WOULD WIPE OUT MINERS UNION

INJUNCTION SOUGHT BY GOLDFIELD OPERATORS

Labor Organization Declared a Nuisance in Petition Which Asks Federal Court to Order Its Dissolution.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Goldfield, Nev., Dec. 26.—Late this afternoon officials of the miners union of Goldfield and Mr. Mahoney of the Western Federation of Miners who is here to effect a settlement of the existing troubles learned of a plan of the Goldfield Miners association to secure an injunction through the federal courts preventing picketing and bringing about the dissolution of the Goldfield Miners union.

When asked tonight what the course of the miners would be in face of this latest move of the opposition, Mr. Mahoney said:

"An injunction of this kind, is issued, will mean that there is nothing left for the miners to do but to jump into the sea."

"Had the petition been for a writ restraining the miners from picketing or boycotting I would not have been surprised, but in the bill of complaint, as I understand it, there are two new points. One of these is the prayer for an order of the court prohibiting the miners from continuing their organization on the ground that it is a nuisance."

"The other point that is new is the request that the Goldfield union be dissolved. Any judge or set of men who fancy that the Goldfield miners will submit mildly to such procedure are greatly mistaken. I would favor ignoring any such order from any court. Injunctions have to be a joke to the American people and this one would be the biggest joke of all. We shall fight it with every weapon at our disposal. There would be nothing else for us to do."

"I assume that the watchers or examiners suggested in the bill of complaint means United States deputy marshals. These would tend to embitter the elements to this controversy more than federal troops."

Charles S. McKinnon, president of the local union, declared that the union would fight the injunction.

Residents of Goldfield are expected to hear at any moment that Governor Sparks has decided to call an extra session of the legislature to consider new laws looking to the organization of a body of state rangers of police to preserve law and order in case of trouble over the outcome of the dispute which now threatens to be long drawn out.

PORTUGUESE PREMIER WAGES WAR ON GRAFT

Disinclination to be Separated From Sinner's Unites Foes of Government in King Carlos' Domain.

Lisbon, Dec. 26.—Graft is chiefly responsible for the present turmoil in Portugal, the sharp dispute between King Carlos and his subjects on the question whether he should govern by the constitution or through a dictator.

Hitherto graft has flourished in all the Portuguese officialdoms, but Senator Franco, King Carlos' minister, has declared war on the system, hence the trouble, or a great part of it.

Senator Franco has bravely undertaken the task of cleaning the Augean stables of Portuguese officialdom, which was as full of comfortable sinners, as England under the Georges. The postoffice, the customs house, diplomacy and hundreds of unnecessary offices holding, draining fat salaries, have been declared war on by Franco and of course doing nothing for the money. They have now been fired wholesale, and have retaliated by fomenting the agitation against the portly king and his dictator. Senator Franco has incurred the animosity of both parties in the legislature, the grafting system has been built up by each political side while in power.

FIRE IN SNOWSHEDS DEMOLISHES TRAFFIC

Southern Pacific Trains Held Up in Sierra Nevada.

Sacramento, Cal., Dec. 26.—A fire which started early this morning in the Southern Pacific snow sheds at Troy, a short distance east of Chico, tied up traffic on the line "over the hill" until late this afternoon when the track was cleared. The fire caught the snow sheds and the wreckage of four freight cars which were demolished in a collision with a locomotive. Two hundred feet of sheds burned before the fire could be extinguished.

Fire until 4:30 o'clock this afternoon when five trains from Blue Canyon and the Summit and a wrecking train from this city succeeded in clearing the track.

Besides the damage done the sheds, which it will take several days to repair, telephone and telegraph wires went down and for a time communication was cut off. Conductor William Lindsay, who was in the caboose of the freight train, was painfully injured. The cause of the collision is not known.

CALIFORNIA LITIGANT LOSES PECULIAR SUIT

Sought Damages From Judge Who Resigned Office While His Case Was Pending.

Sacramento, Cal., Dec. 26.—The third district court of appeals today decided that W. W. Wyatt is not entitled to damages because Superior Judge N. D. Arnot resigned the Alpine county bench and took up the work of the El Dorado county superior court while Wyatt's suit against Thomas Barber was pending decision. The case was heard by Judge Arnot in September, 1904. In November of that year he was elected to the El Dorado bench and resigned as judge in Alpine, leaving a decision in the case to Judge Clark Howard, who succeeded him on the Alpine bench. Judge Howard had to have a rehearing of the case and he rendered judgment for Wyatt the following June. Wyatt held that he was entitled to damages because Arnot had delayed the decision, but Judge Howard sustained Judge Arnot's decision and this ruling is upheld by the court of appeals which based its decision on the ground that under the law Arnot was not obliged to render a decision before any specific time.

WOMAN SLAIN BY UNKNOWN ASSASSIN

NUDE BODY FOUND IN NEW JERSEY SWAMP

Crew of Mysterious Sailboat Gathered in by Police on Suspicion of Complicity in Cowardly Crime.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Newark, N. J., Dec. 26.—A murder combining the elements of mystery and deliberate cruelty that took it out of the ordinary was committed in Hackensack Meadows at the town of Harrison, early today and the nude body of the victim, a comely woman of probably 30 years nearly submerged in the icy waters of a little pond, was found today.

The dead woman was finely featured, hair and nails giving evidence of a recent and scrupulous toilette and the character of the clothing suggested in texture and style, an owner of refinement.

The body had not been identified tonight and it was not that of a resident of this city. Harrison, N. J., is a small town near the town of Hackensack Meadows. The two men who occupied a yacht moored near where the body was found, are detained by the police but the most important clue obtained was furnished tonight by Peter Cogan, a watchman employed by the Marine Engine company, who recognized the body as that of a woman whom he had seen crossing the meadows in company with a man early today. Later he saw the man alone. He then carried a bundle in his arms. The man was short and stout.

Life had been extinct, the coroner said, about ten hours. A mark on the neck indicated that strangulation was the manner of death. Scratches on the leg and trunk and pieces of cinder forced into the flesh showed that the body had been dragged along a cinder path that adds the pond. Along his path the police soon picked up a white silk waist, slashed up the back, a skirt and a pair of silk garters. Following the path the police came upon the yacht "Idle Hour," tied up at a point on the Passaic about 300 feet from where the body was found.

On the yacht, the police said, they found a seashell muff and a fur neck piece.

The occupants of the yacht were Albert Thompson, 41 years of age, of Elberton, a boatman, and Frederick Kirkman, 38 years old, both employed on the boat. Thompson said he found the four pieces near the cinder path this morning. The police found on the boat a quantity of liquor for three diners. ## SIX THOUSAND LIVES LOST IN COAL MINES LAST YEAR

Recent Disaster at Jacobs Creek Arouses Congress to Necessity of Protecting Lives of Workmen.

CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS BLAMED FOR CALAMITIES

Scientists Declare Explosions Are Generally Preventable And Cite Experience of Other Countries to Prove Claim.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.] Washington, Dec. 26.—The terrible mine disaster at Jacobs Creek, Pa., has aroused in congress recognition that something is necessary to be done to protect the men who toil underground. Congress has known, or course, that American mines, like American railroads, claimed a larger percentage of victims than the mines of any other nation, but with four shocking disasters in the present month the awful increase in the slaughter has been forced upon their attention.

The principal mine disasters of the year, in addition to that at Jacobs Creek, have been as follows: December 2, at Lafayette City, Pa., seven killed.

December 6, at Monongah, W. Va., 550 killed.

December 16, at Yonah, Ala., sixty killed.

September 20, at Negaunee, Mich., eighteen killed.

June 18, at Priceburg, Pa., seven killed.

May 1, at Scarboro, W. Va., fourteen killed.

March 16, at Tacoma, W. Va., sixteen killed.

February 4, at Thomas, W. Va., thirty killed.

January 29, at Thurmond, W. Va., twenty-eight killed.

January 25, at Lorentz, W. Va., twenty-eight killed.

January 22, at Primo, Colo., twenty killed.

In the eleven major accidents of the year it is notable that eleven of them were in coal mines and were caused by explosions. The only exception was the one at Negaunee, Mich., where eighteen men were killed by the breaking of an elevator cable in an iron mine.

During the year 1906 nearly 6,000 workers lost their lives in the coal mines of the United States. When the statistics for 1907 are compiled it probably will be found that the loss of life in the coal mines of the United States the mining of coal ought to be attended by less danger than in any other country of the world. Our shafts are not so deep as are those of other countries. The miners are not so heavily armed as those of other countries. The miners are not so heavily armed as those of other countries.

Such a department may be created at some time in the future, but not now. It is a difficult matter to add a new member to the cabinet. The agricultural interests clamored for years before the commissioner of agriculture was raised to secretary of agriculture, with cabinet dignity. Commerce and labor finally got representation only by combining. There is a probability that a bureau of mines and mining under Hughes' patronage, and a bill to that effect was introduced the other day by Representative McHenry, of Pennsylvania. Mr. McHenry's bill was interesting from the further fact that it provided a fund for the relief of the victims of mine disasters, the fund to be created by a tax of 1 cent on every ton of coal mined.

It has been demanded for many years that congress should create a department of mines and mining, the head of which should sit in the president's cabinet.

CORTELYOU IS AFTER GOB'S SCALP

LIVELY ROW BREWING IN NATIONAL CAPITAL

Head of Treasury Department Blames President's Secretary For Putting Him in Bad With Mr. Roosevelt.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.] Washington, Dec. 26.—William Loebl, Jr., secretary to the president, is in hotter water just now than any other man in Washington. George B. Cortelyou, who preceded Mr. Loebl as secretary to the president, but who since then has in turn been secretary of commerce and labor, chairman of the republican national committee, postmaster general and secretary of the treasury, has been "getting things" ever since he made his appearance upon the stage. Washington is inclined to the belief that he will get Loebl.

Cortelyou, according to the report, blames Loebl for putting him "in bad" with the president. It will be remembered that some time ago newspapermen began to make their appearance to the effect that Cortelyou was suspected by the president of disloyalty and that he would be called upon to explain his course with reference to the circulating of southern delegates. It was said that while these delegates were ostensibly being lined up for a third term for Roosevelt, in reality they were being nailed down for Cortelyou. Cortelyou, still according to the report, blames Loebl for the circulation of these tales.

That the situation embarrassed Cortelyou because when he issued his statement denying that he was a presidential candidate or had been giving the president the "double cross," now comes the interesting part of the story. The issuance of Mr. Cortelyou's statement was followed by a heart-to-heart talk with the president. Mr. Roosevelt expressed himself as perfectly satisfied with the course of the secretary of the treasury and much to Cortelyou's amazement, denied ever having doubted him. Then Cortelyou began to wonder where the story came from. They said Loebl had printed the Roosevelt-Cortelyou rupture stories were Cortelyou's. He sent for them and asked where the story came from. They said Loebl.

"Phew!" That threw into the plot several great globs of thickening. If Loebl, why? If long has been known that Loebl suffered from a loss of popularity because he had failed to achieve the popularity Cortelyou enjoyed while the president's secretary, and also that he harbored some jealousy of Cortelyou after success, but nothing was known that would begin to justify him in playing so hazardous a game as this would indicate. Then began the search for a motive in what follows is not vouched for by the writer, but it is the one Cortelyou's friends assign for the conduct they charge against him.

It is known for more than a year that Mr. Loebl was ambitious to become president of the Washington Railway and Electric company, a holding company which controls all but one of the street railway systems of the district of Columbia. The one man who has it in his power to gratify that ambition is Frederick C. Stevens, commissioner of public works of New York, president of a Washington bank and prominently identified with other financial institutions at the capital. Stevens is ambitious to see Governor Hughes nominated for president. The prospect of Hughes' nomination would be greatly enhanced if Cortelyou were to move Cortelyou as rival of Hughes for New York's support; but it might drive the president into recognition of the desirability of New York making Hughes her favorite son.

This is the story that is going the rounds in Washington. Sooner or later it is going to reach the ears of the president. Then there is going to be a "showdown," and something of considerable weight will be apt to drop.

MOTION TO ACQUIT BANKER WALSH

JUDGE ANDERSON FAILS TO AGREE WITH CONTENTIONS OF ATTORNEY FOR ACCUSED CHICAGO BANK LOOTERS.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Chicago, Dec. 26.—Judge Anderson in the United States district court today overruled a motion to take the Walsh case from the jury. Attorney Miller was interrupted during his argument for the defense by Judge Anderson, who said:

"It is unnecessary for you to talk longer, sir. From the evidence presented, it does not appear as if you are to decide this case myself. It is, therefore, useless for you to talk further. The more you discuss this thing the worse it looks to me. This motion is overruled."

JUDGE DISAGREES WITH DEFENDANT'S ATTORNEY

Chicago, Dec. 26.—The attorneys for John R. Walsh today made a motion that the pending case against Walsh in the federal district court be taken from the jury because of the alleged failure of the government to prove that any financial losses had occurred as a result of transactions of Mr. Walsh as president of the Chicago National bank, and also because of alleged failure of the government to show that any of the acts charged had been committed with intent to defraud. Extended arguments followed.

Attorney John H. Miller, acting for Mr. Walsh, asserted that the bank's books provided that the president should be manager and controller of all its affairs.

"The evidence so far tends to show," interrupted Judge Anderson, "that the defendant attempted to serve two masters and that is always a difficult thing to do."

"But not criminal," broke in Miller.

"And the by-laws of the bank made no difference," concluded the court. Mr. Miller argued that the government had failed to prove that the various "memorandum" notes issued by Walsh were fraudulent.

"Of course they were fraudulent," said Judge Anderson. "They were clearly very deceptive and every time one of them was entered upon the books of the bank it was a false entry."

Mr. Miller contended that the practice of using memorandum notes had the sanction of the bank examiners. "I don't care about that," said Judge Anderson. "Any controller or president who does that commits against the law and neglects his duty. Had the comptroller and the bank examiners done their duty, the case would have gone as far as it could and this bank would have been closed up long before it was."

Regarding the investments in the Chicago World, entered upon by Mr. Miller, the defendant was acting for the benefit of the bank.

NAVY DIVIDED BY JEALOUS DISCORD

STAFF AND LINE DISPUTE REVIVED BY BROWNSON

Secretary Metcalf Declines to Discuss Issues Involved in Controversy Over Resignation of Chief of Navigation.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Washington, Dec. 26.—There were no developments today in the Browns-on-Walsh controversy, owing to the absence from Washington of the president. Admiral Brownson relinquished his position as chief of the bureau of navigation yesterday and the duties of that office were discharged today by Commander Metcalf, assistant to the chief of the bureau.

Commander Metcalf was not designated nor appointed chief of the bureau, as the result of recent events, but signed all of his mail as "acting chief."

Now the legality of the president's proposed action in the matter of assigning a staff officer in the person of surgeon Sikes to command the hospital ship Relief has been called into question, it is proper to state that the release of the line officers is upon a provision in Section 1 of the naval personnel act of March 3, 1899. That section, among other things, was designed to clear up doubt that existed as to the right of staff officers to assume the title of a line officer of a corresponding grade in the matter of pay and emoluments and length of service. Up to that date staff officers had enjoyed what was called "relative rank," with which they were not satisfied, so in section 1 of the word "relative" was stricken out, so that all sections of the revised statutes, which in defining the rank of officers in positions in the navy, contained the words "relative rank" were amended so as to read "the rank of," etc.

Line officers understand this to mean that no such officer of seniority, if they shall ever be again commissioned engineer or paymaster or constructor, shall be placed in a position on based elsewhere he may command the ship or station of a line officer of any person out of his own staff corps.

The staff officers, for their part, hold that this act does not in any sense abridge any rank formerly enjoyed by a staff officer, and a careful perusal of the act appears to justify the statement that this provision is open to controversy and that it is measurable ground for difference of opinion as to the meaning of the law.

Secretary Metcalf again today declined to enter into any discussion of the issues which prompted Admiral Brownson's resignation and of the controversy over the difference of opinion as to the meaning of the law. Secretary Metcalf again today declined to enter into any discussion of the issues which prompted Admiral Brownson's resignation and of the controversy over the difference of opinion as to the meaning of the law.

PULLMAN COMPANY DECLARES OTERO WASN'T HURT

FILES ANSWER IN THE SUIT FOR $5000 DAMAGES

Defendants Denies Everything in the Calendar and Says Otero Had no Business Putting Fingers in the Door Jamb.

The Pullman Palace Car company, through its Albuquerque agent, E. A. Davis, and Attorney H. B. Ferguson, filed its answer in the district court yesterday to the suit for $5,000 damages by Fred J. Otero against the Santa Fe railway and the Pullman company on account of a musket hand sustained in the crack of a door on a Pullman car through the alleged negligence of defendants.

The Pullman company denies each and every allegation in the complaint and there are a good many of them. It denies it was, as alleged, the owner of certain cars; denies that Otero was a passenger on a train owned and controlled by the Pullman company; denies it was defendant's duty to safely transport said F. J. Otero and furnish a safe and suitable train for this purpose; denies it was its duty to equip same with safe and secure appliances, to keep and maintain the roadbed in proper condition; to maintain a proper and safe rate of speed or to insure in any way the safety of said F. J. Otero; denies it invited passengers to sit on the rear platform of the observation car or pretends to said passengers that it is a safe and secure place to sit; denies pretending that a spring catch device on the rear door was safe and in good working order, and denies that it was guilty of negligence in having a defective catch on the door.

The defendant Pullman company furthermore denies that the plaintiff put his hand in the jamb of the door to hold himself when the train rocked around a curve at a high rate of speed; denies that a defective catch caused the door to slam on plaintiff's fingers; denies his fingers were greatly lacerated; denies he was laid up and incapacitated for business for eight weeks and was obliged to spend a large sum of money for medical and other services, or was injured as alleged in the sum of $5,000. The defendant alleges that any injury Otero sustained was due to his own negligence and not to the company's.

"RED FEATHER" BEST GAITES SHOW ON THE ROAD

BUSINESS MANAGER SAYS THAT SKINS 'EM ALL

Manager For Charles B. Hanford in the City to Make Arrangements for Presentation of Gorgeous "Antony and Cleopatra."

"Red Feather" is the one show on which we will never take water," declared R. W. Priest, the engaging business manager of the famous Gaites attraction, who arrived in the city last night. Mr. Priest is in Albuquerque making arrangements for the presentation of the elaborate and beautiful comic opera at the Elks' theater on New Years.

"Red Feather" suits the man with the high brow and the man with the retreating face alike," said Mr. Priest. "You have seen Little Johnny Jones and the Mayor of Tokyo. Rather classic, aren't they?—but Red Feather has them all backed off the stage. It delights every class of theatergoers alike. The critics up in Denver have enthusiastically declared that it is the very best musical show that Denver has seen since the Bostonians. I can assure you positively that it is the very best of all the string of the Joseph M. Gaites operas and comedies."

that you will admit after seeing the performance that Albuquerque has never witnessed anything to equal it."

HANFORD IN "ANTHONY AND CLEOPATRA" F. Lawrence Walker, the well known manager for Charles B. Hanford, arrived in the city last night in the interest of "Anthony and Cleopatra," the magnificent Egyptian drama, in which the great Shakespearean actor is said by many to appear at his best. Mr. Walker is displaying a number of very unusual photographs of scenes from the play and group pictures of the feminine members of the cast, which in themselves, judging from the pictures, will form a beauty show to pack the peasant heaven to the roof.

In "Anthony and Cleopatra" every resource of the artist is called into play in producing scenic and light effects that are gorgeous beyond description. An unusual feature of the performance "this year," said Mr. Walker, "the exhibitions during the overture of a series of beautiful photographs of scenes in Egypt—the Sphinx, the Pyramids, the Nile, Carthage, Alexandria—views bought in Europe at great cost and exhibited by an expensive machine. They add the last touch of realism to the performance, displayed for fifteen or twenty minutes before the play, and have made a great hit everywhere."

Buster Brown.

The attraction at the Elks' theater for Monday night, December 29, will be the hilarious cartoon comedy, "Buster Brown." This popular entertainment is this season being presented in a revised form, and writers elsewhere have conceded to be a marked improvement over the play as presented in past seasons. While the changes are many, Buster's mischievousness continues the main theme. This makes new shapes that lead up to a series of ludicrous situations. "Buster" is still the apparently innocent and guileless child, but he keeps busy getting those about him into hot water. In this he has a willing ally in "Tige," his dog. Another character that figures largely in the funmaking is the tramp, yet the new characters introduced, "Mary Jones" is the most prominent. An excellent cast is engaged in the interpretation of the several roles. Of Master Rice's performance a "Buster" Mr. Outcault says he has at last seen the character played correctly. "Buster's" fellow conspirator, "Tige," is still acted by "Jack" Bell, while the tramp, "Rocky," has an able exponent in Roger Gray. "Dainty" Lella Cantha continues as "Mary Jones," a character that she looks and acts most charmingly. Mamie Goodrich is still the Irish cook, a role created for her. A newcomer in the cast who is bound to make many friends is Nellie V. Nichols, who will assume the role of "Susie Sweet." Others in the cast are Beatrice Flint, Lizzie Goode, E. Coit Albegson, George Toeman, Percy Walling, and a chorus of forty. A feature has been made of the music in the current edition of "Buster Brown." Of the twenty numbers with which the play is interspersed, there is not one that has not been favorably received by the play-going public. Among them will be found no slow, dronish airs, but instead every one is of the dashing lively order. The effectiveness with which these numbers are presented is accentuated by the excellent work of the chorus. Tasteful and gorgeous scenery add much to the ensemble. An important addition for the best engagement is that of the Hughes Minstrel trio.

AND SO WE ALL SAY

Senator Warren, of Missouri, has a bill before the senate for an act to place confederate cemeteries under the charge of the federal government, and in referring to this measure the Kansas City Journal uses the following language:—which will not find more cordial endorsement anywhere than in the hearts of the million veterans who were the blue.

"Nothing" could be so thoughtful and considerate as for the government to take over the supervision of confederate cemeteries and thus add one more to the ties which bind all sections of the country together. The confederates of Alabama have only recently repudiated quite vigorously the scheme of Captain Hobson for federal pensions for ex-confederates on the ground that the agitation of the question would stir up memories happily buried long ago. Any event that will deepen the grave where such memories are buried, or add a single flower to those that "grow in the cannon's mouth," is eminently wise and patriotic. Senator Warren's suggestion, coming from a former commander in chief of the grand army of the republic, is in line with this spirit of wisdom and patriotism.

HE DIDN'T DO IT.

Now we are told by reports from Washington, which seem to be reliable, that there is nothing in that story about charges having been preferred against Governor Curry.

THE STATE AND THE NATION.

Associate Justice Harlan of the United States supreme bench delivered the leading address before the "Kentucky Society" in New York a few evenings since. He spoke in response to the sentiment which forms the official motto of his state—"United we stand; divided we fall," and gave his attention especially to the importance of drawing the line correctly between the rights of the separate states, and those of the federal government.

"The best friends of state rights," he said, "are not those who habitually denounce as illegal everything done by the general government, but those who recognize the government of the union as possessing all the powers granted to it in the constitution."

"The glory of the republic," he continued, "is that its affairs are regulated by a written constitution—the fundamental law of which distributes the powers of government among three separate, co-equal and co-ordinate departments, each exercising the authority, and only the authority, conferred upon it, and which law, until amended by the mode prescribed by itself, must be deemed supreme over the congress, over the president over the courts, over the states and over the people."

Justice Harlan declared that the pessimist is misled by the theory that congress may exert any governmental power not expressly denied to it. It is that body which exercises its power to promote "the general welfare." He held that the general government is one of limited, delegated powers, and is not a popular democracy in which the will of the majority as expressed in the polls at a particular time becomes immediately the supreme law.

"It would be a calamity unparelleled if our institutions and the sacred rights of life, liberty and property should be put at the mercy of a majority uncontrolled by a written supreme law," said Justice Harlan.

The states which would deny to congress powers which are not in words delegated by the constitution Justice Harlan classed as politically akin to those who affirm that the courts may not declare a legislative enactment void even when it is in plain violation of the constitution.

"It is true," continued Justice Harlan, "that national power, as now exercised, covers a wider field of action than it did in the early days of the republic; but that does not prove, as the pessimist would have us think, that the government has usurped powers that do not belong to it, and has entered the domain reserved by and for the states."

"It proves only that the nation has from time to time, as the public interests demanded, brought into active operation powers which congress had not previously chosen to exert. While new laws must always be closely scrutinized and care taken that they are not inconsistent with the constitution, we must not be so unwise or suspicious or timid as to reject a new law simply because it is new, or simply because it may cover areas not conclusively within the mental vision or the thoughts of the framers of the constitution. That wonderful instrument, the supreme court has said, was intended to be adapted to the various crises of human affairs."

Granted the power to enact a statute congress can employ any means not forbidden not inconsistent with the constitution which is germane to the end proposed to be accomplished.

"Therefore let the country gather up all the strength that comes from the patriotism and loyalty of the American people and go forward in its marvelous career, holding to the confident belief, justified by the words of the constitution and by judicial decisions, that the checks of our governmental system will suffice in the future, as they have sufficed in the past, to guard our institutions against insolent attacks upon the fundamental principles of free government, or against the exercise of arbitrary or usurped power. Keeping within this scope and broad lines of the constitution, we may walk safely and without fear."

"Let us not give our approval to any interpretation of the constitution that will either cripple the nation's power and prostrate the nation at the feet of the states, or that will deprive the states of their just powers. Let us hold fast to the broad and liberal and yet safe rules of constitutional construction approved by the fathers and established by judicial decisions. In so doing we will sustain our duty to the union, under which the government of the union is forbidden to exercise any power not granted to it, expressly or by necessary implication, while the states will not be hindered or fettered in the exercise of powers which have not been surrendered to the union, and are not inconsistent with the constitution."

An eastern religious paper speaks of exhibitions recently given in eastern cities in which all the latest tricks in safe-cracking, bar-sawing and other criminal performances are illustrated, as schools in crime, and pertinently remarks that if these playhouses should placard their entrances with signs announcing that instructions in safe blowing could be given free of charge, the police would promptly close them up. But as the instructions are given in the course of an alleged play they are tolerated and the result is disastrous to many of the weak minded who attend such shows and who require very little to start them on a career of crime.

Reviewing at some length the presidential question, the San Francisco Call says, "Speaker Cannon must not be left out of account. It is announced on his behalf that immediately after the holidays his boom will be started with a flourish, with Chicago for headquarters. Your Uncle Joseph will be heard from. It must not be forgotten that in the republican congressmen he has a powerful, skillful and far reaching political machine at his back, and as chief of the stand patters he has the support of great moneyed influences."

Governor Sparks of Nevada, who investigated President Roosevelt into sending the troops to Goldfield, we presume is now a regularly enrolled member of the club—Phoenix Republican.

"Invited him?" That settles your hack. The Morning Journal said one time that a lot of scoundrels had decided him regarding conditions in New Mexico through abbe-hooded lying, and the name of this paper was immediately put upon the hopeless list. But "invited?" That's absolutely intolerable.

Speaking of the enforcement of the Sunday law in New York the Herald says:

"Sacred" vaudeville and concerts at the opera houses were given under the Duell ordinance without police interference.

TAFT AND THE PHILIPPINES.

Although Secretary Taft, by reason of experience he has had in the Philippines, is probably better acquainted with conditions there than any other American citizen he had an opportunity to see during his late visit to the islands, what he never saw there before—namely, Filipinos gathered together for the purpose of legislating in their own behalf. He addressed the assembly, and conferred privately with individual members. In this way he sounded sentiment as to the whole condition of affairs. He likewise made journeys into the interior, and saw the workings there of the American system, and counseled with officials and natives.

The result of all this, as we are told by the Washington Star, was to confirm in the visitor's mind impressions he had previously received. On the leading proposition of the whole Philippine problem—the future of the archipelago as respects American control—he holds to the view expressed when he returned home from his residence in the island as governor general. He thinks years must elapse before the people are ready for independence. Meanwhile we should legislate for them in a spirit of liberality and helpfulness, and by the benefits conferred on the people disarm the agitators who seek to embarrass us in our course.

What the Editors of the Southwest Are Saying

Takes a Modest Man.

The chief requisite for the vice presidential nomination is a large income and a cutting reputation—Los Angeles Daily.

The Important Question.

The question of whose presidential nomination will be supported by Wall Street is not so important as the one of Wall Street's ability to support itself financially.—Albany Review.

Petty Grievances.

New Mexico is cursed with more petty grievances than any other state or territory. The reform movement coming and the territory will be a battleground the coming year.—Tacoma Sun.

New Nickname.

If New Mexico has not a satisfactory nickname, against the time when it may become a state, let it be called the Hidden State. There will be enough rough riders in office by the time a New Mexican candidate for a presidential ticket is every job that is worth throwing a leg over.—San Marcial Standard.

Honorable Holbrook.

On the recommendation of Justice Pittman, of Wisconsin, the judge, who has been doing a little gun show and about the premises of Mrs. K. Shan there, Sheriff Woods should have a very substantial room at the county jail. His moral ticket will last six months there.—Holbrook Argus.

Close to the Swag.

Did you ever notice that the election returns from Pennsylvania—that gave DeLoach Andrews his big political touch—always mention the name of the state treasury that counts? The government? Or could it be that in the old double-ended auger days, always stick in the wheel house when changing camps, as a Pennsylvania politician glass himself at the treasury when changing parties? What's the best job in New Mexico anywhere?—San Marcial Standard.

Reciprocal Obligation.

Albuquerque sought and won the honor of maintaining the national trigonometric network. That is well. It is the duty of Albuquerque to see to it that her enterprise of her guests at that congress leaves nothing in her debt, and that it is her own reputation and so less to the reputation of the entire territory. But it is also the duty of the territory to hold a hand in the promotion of the enterprise that Albuquerque has undertaken, for the whole territory will be benefited by the success of that enterprise. The duty is plain reciprocal. Let everybody busy.—Recorder Chiefman.

Those Housewives.

There came an order from headquarters that all the saloons of the city should be closed. The order, it is said, was made by the long crime should be furnished with "housewives." The order, it is said, was made by the long crime should be furnished with "housewives." The order, it is said, was made by the long crime should be furnished with "housewives."

NO MORE AND NO LESS

The Alamo, republished with some additions and amendments, is the latest edition of the "Famous County" series. This new edition is interesting in various ways. It contains a new chapter on the Alamo, and a new chapter on the Alamo. It contains a new chapter on the Alamo, and a new chapter on the Alamo.

Invited him? That settles your hack. The Morning Journal said one time that a lot of scoundrels had decided him regarding conditions in New Mexico through abbe-hooded lying, and the name of this paper was immediately put upon the hopeless list. But "invited?" That's absolutely intolerable.

Boise, Idaho, Dec. 26.—The latest report of Contractor Holloway indicates that he has succeeded in running into the McKinley tunnel to a distance of 496 feet, this figure showing a rate of progress in a high degree of efficiency for the company's management. At about 400 feet a small body of oil shale was encountered. This was about eight feet thick, and furnishes yet another indication of the good mineral values to be associated with work progresses. The McKinley tunnel, which is entirely new, and has been the subject of extensive development by prospect work for number of years. The formation of the ground is especially adapted to prospecting by tunneling, it being possible to gain any desired depth desired from 100 to 1,000 feet. Recent assays gathered from this property run up into the high fig-

GOVERNOR'S FIRST ANNUAL REPORT IS PUBLIC WRITES OF WORK OF ALBUQUERQUE WOMAN'S CLUB

URGES STATEHOOD AND ACTION ON LIEU LANDS
Executive Tells of Conditions in New Mexico as He Found Them on Assuming Office in August of 1907.

Governor Curry's first annual report to the secretary of the interior has just come from the public printer at Washington and was made public yesterday. The report is very brief, the governor in his introduction stating that he had merely completed the work begun by his predecessor. It reviews general conditions in the territory and gives carefully compiled statistical statements from all important territorial offices, showing the status of New Mexico affairs and conditions in all lines of activity in the territory. The report is a brief, compact and business-like document and will be of first importance in furnishing information about New Mexico. Several thousand copies have been ordered from the government printing office by the executive office and the bureau of immigration for general distribution. The report carries the latest general land office map of New Mexico.

The Governor's Recommendations. In concluding his report, Governor Curry makes the following recommendations:

"I earnestly recommend legislation that will allow the territory of New Mexico to select lieu lands, in the case of sections 16 and 36, that are located within the public domain in the territory, instead of being compelled to select such lands in the vicinity of the land grants, as is now provided. This would enable us to get better land, and I think that the schools need this assistance and are entitled to it."

"I desire also to earnestly recommend the adoption of New Mexico to statehood at the earliest practicable date. We have sufficient population and wealth, and our citizens are law-abiding and most loyal to our government, and they are entitled to the full rights and privileges of American citizenship."

"I am, sir, respectfully yours,
"GEORGE CURRY,
"Governor of New Mexico."
"To the secretary of the interior,
"Washington, D. C."

PHILANTHROPIC ARE THE SALOON MEN

Well Known Citizen Apologizes For Misunderstanding Gentlemen Who Advertise Free Lunch.

Editor Morning Journal: At last our eyes have been opened by your contributor, "Quite Observer," through his communication in the Morning Journal of today, and we now see how we have misunderstood the dear saloon keeper and his well advertised free lunches all these years. The public of course, has looked upon these free lunches as a great drawing card for the saloons, and one that greatly facilitated the movement of "drinks" across the bar, and it was a noticeable fact that the saloons which provided the most free lunches were the most popular drinking places, but it seems that public opinion was "swayed off" as usual. "Quite Observer" now shows us, by chemical analysis as it were, that these free lunches are a boon to the community. In keeping men sober around the bars, they prevent the scenes from the doors and windows to the end that the proprietors may not longer be obliged to do "business" in the dark. Let them come out in the open that we may know more of their good works, and give every man his due.

PASSING EXAMINATION SUCCESSFULLY
James Douglas, New Britain, Conn., writes: "I tried several kidney remedies and was treated by our best physicians for months, but did not improve until I took Fole's Kidney Cure. After the second bottle I showed improvement, and five bottles cured me completely. I have since passed a rigid examination for life insurance." Fole's Kidney Cure cures backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble. J. H. O'Reilly Co.

W. T. McCreight Contributes Articles to "Events" About What Has Been Done by Organization Here.

W. T. McCreight, former manager of the Evening Citizen, and now engaged in newspaper work in Chicago, has contributed an article to the December number of "Events," the organ of the club women of the United States. On the "Woman's Club of Albuquerque," which is of considerable interest. The article reviews the history of the club here and gives it as well as Albuquerque a very enthusiastic send-off. Mr. McCreight has evidently lost none of his interest in Albuquerque, and his article on the club will undoubtedly attract general attention.

FRISCO SUSPENDS DRILLING WORK

Lack of Pipe Said to be Reason for Stoppage of Operations on Company's Land West of the City.

John Powell, of Fairmont, Ind., contracting driller of oil, gas and artesian wells, was in the city yesterday on his way to Fairmont from Santa Fe, N. M., in the western part of the territory, where he has been engaged on a contract for the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway company, which owns considerable land in that locality. Mr. Powell says that operations have been suspended for the present on account of lack of pipe. The principal well, which is being bored chiefly as an experiment, is down nearly 200 feet. The company is said to be testing the land for coal, oil, gas, water, or anything else which may be discovered.
