in their litigation against unnecessary signs in the city when the city of Alhambra today unanimously passed an ordinance prohibiting the placing on surfaces of elevated lines of signs in such a manner that unnecessary signs is created by their operation. The ordinance passed today is one of four sections of a comprehensive anti-sign ordinance which the city has under consideration.

SAYS DIVORCE TARIFF FROM POLITICS

CHAMP CLARK CLAIMS
ITS NON PARTISAN ISSUE

Advocates Putting Its Consideration in the Hands of Commission of Experts to Draft Satisfactory Measure

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Washington, Dec. 1.—The feature of the hearing of the divorce tariff today was an argument by Representative Camp Clark, of Missouri, for the removal of the tariff from the domain of partisan politics. Representative Clark advocated placing the consideration of the tariff in the hands of a non-partisan commission of experts to draft a bill which would meet the demands of the business interests of the country, and at the same time provide the necessary revenues to meet the legitimate expenses of the government.

"I submit, Mr. Chairman," said Mr. Clark, "without any wise discussion or even intruding on the relative virtues of a protective tariff and a tariff for revenue, that the recent election and other elections preceding it have forever established as a part of our system of government the direct scheme of taxation—the levy and collection of customs duties on articles imported into this country from foreign lands. This being true, this matter ought to be removed from the domain of partisan politics and hereafter treated as a business proposition and a commission or other proper tribunal created to deal with it."

Several Florida and Georgia cotton growers asked for a duty of 10 cents a pound on long staple cotton. Representative W. D. Lanier, of Florida, spoke for protection of the Sea Island cotton industry.

F. E. Lippitt, of Providence, R. I., representing the American Cotton Manufacturers' association, asked that the duty on cotton cloth be retained.

"The cotton industry is practically an infant industry at this time," said Samuel Ross, of New Bedford, Mass., secretary of the International Association of Mule Spinners. "The manufacture of the cheaper class of fabric in the South is an infant industry, while the manufacture of high-grade goods in the North is also an infant industry."

Albert Hibbert, secretary of the United Textile Workers of America, asked that the tariff on cotton manufactures remain as at present. He said the productive power of operators in America is much greater than in England.

D. E. Tompkins, of Charlotte, N. C., representing the American Cotton Manufacturers' association, asked for an increase on the duties on the high grades of yarns.

Representative Underwood, of Alabama, brought out these remarks by a series of questions and frequently affirmed the statement of the witnesses.

Discussing the tariff system Mr. Tompkins said he believed that 80 per cent of the people favored a tariff that would protect American industries.

"Free traders are mere theorists, and if the government were turned over to them they could not run it," said Mr. Tompkins. "and if you were to turn the government over to the stand patters you would not have any government."

R. J. Miller, of Charlotte, N. C., and G. M. Wells, of Boston, asked for increases in the rates on the finer grades of cotton yarns.

George J. Martin, a manufacturer of lace curtains at West Newton, Mass., asked for a reduction on the duties on curtains.

Thomas J. Diamond, of Newburg, N. Y., asked for a new paragraph dealing with netting for curtains with increased duties.

John Patterson, of North Carolina, asked that the duty on bleached and colored damask be retained and that the tariff on mercerized cotton damask be increased from 10 to 25 per cent.

ALLEGED COAL TRUST HAULED TO COURT

Utah Dealer Claims He Was Forced Out of Business Because He Cut Price on Fuel.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Washington, Dec. 1.—Hearing of the case of the United States against the Union Pacific Coal company, the United Pacific Railway company, Everett Buckingham, former traffic manager of the Oregon Short Line, and J. M. Moore, western sales agent of the Union Pacific Coal company, in which these persons and companies were charged with conspiracy to drive David J. Sharp out of the coal business in this city, was heard in the United States district court today. The exploitation of this case before the interstate commerce commission in 1905 created a sensation and it was followed by an investigation by a committee of the Utah legislature in 1907.

From 1907 until July 1908, Sharp was a coal dealer in this city. In July, 1908, he was forced to suspend through inability to secure any more coal, this action following an advertisement by him to the effect that he would sell "steamer coal" 50 cents a ton cheaper than the advertised price of other dealers. Previous to this a reduction of 50 cents a ton by the railroads and coal companies had been made to the retail dealers who, however, with the exception of Sharp, had agreed to maintain the old prices. Sharp refused to enter the agreement and on account of this, he alleges, the railroads refused to handle his coal, the coal companies refused to sell to him, and he was driven out of business.

Counsel for the defendants denied the existence of any such combination or conspiracy.

Mr. Sharp on the witness stand told of an interview with Mr. Moore, during which Mr. Moore informed him that if he did not stop advertising coal for $4.75 a ton his shipments would be discontinued. He was unable to procure Wyoming coal after July 22, 1908, although he appealed to the traffic manager, Mr. Buckingham, and to General Manager W. H. Bancroft of the Oregon Short Line. Mr. Sharp said he received no encouragement.

Mr. Buckingham testified that he had nothing to do with the stoppage of Mr. Sharp's coal supply and placed all the responsibility upon Mr. Moore. General Manager Bancroft also testified that he had nothing to do with the stoppage of Mr. Sharp's coal supply, but he added that such complaint would have been referred to Mr. Buckingham, who had charge of all matters of transportation.

A material point in Mr. Sharp's testimony was his statement that he had made payment for his coal directly to the railway company.

The hearing will be continued tomorrow morning.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN SANTA FE SHOP MANAGEMENT

WILLIAM DAZE ASSUMES
CHARGE OF DIVISION

Adjustment of Jurisdiction of Division Shop Officials Will Make Number of Office Changes Necessary.

S. L. Bean, superintendent of motive power on the Santa Fe Coast Line, Clarence A. Barthol, auditor of motive power accounts and a number of other officers of the coast line mechanical department came to Albuquerque yesterday to put into effect an important change in the jurisdiction of shop officials on the Albuquerque division, which went into effect yesterday.

Under the new arrangement W. A. George, master mechanic here, becomes superintendent of shops, with jurisdiction over the Albuquerque shops only. William Daze, recently made master mechanic at Winslow, becomes division master mechanic in charge of the mechanical department between Albuquerque and Seligman. Mr. Daze is one of the veterans of this division, having served for years as an engine foreman here and at Winslow.

A new office is created under the title general roundhouse foreman, and C. A. Drury of Las Junta has been appointed to that position. His duties will be general supervision of roundhouse operation on the Albuquerque division, reporting to Master Mechanic Daze.

This shifting of jurisdiction will make necessary a number of changes in the office forces here and at Winslow, which will be made at once. Mr. Barthol will remain here until these changes have been effected. Mr. Bean leaves for the West tomorrow.

Dr. Pierce's Health Talks

The miracle of motherhood is often overshadowed by the misery of motherhood. The great functional changes which are incident to child bearing leave their mark for life on many a mother. Some women offer up their lives as a sacrifice on the altar of motherhood. A far greater number live on in ceaseless misery. Their strength fails, their beauty fades, they have no ambition and no enjoyment in life. To every woman

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Offers escape from the pains and perils of motherhood. Taken during the period of waiting and anticipation this medicine strengthens the body, nourishes the nerves, and prepares the whole womanly system for the coming of baby. It also insures an abundant supply of nourishment for the child.

The mind feels bright and buoyant. There is no anxiety, no dread, but in its place a happy anticipation of the baby's coming, which counts for the future happiness of the child unborn. The use of "Favorite Prescription" makes the baby's advent easy, and gives abundant vitality to nursing mothers.

There is no alcohol or habit-forming drugs in "Favorite Prescription." It is a purely vegetable medicine.

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing "just as good" for weak and sickly women. All its ingredients printed on its bottle-wrapper.

The larger success of doctor or druggist is never won by putting love for the dollar above duty to the sick. Protecting the sick, giving them what they ask for when Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is called for, will enrich him in respect, if it does not swell to the utmost his profits.

CATTLE BOARD ALARMED AT SPREAD OF GLANDERS

Epidemic of Dangerous Disease Now Raging in Roosevelt County Threatens to Spread to Other Counties; Board in Session Here to Consider Steps to Stamp Out Malady Which Has Already Attacked Horses Covering Radius of Many Miles.

Members of the New Mexico cattle sanitary board gathered in Albuquerque yesterday to consider a very serious epidemic of glanders which has broken out among horses in Roosevelt county and has now spread over the entire county, threatening to invade neighboring counties unless some prompt and effective method may be found for stamping out the disease.

Captain E. G. Austin, of Las Vegas, secretary of the board, Dr. Marion Jones, of the bureau of animal industry, and other representatives of the bureau in Washington, have just completed a partial investigation of the infected district and the meeting of the board was called as a direct result of the epidemic condition found by the experts.

C. R. Manning, of Maxwell, City, Captain Austin, C. L. Ballard, of Roswell, N. M., J. D. Crismon, of Carlsbad, members of the board, arrived yesterday and were in consultation during the day. Confident action was delayed awaiting the arrival today of Victor Chubberson, of Silver City, and Col. Hamilton, of Roosevelt county, the other members.

Disorder Gains Ground Rapidly. The first appearance of the disease was reported several weeks ago. It was not considered serious, and it was not until quite recently that the wide range, over which the epidemic had spread became known. The farmers and horse owners failed to recognize the fever, as they term it, as the first manifestation of glanders, and consequently no reports were made, and horses began to die in considerable numbers.

As soon as the reports began to come in from widely separated districts, Secretary Austin communicated with the bureau of animal industry at Washington and asked to have Dr. Jones, who is superintendent of the district, sent to investigate. In haste sent an inspecting veterinarian from Amarillo, Texas, and went to the district himself with Captain Austin.

Their investigation, which has hurriedly shown that the disease had spread over an area free ten to twelve miles south of Portales to a point north well into Quay county, that Roosevelt county is threatened with the disease, and that it has spread to Quay. Thus for the disease is confined entirely to horses. The board has no means of knowing what the losses have been thus far, but they are heavy.

All members of the cattle board are experienced growers of horses and cattle, and all of them recognize the infection as glanders. The attorney general has given it as his opinion that the board has power under the act creating it to take charge, and the bureau of animal industry will be asked for assistance. A quarantine will be placed on Roosevelt county as quickly as possible, and the board is now considering even more radical steps, which may be found necessary to check the disease.

"We recognize the situation as serious," said Captain Austin last night, "and are meeting now to take such steps as may be necessary to check the epidemic. Our inspection has shown the disease to have gained full headway before it was recognized by horse owners at all. There has been constant exchange of infected horses, and in this way the disease has been spread all over Roosevelt county, and has appeared in neighboring counties. The investigation made by Dr. Jones has fully established the nature of the disease and vigorous measures will be taken to check it."

"Our most serious trouble is likely to come from the owners of the infected horses. In our recent trip we encountered a number of owners of diseased animals who protested vigorously against our investigation and held that the disease was not glanders. There is, however, no chance for mistake in it, and the board will have to depend to a large extent upon the intelligent co-operation of owners to stamp it out."

"We will probably determine at our meeting tomorrow exactly what steps will be taken."

Kentucky to Tax Sunset

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 1.—In the circuit court today Judge Stout rendered a decision in which he instructs the board of valuation and assessment to assemble and assess the southern Pacific railroad according to law. Judge Stout does not say what valuation shall be placed on the Southern Pacific, which has its office at Richmond, a suburb of Louisville. The suit, however, was to force an assessment on a valuation of $250,000,000, and will mean about $6,000,000 for the state if the court of appeals upholds the judgment, as five years' taxes are involved.

An Alimony of Six

Note.—The court allows Mrs. Howard Gould but $25,000 a year. One more unfortunate. Needing the spins. To pay her expenses. For rent, food and duds, comes from the court room. With nothing to cheer. But twenty-five thousand dollars a year.

Take it up tenderly Handle with care. Fashioned so slenderly. For a wife's share. Out of a husband's. Great income, it seems. Like a drop in the torrent of pleasurable streams.

Make no dash scrutiny

Take her mating. Against that small sum. Her station demanded it. The court should have handed it out to her readily. Freely and steadily. But, say, this was hum!

Alas for the rarity of husbandly charity. In this here town. The husbands are phony. On wives' alimony. They're tight winds and knucklers. And with lots in their lockers. They won't come down.

One more unfortunate

With nothing to cheer. But twenty-five thousand dollars a year. What? —New York World.

ALBUQUERQUE - - - NEW MEXICO

THE STATE OF LINCOLN.

The proposition to admit this territory to the union under the name of the state of Lincoln—a proposition which the Morning Journal has advocated for the last twenty years—is now being agitated generally throughout the country, and there is but little doubt that it will be accepted, and the people of the country in general the principal objection to our admission.

The name "New Mexico" causes this territory to be regarded by the American people everywhere as a foreign country, many thousands of people do not know that the territory belongs to the United States, while many other thousands, including almost all the rest of the population, regard it as belonging to us, but not of us, all on account of the name. But the change suggested would depict this feeling at once.

We take it to be a fact which cannot be successfully contradicted, that the unfortunate name of this territory has done more than all other causes combined to retard its growth and development, because the more desirable class of immigrants will not come here—the class which includes the home seekers and home-makers, whose efforts, brains and capital, have carved out and built up a score of great, rich and powerful commonwealths, out of areas which were but constituent parts of an unknown and unexplored wilderness for long years after this territory had possessed an organized government practically as good as it has today. Why has this been so, when we are far richer in everything with which nature could endow us, than the average of the great states by which we are surrounded? Simply and solely because our unfortunate name gives the world an erroneous opinion of us.

While, as a rule, it is greatly to the advantage of any territory to be promoted to the rank of statehood, the retention of the present name would deprive this territory for many years to come of a very great part of the benefit it ought to gain through such promotion, because while the people of the country know that the territory belongs to the United States, they do not regard it as an integral section of the American commonwealth, like Arizona, or one of the states, but think of it as an outlying province, like one of the Philippine Islands or Porto Rico.

As a matter of course, such conditions inevitably retard the growth and development of the district as a territory, and will have the same effect in retarding its progress as a state, under the same name. Home seekers will not regard it as a desirable location because they consider it a foreign country, or a section of our country under foreign conditions, and hence men of capital will not choose it as a profitable field for investment—by the putting in of money to develop our grand mineral resources to construct irrigation works for the awakening of our dormant agricultural possibilities, or promoting our commerce, or our manufactures, or building up our cities, because, they say, our growth in population is to show and uncertain—and all because we are handicapped by a name which carries to nearly every American mind an impression of retrogression rather than of progress.

These are unpleasant facts, but we have everything to lose and nothing to gain by ignoring or trying to conceal them. Our best, and the only business-like course, is to recognize conditions as they exist, and do what we can to improve them. As to the proposition to give the proposed state the name of Lincoln, we would prefer to let the people of the United States discuss that. It would be our first choice, but we would be willing to accept almost any other that would not be a handicap to us in the contest with other states for growth, development, progress and prosperity. We know, from experience, and from careful study, that this territory has been endowed with elements of natural wealth of almost infinite variety, which need only the men and the capital required for their development to cause them to constitute the foundation upon which can be built up here one of the grandest, richest and most prosperous of commonwealths in the great American family of states, and it would be a mistake and a misfortune, irreparable and inexorable, to let a consummation of such value to the state and the nation fall of fruition through a mere sentimental attachment to a name.

And again, it is extremely doubtful whether this congress or any other can be induced to admit the territory to statehood under its present name, so that it becomes not at all imprudent to consider the whole question of statehood for the territory will hinge upon the matter of taking another name.

FOR THE FARMERS.

The gentlemen composing the "Farmers' Upfit Commission," who are now in Washington preparing their report, say the things which some of the farmers want are almost beyond number, but it is said they are generally agreed upon the need of certain things, the southern farmers especially, among which are the following:

They need better schools everywhere in the rural districts, particularly in the south, better schoolhouses, longer school terms, and better paid teachers.

They need better roads, and they want the national government to make them.

There is an almost unanimous demand for postal savings banks.

The farmers everywhere are exceedingly urgent in their demands for a parcel post system.

Everybody thinks that agriculture might be made more profitable, and various suggestions are advanced to secure that desired end.

CONGRESS OF GOVERNORS.

A week ago the governors of the six New England states held a meeting, or convention, at Boston for the purpose of taking the preliminary steps in a movement in favor of securing a uniformity of laws upon important subjects in all the states of the union. Today, a similar meeting, to be composed of the governors of a considerable number of the middle states, will be held at Pittsburgh.

The present meeting has reference, especially, to the matter of securing better laws, uniform in character, for the protection of mine workers.

The occurrence of striking mine disasters from time to time, although infrequent, demonstrates the desirability of formal efforts to increase steadily the safety of mines. Railroad wrecks, marine catastrophes and mine disasters are all peculiarly terrible. The mine disasters are the lars most preventable. During a series of such horrors last winter, Governor Wilson, impressed upon the Kentucky mining inspector the need of renewed vigilance. He asked the officer to take extra precautions and to make certain the highest degree of safety possible in Kentucky mines.

About the same time mine operators themselves joined in the movement. At a meeting held to consider the question of safeguarding workmen in the mines, it was resolved that the operators would not only initiate such reforms in mining methods as would make for greater safety, but would also support legislation enforcing these reforms. That the governors of mining states are now to hold a conference to consider the whole subject of mining legislation indicates that the matter is still alive. The unification of the state laws, the better protection of miners, the prevention of unnecessary waste and the safeguarding of mining investors are phases of the mining question to be discussed.

FIVE BOOZY BEARS.

Here is a bear story which you can believe if you have a mind to, or may doubt if you feel inclined to. It comes to us in a news dispatch from Philadelphia.

"Five big black bears, very, very drunk, were a vandale performance in the Logansport woods near Ringdale, and Farmer Donald Gallagher, who watched the performance, says he is ready glad he didn't have a gun."

"John Forrester, another farmer, has a big deer press at a point on the edge of the forest and close to the Ringdale road. Hundreds of bushels of apples have been ground and pressed during the past few months, and the pomace has been rumped in a great heap near the Logansport creek. It recently rained on this pomace and it fermented."

"Farmer Gallagher was driving home from Ringdale when, near the deer press, he heard the sounds of revelry. His horse refused to proceed and he went forward to investigate. Dangling around the pomace pile were five bears, all whooping and squealing in Bacchanalian abandon."

"The farmer says that while he watched they had a football game, a prize war dance, a grand opera rehearsal and a grand Salome wind-up."

ROOSEVELT TO COLORED MEN.

President Roosevelt advanced no theories with respect to the solution of the race problem in his address at the laying of the corner stone of the Colored Young Men's Christian association in Washington the other day, says the Baltimore American. His speech was replete with sound advice and with practical, discerning wisdom. It was of the practical and homely kind that touches human life in a million points where the unusual ex-pedient or fine-spun theory affects it but remotely. So the speech was particularly good because it gave plain, common sense directions and because it abounded with encouraging instances of the progress made by the colored people with the sympathy of their white neighbors.

LET THERE BE LIGHT!

Joseph E. Stephens, American consul, writing from Plymouth, England, states that an English scientist has invented a new luminant which promises to work wonders in the way of giving the world a light equal to electricity, and at a cost not more than half that of ordinary gas. The new gas is described as follows:

It is made by the carbureting of air with a small proportion of petrol vapor, the resultant mixture, according to the consular report, being bright, illuminating, nonexplosive, without smell, and without injurious effects if inhaled. The gas costs less than one English shilling (24 cents) a thousand cubic feet to produce. A 125 candle-power burner when in use costs one-fifth of a cent an hour and will light a large room. At a cost of two cents enough gas can be supplied to a radiator for the heating of an ordinary room during eight hours. A producing plant capable of supplying twenty-five lights can be made for about $100.

Aside from the economy involved it would seem, says an exchange, that in this invention we have found other long-left wants—a gas that will not blow up the fellow who goes hunting a leak with a lighted match, and that can be blown out by the man from the backwoods of Arkansas without calling for the services of the coroner.

GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION.

The commission plan for the government of towns and cities, is no longer an experiment. It has been adopted in a good many places, and its friends claim for it that it has demonstrated its feasibility wherever it has been tried. Des Moines proudest boasts of having become the mecca of students of municipal reform and efficient administration. Its commission government has surpassed expectations and disarmed opposition. Like reports come from Cedar Rapids, the other Iowa city that has availed itself of the general law enabling municipalities to do away with councils, checks and balances, etc.

Peterson, N. J., is to establish government by commission, the supreme court of the state having just declared an act for such a form of municipal administration to be constitutional. Kansas, Missouri and New England states have passed similar enabling laws, and the municipalities have in several instances voted to establish government by small elective commissions. Haverhill, Mass., has adopted a new charter which provides for a mayor and four aldermen, as well as for a school board of only four members. The charter also does away with political designations or marks on the primary ballots and there is a provision for the recall of any city official during his term of office. The Haverhill plan is the Des Moines plan modified to some extent. Gloucester is to vote at its next election on the question of changing its form of government to an elected commission. President Eliot's faith in that plan is possibly an influence of some importance in Massachusetts.

The Philadelphia Inquirer says we ought to train our boys to be more methodical and more thoroughgoing in everything they have to do. Constantly we hear complaint from business men that boys from the grammar school, and even from the higher schools, are very hazy about arithmetic. Now, if there is any subject requiring precision it is that which deals with figures. It boots little that a boy has gone through a high school course if he can not make out the extensions of an ordinary bill of lading. Yet the latter difficulty presents itself to business men continually.

A girl who was guiding a party through the Pennsylvania mountains lost her way. She came upon some cows and, knowing the cows must be somewhere near human habitations, she twisted their tails and followed them home safely. Now if these cows

CLEARs THE COMPLEXION OVERNIGHT

Pimples, Rash, Eruptions, Etc., Quickly Eradicated by New Skin Remedy.

Since its discovery one year ago, poslam, the new skin remedy, has, in its extraordinary accomplishments, exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the eminent specialist who gave it to the world. It has cured thousands of cases of eczema, and eradicated facial and other disfigurements of years' standing. The terrible itching attending eczema is stopped with the first application, giving proof of its curative properties at the very outset.

In less serious skin affections, such as pimples, rash, herpes, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., results show after an overnight application, only a small quantity being required to effect a cure. Those who use poslam for these minor skin troubles can now avail themselves of the special 50-cent package, recently adopted to meet such needs. Both the 50-cent package and the regular $2 jar may now be obtained in Albuquerque at O'Reilly's, B. H. Briggs and Co., the Williams Drug Co. and other leading drug stores.

Samples for experimental purposes may be had free of charge by writing direct to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

EXTRAORDINARY NOTICE

Owing to unforeseen circumstances having arisen, the BIG CLOSING OUT SALE at the Lion Store, which ran from October 19 to November 21, and which was advertised to close on the latter date, will be continued through the month of December, until Jan. 1. At the closing of my store on the evening of Nov. 21, it was my full and firm belief that I had ended the last day of my mercantile business in that place, but owing to later and unforeseen complications, which were entirely unavoidable on my part, it has become necessary to continue the sale as has been already announced. To say that I regret the affair is putting it mildly, as it will interfere seriously with prearranged plans for the disposition of my time.

THIS MORNING, DECEMBER 2nd, THE LION STORE WILL AGAIN BE OPEN FOR BUSINESS

It might be well to state that, despite the heavy drain upon our stock during the month of the sale, we are not sold out by any means, but on the contrary, are able to supply in fresh and unsold condition any article that has been sold heretofore. We invite a continuance of the liberal patronage that was bestowed upon us during the former sale.

CANNON CERTAIN OF DRY FARMERS HAVE RE-ELECTION PROFITED BY EXPERIENCE

Majority of Republican Members of Next House Declare in Favor of Retaining Veteran Speaker.

(By Morning Journal Special Staff Wire)
Washington, Dec. 1.—Friends of Speaker Cannon profess to be highly pleased with the responses to letters which Representative James H. Mann of Chicago, has been sending to the members announcing that the Illinois delegation will present the name of Joseph V. Cannon for speaker of the sixty-seventh congress. They state that these answers assure re-election of the speaker.

Representative Mann today admitted that he had received unequivocal answers from more than a majority of the republicans of the house saying that they would support Mr. Cannon. This number has not yet reached a majority of the house. Mr. Mann explained that a number of principally new members, had written that they desired to look over the situation and investigate the subject more thoroughly before replying in a way that might be considered as a pledge. It is said that only one member of the house has replied that he will oppose the re-election of Mr. Cannon as speaker.

Attention is gradually shifting from the speakership to the proposed amendment to the rules of the house. There are indications that the speaker may not offer such opposition to some amendments as he has.

MCKINLEY BEARS MESSAGE OF HARMONY TO PRESIDENT-ELECT
His Springs, Va., Dec. 1.—Representative William B. McKinley, of Illinois, ex-chairman of the republican congressional committee, and a close personal friend of Speaker Cannon, is to visit the president-elect here Friday. That Mr. McKinley will bear assurance from the speaker in harmony with other messages which have reached Judge Taft through friends of Mr. Cannon is confidently predicted here. These assurances are all in the line of harmony, and have been received with much gratification.

Col. Robert M. Thompson, of New York, an expert in naval affairs, and endorsed by the alumni of Annapolis to be secretary of the navy, called on Judge Taft today. Colonel Thompson said he was not a candidate for the place and that the subject had not been mentioned in the interview he had with the president-elect.

Judge Taft and Senator Bourne defeated their Canadian opponents at golf today. Their opponents were Messrs. Borden and Doherty, of the Canadian parliament.

Agricultural College Man Says Drought Last Summer Has Taught Farmers the Need for Scientific Cultivation.

The serious drought which reduced crops in almost all dry farming districts in New Mexico last summer, and which in a few districts resulted in total loss, has served a useful purpose in teaching the dry farmers the imperative need for scientific farming, according to J. D. Timney, field expert of the New Mexico Agricultural college, who was in the city yesterday on his way home from a trip through the Estancia valley.

"We are losing a small per cent of population in some of the dry farming districts," said Professor Timney in discussing the agricultural situation in the territory. "The loss, however, is not serious and in some cases it is a positive benefit since a portion of those who are going are men who come into these districts expecting to pick up a small fortune without working, and who have found that dry farming, like irrigated farming or any other kind of farming, takes hard work and lots of it. The dry farming practiced in this territory up to a year ago was in reality not dry farming at all in the sense of scientific farming. There was abundant rainfall and conditions were really little different from those of eastern Kansas and the rain belt. The drought last summer, however, brought home to the people in the new districts that dry farming land is not quite the equal of irrigated land, and that there is an imperative need for cultivation of the soil along scientific lines if good results are to be obtained."

The difference between the application of scientific principles and rain belt methods has been strikingly illustrated in the Estancia valley, where farmers whose crops have been almost total failures. They have not been properly cultivated. Other farmers who have followed the scientific principles of dry farming have obtained excellent results in spite of the short rainfall.

"I have just as much faith in the success of scientific farming in New Mexico as I have ever had. The lesson learned during the past season is one that it was necessary to learn. If it had not come last summer, it would have come in some future summer when there would have been more population to suffer. It is therefore fortunate for the territory as a whole that the lesson has been learned. The stable portion of the population which has come into the new districts will remain. The unstable portion will leave and give up the fight, but they will make room for the persistent homemaker and in the end the territory will be the gainer."

SEALED VERDICT IN HART CASE
At 11:30 last night the jury returned in the case of John Hart vs. the Citizens Publishing company, brought in a sealed verdict. The contents of which will not be known until noon today at 2 o'clock morning. The case went to the jury at 2 o'clock last evening, after lengthy arguments had been made to the jurors by counsel on both sides. The morning session was occupied with arguments to counsel on both sides on matters pertaining to the law in the case.

There was much interest in the case, which has occupied five days of the court's time. There said the Citizens Publishing company for $10,000 damages, alleged to have been sustained by an account of an alleged divorce article published in the Evening Citizen of August 27, 1902. The article is alleged to have made the statement that Hart had left the city leaving a number of unpaid bills. Hart alleged in filing the suit that the publication of the

The complete program has been arranged for the colony services to be held in the Elks theater next Sunday afternoon by Albuquerque Lodge No. 441 Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. A large number of program and addresses will make this service an impressive as in former years.

John Taylor, a well known colored man of this city, died at 4:30 yesterday morning at his home, 420 North Third street, after suffering from a complication of diseases for the past six months. Deceased had been a resident of Albuquerque for the past twenty years. He was for some time employed as a porter at the Storges hotel.

S. L. Bean, mechanical superintendent of the Santa Fe Coast Lines; Clarence Barbydt, accountant for the mechanical department; J. R. Cook, master mechanic at Chaves, N. M.; J. W. Fry, mechanical superintendent of the third grand division, and several other mechanical department officials, were in the city yesterday attending a conference.

Manuel Vigil a well known young attorney, who has had an office with District Attorney Clancy for some time past, was married last Friday evening in Trinidad, Colo. to Miss Mercedes Abovita, a well known young lady of that place, the ceremony occurring in the Catholic church. They are expected to make their home in this city, where Mr. Vigil is rapidly building up a substantial law practice.

It is understood that Martin Fishback, a prominent mining engineer of El Paso, and representing New York capital, has negotiated a deal to take over the famous old Crown Point mine in the Blaine district, and commence operations on the property in the near future. Mr. Fishback is now at Blaine making ready to start work. It is understood that the leasehold of this mine, which is the property, has sold it for a large consideration.

W. B. Moore, the enterprising proprietor of the Lion Store, has been advised by the court that the sale of the store, which was advertised to close on the latter date, will be continued through the month of December, until January 1st, 1909. At the closing of my store on the evening of November 21st, it was my full and firm belief that I had ended the last day of my mercantile business in that place, but owing to later and unforeseen complications, which were entirely unavoidable on my part, it has become necessary to continue the sale, as has been already announced. To say that I regret the affair is putting it mildly, as it will interfere seriously with prearranged plans for the disposition of my time. This morning the Lion Store will be open for business.

It might be well to state that, despite the heavy drain upon our stock during the month of the sale, we are not sold out by any means, but on the contrary are able to supply in fresh and unaltered condition any article that has been sold heretofore. We invite a continuance of the liberal patronage that was bestowed upon us during the former sale.

That's about the amount we have paid in interest to the "savers" in Albuquerque this year. Was any of it paid to you?

Are you familiar with the many other services we are extending? Possibly a personal interview would result to our mutual advantage.

prior of the Colombo theater has arranged for a new film service to be used in place of the present moving picture service at that theater. The new service will be inaugurated next Sunday. New pictures, which have never been seen in the West before, will be received direct from an Eastern factory every other day, and the Colombo will be in a position to give the best there is in the moving picture line. A good crowd attended the theater last night and some excellent pictures were shown.

The Myers Brothers' Drug Co., the wholesale druggists of St. Louis, in notifying their customers of the death of the late J. P. Goodlander, their traveling salesman in New Mexico, copies of which have been received by Albuquerque drug houses, close their announcement with the following high testimonial to the character of the deceased: "Thus has closed the life of a man beloved by all who knew him. A faithful and loyal man to the house he represented, a true and reliable man to the buyer he served, and a friend to all who knew him and their number was legion."

A dispatch to the Mexican Herald from Jalapa, Mexico, says of a former well known Albuquerque man: William Earnest Tingley, aged 44 years and 8 months, died at 3:58 a. m. Monday. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tingley and only grandson of Mr. and Mrs. William Norris. The house was crowded with floral offerings and the city of Jalapa followed his remains in the street car to the cemetery. Mr. Tingley has been connected with the Tehuantepec railway for the past two years. Previously he was a passenger conductor on the Santa Fe out of Albuquerque, and chief conductor of the order of Railway conductors at Albuquerque.

Williams' Jubilee Singers made a big hit before a large audience at the Methodist church last night. The singers are composed of a ladies' quartet and a men's quartet, eight singers in all and every one of them a singer of ability. For nearly two hours they sang songs and melodies which proved highly entertaining and which were much appreciated by the audience, which responded with liberal applause. Old plantation songs, comic songs, Southern melodies and ballads, as well as new and up-to-date style. Altogether the jubilee singers are a distinct novelty in the entertainment line, and by their performance last night came fully up to the expectation of those having the affair in charge.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances having arisen, the Big Closing Out Sale at the Lion Store, which ran from October 15th to November 21st, and which was advertised to close on the latter date, will be continued through the month of December, until January 1st, 1909. At the closing of my store on the evening of November 21st, it was my full and firm belief that I had ended the last day of my mercantile business in that place, but owing to later and unforeseen complications, which were entirely unavoidable on my part, it has become necessary to continue the sale, as has been already announced. To say that I regret the affair is putting it mildly, as it will interfere seriously with prearranged plans for the disposition of my time. This morning the Lion Store will be open for business.

It might be well to state that, despite the heavy drain upon our stock during the month of the sale, we are not sold out by any means, but on the contrary are able to supply in fresh and unaltered condition any article that has been sold heretofore. We invite a continuance of the liberal patronage that was bestowed upon us during the former sale.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM SANTA CLAUS

Toyland, Dec. 2, 1908.

My Dear Friends: Since writing you yesterday in reference to establishing my headquarters at Strong's Book Store, I conclude you will next be interested in what this well-stocked store may have to offer.

My dear little folks are coming in now to see the big stock of dolls and toys, and I rejoice to see their little eyes sparkle when they see just what they want old Santa to bring them. In fact, it would be hard to think of a toy they could not get here. Now just a word about those toys:

They are a sample line shipped direct to Albuquerque from the wholesale house, and everything is just as fresh as if they had never been used. For example, and best of all they were sold at a big discount from the regular price. That means much for the freight on this class of goods runs from 25 to 33 1/3 per cent of the cost. I call your attention to this matter, for, as I said to you yesterday, this has been a dull season, and I want to make a dollar go as far as possible.

Come in early and make your selection while the stock is complete. Your friend,
SANTA CLAUS.

P. S.—Will write tomorrow about some of the other lines in this store.
SANTA CLAUS.

CAMERON AND KIBBEY TO BE HERE TONIGHT

Governor of Arizona and Republican Delegate-elect are on their way to Washington in interest of statehood.

Mr. George Smith, who is a close friend of Delegate-elect Ralph J. Cameron, of Arizona, received a letter from Mr. Cameron yesterday stating that he and Governor Kibbey, of Arizona, would be in Albuquerque for a short time Wednesday night on their way to Washington, where the governor and the delegate-elect will take part in the statehood fight, should there be good prospects for admission at the short session.

Mr. Cameron was one of the surprises of southwestern politics in the recent election. He had been considered a strong candidate, but his election was a surprise even to republicans in Arizona, where the democrats have been victorious for many years. While Mr. Cameron will not take his seat until next spring and may not take it at all, as he is much interested in the statehood situation, and both he and Governor Kibbey have expressed themselves as hopeful of admission at the short session.
