ALBUQUERQUE WILL SEND BIG CROWD TO SANTA FE

SEVENTY TO ATTEND THE TEACHERS' CONVENTION

Object of Delegation Will Be to Bring Next Annual Convention to Albuquerque During the Irrigation Congress.

Some seventy teachers will leave Albuquerque tomorrow for Santa Fe to take part in the annual convention of the New Mexico educational association which convenes there for a session of three days. The entire faculty of the university, practically all teachers from the city schools and many of the county school teachers, headed by Superintendent A. B. Stump, will attend and Bernalillo county will have far and away the largest delegation at the convention, which is expected to attract not less than 250 teachers.

The expenses of many of the Bernalillo county teachers will be partly borne by the district school boards which are anxious that the teachers should have the full benefit of the instructive matters to be presented at the convention.

The program for the convention has been printed in full before and includes a number of addresses and papers from the best known educators in the southwest as well as several important discussions.

The object of the Albuquerque delegation will be to bring the next annual convention of this important association to Albuquerque, the session to be held if possible during the week and in which the national irrigation congress occurs. From advice which have been received by Albuquerque teachers who are interested in the work it now seems probable that Albuquerque will capture the convention.

WAY TO REGULATE LIQUOR TRAFFIC

"While the city council is engaged in the high license work and other matters to regulate the liquor traffic," said a well known Albuquerque business man yesterday, "it should not overlook the free lunch proposition in connection with the saloons. I have made a careful study of this liquor traffic business and its effect on men and it has come to be a firm conviction with me that one of the greatest evils which we have to contend with is the free lunch served in many saloons. To me the free lunch matter seems the equal in evil influence to women and music in saloons. For instance, a man with a tendency to be a saloon loafer finds a very easy way of living by means of the free lunch route. He does not want to work; he does not want to go home to his family and as long as he can pick up a sandwich and a bowl of hot soup with every glass of beer he buys, he doesn't have to go home to his family. He can wander from one saloon to another, still, fifteen cents can gather up not only a fair sized jag but a good dinner as well. As long as the free lunch holds out he will stay with it.

"Shut off the free lunch and the man will have to go home or he will have to go to work for hunger is one of the greatest, if not the greatest incentive to industry. While the city council is at work on the saloon question it should pass an ordinance, such as many cities in the east have passed, absolutely prohibiting the serving of free lunch in saloons."

CHRISTMAS WILL BE WELL OBSERVED IN ALBUQUERQUE

Commercial Club to Entertain This Afternoon; Open House and Dancing the Program; All Business Houses Close.

Christmas will be observed in Albuquerque today. All business houses will be closed throughout the day and the whole business community is going to take a holiday. Inquiries at lively saloons yesterday disclosed the fact that practically every serviceable driving outfit in town had been engaged for the day indicating that a large portion of the population will spend the day out of doors, weather permitting. There will be many small social affairs during the afternoon and evening, the most important of these being the matinee dance which the Commercial club is to give from 2 o'clock until 5.

The club is preparing for an active part in the holiday gaieties. Its matinee dance is something entirely new. Club men and their lady friends are expected to attend during the receiving hours and open house will be the rule. Music will be furnished during the afternoon and in informal committee for the afternoon and the affair will be made a successful one in every way.

With services and entertainments in many churches last night and with festivities planned for today the Christmas season will be inaugurated

DECAPITATED BY CAR WHEELS

Young Man Employed in Gaitup Yards Comes to Horrible End As Result of Fall From Top of a Coal Car.

News has reached here of the death of the Gaitup Santa Fe yards of William Roy Thomas, aged 23 years, who fell from the top of a moving coal car and was decapitated under the wheels. The young man had just begun work for the Santa Fe. He was sitting on the edge of the car when the train gave a sudden jolt, pitching him off. He fell with his head across the rails and before he could be rescued one truck passed over his neck, completely severing his head.

The case was an unusually tragic one. The young man was a graduate law student and had been admitted to the bar in the state of Michigan. He found it necessary to come to the southwest for his health and took the first employment he could find. He leaves a wife, baby and a mother.

WIND UP OF THE CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

Albuquerque Retail Houses Have Business Night of the Year On Christmas Eve, With Generally Prosperous Season

In spite of earnest appeals from the Women's club, from the newspapers and from philanthropically inclined individuals, Albuquerque put off its Christmas shopping until Christmas eve.

Last night, after 5 o'clock, was one of the busiest seasons Albuquerque merchants ever put in and when the rush was over many a retail store looked as if it had been devastated by a Japanese army. It was one of the busiest days in the history of a busy, prosperous town, and it didn't look much like hard times. Far into last night messenger boys, delivery wagons and drays were busy delivering Christmas things, while the belated citizen with his arms full of belated Christmas purchases thronged the streets until the street cars quit running.

According to a good many business men who were seen last night, the day was the heaviest since Albuquerque got to be a good town for Christmas shopping and the general opinion seems to be that there has never been a better Christmas season.

A CORRECTION AS TO AMERICAN HISTORY

Santa Fe Man Tells Just Where Washington and Jefferson Got On As to the Term of Office.

Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 21.—Editor Morning Journal: Dear Sir:—Your Washington correspondent in his letter of the 19th inst. says: "Washington and Jefferson each served two full elective terms." This is incorrect in so far as Washington is concerned. The dates are as follows:—Pursuant to appointment, congress assembled at New York on the 4th of March, 1789, but a quorum of the house of representatives was not present until the 1st of April, not of the senate until the 6th. On the 30th of April, Washington took the oath of office and was then inaugurated; his term to be four years from the 4th of March preceding. Thus you see that his first term was only three years and almost two months. In making historical allusions one may just as well be correct as not.

Very respectfully,
A. J. MORRISON.

Funeral of Senator Mallory.
Pensacola, Fla., Dec. 24.—In conformity with his expressed wish, simple funeral services were held today over the late United States senator Stephen B. Mallory. At 10 o'clock all business in the city ceased and hundreds filled St. Michael's Catholic church, where Rev. Father Pullerton said requiem mass. The interment was in St. Michael's cemetery, where lies buried the father of the late senator, who served in the United States senate and was secretary of the Confederate navy.

PUBLIC SPEAKER INTERRUPTED.

For the Two Days Before CHRISTMAS

Never in our history have we had such a satisfactory trade. Every section is still crowded with Xmas Merchandise. We have many surprises for customers here for Monday and Tuesday. The store will be kept open as late as necessary to accommodate the late shoppers. Holiday merchandise that we wish to clean up will be sold regardless of value. Come and see.

That Christmas List

Is just as much of a "mental hazard"—a bugbear—as you choose to make it. It needn't worry you at all, if you go at it systematically. First, catch your list, all the people you want to give to; then decide upon what you want to give them (of course, that's the most difficult part of it). Next comes the question of where to do your shopping. Easily answered. There are lots of good reasons why you should do it at the Economist.

A Clean Sweep of all Holiday GOODS & TOYS

Everything must go in two days—Monday and Tuesday. The whole Christmas stock reduced to prices that must move them at night, one-third, one-fourth, one-half off. There is no carrying over of any Holiday Goods at this store. Every dollar's worth must be sold by closing time Christmas Eve. Thousands of bargains to be had in all departments, but especially in Toys and Holiday Goods. You miss the biggest bargains in town if you overlook this store in your Holiday Purchases.

REMARKABLE CASE OF RESEMBLANCE DEVELOPS

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 23.—Nicolas Ledesma, the noted Indian desperado, is still at large. The authorities, completely baffled by one of the strangest resemblances on record, have released the prisoner brought here last week by Deputy Sheriff Felipe Lucero and positively identified as Ledesma. The annals of criminology in the southwest contain probably no stranger case.
The man incarcerated here was arrested at Nogales, Ariz., last week by Captain Jeff Kidder, of the Arizona Rangers. The man was turned over to Deputy Lucero, of Dona Ana county, and brought here heavily manacled on last Friday. He was absolutely identified all along the line. He claims, however, that his name is Francisco Leon, of Solomonsville, Ariz. The prisoner, however, was found to have all the identification marks of Ledesma: the bullet scar on the left elbow; another on the right shoulder and a knife scar on the back of his neck. On being brought here the supposed Ledesma was confronted by Jose Chavez, of Mesilla, the man whom Ledesma stabbed, and for which offense the arrest was made; by Pedro Salido, constable of Mesilla who has known Ledesma for many years, and by Will Barker, who works on Turner's ranch, where Ledesma was working at the time the stabbing was committed. Each of these men declared positively that the prisoner was not Ledesma and the sheriff in charge was compelled to turn the man loose. The deputy secured his man after an arduous and patient trip and it is hard luck that all his efforts have proved in vain. Lucero struck Ledesma's trail at Picocho, west of Las Cruces; followed him to Cambria, thence to a ranch near Deming, thence to Deming and to Gage, where Ledesma tried to sell his horse; thence to Victoria, where he sold the horse, saddle and gun with which he escaped from Mesilla for $15. The desperado then re-deputy on his trail then went to Gage, thence to Lordsburg, Solomonsville and Wilcox, Ariz. At Wilcox a man who got on the same train from which Lucero had alighted was pointed out as Ledesma. Lucero wired Captain Kidder to arrest the man at Huachuca, which was done and Kidder too the man to Nogales. A bartender at Wilcox who claims to have been a cellmate of Ledesma in the Yuma penitentiary gave Lucero the information that Ledesma had boarded the train. At Victoria the prisoner was identified as the man who had sold the horse and saddle and was similarly identified at Gage and Deming. The deputy sheriff identified the horse and saddle as the same that had been taken from Mesilla by Ledesma. The chain of evidence was absolutely complete. That the man should fail to be identified at Mesilla completely mystifies the officials. What became of the real Ledesma, if this man is indeed Leon, is a dark enigma. Leon, who if he is Leon is Ledesma's perfect double claims to have never been in New Mexico. There is no doubt whatever that Deputy Lucero was on the right trail as far as Wilcox and in all probability Leon was pointed out to the officer as part of a pre-arranged plot to put him off the track.

CHRISTMAS WILL BE OBSERVED IN CHURCHES TODAY

Interesting Services Arranged For Various Houses of Worship in Albuquerque This Morning and Evening.

Christmas services will be held today at a number of the Albuquerque churches with appropriate sermons and music.
At St. John's Episcopal church holy communion will be held at 7 and 9 a. m. worship with sermon and music at 10 a. m. Mrs. C. A. Frank will sing at this service, which lasted forty minutes. All are welcome.
It has always seemed to me that the average Christian is willing to receive the benefits of Christmas with all the joys and not willing enough to give joy to the joyless. Also it has seemed to me that all the greetings and reception of gifts and pleasure on the part of Christian people without meeting and worshipping the Holy Redeemer on Christmas morning is not right. We should at least worship him on Christmas day as well as to be glad.

ALBUQUERQUE - NEW MEXICO

A FESTIVAL OF MANKIND.

As Dickens wrote in introducing his story of the Christmas eve at Dingley Dell, told in Pickwick: "Numerous indeed are the hearts to which Christmas brings a brief season of happiness and enjoyment. How many families whose members have been dispersed, and scattered far and wide in the restless struggle of life, are then reunited, and meet once again in that happy state of companionship and mutual good-will, which is a source of such pure and unalloyed delight, and one so incompatible with the cares and sorrows of the world, that the religious beliefs of the most civilized nations, and the wild traditions of the roughest savages, alike number it among the first joys of a future state of existence, provided for the blessed and happy. How many old recollections, and how many dormant sympathies, does Christmas time awaken."

"We write these words now, many miles distant from the spot at which, year after year, we met on that day, a merry and joyous circle. Many of the hearts that throbbed so gallantly, have ceased to beat; many of the looks that shone so brightly then, have ceased to glow; the hands we grasped have grown cold; the eyes we sought have hid their lustre in the grave; and yet the old house, the room, the merry voices and shining faces, the jest, the laugh, the most trivial circumstance connected with those happy meetings, crowd upon our mind at each recurrence of the season, as if the last assemblage had been but yesterday. Happy, happy, Christmas, that can win us back to the delusions of our childish days, that can recall to the old man the pleasures of his youth and transport the sailor and the traveler, thousands of miles away, back to his own friends and his quiet home."

As it was in New York.

Speaking of the holiday trade three or four days ago, the World says: "The vogue of the Teddy Bear is passing. Christmas holiday shopping has conclusively shown that the queer little fuzzy wuzzies which enjoyed such a marvelous domination in Babylon have fallen from their high estate. Wallowing on the bargain gain counter, they attract only slight attention from the crowds that fill the shops."

Dolly is returned to her old place in the hearts of the youngsters, too long usurped by the woolly "nature fake." The little manas are all going back to their first loves, and the gorgeous display of dolls and dolls' finery, households and playthings are occupying more attention than ever before. Sales are enormous. Those who sell say the public is not buying the economical, serviceable presents they would have to have any way. They are buying pleasant, unserviceable things they couldn't afford at any time but Christmas and which are sure to be liked. The recent financial panic and its accompanying bargain reductions seem to have increased rather than lessened the floods of trade pouring into all the shops."

IT'S IN THE BLOOD.

A Washington correspondent speaking of the late battle in the national house of representatives, quotes a democratic member as saying:

"Every time there is a personal row in the senate or house it's sure to be democratic. Why, it is just as certain as when a man wakes up in the middle of the night and hears a fearful rowing and squalling and caterwauling out in the back yard that it's cats. When a man punches another one in the nose and the punchee grabs for the other fellow's eye, I'd know, just by hearing the details, even if I were at the north pole, that a couple of democrats were loose again. There seems to be something in the principles of our party that gives a man the desire to bang noses and black eyes and soak somebody else with his bunched knuckles. 'Tis said but true."

Horace White expresses the opinion that the proposition to make the United States responsible for the money deposited in national banks would put a premium on lax banking methods and make the banker ready to take more risks than he does at present. The San Francisco Chronicle admits there is force in Mr. White's objection, but holds that it would not be impracticable to secure depositors against loss by a compulsory insurance system. Such a system could be devised which would insure the depositor against loss and at the same time compel better banking methods by calling into existence supervision of a character never exercised by the state. "There are more ways of killing a cat than choking it with butter," Mr. Bryan will grasp that fact before he gets done discussing the money question.

After all his fuss and fury Gov. Glenn of North Carolina has agreed to compromise with the Southern railway on a two-and-a-half cent general passenger rate throughout the south. The railroad will not be confiscated. The United States courts will not be defied. The militia will not be called out. North Carolina will not secede. Civil war will not drench North Carolina in blood. But Gov. Glenn has played politics for all that he is worth and the two-and-a-half cent rate law will be abandoned.

"Is belittled a man to notice all the petty insults that are thrust at him, for if a man accomplishes anything out of the ordinary those who are jealous of his success will throw mud at him. But he must slingers always get the worst of it in the long run. They themselves are besmirched by their own grime."

OUR HUMBLE INDUSTRIES.

But very few people have any idea of the enormous value, in the aggregate, of our humble farm industries, and almost everyone will be surprised at the magnitude of the following figures, which have been compiled by the New York World, from the official records:

The value of $25,000,000 placed on the annual output of honey, puts the farm crop only slightly behind raw sugar, which has a valuation at the refineries of $25,000,000. Comparing with the output of the sixty-four beet sugar factories, which have a capacity of 48,500 tons of beet

THE CHRISTMAS TREE

By Wex Jones.

The brave old oak to the greenwood folk
Was the kingliest of trees;
Beneath its crown Robin threw him down
And his merry men took their ease.
And in hot-shot days on the watery ways,
In the prime of hemp and wood,
The stout old oak took many a stroke
And every stroke withstood.

From Pole to Line the Oregon pine
Bends to the ocean blast,
As the world-wide gales fill the lull-
ing sails.

That strain at the royal mast,
A duty fine has the Oregon pine,
Pressing the ships along,
And over the seas in gale and breeze
Singing the wind's own song.

And broad and high to the azure sky
The redwood lifts its crest,
When home was new, 'ere the eagles flew,
It was old in its unknown West.
It was old, old, old, in its mountain hold
On the earliest Christmas morn.
And yet today it keeps its way
And holds the gate in scorn.

Oh, the oak was brave, and every
Knows the lofty mast of pine,
And the redwood old we must always hold
As king of an ancient line:
But the finest tree in the world to me
Is young and weak and small—
The Christmas tree that brings children
—Is the dearest tree of all.

What the Editors of the Southwest Are Saying

Model Corps.

In the report of a funeral an exchange says: "The deceased lay quietly in his coffin. Those present must have been impressed by the splendid example set by the central figure of the occasion—Tucson Citizen."

Stung Worse Than Albuquerque.

How's this—Albuquerque gets Gallop mail at retail at $4.50 per ton; we pay $5.00. It cost the Santa Fe anything like $2.50 a ton of coal from Albuquerque down here, or are we paying for a hypothetical, single?—El Paso Herald.

A Cashed Graphophone.

The trouble with our Graphophone friend seems to be that he tried to know too much all at once. He came here less than a year ago an entire stranger, and at once attempted to assume the leadership of a party that he was utterly unacquainted with. He speaks with all the familiarity of an old stage of those high up in the ranks of either party whom he would not know if he met them on the streets today. He lauds those that are utterly corrupt, because he sees them thus lauded in some of his yellow exchanges.—Domingo Headlight.

Spine vs. Jaw.

"A man has no business in congress without a backbone," says Speaker Cannon. Now, for that matter, without a jaw bone.—Tucson Citizen.

Terrible Holocaust.

The News of the 14th and 15th Tuesday night caused by a superfluity of gasoline. The burning element consumed a part of the foreman's wardrobe, one-half acre out of the sole of the editor's $1.50 Sunday shoes, and severely burned the main spring and coil wheels of the head triangler's alabaster fingers. We had no time in a bill to the insurance company for $250 damages—$50 for material loss and the remainder for the editor's mental anguish.—Artesia News.

Still Oppressed.

Blatancy is still the question uppermost in many territorial minds, notwithstanding the apparent improvement of the situation. It is true that Governor Curry holds a superior lip and relies on the support of the president's aid, while to many it seems to be a slender reed, in which the governor is clinging.—Capitan News.

Poor Chick of Words.

Mr. Deamond of Missouri ought to have employed a longer and more palatable word in the initiation ritual of his newly formed Ananias Club. "Chick" short and only serves to excite such persons as John Sharp Williams.—Phoenix Republican.

Of Great Importance.

Governor Kibbey has received a letter from the executive committee of the Trans-Mississippi Congress, enclosing the official call for the annual convention to be held at the Hotel El Paso, from January 22 to 25 inclusive, and asking him to name delegates to the convention. He will probably do so. This convention is of great importance to the people of Arizona, as it is one of the few interstate congresses that can be of practical benefit to the territory. Arizona is possessed of a large acreage that may be made productive through irrigation, but the people are not organized to do so. It is about that that growing industrial life—Flagstaff News.

Why the Chick is Sore.

Three 400 American planes were shipped to China during the recent war. Now anyone who has seen the Chinese, and who knows that they are a most unattractive race, would make an ideal witness.—Springer Magazine.

Mystery Solved.

The discovery that strange instruments have a favorable influence on the growth of hair may explain why so many bald-headed men secure a tonsure and why they absorb the music from the orchestra.—Tucson Citizen.

ALBUQUERQUE POISON FACTORIES

You Will Be Surprised to Learn How Many There Are.

Did you ever feel stupid and dull after eating a hearty dinner? When food is retained too long in the stomach, because of stomach weakness, the poison factory works overtime and there is gluttony, constipation, drowsiness, heartburn, sleeplessness, nervous trouble and other forms of indigestion.

The general use of M-I-o-na stomach tablets puts within the reach of everyone a reliable and positive cure for all stomach weakness. M-I-o-na quickly cures the worst cases of indigestion, and the pain and distress which often follow meals will soon disappear, and the wonderful curative power of this little tablet.

SAN MIGUEL HOLDS BADLY BURNED BY NEW BRIDGE OVER RIO GRANDE AT MESQUITE

BEST RECORD OF THE COUNTRY

WOOD ALCOHOL EXPLOSION

ANALYSIS AHEAD OF ANY OTHER SHOWING MADE

[Special Correspondence Morning Journal.]

Las Vegas, N. M., Dec. 22.—That Las Vegas and San Miguel county sugar beets have beaten all records of the United States is evidenced by comparing the results of recent analysis with the showing made by the prize sugar beets exhibited at the meeting of the National Irrigation Congress at Boise, Idaho. Here the Great Western Sugar company awarded the prize of $500 to the state of Idaho which exhibited a beet with 16.6 per cent sugar and coefficient of purity of 88.7.

The Las Vegas Optic gives the following results of analyses made by the department of agriculture of San Miguel county beets:

The average weight of the sample beets sent to C. D. Townsend, pathologist in charge of the sugar beet investigations, by G. O. Payne, who owns a ranch on the Mora road, was 15 ounces. The sugar in the juice was 22.20 per cent. The coefficient of purity was 90.2 per cent. These beets were raised under irrigation but without any cultivation whatever. Mr. Townsend says that this report makes a very good showing.

Charles Rudolph raised a large number of beets without irrigation on his ranch at Rociada and forwarded samples to Washington. The report of the analysis which he received showed the average weight of beets to be 17 ounces; sugar in the juice, 18.7 per cent; coefficient of purity, 81.3 per cent. Mr. Townsend said: "As you will see, your beets tested very well, coming within the required 12 per cent sugar in the beet and having a purity coefficient of over 80."

Hilario Montoya was given a quantity of government seed by David C. Winters early in the summer with instructions to plant it as an experiment. Mr. Montoya put out the seed on his farm, the Santa Fe valley, where beets were neither irrigated nor cultivated, but allowed to grow like weeds. The average weight of the samples he sent to the department was 12 ounces. The sugar in the juice ran 20.6 per cent and the coefficient of purity was 90.4 per cent.

Hugh London raised a number of beets on the La Cueva ranch and he writes that he reports from C. O. Townsend, as made by the bureau of chemistry, was as follows: Average weight of beets, 17 ounces; sugar in the juice, 19.70 per cent; coefficient of purity 84.9 per cent. Mr. London says further: "We have this morning sent to the department two other sets of samples as requested by Mr. Townsend of beets left longer in the ground, these have been dug on the 6th instant. The above analysis report is in line with the analysis of the beets we grew here some years ago and covering a period of four years. These should be good."

The above analysis report is in line with the analysis of the beets we grew here some years ago and covering a period of four years. These should be good."

George Ward, steward of the territory hospital for the insane, raised a number of beets without irrigation this year and his report shows the average weight of beets, 10 ounces; sugar in the juice, 20.80 per cent; coefficient of purity, 88.55 per cent.

The sugar beets are accepted for the prizes from one pound weight up and the average size of Colorado beets is from one to three pounds. The beets sent from Las Vegas to Washington were under size, with the view to saving postage, some of the samples raised locally going as high as six to eight pounds.

The following are the averages for sugar beets in the seven leading states in the union for five years, 1901-05, compiled by the department of agriculture: California: Sugar, 16.7; purity, 82.7 per cent. Colorado: Sugar, 14.7; purity, 80.2 per cent. Idaho: Sugar, 16.9; purity, 86.8 per cent. Michigan: Sugar, 14.5 per cent, purity 82.2 per cent. Nebraska: Sugar, 13.7 per cent, purity 80.4 per cent. Utah: Sugar 14.2 per cent; purity, 81.8 per cent. Wisconsin: Sugar, 13.6 per cent, purity 81 per cent.

J. D. Hand is planning to put out fifty acres on the Hatfield ranch, N. E. Beiden will sow five acres on his new land; Erb & Westerman will put out five acres if not more, and the Las Vegas club will raise a large acreage next year.

The northern portion of New Mexico has the advantage of Colorado as a beet raising country because of the warm days and cool nights. Sugar is made, or rather the necessary chemical action takes place, when the beet is resting. It grows rapidly during the day but little at night.

Where the nights are warm the beet grows twenty-four hours to the day and does not gather as large a percentage of saccharine matter.

WIFE OF MESILLA VALLEY FARMER SERIOUSLY HURT

3000 Packages of Christmas Express Sent Out From Las Cruces; Mining Company Increases Capital.

[Special Correspondence Morning Journal.]

Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 22.—Mrs. Frank Krapp, wife of one of the largest farmers in the Mesilla valley, was very badly burned by the explosion of a bottle of wood alcohol on last Friday. She had the bottle of alcohol in one hand endeavoring to charge an acetylene lamp. She struck a match with the other hand and the explosion followed.

The local Wells Fargo and company's express office has billed out over 3,000 packages of Christmas express this year, which is three times more than over here. Many of the packages were mistletoe. Mesilla valley mistletoe has a reputation all over the country of being the finest on the market and it is much sought for. It grows mostly on cotton wood trees and many of the large cotton wood trees on the ditch banks and in the Mesquites are literally loaded down with the plant.

On Monday the Big Horn Mining company, in the Organ mountains, will vote to increase its capital stock from $200,000 to $400,000 for the purpose of running the shaft 500 feet further, making a total depth of 700 feet, the shaft being already 200 feet deep.

Mr. J. I. McCullough, president of the Stephens-Bennett Mining company, entertained a party of eight friends last week looking over his property. The visitors were very well pleased with the proposition and bought considerable stock, thereby signifying their faith in the Organ mining district.

Mr. Percy Wilson, mayor of Silver City, was a visitor to Las Cruces this week, looking after some legal business.

Mr. E. M. Gale, of Peoria, Ill., this week purchased a 40-acre ranch on the west side of the river, near San Miguel, through the Las Cruces Realty company.

Miss Finney, a teacher in the public schools of Las Cruces, has gone to her home in Albuquerque to spend the Christmas vacation.

"RAFFLES" MAKES A BIG HIT IN BISBEE

S. Miller Kent in Title Role and Cast Taken as a Whole Declared the Best Ever Seen in Arizona Town.

"Raffles, the Amateur Crackman," which appears at the Elks' theater this afternoon and night, has made a hit wherever it has been shown on the boards.

In commenting on the appearance of the clever play in "Bisbee Review," of that city, says: "With S. Miller Kent playing the title role, 'Raffles' at the Elks' theater last evening was undoubtedly the hit of the local theatrical season. Revolving as it does not only around the cleverness of an adventuress, but pursuing what might be called a perfect fiction, but also centering on the affection of the hunted man for a woman, the play holds a double interest. It is but the truth to say that the cast taken as a whole was the strongest ever seen in Bisbee."

Although a gentleman of refinement, an honored guest at the foremost houses, a popular clubman, and good at heart, "Raffles" still has the unexpected something which makes him steal simply for the fun of the game and the sport of fooling the greatest detective. After running a long race in which he is never suspected, the "amateur crackman" comes across a woman whom he has known before, and who, although she has since been married, becomes embittered because of his evident affection for another woman. Between this former acquaintance and "Captain Redford," "Raffles" has a lively time, but wins out.

In the title role Kent displays the ability of a great actor. Because of the quick action of the play, he is forced into some of the most delicate positions from which he extricates himself with the grace and suavity that would be expected in the imaginary burglar. Possessed of a fine appearance, which counts for much, Kent also possesses an ease of manner which stands him in good stead, when he refuses the love of two women, one who betrays him and the other who would sacrifice everything to save him. In both situations his real ability was shown, and to the greatest advantage.

The supporting company, is of a high standard.

In spite of the fact that "Raffles" was the best offering of the theatrical season from every standpoint, the audience was pitifully small, and those who bemoan the fate of Bisbee's being off the main line, making it hard for big productions to play here, yet refuse to support them when they do come, will undoubtedly have many seasons before such a show is seen here again after the present season.

A somewhat unusual sale, or series of sales was made in Albuquerque Monday by the salesmen in the Harvey Indian rooms. The "California Limited" arrived a distinguished looking stranger, with a high Parisian accent, entered the Indian rooms and began buying from the jump. He knew what he wanted and selected quickly and intelligently. His bill was quite a large one. When he came to settle he did not offer a check, but he tendered a handful of French gold. The salesman was puzzled but Manager Herman Schweizer, who has been in Europe did not hesitate to take the money. It is probably the first sale ever made for French gold in Albuquerque.

INDIAN GOODS PAID FOR IN FRENCH GOLD

Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 22.—Work has begun on the new wagon bridge over the Rio Grande at Mesquite station on the Santa Fe. Mr. August Asinger, of Santa Fe, superintendent of bridges for the Santa Fe Central railroad, has charge of the construction. The bridge will cost $5,000, which amount has all been contributed by property owners. For many years the farmers and residents on the west side of the Rio Grande have had no means of crossing the river except by fording, which in high waters is very dangerous.

Several years ago there was a bridge at Vado, but one end was washed out and the river changed its channel and left the bridge on dry land. The only bridge at the present time across the river is at the Leaburg diversion dam at Selden.

The Mesquite bridge will do much towards developing the valley on the west side and Mesquite will develop into a full fledged station by virtue of the farm products brought there for shipment.

Las Cruces will also be much benefited, as much of the trade from the west side which formerly went to El Paso will now come to Las Cruces. The west side has very good irrigation ditch, but its development has been retarded on account of lack of transportation facilities, but with the completion of the bridge this valley will develop very rapidly.

Under the treaty of Guadalupe at the close of the Mexican war the valley on the west side of the river from El Paso to Pico, about five miles northwest of Las Cruces, was Mexican territory and did not become United States territory until the Gadsden purchase in 1854. At that time, however, the river ran close to Las Cruces and followed the east side of the valley to El Paso, consequently the valley from Las Cruces south was a beautiful broad valley and was granted to the Mexican people of the valley who did not want to become citizens of the United States, and the grant was known as the Mesilla grant or the Mesilla valley. In 1862 the river changed to the west side of the valley, leaving Mesilla and most of the land on the east side of the river. When the Santa Fe railway built up the valley it came up on the east side, consequently the east side has developed much faster than the west side.

The west side has very good irrigation ditch, but its development has been retarded on account of lack of transportation facilities, but with the completion of the bridge this valley will develop very rapidly.

Under the treaty of Guadalupe at the close of the Mexican war the valley on the west side of the river from El Paso to Pico, about five miles northwest of Las Cruces, was Mexican territory and did not become United States territory until the Gadsden purchase in 1854. At that time, however, the river ran close to Las Cruces and followed the east side of the valley to El Paso, consequently the valley from Las Cruces south was a beautiful broad valley and was granted to the Mexican people of the valley who did not want to become citizens of the United States, and the grant was known as the Mesilla grant or the Mesilla valley. In 1862 the river changed to the west side of the valley, leaving Mesilla and most of the land on the east side of the river. When the Santa Fe railway built up the valley it came up on the east side, consequently the east side has developed much faster than the west side.

Neat Souvenirs For Geologists; Interesting Sketch Map of Excursion to Sandia.

One of the most attractive, accurate and useful maps of New Mexico ever seen is that just issued by the University of New Mexico, published by the American Book company in Chicago.

The map is enclosed as a folder in a handsome pocket size imitation red Morocco leather cover, with gold lettering and will fill a long felt want. The map is issued especially for the benefit of the geologists who will gather here December 31 to attend the annual meeting of the Geological Society of America. It is accurate, or as accurate as it is possible to get a map, to the smallest details and includes all the railroads up to date. On the back of the map is a sketch of the geography of New Mexico written by former President C. L. Herrick of the university and revised by Prof. C. E. Holgin of the present variety faculty.

Another very interesting map just printed is an outline of the coast of the Sandia mountains, to be traversed in automobiles by the geologists during their expedition to the range while here. It is compiled with great pains by Prof. W. G. Flint, and shows the south peak of the Sandias, Tijeras canyon and as far south as the Manzano peaks. It furnishes a complete key to the geology of the range, cross sections of the uplift showing graphically the structure and strata of the Sandias. It is a very clever little map and reflects considerable credit on its author.

Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 22.—Work has begun on the new wagon bridge over the Rio Grande at Mesquite station on the Santa Fe. Mr. August Asinger, of Santa Fe, superintendent of bridges for the Santa Fe Central railroad, has charge of the construction. The bridge will cost $5,000, which amount has all been contributed by property owners. For many years the farmers and residents on the west side of the Rio Grande have had no means of crossing the river except by fording, which in high waters is very dangerous.

Several years ago there was a bridge at Vado, but one end was washed out and the river changed its channel and left the bridge on dry land. The only bridge at the present time across the river is at the Leaburg diversion dam at Selden.

The Mesquite bridge will do much towards developing the valley on the west side and Mesquite will develop into a full fledged station by virtue of the farm products brought there for shipment.

Las Cruces will also be much benefited, as much of the trade from the west side which formerly went to El Paso will now come to Las Cruces. The west side has very good irrigation ditch, but its development has been retarded on account of lack of transportation facilities, but with the completion of the bridge this valley will develop very rapidly.

THE BUSINESS TIDE IS STILL RISING

Five years ago timid business men, all over the world, felt that the tide of business prosperity must soon turn—that the pendulum must shortly swing backward, to the other side—that rising values, extensive investments of savings funds, the enormous increase in volume of business in every line, most bring the dreaded reaction; must bring "hard times."

There are not so many of these timid people now—but there are still some who are afraid of their own shadows in a business way; and who are still portents in every epoch on the business horizon.

A great man once defined a pessimist as "one who sees two evils where but one exists, AND ACCEPTS THEM BOTH." Occasionally a merchant justifies this definition.

The real BUSINESS OPTIMIST is he who refuses to see even one evil where two exist—nor to accept either.

As a matter of fact, the wisest business men (not the most optimistic—but the most far-seeing believe, at the present moment, that BUSINESS FLOOD-TIDE IS A LIFE-TIME AWAY.

With usual and harmless fluctuations BUSINESS IS GOING TO BE BETTER AND BETTER EVERY YEAR FOR THE BEST OF OUR NATURAL LIVES—so that WE should not spend much time worrying about what we will do when "hard times" come again. AND, as always, in good and poor times.

ALBUQUERQUE MEN BREACH OF PEACE READY TO HELP THE CONGRESS

FIVE OF THEM OFFER TO CONTRIBUTE $500 EACH

Enthusiasm For the Biggest Project Is Growing Rapidly and the Outlook Is As Bright As Could Be.

"I was assured by no less than five business men of Albuquerque today that they are ready to give $500 each to the expense account of the Sixteenth National Irrigation congress," said Chairman W. S. Hopewell of the board of control, just before he departed for Hillsboro last night where he will spend Christmas with his family.

"These five men are not bankers, nor are they capitalists. They are just ordinary business men who work for a living, yet every one of them pledged me this sum for the expenses of the congress. It is a hopeful sign and one that means a complete success for the congress. There never has been any doubt in my mind that Albuquerque would rise to the needs of the irrigation congress, but as the whole territory is coming forward, so far as I know there has never been a movement in New Mexico which has been so general and so spontaneous and generous as this movement for the support of the irrigation congress. Every section we have visited and many which we have not yet had time to visit has voluntarily offered to help the congress and the exposition with cash and exhibits and now we see that Albuquerque is coming to the front in the good old way. All New Mexico is together in this congress and it is going to win and win big."

"I shall be away for several days but on my return at the end of the week I expect to call a meeting of the board of control for the first of the coming week at which all committees will be named and the organization completed for the beginning of hard work with the first day of the new year. Much has already been done for the congress but the hard work remains to be done. Our headquarters will be opened shortly after New Year and the promotion of the congress will begin in earnest. All that is necessary is for the present harmonious enthusiasm to continue. It means success and success that will be worth ready money to every district in New Mexico."

Col. Hopewell has addressed letters to Governor Curry formally asking the assistance of the governor in securing artillery, cavalry and infantry from the regular army to attend the congress for exhibits from the several states and territories and for the co-operation of the department of education of the territory in making a complete showing of the work which the New Mexico public school system is doing. He has also advised President Gaudy of the congress of the organization of the working force and has asked for a conference early in January at which final details of the organization will be perfected. The irrigation congress work is on its feet and is going ahead as rapidly as the most optimistic could have predicted or desired.

Man Who Finds Work For the Indians Discusses What Has Been Accomplished in the Dakotas.

Charles E. Dagenette who holds the very important post of employment agent for the Indians under the supervision of the United States government and who has probably been the means of putting more Indians into useful employment than any other man since the Indian problem came under the care of the federal government, arrived in Albuquerque yesterday for the Christmas holidays from South Dakota where for the past three months he has been actively engaged in solving the serious problem presented by the Ute Indians who have been disposed to recent removal from their reservation and their introduction into the American method of earning a living.

"The newspaper stories of the Ute troubles have been largely exaggerated," said Mr. Dagenette yesterday in discussing the Ute situation. "At the present time practically all of the Ute Indians are at work on the railroad in the vicinity of Rapid City, South Dakota, and there is apparently little disposition to make trouble among any of them. There was some resentment among the Indians at the application of the settled policy of the Indian commissioner which has for its object the making of a self-supporting people out of the Indians, but when the matter was properly presented to the Utes they consented to go to work, and for the most part they are all making useful workmen. At no time was there any serious need for calling on the troops and no further trouble with these Indians is to be expected."

Mr. Dagenette since his appointment as leader of employment for the Indians of the west has placed hundreds of red men in profitable employment, having been particularly active and successful in placing the Indians from the New Mexico Pueblos and the Navajo reservations.

Man Who Finds Work For the Indians Discusses What Has Been Accomplished in the Dakotas.

Charles E. Dagenette who holds the very important post of employment agent for the Indians under the supervision of the United States government and who has probably been the means of putting more Indians into useful employment than any other man since the Indian problem came under the care of the federal government, arrived in Albuquerque yesterday for the Christmas holidays from South Dakota where for the past three months he has been actively engaged in solving the serious problem presented by the Ute Indians who have been disposed to recent removal from their reservation and their introduction into the American method of earning a living.

"The newspaper stories of the Ute troubles have been largely exaggerated," said Mr. Dagenette yesterday in discussing the Ute situation. "At the present time practically all of the Ute Indians are at work on the railroad in the vicinity of Rapid City, South Dakota, and there is apparently little disposition to make trouble among any of them. There was some resentment among the Indians at the application of the settled policy of the Indian commissioner which has for its object the making of a self-supporting people out of the Indians, but when the matter was properly presented to the Utes they consented to go to work, and for the most part they are all making useful workmen. At no time was there any serious need for calling on the troops and no further trouble with these Indians is to be expected."

Mr. Dagenette since his appointment as leader of employment for the Indians of the west has placed hundreds of red men in profitable employment, having been particularly active and successful in placing the Indians from the New Mexico Pueblos and the Navajo reservations.
