WILD ROT IN PANAMA BONDS RUSSIAN DOUMA PRIMER READY SELLERS

HOWLING MOB DRIVES
SPEAKER FROM TRIBUNE

Eulogy of Victims of Drumhead Court Martial Brings Storm of Protests From Fighting Reclimaries.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
St. Petersburg, Nov. 30.—Premier Stolypin and cabinet members, with the exception of the minister of the interior, today and part of the evening, were in the hall of the duma today and part of the evening, when the howling mob had no hesitation of allowing the session to proceed.

M. Rodicheff, in a stirring speech, in which he was constantly interrupted by applause or jeers, was eulogizing the hundreds of victims of drumhead courts martial, and when he referred to the officials of the government as hangmen, a hundred revolutionaries, led by Vladimir Purishkevich, monarchists and two priests, stormed the tribune.

President Khromchikov, after vainly trying to get order, abandoned the chair and declared the sitting closed.

The constitutional democrats and social democrats claimed to be the owners of the duma, who were being roughly handled. They formed a phalanx around him and bore him still shouting defiance, to one corner of the hall. The tumult continued for fully half an hour, until the party leaders succeeded in withdrawing their followers to the committee rooms for consultation.

The Stolypin Necktie.
St. Petersburg, Nov. 30.—"The Stolypin necktie," an expression used by Feder I. Rodicheff, the speaker of the constitutional democrats in the duma this afternoon to designate the summary regime of the drum head court martial instigated by the minister Stolypin in August, 1906, and decried out of existence by the second duma last April, is the phrase on all lips in the capital tonight. The phrase already has become historic and has completely blotted the effect of the ministerial declaration in subsequent debates and destroyed the conspi-cuousness of the conservatives restoring the intense atmosphere of the earlier dumas.

Upon M. Stolypin, who, in company with his colleagues, was sitting on the speaker's tribune, the words fell as a thunderbolt, recalling the most painful incident of his career as premier. He turned deathly pale, clenched his teeth and stared motion-lessly for several minutes at the unexpectedly violent outburst. Finally he left the chamber without uttering a word. The tumult caused by M. Rodicheff's speech continued for half an hour, during which time the speaker was severely handled and finally carried away bodily by his supporters to a committee room for consultation and it was made plain by the constituent democrats that M. Rodi-cheff had meant no personal attack on the speaker, but had been carried away by the passion of the moment.

HUNDREDS ATTEND RECEPTION TO GEN. HOYT

Governor Curry Host At Brilliant Function in Honor of Solicitor General of the United States.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.)
Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 30.—Governor Curry was host at a large reception tonight given at the executive residence in honor of Hon. Henry M.
Hoyt, solicitor general of the United States. The house was lavishly decorated and the affair proved a most enjoyable one. Governor Curry's guests included all official New Mexico, a very large list in Santa Fe, the delegates to the statehood convention and a large number of people from other cities who came to attend the function. Several hundred people met the solicitor general during the receiving hour. In the receiving line with Governor Curry and his guest were Mrs. A. M. Berger, of Santa Fe, and Miss Julia Miles, of San Francisco and Miss Maud Madden, of Oakland, cousins of the governor, who are guests at the executive residence; former Governor Miguel A. Otero, Adjunct Governor, Washington, Col. J. A.
Mossie and Colonel Jose D. Cerna, of the staff.

ADDITION TO ARIZONA FOREST RESERVE

Washington, Nov. 28.—Arizona now has 220,000 more acres of timber land in the Prescott national forest, by reason of a proclamation creating two additions, which was signed by the president today. The tract will be put under forest service administration and protected from fire, theft and water.

The additions will give the Prescott forest an area of 1,061,254 acres. The country included is located in the central portion of Yavapai county, between the boundary line of the government forest and the Black grant, and occupies a portion of the divide between Williams Fork and Pecos rivers.

It is estimated that there are about 78,000,000 board feet of yellow pine in the addition.

FIFTY MILLION DOLLAR
ISSUE OVERSUBSCRIBED

Secretary Declares Average Price Offered Is Well Above Present Market Price; Metropolitan Banks Buy.

Washington, Nov. 30.—The opening of the bids for the issuing of $50,000,000 of Panama canal bonds which began at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, was not concluded until nearly 10 o'clock, when Secretary Cortes announced the following announcement:

The bids for the $50,000,000 of Panama canal bonds invited by the secretary's circular of November 18 were opened this evening in the treasury department. There were more than three thousand bids and the total amount subscribed was $55,000,000. No complete tabulation has been possible, but it can be stated that the average price is well above the present market price of the bonds. Of the large number of bids to be considered it will be impracticable to make an abatement immediately, but the secretary will be prepared to give further information as it develops.

Further than this the secretary was not prepared to make any statement.
He explained that there was such a very large number of bids that he made any deductions as to the lowest price at which the bonds would be awarded was manifestly impossible tonight, and that it might take some time to determine just which bids were successful and which were not.

Asked as to just what he meant in his statement by the "present market price of the bonds," the secretary asked to be excused from being more explicit, but others familiar with the present market price of the other Panama bond issue interpreted his words to mean that the successful price of the present issue would be considerably in excess of 102, and possibly above 103.

Among the bidders was the National City bank of New York, which submitted a number of bids aggregating $5,000,000 at prices ranging from 101 1/2 to 103. It also is understood that the First National bank of Chicago bid for a large amount of the bonds at something in excess of 101.
Under the secretary's circular of November 18, these bonds will bear interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum, payable quarterly on the first days of November, February, May and August. They will be redeemable in United States gold coin at the discretion of the United States on or after August 1, 1916, and will be payable in gold or in United States notes on demand. The secretary reserves the right to permit bidders offering the highest prices to increase the amount of their purchases.

trains in the presence of passengers and setting congress to return to the state the right to permit bidders of-
the amount of their purchases.

pealing the law imposing a duty on full text of the proposed measure.

From and after the approval of this act no import tax duty shall be collected upon white paper or upon white book paper or upon any of the materials and ingredients used in the manufacture or composition of same.

RECEIVERS UNEARTH
GROSS IRREGULARITIES

Insolvent New York Trust Company Directors Obtained Institution's Funds By Loaning To Dummy Borrowers.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
New York, Nov. 30.—Attorney General Jackson made public today the report of the temporary receivers of the Williamsburg Trust company, of Brooklyn, and the International Trust company, of New York, both of which recently suspended. The matter will be taken before the grand jury of Kings county.

The president of the Williamsburg Trust company was Frank Jenkins, who, with his brothers, John G. Jenkins, Jr., and Fred J. Jenkins, held a controlling interest in the Jenkins Trust company, now suspended. The International Trust company was closely allied with the Borough bank of Brooklyn, the late Howard Makswell, who committed suicide, having been president of both institutions.
William Gow, a director in the Borough bank and the International Trust company, is charged by the temporary receivers with dominating the International company, and so controlling its financial operations as to make large sums of money.

Frank L. Baker, temporary receiver of the Williamsburg Trust company, in his report says that the company made demand loans to the amount of approximately $22,000 to five clerks in the employ of Frank and J. G. Jenkins, Jr., the stock brokerage firm.
These clerks also figured in loans from the Borough bank of Brooklyn.
The receiver also states that the Williamsburg company made a demand loan to C. H. Reuter for $171,500, which is not guaranteed, and for which there is held collateral of the estimated value of $75,000. A loan of $25,000 was also made by the Williamsburg company to James Hart, a non-in-law of J. G. Jenkins, Sr., for which collateral is held of the estimated value of $12,000. Concerning other loans aggregating $418,000, the receiver states that collateral only to the estimated value of $275,000 is held on these loans. There is an estimated loss of $200,000, placed by the bank examiner.

Mr. Baker, in his report, shows that within the four days immediately preceding the closing of the doors of the Williamsburg company, several of the company's directors withdrew practically all their deposits. The receiver states that the company's temporary receiver for the International Trust company, states in his report that the book value of the loan company is $42,750, and that the sum $12,250 in the company's charges, that William Gow, a director, paid $307,000 for a loan which he sold to the trust company for $457,545. The receiver states that Gow withdrew from the company $325,000 in cash on October 21, 1907, a few days before the institution suspended.

Hundred Thousand Unconquered Aborigines, Report Mikado's Authority.

Tokio, Nov. 28.—Japan is experiencing trouble in the interior of Formosa, where aborigines from the east side are continually raiding and destroying property. The reports from there are numerous, but according to the best information at the Associated Press, the fatalities during the fighting within the last sixty days number 200. The loss of property is estimated at $100,000. The number of aborigines in the unconquered section of the country is estimated at 120,000.

BIMETALLISM LARGED BY COLORADO

Isaac N. Stevens Declares Silver Coinage Only Remedy for Wide Shortage of Basic Money.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Chicago, Nov. 30.—Isaac N. Stevens, of Colorado, who was chairman of the executive committee of the national silver party in the campaign of 1896, said in an interview today:

"There is not basic money enough in the world to do the business of the world. The United States is not the only country suffering from a shortage of money. The German banks have begun to enforce the sixty day note, which is a taking place all over the world, and for the cotton business enterprises of the present day.
There has never been greater need for worldwide international currency than during the past few years, and if civilization is to continue its rapid stride, both gold and silver are an absolute necessary to basic money. Only the issue for the congress of the United States to inaugurate a universal movement for bimetalism.

"England should take action looking toward the guaranteeing of the funds of depositors so as to bring money out of hiding.

"The government should either go into the banking business outright or have nothing whatever to do with it.
If the national banks were all out and out government banks there would be no trouble about the people keeping their funds in such banks.

"Either individualism must be given the utmost latitude, or else the government must go wholly into those lines of business where its control seems imperative."

MIDSHIPMEN TOO MUCH FOR ARMY ON GRIDIRON

ANNAPOLIS, 6; WEST POINT, 0; TELLS TALE

Result Sad Shock to Soldiers Whose Team Far Outweighed the Naval Academy Aggregation.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
Philadelphia, Nov. 30.—The navy today defeated the army in their annual football contest on Franklin field by the score of 6 to 0, before a brilliant and representative assemblage of nearly 30,000.

Though the score looks close, the West Point team never seriously threatened the Annapolis goal, the midshipmen playing all around their opponents at nearly every stage of the contest. The result was a surprise to the army, for with a heavier team, more experience and a better season's record than the navy, the cadets could not have been so easily defeated. The navy team put the army on the run. But like good soldiers, the army came back and fought the sailors hard. It was no easy, however, for it was the navy's day.

The only score of the game was made in the first half. The midshipmen twice had the ball within striking distance and each time failed to follow up their advantages, but finally after a punting duel, an army player, Douglas, was called on the sledge on the army's 26-yard line. Left Half Back Douglas went through the West Point line for five yards. A forward pass helped some and another line play put the ball two yards from the cadets' goal. The army braced, but the navy was not to be denied. Douglas was called on again and with a mighty plunge went over for a touchdown. Large kicked goal. There was little doing in the remainder of the half.

The second half was more or less featureless, play frequently being stopped to enable the trainers to fix up injured men. Each team constantly punted with the hope of recovering the ball on fumbles to its opponents' territory. This frequently happened.

The star of the game was Captain Douglas. His punting was uniformly good and his tackling sure. But it was running with the ball where he showed his best form.

Heavens, for the army, was called upon to do the most work and he played a brilliant game until forced from the field by a broken arm.
Society was out in force to witness the game. Though the president was not present he was represented by Miss Ethel Roosevelt, who was the guest of Acting Secretary of War Oliver and the Misses Oliver.

The Oliver party included Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Frederick McCall, who represented the navy department. He was accompanied by his wife and Senator and Mrs. Eliza of California.

A big gray mule, covered with gray, black and yellow, the colors of the army, in the capacity of mascot, ambled in front of the army stand, and a goat was mascot for the navy. The West Point contingent also had a bear cub sent from Detroit.

From the time the game started until the last whistle blew, there was one continual round of cheering and singing, and when the navy came out victorious pandemonium broke loose.

INTENSE INTEREST IN BURNS-MOIR RING BATTLE

HEAVYWEIGHTS TO DECIDE
WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP

English Hopeful of Regaining Lost Pugilistic Laurels
Though American Remains Favorite in the Betting.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] London, Nov. 30.—Memories of the early days when the National Sporting club was the acknowledged home of professional boxing, have been revived, by the prospects of a great battle on December 2, when Tommy Burns, of America, and "Stunner" Jim Moir, of England, will meet in the historic building for the heavyweight championship of the world.

This contest has created greater interest than any since those in which Mace, the last English holder of the title, took part, for there is a feeling in some circles that Moir's greater weight, reach and height, and the experience that he has gained in his many fights will be sufficient to overcome Burns' superior tactics and being the champion back to England, after thirty-seven years. In spite of this feeling, however, Burns remains a favorite in the betting at odds of 5 to 4. This want of confidence on the part of betters on the English champion is due to Burns' record in America, and the fact that he is much the faster fighter. Moir is considered slow even for an English boxer. The trainers have been working him up, but it is doubtful whether the Englishman will develop enough speed to reach the more active American with his heavy hitting.

Unless Moir has been overrated or has never before met a man of Burns' class, the American must deliver some hard hits in those rushes for which he is famous to beat down the sailor, who has the reputation of being able to take a lot of punishment.

Both fighters did much earnest training up to Wednesday last, since which time they have satisfied themselves with road work.

Moir will enter the ring at about 180 pounds, which is at least ten pounds more than Burns will turn the scales at. The Englishman also has the advantage in height, being about two and one-half inches taller than his American opponent. Furthermore, he has considerably longer reach. On the other hand Burns is known to have a good pair of legs which will enable him to rush in and get away, and besides, he is far more scientific and "uses his head" more than does Moir.

JURY DISAGREES IN THE CASE OF MOSE LEWIS

Stands Ten for Death Penalty, One for Manslaughter and One for Acquittal At End of Sensational Roswell Trial.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.]
Roswell, N. M., Nov. 30.—Judge William H. Pope, of the district court, today was finally compelled to discharge the jury in the case of Mose Lewis, charged with killing his first cousin, Leland S. Terhune. The jury stood ten for the death penalty, one for manslaughter and one for acquittal. It is understood that ten jurors favored a verdict of first degree murder, the majority, however, being willing to compromise on a verdict of second degree murder without a recommendation for mercy. It is said that the scenes in the jury room were rather agitated while the body was conferring on a verdict.

Over Bitter Protest of Accused Bankers' Attorneys.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Chicago, Nov. 30.—Evidence that $5,575,575 was deposited to the credit of John Walsh's private enterprise was brought out in the trial of the former president of the Chicago National bank, before Judge Anderson in the United States district court today. Attorneys for the government contended that these amounts were wrongly diverted from the funds of the institution.

The clash between the court and attorneys came early this morning after Attorney Hines had first objected successfully to McKay's startling concessions as to what the books of the bank contained and then sought to have the books barred. Judge Anderson overruled the second objection and told Hynes that objections will have to be made in good faith.

Mr. Hines immediately took exceptions to the court's remark, whereupon Judge Anderson exclaimed: "I regret that this discussion be ended.
They waste time. I can talk steps to end them, but I hope that I shall not have to do so."

The possibility that "extreme measures" would be taken was referred to by the court in the afternoon session.

when the wrangling began again and as Mr. Miller pressed his point Judge Anderson, amid a storm of objections from the defense, questioned the witness himself regarding various bond transactions and Walsh's connection with them.

The major portion of the $2,575,575 which McKay testified had been deposited to the credit of various Walsh concerns went to the Chicago Chronicle. In 1906 and 1907, the witness said, the newspaper was credited with $1,424,000. Other deposits were as follows: Late Creek Coal company, $17,500; Indiana Southern Coal company, $428,819; Redford Quarry company, $376,000; Wisconsin and Michigan Railway company, $114,276.

Beside McKay, a number of minor witnesses were on the stand today.
Adjournment was taken until Monday.

Jevne, of Chicago, 59 to 47. Cline's high run was 5, average 47. Jevne's high 4, average 42. Cline leads in won a total of six games.

SWEDISH ABANDON PLAN
TO LIFT AMERICA'S CUP
Stockholm, Nov. 30.—After four hours' discussion today the Royal Swedish Yacht club decided to let the challenge for the America's cup drop.
William Olsson and G. N. Nyhberger, who had offered to subscribe a large amount of money for the purpose of building a challenger, presented at the beginning of the meeting a written statement that they were unable to raise the money at present, owing to the money stringency, which had been severely felt in Sweden.

Special Correspondence Morning Journal.
Springer, Colfax County, N. M., Nov. 29.—It has been my privilege to visit the wonderful progress of affairs in general throughout your territory. This old country of yours, which the commercial world has just re-discovered, is almost the best in the line of agricultural and stock raising development and that is the reason for the quick step of progress. I have observed with special interest the number of irrigation plants already completed and those in the process of development and I don't hesitate to say that at no point have I seen more promising opportunities for investors than at the Miami ranch, nine miles west of Springer, where the owner occupies a fine position of being one of the most rapidly developing regions of New Mexico. A whimsical little spot in this territory is the Miami Ranch, famous for the first time for the success of their big irrigation scheme, where last year two blades of alfalfa will grow where not one grew before on eighteen thousand acres of fertile land. The first year the owner secured last year of 1,200,000 acres, one of the old miniature empires of the west, which has yielded to the combination power for agriculture and stock raising.

Two new associates, alfalfa growers are going about saying that people who have money are crowding it down into their hands, but don't you be misled, the money is not coming from Miami ranch, was sixteen out of every twenty prospective buyers who go out there purchase a farm before the ranch paper is ready, they don't come from the west, but from the east, people know that rain and sun and soil in collaboration with rich soil and abundant industry keep right at doing business at the old state of affairs.

A most delightful spirit of hospitality exists out at the ranch; it is the historic home of the Valdes family with Mr. Carson's old home nearby and the old place is the resort of all the charm and delights of the spot, one does not have to leave the glories of three or four cottages of the old place to go to the new place, the best grown out there, one can dig deep roots and be surrounding orange of mine, sufficient to make the face of a nation flow. The old place is a fine place to visit, and every hand and the rose glimmer of the morning aloft in the orange's heart and work its charms.

Yours truly,

glamour of the Golden West, its struggle to be resisted. The grandest climate in the world, and the dawning opportunities for health, wealth and prosperity, are what is bringing them here. There is no valley so beautiful as the Rio Grande valley, country. The mountains in the blue distance sweep the horizon in a long line of majesty, then in the pink mists of dawn the valley lies in a vaporous tangle of rose and pearl, to be succeeded by a perfect noonday, and glorious sunsets which no painter could paint, and of which no poet could ever sing.

INDIANS WORST IN GAME WITH HIGH SCHOOL

One of the hardest fought football games ever played in Albion occurred yesterday afternoon on the Indian school gridiron when the Indians high school defeated the Indian school eleven by the score of 6 to 0.

The credit for the victory of the high school team belongs solely to H. George, captain of the Duke City team, who played left tackle and hit half back for the high school boys. His smashing line plunges, coupled with his fast and sure runs, was the high school team's only touchdown.

While demoralized by the team work of the high school boys and the popularity of the Duke City Indians, the Indians could bring enough to defeat the high school boys out of a number of hoped for plays.

One of the features of the game was the struggle over an alleged touchdown on the forty-yard line for the Indians. The rub was made by H. Gallier, who, the Indians claimed, made a fumble, while the high school boys' George, who was at the touchdown, believed Jesse Crossway finally settled the matter by replying the ball on the forty-yard line in favor of the Indians.

The Duke City school and Indian school teams will play a return game next Saturday afternoon at Traction park. The Duke City football team will challenge the winner.

People Tell Each Other About Good Things.

Twelve years ago the people knew of each other. They were in the powder for the First World after the genuine maris of Alaska. First class has been told ever since that the people of the world are the same who would as well go without a medicine as without the daily use of Alaska's cod liver oil. It is in the cod liver oil, which is the only thing that can be taken, which has given rise and come to the world. It cures while you walk.

[By Morning Journal Special Teamed Wire.] Tokio, Nov. 30.—Baron Ishii, chief of the bureau of commerce of the Japanese foreign office, who visited America and Canada for the purpose of investigating the immigration problem, arrived in Tokyo today and conferred with the officials of the foreign office, with whom he arranged a thorough canvass of the situation for the coming week. In an interview Baron Ishii said:
"My visit to America and Canada convinced me that the opposition to the Japanese is based partly upon race prejudice, though considerable of it is due to laborers instigated by agitators.
I found Japanese residents in America and Canada who resent the incoming of their countrymen from the Hawaiian islands and Mexico, which is disliked. While it is proper for Japan to conserve the interests of the Japanese now residing abroad, many of whom are prospering and living peacefully in America, in my opinion it will be necessary, in order to keep absolute faith with the United States, to prevent immigration of laborers thither altogether, because an exclusion act would be disagreeable.
We should send laborers to Canada in great moderation.
The indications are that the Japanese government will give formal but verbal assurances of a future rigid exclusion of all that can be termed strictly labor immigration to the United States, being careful also in limiting the number leaving for Canada. It is doubtful if these assurances will take the form of written notes to either country, but possibly foreign Minister Hayashi will make a statement in the diet."

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 29.—The lights of the Jamestown exposition were turned off by President Tucker after formal exercises tonight, and the exposition, which had been running since April 24, came to an end.

President Tucker delivered an extended speech in the evening in the Auditorium in which he set forth the hardships and the successes of the exposition. Touching on the financial phase of the exposition, he said:
"Heretofore the amount expended by the exposition company, it is estimated that there has been expended from other sources in the betterment of this property, from one to one and a half million dollars. Our land cost us $250 an acre, and shortly after we purchased it the Tidewater railroad bought a large tract adjoining us at

CHRISTMAS
SUGGESTIONS

NOTHING is so appropriate for a Christmas gift as jewelry. Emerson says the ideal gift is one in which the intrinsic value of the article is lost in the kindly feeling that prompted the giver. Jewelry is a luxury. It is enduring. It affords opportunity for a finer exhibit of taste than almost anything else.
During the year we have accumulated a fine lot of jewelry. Diamonds in all sizes, prices and settings, rings, studs, brooches, bracelets, cuff buttons, scarf pins, fobs, watches, chains, necklaces, ear glass, emblems and everything else that properly belongs to the jewelry business. Owing to the manner in which we obtain our goods, we CAN SELL FOR LESS THAN WHAT OUR COMPETITORS BUY.

Clovis, New Mexico, is the New Santa Fe Division Townsite, Situated Nine Miles West of Texico, New Mexico, on the Belen Cut-Off

The surface of the land on which the townsite is located is level. Clovis is situated in the best portion of the level plains country and is in the center of the best dry farming and stock raising section of Eastern New Mexico. All this land is settled upon by homesteaders who are improving their land. The Santa Fe Land Improvement Company have 213,000 acres of railroad scrip land, commencing five miles north of Clovis, New Mexico, which is considered the finest farming land in Eastern New Mexico. This land will shortly be open to homeseekers and sold in small tracts on terms to suit purchaser. The country around Clovis, New Mexico, will command trade for fifty miles to the north, thirty miles to the east, twenty miles to the south and twenty-eight miles to the west. There is a settler on every 160 acres, which assures its future rapid growth and permanency. Clovis is on the main transcontinental line of the Santa Fe which is called in this territory, the Eastern Railway of New Mexico, or the Belen Cut-off. Clovis will be the division for the main line of the Santa Fe, the Pecos Valley line and the Brownwood Extension, thus making it a Division Point for three distinct lines of the Santa Fe System.

The Pecos Valley tracks will be taken up between Texico, New Mexico, and Cameo, New Mexico, and be moved west eight miles to make Clovis the northern division point of the Pecos Valley line. The Brownwood Extension will be run out of Clovis which will give a through line from California to Galveston, Texas. The Railroad Company has retained 320 acres for railroad purposes and there are extensive machine and car shops being erected at Clovis. Clovis will be the first division point west of Amarillo, Texas, and the Santa Fe have just completed a twenty-one stall concrete roundhouse, graded miles of siding and yards, are erecting a $30,000 concrete two-story depot and a $62,000 two-story Harvey hotel and $40,000 three-story recreation building for railroad employees. The recreation building will have a standard library, pool and billiard halls, swimming pool, auditorium and living rooms for railroad employees. All these buildings are of solid concrete and the latest style of mission architecture. The Company is drilling ten large wells to secure all the water that will be required for railroad purposes, the supply being inexhaustible. The Railroad Company will erect a one-hundred ton ice plant for icing refrigerator and passenger cars.

The concrete coal chutes, costing $42,000, are half completed and are the largest west of the Mississippi river. There are numerous other railroad improvements to be started, but the engineers' reports have not been completed and we cannot give data on the same. As soon as the Belen Cut-off and connecting lines of Clovis are completed, the Company will put all of its extra California fast passenger, freight and perishable fruit traffic on this line, which will be the shortest between Chicago and Southern California and Galveston, Texas, and New Orleans, Louisiana, and Southern California. It will also carry all the Pacific and Oriental mail which is now being largely handled by the Rock Island and Southern Pacific.

Clovis has two national banks with $25,000 and $35,000 capital, respectively. There is a water, electric light and ice company located in Clovis, owned and controlled by railroad officials, with equipment now in operation. A complete telephone system is in operation connecting with all adjacent towns and the long distance lines. There are thirty-five business houses, six hotels and rooming houses, four lumber yards, three livery stables, cold storage and other buildings already erected. Clovis has nearly eleven hundred population, is four months old and growing very fast. If you are looking for a business location or a new town for investments, look the situation over at Clovis. The lots being offered for sale are all residence lots and can be purchased at from $70 to $90 per lot, one-half down, the balance in six months at 8 per cent interest. On all sales over $500 10 per cent discount is allowed. On all cash sales, 10 per cent discount allowed. Clovis will make a city of ten thousand in a few years. This is the best proposition ever offered in New Mexico for small investors and now is the time to purchase these lots, as the prices will double within six months' time.

EDWARD ASHAMED
OF DINGY ROYAL
RESIDENCEBUCKINGHAM PALACE
SADLY DILAPITATEDKing, Lacking Money For Repairs, Hesitates to Ask the Country to Foot Bill; Rich Friends May Solve Problem.(By Robert Brydwick.) London, Nov. 30.—King Edward, like many of his subjects, is ashamed of the dingy shabby appearance of his London residence, Buckingham Palace, and is anxious to have the exterior improvements effected. This will be a very necessary work, the queen Victoria memorial, an important and ornate piece of sculpture in front of the palace, is completed. Already the elaborate arrangements of wrought iron gates, stone balustrades, etc., that surround the circular space clear for the memorial, make the old palace look extremely mean and dingy.Buckingham Palace was built at a time when London houses and public buildings were designed more or less on the bazaar plan as regards the exterior. The facade, although not without simple dignity and proportion, had a flat plainness of design which is very far from the modern style of architecture. It has also been allowed to accumulate a thick coat of London grime, which gives it a sombre and dingy aspect.To effect the necessary improvements, a scheme is afoot to provide the funds by national subscription.
The expense would be too heavy for king's privy purse, and his majesty is reluctant to ask parliament to vote the money. The proposed fund will be promoted by some of the king's personal friends, who are very influential in raising such funds.The original scheme for the Queen Victoria memorial included the addition of a mansard roof to Buckingham Palace, but this was abandoned because of insufficient funds. Apparently the new scheme will include this new roof. With an addition to its height, and thorough cleaning of the facade, Buckingham Palace will begin to look worthy of being the chief residence of the king of England.George Bernard Shaw's queer method of writing his famous plays is described by Sir Charles Wyndham, and quoted in a biography of the English actor, just published.
"Bernard Shaw," says Sir Charles,
"was very anxious for me to appear in some of his productions. I remem-ber his coming to me some years ago to read to me one of his plays. He put his hand in his breast-pocket and produced a small notebook, which he placed on the table. Then he dived into another pocket and produced another notebook, a little larger than the first. He proceeded in this fashion to ransack his pockets until no fewer than seven small notebooks lay on the table."That's the play," said Mr. Shaw, complacently. "I always write my plays on the tops of omnibuses, so I have to use notebooks. The play that was thus written in seven volumes on the tops of omnibuses was 'The Philander,' which was recently produced without much success at the Court theater.""What Ghosts Weigh," was the novel subject treated in a lecture given in London by a noted "medium," George Spriggs, president of the Psycho-Therapeutic society.After describing some weird experiences in the spirit world, Mr. Spriggs gave particulars about the weight of spirit forms. "Weighing machines," he said, "were used at one of my séances to ascertain the distinguishing features between the medium and the materialized spirit forms. My clothes were taken off before the sitting commenced and weighed, and I also was weighed. The same procedure took place after the sitting, and I was always found, as a result of the séance, to have lost three pounds in weight, which took me three days to recover."The first spirit form who stepped on the scales turned the beam at 140 pounds, but subsided rapidly in weight. Indeed, failing to turn the scale at 80 pounds, he hurriedly retreated. Returning again his weight was registered at 104 pounds, then 167 pounds, and then under 100 pounds. The 20-pound weight being removed, he failed to turn the beam at 80 pounds, being at least 24 pounds in about thirty seconds. Another spirit form weighed 139½ pounds at first, and then subsided to 11½ pounds. All of which seems to be the volatile nature of the mysterious spirit-substance.A good roast of fashionable women who "dress by fraud" was administered by Judge Grantham while commenting on a case in which a long-suffering tradesman sued a woman customer for payment of her bill."It is time," said the judge, "that many ladies who dress so expensively were made to realize that they could not defraud tradespeople with impunity, and that for making false statements in order to obtain what they require they can be sent to prison.""If it were more fully realized it would put a stop to a lot of false credit. They go to various shops and order grand and expensive costumes, for which they never intend to pay; consequently many poor tradespeople are absolutely robbed."The point of the judge's remarks lies in the fact that an Englishman is only compelled by law to pay for actual necessities ordered by his wife.
Many women run up extravagant bills not only for necessities, but for luxuries, which their creditors cannot legally recover if the woman has no separate income from her husband's.
Occasionally a husband whose patience is exhausted puts an advertisement in the papers giving notice thathe "will not be responsible for any debts contracted by his wife." Thus the tradesman has no redress at all against an extravagant woman who orders more than she can pay for.The Hon. Lilah Cavendish, daughter of the late Lord Cresham, who was killed in the hunting field recently, was once the owner of a unique farm on which all the livestock was black.
She rented a portion of her father's estates in Buckinghamshire, and called it the "Black Farm."Every beast and bird on the farm was sooty black—there were black horses, black cows, black sheep, black pigs, black goats, black chickens, black dogs and black cats.The idea of a "black farm" probably occurred to Miss Cavendish from the "white farm" in Somerset belonging to Lord Stanley of Alderley. She abandoned the enterprise some years ago because of financial failure.Miss Lilah Cavendish was a noted debautante of the coronation year, and is an ardent huntswoman, like her mother.According to a report issued by the home office on the subject of the fre-quencing of public houses by women and children, 39,541 women and 10,746 children were seen to enter 23 London public houses on which observations were kept for 12 hours a day on four days.The return also contains reports from chief constables on the subject.
The chief constable of Birmingham says:"I have seen women giving infants a portion of their beer to drink, and I am told they do this because it makes the children sleepy and quiet.""In the lower quarters of Birmingham women resort to the public houses shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning in large numbers, when they are supposed to be doing their shopping, and on these occasions they take the younger children and infants. The same thing occurs late at night, especially on Saturday night."There may come a happy time when the organ-grinder, the motor-omnibus, the German band, and the itinerant vendors of milk, coal and vegetables will cease to trouble the workers or sleep of London citizens.That happy time is probably in the dim future, but meanwhile the Street Noise Abatement society hopes to present a petition with about 100,000 signatures to the home secretary with a view to fresh legislation which will deal effectively with some of these nuisances.The society is circulating householders, who are asked to reply to the following questions:Should organ-grinding be permitted in the squares, streets, etc., of the metropolis?Should noisy traction engines be allowed?Should noisy motor-omnibuses be permitted to be a source of annoyance

A designated attempt by a distinguished army officer to obtain recruits for his regiment aroused the military enthusiasm of Covent Garden Market yesterday.Twenty bewildered porters engaged in the green grocery line are telling amazing tales of how they were "enlisted" and carried away in four-wheeled cabs to serve the king as soldiers.The hero of the story is an officer of distinction, a member of the Distinguished Service Order, at present stationed at the regimental depot at Mill Hill. The customary calm of Convent Garden Market, at night, was interrupted late on Wednesday by the arrival of this officer in military uniform for recruits to make up the strength of his regiment—the Middlesex militia, the "Duke of Cambridge's Own."The zealous officer was fortunate in meeting Mullins, the uncrowned "King of Covent Garden Market," porter to whom Mr. Yates, the benevolent millionaire, distributed large sums.As soon as he heard the officer's demand for men, Mullins collected 22 willing recruits, and the delighted officer, having four cabs, which he packed with volunteers, left for Mill Hill barracks.The Covent Garden porters thus enlisted were only too glad to select the occasion, and it was a merry band which arrived at Mill Hill early in the morning.So far, so good, but the Covent Garden men awaiting in barracks yearned for the market, and discovered that they were not as keen as they had believed on leaving the life of soldiers. This revelation of feeling grew stronger as the hour for the inspection by the medical officer grew nearer, and twenty-two men with one accused broke barracks.Without waiting for breakfast, or any unnecessary explanation, a score of Covent Garden porters hurried away from the camp of the dragoon to the greengrocers and potatoes they loved so well. Two only remained, and these alone of the Covent Garden contingent were left to face the military drill the next morning.

ALBUQUERQUE — NEW MEXICO

THE CHARITY GRAFTERS.

"Now abideth faith, hope and charity, these three, and the greatest of these is charity," and furthermore we are assured that "charity covereth the multitude of sins; and if we might be permitted to add a text not found in either of the standard versions we should say, "In the name of charity are a multitude of sins committed." These thoughts were suggested by an article which we find in an exchange under the caption which we have used above, and which is just as applicable to conditions here as anywhere else. We copy from the Kansas City Journal.

This is the season of the year when the charity grafters reap their richest harvest. Of course, the charity grafter is always more or less active, but it is in Thanksgiving and Christmas times that the heart of the cheerful giver is most accessible. In all the big office buildings one may encounter the men and women who humbly solicit aid for "the little children" or for the "work among the lowly," and one may put it down as a certainty that one charity solicitor out of every four is a faker and is collecting money under false pretenses.

Attention has been called time and again to the evils of permitting the charity grafters to pursue their calling undisturbed, but either the legitimate charitable institutions are blind to the hurt that is being done them or the city administration is indifferent to the fraud. If the mayor's attention were called to this matter by some thoroughly responsible charity worker a plan could be adopted that would insure protection to charity and to the public as well. Day and night there are women who make it their business to hang about saloons and hotels, grafting nickels and dimes from men who often give in get rid of them. These women know that the man who throws his money over a bar is equally generous in doing a deed of charity to mollify his conscience. The saloon crowd is rich picking for the women with her little fake bank and her pleading eyes.

No woman should be allowed in a saloon under any circumstances whatever. Yet so bold have these charity grafters become that they brazenly lean upon bars in a crowd of men and hand conversation that may bring them small change. What can the city administration say to that? It is true, and any saloonkeeper in this city knows it is true and would be only too glad to give testimony that would free him from the nuisance of women beggars.

It must not be forgotten that the clearing of the city of charity grafters would be of great help to the legitimate solicitors for the Salvation Army and other worthy organizations that do so much good work in earnestness and unselfishness. These solicitors should be protected, and in protecting them the public is protected and the poor will get the money meant for them. For the way to proceed in this matter is for some department of the city or a recognized charitable enterprise, such as the Provident association, to be designated to investigate the record and methods of every man and woman who desires to solicit funds in the name of charity. Whenever such a man or woman gives proof of credible intentions a badge could be issued to him or her which would be so conspicuous that no mistake could be made. Then any one found soliciting for charity who had no badge could be prosecuted. This is one way to stop the charity grafters.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

The Washington Star proposes a grand international food congress, for the purpose of giving the people of the world a chance to find out what they eat. The idea of such a movement, and the good that might be accomplished by it, is suggested by the work Dr. Wiley, of the department of agriculture, is doing abroad in the interest of the protection of the public from adulterations. It is an excellent idea, and it might work out to the advantage of all peoples, considering the great human family as one aggregation of hungry men, women and children. It is of course impossible to secure a broad international basis for standard food qualities. There was never a profounder truth than that what is one man's meat is another man's poison. The question, What is pure food? will be answered as variously as there are languages. It may ramify into the dialectic. But just the same it would be worth while trying to get together on this vital

Important question, and even if we should not succeed in accomplishing any more than to have the true contents of the package printed on the outside of the box, a good long step would be taken in the right direction. The chemistry of the food-producing industries is a comparatively new science. The world has leaped ahead marvelously in the matter of preserving meats and manufacturing table goods. The laboratories are turning out novelties constantly and are giving the advertising writers plenty of work in the proclamation of new aids to health and strength. No land is immune from this enterprise. The United States is not peculiarly suited to the work of the adulterators and the producers of near-foods. Over in France recently a revolution was almost precipitated because of the adulteration of wines. Who knows what is being done to the sausages in Germany, to the roast beef in England, to the macaroni in Italy, to the garlic in Spain, to the caviare in Russia, to the birds' nests in China?

Let us have a great international debate on the subject. Let us find where we stand in the matter of our edibles. If other countries have better laws than our own, that more successfully hobble the chemists in their laboratory work to the menace of the digestion of consumers, we should have the benefit of hearing all about it. Perhaps, too, such a congress might serve an excellent purpose in introducing the specialties of other lands to our own palate. We might thrive on an international diet. We have a great many representatives of other races and nations in our midst today, it is true, but we learn little from them in this matter of eating. Perhaps we are better off for our failure to absorb these imported dietaries. But it would be interesting to have a demonstration of what the rest of the world is eating.

TROUBLE IN PORTUGAL.

For a long time signs of trouble in Portugal have been accumulating. Though strictly censored, all dispatches for many months have indicated that the political pot was boiling fiercely, threatening to blow off the lid. Lately the indications of internal disruption have been insistent, and there is no longer doubt that King Carlos is in serious danger of losing his throne. It is difficult to ascertain the precise state of affairs, owing to the fact that the news that comes out of Portugal by direct routes is subject to the suspicion of government censorship, while that which comes from outside sources is undoubtedly tinged with pro-revolutionary bias. A conservative mean between these two extremes must be struck by the observer, with the result that Portugal appears to be on the verge of the long threatened upset.

Republican sentiment has been strong in Portugal for years. The reign of King Carlos, which began in 1889, has been marked by almost continuous friction between the absolutist and republican factions. One month after he succeeded to the throne the people of Brazil, once a dependency of Portugal, but for years an empire, overthrew Don Pedro and organized a republic. This movement fostered the republican tendencies of the Portuguese, and although no determined attempt to replace the crown by a democratic ruler has been made, the reign of Carlos has been marked by a practically continuous series of efforts to compromise with the growing republicanism of the country.

More possesses about one-half the earth's diameter and one-seventh its volume. It is some 149,000,000 miles from the sun and consequently at a mean distance of nearly 50,000,000 miles from us. It receives less than one-half the sunlight and heat a square foot that we do, has an atmosphere less dense than ours and possesses water and ice. The planet exhibits two ice caps at its poles and orange and greenish tints between these poles. These peculiar lines or markings—the "canals"—concerning which there has arisen much discussion form a sort of faint, inexplicable network over the surface of ruddy Mars.

In 1816, nearly a century ago, there were 359 newspapers in the United States. In 1906 there were 26,422 printing and publishing houses in the country. These represented $285,000,000 of invested capital and turned out products valued at $496,961,257. The growth for the five years since 1906 doubled the growth of the ten years previous.

SOME CURRENT COMMENT.

The Attorney Generalship.
Prose dispatches say that District Attorney Glavin is arrested at the mention of the name as a probable successor for Attorney General Fall, of New Mexico. Some have humorously (and justly) upon them.—El Paso Times.

The New Mexican note contains the following General Order which is offered every possible aid and assistance in the formation of the state of New Mexico, when it is desired by officers, by members of the bar and by citizens generally. The Almanac.

Real Estate.
An enthusiastic real estate man of Wilcox, N. M., in the Herald today says he has just built a new railroad (the El Paso and Santa Fe) and is offering a new road with his advertisement in the territorial papers. The first train will enter El Paso between 10 and 11 a. m. on November 13.—El Paso Herald.

A Year in Wax.
The Tucson Post, under an editorial on "sermonizing developments," on the verge of flying into a rage, on the verge of firing shots at the state of New Mexico, when the son of that famous artist, Mr. J. THE VICE president of a New York bank assures us that there will be plenty of money after the first of the year. The southerly humor of it is that Christmas presents must be bought in the meanwhile.

A NUMBER of Phoenix hunters are seeking police protection from a number of irate friends whom they treated to venison. The pleased recipients found after they had eaten the meat that it was of the genus Billy-goat.

MAX is fairly shrieking into the ear of the solicitor general his furious demand that the investigation be thorough and impartial. By all means. Sure. Let it go clear back to the case of the ex-Register and his Close Shave.

A HOT SPOT down in Phoenix lost money faster than John D. Rockefeller can earn it. He bet that Dan Patch could not lower his previous day's record. Dan Patch lost a quarter of a second, the sport losing $200, or at the rate of $1,200 a second.

THE VISIT of the New Mexico delegation to Washington has resulted in an important victory for decency and justice in connection with the investigation of the land conditions in the territory.—El Paso Herald.

This is rather rubbing it into the poor Major.

THE MAJORS active opposition to the federal agents in the territory had some effect after all. It resulted in the Major losing his job.—Rowell Record.

Opposition? You're entirely off. The Major was simply looking after those official duties.

"THE ALBUQUERQUE morning sheet in an editorial on Monday last asserted that United States Attorney W. H. H. Llewellyn had been 'removed from office.' The assertion is absolutely false and therefore libelous."—The Almanac.

What an unfortunate mistake!

"IF THE OFFICEHOLDER will be so ungrateful, contemptible make-up as to snap the hand that is feeding him, he deserves political death, and the sooner the better for the party."—Deming Tropic.

The Plunderbund's mental caliber is not of such a nature as to comprehend how a public office could be anything else but pie.

"EVERY EDITORIAL we have read in the Morning Journal's columns since we landed in New Mexico has been in the wrong direction, and detrimental to the Republican party in the territory."—Mr. Bursum, in the Deming Comic.

"Let's—let's Mo!"—does he still think he is the Republican party?

Do Financial Panics Come in Cycles?

Although the consequential effects of the October panic and the timidity which immediately followed that panic are in some features steady, what precedent justified every business man in expecting, yet the course of this panic is only in a general way to be compared with the history of financial distress in the United States. In part traced to the political agitation of the time, brought to its climax in the fall of 1893, the President Jackson had bank of the United States, that great central institution, which had in time preserved and wisely managed, and made the basis of clearing house certificates unnecessary, might have prevented some of our panics, and would have served as a bulwark to protect credit and business as the bank of England has served that purpose in Great Britain.

In 1893 there was some disturbance, partly due to tariff agitation, partly consequent upon the war with Mexico. Again in 1907 a terrific business crisis occurred and it was assumed that these disturbances came in cycles, having an interval that could be almost accurately foretold and described as that named "panic."

It was upon that hypothesis that some ventured to predict a financial and business crisis in the United States in the year 1907 and again in the year 1913. The panic of 1893, distinguished on the one hand by an unparalleled season of religious excitement, which in many cases developed hysteria, on the other furnished a perfect demonstration of the danger that is in an over issue of money. It was a time of unrestrained speculation. The development of the mid-west was well under way. The railroads, a few years earlier the first link in what is now the money system had been reabsorbed, from a point nearly upon Louisville, Ky. to St. Louis, Mo. The money market was in a state of chaos. The money market was in a state of chaos. The money market was in a state of chaos.

That was a speculative panic. It was the collapse of the era of banking designated by Horace Greeley as "wildcat banking." It was the New York clearing house in 1907 that demonstrated in some measure the danger that is in unrestrained speculation. For the first time that speculation based clearing house certificates in the panic of 1907. Earlier, during the immediately after the close of the civil war and afterward in the Black Friday panic of 1869, the clearing house, by an agreement that was in the nature of a pooling of cash resources protected business men. But in 1907 business men were not so fortunate. They were not so fortunate. They were not so fortunate.

The Future Railroad Center of New Mexico

Located on the Belen Cut-off of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway. The new city of Belen is thirty-one miles south of Albuquerque, N. M.; is at the junction of the main line of the Santa Fe system—leading East and West from Galveston and Chicago to San Francisco and Los Angeles, from the Northern states to El Paso, Texas, and the Republic of Mexico.

Are the owners of the Belen Townsite, consisting of 1000 business and residence lots, size 25x142 feet, fronting upon eighty and ninety-foot streets and avenues, right in the business center of the new city and directly upon the Santa Fe Railway depot grounds. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company is now grading its extensive depot grounds and yard limits 800 feet wide and a mile long (capacity of seventy miles of side track) to accommodate its immense passenger and freight traffic, Harvey eating house, roundhouse, coal chutes, water tanks, machine shops, etc.

Has a population of 1500, and several large Mercantile Houses, the Belen Patent Roller Mills with its 150 barrels a day capacity, winery, etc. It is the largest shipping point for Flour, Wool, Wheat, Wine, Beans, Hay and Fruit in New Mexico. FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Wall Street.

New York, Nov. 30.—The stock market today gave abundant evidence of the resumption of speculative leadership by operation of the professional class. The boldness and skill with which the operations were conducted pointed to practiced hands. The movement was directly primarily against a short interest which is assumed to be large after so lengthened a period of decline and disorder in the market. The basis of the movement, of course, the clearing of the financial prospects heralded by the fading away of the premium on the currency, the agreement of prices from interior bankers of their preparation for the resumption of cash payments as well as the New York banks shall take the lead and the conviction that such a development is now near at hand. The animated feelings of professional traders during the day were accompanied by many rumors, chief of which preferred to deal with the forthcoming message of the president to congress. Some of the most demonstrative buyers of stocks claimed to have assurances of the contents of the message on which they based assertions that the passage dealing with the financial situation, the speed of currency and the intended policy toward corporations would be found to contain matter to give ground for hope on the part of corporations for an abatement of hostility. The day's transactions showed a tendency to converge on stocks which have always been speculative favorites in the past, and the market was given a rather spotty appearance in this way. As was to be expected, the transactions in commodities showed increasing relaxation and additional business was done in that department, the easing of the money situation evidently contributing means for the resumption of speculative activities. The speculative activity was incited by the circulation of reports of some very heavy absorption of bonds for foreign account in connection with the large sum of gold which has been shipped to this country.

The bank statement under the new rule in force, did not appear until after the stock market had closed. As was expected, the transactions in currency and the purchase of treasury certificates, have thrown the statement out, so that the items do not "prove" the increase in deposits falling short of the loan and cash in circulation. The cash increase in falling short of $2,000,000, also fails to reveal the full effect of the known movements of money, and this is attributed to the effect of payments for the treasury certificates and delay to re-deposit of three-fourths of the proceeds. The reduction of the deficit by $1,114,175, while small, is the first movement towards redemption which has occurred since the deficit was established. Some part of the loan increase is said to be due to purchase of commercial paper from out of town mercantile centers. The stock market closed regular under the influence of powerful realising.

Weekly Bank Statement.

New York, Nov. 30.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week (five days) shows that the banks hold $2,989,425, less than the requirement of the Federal Reserve act, $3,000,000. This is an increase of $1,114,175 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week. The statement follows:
