OFFICIAL PAPER FOR CITY OF ALBUQUERQUE

NEW WAY TO SECURE PASS ON RAILROAD

Cripple Creek Prospector Obstructs the Road Till His Pass Shall Be Issued.

NEW YORK WILL HAVE FIFTY STORY BUILDING

Other Items of News Collected
From Widely Divergent Sections of the Country.

Cripple Creek, Colo.: Because the officials of the Short Line have been a little late in getting out their annual passes this year for those considered entitled to ride over the scenic line, the business of the road came very near being tied up Wednesday afternoon and considerable inconvenience was suffered. D. M. McNamara, an old-time prospector, who has made his home for several years in a cabin above the High Line, near Windy Point, claims that the railroad crosses his ground without right of way, and for several years the railroad officials have recognized his contention by furnishing him an annual pass, thereby avoiding annoyance and expense.

McNamara, deemed twenty-four hours a sufficient time for the railroad company to deliver his pass, and when it failed to arrive, determined to tie up the line. He piled rocks on the track, causing the trains to be delayed, and to make his protest more effective, removed an upright from the Excelsior office for help across his ground under the track. He then posted a notice alongside the track to the effect that the same was unsafe. The roof of the tunnel is close to the track, which began to sag. Superintendent Phiberty telephoned the sheriff's office for help and Under-sheriff Parsons dispatched deputies to the scene.

Railroad Detective D. C. Scott accompanied and pacified McNamara by explaining that the delay in issuing the passes was unavoidable and McNamara escaped arrest. He will get his pass and the railroad officials anticipate no further trouble.

FIFTY-STORY BUILDING FOR NEW YORK CITY.

New York: Announcement has been made of the awarding of the contract for the structural steel which is to complete the block of buildings erected by the Metropolitan Life insurance company.

Out-topped in height by only one man-built structure in the world, the Eiffel tower, and nine stories higher than the tallest office building ever planned, the Metropolitan tower, as the fifty-story addition will be known, will cover the plot on which formerly stood the Parkhurst church, at the southeast corner of Madison avenue and Twenty-fourth street.

WILL DIRECT RUSSIAN JEW TO THE SOUTH.

London: Israel Zangwill, in an interview regarding the colonization scheme of the Jewish territorial organization, said that the organization would start a propaganda in Russia for the purpose of explaining to the world the New York and America are synonymous, the advisability of making Galveston instead of New York their port of arrival, as from Galveston no fewer than six railroad lines lead to all the best points for emigrants. "There is no idea whatsoever," Mr. Zangwill continued, "of those emigrants remaining even a single day in Galveston. The object of establishing an information bureau at Galveston is that emigrants immediately upon arrival may learn of the best places where work can be obtained, and there has not been the faintest idea of establishing a colony in Texas. The whole matter reduces itself to a moral guidance of those emigrating with their own resources and to the simple facilitation of their embarkation for Galveston instead of New York. Once the immigrants arrive in New York the subject is done, as few proceed further."

Mr. Zangwill quoted statistics to show that the great bulk of Jewish emigration from Russia seeks New York, and said that the movement was for the best interests of the emigrants and of the United States. He stated that the general superintendent of the work in the United States would be undertaken by Cyrus Hixberger, of New York.

EX-BOSS COX, OF OHIO.

Washington: Ex-Boss Cox, of Cincinnati, the man whom Secretary Taft helped to smash two years ago, is one of those who have been to Washington recently to talk things over with the "conservative" leaders, and who have gone back home satisfied that now is the time to subscribe. They have been told, these inquiring ones, that the president is not a candidate, and that his present intention is to attempt to make Secretary Taft the nominee; that Foraker, aided by Cox and Dick, have so tight a grip on Ohio that Taft will be unable to secure endorsement there, his home state, that the old guard, assisted by such big financiers as Harrison and Morgan, will recapture New York shortly; that Fairbanks has Indiana in the hollow of his hand; that Illinois belongs to Uncle Joe Cannon, and that the republican organizations of all the southern states are in the hands of the old crowd that held them in the days before Theodore Roosevelt became a factor to be reckoned with.

EFFORT TO SECURE NEGRO EXCLUSION FROM ARMY.

Washington: Congress will be urged to rid the army of all of its colored soldiers when it takes up the consideration of the Brownsville affair. This drastic action has been proposed and is receiving serious consideration from army officers as well as members of congress. Four regiments would be affected—the Ninth and Tenth cavalry and the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth infantry.

The suggestion grows out of the fact that ever since the incidents which led the president to discharge three whole companies of the Twenty-fifth infantry, a veritable wave of crime seems to have swept over the negro troops.

DEADLY SLING SHOT

The deadly sling-shot has again claimed a victim in Prescott, and as a result little Robert Martin, aged 12, may lose the sight of his right eye. The Martin boy was on his way to his home, 149 South Summit street, from school, when he was struck in the eye by a piece of orange peel, thrown from a sling-shot in the hands of another boy. The accident occurred about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Southworth was called at once to dress the injured eye, and it is reported that the boy may lose it as a result of the accident.

HIS FEELINGS INJURED TO EXTENT OF $5,000.

Harry D. Stock, through his attorneys, Messrs. English & Gilmore, has brought an action for damages in the sum of $5,000 against W. W. Guthrie, formerly of Douglas, Ariz., but who is at present of Santa Barbara, and has considerable property interests at Douglas. The damages are asked for on the ground of slander. The complaint alleges that the defendant said: "He sold my furniture to you. He is a thief. He is a criminal and should be sent to Yuma. You should have him arrested." That plaintiff was subsequently arrested and brought to Tombstone from Globe and his reputation injured and feelings humiliated in the sum of $5,000.

THE REVERSE OF THE ARIZONA DE RAYLAN INCIDENT

A Berlin dispatch states that a remarkable tragedy at Breslau has revealed a long hidden secret. Herr Meyer, a teacher living in the town, fell in love with Mme. de Paradella during a recent visit to Paris. They were betrothed, and Herr Meyer brought his fiancée to Breslau to present her to his family. The day before the wedding, Mme. de Paradella committed suicide. It was then found that the fiancée was a man. He was 35 years old, but had masqueraded as a woman for twenty years without being suspected. Herr Meyer is suffering from brain fever, which was set up by the mental shock of the discovery.

TO PROTECT PETRIFIED FOREST OF ARIZONA.

Copies of President Roosevelt's proclamation setting aside thirty sections of land and the "petrified forests" of Gila and Apache counties, Arizona, as the "petrified forest national monument," have been mailed from Washington.

The proclamation, which is based upon an act of congress on June 8, 1896, declares that the "Mozofo forest" commonly known as the "petrified forests" are of the greatest scientific interest and value and it appears that the public good would be promoted by the reserving of these deposits of fossilized wood as a national monument with as much land as may be necessary for the proper protection thereof.

SAYS MAN'S A FOOL TO STAY IN POLITICS

Harry Hibben, county recorder of Coconino county, paid a flying visit to Prescott, returning to his home in Flagstaff on the afternoon daylight express, says the Journal-Miner. Since the recent election Mr. Hibben has been in Utah, where he purchased a tract of about 100 acres, which he drove to his ranges in the Grand Canyon country, bordering on the Colorado river.

"I have quit politics for good," Mr. Hibben said. "and shall devote my time in future to the stock industry. I feel great relief at explaining my office over to my successor, and candidly state, from my years of experience in office, that I believe that a man is a fool to devote his time to public life, if he wants to make money. I was as anxious as any candidate to break the record, but since the people expressed a wish that I should retire from office for a while, I have seen the error of my ways from a business and money-making point of view, and have resolved to attend strictly to my own personal affairs in the future. Yes, I got kicked out of the perch and I am glad of it," he concluded.

PARO DEALER SHOT AND KILLED FRENCHMAN

About 30 miles Monday night, Earl Sparks, a Faro dealer, and Louis Andre, a Frenchman, were playing a single handed game of cards in the Wellington saloon, Prescott, when an altercation ensued between the two men which resulted in a fist fight. Sparks was struck a heavy blow on the nose by Andre. The men were separated. Andre going out the back door, while Sparks' injured nose was cared for by friends.

Andre returned to the saloon and Sparks went out of the front door and walked north along Whiskey row. Andre followed shortly afterward.

In about four or five minutes, Sparks returned to the Wellington and gave himself up to Officer Burns, handing the officer a revolver and saying, "I have shot him."

It is not known whether there were any witnesses to the shooting, but the shot was heard by several persons, who were quickly upon the scene of the tragedy. Andre was shot through the head and died almost instantly. His body was taken to the sheriff's office.

CHRISTMAS TREE FOR DOGS

On Christmas day Miss Nannie Sloan, a wealthy Maryland woman, gave a Christmas tree to her dog. The tree was laden with choice meats and every delicacy that would appeal to a cultured canine taste. The decorations and illuminations were elaborate and costly. Perhaps that was all right in its way. Possibly the dogs deserved the Christmas tree, though the true Christmas spirit would have led this wealthy woman to hunt up the hungry dogs in the highways and byways and bid them to her feast.

Somehow one's heart sinks when he thinks of the happy dogs on the Sloan estate and then of the countless children who had no Christmas tree. Literally millions of children are working in the mines and mills, losing their chance in life, and thousands upon thousands of these had no Christmas token. Do you know that half the school boys of this nation are taken from their schools and put to work before they are twelve years of age? Do you know that of one hundred boys sent to the public schools, only three are able to go to the high school and finish? Do you know that tens of thousands of little girls who should be playing with their dolls are being battered into living dwarfs by child labor? Do you know hundreds of thousands of fathers and mothers sweat, as it were, drops of blood to merely clothe and feed their children? Do you know that but for charity a large per cent of the children of this nation would go without a Christmas present?

These are not nice things to print, but they are "awfully" true. Read in The Citizen's New York letter, published on the third page of this issue, of three little waifs found huddled around a piece of evergreen for a Christmas tree. Mother dead, father deserted, and they ready to die of hunger and cold. Read that in Leavenworth, Kan.—fruitful Kansas, where the barns and granaries are bursting out with the profusion of magnificent crops—185 families would have had no Christmas cheer but for the Salvation Army.

When one reads of such things, more numerous than can be recounted by any writer, it is no wonder that the story of a costly Christmas tree given to canines prompts the prayer that some day, some how, every little child everywhere may receive as much attention as some pampered dogs now receive.

RAILWAY DISASTERS

Once more the appalling annual statistics of railway disasters have set railway managers to thinking seriously about precautions for the greater safety of their trains. The managers of the Burlington think they have found the secret in a limitation of speed. This railroad, in the face of an apparent public demand to be on time regardless of risks, has placed a maximum speed limit of sixty miles an hour upon its passenger trains and has put speed meters in locomotive cabs to detect speed in excess of this limit.

How important this is to the traveling public may be gathered when it is stated that the fast transcontinental mail train, which does not carry passengers, maintains a speed of ninety miles an hour on portions of this road every night. It is also a well-known fact that there is not a single fast train on any of the big railway systems that does not frequently equal and even surpass this speed in daily efforts to make up lost time. How far speed contributes to accident is an open question. Hence the Burlington experiment will be interesting and valuable to the entire railway world.

But the American people, aroused over the long list of dead and injured for the year, will not be content with such mild methods of reform. There is pending in the national senate a bill offered by Senator LaFollette forbidding the railroads to permit "any employee in or connected with the movement of any train to remain on duty more than sixteen hours, except when, by casualty occurring after such employee has started on his trip, he is prevented from reaching his terminal, or to permit any such employee to go on duty without having had at least ten hours for rest."

Many of the accidents of the past have been attributed to overworked trainmen or overworked dispatchers. The limitation of hours of continuous labor to sixteen is not unreasonable. All regulating measures must be productive of some incidental hardship. That cannot be helped. But it is better that the railways should suffer some hardships in the decrease of dividends than that their employees should continue to suffer injustice and the public continue to suffer injuries and loss of life.

NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS

The Pueblo Star-Journal, in writing about the good resolutions so freely formed at the first of the year, makes a good suggestion when it says that these resolutions should be not only as to the private life of the individuals, but also as to their civic life as members of the community in which they reside. That paper then offers the following suggestions:

The first and most important resolution should be to drop all individual selfishness and work together for the welfare of the community. Unity of purpose and of action is the secret of communal success. Without it nothing great can be accomplished, with it scarcely anything is impossible of accomplishment.

To speak well of their city should be another resolution of the citizens. If they do not speak well of their city, nobody else will, and soon nobody will even think well of it.

They should remember that the prosperity of their city depends to a great extent upon the success of their merchants and manufacturers and should form and live up to the resolution to give to their merchants and manufacturers every support within their power.

Cleanliness is next to godliness and neatness and orderliness are not far from it. The people should bear this in mind and should form the firm resolution to beautify not only their homes, but also the city, by removing everything that offends the eye and by adding improvements in the form of handsome new buildings, good and clean pavements and well kept sidewalks.

Nothing reflects greater credit upon a city than a generous display of public spirit on one part of its citizens. The people should not fail to remember this in their resolutions and should consider it a duty or honor to contribute to the welfare of the city on every occasion, even at the cost of material sacrifices.

It does not require a very great stretch of memory for one to recall the fact that in this county, on November 6, an election was held, and that a much self-vaunted party of morality and reform secured the offices. However, it requires even a less stretch of industry in the way of observation for one to see that there is not the slightest tendency to either morality or reform on the part of those then elected. Of course the times have been short, but as short as it has been, it has been long enough to leave no doubt that all the cry of reform was purely for election purposes. The board of county commissioners was expected to be the bright and shining light, whence the pathway of reform would be most brilliantly illuminated. But one of their very first acts was to give the county printing to the morning paper, apparently without any contract and certainly without calling for bids. No doubt they are under obligation to the morning paper, but then it is a poor kind of reform which pays private obligations out of public funds.

New Mexican: The official notice of contest of Octaviano A. Larrazola vs. W. H. Andrews for the seat as the delegate from New Mexico to the sixtieth congress, has been served upon Delegate Andrews. It is a voluminous document, containing sixty-two pages of closely typewritten matter. In it the people of several of the counties are alleged to be great swamps, election thieves, corruptionists, hoodlums and everything that is bad, with no redeeming qualifications. If one-tenth of the allegations are true, about half of the people of this territory are a very, very bad lot. Yet, the New Mexican believes that the people are all right and not as bad as painted in Mr. Larrazola's pronouncements.

In a poetic mood Henry Watterson says December is not the month of fruitfulness, but of gathered harvests. Those department store page advertisements certainly are appreciated by Henri.

Mrs. Russell Sage says she is not yet ready to dispense her fortune to charity. When she is, the relief of certain poor families that can't afford oysters is earnestly recommended.

THE DEFALCATIONS IN THIS COUNTRY FOR THE YEAR 1906

According to the Chicago Tribune, the total embezzlements in the United States during 1906 have amounted to $14,739,653, a sum about $5,000,000 greater than during the year preceding. In spite of this comparison, however, the Tribune does not feel that dishonesty is on the increase in this country. The large figures are due to a few heavy number of defalcations, and the actual number of offenders is smaller than for several years preceding.

Of the total, $10,745,387, was stolen by officials of banks, a sufficiently startling figure. Certain it is that Cleveland and northern Ohio have had their share of misfortune through this particularly hateful variety of stealing. Many towns in this vicinity have suffered heavily, for such a blow seems to fall with more force in smaller places than in large cities. The bankers are known and honored by all their fellow townsmen, and are the recipients of universally implicit trust. Their defalcations reduce families of moderate means to the verge of starvation and paralyze the trade and industry in the community.

Undoubtedly the recent outbreaks of crime in this section was merely spasmodic. Confidence in banks and bankers remains unshaken, despite the rogues of a few unworthy officials. Lorain, Canton, Oberlin, Wooster, Callon and other towns have barely weathered their storms, and have again come into the calm waters of financial trustfulness. It is unlikely that the present generation will again see such a remarkable localized outbreak of this peculiar form of knavery.

A valuable lesson has been taught by the defalcations of recent years. Bank officials are chosen with the greatest care, and the employees selected are more and more men of whose sterling honesty there cannot be the slightest question. Of course, it is impossible in every case to judge human character aright. A few thieves have always paraded in saints' clothing, and always will, and they will occasionally succeed in deceiving the shrewdest readers of character. But the danger is constantly being minimized, and the examples of the bank thieves, instead of encouraging others to emulation, will undoubtedly in the end have a salutary effect in the weeding out of the doubtful ones and the weak-kneed—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

INTERESTING STORIES OF THE LATE ATTORNEY GENERAL MOODY

On one of his horseback rides about Washington occurred an incident which shows Attorney General Moody's sense of humor, says I. F. Marcosson in the World's Work. He was riding alone when a man galloped up alongside and engaged him in conversation. He proved to be a newspaper correspondent who had not been in the city very long, and who began to talk in a very light vein.

"I suppose you meet most of the government officials," said Mr. Moody.

"Oh, yes," replied the correspondent. "Take those cabinet officers for example. They are very ordinary people—like you and me, only some of them are industrious. There's Postmaster General Payne, too. He works from early till late. Judge Taft is a worker, too."

"How about Secretary Moody?" asked his companion, falling in with the spirit of the conversation.

"He's a big man, but he is the laziest fellow in the cabinet." By this time they reached a drug store and stopped to have a drink of soda water. When they were about to separate, Mr. Moody said:

"I've had a very pleasant ride with you. I hope we shall meet again."

The newspaper man took out a card and handed it to Mr. Moody, who in turn handed him one of his. But he did not wait to witness the correspondent's embarrassment.

As a young lawyer, Mr. Moody was noted for his ready answers.

Once he appeared as prosecuting attorney in the case of a very pious old man, who was charged with setting fire to his house. The prisoner stoutly denied the charge, alleging that he was quietly reading his Bible when the fire started. Quick as a flash Mr. Moody asked:

"Were you reading the sentence, He that kindeth the fire shall surely make restitution?"

"How BREEDING OF TURTLE IS CARRIED ON IN JAPAN"

A writer in the National Geographic Magazine says: "The place occupied among gastronomic delicacies by the diamond-back terrapin in America and by the green turtle in England, is taken by the 'suppon,' or the snapping turtle, in Japan. The three are equally esteemed and equally high priced, but the Japanese epure has this advantage over his brothers of other lands—he has no longer any fear of having the supply of the luscious reptile exhausted. This desirable condition is owing to the successful efforts of Mr. Hartman, who has spared no pains to bring his turtle farms to a high pitch of perfection, and is able to turn out tens of thousands of these reptiles every year."

In general appearance a turtle farm is at first glance nothing but a number of rectangular ponds, large and small, the large ones having a size of 15,000 to 20,000 square feet. One or more of the ponds is always reserved for large breeding individuals, or "parents," as they are called.

"At Hartman's farm a person goes around the 'parent' pond once a day or so and covers up with wire baskets all the new deposits made since the last visit. Each basket may be marked with the date if necessary. This covering serves a two-fold purpose—the obvious one of marking the place, and in addition that of keeping other females from digging in the same spot."

"The hatching of the eggs takes, on an average, sixty days. The time may be considerably shortened or lengthened, according to whether the summer is hot and the sun pours down its strong rays day after day, or whether there is much rain and the heat not great. It may become less than forty days or more than eighty days."

"The young just hatched are put in a pond or ponds by themselves and given finely chopped meat of a fish like the pikehead. This is continued through September. In October the snapping turtle ceases to take food, and finally burrows into the muddy bottom of the pond to hibernate, coming out only in April or May."

"From the third to the fifth year, inclusive, the young need not be kept in ponds strictly according to age, but may be more or less mixed, if necessary. The young of these years are also the best and most delicate for eating, and are the ones most sold in the market. In the sixth year they reach maturity and may begin to deposit eggs, although not fully vigorous till two or three years later. How old these snapping turtles live to be is not known."

An unusually pleasant meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance union was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cooper, on South Walter street. A musical and literary program was carried out. Sketches from the life of Madam Willard were given; also a sketch of "Grandma" Bliss, one of the oldest members of the union. During the social hour which followed with the serving of refreshments, it being the birthday of the president, Mrs. Vaughan, she was presented with a potted plant in blossom as a token of the regard of the members. Some new members were added to the union.

The Brotherhood of the First Presbyterian church will entertain their friends and the public at large this evening with a reception, the principal feature of which will be a lecture by Judge John E. McFie, of Santa Fe, on the subject, "What Presbyterianism Has Done for America." A life-long adherent of the Presbyterian church, the judge is expected to deal interestingly with the history of his denomination. After the lecture refreshments will be served and an opportunity offered to those who desire to meet Judge McFie. A large attendance is anticipated. The event is set for 8 o'clock.

Miss Mary C. Merritt, who is to assume the duties of her position as assistant to the pastor of the First Baptist church of Los Angeles, Cal., on the 1st of February, has decided to spend the remainder of this month with friends in Salt Lake City. During the two years of her service as assistant to Rev. J. W. F. McNeil, Miss Merritt has drawn to herself a host of friends and admirers whose regret at her departure is only compensated for by the knowledge that she is going to a field in which her opportunities for usefulness will be greatly increased. Last week a farewell reception was given by a number of ladies of the First Baptist church, at which Miss Merritt was made the recipient of some valuable keepsakes in token of their approval of her work here and the respect in which she is held by the congregation among which she has labored.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS COAL AVENUE VIADUCT

POLICE WERE UNABLE TO FIND SUPPOSED INJURED MAN SEEN ON VIADUCT BY E. H. DUNBAR.

When E. H. Dunbar, the real estate man, crossed the coal avenue viaduct at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon he saw a man lying on the piped part of the structure flat on his back and apparently in distress. He was a large man, about 40 years of age and had a gray mustache. There was a clot of blood on his face. This man Mr. Dunbar took in at a glance and then hurried to the nearest telephone and notified the police. He thought that foul play must have befallen the man.

Patrolman Salazar answered the call and reached the viaduct in less than fifteen minutes after receiving the telephone call but he could not find the prostrate man. There were only a few passing pedestrians on the viaduct and none of them had seen any man lying there.

A reporter visited the viaduct half an hour after Mr. Dunbar crossed it and like the police was unable to find the supposed injured man. An aged native, with a gray mustache, stood half way across the structure, tipping his hat harmlessly to passers-by, but there was no sign of a man lying there. Some railroad laborers working underneath the viaduct had seen no one on the viaduct, nor any commotion, which would likely have been the result had there been an accident. Nor did they see a carriage stop there, which would have been the case had any one been hauled away from the spot. The case is a mystery.

WONDERFUL ACTIVITY SHOWN IN MAGDALENA DISTRICT

The Output There Is Something Simply Astounding--All Past Records Are Broken.

CAREFUL ACCOUNT OF WHAT MANY MINES AND PROSPECTS ARE DOING

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Russell of Magdalena have been spending a few days in the city. Mr. Russell is a pioneer mining man of that section, having staid by the camp through its bad as well as its good days for many years. He thinks the mines in that section are more valuable today than ever before, and that their prospects for the future are almost without limit.

The other day a most wonderful strike was made in the Waldo tunnel. This tunnel is a part of the development of the Graphic mines, now in progress by their owners, the Ozark Mining and Smelting Co., of which F. H. Gregg is manager, and the principal stockholders are the Sherwin-Williams Paint Co., of Cleveland, O., having smelters at Joplin, Mo., and Coffeyville, Kan.

The strike consists of the largest body of high grade zinc ore ever discovered. It was made at the distance of 2100 feet from the entrance of the tunnel, and already they have progressed 125 feet into the ore. This ore is a zinc sulphide, and its purity may easily be gathered from the fact that at Joplin, Mo., an ore carrying 7 or 8 per cent is called high grade, but this ore from the Waldo tunnel runs from 35 to 42 per cent. The magnitude of this remarkable deposit is indicated by the fact that so far there is no indication as to where is the hanging wall, the foot wall or any other wall. The size and the purity of this remarkable deposit of zinc ore absolutely astounds every intelligent observer.

The Graphic mines have been heavy producers for twenty-two years, and today they are worth ten times as much as ever before. It may be added that the Graphic zinc ores are showing good values in silver and copper, the silver being something entirely new.

The Kelly mine, which adjoins the Graphic, has produced about $5,000,000 for its owners. At first it was a lead property, afterwards turning to zinc. Its ore has been improving all the time, and at present there are immense quantities in sight. This property is owned by the Tri-Bullion Mining & Smelting Co., of New York. The ore is carbonaceous, and has been taken from the old workings of such purity that it was shipped to Antwerp without concentration. The Kelly was leased to Colorado parties, but the lease expired January 1, and now the owners will work the property and will arrange to have their own smelters. The lessees struck a new body of valuable zinc ore in the working shaft just before their lease expired. The peculiarity of the Kelly is that the deeper the workings go the purer the ore is found to be.

MORRIS TO HAVE A HEARING TOMORROW

Justice of Peace Remands Him to Jail Without Bond.

TWO BULLETS STRUCK LOBATO

His Friends Would Do Bodily Harm to Man Who Befriended Morris.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Jose M. Bacin in Santa Fe yesterday on charges of murdering Catalino Lobato and assault with deadly weapon upon Ramon Lobato, John M. Morris, the young express messenger, who shot and killed Catalino Lobato, a native, at Lamy on New Year's night, and then stood off a small army of his friends who gathered at the instance of Ramon Lobato to lynch him, pleaded not guilty and was remanded to jail without bond, according to the Santa Fe New Mexican.

Morris will be given a preliminary hearing before Judge John R. McFie tomorrow morning, when it is believed his counsel will make a strenuous effort to have him discharged from custody without being bound over to the grand jury.

Sheriff Closson has been at Lamy subpoenaing witnesses. Among those who will likely testify are the waitresses at the Harvey dining hall at Lamy, and Joseph Y. Barras, telegraph operator at Lamy, who was barricaded in the room with Morris when the mob attempted to secure an entrance to the place in which Morris had sought refuge after the shooting.

A special dispatch to the New Mexican states that a crowd gathered Wednesday evening with the avowed intention of doing Barras harm, but they were urged to disperse without doing any mischief.

Funeral services of the slain Lobato will be held in Lamy today. The undertaker, who prepared the body for burial, found that two bullets had taken effect. The first of these entered the left side of the face and passed out behind the right ear. The bullet which caused Lobato's death went through the left arm and lodged in the trunk over the heart.

Yesterday's Proceedings.

The board refused to allow the bill for $275 for salary claimed by Estelvio Vigil for the last quarter of the term just expired. Upon advice of the district attorney, the board allowed the salary for the last quarter to the present county superintendent of schools. Mr. Vigil claims the county owes him the salary alleging that he was the rightful incumbent of the position of county superintendent of public instruction.

No fees were allowed the sheriff and only those accounts for money actually paid out for feeding prisoners and other county expenses were honored. Pending adjustment of the contest over the sheriff's office no fees were allowed the sheriff because of the status of the suits of Frank A. Hubbell and Thomas S. Hubbell and Estelvio Vigil, claimants for the office of county treasurer, sheriff, and superintendent of schools, respectively.

The claimants served notice on the boards of commissioners and the clerk, reciting the recent decision of the supreme court in the Hubbell cases.

The mountain road west of the Albuquerque aqueduct will be widened in accordance with the report of the viewers, and Francisco Chavez was awarded $150 damages for the removal of an obstructing fence, which is now across the road.

With their idea of reform, the board let the county printing to The Morning Journal, without soliciting prices for work, or even suggesting bids.

The board agreed to order the closing of the new yards of the Santa Fe railroad, south of the city, at the instance of E. W. Dobson, attorney for the Santa Fe.

Dr. John F. Pearce was appointed county physician and the State National bank of Albuquerque was made the official custodian of the county funds and notice accordingly served upon John S. Beaven, county treasurer, to that effect.

Ben Williams, chief of secret service for the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe, returned from San Antonio, N. Seen by a reporter for The Evening Citizen last night, Mr. Williams declared the trouble down there was the outgrowth of some differences between the section foreman and some parties who were at odds with him. He reported the trouble was all smoothed over and there was no likelihood of a recurrence of it. No arrests were made in connection with the alleged lock breaking.

AGED MAN IN JAIL PUZZLES THE POLICE

APPARENTLY SUFFERS FROM SEVERAL ALIMENTS—TOOK FRENCH LEAVE OF HOSPITAL.

Chief McMillin is puzzled to know what disposition to make of a sick man who has the snows of many winters in his hair, his right arm in a sling, an internal distemper and apparently is deaf and dumb. The city physician has attended the man at the city jail. His name is not known.

When he was brought into the police court room by Assistant Chief Kennedy after he was apprehended Wednesday the man went into some kind of a trance or fit. Later he was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where a sister said she had seen the man in Pueblo, Colo. He took French leave from the hospital and the police gathered him up again. It is said the man is an impostor, but he is apparently ill at the city jail.

"I don't see why a man in his condition would come to the territory," said Chief McMillin this morning. "He probably left a thickly populated state to come out here, where we have no means of taking care of persons in his condition."

HUNTERS SECURE EIGHT TURKEYS

The hunting party composed of Roderick Stover, E. J. Haines, Arthur Coleman and Captain and George Leannard has returned home from a week's hunt in the Manzano mountains, bringing with them eight wild turkeys, fat and sleek from the abundance of this year's crop of pinons, as a reward of their efforts. The hunting grounds were the same visited by Stover and Walton the week previous, but the conditions on the latter trip were more ideal. The night they reached the mountains, a snow fall of an inch covered the ground, making tracking easy. It was a sorry day for that lonely bunch of turkeys in the Manzanos when the Albuquerque hunters struck their trail.

OBEY NEITHER GOVERNMENT NOR REBEL, SAYS TOLSTOI TO RUSSIAN MASSES

CONTINUING HIS ARTICLE ON THE REVOLUTION, THE COUNT ADVISES THE PEOPLE TO REFUSE TO SERVE AS SOLDIERS OR IN ANY PUBLIC CAPACITY, OR TO JOIN ANY REVOLUTIONARY BODY OR MOVEMENT—THEN LET ALL FACTORY HANDS DO THEIR BEST TO GET BACK TO AN AGRICULTURAL LIFE.

NOTE—This is the first part of Count Tolstol's address to the mass of the Russia people, continuing his story of the Russian government.

(BY COUNT LEO TOLSTOI)

(PART 3—TO THE PEOPLE)

By the people I mean the whole Russian people, but especially the working, agricultural people, who, by their labor, support the lives of all the rest.—LEO TOLSTOI.

You, Russian working people, chiefly agricultural peasants, now, in Russia, find yourselves in a specially difficult position. However hard it was for you to live with little land and large taxes and customs duties and wars, which the government devised, you lived, till quite recently, believing in the czar, and that it was impossible to live without a czar and his authority.

However badly the czar's government ruled you, you humbly submitted to it as long as there was only one government. But now, when it has come about that a part of the people has rebelled, and, ceasing to obey the czar's government, has begun to fight against it; when in many places instead of one government there are two, each of them demanding obedience, you can no longer humbly submit to the powers that be, without considering whether the government rules you well or ill; but you have to choose which of the two you will submit to.

Support the old government? But, as you know, the old government has long promised to attend to your burdens, but instead of lightening them it has only increased your greatest evils: lack of land, taxes and conscription.

Join the rebels? They promise to arrange for you an elected government such as exists in the countries that are most free.

But wherever such elected governments exist, in the countries that have most freedom, in the French and American republics for instance, just as among ourselves, the chief ills of the people are not remedied:

as among us, or to an even greater degree, the land is in the hands of the rich; just as among us, the people are laden with taxes and customs duties without being asked, and as among us armies are maintained and wars declared without the people being consulted, when those in power desire it.

Moreover, our new government is not yet established, and we do not know what it will be like. Not only is it not to your advantage to join either government, but you cannot do it conscientiously before God. To defend the old government means to do what was done recently in Odessa, Sevastopol, Kief, Iliza, the Caucasus and Moscow, i. e., to capture, kill, hang, burn alive, execute, and shoot children and women. But to join the revolutionists means to do the same; to kill people, throw bombs, burn, rob, fight with soldiers, execute and hang. Therefore laboring Christian people, now that the czar's government calls on you to fight against your brothers, and the revolutionists call on you to do the same, you evidently for your own benefit alone, but before God, must not join either the old nor the new government, and take no part in the unchristian doings either of the one or the other.

And not to take part in the doings of the old government means not to serve as soldiers, guards, constables, town or country police; not to serve in any government institutions and offices, county councils (zemstvos), assemblies or dumas. Not to take part in the doings of the revolution means not to form meetings or unions or take part in strikes, not to burn or wreck other people's houses, and not to join any armed rebellion.

Two governments hostile to one another now rule you, and they both summon you to take part in cruel, unchristian deeds. What can you do but reject all government?

People say that it is difficult and even impossible to live without a government, but you, Russian workers—especially agriculturists—know that when you live a peaceful, laborious country life in the villages, cultivating the land on terms of equality, and deciding your public affairs in the commune (mir), you have no need at all of a government.

The government needs you, but you—Russian agriculturists—do not need a government. And, therefore, in the present difficult circumstances, when it is equally bad to join either government, it is reasonable and beneficial for you, agricultural Russians, not to obey any government. But if this is so for the agricultural folk, what should the factory hands and foundry workers do, of whom in many lands there are more than there are agriculturists, and whose lives are quite in the power of the government?

They should do the same as the village workers: not obey any government, and with all their strength try to get back to agricultural lives.

Only let the town workers, as well as the villagers, cease to obey or serve the government, and, with the abolition of its power, the slavish conditions in which you live will vanish of themselves; for they are maintained only by governmental violence. And the violence the government employs is supplied by yourselves. It is that power alone which places customs duties on goods imported or exported; it alone collects taxes on articles made in the country; it (the power of the government) makes the laws which maintain the monopolies owned by private people, and the right of private property in land; only that power controlling the army which in various subjecting or submission to itself, and to its abettors—the rich.

When you, town workers as well as villagers, cease to obey the government, it will no longer be necessary for you (town workers) to accept whatever conditions the owners of the mills and factories dictate to you, but you yourselves will give them your conditions, or will start your own co-operative (artel) manufacture of things needed by the people; or, having free land, you will resume a natural agricultural life.

Next week The Citizen will publish the concluding chapter of Tolstol's article on the Russian revolution.

TO INVESTIGATE HARRIMAN'S METHODS

Most Important Case Commerce Commission Has Taken In Hand.

New York, Jan. 4.—The federal investigation of the Harriman system of railroads, which was postponed from Dec. 28 to accommodate Mr. Harriman, was opened here today. The proceedings will be of the greatest importance as the investigation is aimed to determine whether, broadly, a single railroad interest is likely to come into domination of the transportation system of the country. It is known to the members of the interstate commerce commission, who are conducting the investigation, and to attorneys Kellogg and Severance, who will handle the points of the law at issue, that the administration considers this the most important step it has as yet taken against any railroad combination. The government was aroused by the wonderful strides of Harriman and Attorney Kellogg today announced that every power will be exhausted to break the great Harriman merger and check its march towards centralization. Harriman however realizes that he has aroused the competition of the administration and is about to fight a political battle as well as a financial one. Special Attorneys Kellogg and Severance have, it is stated, collected evidence to show that the Harriman mergers were combinations formed to stifle competition and it is also stated that Stuyvesant Fish, the deposed president of the Illinois Central road, control of which was purchased by the Harriman interests, will give some important evidence in connection with the merger during the inquiry. E. H. Harriman and a number of other officials of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific roads have been summoned to appear before the commission to give information regarding the merger, and are in attendance. The investigation is looked upon by railroad men as of supreme importance, for should the evidence sustain the charges, it will mean the complete destruction of Harriman's work of years in gathering under his control numerous railroad systems, but on the other hand, if the commission conclude that the charges are not sustained it will mark him as the greatest railroad genius of his age. It is admitted on all hands that Mr. Harriman has made remarkable progress in the railway world and though he has been most severely criticized he has permitted no consideration whatever to swerve him from his determination to establish the greatest combination of railroads known in the world. He now controls 23,000 miles of road representing a capitalization of $2,000,000,000 and is still seeking fresh fields. The interstate commission, after hearing numerous complaints and after carefully going into the matter, decided to hold the inquiry when legal advice was supplied by high government officials who stated that Harriman in the case of the Union Pacific, not only violated the Sherman anti-trust law, but also the interstate commerce law and the statute against conspiracy. Evidence will be adduced to show that the Oregon Short Line Railway company has been used by Mr. Harriman as a holding company and when it is not a competitor of the Union Pacific it will be stated in evidence that Mr. Harriman and the Standard Oil company, having been using the holding company as a mere cloak to hide their violation of the law in suppressing all competition between the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, which are parallel lines, and by geographical location should be actual competitors as allowed by law. Abundant evidence, it is stated, will be given to show that Mr. Harriman and his associates have succeeded in stifling all competition between the two roads. Among those in attendance to give evidence on subpoena is J. C. Smith, director of traffic and control of the two lines who it is stated dictated rates and distributed traffic business for which he received a salary of $50,000 a year.

It is expected that the evidence which will be adduced will show Harriman from the status of an unknown broker rose to be absolute dominator of 25,000 miles of railroad and the interstate commerce commission announce that they propose to learn how it was made possible for a man of a few years to figure himself into control of $2,000,000,000 worth of property. The investigation will show how he manages to control it and how he is able to dictate prices to men at the head of other systems and at the same time manipulate the stock market apparently at will. A very large number of witnesses will be called for the purpose of showing how the commission will not be in a position to submit the report before two months at least.

FOR FAILING TO COMPLY WITH THE STATUTES

Forty-nine suits have been filed against corporations in first district.

Forty-nine suits against corporations organized under the laws of New Mexico which have failed to comply with the statute in reference to the making of annual reports to the territorial secretary have been filed in the first judicial district court for Santa Fe county. A large number of others will be filed later. It is understood that there are over 500 corporations, foreign as well as domestic, that have neglected to send in their annual reports as required by law. District Attorney R. C. Gortner, who is also assistant attorney general of New Mexico, has taken the matter in hand and will push the prosecution vigorously unless the delayed annual reports are forthcoming promptly. "Under the laws of 1905 it is required that all corporations admitted to do business under the laws of New Mexico shall file a report annually stating the names of their officers, directors and agents upon whom process may be served, capital outstanding, etc.," he said, when asked about the suits. "All of this is important to the public and furnishes an accurate basis upon which the corporations may be held liable on their contracts or torts. The various states have similar provisions. The law requires that these actions shall be filed, and I am actively at work carrying out the provisions of the statute."

"Close to five thousand corporations have been organized in New Mexico. Of these only about one thousand are now in existence, and of the five ones nearly half have failed to make their annual reports."

GRINDLELL IS NOW VERY MUCH IN DOUBT

Does Not Believe Remains Found Were Those of His Brother and Party.

E. P. Grindell, who is now in Tucson, Arizona, does not believe that the remains of his brother Tom Grindell, who headed an ill-fated party of discovery to Tiburon island, which left Nogales in June, 1904, have been finally found.

Grindell's body is said to have been found with Mexican officials, and that he was to receive word immediately should the body of his brother be found. As yet he has received no official information of any kind.

Grindell's body is said to have been found on the coast of Lower California, opposite Sonora. It was not supposed that he had left Sonora, and the finding of his body across the Gulf of Lower California casts some doubt on the report.

Should Tom Grindell's body be located it will mean that his relatives can make good their claim to a large amount of life insurance which he carried. Already E. P. Grindell, agent much more in searching than the insurance will amount to.

Grindell, whose brother was supposed to have been lost a year ago in the vast barren wilderness on the west coast of Sonora, opposite Tiburon island, the home of the Seri Indians, reported the most savage and primitive race in America, and who bear a well earned reputation for being cannibals.

"He was to return in August with his companion, Hoffman, and some Indian guides. When he failed to appear by the last of August, I organized an expedition to go in search of him. We started September 1 and were gone four months, returning the first of the year. For 100 miles we followed the trail of my brother's party, retracing their steps, and were then forced to give it up.

"Somewhere in that wilderness of mesquite, or perhaps buried in the sand blown by the wind across the desert, I firmly believe lies the body of Thomas Grindell. That he was not killed by the Indians I am sure, as at the coast camp we found undisturbed the saddles, guns, ammunition and outfit of the party. If the Indians had killed the men they would have carried off the plunder. Of that I am absolutely certain.

"A strange thing about our trip was that we found positive evidence that aside from my brother's party, no human beings had crossed that terrible desert for two years. The only trail we found was that made by Seris who were known to have crossed the desert two years previously. Of this I am certain, and my Papago guides corroborated the theory emphatically. This Seris trail was distinct from that of the Grindell party and nowhere near my brother's trail did we find the footprints of hostile Indians or their camp fires."

MAN WHO PUTS UP $50,000 BAIT TO JIM JEFFRIES

"Tex" Rickard—Nevada—prize fights—gold mines. When you think of Tex the other things bob up in your mind, for he is always doing something startling to keep himself and the things he represents in the limelight. Now he is offering a $50,000 purse for a fight between Jeffries and Jack Johnson, the colored heavyweight champion.

The bout is to take place in July and Goldfield will probably be the scene. It is up to Jeffries to say whether or not he wants the fight. From his past record it is a cinch that Rickard will be there with the purse.

While other promoters puff up over purses of $10,000 and $20,000 they have to offer Rickard hangs out his $50,000 bait as severely as if he were not making prize ring history.

The queer thing about it is that he was not even on the sport map a short time ago. Last August he wired Joe Humphreys, Terry McGovern's manager, offering $10,000 for a go between Terry and Britt. Humphreys wired back: "I've heard of a play called 'The Green Fields of Kentucky,' but I've never heard of Goldfield, Nev. Where is it, and who in blazes is 'Tex' Rickard?" The telegram lost Humphreys a big hunk of money, for Rickard then wired Nolan an offer of a $20,000 purse for the Gans-Nelson fight. Nolan came back with a request for $30,000.

Here is the way Rickard says he gave the money: "I took a stroll downtown, saw a few of my friends, and had the money pledged in a short time. Then I wired the purse was up. I could just as easily have gotten twice as much. Some of my best friends were angry at me because I did not give them a chance to get in on the guarantee."

Rickard has a way of making good.

MUST COMPLY WITH THE LAW IN ARIZONA

ATTORNEY GENERAL CLARK HAS BEGUN WAR ON CORPORATIONS THAT DO NOT COMPLY WITH THE STATUTES.

A Phoenix dispatch says: Attorney General E. S. Clark has begun war on corporations filing their articles in Arizona, which do not comply with the law, his first official act being the filing with Court Clerk Dunley of a complaint against A. A. Waterman & company, makers of the famous Waterman fountain pens.

Clark bases his complaint on a section of the Arizona statutes which requires the first official act being the filing with Court Clerk Dunley of a complaint against A. A. Waterman & company, makers of the famous Waterman fountain pens.

Clark asks that the company be dissolved and all corporate rights privileges and franchises be annulled and forfeited, the effect being to put the Waterman company out of business as far as its incorporation under the laws of Arizona goes.

Attorney General Clark has been preparing for some time to begin action against companies that incorporate in Arizona and then fail to comply with the territory's laws, whether through oversight or because of some fraudulent reason.

Arizona incorporation laws are the broadest in the United States, and for that reason several thousand companies are incorporated here each year, though they never intend to do business in this territory.

A. A. Waterman & Co. organized under the laws of Arizona, February 16, 1904, the capitalization being $100,000, divided into 1,000 shares with the par value of $100 each. Five hundred shares are common and 500 preferred, only the former having voting power.

A. A. Waterman, Joseph L. McNab and Edward T. Fox, of Chicago, are the incorporators, holding the principal offices. The company is a large manufacturer of fountain pens, selling them in all parts of the country. Waterman has been in the business for many years.

Should Attorney General Clark's contention be sustained by the courts it will probably result in stirring up several companies that have not fully complied with the Arizona laws.

CONSUMERS CAN NOW KNOW WHAT THEY BUY

THE PURE FOOD LAW BECAME OPERATIVE JANUARY 1.—READ THE LABELS.

The pure food law enacted at the last session of congress became operative January 1. The authorities measure believe that it will put an effective stop to the sale of adulterated and impure foods and drugs, confectionery and liquors. The abuses sought to be corrected, it is asserted, are numerous, but hereafter it will be possible for consumers to know precisely what they are receiving for their money. Articles under the heads already enumerated will have to be what they purport to be, if the law is complied with. A large number of inspectors working under the supervision of the department of agriculture, will watch dealers of all sorts to see that they do not violate the law. Offenses against the law will be punishable by fine or imprisonment or both. It will be illegal to manufacture any article of food or drug which is misbranded or adulterated. Conviction for an offense against this provision may be followed by a fine not exceeding $500, and subsequent convictions by a fine of $1,000 or a year's imprisonment or both.

It is considered a certainty that as a result of the law certain brands of jams, preserves and canned goods will be all but driven out of the market because the law stipulates that all goods must be properly labeled. As all liquors in bottles offered for sale at home must be labeled, what is known to drinkers as "straight rye" whiskey must be designated "pure." Bottles containing so-called blended whiskey must be marked in such a way as truthfully to describe the contents, but exactly the form of such labels has not yet been fixed by the department of agriculture's experts.

"THE MILK AND RADIUM CURE" A FAKE

An Arizona Woman Has Sued a Los Angeles Fake Institute.

Mrs. Rhoda E. Mitchell, formerly Miss Rhoda Milligan, of Prescott, has filed suit in Los Angeles against Dr. H. Russell Burner, proprietor of a "milk and radium temple of health," for $5,450 damages. Mrs. Mitchell, who is suffering from cancer of the breast, went to Los Angeles, where she met the representatives of this "milk" cure, she was induced to become a patient in the so-called doctor's temple of health, he agreeing to cure her cancer by the use of milk and radium, all for the sum of $450, which the husband of Mrs. Mitchell put up with the affable doctor.

Mrs. Mitchell, in her complaint against the doctor, alleges that she was fed no radium, that none of the conditions of the contract were fulfilled, that she was in a worse condition, through the doctor's treatment, than ever, and that the doctor refused to return the $450.

Dr. Burner is well known to all the readers of the Sunday papers. He and himself are said to form one of the strongest medical admiralities in the United States. He has a great delight in a large cut of himself which accompanies his ads. This cut represents him in a frock coat, with arms outstretched in beatific attitude, bringing "radium and milk" and other queer dope to all the world.

A few weeks ago Burner had a long story in the daily newspapers to the effect that he had cornered the radium market and all the radium in the world would be used in his peculiar "rest cures." He asserted in very black type that he had spent $50,000 for radium, and that he had a stock worth of radium could be placed in the southwest corner of Burner's vest pocket and leave room enough for a small family.

Besides cornering the radium market and curing cancer with milk and radium, Dr. Burner has other eccentricities. Some time ago a member of his family died and he had a large cut of the departed relative made and run in his advertising space, with the heaviest black border the print shop offered. He invited everyone to attend the funeral.

RAILROAD TOPICS

Arthur Maguire, constructing engineer on the Vegas-Bullfrog railroad, is visiting with his mother and sisters in Klamath. Mr. Maguire is one of the well known railroad builders in the country.

Judge Henry L. Waldo, the well known solicitor of the Santa Fe railway system in New Mexico, has returned to East Las Vegas from a sojourn in Kansas City, where he spent the holidays with his family.

James Peabody, stationmaster of the Santa Fe, will leave Chicago January 12 on a trip to Porto Rico for three months, where he will assist in planning a method of regulating rates and to bring the rate schedule to uniformity with the freight rates of the United States.

J. R. Koonz, general freight agent of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroads, announced the creation of a new office, that of assistant freight agent. He has named J. R. Merritt, of Topeka, to fill the position. Mr. Merritt began as office boy with the Santa Fe eighteen years ago.

The Newton, Kan., Republican says: Nate Smith, who until recently has been clerk in Storekeeper Charlie Kinsey's office, has been made storekeeper at Las Vegas, N. M., for the Santa Fe. He left for that place Monday evening on train No. 1. He is succeeded at Newton by a Mr. Lynch, of Richmond, Cal.

O. P. McCarr, general passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern, and a party of friends from Cincinnati are making a tour of the northern part of Mexico. They went from San Antonio to Torreon, from there to Saltillo, Monterrey and will return to Cincinnati. The party travels in a private car.

The other evening early an explosion of distillate set fire to the railroad pump house at Klamath, Arizona. In a short time it was totally destroyed. Owing to the sudden condition of the wood work surrounding the building the fire was confined to the pump house and the residence building connected with it. The oil tanks to the west of the building were covered with earth and at no time was there danger of the fire communicating with them. The night pump has his hands badly burned by the explosion and some of the effects of the day pump were destroyed in the building. The loss is estimated at $1,000.

IMPROVING RAILROAD GROUNDS AT RATON.
The improvements being made by the Santa Fe in the very crowded Raton range, not only have the old Harvey buildings been thoroughly overhauled, repaired, inside and out, and repainted, but the station grounds from one end to the other are being graded and placed in condition for sodding in the spring. The Santa Fe station grounds at Raton will be the most handsome grounds in the territory when the present plans are completed.

MEXICAN RAILROAD ASSOCIATION INSTALL INSPECTORS.
Effective January 1 the Railroad association of Mexico, which is composed of the National lines, the Mexican Central and the Mexican railroad, will install inspectors at the different freight stations in Mexico City.

This will be for the purpose of checking all competitive freight coming under the jurisdiction of the association. The object was to prevent any evasion of the published and agreed tariff rates and to see that the proper rates are applied via all lines.

This is probably the forerunner of an organization, which if formed, will be similar to the weighing and inspection bureaus maintained generally throughout the United States by means of which a check is kept on the freight rates of freight handled by competitive lines with whom there is an agreement.

CONDUCTORS ARE USING MORE AIRBRAKE CARS.
Railroad conductors are not taking any chances with the interstate commerce commission ruling relating to airbrake equipment these days, according to reports from the railroads. One railroad man says:

"The conductors are putting themselves in the clear on this matter. When a dispatcher asks them to take less than 75 per cent of airbrake cars in a train, they ask for a telegraphic order for their own protection. It is needless to say that they do not get the order and freight trains moved now are equipped with at least 75 per cent airbrake cars."

"It is not unusual now to see conductors on freight trains signalling the engineer with the airbrake valve on the rear of the train, indicating a through airline in the train. It won't be long now until the railroad men will be refusing to move any but airbrake cars, and then the long drags that are handled on main lines can be controlled better."

Inspectors sent out by the latest state commerce commission have been busy in the west for some time past and railroad men are getting more cautious about violating the rules."

A BILLIONAIRE COMES OUT OF THE NORTHWEST

FORMER GERMAN IMMIGRANT COMES INTO THE LIMELIGHT AS OWNER OF COLOSSAL WEALTH IN THE FORESTS OF THE NORTHWEST—HOW HE ACQUIRED HIS FORTUNE.

WEYERHAEUSER.

Age—73.
Born—Southern Germany.
Came to America in 1832, bringing mother and sisters.
Reputed wealth—One billion dollars.
Controls Mississippi River Boom & Logging company and many other companies.
Is silent, reserved, and little known.

St. Paul, Jan. 3.—Suddenly proclaimed the wealthiest man in the United States, Frederick Weyerhaeuser, practically an unknown, has hidden himself from the limelight until now.

His wealth is estimated by some to be greater than Rockefeller's. He is the timber and lumber king of the northwest. About him, little is known except that he started on nothing and now controls tens of thousands of square miles of the most valuable timber on the continent of North America. To acquire this wealth he toiled assiduously since he came to this country fifty-four years ago as a poor immigrant from southern Germany.

The main properties of Weyerhaeuser, who lives in St. Paul, modestly and almost alone, are said to be mostly in Washington, Oregon, California, Wisconsin and Minnesota. He is associated as silent partner in a score of big companies and with individuals few of whom are known or are concerned with his relation to the other companies. The backbone of his fortune is what is known as the Weyerhaeuser syndicate, which is chiefly Weyerhaeuser. He practically dictates the wholesale timber and lumber prices of the northwest.

The vastest holdings of Weyerhaeuser are said to be in the possible sale through a peculiar bit of national legislation in 1897, through a provision in an innocent appearing appropriation for the preservation of forests. This provision was that holders of homestead or patent claims isolated within the limits of a public forest reserve could relinquish it to the government and get in exchange for it other vacant land open to settlement at no additional cost to the claimant or patentee. This made it possible for the big transcontinental railroads, which had great land grants, to exchange practically worthless land or dead-end land for compact blocks of forest land open to settlement. The lands the Weyerhaeuser interests bought up with alacrity at a nominal price per acre, but quite large in the aggregate, and exceedingly valuable to anyone engaged in large lumbering transactions. This land proved immediately profitable, and since it was acquired has risen in value by leaps and bounds. The provision was repealed in 1905, but the railroads and the lumber syndicates had already reaped their harvest.

Weyerhaeuser was able to swing the big deals involved in this big plum by the capital he had acquired by laboriously developing the Wisconsin and Minnesota lumber areas. When he first came to this country he engaged as a saw mill hand at Rock Island, Ill., soon became foreman and with F. C. A. Denckmann, also a German, became able to buy out the firm. He went timber prospecting into Wisconsin, got hold of some fine property and made the most of it and continued this process successfully until in 1872 he was able to purchase a $2,000,000 lumber plant on the upper Mississippi and founded what is now the Weyerhaeuser syndicate. R. L. McCormick, of Tacoma, Wash., is Weyerhaeuser's most prominent partner and is regarded as his most confidential one.

BLOODY WAS THE WORK OF AN ARIZONA ASSASSIN

ONE MEXICAN IS DEAD AND ANOTHER IS BELIEVED TO BE FATAALLY WOUNDED.

At Pirtleville, Arizona, a Mexican, whose name is not known, shot and killed Francisco Granada, shot and stabbed Francisco Fernandez and stabbed Rafael Albarado. The dead man is at the morgue in Douglas, Fernandez lies in his home in a semi-conscious condition. His would-be assassin made an ugly knife wound in his left side over the heart, and had the knife not struck a rib he would be dead.

The other man, Albarado, is also suffering from an ugly cut. He was attempting to shoot the peacekeeper and was wounded for his kind act.

Almost immediately, Officer Young Davis was on the scene. He was soon reinforced by Frank Byrd of Pirtleville. Davis arrested a man whose name has not been learned and he is now in jail. The other took a knife from him, and a few steps away, near a house, he found a 38-caliber double action revolver, with two empty chambers, and the smell of fresh powder disclosed the fact that it had been recently discharged. Only two men have been fired; one of them entered the shoulder of Fernandez.

If no complications set in, Albarado may recover. The Mexican under arrest is said to be named Fernandez and is a brother of the man who was stabbed and shot.

Judge McDonald, acting as coroner, impaneled a jury and held an inquest in the case of Francisco Granada. A brother of Francisco Fernandez, one of the men injured in the affray, was arrested and charged with the offense, but the evidence against him did not satisfy the jury and they brought in a verdict that Granada came to his death by reason of a wound in the neck with a small knife in the hands of person or persons to the jury unknown.

But this does not end the case by any means. The police will continue their investigation until the party who committed the deed is apprehended and punished.

Off With the Old On With the New

OUR annual January sale is a demonstration of our belief in making merchandise move in season. Some lines that remain practically intact must share the fate of broken lots and sizes in this January clearance. Goods that have been too high class for the majority of buyers must move back into the ranks of the lower priced. Excess stock must diminish, and our method of bringing this result about is the ready knife that cuts deep into prices.

In a few days we will announce some startling price-reductions on all of our left-overs.

In the meantime, call in if in need of any Clothing or Furnishing Goods and we can convince you quickly that our store is the best place for you to obtain these goods. All of our Suits, Overcoats, Underwear, Hosiery, Sweaters and other Winter Furnishings are offered at cut prices.
