TRAGIC STORY TOLD IN THE BRADLEY TRIAL

TESTIMONY SHATTERS DEFENDANT'S COMPOSURE

"She Has Caused Me Trouble All My Life," Brown's Last Words, Says Witness; Testimony Well Under Way.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Washington, Nov. 14.—In the trial of Mrs. Annie M. Bradley on the charge of murdering former Senator Arthur Brown of Utah, substantial progress was made today in completing the jury, the case was opened for the government by Assistant District Attorney Turner and a number of witnesses were introduced by the prosecution. There were a dozen of these witnesses, including the manager and a number of employees of the hotel where the shooting occurred, and several members of the police force who were concerned in Mr. Bradley's arrest. Indeed, when court adjourned for the day the prosecution had almost completed the direct presentation of its case, making it evident that that portion of the proceedings would be completed early tomorrow.

Much difficulty was experienced in completing the jury, and twenty-seven men were examined before the necessary number were secured. A large majority were excused on the plea that they were opposed to the death penalty for women.

The crowd outside was not as large as that of yesterday, nor was the interest marked. The testimony covered the details of the shooting, and Mrs. Bradley was visibly affected by some portions of it. She shuddered at the sight of the pistol with which the shooting was done and at one time was moved to tears.

When the jury was sworn and Assistant District Attorney Turner detailed the facts which resulted in the death of former Senator Brown, he told Mrs. Bradley had registered at the hotel as Brown's wife, brought him out at his room and on the second visit had fired the two shots which five days afterward sent the man to his grave, and finally of the chambermaid and manager of the hotel entering the room after hearing the shots and finding the wounded man on the floor, the manager asked who shot him and Mrs. Bradley pointed to Mrs. Bradley, saying:

"That woman over there."

"Mr. Brown then asked if she was his wife, and both he and Mrs. Bradley replied in the affirmative, saying that while she was not his wife she was the father of his children."

Mr. Turner then said it would be shown that Mrs. Bradley had said that her act was not a crime, and in conclusion, "the government succeeds in proving these things, and if you believe it was a deliberate murder we think it would be your duty to return a verdict of guilty, as it is dictated."

As the recital proceeded, Mrs. Bradley closed her eyes, but did not approach a breakdown.

The first witness called was David T. Nelson, the clerk, who was on duty when Mrs. Bradley went to the hotel on December 8 last, and asked for Mr. A. Brown, saying that she was Mrs. Brown. His testimony contained little information beyond the fact that he had given Mrs. Bradley a separate room from that occupied by Mr. Brown.

Testimony Shakes Mrs. Bradley. Josephine Kidwell, a chambermaid at the hotel, told of the two visits of Mrs. Bradley to Senator Brown's room. She said Mrs. Bradley first came to the room about 9 o'clock in the morning and finding the senator out, had taken a seat and remained a few minutes. About 2:30 the same day, while Mrs. Bradley was alone, she came to the room and, after a short stay, she left.

Edward Cullitt, elevator man at the hotel, told of finding Mr. Brown lying on the floor after the shooting, and the latter's making an appeal to him to get help for him. He said Mrs. Bradley was standing by the bed.

Edward A. Parker, a bellman at the hotel, said Mrs. Bradley was standing at Brown's feet when he entered, and that Brown had appealed to him to stay with him. Later, when the hotel proprietor entered, Brown expressed fear that the floor and Mrs. Bradley would shoot again, but she replied that she had nothing to shoot with. Parker said he took the pistol from the dresser, and when the weapon was handed to him for identification, Mrs. Bradley again hid her eyes and shuddered.

Manager T. J. Talley, of the hotel, repeated his oft-told story of the killing of Mr. Brown. He said that when he entered the room Mrs. Bradley stood by the side of the prostrate form of the man. "Who did this?" he asked of Brown, and the latter replied, "That woman there," pointing to Mrs. Bradley.

"Is she your wife?" asked Mr. Talley, and Brown replied in the negative. He then directed Mrs. Bradley to leave the room, whereupon she protested, declaring that she was "the mother of Brown's two children."

"Mr. Brown did not deny this charge," the witness continued, "and I allowed her to remain."

He had then asked Mr. Brown if he had any message to any one, and the latter expressed a desire that his law partner, Mr. Gunn, be summoned. "Who shall I say did the shooting?" he had asked of Brown, and the latter replied, "Just tell him that Mrs. Bradley did it, and he'll know; all the people out there know; she has given me trouble all my life."

This being additional to the statement made by Mr. Talley at the corner's inquest, Mr. Hoover called attention to the fact, but Mr. Talley said that that matter had been mentioned by the catchings he was subjected to.

In response to a question from Mr. Hoover as to Mrs. Bradley's condition at the time, Mr. Talley said that his impression was that of extreme pity, mixed with a slight tinge of vengeance, and she seemed in a dazed condition.

He added that as Brown was taken out of the hotel to the hospital he had admonished them not to let that woman escape. At this afternoon's session, Chief Clerk Owen, of the hotel, corroborated the testimony given by previous witnesses. He said that he had accompanied Lawyer Gunn to Mr. Brown's room, and that Brown had said to Gunn:

"You know this woman; well, we've had it out, and this is the result."

Deputy Coroner Glazebrook, who performed the autopsy on the body of Senator Brown, described the wounds which had caused the man's death. Chief Porter Holtzclaw, of the hotel, who took charge of Mrs. Bradley after Brown was removed, and turned her over to a policeman, said that she had only said then that she would make no statement until she could see United States Senator Sutherland. He had understood Senator Brown to say that "Policeman Lamb related the particulars of the woman's arrest, saying that she told him she had done the shooting. She gathered up a number of letters from Mr. Brown's room before starting with the officer. After reaching the police station Mrs. Bradley repeated the statement that she had shot Mr. Brown, and appeared very anxious to learn of his condition."

An effort was made to draw out from Officer Lamb and from other members of the police force statements said to have been by Mrs. Bradley after her arrest, but the defense objected and when at 3 o'clock the court adjourned the statement had not been admitted.

GIRL KILLED WITH FATHER'S GUN

Four-year-old Son of Prescott Mining Man Meets Tragic Death While Playing With a Revolver.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.)

Prescott, Ariz., Nov. 14.—Ralph Buckley, four years old, is dead at his father's home on Mount Vernon street as the result of a shot from a 41-caliber revolver which was exploded while the child was playing with it in the wooded back yard. The father, John Buckley, when he returned to his home at the end of last week from a trip to the properties of the Hackberry Mining company, took the revolver off and laid it on a table in a box of ore in the woodshed, where it was forgotten. The child is supposed to have found the revolver while at play, and to have dropped it, since it is not believed he would have had strength to pull the trigger.

CALEB POWERS LEADS FOR JUSTICE

LETTER TO SHERIFF
ASKS IMPARTIAL JURY

Kentuckian Accused of Killing Governor Goebel Declares Panel Was Packed Against Him in Former Trial.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Moretown, Ky., Nov. 14.—When the Powers trial was resumed today the defense sprang a surprise by tendering in court an open letter addressed by Powers to Sheriff Warring, of Scott county, whose duty it is to summon a jury from Harrison county. The letter is as follows:

"The last jury in my case was packed against me and fixed for a conviction, not so much by the sheriff and his deputies of this county as by the sheriff and his deputies of Bourbon county, from which my jury was drawn. In that trial the sheriff and his deputies of Bourbon county, accompanied the sheriff and his deputies of this county, and indicated to the jury that they were not to summon a jury from Harrison county for jury service. I therefore earnestly request you, and through you, your deputies, to go unaccompanied by anybody on your tour of selecting jurors in my case. I pray you to summon a jury from Harrison county, and to summon as many as you can to summon as you come to them in some of the most enlightened sections of the country, not overruling democratic competition and qualified jurors in my case, regardless of their political affiliations, and that you do not let the politicians and office holders of Harrison county muddy the stream of justice in this county. I am, respectfully,

"CALEB POWERS."

States Attorney Franklin instantly vigorously objected to the letter. The court refused to permit it to be read into the record, but allowed it to be tendered to the sheriff. The commonwealth asked for further time before proceeding, which was granted. The counter attack of the prosecution in the case of Caleb Powers, for which a recess was taken, was not filed this afternoon, as expected, owing to it not having been finished at 4 o'clock, and no recess session of court was held. The avowal now in preparation will be made up principally of a large number of affidavits given by members of both the senate and house of the session of 1906, contradicting the sworn statement given by republican members of the same body as filed by the defense. The affidavit will state that the proceedings of the body were in every way regular and that the gubernatorial contest was legally and finally settled on the second day of February, 1906, and that William Goebel was legally sworn in as governor of Kentucky. After this avowal is filed, the selection of the jury will be begun.

BIG UTAH SMELTER SHUT DOWN

Farmers Win Suit Against Smoke Nuisance; Cripples Mining Industry of State.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 14.—The smelter of the Bingham Mining and Refining and Mining company at Bingham Junction, which employs one thousand men and treats from 1,000 to 1,200 tons of ore daily, was shut down today. This announcement was made today by Managing Director A. F. Holden. The affirmation by the United States court of Salt Lake City that the smelter is the reason given by Mr. Holden for the action. The smelter has used about half its furnaces for the treatment of copper ores and the remainder in smelting the product of the company's mines in Tintic and Bingham. Patrons have been notified that no more custom will be accepted, and that the smelter will be closed for the time being. As the smelter is the reason given by the United States court for the closing of the United States smelter will have a serious effect on the mining business of the neighborhood.

CALEB POWERS LEADS FOR JUSTICE

LETTER TO SHERIFF

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Cincinnati, Nov. 14.—Deploying the unwillingness of the president to put the motto, "In God We Trust," on the United States coins, the Presbyterian Brotherhood of America today unanimously adopted resolutions urging congress to restore the motto to all coins. There was no debate on the resolution.

During a discussion at the afternoon session, R. W. D. Bryan, of Albuquerque, N. M., gained the platform, and said:

"I object to the gag rule of two-minute speeches, which has been in effect here. I did not come here to listen to sermons from doctors of divinity, but to find out, if I can, how a man may be a Christian and at the same time earn a living."

"I don't see how a man can consistently be a Christian and earn his living working for a great corporation, which practically forces him to steal and lie."

The debate was here cut down by the operation of the two-minute rule and Mr. Bryan's question was not answered.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR FRENCH GOING OFF

MORGAN'S MISSION TO PARIS A FAILURE

Final Demand That United States Government Furnish a Guarantee Could Not Be Complied With.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Paris, Nov. 14.—The negotiations which J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. have been conducting with the Bank of France to obtain twenty and fifty millions in gold for the United States government, have definitely broken off today. They had been in progress since last week and for a time seemed on the point of being successful, but the French government refused to furnish the guarantee which the United States government demanded.

The story of the negotiations is substantially as follows: The Bank of England, which obtained gold from the Bank of France ten days ago to meet the New York demand, offered to try and repeat the operation, but it having been learned indirectly that the Bank of France was, as a friendly act to the United States, disposed to look with favor on a proposition to furnish direct aid, negotiations to this effect were begun. The first condition was that the United States government should formally request such aid. This condition was complied with. The United States government showed the French government to understand, through diplomatic channels, that it would be "gratified if the operation could be arranged." The French government then agreed to the proposition, and the negotiations were brought to an end at noon today. The sum which was sought to be obtained was between $20,000,000 and $40,000,000.

J. P. Morgan, Jr., who managed the negotiations, left Paris for London immediately after they were definitely broken off. He was not inclined to talk on the subject, but before leaving this city said to the correspondent of the Associated Press:

"The highest financial circles in Paris were very favorable, and there is general disappointment here that the Bank of France did not see its way clear to make the transaction." The effort to secure gold direct from Paris for New York having failed, it is believed in competent circles that resort will be had to another triangular effort through England if the American demand for gold continues. The proposed transaction involves the ultimate return of the gold to the Bank of France in the same manner in which the three millions in time sterling bills purchased a fortnight ago by the Bank of France.

WYOMING MAN SUCCEEDS LATE JUSTICE M'COMAS

Van Orsdel, assistant attorney general in the department of justice in charge of work before the court of claims. Mr. Van Orsdel was appointed in his present position from Wyoming February 1, 1904.

ANTI BOYCOTT SUIT ARGUED IN COURT

R. W. D. BRYAN'S QUESTION
PUZZLES PRESBYTERIANS

Rises in Cincinnati Convention to Inquire if a Man May Remain a Christian and Work for a Corporation.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Washington, Nov. 14.—The suit of the Buck Stove and Range company, of St. Louis, brought to enjoin the American Federation of Labor from boycotting the company's products was given a hearing before Justice Gould today in the supreme court of the District of Columbia. The case has attracted widespread attention because of the effect on organized labor and possible far-reaching developments of a political nature.

The hearing today was on the question of a rule to show cause why an injunction should not be issued restraining the publication of the unfair list, which is printed monthly by the American Federation of Labor, the organ of the federation. It is reported that an agreement will be announced between the counsel to make the present proceeding a final hearing of the case instead of merely on the rule to show cause, the agreement permitting, of course, an appeal to the higher courts.

The argument of one of the attorneys for the plaintiff occupied most of the session. He recited the position of the plaintiff company as outlined in the briefs, contending that the publication was a boycott in restraint of trade, a violation of the law which had done great damage to the plaintiff's trade. He took up in succession the answers of the defense to the various allegations in the case and presented affidavits intended to sustain the charges in the suit. Attorney Jackson Halston, of this city, who was the first to speak for the federation, presented an amended answer to the rule, which as amended embodied affidavits by President George W. Meyer, of the Federation, Valentine, William Brenne, Martin Brendle, Martin Schreier, Arthur Moran and George Hechtold, in refutation of certain of the allegations in the suit. The affidavits deny that any steps taken at the federation convention in Minneapolis last November were for the purpose of carrying out any conspiracy to boycott the plaintiff company, and that the plaintiff company was a member of the International Brotherhood of Foundry Workers and the Federation learned that the position of President H. W. Van Cleave, of the plaintiff company, was such that further appeal to him was useless and the federation, after satisfying itself of the truth of the charges, decided to publish the unfair list. Mr. Morgan in his affidavit explained that the expression "unfair" was well understood to mean inequitable and unjust in treatment of labor and does not intend to impute any unfairness in general to the plaintiff company. Mr. Halston discussed some of the points contending for the right of the federation to publish "unfair" lists. He will resume his argument tomorrow.

ROCK ISLAND WILL CUT FARE

Declaring No Money Can Be Made at Two Cents, Officials Resolve Not to Resist Oklahoma Law.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 14.—The Rock Island will accept the two-cent fare provided in the Oklahoma constitution which goes into effect November 16. This statement was made frankly and without hesitation by R. F. Winchell, president of the Rock Island system, in conference with Guthrie city officials today.

"The low fare will be in effect at the latest by Monday," said R. Winchell. "Orders to that effect have not been issued before this because no one knew when the constitution would be signed. We will make no fight on the theory that the application should not be made until the road has a chance to go before the Oklahoma corporation commission and present its claims. The road most assuredly cannot make expense in Oklahoma under the two-cent maximum. In any new country it is practically impossible to break even. That is the point we will endeavor to bring to the attention of the commission. We do not feel that the low fare is just."

He said no effort would be made to evade the provisions of the constitution, so far as the application to them. "No new improvements are now contemplated in Oklahoma," continued R. Winchell. "Those under way, however, in various parts of the state will be finished."

"I notice a considerable falling off in the passenger receipts, incident to the money stringency. I am of the opinion that conditions are gradually easing in the east. There was at first a noticeable falling off in grain shipments, but those have gained in the last week."

"I think prospects are bright in the new state, but we cannot make any money if the maximum on the passenger fare is to be kept at two cents. We will use every means to show how the rate is unjust, but in the meantime we do not propose to fight the constitution."

UNION PACIFIC PROTESTS

AGAINST NEW KANSAS TAHOE. Topeka, Kan., Nov. 14.—The Union Pacific today filed its answer to the new distance tariff proposed by the state railroad commission, alleging that the proposed rates are unjust, and would interfere with interstate commerce business through the state. The charge is made that the new rates are confiscatory and would deprive the railroad company of its property without process of law. It denies that the present rates are reasonable. The Union Pacific so far is the only road to answer.

SANTA FE WILL COMPLY WITH OKLAHOMA LAW

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 14.—In answer to Henry E. Asp, former chief counsel of the Santa Fe system, in Oklahoma and Indian Territory, received tonight, E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe system, said:

"The Santa Fe will accept the provisions of the Oklahoma constitution and establish a two-cent passenger fare. It will go into effect Monday."

LABOR FEDERATION RESOLUTIONS

Government Urged to Prepare for Industrial Crisis by Loan-ing Money for Needed Public Works to States and Cities.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 14.—Addressed by D. J. Shackleton and J. Hodge, of London, England, both labor members of parliament, W. R. Trotter, of Winnipeg, Canada, fraternal delegate, and T. V. Pawlter, representing the department of commerce and labor, and the introduction and reference of a large number of other resolutions, the American Federation of Labor, during the day's session of the American Federation of Labor.

A notable feature was the address of Mr. Pawlter, who declared he hoped the day would come in his own time when the president and his cabinet officers would not consider it beneath their dignity to visit and address the American Federation of Labor.

Resolutions were introduced calling upon congress in the event of an "industrial crisis," following the financial panic, to issue bonds and money to ameliorate and mitigate the crisis by issuing money without interest to states, counties and cities for the purpose of building highways, schools, bridges and public utilities, providing, however, that such work be done at union wages, under the eight-hour day. The money proposed to be returned in case of a panic, to be used for the purpose of building highways, schools, bridges and public utilities, providing, however, that such work be done at union wages, under the eight-hour day.

Calling on all members of organized labor to absolutely hold aloof from all industrial organizations, the United States provides a military system such as that of Switzerland; providing for a woman organizer of the woman wage workers of the United States; enjoining the Springfield bill in congress for the relief of seamen in foreign vessels; urging congress to act favorably on any legislation bearing on the increase of pay of federal employees; and a general assessment of one cent a month for the aid of the labor union in Los Angeles; calling for a minimum of $9 a week for all female retail clerks, and giving the members the support of the federation; calling for the building and repairing of all government vessels at navy yards, and a committee to have this in view, with a salary of $24 a week each, and necessary expenses, hotel expenses not to exceed $1.50 per day.

GOVERNOR GILTT CALLS ON LEGISLATURE

Extra Session to Deal With Problems Growing Out of Financial Situation.

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 14.—Governor Gillett decided tonight to call an extra session of the state legislature to convene next Tuesday, November 19, to meet exigencies of the present financial stringency. The measure is considered to be one permitting the courts to continue during "special holidays."

LOOKS FOR LITTLE FROM CONGRESS

Senator Bailey Declares Law-makers Don't Understand Money Question; Less They Do the Better.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

St. Paul, Nov. 14.—United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey, in a speech here today before a group of people, declared that unless the coming congress is wiser than most of those in which he had sat, the less it did about the money question the better it would be for the country. He declared that congress did not understand the question, and that it is doubtful if it ever will. Senator Bailey said:

"I have been asked what is congress going to do about the money question. Unless the coming congress is wiser than most of those since I have been there, the less it does the better off the country will be. Congress has never understood the money question and it is doubtful if it ever will."

DRYAN WILLING TO MAKE RACE ONCE MORE

NEBRASKAN ANNOUNCES PASSIVE CANDIDACY Will Not Be Disappointed if Another is Chosen; Leaves His Cause to the Rank and File of the Party.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 14.—William J. Bryan, will accept the democratic nomination for president in 1908, but he will neither ask for nor make a fight for it. He says that for a year or more he has been pressed to answer the question, "will you accept the nomination?" and he believes the public is entitled to an answer and to know the position he occupies.

The question that ought to weigh most, he says, is whether his nomination will strengthen the democratic party rather than the nomination of someone else. Not only will he not seek or ask for the nomination, but he will not assume to decide the question of availability and if the prize falls to another he will neither be disappointed nor disgraced. At the same time he denies that he has waited this long in a desire to see whom the republicans are likely to nominate or to ascertain the chances of victory.

Now that the election of 1907 is past and plans are being made for next year's campaign, Mr. Bryan feels that a statement is due to the public. Those who prefer another candidate are entitled to know his position, and those who favor his nomination have a right to demand an answer to the question so often put. "Will you accept a nomination?" His refusal to answer the question has led to the circulation of many false reports and unfriendly newspapers have taken advantage of his silence to misrepresent his attitude.

Mr. Bryan will not ask for or seek a nomination and he will not assume to decide the question of his availability. He has been amply recompensed by his party, so amply recompensed by his party for what he has done and for what he has endeavored to do that he cannot claim a nomination as a reward; neither should his ambition be considered, for he has had honors enough from his party to satisfy any reasonable ambition. The only question that ought to weigh with the party is whether the party can be strengthened and added more by his nomination than by the nomination of someone else. If he can serve the party by being its candidate he will accept the nomination and make the best of it he can.

If, however, the choice falls on another he still will not be disappointed. His availability is a question to be decided not by him, but by a few leaders, not even by the leading newspapers that call themselves democratic, but by the leaders of the party and to preserve the trust of the decision of the question: they are the supreme court in all matters concerning candidates, as they are in all matters concerning the platform.

He assumes that they will not select him unless they desire to make an aggressive fight for the application of democratic principles to present conditions, and he also takes it for granted that the organization of the party will be in harmony with the platform and will be composed of men whose political records will invite confidence and give assurance that a victory, if won, will not be a barren victory.

The republicans must nominate either a reformer, another party, or one whose position on public questions is unknown and the course of the democratic party should be the same, no matter which element controls the public convention. The democratic party must make its fight for what it believes. While it may take advantage of republican mistakes it must depend on its merits for success.

The action of the republican convention must have its influence in the determination of the relative availability of democratic candidates, but it ought not to have any influence in determining the question whether the one chosen by the democrats should accept the nomination. If the rank and file of the democratic party desire Mr. Bryan to make the race, he will make it, no matter who may be the republican nominee.

No one can estimate the chances of the party in the next campaign with sufficient accuracy to make his candidacy dependent on the outlook. While democrats have reason to be encouraged by the fact that democratic principles have grown in popularity and that democratic policies are now praised by many who denounced them a few years ago and while further encouragement is to be derived from the fact that the democratic party is more united than it has been for many years and the republican party more divided, and the victory of the democratic party cannot be made dependent on the prospect of success. The prospects now seem excellent, but a democratic convention will be held, a platform adopted and candidates nominated, whether their prospects are bright or gloomy and the party must make the best fight it can, whether it enters the campaign with fear or with confidence. Democrats believe that democratic principles are supreme and that democratic policies are necessary; they should, therefore, endorse those principles and present those policies and then select as their candidates those who, in their judgment, will give the party the greatest assurance of benefit in case of victory.

If the members of the party believe that Mr. Bryan's nomination will help the party, its principles and its policies, he will accept the nomination whether the indications point to defeat or victory. Defeat can bring no disgrace where the cause is a just one, but cowardice would be disgraceful, especially in one who is as deeply indebted to his party as Mr. Bryan is.

The next campaign will be fought to the public conscience. The investigations have shown not only the corrupt use of large campaign funds, but the only source from which they can be drawn, namely, the corporations that seek to convert the government into a business asset. The democratic party stands for the doctrine of equal rights to all and special privileges to none, and therefore, cannot promise favor-seeking corporations. If it made such promises to the corporations it would be guilty of duplicity, for it would have to betray the voters as the republican party has done, in order to reward these corporations as the republican party has rewarded them. The democratic campaign must be carried on by volunteers who will work because they desire the triumph of democratic ideas. We cannot hope to appeal to the selfish or to buy the support of anyone, even if such a course would contribute toward democratic success. None should favor Mr. Bryan's nomination unless the party is willing to sever its connection with the corporations and the money is expended for the republicans ought to be challenged to conduct its campaign in this way, and honest way, and if the republican leaders refuse to accept the challenge the democrats can well afford to leave the issue with the people.

An appeal to conscience is politically expedient as well as morally right for the conscience is the most potent force. The national conscience has already been aroused, and a large number of the voters have been educated to the necessity of real reform, a reform that will make this government again a government of the people, by the people and for the people. It only remains for the democratic party to convince the voters that it can be entrusted with the work of reform and nothing will do more to convince the public than a refusal to negotiate with predatory wealth and an honest appeal by honest methods to the honest sentiment of the country.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Denver, Nov. 14.—Attorney General William H. Dickson began an action under the common law in the Denver district court today with a view to breaking up the so-called grocers' trust operating in Colorado. The trust, which is known as the Colorado Grocers' Association, has branches in sixty-three cities and towns in the state. The Denver Retail Grocers' Association, and about twenty others are named as defendants and injunctions are sought to restrain them from arbitrarily fixing prices and from refusing to sell supplies to retail grocers unless they charge the prices fixed by the alleged trust. The complaint alleges that the prices of food stuffs have been maintained 20 per cent higher than they would have been if there had been no trust.

Acting upon the advice of their attorneys James C. Craig, secretary of the Rocky Mountain Coal Men's Association, and Alfred Richard, secretary of the Denver Coal Association, refused today to appear before a notary in the attorney general's office for examination regarding the operation of the coal trust against which suit has been brought in the district court.

Gayton, Cal., Nov. 14.—The steam schooner Berkeley, in ballast from San Pedro for San Francisco, was destroyed by fire this morning about 10 miles off this port. Officers and crew of nineteen were all saved, but the vessel will be a total loss.

Captain Higgins and the crew escaped from the burning vessel by the narrowest margin and landed safely on the beach at Gayton landing. The crew had but five minutes in which to save their lives and succeeded in lowering but a single boat over the side. The crew piled into this small boat, most of them half-dressed and nearly all hatless and shoeless. The fire was caused by the communication of the flames from the engine to the fuel tanks.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Butte, Mont., Nov. 14.—The state closed its case in the trial of Steve Adams, Miss Marie Storer and E. J. Fyle were on the stand today.

Miss Storer testified to having seen Stupinski and Adams at Frank Price's cabin at the Meadows on the 24th of August. Fyle testified that about the time the murder is supposed to have occurred, his boat was missing when he went to get it and he found it across the river. Another boat, belonging to a neighbor was also missing. They went down the river looking for it, but it was never found. Previous to this, the same morning, he saw three men go by his place. This testimony is in confirmation of part of Adams' alleged confession.

The cross-examination of James McFarland, the Pinkerton detective, was concluded by Mr. Darrow. The prosecution then rested.

Charles Darrow, leading counsel for Adams, asked that the jury be retired and then moved to exclude the confession of Steve Adams from the records on the ground that it had been obtained through threats and promises. He was overruled. Then he moved the court to advise the jury in his instructions to return a verdict for the defendant. This was also denied.

Attorneys for the defense served notice that they would ask the judge to alter instructions given in the former case at Wallace and he said he would hear their arguments on such a proposition some evening after court was over.

In his opening statement Mr. Darrow outlined the life of Adams, how he had been a farmer and then a teamster; how his sympathy with the union led him further in the same way, and that after he removed to Cripple Creek, Colo., he joined the Western Federation of Miners. He spoke of the labor troubles at Independence in 1902 and 1904, but did not mention the blowing up of the Independence depot until after he had said that because of some part of the defendant took in the labor troubles he was imprisoned for ninety-three days without a charge being entered against him, and that he was released afterward without having been tried.

Mr. Darrow then went into the Steunberger murder and into Adams' alleged connection with it, saying Adams was arrested on his claim in Oregon, where he was trying to force the miners to join the Western Federation of Miners or any labor troubles in the Colorado mining district. He said:

"Adams was brought into the Idaho penitentiary, where Harry Orchard was set to work on him to get him to confess. That's Idaho. He told Steve that his sins had been forgiven and later Detective McFarland was given charge of Steve."

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Denver, Nov. 14.—Kemp E. Bigelow, the youth who went informal machines through the mails to Governor Huettel, David H. Moffat, the millionaire banker and railroad builder; Lawrence C. Phillips and other wealthy men, and also planned a quantity of dynamite at the rear of the residence of Edward Chase, was found guilty by a jury tonight of simple assault. The extreme punishment for the crime, which Bigelow was found guilty of six months in the county jail. The charge on which Bigelow was tried was attempted murder. Bigelow claimed that he did not intend to harm anyone but hoped to make himself a hero by warning those to whom he had sent the machines that he had overthrown a plot and that they should receive a money reward. Bigelow's home is at Bryan, Ohio, and his father is a school teacher in that neighborhood.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Denver, Nov. 14.—Attorney General William H. Dickson began an action under the common law in the Denver district court today with a view to breaking up the so-called grocers' trust operating in Colorado. The trust, which is known as the Colorado Grocers' Association, has branches in sixty-three cities and towns in the state. The Denver Retail Grocers' Association, and about twenty others are named as defendants and injunctions are sought to restrain them from arbitrarily fixing prices and from refusing to sell supplies to retail grocers unless they charge the prices fixed by the alleged trust. The complaint alleges that the prices of food stuffs have been maintained 20 per cent higher than they would have been if there had been no trust.

Acting upon the advice of their attorneys James C. Craig, secretary of the Rocky Mountain Coal Men's Association, and Alfred Richard, secretary of the Denver Coal Association, refused today to appear before a notary in the attorney general's office for examination regarding the operation of the coal trust against which suit has been brought in the district court.

Bad Symptoms.

The woman who has periodical headaches, backache, nervousness, dark spots or specks floating before her eyes, has a gnawing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, either with or without catarrh, is suffering from weakness and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not run fatal.

No medicine extant has such a long and honorable record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong professional endorsement in regard to its safety and effectiveness as this.

No medicine is so well known to the medical profession as the cure of woman's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, or habit-forming ingredients enter into it. Its ingredients are printed on each bottle wrapper and attested under oath. In any condition of the female system, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of this "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles, will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Women suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Doctor Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly guarded. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps for postage. Address as above.

The cross-examination of James McFarland, the Pinkerton detective, was concluded by Mr. Darrow. The prosecution then rested.

Charles Darrow, leading counsel for Adams, asked that the jury be retired and then moved to exclude the confession of Steve Adams from the records on the ground that it had been obtained through threats and promises. He was overruled. Then he moved the court to advise the jury in his instructions to return a verdict for the defendant. This was also denied.

Attorneys for the defense served notice that they would ask the judge to alter instructions given in the former case at Wallace and he said he would hear their arguments on such a proposition some evening after court was over.

In his opening statement Mr. Darrow outlined the life of Adams, how he had been a farmer and then a teamster; how his sympathy with the union led him further in the same way, and that after he removed to Cripple Creek, Colo., he joined the Western Federation of Miners. He spoke of the labor troubles at Independence in 1902 and 1904, but did not mention the blowing up of the Independence depot until after he had said that because of some part of the defendant took in the labor troubles he was imprisoned for ninety-three days without a charge being entered against him, and that he was released afterward without having been tried.

Mr. Darrow then went into the Steunberger murder and into Adams' alleged connection with it, saying Adams was arrested on his claim in Oregon, where he was trying to force the miners to join the Western Federation of Miners or any labor troubles in the Colorado mining district. He said:

"Adams was brought into the Idaho penitentiary, where Harry Orchard was set to work on him to get him to confess. That's Idaho. He told Steve that his sins had been forgiven and later Detective McFarland was given charge of Steve."

FATHER SHERMAN TO ARRIVE TONIGHT

Much Interest Expressed in the Series of Lectures by Noted Priest Next Week in Immaculate Conception Church.

Rev. Father T. C. Sherman, S. J., who is to deliver a series of lectures on ethical subjects in the church of the Immaculate Conception next week will arrive in Albuquerque tonight. There is much interest in the course of lectures to be given during the week which will make up Father Sherman's famous series on "The Philosophy of Religion." Admission will be by invitation cards, each card including the members of a family and their friends and it is very probable that the church will not be large enough to accommodate the attendance. Cards may be secured by applying to Father Mandelari, Father Tom, as he is known to his friends, is an orator as well as a sound thinker, and his lectures always attract close attention from thoughtful men. Owing to his own experience, Father Sherman always appeals to soldiers and veterans and on the night of his opening lecture the members of G. K. Warren Post, No. 1, Warren Relief Corps will attend in a body.

HADLEY TO SPEAK TODAY IN OLD ALBUQUERQUE

Former Territorial Superintendent Should Be Greeted by Large Audience at 2 o'clock This Afternoon.

Former territorial superintendent of public instruction, Hiram Hadley, the veteran educator of New Mexico, arrived in the city last night on Nov. 1 on his way home to Los Cruces from a trip to Boston and other eastern cities. Mr. Hadley will address an educational meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Old Town hall at the end of the car line, under the auspices of Superintendent A. B. Stroup, of the county schools. The schools will be closed for the occasion and all pupils, parents and teachers in fact every one interested in education in Bernalillo county and New Mexico, should make it a point to attend. The meeting is presently a "patrons' meeting" and the parents are especially desired. Mr. Hadley probably is better informed on educational conditions in the territory than any other one man and has done more to promote the schools the splendid institutions they are today than any other man. His address will be practical and of vital interest. He should be greeted by a good audience.

ARIZONA GOES ON AT THE ELKS' THEATER TONIGHT

"Arizona" is the attraction at the Elks' theater tonight. Every one who has seen the play is in the management of the popular show promises that the performance will be fully up to the excellent standard already set for the season. The show has been a great success and will probably be filled when it comes here.

have left tonight for Mesilla park for a game tomorrow with the Agricultural college, and a considerable delegation of students had planned to accompany the players. Several grips had been packed and in the vicinity of the hill there is weeping and wailing and smothered imprecations in certain quarters against a faculty that considers more education of sufficient importance to let it affect a good football game. But the stubborn fact is there. The game with the Agricultural college has been called off, as have all other games, until some bad marks in class work are straightened out.

There is something distinctly cheering in the fact that there is at least one university in the United States where education is considered of more importance than athletics, and that that institution is the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque. This pleasing fact was made plain yesterday when President T. H. Clark called off all football games for this season until such time as several of the stars on the team shall have found it possible or expedient to get up to the mark with their class work. The announcement came with some suddenness to the budding athletes of the university. The football team was to

CONVENTION OF THE BAPTISTS STILL IN SESSION

INTERESTING PROGRAM FOR GATHERING TODAY

Large Number of Prominent Divines and Laymen Present From All Over the Territory.

The meetings of the New Mexico Baptist convention which commenced at the First Baptist church in this city yesterday are proving intensely interesting and helpful and the territorial gathering is probably the best attendance that has ever been held. The meetings of the convention proper began last night with a devotional meeting, led by the Rev. W. A. Nicholas, the convention then being called to order and the report of the committee on enrollment submitted. The introductory services were presided by the Rev. B. C. Miller. The program for the rest of the sessions follows:

Friday Morning.
Devotional services, led by Rev. S. B. Callaway.
Report of committee on enrollment and appointment of committee on nominations.
Introduction of visiting brethren.
Report on officers and committee on nominations and elections of officers.

HOW CAN YOU DO IT?

Here are some figures from the best sources possible that ought to set you to thinking if you have kidney disease.

Dr. Loomis of Bellevue Hospital, states from clinical observation and a large number of autopsies at Bellevue, that nine-tenths of men and women over 40 have Bright's Disease in some form.—See Denver Medical Times, December, 1902, p. 3.

And the census shows that over nine-tenths of all the deaths from kidney disease the last census year were really due to Bright's Disease, viz., 54,000 out of 59,000.—See U. S. Census for 1900.

Although Dr. Loomis is an authority and it is presumptuous, yet we cannot believe with him that nine-tenths of all people over 40 have Bright's Disease. We think he would have been nearer the facts if he had said that nine-tenths of all people having kidney trouble have Bright's Disease, for the census figures cannot be denied and show conclusively that nine-tenths of all the deaths from kidney troubles had Bright's Disease.

How on earth, then, can people with kidney trouble afford to take anything but Fulton's Remedy Compound, the only known specific for Bright's Disease?

It is superseding kidney medicine. We are a little 2, H. P. Kelly Co., druggists, Albuquerque, N. M.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

and ice company in the northern part of the city will be more than doubled when the new refrigerating plant now in process of installation is in position. It will probably be a month or six weeks before the new outfit is ready to run. A force of men are now at work getting the new engine in position. It is a huge affair, a 175-horse power machine, with a seven-ton flywheel, fourteen feet in diameter. The engine and compressor attached thereto is manufactured by the Vilter Manufacturing company, of Milwaukee, Wis., and is the best made. It is a ponderous affair, with its heavy metal bases and concrete foundation, and has taken a great deal of hard work to get in position. The present plant has a 50-ton refrigerating machine, with a daily capacity of 25 tons of ice, and with the new apparatus the capacity daily will be from 60 to 75 tons. When the improvement is completed Albuquerque can boast of the largest and best equipped ice manufacturing plant in the southwest.

THE ONE THING NECESSARY.

The discussion now going on all over the country in regard to financial matters shows very clearly that a large part of the time of the coming session of congress is likely to be consumed in the consideration of a multitude of schemes for the enlargement of the volume or improvement of the character of the currency of the country—and all that time we believe will be wasted. Congress will be treating the patient for the wrong disease. Such work will be merely an attempt to prevent the result without removing the cause, and in the nature of things such efforts must inevitably end in failure.

A greater volume of currency would, of course, help to tide us over such an emergency as the present, but it would only be a comparatively short time till we would have to provide another greater volume to meet another like emergency, and so on indefinitely, in an attempt to find the end of an endless chain.

What the country needs is not a greater volume of money, but a greater volume of confidence in the reservoirs that hold the money. The people have absolute confidence in the bills issued by the national banks, because the government of the United States is behind them. Now amend the law in such manner as to give the people equal confidence that their deposits in the national banks are equally secure, and then there will be no necessity for any further tinkering with the currency. The elasticity, which is talked so much about, is not needed in the currency, but it is needed, and greatly needed, in the depositaries. The financial doctors are putting the plaster on the sound leg.

The aggregate issues of the national banks, together with the coin in circulation, make a volume of currency amply sufficient to do the business of the country, so long as it can be kept in circulation; the deficiency only occurs when the people get frightened and take it out of circulation. As a matter of fact, only a very infinitesimal fraction of the country's business is transacted with actual currency; nearly everything is done with checks, and the value of the check is entirely a matter of confidence; if you have confidence in the bank you deposit the check to your credit, and not a dollar of currency passes in the transaction, but if you have doubts you call for the currency on the check, and put that somewhere else, thus assisting by that much in driving the bank to the wall—not because you need the currency, but because you are short on confidence, and no matter how much elasticity the currency may have, the failure of the bank is only a question of how many of its customers may be short on the same line.

Our so-called national banks are only national in part. They are vastly better than the old "wild-cat" banks which succeeded, but they are only half as good as they ought to be. How to rectify this half evil and make our banks entirely good, is the question that should now occupy the attention of our financial doctors, in the exclusion of all quack remedies. And this best and easiest way to find out how this can be done is to take a few lessons from Great Britain. The Bank of England has been the heart of the financial system of that country for some centuries, and during all the time of its existence there has not been a financial crisis there, and yet we experience such troubles under our system as regularly as the changes of the seasons, though not quite as often. Then why not profit by the experience of our neighbors across the water, and adopt the same system? We don't need to be quarantined about the matter, because England had it first. We took the language of the mother country and seem to be getting along with it very well. Why couldn't we take her banking system and Americanize it, just the same?

THE TRANSIT OF MERCURY.

The transit of Mercury across the sun's disk, which took place yesterday, was a matter of considerable importance astronomically, though it is not likely that many of the dwellers upon Earth experienced any great degree of inconvenience because of the fraction of the sun's rays that might have been intercepted by the "bitting in" of our little neighbor. Transits of Mercury are possible in the early part of May and November, but they take place only about thirteen times in a century, the intervals varying from three and a half to thirteen years. The maximum duration of a transit in November is five hours and twenty-four minutes. While it is passing over the sun's disk a good opportunity is afforded astronomers for making physical observations of the glittering planet and determining more accurately its place in the heavens with a view to defining its exact orbit.

BAD FOR THE TAFT BOOM.

From various parts of the country come hints, insinuations and sometimes even positive assertions that things look equally bad for Roosevelt. Some say this looks bad for Roosevelt, and others assert that it is Roosevelt's "doings," because, they say, if Taft fails the third term will then carry the convention off its feet. Upon such points we venture no opinion, though it would seem to be very unfair to Mr. Roosevelt to assume that he would put forward Mr. Taft with the deliberate intention of using him for such a selfish purpose. That the boom for the war secretary is losing ground, however, appears to be a fact, and the general impression seems to be that this is mainly on account of mismanagement. Take for illustration the following article on the subject which we clip from the Washington Star, a republican journal, not unfriendly to Mr. Taft, and published right at the Taft headquarters. It says:

"The Star's special dispatch from Ohio yesterday covered some very interesting ground. Mr. Vorys, the reputed manager of the Taft boom, figured in it, and we were told that after a little while he will be able to devote his whole time to President-making. He is at present the superintendent of insurance in Ohio, and his official duties necessarily call for some of his attention. Governor Harris, it is said, will not reappoint Mr. Vorys; and thus released from the cares of office, the latter will be free-handed in Judge Taft's behalf.

"As some people see the matter, it would be better for the Taft boom if Mr. Vorys could be separated from it rather than from the office he holds. His skill in politics is doubted. He is charged with many of the blunders that have been made, whereby the Taft boom has come to look a little unpromising here and there. Now and then you will hear him described as a 'shoemaker'—which, in the political vernacular, is not complimentary to a man in office, or to a campaign manager.

"It may be, however, that Mr. Vorys is made to bear some sins that should be charged to others. Several cooks have been stirring the Taft broth, and in the culinary world that is dangerous to the contents of the kettle. Until, therefore, details are full and authentic—they may never be—it is only fair to ask a suspension of judgment in Mr. Vorys' case. He may not be as much of a 'shoemaker' as, saddled with the whole matter, he appears to be.

"But for some cause, through somebody's fault, the Taft boom is not what the judge's best friends could wish. It is not growing. And in some things a boom is like a baby—when its growth is arrested, parents, nurse and doctor, all hands become anxious. If an undiplomatic visitor observes that the baby looks 'puny' the household is upset, and revivifying 'yarks' are instantly and earnestly sought.

"The Taft boom needs a new treatment. Judge Taft himself was never in better form than now. He has acquitted himself well of his latest mission to the far east, and that was an important mission. He is returning home by the way of Europe, and we may expect him to appear to advantage wherever he stops en route. But the boom just at present undoubtedly looks 'puny,' and the dose administered at Cleveland Tuesday shook its frame 'powerful.' Still Mr. Vorys may not be wholly to blame."

Says William E. Curtis in a letter to the Record-Herald, the sulphur business of the United States is almost entirely in the hands of a single company in Louisiana, where there is a mysterious deposit of almost unlimited quantity about a thousand feet below the surface. Until that deposit was discovered in 1906, ninety-five per cent of the supply of this country came from Sicily. The American people consume a large quantity. The total in 1903 was $38,184 tons. In 1904 it was $49,234 tons, and in 1905 it was $53,858 tons. There is no place on earth where so much brimstone is consumed as in this country. We are unable to compare our consumption with another place that is not on earth, because Apollon does not publish statistics. We consume nearly one-fourth of the entire product of the world.

The question, "What is whiskey?" which has been raised by the "Pure Food" law, will be carried up to the supreme court by Attorney General Bonaparte and the Liquor Dealers' association.

Cured of Bright's Disease
Mr. Robert O. Barker, El Paso, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and I was all bloated up with drops, and my stomach was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50-cent bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the drops had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." J. H. O'Reilly Co.

From its location upon the great trunk line leading north, south, east and west, to all points in the United States and Mexico its future growth as a commercial point can not be estimated. All fast limited, mail, express and freight trains will pass through Belen to Chicago, Kansas City, Galveston and the Pacific Coast. The water is good and the climate unsurpassed.
