The Sabbath, after visiting a while, arrived in Kilauea Iki in the same old-growth which we found. As before, it was extraordinarily xerophytic, the same as the one at the summit.

The following, after visiting the lava fields at the rim, presented a very different appearance and seemed very satisfactory. The present state of the Kilauea will be explained.

Many observers remark that if the rim became levelly the loss of conformational material and shows confidence in the principle by appearing into frequency on the streets of his capital, his position will become may not even aggressive, since there is no

PRESIDENT PRAISES MAN BEHIND THE GUN

Address to Young Men's Christian Association High Tribute to Work of Organization in Army.

[By Morning Journal Special Tensed Wire]
Washington, Dec. 17.—President Roosevelt attended a dinner given tonight in honor of the enlisted men of the army and navy by the local Y. M. C. A.

The president, in an address, declared that the soldier or sailor who performs his duty well is entitled to a double measure of praise that never can be obtained by a private citizen. He also praised the work of the Y. M. C. A.

One hundred uniformed men from the ranks, specially chosen as deserving the honor, were present.

Among the notables present were Major General J. Franklin Bell, chief of staff of the army; Colonel A. P. Hatfield, Major General George T. Elliott and Lieutenant Commander G. H. Burrage.

The president spoke as follows: "I have an immense sympathy for the Y. M. C. A. work. I sympathize with many different branches of that work, for none do I have quite the sympathy that I have for the work done among the enlisted men of the army and navy. I feel that you are the uniform of the United States at home and abroad and have on you a burden of responsibility, and indeed for the honor of the country which on the one hand imposes upon you a standard of conduct which we demand from no other class of our citizens, and on the other hand entitles you to a measure of respect and regard such as we have for no other class of our citizens."

One of the reasons why I have a strong feeling for the Y. M. C. A. is because of my firm belief that the proper way to keep anybody out of mischief is to give him, when he has no work, something to do that is good and at the same time to provide him with nothing but the means with which to do it. The Y. M. C. A. and kindred institutions offer to the young men of the country the chance while leading decent lives, to have healthy amusement, to benefit themselves in mind and in body and to enjoy the pleasures that add to the joy of taking away from good citizens."

The men of the army and navy have a peculiarly difficult, as well as a responsible task. The average citizen has got to take care of himself only, and finds that difficult enough. You have got to take care of your own and the nation, too. If you fall short in your duty you are not to be excused, because you are discredited not only upon the uniform but upon the whole country. If you perform your duty well, a double measure of honor attaches to you, a measure of honor which can never be attained by the citizen in private life, because in the fullest and most emphatic sense you who do your duty well deserve well of the entire republic."

LEMON GROWERS WANT TARIFF PROTECTION

Washington, Dec. 17.—The department of agriculture is not opposed to the proposed increase of the duty on lemons. This department in correspondence between A. G. Koball, secretary of the Citrus Producers League of California, and Secretary Wilson. The former called attention to a notification to the effect that the department of agriculture was inclined to the requests being made before the ways and means committee for the increased duty.

Secretary Wilson replied: "No official of this department or any official in connection with it is holding anything that could be construed as having to do with the interests of the citrus fruit growers. On the other hand, through the work of Mr. Powell and others in the bureau of plant industry, they were cooperating with lemon growers and shippers of California in every way in helping to build up a permanent American industry."

ed an investigation into the cause of the death of six members of Mrs. Kelleher's family during the last three years.

The specific charge against Mrs. Kelleher is that of poisoning, but the police called the attention of the district attorney to reports which were in circulation as to the deaths of her family. It is insurance on the lives of the deceased when was paid to Mrs. Kelleher. The persons who have died were Mrs. Kelleher's son, two daughters, husband and two sisters-in-law.

Mrs. Kelleher is accused of setting fire to the house of A. J. Lucell, of Cambridge.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM LEAGUE HIGHLY ELATED

Pleased With Executive Order Putting Minor Postmasters in Classified List.

Pittsburg, Dec. 17.—Delegates to the twenty-eighth annual convention of the National Civil Service Reform League, which opened today, are highly elated over the recent executive granting a large number of fourth class postmasters the protection of the merit system. The president of the league, Joseph H. Choate, former United States ambassador to England, was instrumental in telegraphing President Roosevelt congratulations on his recent order in aid of civil service reform.

The report of the journal of the National Civil Service Reform League was submitted by Richard H. Deane, of Boston, chairman of the council. He told of the success of the council in defeating the patronage provision of the Frankfurter census bill at the last session of congress, but regretted that the house last week had passed a census bill with spoils provisions. Referring to the protection recently given fourth class postmasters, north of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi, the report expressed the hope that all such postmasters will soon have the same protection.

Reports of progress were made on behalf of these cities: Buffalo, Denver, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, and on behalf of these states: Connecticut, Maryland, Indiana and Massachusetts.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalence of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that afflict the human body, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physician, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It cures the inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or had effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle, and a book that tells all about it, by sending three cents by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

ALLEGES GONZALES SHOT AT HIM

Native of Land of Manana Bound Over to Grand Jury on Complaint of Pedro Gutierrez Who Won't Be a Target.

On complaint of Pedro Gutierrez, Fidel Gonzales, a native of Old Mexico, was bound over to the grand jury in bond of $250 after a hearing before Justice of the Peace George H. Craig at 4 o'clock last evening. The charge being assault with a deadly weapon, Gutierrez says he was passing along South First street when he passed Gonzales talking to a woman. He said Gonzales declared that he (Gutierrez) was stopping to listen, and drawing a revolver, took one consecutive shot at him. Being aware of not being hit for any person, Gutierrez turned and saw a warrant and Gonzales was arrested.

SCATHING REBUKE TO ACCUSED ARMY OFFICERS

Washington, Dec. 17.—A stinging rebuke to ten army officers is contained in a general order signed today by General Franklin Bell, chief of staff, publishing the names of the officers in the case of Colonel Charles G. French, tried by court martial at Fort Wayne, Mich., in connection with the loss of the ship. The order sentenced Colonel French to suspension from command for one month and to be reprimanded.

General Bell's order says the record shows that Colonel French failed in the performance of his duties as commander in chief of the public property has been appropriated to unauthorized use. "The sentence is deemed salutary," the order says.

In the case of Captain French, whose sentence of dismissal was commuted by the president to reduction of fifty days in rank, the order says that instead of punishing the public interests, Captain French not only permitted unauthorized issues of forage to be made, but willfully participated in misappropriation of public property.

NAILED HIS WILL TO BOTTOM OF WASH TUB

Boston, Dec. 17.—Enclosed in a red envelope and nailed securely to the bottom of a wash tub the will of the late Patrick Monahan of Charlestown, disposing of property valued at $250,000 was found today and offered for probate. When he died last fall he left no will, and his estate was in doubt.

Robbers Hold Up Fast Train Near Portland.

Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company Loses Contents of Safe to Daring Bandits.

[By Morning Journal Special Tensed Wire]
Portland, Ore., Dec. 17.—Oregon Railroad and Navigation train No. 1, known as the "Chicago-Portland special," was held up and the express car dynamited by four unmasked robbers shortly after a o'clock tonight, and miles east of Portland. Express Messenger O. H. Huff said the robbers secured little of value. The robbers did not molest the passengers but occupied the express car and ordered the engineer to take it down the track toward Portland. About a mile beyond the point where the train was held up the doors of the express car were shattered by nitro glycerine. The train did not carry a through safe, a small local safe and a strong box being the only receptacles for valuables.

The robbers compelled Express Messenger Huff to open the small safe. It contained but three or four small packages, which are believed to have been of small value. The strong box was not touched. The robbers escaped.

TRAFFIC MANAGERS TO DISCUSS FREIGHT RATES

New York, Dec. 17.—The vice presidents and general managers of the Eastern trunk line railroads met and discussed the proposed advance in freight rates. Two subcommittees were appointed to seek a solution of the difficulties in the way of the increase in such as the objection of the shippers and the disagreements among the railroads as to the amount of the proposed advance. It is not regarded as probable that the proposed new tariffs will be decided before January 1.

The extension of the Canadian traffic dispatch "rail" fast freight line to New York City by way of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, has been taken up by the French line association. The chairman of the association said it was a matter demanding immediate attention and that the French interests would probably try to make the New York, New Haven and Hartford see the error of its way by the use of moral suasion. He declared positively that there would be no rate cutting, but because of the invasion of the trunk line territory by the Canadian company.

BILLIONS NEEDED TO IMPROVE RAILROADS

Houston, Dec. 17.—The past and future of railroad growth in the United States was presented in an address before the Commercial club tonight by William C. Brown, of New York, senior vice president of the New York Central line.

Mr. Brown predicted that in fifteen years there would be a population of 125,000,000 in the country, and that $7,500,000,000 would have to be expended for increasing and improving railroad facilities.

NEWSPAPER MEN HALED TO COURT BY JOHN D., JR.

Young Rockefeller Takes Exception to Story in New York American and Swears Out Warrants.

(By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire) New York, Dec. 17.—On a charge of criminal libel, made by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., S. S. Carvalho, president of the Star company, publishers of William H. Hearst's New York American, was arrested today and arraigned in police court before Magistrate Finn. At the solicitation of Clarence J. Shearn, attorney for the Hearst publications, and without any objection being raised on the part of Assistant District Attorney Garvin, who had charge of the prosecution, Mr. Carvalho was paroled in the custody of his lawyer until December 26.

Mr. Rockefeller, accompanied by his counsel, Lawyer Murphy, appeared in District Attorney Garvin's office early in the day and made complaint that the article published in the New York American of December 16, under a Chicago date of December 15, with the headline, "J. D. Rockefeller, Jr. originated peonage in stockade," is libelous, and that it is untrue.

He submitted a typewritten affidavit embodying these charges to Assistant District Attorney Garvin, to whom the case was assigned. On the presentation of the affidavits to Magistrate Finn, he issued warrants for the arrest of Bradford Merrill, treasurer of the Star company, and Mr. Carvalho. Mr. Carvalho was found in his office. He took his arrest good naturedly. Merrill and Clark were not in their office.

Mr. Rockefeller said tonight: "I not only have no connection with the company in question, but until I read the article this morning I was not aware that such a company existed. The article states that I went to Chicago a few months ago and talked of the system of peonage, complained of. Now, as a matter of fact, I have not been in Chicago since the death of President Harper of the University of Chicago, a year ago last January."

Bradford Merrill, treasurer of the Star company, explained that the article at which Mr. Rockefeller had taken offense had come from Chicago in the regular routine way, and it had not originated in New York and investigation will be started at once. "If we find that we have wronged Mr. Rockefeller," said Mr. Merrill, "we will, of course, do everything in our power to atone for it."

AUTHORITIES PROBE ALLEGED PEONAGE SYSTEM
Chicago, Dec. 17.—The story of an alleged peonage system and stockade at Summit, a town thirty miles from Chicago, is under investigation by the district attorney. Those who brought the charges declare that the stockade surrounding the plant is thirty feet high, that workmen are practically kept prisoners, that they were kept in debt to their employers and some of them escaped to tell their story only by digging a tunnel under the stockade.

The officials of the plant deny the charges, declaring it to be the result of spite work. They assert they have taken only such precautions as will protect them against labor troubles and against strangers entering their premises without authority. A number of witnesses consulted with the district attorney today, and it is expected that any action that might be taken will be announced within a few days.

TAFT LEAVES FOR VACATION IN GEORGIA

President-Elect. Holds Final Conference With President Roosevelt Before Starting South.

(By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire) Washington, Dec. 17.—At the request of President Roosevelt, President-Elect Taft came to Washington from New York today and passed two hours in conference with the president at the White House.

The president said word to Mr. Taft that he earnestly desired to see him and wished him to stop off in Washington long enough to take lunch at the White House in order that some matters in which the president wanted Mr. Taft's advice might be discussed. With the president-elect came his brother, C. P. Taft, and on the train he met Secretary Strauss, with whom he talked for some time.

Mr. Taft arrived at the White House at the president's regular luncheon hour. As this was his last opportunity by the president, will have to discuss with Mr. Taft his trip, it is believed that subject occupied most of their time.

At the union station Mr. Taft was joined by his sons, Robert and Charles, and his brother, Horace G. Taft, and they accompanied him south.

The secretary's party also included Wendell Mitchell, Mr. Taft's assistant secretary, and a number of newspaper correspondents.

Mr. Taft and his party are due at Augusta, Ga., at 10:10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

TWO CRUISEERS TO CONVOY PRESIDENT-ELECT TO PANAMA
Charlottesville, Va., Dec. 17.—President-Elect Taft's visit to the White House today was at the request of President Roosevelt, who wished to consult with him regarding the details of the forthcoming trip to Panama, which Mr. Taft is to take.

While all of the arrangements have not been made, it was decided that the trip should be made with two cruisers of the navy. The start will be from Charleston, on January 10.

The decision to have two cruisers to convoy the president-elect is a precaution which has been suggested by certain senators on the grounds that there is no legal provision for a successor to the presidency in the event of a fatality overtaking a president-elect prior to his inauguration.

Further details of the Panama trip are to be worked out by President Roosevelt.

This information was made known by Mr. Taft, who passed through here on his way to Augusta tonight. It is probable that Admiral Soley, of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Fred P. Shreve, of Boston, will accompany Mr. Taft on his Panama trip. They are both civil engineers.

Senator Tillman, who went south on the same train, had a pleasant conversation with Mr. Taft during the trip.

FLOODS PARALYZE TRAFFIC ON COAST LINES
Thousand Feet of Santa Fe Track Gone at Winslow; Serious Damage Reported from Phoenix.

(By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire) Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 17.—The flood which has been raging in Salt River has subsided to some extent. The top of Roosevelt dam, which is ninety feet above the bed of the river, is now showing above the water, where a short time ago it was submerged. The lowest point of the dam, twenty-five feet above the river bed, is under five feet of water. Granite flood dam, which is 1,000 feet long, is under five feet of water, a recession of two feet from the high point. Cave Creek, which threatened this city with inundation, is subsiding. Considerable but not serious damage has been done to the canal system in the valley.

A thousand feet of the track of the Santa Fe railway at Winslow was washed out and no trains are passing in either direction.

PASSENGER TRAINS DELAYED BY WASHCUTS IN ARIZONA
Santa Fe passenger train No. 4, scheduled to reach here at 5:55 last night, did not reach here until 2:45 this morning, and No. 8, due here at 6:45 last night, was correspondingly late in arriving as the result of a heavy washout, which occurred early yesterday morning several miles east of Winslow.

Several hundred feet of track in the vicinity of the big bridge, three miles east of Winslow, was swept away and traffic was delayed ten hours on both sides of the washout until the track could be repaired.

According to reports received from Winslow and Holbrook, it has been raining steadily in Northern Arizona for the past three days. It rained such a downpour in Winslow Wednesday that the people of that town feared a repetition of the high water of last March.

The water flooded the roundhouse in Winslow, and the railroad men had great difficulty in getting to work. It is believed, however, that the worst of the flood is over, and that the elements will resume their normal conditions within a day or so.

Home cooking, home made candy, fancy work and other reasonable jobs and the place "The Woman's Club Bazaar," next Friday afternoon.

CEYLON'S GOVERNOR GIVES BANQUET TO AMERICANS

President Roosevelt Congratulated on Success of World Voyage by Colonial Executive

(By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire) Colombo, Ceylon, Dec. 17.—The officers of the American Embassy here, under Rear Admiral Soley, and 100 officials of Ceylon were entertained at dinner today by Governor Sir Henry Edward Maitland.

In the complimentary speech the governor proposed the toast of President Roosevelt, and Admiral Soley made a fitting reply. Attention was called to the fact that the fleet had been absent from Ceylon for the first time in 100 years.

The governor then proposed that President Roosevelt be declared the first president of the world, and Admiral Soley made a fitting reply.

WOMEN DESCRIBE HORRORS OF TOP BERTHS

Commerce Commission Hears Pullman Service Disparaged by Victims; Tipping Terrible Necessity.

(By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire) Chicago, Dec. 17.—The upper berth in a Pullman was further disparaged today when two women took the witness stand before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane, who is considering a plan that an upper berth should cost only half that of a lower.

The witness also affirmed that it is terrible to tip the porter, and that the porter being necessary to get any kind of service.

Mrs. Anna McNulty and Mrs. A. K. Vorewick, whose business calls for constant traveling, were the witnesses. They would never take an upper berth unless compelled to do so by force of circumstances, both agreeing that there is a deal of trouble in getting in and out of one, and that the ventilation is bad.

"In traveling by Pullman cars, do you find it necessary to tip the porter?" asked Attorney Hanahan.

"If it is an expense to get any service at all," answered Mrs. McNulty.

"How do you know?"

"On several occasions I did not have any change and when I failed to tip the porter I was obliged to carry my own luggage."

"How do you know about the service when you do not tip the porter?"

"I have learned by experience that the porter is impatient and will not give you the service you are entitled to unless you tip him. On long trips I always give a tip at the beginning as well as at the end of the trip."

Asked for an instance of discrimination against one who had neglected to tip the porter, Mrs. McNulty related the following:

"Last September, when I was coming from San Francisco to Chicago, I stopped off in Denver, and the porter helped me with my luggage. A lady with a small baby in the next section called several times for the porter, and I told him to leave my baggage and see what the woman wanted. He smiled and said there was no money in it and he paid no attention to her. I suppose she was unconvinced to her traveling and did not know how essential it is to tip the porter."

Commerce Commissioner Lane took the case, which specifically applies to rates between Chicago and St. Paul, under advisement, and left for Washington tonight. Two other cases involving the rates between Omaha and St. Paul, and St. Paul and Seattle, will be heard later.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES.
A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Albuquerque women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Back-aches, hip-aches, headaches, dizzy spells, drowsiness, urinary troubles, all of which indicate kidney disease, are the result of a weak kidney system.

Mrs. L. J. Ford, living at 410 South Third street, Albuquerque, N. M., says: "I suffered more or less from pains in my back for a long time, and when I would overexert myself or take cold, I suffered severely. That this trouble was due to kidney disease I had no doubt. In fact, I believe it was kidney disease in my case, as my father died with kidney disease. About a year ago Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were brought to my attention, and taking them for a short time I was absolutely relieved of the pain in my back and felt better in every way. The merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were so plainly demonstrated to me that I can with pleasure and confidence recommend them to others."

NATIONAL AMATEUR CLAY PIGEON TOURNAMENT

New York, Dec. 17.—T. A. Egan, of Cleveland, won the Amateur championship preliminary match at the opening of the national clay bird shoot at the Travlers Island trap of the New York Athletic club today.

Egan made a score of 36 out of a possible 100 birds. J. H. Hendrickson, of New York; William Ford, of Wilmington, Del.; and C. W. Billings, of New York, tied for second place with 24 birds each, and on the shoot-off Hendrickson captured the place with 25 straight hits, Billings winning 23 with 24.

The professionals were led by J. A. R. Egan, of Brooklyn, who broke 98 birds out of 100. J. S. Jordan, of Aberdeen, Md., was second with 92, and George Maxwell, of Holstein, Neb., was third with 81.

A MILESTONE IN HISTORY.

About a year ago there was held in Washington a convention composed of delegates from the five Central American republics called for the purpose of devising measures to put an end to the almost continuous wars and disturbances which have harassed and impoverished the little republics. This convention concluded a treaty of peace and provided for the adoption of several other necessary measures, among which was one that proposed and outlined the organization of a permanent international court of justice, jurisdiction over all the countries party to the convention, and to which should be submitted all questions of an international character. This court was to be composed of five justices, to be appointed by the respective legislative powers of the five republics, and was to sit at Guatemala, in Guatemala where Mr. Carnegie is now erecting an excellent building as a home for the court.

Promptly after the adjournment of the convention, the various nations were laid before the several congresses immediately interested, and were all duly ratified. The judges were appointed, and the court is now organized by the election of Judge Aguilar, of Costa Rica, as president or chief justice. Almost immediately after its organization the court was called upon to hear a dispute between Honduras and Nicaragua, on the one side, and Salvador and Guatemala on the other. And then "for the first time in the history of the world, a permanent court sat in judgment upon the acts of nations, an ordinary court sit upon the acts of individuals." After a full hearing of the case the matter was taken under advisement, and the decision of the court is to be handed down today, December 18th—being the first judgment of a permanent court of international jurisdiction ever rendered in the history of the world. It constitutes a distinguished landmark in the history of civilization and is a long step toward the era when war shall be reckoned as a relic of barbarism, and arbitration shall supersede the sword in the settlement of disputes between nations.

THE EXTRA SESSION.

Regarding the probable length of the extra session of congress, the Washington star notes the fact that Judge Taft was unable to give a definite reply to an invitation to visit the west next August. The suggestion is that having no time at this time on the extra session of congress he fears he may not be free to leave town then. If congress shall not have put up the shutters he is of course not at all.

If only the bill is taken up and the session closed, the end. The house will start with a great mass of material piled into the shape of a hill, and with that as a basis progress should be rapid. There will be a great deal of talk. All different questions, such as the tariff and the currency,

"We shall continue to hear annually of large numbers of marital separations. But within those large numbers lie our hope. The two sexes and their necessities and laws continuing side by side and wives continuing to make the same moral demands on husbands that husbands make on wives, man will be under the necessity of growing up to the height which woman has set as the goal, before the portals of blessed matrimony will open to him, before permission will be granted him to continue within that paradise, in the enjoyment of the partnership and the uplifting companionship of a devoted and affectionate wife."

The Kansas City Journal hands down this opinion: "Twenty-five thousand dollars is probably too large a sum, but the Brooklyn woman who was caught in the ropes of an ascending balloon and dangled by one foot for fifteen minutes above the heads of a large assembly of admiring spectators is certainly entitled to some thing."

NEW MEXICO SOON TO BECOME GREAT SUGAR PRODUCING STATE

Expert of the Beet Sugar Gazette Believes Future of Industry in This Part of the Southwest Is Bright If Individual Farmers Will Promptly Meet Necessary Conditions.

"Is New Mexico to become a sugar producing state?" is the question which Jesse H. Buffum attempts to answer in the current number of the "American Sugar Industry and Beet Sugar Gazette," the chief representative of the history of the country.

Mr. Buffum, who visited New Mexico and Albuquerque during the irrigation congress, prefaces his article appearing in the Morning Journal, "The Sixteenth National Irrigation Congress," with the following words: "The beet sugar industry, while for New Mexico it does not more than awaken the farmers to the possibilities of sugar beet raising," the article is illustrated by a view of a field of beets on the J. H. Bearup farm north of the city, says:

Is New Mexico to become a sugar producing state? The question was forced upon the attention of nearly everyone who attended the Sixteenth National Irrigation Congress recently held at Albuquerque, through the splendid display made by the territory at this exposition. Those in attendance at the congress witnessed unmistakable evidence of a great future for the coming state in the sugar industry; and because of this, it is deemed worth while to investigate the situation in behalf of The American Sugar Industry and Beet Sugar Gazette. For various reasons it is important that the true status of beet sugar in New Mexico be made known. If even a few of the recent claims made can be corroborated, the territory—soon to become a state—stands an excellent chance of taking the lead over many other already established areas of production.

In the first place, New Mexico has already done something. That counts for much. I would not care to deal in probabilities alone; we get too many packages of this sort nowadays. It has been especially true of late that New Mexico originates a good many stories of factory exploitation, while the beet growers and business men—those who are most concerned—are bewildered in the face of alluring promises that are never fulfilled. The credulous reader sees sugar factories springing up almost daily, erected over night by some land concern with blocks of soil to sell. Probably not a single sugar factory that to date has been promised to New Mexico will ever be built. This statement is made because we are dealing with facts, not fiction; and because the promise of this territory for sugar making is too vital a thing to be trifled with. If the industry is to be established there, it must be done on a sure foundation, which comprehends not the spirituous promises of promoters, but rather the concerted and prolonged efforts of the farmers and property owners. New Mexico today is on the safe road. If only she will keep her course, for, as stated, something already has been accomplished, and of the right sort.

The various displays at the industrial exposition given in connection with the Sixteenth National Irrigation Congress was an excellent summarization of what has been done in the territory of New Mexico to further the interests of the sugar industry. Several centers of activity have developed, particularly, Albuquerque, Maxwell City and Las Vegas. While Albuquerque can boast of, but one year in beet raising, her showing at the exposition was remarkable. Last spring sentiment was aroused to a beet pitch and the possibilities of beet culture received a decided stimulus that bore fruit in a successful season of growing. The Morning Journal constituted an untiring campaign, culminating in the noteworthy attraction embodied in Bernalillo county's display and the consequent advertising it gave the Queen City. In March of this year the Rio Grande valley took hold of the proposition with a vim, most of the interest centering at Albuquerque, where an enthusiastic meeting was held, addressed by W. M. Wiley of Colorado. This was followed by the organization of the work, in the hands of a committee, which personally solicited acreage, among the farmers. Out of this effort grew a definite plan. Forty-three growers in the vicinity of Albuquerque planted beets, ranging in acreage from one-fourth to three and three-fourths acres.

The Santa Fe railway undertook a general supervision of beet growing in New Mexico this year, encouraging planting in Las Vegas, Albuquerque, Belen, Roswell, Watrous, Springer and Elmore—nearly five hundred acres in all being signed up. On harvesting this fall, the beets were shipped to Colorado and there worked into sugar. Many samples were tested by a chemist stationed in the Santa Fe building on the exposition grounds, resulting in a good showing considering that the beets were not fully matured. Probably the most remarkable showing of all was that made by the Maxwell irrigated land company of Maxwell City, whose beets, harvested when but 31 days old, tested 13.5, lowest, and 15.9 highest. Irving F. Simshelmer, the chemist, stated that had they remained in the ground the allotted length of time, a percentage five degrees greater would have shown. As an object lesson to the New Mexico growers, specimen beets from several other states were displayed, that comparisons might be made for this year. Out of a desire to start the territorial farmers right in the culture of the sugar beet, as with many of them this is their first year. Belen this year raised seventy-five acres of beets, representing seventy growers. This was their first year. McIntosh has grown some very creditable beets without irrigation. They were well formed this year, and almost ideal in size. The same interest has been felt in Torrance county, the Estancia valley, where farmers have been raising beets for three years, on a very small scale.

If one may judge by the enthusiasm and vigorous efforts of Colonel J. D. Hand, of Las Vegas, the whole country thereabouts is going out daily over sugar beets. Some of the land there was formerly in alfalfa, but the bulk of available ground for this crop is a vast amount of plain land, several hundred thousand acres, that might grow beets under certain conditions. Twenty growers near Las Vegas as grew beets this year, producing thirty-five acres as an experiment in the Las Vegas grant, this tract including 500,000 acres. Dr. Wiley is anxious for the investors are going to having been a comparatively poor year in that vicinity, there being a long cold spring, with no rain until July, the farmers will learn the lesson of deep plowing and conservation of winter moisture.

I shall not be surprised if one of the very first sugar factories erected in New Mexico will not go in at some point in the northern portion of the state. The projection of a factory is a serious proposition, as its erection entails an outlay of something like a million dollars; and after that comes the grave matter of keeping it running at a profit through vicissitudes that would crush any other than an experienced sugar capitalist. Realizing that it is no joke to engage in beet sugar making, investors are going to be exceedingly slow in staking their money anywhere save at such points as have continuously demonstrated the ability to grow beets on an extensive scale, with a good sugar content, and having once ventured into the industry, stay with it. Apparently one of the most promising efforts being made anywhere in the territory is at Maxwell City, where the Maxwell Irrigated Land company is laying a sure foundation for successful and permanent carrying on of sugar beet culture. In New Mexico as well as in Colorado and some other states, water is a question paramount in the estimation of the sugar capitalist. It seems as though this company would meet this requirement as well as the other vital ones of the industry. The Maxwell Irrigated Land company has not promised its purchasers of land a sugar factory in the immediate future, but rather is building up its splendid proposition on a far saner basis. According to the investigation the writer has made, it is usually safe to hold that where a concern of the mushroom species induces purchase of its land by the allotment of a sugar factory as part of the plan, such propositions may usually be viewed with suspicion. The Maxwell Irrigated Land company has written me: "It is premature to do anything on these lines at this stage," which in my estimation commands their proposition all the more.

This concern controls the Maxwell Land Grant, comprising 25,000 acres of land, which can be adequately watered by irrigation; in fact, by a system of forty miles of canals and a chain of storage reservoirs, sufficient water can be brought from the Vermilion river to water 20,000 acres. The head of the New Mexico experiment station, after examining this land and its soil, stated at a public meeting that it was equal to any in the state for apples, and would produce beets of a higher percentage of sugar than any land elsewhere in New Mexico or in Colorado, and urged that it be cut up into small tracts of five and ten acres for this purpose. The matter of excessive sugar content of these beets seems to be a fact, illustrated by the analysis of the Maxwell company's beets at the irrigation congress. None of these beets were planted before June 14, consequently were only 31 days old when pulled. The three-ton patent dump-full exhibited on the grounds took first prize for shape, size and proper size of the beautiful Vilmorin shape, with long, tapering root. In attempting to develop this tract for the purpose of beet growing, it has all along been the plan of the company to form a water company. With every acre of land sold, a pro rata amount of stock in the water company will be included without extra charge, so that when all the land is sold the purchasers of the land will also own and control the organization governing and controlling the water system. Beet growers from other sections of the country, realizing the advantages of this locality, and being able to purchase several acres of this land with the price one acre brought them on selling out, are locating on the Maxwell Grant in numbers, which speaks well for the immediate development of this industry.

Speaking of the prospects in a general way, conditions seem to be almost ideal in New Mexico for the sugar beet. The isothermal zone of seventy degrees, or that belt of the United States best adapted to the growth of sugar beets, extends east and west across the country and embraces that portion having a mean summer temperature between 69 and 71 degrees Fahrenheit. Entering the northern boundary it passes through New Mexico, where it forms a loop in the extreme southern part of the state and comes upward again and out at the extreme northwestern part. The entire agricultural part has the proper climatic condition for the culture of sugar beets. Beets, when fully matured, have shown a high sugar content. Dr. Wiley of the United States department of agriculture, says: "It is evident that there are many localities in New Mexico where conditions of temperature are most favorable to the growth of beets. There are also large areas of comparatively level lands which are capable of irrigation. Wherever the temperature of those regions is sufficiently low to permit the proper development of the beet, and where sufficient water for irrigation can be secured, there is good reason to believe that the industry may be established and prove to be profitable."

The same scientist and chemist tabulates analyses of sugar beets grown in different states and territories. The average sugar content for eleven states was 12.2 percent, and for New Mexico 15.2. The average purity for the eleven was 89, while that of New Mexico was 82. Probably no section in the west possesses a climate more nearly ideal, as regards equality of temperature and moisture conditions. The temperature is not equable in the sense of having a small daily range, but it possesses a great degree of annual uniformity to a greater degree than will generally be found except on the sea coast, and there the humidity is great. Clear days average above 225 per year, while the greatest number of cloudy days recorded in one year was twenty-seven. There is no prolonged or heavy wind movement, on account of the protection afforded by the mountains, this being especially true in the Maxwell district, which is sheltered by the Raton range and the Sangre de Cristo mountains. The seasons, spring and summer, are long, while the so-called winters are bright, short and dry.

While I regard the possibilities of New Mexico as a sugar-producing state to be exceedingly bright, it must be understood that conditions favorable for the inception and operation of the industry, that are entirely within the control of the individual property holders and farmers, must be imperatively met. In each hopeful locality before the realization of beet sugar making plans are laid, and the state is thus brought into the development of this splendid industry, and it is safe to predict the erection of several plants in the not distant future.

So many people scattered all over the American Continent have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines that there's scarcely a hamlet where some of these grateful people are not to be easily found—ever ready to say a good word for the medicines which cured them and which very likely may cure you, if similarly afflicted. Look them up. They are walking advertisements for Dr. Pierce's medicines—ever ready to pass the good news along that these medicines cure when many others fail. Little advertised NOW, because their record of 40 years of cures makes great displays of their merits unnecessary. The great American people, pretty generally know of their unequalled record.

WORK ON POSTOFFICE BUILDING TO BE RESUMED

Contractor Anson Ordered to Rush Work on New Federal Structure in Albuquerque.

The work on the three-story federal building the foundations of which were laid nearly a year ago, and upon which construction was stopped on account of a change in the plans, will be resumed this morning, and according to A. W. Anson, who has the contract for its erection, the office will be completed with as much speed as possible.

Mr. Anson received advice last night from the treasury department to proceed with the work, and as he has been waiting for this order for several days, it is in a position to put a force of workmen on the job this morning. The building will be a three-story affair, the lower floor and part of the additional story. This change in the plan, the second floor, the United States district court and the third floor a number of rooms for the accommodation of federal offices.

As at first designed the building was to be a two-story structure. Construction work had not proceeded far, however, when it was stopped for the purpose of making plans for an additional story. This change in the plans, together with official red tape, have held the completion of the building in the air for several months. It has been known for several days that the order to proceed with the building would be forthcoming shortly, but the actual time as to when the work would be resumed was not known.

The resumption of work will be received with interest as it will mean the employment of a large number of men, after it gets under way in good shape. The building is planned to cost $120,000.

Authority for Bonds Refused.

Albany, Dec. 17.—The public service commission today refused to allow the Delaware and Hudson company to issue bonds to refund notes of $1,650,295 partly for advances to the Hudson Coal company, amounting to $2,500,000 for the purchase of Pennsylvanian coal lands. The commission authorized the company to issue bonds of $2,500,000 for the purpose of discharging notes, the proceeds of which were used to purchase securities of the Troy and New England railway.

Cross Suit for Receiver.

Cleveland, Dec. 17.—The railway company, original owner of the majority of the traction lines in this city tonight filed in the United States circuit court a cross petition in the receivership of all the system, brought by the Central Trust company of New York. The petition asks that the court grant the company possession of its lines, and besides files a claim for $1,000,000.

YOUNG ORATORS WIN PRIZES AT ELKS THEATER

The most successful oratorical contest in the history of the Albuquerque city schools was held in Elks theater last night. Eleven central school pupils participated in the program and delivered orations which would have been highly creditable to students of much higher institutions. Although the program was necessarily lengthy on account of the large number of participants, the orations delivered were very interesting and instructive. The opera house was packed with parents and friends and neighbors of the youthful orators. The contest, which was the fourth one to be given by the Central high school, was successful even beyond the most sanguine expectations of those who had it in charge.

Highbinders Condemn Informer to Death

Chicago, Dec. 17.—Moy Dow, a Chinaman who has assisted the police of Philadelphia, New York, Boston and other large cities in clearing up mysterious murders of Chinamen, has been sentenced to death by a secret organization, and information received today, the police began a search for the conspirators.

Dow has turned over to the police what he says is evidence that the members of Chinese societies in the cities named have agreed to pay $2,000 for his murder.

Winnipeg Coal Docks on Fire.

Winnipeg, Dec. 17.—A destructive coal fire is in progress at the Canadian Pacific railway coal docks. The railway company has vainly fought the blaze for weeks. More than a hundred thousand tons of coal is on fire. Many coal shovellers are trying to get at the seat of the blaze. The company will put a steam shovel into operation.

Park Subscription Grows Rapidly

The movement to raise $1,000 to complete the purchase of an addition to the Highland park is being well supported. The cost of the block of ground needed for the enlargement of the park is $3,000. This is not the regular selling price of the ground, but the price after a liberal discount was made by the owners. This discount amounted to the case of a majority of the lots to over 30 per cent.

The city council appropriated $2,000 with the understanding that the citizens would raise by popular subscription the remaining $1,000. At the meeting in the library building last Tuesday night those present subscribed $250, and the following persons were then selected to act as chairman of committees to wait on people and secure their subscriptions to make up the balance:

H. P. Mohr, 222 South High; A. D. Johnson, 512 South Broadway; G. P. Leonard, 210 South Walter; Dr. E. N. Wilson, 417 South Arno; S. M. Porterfield, 516 East Iron; Mrs. M. Drago, 264 N. Broadway; W. W. Bacon, 717 East Gold; Dr. R. L. Burm, 614 South Walter; Prof. W. G. Tipton, University, and R. W. D. Bryan, 806 Park avenue.

During the last two days these persons have been busy and have secured a large portion of the amount needed; they have met with encouragement and have found a most kindly feeling among the people towards park improvements.

Fred Calkins' Address on "Average Man" Takes First Honors; David Rosenwald and William C. Cook Divide Second Prize.

The orations of being awarded the first prize, a twenty-dollar gold piece, went to Fred M. Calkins, whose oration, "The Average Man," was a splendid effort, being a clever and well constructed composition, and delivered in a pleasing manner. David Rosenwald and William Colburn Cook tied for second place. Mr. Rosenwald's oration, "Child Labor," and that of Mr. Cook, "The Identity of the Jew," being considered by the judges to be almost equal in their merits.

Both the young men were awarded a prize of fifteen dollars each, the extra five dollars being contributed by George S. Klock, one of the judges. Mrs. Mary David, the only young lady to receive a share in the prize money, was awarded the fourth prize of five dollars.

The orations of all the participants were so clever and well delivered that the judges were at a loss as to which of the orators were most entitled to receive the prizes. Their final decisions, however, were popular, as was indicated by the generous applause which greeted their awards of the prizes. The work of the judges on delivery was especially difficult, as the judges on thought and composition had previously placed a certain average mark on the different orations which had been submitted to them in written form. The judges on delivery were George S. Klock, A. J. Mayo, Professor H. F. Asplund, on thought and composition, O. N. Marron, F. H. Moore and Mrs. Margaret Medler. The awards were made by Mr. Klock.

The fifty dollars in prizes was donated by Mr. Simon Stern. A vocal solo by Miss Viola Blucher, a duet by Miss Blucher and Miss Lois Schor, and a vocal solo by Miss Charlotte Pratt, were rendered during intermissions. Altogether the contest was an unqualified success and indicates more than anything else, the excellent work which is being accomplished in the city schools. Young Mr. Calkins, who carried off first prize last night, at the same time won the right to represent the Albuquerque high school at the inter-scholastic oratorical contest to be held in this city December 28.

MANY TRANSFERS OF PROPERTY AT SYLVANITE

Ores Show Increased Value With Depth and Large Number of Capitalists Are Still Arriving at Camp.

(Silver City Enterprise.) Veins and ledges throughout the district are developing rapidly into valuable prospects, which will soon pass the prospecting stage, and become mines of great importance and value. The Broken Jug claim, on which the rich gold-bearing ores of tellurium was first noted, continues to improve in the upper and lower east drifts as the mountain is penetrated. The vein in the upper east level is three feet in width from which ore is being assayed in shipping quantities.

The Quartzite group, on the east side, is the subject of negotiations for an immediate transfer. The property consists of four claims and was discovered by J. Wickes, an old and well known resident of Grant county. The veins are large and carry good values, ranging from $12 to $100 per ton, are finely situated and with moderate development will become a valuable gold bearing property.

The Wood's mine recently sold for $65,000, is quite an old location as the time is measured in Little Hatchet mountains. The Pearson Bros., of Olay, Colo., are the purchasers and are to be congratulated on their purchase. The property has been opened by a tunnel 215 feet in length, and for its entire length, from portals to headings, it is in good milling ore. The high ground above the tunnel will soon be broken and the first grades ascended and shipped to Douglas or El Paso smelters. It is believed by those in a position to know, that the ore above the tunnel will almost pay the purchase price of the property.

The Trade Dollar group was recently taken over by J. C. Meador of the Mogollon country and associates of Silver City. The property is located one mile south of Sylvanite and shows several parallel veins, each of them carrying gold. The shaft on the main vein, at a depth of twenty feet, carries five feet of ore averaging $10 in gold. Work of sinking has already begun and excellent results will reward the purchasers.

The Handcar and Skyscraper mines are developing finely and are destined in the near future to become producers of commercial and large tonnage values. The crescent in the Handcar has developed shipping ore of $10 per ton net value. The outlook for these two claims for the future is very promising and the developments now inaugurated will open still larger bodies of shipping ore.

The new wagon road which has recently been surveyed from Hachita to Sylvanite when completed will shorten the distance between the two towns at least six and one-half miles. The road will prove to be of great benefit to the miners and the public generally. The estimated cost of building it is $2,000, which has been subscribed by the merchants and mining men of Hachita and Sylvanite.

JEWISH FESTIVAL OF LIGHTS STARTS TODAY

Observed in Commemoration of Deliverance of Children of Israel from Bondage of Syrian Tyrant Over Two Thousand Years Ago.

Today marks the commencement of the festival of Chanukah, the feast of lights, observed in commemoration of the rededication of the second temple and the emancipation of the Jews from the rule of Antiochus IV. of Syria in the year 162 B. C. The great leader among the Jews at this period was Judas Maccabees, who led his people to victory over the hosts of the Syrian tyrant. The feast of Chanukah, which lasts eight days, though generally observed among the Jewish people, is not considered among the sacred festivals.

Divine services will be held at Temple Albert this evening at 7:45. The rabbi, Dr. Chapman, will officiate and preach, taking as his subject "Memories." A cordial invitation to attend these services is extended to all.

THE TENTH LETTER FROM SANTA CLAUS

Toyaland, December 18, 1908.

My Dear Friends:—
I have said so little about toys, dolls, doll buggies, doll beds, etc., I wonder if I have forgotten them in my interest for the big people. Oh, no, my dear, I have not forgotten you for one moment. If you could just see how all these things that please your little hearts are being selected and laid aside for you for Christmas night, you would have no misgivings about being remembered. Things are not quite as good as years ago, but Strong's toys, dolls, etc., are just as cheap in proportion as money is scarce and you will get most all you want, if you are good. Remember, though, you're got to be good.

I do not want the older folks to forget that our headquarters are loaded with all kinds of books. Listen to people think on a little of a book. Listen to Bartholomew and maybe you will regard a book the greatest gift. "Without books God is silent, justice dormant, nature dumb and all things involved in barbarian darkness." Encourage the love of good books this year by giving them as presents.

Your friend,
SANTA CLAUS.
