Germany Calls Back President's
Refusal of Their Aid--France
Sees Extension.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The state department today made public the text of the note delivered to Acting Secretary Bacon, yesterday, by the British charge d'affaires. It is as follows:

"I have the honor to inform you, under instructions received today from his majesty's principal secretary of state for foreign affairs, that his majesty's government is causing official inquiry to be made as to the authenticity of the letter which appeared in the public press, this morning, purporting to be written by the governor of Jamaica, and addressed to Admiral Davis, commanding the United States squadron lately in Jamaican waters.

"Sir Edward Grey desires me to say that while he is so far dependent upon the press only for opinion with regard to the incident, he deeply regrets if the published text proves correct, that any British official should have addressed such a letter to the gallant admiral who had rendered valuable assistance to British subjects at the time of great suffering and distress, and that he is certain that his feeling of regret is shared by every one in Great Britain."

GERMANY REMEMBERS

ROOSEVELT'S REFUSAL
Berlin, Jan. 22.—The newspapers here print every item of news available as to the incident between Governor Swettenham and Admiral Davis at Kingston. Various newspapers regard the incident as a curb to the friction of Swettenham's "fired nerves" and sensitive national pride, and say that the Americans may now understand the feeling of Germany over the declaration of the United States to accept foreign relief for San Francisco earthquake sufferers, although it is admitted that the circumstances of the two cases are quite different.

FRANCE SEES AMERICA'S

LUST OF ACQUISITION.
Paris, Jan. 22.—The Reclaire, in commenting upon the American rebuff at Kingston, expresses the opinion that doubtless Admiral Davis' intervention conformed with the Roosevelt words in October, that the construction of the Panama canal signifies that America is policing the two oceans, and especially the Caribbean sea.

JAMAICA CLAIMS TO BE

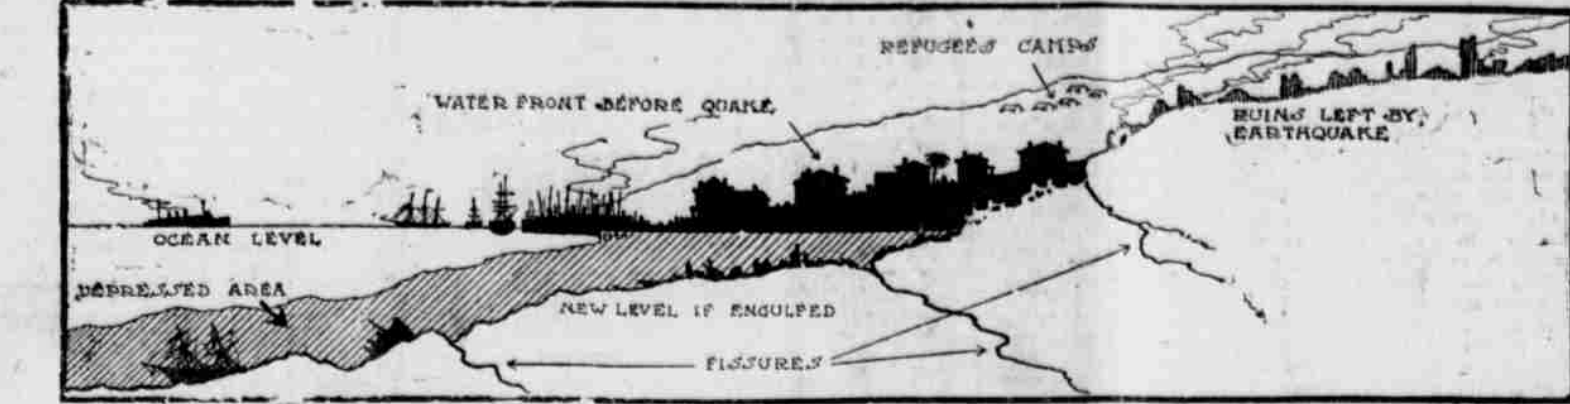

PROFOUNDLY GRATEFUL.
Washington, Jan. 22.—The state department today made public the following cablegram:
"Jamaica, Jan. 20. Hon. Elihu Root, state secretary, Washington: Jamaica is profoundly grateful to your excellency for expressions of sympathy and for the very practical aid so kindly given by Admiral Davis and the entire particular service squadron of the United States navy. "GOVERNOR"

"BLOODY SUNDAY" MEET-

ING OF JEWS.
New York, Jan. 22.—At a great meeting of Jews in the Cooper Union last night to commemorate "Bloody Sunday," when the great massacre of Jews took place in Russia, several revolutionary speeches were delivered. The principal speaker was Dr. Shmaryan Levin, a member of the first Russian duma who said they had given up the policy of praying for the success of the Jewish people in their combat with Russia, but were all now engaged in fighting for a separate state for the Hebrew race. He denied the allegation that the time was not ripe for the Jews to govern themselves and announced that a move would soon be made that would annihilate the world.

ARKANSAS STATE HORTICUL-

TURAL SOCIETY CONVENTION.
Clarksville, Ark., Jan. 22.—Apples, peaches, grapes were fully discussed at the twenty-seventh annual session of the Arkansas State Horticultural society which commenced here today. A very interesting address "Arkansas and her horticultural development" was delivered by Prof. W. S. Alexander and Prof. W. B. Walker, horticulturists of the experimental station, gave some valuable hints of spraying and spraying machines. Major Nowlin, of Little Rock, discussed the new railroad rate law and government experimental stations and their work were dealt with by A. V. Swaly, United States department of agriculture.

THE CITY OF KINGSTON, DEVASTATED BY EARTHQUAKE AND FIRE, IS SLOWLY SUBSIDING INTO THE SEA. THE QUAKE DEEPENED THE WATER IN THE HARBOR 50 TO 70 FEET AND THE ACTION OF THE WAVES IS SLOWLY EATING AWAY THE UNDERPINNING OF THE SEA, LEAVING A GREAT SHELF OF LAND WHICH IS GRADUALLY SINKING INTO THE GULF BELOW IT. THE CUT SHOWS THE TOPOGRAPHY OF THE CITY AND VICINITY BEFORE AND AFTER THE BREAK IN THE LAND.

Broad Scope.

REPUBLICANS CAUCASING ON LIST OF EMPLOYES

Representative Ruppe Would Like to be Chairman House
Finance Committee.

Special to The Evening Citizen.

Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 22.—Pursuant to adjournment yesterday, a joint session of both houses took place this morning.

President Spies in the chair. Every member was present and there was quite a concourse of people in the galleries.

Governor Hagerman delivered his message and it took over two hours to do so.

Immediately thereafter the joint assembly adjourned, and each house will meet tomorrow in its own chamber, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

The republican council and house caucuses have not yet completed the selection of employees for each house. This matter will be finished this evening and everything will be in working order tomorrow.

Joseph P. Brackett, of Raton, is slated for assistant chief clerk of the council, and M. B. Otero, of Santa Fe, for assistant chief clerk of the house.

The names of other employees have not yet been made public.

The situation is quiet and the republican organization seems to be strong and cohesive.

Councilman Duran, of San Miguel county, will likely be chairman of the council, and Representative Beach, chairman of the railroad commission of the house.

Representative Ruppe, of Bernalillo, seeks the position of chairman of the house finance committee, but this selection is very problematical.

[Note.—The message of Governor Hagerman is printed in full as a supplement to this afternoon's Evening Citizen.]

LIVE STOCK MEN MEET IN DENVER AND M'KENZIE

Does Good Talking--Commerce Commission Lets Denver Amend.

IN FIRE $75,000 ARE LOST AND FIREMEN HURT

Denver, Jan. 22.—President Murdo MacKenzie's annual address was the main feature of the opening session of the Tenth annual convention of the American National Live Stock association here today. The report on "Legislative Questions," of vital interest to all members, was made by S. F. Cowan, the attorney of the association. Governor Buchtel welcomed the delegates in a felicitous address.

President MacKenzie said that during 1906 there had been more complaints of poor service by railroads than in any year before, and that unless something is done to compel the railroads to give reasonable speed limit to live stock, the stockmen will ultimately be compelled to give up the business on account of loss.

He suggested suits for damages against the railroads. He referred to the failure of railroads to furnish cars upon proper notice, and that too, in the face of legislation to remedy this evil. He said that the minimum carload weight for all classes of livestock was too high and should be adjusted. He said that stockmen objected to the proposed amendment to the meat inspection law, making packers pay cost of inspection, because stockmen would have to stand the cost which would be millions annually.

The administration of forest reserves, which is one of the most important questions on which the association should take action. He urged all stockmen to support the co-operative live stock commission company, which is already a success.

Complaint Insufficient.

United States Interstate Commerce Commissioner Pruett, at the opening of the hearing today, said that the complaint filed was insufficient in its allegations. If it was the plaintiff's intention to prove a general discrimination against Denver in railroad rates, permission was given to file an amended complaint.

Every Railroad at Mercy of Elements--Wabash Breaks
Its Levee.

OHIO AT STANDSTILL AND NO MORE RISE FEARED

St. Paul, Jan. 22.—North Dakota is covered with a snow of unprecedented depth. The whole communities are isolated, and every railroad in the state is at the mercy of the elements. Not a train from North Dakota has arrived here for three days, and the officials have no idea when traffic will be resumed. The blizzard of Saturday was the worst in fifty years. In the mountain districts snow slides have covered the railroad tracks fifty to seventy feet deep.

ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS FEWER FAILURES IN BRITAIN.

London, Jan. 22.—In its annual report issued today the board of trade states that the total number of failures in 1906 were 8,223 in England and Wales, a decrease of 623 on the previous year. A substantial decrease in the number of farmers' failures is also shown. The improvement is most reflected in those trades which in previous years have been hardest hit by the depression then prevailing. The grocery and provision trades, for example, which in 1905 showed more bills of sale than in previous years, had in 1906 the substantial decrease of 134. The report winds up with the statement that trade in the country is in a very satisfactory state.

NEW YORK CENTRAL TO CURTAIL IMPROVEMENTS.

New York, Jan. 22.—Owing to the day says: The directors of the New York Central have decided to curtail much of the construction and improvement work planned for this year. They reached this decision, it is said, on the advice of very prominent bankers that the prosecution of all the work planned by the big railroads of the country would involve an expenditure which would produce even a greater stringency in the money market than that witnessed last year. The scarcity of labor and the high price of materials are also causes of the decision, while another reason is found in the delay of the delivery of materials and equipment.

WILD ANIMALS CLOSING IN ON TOWN AND CITIES.

Winnipeg, Jan. 22.—Owing to the intense cold and heavy falls of snow wild animals are closing on the towns and cities. In Saskatchewan the dreaded grey wolves, starved by the scarcity of deer, come down from the region of the north in great numbers and are a terror to the people. The invasion of wolves, which is more or less common in all farming settlements in western Canada, is caused by the great scarcity of rabbits and small game. Though the wolf hounds purchased by the government are destroying thousands of them, they are still very numerous. A very large number of lynx are also coming from the north.

ily Away From Their Preemptions of Land.

Smoot is Defended.

Senator Sutherland came to the defense of his colleague, Smoot, of Utah, demanding his right to retain his seat in the senate. Sutherland maintained that Smoot was not a violator of law, either as principal or accessory; that he did not recognize allegiance to any power paramount to the allegiance he owed his flag or country. Sutherland declared that the people of Utah, or any of them, taught their children to disrespect the flag, or that there was any hostility toward the general government was a cruel falsehood.

Homesteaders' Absence.

The president has approved the joint resolution authorizing temporary leaves of absence from a homestead by settlers.

Good Captain Sent.

Capt. Carter P. J. Johnson, of the Tenth cavalry, one of the regiments which last summer helped round up the tribes of Utah, has been designated by President Roosevelt to make a thorough inquiry into the circumstances attending the dissatisfaction among those Indians. Pending his report the Indians will be kept at Fort Meade, S. D.

Important Court Decision.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The supreme court of the United States decided the cases of Crows vs. Trickey and Crows vs. Herman, involving the sale price of the West mine in Arizona. Crows brought suit on a verbal contract to recover his commission of $10,000 for the $100,000 sale of the mine. At the time the purchaser failed to take property, but subsequently took it by private agreement with the owners. Today's opinion affirms the Arizona court's decision against Crows.

CONVENTION OF NATIONAL RETAIL GROCERS

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 22.—The tenth annual convention of the National Association of Retail Grocers was opened here today. When the convention was called to order by President W. A. Currens there were 200 delegates from all parts of the states present. After the annual election of executive officers and the consideration of the reports there are some important matters for discussion. The present convention is considered most important as it is the first one held since the declaration of its independence from the large manufacturers of grocery articles and refused to accept donations of money. The reports showed that the association is represented by 80,000 grocers, with every state in the union, except two, organized.

Since the association has ceased to be dominated by manufacturers much good work has been accomplished notably the large decrease in the use of premiums, the passage of more liberal garnishment laws, agitation in favor of full weight goods and the establishment of all trade combinations through the exercise of "moral suasion."

All kinds of machinery and field guns will be exhibited and every kind of death dealing device will be shown. TIDAL WAVE ENGULFS EAST INDIAN ISLAND

Million and Quarter Are Said to Be Starving to Death In China Today.

London, Jan. 22.—Intense cold prevails over the Eastern part of Europe, even as far south as Greece. In St. Petersburg the thermometer registered 20 below zero. Day and night enormous braziers are kept burning on the streets of St. Petersburg, hot tea being dispensed throughout the night by order of the government, while troops patrol the streets to rescue frozen cab drivers and others.

Such extreme cold had not been experienced for ten years, especially in Galicia, where heavy snows have interrupted railroad traffic.

Many Austrian towns are suffering from water famine, all the water sources being frozen. Many persons have been frozen to death. There was a violent blizzard at Constantinople, Athens is covered with snow, Germany is experiencing a cold wave.

FURTHER DETAILS OF RECENT TIDAL WAVE

The Hague, Jan. 22.—The tidal wave, which devastated some Dutch East Indian islands, south of Athens, as announced January 11, practically engulfed the island of Simeu. ANNUAL CONVENTION OF LIQUOR ORGANIZATION.

New York, Jan. 22.—The annual convention of the Wine, Beer and Liquor Organization, which will be held in the Grand Central Palace tonight, will be followed by a ball, at which some novelties will be introduced. Last year there was a champagne fountain, but tonight there will be a rainbow of champagne, having colored lights thrown up through the spray of the liquid. The palace is profusely decorated with exotic plants and tropical verdure and all round the large hall there are grotesque artistically placed. It is the intention of the organization that tonight's affair shall surpass anything of its kind ever held before by the association.

CHINESE REVOLUTION IS RAPIDLY SPREADING.

Hong Kong, Jan. 22.—The revolution in China is spreading with alarming rapidity and all missionaries, traders and people of other nationalities than China are fleeing to Shanghai where American, British and German gun boats are stationed. GOVERNOR CUMMINS FOR RADICAL CHANGES IN LAW
Parts of Colorado Suffered Much From Recent Snows and Fuel Shortage.

New York: Miss Elizabeth Kilgusworth Brown, who was arrested on a charge of passing worthless checks in payment for bills incurred at the Hotel Astor and the Waldorf, was arraigned in the West Side court. She pleaded not guilty.

Miss Brown, who is the daughter of the late David Wolfe Brown, reporter for thirty years of the debates in the house of representatives, is charged by Attorney Boland, who represents both the Waldorf and the Astor, with having secured accommodations at the Waldorf from December 3 to December 30, and at the Astor from December 30 to January 7, without making proper payment. Her bill at the Waldorf amounted to $29.75, and that at the Astor to $74.59. Both these bills had been paid with worthless checks, he asserted, drawn on the American Security & Trust company of Washington.

After she had been arraigned in court Miss Brown talked to a reporter. She was nervous in manner, but she spoke freely enough of her arrest. "It is all a mistake," she said. "I paid the bills, and the checks were perfectly good, as my account with the trust company amply covers them. But I felt that the bills were excessive, and so I directed the company to stop payment. That was why the checks came back marked 'no payment.' I never had the slightest intention of cheating the hotels."

She was asked where her present residence was, and replied that she lived in Denver, where she had made a great "strike" in the gold field. She declared that the mine she had struck was making a lot of money for her.

She said, also, that she intended to go to Washington for her examination in the court, and then, a day or two later, take her mother and sister with her to Denver.

SOME VIEWS OF GOVERNOR CUMMINS OF IOWA.
Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 22.—Gov. Cummins took the oath of office as governor of Iowa for the third time, he entered upon his new term by delivering an inaugural address stinging with criticism for the present methods of railway magnates.

He pointed out Hill and Harriman personally, and said they were making false arguments to keep the people from controlling the railroads. He said they were getting rich by juggling stocks, while the people whose money is actually invested were drawing but a small interest.

He urged the calling of a constitutional convention to amend the laws so as to elect not only United States senators, but also the president and vice president, by direct vote of the people.

The governor deprecated the argument that the people could not trust a constitutional convention, and said he believes the men of today are capable of safeguarding their country's interests as the men who originally drafted the constitution of America.

SOME IDEA OF SNOW CONDITIONS IN COLORADO
Pueblo, Colo., A special to the Star-Journal from Silverton at the close of the week, stated that a severe snow and wind storm has been raging there for forty-eight hours. About eighteen inches of snow had drifted the roads badly and considerable damage was feared from snowslides. Traffic was blocked on all the railroads. Denver & Rio Grande train arrived twelve hours late, and

It was impossible to tell when the next one would arrive from the outside.

The Eureka train was blocked by an immense slide four miles from town. The coal supply was short. For several days the railroad has been confining the greater part of the lump coal mined in the vicinity of Durango and at no time during the past two months had Silverton had sufficient lump coal. At present there was not a pound of lump coal for sale by the local dealers, and only a limited amount of other coal. The Mogul mine at Gladstone was compelled to shut down for lack of fuel.

SAGE ESTATE PAID VERY LARGE INHERITANCE TAX.
Albany, N. Y., State Comptroller Glynn received $25,000 state inheritance tax on the estate of Russell Sage. The value of the estate has been placed at $60,000,000, but that amount is not the final estimate.

The amount of this tax is the largest ever collected by the state under the law, with three exceptions. In 1904 the state collected from the estate of George Smith, a wealthy English merchant, who died in New York, $1,834,753. In 1901, $665,000 was received from the C. P. Huntington estate, and in 1904 the inheritance tax from the estate of Warren Smith, the Yorkers carpet manufacturer, was $973,345.

VANDERBILT INTERESTS TO BE CONSOLIDATED.
Milwaukee, Wis.: The Evening Wisconsin says:

The most important and by far the most sweeping consolidation of freight lines of the great railway systems and combinations of the country that has been brought about in years is booked to be made within a short time by the Vanderbilt system. The plans, it is learned, are now practically matured.

The plan is the absolute consolidation of all of the "fast freight lines" and "despatch lines" which have for years been operated under the general Vanderbilt system, and will place all the lines under one corporation—the Merchants' Despatch company.

UNITED MINE WORKERS WANT CABINET ENLARGED.
Indianapolis, Ind.: The United Mine Workers' convention while in session here, adopted June W. Trudell's resolution, declaring for separation of the department of labor and commerce in the cabinet. It was the sense of the convention that the department as now constituted is unfriendly to labor, especially by its decision that a state had the right to import contract labor at any time.

The resolutions committee held a special meeting and considered the Beveridge anti-child labor bill. It adopted a recommendation asking congress to pass such a measure.

MOTHER LOSES SUIT OVER BABY'S PICTURE.
Worcester, Mass.: Judge J. F. Brown, in the superior court, handed down a decision in the $10,000 damage suit for the alleged illegal use of a nude photograph of her baby girl, brought by Mrs. Clara E. Eaton, of Worcester, against S. Z. Poll, the millionaire theater owner. The latter's demurrer was sustained, and this ends the case, as counsel for plaintiff will not amend his declaration.

It was claimed that the photograph was printed on blotters and in newspapers in advertising a play, "Who Owns the Baby?" with the words, "Can you guess?"

BILL THAT PRESIDENT MAY RETIRE JUDGES.
Washington, D. C.: Representative De Armond, of Missouri, has introduced a bill in the house authorizing the president to retire any judge of the United States who he thinks the retirement of such a judge would promote the public welfare, and giving the president power by and with the advice of the senate to fill the vacancy thus created.

When asked if the provisions of the bill extend to the supreme court of the United States, Mr. De Armond replied that in his opinion they do. Mr. De Armond says public sentiment would prevent any abuse of the retirement power.

Carrie Nation declares dancing is plain hugging. Dancing with Carrie would be called plain hugging.

"Nearly every woman has some histrionic ability. They're nearly all natural born actors," said "Yes. Monologists."

Jimmy Britt insists that his chorus girl fiancée marry before he fights Joe Gans. Perhaps Jimmy is afraid she won't know him after the fight.

"You expect me to believe such a story as that?" asked Mrs. Smithers. "Well, I can't say positively that I repudiate the meek and humble Smithers, but I thought I'd try it on you."

"My father, he said with considerable pride, 'was one of the early settlers in this country.'"

Aw, Gib, forget it.

Gibson R. Garwood remembers that on Jan. 1, 1876, the temperature at 1:30 p. m. was 68 degrees above zero. He also remembers that on New Year night in 1864, the thermometer showed 18 and 20 degrees below zero.—Bellevue (O.) Examiner.

"I'm stuck," said the manager of the label department of the wholesale grocery.

"What's the trouble?" asked the superintendent.

"I don't know whether to mark these cans 'Maple syrup, Vermont style' or 'Vermont syrup, maple style.'"

Righteous Indignation.

Any one who can attend an extra good entertainment and sit and shuck peanuts or carry on a conversation through the most enjoyable parts of the program ought to stay at home with the family cat—it would greatly please those of the audience who care to listen.—Life Lake (Mich.) Monitor.

"Yes, provided the trustees raise another hundred thousand; provided they name one of the buildings after him; provided they let him direct the expenditure of the money; and provided two or three other things that I forget."

"Humph! Muehman is a good provider, isn't he?"

DISCRIMINATION FOUGHT BY DENVER
Twenty Railroads Charged by Denver Merchants Before Commerce Commission.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 22.—The interstate commerce commission opened a most important inquiry yesterday, when evidence of the most unjust railroad charges was adduced. Denver city claims that it is not given rates commensurate with those of Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis and San Francisco, California. The suit is brought against twenty railroads by all the merchants and dealers in this city who complain that the rates charged and enforced by the railroads in this city and points taking the same rates, Chicago, St. Louis and other places taking Mississippi point rates, Omaha and all points taking Missouri points rates are unjust, unreasonable, discriminatory and unduly prejudicial to the interests of the shippers of Denver. The complainants aver that Denver would be one of the most important cities in the United States but for rates which placed the city at a great disadvantage and largely increased the cost of the necessities of life. The investigation has been brought about mainly through the efforts of Geo. J. Kindel and Senator Patterson. A very large number of witnesses will be examined and the case will occupy some time.

Y. M. C. A. MOVEMENT IN PENNSYLVANIA.
Allentown, Pa., Jan. 22.—At the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Young Men's Christian association yesterday probably the feature of the widest interest discussed was the report of the special commission appointed by the state committee to investigate the social, physical, intellectual and spiritual needs of the young men of foreign parentage, who have been attracted to the industrial employments of this state. The commission was composed of Christian sociologists, coal operators, professional men, business men and association secretaries. The report acknowledged that Pennsylvania, with one twelfth of the country's population, must assimilate one-fifth of the immigration. With twenty-one per cent of the foreigners coming to this country settling in this state it was advisable that some adequate, comprehensive plan for their education in American ideas, and their uplift in moral standards be put into execution. The convention decided to invite all foreign young men to classes which will be formed where they will be taught everything necessary to make them useful citizens.

BECOMING A MOTHER
Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Book containing valuable information free.

stamp tax of two cents a share, irrespective of the par value of the stock sold. The actions are based on the decision just handed down by the court of appeals declaring such tax unconstitutional. The decision of the court reduces in proportion the stamp tax on transfers of stocks of the par value of less than $100 a share; so that the proportion of the tax is $2 per one hundred shares which the par value of the stock bears to $100. In other words the tax on the transfer of 100 shares of stock of $5 a share instead of being $2, is ten cents. As a result of the decision, all amounts paid for the stamp tax on stocks of the par value of less than $100 a share are subject to be refunded in proportion by the state controller. It is stated that the tax has driven millions of shares of business from this city to Boston, Philadelphia and Jersey City.

All the available seats at the contests of the association are booked and some of the best amateur fencers in the country will compete. The season will wind up with the national championships at the New York Athletic club, when all the winners will meet and the president's medals will be awarded.

FRIDAY EVENING MUSICALS AT CAPITAL

Mrs. Roosevelt Has Made Them Most Popular Function at White House.

TEA AND WAFERS ARE THE RECEPTION REFRESHMENTS

Some Costumes Worn By Fashion
Leaders at Diplomatic Dinners
Recently in Washington.

By Catherine Altman.
Washington, January 22.
The White House musicals, inaugurated by the present mistress of the executive mansion, are winning deserved distinction and fame. Invitations are eagerly sought, and persons high up in "court" are besieged with requests to obtain the coveted cards. After the formal official session is fully launched, Mrs. Roosevelt gives a series of these musicals, always on Friday evenings; the number of guests is limited with regard to individual comfort, and the spacious old mansion with its historic memories of bygone, as well as of present times, is seen at its best on these delightful occasions. Musicians of the highest skill entertain the guests and it is safe to say that these functions are the most popular of any given at the White House.

Everybody has been waiting to see whether Mrs. Nicholas Longworth would make the "first" calls, which as wife of a congressman, she owed to those, even the tiniest notch higher in officialdom. Many predicted she would take refuge behind her relationship to the president to overdo
the tiresome round, but the little lady is too much of a politician for any such fatal blunder. Quietly, but like her distinguished mother, very quickly, she has made some two hundred calls which confronted her, and having cast in her lot with the congressional set, she has gracefully caught up the reins of leadership, and it is believed, she will revolutionize the social status of Mrs. Congressmen.

Mrs. Longworth Called First.
A few days ago, assisted by ladies of the congressional circle, she gave a delightful at home. Needless to say, her parlors were thronged, and although it may be plebeian to admit it, her visitors appreciated her tactfulness, in having her wedding gifts on exhibition, for it is safe to say
few of her guests had been "tamed"
to the present at her marriage, and it is almost superfluous to add, that all the ladies were secretly longing to see the many beautiful things she had the good fortune to receive on that happy occasion.

No More Big Dinners.
The ladies of the cabinet have plunged into the rush, and are now holding their official receptions on Wednesday of each week and will continue to do so for the rest of the season. The dainty tea table with wafer and attenuated sandwiches has succeeded the loaded tables groaning with dainties and good things and the hostess and her receiving party have no longer deserted in the drawing room while greedy guests regale themselves with salads and frappes in the dining room. Under the old custom cabinet hostesses were obliged to smilingly welcome people who came for the sole purpose of obtaining a square meal and who were practically unknown either to the hostess or the ladies receiving, but there are few now indeed who would run the risk of imposing themselves and being snubbed for the sake of tea and wafers.

Some Fashionable Toilets.
Some of the costumes worn at the diplomatic dinner recently given at the White House are worthy of note.
The Baroness von Hengemuller, who is a beautiful woman, was splendid in a Viennese creation of the palest yellow satin, the low cut waist embellished in embroidery of the same tone,
and finished with a scarf like trimming of white lace caught at the breast with a large pink rose. Miss Hague wore an elaborate robe of pale gray satin, embroidered in silver with a touch of black about the bodice. Mrs. Townsend, who later in the evening was hostess at a dance at her home on Massachusetts avenue wore a gown of blue brocade with artistic touches of point lace. A diamond tiara of unusual beauty completed one of the handsomest gowns at the dinner. Mrs. Roosevelt wore a black satin gown with cut jet ornamentation. As she usually affects delicate shades and pastel tints the contrast was remarked upon by all

as particularly striking.

ona, against his father's will in the French consular office in Chicago, are not yet at an end. Disgusted at his son's clinging to the woman, Prince Alfred de Broglie, the young man's father, has brought an action before the civil court, demanding the annulment of the marriage on the ground of two irregularities, which he says were committed in the consular office in Chicago.

MURDERER HUNG AT
KINGMAN LAST FRIDAY.
C. C. Leigh was hanged Friday in the jail yard at Kingman, Ariz., for the murder of Jennie Bauters, a woman of the half world, at Goldroad, in September, 1905. As he was being led to the scaffold he suddenly weakened and fell against the sharp edge of one of the jail cells, a great gash being cut in his head and rendering him partially unconscious.
The officers carried him to the scaffold and held him up while adjusting the noose and cap. His neck was broken by the drop.

A CHECK ARTIST IN
THE TOMB AT TOMBSTONE.
Albert H. Wolerton is again in the toils, says the Prospector. But a short while since he was liberated
from the county jail at Tombstone, after having served seven months for obtaining money under false pretense. His method of financing being the floating of checks without money
in bank to liquidate the face values.
His field of operation was Douglas.
Since his release from incarceration
Wolerton has remained in Tombstone, following the vocation of mining, his conduct prophesying for him a good future, but last Sunday evening the check writing mania took possession of him and his paper was honored by our citizens, but the bank
upon which it was drawn discredited it. Wolerton had decamped. But the slutheads of the law located him in Douglas, returned him to the scene of his financial depravity, and today he pleaded guilty as charged and Judge McFarland sentenced him to six months in the county jail and imposed a fine of $20.

SAYS HE CAME FROM HEAVEN TO DO GOOD
Sheriff Jack White left Phoenix,
taking with him an insane patient,
who will be registered at the territorial asylum under the name of John Doe, as it was impossible for either the judge of the probate court or the examining board to find out from him his name or very much about him, says the Tombstone Prospector.
He is a white man of middle age and was picked up at Bowie by Deputy Sheriff Pruitt, who had seen him in that locality for the past few weeks.
He is laboring under a religious mania. He stated that he came from Heaven to Ash Fork in 1901 and since that time had spent most of his time in traveling through Arizona, Texas and New Mexico, burying and transferring all the slaves that were over 2,000 years of age. He also had a mania for chasing children, stating that he wished to catch them and save them from going to hell and being burned. He states that he is a medium of happiness and comes from Heaven to do good. He has been confined in the county jail for about ten days on a charge of vagrancy. At the time he was put into jail it was thought by the authorities that he was slightly unbalanced and only temporarily, being caused by drunkenness or the effects of some drug, but the longer he was confined the worse he became. The examination before Drs. Hughtart and Koons disclosed the real nature of the case.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 22.—My experience in showing more than 30,000 visitors through the great Lick telescope, on the Saturday evenings of nine years, led me to the conclusion, confirmed again and again, that while substantially everybody is eager to acquire astronomical knowledge, yet the fundamental facts of the science are known to comparatively few. For example, a small majority could tell me the difference between a planet and a star, but those who had a fair comprehension of the solar system were rare indeed.

A subject grander than the solar system would be difficult to find and,
as it is also the natural starting point in the study of astronomy, I shall hope so to describe it that all who read with care will have a good idea of the system and of its relation to other celestial systems.

The sun is one of the ordinary stars, comparable in size and substance with the 100,000,000 other stars visible in our telescopes. It seems larger and brighter and hotter
than other stars because we are relatively so very close to it. The earth is a member of its family. The sun's stupendous gravitational power compels the eight major planets—Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune—and the many hundreds of minor planets, to revolve around it, at various distances, in orbits nearly circular.

We are accustomed to regard the earth as a fairly large body. In comparison with just the small group are the works of man. A mighty nation must labor ten years to cut a ship's channel through the little ridge
at Panama, which rises only 40 feet above the sea. Now the sun is so vast that if it were a hollow shell of the same size, more than a million earths could be poured into it and the spaces between the balls would still remain unoccupied.

The average distance of the earth from the sun is 93,000,000 miles. An express train running 50 miles per hour, day after day, and year after year, without making a stop, would require 210 years to carry a celestial passenger from one body to the other. The outermost planet of the system, Neptune, is thirty times as far from the sun as we are, and the nearest star is 9,000 times as far away as Neptune. These distances are too great for human comprehension. Let us sketch the sun's family on a miniature scale.

Near the center of a large sheet of paper make an exceedingly small dot to represent the sun. With this as a center draw a faint circle, one-half inch radius, to represent the orbit.
In which the earth, our nearest neighbor
by its moon—our moon—revolves around the sun once per year. On the same scale, a circle of radius one-fifth of an inch is approximately the orbit in which Mercury completes a revolution in 88 days. The corresponding orbit of Venus, period 225 days, will be of radius three-eighths of an inch.
Beyond the earth's orbit draw a circle of radius three-fourths of an inch,
which Mars, with his two diminutive moons, follows once around in 687 days. Draw another circle of two and five-eighths inches radius for Jupiter and his seven moons. His period of revolution is a little less than twelve years. In the broad space between Mars and Jupiter, more than 600
small planets, or asteroids, are moving in a great variety of elliptic orbits, whose periods of revolution vary from less than two to more than eight years. These asteroids are so tiny that, if they were all united in one body, it would be much smaller than the earth. Next, draw a circle of radius four and three-fourths inches for Saturn, his wonderful ring system and his ten moons. The period of Saturn is 29½ years. Let another circle be drawn with radius nine and five-eighths inches as the orbit of Uranus and his four moons. His period is 84 years. Draw now a circle with radius of fifteen inches to represent the orbit of Neptune, accompanied by his one moon. He requires 165 years to complete his circuit around the sun.

Let me repeat, the real orbits
which deviate only slightly from circles, except that Mercury's ellipse is quite elongated; but for present purposes circles are abundantly close to the truth.

Note now a remarkable fact: the eight major planets and the 600 little planets are all revolving around the sun in one and the same direction, and very nearly in the same plane. On the reduced scale of the drawing the diameter of the system is but thirty inches. So nearly do the orbits lie in one plane that a round box thirty inches in diameter and only one inch deep would contain the small scale system, and all the bodies would make their revolutions entirely within this shallow box; except that a few of the asteroids would be carried a short distance alternately above and below it.

There are good reasons why all the planets should revolve in one direction and nearly in the same plane,
and these will be stated in a later
paper. We must also postpone consideration of the few comets and the myriads of small meteoric bodies which revolve around the sun and therefore belong to its system.

How completely is our system located in space. The nearest known star—our system's nearest neighbor —is 275,000 times as far away as the sun. On the small scale of our sketch, which reduces 93,000,000 miles to half an inch, on this same reduced scale, the nearest star, Alpha Centauri, would be more than two miles away. The next nearest star, No.
21,185 in Lalande's catalogue, would be more than three miles in another direction; and so on. The furthest star visible in our telescopes would be several thousand miles away, on this miniature scale. The actual distances in space may be obtained by multiplying these figures by the number of half inches in 93,000,000 miles.
All the stars—including our own star—are in motion. Speeds of every kind between 4 and 60 miles per second are quite common, yet how remote and almost impossible are the chances for collision between two celestial bodies.

Diamond Dazzled Dames

New York, Jan. 22.—The opera season is in full swing and so is the gorgeous display of jewels by New York's rich women, in and out of the theater.
Every night at the Manhattan opera house, where Melba and the other stars are singing, millions of dollars
of gems sparkle in the audience.
On the first night of her appearance, Mme. Melba wore $500,000 worth of jewelry and it is estimated that the women in the boxes carried $50,000,000 more.
New York has become the great

GOVERNOR HAD NARROW ESCAPE

THROWN FROM HIS HORSE—WHICH FELL INTO ARROYO
AND FORCED TO WALK
SIX MILES TO CITY.

Governor Hagerman narrowly escaped serious injury Sunday morning, when a horse he was riding fell with him, unseating him and pitching
him into an arroyo.

Accompanied by R. C. Gortner,
Governor Hagerman went for a ride
in the mountains northeast of Santa Fe. There was considerable ice and snow along the trail and the pony upon which the governor was mounted slipped and fell forcibly to the ground. The animal in struggling to maintain a foothold, slipped over the edge of a bank into an arroyo, throwing the governor but fortunately not injuring him beyond a few slight bruises and cuts.

For fear the pony would roll on him, the governor gave the animal a dig with his spurs and scrambling to its feet, the horse ran away. It has not been found and as it is quite wild, considerable difficulty is expected in re-capturing the pony. Mr. Gortner loaned his pony to a man and sent him after the runaway horse. He and the governor then walked six miles to the Capital City. It was a tiresome feat as the governor was wearing high-heeled riding boots.

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS

In his Weekly Financial Review, dated last Saturday, Henry Clegg, the New York banker and financial writer, makes the following startling statements:

Financial conditions have undergone little change and the situation remains perplexing, in spite of very satisfactory conditions outside of the stock market. There is no gain saying the fact that the undertone of the market is weak, and that, notwithstanding frequent rallies, encouraged by those having stocks to sell and by the development of an increasing stock interest, the prevailing tendency of the market is downwards.

From the long-distance point of view, it is difficult to see how this could be otherwise. There is altogether too much truth in the recent assertion of Mr. J. J. Hill that the railroad facilities of the country are totally inadequate for present requirements. Mr. Hill is authority for the statement that American railroads will need $5,500,000,000 spent upon them during the next five years. This is at the rate of $1,100,000,000 per year. Quite singularly enough, this latter sum nearly equals the amount already issued, or intended to be issued during the current year; since figures have been published which show the amounts recently authorized and issued to have reached about $1,000,000,000. This week Northwest announced a stock issue of $25,000,000. Chesapeake & Ohio is expected to shortly come into the market with an important issue of short time notes, one of the favorite means of raising railroad capital under present adverse conditions. Another report is that Southern Railway will shortly arrange for $50,000,000 of new capital. Atchison is said to be in need of $50,000,000; while Erie, New York Central, New York, New Haven & Hartford, Lehigh Valley, Seaboard Air Line, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, Canadian Pacific, Great Northern and other roads all promise to soon come into the market with heavy demands for new capital. Added to such requests are those coming from some of our big industrial concerns. Among such are American Woolen company, American Telephone & Telegraph, the Mackay companies, National Carbon company and many others. It will thus be seen that we have to face very unusual demands for new capital from strong concerns with imperative necessities behind them; and these will be enforced at the expense of weaker concerns if necessary.

MUCH THE SAME HERE

The personal tax lists for 1907 reveal an old familiar and pitiful state of poverty as still prevalent among the rich in little old New York, says the Las Vegas Optic. It appears that the city has but five real millionaires to its name, so far as personal property is concerned. Mr. Carnegie standing at the head with $5,000,000, and being followed in order of assessment by John D. Rockefeller ($2,500,000), Mrs. Russell Sage ($2,000,000), Alice G. Vanderbilt and William K. Vanderbilt ($1,000,000 each), and H. H. Rogers is $500,000 less, showing that Standard Oil is a gay deceiver ever and plays favorites unblushingly. August Belmont clings to a lonesome $100,000, only $25,000 more than the Hannah Elias assessment, while Oliver H. P. Belmont, having no subway to give the world access to his door, has to pay on $200,000.

According to these published figures, J. Pierpont Morgan, the thunderer of high finance, has backed with $400,000 his bull raid on the art treasures of all Europe. D. Willis Jones, who is not known ever to have Morganized a continent, is assessed for the same sum, which happens to be twice the allotment falling to Jacob H. Schiff and four times that of James Stillman. But Mr. Stillman's doctors' bills have probably been very heavy of late.

The Rev. Dr. Morgan at $80,000 is $5,000 better than John E. Parsons, of the Sugar trust. Major Richard T. Wilson invites compassion in the $50,000 class. And how in the world does Charles G. Gates muster nerve to "bet a million" when $50,000 is his acknowledged equipment, and his father's is only $250,000?

Governor Hagerman's recommendation for the abolishment of the bureau of immigration in his message to the thirty-seventh legislative assembly is not well taken and will not be approved by the people of the territory, especially those who know something of the good which the bureau has accomplished. It was organized something like twenty-five years ago and received the approval and commendation of every governor of New Mexico from that time up to the present. The work of the bureau has also been highly commended by nine out of ten of the newspapers of the territory. Railroad managers, general passenger agents and other railroad officials, having much to do with immigration and having the advancement of the territory in view, because such advancement benefits their interests, will also differ very materially from Governor Hagerman. The cost of the publications of the bureau, considering their literary merit, the proofreading and other incidental expenses, and the cost of printing and publishing them, is small, compared with their value and the good their distribution has accomplished for the Sunshine territory. Of course, the governor has a right to express his views upon the subject, but the legislative assembly also has the right as well as the duty to act as it seems best for the commonwealth, regardless of the views of the executive.

The governor's message is certainly long and exhaustive. He seems to have treated on nearly everything except the California school question. It reminds this writer of an anecdote related by Bourke Cockran. A lawyer at an afternoon term of court asked the judge to pass a case called and in which he was an attorney, on the ground that he had just finished an exhaustive speech in the forenoon and did not feel able to take up the new case so soon. His request was granted; but the attorney in the next case called also desired his case be passed. "What," asked the judge, "are you exhausted, too?" "Yes," replied the second lawyer, "I listened to my friend's speech in the forenoon." The Citizen fears the two lawyers may be taken as representative of the governor and his readers.

The Citizen heartily congratulates the city council on its action last night in abating the ditch nuisance. This same ditch, from the beginning of the life of Albuquerque to the present time, has been the bane of the city's existence. It has been unsightly, offensive and a constant menace to health. It is doubtful whether it could ever have been made otherwise. Now let the orders of the council be carried out at once. Remove the bridges, fill in the streets and have propertyholders thoroughly fill the ditch through their premises; and all this should be pushed to the earliest possible completion. Then will the city authorities be in condition to construct a system of storm water drainage; but not till then.

Raton Range. An able objector out in Iowa complains in a widely-circulated American periodical that this "wild-land craze" is taking away from his commonwealth thousands of men and causing the local banks much hardship. He opines that folks presently will realize that Iowa land is better than wild land, and so will come back home even as lost sheep return. What utter folly! The truth is that the population of Iowa is 30,000 less than it was two years ago, most of this loss being occasioned by the great trek. That is not because Iowa lands are no longer good, but because they are no longer cheap.

State Senator Lewis has proposed to the Colorado legislature for that state to sell or lease certain coal lands to the Colorado penitentiary, the mining work to be done by the convicts, while the resulting product shall be sold only to state institutions. What unutilized labor may think of the plan has not yet been announced.

EXAMPLE OF ORIENTAL TAFFY GIVING ABILITY

The sultan of Morocco may be the head of a backward nation and the source of anxiety to the world's powers, but he is an expert at fine writing and the donation of literary bouquets. This is proved by a personal letter just received by President Roosevelt from the sultan. It was forwarded in a red plush and beautifully decorated case by Minister Gummere, who had recently returned from the caravan journey to Fez. The letter itself is in classic Arabic, and the translation is as follows:

Written in our holy court at Fez, 7th, Shoual, 124 (November 24, 1906).

In the name of God, the clement, the merciful.

There is neither power nor might but in God the exalted, the Almighty.

To the beloved, the most cherished, the exalted the most gracious friend, most honored and excellent president of the United States of America, who is the pillar of its great influences and the director of its most important affairs, the most celebrated preserver of the ties of true friendship, to the faithful friend, Theodore Roosevelt.

After offering praise to God the Almighty, and powerful, the King of Kings, the helpful Lord, we have received your kind letter expressing your good will and true love which dwells in the secret recesses of the heart, and approaching the wise Samuel R. Gummere as minister plenipotentiary of your respected nation, in our holy country, who as yet well said is possessed of perfect knowledge of the ties of friendship existing between the two nations, and of a desire to increase the same.

As you request, we receive the minister with great satisfaction and welcome, and accordingly bestow upon him our complete confidence in everything he may present to us on behalf of your excellency and on behalf of your great nation, at the same time highly appreciating your prayers on our behalf. We are certain of these relations of amity and of the purest, strongest love which we hope will continue to increase.

This is certainly smooth and flowing, and contrasts strongly with the recent examples of letter writing furnished by the white house. It breathes piety and sincerity, high motives, dignity and friendship. We can fancy the sultan winking at the ladies of the harem as he read it to them. If ever the sultan wants to quit the caliphate and try his luck in this country, we know where he can make a bushel of money in the taffy business.—St. Joe News.

HOW AIR TAKES PLACE OF BROOM IN CLEANING

Were the thrifty Dutch housewife of New Amsterdam by some metempsychosis permitted to revisit the New York of today, and were she to stroll through any of the residential districts where the better class of our population makes its home, she would be greatly astonished to see in front of many of these residences wagons with long lines of hose attached. And were she, with an inquisitiveness very natural to pursue the subject of her investigation still further, she would notice that the lines of hose were lost to view through an open window of the residence.

If the good woman had ever seen such a thing she would, no doubt, conclude that the house was on fire, and that the queer contrivance chug-chugging on the street was some sort of a modern fire engine. But the average New York woman has ceased to marvel at the new system of vacuum cleaning, and most of the male population are quite accustomed to see on their travels in the business sections whole office floors being cleaned by vacuum suction, without the laying of a broom or dust brush to the carpeted floors and wood-work.

Charles Kaiser of Brooklyn, New York, is the inventor and patentee of a rotary vacuum pump and air compressor. Expert engineers who have inspected this invention and seen it in actual operation, proclaim it to be one of the most remarkable wonders. That the claims made for it by its inventor are but too modest is testified to by several of the experts who are backing the venture.

Students of mechanical problems and practical engineers have been at work for years on the problem of discovering a rotary pump that would be adjustable. Many claims have been made on as many different rotary pumps that have only proved white elephants to the manufacturer.

Mr. Kaiser is an Austrian, whose name has been prominently associated with the manufacture of the Whitehead torpedo and a number of inventions, among them being a turbine engine which has already had considerable notice.

Although it were useless to enumerate the many purposes to which the Kaiser pump can be put it might be said in passing that a vacuum cleaning concern in New York City has already in use forty of these pumps, and a number of them have been installed in the homes of wealthy residents of that city. The houses of W. G. Vanderbilt, Jr., Harry P. Whitney and Austin G. Fox have been equipped with the Kaiser pump in connection with a cleaning and sweeping system which has already met with the approval of a large number of the managers of some of our largest hostesses, and superintendents of the big office buildings. It has been found that the pump can be run at any speed up to 700 R. P. M. and at the same time is absolutely noiseless in operation.

GOOD RESULTS AS SECURED BY ONLY ONE CONGRESSMAN

Perhaps not one act of a congressman in many years has brought such quick results as the investigation speech of Victor Murdock on the weighing of the mails. In a recent editorial in the Tongva Capital the manner of weighing and charging as well as the saving is explained as follows:

Kansas people who have not kept track of this controversy should inform themselves about it, since it is the most remarkable individual service in the way of economy in the government, ever performed by a man in public life. The system of weighing the mails has been to take the gross weights for a number of successive days (say 90) once every four years on every line having a mail contract with the government. On the basis of this gross weight contracts are made for the four succeeding years. The mails are not weighed right along, but, as stated, once every four years. In this weighing the carriers have worked a game on the government because while the mail carried on Sundays has been weighed for the 90 days, to strike the average, Sundays have been omitted from the number of days by which the total weights have been divided to find the average daily weight. Supposing a weight on a given road is found to be 180 million pounds for a period of 90 days, the average would be two million pounds a day. But Sundays being omitted, and there being twelve Sundays at least in 90 successive days, the 180 million pounds are divided by 78 days and the average found to be much more than two million pounds a day. The road is paid for the succeeding four years on the basis of this average weight per day. The committee will recommend including Sundays hereafter in obtaining the average daily weight.

Charges have been made time out of mind that during the period of mail weighing, the mail is padded, and a prominent congressman in Wisconsin, defeated for re-election this year, was once charged with having sent to his home from Washington, during the mail weighing period, tons of documents of no use to anybody, to help the railroads swell their mail weight. Similar charges have been made against other congressmen and men in politics. Altogether the mail graft has been a fat one at the public expense.—New York Republican.

DEATH OF MRS. ANNA D. WRIGHT LAST NIGHT

Mrs. Anna D. Wright, aged 59 years and the mother of Mrs. George McLandress, died at 1 o'clock this morning at the home of her son-in-law, Dr. McLandress, No. 1100 West Railroad avenue.

The deceased came here from her home in Bay City, Mich., about two months ago, for a visit to her daughter and also for her health, and after her visit here intended to continue on to the sea coast resorts of southern California, in the hope of receiving benefits for her failing health.

For the first months here she improved and hopes were entertained that it would be continued, but she commenced failing again and the awful summons, announcing the dissolution of life, came at the hour mentioned.

The deceased was the wife of Hon. Hamilton M. Wright, prominent attorney of Bay City, Mich., and she had traveled extensively, not only in this country, but throughout Europe.

Private funeral services will be held at the residence, No. 1100 West Railroad avenue, tomorrow afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Cooper officiating. The remains will be shipped to Bay City, Mich., for interment.

CITY FATHERS KILL THAT AW- FUL DITCH

Alderman Harrison's Amendment Causes Comment-Wilkerson's Fees Allowed.

Mayor McKee announced this morning that those property owners who take steps to fill up the city ditch, which was officially killed by the city council last night, must first remove all refuse matter from the ditch before dumping sand and gravel into it. This is necessary in order to get it into a sanitary condition.

In view of the strenuous effort that has been made to have the nuisance of the ditch abated, it is believed that all property owners whose realty is adjacent to the aqueduct will immediately begin the work of closing up the offensive trench.

Mayor Frank McKee and Alderman Harrison, Neustadt, Hanley, Beaven and Wilkerson were present at the regular meeting of the city council last night, which will go down in municipal history as a notable one. Chief McMullin acted as clerk in the absence of Harry Lee. The following business was transacted:

It was unanimously voted that the ancient and striking city ditch be filled up. Mayor McKee urging that steps at once be taken toward constructing an adequate sewer system.

The ditch is to be filled by the property owners while the city agrees to tear up all bridges and culverts over the same and fill the ditch where it crosses all streets.

Attorney Wilkerson's bill of $125 for defending the case against him, charging assault with intent to kill, assault with deadly weapon, etc., was allowed.

Permission was granted residents on north Eighth street to build a gravel sidewalk 1,250 feet long and four feet wide.

An amended dog ordinance was passed, which requires the owners of canines to register the name and a description of the animal with the city clerk after paying the license. The dog must wear a metallic or leather collar with a metallic tag attached thereto with the number of year of registry stamped thereon.

"Any person who furnishes information leading to the arrest and conviction of one who keeps or harbors any dog in violation of this section shall receive one-half of the fine levied from any person so convicted," the ordinance reads. The dog catcher is to receive 50 per cent of all the fees received from the dog licenses in addition to other emoluments which attach to the office.

An amendment to rule 32 of section 325 of the compiled ordinances was introduced by Alderman Harrison, which provides that no police officer shall be intoxicated while on or off duty or loitering about saloons except when he is in the performance of his duties.

The report of the building, light and fuel committee was adopted. It provides that all city lights be put on the moonlight schedule with the exception of two, and recommends the establishment and maintenance of lights at William street and Wheelock avenue, Seventh and Coal avenue and a third at Second and Hazeldeine.

HOW IT DIED.
The municipal ditch is officially dead but it did not expire without a struggle. Even in its death throes Alderman Hanley, chairman of the street and alley committee, Chairman Isherwood and the engineering department came to its rescue with a plea for a suspension of execution pending the completion of a profile map, which would give them an idea about how to provide for the care of surface and drainage water, which, they declared, is still carried off by the ditch.

For twenty years the ditch has existed; first usefully, last uselessly, as its enemies declared, but always offensively. "It is always stunk and stunk and still continues to stink and stink," a prominent lawyer stated in an exhaustive opinion as to the legal status of the ditch rendered several years ago, which was read at the council meeting last night.

Mr. Wilson addressed the council from the standpoint of a citizen who lives near the ditch. There was no denying that he had a world of material for a strenuous speech and he took advantage of every ounce of his subject matter. He declared the council had been getting around the ditch for a period of ten years and that the only way to abate the nuisance was to get busy then and there. He cited the disease breeding condition of the ditch and drew such a vivid picture of the offensive aqueduct that there was no getting around his grievance. Mr. Hanley moved that the resolution be amended to lay over until the city engineer could draw a profile map and figure out a practicable method of taking care of the flood water.

But the ditch was already as good as dead and Alderman Harrison's plea that the most sanitary method of disposing of the nuisance was to fill it with nice, clean gravel and sand, prevailed and the amendment was lost. The last crushing blow was struck and the ditch was dead.

The Harrison Amendment.
Much comment was indulged in about the streets today respecting the probable effect of Alderman Harrison's amendment to section 325 of the compiled ordinances of the city of Albuquerque respecting patrolmen and saloons. The sections declares that no officer shall while on duty or in uniform loiter in or about saloons or drink any intoxicating liquor or enter any saloon except when such officer is in the performance of his official duties.

The passage of this amendment would mean the practical cutting off of the only means of securing a patrolman when one is needed at the outskirts of the city as the city has but two night men and there is no method of summoning a peace guardian unless he happen to be within shouting distance, unless you telephone a saloon on Railroad avenue. "Alderman Harrison's amendment must have been fathered with a view to collecting any evils which might arise in the future," said a well known citizen this morning. "It certainly was not directed at present-day laxity with respect to policemen drinking while on or off duty, except in very rare instances. So far as present need is concerned the amendment appears to be directed at something which does not exist."

Alderman Harrison is reported to have admitted there was no present need for such an amendment to the ordinance, but some of his constituents are said to have urged him to draft the amendment which was presented to the council last night. In the event of its passage Chief McMullin's police alarms will become a double dyed necessity for the saloons will no longer be in close touch with the night patrolmen and the calls may be sent from remote localities for a patrolman when one is wanted at night.

Attorney's Fees Cause Wrangle.
Although the bill of Attorney Wilkerson had been O. K. ed by the property committee that gentleman last night presented it to the city council for further consideration because he said he wanted the council to act upon it as a whole.

The bill, which was for $125, caused considerable discussion, none of which could be called antagonistic to either Mr. Wilkerson or the bill. It was based upon the idea of one alderman that it was a bad precedent to establish and the inference of another that the bill was irregularly allowed by the committee, which appeared to have discussed the bill out of the regular order of such proceedings. Attention of the council was directed to the fact that the body had unanimously agreed that the city should pay for needed assistance to the city attorney at the time Wagner was under indictment on the ground that the dignity and rights of the city were in jeopardy. The city attorney agreed that the bill was very reasonable in view of the time Attorney Wilkerson devoted to the trial of the cases. The bill was finally allowed.

According to the records, Wagner shot at a man who resisted arrest, in the discharge of his official duties. He was arrested and locked up in old town. A number of charges were made against him.

Other Council Matters.
An amended ordinance defining the residence portion of the city was passed on its third reading.

The petition of certain property owners asking the council to order filled up several holes in an alley running north and south between Coal and Flaming avenues was referred to the street and alley committee.

Alderman Wilkerson introduced a measure, which was adopted, asking the city attorney to look up the matter of what proceeding is necessary to put street crossings at First, Second and Third streets, where they intersect Railroad Avenue, at First and Second streets on Gold avenue and Silver avenue.

Alderman Wilkerson announced that he would like to have the legislation committee and mayor committee meet with him at his office this morning to map out needed legislation and to attend to other matters.

The council adjourned at 9:45 o'clock.

COUNTY DIVISION OF SAN MIGUEL

QUORUM OF DIRECTORS OF LAS VEGAS COMMERCIAL CLUB PASS RESOLUTIONS.

The question of county division came up at the meeting of the directors of the Commercial club Saturday night and a resolution was passed by the few members of the board present to the effect that the club does not look with favor on the project of dividing the county on the Gallinas river, says the Las Vegas Optic. Several members present held that it was not a matter which should come before the directors, but five members demanded a vote on the question, which resulted in the adoption of the resolution.

Ten members of the club have demanded a mass meeting of the members of the association to be held next Friday night, when the matter will be taken up and the action of the board will either be ratified or annulled. A great deal of feeling has been aroused and the discussion on Friday night will probably be bitter.

The directors decided that a letter be written to President Ripley, of the Santa Fe railroad, by the club, asking for the restoration of adequate service on the Hot Springs branch. A committee was appointed to draft such letter. A committee was also appointed to prepare petitions to be signed by residents along and above the line who are affected, the petitions to be addressed to the city council, the board of town trustees and the board of county commissioners asking them to use every effort to see that better service is established on the Hot Springs line.

The following gentlemen were elected to membership in the club to date from the time of their application: M. M. Padgett, J. B. Martin, F. H. Hubbell, John C. Frith, J. C. Northcraft, J. P. Erickson, L. P. Rudolph, W. H. Erickson, Saul Rosenthal and Albert H. Jones.

CAPTAIN NISSEN APPEALS FOR HELP

Salvation Army Raising Funds
For Kingston Sufferers.
Their Need Is Great.

All persons who feel disposed to contribute in a financial way to the relief of the sufferers from the terrible earthquake at Kingston, Jamaica, may do so until Monday the 28th day of this month, through Capt. A. J. Nissen of the Salvation Army. This organization has a branch in that city and is directly in touch with the sufferers individually. Capt. Nissen says that at the time of the San Francisco disaster Wm. R. Hearst of the New York American contributed to the sufferers there through the Salvation Army the sum of $11,000, his object in so doing being to get around any red tape or political delays which might ensue through other channels. The army points with pride to the fact that the distribution of this large sum of money cost exactly six dollars and that every penny of the contribution found its way to the relief of some person, whose condition of individual welfare is known to those having the matter in charge. It is not expected that the captain's request will be instrumental in the procurement of any large sum from the citizens of Albuquerque but the territory over which his organization reaches and the universality of the efforts being made, it is believed will result in the aggregate to an important sum of money for the relief of the stricken city, whose needs at this time approach a condition which justifies the use of the term desperate.

FRATERNAL ORDERS LINE UP FOR NEW CEMETERY

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS AND A. O. U. W. DRAFT RESOLUTIONS AND APPOINT COMMITTEES.

The secret and fraternal orders which have chapters or lodges in Albuquerque are taking up the matter of establishing a co-operative cemetery instigated by Harmony lodge No. 1, I. O. O. F., last Friday night. Last night at the regular meetings of the Knights of Pythias and Ancient Order of United Workmen resolutions similar to those passed by Harmony lodge No. 1, I. O. O. F., were drawn up and passed and committees appointed to confer with the representatives of other lodges.

The committee appointed by the Knights of Pythias is composed of M. K. Preston, chairman, and Members J. E. Elder and C. O. Young.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen appointed J. H. Shulbarger chairman of its committee, and Theodore Kings and George Geigold members.

Committees of three lodges are now ready to take up the cemetery matter with those representing the other lodges, so soon as they will have been appointed.

Members of both committees report that their lodges are unanimously in favor of establishing the new cemetery. They are optimistic of the prospect for the organization and incorporation of a cemetery association which will be controlled by board elected by lodge representatives.

SHE WANTS THINGS DONE TO HER ARRAST SPOUSE

MRS. JOSE GONZALES MAKES THREE COMPLAINTS AGAINST HUSBAND, WHO IS IN JAIL.

Jose Gonzales, a sub-agent for the Singer sewing machine people, was arrested by Patrolman Salazar, at the direction of Chief McMullin, this morning, upon several complaints sworn to by his wife, charging him with wife abandonment, assault on wife and she further wants him put under bond to keep the peace.

Gonzales was lodged in the city jail pending trial this afternoon before Judge Crawford. The complaints were sworn out before Judge Crawford yesterday afternoon. Judge Adams has been retained by Mrs. Gonzales to prosecute the cases against her husband.

According to reports, Gonzales is in the habit of raising what is known in street parlance as a "rough house." Mrs. Gonzales alleges that he frequently beats her and maltreats her. She declares she has become tired of this sort of domestic life and she wants something done to her arrest (with apologies to the Second Fiddler) spouse which will relieve her from his brutalities.

The Gonzales family resides in the Chinuhua section of the city.

PRISONERS SAW AWAY BARRIER AND TWO GET AWAY, BUT ONE DIES—SPACE WAS TOO SMALL.

Impaled on an iron bar, which he, with the aid of two fellow prisoners, had sawed asunder in order to make an escape from jail, the body of J. Miller, a section hand, imprisoned for drunkenness, was found hanging from a window on the second floor of the city jail, says a dispatch from Amarillo, Texas.

Miller, with E. Jones and Roy Thompson, of Buffalo, N. Y., all confirmed cocaine users, had been confined in the hospital ward of the jail. The ward contained a window protected by heavy three-inch bars.

Driven frantic by the desire for the drug to which they were addicted, the men planned to break out. Through the aid of a file which had been smuggled in to them, they sawed one of the bars in two, making a space large enough for a small man to crawl through. Jones and Thompson got through safely. Miller had got half his body and one arm out of the window, when he found himself unable to go any further, and his struggles brought on an attack of heart disease. His limp body, resting heavily on the pointed point of the spike, caused the iron to enter his body to some depth, killing him.

The Scranton Schools have a special window display in Schutt's Candy store.

CAPITAL CITY CHURCH ON FIRE

First Presbyterian Edifice at Santa Fe Sustains Fire
With Little Damage.

What might have proved a most destructive fire was discovered by passers-by on Sunday afternoon in the basement of the First Presbyterian church of Santa Fe. The blaze was caused by a defective flue from a furnace recently installed under the auditorium proper, the damage being confined to the destruction of a few floor beams and a portion of the new carpet. In all, the omission will not exceed the sum of $300, fully covered by insurance.

The fire started at a time when the streets were filled with people either on their way toward or returning from the band concert in the plaza, and one of those preceding issues of smoke from the building gave the alarm at the manse nearby, with the result that water from a single hose, quickly applied, quenched the blaze.

The new pipe organ sustained no damage and no inconvenience was caused other than the omission of the evening service, on account of the smoke with which the building was filled. The interior decorations, which it was feared might be injured, remain unharmed.

Miller, with E. Jones and Roy Thompson, of Buffalo, N. Y., all confirmed cocaine users, had been confined in the hospital ward of the jail. The ward contained a window protected by heavy three-inch bars.

Driven frantic by the desire for the drug to which they were addicted, the men planned to break out. Through the aid of a file which had been smuggled in to them, they sawed one of the bars in two, making a space large enough for a small man to crawl through. Jones and Thompson got through safely. Miller had got half his body and one arm out of the window, when he found himself unable to go any further, and his struggles brought on an attack of heart disease. His limp body, resting heavily on the pointed point of the spike, caused the iron to enter his body to some depth, killing him.

The Scranton Schools have a special window display in Schutt's Candy store.

OF INTEREST TO ALL GROWERS OF WOOL

Address of E. S. Gosney, of Arizona Wool Growers' Association Delivered at

NATIONAL WOOL GROWERS MEETING IN SALT LAKE

Subject: How Can We Make Our Association More Beneficial to the Wool Industry?

Every wool grower in this convention knows that within the next few years must be fought out and settled for us or against us, many of the questions on which our future prosperity depends; bad railroad service, unjust and inequitable freight rates; legislation, state and national, affecting live stock sanitary conditions, the public range and other matters; wasteful, impractical and insane methods of handling and marketing wool and mutton; and last but not least, the agitation of tariff revision in which the demand for free raw material, free wool, free hides, etc., is being pressed with all the quiet force and ability that the well organized, well equipped and powerful association of the manufacturing interests are capable of.

Are we properly organized and prepared to defend our rights in these questions? For more than forty years a small per cent of the wool growers have sustained this organization and guarded the interests of this industry. The membership of this association has shifted from the east to the west, but the majority of wool growers knew little of its work, of the dangers that threatened their prosperity, and the defense of their interests made by and through the association.

The effective work of this association throughout its existence has been hampered and retarded by two problems, as yet unsolved; first, how can the financial necessities of the work be met? Second, how can the intelligent, thinking, influential wool growers throughout the United States be reached and organized in the work of the association.

There are more than $80,000 different individuals, companies, and corporations in the United States of America engaged in the business of sheep breeding and wool growing. More than 5,000,000 people are directly interested in it, and wholly or partially dependent upon the income from this great industry. The eastern farmer with his little flock in the pasture is not directly interested in the question of grazing on the public domain as we are, but is there another question affecting generally the industry, or considered and guarded by this association in which his interest, and ours, are not identical? We cannot expect these farmers, or even the great majority of the smaller owners of sheep throughout the western ranges to attend these meetings. Yet they are as deeply interested in the protection of the industry, and the work of this organization as we who are here today. Their home life and the comforts and luxuries of their families and the advantages they may give their children will be as much affected by its continued prosperity or its adversity. It is the protection of the financial foundation of more than a million homes.

I need not say to you, gentlemen, that if the National Wool Growers' Association were to lose these million homes, or a large per cent of the more influential part of them, in a way that they could always be reliable advised of the work of the association for their protection, we would have the hearty cooperation and support not only of them but of their friends, the men they employ, and the men with whom they come in contact in business, and whose business is affected by their prosperity or their adversity. We would have the support of the entire wool growing community on any question that was reasonable, just, and fair to the general interests of the country, and our rights, and our representatives would have attention in the halls of congress.

I am throwing no bouquets when I say, the wool growers of the west, as a whole, are of the highest type of intelligence, business ability, and good citizenship. We believe this statement will hold true among the sheep farms of the states farther east, especially just now, for the men of the best business foresight are usually found engaged in a profitable enterprise during times of its prosperity. If this is true, the task of reaching them and securing their cooperation; and holding their interest should not be an insurmountable problem. You can always attract the notice of the man who is awake to his own interest.

We can not bring them to our conventions, time and distance forbid; yet nothing can be done to secure their support without some means by which these men will be advised, from an absolutely reliable source, of the conditions affecting the industry, and of what is being done by the association for their protection. There is but one medium through which this can be done, and that is by a wool growers' paper, published in the interests of the National Wool Growers' Association, for the use and benefit, financially and otherwise, of the sheep and wool industry, and directed by the best editorial talent that money can hire; a paper which shall start out upon the highest principles and maintain them from start to finish; with every statement it makes, every principle it advocates, emphasizing the motto engraven on its title page, "A Square Deal." When this standard is established, no intelligent wool grower can afford to be without it, and no business wishing to reach sheep men can afford not to advertise in its columns.

We have discussed an "official organ" before and balked at this problem, how can such a paper be started and so maintained that it will at all times have the entire confidence and united hearty support of the wool growers and good citizens of our country? On what plan can such a paper be started and maintained so that it will at least twelve times each year, go to this great army of intelligent citizens on the farms and ranges and advise them, in plain, candid words (unbiased by personal interests, by market combinations or speculation), of the conditions and of the markets; advise them of the conflicts in the legislative halls and elsewhere in which their prosperity is threatened and their rights and business protected; that will keep them in touch with all the work of the National Wool Growers' Association and secure for that association their support in a way that will lift it above its two most embarrassing problems? This association cannot issue and successfully manage such a paper. It is not properly organized for such an enterprise. No scheme whereby any outside party, individual or company, would control the policy or reap the profits of such a publication will succeed as it should. The requisite public confidence. It must be purely cooperative. Every subscribing wool grower must feel that he is a part of the organization and shares in its success. Such an organ must be controlled by, and run in the interest financially and otherwise, of the wool growers of the United States, and of every state east and west, north and south. The question of any person controlling or participating in the profits of the publication must be eliminated. It must be issued by an organization of men interested in, and identified with the sheep and wool-growing industry, and the work of this association.

We submit for your earnest consideration the following plan: We should have a reliable business organization and sufficient funds in sight to start and maintain this organ as a high class journal until it is on a paying basis. We must not be pinched for funds. The press work can be satisfactorily and economically done by contract, but we will need money to pay the salaries and expenses of our editorial staff and representatives in presenting the proposition to the wool growers of the country and securing their cooperation and support. Suppose, then, we organize and incorporate "The National Wool Growers' Co.," with an authorized capital stock of $100,000, divided into 10,000 shares of $10 each. Let the articles of incorporation provide that on one not actually engaged in the business of wool growing shall hold or vote any share of such stock; that no one person or firm shall own, control, or vote, more than five shares of such stock; (this will forever preclude the possibility of the control of the corporation passing out of the hands of the wool growers), that for each share of stock sold and paid for, the holder thereof shall receive a bond or share of preferred stock of the company for $100, drawing interest from date until paid, and be paid out of the first surplus funds of the corporation. Proceed to place this stock among the most progressive and influential wool growers of the National Wool Growers' Association until a safe working capital is subscribed. Call in, say, twenty-five per cent of the stock subscribed to begin with, and the balance from time to time as needed until the enterprise is self-supporting. My judgment is, we would need but a small per cent of $100,000 for such expenses before the paper would be self-sustaining. Let your corporation be organized, a board of directors and officers elected to sell a few shares of the reserve stock to influential representatives of the industry further east until the company is represented by reliable and well known wool growers in all parts of the country. Let it be clearly and definitely provided in the articles of incorporation that there shall never be any dividends declared upon the stock of this company, but all income over and above the payment of the bonds and expenses of the corporation shall, from time to time, be appropriated and used for the benefit of the sheep and wool growing industry of the United States. It will be seen that these stock subscriptions are, in fact, a loan to the enterprise and that this great asset has been secured by Manager Matson to appear at the Elks' opera house on Monday night, Jan. 28. Tickets sold at Matson's Saturday morning, at 9 o'clock.

Suppose, then, we organize and incorporate "The National Wool Growers' Co.," with an authorized capital stock of $100,000, divided into 10,000 shares of $10 each. Let the articles of incorporation provide that on one not actually engaged in the business of wool growing shall hold or vote any share of such stock; that no one person or firm shall own, control, or vote, more than five shares of such stock; (this will forever preclude the possibility of the control of the corporation passing out of the hands of the wool growers), that for each share of stock sold and paid for, the holder thereof shall receive a bond or share of preferred stock of the company for $100, drawing interest from date until paid, and be paid out of the first surplus funds of the corporation. Proceed to place this stock among the most progressive and influential wool growers of the National Wool Growers' Association until a safe working capital is subscribed. Call in, say, twenty-five per cent of the stock subscribed to begin with, and the balance from time to time as needed until the enterprise is self-supporting. My judgment is, we would need but a small per cent of $100,000 for such expenses before the paper would be self-sustaining. Let your corporation be organized, a board of directors and officers elected to sell a few shares of the reserve stock to influential representatives of the industry further east until the company is represented by reliable and well known wool growers in all parts of the country. Let it be clearly and definitely provided in the articles of incorporation that there shall never be any dividends declared upon the stock of this company, but all income over and above the payment of the bonds and expenses of the corporation shall, from time to time, be appropriated and used for the benefit of the sheep and wool growing industry of the United States. It will be seen that these stock subscriptions are, in fact, a loan to the enterprise and that this great asset has been secured by Manager Matson to appear at the Elks' opera house on Monday night, Jan. 28. Tickets sold at Matson's Saturday morning, at 9 o'clock.

quire us to pay two or three cents a pound freight on dirt and grease in our heavy wools, instead of scouring them at home and shipping the clean wool at a fair freight rate. Nothing less than a united effort will down that and similar outrageous burdens, with which we have grown so familiar that we bear them and pay the tribute without notice.

It is no part of the purpose of this plan to encroach upon the prosperity of any other sheep, wool or livestock paper which has heretofore been our friend. Should we reach the degree of success which would justify a fear of such encroachment it would be wise for us to absorb such publication at a fair consideration. As representatives of this great industry, we should be generous and fair to any old friends, but at the same time the protection and advancement of the interests of the five millions of men, women and children of this country engaged in wool growing cannot hesitate on the threshold of success because some old friend throws up his hands and declares it will cost him a few thousand of the past or prospective profits of his business with the sheep industry. The lack of such a paper and unity of support costs the industry hundreds of thousands every year.

PAUL GILMORE, IN "AT YALE,"

SOON TO APPEAR HERE.

Paul Gilmore, since his ascendancy to stardom, has never been accused of doing anything poorly in the way of a play, but in contrasting his efforts for the coming season with that which is serving as his vehicle the present year, it must be conceded that in "At Yale" he has hit upon the happiest play of his career, fitting him like a glove. "At Yale," as it is to be inferred, is a story of college life. Of course there is a boat race, and of course the Yale crew wins. Mr. Gilmore has the role of the hero, to which he is suited physically—for in a boat race there must be a display of the many forms of the contestants—and otherwise. The play is in three acts. It all centers about the race between the Yale and Harvard crews. There is a love story, to be sure, and Gilmore not only is the determining factor in the victory that comes to his school, but also he is successful in his quest for the hand of the girl of his choice. The play is the story of his deepest college chum. The story is prettily told and most beautifully interpreted, for Mr. Gilmore has surrounded him a company of exceptional strength. A feature of the crowd of handsome young fellows who make up the rowing crews. They sing college songs and give college yells with a zeal and naturalness that carries one back to the days when he lived through these happiest of times in the lives of young men who have passed through the joyous period of college life. The play is handsomely staged—in fact, it was one of the best of the season's productions of the season.

The above is a clipping from the Little Rock, Ark., Gazette. This great actor has been secured by Manager Matson to appear at the Elks' opera house on Monday night, Jan. 28. Tickets sold at Matson's Saturday morning, at 9 o'clock.

A SERMON FOR MARRIED FOLK

A powerful sermon—outside the pulpit—was preached at Council Bluffs, Iowa, the other day. It was spoken by Grant Ballantine. Mr. Ballantine and his wife were divorced several months ago. On this occasion they were being married again. The groom said:

"We saw each other's virtues only after we were separated, and I trust that we have fully learned the lesson of self-denial and unselfishness. A truly fine acknowledgment. It is all too much the human way to magnify the faults of others and minimize their virtues. It is a bad way. And the disposition is at the bottom of much of the misery of married life.

This couple—like many another—saw each other's virtues after the mischief was done. But unlike many another couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ballantine permitted no false pride to stand in the way of a recovery from the mistake.

Mr. Ballantine, continuing, said: "Misunderstandings will no doubt arise in the future—age and experience warn us against looking for the juvenile lovers' paradise—but we hope to be able to settle our differences in a dignified and dispassionate manner."

It is safe to say that there will be no second divorce of this couple. They have learned their lesson—that true marriage is based on mutual esteem and forbearance. "We only saw each other's virtues after we were separated."

That is the sermon. We are, all of us, a mixture of virtues and faults. But there is a lot of good in all of us. To be able to see the good and overlook the fault—and there's your secret of happiness.

Your wife, Mr. Married Man, is over and above her faults, worthy to be loved for her virtues. Your husband, Mrs. Married Woman, over and above his weaknesses, has a lot of good in him. "If there be any merit, think of these things."—St. Paul News.

IS SPRECKLES RAILWAY A SANTA FE

Project Which He Is Building West into Arizona From San Diego?

Can it be possible that the Spreckles railroad project from San Diego, east to somewhere on the Colorado river, is in reality a Santa Fe project and that it will be taken over by that system at the proper stage of the proceedings?

That intimation has been thrown out by railroad men who know something about what is doing in railway circles in this part of the state, and to some people, who have studied the matter, it does not seem at all improbable.

It is pointed out that when Spreckles built the San Joaquin Valley railroad that it was later turned over to the Santa Fe for its San Francisco line, and that it is not impossible that the same proceeding may be followed in the San Diego line.

While the Santa Fe may not actually be furnishing the cash to build the line, it is hinted that an agreement may exist whereby that system will be assured of the line when the time is ripe for taking it over.

Possible Connection.

The Santa Fe is now building a line west in Arizona from near Wickenburg, and it has been said this line would connect with the present main line at Bagdad, or near there. The intimation is now that instead of swinging north after crossing the Colorado river it would bend to the south and connect with the Spreckles line and thus provide a through short line to San Diego.

This would give the Santa Fe a direct line straight into San Diego, and with less heavy grades than by way of the present line. And it would be possible to put on a line of oriental steamers from that harbor to be operated by the Santa Fe-Pennsylvania system which seems to be a thing of the near future.

And regarding this latter a Philadelphia dispatch of a few days ago says:

Pennsylvania Plan.

"Although a 4 per cent break in the quotations of Pennsylvania railroad stock came Saturday in the midst of the company's proposition to issue $200,000,000 additional securities, financiers and railroad men were optimistic late in the day and there arose the belief that the floating means the formation of a Pennsylvania trunk system from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

"From time to time in the last four months there have been reports that this trans-continental line would be the next forward step of the Pennsylvania, so in seeking a reason for the new issue of securities this reported plan was brought out again, despite the fact that the company's officials positively declared the issue of stocks and bonds means nothing extraordinary.

"Mr. Frick was looked upon as the man who is hastening along the Pennsylvania trans-continental system. A director in the Pennsylvania, he is at the same time a director in the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, the one road needed to carry the Pennsylvania across the Mississippi and into that vast territory beyond to the Pacific coast.

"When the Pennsylvania sold its Baltimore & Ohio shares, it was said that there was an understanding that they should pass to Harriman, who needed the Baltimore & Ohio to complete his trunk line system from the Atlantic to the Pacific in conjunction with the Reading and the Union Pacific. The Pennsylvania, it is said, was to have in return the Atchison, to carry out its supposed plans for a trunk line from sea to sea, and its new capital is free for the Atchison deal."

CONTRACT LET FOR SANTA FE TUNNEL.

Statistics of the United States show that the freight traffic today averages only sixteen miles in twenty-four hours. The crush of traffic has been so great that the Santa Fe has been straining every nerve to average this rate. The necessity for better facilities for crossing the mountain and relieving the congestion of freight at this particular point have forced the much contemplated improvement by piercing the mountain with a new tunnel.

The contract has been let and work ordered to commence about February 15. The new tunnel will be many feet lower than the old double-tracked, electric-lighted, exhaust fans to relieve it of smoke, making it one of the best in the country. The old tunnel will be timbered with all improvements possible to facilitate traffic. The new tunnel will be used for west-bound freight and the old one for east-bound.

The congestion from La Junta alone to El Paso is 400 cars, and with over seventy engines in process of repairs at Topeka, it is a serious problem confronting the dispatchers.

Larrazolo, which are the answers from Delegate Andrews in the matter of the delegate election contest. Arthur C. igh, the commercial traveler, who headquarters are in this city, came from the west this morning. It is the opinion of Mr. Cavanaugh that the western section of Arizona will prove a most profitable one, the coming spring and summer for stock raisers, especially sheep men. The valleys and mountain sides are even at this time covered with good grass, the result of copious rains and a few slight snows, and stock men are feeling jubilant over the exceedingly bright prospects.

The Chinks will be delivered over to the captain of a China-bound vessel, who will sign receipts for them.

It is worth considerable to any citizen of Albuquerque to know how to be cured of painful, annoying and itching piles. Know that Doan's Ointment is a positive remedy for all itches of the skin, for piles, eczema, etc. One application relieves and soothes. Read this testimony of its merit:

J. H. Croes, of 523 South First street, employed in the Santa Fe shops, in the mill department, says: "Exposure and sitting on damp logs and cold stones while in the mountains some three months ago, brought on itching hemorrhoids. More commonly they are called piles. While not severe or serious they were very annoying and I put off doing anything to get relief until compelled to. I finally procured Doan's Ointment. The first application gave relief and in a short time I was practically cured. I have great confidence in this remedy for what it did for me. I never used anything which was so soothing and healing. I recommend it to others and know they will not be disappointed in the results if they give it a trial."

Home Insurance the Best

WE CANNOT refrain from again saying something about Home Insurance. Every time that the proposition presents itself of the tremendous amount of money that is being sent out of New Mexico and Arizona for life insurance to eastern cities, the conviction comes home with increased force that a home company ought to be patronized and the money remain in the West.

The revelations of the past year of the way the enormous surplus of the big Eastern companies has been handled and speculated with ought to emphasize the fact that the people of the West should stop pouring their money into Eastern channels when it can be placed in home insurance, and every dollar of it kept and invested at home.

It is gratifying to note that home insurance is year by year receiving more and more its just deserts. Statistics show that during the past year home companies far exceeded foreign companies in the amount of business written. Why cannot this same record be made here? It can if every individual who takes out a policy the coming year will carefully weigh the proposition of the value it is to keep his insurance at home before he puts his name to the application of any insurance company.

The Occidental Life Insurance Company of New Mexico and Arizona is owned and controlled by the leading business men of the two territories, and offers exceptional opportunities to ambitious and capable men and women to sell its policies.
