IOWA CHOOSES CUMMINS

GOVERNOR SUCCEEDS
THE VETERAN ALLISON

End Comes to Bitter Faction
Fight; Successful Candidate
Pledged to Tariff Revision and Railroad Regulation.

(By Morning Journal Special Landed Wire)
Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 24.—Governor A. B. Cummins at noon today was elected by the Iowa legislature United States senator to succeed the late William B. Allison. The vote stood Cummins, 106; Porter (democrat), 35; three republicans did not vote.

"Having received a majority of all the votes cast in the joint session of the Iowa senate and house," Mr. Cummins is declared elected United States senator for the term ending March 4, 1909.

Lieutenant Governor Garst spoke the words which brought a thousand cheering legislators and spectators to their feet and when Senator Cummins a moment later walked to the speaker's stand preceded by his aged, gray-haired father, pandemonium broke loose. The cheering continued for five minutes, at the close of which Senator Cummins began an address to the legislators.

All save three republican house and senate members voted for election of Cummins to the senate. The democrats voted solidly for his candidacy, Claude Porter, but their combined strength aggregated but thirty-five votes.

Senator Cummins in a brief speech thanked both the republican and democratic members of the legislature for the support they had given him during the seven years of his administration as Iowa's governor. He declared that insofar as he was concerned, bitter factionalism in Iowa is at an end.

"I am naturally a republican and I shall adhere to the principle of no doing it for the greatest number," he declared. "I shall at all times, however, be mindful of the great responsibility imposed upon me by the people of Iowa and will do everything in my power to make myself of use to the people."

At the close of the joint session Governor Cummins resigned as chief executive of the state and the oath of that office was administered to Lieutenant Governor Garst.

Governor Cummins today was elected to fill the unexpired term of Senator Allison ending March 4 next. His re-election in January next to the full term of six years is unquestioned.

While Senator Cummins' speech of acceptance was a plea for harmony and for an eradication of factional differences in Iowa, he was none the less specific on questions which have engaged his attention during his past career. Speaking of his attitude on the tariff, he pledged himself and his efforts for immediate revision. He declared himself unalterably opposed to discrimination in the matter of freight rates, and condemned stock watering and other abuses of corporations.

Speaking of his position relative to a revision of the tariff Senator Cummins said: "As you all know I am in political faith a republican. I believe in the essential principles of that party and I shall do my utmost to carry them into effect, for thus, and only thus, as I view my duty, can I promote the welfare of all the people. I beg to illustrate my meaning. I am deeply convinced of the justice and wisdom of the economic system which imposes protective duties on imports and with my voice and vote in the senate of the United States, I shall do everything in my power to preserve it. To me this established policy of the republican party means duties on competitive products high enough to fully protect the American producer in his home market against the unfair rivalry of other countries, but upon the other hand low enough to insure to the American consumer a fair American price. I am in absolute harmony with the definition announced in the most recent national republican platform. I stand, as you all know, for revision of the tariff schedules, an honest revision, keeping the promise to the hope as well as to the ear; a revision tested by the standard declared in the platform, and what little influence I may have will be exerted to fulfill the pledge upon which the coming administration was entrusted with political power."

THREE HANGED AT REEL-OOT LAKE BY MOB

VICTIMS ALL NEGROES
CHARGED WITH MURDER

(By Morning Journal Special Landed Wire)
Union City, Tenn., Nov. 24.—The little town of Tiptonville, bordering on Reelfoot lake which has been the scene of many stirring incidents the past month, witnessed the lynching late this afternoon of three negroes, who were arrested this morning for murdering Special Deputy Sheriff Fred Harrison and fatally wounding John Hall, a deputy sheriff.

The negroes were Marshall Steinback, Edward Steinback and John Steinback.

The three brothers created a disturbance at a religious meeting near Tiptonville Saturday night and when the officers attempted to arrest them a fight ensued, in which the negroes shot the officers and made their escape.

It was barely daylight Sunday morning before a posse of citizens from Tiptonville and surrounding places were in pursuit but the negroes successfully eluded the white men until 8 o'clock this morning when they were surrounded and captured in a swamp near the village of Ridgeley.

The vicinity is known as the old river bend and it is difficult to trace men or beast through its tangles. Once captured, however, the negroes, covered by a hundred guns were quickly landed in jail at Tiptonville. The negroes when arrested had two guns in their possession, but had run out of ammunition.

News of the capture spread rapidly to the surrounding territory and in addition to the several hundred men here of the posse, men began arriving by every road and soon the jail was surrounded by a mob which had no hesitancy in threatening a lynching quickly and surely.

One of the first citizens to mount the steps of the jail and make an appeal to the mob was J. L. Burnette, a well known lawyer.

Mr. Burnette recalled the recent night rider outrages which had disgraced the vicinity. He admonished the hearers not to do anything desperate, but to let the law take its course, although at the same time promising full justice would be done the three black men.

Taylor Hall, a brother of the injured deputy sheriff, followed Mr. Burnette. He said in effect that if the posse, men began arriving by every road and soon the jail was surrounded by a mob which had no hesitancy in threatening a lynching quickly and surely.

As a last resort S. J. Caldwell, a townsman, and Sheriff Rains went before Justice Davis and explained the situation, thinking of the men in a few minutes the crowd, which thronged the principal streets leading to the jail, Justice Davis at once agreed to open his court at 5 o'clock, summon a jury of twelve men and allow the negroes, after all the evidence that could be adduced was heard, to be duly sentenced to death.

Meanwhile Governor Patterson was advised by telephone of the situation and ordered the militia in this city to proceed with all haste and if possible secure the negroes and conduct them to a place of safety. The troops were started at once, but failed to arrive in time to prevent lynching.

To disperse the mob. The governor assured the sheriff that every possible legal means would be resorted to. Orders were then issued to Captain Regan but the troops had to travel forty miles and arrived after the lynching.

CARNEGIE MAY DECLINE TO APPEAR ON TARIFF

New York, Nov. 24.—Andrew Carnegie probably will not appear at the hearing in Washington before the ways and means committee on the iron and steel schedules of the tariff. He said this afternoon he had replied by mail to the committee's invitation to go to Washington, and given them the benefit of his new tariff views, but while he was willing to give out this information, yet he refused to disclose the nature of his reply, saying he thought such action on his part would be discourteous to the committee. If the letter carried a refusal to attend the hearing, the decision could not have been due to the state of Mr. Carnegie's health, for his secretary said that he had completely recovered from the recent indisposition which prevented his keeping an engagement in Baltimore last night.

BIG RAILROAD MERGER
RUMORED IN NORTH

Montana Paper Hears Rock Island Is to Purchase Northern Pacific System.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 24.—The Miner tomorrow will say that at Billings, Mont., it is generally believed in railroad circles that the Rock Island Railway company is seeking an option with a view to the purchase of the entire Northern Pacific system. Statements dropped during a tour of inspection recently made by the Rock Island officials over the Northern Pacific and the activity of a man bearing a letter from President Elliott, of the Northern Pacific, who was permitted to inspect the books of all Northern Pacific agents, are at the bottom of the purchase theory.

PHYSICAL TEST FOR NAVAL OFFICERS ASHORE

Fifty-mile Walk Before Those Who Have Not Yet Attained Rank of Admiral.

Washington, Nov. 24.—The recommendations of the navy department in relation to a physical test for officers are now awaiting the president's final approval. It is understood the physical test to be prescribed for officers of the line below the rank of rear admiral and staff officers below the rank of captain, while serving on shore, will be similar to that now prescribed for the coast artillery, which is a fifty-mile walk in three days.

It is expected that a plan will be devised for testing the physical endurance of such officers at sea, to be in the form of taking duty alternately every four hours for seventy-two hours. Commanding officers, commanders of squadrons and division flag officers will be recommended as a test to exercise their divisions under the immediate control of the commanding executive and navigating officers continuously during twenty-four hours.

Record Snow in Salt Lake.
Salt Lake City, Nov. 24.—The first snow storm of the season in the Salt Lake valley broke by three and one-half inches the record for any twenty-four hours since the local weather bureau was established. On the day ending at 6 o'clock tonight, fourteen inches was precipitated and the storm continues. Southern Pacific trains arrived eight hours late from the west. The mining camp of Bingham is threatened with a tie-up because of the snow.

TREASURY WATCHDOGS PREPARE FOR ACTION

Washington, Nov. 24.—With the prospect of the second half of a two billion dollar congress looming up before it, the house committee on appropriations will begin next Monday its work of attempting to cut down estimates submitted by the secretary of the treasury for running the government during the coming fiscal year.

The executive, legislative and judicial appropriation bill will be taken up first. The estimates are about $32,600,000, and vary very little from the current appropriation.

BUILDING TRADES UNIONS IN SESSION

Denver, Colo., Nov. 24.—The building trades department of the American Federation of Labor, now in convention here today decided that local unions might become affiliated with local councils of the building trades whether or not their international organizations were members of the American Federation of Labor. The effect of this decision, it is said, will be to admit the Brick Layers and Masons internationals into the building trades department of the federation, although they are not affiliated with the federation. Discussion of this question consumed practically the entire term of the sessions today.

The question of forming state councils of the building trades was discussed but action deferred. Opposition to this departure was offered on the ground that such state councils might conflict with the work of state federations of labor.

ROCKEFELLER TELLS OF HIS RAILROAD HOLDINGS

Oil King Closes Testimony With Some Interesting Information Concerning His Tremendous Investments.

ARCHBOLD SUCCEEDS
CHIEF AS WITNESS

Vice President of Standard Oil Tells of Early Struggles of Great Corporation With Its Competitors.

(By Morning Journal Special Landed Wire)
New York, Nov. 24.—Closing his testimony today in the federal suit to dissolve the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, John D. Rockefeller threw some unexpected light on the popular question into what channels of investment flowed his tremendous earnings from the oil combine. Mr. Rockefeller was loathe to state the names of the railroads in which his investments were made but did so after entering his objection. The board of the so-called oil trust declared that his holdings in railroads consisted chiefly in bonds and that with the exception of a few roads in which he held only small amounts of stocks, he preferred the bonds as a form of investment. Mr. Rockefeller's appearance on the witness stand today will likely be his last appearance in any court proceedings. He appeared greatly delighted that his long ordeal as a witness was over, and hurriedly left the court room when counsel excused him.

Mr. Rockefeller said he did not think that he should be made to tell the form of investments, declaring "that the gentlemen over there in the stock exchange might not think it very wise." After some legal contention by counsel Mr. Rockefeller said he held stock in the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Western Maryland, the Missouri Pacific, the Texas Pacific and the Colorado Southern. He said he owned no shares in either the Union or Southern Pacific. Mr. Rockefeller said he was opposed to the keeping of millions of dollars of surplus by the Standard.

John D. Archbold, vice president of the Standard, proved a mine of detailed information under the direction of the company's counsel, regarding the early production of crude oil and the development of the pipe line system. Mr. Archbold will likely be on the witness stand for several days. He gave his answers in short, brisk manner and seemed possessed of infinite details of the Standard's business from its inception to the present time.

Mr. Archbold learned with satisfaction in telling of the Standard's early history. His clear blue eyes twinkled when he told of the industrial fight, saying that he kept careful watch on his competitor and then "tried to beat him." Fairly short of stature, Mr. Archbold's well known figure was of compelling animation as he sat in the witness chair.

He turned from side to side as if to watch each individual spectator in the room and every line of his smooth shaven face showed that he was keenly alive to every development of the proceedings.

It is not unlikely that an adjournment will be taken tomorrow night until next Monday.

For the first time since he has been on the witness stand at this hearing, Mr. Rockefeller was a little bit in arriving today. Frank H. Kellogg, the government's special assistant attorney general, resumed his cross-examination, taking up the organization of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, where he ended it yesterday. Mr. Kellogg read what he said was a list of stocks obtained by that company in 1899, for which it had exchanged its own shares.

He said that 122,737 out of a total of 982,383 shares first issued, were in the name of John D. Rockefeller. Mr. Rockefeller said he did not own so much stock as that, but did own 256,854 shares of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey at that time, and that he accepted the other stockholders.

He added that frequently holders of certificates of the Standard Oil trust exchanged them for stock in the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, rather than accept shares of the various subsidiary companies.

"I turned over my trust certificates to the liquidating trustees," said Mr. Rockefeller, "and obtained a paper on which I received shares in the constituent companies which I turned into the Standard Oil company of New Jersey."

or he accepted it for purposes of distribution.

Mr. Rockefeller was asked if he entered a contract with Schofield, Schurmer and Teague in 1876, whereby the firm agreed to limit the business of its refinery in consideration of royalty payments by the Standard. Mr. Rockefeller replied that such a contract had been entered into, but he did not recall its provisions.

"Did the Standard bring suit in Ohio in 1886 against Schofield, Schurmer & Teague to prevent its refining over $5,000 barrels of crude oil a year and to prevent its acquiring an interest in a Buffalo refinery?"

"There was some litigation about the refining of oil. I recall nothing about the Buffalo refinery."

"Did you not personally make an application for an order restraining them from exceeding their production limit and to prevent them building a refinery in Buffalo?"

"As president of the Standard it was proper for me to sign such an affidavit about the production of oil being exceeded by the company."

"Don't you recall that in the answer of Schofield, Schurmer & Teague they set up the claim that the Standard was trying to obtain a monopoly of the refining business in Ohio and that this agreement was part of the conspiracy to such an end?"

"I could not state from my recollection, but I assume that they probably did not fail to say everything they could think."

Mr. Rockefeller was told that Virgil P. Kline, who afterward had been a Standard Oil attorney, was then counsel for Schofield, Schurmer & Teague. "Well, they had a very capable attorney," said Mr. Rockefeller.

The witness said in reply to other questions that a similar contract was made with the Pioneer Oil company, but he could not remember whether he stated in the contract that the Standard operated refineries only in Cleveland and Brooklyn.

He understood, he said, that he had made an affidavit in this contract to the effect that the Standard Oil company of Ohio had not owned any stock of any railroads or pipe line.

"You were trying to give the impression at that time that the large number of companies you had acquired an interest in were not controlled by the Standard Oil company of Ohio."

"I tried to give the status at that time."

Mr. Kellogg asked the witness if he had made it known to any one at that time that he had an interest in the companies included in the trust agreement of 1879, and if it was not a fact that this agreement was kept secret while he was combining the companies.

"I can not say, but I think it must have been known to a number of people outside of those who signed it," replied Mr. Rockefeller.

"Is it not a fact that Messrs. Flagler, Archbold and others in 1875 and later made affidavits and public statements that the Standard Oil company of Ohio had no interest in these subsidiary companies?"

"I could not say anything about the statements they may have made."

Mr. Rockefeller was asked if he had not made an affidavit that the Standard had made contracts with railroads whereby the Standard had obtained rebates for guaranteeing a certain volume of oil. He did not recall.

"Didn't the officers and agents of the Standard Oil company of Ohio at that time control a majority of the stock of the subsidiary companies with the idea of concealing their real ownership?"

"It may have been that the properties were owned by individuals who were stockholders in the Standard Oil company of Ohio."

Mr. Rockefeller said he never heard of the general industrial development syndicate, limited, of London, nor did he know whether the Standard owned the Manhattan Oil company of Ohio.

Mr. Kellogg asked Mr. Rockefeller to find out who owns those companies and also the London Commercial Printing and Investment company and the Security Oil company, of Texas.

Counsel for the Standard Oil company offered to furnish this and also a list of corporations obtained by the Standard from 1882 to the present time.

Mr. Rockefeller, in reply to a question, said:

"I may be a director in some railroads in the United States but at this moment I do not recall a railroad in which I am a director."

CANNON LOOKS FOR REVISION OF TARIFF

PEOPLE WILL GET JUST WHAT THEY VOTED FOR

Too Early to Fret About Who Will Preside Over Next House; Says veteran Speaker in Statement to Press.

(By Morning Journal Special Landed Wire)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—Declaring that there will be an honest revision of the tariff and that there is no apparent reason of "fretting" about the election of a speaker for the house in the sixty-first congress, Speaker Cannon arrived here from his home in Illinois late today for the approaching session of congress. He added to the newspaper men who greeted him that he believed that the people would get the sort of tariff revision that they voted for.

Later he issued a statement in which he declared he was not attempting to dictate to the house and that through the system of election of members the people were certain of having their views enacted into law.

The full text of Speaker Cannon's statement follows:

"The election of the speaker for the sixty-first congress is yet a considerable distance in the future. When congress is able to assemble, which I presume will be some time in March—the republican members of the house will hold a caucus as has been the custom from the foundation of the party and select a candidate for speaker to be supported by the party. I presume that the representatives will be perfectly competent to select their speaker and I do not see any apparent need for fretting about the matter."

"Of course there will be an honest revision of the tariff. We made the campaign on that issue and every republican member was elected with that in view. Every one of those republicans, without an exception, I believe, will strive to the best of his intelligence and ability to attain the tariff revision desired by the people who elected him. All will not have the same views and each one can not have his own way altogether. There must be mutual concession and compromise, out of which will come the result which, on the whole is most acceptable or least objectionable to all. That is according to civilized and enlightened government. It is the hard-learned lesson which expects to have everything his own way without regard to his neighbor. Whoever is elected speaker of the next house must perform his functions as to assist the house in arriving at the result which will best represent the views of the responsible party in the house, arriving to carry out the will of the people who elected him. In over thirty years' experience in the house, sometimes under one party control, sometimes under another, I have never seen any responsible politician go so wilfully against what is thought to be the sentiment of the people. Mistakes have sometimes been made, as in the case of the Wilson bill enacted by the democratic congress, but I believe that the representatives in the house earnestly tried to do what they thought the people wanted. They were misled by the hasty judgment passed on the McKinley law in 1890 and which would not, in my opinion, have happened had the republicans had more time to explain the bill on the stump."

"The republicans made no mistake when they enacted the Dingley law as the long time—as the lives of tariff laws go—or that law shows. I believe they will make no mistake in the bill which they will enact in the summer with the concurrence of the senate and the president."

"There is one thing of which you may be sure. These representatives will do their very best to perform what the people want for they must go before the people in 1910 and account for their acts. The senate are guided by the McKinley law in 1890 and which would not, in my opinion, have happened had the republicans had more time to explain the bill on the stump."

CASTRO QUILTS VENEZUELA A SICK MAN

FORCED TO SUBMIT TO OPERATION IN EUROPE

Feared Chaos May Follow Departure of Dictator Who Has Long Ruled the Turbulent Republic.

Caracas, Nov. 24, via Wilmington, Nov. 24.—President Castro will sail from La Guaira tomorrow on the steamer Guadalupe for Bordeaux for the purpose of undergoing an operation at the hands of a skilled specialist of Berlin. Efforts which were made recently to have Dr. Israel, of Berlin, come to Caracas for the purpose of performing the operation failed. The operation will be performed immediately on President Castro's arrival at Bordeaux, where Dr. Israel will be in waiting. Should the operation be successful the president will visit Paris, where he will rest for a few days only as he wishes to return to Caracas at as early a date as possible. Three of the leading Venezuelan physicians will accompany the president, and several members of his immediate family.

The greatest excitement prevails in Caracas and political intrigues already has commenced. It is thought the departure of President Castro may open the road for the settlement of the Holland-American and French disputes. Vicente Gomez, the vice president, will assume the presidency. First Vice President Gomez is constitutionally charged with the presidency, and President Castro urges the people to surround him and lend him your cooperation in the fulfillment of his high mission, as if it were I myself."

The president of Venezuela is suffering from an internal abscess in the region of the kidneys, and his attending physicians long ago advised him that the only possible relief was in an operation by a German specialist. At that time there did not appear to be any immediate danger, and President Castro decided to postpone the trip to Europe as long as possible.

President Castro has never been out of Venezuela, and it is now felt that extraordinary pressure must have been brought to bear upon him in order to have him consent to the voyage. Especially interesting is President Castro's departure because of the embarrassing effect it is likely to have on Holland's plans to force Venezuela into revoking the trans-shipment decree which Castro has refused to do peacefully.

DINING-CAR COOK HELD FOR SMUGGLING CHINESE

Authorities Claim Pullman Employees Assisted in Crossing Line From Mexico.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—J. F. Yanner, a Pullman car cook, employed on the Illinois Central railroad, was arrested today by government detectives on a charge of assisting in the smuggling of Chinese into the United States from Mexico near El Paso, Texas. He was held in lieu of $5,000. The government officials assert that Pullman car conductors and other railroad employees have aided many Chinese to enter the United States from Mexico by receiving them in Pullman cars. Yanner was arrested recently in Kansas City on a similar charge, but the government dismissed the first case. He was charged today with having aided two Chinamen to reach Chicago. Yanner's home is in Kansas City.

ARREST OUTCOME OF WIDESPREAD CRUSADE

Washington, Nov. 24.—Frank H. Larned, acting commissioner general of immigration, tonight declared that the arrest of J. F. Yanner was the outcome of a widespread crusade now being carried on by the immigration inspectors to prevent the smuggling of Chinese over the Mexican border. "Smuggling of Chinese in this manner has been known to the department for some time," said Mr. Larned, "and we are now getting to the bottom of the trouble. The crusade against such traffic promises to be very effective."

Injured Pugilist Recovering.

Philadelphia, Nov. 24.—Frederick Bradley, the Boston pugilist who was injured here in a bout with Al Kiblak, of Grand Rapids, Mich., last night, is reported to be improving at the hospital. The physicians said tonight that they thought he would be out of the hospital in a few days. Kiblak is in jail awaiting the result of Bradley's injury.

F. P. Houghton, traveling for a Chicago clothing house, is here on a short business trip. Mr. Houghton was formerly a clerk in the E. L. Washburn company store in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simms, who have been visiting here for some time past, have gone to Russell, where they will go to Chicago for a stay of several weeks.

Will C. Barnes, connected with the United States forest service at Washington, is in the city on a short visit. Mr. Barnes was formerly secretary of the New Mexico Cattle Sanitary board.

"Don't Tell My Wife," a farce comedy by James Porter Milliken, to be produced here November 29, is said to be a play of considerable merit. It is a somewhat humorous in theme, and at the same time shows originality in construction. Jose, the famous contractor, accompanies the troupe.

The latest, funniest and most laughable of all comedies, "Houghton in New York," will be the attraction at the Elks' theatre on Thanksgiving day, November 26th. It is funnier than a circus. That is what people say because there is something funny about the time from the rise to the fall of the curtain. The company has been engaged with special care and a high class entertainment is promised. Houghton and his dog, Phil, never fail to produce two and one-half hours of laughter.

Albert Thompson Devore, fifty-two years of age, and for several years past a resident of this city, died yesterday morning at his home on South Fourth street, after suffering for some time from a complication of diseases. A wife and three children survive. The remains will be shipped to St. Vincent, where interment will be made.

H. B. Crosby, a prominent contractor of Hobbs, Ark., is in the city for a few days on business. Mr. Crosby speaks most optimistically of business conditions in Arizona and says that the outlook of the sheep and cattle men in particular is brighter than for years with the range in splendid condition.

All Modern Woodmen of America are requested to be present at the meeting on Thursday night, Nov. 26th, at 8:30 o'clock sharp at the Knights of Pythias hall in Elks' building, corner Fifth street and Gold avenue. Every member should be present at this meeting as there is special business to attend to. E. E. Legend, clerk.

H. B. Lane, of El Paso, has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Joe P. Goodlander. He well knows traveling man who died a week or more ago in Tucuman and his information which can be given to Elks or other friends of the deceased in Albuquerque will be greatly appreciated by his family. It is believed Goodlander left a will but it is said so it has not yet been located.

"Houghton in New York," the new comedy drama which James H. Houghton will present at the Elks' theatre as one of the greatest laugh producers of the day, besides telling a consistent story. There are fifteen people in the company and all the characters in the famous cartoon will be depicted in the production. Even Houghton's dog, Phil, will be there and furnish his share of the fun. Phil has been in the hands of one of the greatest animal trainers in the world and is an acting canine of almost human intelligence.

Edward Quickel, for many years one of the leading business men of Albuquerque, died in a hospital in Cleveland, Ohio, yesterday morning, following an operation which was performed upon him several days ago for the purpose of removing a cancerous growth from his neck which had been troubling him for over a year. Corcoran Quickel, a son, was present at his father's bedside when death came, having left for Cleveland a week ago. Mr. Quickel left here several weeks ago with the intention of undergoing the operation. Although aware that he was suffering from a serious illness and that the operation would necessarily be dangerous, Mr. Quickel was cheerful about the outcome and before leaving for the east declared that he would be back within a short time and much improved in health as a result of the surgical work. At the conclusion of the operation he evidently realized that his chances for recovery were not exceptionally bright and he requested that some member of his family go to Cleveland to be with him. The remains left Cleveland last night accompanied by Corcoran, the son, and are expected to arrive here either Thursday night or Friday morning. Funeral arrangements will be made later. Mr. Quickel is survived by a wife, Mrs. Quickel, a son, Corcoran, and several other relatives in Pennsylvania.

Decayed came to Albuquerque twenty-six years ago from York, Pa., and was fifty-seven years of age at the time of his death. Mr. Quickel was for many years associated with Ben Botche, in conducting Ziegler's sale. He was also interested in a number of other business enterprises. Mr. Quickel always took an active part in the development of Albuquerque and was ready and willing at all times to assist in every way possible anything looking toward the advancement of the city. A large number of friends in this city and other parts of the territory will be grieved to learn of his death and offer sympathy to the remaining relatives.

A very pleasant party was given Monday, Thanksgiving, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Switzer by their only daughter, Miss Northington, in honor of her thirteenth birthday. The University of Arizona football eleven will reach this city this morning, accompanied by quite a following of team officials and rooters. The boys will be met at the depot by a reception committee selected from the student body of the University of New Mexico. The Arizonians have expressed a desire that they be permitted to rest all day today in preparation for the game tomorrow and for this reason the local Varsity men have not arranged any schedule of entertainment for today. They will be entertained in royal style before they leave the city, however, and a committee has been at work for some time arranging the details for the social events. The New Mexico boys will go to their classes today as usual, but will engage in some sharp practice after the close of studies this afternoon. No scrimmaging work will be done, however, as it is feared that some of the men might receive bruises or injuries which would prevent them from participating in tomorrow's game. Bleachers with a seating capacity of nearly 2,000 have been erected adjacent to the stadium at the gymnasium at Truett park and those who attend the game will be able to watch the contest with much more comfort than in former years. The Varsity boys are still working hard to keep up interest and speculation regarding the game among the football fans and it is likely that the largest crowd that ever witnessed a gridiron contest will be on hand when the referee blows his whistle for the beginning of the game.

THE LADIES OF THE MACCABEES WILL GIVE A TEA TUESDAY AFTERNOON, NOV. 17, FROM 3 TO 5, AT OLD FELLOWS' HALL, FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE NEW MEXICO CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY. THE PUBLIC IS CORDIALLY INVITED.

WINDOW SHADES in stock and made to order, lowest prices. Satisfaction guaranteed. Furniture Furniture Co.
