stocks subsequently sold to the company of which he is president and what profit he individually made by the transaction.

Mr. Kellogg said the commission had sought to get at the bona fide of the stock deals. In general, he declared, the commission was making an inquiry which involved the question of whether or not the great western territory of the United States shall be dependent upon one man for its development—whether or not there shall be railroad competition between the Missouri river and the Southern Pacific coast.

Mr. Kellogg, in including his argument, said the commission questioned the propriety of Mr. Harriman sitting upon a committee to fix the price of stocks he held and was about to sell to the Union Pacific.

"I know," interrupted Mr. Milburn, "but what are you going to do about it?" Walter D. Hines appeared for Otto H. Kahn, of the firm of Kahn, Loeb & Co., who had held 105,000 shares of Union Pacific stock for the directors. He said Kahn, Loeb & Co. acted as the fiscal agents of the Union Pacific. It was simply a practice, he said, for the Union Pacific to arrange with Kahn, Loeb & Co. on a basis mutually satisfactory to act as such agents.

Former Senator John C. Spooner, in opening his argument, pointed out that there was no question of the constitutionality of the interstate commerce act involved. "If such a question had arisen," he said, "I would not be here, inasmuch as I had a part in the framing of the act. It is a question of the construction that we content for a construction of it which will eliminate all doubt in respect to the power of the commission in cases like this."

Mr. Spooner pointed out that the state may regulate its own corporations, while the power of congress over interstate commerce is supreme and conclusive.

The state fixed the amount of capital stock of a corporation; congress cannot. The state may repeal a corporation charter; congress cannot. The state may require that no officer or director shall, openly or secretly, have any business dealings with the corporation with which he is connected. This federal government has no such power, continued Mr. Spooner. "Can it be assumed that congress has inquisitorial powers to regulate the dividends of state railroad corporations?"

The interstate commerce act, he said, authorizes the commission to elicit such information as would aid them in discharging their duties in the enforcement of the act.

Taking one of the questions put to Mr. Harriman, as to whether he was directly or indirectly interested in any stocks that were bought between the 1st of July and the 17th of August, 1906, that appreciated, Mr. Spooner said:

"Let it be assumed that Mr. Harriman had answered that question and that the commission is not required to ask an agent or director has violated his duty as a director in any sense in which the word is used, but solely between the corporation, the stockholders and himself?"

"Could congress pass a law prohibiting a director of a company from dealing in stocks? It is inconceivable that a matter of trusteeship between a private corporation and one of its body can be made the subject of inquiry by an administrative body of congress?"

In the event of loss, could congress have made restitution? Is it not a state matter? The state could punish, while congress and the commission cannot.

Senator Spooner closed by saying that "to pillory a man at the bar of public opinion in order to attract the attention of congress to the supposed misdeeds of a man is to do the domain of the interstate commerce commission."

The final argument for the government was made by Frank H. Kellogg, who argued that the commission in the Harriman case, he had not proceeded far when interrupted by Judge Hough, who asked:

"Isn't it true, Mr. Kellogg, that while the commission is not required to limit the scope of its inquiry, did it not, as a matter of fact, limit its inquiry in this case by a special order?"

"As to that, your honor," replied the attorney, "the authorities have held that a congressional commission need not limit itself to the subject matter of a resolution of inquiry, but may go as far as it pleases, so long as it keeps within the power of congress to investigate."

Mr. Kellogg said that for fifteen years the interstate commerce commission had been investigating matters which were not clearly defined by its congress. These investigations and resultant recommendations had borne fruit in the dissolution of the Erie and the Pennsylvania railroads, the enactment of the safety appliance act, the employers' liability act, and lastly, the abolition of rebates.

Another reason for this inquiry is to ascertain whether the stock sold to the Union Pacific in a bona fide way, what its actual worth was or whether it was sold for speculation—by a pool—or fraudulently. The gentleman who sold the stock is not saying these stocks were sold at their market value. This means their value as quoted in Wall street. Who makes that value? The very circle of men who sold the money and bought stock in manner such as to become a proper subject of inquiry in considering the question of rates, which the interstate commerce commission has the right to regulate. In like manner we have a right to inquire if the ten per cent dividend suddenly declared by the Union Pacific company was justified from the earnings of the company, or if it was a speculative dividend to enable certain persons to manipulate stock and reap enormous profit.

One of these questions Mr. Harriman declined to answer. He said whether or not a block of $20,000,000 of stock in the Santa Fe railroad was held by H. H. Rogers and H. C. Frick, two Union Pacific directors, was a matter of fact, but he refused to answer it. He said that the Union Pacific has not the right to control the Santa Fe because it is the competing system, but your honor, what is the difference between the competing system and the stockholders and had nothing to do with interstate commerce. Mr. Kellogg declared the commission had a right to inquire into the uses to which the money of a railroad was put.

Judge Hough interrupted the attorneys on both sides with many pointed questions. He said, among other things, that he did not exactly see what the deferred announcement of the Union Pacific dividend had to do with interstate commerce. He also asked if, after all, the commission was not only seeking to prevent the question, to prove from whom Harriman, the individual, purchased the stocks subsequently sold to the company of which he is president and what profit he individually made by the transaction.

Mr. Kellogg said the commission had sought to get at the bona fide of the stock deals. In general, he declared, the commission was making an inquiry which involved the question of whether or not the great western territory of the United States shall be dependent upon one man for its development—whether or not there shall be railroad competition between the Missouri river and the Southern Pacific coast.

Mr. Kellogg, in including his argument, said the commission questioned the propriety of Mr. Harriman sitting upon a committee to fix the price of stocks he held and was about to sell to the Union Pacific.

"I know," interrupted Mr. Milburn, "but what are you going to do about it?" Walter D. Hines appeared for Otto H. ## WALSH RELATED FOR FRENZIED FINANCE FIGHT

LOOTED BANK OF MANY MILLIONS, IS CHARGED

Opening Address of Prosecution in Case Against Chicago Banker Scathing Arraignment of His Business Methods

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Chicago, Nov. 13.—The first day of the trial of John R. Walsh, ex-president of the Chicago National Bank, on a charge of misuse of the funds of that institution, formally opened today. The jury was completed shortly after noon and Assistant District Attorney Fletcher Doherty at the opening of the afternoon session commenced the preliminary statement in behalf of the government. It is expected that Mr. Doherty will not conclude his opening address until late tomorrow.

The government will attempt to show that Walsh took from the Chicago National Bank, the Equitable Trust company and the Home Savings Bank $14,000,000.

In his statement today Mr. Doherty declared that Walsh obtained the ownership of various large properties without cost to himself by using the funds of the banks. He said:

"Watered stock being the probable amount of $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 was issued. Mr. Walsh, through his employees, voted the stock himself. He then sold this stock to the banks, taking the money to build up his private enterprises. All of the stock so sold by Mr. Walsh was practically worthless."

The assistant district attorney then stated to the jury that Mr. Walsh had induced various people to sign "accommodation" notes for the bank. "Then," said Mr. Doherty, "he signed the names of people to the notes. Checks were made out payable to bearer and credited to the personal account of Mr. Walsh. Bonds were made out to the same 'dummies,' and the checks were cashed. The credits were made to Mr. Walsh's account."

In 1903 Mr. Walsh was told by the bank examiner that the Chicago National Bank was being loaded down with the securities of Mr. Walsh's personal enterprises. The examiner ordered him to take these securities out, and Mr. Walsh promised to do so.

In 1904 the bank was found in the same condition, the warning was repeated and Mr. Walsh again promised to remove the securities. Another examination showed that the bank was in a worse condition than ever and it was then ordered closed.

The government will show that Walsh took money from his own pocket, fix his own price and put the money in his pocket."

As an illustration of Mr. Walsh's procedure in matters of finance the assistant district attorney referred to the Peoria Gas and Electric company, which he referred to as "perhaps the least objectionable of any of Mr. Walsh's enterprises."

"This company," he said, "was organized in 1899 and the capital stock was fixed at $500,000. Two hundred thousand dollars was paid in, and it was sold by Mr. Walsh for more than $1,000,000. Mr. Walsh was to hold $300,000 of the stock and issued certificates for bonds to that extent. These were worthless, but he put them in his hands and took out money for them and built up the company."

An objection by the defendant's counsel at this point was sustained by the court and Mr. Doherty passed to the consideration of the Southern Indiana Railroad company, reviewing its history up to the time Mr. Walsh purchased it for $175,000.

"He had sold himself," Mr. Doherty said, "$200,000 in bonds at the very time it was organized and those bonds had no value. He put them into the Equitable Trust company, selling them at a profit, then issued another $100,000 of bonds and sold them at par."

"He took money from time to time from the Chicago National Bank and from the Equitable Trust company to develop this property, depositing worthless bonds until he had deposited with the former $200,000 and with the latter $150,000. He tried to get the bonds listed on the New York stock exchange, but he was told to show their distribution and the matter was laid over."

"Later he stated that they had been distributed. They had been distributed in his own bank at his own price. In 1901 and 1902, the prosecutor told the jury, various amounts of money were taken from the banks with the unmarketable bonds as collateral until more than $1,000,000 had been removed from the personal use of Mr. Walsh."

Mr. Doherty then took up transactions relating to the Illinois Southern railroad and to Mr. Walsh's enterprises. He declared that money to finance this road was advanced by the Equitable Trust company on receiver's certificates and that $25,000 of these certificates were afterward declared invalid.

"Mr. Walsh arranged with the bond holders for the purchase of the road," he said, "and $500,000 of the company's bonds were voted to him. He put the bond in the Chicago National and his other banks."

About $225,000 of them were put in at $80 and later taken out at par, so Mr. Walsh had $1,400,000 of the company's stock without it having cost him anything."

"He intended to connect the road with the Southern Indiana, but found he needed more bonds, so the capital stock was increased to $1,000,000, and a bond issue for this amount was also made. An attempt to market these in New York failed and they were put in the Walsh banks."

After several other similar details had been told the jury, Judge Anderson interrupted the speaker and adjourned the court until tomorrow morning.

Desperate Encounter Near Deming Results in Work for Coroner; Conductor Receives Bullet and Knife Wounds.

Taft and his party are in the best of health and enjoying a pleasant voyage. The Rainbow is due at Vladivostok at 11 o'clock on the morning of November 17.

Secretary Taft will not decide upon his route through Europe or his plans until he arrives at Vladivostok. It is very probable that he will sail for New York in December from either the coast of Europe or from Hamburg on the Hamburg American liner President Grant. Mrs. Taft will remain in Europe two weeks longer, but the latter part of her stay will be at home and all official entertainments at Berlin have been declared off by him. He may also eliminate the official entertainments which have been planned for him at St. Petersburg. Secretary Taft expressed his satisfaction over the reports of the political situation at home as received by him.

Another postponement of THAW TRIAL PROBABLE

Testimony Taken Before Lunacy Board May Be Made Available to Both Sides.

New York, Nov. 13.—District Attorney Jerome and Martin W. Littleton, leading counsel for Harry K. Thaw, held a long conference with the Thaw case today. While neither party to the conference would discuss the matter, it is believed it was agreed that the evidence taken before the board of lunacy commissioners which examined Thaw as to his competency during his first trial, should be open for the benefit of counsel on both sides. The evidence was ordered sealed and has never been seen by either side. It is said that the attorneys will join in a motion that it now be opened.

The case is set for hearing December 2, but it is believed probable that it will be postponed, possibly for a month or more.

CONVICT WHO STABBED

Prisoner Whom It Was Alleged Trelford Treated Brutally Was Held Up as Model of Good Conduct.

(Special Correspondence Morning Journal.)

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 13.—William Mears, convict No. 2025 in the territorial penitentiary, has been adjudged insane and an order has been issued for his removal to the insane asylum at Las Vegas. Mears has been in solitary confinement since July 29, during which time he has not been shaved nor allowed to go out of his cell for the purpose of taking a bath. This man Mears is the name "Myers" who it was alleged was a martyr under the regime of Trelford, who was said to have strung him up for seventeen days and otherwise treated him with "inhumanity." Mears soon after clinched his claim to martyrdom by making a murderous assault on a harmless Mexican fellow convict while the two were wheeling brick and ashes in wheelbarrows in the prison yard. To show his companion that he had the right to the road Mears stabbed him in the neck with a knife he had somehow secured. The knife penetrated the victim's lung and the wound almost proved fatal. Mears is one of the convicts who was alleged to have helped write the celebrated essay on criminology and prison discipline which appeared during the "investigation" of Trelford, under orders from the ousted superintendent, Mr. H. D. Baxton, inventor of the "Spanking Machine," and a novel system of prison accounts. Mears has been one of the most violent and troublesome convicts in the penitentiary and his treatment by Trelford was perhaps the mildest he has received.

The burden which has rested so long and heavily on corporations and those charged with their affairs is being distributed, and the community will soon have its own troubles to worry about."

The losses in value, credit and fortune in this country since the closing of this year have been greater than occurred as a result of the Civil war.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Governor Hughes tonight gave out a letter in which he requests that A. J. Hepburn, Edwin S. Marston, Edward W. Sheldon, A. S. Frisell, Stephen Baker and Andrew Mills, all banking or trust company officials of New York City, shall act as a committee for the purpose of collecting facts, receiving suggestions and expressing their views with reference to changes deemed advisable in the laws of the state relating to incorporation, conduct of business and supervision of banks and trust companies.

The governor asks that this committee undertake this work solely as a matter of public service without providing for compensation or indemnity for expense and says he will be glad to receive its report on or before December 15, 1907.

COMMERCIAL COMMISSION DECIDES FOR RAILROAD

Grain Company Loses Case Against Chicago, Burlington & Quincy.

Washington, Nov. 13.—In the case of the A. J. Post Grain company against the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railway company and other carriers the interstate commerce commission today in an opinion rendered by Commissioner Harlan, denied the complainant's motion for a rehearing. The complainant sought a consent of grain through Denver to a destination in California, when a shorter and less expensive route might have been adopted. The complainant objected to the freight charges on the shipment, maintaining that he was entitled to a rate by the shortest route. The opinion holds that a lawful published schedule applies with equal authority to the shipper and to the carrier and both are chargeable with notice of the rate and of the route over which the route is made applicable. When responding to an inquiry by a shipper a mistake by a carrier either as to rate or to the route will not excuse the carrier from collecting the lawful rate or the shipper from paying it.

A. B. Hepburn is president of the Chase National bank of New York City. He was state superintendent of banks from 1880 to 1885, and comptroller of the currency in 1892.

MODERNISM CONDEMNED AS MENACE TO CHURCH

Catholic University Board Formally Accepts Papal Edict on Subject.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The board of trustees of the Catholic University of America, at a meeting here today, placed the stamp of disapproval on so-called "modernism" as a serious danger to the church. The board expressed its sentiments on this question by instructing Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, chancellor of the university and president of the board of trustees, to write a letter to the Holy Pontiff, declaring the decision of the university and its trustees to the important encyclical on modernism recently made public at Rome. The encyclical was discussed at length, and it developed that the members of the board strongly favored the sentiments which it contained.

Richard C. E. Kerns, of St. Louis, was elected trustee.

"All projects in the union now under contemplation and which have been approved by the engineers' department involve a cost of less than five hundred millions. At the rate of $20,000,000 a year all of them could be provided for in ten years. It is questionable whether more than $50,000,000 a year can be expended wisely and that should be divided among a number of projects. I understand that a feeling of discord has been generated among waterway people. We who have good projects can safely rely upon their merits if a broad, liberal waterway policy is adopted."

Lake Providence, La., Nov. 13.—An address urging harmony of all sections of the United States to the end of securing $50,000,000 annually from congress for river and harbor improvement was issued today by Congressman J. E. Ranzdell, president of the national rivers and harbors congress. Mr. Ranzdell said:

NO GROUND ON WHICH TO HOLD BIVINS AND MORRIS

Details of Interesting Case Just Thrown Out of Court in Roswell for Lack of Evidence.

There is considerable interest in the criminal of the action against Lee Bivins, a prominent Roswell Texas citizen, in Roswell Tuesday, for lack of evidence. Bivins having been charged, with others, of having been concerned in a plot to steal some six hundred head of cattle. The Roswell Record gives the following details of the case:

The charge of complicity to steal six hundred head of cattle, which was brought by indictment in the district court about two years ago against Lee Bivins and H. A. Morris, two of the most prominent citizens of Roswell, Texas, was dismissed by the prosecution in open court this morning. There was insufficient evidence to warrant a submission of the case.

More specifically, the charge was that Bivins, who at the time of the alleged conspiracy was manager of the El Capitol Land and Cattle company, delivered six hundred head of his company's cattle to Bivins and Morris, who received them knowing that they were stolen cattle. The indictment was returned by the grand jury of the El Capitol Land and Cattle company, and is likewise one of the most influential and respected citizens of that country. Both men have many strong friends among the best of Roswell. Mr. Bivins, who lived in Roswell many years, and

BACKACHE IS SIGN KIDNEYS NOT ACTING

Tells of a Simple Home Mixture to Relieve Backache and to Prevent Bright's Disease.

More people succumb each year to some form of kidney trouble than to any other disease. The slightest form of kidney derangement often develops into Bright's kidney disease, diabetes or dropsy. When either of these diseases are suspected the sufferer should at once seek the best medical attention possible. Consult only a good, first class physician, leave patent medicines alone.

There are many of the lesser symptoms of kidney trouble which can be treated at home as stated by a well known authority. For some of these, such as backache, pain in the region of the kidneys, weak bladder, frequent urination at night, painful urination and other urinary troubles, try the following simple home remedy: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple ingredients are harmless and can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and anyone can mix them by shaking well in a bottle. The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

When you go to the trouble to ask the druggist for the Dandelion and Sarsaparilla separately, and then buy one ounce Kargon Compound, in its original (unopened) package, plainly printed "Guaranteed No. 195, under National Drug Law," and mix the Kargon with the other ingredients at your home, you had better not use this effective prescription at all. It may be worse than useless, perhaps even harmful, and your money wasted. Under no circumstances accept the unwarranted recommendation of a pharmacist to accept any excuse for offering it to you that way. Purchase separately the Kargon Compound, and mix these three ingredients at home yourself, or don't use at all.

There is no better general remedy known to relieve all forms of rheumatism either because it acts directly upon the kidneys and blood. It cleans the clogged up pores in the kidneys so they can filter and strain from the blood the poisonous uric acid and waste matter which is not eliminated from the blood, decompose and settle about the joints and muscular tissues, causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

Backache is nature's signal notifying the sufferer that the kidneys are not acting properly. "Take care of your kidneys," is the physician's advice to his patients.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR MCGILLON COMPANY

Plaintiff in Suit in the District Court Allege That Affairs of Gold and Copper Mining Concern are Mismanaged.

Another one of the many lawsuits and counter suits that have been brought in connection with the affairs of the Mogollon Gold and Copper company, was filed in the district court yesterday. The action is entitled Walter Buchanan, May B. Dun and George H. Masten against the Mogollon Gold and Copper company, with Rick & Owen, as attorneys for the plaintiff. The complaint is a long and detailed one, the gist of it being that the company wants a receiver appointed over the ground that the company is being mismanaged and is insolvent. Thomas J. Carran, the well known and successful promoter, who has brought the rich Mogollon district prominently before the public, is head of the company, and extensive development of the properties has been done under his management. The present suit is one of several resulting from friction between various stockholders of the company.

"WOOLLY LANGUAGE" ABOUT DEADLY ALCOHOL

Hobo Declares Fatal Beverage Imbibed by Maricopa Tramps Didn't Have Any Lumber In It

(Phoenix Democrat.)

"All this talk about no drinkin' wood alky down to Maricopa the other night is woolly language. It's about four miles off the mark, and was sent out by a crew of slykes who don't know the real story from a quart of sweet cider. We was drinkin' straight alky, green alcohol, and there was no lumber about it, not even in the name. And the Jasper named Casey didn't pass out at all; he is here in town now. You couldn't kill him with a gun, ax, the big red-headed Irishman."

Thus spoke Jack Emerson and Frank Murray, two hard-fisted men, who were the first to be arrested last night of the road who left here last night after waiting all the weary miles from Maricopa, and have gone to work for a day or two as waiters at class brothers chop house on North Center street.

According to the story told by these men, Maricopa is about the worst place in the country for a hobo to be tied up in, if he has nothing in his pockets but atmosphere, and the game of men who had been hanging around there had nothing to eat for several days.

For more than a week they had not eaten enough to make a good respectable showing as a meal, and all this time they were suffering their own time with the raw alcohol. As a re-

WITNESS DECLARES PLAINTIFF WAS IRRATIONAL

SOME MORE INTERESTING EVIDENCE IN SCHMIDT CASE

Testimony of Plaintiff on Stand Yesterday Not Damaging to the Defense; Case Will Take Several Days Yet.

Eugene With, brother-in-law of Joseph Schmidt, who is suing the Southwestern Brewery and Ice company for $25,000 damages, was one of the witnesses on the stand during the continuation of the trial in the district court yesterday. With's testimony went to show that the plaintiff, during the time he was in the hospital after the accident, was not in his right mind, and that he was not aware of what he was doing. The testimony was of importance as bearing on Schmidt's allegation that he had no knowledge of signing the release alleged by the defense in which he promised, for a consideration, not to prosecute a case for damages.

With said that several days after the accident when he went to see the plaintiff at the hospital, Schmidt indicated he saw two large men in green overcoats come in and hand him $50 in greenbacks, which he said he had under his pillow, and which Schmidt pretended to take charge of for him. With also testified that Schmidt, after he was taken to With's house from the hospital, chewed all the bandages off his burns until the head was bloody, and had to be afterward tied down with straps. He said that on several occasions Schmidt showed no signs of recognition when he went to see him, and once got mad because, as he said, they had put him in the wrong bed, indicating several other non-existent beds in the room. With said that Dr. Carns had admitted to him that the plaintiff did not know a "queen," and asked if any member of his family had ever been crazy, which With answered in the negative. With said he went with Schmidt afterward to see the company about some satisfaction for the accident, and that the official told him he had already signed a release, and no further arrangements could be made. With said he went to O. N. Marmon and asked to see a copy of the release, but was not allowed to do so.

Schmidt, who was on the stand during the day, was severely cross-examined, and his story was not particularly damaging to the defense. Schmidt claims that he was not in his right mind for long after he left the hospital. Other witnesses on the stand yesterday were Henry Loebs, Bosworth, Dr. Carns and J. A. Roal. The most of the testimony was concerned with the condition of Schmidt when he signed the alleged release in the presence of Mr. Marmon and Mr. Loebs. The defense makes a strong point of the alleged fact that Schmidt went back to work and accepted his salary for the time he was sick in accordance with the provisions of the release.

The case is being fought hard all the way. It has already consumed a week, and will take at least three days more to finish up.

CATTLE ON RANGE NEVER HEARD OF WALL STREET

New Mexico Stockman Says
Grass in Good and Animals are in Fine Condition; Big Drove Reaches Here.

I. W. Cox, of Dull, N. M., one of the well known stock raisers of Socorro county, arrived in the city yesterday with 146 head of splendid cattle, which he drove overland from his ranches. They were in fine condition, being steers and 80 cows, all between two and three years old. The cattle were sold to the Blanchard Meat and Supply company, by Mr. Cox.

"I've got 2,000 head of cattle on my ranch," said Mr. Cox yesterday. "The drive overland was a successful one, and the cattle are all in good shape. In fact, stock conditions were never better. The range is in good shape, and the cattle are exceptionally healthy and fat." From which it appears that the financial flurry has not touched the stockmen. They are all looking satisfied, with the exception of a few in some sections of the territory, who have been vainly waiting for cars to ship their cattle in.

ARIZONA STOCKMEN WELL PLEASED WITH CONDITIONS

The Prescott Journal-Miner says: L. L. Harmon, the Yavapai and Maricopa county stockman who passed through here last night, after a ten days' stay in northern Arizona, investigating the cattle market, said: "I do not believe there will be any rise in the price of beef for some time. The financial crisis in the east has not affected the market here to any noticeable extent. Recently the wholesale beef men of Los Angeles raised the price one-quarter of a cent and the retailers raised it two and one-half cents, which I am inclined to believe, was out of proportion to the raise made by the wholesalers."

"I am satisfied with the present prices. Mutton and pork command rather high prices. Beef is now the cheapest meat. It can be raised at a fair profit at present prices. I keep in close touch with the market, and hope that I am well pleased with the condition of affairs."

Her Heart Was Broken because her companion was bad and she would not let him clear it up. Ladies: A bad complexion is caused by an impure liver. An inactive liver will be put in perfect condition by taking Ballard's Pink Pills. The universal liver regulator. Sold by J. H. O'Connell.

LUNATIC CAUSED THE DEATH OF TWO INFANTS

PATHETIC CASE OF LITTLE
REBECCA CHAVES OF BELEN

Nine-year-old Child Insane
Since Attack of Cerebro
Spinal Meningitis When Five Months Old.

One of the saddest cases of a mind diseased that ever came before the district court here ended yesterday when Judge Abbott ordered little 9-year-old Rebecca Chaves, daughter of Crescencio Chaves, of Belen, committed to the Las Vegas asylum. The child is violently insane and it is said that two playmates in Belen died as the result of injuries inflicted by the little girl. She has been practically without any mind at all since the age of 5 months, when she had an attack of cerebro spinal meningitis, from which she never recovered. The girl would tear off her clothes and act like a wild creature, and one of the phases of her lunacy attested by Dr. W. F. Wittwer, of Los Lunas, who examined her, was that she was "dangerous to power of speech and a pitiable object." The grief of her parents over the condition in which she has remained for nearly a decade is still poignant and there were tears in the eyes of more than one in the court house yesterday when her case was disposed of by the court.

RETRIBUTIVE JUSTICE.

"God moves in a mysterious way, His wonders to perform," so Cawper told us long ago, and if his spirit may be permitted to "visit the glimpees of the moon" he will find in New Mexico just now certain conditions which will cause him to be still more firmly convinced of the truth of his statement.

To make a long story short, and tell it in plain English, without any circumlocution, this territory had been in the clutches of a band of thieves for so long a time that they had come to believe they owned it, and they used it accordingly—and any one who had the audacity to object to their perversion of the public interest or the public funds to their own private uses, was denounced as all sorts of bad character—more different sorts, in fact, than we can take the space to name, but you will find them all enumerated in any average issue of the Santa Fe New Mexican.

Then it so happened that the president of the United States appointed a man to be governor of New Mexico who was not in sympathy with the policy of robbery above referred to, and at once entered upon an effort to give the territory a government of the people, by the people and for the people, and thereby gave the members of the gang above mentioned mortal offense. They saw that a change must be effected, or their occupation would be gone, and therefore they fixed up a story by which they deceived the president and caused him to remove his appointee, whose only real offense consisted in the fact that he was honestly endeavoring to carry out the president's orders, and give the people of New Mexico an honest and decent government. The character of the new appointee has nothing to do with the issue. The victory for plunder was achieved when the man who, for insisting upon honest methods, was forced to step down and out.

The essence of the story through which the hand worked the president and secured the removal of the governor, consisted of the fact that the governor had sold to the Pennsylvania Development company a small body of territorial lands at a price which was too low. The persons who were using this story for this purpose knew that they were making false representations and giving the president a false impression. They knew that the lands in question had been sold to the company by a former administration, that a part of the purchase money had been paid and notes of hand taken for the balance, and that all that the governor whose scalp they were after had to do with the transaction was to accept the cash tendered in payment of the notes, and turn over the deeds to the parties who had bought the land. They knew that the sale of territorial lands, in vastly larger tracts and at lower prices, had been the common practice by administrations of their own kind for years before, but they carefully kept it in the background, the facts regarding all the real offenses, and after magnifying and distorting in every possible manner all the features of the one venial offense, they worked that for all it was worth, and gained their point with it. And this now proves to have been one of the "mysterious ways" spoken of by the poet—and of the ways which Providence employs to make the rogue the instrument of bringing to light his own roguery.

Two able and totally disinterested gentlemen, who are assistants to the attorney general of the United States, were sent to the territory to investigate the "great wrong" which had caused the removal of a governor, and after thoroughly sifting the matter to the bottom they have passed it by, showing that they found nothing in it upon which an action could be founded, and the money received by the governor from the development company has been turned into the various territorial funds, thus putting the seal of the government's approval upon the transaction.

But fortunately for the cause of good government in New Mexico, the story does not stop there. The earnest and skillful endeavors of the attorney general's able assistants have not succeeded in finding the alleged great wrong in the particular transaction which caused the national administration to send them here, but in the course of their investigations upon that line they have uncovered a veritable Pandora's box of other transactions, and have woven therefrom a web of testimony which has entangled in an exceedingly unpleasant manner the feet of some of the gentlemen who were unintentionally the cause of bringing them here, and which may possibly bring no little annoyance if not serious loss to other gentlemen on account of their connection with certain transactions which, it is claimed, they were caused to believe were legitimate.

Those persons of the last named class, as a rule, have the sympathy of the public, because while their connection with such transactions was wrong under the law, it is generally believed that they were not conscious of any wrong doing further than that of "striking a good bargain" with those whom they believed had the lawful right to make such a trade. And it is claimed by some that the officials with whom these bargains were made were also ignorant of the fact that they were violating the law. But that claim is hardly tenable in view of the fact that they, or their friends, recognized an act of the same character as unlawful when they thought they saw a chance to fix the responsibility for it upon an official whose policy did not harmonize with their practices.

But however this may be, the fact remains that the parties who are immediately responsible for bringing upon themselves and others all the trouble that may grow out of the present investigation into the acts of former administrations, are the same gentlemen who distorted the features of and misrepresented the facts in connection with, one certain transaction, in order to fix the responsibility for it upon an officer who had merely a perfunctory connection with it, and this they did, that they might use it as a club to drive him from office because he threatened to frustrate their schemes of graft and plunder. That end they accomplished, but in doing so they started an investigation which has brought into the lime light a long list of other transactions, by which they have put themselves into a very close and uncomfortable corner. They have builded better than they knew.

WE MAY LEARN FROM MEXICO.

Plans for the conservation of forest growth are not confined to companies operating in the U. S. A. States. A dispatch from Mexico says one of the great lumber companies of that country:

"The plan is to replace the trees as they are cut off by planting others. The general manager is working out the scheme on a practical, scientific basis and soon will begin the planting of new trees with seeds of the same variety of pine as that cut off. After the trees are cut and the logs from butt to top taken down to the great mills, the limbs left on the ground are to be cut up into wood and the tops piled and burned to prevent fire. In proper season the reseedling of the ground will be carried out on the most approved plans of reforestation."

The company making this wise and benign provision for the future controls two and a half million acres of timber land in Chihuahua and Sonora.

The railroads of the United States, according to the interstate commerce commission, killed 5,000 persons last year, over 15 per cent more than during the preceding twelve months. "How careless people are," says the New York World. What "a mean disposition" some folks have.

The agricultural department reports that less corn to the acre than usual was raised by the country this year. But from the way the prohibitionists are doing things it is fair to assume that a larger proportion of the corn than usual will be used for bread this year.

Some Englishman has invented an automatic speed controller which will prevent an automobile from going more than a certain number of miles per hour on a public highway. Evidently, says the Record-Herald, he doesn't own a car himself.

Senator Foraker, in considering the results in Cleveland, must be engaged in drawing nice distinctions between his feelings as a republican and as a man who has had some differences with the administration.

Boston's Methodist ministers have joined the Central Labor union. And the New York Herald tells them if they will strike against long sermons they can be sure of the public's support.

President Hill's despair over the desperate plight of the railroads, says the Boston Herald, continues to be relieved by extra dividends. They are a great balm for the oppressed.

The prohibition wave that is sweeping the country ought to call out a corresponding solicitude in every community for the improvement of its water supply.

Vice President Fairbanks is reported to be studying Esperanto, but there is no reason, as yet, to believe that he will be able to poll the solid Esperanto vote.

It has been suggested that Secretary Taft might simplify matters by holding a reception on neutral ground somewhere for European rulers only.

Southeastern New Mexico Town Grows to Fifteen Hundred Population in a Year

CARRIZO ONE OF THE NEWEST AND LATEST TOWNS

Busy Railroad Center Springs Up in Little Over Twelve Months; Big Water Supply Project Under Way.

ACTIVE BUSINESS FIRMS AND A GOOD NEWSPAPER

Willow Springs Coal Mines Six Miles From Carrizozo Among the Most Promising Properties in the Territory.

(Special Correspondence Morning Journal.) Carrizozo, N. M., Nov. 12.—Carrizozo, one of the newest towns in the territory, one year ago had two houses and a railroad station. Today it has over 400 houses, a population of between 1,200 and 1,500, a bank and a good newspaper, railroad facilities and a splendid future. Carrizozo's growth has been wonderful and it has only begun.

Carrizozo is just 144 miles from El Paso on the El Paso and Southwestern railway. The fact that the railroad has established a division terminus here has done a great deal for the town. A great deal of excellent land has been thrown open to entry by the government hereabouts. Numerous fine mining properties are being developed in the vicinity.

Carrizozo is the distributing point for Oats, Nogal, Lincoln, Captain and other Lincoln county towns, and is the railroad center of a district that is rich in possibilities. With a lot of energetic, determined business men hold of things Carrizozo's prospects are altogether flattering.

The Carrizozo bank is one of the most successful institutions of the kind in the territory. Its officers are Jefferson Reynolds, president; G. L. Ulrich, vice president; Frank J. Rager, cashier. The weekly paper, the Carrizozo Outlook, is published by the Outlook Publishing company, and edited by the well known newspaper man, N. E. Rose. The plant is a first class one, the company having just purchased a Monotype machine that is now being installed and presses driven by gasoline engines. A fine job printing establishment is in connection and the paper has done much to secure for the town the prosperity which it now enjoys. The stock of the company is held entirely by local persons.

Among the leading business firms are the following:

The Carrizozo Trading company, general merchandise, capitalized at $50,000, with a large stock of wholesale and retail goods. Rolland Bros., druggists and newsdealers. Gallagher and company, retail grocers. T. J. Meek, retail general merchandise. Charles H. Brown, groceries. M. G. Hubbard, groceries. N. H. Taylor, hardware and blacksmithing. George Sponcer, furniture and carpets, thoroughly up-to-date. J. H. Skinner, grain and hay. Wingfield and company, one of the finest billiard halls in the southwest. Kelly and son, transfer. Charles Hutton, great market. Carrizozo Market, meat, fish and oysters. Hyde and Bourne livery. Lee Oswald, livery. The Railroad Hotel. The Hotel Norman. Two barber shops and three lodging houses.

A very active firm is the Carrizozo Townsite company, doing not only a city real estate business, but also handling insurance and outside property. Ira O. Wetmore is president and A. H. Harvey manager. Mr. Wetmore, who was formerly in the stock business, is an old-timer in this section and is making as great a success of his present business as stock raising.

The W. C. McDonald Townsite company is another real estate outfit. Clark Hunt is the active and pushing agent of this firm and Mr. McDonald is the well known and wealthy manager of the Carrizozo Cattle company. He has spent a great deal of money in improvements in this section and expects to spend much more. He is one of the substantial men of the territory.

Churches and Schools. There are two churches here, a Methodist and a Congregational, and two public school buildings with four efficient teachers. The town will soon have a splendid water system, the water to be brought 55 miles from the splashing Rio Bonito, a pure mountain stream with an unlimited supply. This water is being brought from the Rio Bonito for the El Paso and Southwestern railway at a cost of approximately a million dollars, the project being one of the biggest of its kind in the southwest.

Fred Lindsay, of Chicago, is organizing the Carrizozo Light and Power company. Chicago capitalists and Carrizozo men being interested.

There is a telephone system here with 65 instruments now in use and more going in daily.

A militia company has been organized with about 50 members.

WILLOW SPRINGS COAL MINES SIX MILES AWAY

Three miles from the line of the El Paso and Southwestern and six miles from Carrizozo are located the Willow Springs coal mines. There is no question but that its owners have some of the finest coal property in the territory. The coal burns without clinkers and is almost smokeless, a fine domestic coal and also a first class cooking variety. W. A. Conner, F. H. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Melver discovered and located the mines. Most of the preliminary work on the mine has been done by the discoverers, a tunnel 100 feet into the mountain side showing a 7-foot vein, five feet of which is as good coal as can be found in New Mexico. It is greatly to the credit of these men that they went to work and demonstrated the value of their property without outside aid. There is every probability that this coal mine will become the chief source of supply of the whole southwestern country. It is close to the market, of a fine quality and apparently inexhaustible.

W. A. Melver will be remembered as the old-line democrat Lincoln county sent to the territorial legislature five years ago, who so frequently and determinedly voted "No" to a number of famous bills passed by the Plandebund.

SOFT, GLOSSY HAIR.

It Can Only Be Had Where There Is No Dandruff.

Any man or woman who wants soft, glossy hair must be free of dandruff, which causes falling hair. Since it has become known that dandruff is a germ disease, the old hair preparations that were mostly soap irritants, have been abandoned, and the public, barbers and doctors included, have taken Newbrow's Herpicide, the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. E. Dodd, Dickinson, N. D., says: "Herpicide not only cleanses the scalp from dandruff and prevents the hair falling out, but promotes a new growth. Herpicide keeps my hair very glossy." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. R. H. Briggs & Co., special agents.

The Theatre

Arizona.

"Arizona," which will appear at the Elks' theater Friday night, has made a career of unintermitted success in almost every large city of the east. It has played in New York at the Herald Square theater and the Academy of Music for over 150 consecutive nights and each and all of the critics have unhesitatingly agreed that it has achieved a distinction of being the only American drama by an American author which has ever reached this remarkable record in theatrical history.

Mr. Thomas has, more than any other writer, laid the foundation and lower courses of the American drama which will one day develop into a most imposing institution. "Arizona," as the name implies, is a play which has the scenes, characters and incidents located in the far west. The people of the play comprise the sturdy ranchman and cowboys, the break, alert women of the pioneer generation and their dainty, graceful, yet strong and self-reliant daughters. Types of the American girl over which the whole world has come to wonder and admire, officers and soldiers, fair samples of the heterogeneous community which Mr. Thomas has chosen to utilize in the way of literary material. The piece is as full of bright color contrasts as the changing combination of a kaleidoscope. It fairly pulses with the fresh, vigorous active life of the young west. It has a love story as tender and almost as tragic as that of "Romeo and Juliet" and it has a relief work of humor as ripe and unforced as that which Mr. Thomas has previously shown us in "Alabama" and "In Missouri!" When the critics have said of "Arizona" that it is better than "Alabama," they have said all that they well could say in praise of an American play, and that not one, but everyone of the leading writers of the press had said repeatedly during the unparalleled life of this play. That "Arizona" will be richly staged and excellently well acted is guaranteed by the names of the clever actors which have been chosen for the principal roles of the play. The scenes of acts 1 and 5, "Candy's ranch" near Fort Grant, in the Aravaipa valley, were painted by Walter Burdick, sketches especially made for him in Arizona. The drawing room at Fort Grant, act 2, and the dining room at Candy's ranch, were painted by John Frost, from actual rooms at the ranch and military post. The decorations, costumes and accessories were all chosen and arranged to that eminent authority on western life and customs, Frederick Remington, the artist of "The Man and the Horse."

The Wolford Stock Company.

The Wolford Stock company will be one of the guaranteed attractions at the Elks' opera house for the week commencing Monday, Nov. 18, opening in the beautiful pastoral comedy drama "Why Women Sin" and Manager Nelson is to be congratulated upon securing an attraction of this class. An exchange says: "The Wolford Stock company is the best company visiting this section this season. Witnessing their production of 'Why Women Sin' carries you back to the time of Maggie Mitchell's 'Fanchon,' Joseph Jefferson's 'Tip Van Winkle' and Denham Thompson's 'Old Homestead.' It is a dramatic treat to the masses, endorsed by the press, public and palpit at large. A beautiful blending of the pathos and comedy, which once seen is never forgotten. We are sure that it will meet with the approval and patronage of our people." Elks' opera house one week, commencing Monday, Nov. 18. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents. Seats now on sale at Matson's Book Store.

AND RANSACK
COAL OFFICE
NO COAL HAS YET BEEN REPORTED MISSING

John S. Beaven's Safe Searched
by Men Who Evidently Expected to Make Rich-Haul,
But Who Got Nothing.

Up to a late hour last night the police had found no clue to the identity of the desperate men who early yesterday morning entered the office of the John S. Beaven coal yard, on south First street, broke into the safe, ransacked the office, turned things upside down and left apparently without getting anything of value, since at last report all the coal was thought to be intact.

Entrance was effected through a window which was broken in by the thieves. A careful search, seems to have been made of every nook and corner in the office where a lump of coal could be concealed. The result, however, must have been a disappointment to the bold robbers. Several theories are advanced to account for the robbery. One is that it was simply a gang of desperate citizens in search of a lump of coal to ease themselves the first November cold snap; another is that it was merely some unfortunate citizen who, in brooding over his troubles, decided to take it out on the first coal haul in reach.
The episode is not expected to affect the price of coal.

NO MAN will ever wear a more stylish suit than our Hart Schaffner
& Marx Varsity
sack suit. There's distinction in it;
gives a man a "so-
different" look;
high-toned. You'll
miss a good thing
if you don't see and
wear these clothes.
The new fabrics are very fine; browns with rich stripes in harmonious colors; grays of various shades and kinds.
We can fit you perfectly in these goods; and they're all-wool, perfectly tailed.
We'll sell you a suit or an overcoat here at the right price. Prices of

Not Many Sales Are Uninfluenced
By Store Advertising!

The store-sales today that are uninfluenced, directly or indirectly, by store-advertising will not have amounted to ten per cent of the total business of the day. By the direct influence of advertising is meant the sale of articles specifically advertised. By the indirect influence of advertising is meant the articles sold that are not specifically advertised, but are displayed in the customers who are drawn to the store by THE ADVERTISED ARTICLES in the Albuquerque Morning Journal. In the latter case, as surely as in the first, the advertising must be credited with the sale.

Observant merchants know that this is true. They should rain courage from the knowledge to strengthen their advertising campaigns to the point of matching their store-hopes and plans.
