BLOCK SIGNAL SYSTEM TO BE INVESTIGATED

Commerce Commission Will Take It Up After Two Fatal Wrecks.

BRIDGE IS BEGUN OVER MISSOURI AT KANSAS CITY

Joint Freight Inspector at Decatur, Ill., Takes His Own Life By Cutting Throat.

Washington, Jan. 1.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today reached an agreement to investigate the block signal systems on both the Southern and the Baltimore and Ohio railways, in view of the recent disastrous collision and derailments on these roads, attended by serious injury and loss of life. The first hearing, which will be public, will occur in this city on Friday, Jan. 4. The commission will make its investigation under the resolution of congress approved June 20, 1906, empowering the Interstate Commerce Commission to report the use and necessity of the block signal systems and appliances for automatic control of railway trains in the United States.

GREAT NORTHERN FILES NOTICE OF BOND ISSUE

St. Paul, Jan. 1.—The Great Northern yesterday filed with the secretary of state a notice of the action taken by the board of directors in ordering the issue of $5,000,000 of additional stock. The certificate is signed by President James J. Hill and Secretary Edward T. Nichols. The notice also states the purposes for which the stock will be issued. The certificate has no connection with the suit brought by Attorney General Young, who said today that this action in no way affected the action he had brought to compel the Great Northern to make application for a public hearing before the state railroad commission, on the necessity for an increase of capital stock, because that part of the law is separate from the law requiring a notice to be filed with the secretary of state.

RAILROAD BEGUN BETWEEN KANSAS AND ST. JOE

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 1.—Work was begun yesterday on construction of the Kansas City, Excelsior Springs and St. Joseph Electric Railway company's bridge across the Missouri river. The bridge will cost nearly $2,000,000 and the remainder of the line to St. Joseph will require an expenditure of $4,000,000. By employing 1,500 men working at a dozen places simultaneously, the line will be completed in eighteen months.

NEW YORK INSURANCE COMPANIES PROTEST

New York, Jan. 1.—While the outside life insurance companies operating in New York state are very much pleased over the new opinion of the attorney general which allows them to write both participating and non-participating business under the Armstrong law, and relieves them of the standard policy requirements, the New York companies are disposed to insist that they are being discriminated against. The outside companies are allowed to do as they please, while the New York companies are forced to use a specific form and to restrict the nature of their business after today. It is intended to ask the next legislature to remove this discrimination or impose the same requirements on all companies.

CAUSE AND EFFECT OF TUBERCULOSIS

Berlin, Jan. 1.—Professor Van Behring's pamphlet on "The Cause and Effect of Tuberculosis" was published today and is causing considerable discussion in medical circles as his views are diametrically opposed to those of Dr. Koch. Professor Behring announces the theory that the bacilli of tuberculosis find their way into the human system through milk, while the doctrine of Dr. Koch is that tuberculosis is not dangerous and consumption in most cases is contracted as a result of breathing. Professor Behring further holds that the germs reach the lungs through the lymphatics or blood vessels. He contradicts Dr. Koch flatly in the matter of tuberculosis milk, which Dr. Koch considers to be most harmless but believes that the germs originating from the human being are the most dangerous. He announces his remedy as a preventive for tuberculosis in infants, which he calls Tulazellin but has not disclosed the secret of the remedy.

WEST RUSSIA NOW BURIED UNDER SNOW

Effort Made to Blow Up Atlantic Liner at Odessa Last Night.

TWO SULTAN'S SOLDIERS PARALYSE CONSTANTINOPLE

Lady Cancarty Dead After Wide Extremes in Life of Music Hall and Peacemaker.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 1.—The storm that passed over Great Britain during Christmas time reached western Russia, where enormous falls of snow are reported and railroad communication is paralyzed. Many lines are entirely interrupted. Dispatches from Orshaw and Borisov say these towns are literally buried in drifts, and all business is suspended. Seven persons have perished in the snow at Mohelv. The snowstorm continues.

TERRORISTS TRY TO BLOW UP AN ATLANTIC LINER

London, Jan. 1.—A dispatch to the news agency from Odessa says that a band of unknown men attempted last night to blow up the Russian Steamship company's Atlantic liner, Gregory Morch, which had just completed her first trip in the new Odessa-New York service. Desperate was the struggle that took place between the crew and the members of the band, during which several sailors were shot. The lighted fuse of the bomb was extinguished before any damage was done.

SULTAN'S SOLDIERS CAUSE PANIC IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Constantinople, Jan. 1.—A panic occurred in the city, during which here at noon today, as a result of the desperate action of two soldiers of the imperial guard, who drew their bayonets and held the bridge connecting the populous sections of Galata and Stamboul. Owing to the fact that the men were members of the imperial guard, the police had not power to arrest them, and business was suspended more than an hour, until the guardsmen were arrested by soldiers ordered from the palace.

FIRST FROM MUSIC HALL TO THE ENGLISH PEACEMAKER

Dublin, Jan. 1.—Lady Cancarty, who died at her husband's estate in County Galway last night, was the first of the music hall beauties to marry into the peerage. Unlike many succeeding marriages of like character, this union proved a most happy one. Cancer, which developed last February, was the cause of her death.

TRANS-ATLANTIC RATES HAVE BEEN LOWERED

Philadelphia, Jan. 1.—Heavy reductions in west bound trans-Atlantic freight rates from continental ports to Philadelphia are just announced as the result of a conference by the great "pool" lines in Germany. The drop in rates, which ranges from over 32 to 40 per cent, comes into effect today and will apply during the whole of the year. This reduction on ocean rates applies only to shipments on goods consigned to importers at Philadelphia. There will be no change in the existing rates to New York, Boston and Baltimore. To all these ports the present rates are to be strictly maintained. A year ago the "pool" lines got together and lifted the rates sharply, but the Cosmopolitan line steered a straight course and got at the traffic so its rivals have now made this enormous reduction with a view of beating it out of the market. By the reductions hundreds of thousands of dollars will be saved Philadelphia importers. The "pool" lines are the Hamburg, American, North German Lloyd and the Red Star. Reduced rates will apply from Hamburg, Bremen and Antwerp.

ARMIJOS WANT RE-HEARING IN HUBBELL CASES

Attorney Nell B. Field of this city, yesterday filed a motion for a rehearing in the territorial supreme court in the cases of Thomas S. Hubbell vs. Perfecto & Armijo and Frank A. Hubbell vs. Justo R. Armijo, which were decided at the two days' special session last week in favor of the Hubbells. The motion for rehearing will be argued at the regular session of the territorial supreme court, which will convene on the afternoon of January 4. Perfecto Armijo and Justo R. Armijo are the present sheriff and treasurer respectively of Bernalillo county, having been appointed at the time Governor Otero removed from office Sheriff Thomas S. Hubbell and Treasurer Frank A. Hubbell. An interesting legal battle is expected and the cases may be carried to the supreme court of the United States.

A JANUARY ALLEGORY

ZERO WEATHER USHERED IN BIG FIGHT AT TONOPAH

All Arrangements Have Been Completed and Men In Good Fix.

ODDS ON GANS WERE THREE TO ONE TODAY

Tonopah, Nev., Jan. 1.—The new year was ushered in with zero weather. The blizzard has subsided, but was succeeded by a cold wind from the north. The streets are deserted, but at the Casino, where the sale of seats for the fight in progress, is quite a crowd, and the management reported brisk early morning sales. Gans and Herman were up early, but did no work of any kind today. The fighters will remain at their headquarters until 1 o'clock, when they will weigh in at the office of Riley, the fight promoter. At 2:30 they will proceed to the arena and fifteen minutes later will enter the ring. The fight starts at 3 o'clock (4 mountain time). Both men are in excellent condition and confident of winning. There was not much betting here this morning, as few care to risk money on Gans at the prevailing odds, which range from 2 1/2 to 1 to 3 to 1. All the stores and gambling resorts here will be closed this afternoon, during the progress of the fight. Manager Riley says that with few exceptions the miners of the town will attend in a body. Many of them will bring their families along.

GREAT POULTRY SHOW IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Jan. 1.—The eighteenth annual exhibition under the auspices of the New York Poultry and Pigeon and Pet Stock association was opened in Madison Square Garden today under favorable circumstances. The attendance of fanciers from all parts of the states was very large, while the number and quality of the exhibits have broken all records. The success of the New York show, each year, makes it valuable to the public and to breeders and fanciers, as a ribbon won at Madison Square Garden is a prize worth having. The competition is very strong. From all over the country purchasers and breeders look to the show as the most important. There are over three thousand exhibits in all classes. The pet stock feature has become so popular that the association have allotted further space for rabbits and pigeons. Valuable prizes will be awarded.

THE PURE FOOD LAW BECAME OPERATIVE TODAY

Applies to Food, Drugs, Confectionary and All Kinds of Liquors.

EVERY THING MUST BE LABELED WITH CONTENTS

New York, Jan. 1.—The pure food law, enacted at the last session of congress, became operative today. Authors of the measure believe it will put an effective stop to the sale of adulterated and impure foods and drugs, confectionary and liquors. The abuses sought to be corrected, it is asserted, are numerous, but heretofore it will be possible for consumers to know just what they are receiving for their money. A large number of inspectors working under the supervision of the department of agriculture will watch dealers of all sorts to see that they do not violate the law. Offenses against the law will be punishable by fine or imprisonment or both. It will be illegal to manufacture any article of food or drug which is misbranded or adulterated. It is considered certain that as a result of the law certain brands of jam, preserves and canned goods will be all but driven out of the market because the law stipulates that a label must be properly labeled. Banned goods must also state truthfully what they contain, but the exact form of labels has not yet been fixed by the department of agriculture's experts.

STATE SUPERINTENDENT OF BANKS RESIGNS

New York, Jan. 1.—State Superintendent of Banks F. D. Kilburn resigned today. It is stated that he is to become president of the Fidelity Development company. During the term of Governor Higgins charges were preferred against Mr. Kilburn in the failure of the German bank of Buffalo, and similar charges but they were dismissed. In the recent gubernatorial campaign, Mr. Higgins pledged himself to investigate the banking department and the charges made against the superintendent and to take proper action after his investigation.

The export duty was one shilling a ton.

CINCINNATI FIRE TOOK $100,000 TODAY

Cincinnati, Jan. 1.—The first fire of the new year took place early today when the entire service building, owned and operated by the Diamond Distilleries Co., was gutted. FAMILY GOOD BUSINESS IS DOING IN WOOLS

Boston, Jan. 1.—Fairly active business is being accomplished in the wool market. The bullish condition of foreign markets makes dealers more confident of higher values for their wools.

COLORADO COAL MINERS GET GOOD WAGE INCREASE

Ten Per Cent Raise Will Affect Between 8,000 and 10,000 Men.

MINING MATTERS ARE NO BETTER IN NEVADA

Denver, Jan. 1.—Nothing was noted in all mines in southern Colorado today of an increase of pay of all employees in the coal mines of that district, of 10 per cent beginning today. Between 8,000 and 10,000 men are affected by the increase.

SETTLEMENT OF NEVADA STRIKE IS NOT NEAR

San Francisco, Jan. 1.—George Willfield, a Nevada mining magnate, said yesterday that he had not received any word to indicate that the settlement of the miners' strike was near. He thought the situation was still serious. So far as the Mohawk and other merged mines are concerned they will be closed down when the leases expire in a few days and will not be re-opened until conditions are satisfactory.

AN IMPORTANT ELECTRICAL DISCOVERY MADE

London, Jan. 1.—At a great meeting of scientists in the Imperial institute today Sir Wm. Preece delivered an address and gave a practical demonstration of an advance in electrical science which he said would prove to be of great moment and which would lead to a revolution in electrical production and transmission. The system was invented by Mr. Poulsen and sounded the death knell of old "spark" telegraphy. Mr. Poulsen describes his system of "the real" electricity as capable of a million vibrations a second giving what is practically a continuous wave of energy. The capacity of the new electricity was demonstrated by the lighting of a set of six incandescent lamps wirelessly. A lamp was lighted through the discoverer's body and a copper wire was melted in mid air and made appear in a darkened room when the ethereal energy was applied to it. The inventor claims for the discovery far reaching results, among which are such perfect tuning of the wireless telegraphic apparatus as shall make tapping or stealing the message impossible, and will entirely solve the question of wireless telegraphy. But if the new discovery enables the production of a continuous wave of energy as is claimed for it, it will produce a revolution in the field of generation and transmission of electrical power, and in light production. It will lead to changes which will condemn millions of dollars worth of electric machinery to the scrap heap and render even the most recent plate obsolete ere they have earned their cost.

Snow Ends Railroad Construction

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 1.—The very heavy snows in Minnesota, the Dakotas and other parts of the west have put a stop to all railroad construction work for the winter and all the men engaged on the roads are now looking for jobs in the woods where there is plenty of work to be had. It is feared that the shortage of labor will seriously handicap railroad construction work in the west and northwest next year as a very large number of laborers passed into Canada this fall where thousands of miles of road are under construction and conditions more favorable.

LEGISLATURES ASSEMBLE IN MANY STATES

In Pennsylvania They Organize and Adjourn For Two Weeks.

RHODE ISLAND AND NEW YORK NEW GOVERNORS

Delaware Republican Deadlock Caucus Broken For Speaker By Choice of Hodgson.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 1.—The general assembly of Pennsylvania convened at noon today. After organization and reading of Governor Pennypacker's last message, a recess was taken until January 14. The republican party is in a majority in both houses. Pennypacker in his message deals with the controversy over the decorations and furnishings of the new state capitol. The erection of this structure cost $4,500,000, and the decorations $9,000,000. Charges of extravagance were made in connection with the expenditure of $9,000,000, and the matter was made an issue in the last gubernatorial campaign. The money was largely expended by the board of public grounds and buildings. The governor courts inquiry and requests that the legislature investigate the charges.

RHODE ISLAND'S GOVERNOR INAUGURATED AS USUAL

Following which came the addresses by the retiring and incoming governors, both brief.

DEADLOCK IN DELAWARE CAUCUS BROKEN AT LAST

Dover, Del., Jan. 1.—A deadlock in the house republican caucus last night over the election for speaker, was broken early today, after an all-night session. Richard Hodgson, formerly United States senator, the Higgins candidate, was selected for speaker over the candidate favored by United States Senator Allen.

PROFESSOR EXPERIMENTS WITH ALCOHOL

Washington, Jan. 1.—Professor C. E. Locke, of Columbia university, who was engaged by the United States department of agriculture to make a series of experiments with denaturalized alcohol as a fuel for internal combustion engines, states that the liquid gave highly satisfactory results. The new law removing the tax from denatural alcohol goes into effect today and as a result it is expected that this will increase the products of the farm nearly all of which can be used for alcohol manufacture.

In contrast was the ten thousand who visited the scene of the Baltimore and Ohio wreck, and the five thousand who visited the morgue. Vidal Ortega has been appointed postmaster at Chihuahua.

NEW YEAR'S DAY CELEBRATED AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Jan. 1.—Each year the White House doors swing open to all nations on January 1, and a heartier welcome was never extended to visitors than that which greeted the thousands who called today to pay their respects to the chief executive. New Year's cheer, banished rank and class distinction. The president met the ambassadors and the laborer with the same firm handshake. While the marine band was playing patriotic airs, the great throng moved slowly through the executive mansion, and in greeting the president, men and women of all ages and conditions found a renewed devotion to the republican and democratic ideal. The diplomatic corps, the judiciary, the army, the navy and civilian officials in the various departments, were received in turn before the thousands of citizens, who had been standing in line for hours, could meet the president. President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks, and members of the cabinet and their wives, exchanged New Year's greetings in the library. The president and his entire party then descended to the Blue room, where the reception began. Better weather for the occasion could not have been desired. The sun shone brightly and its warmth dispelled the dampness rising from the ground as a result of the recent rains.

CONGRESS TO
MEE ON 3RD
BUT NOTHING

Will Be Doing Before First of Next Week at the Earliest.

HEARST WILL BE GRANTED
DESIRED QUO WARRANTO

Boy Killed in First Football Game Played with His New Christmas Won Ball.

Washington, Congress will reconvene next Thursday at noon, but it is not expected that much business will be transacted in either house until the week following. No program so far has been arranged for either body, and the general expectation is that nothing will be done in that direction until the houses are called together.

There has seldom been such an exodus of public men for a brief re-pit from work as there was when the recess began, and as the members are returning slowly there is not a sufficient number of either senators or representatives in the city even to outline a plan of action.

The purpose in a general way is to be proceeded with the appropriation bills as rapidly as possible, but as neither has one of the measures before it, both will be forced to take up other matters of legislation or adjourn from day to day until the committees can bring in some of the supply measures.
It may therefore happen that one or both of the houses may adjourn from Thursday or Friday until the following Monday.

HEARST MAY BRING QUO
WARRANTO UNDER JACKSON.

New York: In a communication to W. B. Hearst, made public yesterday, Attorney General-elect W. S.
Jackson says that if Mr. Hearst should see fit to ask leave to institute quo warranto proceedings in connection with the ballot dispute which followed the last mayoralty election in this city, a rehearing of the case will be granted as soon as Mr. Jackson assumes office. In his letter Mr. Jackson says:

"In the matter of the application of William R. Hearst to Julius Mayer, attorney general of the state of New York, for leave to institute quo warranto proceedings against George B.
McClellan, mayor of the city of New York, which leave was heretofore denied, you are hereby notified that should you desire to renew, or make another such application, a rehearing and consideration will be granted by me as soon as I take office as attorney general on January 1, 1937.

"You are thus informed because I deem that the welfare and dignity of the people of this city demand the immediate settlement of the question."

FATAL CHRISTMAS GIFT
OF FOOTBALL TO BOY.

New York: Very proud of a football he had won in a Christmas raffle, Richard Butterby, ten years old, of Jersey City, was made captain of a football team and was killed in the first rush with the new ball.

A crowd of enthusiastic boys met in a vacant lot at Sixteenth and Grove streets. Richard was the liveliest of them all.

"All together, now! Show them what we can do!" he shouted, when the team was lined up.

There was a rush, and Richard went down under the great pile of struggling boys. Then all except Richard got up for the next play. He lay still, clinging tightly to the ball.
His playmates rolled him over and began to scream when they saw his pale face.

A doctor hurried to the scene. He made a short examination, and then said the boy was dead.

CORPORATION THE CAUSE OF GREAT INDEBTEDNESS.

New York: That John D. Rockefeller unjustly holds his great wealth, estimated to be the largest fortune in the world, because it is not the result of natural causes, but created through the activity of corporations, all of which he calls "vicious," was the assertion made by Henry Laurens Cobb, of Washington, D. C., a writer of economics, at the fifty-seventh annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"Rockefeller is the greatest exponent of corporation competition as against individual competition," said Mr. Cobb. "His millions have come to him only because he controls corporations. The concentration of wealth into such fortunes as his own divides industrial society into two classes—the enormously rich and the miserably poor."

"We are a nation of debtors as a result of the growth of the corporation; the public and private mortgages aggregating $50,000,000,000, or $375 per capita."

FEEDING SHEEP ON BEET
PULP NEAR GREELEY, COLO.

Greeley, Colo.: The feeding of sheep on beet pulp in the vicinity of Greeley is centralized at the Greeley sugar factory ground yard, where 30-400 sheep are being fattened for market. The sheep are owned by farmers and the pens were visited by many people, among whom were several eastern capitalists endeavoring to familiarize themselves with the different departments of the sheep feeding industry. The greater number of the sheep pens are located along the river so that the trees and shrubbery growing on the river bank may afford protection from wind and storm.

Six men and teams are constantly employed hauling beet pulp from the factory to the sheep. No water is provided for the sheep, as the pulp contains sufficient moisture. Side by side with the sheep are several hundred head of cattle on feed on beet pulp fattening for market. The total cost of fattening sheep per head for market on beet pulp is thirty-three cents and profits of $1 a head are not unusual. It is understood that the sugar company will purchase several hundred acres more of river bottom and for the purpose of adding to the present feeding pens.

Fattening sheep at the factory grounds instead of on individual farms, finds favor with the feeders, as money is saved by the short haul of carrying pulp from the factory to the present feeding pens. The fertilizer in the pens belongs to the sugar factory and demands a high price among growers of grain and potatoes, as it is a valued stimulant to land, increasing their production 30 per cent.

FRIENDS HAVE HAD SERIOUS FALLING OUT.

New York: The Wadsworths—
James W. Sr., and James W. Jr.— the former defeated for re-election to congress in the Thirty-fourth district on election day by 6,000 plurality, and the latter re-elected assemblyman for Livingston county by 1,800 plurality, are "out" with President Roosevelt, according to reports. Represents five Wadsworths, it is stated, has not visited the white house since his defeat, and Assemblyman Wadsworth has also abstained from his usual visits.

The story about the Wadsworths was told by republicans, who say that unless there is a change somewhere Assemblyman Wadsworth's re-election of Speaker Wadsworth at the Holland house said that they did not believe anything of the kind, and they were ready to bet pumpkins to cookies that "Young Jim" would be named for speaker at the assembly caucus to be held in Albany on January 2.

The republicans who told the story about the Wadsworths and their alleged differences with President Roosevelt, said that Representative Wadsworth blames President Roosevelt for his defeat. He is said to lay his defeat directly to his controversy with President Roosevelt over the meat inspection bill. Mr. Wadsworth being chairman of the house committee on agriculture.

MANIA RUNS TRAINS
AT HIS OWN SWEET WILL.

Chicago: For six hours the other night a maniac ran the switch yards at Cavanaugh, Ind., a junction point where the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern tracks cross those of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern railroad.

He gained possession of the tower-house flag, every passenger and freight train that came along, and with a coupling pin put to flight every train crew that made a protest.

NEW JERSEY DENIED
AT HIS OWN SWEET WILL.

Patterson, N. J., Jan. 1.—This state was practically denuded of game two weeks after the season opened. One hunter of a great many years experience declares that the thousands of dogs completely stripped the state of game in a few days.
A quail is now a rare bird and very few rabbits are left. During the coming spring attempts will be made to replenish the moors and woods and the legislature will be approached with this object in view.

STOCK BROKERS CELE-BRATE CLOSE OF YEAR.

New York, Jan. 1.—The close of the year was celebrated with much enthusiasm on the stock exchange.
The trading floor was handsomely decorated with bunting and Xmas greens. Long before the close of the market the galleries were crowded with gaily dressed women. Promptly at noon the celebration began, the program being opened with "America" by a military band. This was followed by other patriotic airs while on the floor the members engaged in impromptu football games and confetti fights. Part of the floor was roped off and this place was occupied by friends of the members.

GERMAN-AMERICAN
SALES INCREASE.

Berlin, Jan. 1.—The amount of exports to the United States as estimated by the commerce bulletin of this city for the third quarter of the last year shows a decided increase, giving a total of $3,738,141, against $3,057,293 for the same period in 1935. The exportations of chromas, chemicals, paints, skins, fruits, furs, and leather for the same period show a very considerable increase.

Itching, bleeding, protruding or blind piles yield to Doan's Ointment.
Chronic cases soon relieved, finally cured. Druggists all sell it.

TEXAS ZIONISTS HOLD
IMPORTANT CONFERENCE.

Fort Worth, Jan. 1.—An important conference of Zionists took place here today under the auspices of the State Zionist association. The conference was addressed by Dr. Friedrich, of San Antonio, the leader of the Zionist movement in Texas, who out-

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on great emergencies from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C. Cheney & Co., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's

There is no other medicine manu-praise and so many expressions of

ALBUQUERQUE REALTY A GOOD INVESTMENT

December Proved a Better
Month Than November.
Many Sales Recorded.

December averaged better than November. It started off a little slow, but wound up with a number of very good sales. The sale of the French Bakery property on Railroad avenue probably carried with it a bigger money consideration than any other trade for the month. The amount was something like $20,000. Surety Investment Co. and Broadway Land and Investment company recorded the closing of a number of contracts. The Porterfield company has been an active factor in the market, and from the appearance of one or two other names appearing on the record, always as the purchaser, it is quite evident that there are some few people believe Albuquerque realty a good investment.

The following deeds were recorded:

Dec. 1.—Harriet C. Ackerman and husband to Mary Wach, lots 29 and 30, block 2, Coronado Place, $600.

Dec. 2.—Lloyd Hunsacker to Nathaniel Woods, lot 6, block "J," Highland addition, south, $1.

For some time the Charlie has been located at Indio, state of Durango, Mexico, where he has been superintendent of the Minas Coloradoas, a valuable mining property owned by Pennsylvania parties, says the Socorro Chieftain. During the first six months of his superintendency the output of the mines amounted to $1,000 in gold, silver and lead. Charlie is expecting the owners of the property to pass through Socorro in a few days on their way to visit their property, and he will then join them and return to his post.

GALLUP BOY SHOT
WHILE HUNTING.
Sunday John Graffus was accidentally shot with a shot gun while hunting with a companion, says the McKinley County Republican. The two boys were hunting to get away from smaller boys whom they did not want with them, and they hid behind a rock. The shot gun was leaning against the rock and it is understood that the boys crouched down. The gun slipped and struck the hammer and the cartridge exploded. The muzzle of the gun was toward the Graffus boy and the charge went into his leg and right wrist. The wrist was badly torn by the shot and the injury of the leg is serious.

On Tuesday afternoon gangrene set in the injured leg and that night he was taken to the Gibbon hospital and the leg amputated. At present he is resting quite easy and it is hoped that it will not be necessary to amputate the injured arm. The parents have the sympathy of all in the anxiety they feel for their son.

THE GREAT WEST COMING INTO ITS OWN

Short Grass Country Lives
Only in Memory—What Is Due the Pioneer.

(By B. P. Walker, Osborne, Kan.)

A few days ago, when James Wilson Theodore Roosevelt's secretary of agriculture, referred to Kansas as the semi-arid region his wisdom was drawn from the same fountain that furnished the old time philosophers with the knowledge that the earth was flat. Those old fogies of the fourteenth century didn't know, and Christopher Columbus proved it. Secretary Wilson didn't know, for Kansas, born in bloodshed and nursed by the hot winds, has grown to be the brightest star in the constellation that makes up the ever victorious flag of Uncle Sam.

Northwest Kansas is known as the "shortgrass" country—the last to be given up by the buffalo and where the sage brush is the only home of the jackrabbit and the jackrabbit lives unmolested. That used to be the case, but it won't do now. Like the Bowers of old New York City, the shortgrass country lives only in memory and in the minds of the newspaper reporters of Topeka. One day in northwest Kansas the sun sank down to slumber from its all-day flight through brassy skies and scenes of gasping vegetation, sad faced women and discouraged men. It rose again to shine on a land of milk and honey, where sleek horses and fat cattle browsed on every hillside and peace, health and plenty had its abode in every household. The Arabian Nights contains no more wonderful tale than the story of the financial regeneration of northwest Kansas.

We will have to leave to Mr. Coburn the task of telling of the prosperity in figures, while we dwell on parables and generalities. One day of a pioneer winter Major Linville, a noted wit and storyteller of this section, who has since been gathered to his fathers with honors, came down to the drug store and the boss druggist asked him what he could do for him. "Nothing," replied the major, "I just couldn't bear to stay at home and see the children freeze any longer."

"One farmer met another one hot day and the mortgages were coming due. 'Neighbor,' said one, 'what will you give me for those old steers of mine?' 'Juke,' replied the other, who had an eye to business, 'I'll give you my ten.' For a year they used to tell of the unluckiest man in the community. He had two cows and both of them gave birth to twins and all of them lived. Those are the days when the farmer used to go out in the morning and look up into the blue furnace above, then at his withered crops and empty bins, and then quietly hitch up his skinny horses, load on a dozen hungry pigs and take them several miles when nobody was looking dump them out and drive back home. Lucky was the man who had nothing but himself and family to feed, and luckier still if he had no family. Men were then land poor. Many a poor devil had his all invested in a half section of land which he couldn't give away. He tried hard to raise enough money on it to leave the country, but to no purpose and he had to starve. He stayed because he couldn't get away. Good times came back, his land doubled and quadrupled in value and before he knew it his place was worth ten to fifteen thousand dollars. He had money in the bank and personal property on his place. When it did begin to come it came very fast. I could tell you of dozens of instances where men have leased a quarter section, sown it to wheat and from one crop made enough to buy the land. Farmers no longer come to town in lumber wagons and bring their lunch with them. They come in rubber tired surreys and even automobiles. They get their dinner at the best hotel in town and the women folks buy expensive dress goods and the boys patent leather shoes and diamonds.

The towns have kept pace with the country. Logan, way out on the extreme edge of the kerosene circuit, has just completed a $30,000 opera house with all modern improvements. Oberlin, Mankato and other towns have done the same thing. This summer Frank Dawley, an Osborne county farmer, paid $3,000 for a prize winning Poland China boar and the other day paid $1,500 for a half in another. Smith Center, Jewell City, Osborne and other towns now have fine systems of electric lights and every town of four hundred people has a system of waterworks. The number of national and state banks has trebled and the stockholders and officials are now mostly farmers who fifteen years ago, were leaving their flocks to rust in the fields while they got out to fight the octopus. The other day I saw a local newspaperman who advertised his typewriter for sale. He had no use for it because he was going to take a trip abroad and intended to retire from business. The country is rich beyond all dreams of avarice. Farmers who count their thousands up to the half century mark are coming in every county in the Sixth district. This prosperity cannot be told in prose, poetry or song. It must be seen to be appreciated. If it keeps up a few more years the farmers will have to organize and go east and kidnap a trainload of millionaires and bring them west to do the work. The great western desert has come into its own.

FOIT HAYARD, N. M. DEC. 24.
Sealed proposals in triplicate for furnishing and installing electric light fixtures in Post Exchange at this post, will be received here until 11 a. m. January 23, 1907, and then opened. Information furnished on application. The great western desert has come into its own.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM BEING DRAGGED TO DEATH
O. A. Morrissey got mixed up in a runaway Monday that came near being serious, says the Capital News. His saddle turned on the horse he was riding, his foot hung in the stirrup and he was dragged quite a distance before getting loose. The frightened horse ran into a wagon and team of Fred Pingsen's which joined in the chase, and the race ended only when the whole thing piled up at Mr. Gray's pasture gate. Mr. Morrissey escaped with a few scratches.

PROSPECTS OF THE YEAR

Henry Clews, the well known financier and banker of New York, has this to say: "What are the prospects for 1907? This is the question of chief concern. A year ago we said that the outlook depended chiefly upon the credit situation and the crop outlook; that if there was no over-extension of the one, and no shortage of the other, we might confidently look forward to another year of good business. Events have proved the correctness of this view; and the principal signs of reaction visible are those produced by the strain upon the money market, which began to develop last August. The outlook for 1907, however, is much more complicated than it was for 1906. We are now upon a still higher plane of values, and there is much inflation in commodities, securities and credit. According to Bradstreet's index figures staple commodities are selling more than 55 per cent above the level of ten years ago. During the same interval our active securities have risen more than 100 per cent; besides, we have already considerably overrun the usual decennial cycle of rising and falling markets. Further, our credit situation is still much strained. There is an enormous supply of money in the country, the per capita circulation being $33, which is 55 per cent greater than ten years ago. The truth is the money supply has been chiefly exhausted by high prices and new capital obligations, and this in spite of our extensive borrowing operations abroad. Moreover, the people are in an extravagant mood. Our prosperity tends to create spendthrifts. We are saving little, and the spirit of economy has almost entirely departed. The rise in values has created a feeling of increased wealth often where there has been no actual addition to real property. Nor is this all; the speculative spirit has been aroused and get-rich-quick schemes are sprouting up like mushrooms. This is shown in both real estate and mining speculation, where operations have been carried on a very questionable scale. Such phenomena always accompany unusual periods of prosperity and they are likely to continue until recklessness becomes extreme and the danger point is reached. Over-confidence is still the danger point in the future, though caution and conservatism may possibly steer us clear of disaster for another year."

OUR MINERAL PRODUCERS

The United States geological survey has issued for release today press bulletin 261. The most interesting part of the bulletin, as far as New Mexico is concerned, is an alphabetical table of the mineral products of all the states and territories of this country for the year 1905. These products include such articles of commerce as clay, stone, cement and the like—articles not generally thought of as mineral products. The states and territories number fifty-one, inclusive of the District of Columbia, each one of which has some mineral product. The least product was that of the District of Columbia, valued at $317,921. Oklahoma, North Dakota, Mississippi and Delaware are the only others the output of which fell below a million dollars for the year. Pennsylvania leads all with a value of $569,828,673. Ohio follows with $169,283,710. Michigan follows with $81,760,141, and West Virginia is a close fifth, with $74,731,376. Montana is sixth, having produced $65,501,049, and New York is seventh, with $65,056,287. Colorado stands eighth, her product being only $59,280,944. Alabama is ninth, with $53,555,288, thus leading California, which is tenth, her production being $43,406,258. New Mexico comes in the four-million class, her product being $4,382,114, making her the twelfth from the bottom of the list of fifty-one. Indiana follows California, as the eleventh, with $4,178,678; and Arizona comes in as twelfth, her mineral product being valued at $4,146,134. New Jersey nearly doubles Alaska, and Kansas more than does so, the latter nearly equalling Arizona. This comparison of values fully establishes the fact that there are other minerals and mineral products whose commercial value exceeds even gold, silver and copper.

New Mexican: The most significant event of the past year was the great influx of homeseekers. Over one million acres were homesteaded, more than twice as much as in any preceding year in the territory's history. It is evident that this is only the advance guard of a rush of the land-hungry multitude, and what this means for the immediate growth of New Mexico is indicated by the fact that one-eighth of the area of the public lands in the United States, outside of Alaska, is situated in this commonwealth. It is especially the Estancia valley and Quay and Roosevelt counties that received the largest number of settlers, and all of them are practicing dry farming. Unusually propitious weather gave great encouragement to these newcomers and the wet fall and winter are a guaranty that the dry farming success of this year will be repeated next year, and by that time these new arrivals should have sufficient acquaintance with soil, crops and climate to enable them to make dry farming a permanent success and to set an example to the later comers, who even at this very writing are arriving by the train loads to select lands in time for spring planting.

With the opening day of the new year, the Las Vegas Optic has again changed management. M. M. Padgett, of Columbus, Ohio, having leased the entire printing and publishing plant of the Optic, today assumed editorial control and business management. He was for many years connected with the Ohio State Journal, and has owned and operated several different newspapers in that state. He brings to his present position the experience of twenty years. There will be no change in the politics of the paper. W. F. Cornell, who was manager of the paper for the past few months, expects to embark in the newspaper field in the southern part of the territory. The Citizen extends to both Mr. Cornell and Mr. Padgett the right hand of fellowship and wishes them many days and much prosperity.

The Citizen wishes its readers and advertisers a happy new year, and thanks them for the liberality of their patronage during the year just closed. Nor can the paper wish other than that during the year now begun similar prosperity, happiness and cordial intercourse may fall to the lot of its patrons, the city, and itself.

Senator Benson, of Kansas, appointed by the governor of that state to fill out the unexpired term of Senator Burton, is a candidate for election by the legislature. Seven other candidates have announced themselves, and others may do so. Evidently the Kansans do not believe the office to be hoodooed.

The pure food, pure drink and pure medicine bill goes into effect today. This will be a great thing for the entire American people. But in this connection, and on New Year's day, it may be well to remember that the Great Teacher said, "It is not that which goeth into the mouth that defileth the man, but that which cometh out of the heart."

Foraker is certainly a versatile as well as eloquent man. His championship of the forsaken colored trooper is nearly as masterful and enthusiastic as his defense of the railroads and "vested rights" last spring.

Embezzlements during the present year have amounted to nearly $15,000,000, or some $5,000,000 in excess of last year.

The greatest advantage of the rich man would seem to be that he doesn't have to put up a front.

A Chicago man hanged himself while his wife was playing ragtime. Probably he preferred the easier exit.

HOW AMERICAN BEET SUGAR PRODUCTION IS INCREASING

The manufacture of beet sugar was carried on in twelve states at the time of the census of 1905. The leading states were Colorado, Michigan and California. The value of products was $7,198,982 for Colorado; $5,378,004 for Michigan, and $4,415,172 for California. These three states produced 69.7 per cent of the total product reported for the United States.

At the census of 1905 Idaho, Ohio and Wisconsin appeared for the first time among the states engaged in the industry, while Illinois and New Mexico were not shown in the list, although in 1900 factories were in operation in those states.

The state which had the greatest number of factories in 1905 was Michigan; and of the nineteen factories in that state ten had been established since 1900; Colorado ranked second with nine active factories, of which only one was in existence in 1900.

The greatest actual increase in value of products in 1905, as compared with 1900, occurred in Colorado, and the next greatest in Michigan.

The largest sugar factory in this country and one of the largest in the world is located in California, which state possesses a larger acreage that is well adapted to the growing of sugar beets than is found in any other state in the union. In California and in Colorado irrigation is used in the growing of beets. In the latter state extensive experiments in feeding cattle and sheep on beet pulp are being carried on, and the beet pulp branch of the industry is further advanced here than in any other state. In Michigan also the utilization of the by-products has received considerable attention.

In Utah the problem of the delivery of beets to the factories has been solved by establishing slicing stations at points from twelve to twenty-five miles distant, and connecting them with the central factories by pipe lines. The beets from the neighboring country are received at these slicing stations, where the juice is extracted and treated with a composition of lime, after which it is forced through the pipes to the factories.

The beet sugar industry seems to be thoroughly established, and the increased production is steadily reducing the amount of sugar imported from other countries—Census Bulletin No. 61.

BENEFACCTIONS LAST YEAR LESS THAN OTHER YEARS

The past year has been remarkable the world over for the munificence of its private gifts to education, charity and public institutions. In this country the total of these known gifts is over $50,000,000, of which $18,000,000 has been for education, $11,000,000 for museums and art galleries, nearly $6,000,000 to hospitals and asylums; an equal sum to miscellaneous charities; $3,000,000 to church work and missions, and $1,300,000 for libraries.

This does not include the small contributions which went to San Francisco, the Vesuvius sufferers, Japan, the Jews of Russia and similar benefactions, which would add $10,000,000 more, and the vast number of unrecorded gifts would measure a like sum.

The other nations have more than equaled America's list, thanks to the bequests from the "Sam" Lewis estate of $15,000,000 and $10,000,000 from the Alfred Beit estate; the $10,000,000 given to the poor of his country by the Mexican miner, Pedro Alvarado; $1,000,000 given by five Germans in honor of the Kaiser's silver wedding, and $5,000,000 given by Princess Maternich of France.

The largest gifts in this country were $8,000,000 from the Marshall Field estate for the Columbian museum at Chicago; $6,100,000 by Andrew Carnegie, $6,655,000 from the Charles T. Yerkes estate, $4,425,000 by John D. Rockefeller, and $3,000,000 each from the P. A. B. Widener and the William Markhardt estate.

And yet the United States in the past year has fallen below the record of each of the prior five years by from $12,000,000 to $57,000,000, the year 1901 still ranking first with a total of $107,000,000. The grand total for the past six years is almost half a billion of dollars, all spent for the betterment of mankind, yet but little went to directly help the pitiable poor. Even in education, but a minor amount was for technical education; there was nothing given to better the condition of the small wage-earner; nothing for better homes for poverty, and nothing to clean up the slums of the great cities and replace vile smells with fresh air, with cleanliness and gloom with light. The United States gives with a princely lavishness, but it has still much to learn of the best ways to secure the most valuable results.—Duluth News-Tribune.

WONDERFUL WORLD'S OUTPUT OF COPPER IN 1906

One hundred years ago, according to the Copper Handbook, the mines of the globe produced an average of about 10,000 long tons of copper yearly—less than the present yearly output of either nickel or aluminum—while in 1906 production is at the rate of 15,000 long tons per week, and there is much talk of a copper famine, to which color is given by the present price of the metal, which is higher than for twenty-five years past. According to the Copper Handbook, just issued by Horace J. Stevens of Houghton, Mich., in 1905 there were fifteen individual companies, each of which produced more copper than all the mines of the globe produced in 1895, and two mines each of which made as much of the metal last year as all of the mines of the world made during the first five years of the nineteenth century, the two mines in question being the Calumet and Hecla of Michigan and the Anaconda of Montana.

Of the fifteen mines of the globe that made 25,000,000 or more pounds each of refined copper in 1905, ten are in the United States, while there are one each in Mexico, Spain, Germany and Japan, and one—the American Smelting and Refining Company—generally known as the smelter trust, that draws its copper ores from numerous small mines in Mexico, Canada and the United States.

In 1905 there were 183 properties one, the smelter trust, drew ores from nearly all of North America, while the others were located as follows: United States, 46; Mexico, 11; Chile, 19; Japan, credited with a production of one million or more pounds of fine copper each. Of the 100 leading producers, Canada and Australia, 5 each; Spain, Russia and Cape Colony, 3 each; Germany, 2; Tasmania, Norway, Italy, Turkey and Newfoundland, 1 each. Ninety-four of these 100 properties made more than 3,000,000 pounds of fine copper each in 1905.

Figuring copper at an average price, throughout the globe, of 20¢ cents per pound, which is a trifle below the average quotations, the mines of the world are making copper at the rate of exactly $1,000,000 per day for every day in the year, including Sundays and holidays. Compared with copper, the value of the gold and silver production of the United States is as a minor fraction, great as is the output of the precious metals, and rapid as has been the increase in production of the money metals by the mines of America. Another fact of deep interest is found in the surprisingly large percentage of the gold and silver output of the country that comes, as a by-product, from the copper mines. The vast and rapidly increasing value of the copper output of the United States, which makes more than half of the copper produced in the world, is a most significant development.

QUIET CHRISTMAS IN OFFICIAL CIRCLES

Wedding of Miss Reeves—Return to Capital of "Heliotrope Belle."

Washington, Jan. 1.—Washington laid aside affairs of state and formal social duties to enter genuinely into the Christmas festivities. There was no Christmas tree at the white house, but all the members of Mr. Roosevelt's family were present and gifts and greetings were exchanged in the president's private office, where the family assembled after an early breakfast. In the afternoon they went around to the home of Rear Admiral and Mrs. William S. Cowles, where the children found a Christmas tree awaiting them. Dinner was served in the state dining room for nineteen persons, including Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Cowles and Senator and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts. The president and Mrs. Roosevelt left early Thursday morning for their little country place "Pine Knot," Virginia, where they will spend a few days of quiet and leisure, returning here in time for the New Year's reception.

The vice president and members of the cabinet spent Christmas day quietly with their families, and the British, Austrian, German, Brazilian, French, Mexican and Italian embassies all had Christmas trees. Mme. Quesada, wife of the Cuban minister, had a Christmas tree party for her children and their little friends of the diplomatic corps.

The wedding of Miss Hallie Ermine Rives, of Virginia, and Post Wheeler, the second secretary of the American embassy to Japan, took place Saturday at four o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Rives is well known in Washington, where she spent two winters. She was entertained at the white house at a dinner and luncheon, and was a guest of Miss Helen Cannon, daughter of the speaker of the house, to whom she is related. The embassy at Tokio was gorgeously decked after the Japanese fashion and the bride and couple stood upon a dais in the big bay window of the front drawing room under a canopy of American and Japanese flags festooned with colonial ivy. Mrs. Wright, wife of the American ambassador, acted as matron of honor and the best man was an old Japanese college mate of Mr. Wheeler's who was a student in this country and who now occupies a seat in the Japanese house of peers.

The bridal costume is the same worn which Miss Rives wore on the occasion of her presentation at the court of St. James, and is built almost entirely of rose point lace, with a long court train garlanded with empire wreaths. Both bride and matron carried white orchids. Mr. Wheeler and his bride expect to remain in Japan and it is said that Miss Rives intends to write a novel with scenes laid in the land of the flowery kingdom.

The return of Mrs. Martha Hiebert Blaine, the "heliotrope belle" to Washington, after a six months' sojourn in South Dakota for the purpose of securing a divorce from "Jimmie" Blaine, has caused a ripple of excitement here where Miss Hiebert was an acknowledged leader of her set and a reigning beauty in society.

The announcement of her marriage to Lieutenant Paul S. Pearsall, a rough rider and a wealthy New Yorker, will occasion no surprise as she herself has made no secret of it and the affair has been watched by those who know her and regretted her unfortunate marriage to Mr. Blaine which took place in 1901. Rumor saith that Senator Depew was a devoted and a patient admirer of Miss Hiebert in those days, but her infatuation for young Blaine blinded her to all other suitors, and in spite of the protests of friends and relatives, she married him with the noble intention of working a reformation. The outcome of this matrimonial adventure was the trip to South Dakota some six months ago.

Miss Hiebert started the fad of having all her gowns made in some shade of purple, heliotrope or lavender, carrying these flowers even at her wedding in place of the traditional white bouquet. The color was particularly becoming to her and won for her the name of the "heliotrope belle."

PECULIAR ANTICS OF A YOUNG COLT

WHO RACED FOR MILES WITH TRAIN—FELL OFF BRIDGE AND BROKE HIS NECK.

The engineer and fireman of one of the big freight engines that pulled into Kingman from the east last Tuesday evening reported a most unusual occurrence, says the Miner. As they pulled out of Berry, a sliding six miles east of here, a colt that had been grazing on the plain near the track playfully began a race with the train. It would run beside the train and then putting on a burst of speed would get upon the track ahead of the train where it would run and cavort with all the playful antics of the animal. The trainmen thought that after a while it would become tired and go back to the herd, but it continued its play back and forth across the track ahead of the train until the down grade was reached coming into town, when it took the track and raced on ahead of the train. At times the engineer had to use the air to keep from running over the animal. At the bridge, at the east end of the yard, the animal jumped off and its neck was broken by the fall. The trainmen, who are usually a superstitious set, are puzzled to account for the strange conduct of the animal.

MORE MONEY FOR CONGRESSMEN THE TALK

Also Successor to Senator Platt Is Agitating Capital Political Circles.

Washington, Jan. 1.—A good many important questions await the convening of congress, but none of them is of such absorbing interest to the national lawmakers as the proposed increase in salaries of senators and representatives. It is believed, however, in the house that the senate will restore the extra $2,500 a year which the house cut out of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill.

The matter is of more moment, of course, to house members than to senators, because as a rule senators are men of independent means while a great majority of representatives have little aside from their salaries. After years of cloak-room agitation, it was believed the house this year had gotten its courage up to the point of voting its members the desired increase, but at the last moment it was found impossible to rally a majority to the standard. An attempt was made to get a democratic caucus action favorable to the increase, and when the plan fell through a large number of republicans, who were supposed to be solidly for the project suddenly discovered that $5,000 a year was adequate compensation.

It is not believed, however, that any of these "deserters," as they are called by their bolder colleagues, would raise any serious objection should the senate restore the increase. Certainly, it is not believed many of them would go to the point of refusing to accept the extra $2,500.

It is understood senators generally favor a $7,500 salary for members of congress, but are strongly opposed to an indirect increase which the house voted itself. In the bill as it passed the house, the allowance for clerkship for representatives was increased from $1,200 to $1,500 a year, and instead of providing that the money should be paid actually to clerks it was given outright as an allowance to members. It is to this proposition that senators object.

They declare that it is an attempt on the part of the house to increase their own salaries by indirection, while they lacked the courage directly to vote the increase. There is no special objection to giving the clerks an extra $300 a year, but senators are determined it shall not go into the pockets of thrifty representatives.

The selection of a successor to Senator Thomas C. Platt, is agitating the minds of politicians just now. That Senator Platt contemplated early resignation has been repeatedly reported, and as often denied, but now it is declared with positiveness

The Basis of the Prosperity We Now Enjoy is Enduring

By Harlow N. Higinbotham

President of World's Columbian Exposition and in Business With Marshall Field & Company for Forty Years.

The prosperity of the country, it seems to me, is grounded more firmly than ever before; in fact, promising a firmer and firmer basis for many years to come.

In giving reasons for so broad a statement I like to draw circles within circles, the smaller within the larger. In the vast arable lands within a radius of 500 miles of Chicago, at present the most fully developed agriculturally, crops this year have been enormous. The corn crop alone worth over $1,000,000,000, or at prevailing prices about three times as much as ten years ago. Nor is the cultivation now so great as it will be in ten years to come; the average farmer cultivates too few acres to produce the capacity of the ground, a great many acres susceptible of cultivation still lying idle. Still, in that area centered in Chicago, its present development accomplished largely within the lifetime of the living, approximately 30,000,000 people are living more prosperously every year.

A fertile soil well tilled, is a gold mine turning out paying ore all the time, and I see no possibility of anything but growth of prosperity while great developments in this line are going on.

There are no real crop failures these days. Once farmers did not know how and when and what to grow; climate influences were not so well known, and wheat was sown where corn should have been planted. Now each year there is better knowledge of agricultural conditions, better machinery to harvest crops and more plentiful labor.

HARLOW N. HIGINBOTHAM

Mines also are being worked better with improved machinery capable of getting ore more quickly to the furnaces and into merchantable condition. Railroads are kept working at or beyond their capacity to take these products to market and merchandise back to the smaller centers.

In a broader circle, including the cotton belt, western mines, the fertile Pacific slope and the great eastern states, there is a varied production growing greater and greater each year. Some of this area is merely in the first stages of development. In addition, while a good many railroads and industries were started with foreign capital, a rapidly growing proportion of these are owned at home.

MR. HIGINBOTHAM, OF CHICAGO.

How long is this prosperity going to last? Is the question every man in the United States puts to himself or his neighbor once in a while.

Will it be only six months—a year—or will we never have any more panics?

Harlow N. Higinbotham, one of Chicago's great business men, has written the accompanying article on American prosperity. He looks into the future most hopefully, and reasonably so.

Mr. Higinbotham was president of the World's Columbian exposition, a high honor. He was interested actively in the great business of Marshall Field & Company, in Chicago for forty years, but is now retired.

Export trade also continues to make great strides, with farm products leading and more equitable rates giving the farmer a greater share on export stuff than formerly.

In manufacturing and mercantile lines conditions never were better; factories are working to their capacity, and forward sales of merchandise are the heaviest ever known. Even over-speculation, which I think improbable with recent well-timed trust and life insurance agitation, is powerless, it seems to me, to overthrow a prosperity so firmly grounded.

Curbing of predatory interests also is going to redound to the general benefit and help to continue an era of prosperity through 1907 and beyond.

Sound Banks to the Aid of Prosperity

BY WILLIAM BARRETT RIDGELY, United States Controller of the Currency.

The outlook for continued prosperity, as indicated by the state of the nation's banks, never was better. A brief review of the year past shows healthy and pronounced growth.

The individual deposits in the banks, state and national, have grown from nine and a half billion dollars in 1902 to twelve and a half billions reported June 30, 1906. Meantime, a healthy ratio of capital to deposits has been maintained.

In 1906 the nation's banking power, as represented by capital surplus, other profits, deposits and circulation of national and other banks, is estimated to be $16,462,470,465. From the latest and most reliable data obtainable the banking power of the foreign countries is estimated at $11,923,600,000, the United States being credited with about one-third of that amount. Since that year the banking power of the United States has increased to the extent of $11,312,400,000 or over 219 per cent, that of the foreign countries $11,117,999,999 or 192.6 per cent.

The aggregate clearings for the year ended Sept. 30, 1906, were $157,749,328,913, a net increase of $17,136,774,714. With the exception of six cities, reporting a decrease in the amount of transactions of the associations in the 112 cities in which clearing house associations are in existence.

The banks of the nation, and its business as indicated by banking transactions, are in a thoroughly and a large showing of authority that his resignation will be tendered Gov. Hughes early in the new year.

Washington is inclined to the belief that President Roosevelt will decline the selection of a successor to Senator Platt, though he may first have to fight it out with opposing elements. The president's first choice, it is understood, would be Secretary of State Elihu Root, but Mr. Root positively refuses to be a wearer of a toga. Other men prominently mentioned are Timothy L. Woodruff and J. Stuart Fessett. Joseph H. Choate, formerly ambassador to Great Britain, also has a considerable following, but it is declared his candidacy lacks the requisite approval of Mr. Roosevelt. Since Mr. Choate returned from the Court of St. James he has been prominently identified in a legal way with Standard Oil and other large corporate interests and the president is anxious for a senator from his native state who will be free from even a suspicion of sympathy with the trusts.

WILLIAM BARRETT RIDGELY

sound condition.

In the past year—that is between Nov. 1, 1905, and Oct. 31, 1906—about twelve banks were placed in charge of receivers. Of this number four were restored to solvency and permitted to resume business. Of the other eight, three have paid dividends to creditors to the amount of 50 per cent, one 25 per cent, and one 100 per cent, together with 2.19 per cent interest.

The prosperity of the country seems to be founded on an actual increase of actual wealth. In my judgment it is not based on unhealthy expansion of credits, or a rage of speculation. So long as such speculation is avoided, and the people confine themselves to the promotion of reasonable enterprise, there is no need to fear for the future.

Wm. Barrett Ridgely, United States controller of currency has written on money and banking conditions in the accompanying article. Banks are sound and our national finances are booming, he says.

Mr. Ridgely is a native of Illinois, in which state he was born in 1858. He was a business man and banker in Springfield when he became controller in 1901.

The Cruise Of The Water Wagon

Oh, a capital ship for a holiday trip.
Was the wonderful Water Wagon;
They came early and late, and (if truth we must state)
There were some who just managed to tag on.

For she gathered them in, the stout and the thin,
Taking all who'd swear off from the flagon;
'Twas a glorious sight, all the faces contrite
Smiling down from the good Water Wagon.

But sorry to tell, there were several who fell (And some of them hadn't a rag on!)
When they took a cigar just as crossing the bar,
And forsook the good ship, Water Wagon.

And some, all too frail, they would lean on the rail,
And it happened the ship ran a snafu on;
So that these were deplored when they fell overboard,
And were lost from the old Water Wagon.

Still the number grew less, till they were bound to confess Very soon there were few left to brag on;
And although it seems queer, one day it was clear
There was nobody left on the Wagon.

Then the captain he spoke (he was great at a joke!)
"Now, why shouldn't I get a jag on?"
There's no use to pretend—this remark was the end Of the cruise of the good Water Wagon.

So you always will hear about this time of year
Of a ship with a snowy white flag on;
But don't feel concern—all your friends will return
Very soon from the good Water Wagon.

WILL GET SANTA FE RECORDS BY FORCE

Auditor's Excuses Unsatisfactory—District Attorney to Use Harsh Measures.

If the Santa Fe Railroad company officials do not produce the papers and records, as commanded by the United States district attorney and the grand jury, a search by force probably will be made, says the Los Angeles Examiner. This is the situation that has developed, since both Judge Wellborn and Judge Ross have held that the district attorney has the right to assume command of the Santa Fe premises, if the dictates of the court are not obeyed.

The grand jury, after adjourning for a day, again sat in the debate case Friday. G. A. Davidson, the Santa Fe auditor, was called to the witness stand and asked what his reasons were for not bringing the books and records into court. His excuses that they could not be found and a lot of verbal examination took up the most of the afternoon. It is not the personal testimony that the jury wants but the company's records and unless they are forthcoming immediately harsh measures will be taken by the district attorney to secure them. All other lines of investigation have been abandoned by the grand jury and its entire time will be put in on the written records. The case will be continued.

SANTA FE, PRESCOTT & PHOENIX NEW OFFICIALS.

In an order issued from the office of W. A. Drake, vice president and assistant general manager of the Santa Fe, Prescott & Phoenix, and operated lines, the following appointments, to take effect January 1, 1907, have been announced.

J. A. Jaeger, chief engineer; H. C. Storey, superintendent; S. W. Higley, superintendent of track, and George Tisdale, superintendent of bridges, buildings and water service.

J. A. Jaeger, the new chief engineer, long in the service of the Santa Fe lines, has been connected with the S. F. P. & P. in the department of which he is now the head, since the construction of the road. He is among the ablest engineers in the west, and is a member of several of the prominent engineering associations.

H. C. Storey, the new superintendent, has been in charge of the train department for a number of years, and is thoroughly familiar with all details of that branch of railroading.

S. W. Higley, superintendent of track, has had a number of years' experience in railroad construction, and on account of being connected with the road from the time it was started at Ash Fork, has accumulated knowledge of the details of his office of great assistance to him in the management of the multifarious duties of his department.

George Tisdale, superintendent of bridges, buildings and water service, with the other officers advanced, has been in the employ of the company since its construction was inaugurated. He is a mechanic of ability.

E. DeSilva has been retained as master mechanic. The headquarters of all appointments named will be in Prescott.

NEW TYPE ENGINE FOR THE SANTA FE

Just now the Baldwin locomotive works are delivering to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway company an order of fifty-six very large and powerful Prairie type locomotives to be used in fast freight service.

The Prairie type locomotive for fast freight work, which, incidentally, includes low speed, heavy passenger service, is becoming quite common in certain sections of western railroads, and the use of this type in the present case is largely a result of the very satisfactory service rendered during the past five years by 143 engines belonging to the 1,000 and 1,050 classes. A number of other roads, notably the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Northern Pacific, and Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, are operating large Prairie type locomotives, but the new Atchison engine is the largest and heaviest of its type in the world for either passenger or freight service.

JURY GIVES NO VERDICT IN RAILROAD DAMAGE SUIT.

The jury in the case of the suit of Willard Zibbell against the Southern Pacific company gave a judgment Saturday, at Fresno, Cal., against the railroad for $100,000. This is said to be the largest verdict ever rendered in the United States for personal injuries.

In July, 1905, Zibbell, who is a race horse driver, was struck by a box car moving in the freight yards without a light and he lost his left arm, his right hand, his left leg at the hip, and his right foot.

RAILROAD WILL REPAIR GILA RIVER BRIDGE.

At Phoenix, announcement was made by the Maricopa & Phoenix railroad officials that the bridge across the Gila river would be repaired and traffic resumed at once. Reports from all the flooded districts are to the effect that the floods are receding and that no further damage is anticipated from the present high water.

Allen G. Kennedy, who was chief engineer of the Santa Fe Central railway, the line which he located and which was built under his supervision, is now connected with the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company in an important position. His headquarters are at Portland, Ore. Mr. Kennedy has many friends in this territory who will be glad to receive this bit of news.

The Needles Eye says: Conductor Alex. McDonald was quite sick Monday morning when he arrived here with his train from Los Angeles, it being evidently a case of slight poisoning from something which he had eaten. He was improved sufficiently to take the train that evening, dead-heading to Los Angeles.

The Santa Fe will soon begin to add 4,000 feet to all of their side tracks on the Albuquerque-Seligman division, which will make them nearly a mile in length. As the sidetracks are now very frequent it will not take much more to make it a double track.

It is reported that the Santa Fe will soon do away with the oil burners that are being used west of Winslow. The oil line is severe on the boilers of the locomotives. If this is true, the Santa Fe will be after more Gallup coal.

On the second district the Santa Fe has built many miles of fence along their right of way, the fence now being located at Navajo. B. B. Crosby has the contract and the fences will soon be completed between Winslow and Gallup.

Frank Dillert, who is connected with the Santa Fe Central and whose residence is at the capital, was at the Alvarado last evening.

Dr. J. P. Kaster, of Topeka, chief surgeon for the Santa Fe railroad, was in the city yesterday from Topeka.

MISS FLORENCE GEAR AND HER HAIR

ALL WILL BE SEEN AT TONIGHT'S PERFORMANCE OF "THE MARRIAGE OF KITTY."

Miss Florence Gear, Mr. Jules Murry's little leading lady in "The Marriage of Kitty," the comedy to be given at the opera house tonight, has such a profusion of hair that many in her audience have flatly refused to believe that it is her own, or, if her hair is dark blue—violet in some lights—jet black in others, and her hair is as fine as spun silk and the color of pure gold—not the tawny Asiatic gold but the "golden gold" of our own country. The question could only be settled by going to headquarters—the lady herself—and this is what she says: "It is the same old question I am invariably asked—where do I get my blond hair and my dark eyes? From my mother. I received the birthright of my hair—the hair of the Dutch of old New Amsterdam. From my father, I reckon, I inherit my dark eyes, his had a touch of Irish in them. But they are just as the good Lord was pleased to make them—and I have never tried to change his handiwork."

BROTHERHOOD OF MEN WILL ENTERTAIN

Hon. John R. McElie, of Santa Fe, one of the judges of the supreme court of this territory, will address a popular meeting at the Presbyterian church Friday evening, Jan. 4th, at 7:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the Men's Brotherhood of the church. There will also be special music and refreshments. There will be no charge and the ladies as well as the men are cordially invited to be present at this, the first public appearance of the Brotherhood.

EXPROPRIATING IN P. O. IS PROHIBITED AT LAS VEGAS.

A Valdez, a native, was arrested this morning for expropriating on the floor of the postoffice, says the Optic. At first he denied his guilt, but when confronted with two witnesses, acknowledged that he might have committed the offense, but that he had no remembrance of it. He paid his fine of $3. This is the second arrest for the same offense made in the Meadow City the past week.

CALUMET AND ARIZONA PAYS $800,000 DIVIDENDS

BUT THE SAME COMPANY DECLARES ITS PATENTED MINING CLAIMS ARE WORTH BUT PAID $81,869.30.

Dividend checks from the Calumet and Arizona Mining company were received this week by the fortunate owners of stock in this company. The company pays this quarter $4 per share to all stockholders who were on record December 5. This will represent a disbursement of no less than $800,000 on the outstanding 200,000 shares.

The previous dividend was increased 50 cents per quarter, and proved to be most welcome. When last the directors met it was a little earlier than usual, and to add to the pleasure of the Christmas for the shareholders the directors added another 50 cents to the disbursement, making it $4 per share, or at the rate of $16 per year.

Just what is in store for the stockholders of the Calumet and Arizona for the ensuing year has not been announced, nor is it even possible to surmise. Should the price of copper continue to rise or even hold its own for another six months it is quite likely that the C. & A. directors will take steps to increase the disbursements of the profits among the shareholders, and as high as $5 per quarter is predicted before another year will have passed.—Bisbee Review.

The Calumet and Arizona, which at the above rate is paying dividends to the amount of $3,200,000 annually, is the same company which returned the total value of its patented claims to the assessor of Cochise county, Arizona, as being worth but $81,869.30 for purposes of taxation.
